Clarkston student enrollment up 278

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Clarkston Community Schools officials received a big shock this week when they discovered that student enrollment had already exceeded earlier projections by 213 pupils.

Student enrollment in the cramped Clarkston school district is presently at 5,885. This marks a 278-pupil increase over the same time last year.

Prior to the start of fall classes, administrative officials had figured on 65 new students entering the district by the end of the school year. These projections have now been tossed out the window, however.

"We're way above our projected number," said Duane Lewis, director of personnel services. "We really got hit at the junior high level with 100 extra students. We were expecting most of the growth to occur at the elementary level.

"These increases have created a whole bunch of problems at all levels," he said.

Mike LaBay, deputy superintendent, is concerned as well.

"We're very crowded at the junior high level, but I'm worried about all the schools' core facilities. I don't know how long these buildings' cafeterias will be able to handle this influx."

"These increases have created a whole bunch of problems at all levels."

Duane Lewis

Besides the increase of 100 kids at the junior high level, the district's tabulations show that the elementary schools' overall population has grown by 144 in a year, while the high school showed a 34-student surge.

Breaking it down by school, the increases include: Andersonville, 7; Bailey Lake, 26; Clarkston Elementary, 31; North Sashabaw, 56; Pine Knob, 24; Clarkston Junior High, 41; Sashabaw Junior High, 59; Clarkston High, 34.

Lewis said that Andersonville Elementary remains the only elementary school in the district that is not overcrowded. He said the administration is considering transferring some students to Andersonville to ease overcrowding.

This unexpected increase has put most of the district's schools in an unsavory state, but officials said they're coping.

"I'll be honest, the teachers are being very patient and supportive. Some of our classes are seating as many as 37 and 38 students," said Jean Lang, principal at Sashabaw Junior High School. "We'll be sitting down with the administration later this week to see what we can do to alleviate some of these problems.

"It's very hard to be effective with such overcrowded conditions, but we'll do our best," she added.

Library proposal KO'd by voters

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Residents in Independence Township chose their wallets over their library as a one-mill proposal suffered a devastating defeat Sept. 15.

The final margin of defeat was 1,454 to 689. A total of 2,147 votes, representing about 15 percent of all registered voters, were cast in this special election.

The proposal gave township voters the opportunity to

Kurt Hine scored four of the Eagles' goals and teammate Scott Wiser scored the other one. Hine and Eagle goalkeeper Andrew Vanaman (10 saves and two shutouts) were selected as part of the all-tournament team. Related story on Page 18A. (Photo by James Gibowski)

Petitions continue in Clarkston pullout drive

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

There's no chance that a Middle Lake Road area pullout from Clarkston will appear on the November ballot.

But that hasn't stopped Jon Gaskell, who is continuing his petition drive to detach four roads from the City of Clarkston.

The Clarkston attorney has collected around 120 signatures so far. His goal is to garner 250 signatures from local residents and have the Oakland County Board of Commissioners allow his issue to be placed on an election ballot sometime in the future.

The 250 signatures would represent 1 percent of the Clarkston area's 25,000 residents, which is needed for a successful petition under the Michigan Home Rule Cities statute.

Gaskell opposes Clarkston's ascent to cityhood, and he hopes to withdraw his neighborhood from the fledgling municipality. The streets proposed for this detachment include: Middle Lake Road where he resides, the west side of Main Street, Overlook Road, and an area on Main Street that extends north of Waldon Road and includes two businesses.

Gaskell missed the board of commissioners' Aug. 11 deadline to be eligible for the November general election. Presently, he's uncertain when his proposal will appear in ballot form but says a special election may not be out of the question.

While collecting signatures in the designated neighborhoods, Gaskell said his petition was favorably accepted.

"I found the people in the affected neighborhoods to be very receptive," he said. "A majority of the homeowners signed the petition and wished me luck."

Last month, the Clarkston City Council warned that a successful detachment could take away enough of the city's population where it could lead to the municipality's dissolution. Council members quoted the Home Rule Cities statute that states a city must have at least 750 residents. Around 1,000 people presently live within city boundaries.

Gaskell doubted such a dissolution could happen. "I don't think it's automatic that the city will wither away," he said. "I know you need a specific number of residents to start a city, but I don't think the shrinking of that number will lead to Clarkston losing its status."

Teacher contract to be settled Sept. 28

The Clarkston Board of Education is to consider the ratification of the teachers' contract Monday, Sept. 28.

The trustees are scheduled to vote on the agreement at 7 p.m. in the district board room. Clarkston's 319 teachers are slated to vote on the contract either Sept. 25 or Sept. 28, prior to the meeting.

This long-awaited contract culminated from a five-day strike in early September. The walk-out was the district's first since 1979.

Residents nix library proposal, millage

create an Act 164 library, which would have operated for a single entity -- Independence Township -- and been governed by a library board. Also included was a one-mill package, which would have run for two years and raised about $540,000 annually for operating expenses.

One mill is $1 for every $1,000 assessed property valuation. This means the owner of a $100,000 home assessed at half its market value ($50,000) would have paid an extra $50 per year for library expenses. Currently, residents pay $37.50 per year for an existing 3/4-mill package, which will end in two years.

Library director Mollie Lynch said that 80 percent of the money from the proposed millage's first year would have been earmarked for books. She said the second year of the millage would have went toward the implementation of several programs like an outreach service for the homebound and new computers.

Missing, not forgotten

At least one area resident will take time Friday to remember those who did not come back from our nation's wars.

Phil Mudge of Oneida, Independence Township, plans to observe National POW-MIA Day -- the third Friday of September.

A member of Vietnam Veterans of America, Oakland County Chapter No. 133, Mudge said he hopes others will take a moment Friday, too.

The day is designated "to remember those who have not come back," he said.

In the United States, 2,266 still are missing, including 72 from Michigan. That figure also includes three from Oakland County, including James Carter of Clarkston, who was listed missing June 13, 1968, from the Army.

Corrections

In last week's Clarkston News, a story about the declined second amendment to the Downtown Development Authority's plan shouldn't have included the widening of White Lake Road as one of the proposed projects. The widening of White Lake Road was covered under a previously approved first amendment to the DDA plan. The widening of White Lake Road, from Andersonville Road to Grand Trunk Railroad, is scheduled to begin in fall 1993.

In last week's Clarkston News, "From the Superintendent" should have said that engineer Tom Chen is the architectural consultant to Clarkston schools.

Springfield Board freezes salaries, millage rate

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

In a move that would shock most other communities, the Springfield Township Board voted unanimously to keep its millage rate the same as last year's and to take a pay freeze.

Since the new budget is not complete, it is not known if any services to the community will be cut. Supervisor Collin Walls said he "couldn't see any services being cut."

About 50 residents crowded into the hot board room Sept. 9 to learn whether or not the township's millage rate would increase from 3.619 mills to 3.7453 mills. The increase would bring an additional $25,892 to the township's general fund.

