Clark farm bounty still feeds many

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Old McGowan had a farm. E-I-E-I-O. And on that farm he had beans and peas and squash. E-I-E-I-O. Actually, Robert McGowan isn't old, but he has a nice garden and has put some of it to use as a vegetable garden.

In our forefather's image

By George, this rock looks a lot like our country's founding father, George Washington. Ironically, this large stone is located on West Washington Street, in front of an apartment complex. From this angle, even the most casual observer has to admit it resembles Washington's profile. A Clarkston woman brought it to the News' attention a couple of weeks ago. She wanted her identity to remain anonymous, however, so people won't think she's off her "rock"er.

Pastor remembered with symbolic headstone

Nearly five months have passed since the untimely death of the Rev. Paul Vanaman, but that hasn't stopped his congregation from giving the pastor one last present.

On Aug. 2, around 200 people crowded Ottawa Park Cemetery, Independence Township, for the unveiling of an impressive headstone. The presentation coincided with Dixie Baptist Church's 38 anniversary.

A HEADSTONE for the late Pastor Paul S. Vanaman was unveiled in Ottawa Park Cemetery, Independence Township, Aug. 2. The marker was paid for by Vanaman's family and congregation at the Dixie Baptist Church, Springfield Township. Vanaman, who founded the church in 1954, drowned while swimming in Costa Rica last February.

The church-shaped headstone is four feet high and four feet wide, with inscriptions on both sides. The front of the tombstone is emblazoned with Vanaman's name, a picture of Christ and a drawing of a farm. The back side also features the family name, as well as a depiction of a locomotive, Christ's picture and a family saying.

Todd Vanaman, eldest son and newly appointed pastor of Dixie Baptist Church, said the pictures of Christ resemble the depiction on I-75's "Highway Pulpit" in Springfield Township. The train's picture is also symbolic, he said.

"The drawing of the train was taken from an old photograph," Vanaman said. "My grandfather, William Vanaman, used to operate engine number 1410 from Camden to Salem, New Jersey, in the 1920s.

"He died when Dad was only 11 months old, so the photo is a very beloved family keepsake," he said.

The drawing of the farm on the front side of the tombstone symbolizes Vanaman's love for farming and gardening, his son said.

"We used to tease Dad by saying 'you can take the pastor off the farm, but you can't take the farm out of the pastor,'" Todd Vanaman said, laughing.

But perhaps the most touching detail on the marker is an often-used family saying.

"Just below the picture of the train, on the backside, is the phrase 'If I don't see you in the morning, I'll see you in heaven,'" Vanaman said. "Dad used to say this to all us kids before we went to bed. It's a tradition many of us have passed along to our own children."

Vanaman said the marker serves as a fitting tribute to a man who spent his entire life helping others.

"We wanted to have a monument designed that was a tribute to his life and ministry," he said. "He was a tough hardened soldier, with a soft side that made him such a people person.

"He'll be missed, but never forgotten," Vanaman added.

Platform-shoed prowler spotted

A prowler with no fashion sense was frightened away by a baby-sitter on Deepwood, Independence Township, Aug. 13.

According to Oakland County Sheriff's Department reports, the baby-sitter heard noises and went outside to check what was going on.

She saw a man with platform shoes, bell bottoms and a hat standing outside the apartment throwing stones. He was frightened away by the baby-sitter.

Police said a similar incident occurred in Orion Township.

Anti-incumbency may be O'Neill's ticket to D.C.

Q & A

Megan O'Neill of Independence Township, who is attending the Republican National Convention in Houston this week, is the only Republican woman from Michigan running for U.S. Congress in November. She's up against Democratic incumbent Dale Kildee of Flint. O'Neill, who has worked in the health-care field as a marketing representative and a research assistant, has served for the last two years as a member of the Advance Teams for President George Bush and Vice President Dan Quayle. Last week, O'Neill was interviewed by Clarkston News Staff Writer James Gibowski.

▼ How did you feel when you first found out you clinched the nomination?

■ Very happy. You work very hard on something and it's nice to have positive results. I felt very comfortable that evening because we had a number of people out at the polls and the feedback was so positive, voters coming out saying, "yes, we voted for her," "we're supporting her," "we already know about her." So we felt very comfortable going home. And we won by a pretty good margin."

▼ What were the biggest reasons why you defeated the other three Republican candidates?

■ I hate to say because I'm a woman. I think it's more that I'm something new, something different. A different background. Two of the other candidates were attorneys.

My background's been mostly in health care. I have worked in government. For a while I worked for Bush.

My stands on the issues had a lot to do with it. I wasn't afraid to say in health care we need more malpractice reform. ...

... Health care is probably the No. 2 concern of most Americans right now and I think my experience in that area helped me greatly.

▼ Are you for national health care?

■ I don't support a national government-funded health care program because we already have a government program in Medicare and Medicaid. And that's such a disaster; it really is. The government-funded programs in the United Kingdom and Canada have not worked well. I would like to see a reform of the private system. ...

▼ What's going to be your game-plan in trying to unseat Kildee?

■ I'm going to go after the feeling of anti-incumbency. He's part of the liberal Democratic congress that has just taxed and regulated us into a mess, just a terrible recession.

The president has growth plans he's tried to enact that congress will not allow for partisan reasons, I believe. So nothing is getting done in this country. We have a lot of legislators in Washington that are at loggerheads with one another. It's hurting all of us.

▼ Some people think the only way to get something done is to have the president and congress belong to the same party. Is that necessary?

■ I like the balance offered by two parties. A lot of people are not voting partisan this year I found in campaigning. They're voting based on the individual.

We will have a new freshman congress in Washington in January, whether we like it or not. Hopefully, it will be enough of a change, enough new people that we will get people more committed to working together that are not so entrenched, so committed to special interests that they'll be real concerned about their states and about our nation and the future. ...

▼ Did Rep. Kildee write any overdrawn checks?

■ A hundred bad checks. I think that's a symbol of fiscal irresponsibility. He also voted against the balanced-budget amendment. We have to curtail government spending. If it takes a balanced-budget amendment, I certainly support that.

▼ If you believe you can balance the budget without a tax increase and our annual federal deficit is about $300 billion, what would you cut?

■ I don't believe in passing a balanced-budget amendment next year. It has to be phased in because it would be a huge economic shock to us. One of the things that should be cut is government itself. It's a huge bureaucracy. ...

... Secondly, let's not just look at what we're going to cut. Let's look at how can we stimulate growth to increase revenue. There's several ways. You can give more tax incentives for research and development. Give the president line-item veto; that reduces a lot of frivolous legislation. Cut the capital-gains tax rate.

▼ What are the biggest differences between you and Rep. Kildee?

■ I guess that he's been in office for so long. He's a professional politician. He's been in office all his career that I know of. He was in the U.S. Congress for 16 years. Before that he was in state offices.

That's one of the biggest contrasts. It's more helpful to have a congress more varied in its makeup. Let's get people from different backgrounds there representing. People from health-care backgrounds, accounting, farming, just a wide-range of things.

And women and men. It provides different perspectives, new insights, different ideas. And a freshness for people out there making a living, working. The insights that they have are very valuable as opposed to someone who's been there forever and who's not in tune with what's going on in his district.

▼ You and Rep. Kildee are both pro-life in regards to abortion. What are the biggest differences between you two as far as other issues?

■ I know he's against the balanced-budget amendment. And I would support that. I don't know how he stands on schools of choice; that's handled on the state level anyway. We're both pro-life; I know that.

I guess just basically he's a very liberal Democrat. He votes for tax increases on almost every occasion. I know he was against the Persian Gulf War, and once the troops were there he voted against sending extra funding. I do have a copy of his voting record. ...

... He's done nothing for his district, as well. Flint has an unemployment rate that's more than twice the national average. Businesses will not locate in Flint. He has not done anything to bring or preserve jobs in that area.

▼ Do you think much of this election will be Oakland County Republicans against Genesee County Democrats?

■ Gosh, I hope not. We're all in the same district. I don't think it should be a county by county affair. I think people down here are a little more nervous. At least I found out campaigning that people who supported (Rep. Bob) Carr in the past, who's more of a moderate Democrat and more powerful and gotten a lot more done for us, they don't have the same feelings about a very liberal Democrat from Flint. They don't look at him in the same light at all. In fact, some of the Carr supporters are helping me, seeing now that they're in my district.

▼ How many campaign signs did you put up before the primary?

■ We put up 200 of the 4-foot by 8-foot. And we made those ourselves in the barn, silk-screened them all. And then we put up hundreds and hundreds of lawn signs, but those didn't seem to last very long.

▼ Do you think your race against Rep. Kildee will be a reflection of the race between President Bush and Gov. Bill Clinton?

■ I don't think there's coattails on either side this year. People have said they will vote for me but they will support Clinton. It's not going to be a partisan thing this year. It will be more on the individual. Voters are very concerned about who they're electing this year, and they're really taking an extra effort to look at those people before they decide.

▼ At least one of your opponents in the Republican primary questioned the influence of your father, Dr. James O'Neill, in your campaign. Any comment on that?

