Students back in school; strike over

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Summer vacation is officially over for 5,700 students in the Clarkston school district.

On Saturday evening, representatives from the administration and the teachers' union agreed on a tentative contract, ending a five-day strike.

The pact was reached around 9 p.m. Sept. 5, following an 11-hour bargaining session with a state mediator. Subsequently, the teachers overwhelmingly voted to end their strike Monday evening.

This breakthrough sent students back to school Tuesday, a full week after their teachers hit the picket line.

Neither side would release details of the tentative agreement. Full disclosure of the two-year contract is expected after both the teachers and the Clarkston Board

"There will have to be some healing in the community, as well."

District Rep. Duane Lewis of Education ratify the final agreement.

This process should take about two weeks to complete, said Duane Lewis, district representative.

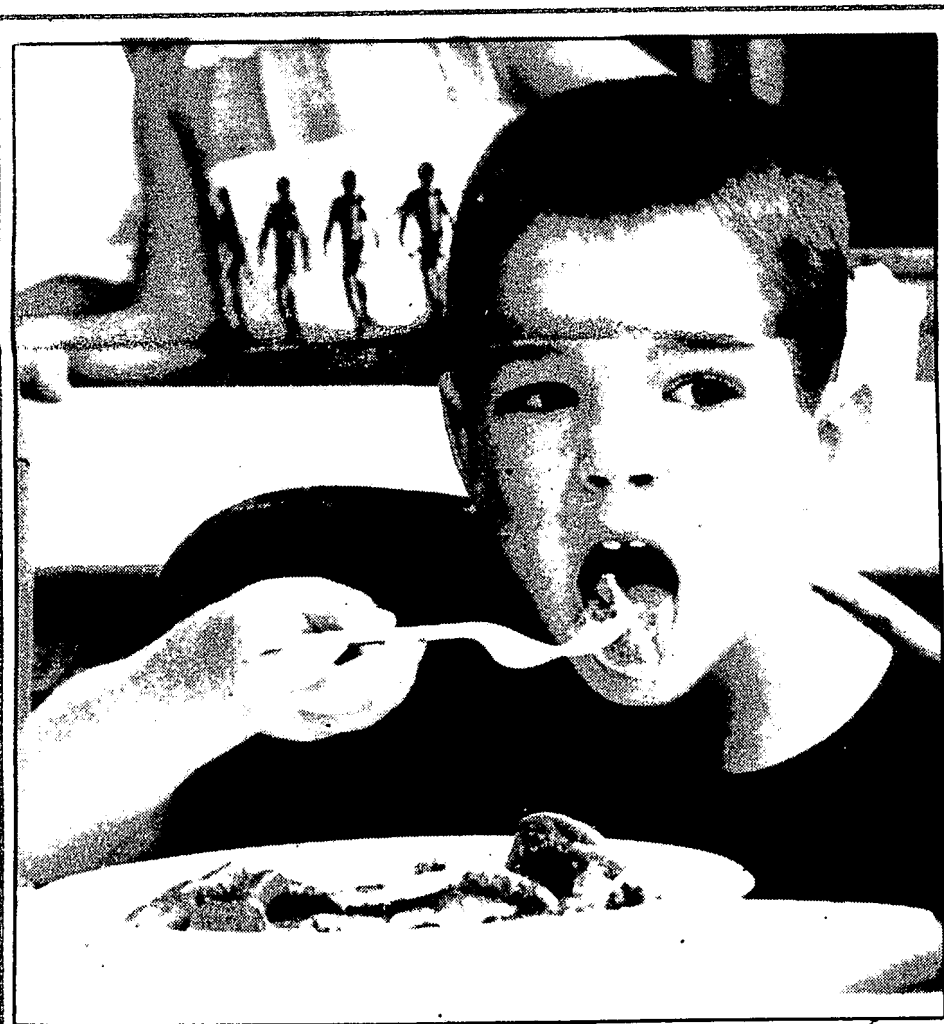

According to Lewis, teachers and students will have to make up the five days lost to the strike. He said these days will be outlined in a revised calendar, which is also part of the contract language.

Lewis tagged salary and class size as the biggest haggling points during last week's negotiations. He said district officials were pleased with the final outcome, however.

"The school board was pleased with the tentative agreement," he said. "We felt it was a fair settlement. Everyone's glad it's over and our kids are back in school."

Bill Curtis, president of the Clarkston Education Association (CEA), said the teachers are satisfied as well.

"Overall, we're pleased. We feel we made some gains in a couple of areas of concern like classroom size

Township board halts DDA plan

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

It appears that the extension of Citation Drive is nothing more than a pipe dream now.

On Sept. 1, the Independence Township Board unanimously voted not to approve a second amendment to the Downtown Development Authority's (DDA) development plan.

This decision came a day after the DDA board upheld an earlier recommendation not to approve the proposed plan. The DDA board's re-recommendation came on the heels of a 3-3 split decision, Aug. 18, over a revamped plan that would have included the widening of White Lake Road and the erection of street lighting on existing Citation Drive and White Lake Road.

The biggest item of this previously proposed $400,000 plan — the westerly extension of Citation Drive to connect M-15 with Dixie Highway — was dropped from the proposal after Clarkston pediatrician James O'Neill decided not to donate three acres to the township.

This land, located behind O'Neill's present office, was pegged as the site for the new Independence Township fire station.

On Aug. 31, township officials approached the DDA board with two less expensive alternatives that would have ended a Citation Drive extension behind the shopping center at the corner of Dixie Highway and M-15. According to township Clerk Joan McCrary, the first alternative would have called for the erection of a two-lane extension for $120,000.

The second option would have entailed a three-lane extension for $140,000. McCrary said $30,000 of both these packages' total costs would have included a flashing traffic signal installed at Citation Drive and M-15.

Despite the scaling down of this Citation Drive item, the DDA overwhelmingly refused to support the new

Special library election Tuesday

Don't forget to vote in the special election in Independence Township Tuesday, Sept. 15.

On the ballot is a request for one additional mill for library operations and wording that would turn the library into a Public Act 164 Library. One mill is $1 for every $100,000 in assessed property valuation.

Under a Public Act 164 Library, a library board would control library operations and money. The township board would only hire the library director.
(See an explanation of the ballot issue on Page 4A.)

The polls are open 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. For more information, call the township at 625-5111.

Board nixes second amendment to DDA plan

plan. "Even though the township scaled down the price of construction along Citation Drive, we stood fast on the our earlier recommendation," said Dick Ayres, president of the DDA.

"At the last meeting (Aug. 18), a couple of township officials made reference on how Citation Drive was vital to the placement of curb cuts being built as part of the M-15 widening project, but we didn't see a correlation," he said. "The DDA isn't done yet. We could do some projects later on, with the cooperation of the school district."

The township board's subsequent decision on Sept.

"The DDA isn't done yet. We could do some projects later on, with the cooperation of the school district."

DDA President Dick Ayres

1 not only killed off any chance for extending Citation Drive, but the other two projects as well.

McCrary said the White Lake Road projects could arise again, but she doubted a Citation Drive extension would ever become a reality.

"I don't think we'll see a Citation Drive extension in the future," she said. "It would be difficult to propose again, especially after the demise of the public safety complex."

Boy returns home after rattlesnake bite

Six-year-old Nicholas Abbate is home safe and sound, after a very scary ordeal.

The Madison Heights boy was released from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, Sept. 2, three days after being bit by a Massasauga rattlesnake at Independence

Oaks County Park.

Abbate was bit by the poisonous viper after trying to move it from underneath a picnic table he and his family were planning to use Aug. 30. The foot-long snake was immediately captured by animal control officers.

The Massasauga rattlesnake is one of Michigan's few venomous snakes. It can usually be found in swampy regions in the east and south United States.

Abduction foiled

Two young girls probably remembered the old adage, "Never take candy from strangers," and stopped what could have been their abduction.

The two children, ages 6 and 8, were in a designated play area behind Green Lakes Apartments, Parview Drive, Independence Township, on Sept. 2, when they were approached by a white male offering them candy.

When both of the girls said no, the man grabbed the 6-year-old's arm and the girls began to scream. The screaming frightened the man away.

The girls told the police the man was driving an old dark blue pickup truck, and there was a white female in the passenger's seat, according to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report.

Corrections

In last week's Clarkston News, "First Alarm" — the Independence Township Professional Firefighters Local 2629's first column with The Clarkston News — should have said that firefighters have ongoing mandatory state recertification.

In the Aug. 26 The Clarkston News, a preview story of the Clarkston varsity boys' soccer team should have listed starting forward Ryan Noll as a senior.

and the number of preparatory classes," he said. During the strike, a lot of harsh words were exchanged on all fronts. Despite this widespread negativism, Lewis believes time will eventually heal these wounds.

"I really hope we can put this behind us," he said. "Whenever there's this type of situation, some things are said in anger and without thinking. I believe our two-sides can get back to the amiable relationship we've experienced in the past.

"I feel there will have to be some healing in the community, as well," Lewis added.

Curtis also foresees a healing period, but a prolonged one.

"We'll be professional, but the strike won't be forgotten," he said. "A lot of us still have concerns over treatment and administrative tactics. I'm not sure how quickly this matter will heal over, but we'll try."

Curtis said he hopes citizens learned more about Clarkston's facility woes through the strike.

"I hope the public became more aware of this district's facility needs during our negotiations over space and classroom size," he said. "I don't know if the message got out, but I hope it did.

"I guess we'll find out at the next school bond proposal," Curtis added.

JULIUS MADDOX, president of the Michigan Education Association, traveled from Lansing to speak at a Clarkston strike rally Sept. 4. A day later, the teachers' union and the district agreed upon a tentative contract, sending 319 teachers back to their respective schools.

rebuild Miami. After discussing the matter with his workers, Robinson and co-partner Tim Warner decided to venture south and lend a hand.

"We aren't sure what we're in for, but I know there'll be enough work to go around," Robinson said. "I imagine we'll be primarily working on homes, though.

"Regardless, we're pumped and ready to go," he added.

An aide in the Overcomer program at Mt. Zion Temple, Independence Township, Robinson hopes to help lift the spirits of the Miami people as well.

"I'll help in any way possible — be it building or raising morale," he said.

Robinson and his crew have living accommodations just north of Miami. With mass devastation awaiting him, Robinson said it's uncertain how long they'll stay in Florida.

"We'll stay as long as necessary," he said. "Right now, it's all up in the air."

Ballot explanation

What does library request mean to taxpayers?

On Tuesday, Sept. 15, Independence Township residents are asked to vote in a special election.

A request for one mill for the Independence Township Library is the lone item on the ballot. Money from this additional millage will be used to operate the revamped Independence Township Library for the next two years.

What it says:

Shall the Charter Township of Independence be authorized to levy up to one additional mill for a period of two years (commencing Dec. 1, 1992) for the support, maintenance and operation of the Independence Township Library under Act 164 of the Public Act of 1877, as amended. Approval of this proposal would authorize a levy increase on all property assessed for taxation in the township of one dollar ($1) per one thousand dollars ($1,000) of state equalized property value, and requires voter approval under the Michigan Constitution.

