Clarkston teachers strike; talks fail

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

It appears that Clarkston students will have a little while longer to enjoy their summer vacation.

On Sunday, Aug. 30, Clarkston's teachers voted to strike, frustrated over stalled contract talks with the school district. The decision to strike came on the eve of what was supposed to be the first day of school for nearly 5,700 pupils.

Talks were scheduled to reconvene at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 2.

According to Bill Curtis, president of the Clarkston Education Association, the two sides met with a state mediator for 14 hours Saturday but were unable to iron out a tentative one-year deal. Curtis said nearly 85 percent of the district's 319 teachers supported a strike the following day.

Curtis said the two sides have differing opinions on a variety of topics. Among these include: salary, insurance, class size, teacher supervision in the classroom and the number of preparatory classes allowed each secondary instructor.

Altogether, Curtis said the two sides were separated by $70,000 in cumulative costs, which is less than one-half of one percent of the district's $28 million budget. He said this lack of compromise was the main motivator behind the strike.

"It's just a matter of consideration and respect; and, right now, we're not getting either from this district," he said. "We're frustrated that we're not in our respective school buildings, teaching our kids."

Curtis said the teachers' recommended salary settlement was far less than the Oakland County average, dropping them from 22nd to 24th overall among 28 school districts. He said the district negotiators balked at this proposal, as well as a request to change the school

Labor Day events geared toward kids

Children will make out the best during Clarkston's Labor Day festivities.

A pancake breakfast, parade and corn roast are geared to the family on Monday, Sept. 7. The details:

Pancake breakfast

Pancakes, sausage, coffee, milk and apple sauce are served up at the Independence Township Fire Hall, 3 E. Church St., just a few steps east of Main Street, Clarkston. Tickets are $3 for children, $4 for adults. Breakfast is served 7-10 a.m. Proceeds go toward the Ann Arbor Burn Center. For more information, call 625-1924.

Parade

The Clarkston Rotary Club annual parade begins at 10 a.m. at Clarkston Junior High School. It travels west on Church Street, north on Main Street, west on Miller Road and ends on Holcomb Road. All parade entries were asked to bring "handouts" for the children along the parade route — candy, balloons, flags, etc. The theme: A Toast to All the Children. Judges also will award prizes to the best floats.

Kids may want to pay attention to a "key" they may receive from members of the First Congregational Church on Clarkston Road. After the parade, they're invited to go to the church and try out their key on a treasure chest. If the key fits, they win a prize. (If it doesn't fit, they're eligible for a second-chance drawing.)

For more information, call 625-9260.

Corn roast

Immediately following the parade, the American Legion Post 63 is serving lunch that's easily affordable for families. Items range from roasted corn (50 cents per ear) to barbecue chicken halves ($5) to hot dogs, sloppy Joes and Polish sausage ($1-$1.50). Also offered at the hall at 8047 Ortonville Road, Independence Township, are children's games, a beer tent, bake sale and other goodies. For more information, call 625-9912.

Can you see it?

Apparently, at least one reader could relate to The Clarkston News' Aug. 19 photo of a rock that resembled George Washington.

Last week, we received this photo from The Barnetts of Dixie Highway. They wrote: "Can you see it? Indian face on pinto."

Yes, we can see it. Anyone else?

THE FACE of an Indian can be seen in the black markings on this pinto at the Barnetts' farm on Dixle Highway.

54-lot subdivision wins preliminary OK

The Sheringham Woods development is one OK away from Independence Township approval.

On Aug. 18, the township board voted 6-0 to grant final preliminary plat approval to the project. Trustee Daniel Travis was absent from the meeting.

The plan only needs final plat approval from the township board to proceed.

Located on the north side of Maybee Road, west of Sashabaw Road, the 33-acre site will provide an extension to the existing Sheringham Place subdivision. If approved, Sheringham Woods would offer 54 lots, serviced by municipal water and sewers.

The petitioner is Gilbert & Vennetilli, Inc., of Rochester.

'Family' pre-exam pushed to Oct. 9

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE Clarkston News Staff Writer

The five members of "The Family" will have to wait another month to find out their fates.

Their preliminary exam was adjourned Tuesday, nearly two months after it began.

Stanley (Kelly) Watkins, 18, Jason Smith, 18, and Bryce Kidder, 17, all of the Clarkston area; Philip Laycock, 18, of Lansing; and Mark Bierman, 20, of Troy are all charged with conspiracy to deliver LSD. This felony carries a maximum sentence of seven years in prison. The five now face the end of their preliminary exam at 9 a.m. Friday, Oct. 9, in 52nd District Court, Independence Township, before Judge Gerald McNally.

According to previous witnesses, Watkins was the leader of a group of teens who called themselves "The Family." The witnesses, most of whom were confessed members of The Family, stated that the group sold LSD in Clarkston schools and planned to branch out into the surrounding areas.

Two witnesses in the first day of testimony on July 8 said that the group planned to make money from the sale of drugs, buy a house and move in together.

Stanley Watkins, 18, of Independence Township was named as the mastermind and leader behind "The Family ." The group of 10 teens allegedly sold LSD in Clarkston schools to make money for a house and a trip.

Teachers strike after failed contract negotiations A 4 Wed., Sept. 2, 1992 The Clarkston (Mich.) News calendar, approved in June.

Duane Lewis, director of personnel services and administrative representative, said both sides had problems with the mediator's recommendations, especially regarding salary.

Lewis said the Clarkston Board of Education was opposed to a straight 5 percent salary increase but offered 4.5 percent and the chance to gain the other 1/2 percent. Lewis said each teacher would have to work one additional day, such as attending a service-related workshop, in order to gain a full day's pay, which figured out to be the additional 1/2 percent the teachers were seeking.

Lewis said the teachers' union turned down this proposal, saying they deserved the 5 percent outright.

During Saturday's marathon session, Curtis said district representatives were willing to discuss matters further, but only after teachers had reported to school. Curtis said instructors had already compromised on Aug. 28 by attending the teachers' first day of school, but they refused to do it again.

"We'd decided, beforehand, that if nothing came of Saturday's negotiations that we wouldn't report on Monday,' Curtis said. "The administration asking us to attend school while negotiations continued was the last straw.

"The district just wanted another pound of flesh from us, so they could say they got another work day from their teachers," he added.

The last time teacher walked the picket line in Clarkston was 1979. The strike lasted three days.

Lewis said none of the district's buildings is operating, including the Clarkston Community Education Center and pre-school classes. He said extra-curricular activities, such as athletic team practices and games, will continue after school hours.

If the strike lingers, Lewis said the Oakland Techni-Center-Northwest could undergo some hardships.

"The technical center could really take a beating if the strike lasts for a while," he said. "Besides Clarkston, students from Brandon, Holly and Waterford take classes

"If it goes on for a long time, a lot of these kids will be forced to take alternative classes at their own school, hurting the tech. center's enrollment," Lewis added. "We asked the union to allow these teachers to instruct during the strike, but the union refused."

Lewis said the district is uncertain if students will have to make up classes at the end of the year. He said this subject will have to be negotiated with the teachers union.

Lewis is uncertain when the strike will reach a

"It's just a matter of consideration and respect; and, right now, we're not getting either from this district."

CEA President Bill Curtis

"I really don't know when this will end. I'm hoping it will be short strike, but the school board is adamant on its stances, as is the teachers' union," Lewis said. "Until then, my job is to try to find the middle ground, but I don't know where that is right now."

The Clarkston Education Association (CEA) has formed a strike hotline for the community: 625-4831.

Snake bites boy

A 6-year-old Madison Heights boy probably won't move snakes again.

The youngster was bitten by a Massasauga rattlesnake. Aug. 2 at Independence Oaks County Park. Nicholas Abbate was reported in good condition Monday at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac.

