No teacher contract yet in Clarkston

BY CURT MCALLISTER

Clarkston News Associate Editor

A teacher strike is possible but not likely in the Clarkston school district according to district negotiators of the negotiating table.

With the start of school less than a week away, representatives from the Clarkston school district and the teachers' union continue the process of hammering out a new one-year contract.

According to Duane Lewis, director of personnel services and district negotiator, contract talks are going

"A strike is definitely the worst-case scenario in this matter, but we'll take the steps necessary to achieve our goals."

CEA President Bill Curtis

well and he doesn't foresee the need for a teachers' strike.

"Based on where we left the table last Thursday, I don't think a strike will occur, but it's impossible to read the minds of those across the table from me," he said.

Bill Curtis, a union spokesperson, said negotiations are proceeding a little more slowly than he'd prefer but admits progress is being made. Like Lewis, he remains optimistic, but he is prepared to strike if necessary.

Contracts on hold

With the teachers' contract still pending in Clarkston, the school district has put off negotiations with its other employees.

According to Duane Lewis, director of personnel services, other school employees — such as custodians, bus drivers and secretaries — have had their contracts extended until Oct. 1. Lewis said the other groups want the district to settle the teachers' contract first, before initiating in other types of negotiations.

matter, but we'll take the steps necessary to achieve our goals," he said. "Believe me, we'll do everything we can to reach a fair settlement with the school district."

Lewis said the two sides met for nearly 14 hours last Thursday and verbally agreed on numerous topics. However, four areas of debate still remain, he said. They include: salary, class size, insurance and class assignments.

Lewis said it's common for these four points to be the last agreed on in normal negotiations.

Last week, the Michigan Education Association (MEA) named Clarkston as one of five countywide school districts on its "critical" list. The MEA considers a school district to be on its critical list if negotiations have reached a critical stage where work stoppages are possible if the current bargaining climate continues.

Lewis said this report is a little misleading, when the total number of meetings and their frequency are taken into consideration.

So far, he said, the two sides have met a total of eight times since June, which include four meetings in August. There were no talks in July because of vacation commitments.

Negotiations are scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 25. In the meantime, Lewis is confident that a contract can be agreed upon by the end of the week.

"With the way things went last Thursday, I'm optimistic that we can bring this matter to a closure by Friday," he said.

Curtis said the district's 319 teachers will be prepared to vote on a tentative agreement Thursday, Aug. 27, in Waterford, if one is reached Aug. 25.

Friday, Aug. 28, is scheduled as the teachers' first day of classes. Students are slated to begin school on Monday, Aug. 31.

Drivers needed

Volunteers are desperately needed to help deliver food to home-bound senior citizens.

About 30 in Independence Township are on the list of lunch deliveries; however, drivers are needed to pick up the food from the township senior center and take it to their homes.

Routes are about one-half hour a day, and volunteers are paid mileage. People may work any schedule they choose, such as one day a week, five days a week or one day a month.

Helpers also are needed to serve the about 100 meals a day at the senior center in Clintonwood Park, Clarkston Road. The kitchen workers need help packing food and washing dishes.

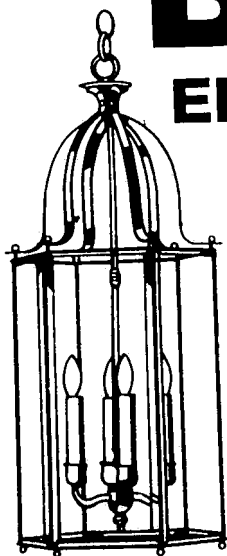

For more information, call 625-8231.

Corrections

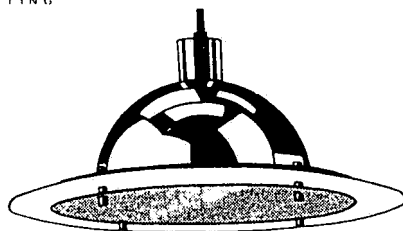

A letter to the editor in last week's Clarkston News should have said that an end-of-the-year golf outing for administrators was part of an educational seminar and was donated by Spring Lake Country Club at no cost to taxpayers. In addition, the school district is considering hiring one additional administrator, whose salary would be funded 90 percent the first year with county special education money and state and federal grants and 100 percent the second year from those sources.

A story about a Kenny Rogers Roasters restaurant in the Aug. 12 Clarkston News should have said the restaurant was at Sashabaw and Waldon roads, Independence Township.

DDA plan sparks heated, complicated discussion

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

A hot issue involving schools, road improvements and a fire station sparked the Aug. 18 Independence Township Board meeting.

A revamped second amendment to the Downtown Development Authority's (DDA) development plan was delayed when motions to approve it and to table it each failed on a 3-3 vote Aug. 18. Trustee Daniel Travis was absent from the meeting.

The topic is on the agenda for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 1, at the township annex, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston.

The split vote came after trustees and several citizens clashed over the plan's approval.

Change of plans

At the Aug. 18 meeting, Supervisor Frank Ronk added the option to "approve" the plan to the agenda, even though the DDA plan had changed in substance.

That evening, Ronk informed the board that Clarkston pediatrician James O'Neill had opted not to donate his land for a new fire station at the corner of M-15 and Dixie Highway (see related story).

O'Neill's pull-out meant that the extension of Citation Drive westerly, to connect M-15 Highway with Dixie Highway, would be dropped from the amended plan.

This deletion would leave the widening of White Lake Road and the erection of street lighting on existing Citation Drive and White Lake Road as the only two items on the proposal.

This plan was verbally supported by Ronk, Clerk Joan McCrary and Trustee Jean Saile. However, Trustee Bruce Mercado voiced his disapproval over the hasty approval process.

"I don't see any purpose of moving ahead with this amendment, with a major part of it missing," he said. "I'd like to start over fresh and know exactly what we're dealing with."

O'Neill won't be donating land

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

A local pediatrician has decided not to donate three acres to Independence Township.

This action lowers the odds of a new fire station ever being built at the corner of Dixie Highway and M-15.

On Aug. 18, Clarkston pediatrician James O'Neill

"Things are starting to get out of hand, and I love this community too much to see it divided further."

Dr. James O'Neill

contacted township officials about his change of plans. The Clarkston doctor had originally promised to donate the property behind his M-15 clinic to the township over a year ago.

However, O'Neill opted not to donate the property for two reasons — community division and the construction of another medical facility.

"I'm not doing this to be difficult — I'm doing it constructively for the community," O'Neill said. "We're living in a community that's slowly tearing itself apart. The township is warring with the city, and the schools have turned against Tink (Frank Ronk, township supervisor) for DDA money."

"Things are starting to get out of hand, and I love this community too much to see it divided further," he added. "In a couple of months, we're going to have a new supervisor in Independence, and I saw the pushing through of a fire station as an unfair burden to Dale (Stuart, the probable next supervisor). If anything, we need a smooth transition of power."

O'Neill said he was angered over rumors that the construction of a new fire station, behind his clinic, was conspiratorial.

"I tried to donate a very valuable piece of property, but it was met with some sort of chicanery," he said. "I'd

"There's nothing top secret about this plan. We've been up front since the get-go."

Supervisor Frank Ronk

According to McCrary, between $200,000 and $250,000 will be deleted from the original $400,000 project by dropping the Citation Drive extension.

Conflict over DDA expansion

Dick Ayres, DDA president, was one of several in the audience of 40 people to verbally side with Mercado. He also reminded the township board that the DDA board on June 16 had re-recommended a cease of expansion until the school rebate issue had been finalized.

School officials want money

School district officials, present at the meeting, voiced their disapproval over the pending approval.

"It puzzles me tonight that you'd go ahead with a vote before meeting with the school board like you'd promised at our joint meeting," said Superintendent Gary Haner. "We were supposed to sit down and talk about making some project cuts, especially along White Lake Road."

The Clarkston Board of Education met with the township board on July 6 to discuss the possibility of a rebate from the DDA. The school board formally requested a rebate from the DDA in May, after district officials learned that "out of formula" school districts aren't required to refund a DDA rebate to the state — as be still willing to do it today if people didn't think it was some sort of secret project construed by the township.

"With this in mind, I've decided to build a medical-related building on that land," O'Neill added. "This way, we can build something to further aid the community, without controversy or delay."

O'Neill declined to go into specifics on the medical-related building because of a promise of confidentiality he'd made with his developer.

O'Neill's decision has forced the township to organize a sub-committee to search for other suitable properties for a fire station. Earlier this summer, the township sold fire station No. 1 in downtown Clarkston to local businessmen Dick and John Morgan, who own Morgan's Marathon on Main Street.

Independence Township Fire Chief Gar Wilson said his department has until March 1993 to vacate the premises. However, the Morgans have reportedly told Wilson that the fire department can rent from them until it finds other accommodations.

Despite this precarious situation, Wilson said he wasn't angry over O'Neill's decision to pull out of the deal.

"I really can't blame the man. He's put a lot of money out in the hopes of us building a new fire station on that property," Wilson said. "He's been very supportive

"I was very surprised at first, but I can understand his decision."

Clerk Joan McCrary

of us, and he has to look out for his best interests."

Independence Township Clerk Joan McCrary was also sympathetic to O'Neill's change of heart.

"I was very surprised at first, but I can understand his decision," she said. "He's been waiting on this project for a while, and I understand he's got some beneficial plans of his own. So we can only wish him luck."

long as it's money generated after the school district went out of the state's funding formula.

The Clarkston school district went out of the state's school funding formula this year and stopped receiving state aid dollars in the process. Prior to that, money "captured" by the DDA was reimbursed by the state's school funding formula.

DDA created 6 years ago

The DDA was created six years to improve landscaping, lighting, water and sewer along parts of Dixie Highway, M-15, and White Lake Road. Funding for the DDA comes from tax increment financing, which captures "excess" taxes from a base year — and returns the money for use within the DDA boundaries only. The excess money comes from property valuation increases or new development after the base year. The 10-year DDA project will cease at the end of 1996.

Some push for new projects now

Ronk told the audience that he wanted to get started

"I don't see any purpose of moving ahead with this amendment, with a major part of it missing."