What it means:

This proposal asks township residents to approve one extra mill to operate the library. This would bring the total millage rate for the library up to 1.75 mills.

If passed, both the one-mill and existing 3/4-mill packages will need to be renewed in two years. The 1 3/4 mill would likely appear on the ballot every four years thereafter, according to Mollie Lynch, library director.

One mill is $1 for every $1,000 assessed property valuation. This means the owner of a $100,000 home assessed at half its market value ($50,000) would pay an extra $50 per year for library operations. Currently, residents pay $37.50 per year.

If voters say yes to the extra mill, the total tab for the owner of a $100,000 home would be $87.50 per year for library operations.

If passed, under state Act 164, the library would operate for a single entity — Independence Township — and be governed by a library board. An interim board, made up of township residents, would be appointed by the township, with a regular election slated two years away.

According to Lynch, this extra one mill would generate about $540,000 per year for the Clarkston Road facility. With 1.75 mills overall, the library would have a total operating budget of nearly $900,000 per year.

Presently, the library has a $470,000 annual budget, which includes $350,000 from the 3/4 mill already in place and $120,000 a year from the township's general fund.

If voters OK the extra mill, the township would no longer contribute $120,000 per year from its general fund. Lynch said that 80 percent of the money from the millage's first year has been earmarked for the purchase of books. She said the revamped library presently has 29,000 volumes, but many of these books are reportedly outdated.

In the second year of the millage, Lynch said the library would use a majority of its budget to implement numerous services. These services would include: an outreach program for homebound residents, more kids-related programs, computers and eventually Sunday hours.

Lynch said it would take nearly 10 years for the library to achieve "above average" status, as compared with other libraries around the state. Presently, Lynch rates the township library as "below average."

She said it would take five years and $700,000 to build an "average" collection of books, which would add up to 2.6 volumes per township resident.

If voters say no, the library could be forced to cut hours and cut the book budget and would not add new services, said Lynch.

The library's budget for 1993 is not complete but is likely to include less money from the township's general fund due to decreases from the state. The number and type of cuts would depend on the final budget, she said.

Whether voters approve or disapprove this proposal, there's a chance that township and City of Clarkston would once again consider a districtwide library, she said.

District library still a possibility

Regardless of the outcome of Tuesday's library millage election in Independence Township, a district library still is possible.

Mollie Lynch, library director, said the township and City of Clarkston could possibly end up with a district library if the people in both municipalities agree to vote on the issue as one body.

That would require a repeat of the procedures the two governmental bodies underwent this summer — a committee to form a "district" proposal, meetings between the two municipalities, agreement between all officials involved, and a joint election on the issue.

"I think at some point in time, we could very well become a district library," said Lynch. "The question is when."

Whether township voters say yes or no to the Act

164 library proposal Tuesday has no bearing on the chances of a district library being formed, said Lynch. The procedures would be the same.

Under state law, she said, libraries may exist as an Act 164 library — governed by a library board — or a district library — governed by a district library board and a mandatory perpetual millage rate.

The library currently operates from neither of these methods provided by law, said Lynch, explaining that the state law that formerly addressed "township" libraries was re-written and no longer includes libraries in its language.

Only six libraries in the state operate outside of either Act 164 or district library laws, she said.

Peace among the unrest

Julie Campe

The teacher strike in Clarkston schools reflected the unrest of the community — segments of it, that is. As Pastor Bob Walters pointed out, a few major issues drum up controversy in the area, but much of life continues as usual.

Newcomers, however, apparently are a little disappointed in the Clarkston community.

One person who called The Clarkston News last week wanted to know what she and her family had moved into. Ginny Propst, who moved to the area in July, asked all about the school district, the superintendent, the teachers, the township and city officials and issues of contention.

While taxes are high in the area, the caller conceded, the school facilities don't show it. The teachers have a reputation for excellence, she said, but "teach in the poorest conditions that I've ever lived in." Previously, she lived in Temperance-Bedford, Jenison and Mancelona.

And the letters to the editor show such bitter feelings, she said, noting, "There's such animosity between the village and the township."

Well, Mrs. Propst, this is, indeed, Clarkston and its surrounding area. You've caught it at a transition phase, which may or may not become smoother. The problems — less education money from the state, more pupils in the school district, busier roads, busier emergency personnel, older buildings and equipment, new people with new ideas about this old town — are complicated and deep.

But a lot of positive things are happening, too. I take it as a good sign that so many people write letters to the editor and call us, as well as call and write government officials. That means they care about kids, education and the future of the community.

Sure, things get heated every once in a while. But that means people feel free to speak up, to be honest about their emotions and ideas. They may even feel that what they say matters, that it will make a difference in the outcome of these events.

And, in the end, I think it will. A public school forum next Wednesday is specifically to get opinions from residents about school buildings and plans. Each government meeting agenda in the area includes a "public comment" section. And people can always turn to the letters-to-the-editor portion of The Clarkston News. We all get to vote for or against our leaders, come election time. They'll listen.

In the meantime, take a break and enjoy the parts of the Clarkston area that remain peaceful and enjoyable. Take a walk or ride a bike. Plan to attend the crafts and cider festival Sept. 19 and 20. Attend a high school sporting event. Volunteer to help out at the schools, the senior center or Lighthouse North.

Or just step inside one of the stores in the area. Notice anything different? The clerks smile and talk. They might even ask your name.

Through all of this unrest, I've spoken to a few newcomers who feel welcomed when a stranger says hello on Main Street or when a grocery store clerk remembers their name.

That, too, is the Clarkston area.

Letter policy

Letters to the editor must arrive at The Clarkston News office by noon Monday to be considered for publication in Wednesday's paper. We reserve the right to edit all letters for brevity and clarity and to limit the number of letters from any one individual or on any one topic. Letters are limited to 315 words. We discourage copies of letters sent elsewhere and require that all letters be signed and include an address and phone number. We may withhold names on request but will not publish unsigned letters. Address all letters to: Letters To The Editor, The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main St., Clarkston, MI 48346.

Opinions

Editorial

School strike lessons continue

The strike is over and Clarkston school district teachers are back in classrooms carrying out their lesson plans.

But what kind of lessons have they (and the school administrators) been teaching to the Clarkston school district taxpayers?

These are the same taxpayers who turned down a 2-mill increase on June 8 (2,629-1,689).

These are the same taxpayers who voted down a bond issue for a new elementary school on April 15 (2,516-1,621).

These are the same taxpayers whose property taxes have continued to rise while their faith in Lansing's educational funding system continues to decrease.

Clarkston taxpayers don't have to be told that money is tight, but now they're also being told that money has been found to give the teachers a pay increase (details of the contract won't be released until a later date).

And an increase in administrators' pay could also be on the way if the school board chooses to do so (Superintendent Gary Haner is paid just under or over $100,000, depending on who you talk to).

Bill Curtis, president of the Clarkston Education Association, was quoted in an area newspaper as saying the contract was received "with the best interest of the students in mind."

Curtis and Clarkston teachers might be impressed with moving up in compensation from their 22nd position out of 28 Oakland County schools, but what does that have to do with the students' best interests?

Hundreds of thousands of other teachers in Michigan and throughout the country would be glad to be close to being paid what Clarkston teachers were paid before the new contract. According to an American Federation of Teachers report, Michigan teachers' salaries — adjusted for cost-of-living differences — ranked No. 1 in the country the past three years.

In fact, those hundreds of thousands of other teachers would be glad to be paid close to what Sue Hubbard (secretary for Superintendent Haner) makes. She earns about $40,000 per year.

If Curtis, the teachers and school administration really did negotiate with the students' best interests in mind, then more importance would have been placed on the class size issue. Speculation is that the new contract will, for example, pay high school teachers a cash bonus for having extra students beyond a certain number. That helps the teacher's pocketbook, but it certainly doesn't help the classroom environment.

And if the parties involved in the negotiations had the students' best interests in mind, cutbacks in art, music, physical education, school maintenance and sports would be restored. But, for example, don't expect the fall athletes who have already paid-to-play to get a refund.

Serious negotiating about lessening class size and restoring programs would have added more teaching positions. But apparently the Clarkston teachers (and the same may be true of the administrators, soon) are more satisfied with looking out for themselves.

That's the lesson Clarkston taxpayers have learned. And, most likely, they'll remember it the next time the school district requests more money.

I've played with good chippers, good putters, good long iron players. And, I've played with bad chippers, etc.

Now let me tell you about our playing partner in the Michigan Hall of Fame tournament at Indianwood Golf and Country Club recently.

Teams on the Hall of Fame have five players, one being a celebrity. Our foursome was Ben Jaroslaw, Jerry Olrich, Pat Griffin and myself. Pat Griffin was runner-up ladies champion at Indianwood this year.

Ben is a former Indianwood men's champion. I, with a 15 handicap, was by far the worst of the lot.

The playing partner I want to brag about is Patti Boyce. She was inducted into the Michigan Hall of Fame a few years ago. Her list of golf championships is very long.

Her home course is Spring Lake on the west side of the state, near Grand Haven.

I have never played golf with anyone the calibre of Patti Boyce. Had she been an average golfer it would still have been a joy to be with her just because of her personality.

But as a golfer... wow! Since she had never played Indianwood's New Course before, Pat Griffin would tell her the ideal position for us to be in for our second shot, generally the shot to the green.

Patti would put us there. I'm not talking occasionally. I'm talking two misses in 18 drives and fewer misses on other shots. Only the gusting winds kept us from birdie range on every green.

If the drive had to be sliced, Patti sliced it. Same if it had to be hooked. If it had to be long, short, left, right, over water, traps, whatever, the lady had complete control of her clubs.

She had just one request. She didn't want to putt last. She putted first and sank seven in our 10-under round. Believe me, none of them were anywhere near gimme range.

We'd give Patti the distance, she'd guess the wind, pick a club and hit it the way all we other golfers wish we could.

It all appeared so effortless. We know this appearance did not come without a lot of work. I didn't get to ask about how many hours (years) she spent on a practice range, but I'm sure there were many long, suffering days.

Such accomplishments do not come without work.

She laughed with us over incidental remarks. She showed excitement with good shots. She had enthusiasm when birdies came. She had understanding when our shots went awry.

Patti Boyce is a champion in several ways and certainly belongs in Michigan Golf Hall of Fame at Indianwood.

Tax frenzy

I would like to voice my sentiments in favor of the millage increase to fund the new library, which comes up for a vote on Sept. 15.

I've lived in Clarkston for 14 years, and during that time millage proposals have become part of my life, something I have learned to love.

Because so many of the last 15 to 20 tax proposals have been so soundly defeated, I'm really apprehensive that our leaders might become discouraged and stop asking for more money. The people aren't ready for this. We have to be weaned slowly, or part of the population may have withdrawals or delirium tremors. Some might die!

Clarkston without its millage proposals would be like Abbott without Costello, apple pie without Mom, or a physical exam without a proctosigmoidoscopy.

So, in order to prevent this catastrophe, we must show them that we can really make stupid choices like approving a millage to support a library and defeating one for a new school.

Approval of this millage would have an extra added bonus because we bought the millage proposal to build the library when they neglected to tell us that there wasn't any money to run it. Boy, this one will assure us millage proposals for at least five more years.