One mill is $1 for every $1,000 assessed property valuation. Property is assessed at half its market value.

Supervisor, Collin Walls explained that the Headlee Amendment to the state constitution dictates the maximum millage rate each year, using property values, the rate of inflation and new construction as factors.

The township millage is only a small part of the total millage that is levied in Springfield Township: the schools and county receive the bulk of the money from taxes. Springfield residents in the Clarkston school district pay 53.0386 mills total. In the Holly school district, residents pay 50.6644 mills total.

Residents were concerned about the purpose of the extra money.

Walls did not give specific answers about where the money would go. Money in the general fund is used for street lighting, road improvements, mailing, salaries, cleanups and insurance.

The crowd asked whether township officials would get a raise with the money and was told a 3 percent wage increase was included in the 1993 budget.

A Morning Drive resident stated, "In a time when everyone is managing on less, I don't see why the city fathers can't."

Cindy Branchel of Miller Road asked, "Have you taken into consideration what GM is doing? A lot of the people in this area get their paychecks from one place,

"It's hard to ask people who are unemployed to give you a 3 percent raise from their unemployment checks."

Trustee Charles Oaks

GM, and they are closing plants and laying people off."

Trustee Charles Oaks was greeted with applause when he said he didn't believe that the township and elected officials needed the 3 percent raise.

"It's hard to ask people who are unemployed to give you a 3 percent raise from their unemployment checks," he said. "We could manage with what we have."

Treasurer Nancy Strole said the simply freezing salaries wouldn't be close to the $25,000 extra the township would be getting. She also suggested that the board set another date to give some thought to the taxation.

Branchel said, "You have had this information for some time. I don't see why you can't make a decision tonight."

Branchel added that the board would meet again possibly at a time when residents would not attend.

She said she was afraid that the board would pass the maximum millage allowed instead of the lower millage.

"It may only be $6 extra a year, but if you don't have $6, it's a lot of money," she said.

Before the vote, the residents asked what would keep the board from raising the millage after the meeting.

Walls answered with a laugh, "We live here," but then told the group that the public hearing and the resulting decision were part of a state law.

Just because the township's millage remains at the 1991 rate does not mean that Springfield Township residents will not see a tax increase, however, Walls said. If their property assessment increases — or if the county, library or schools increase millage rates — then taxes will increase.

"One fight at a time," said one member in the audience. "One fight at a time."

Historical afghan

THE CLARKSTON Community Historical Society is selling a variety of area-related items at the Crafts and Cider Festival Sept. 19-20. The featured item this fall is a new commemorative afghan, which depicts 12 of Clarkston's most historic structures. Here,

Destructive 'art'

A creative vandal struck a Snowapple Drive, Independence Township, home on Saturday.

The area had been adorned with toilet paper, and a "For Sale" sign was planted in the front yard along with a garage sale sign, according to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report.

Thrown in as an added bonus for the unlucky recipients were eggs and chocolate syrup on the garage door.

Although the vandal may have seen the home and yard as an expression of creativity, the people who own the canvas/yard and home were not too pleased.

Iva Sommers Caverly, a retired Clarkston school teacher, added some political humor recently in a letter about bittersweet. She mentioned "tomatoes" and "potatoes" in the letter. As an aside, she wrote a parenthetical statement: "Spelled correctly," with arrows pointing to the "oes" portion of the words. Had she been in Vice-President Dan Quayle's position at the now-famous national spelling bee, she certainly would have questioned the judges' card, which listed "potatoe" as the correct spelling for the tuber.

Brush up on burning laws soon

BY EVAN RENTSCHLER
Clarkston News Special Writer

As fall approaches, trees have begun to shed their leaves. The problem is, how are residents allowed to dispose of them?

In Independence ...

If you reside in Independence Township, you must go to the fire department for a permit. While there is no charge for the permit, the department will educate everybody before granting a one.

The permit is good for a year and has certain rules attached for landowners with three acres or less of property. These owners may only burn on the first and third weeks of any month, and only on Tuesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays of those weeks. Owners with more than three acres of land may burn on any day.

Piles of material can be a maximum of three feet by five feet and cannot contain anything which will give off black smoke or offensive odor. All fires must be attended constantly by someone who is equipped with a means of extinguishing the fire, such as a hose, and the fire must be

Springfield Township rules are similar. It, too, requires a permit, which can be picked up at the fire chief's office at Davisburg Home Builders. The permit is free, but no education is offered.

Owners are restricted to burning piles of a reasonable size, while large-scale brush burning is prohibited. Fires must be attended at all times, and nothing that creates black smoke may be burned. There are no rules pertaining to acreage, but fires must be extinguished by dark.

For more information, call 625-4801 or 634-4291.

Fire officials from both townships speculated that burning would be outlawed statewide within the next couple of years.

Vandals go wild in Lakeview Cemetery

Vandals, take note. Stay away from Lakeview Cemetery, if you know what's good for you.

Linda Richardson, cemetery superintendent, said police patrols have been stepped up at the Independence Township cemetery. Last weekend, she said 22 headstones were toppled in the old section of the cemetery, resulting in several cracked monuments from the late 1880s and early 1900s.

Richardson suspects the vandals to be area teens, who may have had a hand in breaking eight headstones last month. She said it will take about $50,000 to replace these old slate headstones.

Anyone with any information on these destructive acts is asked to call the Oakland County Sheriff's Department at 858-4950.

Does a newspaper reflect the events occurring in its community, or, by writing about them, does it lead them? Or does it merely perpetuate opinions and attitudes, as one caller suggested last week?

Throughout these turbulent times in the Clarkston area, some callers have asked us not to print "negative" letters or columns. They only spread negativism and prevent the likelihood of, say, a school bond approval, say some callers.

I have always responded that the opinion pages of The Clarkston News have a life of their own. No, we don't print every letter we receive. But we don't withhold letters merely because we don't like the tone.

If the majority of letters are negative, it means the majority of Clarkston News readers feel negatively.

Some think there's a campaign of negativity out there, with people taking turns writing those sorts of letters. And maybe it's true. But that means those individuals feel strongly enough about the issues to voice their opinions in writing.

What about the rest of the readers? They, too, have that option.

Last week, the response to our editorial regarding the Clarkston teacher strike was vehement and sometimes emotional.

Some school officials said the editorial was unfair and — since it, too, was negative — damaging to the community. Regardless of the leanings of those in the community, the needs of the school district are real, said the callers. There truly is a critical shortage of space at the elementary level. (We agree with them on that.)

By printing our editorial, we've legitimized the "negative" opinions in those letters and columns we've printed previously. And we've lessened, perhaps ruined, any chance of getting voters to believe the problems and pay to fix them, said some callers.

If we maintain the view that newspapers reflect the community views, then that's all we've really done by printing our editorial. But if we believe that newspapers lead, then perhaps those callers are correct. Maybe The Clarkston News does have that kind of power.

