Incumbents win; clerk wins by 1 vote

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

All three trustee incumbents won, and the clerk's position was decided by one vote in the Feb. 17 primary election for the Clarkston Village Council.

Winners of the primary will now only face write-in candidates in the final election Monday, March 9.

There were 236 votes cast out of 787 registered voters

Only Republicans were on the ballot, which included council President Sharron Catallo and village manager Artemus Pappas running unopposed.

In the race for three open trustee seats, Dominic

Mauti gathered 147 votes, William Basinger 136, Eric Haven 134, Stephen Secatch 103 and Joan Kopietz 96. Mauti, Basinger and Haven are incumbents.

In addition, there were four write-in votes for trustee: C.L. Weber, J. Huttenlocher, John Ettinger, Ivan Rouse.

The voting for clerk was the election's closest, with Jeanne Selander Miller winning with 77 votes; Kristine Iid totaled 76 and Sandra G. Conlen 65.

The election for assessor was completely a write-in vote, with Doug Roeser winning with three votes and Tom Goldner, Mike Thayer, Larry Barnett and Bruce Harley each totaling one.

Unopposed candidates President Catallo and manager Pappas finished with 148 and 175 votes, respec-

Winners of the March 9 village election will only be guaranteed spots on the council for a few months. Since the charter for cityhood was passed by voters on Feb. 4, all seats on the entire council (the clerk and the treasurer's positions will be appointed) will be open again in the June 15 non-partisan city council election.

Waiting game

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

The battle over Clarkston cityhood has moved from the polls to the courtroom.

Tuesday, March 11, Independence Township and the State Boundary Commission presented their cases to the Michigan Court of Appeals. Their oral arguments came a week after village residents approved a city charter by a narrow 12-vote margin.

Clarkston will officially become a city July 1.

Independence Township attorney Gerald Fisher said the one-hour hearing gave both parties a chance to explain their sides. By the time they were done, he said the court was made well aware of the implications of this case.

'We felt it went well," Fisher said. "I think the court understood arguments from both sides and realized the far-reaching implications that incorporation will have in Clarkston as well as the rest of the state in the future."

Fisher said he expects a decision from the threejudge panel to be rendered within the next 90 days. Until then, he said the township will weigh other possible legal actions and make long-terms plans in case Independence ses this lengthy legal battle.

For the past year and a half, Independence Township has been in and out of the courts, trying to stop the village from incorporating as a city. The township is presently in the midst of a lawsuit with the Boundary Commission, which initially gave the village permission to file for cushood. The village has sided with the commission in the suit, while the Michigan Township Association (MTA) has joined forces with Independence.

Township officials contend that a switch to cityhood would be financially detrimental to both Clarkston and Independence Township.

So far, however, the township has been stymied by the Oakland County Circuit Court and the Michigan Court of Appeals. The court of appeals denied a township's request for a stay of proceedings in November.

Township Supervisor Frank Ronk has said that this matter will probably be put to rest in the Michigan Supreme Court, which is the state's highest legal authorPlay time

Springfield Board to control Susin Lake in 1993

BY: DENNIS V. CARTER Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Springfield Township Board accepted control over Susin Lake Feb. 13.

That means township board members will determine such issues as weed control on the lake, beginning in Lake residents had submitted a petition to the board along with the idea that they would be best served under Act 188, which would set up an assessment district, giving the Springfield Township Board authority over the lake.

An assessment district is a way to tax residents for to pay for special services only they will receive, such as weed control, street lighting, road improvements or sew-

The other option was controlling the lake under Act 345, which would have set up a lake board made up of residents, who would make decisions about the lake.

The petition, according to Springfield Supervisor Collin Walls, included signatures from 65 percent of tax parcel owners and 62 percent of total lake frontage owners.

Trustee Dennis Vallad said he felt better about Act

According to Walls, time is a major factor.

"After finding out the weed control product the residents have contracted for this year needs to be done in early spring, it is possible, but probably not realistic, to think we can have the assessment district in place for this season," he said. "My suggestion would be that you collect for the service this year the way you have in the past and give us time to put in place the assessment

Corrections

A story about the Clarkston Village Council primary election in last week's Clarkston News should have said that the election was Monday, Feb. 17, and that the general election to vote on the winning candidates would be Monday, March 9.

A story in the Feb. 5 issue of The Clarkston News about new businesses moving into the shopping center at M-15 and Dixie Highway, Independence Township, should have said that the Dairy Queen on M-15 was to remain in its present location and would be reopening in March. Dairy Queen District Manager Michael Thomas said the developer who had stated that the Dairy Queen was moving probably was using "Dairy Queen" as a generic term, meaning ice cream shop.

A story in last week's Clarkston News about couples married 25 years or longer should have said that Glenn and Zona Sommers were separated for the first two years of their marriage while Glenn was in the service.

After a group of five to six residents on hand agreed to this, the board voted 6-1 to approve a motion of intent for the Springfield Township Board to proceed with forming the special assessment district under Act 188 to be in place by December 1992.

Clerk Calvin Walters voted against the motion because residents would be better served with a lake board and having control over the lake themselves, he said.

Land Conservancy marks 20 years of preservation

It is not now as it hath been of yore -Turn whereso'er I may, By night or day,

The things which I have seen I now can see no more. ~William Wordsworth

Ode ("Intimations of Immortality" from "Recollections of Early Childhood")

BY DUFFY LIDDICOAT

Long-time residents of Independence Township might easily use Mr. Wordsworth's lines as a daily lament.

But, as Mother Courage said, "Things could be worse," and would most certainly be worse if it were not for The Independence Land Conservancy formed in 1972 by a group of people who were able to see beyond the harum-scarum world of progress and development to a more ordered, planned community in which open space is preserved — and revered.

The Independence Land Conservancy was incorporated as a non-profit organization with the purpose "to preserve for the general public the natural and historic resources of Independence Township."

This is done by acquiring lands outright (or acquiring easements on them), by donation or by purchase. IRS clearance for tax deductions has been obtained.

242 acres in all

The first acquisition was 11 acres of tamarack swamp in Waterford Hill Manor, donated by the developers, Samuel and Meyer Leib, in 1972. A second plot of 4 acres was given by Dieball & Arsen, developers of Spring Lake Estates, also in 1972

Now, the Conservancy owns 241.91 acres, in the form of the following parcels (as of May 1991):

■ 35 acres: John R. Schmude Sanctuary, donated in 1975 by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schmude.

■ 12 acres: Poquosin I, donated by Mr. and Mrs. James Kasl in 1976.

■ 9 acres: Poquosin II, donated by Mr. and Mrs. James Kasl in 1979.

■ 11 acres: Steeple Ridge, donated by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy in 1978.

■ 19 acres: Olde Sturbridge Commons, donated by Hargraves and Pilarcik in 1979.

■ 17 acres: Whipple Tree Lane II, donated by Mr. Leonard Grossman in 1979.

■ 60 acres: 60 Acres Endowment, donated by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nota and Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Brennan in 1982.

41 acres: Nels Kimball Sanctuary, donated by Ronald Helin in 1985.

■ 3 acres: Keller Sanctuary, donated by Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Keller in 1986.

4.19 acres: Cranberry Lake Gift, donated by Biltmore Properties in 1989. ■ 8.92 acres: Robert E. Shell Gift, donated by Mr.

and Mrs. Robert Shell in 1989. ■ 6.8 acres: Oakhill Hollow, donated by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Hall II in 1990. Conservancy activity has taken place within Independence Township boundaries.

In the beginning ...

The Conservancy began with three objectives:

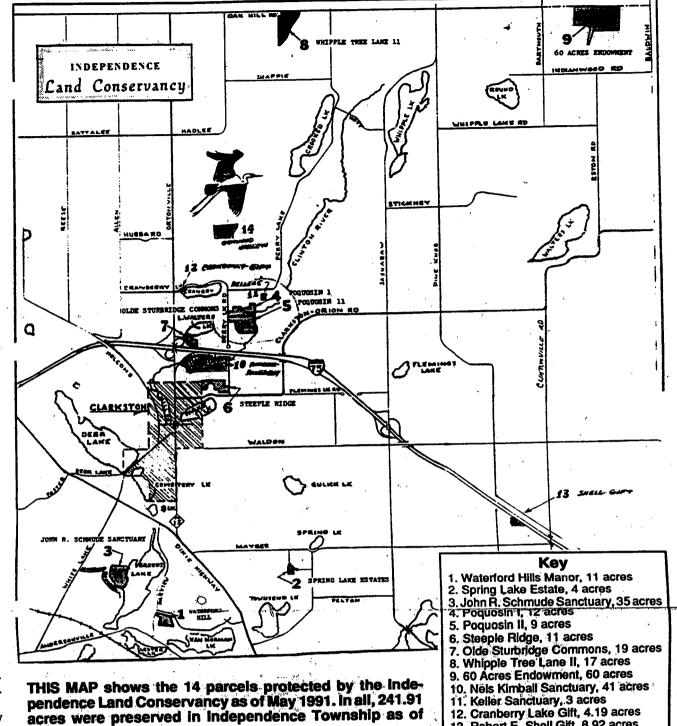

■ To educate the community on the merits of two effective methods for preserving open space: clustered housing and scenic easements.

■ To persuade the township planning commission and township board that they should take advantage of the Conservancy's existence and use it to guarantee the permanency of open space that they obtain from developable price, land that a major segment of the community would consider to be important open space. The Conservancy then would buy an option on the parcel to fix the price and provide time to run a campaign to raise the necessary money. The project should be attractive to charitable foundations.

The creation

Attorney Tom Bullen, secretary on the Conservancy's Board of Directors, recalled the events leading up to the Conservancy's creation.

Bullen moved to Independence Township in 1969 after living away for 15 years. He had just been appointed trustee on the township board when Gary Stonerock was superintendent. And he had just read "The Last Landscape" by William White.

He was so impressed by the land preservation principles in the book, that he recommended the township follow it as a guideline.

"So we bought a carton of books and distributed them," he said, explaining that the Land Conservancy quickly followed - it was the first in Michigan and one of the first in the nation.