Let's go for the gold! We are already in the top two percent of the highest taxed townships in the state. This could put us over the top. We have a chance to be number one. Let's not let this opportunity pass us by.

Bruce Knight

Book empire not needed at library

Vote "no" Sept. 15 on the additional library millage for Independence Township. The library does not need in excess of $1 million a year to operate, no matter how big a building they now have.

The only reason given to support this is quite vague. We need to "fill the library" with books, seemingly overnight. There have been no projections or specific proposals as to how this money is to be spent. How can any of us be expected to make a reasonable, informed judgment without this kind of information? That alone should be reason enough to vote no next week.

A good library is an important part of any community. But that does not mean that we should support this sort of bureaucratic empire building. This millage should be defeated so that the government will provide us with the kind of specific information we need to make an informed decision.

Once this is defeated, perhaps township hall will get the message and offer up a millage for a specified period of time that is related to a rational program of growth.

Frank Millard

What's the rush?

Does the township government really expect that we are going to vote for this new library millage when they are not telling us with some specifics what they are going to spend our money on?

Book? No kidding. I don't mean that we need to know the titles of the books that they are going to buy. But is it reasonable to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars each year on new books? I don't know, and I haven't seen anything that persuades me we should be spending that kind of money.

This proposal is being put on the ballot on Sept. 15, less than six weeks after the township board approved it. I can't imagine what the rush is unless they're hoping to slide it by. We shouldn't let them do that. We should all vote no Sept. 15.

John Klein

Strike not right

In regards to the teacher's strike and the self-serving arrogant statements by the head of the local teacher's union, I must observe that the entire orientation is incorrect.

The citizens of the school district through their elected representatives (the school board) and subject to state laws, decide what the class size should be, what subjects should be taught and what salaries should be paid.

Then, those people with teaching certificates may apply and accept those positions. If the pay and other condition are not to their satisfaction, they may look elsewhere for employment. To strike is unlawful, unprofessional and intolerable.

Our school board should not have tolerated a strike and immediately should have sought a court injunction ordering the teachers to halt this strike.

Or the board should have discharged these teachers and hired ones willing to accept the valid offer. For the board to do otherwise shows their disregard for the citizens and for the students.

A rewarding day at the State Fair

Jim Fitzgerald

From many years ago I dimly remember a song sung marvelously by a young Barbra Streisand. It asked the musical question, "Did I stay too long at the fair?" Yes.

Yes, yes, yes. I stayed too long at the Michigan State Fair. I shouldn't have gone in the first place. I must have been out of my mind.

Why did I behave so stupidly? I accidentally overheard the correct answer to that question. Tricia, 6, whispered it to Emily, 10:

"Grandpa is trying to be cool."

Tricia wasn't talking about my dumbness at the fair, but she easily could have been. She was talking about the movie I'd just brought home from the rental store. It was something called "Wayne's World."

When I demanded an explanation, Tricia said: "That's a cool movie. You won't like it."

I knew that. I'd read somewhere that "Wayne's World" was an offshoot of a recurring skit on TV's "Saturday Night Live," which I never watch. I'd never heard of the actor playing the title role. There was absolutely no reason to expect I'd like "Wayne's World" and I didn't, except for a snippet of inspired satire spearing moviemakers for making extra money from sneaky advertising - requiring actors to act from behind blatantly labeled cans of Pepsi and Pabst.

I'm too old and out of it to enjoy - or understand - most of the barfy-vulgar comedy that amuses today's young people. When I was young, my favorite comic actor was Harold Lloyd, for lord's sake. Whoever heard of Harold Lloyd?

But I did very much like the idea of renting "Wayne's World" to watch with my granddaughters, if I could stay awake. Why? Trying to be cool, Grandpa?

One more example, before returning to the state fair: I found Tricia busy in a corner, pasting Silly Putty to the bottom of the four legs of a footstool. "I want it to stick to the floor," she explained. I explained that she was in the carpeted living room and could get into big trouble.

But hey, it was a cool idea. So I suggested sticking the stool to the tiled kitchen floor, where the gummy substance wouldn't do any great harm. That's what Tricia did, and I soon forgot about it.

Until after someone returned the stool to the living room, and I saw my wife on her hands and knees, scrubbing the carpet and muttering.

When I sheepishly confessed my guilt, she said: "Sometimes you just have to say no to your grandchildren."

Even though it was raining hard, "no" is not what I said when it came time to fulfill my promise to take three grandchildren to the annual media preview of the Michigan State Fair. I figured we'd visit some roofed animal exhibits, eat in a tent, and hurry home. We'd get only slightly damp, running from car to cover, one small umbrella for only six people. Certainly no sane person would consider using the kiddie rides in a downpour. They might even sensibly be closed.

They were stupidly open. And our stubborn kiddies insisted on riding each one. For more than an hour I stood in the rain and watched them go around and around, and up and down. My wife hogged the umbrella. I honestly haven't been so wet with clothes on since standing guard in the Army 47 years ago. Three days later, my body still squished.

State fair management can consider this a rave review of the kiddie rides. If kids can have so much fun on them in rain, I can't imagine their delight in sunshine. But I'm no kid.

As we soggily watched 22-month-old Adam try to climb out of a still-moving miniature train to swim in the mud, I asked my wife why in hell we were behaving so irrationally. Why weren't we home, dry and comfortable, listening to old Barbra Streisand records (not tapes or discs)?

"Look at Adam laugh," she explained. That's cool.

Public forum covers facilities

Gary Haner

Facilities issues stay at the forefront of challenges in our district as we face another school year with burgeoning population growth in our buildings.

When classes begin this year, we expect a net growth in enrollment at virtually every one of our buildings. Both of our junior high schools are now closed to the Schools of Choice option because of maximum enrollments, and some classes in some elementary schools are also closed to Schools of Choice because of high enrollment.

The Clarkston Board of Education has asked me to make updated facilities recommendations — early this year — to address the continuing overcrowded and inadequate conditions in the district. Since these building issues directly affect every resident in the Clarkston school district, I am asking you to join me for another community forum, "Focus on Facilities."

The forum meets 7-9 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 16, in the high school auditorium. The agenda includes a thorough discussion of building issues that face our district.

These include: consideration of the ninth-grade move to the high school in 1993; an historical review of previous studies and recommendations by community groups and architects; a bond issue history; new construction options, advantages and disadvantages; technology considerations; and comments and suggestions from those in attendance. Those who participate will be surveyed for their opinions before the forum closes.

Dr. Bob Burek will be joining us to act as "master of ceremonies," and we will also have the opportunity to talk with architect Tom Chen from Greiner Associates, our district architects.

All participants will receive written information at the forum, including building history, summaries of each facilities study committee, and population growth charts and data.

Input from residents — both district parents and non-parents — is an important part of planning at Clarkston schools. We listen, gather facts, prepare plans, then make recommendations. Those recommendations and ultimate decisions may not correlate with everyone's ideas, but citizen input is not taken lightly.

Your ideas matter to us. Please join us on Sept. 16.

Gary Haner is superintendent of Clarkston schools.

A Look Back

This week 5 years ago

The Clarkston school district reports that more than 150 students are enrolled at the beginning of the school year above and beyond earlier projections.

Springfield Township officials sign a purchase agreement for a 400-acre park to be known as the Shiawasee Basin Preserve.

The Sashabaw Junior High football team thumps Clarkston Junior High 30-0.

This week 10 years ago

Carol Eberhardt is appointed to the Clarkston Village Council, replacing Jerry Powell.

The CHS varsity football team knocks off Swartz Creek 27-19 in the season opener.

This week 25 years ago

Rich Johnson throws for one score and runs for another in Clarkston High's 19-0 win over the Oxford varsity football team.

Karolyn Ingersoil of Independence Township and Richard Hagerman of Union Lake announce their engagement.

The Clarkston school district reports 5,825 students in the district at the start of fall semester.

One mill too much

This time it is the minority of The Clarkston News staff that is right. Township voters should say no on Sept. 15 to the library millage proposal.

The unsigned editorial in last week's Clarkston News is misleading. Probably because of bad information from township hall. A millage rate of 1.75 will raise $945,000 in the first year alone. This is just for operations. We are already committed to pay even fore for the new multi-million dollar library.

This apparently means that in 1993 we are going to spend over $750,000 on new books. Although I believe in building a good library, I do not believe that it is an empire that needs to be built in one year. This proposal raises much more money than is really needed for the library now.

Just because we've spent millions of dollars building a bigger library is no reason to buy enough books to fill it overnight. The next thing you know, they will be asking us for even more taxes to build a bigger library ... then more millage for more books ... and so on and so on.

Also, this millage should be defeated because it will establish yet another government bureaucracy, a Library Board. Before we take such significant fiscal responsibility away from our elected officials on the township board, the voter should be aware of this and give it serious consideration.

I think even Benjamin Franklin would vote against this proposed millage. He was far too prudent to go off on a spending spree like this, no matter how good the cause. And I am sure he had far too much respect for the right to vote to make a decision as important as this without good information.

Everyone should vote no on this millage and then hope the township officials come up with a reasonable proposal for a new millage and fully inform the citizens of both the actual amount of money that will be raised and how it will be spent.

Neil Wallace

Library support

Please join me in supporting our millage on Tuesday, Sept. 15, designed to buy more books, offer more of the services residents have been requesting and offset increased operating expenses in the new building.

Our library offers over 4,000 fewer library items than our neighboring Orion Township Library. This increase of your taxes by $4.61 per month per $100,000 value home will help us alleviate this discrepancy within five years.

Please remember our library also offers many additional services to loaning books, and remember to vote on Sept. 15.

Dr. James O'Neill and family

Benefits all ages

Please vote yes on Sept. 15 to support the library millage request.

The passage of this proposal will enable the library to double the number of books, improve the reference collection, add new programs for children and adults and offer homebound services to shut-ins.

As many of you who have been to the library are aware, there is a critical shortage of books and reference materials. The library benefits every age group and can become the center of knowledge and information in our community. If you value learning, vote yes on Sept. 15.

VANDALS toppled the Cook family monument, dating back to 1876, in Springfield Township.

Vandals hit cemetery

Five century-old headstones were damaged last week in Andersonville Cemetery.

Sometime on Sunday evening or early Monday morning Aug. 31, someone knocked over three headstones and broke two others in the cemetery on Big Lake and Andersonville roads, Springfield Township.

The acts are considered malicious damage to property over $100 and carry a four-year felony jail sentence.

A reward is offered for information about the incident, according to Detective Joe Duke of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD). Call Duke at 620-2475 or the OCSD tips line at 858-TIPS (858-8477).

Go figure

Police responded to a call about a gas leak on Ortonville Road, Independence Township.

Apparently, someone damaged a gas pump, causing a leak, according to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report.

According to witnesses, a man had pumped his gas and then pulled away from the pump without taking the nozzle from the car.

No one was hurt, the gas leak was cleaned up and the man probably will be forever careful about checking the gas nozzle before leaving a service station.

Monday, Aug. 31, Dancer's Fashion on Dixie Highway, Independence Township, reported retail fraud after someone stole some T-shirts and a pair of jeans.