Trustee Bruce Mercado

with the new projects before the DDA time is up in four years. Saile concurred.

"I'm just afraid that we're going to diddle this money away before we can do something beneficial with it," she said.

McCrary told the audience that it's a long process to start over with a second amended plan. She said the township would have to repeat public hearings, send the proposal back to the DDA board, approve language with attorneys, and send it back to the board for ratification. McCrary estimated it could be December before a new plan comes up for adoption.

She said this plan needs to be amended soon in order to pay for curb cuts implemented as part of the the M-15

"I'm just afraid that we're going to diddle this money away before we can do something beneficial with it."

Trustee Jean Saile

widening. She said the township told the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) that it would pay for these with money from the DDA's second amendment.

McCrary said township officials assumed this amendment would pass because the DDA board had initially approved the proposal. However, the school rebate issue changed the atmosphere surrounding this amendment, she added. McCrary said the curb cuts would be paid for from a portion of DDA money, regardless of the situation.

Residents demand a halt to expansion

Throughout the meeting, residents demanded that the board halt expansion. A couple of citizens mentioned what they believe are the township's "hidden agendas." These accusations infuriated Ronk.

'Nothing top secret'

"There's nothing top secret about this plan," Ronk blasted. "We've been up front since the get-go."

Trustee John Lutz eventually motioned to table the issue, with Mercado in support. Mel Vaara added his vote and the motion failed 3-3, with Saile, McCrary and Ronk voting no. A motion to approve the plan also failed 3-3, with the trustees splitting the vote in the same way.

A majority decision is needed for approval.

Middle Lake pull-out may dissolve new city

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Attorney Jon Gaskell's petition drive to pull the Middle Lake Road-area residents out of Clarkston was a topic of discussion at the Aug. 24 Clarkston City Council meeting.

A Michigan Home Rule Cities statute states that if at least one percent of the population of the affected area (one percent of 25,000 township residents would mean 250 signatures) sign the petition, the Oakland County Board of Commissioners would then decide whether or not the Middle Lake residents' request to secede from the City of Clarkston would be put on the ballot.

And if it did make it to the ballot, both city and township residents' votes would be combined in the final results. Ironically, even if Clarkston voters one-sidedly voted against the proposal, township voters could decide the fate of hundreds of city residents or possibly of the existence of the city itself.

"For them to detach could be tantamount to the disavowment of the city."

Councilman William Basinger

Clarkston City Councilman William Basinger said the statute previously stated that city and township voters voted separately, and both city and township residents would have to pass it before approval. He said when the Michigan Legislature amended some boundary acts years ago, it left out the language for the separate votes.

"Apparently in error," added Basinger.

Basinger suggested, among other things, that the council start writing letters to legislators.

"I don't see why we shouldn't take the effort to get the law corrected," said Basinger, who added, "It's amazing what pieces of mail will do to the legislators."

"Especially this year, during the election," pointed out Councilwoman Karen Sanderson.

Basinger said the idea to secede is "totally absurd," especially since Clarkston village residents just months ago approved the measures to form the city.

If the issue does make it to the ballot and is passed, and if enough Middle Lake residents would leave, it could also mean the end to the city. The Home Rule Cities statute states that a city has to have at least 750 residents. Around 1,000 people live within city boundaries.

"For them to detach could be tantamount to the disavowment of the city," said Basinger.

The Horrible strikes

Julie Campe

The Horrible blew in and out with a fury early this week — the other Horrible, that is.

Andrew, the first hurricane of the season, left death and destruction — and a few surprises — in its path.

Half of my family is in Florida, and leading up to The Horrible's strike, phone lines between Michigan and many Florida cities were buzzing. Everyone mentioned the fitting name of this hurricane. The youngest in our family, too, is named Andrew and is known to some as Andrew the Horrible.

But even I cannot say that our Horrible is as horrible as Andrew the Horrible Hurricane. He has not killed anyone that I know of. Nor has he blown down any trees, though I don't doubt he has the wind for such a thing.

We kept abreast of the hurricane developments through radio and television and by phone, when we could get through.

On Saturday, my brother Ron reported to work with his crew and fastened down all of the equipment at his construction site, including his trailer office. And when word came to evacuate the area and leave for higher ground, he did. After the hurricane hit, he reported to us that his construction site did not suffer much damage because high winds did not hit his area in Port St. Lucie, north of Miami.

On Sunday, Uncle Jim and Aunt Jacquie of Marco Island boarded up windows and tied up boats and evacuated the island in the Gulf of Mexico. And then they returned — about 4 a.m. Monday — to better secure a boat. Fortunately, the bridge already was closed, and someone who still had sense at that time of night told them to go to higher ground until the hurricane blows over, which they did.

The hurricane hit Marco around 10 or 11 a.m. Monday with 125 mph winds moving at 15 mph, which is very fast for a hurricane, and very lucky for the residents who live there. Apparently, the hurricane was moving so fast at that point that it didn't bring the expected 12-foot high tidal wave in its wake, which would have demolished much of the island. Slower hurricanes cause more destruction, as did Andrew when it hit Miami.

Most of the island damage — crumpled screened-in rooms, uprooted trees, broken roof tile — came from the high winds. The water had not entered into most of the homes, though some boats at the marina were sunk. And Goodland, the town adjacent to Marco on the same island, suffered severe damage since many of the structures are trailers and thatched-roof buildings.

Uncle Jim and Aunt Jacquie reported that they had no electricity or water and had lost some roof tiles — but their boat was fine.

And Robin of Naples happened to be in Orlando for the weekend, so she was already evacuated. When she returned to her apartment (not on the beach side of Naples), she returned to near normal conditions — water and electricity were available. Her window seals showed that water had attempted to get inside, but everything was fine. The rest of Naples was not so lucky.

And my mother — along with Aunt Ethel, Aunt Geneva and Cousins John and Virginia — were fine in New Port Richie. They did not have to evacuate and only noticed a little rain.

As for The Horrible — as in Andrew the youngest of the family — he is vacationing in Ohio and probably doesn't know a thing about the storm carrying his name, as he likes to escape from news whenever he can.

But the rest of the family will remember Andrew the Horrible for years to come. They will remember that they met Andrew and lived to tell of it (they said that before this hurricane, too — it is a badge of honor in my family).

Get all the facts before you judge

BY BILL CURTIS

Last week, The Clarkston News ran a letter by William Rausch, a representative of the Red Ribbon Committee, critical of the Clarkston School District and the Clarkston Education Association (CEA) for bargaining for pay raises while programs for children are being cut.

According to Mr. Rausch, raises should only be given after all student programs are reinstated.

I am a teacher at Clarkston High and have been for 17 years. I also have the privilege for the past two years to be the president with the CEA. I wish to share some information with the community that Mr. Rausch is aware of but did not mention in his letter.

He stated that the average teacher earns $32.21 per hour. Teachers are paid a salary to teach — they do not receive an hourly wage. If you doubt this, just drive by any school in Clarkston any weekday in August. You will see cars in the parking lots. That is because teachers are coming in on their own time to get ready to teach. Anyone who believes teachers punch a time clock must not know a teacher.

Last week, I had reason to stop in a lawn mower repair shop to get some work done. The sign over the counter said "labor $42 an hour." The man behind the counter said that his was the going rate for our area. After making a few phone calls, I found out that he was right. This is $10 more per hour than a Clarkston teacher is paid using Mr. Rausch's numbers. Yet teachers should be thankful just to teach in Clarkston.

In the 17 years I have been in Clarkston, I have never heard it said that the district has so much extra money, so let's just give everyone everything they ask for in negotiations.

People ask "Why don't teachers sacrifice a little to help out in tough times?" We do and we have — you just never hear about it. Let me give you examples.

Two years ago the CEA was the first teacher group in Oakland County to take a reduction in health care benefits. This step alone saved the district more than $600,000 in the last two years.

There are 28 school districts in Oakland County. In the past five years the CEA has settled every contract below the county average. This means that we have gone from 17th in the county to 21st. We may fall even further behind after this year's contract is settled.

We are rapidly becoming the worst paid teachers in Oakland County while continuing to have our children finish in the top 10 districts by every measure that we can use.

For the past three years, an independent firm has audited our records. Clarkston receives fewer dollars per student than 27 of the 28 districts.

However, of the money we do have, Clarkston has spent more of it in direct services to kids than any other district in the county. In other words, the school board, the administration and the teachers have made Clarkston the most fiscally responsible district in Oakland County.

Finally, Mr. Rausch stated facts about bargaining that I find hard to accept. I am the only teacher authorized to speak for the association. Mr. Rausch never contacted me yet stated what he believed to be our salary demands.

He is in error. It makes me wonder: if he is wrong about this piece of information and does not check it for accuracy, what else might he have wrong?

Jim's Jottings

Leftovers are excellent eating

I'd guess that most of us mature people who read the Free Press read Don Jensen.

He's a retired Ford executive, now living in California after a stint in Florida. His column, "Retirement Diary" appears Tuesdays in the Detroit newspaper.

Naturally he and his wife are depression experienced. I mean THE depression, not the blips of the '50s, '70s, '80s and now the '90s. Must be the '60s weren't too bad in the weekly newspaper business or I'd remember.

Last Tuesday Jensen wrote of saving soap and eating leftovers. Mother saved soap, putting slivers in a small wire basket for sudsing the dish water.

We never had leftovers, that I recall, except boiled potatoes. (Is there an 'e' in the plural spelling of potato?)

But we have leftovers now. Hazel still cooks every meal like she's expecting the kids home from school or company.

And, that's OK with me.

Jensen wrote, "I never saw a leftover dish I didn't like."

I agree almost totally with that statement. The exceptions are fried or broiled fish and blanched vegetables.

That leaves the "leftovers I like" category wide open. Since reading Jensen's column I've been trying to assemble a list of my ten favorite leftovers.

It's not easy. If by chance our refrigerator had, at one time, leftover spaghetti, fried chicken, tuna salad, fried bacon and sliced tomatoes (that's one), breaded pork chops, lasagna, Hazel's baked beans, bits of roast pork and gravy (that's also one), fried bologna and pork sausage patties I'd drool all over the frig.