But if we want to point out facts or trends that many perceive to be negative, does that mean we shouldn't write about it, merely because of its possible effect down the road? I don't think so.

Our job as a free press is to give out facts, objectively and accurately, and to give opinions — as we see it from our inside-view of issues. What the people do with that information is their business.

Some of our callers would say that is careless and reckless, that we don't have the best interests of the community at heart.

What they may be saying is that information is dangerous, that ideas are dangerous.

But only when the bad can be printed with the good is there a chance of credibility, of trust, of community-mindedness. (And, yes, every week we prints lots of the good — school athletic feats, classes through community education, stories about our neighbors, business owners, etc.)

Our editorial last week also prompted calls from some of those so-called negative-letter-writers, who praised our editorial for its strength and truth. We understood that they meant their calls to be positive reinforcement.

We also heard from three apparently neutral people — they weren't school teachers, administrators, millage workers, members of "Red Ribbon" or friends of the above. They were people who read The Clarkston News in their living rooms by themselves and happened to tell us their reactions. Each agreed with the editorial.

And so we reflect on the reactions. And we realize that newspapers can be used as a tool by anyone willing to write a letter. And we think that's OK. That's what freedom of speech is all about. Some know how to use it better than others.

But it remains open to all.

Board's self-imposed pay freeze a start in restoring trust of the people

A recent decision by the Springfield Township Board met with solid approval from the audience and deserves recognition.

Following a Truth-in-Taxation hearing Sept. 9, the board decided not to increase the township millage rate to the maximum allowed under law.

Instead, the rate will remain the same, just as it has for nine of the last 11 years.

To help allow for the freeze, the elected officials decided they would forego a proposed 3 percent salary increase, at Trustee Charles Oaks' suggestion.

The audience erupted into applause at Oaks' statement.

"It's hard to ask people who are unemployed to give you a 3 percent raise from their unemployment checks," said Oaks. "We could manage with what we have."

The board's decision probably saved the average taxpayer about $6 per year in township taxes. But that one action meant more than mere money to those in the audience.

By voluntarily taking a pay freeze, board members showed that they remember that they serve the public and that the public is hurting financially.

Their willingness to not add to that financial burden was a sign that they understand the residents' plight.

But their decision to join that plight by taking a pay freeze showed they not only understand, but they also care.

In so doing, they have begun the difficult job of rebuilding trust in government officials.

He'll be remembered for citizenship

A Springfield Township citizen quietly left this life Sept. 11, but his death will affect many more than just his family.

Stephen Jantz, 71, did not hold public office, and many may not even know his name. But they should know about his deeds, so he can serve as an example of outstanding citizenship or maybe as a reminder of one of the best that "we the people" can be.

When Mr. Jantz retired from Fisher Body, he began attending the monthly Springfield Township Board meetings. Dressed in his trademark overalls and looking ever bit the farmer, he would sit in the front row, sometimes the sole person in attendance.

Sometimes, he never uttered a word throughout the entire meeting. Other times, however, he questioned the board or the audience or a developer. His style was blunt but fair.

Soon, elected officials began calling him the "eighth board member." And over the years, as the members of the board changed, the new members, too, knew Steve by that title.

"He kept the current board on its toes," said Trustee Nancy Strole. "If he thought we weren't using common sense, he'd let us know."

And his comments were helpful.

"Steve's comments were always constructive," said Strole. "When Steve said something, we listened. ... He had an understanding -- because he attended meetings for so many years -- of the thread of township government."

That thread will continue to weave its way in and out of township ordinances, resolutions and decrees. We can only hope it will continue the pattern tailored by Steve Jantz.

About staff editorials

We at The Clarkston News realize that an important duty of a newspaper is to provide more than just the facts found in news stories.

Since we're out there uncovering the news, we get an inside look at the issues. In our staff editorials, we will give our opinions on those issues, just as other writing on this page — letters and columns — also offer opinions.

We leave the editorials unsigned because we've written them as a staff. Every week, we talk about the issues and take notes on everyone's opinions. Then one of us writes it and the rest of us changes it until we're all satisfied.

While our opinions aren't always unanimous, our editorials will reflect the majority views of the staff. If the staff splits evenly on an issue, we'll write two editorials on a subject.

We welcome your response to our views.

Letters to the Editor

Self-destructing on nation's taxes

Editor's note: Donald McArthur of Independence Township read this letter in the Reading (Pa.) Times newspaper this summer and thought it could apply to situations in Clarkston as well as the rest of Michigan. We're printing it with permission from the newspaper.

Greed unbridled is never satiated. Like a runaway train, it defies all attempts to bring it under control.

Sadly, our local educators have boarded the greed train, and it appears unlikely anyone can impede their wanton journey. Those who would try are merely brushed aside and labeled teacher bashers, envious, cheapskates or kid-haters.

Not even a school board inclined to rein in expenses can slow the train, especially in a train continually green-lighted by the state Department of Education.

Should the board attempt to curb Reading Education Association salary increase demands, teachers will disruptively strike and wait for their kids-last siege to reward them with increases commensurate to those pilfered by colleagues in surrounding school districts.

Can any board effectively challenge the education establishment? Regardless who is voted into these bodies, the taxpayers' fate steadily worsens. But what about the kids? Aren't their interests best served by huge school budgets?

Kids live in families which are being adversely pressured by escalating taxes. These same kids all too soon grow up, enter adulthood and feel the pressures even more.

What kind of future are we cultivating for them? Perhaps as they scramble into that future, some will return to their history teachers and ask them to explain why a nation irrevocably rooted in tax rebellion against tyrannical external authority is now self-destructing on overtaxation from within.

Charles E. Lessig Jr.

Agree with sign

This is in regard to Catherine Passmore's "I can't believe I missed the revolution" column in the Aug. 16 issue. I highly disagree with her opinions in the article.

First of all, I have to commend the Davisburg business owner for putting up the sign: "Don't Park Japanese Cars In Front Of My Store." It's comforting for me to see someone speak out against buying foreign (non-American) cars.

I am fully aware of cars made here in the United States that contain foreign parts. There are also so-called "American" cars that are made overseas and shipped here. Therefore, it should be our obligation as American buyers to educate ourselves on just how American the car is that we're purchasing.

People need to wake up and realize that we can't keep sending car sales (via jobs) overseas while our own economy is suffering right here in the United States.

You're absolutely right — this is the land of the free, but ask your self this: Who fought to give us that right? Who died to give us that right? The people of America.

I believe buying foreign cars from foreign countries is one major way of turning our backs on those people and discrediting what they took a stand for ... our country, the USA.

Please note: I drive a Saturn, virtually 100 percent American made.

Plea for prayer spurs kind letters

Jim Fitzgerald

Earlier this year, I asked for prayers for my Wisconsin niece, Mary, who was terribly injured in an auto accident. Several readers have asked how she's doing.