The Conservancy's role is important "so we won't have Independence Township paved over like Southfield," said Bullen. The Conservancy members — from all walks of life in the Clarkston area — joined for many reasons, though growth was not the issue 20 years ago that it is now.

Trustee Lynn E. Kacy, for instance, like her mother and grandfather before her, was born and raised in the area. Her family, the Belitzes, owned the land now used as part of Independence Oaks County Park and Deerwood III subdivision.

"I just have a deep love for the township and the out of doors and animals," Kacy said.

President Tom Stone said he joined the group at the urging of long-time member Lucy Kassl.

"We moved and settled here because we were impressed with the village and the township," said Stone. To become more active in the community, he joined the Conservancy and the Clarkston Community Historical Society. Both groups have similar principles of preserva-

Don't panic; most mammograms accurate

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

Patients who have undergone mammography tests at three Independence Township radiology offices in the past year don't have to worry.

Their results are as accurate as technology allows, despite a state inspection that gave "failing" grades to some machines.

Personnel at three Independence Township radiology clinics said many patients have called in a panic following numerous newspaper and TV reports in the past two weeks.

The reports contained results of Michigan Department of Public Health tests of mammogram machines in 1991. The tests attempted to measure how well a machine performs a simulated breast exam and the amount of radiation emitted from the machine during this test.

Single mammogram machines at Associated Radiologists of Oakland County, Ortonville Road, and the Women's Health Center of Clarkston, Dixie Highway, each were given "passing" grades by the state. However, their phones still were kept busy by concerned patients.

At the North Oakland Radiology Center on Ortonville Road, one machine received a passing grade, while the other received a "failing" grade by the state. That office, too, was swamped by calls. (Its machines in its Pontiac and Birmingham offices received passing grades.)

Attorney Thomas Rabette, speaking on behalf of radiologist Lawrence Wayburn of North Oakland Radiology, who was out of town, said the state's test results were invalid, unreliable and even unethical.

As a result, many women are undergoing unnecessary fear - even terror, he said.

"They have no idea the damage they've done to people," said Rabette.

Kathy Fortin, an employee of North Oakland Radiology, noted the irony of the fact that the center received notice that its machines were certified by the state on the very day that a report of "failing" the state tests appeared in an Oakland County newspaper.

She said the reports caused needless suffering and "You can hear it in their voices," she said.

She added that North Oakland was in the process of accreditation by the American College of Radiology, which tests the mammography process much more thoroughly than the state.

Rabette said Wayburn's $200,000 machines were the best technology available. Rabette and Fortin explained how the state's test did not actually measure how well the machines worked.

They likened the mammography machine to a camera. If a picture doesn't turn out, it doesn't mean the camera is bad. But it does mean you have to retake the picture.

The same is true for mammography machines, and the radiologist knows immediately if another picture should be taken. Nationwide, about 7 percent to 10 percent of mammograms are retaken — usually because the breast is not compressed enough, said Fortin.

In the state's simulated breast test, a fake breast molded from wax or plastic or a combination -- is given the mammography exam; however, the technician is not allowed to see the simulated breast. She or he is only told to set the machine for an "average" breast.

Then, the X-ray is taken, and the state tester decides if the image passes or not, with no chance for the technician to retake the picture, as would normally occur.

In addition, the state's inspectors and the simulated breasts vary from clinic to clinic.

In short, Fortin said the state's test is not a reliable measurement of a machine in that respect.

Fortin said patients are welcome to call to inquire about any radiology tests performed at the clinic. To allay fears, Dr. Wayburn last week began reviewing each of the about 5,000 mammograms from 1991, and the staff began calling patients with the results. The office has been so busy with incoming phone calls, however, that that process may take a while, said Fortin. In all, about 200 calls have been received, she said.

The situation is similar in other Independence Township offices.

Physician Susan Coleman of the Women's Health Center of Clarkston said her clinic has been "inundated" with calls regarding her machines and the validity of past tests. Even though her machine passed both tests, Coleman said her mammogram technicians continue to be flooded with questions and inquiries.

To quell fears, Coleman said she'll soon be putting together an informational article in conjunction with The Clarkston News. This article will further explain the testing and how experts in her field interpret them.

Gaye Horn, mammogram technician at Associated Radiologists of Oakland County, said her clinic has received between 40 and 50 test-related inquiries in the past couple of weeks.

"We've had a few panicky calls, but most of them have been inquiries about our equipment," she said. "Our patients seem a little more relieved when we tell them that all our clinics' machines have passed both tests."

James Camburn, chief of the state health department's Division of Radiological Health, said these tests are important but aren't a reflection on the quality of a center or its machines.

In regards to statewide testing, Camburn said the only suggestion he had for Clarkston's Associated Radiologist clinic was that it become accredited with the American College of Radiology. Horn said her clinic has filed for accreditation and is presently awaiting official acceptance.

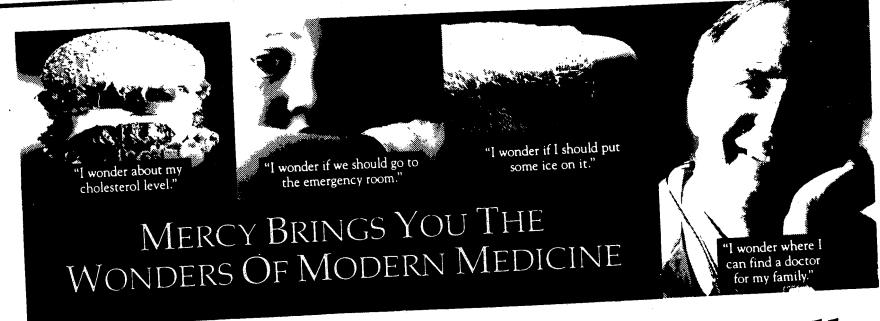

Horn said that word of these tests have caused reverberations as far south as West Virginia. She said the Michigan news reports have reportedly caused other states' residents to contact their local American College of Radiology headquarters and inquire about the equipment in their own clinics.

In response to an outpouring of concern over the validity of the state's testing and evaluation system, the Michigan Department of Public Health has scheduled a Feb. 27 meeting to receive comments from those in the radiology field.

Apparently, the Michigan Department of Public Health adopted the current evaluation process without input from them.

Camburn, as well as radiologists in the Clarkston area, encourage anyone with questions on the validity of their tests to call their physicians.

In the public eye

Julie Campe

Being a journalist means you get to make your mistakes in public.

At The Clarkston News, that means about 5,000 households see your mix-up, even if they don't realize it.

The mistakes can range from misspelling a proper noun that our computer spell-checker wouldn't catch to photographing someone without paying attention to the background so that the final photo appears as if something is growing out of the person's head, for instance.

Or it can be writing that a local government candidate has three children when she really has four.

Or it can be printing the wrong date for an election — which I did in the Feb. 12 issue of The Clarkston News. Even worse, I said the election was Tuesday, Feb. 18, when it was really Monday, Feb. 17 — President's Day. (I had marked the wrong day in my calendar.) That means people likely showed up a day late at the polls.

And in such a close race as this village primary was turning out to be, that could be a significant mistake, indeed.

Mistakes such as those above generally take place when reporters and other staff members are rushed or are working long days.

But, of course, there are those mistakes that belong to our sources. For instance, a governmental agency might make an error on a report that we print or an official might give us wrong information.

Or the "person on the street" might knowingly lie to us. An elementary school pupil once told us about an older brother, who we wrote about, only to receive a call from his mother when the paper came out. Apparently, the youngster had made up the story—he did not have an older brother.

Then there are words or phrases that some people think are mistakes but really aren't. Once, a guest columnist titled his work "Urbane Sprawl," and several thought we had made an error and that it should have said "Urban Sprawl."

Others think we misspell "complement" when they're thinking of the homonym "compliment," which has a totally different meaning.

Sometimes, we'll include a description of a parcel, complete with "north of ..." and "south of ..." Some don't believe our directions — even with a printed map. (One tricky spot is Dixie Highway and White Lake Road — at this point, White Lake runs northerly and southerly, while Dixie runs more easterly and westerly.)

Some readers confuse someone we've quoted with the writer of the story. For instance, if a reporter writes about an area resident's hunting escapade, readers assume that reporter is "pro-hunting" or even "anti-hunting" if the reporter writes about the death of an animal that our source blames on a hunter.

Journalism is a great field for perfectionists—but not for thin-skinned perfectionists. You will hear about every mistake you make, even some you don't make.

You will even hear about mistakes that government officials and business owners and high school coaches and teachers and students make.

As for your own work, you don't even have to go to the trouble of discovering your mistake after the fact — someone else does it for you.

Property preservers have vision

It's appropriate to applaud the contributions of the Independence Land Conservancy this year.

Celebrating its 20th birthday, the Conservancy protects some 260 acres from ever being developed in Independence Township. And the list of parcels is growing.

The land is to be preserved in its natural state forever. The acres are sprinkled throughout the township and serve as habitat for wildlife and as simple objects of beauty for humans.

With anti-development attitudes abounding in the area, the Conservancy serves as an outlet for positive action.

Afterall, people who own their property have the right to sell it or to develop it as it is zoned. But land owned or otherwise protected by the Conservancy will never be developed.

What a marvelous idea! And to think the group is 20 years old.

We salute those who had the vision to form the non-profit organization two decades ago, as well as those who continue working toward its goals.

Those on the 1972 board were: President Nelson Kimball, Vice President James J. Lowe, Secretary Donna M. Buhl, Trustee Jean C. Benzing, Trustee Carl A. Brendle, Auditor Janet McCord and Auditor Jerome S. Wilford. JLC

Reporter's Notebook

According to a volunteer with the Rainbow Connection, a Clarkston News article about the non-profit organization generated lots of donations from people who wanted to help volunteers grant wishes to terminally ill children.

Stephen Proctor of Clarkston isn't sure if samples from his upcoming restaurant clinched the decision, but he says they didn't hurt.