Generally, I'm a loner at noon. I like going home for lunch, warming the leftovers in the microwave, and listening to "Focus" on WJR, which comes on 'right after Paul Harvey' while I eat.

When I know any of the above 10 leftover foods are waiting I might even leave the office a little before noon.

My greatest lunch goes like this: First, get the system excited by having a spoonful of peanut butter ... the creamy style. Once Hazel brought crunchy. The marriage was tested that day.

Second, pop a couple seedless grapes in my mouth. Then, check the rye bread supply, make sure there's honey mustard, and open the refrigerator door. Of course, I already know what's in there.

If it's Italian, change the honey mustard for margarine. Otherwise it's toasted sandwich time.

It takes a major amount of persuasion to get Hazel to serve leftovers. The other night she baked two Cornish game hens which she had packed with rice. Served with gravy a salad and veggy, it was an outstandingly delicious meal.

Since one hen was enough, I encouraged Hazel to serve it again the next night. I promised not to touch it at noon. It was a promise easily kept because there was fried bacon and tomatoes to be sliced.

Like most leftovers, the dinner was greater the second serving. And, that certainly isn't depressing.

Letter to the Editor

Disturbing policy

I am writing in regards to the disturbing article I read in The Clarkston News concerning the use of the newly renovated township library.

The article, entitled, "Without contract, city ethically shouldn't use library, says director," apparently corrects Independence Township Library Director Mollie Lynch's "miscommunication" with Clarkston News reporter Curt McAllister.

Ms. Lynch's abuse of administrative power in terms of explaining the mill contract is overshadowed only by her insensitivity toward both township and city residents.

How, I wonder, does this show any type of governmental cooperation of community spirit between the township and city? Unethical to use the public library? Is she serious? And how is a parent suppose to explain that contorted possibility to their child?

Perhaps in the future Ms. Lynch should refrain from making off-the-wall statements concerning public building usage — regardless of ethics — and stick to administering the best possible library facilities that she is very capable of.

Her statements certainly don't follow with any open-door, user-friendly or public service policy I have experienced through other township or city departments.

Opening day facts

Gary Haner

The beginning of a new school year is approaching quickly. School offices are open and busy registering new students as well as preparing for "Opening Day." Here are some facts and figures to help parents as August wanes.

■ First Day of School: Aug. 31 — 1/2 day for all students

■ Transportation: More than 30 routes are offered again this year. If you need help with pick-up times or have any other transportation questions, call the Transportation Department, 625-3240.

■ School Calendars: 1992-93 calendars are now in print and have been mailed to every student's household in the district. If you did not receive yours, or wish to request an additional calendar, call the Administrative Offices, 625-4402.

■ Schools of Choice: District policy on Schools of Choice is to offer parents their choice of school IF SPACE AND STAFFING PERMIT, as long as the parents provide transportation to that school. However, both Clarkston Junior High and Sashabaw Junior High are now closed to Schools of Choice because of current peak enrollment levels. Some elementary grades in various buildings are also closed because of high enrollment levels.

■ Enrollment Projections: Projections made a year ago by Stanfred Corp. indicated a likelihood of about 75 new students for 1992-93. However, since Stanfred does not consider new housing developments under construction, we anticipate the number of new students to be 125 or more as the year progresses.

■ Pay-to-Participate: Most parents of athletes have already received letters to explain the 1992-93 pay-to-participate policy. Athletes will be assessed $75 per sport if they wish to participate this year. Please call our Athletic Department, 625-0906, if you need additional information about the process.

'If it Fitz ...'

Loose nuts start world unraveling

Jim
Fitzgerald

When I was 14 years old, I deeply dented the left front fender of my father's car while driving it out of an auto repair shop where a lesser dent had just been bumped out of the same fender. I figured that in the category of embarrassing car accidents, rapid repeat division, I'd just set a personal aggravation record that would stand unchallenged forever.

I figured wrong.

Around 51 years later, on July 22, 1992, a low tire needed attention. I left my car at a repair shop half a block from my office in downtown Detroit. A few hours later I picked it up, exchanging $15 for the chief mechanic's assurance that my car was ready to roll.

About five seconds after I rolled out of the shop, the left front wheel left my car and the axle smashed into the pavement with a grinding, sickening sound. The wheel rolled across the busy street and onto the sidewalk where it hit a mailman.

He wasn't injured, and he kindly delivered the wheel to me, without a stamp.

I leaned the wheel against the lurched car and angrily began striding toward the repair shop, while at the same time rehearsing profanity. But then I stopped and thought: What if someone steals the loose wheel while I'm gone? That would add outrage to anger.

So I returned and locked the wheel in the backseat. Later, when I described my horrible experience to my wife, anguished detail by anguished detail, she expressed her sympathy by asking:

"Why did you put the wheel in the backseat? It probably damaged the leather. Why didn't you put it in the trunk?"

I told her I didn't know why I put the wheel in the backseat. I also told her I didn't know why I got married.

Anyway, when I reached the shop, the chief mechanic said another mechanic must have forgotten to tighten the lug nuts after putting the wheel back on my car. That was a big surprise.

I thought my wheel came off because, up in heaven, my father had persuaded God to help him get even with me for denting his just-repaired fender in the bump shop parking lot in 1941.

The head mechanic said the lug nuts came off with the wheel, of course. Had I searched for and found them in the street, in heavy traffic, and put them in the backseat with the wheel? No, for shame, I hadn't.

I wondered if I should apologize.

My fender, suddenly left with no wheel, was damaged to the tune of $846. The head mechanic said his shop doesn't cure bumps, only creates them. But his insurance would cover the repair costs at whatever bump shop I chose. With customary wisdom, I chose a shop that had to send to Mars for parts. It was two weeks before I got my car back.

It should be added that I got my hands dirty putting the wheel in the backseat instead of the trunk. And when I finally got home that day, I was embarrassed to look in the mirror and discover I'd transferred the dirt to my face. I looked like I'd been mud wrestling and lost. I badly needed a shower.

Except the water in my apartment building was turned off for repairs.

This is being written on Aug. 5 on someone else's computer because mine is broken. My phone doesn't work. I went to the office bathroom and couldn't flush. No water again. No wash, no drink. The IRS is auditing my 1990 income tax return. Aug. 5 is my birthday.

Don't bother to send condolences; they'll arrive too late. As soon as my phone is fixed, I'm making an appointment with Dr. Jack Kevorkian.

City voters may see library issue on ballot

A one-mill increase for Independence Township Library operations will be put on the ballot for Clarkston residents, if township voters first pass their increase.

The Clarkston City Council voted unanimously Aug. 24 to put the increase on the ballot if township voters pass an increase Sept. 15. The one-mill increase would be in effect for the next two years.

One mill is $1 for every $1,000 in assessed property value. For instance, the owner of a $100,000 home assessed at half the market value ($50,000) would pay an extra $50 per year if the increase is approved.

City residents currently pay .73 mills for the library. The increase would bring the millage to 1.75, the same amount put on the ballot by the township.

Several weeks ago, library director Mollie Lynch requested a one-mill increase, which would permanently set the millage at 1.75. But the council told Lynch it preferred less than a one-mill increase, voting that the total millage be raised to 1.25.

However, at that time, the city's vote would have been combined with the township's, and city residents would have had no separate voice. The measure passed by the city council on Monday means the township and city would vote separately.

"This is exactly what we told our citizens. They'd get the chance to vote on any increase," said Councilman Douglas Roeser.

I can't believe I missed the revolution

I just bought a new car, my first. I'd been thinking about it for a few months and admired many cars before I made my decision.

Some of the cars I liked were Japanese-made. GASP! THE HORROR! I'm sure my grandfathers, both life-long GM workers, were rolling in their graves.

I started to really look at cars about the time the "Buy American" or "Anti-Japanese and Everyone Else" campaigns were in full swing. I was embarrassed by the car bashings and the insults that were hurled across the ocean. I was glad when it seemed to subside.

Then, I saw this sign on Davisburg Road in Davisburg. It says "Don't park Japanese cars in front of my store. Park the damn things back in Japan."

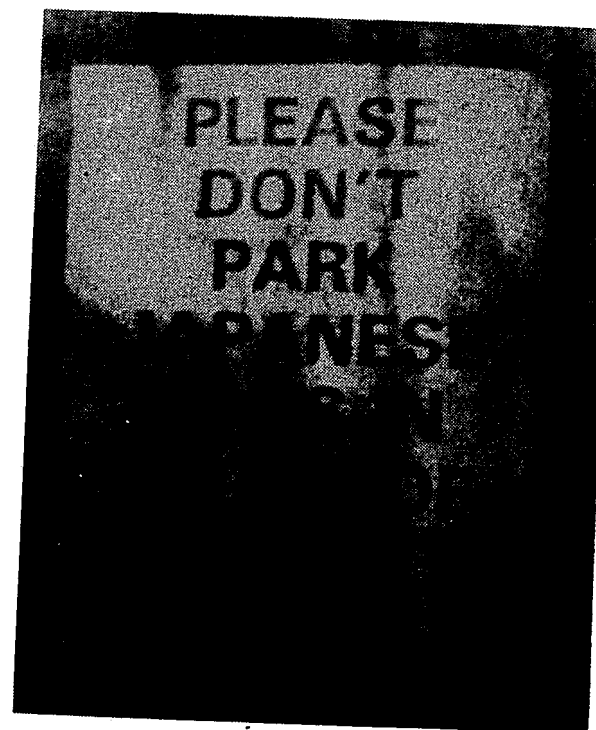

Hey, wait a second—I thought this was the land of the free. I thought I could park my car, whether it be American, Japanese, German or French-made, wherever there is a public parking space or in the lot of a business I use.

No one contacted me and told me I now live in a communist country and couldn't park where I wanted to. I can't believe I missed the revolution.

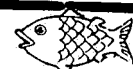

If the sign had said "No Black, Oriental, Jewish, Native American, Hispanic, Jehovah Witness, Catholic ... made cars can park here. Park the damn cars in Africa, China, Israel, on the reservation ... (you get the picture)," a whole host of protesters would come out of the woodwork.

It amazes me that a sign like this exists and that there has not been enough flack to cause the store owner to take it down.