■ That was made by one of my opponents (Chuck Forrest). It was kind of interesting because he had his mother at every event I've ever seen him at. My father was with me at very few events. He was at the state convention and maybe at some fund-raisers.

The response from our family is that we were raised so we're all very close. We love one another, and we would always help each other no matter what we've done. ... I think it's sort of an insult to say that it's terrible that your father is helping you.

▼ Do you want to clear up anything about the report about you giving a loan to your father?

■ That was another non-issue. The FEC (Federal Election Commission) never investigated me. That same opponent (Forrest) filed a complaint saying that I was about to commit a violation. The FEC's responsibility is just to pass that information along to you; it doesn't mean you're investigated.

That money was never used in the campaign, anyway. He just seemed to be a mean person; I think that's why he wasn't elected. He had a lot of mudslinging against me and another opponent, and I would hear feedback from the people in the community, as well, about the things he said. It was just outrageous.

▼ When did you first become interested in running for U.S. Congress? And isn't it quite a jump? Usually people start in state government?

■ I started working in politics years ago. I worked on a lot of campaigns. And then I worked for Bush for two years and Quayle for about six months.

I did a lot of foreign trips. I was in the room when the START (Strategic Arms Reduction Talks) treaty was signed. Most of it was signed in (Mikhail) Gorbachev's private residence. That was one of my sights in Moscow. ... There was probably 12 of us in the room. ... So the things I got to see and had the opportunity to witness over the past few years really excited me about our government, about our relations with other countries.

Another reason I decided to run is I think I have the same frustrations other people have. We have people in Washington that are not looking out for us; they're not representing us. And I feel I can do a much better job of that.

I think my experience in the private sector and working for the government will help me do that.

I looked at the race very carefully with Kerry Kammer, who's a friend of mine, and I saw the numbers and I thought, gosh, this is a seat we can take and should take. And that's when I decided I think I'll run. ...

Council adopts new city budget

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A $432,280 budget was unanimously adopted for 1992-93 by the Clarkston City Council July 13.

Two of the biggest differences in the new budget compared to the 1991-92 village budget involve expenditures related to the formation of cityhood.

This year's budget includes one-time cityhood charges of $35,375 (which will be paid in equal amounts over three years) — mainly legal fees.

Because Independence Township did not renew its police contract with the city, public safety expenditures rose from $68,062 to $123,960. However, that $55,898 difference is nearly made up for by the increase in revenues from district court, mostly generated through traffic tickets (from $2,924 to $53,000).

Landmark Day

JUDY Schermerhorn turned 40 on Aug. 11, and her friends could not let the day pass quietly. Jessie Hurr and Judy McLaughlin strung this sign across the entrance of Chestnut Hills subdivision on Maybee Road, Independence Township, for all to share in the joy of Judy turning 40. "It's just our way of wishing her a happy birthday," said Jessie. The friends also put a tombstone in Judy's year, wrote her a poem and gave her a basket full of black flowers and weeds. QUESTION: I have saved some money but not enough to afford the payments on a single-family home. I hate apartments. Is there any alternatives?

ANSWER: Perhaps the solution is buying low-cost income property; a duplex, for example. The down payment requirement is usually comparable to a single-family residence, but half the property is supply income from rental, which helps in making the payments. Upkeep is generally higher, and there are some added responsibilities of ownership.

In a few years, however, it may be possible to use both sides of the duplex for income and buy a single-family home.

An afternoon in court

Julie Campe

An afternoon in court is a good experience — it shows a side of life most of us only read or hear about.

Sitting in Judge Steven Andrews' Oakland County Circuit courtroom last week, I saw him sentence at least six criminals and hear two other cases.

It was an interesting diversion while awaiting my dad's case to be heard (yes, the judge decided in his favor, upholding the firing of his partner).

Judge Andrews was quick, yet spent adequate time with each person.

The afternoon began with the sentencing of one person for what I gathered to be drunken driving. Andrews told him he would spend the next year in a Salvation Army program geared toward those with substance abuse. He would face probation after that. And he would lose his right to drive. The judge collected the man's driver's license on the spot and then had one more word with him.

He looked straight at the man and said, "If you violate one part of this, I'll put you away. Do you understand?"

The man answered, "Yes, your honor."

Next was a divorce case that was postponed to allow the judge to read the briefs during an afternoon recess — both attorneys has filed them that day instead of the week prior as required.

And next were a line of prisoners handcuffed together.

One by one, the judge heard the prosecution and defense attorneys, asking for tough and lenient sentences, respectively. Nearly all of the cases involved drugs — delivery or conspiring to deliver or some variation thereof. And nearly each prisoner spoke of how their actions had ruined their lives and they understood the seriousness of it.

In one case, a Royal Oak man was given the tough sentence requested by prosecution. Apparently, he had been growing marijuana in his basement and had stashes of cocaine and drug paraphernalia around the house plus a safe with lots of cash in it.

The judge asked if the man had anything to say. And the man responded by asking if he could speak on the next person the judge would sentence instead of on himself.

"You can say whatever you want," said Andrews.

"I ask that you go easy on her," said the man, pointing to the handcuffed woman next to him.

He explained that he couldn't speak out during the trial because it may have implicated himself. But he said the woman had no knowledge of his activities and had only moved into his house three weeks prior to his arrest.

The courtroom was silent. Then the judge said, "Chivalry is not dead."

When sentencing the woman, the judge noted that he had received lots of letters from her family asking for mercy and saying they would help her if only he'd let her remain free.

"Some of these letters made me angry," said the judge. "This woman needed you before all of this, and where were you then?"

He noted that woman, a mother of two, was not innocent. She had moved into the home, placing her 14-year-old son in a basement bedroom next to the growing marijuana, placing him in jeopardy. She showed evidence of faulty judgment, said Andrews.

But her part in the drug dealing may have been minimal, so instead of the minimum 10-year charge for her crime, he sentenced her to six years. His responsibility, he said, was not only to punish for the crime but to set an example for others.

And then he turned to the next case ... and the next ... and the next.

At one point, he spoke to a young man whose mother said had trouble with reading and comprehension. The judge asked his questions in different ways to make sure the man understood the questions. He also asked how far he had gotten in school.

"All the way," said the young man.

"You graduated?" asked Andrews.

The man answered that he had graduated from Pontiac Northern High School.

And he, too, was sentenced for delivering cocaine and for delivering imitation cocaine.

And a few more minutes had passed in circuit court, while outside, life continued as usual. But for those in handcuffs, life as they knew it was ending.

Letter to the Editor

Don't cut pupil programs first

Clarkston school Superintendent Gary Haner was quoted in an area newspaper Wednesday, June 10: "We were disappointed for the kids that the additional millage didn't pass, but we understand the quandary the community is in over the tax issue."

The quandary "The P... Ribbon Committee ... is that in the same article, the following list of cuts is directed solely at the kids of this district:

1. Eliminate Junior High camps
2. Eliminate all foreign language programs in elementary school
3. Eliminate drug education programs
4. Cut gifted program in elementary in half
5. Cut physical education by half
7. Cut library services by one-third
8. Eliminate keyboarding

What bothers this group is the fact that the administrators will make these cuts, but it has set aside in the new budget enough money for at least a 4 percent raise and wants to hire two additional administrators. To add insult to injury, the administrators celebrated the end of the 1991-92 school year by playing golf at the taxpayers' expense.

The kids of this community continue to suffer while the administration leads everyone to believe it is the taxpayers' fault that these programs are being cut. An additional $1.2 million is in the school budget this year over last year. There is no reason for any program to be cut. These programs should be reinstated, and the administration should look at giving raises if there is any money left.

Our average school teacher earns $32.21 per hour. We understand that the Clarkston Education Association is asking for a 7 percent raise, $2.25 per hour. Our average administrator is making far and above that, and our superintendent is making well over $100,000 per year. Yet they will set money aside for raises first before they consider re-instating student programs.

I believe it is time for our school board to redirect the administration so that they understand that the reason they are here is to serve the children of this district, not to enhance their own financial well-being first and the children secondly.

Observation #1. I was driving up M-24 at 57 mph (I know 55 is the limit, but) when a car whizzed past me with an adult and three kids in it. Its bumper sticker read, "I'm the proud parent of an honor student at . . ." Seems to me a proud parent would be driving a lot slower.

Observation #2. Jogger in Lake Orion . . . wearing a sweat suit and head band and smoking a cigarette. He'll have healthy lung cancer, I thought.

I think Congress ought to ban all round bottle caps. The law should prohibit manufacturing and importing caps that can roll under things. It could be a bipartisan act.

A lot of "rascals" (as in 'get rid of the rascals') were turned out of office at the recent primary election. Unfortunately, a lot of rascals will be elected to office in November.

I listen to a fair amount of Tiger baseball on WJR. The current announcers sound similar to me, and I've made no effort to put a voice with either name, Rathbun or Rizzs. So, I can't be specific as to which one said: "Gullickson is always usually around the plate." I don't know if Gullickson is always around the plate or usually around the plate, but I do know he got knocked out of the box that day.