According to Engineer Bob Pursley of the Independence Township Fire Department, the child found the snake under a picnic table that he and his family were planning to use.

"He picked up the snake to move it, and it bit his thumb," said Pursley.

The about one-foot-long snake was was captured and examined by animal control officers, said Pursley.

The poisonous Massasauga rattlesnake can be found in swampy regions in the east and south United States. They are usually shy and avoid people.

Mediator's solution rejected by union

A state mediator recommended a compromise over Clarkston teacher contracts, but neither side was happy with the result.

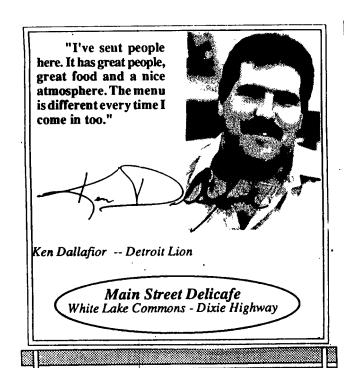

In the end, the Clarkston Board of Education approved the recommendation, but the members of the Clarkston Education Association (the teachers' union)

Reporter's notebook

An anonymous caller to The Clarkston News pointed out that not all teachers in Clarkston Community Schools favored a strike. In fact, some did not belong to the union for religious reasons and, therefore, did not strike. Others did not strike for moral reasons.

Some faulty absentee voter ballots are being blamed for the delayed announcement of final primary vote tallies in Independence Township on Aug. 4.

According to Deputy Clerk Sharon Howard, the Doubleday Printing Co., Kalamazoo, sent the wrong variety of absentee ballots, which caused the township's electronic "ballot counter" to halt on several occasions.

These ballots apparently had small perforations in the center of the ticket, which occasionally gummed up the air-driven counter.

When one of these ballots caused the machine to stop, she said the township had to duplicate the votes on another ticket, under the close scrutiny of voting officials. Howard said the machine accurately counted a majority of these ballots, but, when one did stick, it usually took several minutes to correct the problem by duplication.

Howard said a couple of other Oakland County townships, such as Commerce, ran into the same problem that evening.

In the wake of Clarkston school teachers' strike, we overheard from a General Motors worker who was laid off because of the parts plant strike in Ohio: "I heard one the teacher say they were striking for the children. I guess the UAW has been going about this all wrong. They should tell everyone we strike for the consumer.

worth the cost Library proposal

Though a few problems surround the upcoming library millage request, the majority of The Clarkston News staff thinks the proposal is worth a "yes" vote.

In two weeks, Independence Township residents face an Act 164 Library proposal at the Sept. 15 special election.

Under state Act 164, the library would operate for a single entity - Independence Township - and be governed by a library board. This proposal also asks for an extra one mill for library operating expenses, which would expire in two years.

If approved, this would bring the total millage rate for the library up to 1.75 mills, which $1.75 for every $1,000 assessed property valuation. This means the owner of a $100,000 home assessed at half its market value ($50,000) would pay $87.50 per year for library operations. The extra mill accounts for $50 of that amount.

This townshipwide millage would raise $540,000 a year for the library. According to Mollie Lynch, library director, 80 percent of the first year's budget would go toward the purchase of additional books. Presently, 29,000 volumes are in the library, many of which are outdated. In fact, 25 percent of the township's library users are referred elsewhere.

Lynch said a majority of the second year's budget would be earmarked for additional services, such as an outreach program for the homebound, more children-related programs, computers and eventually Sunday hours.

The library now is funded by Independence Township's general fund, from which it received $120,000 last year. By passing this proposal, voters would put financial responsibility in the hands of the library board. That means the township board would no longer control the library and also would regain the $120,000 to use in other departments.

Based on comparisons with other statewide libraries, Lynch says the township library millage rate is below average. In a recent random survey commissioned by the library, a majority of 500 township residents polled said they wanted the library to attempt to gain "above average" status.

With this one-mill package, Lynch says it would take five years and $700,000 to build an "average" collection of 2.6 volumes per township resident.

Lynch says it would take another five years (10 years total) to attain the desired "above average" status at double the cost.

Most on The Clarkston News staff support this endeavor, which will benefit school children, preschool children and adult users of the library.

It would be a shame to see such a modern building continue to house such sub-standard materials.

Voters should be warned, however. This proposal ends the possibility of a "district library" with a board composed of township and City of Clarkston representatives.

Further, it will take at least 10 years to achieve Lynch's goal of an "above average" facility, meaning this two-year operating millage would need to be renewed at least four times. And remember that each time it's renewed, the millage jumps up to its full rate (rather than being reduced each year to an increase that equals the rate of inflation, as mandated by the state's Headlee Amendment).

A long-term commitment will be necessary for the library to catch up with the times and adequately service this community in the future.

Jim's Jottings

Take time to enjoy life's simpler things

We should take more time to show appreciation for some of the simpler things provided for our lives.

Like terry cloth washcloths and towels. The smooth side feels good on our soft skin; the rough side makes us think we're getting cleaner. Or drier.

Every time I peel a tomato I thank the person who invented that peeler with the long, oval hole and pivoting shank.

I'm especially thankful to the toilet paper makers who know the exact amount of perforation to put in a roll.

Another tool I'm thankful for is pliers. Can you imagine what life would be like at your garage workbench without pliers? Then when they came out with the vice grips, then the channel lock varieties, wow!

How about the invention of the car battery? Glen Dill gave me a Model T Ford crank recently. I'd used one once as a lad. It was not only no fun, it was risky for the thumb.

And, who invented the picture frame? Whistler's mother in the Louvre just wouldn't look the same with thumb tacks at the corners.

I'm probably in the minority in today's casual world, but I'm thankful for the person who came up with the idea for neckties. A man isn't dressed unless he's wearing a necktie. And, I like to be dressed.

Fingernail clippers, toothpicks, spoons, slippers, tape measures, string, hinges, boxes and boat paddles are handy, appreciated inventions.

Most of us will acknowledge that curtains, drapes and blinds have been a good addition to civilization. I am curious, though, as to the character of the person who first came up with the shielding device.

And, pies. Especially lemon. I can understand how easy it might have been to think of putting sliced apples, whole cherries and sliced peaches between two flat pieces of dough. But, the inventor (discoverer?) of the lemon pie could have made it into IBM's think tank today.

Sawhorses have been a mainstay of carpenters for many years. I can't imagine the first one being much different than the present handy style.

Just think of how much greater the world has been since the invention of the want ad. It enables us to buy cheaper, find mates, rent things and sell things we wonder why we bought in the first place.

The electrical adapter that lets us put a 2-pronged plug into a 3-hole receiver has been a great advancement.

So, as you continue through life today think of the simple things that have made your life easier. Don't forget the coat hanger, eraser, toilet plunger, pickle and peanut butter.

Pullout answers

What's behind the petition drive to separate the Middle Lake Road area from the new City of Clarkston? Who are the instigators?

Lacking answers, let's pose some questions that can be answered concerning taxes, police services and having a say in government.

Taxes: Growth and development are a main cause of tax increases. Clarkston is a stable community. There's little room for growth and need for tax increases that are caused by growth. Independence Township? Growth and development have barely started. Lacking a substantial industrial base, property taxes must increase.

Police service: Considering the area it must cover and the size of its force, the county sheriff's contingent assigned to the township does as well as it can. Is it enough? The Deer Lake Farms association doesn't think so. They are inquiring about contracting services from Clarkston Police.

Government: The petition drive and subsequent election would be townshipwide. That means that it is not the residents of the Middle Lake Road area, or Clarkston, who would decided the outcome. It is township voters who greatly outnumber the effected localities who would determining the tax future, police coverage — and even snow removal — for Middle Lake Road area residents.