By the way, I bought an American-made car; it is even made by General Motors. I suppose that I now would be welcomed to park in front of that business ... but would I really want to?

MAIN STREET Davisburg has all the trappings of hometown America — and this sign, which exemplifies an intolerance for a group of people. All men were created equal is a truth for everyone, not simply white anglo-saxons.

Farm animals get rabies

Rabies has recently been diagnosed in two farm animals in Michigan.

One animal was a goat from Oakland County and the other, a horse from Lapeer County according to Bill Schuette, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture (MDA). Authorities suspect the animals contracted the disease from the bite of a rabid wild animal.

"Rabies in livestock is uncommon in Michigan," said Schuette. "The last rabid goat was reported in 1946 and the last rabid horse in 1979. It is more common to find the disease in bats, skunks, raccoons and foxes."

State Veterinarian H. Michael Chaddock concurred. "We know that rabies exists in Michigan wildlife," he said. "The problems arise when rabid wild animals come into contact with people and unvaccinated domestic animals."

The Michigan Department of Agriculture encourages all pet owners to have their dogs and cats vaccinated against rabies. This is important to do as part of the animal's regular health care routine.

Owners of livestock should consult their local veterinarian about recommendations for prevention of rabies in farm animals. Rabies is a fatal disease affecting all warm-blooded animals, including humans. As a precaution, people should never handle wild animals.

Local Lutherans warmly greeted in Slovakia

As part of a visit with Lutheran Christians in Europe, Clarkston area residents the Rev. Bob and Beverly Walters, Calvary Music Director Yvonne Lowe, and choir members Dean and Helen Remsberg and Tom and Margaret Miller were guests of congregations in Boeblingen and Erfurt, Germany, and Senec, Czechoslovakia.

BY PASTOR BOB WALTERS

As we drove toward Senec from the Bratislava train station, Ondrejovic turned on the car radio.

The voting results were broadcast: Vaclav Havel was not re-elected president of Czechoslovakia. Change continues in the country that combined the Slovak and Czech republics in 1918. The first 40 years of Communism was swept away by the "velvet" revolution. And now the two republics moved toward independent existence.

Through these sweeping political and social changes, the Church of the Augsburg Confession has lived and shared the Gospel.

The seven members from Calvary had been invited by the pastor of the Senec congregation, Dr. Ondrejovic, to visit and get to know brother and sister Lutherans in Slovakia. We were the first group from the United States to visit the Senec congregation, just 12 miles east of the Slovak capital, Bratislava, and 25 miles from Vienna, Austria.

The day after the Clarkstonites arrived was the Fourth of July, and we celebrated by having lunch with Pastors Ondrej and Zusana Petkovsky and visiting in their home in the village of Beckov, north of Senec. Women have served as pastors for some 50 years there. Word went out that U.S. visitors were there, and soon we were joined by a Slovak-American from Brooklyn.

On the way to Stara Tura, we stopped in Nova Mesta and helped Ondrejovic plant some flowers on the grave of his wife Milada's parents.

In Stara Tura, Pastor Milan Kubik showed us the small museum remembering Slovak poetess and hymn writer Kristina Roy, as well as the church he serves there, where Sunday worship averages 400. His wife, Vilman, invited us for refreshments. The warm hospitality was typical throughout the visit.

Through these sweeping political and social changes, the Church of the Augsburg Confession has lived and shared the Gospel.

The church buildings we saw were colorfully decorated, and all had beautiful cut glass chandeliers. They have obviously been well cared for, even through the years of Communist rule.

Sunday, as a self-styled septet, we rose early and sang for a special outdoor service in Bratislava, led by two of the regional Lutheran Bishops, marking the feast day for Saints Cyril and Methodius, who brought the Christian faith to the Slavs in 863.

We left immediately to worship with the folks in Senec. Ondrejovic's daughter, Ingeborg, who is preparing for pastoral ministry, had begun the service.

All pastors have to be able to sing and play the piano, in order to lead the liturgy, rich in music and tradition. Much of the service is sung, with the pastors singing the lessons, the Creed, and the prayers.

The congregation that day sang lustily, including the the sermon hymn of 16 verses. As in our earlier visits to Lutheran congregations in Boeblingen and Erfurt, Germany, our group sang two anthems and presented a banner headed, "Jedna Rodina" ("One Family" in Slovak) based on Ephesians 2, with both Clarkston and Senec marked on a quilted globe.

After the noon meal, we joined the congregation in Modra-Kralova for the monthly afternoon worship and sang the spiritual that had become their trademark, "Hush, Hush, Somebody's Callin' My Name" for a third time that day.

Three infectious smiling little girls in the front row turned out to be Pastor Ivan Toth's granddaughters, who later sang for our group when their proud grandparents invited them for coffee after the service.

Monday, we visited the school that prepares pastors for ministry, the Theological Faculty of Comenius University. Dr. Ondrejovic is the dean of the faculty, along with his pastoral duties. The faculty recently awarded American Lutheran and Yale University church historian Jaroslav Pelikan its honorary doctorate.

Enrollment is 140, up from 80 in Communist times, and they expect 180 this fall. Many of these will join the 200 pastors who now serve 300 Slovak Lutheran congregations.

Since the theological faculty had been ousted from the University by the Communist regime, Ondrejovic is helping reintegrate it into the university before he retires. A conversation followed with young faculty members, Dr. Julius Filo, who teaches practical theology and New Testament, and Dr. Juraj Bandy, Hebrew and Old Testament.

Everyone shared lunch at a nearby traditional restaurant. A few even had some tasty sheep stomach soup.

That evening, Dusan and Milada Ondrejovic invited the seven of us for supper. Their son, Torsten, along with his twin sister, Ingeborg, helped translate the spirited conversation during which the Americans learned about the church and the new political situation.

Milada Ondrejovic is an elected member of the Slovak Parliament, representing the Slovak minority, a third of the citizens in Czechoslovakia. (Soon after arriving home, news featured the Parliament vote for sovereignty, thus making a new relation between the republics a reality.)

We left on July 7, warmed by the heartfelt welcome and hospitality, and exhausted by the pace. Dr. Ondrejovic had certainly taken us literally at our hope to meet and get acquainted with sisters and brothers in the Church of Slovakia.

The Rev. Bob Walters is pastor of Calvary Lutheran Evangelical Church, Independence Township.

District expects 65 new students

The Clarkston school district is expected to enroll as many as 65 new students during the course of the upcoming school year.

According to Duane Lewis, director of personnel services, school projections indicate that the district will serve at least 5,725 pupils by the end of the year. Lewis said the district's student population jumped from 5,601 to 5,660 during the 1991-92 school year.

Lewis expects the biggest influx of new students in 1992-93 to be at the elementary and junior high levels. He said the school district has already hired additional teachers to combat overcrowded conditions.

"At the elementary school level, we've used up every available classroom," Lewis said. "We're also contemplating moving the Latchkey program again. We desperately need the space at Pine Knob Elementary."

The Kids Connection "Latchkey" program had been housed at the Clarkston Community Education building, but was moved to Pine Knob this summer in order to relocate a kindergarten class from North Sashabaw Elementary School to the center.

Rumors speed into Clarkston

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston may or may not be a traffic ticket mill, but it certainly is a rumor mill.

The past two or three Clarkston City Council meetings have opened with a discussion of rumors heard by the council members, and Monday night's meeting was no exception.

Councilman William Basinger said two of the latest rumors were that the Clarkston Police Department had a quota of giving two traffic tickets per hour and that the city had "already collected $53,000 in ticket revenues so far."

Basinger said in actuality an average of 5.2 tickets have been given each 24 hours. He noted that an average of 20,000 cars pass through M-15 alone each day.

"We hardly have a ticket mill here," he said.

In addition, Basinger reported another related rumor.

"To add insult to injury, the rumor is all of this is happening because we rejected the police contract with the township," said Basinger.

It was the township that refused to extend the contract with the city.

Councilman Douglas Roeser relayed another rumor. "I was told that our taxes are going up $600," said Roeser, which also is untrue.

Roeser also suggested an explanation behind the complaints of traffic tickets.

"There may be hidden agendas on some of the complaints, too," said Roeser.

Councilman Stephen Arkwright pointed out that the council is always willing to discuss any rumors heard by Clarkston residents.

The council said it may send a letter to residents clearing up the rumors.

Horse patrol helps bolster Clarkston's new police force

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

After a hundred-year hiatus, horses are back in downtown Clarkston.

Starting last Friday, a mounted-horse patrol has been added to the Clarkston police force. The four-legged patrol will be occasional, and a manned police car will always be on duty whenever the horse is making its rounds.

Heather Morey, a full-time officer for the Redford Police Department, will patrol Clarkston with her Morgan mare, Tiara, part time. Clarkston Police Chief Robert DeVore's horse, Ironman, is currently in "school" and will be available for duty in a few weeks.

Morey, who lives in South Lyon, said horse patrol has some advantages over a car or foot patrol.

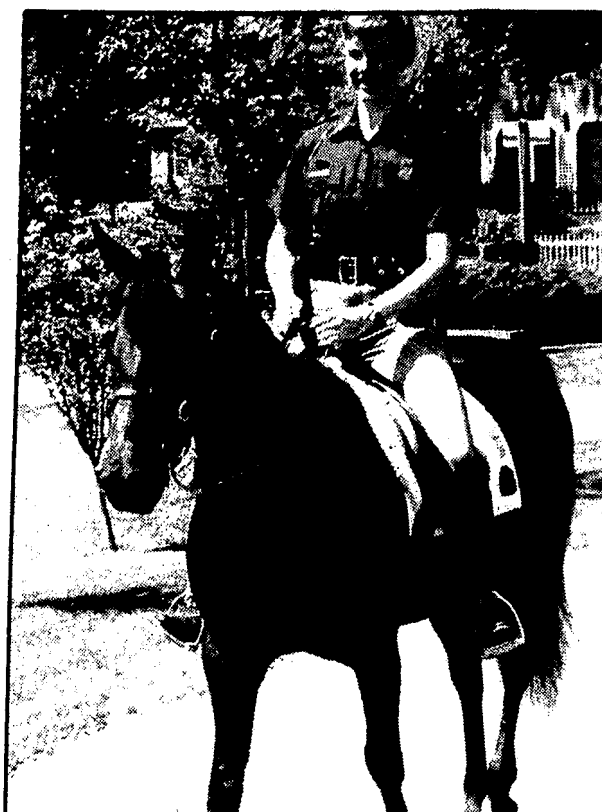

"You can get back in those places where cars can't," said Morey, who volunteered with the mounted force in Detroit for four years. "A horse has high visability. And I can see things from being higher up."