Car-man Wally Edgar knows country music. He also knows golf. He doesn't know bagpipes. I learned this while listening to some Scottish bagpipers perform at Indianwood Golf and Country Club. Wally and his son, Jeff, had won their flight (naturally) and were waiting for the pipers to finish so they could collect their trophies. Wally said his wife, Sandy, persuaded him to listen and he reckoned, "I like the Pied Pipers." Stick to country music, Wally. The Pied Pipers sang with both the Tommy Dorsey and Harry James bands, neither being Scottish nor Country.

Wally was driving a new Corvette (you know he sells them and Buicks) at the golf outing. An attendant put on the emergency brake and Wally had to open the door and read the directions on how to release the brake. It was then I learned he could read something besides golf course greens.

While our new car was parked in downtown Oxford recently, a county truck backed into the front end. This prompted Hazel to ask, "How come the air bag didn't explode?" Well, 1. The car has to be running. 2. The impact must come at at least 35 mph. 3. The hit has to be head-on, or at no greater angle than 35 degrees.

An old Patrell saying: "If you died rich, you lived poorly."

An old Sherman saying: "Establish an emergency fund and you'll be surprised how quickly an emergency develops."

Support Gaskell

We are residents of Middle Lake Road and feel that we need to respond to those who are opposed to the efforts of Jon Gaskell to detach this area from the new City of Clarkston.

First of all, like those who favor cityhood, those who are opposed have the same right to do what they thing is better for this community. The vote to become a city passed by a very small margin — 12 votes — so though it was a majority, it was hardly a mandate by the community.

Those of us who are opposed to the village detaching itself from the township have some good reasons for feeling this way.

1. The Village is the center of this community — the whole of Independence Township — to isolate itself not only causes a psychological rift, but a physical one as well.

2. Our everyday lives are affected much more by the decisions of the township than by those of the village. To give up our vote in the larger governing body is very foolhardy.

3. It is true that our taxes have stayed relatively the same; however, it is unrealistic to assume that such a small municipality can survive without raising taxes substantially if it is to keep pace with necessary services — the library, recreation department, fire protection, etc.

4. The legal fees spent on this issue are totally out of line and should never have been spent in the first place — what was wrong with the way it was?

5. The people who have chosen to live in this beautiful area did so because it has so much to offer its citizens. We think we can maintain this excellent standard of living more effectively as a unified community than as a divided one.

These are just a few of the reasons that we support Jon Gaskell's efforts and hope others will, too.

New police doing fine job in city

I would like to thank Chief DeVore and the Clarkston Police Department for a job well done.

For the first time in five years of living on Main Street, I feel as though we finally have some traffic enforcement and control. Maybe drivers will begin to pay attention to the fact that Main Street is not a continuation of I-75!

Those who dare to complain of getting ticketed for speeding would like to simply get away with it as they have done in the past. They wouldn't think of speeding through Rochester or Birmingham and now they can add Clarkston to their list of driving according to the speed limits.

In addition, I have felt very comforted by the mere presence of the Clarkston Police patrol car parked on our streets. Feeling safe is an important part of all of our lives.

Keep up the good work.

Victims of bigotry should be above it

Jim Fitzgerald

Never mind if the best man wins. Two state representatives think the blackest man should win.

A Jewish newspaper refused to publish a Jewish man's engagement photo because his fiancée is Catholic.

U.S. military forces kick people out of the service because they are homosexual.

The Vatican has assigned Detroit Archbishop Adam Maida to investigate a Roman Catholic group that dares to promote equality for gays.

Martin Luther King Jr. dreamed someday everybody would be judged on their character, not their color. Surely, he also meant nobody should be judged on their religion, or their sexuality.

Obviously, King's dream is still a nightmare.

The two state reps., Democrats Hansen Clarke and Joe Young Jr., are black. Redistricting put them in the same legislative district, the 4th in east-central Detroit, for Tuesday's primary election. Both candidates have been waging a dismaying campaign based on color.

Young claims he's the only legitimate black candidate because Clarke is only half African American. Clarke retorts that Young is unfaithful to his race because his wife is white.

And so on ad nauseam. It might be funny if it weren't so sad. Blacks are the foremost victims of racial discrimination. So how can a supposedly rational black candidate possibly suggest that his opponent should be voted against because of his race, or the race of his wife?

Similarly, Jews may be the foremost victims of religious discrimination. But that didn't stop the Jewish News from discriminating against a Jew, Craig Garsoff of Southfield, because he's going to marry a Catholic woman from Connecticut.

Arthur Horwitz, associate publisher, said the policy of the Southfield-based Jewish News is to print photos only of couples who will have a rabbi officiate at their marriage. Garsoff and his intended, Darlene Lussier, said they couldn't find a rabbi willing to participate in a ceremony in a Catholic church.

"You could call it discrimination," Lussier told the Detroit News.

You sure could. Religious discrimination from the religion that has suffered terribly from religious discrimination.

As for discrimination based on sexuality, last month the Army dismissed Col. Margarethe Cammermeyer after she said she was a lesbian.

"A gay life-style is incompatible with military service," Defense Secretary Dick Cheney said.

Does that mean Col. Cammermeyer should give back the bronze Star she won in Vietnam?

And what is an acceptable life-style for the military? Maybe it's a bunch of drunken Navy aviators—all macho men, of course—grabbing the breasts of terrified women pushed down a hotel corridor.

Finally, Bishop Kenneth Untener of Saginaw and Auxiliary Bishop Thomas Gumbleton of Detroit spoke at a March conference of New Ways Ministry, a Catholic organization working to change the official Catholic position that gay sex is sinful. Both bishops told more than 500 gay Catholics that their church should show them more compassion.

Vatican officials, apparently concerned that Catholics were being led astray into equality, subsequently instructed Archbishop Maida to investigate New Ways.

Gosh, yes, hurry. We sure don't want any compassion coming out of a church.

Someday everybody will be judged on their character and how they treat their fellow human beings. They won't be judged on their race, religion or sexuality. That is the dream.

But what do you say when black legislators, the Jewish press, the Pentagon and the Vatican just don't seem to get it?

I say: Dream on.

The uncensored world of CB radio

Raw and uncensored. These are just two adjectives that come to mind when asked to describe 8 hours of CB radio scanning during a recent trip to Ohio.

I had decided to hook up my little-used CB unit prior to the drive for "smokey" alerts and idle conversation. While most of my trip consisted of traveling the Ohio Turnpike, I knew I could count on truck drivers for hours of enjoyable chatter and vital police sightings.

Well, I got a little of both, when cutting through the profanity and endless "scoping" of female motorists.

If there was an attractive motorist within four miles of me, I heard about her. Of course, it was limited to physical descriptions only. Such as brand of car, color of hair, type of clothing, and how built she was.

I wonder if these ladies knew they were under the microscope when passing these amorous "cowboys of the road?" From their elevated seats, these truckers have a clear view of everything in a "four-wheeler."

Matter of a fact, one of these truckers claimed he saw a pair making love in the back of Cadillac. He went into such vivid detail, I thought he was reading from the Forum section of Penthouse magazine.

Luckily, a fellow trucker reported a "smokey" in the vicinity, interrupting the saucy depiction. During my travels, it didn't take me long to learn that the sighting of a patrol car was much more important to these drivers than the passing of a well-endowed blonde.

Matter of a fact, I counted nearly six episodes where truck drivers alerted me to a "bear in waiting" along my route. Driving nearly 10 miles an hour over the speed limit, I knew I'd be within the troopers' "red zone."

One time, I even thanked one of my high-riding comrades for the helpful tip.

"No problem," a voice squawked back. "CB's are like the bloodhounds of the highway when everybody works together."

True, I thought. Good for hunting bears and "foxes."

Devoted Dolphins

During the summer, my daughter, Amy, had the opportunity to become a member of a unique swim team, the Deer Lake Dolphins.

I would like to thank Jackie of the club for all of her generosity and especially for her employment of such fantastic coaches.

Coach Don Neal and assistant coach Bonnie MacDougall were simply the greatest. They taught the team with such warmth, patience and understanding while inspiring each child to do their very best for the team.

I know that I speak for many parents when I say, "Thanks, Don and Bonnie, for a job well done."

Whatta program!

I would like to recognize the excellent Day Camp Program offered this year and last by the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department.

My 8-year-old son has participated both years, and it's been a godsend. Finally, a well-organized, creative and (most important of all) fun program for children of working mothers.

The program has offered a variety of activities from twice weekly visits to Deer Lake to weekly instruction in various sports to weekly field trips to Cranbrook Science Museum, Waterford Wave Pool, Putt-Putt Golf, etc.

In addition, the counselors have shown a lot of creativity in organizing games, a carnival day, air band performances by the kids and even a Valentine's Day dance under the pavilion. All this and the township has managed to offer it at a very reasonable price while teaming up with the schools' Kids Connection program to provide care before and after the camp's hours.

Again, I would just like to thank the parks and recreation department and particularly, Director Sandi Kerby and all the counselors for an outstanding summer ... one in which I never heard, "I don't have anything to do" or "That's boring."

Ticketed, too

The July 29th issue of The Clarkston News carried a letter regarding traffic tickets being issued as money makers. I have to agree with this viewpoint because of my recent experience.