Proctor and his partner won an approval from the Independence Township Board in December to open a 7,200-square-foot Mesquite Creek restaurant — complete with a liquor license — in Independence Pointe plaza, on M-15, just north of the Village of Clarkston.

The approval came after the duo served up some mesquite-flavored butterfly shrimp, cooked with pepper, cheese, bacon and butter on a grill outside the township board office. They also served fajitas to the township board.

Everything in Mesquite Creek will be cooked over mesquite, Proctor said, adding that the menu will feature "recognizable foods, not gourmet."

"We hope to set a new precedent in the restaurant industry in this state," said Proctor, who owns two other restaurants.

Sue Jenereaux, 39, of the Clarkston area won $900 Feb. 15 on the Michigan Lottery's weekly TV game show, "Megabucks Giveaway."

Cherlyn Kirn of Davisburg is to appear on the Saturday, Feb. 22, show.

Did you hear about the sad sheep that was always singing, "There'll never be another ewe?"

I saw an advertisement the other day for "farm made milk." Personally, I never heard of city or village made milk. But isn't it 'cow made milk?'

Bill Knapp restaurants advertise "soup made from scratch." Back on the farm, at a very young age, mother would have us kids feed the chickens 'scratch.' There is probably no connection.

I like comparing editors to one of those gradeschool incidents. You remember making and throwing spit balls. Someone else would roll and I'd get caught throwing them. Editors are frequently told of some possible wrongdoing and asked to 'do something about that!' But the informer won't 'get involved.'

I read a survey that said 53 percent of the people are unhappy with Governor Engler. Heck, seems like a majority of the people are unhappy most of the time.

I'm sure you've heard this definition of retirement: Twice as much husband . . . half as much money.

I've had a lot more exposure to armpits on TV than I needed. It wasn't bad until the script writers got the Statue of Liberty involved in their arm raising promo. These writers must be having a great, giggling time seeing what they can get away with and still get clients to buy.

I had way too much exposure to femininehygiene products with the first commercial.

Did you catch columnist Jon Pepper's remark a few weeks ago about Senator Riegle? Referring to the Japanese car makers vs GM car makers, Riegle said there was an "economic Pearl Harbor" on West Grand Boulevard. Pepper said, "Eagle-eyed Riegle skillfully managed to miss the S&L scandal occurring under his nose, but his eyesight was sharp enough to spot a Pearl Harbor-like invasion in Detroit."

Michigan ranks first in the nation in production of cucumbers for pickles. In 1991 the state produced 144,000 tons. Farmers got 6.4 tons per acre, and the price dropped $15 a ton, to $152 per ton from 1990. Pass the peanut butter and bread-and-butter pickles,

I'll end with this from "My grandpappy once told me"... A lot of people are like a wheelbarrownot good unless pushed. Some are like canoes--they have to be paddled. Some are like kites--if you don't keep a string on them, they fly away. Some are like footballs--you can't tell which way they will bounce next. Some are like balloons--full of wind and ready to blow up. Some are like trailers--they have to be pulled. Some are like a good watch--open face, pure gold, quietly busy and full of good works.

Misleading story

I was deeply offended by your recent article, which continued the erroneous and even hysterical reaction to the state "listing" of mammography equipment in the tricounty area. I was incensed by your reporter's statement that I refused to return his phone calls. That is patently

The mass hysteria and anxiety caused by the recent newspaper articles and TV reports about mammography equipment in Oakland County has been incredible. The damage caused by irresponsible, incomplete or misleading reports cannot be measured.

It is time your readers have the facts. We need to go back a year because that's how old this story is.

Is the state of Michigan's policy to test all X-ray equipment on a yearly basis. After inspecting the equipment, the state gives each facility its recommendations as to what might need to be corrected.

These recommendations are for all types of X-ray equipment. The facility is then given 30 days to send a letter to the state certifying the corrections have been made. It is not the state's policy to recheck the equipment at that time, but only at its yearly review.

Last year, a new test for mammography equipment was implemented. This test is known as the "phantom image" test. Specifically, each piece of mammography equipment is graded according to the test, the scale being A through F.

The inspection grades were based on visual inspection of a phantom image. This is neither indicative or predictive of the quality of the examination the patient will receive. It is grossly misleading to present them as

The grades are subjective; therefore, they are not necessarily reproducible from one inspector to another. An A grade on the state phantom test evaluation does not take into account the real examination the patient will receive. Therefore it does not ensure that the study is done by trained technologists or interpreted by experiences and qualified radiologists. This also does not take into account patient positioning or acceptable dosage level to the

The state bureaucrats who precipitated this unnecessary alarm have subsequently acknowledged this to be true, and have, of necessity, agreed to restructure their "entire testing" process. This, however, is of little or no consolation to the many women who have been so upset and misled by these recent reports.

Let me emphasize that when the state conducted their "test" last year and gave their recommendations to our office, any suggested changes in calibration were made, however trivial, to preclude any appearance of non-compliance with so-called "state standards." No letter grade was given at that time.

Therefore, the equipment in this office is, and always has been, in compliance with the state's recommen-

It was only two weeks ago that each facility received a letter from the state with the letter grade. Also, one must understand that this office in Clarkston has two mammography units, one of which received a passing grade of B, and the other had an E.

However, after the corrections were made, both units would qualify for a grade of A, but since the state does not return for a year the posted grades cannot be changed. Therefor, to the public this is extremely misleading and a misrepresentation of the equipment. Furthermore, our unit in Pontiac received an A; our Birmingham office unit was an A.

As a practicing radiology expert for more than 15 years, I would insist to you that there is no clinically significant difference to the images produced by any of our four mammography units.

Quality control is extremely important to me. All of our equipment is regularly maintained and also is inspected by a licensed independent physicist on a quarterly basis. All of our equipment is in compliance with the state's recommendations. All of our equipment is certified by the state, most recently on Feb. 5, 1992.

My personal integrity has been put on the line by some misinformed sources. I hope this letter clarifies the

It is important that women continue to use mammography to help in the early detection of breast cancer. Mammography has saved thousands of lives, and I would urge women to call their physicians to help alleviate their fears that have been caused by one-sided and misleading

Again, I must emphasize that the mammography equipment at all offices of North Oakland Radiology is accurate, safe and effective.

Poor loan policy

Line up, the newest bank just opened!

Welcome to the Clarkston School Board Bank. The Athletic Boosters just received an interest-free $35,000 loan. This is to be paid back in $5,000 installments over a 7-year period.

The loan will pay for new showers on the football field. (Great academic priorities.)

I suggest that all the area PTO/PTA's put together a package to get new books for your library, computers or other academically important requisitions The board could not possible turn your request down. Is this what the policy of Clarkston schools should really be?

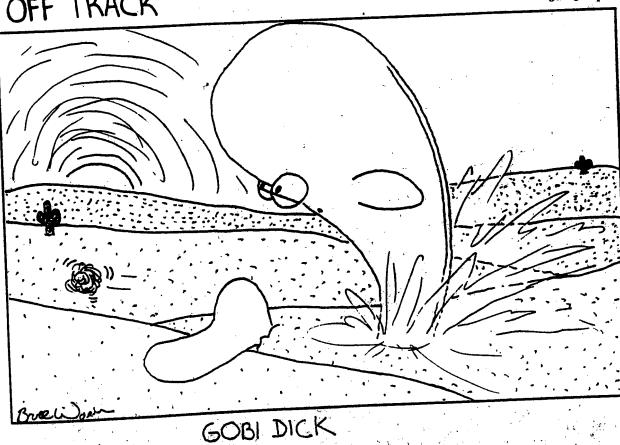

In the same meeting, it was brought to the board's attention that next year the district will be $1.2 million short in its budget projections. The thought that went into the above loan is typical of this school board's actions.

I must give exception, though, to one school board member who challenged this ridiculous method of setting policy for our district. Congratulations to Joseph Helpern for having enough insight and guts to say No in this 6-1 approval.

Boy, it's strange how things can really change

Dennis V. Carter

Perspective, perceptions and relativity.

It is funny how these can change and change in a dramatic way.

While in college, my political science professor once said, "Never always an enemy, never always a friend." His example for this really stuck with me. He used our enemies and allies during WWII, pointing out how Russia was an ally and Japan an enemy then Japan became our ally (which some might debate today), while Russia become our enemy (again, this can be debated I guess).

Well, I have had some serious perception and perspective changes, as well, and am finding out things really are relative.

After coming off a traumatic divorce, I went through my "I hate women period," and even after the shock and depression had gone, I still had a bad feeling about the institution of marriage, relationship and the L word (love).

After several very unsuccessful shots at relationships, I became adamantly against the idea of marriage.

In fact, from the time I met one of my co-workers (Curt), who told me he was getting married in a few months, I dogged him every day not to do it.

When laying out the "Millstream" section of the paper, it was my weekly joke to ask Julie if I could put the engagements on the obit pages where they belong, since in my opinion, they both dealt with death.

But alas! Once again things changed. It was a shot out of the dark. After deciding that just living by myself, and seeing my three sons on the weekends, would be perfectly acceptable, Love (you know, the L word) came storming into my life.

Well, you can be assured that it took everyone by surprise, not just me, but really everyone! Because it was well known by those who know me exactly how I felt about marriage and that I was very anti-relation-

Here, again, is a perfect example of how perceptions do change. Here I was saying I would never get married again (Never say, "Never," right?) and lo and behold I had met someone who truly was making me happy, euphoric, elated or, as my youngest son would

It had been a joke in the office that we would know the end of time was at hand when the Lions won the Super Bowl, a Democrat was elected president and Den was married.

It is probably an understatement to say I have rough edges; most everything with me is either black or white, "Just the facts Ma'am."

Well, this very special person has rounded those edges some and put some gray into my life (some might say gray matter). She makes me look at life from a different perspective, which has given me a totally different perception on what is relative: I guess you could say it's not too late for an old dog to learn new tricks.

I guess the main point of this column is that it appears to me one should live life not just day-to-day, but hour-to-hour and minute-by-minute and most important, I guess, Never ... Never ... Never say Never.