Jerome Wilford

Get back to table

On Aug. 28, the members of the Clarkston Education Association reported to their buildings for the traditional opening day activities even though a contract had not been settled.

By 12:30 a.m. on Sunday, Aug. 30, it became evident that school could not begin as scheduled on Aug. 31. After 14 hours with a state mediator, an impasse was reached.

In a last-ditch effort, the CEA offered binding fact finding; the Board of Education's team said no. Indeed, the association's final offer to avoid a work stoppage was rejected.

STATE OF THE STATE

In addition, the board's chief negotiator made a threat to the association by saying the board would not negotiate if the teachers went on strike.

Some very important facts, which caused the work stoppage, must be known. Even though the CEA's bargaining team was prepared to recommend a salary settlement at less than the Oakland County average, the board's team said no.

In fact, the CEA agreed in the last contract to accept a reduced health care package, which has since saved the district over $600,000 in insurance costs. In addition, the board's team wanted to change the calendar, which was settled in June.

Also the board's chief negotiator said that the district would not agree to make up any days lost by a work stoppage. The association could not accept that position.

What would it take to reach a settlement? First, the teams must get back to the negotiating table. Second, the Clarkston Board of Education must adopt a fair, consistent approach to bargaining. Finally, the board must accept that the CEA cannot condone an attitude of unwillingness to resolve problems.

The CEA membership believes it is imperative that the contract be settled without delay and students return to the class as soon as possible.

A community torn

Curt McAllister

Over the past year and a half, I've been witness to the unraveling of a community — Clarkston.

Like a loose fiber on a woven rug, this community is fraying to the point of losing its character. If it isn't the township taking on the city, it's the schools taking on the township over DDA money.

I only hope the private sector isn't as combative. It all started about two years ago when the village decided to attain cityhood status. The township — fearful of losing Clarkston's tax dollars and control over the one square-mile community — engaged in a year-long court battle against the State Boundary Commission. The matter went all the way to the Michigan Supreme Court, with the court refusing to hear the matter.

Cityhood was attained this past July, but the damage had been done. Subsequently, the township board refused to sub-contract police services to the new city and the possibility of a districtwide library died from a lack of compromise between the city and township.

Whenever I'd ask officials from both sides about their relations with the neighboring municipality, I'd hear either: "We have no quarrels with them," or, "Things aren't as bad as they seem."

Yeah, right. It's like the hobbling athlete who refuses to leave the game because he insists that his injury isn't too severe. The mouth says one thing, while the mind says another.

Let's face it, there's still a lot of hard feelings over the whole cityhood matter.

In the meantime, the township finds itself at odds with the school district, who says it needs an annual rebate from the Downtown Development Authority to help its financial downward spiral. The township has offered to give it a yearly rebate of $185,000 but the district wants more.

There's also the case of Jon Gaskell and his petition to pull a portion of Middle Lake Road out of the city. Unlike these other cases, this is a citizen taking on a municipality. His case is one of the hottest topics to hit our "Letters to the Editor" section since that ridiculous write-in campaign about the Fife family last winter.

Where will all this back-biting end?

One resident has already acted to resolve one controversy, so far.

Last week, Dr. James O'Neill told the township that he was no longer donating three acres behind his office for a new fire station. Community division was the number one reason behind his change of heart.

O'Neill, one of the Clarkston area's most ardent supporters, was hurt that so many people interpreted his gift as a secret project devised by the township. The pediatrician said he wished all the combatants would step back and see what their quarreling was doing to the community.

Well, doctor, I see what's happening to the community and I don't like it either.

Perhaps a "citizens forum" is needed, where everyone can air their views and offer suggestions on how to preserve their community.

I wonder how many people would show up or how many really care one way or another.

'If it Fitz ...'

An adorable shirt?

Jim Fitzgerald

My favorite newspaper recently reported that, due to the lousy economy, the Richmond Brothers Co., "a century-old retailing chain," will close its 260 men's clothing stores.

And I was ruefully reminded that it wasn't quite 100 years ago that I bought my all-time favorite suit at a Detroit Richmond store. But it was so long ago that it never occurred to me that anyone should tell me how nice I looked in my new suit.

It was shortly after the end of World War II, and my first chance in more than two years to wear something not olive drab. I paid around $20 for a light blueish, glen plaid, double-breasted suit with a left lapel as long as my arms. I thought I looked smashing in it, but after I wore it to my first newspaper job, no one asked me this now-familiar question:

"Did anyone at work tell you that you looked nice today?"

That's because I wasn't married then. But I soon was, and I've long since grown used to my wife asking whether anyone praised a new outfit the first time I wore it in public. And my answer is always the same:

In my various workplaces, the women often told each other they looked nice, even when they were wearing overalls and spike-heeled shoes.

Occasionally, a woman might admit a man didn't look as slobby as usual. But no man ever admired another man's clothing out loud.

This is a phenomenon I've studied for many years. My conclusion is that one of the differences between males and females is that women are always saying "I just adore that blouse" to each other, but no man has ever told another man his shirt is adorable.

This conclusion angers my wife. "You are saying women are more vain than men, and that's just another male chauvinist myth," she says. "Everyone knows men look in the mirror just as much as women do, and they spend more money in barbershops than women spend in beauty shops."

This type of anti-chauvinist argument irks me, not because it's specious, but because it's irrelevant. I don't claim men are less vain. I simply claim men don't tell each other they look nice, but women do.

I don't know why this is true, any more than I know why it's now fashionable for women to wear high heels with long or short pants. It used to be that only the dumbest women in town did that. I remember my daughters covertly pointing at these unstylish women in the supermarket and giggling. I remember when this type of costume was a foolproof way for prostitutes to advertise their profession.

But today, grandmothers go to church in Levi's and high heels. I say this is the same as a man wearing spats with tennis shorts. Sometimes I say this to people who don't know what spats are, which sends me back to the rest home in search of warm milk.

Anyway, I don't mind that my wife takes such a proprietary interest in my clothes. It's a price I gladly pay, rather than go shopping without her. I'm depressed by most men's stores, which offer all the verve and excitement of a funeral parlor. If left to make my own decisions, I buy the first thing the salesman shows me, just to get out of the place before they say the rosary.

And when I get home, she never likes what I bought. It's much easier to take her along to approve all purchases large enough to require my body for fitting, and then let her choose the tie-shirt accessories while I wait in the nearest saloon.

The only drawback is she takes it personally when her selections don't get rave reviews from my peers. And she rejects my theory that men are simply different from women and don't gush over each other's lapels. She thinks that explanation makes me a macho, antifeminist slug.

I want her to continue choosing my new clothes, and I'm afraid she'll quit if some guy doesn't say my shirt is adorable. It is a conundrum. A conundrum is the problem faced by a man who dresses for dinner, but can't find his spats and his warm milk is getting cold.

Letters to the Editor

'I have the facts'

In response to Bill Curtis' column entitled "Get all the facts before you judge" in last week's Clarkston News: I do have the facts.

Fact number one: The average teacher in the Clarkston school district is paid $44,772.55 per year. The teachers' contractual work year is 1,390 hours. This is hardly a full year when you compare it to the 2,080 hours the normal working person must work to constitute their year (40 hours per week, 52 weeks a year). This equates to $32.21 per hour for the teachers.

Fact number two: The highest paid teachers in our school district make $55,260 per year, or $39.75 per hour.

Mr. Curtis alludes to the fact that teachers work more than their contractual 1,390 hours for which they are paid. This is probably true, but so do other people who have to work 2,080 hours per year.

Mr. Curtis compares the average teacher's hourly wage of $32,21 to that of a lawn mower repair business' charge of $42 per hour. Obviously, Mr. Curtis has never been in business nor does he understand a single thing about business. That charge of $42 per hour includes the wage the businessman must pay his employee(s), his workman's compensation premiums, overhead, licenses, insurance, rent and, hopefully, some profit.