And several readers have asked: Why pray? Pray to whom? No one is listening, they say. There is no almighty supreme being who gives a good damn about what happens to people like Mary. If there were such a compassionate god in heaven, they say, there wouldn't be so much ungodly misery on Earth.

OK, let's have a friendly debate.

It will be recalled that Mary's injuries included badly crushed feet and legs. It isn't known if she'll ever again walk without assistance. Since I last wrote about Mary, 46, it was discovered that one of her legs wasn't healing properly. It had to be re-broken and reset. She will be undergoing painful therapy for a long time to come.

Several dozen readers wrote to Mary. Last week she responded to Uncle Jim: "Through your words in the column, I've received the strength and hope I needed for this last operation. Thank you doesn't seem enough. Each card and letter from all over had a special message of its own."

One reader sent Mary a magazine cartoon showing a cat, obviously at the end of its eighth or ninth life, confronted by St. Peter at the Pearly Gates. Peter is saying to the sheepish-looking cat: "You here again?"

The cartoon reminded Mary that this is not the first bad luck she's suffered; not the first time she's needed help.

"I feel that's the way God feels about me right now," Mary wrote. "Another prayer for Mary Snider? With my other accident, cancer and now this. I'm one thankful cat!"

Thankful? "A lot of people are worse off than I am," Mary said.

And a lot of people are praying for her, and the prayers are helping. Mary is sure of it.

Herman Koss of Warren is just as sure that prayers are useless, because there is no supreme being to answer them. A letter from Koss expressed great compassion for Mary and life's other victims. And it most eloquently expressed the nonbeliever's point of view. Listen to some excerpts:

"This thing about praying to a god who can make things better . . . Have you ever thought about what that means? It means that some people believe in a god who sits around watching this zoo on earth. This is a god who can meddle in the zoo's affairs, if he so chooses . . .

What this means is that this god just sits and watches as every minute, somewhere, drunken fathers, boyfriends or what have you, beat, rape, torture and finally kill helpless little children. And this god that so many good people pray to just sits and sits and sits.

"How can people believe in such a god? What a totally selfish religious belief that is! 'Yes, yes, I'll believe in you . . . if you grant my wishes so I won't have to suffer like those poor wretches who apparently aren't chosen by you as I hope to be.'

"If there is any kind of supreme deity, he made us all, believers and nonbelievers alike. If the god of prayer really exists, I would tell him to go to hell. No god of love would permit tiny children to suffer, the way so many do now, just because no one prayed for them . . .

"His eye is on the sparrow, say believers. In other words, nothing happens without his stamp on it. Including those sweet innocents who watch with terror-struck eyes as the drunken lout approaches again . . . and again. And this Christian God, amenable to prayer, as all the clergy tell us, also watches . . . and watches.

"Would you be happy if he answered your prayer, but continued to watch those children? I would curse such a god."

End of quotes from Herman Koss. What do you think? Let me know, and I'll let Mary, the thankful cat, know.

God knows (if you'll excuse the expression), I don't pretend to know the answers. But I'll keep pulling for Mary and the sweet innocent children. And if someone up there thinks the pulling is praying, that's what I call covering all the bases.

Mary Snider's address is 1103 Thompson Drive, Altoona, WI 54720.

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman From the handbook for trial jurors

It started with: "You have been selected according to law to act as an officer of this court by serving as a juror."

That's how the "Handbook" started. By the time I got to court and was told to "pick up your number and a Handbook" I had already gone through all the emotions other potential jurors do.

If you've been called you know what I mean. "I haven't got time for this." "Thursday's my golf day." "I suppose it really is my duty." Etc.

Handbook: "Proper attire is required in the courtrooms. No shorts, halter tops or bare feet are permitted." This is the only part of this handbook that is printed in capital letters. It must be important.

By book, by microphone and video you are warned not to discuss the case with anyone else. The penalty is possible dismissal from the jury. They suggested this one.

"Efficient jurors are men and women of sound judgement, absolute honesty and a complete sense of fairness." People are called to duty by their driver's license number. Cynic's conclusion: All licensed drivers are efficient, honest and fair.

The handbook warns jurors not to be swayed by attorney pleadings. But, pay close attention to the witnesses as they testify, not only for what they say, but also their manner and actions.

How's that? Listen to the lawyers, but don't be swayed? Let witness mannerisms sway you? I guess.

Then, "As a juror, you must not become an amateur detective." Dog gone! I've read all those who-done-it books and watched all the "Murder She Wrote" shows on television for nothing.

Well, I got called into Judge Rudy Nichols' court for a "whistle-blowing" (employee informs on a boss) case. Judge Rudy and I go back a ways . . . like when he won a state senate seat 10 years ago.

Forgive me, Rudy, but let me tell you what ran through my mind as I entered your courtroom. It could have been anyone's courtroom and I'd have had the same thought.

All courtrooms remind me of the comedy routine where a very irate judge is having an on-going feud with straightman lawyers and prisoners. In total slapstick, the expressive judge hits the lawyer over the head with a foam gavel and shouts, as he opens a catalog, "I've got 2,000 years to give away today and you're getting 50 of them!"

Then he hits the prisoner with the rubber gavel.

I don't know if I'd have been a good juror or not. Some acquaintances say I'd have been dismissed when they considered the honest and fair part.

As it was Rudy excused me because I had a longstanding calendar commitment.

I really did.
Honest!

Board refuses bus service to condos

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Clarkston students who live in site condominium developments will continue catching their school buses at the nearest county road.

This decision was rendered by the Clarkston Board of Education Sept. 14.

The question of school buses serving the private roads of site condominiums arose in May when residents of the Sashabaw Creek Meadows subdivision requested the school board to consider amending the district's private road policy. This long-standing policy prohibits buses along non-public roads to pick up and drop off students.

Site condominiums are single-family homes. The residences themselves are owned by the homeowner, but the property between the houses is owned by the condominium association, which is made up of homeowners.

Sashabaw Creek Meadows' residents contested that private roads within site condo developments were built to county standards, were maintained better than the typical private road and should receive preferential status from the school district.

However, the school board found the request to be too costly. Their decision not to amend the existing policy weighed heavily on statistics gathered by the administration.

According to transportation supervisor Kevin Bickerstaff, it would cost $55,890 per year to serve the district's 15 site condo developments. Based on a triple trip schedule, he estimated that buses would have to travel an additional 24,300 miles per year to serve all these private roads.

This move would also require six more buses at a cumulative cost of $291,570, Bickerstaff added.

"It'd be nice to stop at the front door of every student in the district, but we just don't have the resources," Bickerstaff said. "There are already numerous county roads where we don't pick up students, forcing them to walk one to one-and-a-half miles to school."

What my history books didn't teach me

Over the past several months, the MIA/ POW issue has taken on a new fervor.

Reports that former POWs, from as far back as World War II, could still be alive in the former Soviet Union has rekindled investigations by both our government and media. The latest of these reports was issued by the news program "20/20" last weekend.