School not to blame in exchange snafu

Regarding your article on the exchange student trying to enroll at Clarkston High: We're the host family who "pulled out at the last minute."

I was called "last minute" 11 days before exchange students were to arrive in Michigan (and only a week before they were to leave their homeland for New York).

Open Door Coordinator Alice Chamberlain said she needed a host family for some "last minute" students. Our family decided to accept, and she arranged to meet with us one week before the students were to arrive.

Alice attempted to place three students in our district. Unable to find a home for the third, she temporarily housed him at her own home in another school district.

Alice had talked about Ginny Farmer early on, referring to run-ins in the past. I asked several times when and who I should meet with at CHS about our exchange student. Each time, Alice said there was no need to do anything until he came here. Then I should go with him to register.

Countdown — Monday: Alice said she would call the school first. She said I was on the school board — I'm not, have never been and have no intention of.

Tuesday: Farmer said the school won't accept our exchange students. I called Mel Vaara, who was polite. This was the first he heard of any exchange students coming mid-year (by then, the students were in New York). However, the decision stood: CHS could not accept new exchange students.

Afterward, Alice said Waterford would accept any number of students. She'd place him in another family unless I demanded the school accept him.

Now I'll fight for a lot of things I believe in. But sometimes you need to sit back and look at the whole picture. We have overcrowded schools as it is. What about rights of students who live in our school system and parents who pay the taxes for them? I'm sorry for the exchange students, but our first obligation lies with providing the best education for our kids.

I don't know why Alice didn't check with school system before she offered an exchange student.

A story untold: The impact on my family. We'd rearranged bedrooms and bought new furniture, and our kids were preparing for an "older brother."

My heart goes out to the exchange students and their families, who have no idea why they were not accepted into this community. Alice called me back this week to tell me the student I was to host was now in Birmingham. She was sorry that I was bitter and told me this happens all the time. It shouldn't, and it's a shame for all concerned.

And I don't like the idea of anyone coming in to make our school system look bad either. I don't know Ginny Farmer, but it's unfair for her to take the blame for Alice's assumptions.

Because of those assumptions, everyone lost out. Our family feels hurt, the student and his family are probably confused, the school looks bad, the school board and administration look bad, even Open Door itself looks bad, and for what?

Is this what exchange students should learn about America?

Sherry Regiani

Editor's note: Clarkston administrators decided to make an exception and accept one more exchange student mid-year.

Jury says Simpson, Salvino guilty of abusing boy

BY DENNIS V. CARTER Clarkston News Staff Writer

After 4 1/2 hours of deliberation by the jury, David Lewis Simpson III and Paul Matthew Salvino were found guilty Feb. 14 of abusing Simpson's 5-year-old son.

Simpson and Salvino, both 23 and of Independence Township, were arrested last summer after a neighbor called the police after he heard screams coming from Salvino's step-father's house on Circle Drive, Independence Township, on July 24, 1991.

Upon arrival, deputies viewed the child being forced to smoke and partake of a soft drink containing alcohol.

The jury last Friday found the father and his friend guilty of giving the father's 5-year-old boy cigarettes and gin and forcing him to perform oral sex.

The boy's name is being withheld to protect his identity.

"I'm thrilled with the verdict," said Assistant Prosecutor Jean Gibson. "Justice was done - unfortunately that's not enough to save this little boy.",

Although both could face life in prison, Simpson, who has previously been convicted of a felony, could receive a longer term.

In testimony at the trial, a preliminary breath test listed the boy's blood alcohol level at 0.114. A driver is considered intoxicated at 0.10.

The two denied that any sexual assault took place or that the boy had smoked a cigarette. However, neither could account for how the alcohol got into the child's

Rochester attorney Eric Wilson, who represented Salvino, and Bloomfield Hills attorney H. Wallace Parker, on behalf of Simpson, had no comment after the verdict. Sentencing is set for March 11 at 1 p.m. before Judge Robert C. Anderson.

"The jury did the right thing," said Gibson. "Based on the evidence and the testimony of both the deputies and the child, it was apparent what had happened. I'm just glad the jury was able to see through the demeanor of Simpson and Salvino. The conviction is good, but this little boy will carry scars for a long time."

The open forum is scheduled to start at 7 p.m. in the school board office, 6389 Clarkston Road, Independence Township. For more information on the meeting, call 625-4402.

55-acre site plan OK'd in concept

BY DENNIS V. CARTER Clarkston News Staff Writer

Residents in the Softwater Lake area may have 40 new neighbors in the near future.

The Springfield Township Board unanimously approved a 40-house site plan in concept for Central Land Feb. 13. The 55-acre site on Softwater Lake, off Dixie Highway, south of I-75, includes 20 acres under water.

The board's action followed a consent judgment between the board and Central Land, which settled litigation between the two parties.

"Now they (Central Land) must go back to step one," said Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls. "They presented two plans under the consent judgment, and we voted on which one of the two they should proceed with on concept only."

The major difference between the two plans presented was the lots sizes. In Plan A, the lot sizes were smaller with a larger common ground. In Plan B, the lot sizes were larger, with the smaller common ground.

Trustee Nancy Strole voiced disapproval of Plan A.

"I feel it is important to have the larger lots sizes; it doesn't seem that important to have the larger common as shown in that plan," she said. "I feel the township would be better served with Plan B. The idea of clustering is to save the slopes and trees or natural setting in the area. I've walked that area several times and feel Plan B is the best plan to achieve these goals."

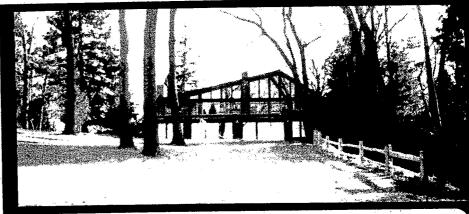

Even though the units are referred to as cluster lots, they will be detached single family units.

The board's vote limits the number of units in the development to no more than 40 and confirms the language in the formal consent judgment. Now Central Land can begin the review approval process with either a site plan or subdivision plan.

Man fined, sentenced to 5-year probation

A Clarkston-area resident was sentenced Feb. 7 in federal court in Detroit to five years probation, with the first six months to be served in home confinement, and a $10,000 fine, on conviction of offering a kickback to a government contractor.

U.S. District Judge Anna Diggs Taylor issued the sentence to James Blaski, 42. Blaski is a manufacturer's representative for Lyons Integrated Systems, Inc., of Muskegon Heights.

According to U.S. attorney William J. Richards, who prosecuted the case, Blaski entered a plea of guilty to the charges on Oct. 3, 1991.

Richards said that Blaski admitted offering an Alaskan salmon fishing trip to an employee of General Dynamics Land Systems (GDLS) as an inducement for GDLS to buy a $790,000 steel-cutting machine from Lyons.

"GDLS, a Defense Department contractor, buys machinery from various companies to build the M1 A1 tank for the U.S. Army. GDLS is based in Sterling Heights," said Richards.

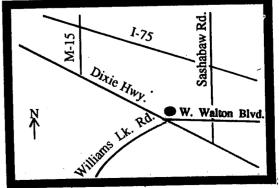

"Mr. Blaski stood to earn a commission of $10,000 if he persuaded GDLS to buy the machine from his client, Lyons," Richards said. "The GDLS employee reported Blaski's offer to his supervisor, who in turn notified investigators in the Defense Department. The GDLS employee who was offered the fishing trip as a bribe cooperated with investigators."

Fife goes on scoring spree

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

Lakeland and Waterford Mott went one-on-one with Dugan Fife but the senior guard's scoring just went on and on and Fife, nailing a dozen 3-pointers in two games, scored 30 in Clarkston's 79-48 victory over Lakeland Feb. 11 and then three nights later erupted for 49 in the Wolves' 73-63 win over Waterford Mott.

The victories raised Clarkston's varsity basketball record to 12-2 and 7-0 in the Greater Oakland Activities League.

Fife's 49-point effort against the Corsairs was only three shy of the school record set in 1967 by his father and coach,

The elder Fife said he was unaware of the exact number of points Dugan was scoring and would have been happy to see his son break the record.

Dugan, paying more attention to the basket instead of the arithmetic, also didn't know his point total during the game.

"I thought I was going to get 40," said Dugan, whose teammates encouraged him to unload near the end of the

The guard, who enjoyed not being doubled-team as he usually is, had 30 points in the first half and ended up with six 3-pointers. He attributed some of his scoring to the work of his teammates.

They were setting picks for me at the 3-point line," said Dugan, who averages 29 points per game.

The 49 points was the most scored by Dugan since seventh-grade at Sashabaw Junior High.

"I scored 44 in intramurals," said the 6-3 senior.

The future University of Michigan player has only one more home left in his four-year career, a Feb. 25 game against Brandon.

"It's strange. The year went so quickly," said Dugan, who will also end the season with three games on the road (including a big GOAL matchup with Pontiac Northern March 6) and hopefully a long string of games in the state tourna-

Even with Dugan's 49 points, the game with Mott was still a tight ballgame.

'We could not put Mott away,' said coach Dan Fife. "It seemed like a blowout but never was a blowout."

Clarkston led 22-13 after the first quarter, 43-30 at the half and 59-39 after three quarters. But Mott, 2-12 overall and 0-7 in the GOAL, outscored the Wolves 24-14 in the final quarter to cut the deficit.

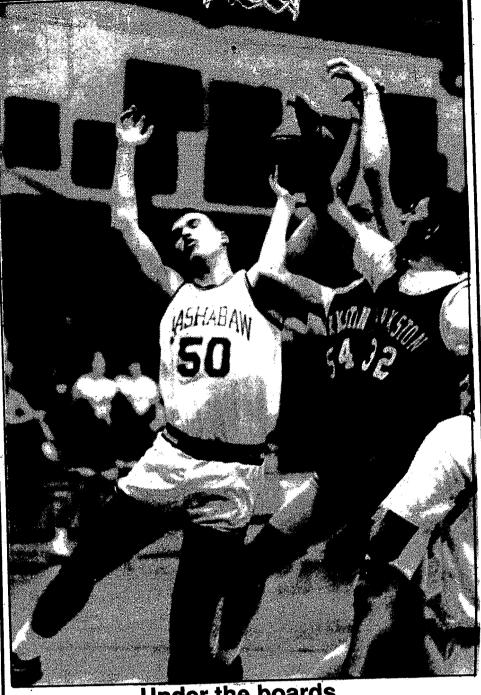

In addition to Dugan's 49, Derek Wiley scored 11 (including three 3-pointers), Luke Fedio four, Nick Shires three, and Jeremy Burke, Chris Combs and Jeremy Fife each had two.