An air compressor, three 20-foot air hoses and a five-gallon gas can were stolen from a truck on White Lake Road, Independence Township.

An AM/FM cassette player was taken from a car parked on Deepwood, Independence Township.

Someone scratched a car on Clearview, Independence Township.

The hood emblem and the hubcaps of a car on Ashwood, Independence Township, were stolen.

A 911 hang-up was investigated at an unsupervised group home on Parview Drive, Independence Township.

Tuesday, Sept. 1, Maybee Road, Independence Township, residents complained to the police that someone had strewn garbage over the roadway in front of their house.

Wednesday, Sept. 2, an Almond Lane, Independence Township, resident complained of harassing phone calls.

Two women were in a fight on Ashwood Court, Independence Township. Neither were really hurt.

A mailbox on Hadley Road, Independence Township, was damaged.

An electric saw and a drill were stolen from a shed on Thendara, Independence Township.

FBI, ma'am, what about that rhubarb?

Catherine Passmore

My best friend, Stella Pecho, called me the second week of August to tell me that we should go to the presidential debate in East Lansing.

She also suggested that I go on behalf of The Clarkston News and let Mr. Sherman pay me for going to something that I really wanted to go to anyway.

She is so smart — that's why I like her so much.

I brought the idea up to Julie, almost as a joke, and she liked the thought of one of us covering the debate for all of the papers.

I started to make calls for information — I made eight of them in one day until I found the person who could give me any real information on the debates.

I sent in my request for credentials to Mr. Petersen of the Senate something something along with my social security number for an FBI check.

It didn't bother me until the next day that someone would be checking on me to determine whether or not I would get to go to the debate.

What would the check on my past reveal? I'm only 23; I grew up in the 1980s — those were not radical times.

I wish I could be a fly on the wall when they pull up my file ...

"Passmore, Catherine. File 355-98-1742. What do you have on her, Bob?"

"Hmmm, got a live one here. In the summer of 1990 she went to a radical rally in Detroit in which a man who had been a political prisoner for 25 years called for the overthrow of his government. Sources say that she even chanted his name and sang an anthem not the United States'."

"Wasn't that Nelson Mandela?"

"Oh. What about the smear campaign that she and another liberal student headed up in 1987? She alleged that the president was having an affair, the first lady was a lesbian, and the Senate pool contained chemicals that were making hair fall out."

"That wasn't a real president, Bob. That was President Wenger, her high school government teacher. It was just an act."

"She skipped school."

"Once, with about nine other students. Remember, it didn't really count as skipping school because they never left the school grounds."

"She stole food once."

"I don't have anything on my records on that."

"Picture it, 1975, summertime in Clarkston. She is in the back yard of her home playing with other children. She deliberately went over to the Gerbers' house and stole some rhubarb."

"Stole food from her neighbor's garden at age four?"

"It is the beginning of her life of delinquency."

"Deny her credentials, Bob. We have a rhubarb thief in the media pool."

Clarkston woman dies from gun shot wound

A former Independence Township woman and tennis standout was found dead in Pontiac Lake Recreation Area Sept. 2.

According to the Oakland County Medical Examiner's Office, Mary Smith, 27, died as a result of a gunshot wound to the chest. The office would neither confirm nor deny that the wounds were self-inflicted.

The woman's mother, an Independence Township resident, phone policed in Pittsfield Township Sept. 1 after her daughter was missing from work.

According to an area paper, White Lake Township police spotted Smith's car, locked and abandoned, on Gale Road Sept. 2. A computer check identified the owner of the car had been reported missing, and officers searched a nearby wooded area where they found her dead. White Lake Township police could not be reached for confirmation.

Smith, a former Clarkston High School varsity tennis player, is survived by her mother, Ingrid Smith; fiance, Andrew Shimko of Brighton; sisters, Ursula (Lt. John) Smidt of Clarkston and Katherine (Jorjen) Sturm of Germany; bothers, William (Helen) of Battle Creek, Patrick of Clarkston, Conrad (Tina) of Tampa, Fla., Anton of Muskegon, Cris of Atlanta, Ga., and Ryan of Clarkston; and many nieces and nephews.

Mass of the Resurrection was held at St. Daniel Catholic Church, Clarkston, on Sept. 5 with Monsignor Robert Humitz officiating. Burial followed at Lakeview Cemetery, Independence Township.

Reporter's notebook

A 19-year-old Clarkston area woman had a bout with the law, which cost her a family car.

On the morning of Aug. 24, Kathleen Manser was rear-ended by an off-duty Oakland County Sheriff's deputy on M-15 in Ortonville. The collision caused Manser's car to careen across the median and collide with a passing vehicle.

Luckily, no one was injured severely.

Manser's vehicle, which belonged to her mother, was totaled. Upon picking up a copy of the police report the next day, her father discovered that the driver who initiated the accident hadn't been issued a ticket.

When he called the officer at the accident, he was informed that the driver was a deputy and could only receive a ticket through his supervisor, Sgt. James Heiligenthal.

Kathleen Manser said the sergeant told her father that he had no intention of giving the off-duty officer a citation. The father reportedly threatened to go to the press with the story.

Three days later, Heiligenthal called the Manser residence to report that he had issued the officer a ticket for failing to stop at a safe distance.

During an interview, Heiligenthal contends that he told Mr. Manser that an investigation was pending and that time was needed to make an accurate decision.

"If it had been anyone else, besides a fellow deputy, do you think the police would wait three days to issue a ticket in a rear-end accident?" asked Kathleen.

Independence Township Supervisor Frank Ronk has never been one to mince words. He proved this Sept. 1, when he blasted an audience that had left the township annex.

That night, nearly 20 people attended a township board meeting, which featured a controversial topic on its agenda — approval of a second amendment to the Downtown Development Authority's development plan.

The board unanimously denied the plan. After the vote, a majority of the audience — made up of school district officials — left the building and went outside. The board sped through the remaining three items on the agenda before going into closed session.

A board member commented to Ronk about how quickly the audience had left the building, once their item had been dealt with. To that, Ronk replied, "Yeah, I saw it. Apparently, they were only concerned about that one item. The township could be falling apart for all that they know."

Overheard and observed at Clarkston's Labor Day Parade:

■ "There's your flyover, Bob," said a woman, looking at the sky, where a flock of geese were flying over Main Street in perfect formation.

■ The parade entry that received the loudest applause: Clarkston High School's Marching Band.

■ The most "Oohs" and "Ahhs" went to: The dog in the motorcycle sidecar.

■ The most laughter, pointing and questions ("Who is that woman?" and "Nice legs."): The "101 Dalmations" entry, where toddlers to grownups wore spotted costumes. Even a dog sported black spots (not his own). The character Cruella DeVille (who steals the dalmations in the Disney film) wore high heels and a short skirt. "Ouch. Can you imagine walking in high heels the whole parade?" asked one parade-watcher.

■ Politicians appeared with smiles and waves: Dale Stuart, Republican candidate for Independence Township supervisor; John Nichols, Republican candidate for Oakland County sheriff; Megan O'Neill, Republican candidate for Congress; Tom Middleton, state representative.

■ Most politicians were not greeted by cheers;

however, pediatrician James O'Neill, walking with his daughter, Megan, received the most cheers from the under-10 crowd. "Dr. O'Neill! Dr. O'Neill!" shouted the little ones, who told each other, "He's my doctor," and wiggled and waved to get his attention.

■ Crowd pleasers: The Western dancers; all the children in the parade, especially the costumed dancers and tumblers.

■ About the tiniest little league Chief football cheerleaders: "Starting 'em young, aren't they?" said one observer.

■ Talk of the town: "Is the teacher strike over?"

■ Other questions, comments: "Where exactly is the corn roast?" from newcomers to town. "They're the real workers," about the "pooper scooper" patrol, which followed the horses.

First halves cause first losses

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

After their first two matches of the season, the Wolves are already getting tired of trailing 4-1 at halftime.

"It was deja vu," said Clarkston varsity boys' soccer coach Dan Fitzgerald about his team's 6-3 loss Friday night to defending Greater Oakland Activities League champ Brandon.

As it had in its opener against Utica Eisenhower three days earlier, Clarkston found itself down 3-0, get closer at 3-1, and then allow another goal a few minutes before the half for a 4-1 deficit.

"I don't think they were as good as we were bad. We gave up silly goals," said Fitzgerald after the loss to the Blackhawks. In its two matches against Brandon last year, Clarkston won one and tied the other.

Fitzgerald pointed out that the Wolves have already given up 12 goals in two games while last season they allowed only 23 the entire season.

After Brandon took a 3-0 lead, Chris Colburn knocked in the first Wolf score from close range. Aaron Phillips assisted.

But Brandon increased its lead to 4-1 by scoring two minutes before the half.

Clarkston refused to fold in the second half. Two goals by Phillips (Rooney assisted with cross passes on both) pulled the Wolves to within 4-3 with about 12 minutes left.

However, the Blackhawks scored two minutes later and then finished out the scoring with a few minutes left in the match.

"The second half we had our chances. That was encouraging," said Fitzgerald, who said the Wolves actually finished with more shots on goals than the Blackhawks.

Fitzgerald said most of his team's defensive errors have not come from end-to-end attacks by the opposition, but rather from set plays like throw-ins.

The coach said his team will especially be working on defending against those set plays in practice.

Utica Eisenhower 6, CLARKSTON 2 (Sept. 1 at Clarkston)

Clarkston couldn't come back from a 3-0 deficit, losing its season-opener to Utica Eisenhower, 6-2.

"We gave up a bunch of stupid goals," said Clarkston coach Dan Fitzgerald.

The Wolves opened their season with a tough opponent, the Eagles were Class A semifinalists last season.

Clarkston's Nick Bielak cut the deficit to 3-1 when he scored the Wolves' first goal of the season. Pat Forbes assisted on a crossing pass.

However, Eisenhower again increased its lead by three, scoring a few minutes before intermission.

Scott Rooney scored an unassisted goal five minutes into the second half, but it would be the Wolves' final goal.

The Eagles pulled away by scoring two more second-half goals.

Seitz steals away Falcons' bid for victory

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Rochester has two 6-footers and Clarkston three players at 5-10, but it was 5-4 Laura Seitz who stole the show last Thursday night.

Seitz picked off three of her game-high seven steals within a two-minute span late in the game to help Clarkston hold off the Falcons, 38-31.

"Seitz had some key plays," said Clarkston coach Larry Mahrle, whose team improved to 3-0. Rochester, which was 18-3 last season, fell to 2-1.

Seitz attributes her stealing to "quick hands" and said the height of her opponent doesn't matter. She also said her ability to play tight against the opposition has improved.

"I can stay close to the better players. Last year I got burned a lot," said Seitz.

Neither team, however, burned up the nets. No one hit a 3-pointer and both sides missed several shots from within close range.

Clarkston led 18-4 early in the second quarter and stayed ahead 21-13 at the half.

Rochester closed the gap to within 33-31 with 1:50 left in the game, but a 5-point run by the Wolves clinched it.

"We hung on after they made a run," said a relieved Mahrle. "It's got to help us to get in a close game and win."

Clarkston prevailed despite getting into foul trouble. Alyson McChesney, Courtney Whittaker and Lesley Allen each tallied four fouls.