During the hour-long program, reporters came across documents and discovered graves that our government had no inclination existed. The most telling of these documents was one that indicated that the Soviets and Americans didn't return all the allied prisoners they came across in German prisoner camps.

The television program alleges that the U.S. kept a fair number of Soviet prisoners to help bolster anti-communism propaganda campaigns. In turn, the U.S.S.R. took thousands of U.S. soldiers back to Siberia to work in labor camps. This isn't the type of protocol one would expect from supposed allies.

The program claimed this botched exchange created a precedent that carried over to subsequent wars in Korea and Vietnam, where nearly 40,000 men remain unaccounted for.

Records obtained by "20/20" officials also helped locate the graves of three U.S. servicemen in a deserted Soviet graveyard. These men were thought to have perished on enemy soil during WWII, but their remains were found underneath the caskets of Soviet soldiers.

It would take an all-out effort by our government to find any re-located camp in or around the former Soviet Union. There is hope, however. According to "20/20," nearly 20 Japanese prisoners of war were recently discovered in a remote region of the Soviet Union. Can you imagine the culture shock these men are enduring after more than 40 years of captivity?

It would all seem worth it to find at least one living American POW. However, our government thinks quite the contrary. They constantly tell us that there's no way that any of these servicemen could have survived all these years.

Do you know what would happen if one soldier is found alive? The backlash on our government would be so tremendous, it would make the S&L scandal look like a speeding ticket.

American history books are hypocritical in that they're quick to catalog every victorious detail of our involvement in WWII while donating just a few pages to the controversial Korean and Vietnam conflicts. War is hell, no matter what the outcome.

One day, "Johnny" may come marching home, and heaven help our government when he does.

Ronk wants Haner off DDA

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

If Independence Township Supervisor Frank Ronk has his way, Gary Haner won't be back on the Downtown Development Authority's (DDA) Board.

It was reported at the Sept. 14 school board meeting that Ronk had sent a letter to Joseph Helpem last week, informing the Clarkston school board president that Haner's term on the DDA board expired Sept. 2. Ronk also noted that he wasn't recommending re-appointment for the Clarkston schools superintendent.

Instead, Ronk asked that school board Trustee Janet Thomas inherit the four-year seat. Thomas admitted that "I think it's inappropriate for Mr. Ronk to make this recommendation because he's leaving office in November."

Trustee Sheila Hughes

she'd been involved in informal discussions on the matter, but nothing of a serious nature.

Ronk's request was met with confusion and apprehension on the part of the school board. Helpem said DDA bylaws prohibit a school board member from holding a seat on the DDA board, and Thomas' selection infringe on the statute. Helpem said he intended to talk to Ronk about the situation.

A couple of school board's trustees were admittedly angry over Ronk's move to replace Haner.

"I think Gary is the only person in the district up to speed on all school-related matters," said Trustee Thomas

Howard. "I want to openly support Gary on this matter. He's played a pivotal role on the DDA board, in regards to the school district."

Trustee Sheila Hughes agreed.

"I think it's inappropriate for Mr. Ronk to make this recommendation because he's leaving office in November," she said. "I think Dale Stuart (Republican candidate for supervisor) should make the decision."

Legally, Ronk can recommend appointments to the DDA board, but it's up to the entire township board to approve all selections.

As of press time, Tuesday night, Ronk was unavailable for comment.

Haner has been a two-year member of the DDA board, taking over for former district employee William Jackson in 1990.

Haner said he wouldn't mind another administrator taking the post, but the timing for such a move would be unfair to the replacement because of the district's ongoing audit and the controversy surrounding a DDA rebate to the schools.

As a DDA board member, Haner has been vocal on school-related issues. His persistence on the DDA rebate issue and vote against a second amendment to the DDA's development plan may have ruffled some feathers in the past several months.

DDA President Dick Ayres was saddened to hear of Ronk's decision not to recommend re-appointment for Haner.

"It's too bad about Gary. He's done a lot for the DDA Board and been supportive of us from the start," Ayres said.

The DDA was created to improve landscaping, lighting, roads, water and sewer service along parts of M-15, White Lake Road and Dixie Highway. It receives money through tax increment financing, which captures "excess" money from a base year for use within the DDA district. That excess money includes school money, unless the township board decides otherwise.

Doubts on Megan

When Megan O'Neill announced her candidacy to run for congress, I was proud that Clarkston would have a favorite daughter.

Since the primary, I have been very concerned that if she can't manage her campaign signs how is she going to manage in congress?

All other candidates have removed their signs as local ordinances dictate, but Megan's are still up all the way to Flint. If it was 30 days before the election, it would be all right. I'm having second thoughts as to her credibility.

Common sense

In response to Ms. Passmore's article, "I can't believe I missed the revolution":

Not wanting Japanese cars parked in your lot has absolutely nothing to do with being racist or being against any religion — just being against unfair trade practice by the Japanese.

You and the community are supported largely by American auto workers. Buying American supports our schools, Boy Scouts, Lighthouse North and many other good causes.

Buying any foreign product is like a drunk buying the bar drinks, while the family starves at home.

No revolution, Ms. Passmore, just common sense. Buying American means taking care of your family first.

CLARKSTON's Rusty Mitcham (89) puts an end to Tim Nelson's run.

JUSTIN Tappero speeds down the sideline for a 46-yard kickoff return.

Wolves still on prowl for season's first TD

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Four key plays made the difference in Clarkston's 12-0 non-conference varsity football loss to visiting Lansing Sexton last Friday night.

In fact, if the Wolves would have received a break on two of those four plays, they might have picked up their first victory. Instead, Clarkston is now 0-2 and still looking for its first points of the season.

Key play No. 1: Sexton's Jarrod Beebe intercepts a Kevin Dankert pass and runs it back for a 27 yards for a touchdown (a pass for the PAT fails). Sexton 6, Clarkston 0 with 4:55 left in first quarter.

Key play No. 2: Clarkston's offense gets rolling in the second quarter. After a 15-yard clipping penalty, Wolf fullback Eric Ryan rumbles deep into Sexton territory. The Wolves have a first-and-goal from the eight. However, on fourth down, Ryan reaches the 1-yard line where the Clarkston drive is stopped with 4:00 left in the half.

Key play No. 3: Two plays after the Wolves are stopped on the 1-yard line, Sexton halfback Octavis Long runs off-tackle and then runs and runs and runs for a 95-yard TD (a pass for the PAT fails) and a 12-0 halftime lead.

Key play No. 4: Clarkston's Justin Tappero makes a terrific kickoff return, speeding downfield for 46 yards. If it weren't for one remaining Sexton defender, Tappero runs about another 30 yards for a TD.

Sexton head coach Bob Meyers said he noticed something in the Clarkston defense just before the key 95-yard run by Long.

"They were rolling up on us and we hoped it would turn into a track meet," said Meyers.