Pat Nadeau scored 21 for Mott, which included six 3-pointers.

Clarkston had no problems with Lakeland, which dropped to 1-13.

The Wolves roared to a 21-9 firstquarter bulge, a 42-22 advantage at the half and then extended the lead to 62-32 after the third quarter.

In addition to Dugan Fife's 30 points (six 3-pointers), Luke Fedio scored 13, Sean Halleran nine, Jeremy Burke and Jeremy Fife each with six, Eric Ryan four, Nick Shires three and David Smith, Derek Wiley, Jon Wyniemko and Chris Combs all with two.

Brandon comeback wraps up Wolves, GOAL

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

"Whatever it takes" is the slogan printed on the Brandon volleyball players' uniforms.

Clarkston certainly found out Brandon has what it takes as the Blackhawks came back to down the Wolves, 4-15, 15-12, 15-8.

The Wolves were three points away from victory in the second game but Brandon broke a 12-12 tie with three unanswered points and then took the third game for the win.

The Feb. 12 match on the Black-hawk court clinched at least a tie for the Greater Oakland Activities League championship for Brandon. (A few days later, Brandon, undefeated in league play, topped Pontiac Northern to outright win its first GOAL title).

Clarkston coach Gordie Richardson, whose team won the league title last season, pointed out a major reason for Brandon's success this season.

"Basically, the difference is they won the tight matches and we didn't," said Richardson, whose Wolves fell to 5-2 in the GOAL. "The kids were disappointed with the loss but Brandon played with more consistency."

The Blackhawks this season have defeated four GOAL opponents after losing the first game.

Brandoncoach Brad Skauge not only credited his team for the victory but complimented Wolf coach Richardson. Several years ago Skauge was thinking about getting out of coaching but Richardson helped convince him to continue.

"He's quite a friend. And a great coach," said Skauge about Richardson.

Some strong serving by Stacey Tinkis helped Clarkston open the first game with a big 9-2 lead. Brandon cut the lead to 9-4 but the Wolves reeled off the next six points to take the first game, 15-4.

The second game was a seesaw affair. Brandon led 3-0, then it was tied 3-3, Brandon went ahead 6-4, then it was tied 6-6, Clarkston led 9-6, it was again tied 9-9. Brandon took a 12-9 lead then the Wolves tied it at 12-12 on a Heather Steinhelper tip and kills by Rachel Seifferlein and Tracey Ortwine. But the Blackhawks went on to win it on a couple Clarkston misplays followed by a collision of two Wolves.

Brandon led 4-1 in the final game and never trailed. The Blackhawks continued to lead 8-4 but strong serving by Stephanie Ranta brought the Wolves to within 7-8. With Brandon ahead11-8, Blackhawk Patti Carey then served out the rest of the match.

Steinhelper paced the Wolves by being 36-of-41 in attacks with kills. The junior also had eight assists, four blocks, eight digs and returned 7-of-7 serves.

Laura Garlitz was 12-of-14 in attacks with five kills and Ortwine was 12-of-15 with five kills.

Heather Austin had 13 assists and served 12-of-12 with one ace. Tinkis served 11-of-11 with four aces and returned 10-of-10 serves.

Deanna Lisle had 15 digs and Seifferlein added 14.

CLARKSTON 1-3 at the 16-team Essexville Garber Invitational (Feb. 15 at Essexville)

Clarkston opened the Garber Invitational against the state's No.2 rated Class B team and it didn't get much easier after Pinconning defeated Clarkston but it was still the Wolves' best effort of the day.

"We played well," said Clarkston coach Gordie Richardson, whose team was edged by the team from Michigan's cheese capital, 14-16, 11-15.

Heather Steinhelper served 14-of-14 with two aces, was 23-of-26 in attacks with nine kills and had five assists, three blocks and eight digs.

Laura Garlitz was 16-of-21 in attacks with seven kills and had two blocks. Ortwine was 12-of-14 in attacks with three kills and had eight digs. Heather Austin had seven assists. Stacey Tinkis returned 12-of-12 serves and Caroline Allison was 6-of-6.

In their second match, the Wolves were clobbered by Bangor John Glenn, 6-15, 4-15.

"We shouldn't have bothered to show up," said coach Richardson.

Garlitz was 6-of-7 in attacks with four kills. Steinhelper served 6-of-6 with two aces and Allison and Austin each served 2-of-2 with one ace. Stephanie Ranta returned 6-of-7 serves and Deanna Lisle had three digs.

In its third match, Clarkston crushed Almont, 15-4, 15-0.

"We couldn't do anything wrong and they couldn't do anything right," said coach Richardson.

Austin had a strong all-around match, serving 19-of-20 with seven aces and added six assists and along with three digs. Ranta served 5-of-5 with two aces, Allison was 5-of-5 with one ace and Lisle 4-of-4 with one ace. Lisle also led the Wolves with five digs. Ortwine and Steinhelper each crushed five kills.

The Wolves' final match was a 7-15, 8-15 loss to Elkton-Pigeon Bay Port.

Garlitz was 8-of-8 in attacks with six kills, Steinhelper was 12-of-15 with three kills and Ortwine was 12-of-14 with two kills

Lisle returned 10-of-11 serves and Tinkis returned 13-of-14. Ortwine had three digs and Steinhelper had a trio of blocks

The 1-3 record at the tourney dropped Clarkston's overall record to 16-13-6.

4 wins prepare wrestlers for districts

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

The defending champs have been wrestling like defending champs lately.

Clarkston's varsity wrestling team won four dual matches at home within three days against tough competition to extend its winning streak to 11.

The Wolves topped Hazel Park and Rochester Adams on Feb. 11. On Feb. 13, Clarkston had the better luck against two teams named the Shamrocks, defeating Redford Catholic Central and East De-Clarkston senior Brian Davis and juniors Jerry Anderson and Jason Roughton won all four of their matches.

Wolf coach Scott Strickler, whose career coaching dual meet record jumped to 100-23 with the four victories, said his team is "peaking" as it nears state tournament time (Clarkston will wrestle against the winner of Lake Orion and Grand Blanc at districts, Feb. 19, about 7 p.m. in Linden. If the Wolves win that match, they will confront the winner of Holly and Swartz Creek later that night in the district finals.

Temperance-Bedford, last year's Class A state runner-ups, have been rated No. 1 all season and will be the team to beat. The senior-dominated Mules topped the Wolves earlier this season at the St. Edwards Quad in Ohio.

The Wolves hope to be among the top eight in Battle Creek. In order to make a return trip, Clarkston will most likely have to get past league foe Lake Orion in the districts and then defeat a tough Howell squad in the regionals.

CLARKSTON 47, East Detroit 19 (Feb. 13 at Clarkston)

Clarkston, 12-3 on the season, won its 11th straight match with a 47-19 victory over East Detroit.

"The East Detroit team couldn't believe how physical we were," said coach Scott Strickler, who picked up his 100th career victory. Three Shamrocks were injured during the match.

Two Clarkston wrestlers were involved in dramatic comebacks.

In the last match of the night, heavyweight Steve Hunkele trailed Shamrock Bill Norris, 0-3, going into the final period. But Hunkele, using several "tight waist" moves, scored 17 points in two minutes for a 17-3 decision.

Clarkston's Jake Briggs (145-pounder) was down 1-5 with only 25 seconds left, but still managed four points and a 5-5 draw.

"That got us fired up," said Strickler about Briggs' comeback.

Clarkston fell behind but the won its last seven matches.

The contest began with a 1-1 draw between Wolf Corey Grant (103) and Kyle Clarkston fell behind when Minh Nguyen (112) stopped Brett Walter, 7-4.

Wolf freshman Jesse Laycock (119) won on a 17-0 technical fall over Jason Rausch but the Shamrocks regained the lead when Eric Martin (125) pinned Armin Michelsen at 2:28.

Clarkston's Jerry Anderson (130) shut out Jason Wasielewski, 8-0, but Shamrock Steve Robinson (135) countered by pinning Charlie Liggett at 3:24.

But from that point on, the Wolves would not lose another match. Jason Roughton (140) pinned Dave Horn at 1:03, Briggs and Martin had the draw, Mike Cain (152) pinned Jim Vamvas at 4:59, P.J. Vandermeer (160) won on an injury default, Nathan Smith (171) pinned Dan Secor at 4:50, Brian Davis (189) pinned Dan Skielnik in a quick 46 seconds and Hunkele came back for his lopsided win.

CLARKSTON 37, Redford Catholic (Feb. 13 at Clarkston)

Three of five freshmen won and some veterans also came through as the Wolves topped Redford Catholic Central, 37-22.

Three Wolf freshmen won the first four matches. Corey Grant (103) crushed Bill Lamb, 19-1, on a technical fall: Jesse Laycock (119) pinned Scott Menoch at 2:44; and Armin Michelsen (125) blanked Joe Woochuck, 10-0.

Junior Jerry Anderson (130) routed Phil Bache, 14-1; junior Jason Roughton (140) pinned Steve Borke in a blink at 28 seconds; junior Jake Briggs (145) defeated Ethan Rentz, 10-4.

The Wolves won their final two matches when Brian Davis (189) edged Todd Lackey in a 4-2 decision and Steve Hunkele (hwt) pinned Matt Moore at 4:43.

Shamrocks won five matches. Mario Sciciuna (112) topped Brett Walter 14-6, Mike Madden (135) nipped Charlie Liggett 7-5, Dan Rieple (152) pinned Mike Cain in 53 seconds, Jason Krueger (160) pinned P.J. Vandermeer at 3:37, and Dan Kelly (171) edged Nathan Smith 9-6.