If Mr. Curtis wanted to compare any professional's wages to that of the teachers, why didn't he compare wages with a degreed registered nurse? This is a profession that also deals with human beings. A nurse works at least 2,080 hours to contractually fulfill her year. She must work weekends, holidays and night shifts. The best paying job in Oakland County for a RN is about $20 per hour. They probably deserve more, but the health care business cannot afford to pay more. The nurses also are not represented by one of the strongest unions in the state, as teachers are.

So I say to you, Mr. Curtis and your union constituents, that the taxpayer in the Clarkston school district can no longer afford your negotiated wages.

The children of this district remain our first priority, and when all programs are reinstated and parents no longer have to pay for their children to play sports, then we can consider a wage or benefit increase for the employees of the school district.

William Rausch

Resources inside make a library

The citizens of the greater Clarkston — Independence Township community are to be commended for their farsightedness and love for learning manifested though the Independence Township Library which they have constructed

It epitomizes the values of the people of this community who have continually supported it. It is also an asset in terms of attracting prospective residents who appreciate the qualities of the community it represents.

Clarkston is many things to many people, but I have found that there truly is a sense of community here, which has resulted in continued support for many cases, all of which have benefited all of us in one way or another.

The library is one the finest in the county, and it certainly shows that people in the Clarkston area are as appreciative the benefits of a modern library as those in Bloomfield Hills, Lake Orion and Waterford.

However, the job is not finished. A beautiful structure does not make a library. The resources inside — books, periodicals, electronic media — do. Please support the continued growth and maintenance of the library by voting yes for the one additional mill on Sept. 15.

We live in an age where information and access to it are the key determinants to meaningful participation and success in the modern world. Our community library is a resource which can enhance all of our lives.

Greg and Grace Gwisdalla

Benefits all ages

Please vote yes on Sept. 15 to support the library millage request.

The passage of this proposal will enable the library to double the number of books, improve the reference collection, add new programs for children and adults and offer homebound services to shut-ins.

As many of you who have been to the library are aware, there is a critical shortage of books and reference materials. The library benefits every age group and can become the center of knowledge and information in our community. If you value learning, vote yes on Sept. 15.

Vision realized

On behalf of the Clarkston Athletic Department, I would like to thank the Clarkston Athletic Booster Club for the new building at the Clarkston High School Athletic Field.

We appreciate the long hours of volunteer work this past summer and for the many contractors who put together an outstanding facility.

The building was built with donations and will be of great use to the football teams, soccer teams and track teams. I have been in the Clarkston school system for over 26 years, and this building has been a vision by many people for all of those years. It's refreshing to finally see the vision become reality when several caring people come together and make things happen

Please join us at home soccer and football games this fall to see the building in use.

Nothing to gain by leaving the city of Clarkston

BY JENNIFER RADCLIFF

In recent weeks, two articles in this paper were related to each other, although this might not be apparent at first.

One was the article in which Jane Attaman was pictured hugging her maple tree at the corner of Main Street and Clarkston-Orion Road; the other described the massive paving project at the other end of Main Street, just south of the Clarkston village limits.

That tree was saved as a direct result of the National Register historic district. I received a call last August from a colleague in the Bureau of History, asking me for comment regarding the impact of the road project on the district. My lengthy comments began the process of mitigation, in which the village government and the Department of Transportation (DOT) were equal negotiating parties.

The eventual result was a softening of the original plan, the saving of the tree and its beneficial effect on that corner, an increased awareness of the fragility of this neighborhood, and an acknowledgment that the village was determined to protect it.

Back in 1972, the process of establishing a Historical Society and the creation of a historic district began. The prime motivation was the threat of DOT plans for the state trunk line.

For years, those of us who see the danger have argued for caution, have negotiated, counted cars, written letters, made telephone calls. This determined effort to protect the neighborhood at the south end of the village has been generated and supported in every way possible by village leadership. We have managed, so far, to keep our neighborhoods from destruction.

However, because we have not been able to get the necessary township support, and because DOT has great power and enormous budgets, we will all have to live with five lanes — with width of Dixie in front of McDonald's - slamming into two lanes at the village limits.

The question is: Who kept the DOT from extending its paving north on Main Street, right into the back yard of the Middle Lake area? Who has argued for years for lights to control traffic flow so residents of that neighborhood can turn onto Main Street? Who has worried about the Middle Lake neighborhood being isolated from services it deserves? The Village of Clarkston.

Under federal law, the historic district is protected from unilateral decisions to spend highway money to destroy a federally recognized historic resource; that is one of the major benefits of the National Register.

However, that protection does not extend to Middle Lake. The only protection from slash-and-burn action on the part of the wide-roads people comes from the Village government and its absolute commitment to protecting all its citizens from this kind of destruction.

The resident of Middle Lake have nothing to gain from the current petition action managed by Jon Gaskell. On the contrary, they have a great deal to lose by not supporting the village in its continuing efforts to protect its citizens.

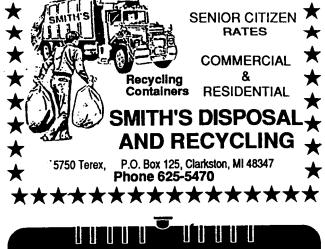

Jennifer Radcliff resides on Main Street, Clarkston.

Neighbors get second chance at sewers

Residents along Simler Drive, Phelan Drive and Phelan Court have another chance to petition for sewers in their neighborhood.

On Aug. 18, the Independence Township Board voted 6-0 to resubmit petitions to residents in these areas just southwest of Deer Lake. Trustee Daniel Travis was absent from the meeting.

The township's Department of Public Works originally sent out 36 mailings to these areas, and 29 were eventually returned. A majority of these homeowners supported sewers in their neighborhood, while water line extensions were turned down.

A 51 percent majority on petitions is needed for the township to consider installing either water or sewer

About 10 residents asked the township board for a follow-up sewer petition. The citizens said they could easily gain a 51 percent approval rate in their neighborhoods. A few residents cited numerous failed septic fields and leakage into Deer Lake as their motivation for sewer

Wolves count on veteran defense

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

There's a price war with the airlines, but the football war for Clarkston will mostly be staged on the ground.

"Obviously, we won't throw the ball as much as last year," said Clarkston head coach Kurt Richardson, referring to the strong passing arm of graduated all-stater Dugan Fife, "but we will throw the ball."

Calling the signals this season will be quarterback Kevin Dankert, a 5-foot, 8-inch, 155-pound junior.

"He throws the ball well," said Richardson. Dankert, who passed for over 1,300 yards and 18 touchdowns last year on JV, is also quick on his feet.

Richardson said, "We won't be as fun to watch. We'll be more of a ball control team and less of a big-play team. But we'll still sting people on defense."

The Wolves, who finished 7-2 last year, have plenty of competition this fall.

"It's the toughest schedule I've seen since I've been here as a fan, player and coach," said Richardson.

Since Brandon has dropped out of the Greater Oakland Activities League, the Fall sports preview

Wolves will go up against five non-league foes: Troy (the opener, away, on Sept. 4), Lansing Sexton, Ypsilanti, Flint Central and Highland Park.

Still, the biggest game could be on homecoming (back to a Friday night) against Pontiac Northern. The Huskies handed the Wolves one of their two losses last season, nipping Clarkston in overtime. The two teams ended up being co-champs of the GOAL. Richardson expects Northern to again be the toughest team it will face in the league.

"They've got Talley; that's enough," said Richardson about Charles Talley, who rushed for 167 yards against the Wolves.