I was ticketed for failure to stop at a stop sign in my neighborhood. I am certain that I came to a complete stop. I saw the police car sitting down the road where the sign was. Maybe I am just misunderstanding the law. I believed the law was that you must come to a complete stop and proceed through the intersection when it was clear. Is there a time limit to remain at the stop sign that I just don't know about? If there is, shouldn't the drivers in Clarkston be told about it?

I will set a court date to fight this ticket. It will be my word against that of the police officer, but in my heart I will know that I did nothing wrong.

Reporter's Notebook

Phil Laycock of "The Family" fame should be thankful for his supportive parents who have traveled from Troy for each of his appearances at 52nd District Court, Independence Township. According to Laycock's lawyer William Lansat, the parents are disabled and they have been unable to come up with the bond money to get their son out of jail.

The Laycocks and Kidders are the only parents to come to court over the case of the five young men charged with conspiring to sell LSD.

While only 25.2 percent of Springfield Township's registered voters turned out at the Aug. 4 primary, that number was a 65 percent increase over the about 1,000 who turned out to vote in the 1988 primary election, noted Nancy Strole, who was elected Republican candidate for clerk.

The local races appeared to be the difference this year, as more people voted in the clerk and treasurer races than in the run-off for the Republican congressional spot on the November ballot.

The number of farms in Michigan during 1992 is estimated at 54,000 farms, the same as last year, according to the federal/state Michigan Agricultural Statistics Service.

This is the second year since 1983 that farm numbers have not shown a yearly decline. Michigan has 10.8 million acres of land in farms, unchanged from the previous three years. The average size of a Michigan farm in 1992 is 200 acres.

A farm is any establishment from which $1,000 or more of agricultural products were sold or would normally be sold during the year.

The number of farms in the United States in 1992 is estimated at 2.096 million, down less than one percent from 1991. Total land in farms is 980 million acres, fractionally below last year. Sixteen percent of the nation's farms operate almost 52 percent of the nation's farmland.

Victims' families, friends push for parole reform

BY LINDA WALSH
Clarkston News Special Writer

Parents of children murdered by Leslie Allen Williams got a direct line to the governor last month when they asked him to reform Michigan's parole system.

The families and friends of four of Williams' victims presented the governor with stacks of signed petitions asking for the reform. He followed immediately with a press conference announcing his full support of House Bill 4130 that, among other things, would limit the terms of parole board members. Right now, they're appointed for life.

Later that day, the House of Representatives voted 93-2 to approve HB 4130 in the late hours of a special session called by the governor.

The Senate is to consider the bill on Sept. 15. If approved, Director of Corrections Kenneth McGinnis plans to start the new program by Oct. 1.

Prior to the House vote, a committee listened to the families of Williams' victims.

Trisha Villanueva, Pat Urbin and Alana Hoeft told House members that the current parole system had failed for their daughters and sister since Williams killed while out on parole. Williams confessed to the slayings this spring — a few years after the deaths of the Villanueva, Jones and Urbin girls — after he was apprehended while in the act of abducting a woman from a Springfield Township cemetery.

Trisha Villanueva told the committee members, "We the family members sitting here have so much in

Simko right on track with ARCA leaders

DAVE Simko has finished in the top 10 six times in 15 ARCA races. (Photos by Jack Leech)

BY JACK LEECH
Clarkston News Special Writer

Dave Simko is a man with a mission. Simko, who lives on Horseshoe Lane in Independence Township, is currently charging his way up the Automobile Race Car Association (ARCA) standings with some of the best performances in his 20-year career in auto racing.

Thus far in the ARCA Supercar Series, he has had 15 starts and finished three times in the top five and six times in the top 10, earning $22,240. He is currently in seventh-place overall in the ARCA standings, which is topped by Rochester Hill's Bob Keselowski.

In Simko's most recent race, he finished ninth at the Flat Rock Speedway on Aug. 8.

To say racing is in the blood for the Simko family is no overstatement. Dave's father, Elmer, is the patriarch of this racing family that includes Tom (Dave's brother) and Dina (Dave's sister), who are both stock and modified class racers.

Elmer Simko was racing midget cars back in the 1950s and '60s before getting his son, Dave, into his first demolition derby at the age of 17 years. The family is occasionally reunited at the Owosso Speedway, a quarter mile oval of which they have part ownership.

Dave's car number "51" actually has several personalities. In the stable of Auburn Racing there are two short track cars and one super speedway model. Each is an Oldsmobile Cutlass body style but that is where the similarity ends. Engine and suspension setups are changed regularly to accommodate the pitch angle and track surfaces.

The newest car in the fold was recently built by Howe Racing of Beaverton for a road track race in Topeka, Kan. The Howe-built car took one race lap before a loss of downdraft caused the car to spin out and touch the wall in Topeka. The crew chief, Ray Benson of Flat Rock, put in some long nights to ready the car for the Flat Rock race.

Dave Simko has been racing in the ARCA Series since 1982 and received "Rookie of the Year" honors in 1985. His favorite track is in Talledega, Ala., where he has won the pole position and set the track qualifying record at over 200 miles per hour. His latest cars have General Motors racing engines that can generate over 700 horsepower.

The pit crew is also somewhat of a family affair with Dave's oldest son, Chris, a Clarkston High School senior, handling tire and mechanical duties. The Auburn Racing pit crew is largely a volunteer effort with other Clarkston area residents Mike Kulis and Jack Leech pitching in when needed to keep car "51" in the race.

CREW chief Ray Benson, right, has a few words with Simko minutes before the start of a race at Flat Rock.

Major speedway races this year for Dave Simko have included those in Talle-dega; Daytona, Fla.; Pocono, Penn; and Michigan. Short track features have found Simko racing at Flat Rock; Nashville, Tenn.; Delaware, Ontario; Toledo and the road race feature in Topeka.

There are five more races remaining in the season series for ARCA, concluding with the Atlanta 200 in Atlanta, Ga. Nov. 14.

To the finish at Oxford

THIRTY-two young Clarkston area track athletes (in divisions 6-and-under to 13-14) competed at the Oxford Invitational Track and Field Meet Aug. 6. They went up against other athletes from Rochester, Waterford and Oxford. In the photo at left, Nicole Bauer passes the baton to Stephanie Burklow in the winning 400 meter relay for girls 13-14. In the photo at right, Cody Senkyr (far right) and Jennifer Bauer (middle) begin the 400 meter dash. Senkyr won the boys' 9-10 division and Jennifer Bauer placed first in the girls' 11-12 division. Swinging from the heels

Teamwork

James
Gibowski

The one-hopper came right at me. I grabbed the softball, touched third for the forceout and the season was over.

My 35-and-over lower division men's slow-pitch softball team, Lee Cleaners, came back from a 10-6 deficit against Gwyer Blueprint to win an extra-innings thriller Sunday night. The victory, the ninth in the last 10 games, gave us the tournament title to go along with our regular-season championship.

Winning has its advantages over losing, but I've got to admit I had 95 percent as much fun playing on my 2-10 Friday night co-rec team (Dairy Dream) as I did on Lee Cleaners (and one of those two wins came on a forfeit because the other team didn't show up).

How could I have 95 percent as much fun on a 2-10 team?

Easy. The people I played with, on both teams, were all terrific.

And, I simply love playing third base (and an occasional shortstop). In fact, if my teammates were a bunch of jerks, I'd still enjoy scooping them up at third and throwing out runners by a half-step.

Even though my teammates are far from being jerks, some of them certainly have their eccentricities.

Lee Cleaners catcher Ron Roby is known throughout the league (and by anyone living within 10 miles of Clintonwood Park) for his shouts of "Two down!" whenever there are two outs. Roby also is the best (well, the only) play-by-play announcer on the sidelines.

Dave Petrinec, the playing-manager of both of my teams, had serious shoulder surgery last year but can't make himself throw easier from the outfield or swing easier from the plate. If his doctor saw any of our games, he'd probably need to rush to the emergency room, as a patient.

Dairy Dream first baseman Sandy Kolano insists on wearing a tiny mitt which must have been used in the Ty Cobb era. I don't think she can actually squeeze a softball in it. She must magically balance the ball somehow.

What about me? Before the first batter gets up in any inning while I'm playing third base, I pick up a stone (or clump of dirt) on the infield and toss it to the sidelines. And just before I leave my apartment for a game I kiss my cats, Tillie and Harry, for good luck (twice if it's a doubleheader). But that's being superstitious, not eccentric.

SANDY Kolano prepares to swing.

LEE Cleaners won both the regular-season and tournament championships (Photo by Tod Hess)

Another interesting thing about my teammates (and I'm sure many other players in the league can identify with this): I know all of the first names of my teammates, about one-fourth of their last names and nearly nothing about what they do for a living. I do know Lee Cleaners shortstop Mike Prudhomme is a dentist and Michelle (last name?) is a physical therapist. But as far as all the others, they could be lawyers, hairdressers or in the Mafia.

But that ignorance of what they do is actually one of the beauties of softball. When I go out on the field, it doesn't matter what they do or what I do.

It doesn't matter that I have a tough day at work planned for the next day.

It doesn't matter if the Tigers are on TV that night.

It doesn't matter if Bush is 25 percentage points ahead of Clinton or Clinton is 25 ahead of Bush.

It doesn't matter if my car needs a new muffler.