"We're not going to win a lot of track meets," replied Clarkston head coach Kurt Richardson, who in pre-season said one of his team's biggest weaknesses is foot speed.

But if you take away that 95-yard run, the Wolves actually totaled more rushing yardage. Clarkston finished with 163 yards on the ground and 51 in the air. Sexton rushed for 214 and passed for 37.

Despite the loss, Richardson said his team looked sharper against Sexton than it did against Troy the week before.

"We're going to be an excellent football team before the season is over," said the Wolf coach, who still thought his team had a very good chance to come back against Sexton after the 12-0 deficit at intermission.

One constant bright spot throughout the game was the Wolves' tough defense.

"They'll keep us in games. The defense always does," said Richardson.

Leading the team in tackles was Steve Black with six. Jeremy Doty had five, Matt May, Chris Combs and Nick Shires each had four and E.J. Stumph and Jeremy Fife both had three.

Ryan paced the Wolves on the ground by carrying 18 times for 89 yards. Shires was 11-52, Mark May 2-9, Tappero 3-7, Dankert 1-6.

Dankert, a junior, completed 2-of-11 passes for 37 yards and had two intercepted. Shires, a senior, switched from his halfback position to quarterback late in the game and completed 1-of-4 for 14 yards with one interception.

Rusty Mitcham caught two passes for 37 yards and Adam Rice grabbed one for 14 yards.

Coach Richardson said Shires "earned a shot" to start at quarterback this Friday when the Wolves host Waterford Kettering at 7 p.m.

Sexton coach Meyers after the game said he hadn't noticed that the Wolves switched quarterbacks.

Shires hopes Kettering's coaching staff and defense won't help but notice that he's the quarterback.

McChesney breaks scoring mark

ALYSON McChesney battles a Lansing East player under the boards. Two days earlier the senior broke the school's scoring record in Grand Blanc.

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It was one for the record books, and a game Alyson McChesney will never forget.

A grand performance at Grand Blanc. McChesney, a 5-10 senior, scored 37 points (27 at the half) Sept. 8 as the Clarkston varsity girls' basketball team crushed Grand Blanc 69-29.

McChesney's 37 points set a Clarkston girls' record (the previous record was 35 by Beth Cowan in the mid-70's).

"There were open baskets and great passes," said McChesney, crediting her teammates for finding her in the open. "They were pretty much uncontested layups. There were a couple of 5-footers, though."

McChesney, a 3-year starter and fourth-year varsity player, was red hot from the field, sinking 16 of 21 baskets. She also converted on 5-of-6 free throws.

She said the growing number of points caught her by surprise.

"At the beginning it was no big deal, but after awhile it was overwhelming," said McChesney, whose previous high was 28 last season.

"It was quite a night for her," said her coach Larry Mahrle. "I'm very proud of her."

McChesney's parents, Becky and David, were in attendance and just as proud as the coach.

Mahrle also noted that she also hauled down 13 rebounds during the game (McChesney has led the Wolves in rebounding the past two years).

McChesney, who later received a phone call of congratulations from her sister Jennifer (a sophomore at Miami of Ohio who also starred in basketball for the Wolves), said a friend at the game thought he had counted 38 points.

Senior Jerry Anderson told McChesney about the point difference. And after watching a video tape of the game, McChesney thinks she may have actually scored 38.

Thirty-seven or 38, it was one for the books for McChesney.

No. 10 rated Wolves romp

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston girls' basketball team lived up to its Class A No. 10 rating in the state (by the Detroit Free Press) by crushing Grand Blanc and Lapeer West.

Clarkston coach Larry Mahrle doesn't mind the high rating.

"It gives the team something to build on," said Mahrle, whose team's record improved to 5-0 with the victories.

CLARKSTON 80, Lapeer West 25
(Sept. 10 at Clarkston)

Twelve Wolves scored as Clarkston crushed Lapeer West, 80-25.

"We needed a game like that," said coach Mahrle, who enjoyed emptying the bench.

Clarkston jumped out to a 25-4 first quarter lead and then increased it to 46-11 at the half and 66-15 after three quarters.

Alyson McChesney and Laura Seitz each scored 10 for the Wolves. Shannon Binkley scored nine, Anne Brueck, Heather Austin, Courtney Whittaker and Erin Patterson each had eight, Shawna Greene seven, Heather Steinhelper five, Rebecca Bartlett four, Amy Schroeder two and Lesley Allen one.

One rarity in the game was that Lapeer West never got the chance to shoot one free throw.

CLARKSTON 69, Grand Blanc 29
(Sept. 8 at Grand Blanc)

Alyson McChesney's school-record 37 points (related story above) sparked Clarkston to a 69-29 bashing of Grand Blanc.

The Wolves led 25-11 after the first quarter and continued with a 14-point bulge into halftime. But Clarkston pulled away with a 16-4 advantage in the third quarter and a 17-3 mark in the final quarter.

In addition to McChesney's 37, Courtney Whittaker netted 13 points, Rebecca Bartlett five, Heather Steinhelper and Heather Austin each with four, and Shawna Greene, Shannon Binkley and Erin Patterson each scored two.

Netters can't stop Orion GOAL win string

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Lake Orion hadn't lost a Greater Oakland Activities League varsity girls' tennis match in 10 years and it didn't lose one Sept. 14 against Clarkston.

The Dragons blanked the Wolves 7-0 to raise their overall and GOAL mark to 2-0. Clarkston dropped to 0-2 in the GOAL and 1-3 overall.

"The girls played good tennis. It was a learning experience. Because of it, they will play better," said Clarkston coach Becky Craig, who coached the last GOAL team to beat the Dragons, back in 1982.

The dominating Dragons won all seven matches in straight sets.

In No. 1 singles, Kyna Getsinger topped Kristy Swartout 6-4, 6-1; No. 2 Jamie Rop defeated Amanda VanKlaveren 6-1, 6-1; No. 3 Courtney Plunkett crushed Kelly Wall 6-0, 6-1; No. 4 Krista Peterson stopped Renee VanKlaveren 6-4, 6-1.

In doubles action, No. 1 Pam Simmons and Laurie Moses defeated Jody Weatherington and Carly Kade 6-0, 6-1. No. 2 Jill Gerds and Shannon Gardner Kim Wicklund and Erika Graham 7-5, 6-0. No. 3 Elizabeth Peterson and Diane Schimmel defeated Mary Schmidt and Renee Shubert 6-1, 6-3.

Waterford Mott 5, CLARKSTON 2
(Sept 11 at Clintonwood Park)

Clarkston won two of its first three singles matches but still fell to GOAL foe Waterford Mott, 5-2.

"This was the strongest Mott team I've ever seen," said Clarkston coach Becky Craig. "But the (Clarkston) girls did not play up to par. It should be a closer match next time."