The policewoman said the horses are trained to be accustomed to traffic and are not spooked by the presence of cars. The horses are also trained to be calm around people.

"A horse has high visability. And I can see things from being higher up."

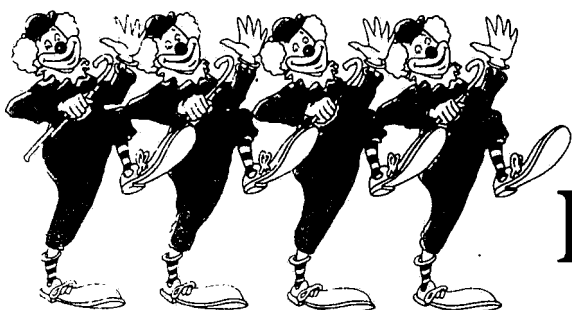

Heather Morey

Morey said in addition to Detroit, police departments in Wayne County and Birmingham also have horses. The Oakland County Sheriff's Department also has a volunteer mounted patrol.

HEATHER Morey poses for a photo on Tiara in Clarkston's Depot Park. The part-time officer will patrol occasionally with her Morgan mare.

Young golfers hope for return to state finals

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Next year or the year after might be the year for the Clarkston boys' golf team, but don't count out the 1992 Wolves.

Only two lettermen return from last year's successful season, which saw the Wolves finish seventh in the state, but they will be joined by a transfer from Texas and a host of talented golfers from a 19-1 JV squad.

And don't forget, one of the two returning lettermen, Jayson Buchmann, tied for ninth individually in the state last fall as a freshman.

"Our goals for this season started on the Saturday afternoon after the end of the state meet last year," said coach Jim Chamberlain, whose 1991 team not only placed in the top 10 at state, but also was second in the regionals, first overall in the Greater Oakland Activities League, fifth at the Oakland County tournament, first at the West Bloomfield Invitational and fourth at the Troy Invitational.

Buchmann, who said his chipping has improved over the summer, was the only one who played at the state finals, but several of this year's Wolves got the flavor of the finals by caddying for the varsity players.

Sophomore Jonathan Dean, a top JV golfer last season, was one of those caddies at the finals. He said the caddying experience and the JV's terrific record will pay big dividends.

"I think it's going to help us. We know how to win," said Dean.

Chamberlain would like a return to the finals, but he isn't looking past the regionals.

"It's the toughest regional in the state," said Chamberlain. Only the top two teams from regionals qualify for the finals.

Six golfers play in a match, with the top four scores counting in team results.

Chamberlain expects Three J's

Fall sports preview

(Jayson, Julio and Jonathan) to nail down the top three positions and plans on a battle for the fourth, fifth and sixth slots.

The coach expects Jayson Buchmann and Julio Fonseca to "shoot below par" sometime this season. Fonseca is a junior transfer from Mercedes, Texas, where he was the team's No. 1 player. Much is also anticipated from sophomore Jonathan Dean, who had a great JV season last fall.

Chamberlain said if he had to choose his fourth, fifth and sixth players this week, they would be seniors Adam Haviland and Brian Trebilcock and sophomore Myles Mosher.

Trebilcock is a letterman; Mosher was a strong member of the JV squad.

Haviland, according to coach Chamberlain, "came out of nowhere." One thing this summer that gave Haviland's confidence a boost was winning the 17-18-year-old division of the Huron-Clinton Metroparks junior tournament.

Chamberlain said his team has "a lot of depth," and several other golfers will also battle for starting positions, position battles which often take place in head-to-head competition during practices.

Chamberlain knows his defending champions (10-0) are the team to beat in the GOAL. He said Lake Orion will probably give the Wolves the most trouble.

"One of our toughest matches might be when we go to Lake Orion," said Chamberlain.

The coach said team depth and the talent of his players are the team's strength.

He said "course management" could be a possible team weakness, but he won't know for sure until the season begins (Aug. 31 at the West Bloomfield Invitational). Course management means accepting a bogie when it occurs and not losing one's cool, thus helping to avoid a double bogie or worse. In other words, thinking about team results instead of an individual round.

Good course management (and some good shot making) should help the Wolves manage another trip to the state finals.

Little things will mean a lot for veteran cagers

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Heather Austin makes two straight free throws in practice and the rest of the team, watching, applauds.

Amy Schroeder gets to the line and sinks two. More applause.

Another player steps up and misses. The whole team sprints up and down the court and another player takes her place at the line ...

This drill doesn't sound like much, but it's the little things that might decide the fate of the Clarkston varsity girls' basketball team this fall.

Clarkston returns several key starters, but even with that experience the Wolves can't afford to sink only 3-of-15 free-throws like they did last year in an overtime loss to Waterford Kettering.

Kettering ended up winning the Greater Oakland Activities League and Clarkston finished tied for second with a 7-3 mark (15-6 overall).

The 1992 Clarkston squad also hopes it's the first Wolf girls' basketball team to win a district tournament since 1975.

To say the Wolves have much experience is an understatement. Seniors Alyson McChesney and Heather Steinhelper already have earned three varsity letters and senior Courtney Whittaker has two letters. Each one of the 5-foot, 10-inch trio will be starting in games for the third-straight year.

McChesney has been the team's top rebounder the past two seasons. Mahrle said one of the keys to the season will be Whittaker and Steinhelper helping out under the boards, especially on defense.

Mahrle said one of the keys of the season will be the defensive rebounding of the veteran trio.

In addition to those three front court players, head coach Larry Mahrle said five other players will either start or see plenty of action: Two-year letterman senior center Lesley Allen, two-year letterman junior guard Laura Seitz, letterman senior guard/forward Heather Austin, letterman junior guard Anne Brueck and junior for-

Role players will be senior letterman forward Amy Schroeder and juniors Rebecca Bartlett (center), Shannon Binkley (forward) and Shawna Greene (guard).

"Senior leadership is a key to the season," said Mahrle, who will be assisted by coach Jeff Tungate.

Mahrle also expects a junior, Seitz, to play a key role at point guard. The quick 5-4 Seitz is also probably the team's best defensive player and will shadow many opposing teams' best players.

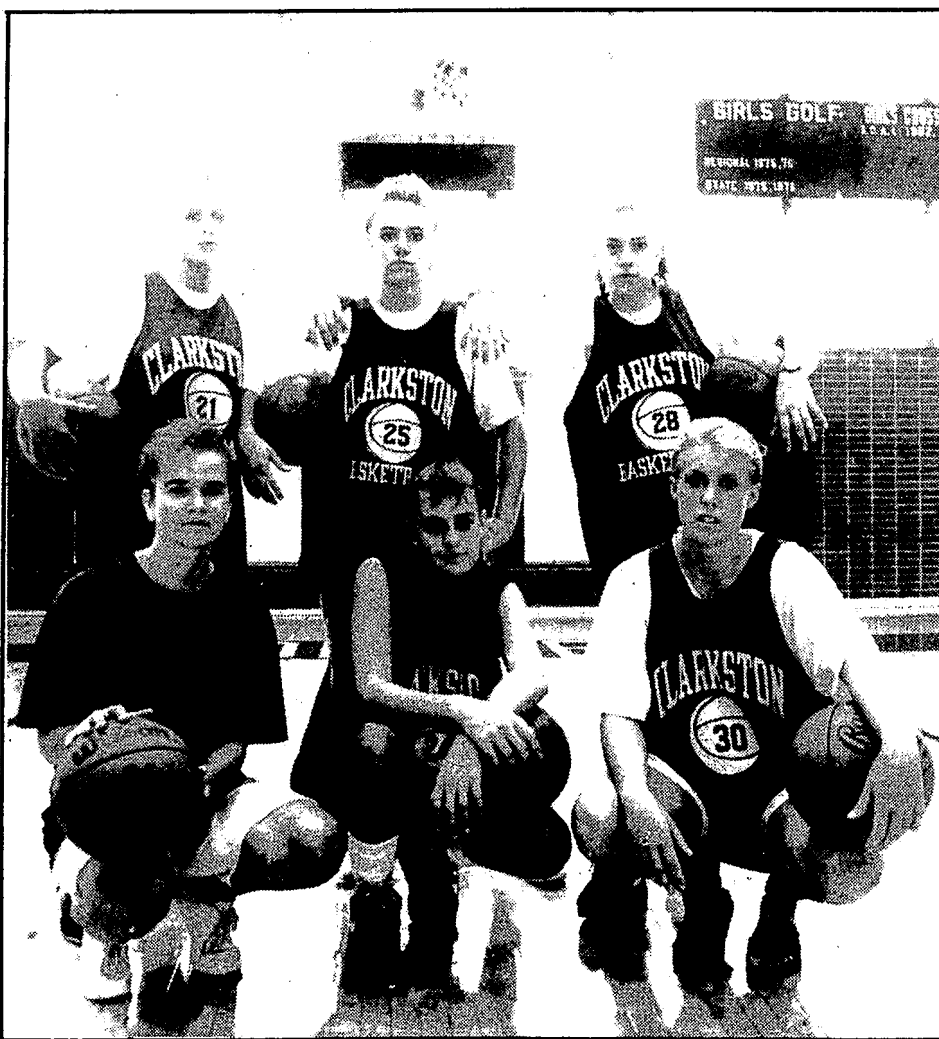

Offensively, Mahrle said his team will set a lot of picks.

"If anybody rubs off the pick hard, they'll get the ball," said Mahrle.

Defensively, the Wolves will go with a man-to-man. They'll press but not as often as last year. Mahrle said his team still needs improvement with the man-to-man.

Mahrle said his team will have to watch out for Pontiac Northern and Brandon but said defending champ Kettering will be the team to beat. Kettering has either won or shared the GOAL championship throughout league history.