All that matters is I'm able to play (God willing, until I'm at least 75), take a few good cuts at the plate, catch as many grounders as I can, make strong throws to first ...

... and someday, be as eccentric as my teammates.

PUBLIC NOTICE

"BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW"

City of the Village of Clarkston

375 DEPOT RD.
CLARKSTON, MICH. 48346
AUGUST 10, 1992

Mayor called the meeting to order at 7:40 p.m., followed by the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Roll: Present - Arkwright, Basinger, Catallo, Roeser and Secatch. Absent - Sanderson and Schultz.

Moved by Roeser, supported by Secatch, "That the minutes from the meeting on July 27, 1992 be approved." Yeas - 5. Nays - 0. Motion carried.

Moved by Secatch, supported by Basinger, "That the agenda be approved with the following additions: That the Village Engineer also address the safety path on White Lake Road, that the Library be added under Old Business, that Planning Commission report be added Old Business and under New Business the contract for a full time Police Officer." Yeas - 5. Nays - 0. Motion carried.

Moved by Roeser, supported by Arkwright, "That the monthly bills for July 1992 totalling $20,203.23 be approved for payment." Roll: Yeas - 5. Nays - 0. Motion carried.

Gary Tressel from Hubble, Roth and Clark indicated that the condominium at Village West has been sold and that the master deed is needed before the certificate of occupancy can be issued. Attorney Tom Ryan will review the Ordinance and advise the Council on the next step.

Gary Tressel indicated there has been a collapse in a Y-joint at Overlook and Middle Lake. This needs to be dug up to repair it. This is not part of the general maintenance of the Sewer line. There is one home that is at risk of flooding. Tressel estimated the cost of repair at $15,000.00.

Moved by Roeser, supported by Secatch, "That the City Manager contact George Anderson of Independence Township Department of Public Works to estimate the cost of Sewer repair at Overlook and Middle Lake." Yeas - 5. Nays - 0. Motion carried. Pappas and Ryan are to look for the sewer maintenance agreement.

Tressel addressed a previously stated concern regarding payment for the White Lake Safety Path. The Council authorized the expenditure up to $55,000.00 for the safety path at a previous meeting. The actual expense will be adjusted based on the actual linear feet of path constructed. The portion of the pre-existing path that was removed by Lonzo Construction Co. will be replaced at their expense in keeping with the terms of their contract.

The bridge is to be completed in two or three weeks, as well as the area near the cemetery which has washed out.

Roeser wanted to know what recourse the Council had since the stipulation in the contract was that an environmental consultant from Johnson, Johnson and Roy be present when the actual stream crossing on White Lake Road was done. This was not done Tressel stated, the actual stream crossing was done in two hours and was observed by someone from Hubble, Roth and Clark and someone from the County Soil Erosion program.

It was undetermined what our recourse would be since we are unable to determine if there were any damages at this time.

Roeser also expressed concern over replacement of vegetation particularly trees in the wetland area along the White Lake Road safety path. He stated the understanding of the Wetlands Review Board was that the trees would be replaced. Tressel will review his notes from these meeting.

Mr. Jordan is the owner of record of the property at 180 N. Main Street. A citation for an Ordinance Violation will be issued and served by Chief DeVore indicating the need to restore the drainage ditch on North Main Street. Ryan will work with DeVore on issuing the citation.

In the widening of M-15 a ten inch Hickory had to be removed on the Wint's property. It was interfering with a watermain. Three inch Ash trees will be planted to replace trees lost along M-15.

The area of M-15 adjacent to Clarkston Road was striped last week. Tressel states the light pole at that intersection should be in before winter.

Resolved by Roeser, supported by Basinger, "Be it resolved to adopt the Ordinance to regulate Deer Lake Beach." Roll: Yeas - 5. Nays - 0. Resolution passed.

A copy of the Uniform Traffic Code was reviewed by Ryan. It will be copied and distributed for review to all Council members for the August 24, 1992 meeting.

Catallo announced the following committee appointments:

- Budget - Catallo, Basinger, Roeser
- Cable TV - Basinger
- Clinton River Watershed - Roeser
- Community Development - Secatch
- Insurance - Arkwright
- Michigan Municipal League - Sanderson
- Semcog - Secatch
- Planning Commission Liason - Arkwright
- Wetlands Review Board - Roeser.

Ryan will look into who owns Waldon Road. There is discrepancy between posted speed limits on Waldon Road. Chief DeVore will look into this.

Resolved by Basinger, supported by Secatch, "Be it resolved that the Homecoming Parade will be held on Church and Main Streets on October 10, 1992 from 10:00 to 11:00 a.m." Roll: Ayes - 5. Nays - 0. Resolution passed.

Secatch met with Molly Lynch of Independence Township Library. Lynch indicated Village residents will be expected to pay the same millage rate plus an administrative fee, as Township residents, after January 1, 1993 for Library services. Ryan will look into election laws to determine if a library millage could be put on the November ballot.

Arkwright reported on the Planning Commission. He stated that a Public Hearing had been held in June regarding Municipal buildings.

Tom Ryan will look into the question of permitting of front yard fences in the Historic District only and which governmental body would be making decisions regarding fences.

Ryan will draft an amendment indicating that special use changes be referred from the Planning Commission to the City Council for a decision. Since the role of the Planning Commission is to be advisory.

A sample of the Building Permit Application was distributed. This is to be completed by the contractor.

Resolved by Basinger, supported by Roeser, "Be it resolved that contract negotiations be entered into with Police Officer Mark Warner for a full time employment at $11.50 per hour plus $100.00 per month for benefits or $24,336.00 annually." Roll: Yeas - 5. Nays - 0. Resolution Passed.

Moved by Roeser, supported by Basinger, "That this meeting be adjourned." Yeas - 5. Nays - 0. Motion carried.

Meeting adjourned at 9:20 p.m.

CHRISTIE Williams has qualified for two events at the nationals.

Good skate

Local rollerskater wheels to nationals

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Six years of rollerskating, three years of competition and a first and third at regionals have put Christie Williams into the Junior Olympic national finals in Fresno, Calif. Sept. 2-5.

Williams, a 13-year-old freshman at Clarkston Junior High, placed first in freestyle (13 and older) and third in figures (ages 13-26) at the regionals in Portland, Ohio July 3-4. The top four from each event qualified for the nationals, where they will compete against 31 others from around the country.

Williams made it to the regionals last year but didn't qualify for the nationals because of a fifth-place finish.

But this year was different. "I had the experience behind me. As you compete more, you get used to the crowds and the pressure," said Williams, who also finished first in the freestyle at the Michigan state championships and second in the figures.

Williams first became interested in rollerskating six years ago when she started to take Saturday classes with her best friend.

She's hardly been away from the rink since then, practicing two to three hours a day five days a week at the Rolladium Roller Skating Rink in Waterford (some of her time there is also spent teaching younger skaters). Williams is coached by Mary Margaret Campbell.

Williams, who will be a cheerleader this fall, currently competes in the Junior Olympic division. Next year she advances to the standard division. She then hopes to advance to the junior division and eventually to world class status.

The rollerskater said her sport is similar to figure skating.

"It's a lot like ice skating," said Williams, whose fortunes rest on marks by the judges. "You do basically the same jumps and spins but it's on a wood floor."

The figures competition is similar to the past compulsory figures in ice skating. The freestyle competition is a two-minute program set to music with a change in tempo. Skaters use different types of wheels in the two events, using softer ones in the freestyle competition.

As with many sports which need private instruction, rollerskating can be costly. To help continue her quest to be a world class skater, Williams is looking for local business sponsors. Any businesses interested in helping out can call 625-9718.

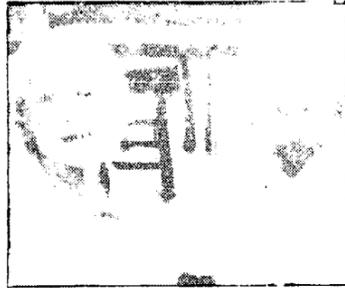

However, don't call the first week of September ...

... unless you know the area code for Fresno.

Bountiful harvest helps to feed area hungry

BOB MCGOWAN, an advertising executive by day and a farmer by evening, said he enjoys gardening. Barb, his wife, said that by gardening with others, they have learned a lot of tips that have helped in broadening their knowledge of plants.

SUNFLOWERS such as this one were planted by Bob McGowan last where when he didn't have the time to plant and tend a complete garden. He said the garden was a "sea of sunflowers."

garden club beginning in the area and started the Town and Country Gardeners in October 1991. The group's 12 members have taken a 90-by-110-foot piece of Bittersweet Farm as their project.

The garden grows potatoes, snap peas, tomatoes, zucchini, yellow squash, cucumbers and beets. The lettuce that was planted isn't doing too well this year. Everything is organically grown, and pesticide was only used on the potatoes because the group couldn't keep up with the potato bugs.

The food from the garden will be given to Lighthouse North on Maybee Road, Independence Township, as well as the Baldwin Center and the Women's Survival Center, both in Pontiac.