Clarkston's No. 1 singles player Kristy Swartout topped Diana Pletz 6-4, 6-3 and No. 3 Wolf Kelly Wall stopped Kathy Goodman 6-2, 6-2. However, the Corsairs countered with No. 2 Kim Owczarski defeating Amanda VanKlaveren 6-1, 6-2 and No. 4 Sarah Heineman edging freshman Renee VanKlaveren 7-5, 6-4.

The Corsairs, who improved to 2-1 overall after the match, won all three doubles. The No. 2 match was the closest of the afternoon with Chris Jackson and Tonya Maledenoff defeating Erika

Graham and Kim Wicklund 6-2, 6-7, 6-0. In No. 1 doubles Chris Pletz and Carrie Carpenter nipped Jody Weatherington and Carly Kade 7-6, 6-3; No. 3 Erika Allen and Kara Sidwell stopped Melissa O-Dea and Janae Cooley 6-2, 6-2.

Wolverines get revenge on Coug's

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston Junior High's ninth-grade football team defeated arch-rival Sashabaw Junior High for the first time in three years.

The Wolverines topped the Cougars, 14-0, Sept. 9 on the Clarkston High School field.

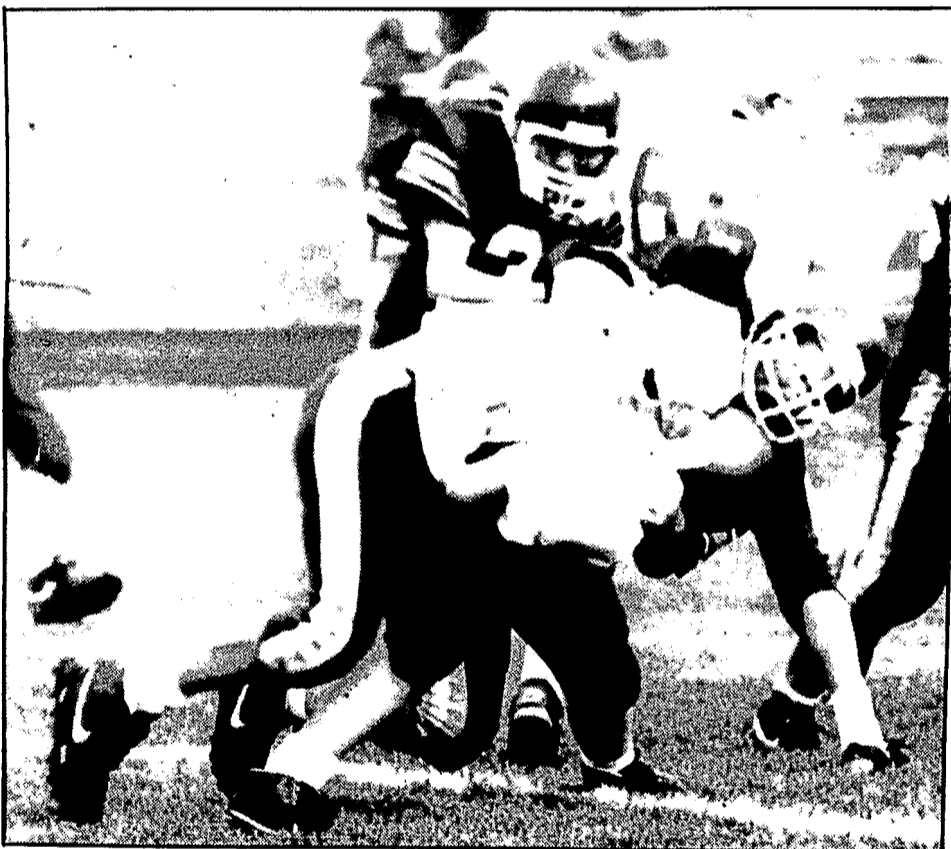

J.D. Zuchekowski scored one touchdown on a 2-yard plunge and Matt Slavin hit pay dirt from 24 yards out. Mike Broggi ran in a 2-point conversion. All of the scoring took place in the second quarter.

The happy Wolverines, 1-1 on the season, dropped crushed ice (no Gatorade) on head coach Steve Himburg after the win. Sashabaw dropped to 0-2 after the loss.

The two teams will again meet in the season finale on Oct. 28.

Lee Darrow (30) is chased by a host of Cougars, including Chad Auten (36) and Tim Wisser (20).

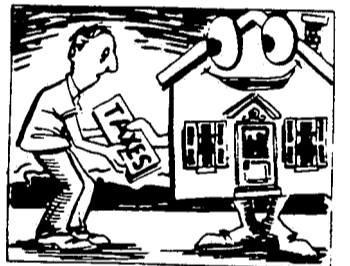

WOLVERINE ball carrier J.D. Zuchekowski (44) is brought down to earth by a Cougar.

PROPERTY TAX LOSES AT POLL

QUESTION: My blood boils every time I pay my mortgage and see that my property tax is more than my mortgage payments. Am I alone in feeling that property tax is the worst?

ANSWER: You are not alone! According to a recent survey by the U.S. Government, the least popular tax was the property tax. Although no particular tax received a resounding approval, it was a clear-cut message. When queried as to which tax was the "least fair," 45 percent selected the property tax, the federal income tax placed a far second with a 19 percent disapproval. Perhaps this was the reason for the surge in property tax reform.

SURVEYS SHOW that property taxes are the most distasteful of all taxes.

Golfers win two of three close matches

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Golf coaches tell their players every stroke counts.

Clarkston varsity golfers certainly realize that after three of their matches were decided by a total of five strokes. The Wolves won two of three to raise their record to 3-1.

CLARKSTON 170, Milford 173 (Sept. 14 at Dunham Hills in Hartland)

Clarkston put up some World War II numbers, firing a 41, 42, 43 and 44, to stop host Milford, 170-173, on Monday afternoon.

The 2-1 Redskins, on the other hand, shot a 41, 42, 43 and 47.

Clarkston's Chris Harbert shot the 41 to earn co-medalist honors with Milford's Jason Korody.

Wolf Adam Haviland fired a 42, Jayson Buchmann finished at 43 and Jon Dean 44.

Myles Mosher had the fifth-best Clarkston score with a 45 and Ryan Karlstrom shot a 47.

In addition to Korody, Redskin Scott Floyd shot a 42, Brandon Parsley a 43 and Mike Arciniaga a 47.

Clarkston coach Jim Chamberlain told his players before the match not to get discouraged about shooting a higher-than-normal score at the par-36 Dunham Hills course.

"I told them it's eight shots higher than Spring Lake (Clarkston's home course)," said Chamberlain.

Competing against Milford and Redskin coach Jim Koreske has always been special for Chamberlain. Chamberlain has coached the Wolves for over 20 years (the last 16 as head coach) and Koreske has been in charge of the Redskins for 31 years.

Chamberlain said Milford and Clarkston have battled each other for over the past 20 years and it might be the oldest high school golf rivalry in Oakland County.