Richardson said the Wolves' biggest weakness may be its "foot speed," which will be highly tested when chasing after the quick Talley.

The Wolves' backfield won't be as fast as Talley, but it still plans on plowing out yardage.

The biggest plower will be fullback Eric Ryan, a 5-9, 205 senior. He will be joined by halfback Nick Shires, a 6-0, 175 senior.

Others seeing action in the backfield will be Justin Tappero, Marc May and Joe Davis. Richardson said Davis and line-backer Brian "Oscar" Bologna have been two of the best surprises in practice.

All-state wide receiver Jon Wyniemko has graduated, but Dankert will be throwing to some familiar targets, including tight end Rusty Mitcham, wingbacks Brent Bundridge and Jeremy Fife and split end Adam Rice. Bundridge was Dankert's favorite receiver last season on JV, finishing with 544 yards in receptions.

Richardson said the Wolves' offense will also be using more play-action this season.

Of course, no offense can be successful without the linemen, and the Wolves' line comprises all seniors. Handling center duties will be Jon Hanson (6-0, 170, who's still recovering from an injury), right guard Dan Eby (5-10, 175), right tackle Jason Hovanec (6-4, 240), left guard Tom Duty (6-0, 185) and left tackle either Steve Black (6-3, 210) or Jon Roy (5-10, 220).

Clarkston has most of its experience defensively, especially on the line and with its linebackers. Seven returning starters on the 5-2 defense are noseguard E.J.

Stump, linebackers Black and Matt May, outside linebacker Ryan, tackles Chris Combs and Duty and defensive back Shires.

Others expected to see plenty of action are linebacker Bologna, outside linebackers Marc May and Eby and tackles Roy and Kevin Covert.

One of the team's question marks will be in the defensive backfield, with only Shires a previous starter. Those question marks hoping to turn into exclamation points will be Jeremy Doty, sophomore Jason Graves, Fife, and Jerry Anderson.

Combs will be kicking the PAT's this season (Matt Smith moved to Texas). Combs and Mitcham will share the punting duties.

Clarkston has added two extra coaching positions to its staff. In addition to head coach Kurt Richardson, there will be Gordie Richardson (offense coordinator), Steve Pearson (defense - outside linebackers), Don Buchanan (quarterbacks and kicker), Phil Price (receivers), Mike Stefanski (running backs) and Terry Schimke (linebackers).

Wolf cagers dominate first two games

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston varsity girls' basketball team must have been closely watching the U.S. men's Olympic basketball team this summer.

The Wolves opened the season last week by burying Lakeland by 41 points and West Bloomfield by 37.

Clarkston's Big Three seniors Alyson McChesney, Heather Steinhelper and Courtney Whittaker combined for 96 of their team's 132 points.

CLARKSTON 69, West Bloomfield 32 (Aug. 27 at West Bloomfield)

Clarkston, 2-0, scored 19 points in each of the first three quarters to crush West Bloomfield, 69-32.

The game's only scare for the Wolves came early in the second quarter when Heather Steinhelper picked up her third foul and went to the bench. Clarkston led 19-8 at the time but its lead soon shrunk to 23-17.

But the Wolves still managed to take a 38-17 bulge into halftime and an effective full-court press in the second half was too much for Lakers.

Courtney Whittaker paced Clarkston offensively, sinking 11 of 16 field goals and 4-of-4 free throws for 26 points.

Clarkston coach Larry Mahrle was also impressed with Whittaker's defense.

"She's becoming very good defensively," he said. "She's playing the passing lanes real well."

Alyson McChesney totaled 16 points, Steinhelper 10 (which included two 3pointers), Heather Austin and Erin Patterson each had four, Anne Brueck three (one 3-pointer), and Shannon Binkley, Laura Seitz and Amy Schroeder each netted two.

Seitz also helped the cause with eight assists.

The only Laker in double-figures was Kellie Conover with 10.

CLARKSTON 63, Lakeland 22 (Aug. 25 at Clarkston)

Clarkston's offense exploded in the season opener but coach Larry Mahrle was even more impressed with the defense and lack of turnovers in a 63-22 crunching of visiting Lakeland.

"We only made 11 turnovers," said Mahrle, whose team goal this year is to have 18 or less a game. "The girls were making good decisions. They didn't just. throw the ball to throw the ball."

The Wolf defense held the Eagles to single digits every quarter. Lakeland only managed to make four field goals and one 3-pointer.

The Eagles scored half of their points from the free throw line (11-of-17). Clarkston was 15-of-32 from the line.

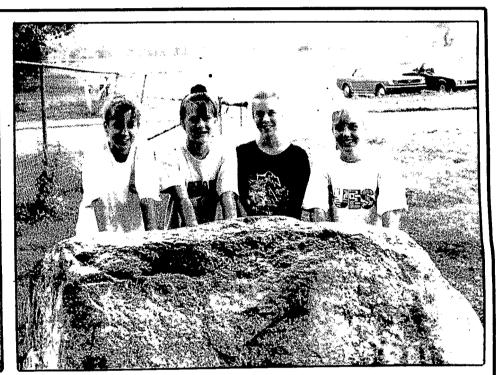

"We dominated the whole game," said Mahrle. "We were ready. The team has worked so hard in practice."

Alyson McChesney led all scorers with 16 (sinking 8-of-11 free throws). Courtney Whittaker poured in 15, Heather Steinhelper 13 (two 3-pointers), Heather Austin nine (one 3-pointer), Laura Seitz and Shawna Greene (one 3-pointer) each netted three, Lesley Allen two and Erin Patterson and Shannon Binkley each had one McChesney, the team's leading rebounder the past two years, cleaned the glass for 10. Whittaker and Steinhelper each had five steals and Austin added five assists.

Boys run on experience, girls have new look

Fall sports preview

BY AMANDA PESKE Clarkston News Special Writer

The cross-country team will be largely dependent on its senior runners.

Of the 20 runners, eight seniors are on the boys' team, and one is on the girls' team. Other runners are sophomores or juniors and only a couple of freshmen.

Last season, most of the 22 runners were underclassman. Co-coaches Mike Taylor and Mike Kaul hoped many of them would return.

Since most of the underclassmen did not return, the coaches said that even though there is not much underclassman participation, they are blessed to have seniors with depth and experience.

Most of the runners started conditioning at the end of July, beginning of August. The official practice started Aug. 10, and according to Taylor, the Wolves have been running an average of 6-7 miles a day

Girls

The girls' team just barely made its quota of five required runners with six

Returning is last year's Most Valuable Player, sophomore Leah Scharl, who Taylor said he expects will lead the team.

Also returning is sophomore Stacy Patterson, last year's Most Improved Player.

Other runners for the girls' include transfer students Michelle Schroeder, a junior, and Anna Vadamere, a freshman. Freshman Stefanie Burklow also will compete.

The only senior on the team is newcomer, Mandi Henkel, who currently has a bad knee.

Taylor expects Lake Orion to be the Wolves' toughest opponent in the Greater Oakland Activities League.

Taylor said he is concerned about injuries on the girls' team. He said the boys' team can pick up the slack because of their numbers, but said it's different with the girls' team.

"People get worn down," said Taylor, pointing out that it isn't too late for girls interested to sign up.

Boys

In comparison to the girls' team, the boys team in numbers and experience is in "much better shape," according to co-coach Mike Taylor.

Expected to lead this year's team are three returning seniors: two-year letterman Brad Patterson, Most Valuable Player Derek Lachman and Most Improved Player Steve Cohoon. Taylor said it would not surprise him if all three are all-Greater Oakland Activities League runners.

Other returning seniors from either last year's varsity or JV teams are Eric Carlson, Eric Woodward, Mark Deevey, Adam Pastor and Greg Fisher, who Taylor said has "looked good" at practice.