The Wolves hope to make their own history this fall.

Three Wolves win Macker title

Three Clarkston varsity girls' basketball players and a Ferris State University cager joined forces to win a Gus Macker 3-on-3 championship last weekend at Oakland University in Rochester.

Clarkston's Heather Steinhelper, Heather Austin, Alyson McChesney and FSU freshman Lori Young (who played high school basketball at West Bloomfield) won the 18-year-old women's division.

They did it the hard way, having to forfeit their first game because the three Wolves were late because of a practice with the high school team.

However, they won the next two games on Saturday in the loser's bracket and then won six straight on Sunday to win the title.

The foursome was sponsored by Dairy Dream.

Wolves would get kick out of GOAL title

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's tough defense last season sparked the Wolves to their first-ever Class A district soccer championship.

But this fall, the Wolves best defense may be their offense.

"We usually stress defense, but this year we're going to win games 5-4 or 4-3," said Clarkston varsity coach Dan Fitzgerald, whose team last year finished 14-6-1 overall (4-3-1, second-place, in the Greater Oakland Activities League).

That scoring punch is led by all-GOAL senior forward and two-year letterman Scott Rooney.

"He's one of top two or three players in the state," said Fitzgerald about all-state candidate Rooney, who will get the green light to score this season. "He's made a name for himself. He will be a marked man."

But if the opponent's defense keys too much on Rooney, it can get hurt by some other explosive Wolves. Fitzgerald said junior forward Ryan Noll is fast and that senior forward Aaron Phillips will score a bunch of goals.

It would be difficult for any player to top Phillips' performance in the district tournament last year. He dramatically scored the only goal in two overtime matches, including the district final. The Wolves ended their season at the regionals in a loss to eventual state finalist Saginaw Heritage.

Fitzgerald also calls his midfielders "offensive-minded." Midfielders expected to see the most action will be senior Pat Forbes and juniors Nick Bielak, Ray Torrance and Brian Bovee.

Another reason the Wolves will be counting more on their offense this season is because last year's starting goalkeeper, Mike Miller, has moved to Oregon. Senior Nathan Forbes will replace Miller in goal and junior Jason Kneisc will be the backup keeper.

Seniors Chris Colburn and Chris Spiers will be big factors on defense. All-GOAL senior Steve Bennett will play at the crucial sweeper position, often the last player between the offensive opponents and the goalkeeper.

While offense is the team's strength, Fitzgerald said the team's weakness could be its depth. He said the Wolves will suffer greatly if any of the key players get hurt.

Fitzgerald said defending champ Brandon, returning many of its players, is the team to beat in the GOAL. But the Clarkston coach expects the league to be balanced, much in the same way it was last year.

"You have to play your best in the league or you'll lose," said Fitzgerald.

After the GOAL action the goal of the soccer team will be to defend its district title. Fitzgerald said Clarkston's district is one of the toughest in the state and if the Wolves make it beyond district, it could have as good a shot as any for the state.

But first things first. The Wolves will host Utica Eisenhower in the regular-season opener Sept. 1.

Rooney MVP at national tourney

Clarkston's Scott Rooney earned all-American status this summer at an AAU junior Olympic soccer tournament in Rochester, Minn.

Rooney, described as one of the top three high school forwards in the state by Clarkston varsity coach Dan Fitzgerald, scored five goals in five matches to capture most valuable player honors at the national tournament.

Rooney's Vardar team from Livonia won the tournament. He and his teammates received gold medals.

The Clarkston senior plans on continuing playing AAU soccer after he and his defending Class A district Wolves finish the fall season.

Township residents turn to city for police help

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Some Independence Township residents have inquired about contracting services with the Clarkston Police Department.

Martin Abbott and Dennis Darrow, officers of a Deer Lake Farms home association, told the Clarkston City Council Aug. 24 that property at some of the 150 homesites has been vandalized by youths the past few years. The township homes are west of Clarkston and north of Deer Lake.

Abbott said last year a garbage container was set on fire and this year chains on picnic tables have been cut. He said some residents are "afraid of gangs of kids being down there."

The two men said they contacted Lt. Joe Quisenberry of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department this spring about more patrol in the area but said it hasn't been increased.

The association does have a security officer on duty, but he cannot write tickets.

Abbott said vandalism isn't the only problem in the area.

"We have problems with speeders coming down from Dixie (Highway) to Deerhill Drive," said Abbott. And he added, "We have million dollar homes and no streetlights."

Tom Ryan, the city's attorney, said as of now the city couldn't contract out its police.

"It's limited to village limits only," said Ryan.

Council members suggested that the home association officers contact the Independence Township Board for further help.

Fruit juice brand contains lead

Authorities at the Michigan Department of Agriculture (MDA) issued a warning to grocers and consumers after food inspectors found Jumex brand fruit juices contained a high level of lead.

The distributor of the juice, Vilore Foods Co., sold the product to grocers in Detroit, Saginaw, Lansing and Grand Rapids.

Dr. Edward Heffron, Director of MDA's Food division, said inspectors also have found the product in chain stores, specialty stores and mini-marts in many areas of the state beyond those cities.

"The lead content of certain Jumex juices and nectars poses a serious health risk to consumers, especially children who are more susceptible to the damaging effects of lead poisoning," said Heffron. "It is critical that consumers stop drinking the product, to report cans they find at the grocery store to agriculture officials, and to return any cans they have purchased back to their store for a refund."

The products in question are 12-ounce cans that have the number "2084," or a lower number, at the end of the numerical portion of the code located on the bottom of each can. The blue and white cans with yellow lettering contain Jumex brand Apple Nectar, Apricot Nectar, Guava Nectar, Mango Nectar, Papaya-Pineapple Nectar, Peach Nectar, Pear Nectar, Plum Nectar, Pineapple Juice and Tamarind Nectar.

Regular consumption of lead is extremely dangerous because of its damaging effects on the nervous system. In children, the metal can cause developmental problems and learning disabilities. In acute cases, lead exposure can result in death.

In addition to lead soldered cans, exposure also comes from lead-based paint, auto exhaust from cars still using leaded gasoline and old water pipes or new copper pipes soldered with lead.

Anyone concerned that they or a family member has been exposed to lead should contact their physician or local health department.

Found: a headstone

A Cranberry Lake Road resident found a headstone on his property on Monday, Aug. 17.

The red marble headstone had the name "Eugene" and the dates "1912-1962" carved in it, according to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report.

Lakeview Cemetery, Independence Township, is in control of the headstone until someone can identify the stone and they can return it to the grave site.

Teen shot with BB gun over jacket

A 14-year-old Snowapple Drive resident was shot in the hand with a BB gun when he tried to stop a 17-year-old man from taking a younger boy's jacket.

Joshua Idd of Buffalo Street, Clarkston, was named as the suspect in police reports as allegedly shooting the 14-year-old at the scout camp on Gulick and Waldon roads, Independence Township, with a BB gun on Wednesday, Aug. 19.

According to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report, Idd told a 12-year-old Snowapple Drive resident that he wanted his coat and threatened him with a gun the boys had found.

The 14-year-old "stepped between them and told Idd that he couldn't do that (demand the coat). At this point Idd said, 'Watch me,' and shot (the 14-year-old) in the hand with the BB gun," according to the police report.

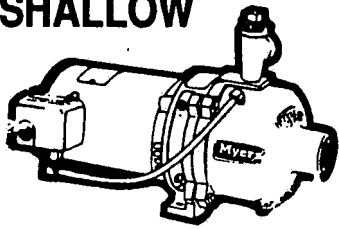

In a police interview, the 12-year-old said he thought that Idd had been joking about the coat and that he didn't see the shooting because his back was turned. But he did hear someone say that they "thought the safety was on the gun."

The 14-year-old was taken by his father to Critten-ton Hospital, Rochester, where he was treated and released. No charges have been filed.

Landscaping can affect household energy use

Looking for ways to cut the costs of heating and cooling your home this fall and winter? Look no further than your landscape.

"Landscaping decisions can also be energy-saving decisions," says Bob Schutzki, Michigan State University horticulturist.

"You can manipulate the landscape to reduce heating costs in winter and cooling costs in summer," he says.

A windbreak can cut fuel use in winter by reducing heat loss due to wind howling around and through the house, he points out. Air infiltration accounts for about one-third of the heat lost from a house. Windows account for another 40 percent, with heat conducted through the walls responsible for the rest. Properly placed and designed, a windbreak reduces the effect of wind on the house.

A windbreak needs to be positioned to intercept or deflect the prevailing winds. In winter in Michigan, the prevailing winds are from the north and the northwest. Wind speed reduction occurs at a distance of two to four times the mature height of the windbreak plants. The bigger the plants are at planting, the sooner the direct benefits.

How high the plants need to be depends on the height of the structure they're being planted to protect, Schutzki points out. A two-story dwelling needs plants that will reach a greater height than a ranch-style home needs.

Ways to get fairly quick benefits from a windbreak including mixing evergreens and deciduous plants, and staggering plants so that the plants in one row fill in the gaps between plants in the row behind them. Planting plants close together at first and then transplanting every other one in a few years will also make the windbreak start working sooner.

Another way to get fairly quick results from a windbreak planting is to interplant quick-growing poplars with slower-growing and longer-lived species. The poplars provide immediate screens while the other plants are growing.

Schutzki notes that the best windbreak is not solid but pierced.

"The wind that comes through the barrier holds high velocity wind up high so that it goes over the structure," he explains.

You don't have to have a huge yard or 40 acres in the country to benefit from a windbreak, he points out. A single or double row of plants next to the house can create an insulating dead air space. To minimize dampness and mildew problems and make maintenance chores easier, Schutzki recommends planting so that there will still be room to walk between the plants and the house when plants reach their mature size.

To reduce heat gain and cut air conditioning costs, plant trees where they will shade the house in the summer. Afternoon shade reduces heat gain, but shade all day maintains overall cooler temperatures longer and causes the temperature to drop faster as the sun goes down.

"To reduce heat gain, plants should be on the east, southwest and west sides of the house," Schutzki says.