The coach said his team's experience helped them avoid folding up.

"We've got seniors this year," said Mahrle.

Seitz, a junior point guard, scored the Wolves only basket in the first five minutes of the final quarter. Her 7-footer from the right side gave Clarkston a 31-25 lead with 5:00 on the clock.

The Falcons closed to within 31-27 and were looking for more, but Seitz stole away one opportunity at the 4:11 mark and then 41 seconds later swiped away another Rochester opportunity.

Rochester, finally avoiding Seitz, then made it 31-29 at 3:02 on a basket by Jenna Greene.

But Clarkston's Whittaker answered with a 6-footer.

Seitz then made another steal, but Rochester got the ball back and scored, pulling it to within 33-31 at 1:50.

Whittaker sank one of two free throws.

Rochester could have closed the gap to one, but Jessica Schell missed a lay up.

But Whittaker, taking a nice bounce pass from McChesney, didn't miss her layup, putting the Wolves up 36-31 with 42 seconds left. McChesney then scored the final bucket off a rebound.

Whittaker led all scorers with 13 and also had six steals. McChesney netted 10 and hauled down 11 rebounds. Seitz finished with six points, Anne Brueck four, Allen three and Heather Steinhelper two. Steinhelper also had five assists.

THE closer to her opponent the better for Laura Seitz (10).

Greene was the only Falcon in double-figures with 10.

Rochester netted 7-of-8 free throws and Clarkston made 4-of-7.

Fumbles foil gridders in opening loss at Troy

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It was the Wolves' first game and they only managed five first-downs.

They never made it in for six but they did fumble six times.

The end result was Troy's 16-0 varsity football victory over Clarkston last Friday night at the Colt's new football field.

"We didn't come out excited. We didn't play very well," said Clarkston's head coach Kurt Richardson.

Fumbles hurt the Wolves, who lost four of six loose footballs.

"You're not going to beat too many teams while making six fumbles," said Richardson.

One of those fumbles stopped Clarkston's best chance to score. After the Colts had taken a 16-0 lead into halftime, the Wolves drove to the Troy 9-yard line early in the third quarter. But the Wolves fumbled and a Colt smothered Clarkston's best momentum of the night.

"If we had scored there, I really think it would have been a different ballgame," said Richardson. "That finished us off."

The Wolves nor the Colts scored in the second half.

Troy running back Ray Dawood, however, did score in the first half, twice.

Dawood, who finished with 140 yards on the ground, completed the Colt's successful opening drive by hitting pay dirt from four yards out at the 6:08 mark in the first quarter. Paul Boehms kicked the PAT.

Dawood scored his second TD with 9:18 left in the second quarter by running in from eight yards. When the Colts tried their PAT, a bad snap occurred which resulted in a bad pass attempt that was intercepted by Clarkston's E.J. Stumph.

The Colts closed out the scoring with 1:02 remaining in the half as Boehms kicked a 37-yard field goal.

Troy, which ran more than twice as many plays on the night as the Wolves, finished with 216 yards rushing on 48 carries and completed 4-of-10 passes for 32 yards (Stumph and Nick Shires each intercepted a Colt pass).

Clarkston could only muster 59 yards on the ground (21 carries) and 29 yards in the air (3-of-18 passes).

Many eyes were on Clarkston quarterback Kevin Dankert, who replaced Dugan Fife, the Wolves' signal caller the past four years.

"I'm sure he was a little nervous," said Richardson about his junior QB.

The coach said Dankert, unfortunately, had plenty of Troy visitors in the backfield. Because of sacks, Dankert finished the game with a minus-16 yards in rushing.

"He didn't get a lot of time to throw. It's hard to get yards when people are in your face all day," said Richardson.

The three completed Wolf passes were caught by Brent Bundridge (17 yards), Adam Rice (11 yards) and Shires (one yard).

Clarkston fullback Eric Ryan led the Wolves in rushing with 43 yards on nine carries. Marc May totaled 21 yards on four carries and Shires rushed for 11 on four carries.

Defensively, Matt May paced the Wolves with seven tackles. Ryan and Tom Duty each had five, Chris Combs, Stumph and Jason Graves each had four and Shires, Gary Young and Steve Black all brought down three Colts.

This Friday at 7:30 p.m. the Wolves will host Lansing Sexton, which lost its opener to Utica Eisenhower, 42-20.

Turk chosen All-American

Mike Turk and six of his Nothdurft teammates were selected as All-Americans on Labor Day weekend at the American Softball Association Masters 35-and-over slow-pitch national championship in Troy and Rochester Hills.

Nothdurft won the championship by pounding Elmwood Sports of Cranston, R.I., 28-4 in the finals of the double-elimination tournament.

Turk, the supervisor of parks for the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, belted a two-run homer and had three hits in the final game.

Smith's Disposal, an undefeated team in Independence Township's 35-and-over upper division this summer, also competed in the tourney, winning one of three games.

Smith's Disposal lost its opener on Friday night, 16-9, against The Bankers Life of Wisconsin. On Saturday, it won a game 10-4 but later that day was eliminated by being mercied by Top Notch, a team from Michigan.

Golfers tee off GOAL season, top Mott

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston varsity golf coach Jim Chamberlain is looking forward to his young golf team getting older and older ... with experience.

"Once the sophomores get used to competing, they'll help out the team by the end of the season, hopefully before," said Chamberlain.

A sophomore quartet already helped out in the Wolves' first dual match of the season, a 164-168 victory over Waterford Mott Sept. 1 at Spring Lake Country Club.

Sophomore Jonathan Dean fired a 38 to take medalist honors. Three other sophomores figured in on team totals with Jayson Buchmann shooting a 40 and Myles Mosher and Chris Harbert each with 43. Junior Julio Fonseca shot a 44 and senior Dave Smith a 45 (six golfers compete, with the top four scores added for team totals).

"We were a little high, a little higher than what I think we should shoot at Spring Lake," said Chamberlain, who said his team should be able to shoot closer to 160. "But there won't be too many opponents who shoot better than 164."

The coach said the closeness of the Mott match (he expects Lake Orion to be the Wolves' toughest opponent) could be a tip-off that the battle for the Greater Oakland Activities League title will be close.

"I wouldn't be surprised if the leader (at the end of the regular season) will be 8-2 or even 7-3," said Chamberlain.

CLARKSTON 5th at the West Bloomfield Invitational
(Aug. 31 at Pine Lake Country Club)

Clarkston's young golf team couldn't defend its West Bloomfield Invitational championship, finishing fifth this fall.

"We were disappointed but not discouraged," said Clarkston coach Jim Chamberlain, whose team combined for a 336 score.

Traverse City, ranked No. 1 in the state, captured the invitational by firing a 325. The Trojans edged Lake Orion by one stroke. Detroit Country Day placed fourth at 329 and host West Bloomfield was fourth at 330.

Two Wolves placed in the top 10 individually. Sophomore Jayson Buchmann fired a 77 on the par-72 course to earn a tie for third. Junior Julio Fonseca shot a 79 to finish tied for seventh.

Sophomore Jonathan Dean shot an 87 and sophomore Myles Mosher totaled 92. In addition, senior Adam Haviland finished with a 93 and senior Brian Trebilcock shot a 96.

Lake Orion's fifth player finished with an 80 to help the Dragons place second.

Chamberlain wasn't surprised by Lake Orion.

"They've been playing well," said

Chamberlain, who expects the Dragons to be his team's toughest opponents in the GOAL. Those two teams will square off against each other 3 p.m. Friday, Sept. 11, at Oxford Hills.

Doubles spark netters

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

After losing its first three singles matches, the Clarkston varsity girls' tennis team came back to edge visiting Lakeland, 4-3.

The Sept. 3 match at Clintonwood Park was also the return of Clarkston coach Becky Craig, who last coached the Wolves in 1982.

"At the beginning I said, 'What's wrong,'" said Craig, after watching her first three singles players lose close matches.

But Clarkston's No. 4 singles and all three doubles finished with wins to clinch the match.

"Their first three players were strong but there was nothing after that," said Craig, who added, "It was great to be back and winning the first match made it that much nicer."

Clarkston freshman and No. 4 singles player Renee VanKlaveren started to turn the tide in favor of Clarkston, stopping Lakeland's Sherry Hoover, 6-4, 6-1.

All three Clarkston doubles teams won in straight sets. In No. 1 doubles, Jody Weatherington and Carley Kade crushed Amanda Bailey and Carley Cullin, 6-1, 6-1. No. 2 Erika Graham and Kim Wicklund topped Kelly King and Kristi Jones, 6-2, 6-2. No. 3 Janae Cooley and Melissa O'Dea defeated Holly Reed and Erin Brunnel, 6-0, 6-3.

The afternoon started out with Lakeland's No. 1 seeded player getting past Kristy Swartout, 6-2, 7-5.

The only three-set match was in No. 2 singles where Eagle Dawn Stamiszewski came back to edge Amanda VanKlaveren, 6-7 (6-8), 6-4, 6-2.

Lakeland's Teresa Slack defeated Kelley Wall in No. 3 singles, 6-4, 6-1.

How to enter:

For your chance to win $50 in The Clarkston News Football Contest, fill out your name, address and phone number. Then mark the teams you think will win found in the four advertisements on this page, along with writing in the total number of points in the tiebreaker blank. Tie games will be counted as incorrect picks. (One entry per person)

By Wednesday, Sept. 16, drop off your completed page (no facsimiles) to The Clarkston News. Picks also may be mailed (postmarked by Sept. 16) to: Football Contest, Clarkston News, 5 S. Main Street, Clarkston, MI 48346. Ties will be decided by whoever comes closest to the tiebreaker question.

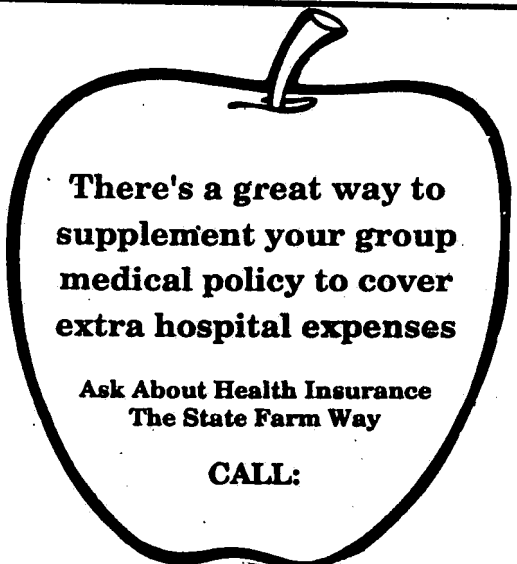

The winner's name will be published in a future edition of The Clarkston News, with the $50 mailed to the person with the best picks. Employees of Sherman Publications, Inc., and their family members are not eligible.

James Gibowski

School is (finally) back in session, so it's time for your first pop quiz in Sports 101. For any of you freshmen out there who've never taken one of my quizzes, don't worry, it's only multiple-choice. The essay questions don't start until you enroll in Sports 102.