Along with the seniors is junior Curt Duca, whom Taylor said "has a good chance of going varsity."

Also joining the team is junior Mike Porritt.

Taylor expects that the boys will "do fine" against their toughest GOAL competitors, Brandon and Lake Orion.

Amanda Peske is a Clarkston High School senior.

Netters try to end Lake Orion streak

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston varsity girls' tennis team is like its coach Becky Craig, new and experienced.

New: Nine of the players haven't taken one swing in varsity competition and Craig takes over for Dick Swartout. who coached the Wolves the past nine Experienced: Nine of the Wolves do have varsity experience and Craig used to coach Clarkston before Swartout's tenure.

This is a nice bunch of girls. More than I've had before," said Craig about her 18 players. Her last Wolf team in 1982 comprised 13 players.

Back in 1982, No. 1 singles player Mary Smith and her teammates won the Greater Oakland Activities League and the Class A regionals. Since that time, every GOAL title has been won by Lake Orion, with Clarkston usually placing third.

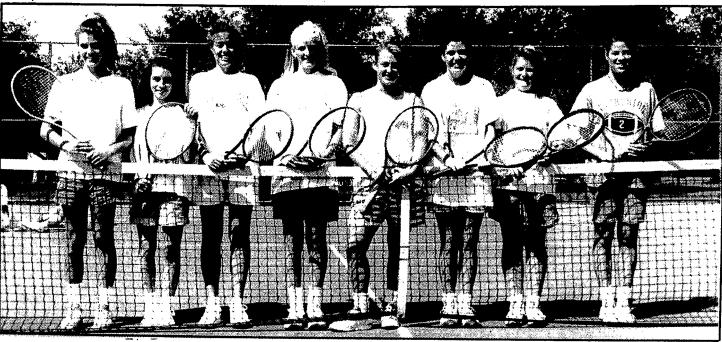

Craig, who admits she won't get a good grasp of the GOAL competition until the season begins, expects the champion Dragons and second-place finishers Brandon to be the Wolves' toughest competi-

Craig said don't count out the Wolves for the league title.

"We have the potential to take the GOAL," said the coach, whose team fields only three seniors.

Much of that potential lies with returning No. 1 singles player Kristy Swartout. The junior, who has played no lower than No. 2 singles since her freshman year, is the team's co-captain.

Fellow junior and two-year letterman Amanda VanKlaveren is the other co-captain. She and sophomore Kelley Wall will be challenging each other for the No. . 2 and No. 3 seeds.

Freshman Mary Schmidt will be playing in the No. 4 position.

The players most likely to be vying for the three doubles teams are Melissa O'Dea, Kim Wicklund, Arika Graham, Renee VanKlaveren, Janae Cooley, Carley Kade, Jody Weatherington, Renee Shubert and Allison Webster.

Craig said one of the concerns of the team is depth in the singles. The coach said if one of the top four singles players would get injured, she is uncertain, at this time, who would move up from doubles.

Craig said she has been emphasizing placement of the ball in practice.

"Just hitting the ball over the net is

REAL ESTATE

QUESTION: Which is the most practical house to own - a ranch or a two-story home?

ANSWER: A ranch is appealing since living is all on one floor and there are no steps to climb. However, a ranch has disadvantages. It takes up more space on its lot and has greater foundation cost per square foot of interior living space.

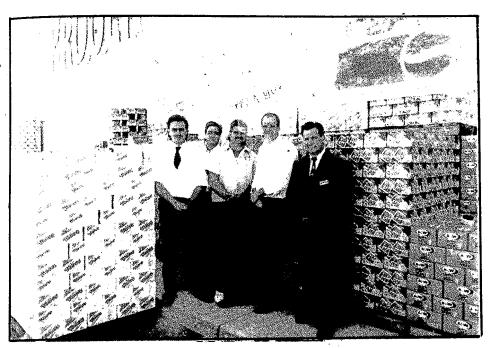

You can get the same interior size on half the amount of foundation in a two-story home. Construction cost per square foot is reduced in a two-story house. Despite this cost-saving factor, the national trend still is strongly toward onestory homes.

Swinging from the heels

From Bay City to the bigs

James Gibowski

Keith Miller's first-ever at bat at Tiger Stadium Friday night was typical Keith Miller.

In the top of the first, Miller, batting second for the Kansas City Royals, swings at Frank Tanana's first pitch and lines the ball to leftfield.

A few pitches later Miller steals second, his head-first slide beats Tiger catcher Mickey Tettleton's throw. Moments later, another head-first slide puts Miller at third. Miller has more Detroit dirt on himself than former Police Chief William Hart.

The night was special for Miller, who played five years with the New York Mets before being traded to the Royals this year.

"It's probably the most nervous I've ever been going into it," said Miller after the game, which eventually was won 4-2 by the Tigers. "But after that first inning, it just became another game."

I'm quite proud of Miller.

When I look up the boxscores in the daily papers, what Miller did the night before always takes on added importance.

Cecil Fielder belts more homeruns, Ken Griffey Jr. hits more doubles and Kirby Puckett has a better average, but they didn't graduate from Bay City All Saints High School.

But Miller did in 1981.

And I did in 1971.

He could be the most famous graduate of our school, which began in 1969. And he is one of Bay City's most favorite sons, along with Terry McDermott (a speed skater who won America's only gold medal in the 1964 Winter Olympics) and James Birney (who, if I remember, once ran for president in the 1800's). And, of course, there's Bay City's most favorite (or least favorite to some) daughter, Madonna.

Friday night's game was the first time at bat on the corner of Michigan and Trumbull for the former National Leaguer, but it was far from the first time at the historic ball park.

"I used to come quite a bit, especially in (Mark) Fidrych's days. I guess I used to come 15 times a year," said Miller.

Even though Miller has been on the disabled list from time-to-time this summer, he is still having his best year ever, starting full-time for the Royals instead of occasionally as he did in New York. After he lined his single off Tanana, he was batting .299.

Royal manager Hal McRae likes the way Miller plays the game, even comparing the way he hustles with Pete Rose (McRae's teammate at Cincinnati).

"He's very aggressive. He's been an outstanding leadoff hitter for us, even though he's not leading off now. He's hitting about .300," said McRae. "He been a catalyst for our offense. He plays hard. He's an inspirational guy. We're glad to have him and I'm sure he's gonna play in Kansas City for a long time."

Miller always hustled. When he played at All Saints he helped the Cougars win the Class C state baseball championship. He also played basketball there and was coached by my former coach. Lefty Franz.

After graduating from All Saints, Miller starred at Oral Roberts University (hitting .365 there his final season). He played for U.S teams in both the Pan-American games and in a series against Japan.

Miller said he hadn't thought about playing pro baseball in high school, all he knew was that he played well enough to get a college scholarship. The first time he thought he had a good chance of making it in the majors was after his first year in AA minor league baseball.

"I hit like .330 and saw some guys in that league get called up in September that I thought I was every bit as good as they were," said Miller.

A 5-11, 185-pounder, Miller averaged .264 in five years and 308 games with the Mets, where he played in both the outfield and infield.

Miller arrived in Kansas City this season via the Bret Sabberhagen trade. Playing ball and living in K.C. is certainly different than N.Y.C.

"It's a lot more pleasant in Kansas City. It's more what I'm accustomed to. More laid back, kind of like Michigan," said Miller, who lived in Frankenmuth during the off-season but soon will be moving into a new house in Kansas City with his wife Stephanie and children Brittany and Bryar.

Miller adds, "New York can be hectic. It can be great, but it can be bad, too. The fans expect a lot from you."

Sometimes, even a fan in Clarkston might expect a little too much. But on Friday night on that first pitch in the first inning, I wasn't disappointed. And then those two steals ...