Smith's battle with Kelly was one of the night's best matches. Kelly was the only wrestler last season to defeat Clarkston all-stater Damon Michelsen.

CLARKSTON 45, Rochester Adams 19 (Feb. 11 at Clarkston)

Rochester Adams arrived at the Clarkston gym with a 9-0 record but the Highlanders exited at 9-2.

After losing to Hazel Park, Adams suffered another loss to Clarkston shortly after in a 45-19 Wolf victory.

We picked it up a notch. We wrestled real well. It was a solid match, one of our better efforts," said Clarkston coach Scott Strickler, who enjoyed the win against his alma mater. Both Class A teams have been rated in the top 10 in the state by the Wrestling Coaches' Association.

Clarkston won eight matches and won six of those big, with pins. Corey Grant (103) pinned Charlie Nedock at 2:27, Jerry Anderson (130) pinned Jason Rudolph in 53 seconds, Charlie Liggett (135) pinned Todd Campbell in 2:53, Jason Roughton (140) pinned Brad Gural at 5:17, P.J. Vandermeer (160) pinned Mark McDowell at 2:13 and Nathan Smith (171) pinned Scott Phillips at 3:57.

Wolf Jeff Farrand (119) won on a technical fall over Chris Petric, 15-0, and Brian Davis (189) blanked Andy Smetana, 9-0.

Highlanders who won were: Mike Terry (112) topped Brett Walter on a 12-5 decision; Matt Olson (125) pinned Armin Michelsen at 3:53; Anthony Saber (145) edged Jake Briggs, 8-5; Doug Lacouver (152) stopped Mike Cain, 15-6; Alex Fedototzskin (hwt) nipped Steve Hunkele, 11-8.

CLARKSTON 29, Hazel Park 22 (Feb. 11 at Clarkston)

Two Clarkston seniors came through, winning two of the last three matches as the Wolves edged Hazel Park, 29-22.

Clarkston held a slim 23-19 lead as Nathan Smith (171) began his match. The senior went on to top Jamie Majewski in a 10-5 decision.

"He fought back," said Clarkston coach Scott Strickler about Smith. "He's in better condition than his opponent. He was still going all out at the end."

Teammate Brian Davis then put the match out of reach in a 13-6 decision over Joe Western.

Hazel Park heavyweight Mike Gallagher edged Steve Hunkele, 9-7, in the finale.

Strickler said he joked with Smith and Davis after the match about how the last-minute win reminded him of last season's cliffhangers.

'Now they know how Damon (Michelsen) and Brian (Davis) felt," said Strickler. Several matches last season were not decided until 171-pound Michelsen and 189-pound Joel Davis battled on the mats.

The match against Hazel Park was a continual seesaw. The Wolves took an early lead when Corey Grant (103) crushed Josh Baughman, 15-4, and then Brett Walter (112) took the fizz out of Larry Champagne by quickly pinning him at 1:14.

But Hazel Park countered with Shawn Foate (119) pinning Jeff Farrand at 4:35, and Kevin Dunaway defeated Armin Michelsen, 9-2.

The next six matches continued to seesaw

Wolf Jerry Anderson (130) stopped Gary Harrison, 7-2, but Viking Wayne Cupp (135) defeated Chuck Liggett, 10-3.

Clarkston's Jason Roughton (140) roughed up Jason Nagy, 14-1, but Hazel Park's Aaron Hilgendorf (145) did the same to Frank Lafferty, 14-4.

Wolf Mike Cain (152) pinned Nathan Etheridge at 3:35, but Viking Tom Simpson (160) topped P.J. Vandermeer, 11-4.

These splits set up the last three confrontations, with two of those won by Smith and Brian Davis.

Playing Possum

James

But most of all, my ultimate dream job would be what Pat Alger was doing in this small town last Saturday night at the Century Chapel of Sashabaw Presbyterian Church (in Independence Town-

Alger was singing his original songs to an audience.

The audience didn't come close in numbers to the thousands who watch a major league baseball game or a grandslam tennis event. But the audience that attended the Possum Corner folk series event didn't just watch, they listened.

Alger is just one of many fine singers or groups who has been on stage the past six years in the concert series. Possum Corner is one of the best-kept secrets in the Clarkston area and those who attend (many drive in from a distance) know about the sweet sounds, messages and humor that are always filling the cozy surroundings.

The physical closeness of the performer to the audience helps to paint pictures of that sound, message or humor. The performer cannot ignore the audience and the Possum Corner audience cannot ignore the performer. Nor would they want to.

The introductions or anecdotes told between songs by the singers sometimes seem as mesmerizing as the songs themselves.

Alger has plenty of stories. Probably one for each of his 500-600 songs he has written.

The Georgia native, who lives in Nashville, certainly is a name dropper. Among others, he has written songs (some of them No. 1 hits) recorded by Garth Brooks, Don Williams, Hal Ketchum, The Everly Brothers, Peter, Paul and Mary, Kathy Mattea and Trisha Yearwood.

When he introduced his song, "Once in a Very Blue Moon," he told the crowd, "This song has been sung by Nanci Griffith, Dolly Parton and Miss Piggy.'

He said not all of his songs turn into hits, but anytime singers like Livingston and James Taylor record one of his songs, it's always a hit to him personally.

"City Lights.' It wasn't a great hit but they (the Taylors) both recorded it so it was a compliment," said Alger.

Alger gets a thrill (and a paycheck) when others sing his songs, but he also likes to do his own singing. He recorded his own album last year, "True Love and Other Short Stories."

And he does some occasional touring.

When the Possum Corner crowd cheered for an encore, Alger came back to sing two more songs.

The first one, "One More Goodbye," was a song he wrote as a 17year-old while working at a cotton gin. The song was about how he had broken up with his girlfriend.

The last song he sung will be recorded by Kathy Mattea for an upcoming movie. He introduced it as a song that he wrote for the movie's main character, a rape victim who later found someone to love.

"The song had a big effect on her. She fought hard to get it in the movie," said Alger, who added, "I'm happy to say, I also have someone like this in my life.'

The refrain is:

While the world outside my window goes insane. You're here to remind me a few good things remain.

The Clarkston area was lucky to have Alger for a night ..

... and always lucky to continue to have Possum Corner.

Boys third at Southeast ski meet

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

Only one Wolf placed in the top 10 but the Clarkston boys' ski team still managed to place third at the Southeast Michigan League Championship Meet Feb.

Clarkston, which finished with 187 points, took third out of 14 teams in the event which features the top teams from both the Pine Knob and Mt. Holly ski Redford Catholic Central won the meet with 110 points, followed by West Bloomfield at 142.

The meet at Mt. Holly was a preview of the upcoming regionals. The Wolves finished ahead of both Rochester Adams (fourth at 187) and Fenton (sixth at 238), which will both compete against Clarkston at the Feb. 20 regionals at Mt. Holly. The top two teams from that regional qualify for state.

We'll have to ski our best," said Clarkston coach Judy Roeser about the upcoming regionals. The Wolves have enough firepower to qualify for the state but the coach knows that anything can happen at a ski meet. Her heavily-favored Wolves lost a dual meet against Waterford Kettering & few weeks ago after four Wolves fell.

About 100 skiers competed at the Southeast meet, which is a combination of both slalom and giant slalom runs.

Brighton's Jeff Kent finished first in the slalom at 53.32.

Whittaker also had the Wolves' best time in the giant slalom, finishing 17th (47.56). Trim placed 20th (47.66), Menke was 22nd (47.80) and Studt was 29th

Kozlowski finished 59th (49.99) and Hartke was 68th (51.54).

Justin Whittaker had the best finish for the Wolves, placing seventh in the slalom. Whittaker's two runs totaled 55.67

Teammate Bryson Menke, who recently injured his knee while snowboarding, finished 14th (56.76) and Mike Kozlowski was 25th (58.72). Scout Trim fell but recovered to place 53rd (64.72). (The top four places of six skiers count toward team standings).

Wolf Dave Hartke took 54th (64.85). Dave Studt placed 65th (72.93) after a Clarkston girls placed fourth out of 12 teams at the Southeast Michigan League championship meet.

Birmingham Marian won the Feb. 13 ski meet at Mt. Holly with 63 points, followed by Bloomfield Hills Andover at 172, Brighton 183, Clarkston 184 and Flint Powers 185.

The meet features the top teams from the Pine Knob and Mt. Holly ski divisions, with both slalom and giant slalom results combined for overall standings.

The Wolves, Andover and Flint Powers will be the favorites at the Feb. 20 regionals at Mt. Holly. Two teams from that regional will qualify for the state

Clarkston coach Judy Roeser said her team has a good shot at qualifying for state but noted, "We'll have to ski strong."

Three Wolves finished within four tenths of a second of each other in slalom action at the Southeast meet. Courtney Whittaker placed 16th by finishing both runs in 65.67 seconds. Jenny Curd was close behind in 18th (65.84) and Kim Carpentier was 19th (66.04). Carrie Millen took 33rd (69.87). (The top four places of six skiers count in team totals).

Becky Rumph finished 38th (71.15) and Lisann Hutchinson was 48th (78.91).

Marian's Julie Byrd was the only skier out of 84 competitors to break a minute, finishing first at 59.22. Byrd also won the giant slalom (46.98).

Best finish in the G.S. for a Wolf was Whittaker, who placed 13th (50.85). Carpentier was 25th (52.46), Curd 26th (52.81) and Rumph 34th (53.46).

In addition, Millen finished 40th (53.75) and Kristi Stuetzer was 52nd (55.76).

Skier in top 10

Matt Marsden, a Clarkston resident and senior at Birmingham Country Day High School, finished in the top 10 in both events at the Southeast Michigan League championship meet Feb. 13 at Mt. Holly.

Marsden finished sixth in the giant slalom by completing the two runs in 46.12 seconds. He placed 10th in the slalom with combined runs of 56.58 seconds.