The same deciduous plants that shade the house in summer will let the winter sunlight through in the winter, he notes. And the windbreak that deflects cold winter wind can funnel cooling breezes around the house in the summer. The overall result can be a more comfortable home and lower energy bills, as well as a more attractive landscape.

Reporter's Notebook

According to Independence Township Library officials, the Applause/ Applause library open house last spring garnered 150 new books and more than $1,200 for the library's book budget.

During one roll call vote of the Clarkston City Council Aug. 10, when Clerk Jeanne Selander-Miller said "Catallo," Mayor Sharron Catallo answered, "Hello?"

Catallo blamed her response on talking on the phone too much that day.

Betty Adcock of Cornell Road, Independence Township, said she knows how residents near Pine Knob

Music Theatre feel. She lives off Whipple Lake Road, between North Eston and Pine Knob Road — about two miles away from the outdoor music theater on Pine Knob and Sashabaw roads — but she still can hear the music.

"That was really loud Friday night," she said about the M.C. Hammer concert. "I thought it might be my neighbors having a loud party, but it was Pine Knob."

Adcock said the noise kept her awake. Most other nights this summer it's been cool enough that she could shut her doors and windows, she said.

"I can understand why those people complain about all that noise. ... I've heard it other nights, too," she said.

Items for Reporter's Notebook are compiled by Clarkston News staff members.

Family link: Adopted man meets 'blood' niece

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

When Angela Nolan, 17, took her first plane flight from California to Michigan a few weeks ago, she discovered more than the adventures of travel.

The teen-ager found part of her family history.

The Folsom, Calif., resident worked part time at Taco Bell to save up the $450 for her flight. She prepared for the trip in other ways, too.

For instance, for about four years prior, she exchanged phone calls and letters with her new-found cousin, Jessica Phillips, now also 17. And she talked a little to Jessica's father, Don, an uncle she didn't know she had until 1988.

Her visit may have meant even more to her uncle Don than even to herself.

Don, a zoning inspector in Independence Township and a resident of Commerce Township, was adopted at the age of three months and was raised as an only child. He was reunited with his birth mother — and three brothers — in California in 1988, an event that changed his life, he said.

The only family member he didn't meet during that

DURING a visit to Michigan, Angela Nolan's new-found cousins and uncle showed her around town. After lunch at the Clarkston trip was his niece, Angela — his younger brother Bill's daughter.

And a few days into Angela's visit to Michigan, he was happily showing her — as well as his daughters Jessica and Andrea, 11 — the places of his boyhood.

The visit had met all expectations, Don said. "I thought it was long overdue," he said. "I wish I would have met her back in '88 when I was out there."

Angela found her Michigan relatives much like her own family, especially Don.

"He's a lot like my dad," Angela said. "They look alike. They did things at the same age without knowing each other."

She remembers hearing that the family had found Don when she was about 13.

"I thought it was interesting," she said. "I didn't think I had any more family."

Her visit to Michigan also afforded Angela an opportunity to get to know her pen pal and cousin, Jessica.

"I was just glad I finally got to see who I was talking and writing to," Angela said.

Don said his whole family got to know Angie through her correspondence with Jessica.

"Jessica would share letters, at least most parts," he said.

The girls giggled and shared a look, as only cousins do.

Clean spokes

ON ONE of the warmest days of summer, 5-year-old Robbie Ronk decides to wash his bike. The Independence Township youngster used a garden hose to accomplish the task, taking special care to get the pedals and the spokes.

ROBBIE'S neighbors Jeffrey Krencicki (left), 6, and his brother Bryan, 4, convince Robbie to spray their bikes, too, and watch while he completes the job.

"DREAM HOUSE" SYNDROME

QUESTION: My wife wants to buy a home way above our ability to pay. She says I border on being a cheapskate. Who makes more sense?

ANSWER: You can be TOO practical, like assuming a home in need of repair can save you money and find out that the final cost greatly exceeds the estimate, or buying a home with fewer rooms than you really need. You may end up with an unsuitable, uncomfortable home.

On the other hand, beware of the "dream house" syndrome. Even if you could define the perfect home (which is doubtful), you probably couldn't afford it. Be prepared to compromise.

New M-15 resale shop caters to wee ones

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Mothers around the country are getting ready for school shopping — the chore of fall.

Bonnie Solden of Waterford and her daughter, Stacey Hunt, have opened a new store on M-15, Independence Township, in hopes of making shopping for and with children easier and cheaper.

The Wee Sale Shop, which opened its doors in July, is a resale store with children's clothing as its main merchandise.

The clothing that comes to the shop is from consigners, and the price is split 50/50 between the store operators and the person who brought in the clothes.

"We thought that there would be a big demand for a store like this," said Solden. "Children wear their clothes for such a short time before they grow out of them that there is no reason (not) to resell them.

"We only carry good quality clothes," emphasized Solden. "If the clothes are stained or worn out, we don't take them, and people don't argue about it."

At this time, the shop is accepting only fall and winter children's clothes to get ready for the school year.

They also sell baby furniture, maternity clothes, car seats and large toys at the store.

Solden said she prides herself on the fact that her store is "children friendly" with a relaxed atmosphere and sales people who enjoy children.

ALISHA HUNT, 2 1/2, and her mother, Stacey, spend a lot of time in the Wee Sale Shop on M-15 near Gregg's Carry-out. Alisha's mother and grandmother, Bonnie Solden, own and operate the resale shop, which caters to children.

Rachel Young and Scott A. Lake were united in marriage on Saturday, Aug. 22, 1992.

The Rev. Roger Allen and the Rev. Thomas Hartley co-officiated the 7 p.m. ceremony before about 300 guests at the Clarkston Free Methodist Church.

Candles in brass holders decorated the pews, and candelabra with flowers and greens graced the sanctuary.

The bride is the daughter of Jim Young of Southgate and Carolyn Young of Independence Township. A 1988 graduate of Clarkston High School, she attends the University of Michigan, Flint, and is employed by the Family Service Agency, Flint.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory taffeta long-sleeved gown with an alencon lace bodice featuring pearls and sequins and a scalloped neckline. The plain skirt included a lace, pearl and sequin border and a cathedral train. Her veil featured a headband with pearl decorations.

She carried a hand presentation of yellow calla lilies, bridal white roses, acacia and camellia leaves tied with an ivory bow.

Friend of the bride Stephanie Henning of New Philadelphia, Ohio, served as the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Lisa Young of Boston, sister of the bride; Rebecca Young of Columbus, Ohio, sister of the bride; Michelle Herald of Indianapolis, Ind., friend of the bride; and Lisa Shaw of White Lake, sister of the groom.

Their jade green two-piece suits featured a portrait neckline and peplum on the jacket with a floor-length straight skirt made of taffeta.

Flower girl Amy Knoll of Lake Orion wore an ivory dress.

Brian Shaw, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man. Other attendants included Todd Zeller, friend of the groom; Bill Cleveland, friend of the groom; John Coleman, friend of the groom; and Jamie Young, brother of the bride. Bryce Thompson of Clarkston was the ring bearer.

The lovely stand-up dessert reception at the First Baptist Church of Pontiac included piano dinner music and singers and was enjoyed by about 300 friends and family.

At-home course gives food preservation tips

If you are one of the unlucky people who missed the Oakland County Cooperative Extension's annual hands-on canning workshop, don't be dismayed.

There's still a chance to learn all the latest safe U.S. Department of Agriculture canning recommendations, says Sylvia Treitman, home economist for Oakland County Cooperative Extension.

A seven-week Correspondence Food Preservation Course is offered for $15 to cover mailing and printing costs.

The various lessons include complete information on food safety, canning of low-acid and high-acid foods, pickling of jams and jellies, freezing and drying of foods. The lessons are mailed every two weeks, and you can work at your own pace. Complete up-to-date background material and recipes are provided. There is even a quiz at the end of each lesson for you to take if you wish to see what you have learned.

Call the Food and Nutrition Hotline, 858-0904, Monday-Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. for more information on enrolling and all other food and nutrition and food preservation questions.

3 named to Springfield planning commission

Two new people have joined the planning commission, and a third was re-appointed to her position on the commission.

The Springfield Township Board unanimously approved the supervisor's recommendation to appoint Bill Hampton and Jim Carlton and re-appointed Lee Ann Oliver to the commission Aug. 12.

Hampton of Bigelow Road replaces Marge Reuter who is resigning due to health reasons.

Hampton has lived in Springfield Township for three years and in Waterford Township for 22 years. He has been in the real estate business for 25 years, and according to Walls, 90 percent of his business is in the resale market, not in developing, said Walls. He will serve the one year remaining in Reuter's term.

Carlton, a Lawn Drive resident, is an engineer and a member of the Sierra Club. He will serve four years.

His predecessor, Kevin Kriebel, was not re-appointed to the commission. Walls said Kriebel has been working many hours and will be starting a family this fall and felt the meetings may be too much.

Orders for evergreen transplants are being taken now by the Oakland County Soil and Water Conservation District, based in Independence Township.

Seedlings, sold in bunches of 10 for $1, may be ordered at the district office at 7151 Ortonville Road, Suite 205, Independence Township. The organization offers the trees a few times a year to help homeowners prevent soil erosion and to provide wind screens.

Driveway to be repaired

The Shiawassee Basin driveway, considered to be a mile-long gauntlet by those who brave its potholes, soon will get a face lift.

The Springfield Township Board voted unanimously Aug. 12 to give Supervisor Collin Walls the authority to hire a company to repair the Shiawassee Basin driveway.

According to Walls the one-mile long driveway is in "deplorable condition." Trustee Nancy Strole said she had driven it in a four-wheel drive car, and it was so bad that she wouldn't have felt safe in driving it in another kind of vehicle.

Walls is authorized to take bids and pay up to $1,000 for the repairs.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED ORDINANCE AMENDMENT

At a regular meeting of the Township Board of the Charter Township of Independence held on August 18, 1992 the Board proposed an amendment to the Township Code of Ordinances, as follows:

STATE OF MICHIGAN COUNTY OF OAKLAND

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE AMENDMENT TO TOWNSHIP WATER SYSTEM ORDINANCE

An Ordinance to amend the Charter Township of Independence Code of Ordinances by adding a new section to Chapter 20 to authorize installment payments for tap fees, meter charges and capital connection charges payable to the Township relative to the connection charges payable to the Township relative to the connection of existing residences and buildings to the water system.