... the Class of '71 salutes the Class of '81.

Kenny Rogers Roasters opens doors in town

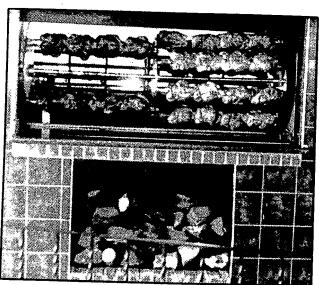

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

Kenny Rogers has always had the ability to warm hearts with his music, but now he's looking to whet appetites with his cooking.

Michigan's first Kenny Rogers Roasters franchise opened its doors in Independence Township Aug. 9. The 90-seat restaurant is in Independence Town Square at the intersection of Waldon and Sashabaw roads.

The franchise is under the ownership of Mike and Rhonda Albarkat, who've lived in the Clarkston area for the past five years.

According to Rhonda Albarkat, Rogers opened the first of his 23 restaurants nearly one year ago. She attributed Rogers' love for food as the catalyst behind the KENNY ROGERS ROASTERS is the newest restaurant to open up in the Clarkston area. This business specializes in a variety woodroasted chicken dinners.

"Kenny, himself, was looking for a healthy alternative to eating out, so he decided to start his own business with the help of former Kentucky Governor J.Y. Brown,"

All the chicken on Rogers' menu is wood-roasted, a style of cooking that's several centuries old. Marinated with citrus, herbs and spices, the chickens are slowly turned over a hardwood fire so hot that the fat goes out while all the wood-roasted flavor stays sealed inside.

Kenny Rogers Roasters chicken reportedly has 43 percent less fat and 29 percent fewer calories than fried chicken.

Rhonda said this style of homecooking is what sets her restaurant apart from other area businesses.

"We've gotten rave reviews on all our food, especially the ribs, which we serve after 4 p.m.," she said. "Everything here is made fresh. You won't find a freezer on the premises."

Rhonda said a restaurant is in the works for every one of the 48 continental United States. She said former Boston Celtics star Larry Bird has recently become a franchiser in his home state of Indiana.

In the future, the Albarkats intend to build nine more franchises throughout Oakland County. Rhonda said the Clarkston area seemed the most sensible location to start their enterprise.

"Living in Clarkston for the past five years, we knew the logistics were great in this area," she said. "The proximity to Sashabaw Road and the Pine Knob Music Theatre made this particular spot ideal.

"Another overriding factor in choosing Clarkston was the fact that this area needs restaurants," Rhonda

With business brisk so far, Rhonda credits her staff of 55 as being the most gratifying aspect to her fledgling

'By operating my own business, I've been able to discover that the youth in Clarkston is excellent," she said, of her primarily high school-age staff. "The workers are of a very high caliber. They know what they're doing and have great attitudes."

Rhonda lists the decor of the restaurant as one of her business' main perks. The interior is decorated with a variety of Kenny Rogers memorabilia, including photographs and gold records. Patrons are also treated to sounds of country music as they dine — and, no, not all of it is Kenny Rogers' music.

Kenny Rogers Roasters offers carry-out, catering and ordering by FAX machine. Restaurant hours are 11 a.m. to 10 p.m seven days a week.

Theater joins Adopta-Highway program

The Sashabaw Road-Interstate 75 area should be a bit cleaner in the future, thanks to New Pine Knob employees.

The music theater has joined The Palace in the Michigan Department of Transportation's "Adopt-a-Highway: Project Pride" roadway beatification program.

Pine Knob employees have agreed to maintain the interchange area. In addition to providing litter pick up, the New Pine Knob has also volunteered to mow these ares, which is not required in the program's basic guidelines.

"Since we take great pride in the upkeep and appearance of both The Palace and New Pine Knob, it's been a natural extension for us to encompass some of the surrounding roadways," said Ron Woodbridge, director of special projects for The Palace and New Pine Knob.

What's new in business

two say business is much more brisk than they expected for a new venture.

Home inspection company has warranty

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE Clarkston News Staff Writer

Buying a home is one of the most important investments a person can make. And sometimes a little help from experts makes the decision easier.

A new business has opened in Waterford to help the would-be homeowner make an informed decision about a home.

Derek Place, 29, of Independence Township and Ed Jahn, 25, of Grand Blanc began HomeSpec in January. Their Sashabaw Road office is central to their service areas of Oakland, Wayne, Genesee, Macomb and Lapeer counties.

Both are license builders — Place even built his own home on Hadley Road. Place, a licensed code official, was the Independence Township building inspector. Jahn holds a bachelor of science degree from Michigan State University, East Lansing, in building construction management.

A home inspection is a visual examination from the top to bottom of a home. This includes the inside, outside, all major systems and the physical structure of the house.

Place and Jahn have pride themselves on their professionalism. For instance, they offer computer-generated reports as opposed to a checklist most of their competitors use. And they stay on top of new laws and codes.

Jahn explained that home inspection is a new industry. New laws are underway requiring the seller of the home to disclose flaws to the buyer. The inspection aides the buyer and seller in knowing what exactly is right and wrong with the home.

Another special feature that Homespec offers is a warranty. The home inspection is warranted up to $5,000 for 90 days against failures and omissions.

Both men worked for a national home inspection company at one time before branching out on their own.

"We're a smaller company," said Jahn. "We don't like the games that the national companies play. I think we're down to earth and provide a good service. We want to service the area."

THEN: Wilbur W. Walton and Betty Jean Clark were married in war time in 1942.

NOW: The couple celebrates 50 years of marriage in September.

Golden celebration with Clarkston roots

Fifty years ago this Sept. 10, our parents, Wilbur Walton and Betty Jean Clark, were married in the Clarkston Methodist Church.

It was war time, and a small ceremony was swiftly put together by Sigrid Enden and Raymond Clark, Betty's parents.

In attendance were Carmen Jean Clark (Boyns), sister to the bride and maid of honor; Arnold Jerome, best man; Robert Clark, brother of the bride; Nicholas Boyns, future husband to Carmen; and Eloise Walton (Manker) and Elizabeth Walton (Graham), Wilbur's sisters.

Wilbur had just returned from a tour of duty in Iceland as a pilot with the illustrious Flying Tigers. Betty and Wilbur left immediately for his next duty station in Florida.

From there Wilbur flew the "Hump" in and out of Mainland China, Africa, India and the Mediterranean. In his absence the oldest of four children was born: William (1943), followed by Barbara (1945), Maret (1950) and Richard (1952).

It is with great pride that the four children of Betty and Wilbur announce a 50th Wedding Anniversary celebration on Sept. 12 in their home of Olympia, Wash. Nine grandchildren and three great-grandchildren will also be instrumental in the celebration.

Comic and card store opens in area

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

Sensing the need for a comic book/ trading card hobby shop in the Clarkston area, Scott DePalma took a chance and opened "The Vault."

In operation since June 1, the store is in the spacious Waterfall Plaza on Dixie Highway. Despite being open just two and half months, the 24-year-old entrepreneur said his shop has already attained a respectable customer

"Business has been a lot better than I expected it would be so far," he said. "If people keep coming in at the present rate, I should have a success on my hands."

DePalma said his current customers consist of 60 percent kids and 40 percent adults.

"It seems that people of all ages are into comics and collectibles these days," he said.

Prior to The Vault, DePalma said he was torn over the type of store he wanted to run. Split between a comic/card shop and a pet store, the Brandon High alumnus let economics guide his decision.

'It was tough because I've been a collector of comic books for quite a while, with experience in pet store retail," he said. "But pet stores are having a rough time of it, for the most part, so I opted for the comic and card shop"

DePalma said deciding his store's name was a bit more spontaneous, however.