- Who has struck out the most this summer?
 - Rob Deer
 - The Clarkston school teachers
 - Mickey Tettleton
 - The Detroit school teachers
- Who has or will be getting the biggest multi-year salary contract?
 - First baseman Cecil Fielder
 - Shortstop Cal Ripken Jr.
 - Superintendent Gary Haner
 - Centerfielder Ken Griffey Jr.
- Which group has the largest number of people?
 - The Clarkston High School band
 - The Clarkston High School Pom Pom Squad
 - The Clarkston High School cheerleading squad
 - The Clarkston High School varsity football coaching staff
- If Bo Schembechler goes back to the University of Michigan, what will he do?
 - Try to convince Ann Arbor taxpayers that Michigan Stadium is falling down
 - Do pre-game and post-game radio interviews for Michigan football games
 - Become Michigan's Rose Bowl advisor
 - Be the subject of new books by Joe Falls ("Thousands of Apologies") and Mitch Albom ("Napkin Stains")
- What will be the Where Jerks Rule radio station's slogan for the 1993 baseball season?
 - "Ernie's back and we're backing him up ... honest"
 - "Whatever Tom, er Mike, wants, we'll do"
 - "Jim Long is lonnnnnnnnnng gone"
 - "J.P. and Frank were only kidding, welcome back Ernie"
- Which one of these teams is not involved in a squeaky-clean college program?
 - University of Miami's football team
 - Penn State University's football team
 - University of Michigan's basketball team
 - Notre Dame's football team
- What was the favorite sport at this summer's Democratic and Republican conventions?
 - President Bush telling fish tales to the American public
 - Gov. Bill Clinton jogging everyone's memories
 - HUD's Jack Kemp throwing a pass in the Astrodome
 - Sen. Bill Bradley dunking a basketball in Madison Square Garden
- Why did CBS spend $1 billion for the major league baseball television contract?
 - So it can televise NFL exhibition games instead of baseball
 - So it can televise the "Game of the Week" about once a month
 - To cash in on All-Star game and World Series advertising revenues
 - So network television's best baseball announcer, Bob Costas, couldn't broadcast baseball
- What was missing from Sunday's televised NFL games?
 - Referees looking at instant replays
 - Referees making the wrong calls after looking at instant replays from 92 angles
 - Football players, in the midst of a touchdown drive, standing around for two minutes waiting for the referees to look at instant replays
 - Football fans watching on television trying to figure out the definition to inconclusive evidence
- What's the most exciting part about watching "ABC's Monday Night Football"?
 - Dan Dierdorf talking about offensive lineman techniques
 - Frank Gifford talking about how Cody spit up on Kathy
 - Turning the channel to watch "Murphy Brown"
 - Turning the channel to watch "Northern Exposure"

Girls' b-ball clinic starts Sept. 26

A girls' basketball program for fourth through eighth graders begins Sept. 26.

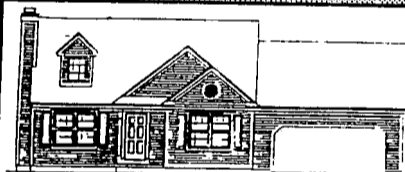

The program will meet on seven Saturdays (Sept 26 through Nov. 7) from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Clarkston High School gym.

Instructors will be Clarkston varsity girls' coach Larry Mahrle and some of his varsity players. The program will feature the instruction of basketball fundamentals as well as competitive games, both with an emphasis on participation.

The cost is $40 per girl, with a cost of $35 for a second girl from the same family. Each participant will receive a T-shirt.

A sign-up session will be held at the Clarkston JV and varsity girls' home game Sept 15 in the gym lobby from 5:30 to 7 p.m. Sign-up sheets will be available at the sign-up session or at the Clarkston High School athletic office. For more information call 625-0906.

PARKS AND RECREATION CLASSES BEGIN

Classes and programs begin in late September through the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department.

Activities for pre-schoolers include together tots, gymnastics, kids in the kitchen, gymboree, creative movement, introduction to sports, music mates and more.

Activities for youth include open karate, junior karate and self defense, gymnastics, pony basketball, 3-on-3 basketball tournaments, whirlleyball, baton, ballet, jazz and tap dance, plasterworks craft classes, dog training, snowmobile safety, hunter safety classes and more.

Activities for adults include country-western dance, ballroom dance, morning aerobics, tai chi chuan, quilting, sweat-shirt painting, country tole painting, adult basketball, adult volleyball, horse care, needle punch, cross stich and more.

BALLROOM DANCE APPETIZER

This one-day introductory ballroom dancing class costs $5 for residents and $10 for non-residents. The class is scheduled for 1-3 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 12.

MEN'S 30-AND-OVER BASKETBALL

Registration for men's 30-and-over basketball league play is underway.

Men, who are age 30 or older by February 1993, are eligible to play. The league begins Oct. 1 for eight weeks, followed by playoffs. Cost is $100 for the sponsor fee. The fee for residents is $15, and the fee for non-residents is $20.

PUNT, PASS AND KICK

Youngsters from Independence Township are invited to compete in this event open to boys and girls. The program date is Tuesday, Sept. 9.

Participants are placed into age classifications according to age as of Nov. 1, 1992. Winners from this competition advance to regional competition, and top finishers at the regionals advance to the state championship at the Pontiac Silverdome.

FOR MORE INFORMATION

Call 625-8223 or stop by the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston. The office is open 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Sharing the loot

AFTER the parade, while their parents talk with friends, Anita and Anthony Anderson divvy up their loot. Ages 9 and 4, respectively, the youngsters collected lots of candy, balloons and pencils, but not as much as on Halloween, says Anthony.

'Disorderly' man bites police finger

A police officer was bitten last week while escorting a concert-goer from Pine Knob Music Theatre.

On Sept. 4, during the Summertime Country Jam concert at the Independence Township theater on Sashabaw Road, a police officer and security guard escorted a Flushing man from the theater.

Suddenly, the patron's brother jumped on him in an attempt to free him, knocking all three to the ground. In the scuffle, the patron bit the officer's finger.

After the attempted escape, the patron was taken to the security trailer.

According to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report, the man "began screaming that he was going to sue everybody and we didn't know who we were f---ing with. As we escorted him towards the trailer, he continually yelled that his father gets him out of everything. He said he'd been beating the law for 10 years and he could do acid or anything else he wanted because his dad always got him out of trouble."

The man was issued an appearance ticket for disorderly conduct.

"DREAM HOUSE" SYNDROME

QUESTION: I have read that REALTORS abide by a strict code of ethics. Could you give me some examples of this code, so I'll have a better idea of what it is?

ANSWER: When advertising property, a Realtor will present a true picture and will neither advertise without disclosing his name, nor permit his associates to use individual names or telephone numbers, unless the salesman's connection with the Realtor is obvious in the advertisement.

A Realtor does not submit or advertise property without authority, and in any offering, the price quoted will not be other than that agreed upon with the owner as the offering price.

MODERN-day Main Street, Clarkston, shows a brick building on the east side of the road with the letters "T-K" engraved in it. The letters stand for Teggerdine-King, the two next-door-neighbors who built the building with Mr. Landi, sold real estate in the area and helped run the Clarkston State Bank on Main Street. Gladys Teggerdine was in college when her father built the building.

Main Street building carries Teggerdine initials

(This is the second of a three-part series about the Teggerdine family.)

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

At the University of Michigan in the 1920s, Gladys Teggerdine of Clarkston lived in part of a little house with a "wonderful house mother."

"She helped all of us who came from the country," says Gladys, explaining that the housemother taught social graces. For instance, all of the girls got together for an hour after dinner for social activities, and they often had dances and invited guests.

A few girls took dancing lessons "right away fast, so we would be able to go to these social events," Gladys says.

"My second year, in talking to some of the girls, we thought we should take public speaking," says Gladys, noting that mostly boys enrolled in that class.

In the beginning of the term, "a boy called me to ask if I could go to a Western dance in Ypsi," she recalls. "I couldn't figure out which one he was. That's how I met Gerald," who was to become her husband.

She had talked to the other girls and found out that Gerald McNaught was the one who stood on his toes when he gave a speech in front of the class.

They both were graduated at the same time in 1924 and were married in 1925 in her father's house. David Teggerdine had sold the farm for a gravel pit and built the house at 61 N. Main St. in town.

"He thought he was wealthy," says Gladys with a smile. "He said he could spend $20 a day for quite some time and not miss it."

However, he became "instantly bored." So he opened a meat market on the east side of Main Street and soon helped build the Teggerdine-King building on Main Street, which is marked with the initials: "T-K." It now houses Coach's Corner and the Clarkston Cafe.

"My father did everything when we lived on the farm," says Gladys. He raised livestock, butchered it himself, and shipped it off to Chicago and Detroit.

"People from farms liked to come into town on Saturday and do a little shopping and a lot of stalking."

Gladys Teggerdine Crawford

"Mr. King lived next door," says Gladys about the Main Street house. "People from farms liked to come into town on Saturday and do a little shopping and a lot of talking.

"Mr. King thought my father would be good at the bank. He knew everyone."

So David Teggerdine soon joined the bank and also ventured into real estate with Mr. King, developing Oxbow Lake in White Lake Township.

And when his only daughter was married, he gave her a gift that served his own interests, as well.

"My father gave us a car, so we'd come home every weekend," says Gladys, explaining that she and Gerald lived in Highland Park after marrying. Gerald sold Dodge automobiles at first, and Gladys was secretary to the superintendent of schools in Highland Park.

Clarence, who Gladys married at age 81 after Gerald died, says that car probably cost about $365, which was a lot of money then.

Gladys' father also gave the newlyweds a monetary gift, with the stipulation that she and Gerald buy stock in the Clarkston State Bank, which they did.

A few years later, however, the Great Depression hit, and all shareholders had to put up double the value of their stock — including Gladys and Gerald, and David Teggerdine, of course. The bank was in dire condition. That and a later bank robbery in which her father played a role in capturing the thieves may have contributed to the heart condition that eventually brought illness upon David Teggerdine, she says.

Gladys and Gerald continued their weekly treks to her parents' house.

"Gerald just loved to come out here for the weekend," says Gladys. "He would go with my father to play cards at the Mason's temple (at the northeast corner of Main and Washington streets)."

Euchre was the game of the time, she says.

(To be continued next week.)

Eight parade entries win awards

Thousands turned out for the annual Labor Day Parade Monday in Clarkston. Even the weather cooperated.

The Clarkston Rotary Club organized the event, with a theme geared toward children of the world. Following are winners of the Rotary Club awards:

President's Award: Mothers Against Driving Drunk.

Best theme: Church of God.

Best float: Knights of Columbus.

2nd-place float: C.A.I.
3rd-place float: Funshine (Clarkston Community Education)

Best costume: Independence Squares (square-dancing group)

2nd-place costume: Steve Pierce family

3rd-place costume: Ron Gore and wife (bicycle team)

Avoid regrets: Just do it

Amanda Peske

In another week it's back to Clarkston High School for what will seem like a prison sentence.

But when final exams roll around, you'll wonder like me, "Where did the time go?"

This year I'll be a senior and next fall won't be as lucky as some as to enjoy the comforts of coming back to school to see my friends who I had forgotten about over the summer.