The members of the Town and Country Gardeners are: Carolyn Bailey, Carol Campione, Maryann Devanas, Mary Helpem, Sara Hillman, Barbara and Bob McGowan, Gail Reading, Katherine and Les Reeve, Irene Russell and Mavis Shaw.

YELLOW SQUASH, zucchini, peas, beans, beets, potatoes and tomatoes all are a part of the Town and Country Gardeners' garden. These vegetables — harvested on a Monday — were sent the next day to Lighthouse

North, which provides food and clothing for the needy. Food will also be sent to the Baldwin Center in Pontiac, and the growers are looking for other places to share their crops.

senior center, Clintonwood Park, Independence Township.

Tai Chi Chuan

Ancient art helps to reduce stress, strengthen body, mind

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

In America's never-ending rat race, the average person periodically encounters bouts of fatigue, stress and lack of concentration.

These societal pitfalls have resulted in the emergence of an eastern discipline more than 300 years old — Tai Chi Chuan.

Tai Chi is a low-impact, ancient Chinese exercise that uses slow, almost dance-like movements to balance both mind and body. In China, thousands of people gather in public places every morning to take part in this synchronized science.

Translated, Tai Chi means the "Supreme Ultimate," a Taoist view that man is compelled to act on the negative (yin) and positive (yang) charges that helped shape the universe. Students of Taoism aspire to gain "polarity," a complementary balance between the yin and yang.

Dawn Fleetwood has been an instructor of Tai Chi for 10 years. She teaches classes out of her hometown of Flint as well as at Clintonwood Park, Clarkston Road, Independence Township.

Fleetwood said she fell in love with the art while watching her soon-to-be instructor Dr. Benson Lee.

"It happened several years ago, while I was doing

"Western lifestyles are entirely too fast, taking a heavy toll on both our physical and emotional states."

some marketing work for a doctor in Flint," he said. "I saw this man across the room doing this slow, martial art that mesmerized me. I felt relaxed just watching him and signed up for his classes the same day.

"In time, I found that I preferred the meditative aspect of this martial art, compared to the expenditure of energy in other defensive forms," she said.

Fleetwood said all of Tai Chi's movements are named after animals or acts of nature, such as the "leaning crane."

She said the art has cerebral and medicinal benefits.

Besides reducing stress and fatigue, Fleetwood said Tai Chi helps to increase focus, balance and stamina and also strengthens muscles, organs, the immune system and lung capacity.

Fleetwood said Tai Chi also allows her students to become more in sync with their bodies.

"When you get a feel for Tai Chi, the motions come naturally and allow you to exercise virtually thought-free," she said. "My motto is 'your body won't lie to you, even though your mind will mess with you all night long.'"

Student Kurt Hemingway said he started Tai Chi to help him on the links.

"I took it up to help my golf game," he said. "I thought the internal aspect of Tai Chi could help me concentrate and become more focused on the golf course.

"These days, I find I'm playing more for the fun of the game than the scores," Hemingway added. "To me, golf has transformed into a nice walk rather than an exercise in futility."

Fleetwood said Hemingway's increased sense of inner peace is not new to her. In fact, she said this "inner development" among her students is what keeps her teaching.

"I still get a kick out of watching people do what they never realized they were capable of doing," she said. "Several of my students are senior citizens who want to exercise but are afraid of falling down and hurting themselves.

Tai Chi offers many benefits

"In time, they find that Tai Chi has not only improved their balance but strengthened their bodies as well," Fleetwood added.

She said Tai Chi can be especially beneficial for people constantly on the go.

"Western lifestyles are entirely too fast, taking a heavy toll on both our physical and emotional states," she said. "Tai Chi can help a person wind down while, at the same time, making them feel like they've just been shot up with 5,000 CCs of pure energy.

50 ways to improve your personal diet

Healthful eating does not have to be as difficult as it sometimes seems, notes an article in the June Tufts University Diet and Nutrition Newsletter.

"Drink your milk" and eat whatever you want" are just two to the "50 simple ways to improve your diet" offered in the article.

The article states that there are no "good" foods or "bad" foods, only bad diets — any item can be part of a healthful eating plan on a moderate basis.

The article also recommends following the federal government's Dietary Guidelines for Americans, which suggest two to three servings of dairy food daily to ensure an adequate calcium intake.

"I found that I preferred the meditative aspect of this martial art, compared to the expenditure of energy in other defensive forms."

Dawn Fleetwood

"When done correctly, it's even more soothing than two scotches after work," Fleetwood added, jokingly.

Fleetwood conducts a class at Clintonwood Park, Independence Township; every Wednesday from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. The fee for 10 one-hour classes is $130. For more information on these classes, call (313) 235-9864.

Pain: A stomach can be its own worst enemy

The stomach is an amazing organ, given the amount and the variety of substances it must digest.

Surprisingly, it's not mistreatment that causes the most problems, but the stomach's own digestive process that creates severe ailments such as ulcers.

Dr. Andrew Pecora explains that the stomach secretes hydrochloric acid and pepsin to aid digestion, but these are highly corrosive to the stomach. The stomach must then establish defense mechanisms such as a mucous-bicarbonate barrier or layer and tight epithelial junctions at critical points to prevent the hydrochloric acid

"Stress, alcohol, cigarette smoking and caffeine do not cause ulcers. However, they are irritants and should be avoided or consumed in moderation."

from backing up into the stomach lining and causing damage.

Pecora is a professor and chairperson of the department of medicine at the University of Medicine & Dentistry of New Jersey—School of Osteopathic Medicine in Stratford, N.J.

He said that ulcers occur when these defense mechanisms fail, allowing the acids to create a raw, or sore spot on the stomach or small intestinal wall. Pecora explains there are two types of peptic ulcers—stomach, or gastric ulcers, and duodenal, or ulcers that occur in the first 12

Stomach problems	Symptoms	What to do
Gastric ulcer	Burning or gnawing in the upper abdomen or the lower chest near the breastbone. It may last between 30 minutes to three hours and may come and go without any pattern.	For some, these symptoms may be relieved temporarily with milk, antacids or any type of food.
Duodenal ulcer	Burning or gnawing in abdomen or lower chest. Symptoms usually occur within one-half hour to two hours after eating, and they may also awaken the person at night.
Heartburn	Burning or gnawing in abdomen, accompanied by a sour taste in the mouth. Almost always occurs within one-half hour after meals.

When to call your doctor

Make an appointment right away if you experience any of these symptoms associated with black or tarry-looking stools, vomit that looks like coffee grounds, or persistent, severe pain—especially pain that radiates into the mid-back—you should call your physician. Also call if milk or antacids don't provide temporary relief.

inches of the small intestine.

"You'll recognize gastric ulcer symptoms as burning or gnawing in the upper abdomen or the lower chest near the breastbone," he said. "It may last between 30 minutes to three hours and may come and go without any pattern."

For some, these symptoms may be relieved temporarily with milk, antacids or any type of food.

"Duodenal ulcers, or ulcers that occur in the small intestine, produce similar symptoms," Pecora said. "But these symptoms usually occur within one-half hour to two hours after eating, and they may also awaken the person at night."

Pecora said that if you experience any of these symptoms, associated with black or tarry-looking stools, vomit that looks like coffee grounds, or persistent, severe pain—especially pain that radiates into the mid-back—you should call your physician.

Also, there are differences between ulcers and heartburn.

"Ulcer symptoms usually happen one-half hour to three hours after meals. Heartburn almost always occurs within one-half hour after meals and leaves a sour taste in the mouth," he said.

Most people experience heartburn occasionally, but one out of every 10 men and one of every 20 women will develop a peptic ulcer, Pecora said. This gender gap is closing as more women smoke, drink alcohol and enter the stress-filled workplace.

The best way to avoid ulcers entirely is by leading a healthy life and avoiding stress.

"Stress, alcohol, cigarette smoking and caffeine do not cause ulcers," Pecora said. "However, they are irritants and should be avoided or consumed in moderation."

Pitfalls of eating pits

With harvest beginning, many may be interested in the pitfalls of eating some parts of fruits — as well as other foods that may be harmful.

For instance, if you eat too many apple seeds, you may find yourself feeling a little sick — and if you ate a whole lot, you could even be killed from them.

Sylvia Treitman, home economist for Oakland County Cooperative Extension, said most people don't know about the poisons in certain seeds, pits and kernels.

But most people don't have to worry, she said. A person would have to eat a large amount to feel the effect.

"If you ate one cherry pit by accident or one apple, it probably wouldn't hurt you," she said. "It would probably go right through you. But if you ate a lot or were in the habit of eating them often, it might affect you."

Treitman and summer intern Susan Miller man the cooperative extension's Food and Nutrition Hotline (858-0904) and field all sorts of questions.

They don't often hear questions about peach pits and apple seeds, but they have received calls recently about potato skins. Apparently, a TV station reported that a new study showed potato skins were harmful to eat.

Miller said, "We can't find any information on that. MSU (Michigan State University) hasn't heard of it."

In fact, the extension still lists potato skins as the part of the potato that has the most nutrients.

Some pits, seeds, kernels harmful

However, people should take caution with the pits, seeds and kernels of the some fruits and should take care that children don't eat them. Treitman said a 3-year-old was poisoned after eating 15 apricot kernels.