"I woke up one night and the name just popped into my head," he said. "So I figured I'd better just stick with

According to DePalma, The Vault offers a variety of collectible items. They include: 180 comic titles (new and old), numerous lines of trading cards, card and comic collecting supplies, movie model kits and more than 400 horror videos.

These horror videos can be rented for $1 a piece for SCOTT DePalma just recently opened The Vault comic and card shop in Waterfall Plaza. Here, the 24-year-old exhibits just a few of his collectibles.

DePalma said his store's location has proved to be conducive for business.

'This spot is good for me because of the traffic flow and the number of kids in the area," he said. "The lack of competition in the immediate vicinity is also a factor.

"Matter of a fact, a lot of my customers have told me that they're glad I moved into the area," he said. "Apparently, a lot of them had been driving as far as Pontiac to visit similar shops."

The Vault is open from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday

In addition, Treitman answers food preservation questions at the market and gives free Department of Agriculture material on canning, food preservation and food safety.

PUBLIC NOTICE

"BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW"

City of The Village of Clarkston

375 DEPOT ROAD CLARKSTON, MI. 48346 AUGUST 24, 1992

Mayor Catallo called the meeting to order at 7:35 p.m., followed by the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Roll: Present - Arkwright, Basinger, Catallo, Roeser, Sanderson, Schultz and Secatch. Absent - None.

Moved by Arkwright and Supported by Sanderson, "That the minutes from the meeting on August 10, 1992 be approved." Yeas - 6. Nays - None. Motion carried.

Moved by Roeser, supported by Secatch, "That the agenda be approved with the following additions; That the Uniform Traffic Code, Police division, and the breaddown of Police Activity - tickets be added under Old Business and that a request from Deer Lake Farms to patrol their beach and a back-up Police Car be added under New Business." Yeas - 6. Nays - None. Motion carried.

Roeser stated that at the joint meeting between the Village and the Township, the Township indicated their plan to contract with Plante Moran to look into asset division. Roeser wanted an estimate of the cost of this contract with Plante Moran. No estimate has been given. Pappas will check into this. The Township will cover 95% of the costs and the Village 5% based on the percentage SEV.

Roeser requested a monthly report of the breakdown of the Police activity. The Council has also requested to see these monthly reports.

Basinger addressed some rumors that have been circulating regarding the Police Department. Roeser will write a letter to the Village residents addressing the police budget and activity. Arkwright felt that a public meeting should be held to address the citizens concerns related to the police department.

Ryan indicated that this Wednesday the first prosecution of traffic violations will occur in District Court. Subsequently, traffic violations will be prosecuted one afternoon per month. Ryans time will be covered under the police budget through ticket revenues.

Ryan indicated that he spoke with Township Building department regarding the Condominium Master Deed. Apparently this is on file in Lansing and the Township is satisfied that all the necessary documents have been filed. Roeser indicated that the City Council had not given its approval. Ryan indicated he would follow up with the Township and with engineer Gary Tressel.

Ryan reviewed the sewer maintenance agreement and found it in order. The sewer maintenance on Overlook and Middle Lake Road were completed today. The maintenance was done by a privatae contractor hired by the Township.

address for Mr. Jordon, He will provide this address to Chief DeVore so a citation can be Ryan indicated that he had spoken with Jan Stickley from the Oakland County Elections Division. If the Village wants to provide Library services at the Independence Township Library after January 1, 1993, when our current agreement expires, Village residents will be expected to pay the same amount as Township residents.

The Township is placing a 1 (one) mill increase on the September 15, 1992 ballot.

Ryan has drafted a ballot resolution for a one mill Library increase using language similar to the Township ballot proposal. The Village is planning to put the proposal on the November 3 ballot if the Township's millage passes. If the millage fails it will not appear on the November ballot in the Village. The purpose of the Library millage is to keep in sinc with the Township and to provide the residents in the City with the opportunity to vote on all new Resolution by Roeser, supported by Basinger, "For a ballot proposal for authority for the City Council of the City of the Village of Clarkston to levy up to an additional one mill ($1.00) per ($1000) of state equalize value for Library services." Roll: Yeas - 7. Nays -0. Resolution carried.

Library Millage Proposal Shall the City of the Village of Clarkston be authorized to levy up to one additional mill for a period of two years (commencing December 1, 1992), for the support; maintenance, and operation of the Independence Township Library pursuant to contract

Approval of this proposal would authorize a levy increase on all property assesssed for taxation in the City of the Village of Clarkston of one ($1.00) dollar per thousand ($1000) dollars in state equalized property value, and requires voter approval under the Michigan Constitution.

Ryan indicated he is still researching the Ordinance amendments regarding fences.

Ryan distributed a draft of a Special Use Ordinance to the Council. The Council discussed the provision for public hearings in the Ordinance and decided that the Council should hold the Public Hearing when indicated since the Planning Commission is an advisory body and the City Council remains the decison making

A copy of the proposed ordinance will be sent to the Planning Commission. Ryan will make the appropriate changes and send a corrected copy to Art Pappas.

Ryan distributed the Village Traffic Code Ordinance for the Council to review. The Ordinance is taken from State law and its adoption is necessary if the Village is to issue local ordinance violations. A copy of the Ordinance will be kept on file at the Village Hall.

Resolution by Schultz, supported by Secatch, "That Ordinance 80-5 an amendment to the Uniform Traffic Code for cities, Villages and Townships be adopted." Roll: Yeas - 7. Nays - None. Resolution carried.

Secatch indicated that he spoke with Village resident Jackson Byers about serving on the Police Committee and he has agreed to do so. There are now five members on the Committee.

Moved by Roeser, supported by Schultz, "That the March of Dimes Walk America be held in the Village of Clarkston on April 25, 1993." Yeas - 7. Nays - None. Motion carried.

Moved by Basinger, supported by Arkwright, "That there be a one time extension of operations at the Deer Lake Beach for as many additional weekends as weather permits and proper life quard supervison can be obtained." Yeas - 7. Nays - None. Motion carried.

Pappas indicated that to change the use of Community Deve lopment grants that a public hearing needed to be held. He indicated that on the corner of W. Church and S. Holcomb that storm sewers need repair. He is working on an estimate of costs of these repairs. The repairs could possibly be funded through the Community Development grant.

Basinger indicated that some residents for the Middle Lake area are attempting to withdraw from the City. They are using the Home Rule Cities Statute to try to enact this. According to Basinger this statute indicates that this withdrawal can be accomplished by a combined vote by Village and Township residents. Basinger indicates that this is an error in the language of the statute and should instead require separate than combined votes. The Michigan Municipal League has tried in the past to get the statute corrected and was unsuccessful.

Basinger feels our best course of action is to get the statute corrected. Sanderson and Secatch will work with the Attorney from the Michigan Municipal League to get the statute corrected. Ryan is also to be consulted.

Martin Abbott and Dennis Barrow home owners from Deer Lake Farms approached the City Council about contracting with the Clarkston Police Department to patrol their subdivision beach on Deer Lake

The beach is privately owned by the homeowners association and is located in Independence Township. This summer they have been plagued with trespassers and vandalism. They have contacted the Sheriff's Department without a satisfactory

Ryan indicated our Police Officers are now limited to the Village limits only. The homeowners association could approach the Township about deputizing our police officers or they could have our off-duty officers. These men will contact the Township Board to see what they can arrange.

Basinger indicated that there is a need for a back-up police vehicle in the event the one police car is in need of repair. Basinger has investigated some used car possibilities.

Secatch recommended checking with some other police departments which routinely get rid of high milage (60-70,000 miles) cars which would already be equipped as police vehicles. Chief DeVore is to look into this

Moved by Sander supported by Secatch, "That the meeting be adjourned." Yeas -7. Nays - none. Motion carried. The meeting was adjourned at 9:15 p.m.