Instead, I'll be joining the thousands in the search for how to do laundry and how to get Mom and Dad to send money Federal Express to college.

For Clarkston's incoming sophomores and already established juniors, advice from the administration and staff to get involved in extra-curricular activities begins to sound like a broken record.

But if you won't take advice from Clarkston's staff, please take the advice of a senior.

My high school career is quickly coming to a close, and in reflection of my previous years at Clarkston, I almost wish that I would have taken the advice to get more involved.

By joining in extra-curricular activities, you meet a lot of new people, spend time with the good friends you already have, and just enjoy being a "kid." Then maybe you won't be the chronic senior case of, "I want to do all these things because it's my last year," or, "I wish I would have done this sooner because this is actually fun."

Do yourself a favor — get involved now. The sooner, the better. From a senior's viewpoint, there is so much going on your senior year anyway, why take on the extras? Your senior year you have: fitting for cap and gown, choosing a college, getting accepted to a college, all of your classes, senior pictures, homecoming, prom, spring break, senior awards, senior dinner, graduation, the all-night party, tons of open houses to go to, and a lot more.

Sophomore and junior year, the only really big events are homecoming and exams. Not to make it sound dull, but if I were you, I would spice up my life and take on some extras now.

And some further advice, don't forget why you're at school, to learn. Don't get so involved that you let your grades go bad. For seniors: Try as hard as possible to learn something, even if you have a severe case of senioritis.

When you get to college, it's a whole new ball game. Your parents expect you to be more responsible, not have as many extra-curricular activities, and since they're paying, you must concentrate solely on ... HOMEWORK!

College isn't all that bad, but it is certainly not high school. High school only happens once in your life, and you can't go back. But college is open to everyone, anytime. So don't regret later that you hadn't done this or hadn't done that; take Nike's advice: Just do it.

Amanda Peske is a senior at Clarkston High School.

Pet of the Week

THIS German shepherd-mix is looking for a new home.

Nameless and homeless

Not only does this pooch have no home, it doesn't have a name either.

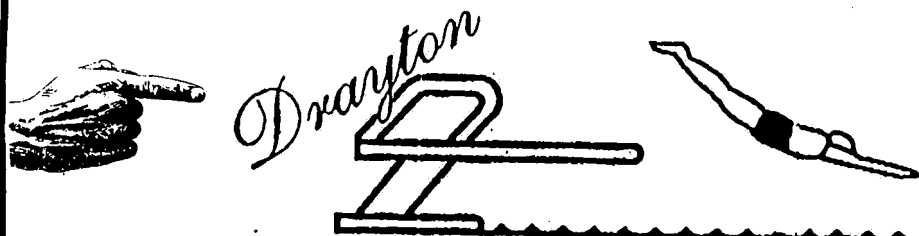

This 2-year-old stray is a German shepherd-mix who weighs 45 pounds. She's reportedly housetrained and gets along well with people and other pets.

Her $82 adoption fee includes spaying and heart-worm preventative medicine.

To see this dog, visit the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Road, Rochester Hills, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Surprise picnic

Mike and Barb Thayer of Clarkston Road, Clarkston, thought they were going out to dinner with Mike's parents on Monday, Aug. 24.

Instead, they were ushered to a surprise 35th anniversary celebration at their daughter Michele's home on Eastview, Independence Township.

Michele, her husband Steve Wilson, and their son, Adam, 2, organized the picnic party for the couple. Also present were Mike and Barb's other children: Kurt and Lisa Thayer of Auburn Hills, Greg and Mary Thayer of Auburn Hills, and Brett Thayer of Clarkston.

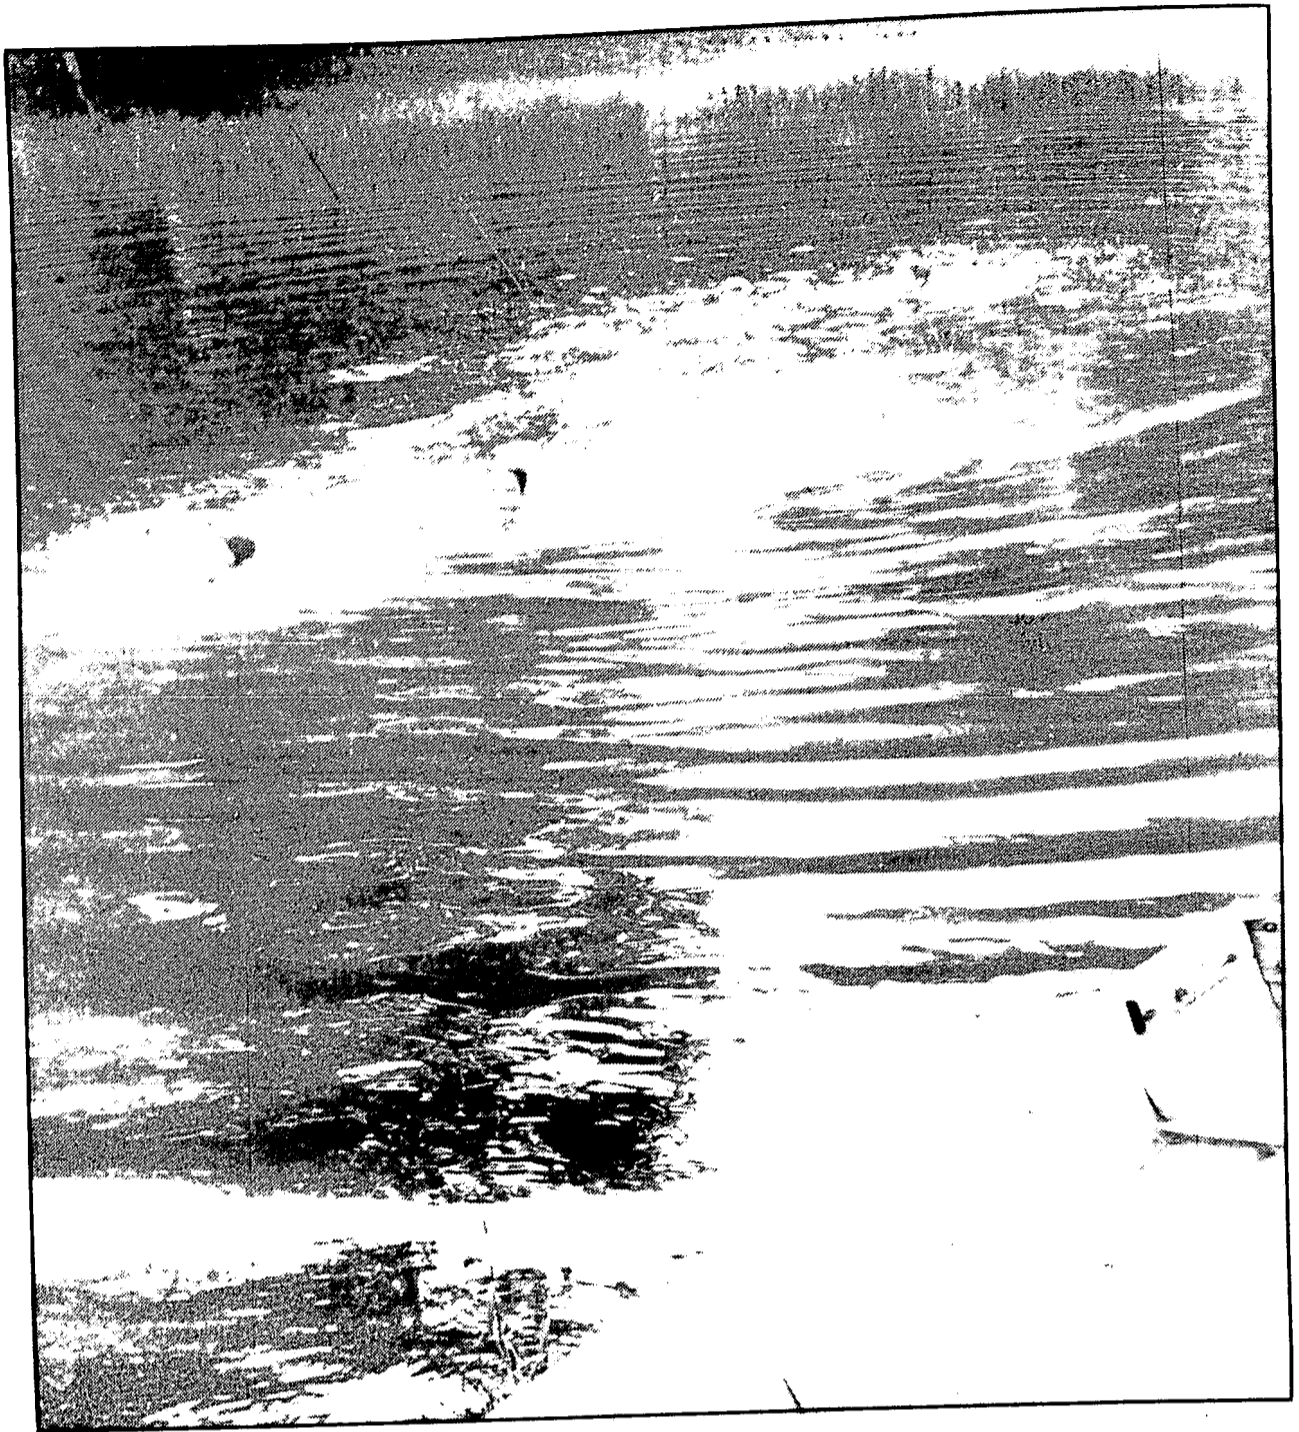

The couple's son Jeff Thayer of Florida couldn't make it to the family gathering.

Kurt, a pastry chef at the Pike Street restaurant, Pontiac, made the anniversary cake for his parents.

Also attending the party were Barb's mother, Jo DeConinck and sister Shirley Vroom, both of Clarkston; her niece Kim and her husband Tom Price, and their children, Tom and Angela.

Mike's parents, Ralph and Eleanor Thayer of Miller Road, Clarkston, celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary the same week on Aug. 26.

Mike Thayer and Barb DeConinck were married Aug. 24, 1957, at Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church.

Honors

Jessica Miller of Pine Valley Road, Independence Township, was awarded the Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, Alumni Association scholarship.

Miller, a 1992 graduate of Clarkston High School, was a three-year member of the tennis team and drama club, vice-president of her senior class and was active in many theater productions.

The scholarship is a one-time grant of $1,000 that is given to the child or grandchild of a Western Michigan University alumnus. Miller's father Larry is an alumnus.

School's out, swimming's in

IT'S 1:30 p.m. on a Thursday, the first of week of September, and these six boys are swimming instead of studying. No, they're not skipping school, but they are enjoying an extended summer vacation because Clarkston school teachers are out on strike. The boys, who first had fun with a mud fight

Senior game day

Seniors in the Springfield Township area are invited to lunch and an afternoon of card playing and visiting.

The Northwest Oakland Communities Services (NWOCS) sponsors Monday Senior "Game Day" at Hart Community Center at the Davisburg Mill Pond beginning Monday, Sept. 14.

A noon lunch is followed by games. Classes in bridge and pinochle are offered, and such games as euchre are ongoing until 5 p.m.