Apples, apricots, peaches, plums, cherries, chokecherries, pears and quince all contain amygdalin. During digestion, the chemical releases cyanide, which is lethal.

Treitman said she couldn't specify the amount it would take to poison someone.

"It depends on the size and weight of the person and the quantity they eat," she said.

Miller advised special caution with smaller items, such as cherry pits.

"It's not a good idea to crush them and cook them down," she said.

Other food items

Other food items that may be harmful include rhubarb leaves, which contain a high concentration of oxalic acid, a poison. Don't eat them, and don't let animals eat them, said Treitman.

In addition, vanilla imported from Mexico should not be used, said Treitman. The Food and Drug Administration just issued a warning not to use the vanilla extract because it could contain coumarin, a toxin that causes blood thinning. The extract is not inspected in Mexico, so there are no safeguards, she said.

Cancer-fighting tip: When dining out, try to pick a restaurant with a salad bar, which offers many low-fat, high-fiber choices. Steer clear of high-fat toppings such as cheese, bacon bits, croutons and regular dressings. Soup and salad make a great combination, but be sure to choose clear broth soups instead of creamy ones.

Eyedrops can pose hazard

Some 30 million Americans use eyedrops everyday, and almost all do inefficiently, and even dangerously, says a Kentucky eye doctor.

The safest, best way is to keep your eye closed for three minutes after putting in the drops, Dr. Thom Zimmerman told a seminar of Research to Prevent Blindness (RPB), the world's leading voluntary organization in support of eye research.

Otherwise, blinking your eyes can "pump" the medicine through the eye's drainage system, into the back of the nose and throat. There it is absorbed as quickly as 30 seconds into the bloodstream.

And, Zimmerman warns, almost all eyedrops have the potential for side effects ranging from minor annoyances to serious consequences.

The three minutes of closed eyelids give more time for beneficial medicine to be absorbed in the eye itself.

And it takes fewer drops, at perhaps less cost.

Some eyedrop medicines "can affect the brain, heart, respiratory system, gastrointestinal tract, and other organs. Death can occur from one eyedrop," said the specialist from the University of Louisville School of Medicine.

He said the closed-eyes technique decreases blood levels of the eye medicine by 65 percent, boosts maximum concentration of the drug in the eye by 50 percent, with 50 percent longer duration of concentration.

Zimmerman tells of a 62-year-old physician whose chronic diarrhea was found to be caused by the his over-using eyedrops for glaucoma, and blinking afterward.

How to time three minutes with your eyes closed? One way: Count your normal breaths per minutes, then multiply by three.

Better eating behaviors equal a healthier heart

What type of eater are you? A Chase and Grabbit? A Functional Feeder? Down Home Stoker?

Your eating habits tell a lot about you, according to a recent study, and no matter which category best describes you, the American Heart Association has information that can help you trim the fat and cut cholesterol for life.

"We want Americans to understand that high-fat, high-cholesterol foods can contribute to heart and blood vessel diseases," said Dr. Karen Jackson, AHA's spokesperson.

An eating habits study commissioned by Pillsbury Corp. divides American food consumption patterns into five distinct clusters, according to an article in the June/July 1988 issue of Quirk's Marketing Research Review. These groups have been given names that describe their characteristics. Chase and Grabbits, Functional Feeders, Down Home Stokers, Careful Cooks and Happy Cookers should all monitor what they eat more closely.

Chase and Grabbits

The fastest growing eating group over the past 15 years, Chase and Grabbits represent about 26 percent of the population. They go for just about anything, as long as it's convenient. If these characteristics describe you, don't despair. You can still enjoy food in the fast lane, but take time to select foods that are lower in fat and cholesterol. Try salads, meatless entrees, and low-fat frozen and carry-out meals. Plan ahead when you eat on the run.

Functional Feeders

Representing about 18 percent of the study group, these eaters tend to be in larger households where pre-packaged convenience foods become side dishes or ingredients rather than the meal itself. The AHA recommends that you read the labels when you buy these convenience foods. Stick to items low in fat, cholesterol and sodium.

Down Home Stokers

Ethnic, home-cooked meals are the characteristic foods of this group, which formed 21 percent of the study sample. When cooking your favorite foods, use margarine in seasoned vegetables and toppings. Try broiling, boiling, baking, roasting, grilling, steaming or poaching meats instead of frying.

If you must fry foods, use sunflower, corn, soybean, safflower or canola oils. Removing visible fat from red meats and the skin from chicken or turkey helps reduce the fat. Reducing food portions is another way to cut excess fat and cholesterol. If you follow these suggestions, you "down homers" can do yourself and your family proud.

Happy Cookers

These nurturers feed their families well, providing three full meals a day. Many of their meals are made from scratch. Happy Cookers, which represent 15 percent of the study group, often spare no ingredient to make themselves and their families happy.

You can learn to substitute ingredients to help make your meals just as appealing, but lower in fat and cholesterol. Use margarine instead of butter. Go easy on the salt. Trim excess fat from meats. Remove the skin from chicken. Use egg whites instead of the entire egg. Try low-fat cheese.

Careful Cooks

This group represents about 20 percent of the population. If you fall into this category, you are an informed consumer who tends to follow dietary guidelines for good health. The AHA recommends that you continue to monitor your consumption and explore your food options.

For information and helpful hints, contact your local AHA office.

Calcium critical at growth spurt

Raising calcium intake at the beginning of the growth spurt increases the density of a number of bones in girls, according to the American Society of Clinical Nutrition.

Young girls ages 9-12 who increased their calcium intake to the Recommended Dietary Allowance of 1,200 milligrams per day by consuming the equivalent of four dairy products daily for one year exhibited higher bone density in the spine, hip and total skeleton than girls who consumed about 500 mg. of calcium daily.

The additional calcium did not affect height and weight. The researchers conclude that "dietary calcium has a positive effect on young girls' bone mineral status and may be critical in avoiding future adult bone problems."

Drink your milk — and smile

A study conducted by the Dental Research Department of the University of Rochester highlights the advantages of milk over beverages containing sugar.

The study, presented at the 39th Annual Conference of the European Organization for Caries Research in Helsinki, Finland, compared the cariogenic, or cavity-causing, effect of mixtures of milk and sucrose with water and sucrose.

The study found that even when as much as 10 percent sugar is added to milk, it does not promote tooth decay as much as a solution of 10 percent sugar and water.

Are Your Hands Numb or Painful?

Carpal tunnel syndrome can affect people from all walks of life who use their hands in repetitive movements. This may make it impossible to do simple tasks without pain. Other symptoms include numbness in the fingers of hands which can sometimes interfere with work, play, or sleep.

Surgical treatment for this condition is done on an outpatient basis. A new surgical technique is now available to limit the surgery to two tiny incisions. After surgery, there is less pain and soreness, and a quicker return to your normal activities.

For further information or for physician referral, call 666-5546 Monday through Friday, 6 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Scleroderma can turn people to stone

Women in their childbearing years are at risk for a "hard skin" disease.

Scleroderma literally means "hard skin" and is commonly described as the disease that turns people to stone.

Scleroderma affects over 700,000 people in the U.S. alone — and though it strikes every age, sex and ethnic background, over 80 percent of its victims are women in their childbearing years.

Scleroderma is a disease of both the vascular and immune systems, along with a severe connective tissue disorder. This results in hardening of the skin and multiple organs. Its problems stem from decreased blood circulation and increased production of collagen. There is no known cause or cure.

While neither hereditary or contagious, it becomes potentially fatal when vital organs are involved. Frustratingly, it's often misdiagnosed because its symptoms are so generalized: weakness, weight loss, fatigue, vague muscle pain, joint or bone aches, stiffness of the hands, hair loss, shortness of breath, swallowing difficulties, heartburn and other non-specific complaints.

An Aug. 30 fund-raiser is planned by the United Scleroderma Foundation — a gala movie premiere and afterglow event at the Star John R Theater at 7:30 p.m.

Proceeds from the gala go toward much needed research for scleroderma. For ticket and movie information, call the foundation at 443-0858. The Star John R Theater is located 14 Mile Road and John R in Madison Heights.

Head injuries no joking matter

A head injury occurs every 15 seconds in the United States, and about 500,000 people sustain serious head injuries each year.

Called the silent epidemic, this is the leading cause of death and disability in children and young adults. Not surprisingly, people ages 15-34 are at the highest risk for this type of injury.

A head injury, also known as traumatic brain injury, occurs when the head is hit or sustains an impact from an external force and produces varying degrees of physical, intellectual and psychological impairments.

Motor vehicle accidents account for half of all head injuries, followed by falls, assaults and violence, and sports and recreation. Many head injuries are drug/ alcohol related.

Fortunately, many of these injuries are preventable. For more information, call for a free booklet, "50 Tips for Family Safety," which highlights useful hints for vehicle, home, water and sports safety. The booklets are available at the Greenery Health Center in Independence Township (674-0903).

Yogurt boosts immune system

Yogurt with live cultures may help strengthen the immune system, according to a recent issue of the Journal of Immunotherapy.

The study compares three groups: live-culture yogurt eaters, heat-treated yogurt (containing no live cultures) eaters, and yogurt abstainers.