How to cut your winter plant losses

Unless you live too far north to be growing tender plants, you needn't expect winter losses, say experts at the American Association of Nurserymen.

And you can preserve your landscape perennials, evergreens and deciduous shrubs by taking a few steps for fall care.

Two common perennial problems

Two problems account for loss of perennials: rot from water standing in the flower bed and separation from roots by "heaving."

To avoid rot, cut drains into the flower bed to carry off standing water, and rake soggy leaves covering crowns.

Alternate freezing and thawing causes heaving. Prevent this by covering the bed with three to six inches of nonpacking mulch, such as marsh hay, straw or excelsior to keep the ground frozen until spring.

Roses might need extra care

In cold climates, bank roses with 6-10 inches of soil around the stems. When that freezes, apply mulch. Plants in mild areas don't require this.

Mulching helps

If dehydrated, evergreens, particularly the broadleaf variety such as rhododendrons and some azaleas, will be affected by wind and sunburn. Remedy this by mulching the soil before it freezes with peat or pecan, rice or buckweat hulls. Next, spray both sides of the leaves with an antidrying agent to prevent dehydration.

The bark on tender azaleas may split off just above the ground. You can prevent this by mulching and spraying. To keep the sun off the stems and tops of the plants, shield them with screens made of green burlap or evergreen branches.

Deciduous shrubs are susceptible to the same problems as evergreens but suffer less severely. Treat them as you would broadleaf evergreens.

Sun and windburn are also harmful to needle-evergreens, but snow and ice damage them more often. Correct this by dusting off the snow while it is still dry and fluffy. To keep the plant from spreading and splitting, use light rope for spiral binding; stake to prevent bending.

Wind harms young trees

Harsh winds and other winter conditions blow over and pull out newly planted deciduous trees. Use stakes to support them. Thin-barked trees such as maples and beeches also can be damaged by sunscald, which happens mostly in the South and Southwest. Narrow trips of burlap or commercial tree wraps will remedy this.

Find out more about protecting your plants in the winter by talking to the professionals at your local garden center or nursery.

Woman, 60, fed up with foreign-made products

BY JULIE CAMPE Clarkston News Editor

As "anti-foreign goods" attitudes increase across the country, they also are on the rise in the Clarkston area.

Lolita Taylor, 60, a 25-year Clarkston Road, Independence Township, resident, said she's fed up with the prevalence of foreign-made products and thinks consumer attitudes hurt the United States. She also blames Asian countries for exploiting their workers and undermining the U.S. economy.

For instance, the Indonesian workers who make $75

Nike sneakers are paid 15 cents an hour.

"They aren't even making a living wage, and the government knows it," Taylor said, producing a copy of a newspaper article on foreign labor.

Yet U.S. textile companies are hard to find.

"I went clothing shopping recently, and not a thing was made in the USA," Taylor said.

Foreign manufacturers are to blame for the decline in U.S. manufacturing firms, she said.

'I'm very angry because I helped them. Look what I'm wearing," she said, pointing to her outfit of L.A. Gear shoes, slacks and jacket.

The Japanese are among the worst, she said.

"After the war with Japan, the Japanese said they will conquer the U.S. without a shot," Taylor said. "And they are doing this. They came in through the back door, economically.'

She cited industry after industry.

"Steel mills — our natural resources are sent to them; they make the steel," she said. "Electronics — TVs, radios, CD players, electronic toys. Kitchen appliances my microwave says: 'Montgomery Ward. Made in "The most dangerous, though, is computers," Taylor said. "They make the computers. Can they also give it

She noted that Japan is the last to stop killing wales and was the last to contribute money to pay for the war in the Middle East.

And many U.S. unemployment problems can be blamed on the Japanese, she said.

"They're trying to take over the car industry," she said. "Our people are out of work because of it. ... I'm angry. My blood pressure is up. It makes me sick to see so many people unemployed.'

She's considering organizing a protest of some sort, though she's never done such a thing in her life. She dropped by the Independence Senior Center a few weeks ago to see if anyone would join her struggle.

"They're my age; they're fighters," Taylor said. "We've been hungry before."

She compared the attitudes of her generation with those of young adults today.

"Youngsters say they can't afford to buy American. I tell them, 'Then go without.'

We didn't expect instant gratification," she said of her younger years. "We had to earn it. Even for entertainment, we didn't have the money. We had more conversation. We relied upon one another more."

She worries that the younger adults don't remember Pearl Harbor, for instance. The war, she said, is still the same. It's just a different battlefield.

"Pearl Harbor was instant. This came more slowly, They snuck in. They came in the back door."

The solution, she said, is to buy American and to change the leadership of the country.

"I'm very disappointed with Bush. We need somebody strong, like Truman. Draft Iacocca for president or

Springfield sign ordinance changed

An amended sign ordinance was unanimously approved by Springfield Township Board Feb. 12.

Ordinance 26, Section 16.07, will go into effect 30 days from publication of the legal notice.

Doug Lewan, township planning and development coordinator, explained the rationale behind the changes.

"The reason for the amendment is basically to clean up the language in the old ordinance," said Lewan. Lewan said the ordinance is not designed to be more restrictive, but to clear up some of the parts that are difficult to interpret and to address some areas that are not covered at all.

Attendance winners

FIVE Clarkston High School students recently received gifts for having no unexcused absences or tardies during the first semester. Three of the winners with interim principal Mel Varra are from left Stacey Butler, Nick Bielak and Shannon Schaefer. The two other winners were Stacy Carr and Caroline Cotter. The prizes, donated by the Clarkston Rotary, were televisions, stereos and headphones.

Over 400 students originally signed up to be eligible and then 152 were confirmed to be without the absences and tardies. The five winners were then chosen in a drawing. The event, which is part of the school's Renaissance program headed by viceprincipal Brent Cooley, will continue second semester. There are 464 students who have already pledged. Consumers can help with county's waste

BY JENNIFER SHIELDS

A professor of chemistry at Oakland University, Rochester, was the featured speaker at a Feb. 4 Clarkston High School Environmental Concerns Club meeting.

Tom Tomboulin outlined the need for solid waste management in Oakland County. Every county is required to have a plan. Currently, most solid waste is deposited in landfills or separated and recycled.

One ton of garbage per person per year is accumulated. The plan that is suggested to follow is the waste-toenergy (W-T-E) plan, which consists of: 1) Reducing and reusing. 2) Composting. 3) Recycling. 4) Incinerating. 5) Putting the rest in landfills.

The problems of recycling plastics was another issue that Tomboulin shared. He explained that plastics are difficult to recycle because of the various types of plastics that are produced. Currently, plastic No. 1 and

No. 2 are being recycled.

Also difficult is the recycling of batteries. Most batteries contain mercury, which can be recycled, but is usually discarded. Batteries should not be incinerated because they release harmful mercury vapors to the atmosphere if burned.

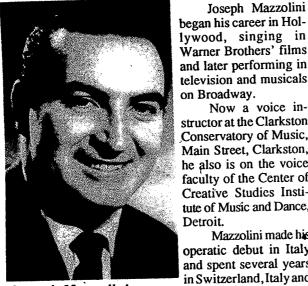

Change takes place in two ways: the consumer and the government. That means that consumers should stay clear of products that support unnecessary waste.

Members of the Environmental Concerns Club and their teacher, Mary Fowler, wished to share their knowledge with area residents.

Jennifer Shields is a junior at Clarkston High School.

Five years later, caring meant the Oakland County Hospital Association donating the hospital to the thriving industrial center of Pontiac...and Oakland County Hospital became Pontiac City Hospital, which was changed to Pontiac General Hospital in 1931. Today, new communities all over Oakland County look to the same hospital for carino in the 1990's for services such as:

Business briefs

Engine replacement franchise opens

On his first day of business, Motorworks franchise owner Bruce Sorrentino found himself besieged with phone calls from prospective customers.

Sorrentino, a Clarkston-area resident who spent 16 years as a computer systems analyst for the Big Three auto makers, says he decided to invest in a Motorworks franchise "because there is nothing like it in Detroit."

Originally from the Madison Heights area, he chose Madison Heights for his business because "people here take good care of their cars."

His business is the Detroit area's first nationally supported franchise that installs remanufactured car and light truck engines. All Motorworks engines are remanufactured (not rebuilt) from the "ground up" to industry specifications with all new parts.

Many of his customers are people who "have a car they really love, but the engine is shot and they can't afford to trade in for a new or late-model used car," says Sorrentino. "Instead, they're interested in trading their engine for a remanufactured one."

Menu now more health-conscious

Low-fat and budget-conscious items have been added to the menu at the Clarkston Cafe.

The South Main Street, Clarkston, restaurant has doubled its daily offerings of "Heart Smart" meals, which feature foods that are low in fat and cholesterol.

Other new menu items, for diners who prefer to pass up heavy meals, are labeled "Light Side." They often onedish meals, served without soup and salad.

It also offers two daily "Frugal Feasts," featuring less expensive dishes, which range from $8.95 to $10.95 for dinner and $4.95 and $5.95 for lunch.

New coordinator

Judy Chisholm of Waterford was hired as a full-time volunteer coordinator for Lighthouse North, thanks to two grants totaling $14,000.

"We're extremely happy to receive the grants," said Sherry Kaars, director of Lighthouse North on Maybee Road, Independence Township. "We utilize over 25 volunteers a week and desperately needed a coordinator." Chisholm, a volunteer for Lighthouse North for over two years, will be responsible for recruiting volunteers and assigning and training them for a variety of projects. She graduated from Oakland Community College in 1991 with an associate's degree in social work.

The first grant of $5,000 came from the Archdiocese of Detroit. The Archdiocese allocated funds from Operation Rice Bowl, a program sponsored by Catholic Relief Services.

The second grant of $9,000 was issued by the Community Foundation for Southeastern Michigan.

Lighthouse North, a non-profit human services agency, is a satellite agency of Pontiac Area Lighthouse. It provides food, clothing, medical and other assistance to north Oakland County residents in need.

What's new in business

New Chinese eatery offers it all

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

The Wai Hong Chinese restaurant is the newest occupant to take up residency in the Independence Towne Square at Waldon and Sashabaw roads.