Seniors who normally don't get out are encourage to join in Game Day. If transportation is a problem you may call Helen Vergin, program director, at 634-9410.

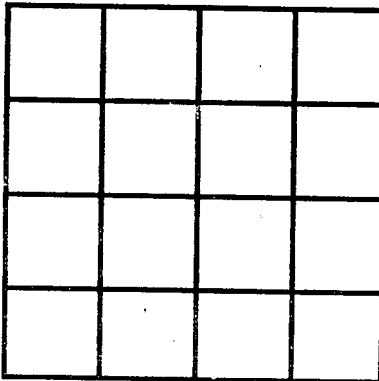

NWOCS's goal is to provide activities to simulate the mind more, keeping the total body more healthy, as well as to have fun and fellowship.

What's new in business

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., Sept. 9, 1992 7 B

This isn't just a hair style — it's a lifestyle

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Graduating from college, getting married or divorced, or having a new baby are times in a person's life when new styles and outlooks can help self-esteem.

The Makeover Place is dedicated to guiding people through these times and develop a personal style.

THE MAKEOVER Place offers more than haircuts. Owners Kathy Agne and Mary Mark strive to make over the entire person from head to toe, inside and out.

Owners Kathy Agne and Mary Mark, both of Independence Township, strive to help people be their best.

"This is not a makeover that happens in one day," said Mark. "We take steps to make the most of what people see."

Combined, the partners have more than 20 years of experience in the beauty business. The two women came together at what used to be the Beauty Bar, remodeled and then re-opened as the Makeover Place.

The studio on Dixie Highway, Independence Township, at the bottom of Waterford Hill opened in March. The duo offer hair styling, color coordination, skin care, wardrobe selection and wearable art. Mark said they hope to add nutrition and exercise instruction and positive thinking seminars to their repertoire.

One of the newest services deals with wigs and hair pieces. Mark said that special attention is given to chemotherapy and radiation treatment patients. A private room in the studio makes it a little easier for people who are tentative about being fitted for a wig or hair piece.

According to Mark, the pair have a philosophy for their work: "We don't do their hair and then just dump them; there is more to a person than their hair."

Obituaries

Leslie Andrich

Leslie Andrich, 88, of Clarkston died Sept. 4, 1992. He was retired from Felice's Market, Pontiac, where he was a butcher.

Mr. Andrich was preceded in death by his wife, Myrle, two brothers and two sisters.

He is survived by his daughter, Mrs. "Jack" (Gail) Hess of Clarkston, and two children, Tod and Lawrence Hess.

The funeral was set for Sept. 8 at Coats Funeral Home, Waterford, with the Rev. Douglas Trebilcock officiating. Memorial tributes may be made to Hospice of Southeast Michigan or Alzheimer's Association.

Mary Magdalene Smith

Mary Magdalene Smith, 27, of Clarkston died Sept. 1, 1992.

She is survived by her mother, Ingrid Smith of Clarkston; fiancée, Andrew Shimko of Brighton; siblings, Ursula (Lt. John) Smidt of Clarkston, William (Helen) of Battle Creek, Patrick of Clarkston, Conrad (Tina) of Tampa, Fla., Anton of Muskegon, Cris of Atlanta, Ga., Katherine (Jorjen) Sturm of Germany and Ryan of Clarkston; and many nieces and nephews.

Mass of the Resurrection was Sept. 5, at St. Daniel Catholic Church, Clarkston, with the Rev. Monsignor Robert Humitz officiating. Burial was at Lakeview Cemetery, Independence Township.

The family requests that memorials be made to the Salvation Army.

Donald Worden

Donald Worden, 69, of Waterford died Sept. 2, 1992. He had retired from Fisher Body as a tool maker after 40 years of service.

He is survived by his wife, Vera; children, Terry (Diane) of New Jersey and Mary Worden of Waterford; and grandchildren, Shayna and Ashley.

Funeral services were Sept. 5 at the Lewis E. Wint & Sons TRUST 100 Funeral Home with the Rev. Stephen Goodrum officiating. Burial was at Drayton Plains Cemetery, Waterford Township.

Summer reader winner named

And the winner is — Mary Ann Whipp of Amy Drive, Independence Township!

Whipp is the grand prize winner of a $50 gift certificate donated by the Village Bookstore in Clarkston to the Summer Reading Club for adults at the Independence Township library.

Her name was drawn from 18 names of readers who completed the entire summer program. Club members who read books in at least five categories during summer were eligible for the grand prize.

Librarian Patience Beer, organizer of the program, said 37 adults took part in the program which fostered recreational reading and broadened the range of books read by frequent readers. She notes that "while some members were chiefly interested in the packet of suggested book titles, others really got into it and wrote book reviews to share with other library patrons."

The reader-to-reader book reviews are available at the library. Beer said she plans to continue the program next summer and hopes to provide special events as an accompaniment to the program.

Derby car club forms

Boys and girls ages 9 to 16 and their parents are invited to spend time together and work on a fun activity at the same time.

The Northwest Oakland Derby Car Club meets Saturdays, beginning Sept. 19, 10 a.m. to noon., at Davisburg Mill Pond Park. During the meeting, parents and children build a "derby" together.

Children in Groveland, Highland, Independence, Holly, Rose, Springfield and White Lake townships along with the children in the cities of Clarkston and Holly, are eligible for the program.

It doesn't matter if you or your child are skilled in basic construction techniques. The program is designed to bring you together and teach you step by step how to build a car and, more importantly, to build you and your child's dreams.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

Beginning October 1, 1992 an additional penalty of $10.00 will be added to each 1990 and prior years delinquent tax that appears unpaid on the records of the county treasurer. This amount is added according to the provisions of Section 211.59 and 211.60 compiled laws of Michigan to cover the expense of sale at the next May tax sale.

Immediate payment will save you this additional penalty and keep your property from appearing in the public list of lands to be offered at tax sale.

 Notice is hereby given that a Special Election will be held in the Charter Township of Independence, County of Oakland, State of Michigan on Tuesday, September 15, 1992 at the places of holding the election in said Township as indicated below:

1. United Methodist Church, 6600 Waldon Road
2. North Sashabaw Elementary, 5290 Maybee Road
3. Senior Center, 5980 Clarkston Road
4. Professional Building, 5825 (M-15)
5. Pine Knob School, 6020 Sashabaw Road
6. Bailey Lake School, 8051 Pine Knob Road
7. American Legion Hall, 8047 (M-15)
8. Clarkston Elementary, 6576 Waldon Road
9. Clarkston Elementary, 6576 Waldon Road
10. Oakland Co. Sheriff Sub-Station, 5799 (M-15)
11. North Sashabaw Elementary, 5290 Maybee Road
12. Bailey Lake School, 8051 Pine Knob Road

for the purpose of voting on the following:
LIBRARY MILLAGE PROPOSAL
 Shall the Charter Township of Independence be authorized to levy up to one additional mill for a period of two years (commencing December 1, 1992) for the support, maintenance and operation of the Independence Township Library under Act 164 of the Public Act of 1977, as amended. Approval of this proposal would authorize a levy increase on all property assessed for taxation in the Township of one ($1.00) dollar per one thousand ($1,000) dollars of State Equalized Property Value, and requires voter approval under the Michigan Constitution.

The polls of said election will be open at 7:00 a.m. and will remain open until 8:00 p.m. of said day of election.

Joan E. McCrary
 Township Clerk

Safe canning — add lemon juice to tomatoes

Procedures for canning tomatoes have changed since your mother's or grandmother's times.

According to Sylvia Treitman, home economist for the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service, the acidity level of varieties of tomatoes may be too low to assure a safe canned product.

Therefore, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) recommends the addition of bottled lemon to keep the product safe along with processing in a boiling water bath.

The following is the USDA recommendation for safe tomatoes crushed, whole or halves, or juiced:

Safe tomatoes

Add two tablespoons bottled lemon juice or one-half teaspoon citric acid to each quart; add directly to the jars before filling them with tomatoes. For pints, use one tablespoon bottled lemon juice or one-quarter teaspoon citric acid.

Do not forget to also process all tomatoes according to latest USDA recommendations. The Ball Blue Book 32nd has latest recommendations and can be purchased at the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service or local stores carrying canning supplies.

For more canning information on tomatoes or other produce, call the Food and Nutrition Hotline, Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., at 858-0904.

Cheeseburger hall-of-famers

Who put the cheese in cheeseburgers? Depending on who you talk to, it was either Louis Ballast, owner of the now-defunct Humpty-Dumpty's in Denver, or Carl Kaelin of Kaelin's in Louisville, Ky.

According to cheeseburger historians, Ballast was the first to top a burger with cheese. In 1935 he registered the cheeseburger as a "type of sandwich" with the Colorado secretary of state.

Kaelin's family claims that the cheeseburger was invented on Oct. 12, 1934, when the restaurateur asked his wife to "lay a piece of cheese on those burgers." Today the cheeseburger is one of the top 10 best-selling sandwiches on restaurant menus across the nation.

THE CHURCH of God float pleases the crowd as well as the judges. The Clarkston Road, Independence Township, church won the award for the best theme. Best float was Knights of Columbus. Best costume was Independence Squares.

Especially for children

THIS youngster finds the Honda motorcycle comfortable, but the helmet isn't a tight fit.

The Clarkston Rotary Club Labor Day parade included all kinds of entries.

THE "101 Dalmations" entry — with kids, adults and dogs — drew applause Monday.

PRAYER TO ST. JUDE: O Holy St. Jude, Apostle and martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage, in time of need, to you I have recourse, from the depth of my heart, and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in present and urgent petition, in return I promise to make your name known, and cause you to be invoked. Say three Our Fathers, three Hail Marys and three Glories. Publication must be promised. St. Jude pray for us and all who invoke your aid. This Novena has never been known to fail. SN. IILX37-1

LAKE ORION HEAD START is now accepting applications for 1992/ 1993 school year. Head Start is a Federally funded pre-school program for 3 1/2 to 5 year olds for the low income and handicapped child. The program assists in developing the social, physical, and academic skills of children at their individual levels. Head Start encourages positive self esteem and helps to prepare students for a successful entry into public school. Children with certifiable handicap conditions include: speech and language, visual, severe allergies and asthma. While in Head Start, children take part in activities such as story time, physical movement, music, art and crafts. The program is dedicated to the family and involvement of parents. Interested families should call 693-5417 after August 14, 1992. IILX33-5c

THRONGS of people turned out for Clarkston's Labor Day Parade Monday, including these youngsters up front. Standing, from left, are: Breanne Volin, 3, Brittney Volin, 5, both of Harvard Road; Leeann Alexander, 5, of Eaton Road; and Nina Flores, 8, of Harvard.

Streetside seats

AT 16 MONTHS, Amy Comstock of Waterford has already attended three parades, most recently atop her dad, Kirk's, shoulders.

ROSEMARY Watson (with dog) of Allen Road, Independence Township, enjoys Clarkston's Labor Day Parade with some of her grandchildren. In front, occupied with Rotary Club balloons, are (from left) Jacob Watson, 4; Noah Watson, 6; and Trevor Keiser, 8.