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE ORDAINS AS FOLLOWS FOR INCORPORATION AS PART OF THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE ORDINANCE CODE:

Section 1 of Ordinance

A new Section 20-27 shall be added to Chapter 20, Article II, reading as follows:

Chapter 20 UTILITIES

ARTICLE II. WATER SUPPLY SYSTEM

Section 20-27. Collection of fees and charges.

(a) Subject to the provisions of subsection (b) of this section, all fees and charges shall be paid in cash.

(b) For existing residences and buildings making initial connection to the Township water system, the tap fee, meter charge, and the capital connection charge required under this Article may, at the election of the owner of the property being connected, be paid in installments over a period of up to ten years. The due date of the first installment shall be the date the fees and/or charges would otherwise be payable. The due date of the second installment shall be the date specified by the Department of Public Works. All subsequent installments shall be paid on an annual basis, with the due date of such installments to be the anniversary date of the second installment. All installment payments shall be paid together with interest at the rate of 8 percent per annum on all amounts of unpaid principal. The amount of unpaid principal, and all accrued interest, shall be a lien on the premises served. In the event one or more installments are not paid on or before the due date, the full balance of principal, and all accrued interest, shall be deemed to be delinquent and shall thereupon be payable in full. If the full balance of principal, and all accrued interest, have not been paid on or before the August 1 immediately following such delinquency, then, on September 1 of such year, all delinquent amounts shall be transferred to the Township tax roll in relation to the premises served, and shall be collected, and the lien enforced, in the same manner as provided by law for the collection of real property taxes.

(c) The lien for fees and charges under this Article shall not be subordinated by the Township to the security of any mortgage or other lien unless required by law.

Section 2 of Ordinance

Except as specified above in this Ordinance, the Charter Township of Independence Ordinance Code shall remain in full force and effect.

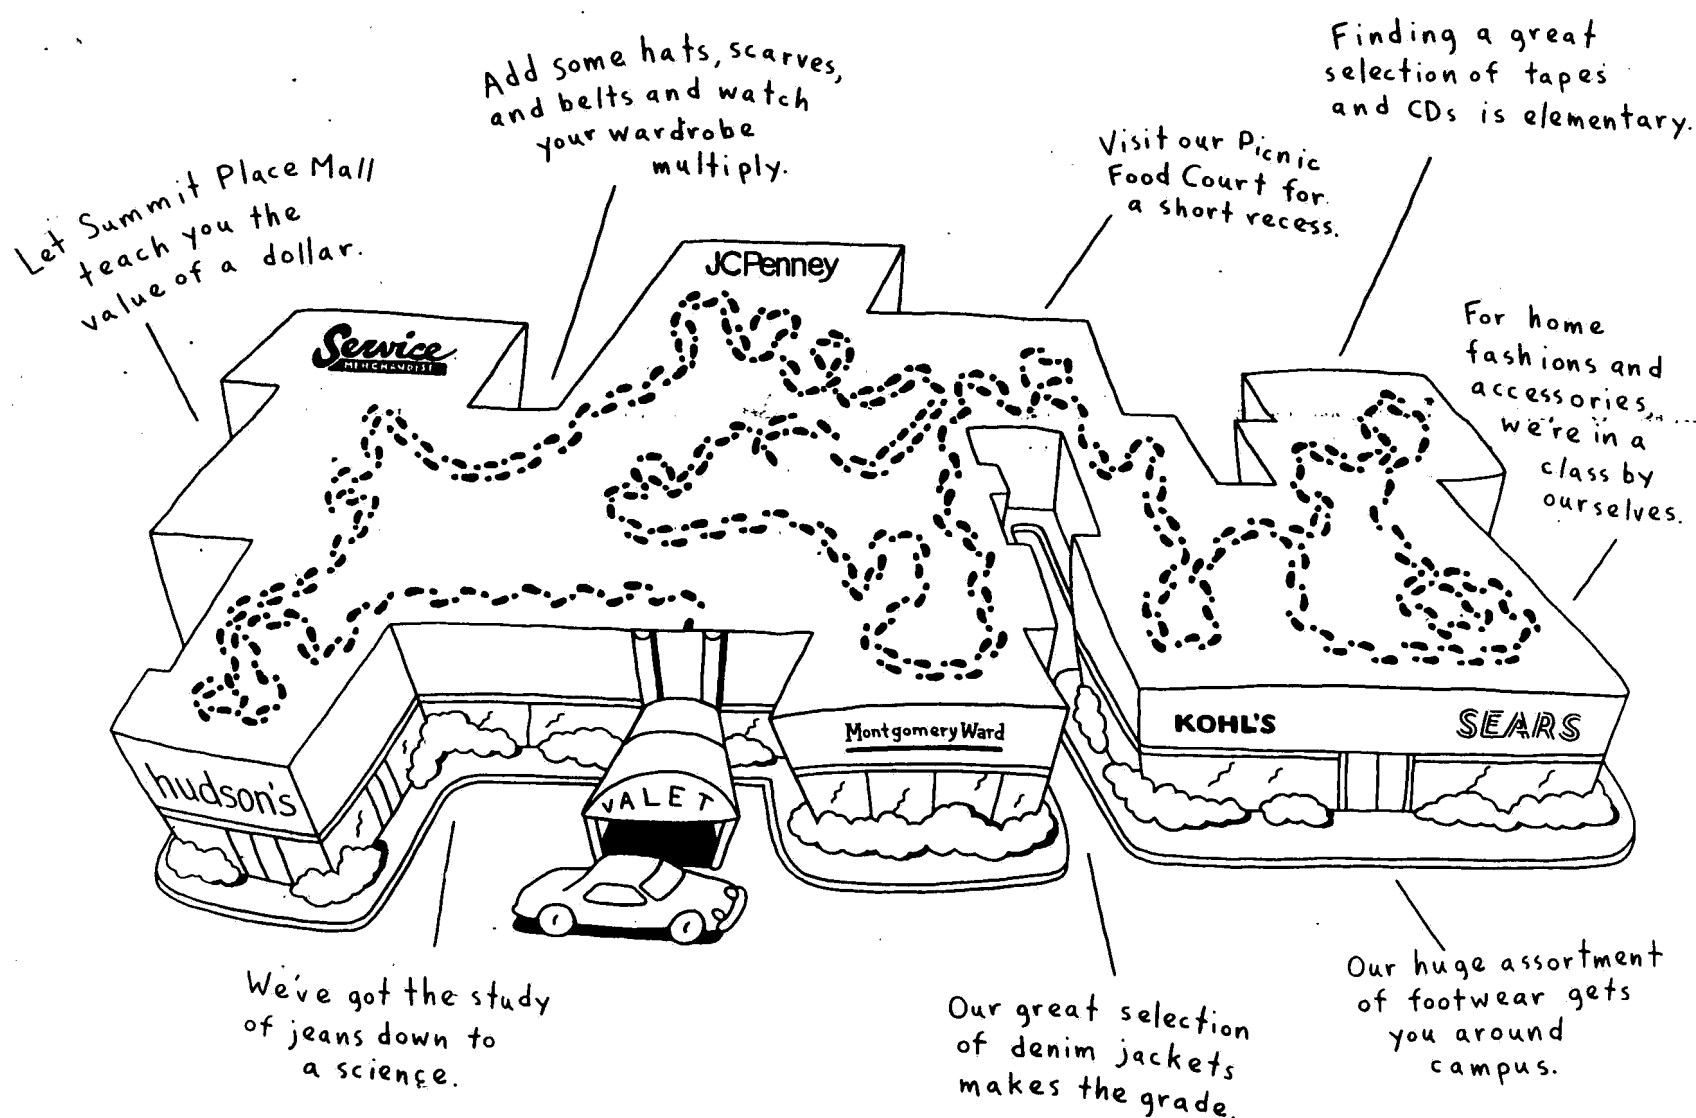

Section 3 of Ordinance

This Ordinance shall take effect immediately upon publication.

This proposed zoning ordinance amendment will be voted upon at the Next regular meeting of the Township Board, September 1, 1992, at 7:30 p.m. at the Independence Township Hall Annex, 90 North Main Street, Clarkston, MI. Further information is available in the Clerk's Office, at the same address, Monday through Friday, from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Subject: Thanks for all of your kindness and help!

Hello Mr. Simmons. Thanks to your effort and support, my Little League Baseball team was able to sell enough M&M's to buy matching baseball shoes and shirts. We really appreciate you taking the extra interest in not only our non-profit organization, but also for the many others that you help in the community. You're a proud symbol for this area, and one of the reasons why people like me move to the Lake Orion area.

Thanks so very much,

You will also direct others. DON'T PANIC! We will train you and help you on a day-to-day basis. You must be bright, energetic, a self starter, mechanically inclined, not afraid to get dirty, interested in computers, not afraid to learn auto, electric, gas engines, fuel injection & diesel. LAKE ORION HEAD START is now accepting applications for 1992/ 1993 school year. Head Start is a Federally funded pre-school program for 3 1/2 to 5 year olds for the low income and handicapped child. The program assists in developing the social, physical, and academic skills of children at their individual levels. Head Start encourages positive self esteem and helps to prepare students for a successful entry into public school. Children with certifiably handicap conditions include: speech and language, visual, severe allergies and asthma. While in Head Start, children take part in activities such as story time, physical movement, music, art and crafts. The program is dedicated to the family and involvement of parents. Interested families should call 693-5417 after August 14, 1992. IILX33-5c

ONE of the last days of summer finds Al Alfonso, 3, and his mother Kathy enjoying a picnic at Deer Lake Beach. The Reese Road,

Finally, summer

QUIETLY and with concentration, Edward Eaglen III, 6, creates sand shapes at Deer Lake Beach, oblivious to surrounding commotion.

THOUGH the outside temperature was in the 80s, Theresa Johnstone, 21 months, turns a little blue while splashing in Deer Lake. The youngster has enjoyed the water each of the about 10 times she's visited the Clarkston lake, said her mother, Veronica of Klais, Independence Township.