Open since Oct. 28, Wai Hong is owned by Shou Liang Tan, whose family operates restaurants in Walled Lake and California's Bay Area. Liang Tan has 12 years of experience in the restaurant business.

Wooed by his friend, developer Arkan Jonna, Liang Tan said the Clarkston area was the perfect choice for his new restaurant and residence.

"We liked the Clarkston area the first time we saw it," Liang Tan said. "It's a nice area, filled with nice people."

The Wai Hong Chinese restaurant can seat 120 people, and it offers an array of oriental dishes. They include: Mandarin, Cantonese, Sze-Chuan, Hong Kong and American cuisine. Liang Tan said his restaurant also offers some exotic items such as shrimp rolls and honey walnut Mandarin chicken, whose recipes they brought over from their California restaurant.

Wai Hong's also offers a special hot pot dish, which is prepared and cooked at a guest's table.

Liang Tan said his prices are competitive, with the average lunch costing between $3.75 and $5.75. He said all his food is made fresh after ordering and is not pre-

Wai Hong's doesn't have a liquor license presently, but the owner said he's in the process of obtaining one.

Offering carry-out, Wai Hong's is open every day of the year. Its hours are 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Friday and Saturday and noon to 10 p.m. on Sunday.

THE Wai Hong Chinese Restaurant is the newest addition to the Independence Towne Square development in Independence Township (the new Food Town shopping center). Offering a variety of oriental dishes, the restaurant is open seven days a week.

REAL ESTATE -'A GOOD INVESTMENT

IF YOU ARE ULCER-PRONE, real estate is a stocks.

Ron Rodda Sales Manager

"Let's discuss your Career in Real Estate Sales"

QUESTION: Ownership of a single home has always been viewed as a prize necessity. Is it a good investment vehicle also?

ANSWER: For every investor who makes a killing in healthler investment than the stock market, you'll find another who has been hurt badly. This rarely happens in real estate. It's a stable and safe investment which doesn't fluctuate from day to day which is good for ulcer-prone investors. Then there's leverage. Real estate can be purchased by using 20 percent down, whereas other investments require 50-100 percent cash. The outlook is still rosy. The national housing shortage will have a continued upward affect on single home prices and tax incentives

Computer search may save time

If you're looking for money for college, you may want to consider paying for a computer search that will match your qualifications with awards available.

Each year, $138 billion in scholarships and grants are given each year nationwide. Of that, $6 billion goes unclaimed, according to Jamey Wittenberg, owner of Clarkston Tutorial Services.

And these scholarships are not just for 18-year-olds. Some are geared to older students, which is a good thing, considering that 46 percent of college students are over

With this in mind, Orville Redenbacher offers a "Second Start Grant" for people over 30.

Other grants range from Yoko Ono's scholarship for a forestry students to Charles Schulz's for cartooning students.

Four computer searches are listed below:

Search for College: Offered by TUTI Network & Clarkston Tutorial Services; $39.95 cost (plus $5 shipping and handling) includes individualized help in filling out the application. Then, the student will receive an individualized booklet with the best 6-25 prospects for that particular person. The booklet also includes lots of information about loans.

From there, the student must fill out a scholarship form for each prospect.

It takes time, says Wittenberg, but it is more individualized than most services. That means a student doesn't have to wade through 100 or more opportunities, filling out forms for each, as some scholarship search services require.

Call 625-8887 to make an appointment, or call or write TUTI Network & Clarkston Tutorial Services, 55 S. Main St., Clarkston, MI 48346 for more information.

Computer search for state, federal and campus-based student aid: Offered by MRR Group of Waterford; $39 cost includes individualized 40-page report guides students through steps necessary to complete state and federal student aid applications. Plus, it gives student aid programs available at the student's school of choice. If a student does not qualify for a scholarship, loan, grant or financial aid from one of the sources, he or she receives a $250 U.S. Savings Bond.

Call 623-0447 for information.

■ WMU-Cashe: Offered by Western Michigan University: $10: individualized report gives scholarship and grant opportunities that each student is qualified for. See Victor Hart at Clarkston High School for more information (625-3370).

■ Germain Financial Aid Services: Offered by Deborah Johnson of Rochester, $79 cost includes search for scholarship and grant opportunities nationwide; guarantees that student will qualify for $200 in awards or will give a $200 U.S. Savings Bond.

Cold weather blues?

Cold weather can often put a chill on the most enthusiastic of spirits and the best laid plans. If a cold and dreary day keeps you indoors, here's a hot idea.

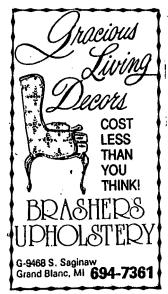

Get the fireplace going, if you have one, or just light a few candles to give your room a happy glow.

Curl up in your favorite easy chair or on your sofa with a good book; listen to a favorite record, or perhaps pop a video you really love into the VCR.

The settle back and slowly sip a soothing cup of hot tea. You can flavor it with lemon or sweeten it with sugar if you like.

Now is the time to unwind and enjoy yourself. Spending a pleasant hour or two this way may make you wish the weather would keep you indoors more often.

TOTHE CHURCHES, Who is on the Lord's side? Listen, Dr. Death is a strong delusion allowed by God to blind those that don't believe and have had pleasure in unrighteousness who hate the truth of the Gospel who will be damped forever. Those who will be damned forever. Those who take their own life hate the salvation of God, do despite to the blood of Christ and the Spirit of God, even those who, as family, consent to such a thing. It's total rebellion and unbelief that has manifested itself in applying who have now rejected. unbelief that has manifested itself in mankind, who have now rejected Christ and are their own Gods. Therefore, God has sent them strong delusion who believed and trusted in a liel Jesus said, "I have come to give life abundantly!" He said and did what God told him to! How many times, and even now, have so called confessing Christians sat and partook of the body and blood of Jesus hating the truth, having Sin and unbelief in their hearts and conscience. How many times refusing the Lord-ship of Christ and obeying him. No wonder the first damnation that is happening. Man is ing him. No wonder the first damnation that is happening. Man is responsible and held accountable. No excuse, none for Sin and unbelief. Committing suicide is the same as saying I don't believe or want God's Salvation-Jesus Christ. I'm my own Salvation." But when they die they will be externally damned who believe a lie with no way out of their just torment they chose. No their just torment they chose, no matter how many prayers you pray! They are lost forever and worse off. This is God's Word not mine, whether you like it or not! Wake up, Church! III.X7-2c

Rush Road Reports By Don Rush

Olds Ninety Eight is supercharged with international flair from the Regency models to the Touring of 42 inches. Sedan. They all boast Old's idea of to do things a little better each year.

Enter 1992's Ninety Eight Touring Sedan with the optional Supercharged 3800 V6 engine. Here's the skinny on the marketing research on your average Tour- a stand still take off, either. Estimated gas ing Sedan buyer: "slightly younger (average age 53 years), better educated . . . they typically prize the Ninety Eight's international design flair, its engineering innovation and its impressive roadability." In other words: they like the idea of this boat being quick, responsive and easy to handle. They like the way this flagship floats over the road. They're not afraid of the analog gadgetry that greets you when you start the car . . . "Good Morning" . . "Good Afternoon" ... "Good Evening.

These messages flash across your viewing screen (below the speedometer) depending on what time of day it is.

Making reference to flagships and boats when writing about the Ninety Eight isn't far off. The Touring Sedan weighs in at whopping 3,697 pounds. We're talking small whale proportions here. It's overall length is just over 17 feet (205.5 inches). It goes without saying that there's plenty

Make no mistake. Oldsmobile's flag- of room inside the car. Leg room up front ship line is their Ninety Eight nameplate -- is 42 inches; leg room in back is just shy

This thing floats over the road thanks to combining luxury with practicality. The the touring suspension. Up front the car folks at Oldsmobile like to show off their has independent, MacPherson struts, coil Ninety Eights, and they keep on wanting springs and anti-roll bar -- the same goes for the rear of the car.

Passing in the Touring Sedan surprisingly was not a problem. The supercharged V6 is quick and not all that bad at mileage is between 17 and 27 miles per gallon. The gas tank holds 18 gallons of fuel (premium unleaded, please).

Overall, the Touring Sedan does a fine job at being a luxury car that's quicker and handles better than you would initially think. The seating is very comfortable, the ride is smooth, there's next to nothing in the wind/road noise department and the stereo sounds nice (the car I drove had both a CD player and cassette player).

Deer/vehicle crashes in Michigan declined 1.8 percent in 1990 from 1989's record-setting high of 46,784. However, these crashes have risen 60 percent in the past five years. One major reason for last year's drop is that the deer herd has decreased, from 2 million in 1989 to 1.8 million in 1990. This year's herd is estimated at about 1.7 million. AAA Michigan urges motorists to:

- Watch for shining eyes while driving at night. Most deer/vehicle crashes occur in darkness.
- Slow down if you spot a deer. If the deer is motionless off the roadway, your high beams can freeze the animal. Never try to dodge a moving deer; it may head toward you. Most deer related crashes occur when drivers swerve.
- Report all crashes to local police or the DNR and your insurance company.
- Always wear a safety belt.

PARENT volunteer Pete Barth instructs four Clarkston Elementary fourth-graders on how to play an ancient Korean game of prophecy. Korea was one of seven countries discussed in Ruth Kelsey's class Feb. 13. The instructor set up "stations" for these seven countries, and her students periodically moved from table to table to learn more about their cultures. The students also enjoyed a lunch made up of the world's many exotic dishes.

ELLA O'CONNOR (left) and Schuyler Edwards, both 9, volunteered to model a couple of Poland's traditional costumes Feb. 13.

The Clarkston Elementary School students went from class to class to show off their authentic European garb.

Small world

LIZ HANSELMAN of Poland was one of five foreign-born guest speakers to visit Natalie Hewko's fourth-grade class at Clarkston Elementary School Feb. 13. The speakers were invited to Clarkston as part of the school district's World Languages and Culture Week.