Cholesterol and triglyceride levels remain the same for all three groups, while calcium shows up in greater amounts in the yogurt eaters.

But results show that, for some unknown reason, those who eat live-culture yogurt produce more gamma-interferon in their white blood cells, suggesting a boost to the immunity process.

Herpes virus common among Americans

At some time in the life of just about every American, chances are he or she will contact herpes virus.

That's not quite as shocking as it may sound. Herpes is more than the social disease that's caused such a stir lately. It's a whole family of viruses, some as common as the types causing chicken pox, cold sores, shingles and mononucleosis.

Here are some statistics:

■ Thirty million Americans have recurrent cold sores or oral herpes.

■ Nine million Americans have recurrent genital herpes, with 600,000 new cases in 1983 alone.

■ Three-hundred thousand new cases of shingles occur in the U.S. annually.

■ Five thousand U.S. infants are born each year with brain damage due to herpes or cytomegalovirus (CMV).

■ Chicken pox strikes 97 percent of U.S. citizens before adolescence and can be fatal to immunosuppressed patients or lead to encephalitis.

■ Mononucleosis infects 10 percent of every college freshman class and affects many others in that age group.

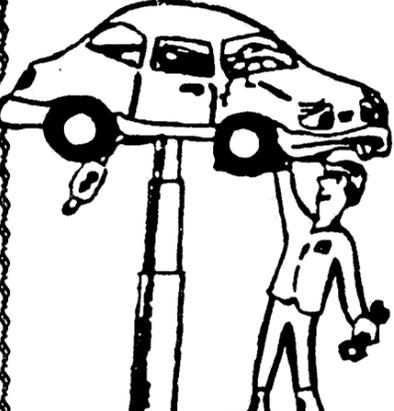

One trait of this virus "family" is that it stays with you for life. Some forms remain dormant; some cases recur. Fortunately, medical research has made great strides in the understanding and treatment of these diseases.

Healthy breakfast means healthy kids

We've all been told that breakfast is the most important meal of the day. Yet for today's busy families, time is at a premium in the morning, and many children are sent to school with empty stomachs.

Studies show that breakfast skippers perform poorly in school and are more likely to suffer from fatigue, irritability and decreased concentration.

At Clarkston High School, teens can get a little help to combat this alarming problem. Before school, one cafeteria line is open, where teen-agers can buy rolls, bagels, milk, juice and other breakfast foods.

Subject: Thanks for all of your kindness and help!

Hello Mr. Simmons. Thanks to your effort and support, my Little League Baseball team was able to sell enough M&M's to buy matching baseball shoes and shirts. We really appreciate you taking the extra interest in not only our non-profit organization, but also for the many others that you help in the community. You're a proud symbol for this area, and one of the reasons why people like me move to the Lake Orion area.

Thanks so very much,

Rush Road Reports

By Don Rush

Open-air fun with Sunbird

Call me a rag-top man, but when it comes to convertibles I have a soft spot. I'll be honest, it would take a lot to let me down with a convertible. Pontiac's 1992 Sunbird convertible did not let me down. I doubt it would let too many other people down either.

Whether it's a moonlight cruise or a sun filled drive down a country rode, with the top down the Sunbird convertible is sure to give you a fun ride.

1992 marks the 10th anniversary for Sunbird. Pontiac started the car under the nameplate J2000. By 1985 the J2000 name was replaced by Sunbird. The cars have come a long way, baby. While I was in possession of the 1992 convertible more than one person came up and marveled at the changes a decade has brought. The cars are no longer considered economy rides -- in the same category as the now defunked Chevrolet Vega. Now, to the model tested.

According to the official Sunbird literature put out by the folks at Pontiac, they had heard Sunbird's base suspension was too soft, and its uplevel suspension was too hard, or as they said, "aggressive." A tweak here, a rear stabilizer bar there, add new aluminum wheels, and the ride's a lot better: on I-75, M-15, even the dirt roads named Clintonville and Newman.

I took the car up north for the weekend. On the twisty, windy roads the Sunbird handled well, even at speeds near 45 mph. As far as highway driving, the car was great. The throaty sounding 3.1 Liter, V-6 engine had no problems getting up to highway speeds quickly, and didn't labor at 70 mph (average rpms for 65-70 mph were 2,500). Helping in the comfort department were the seats and roominess in the front passenger area. Riders in the back seats may have a little leg room problem. Officially, there's 42.9 inches of leg room up front and only 31.2 in the rear. You get the picture.

The styling of the interior hasn't changed much -- the dashboard, radio and cassette player look almost identical to the 1989 model. Don't look for any surprises here.

One thing Pontiac did do was bump up the capacity of the gas tank from 13.6 gallons to 15.2. The convertible with the V-6 gets between 20 and 28 miles per gallon.

Overall, if you're looking for a convertible you should at least take a look at the Sunbird. It's an all-around solid car and the rag top just makes it all the better.

Highlights: handles very good
Lowlights: Sunbird decals on door and trunk lid
Base Price: $15,403
Model Tested: $18,869
Estimated Gas Mileage: 20 city; 28 highway

Hear Ye! Hear Ye!

The Renaissance Festival has begun in Holly with area talent taking part as actors and musicians

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

A mere peasant just one year ago, Stacy Grutza has achieved true social status as the mayor's wife in 1992.

This rags-to-riches story has been made possible by the Michigan Renaissance Festival, which kicked off its two-month celebration in Holly last weekend.

Grutza, 21, is back for her second year at the festival. A "street urchin" in 1991, she was promoted to portray the mayor's wife this season.

"The casting director told me my personality would be best suited for this job," said the Independence Township resident. "Apparently, they thought the girl who played this part last year was much too reserved."

A 1989 alumnus of Clarkston High School, Grutza will be starting her senior year at Central Michigan University this fall. She's majoring in political science and theater at the Mount Pleasant-based college.

Grutza said this experience in theater was pivotal in her landing a role at auditions a year ago. Not unlike last year, she'll come home every weekend to participate in the festival, which runs until Sept. 27.

Grutza said she enjoys playing the mayor's wife because of the character's flirtatious nature.

"My character is very bubbly and happy to see anyone who's male," Grutza said. "She supposedly married a much older man for his money, and she doesn't go anywhere without her three servants, who fan her and provide her with drink."

"The casting director told me my personality would be best suited for this job."

Had she been alive during the romantic Renaissance period, Grutza said she imagines herself living just that type of lifestyle.

"I'd probably be living a similar life. Not to say I'm boy crazy, but I do like men," she said, laughing.

Grutza said her interaction with the other actors is the most gratifying aspect of this part-time job.

"Working with the other actors makes it so much fun," she said. "Most of us don't see each other until the following season, so it's been like a big reunion so far.

"Everyone treats each other like family," Grutza added.

With this in mind, she encourages everyone to visit the festival to see how Europeans lived 500 years ago. "We've got something for everyone in the family," Grutza said. "There's action, comedy, and neat gift shops. It's almost impossible to not have a good time at the festival."

STACY GRUTZA of Independence Township is just one of many characters visitors will see at the Michigan Renaissance Festival in Holly. The 21-year-old CMU senior portrays the mayor's wife at this year's seven-week festival.

Try the romance of Renaissance Festival

Take a step back 500 years and experience the romance and pageantry of the Michigan Renaissance Festival.

Located in rural Holly, the festival runs from Aug. 15 through Sept. 27 on Saturdays, Sundays and Labor Day from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

This two-month celebration is held in the European Renaissance village of Hollygrove, a 16th century town filled with authentic looking buildings and 200 revelers. The village district also features daily jousts, 130 craft shops, games, eight area stages and daily performances of "Beauty and the Beast" in the Children's Dell.

A different event is featured every weekend at the 9-acre festival site. They include:

■ Renaissance Romance (Aug. 22-23) — Engage yourself in romantic notions. Love reigns true as the king and queen pledge their love in a renewal of vows. Cheer for your favorite local sports and media celebrities as they duke it out for charity in the first Celebrity Challenge Weekend.

■ Tournament of Chivalry (Aug. 29-30) — Valiant knights in shining armor take to the field in the Games Gala Tournament.

■ Peasant Olympics (Sept. 5-7) — Let the games begin with Tote-a-Blake and Press-a-Wench. Partake in foolish antics in a special celebratory weekend.

■ Music and Dance (Sept. 12-13) — Celebrate song and dance with merry minstrels and lighthearted troubadours who invite you to rejoice and kick up your heels in harmony.

■ Highland Fling (Sept. 19-20) — In tribute to Scotland, the Masters Caber Toss Champions once again take to the gaining fields while the tartan-clad Scotsman captivate and delight in Highland dance competitions.

■ Country Wine Affair (Sept. 26-27) — Savor fine exotic edibles and sample the nectar of the gods in a splendid Country Wine Affair Farewell Weekend Celebration.

The festival is held in the midst of 200 wooded acres, one mile north of Mt. Holly, Inc., in Holly, on Dixie Highway between Pontiac and Flint. Tickets for adults cost $10.95 at the gate and $9.50 in advance. Children's tickets cost $5.95 at the gate and $5 in advance. Children under 5 years old are free.

For more information on the Renaissance Festival, call 645-9640.