And he hopes the battle continues in the future.

Lake Orion 160, CLARKSTON 160 [Lake Orion wins on second playoff hole]

(Sept. 11 at Oxford Hills)

Golf doesn't get much closer than this.

Clarkston and Lake Orion tied at 160 in regulation, each team's foursome tied again at 20 in the first sudden-death playoff hole and then the Dragons edged the Wolves 18-19 in the second playoff hole.

"It was pretty dramatic to see eight kids walking down the fairway," said Clarkston coach Jim Chamberlain, who last coached a playoff match in 1976. During non-playoff holes in high school, the fairways are limited to foursomes.

"We walked away with our heads high," said Chamberlain about his team's narrow loss on the par-36 course.

The Dragons improved to 4-0 in the Greater Oakland Activities League and Clarkston dropped to 2-1. The Wolves will be out for revenge Sept. 29 when they host Lake Orion at the friendly confines of Spring Lake Country Club.

The eight players who advanced to the two playoff holes were Clarkston's Ryan Karlstrom (39 in regulation), Chris Harbert (40), Jayson Buchmann (40), Jon Dean (41) and Lake Orion's Mike Fleming (39), Scott Davis (39), Darren Burrell (40) and Matt Kern (42).

Adam Haviland (43) and Julio Fonseca (44) were the other two Wolves who competed in regulation.

CLARKSTON 163, Waterford Kettering 164 (Sept. 8 at Pontiac Country Club)

A one-stroke difference was good enough for Clarkston to win its second GOAL match, a 163-164 win over Waterford Kettering.

The close match was more evidence that four teams will be closely contending the GOAL title, Clarkston, Lake Orion, Waterford Kettering and Waterford Mott.

Kettering's Scott Rutterbush earned medalist honors by shooting a 39. But Clarkston's Jayson Buchmann and Jon Dean each fired 40s, teammate Adam Haviland had a 41 and Chris Harbert finished at 42.

Also for the Wolves, Julio Fonseca shot a 43 and Myles Mosher had a 47.

In addition to Rutterbush, Captain Doug Runyon shot a 41 and Tim Dillingham and John Roberts each fired 42s.

Rooney gets hat trick

Clarkston kickers third at Springfield Christian event

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's defense allowed only three goals in three matches as the varsity Wolves took third-place (Division 3) at the annual Springfield Christian Academy Labor Day soccer tournament.

The Wolves opened the tournament on Sept. 8 with a 3-0 victory over Avondale, lost two days later to nemesis Saginaw Heritage, 1-0, and then edged Madison Heights Bishop Foley, 3-2, on Saturday for third-place.

Clarkston coach Dan Fitzgerald credits the switching around of players (fullbacks and a sweeper) with the improvement in defense.

In the first match, a shutout over Avondale, it wasn't just the defense that shined. Clarkston forward Scott Rooney, described as one of the state's best players by his coach, completed a hat trick.

Rooney scored his first goal 15 minutes into the match and then followed with another 10 minutes later. Aaron Phillips assisted on both (Phillips and Rooney were selected as members of the all-tournament team for their efforts in the three matches).

The senior forward earned the hat trick in the second half after taking a pass from Chris Colburn.

Fitzgerald said Avondale, at first, may not have known about Rooney's reputation, but they found out quickly.

"They figured it out but they just couldn't stop him," said Fitzgerald.

Goalkeeper Nathan Forbes earned his first shutout of the season.

In the second match, Saginaw Heritage scored a goal five minutes into the match and then held on for a 1-0 win.

Heritage then advanced to the finals of the tournament, losing to the Ann Arbor Huron River Rats.

The Wolves knocked at the Hawks' doorstep but it was in vain.

"We probably had five good chances," said Fitzgerald. "We pretty much controlled the play but couldn't put it in."

Clarkston certainly knows about Heritage. The Hawks defeated the Wolves three times last season, including in the regionals. Heritage went on to lose in the Class A state finals.

"Sometimes certain teams struggle against other teams," said Fitzgerald.

Clarkston will get at least one more crack at Heritage when it hosts the Hawks Oct. 15.

The Wolves nipped Bishop Foley, 3-2, in the consolation game.

Clarkston's Ray Torrance opened the scoring by knocking in a goal after taking a pass from Phillips. Rooney then put the Wolves in front 2-0, scoring on another pass from Phillips.

The Ventures closed the gap to 2-1 before the half.

Twenty minutes into the second half, Rooney scored what proved to be the winning goal. Pat Forbes passed the ball which was then headed in by Rooney.

Five minutes later, Bishop Foley cut its deficit to 3-2 but the Wolf defense and goalkeeper Nathan Forbes held on for the win.

Mobile home park calls for protest

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Residents of the Chateau Oak Hill mobile home park are scheduled to strike against management on Sept. 19-20.

According to Marge Pox, more than 100 fellow residents are expected to protest in front of their Dixie Highway, Springfield Township, park. They will be joined by supporters from the nearby Springfield Estates development and the Mobile Home Owners Legislative Association (MOLA).

Pox said the strike was called over a $10 rent increase and charges connected to children and pets residing in the mobile home park.

She said the Chateau Land Development Co., Mount Clemens, owns and operates similar trailer parks in Oakland, Macomb, St. Clair and Genessee counties. However, only the Oakland County renters are charged a fee for the number of children and pets in the home.

Pox said negotiations between management and residents have been going on since June, but she sees no settlement in sight.

"We're being forced to strike because there's too many inconsistencies to ignore," Pox said. "We just want to be treated like the rest of Chateau Hill's mobile home parks."

Don't put home at risk: Review insurance policy

The Michigan Association of CPAs points out that you may risk losing your house and its contents from an unexpected casualty if you don't periodically review your homeowner policy to be sure that it provides adequate, up-to-date coverage.

How much coverage do you need?

As a rule of thumb, it's wise to insure your home for at least 80 percent of the estimated cost to rebuild it.

The assumption is that since homes are rarely destroyed completely, you can obtain adequate coverage and save money on your premiums if you insure your home for less than it would cost to replace the entire structure.

So, for example, if you bought 80 percent or $96,000 worth of coverage on your $120,000 home, and the house burned to the ground, you would be covered for $96,000 worth of damage. However, if your home suffered $20,000 worth of damage, your policy may cover you for the entire amount, not just 80 percent of the claim. If you insure your home for less than 80 percent of its replacement value, your insurance carrier may also deduct depreciation from your loss.

Assessing the risks

Although the most common homeowner insurance policy, HO-3, is referred to as "all-risk" coverage, many risks are actually not covered. With this type of policy, the house and other structures on the premises are insured for damage resulting from fire, theft, vandalism, falling objects and even the freezing of plumbing, heating or air conditioning systems, among other perils.

However, if you live in an area susceptible to floods and earthquakes, damage resulting from such occurrences is usually not covered in a typical HO-3 policy. For this reason, you may need to purchase insurance to supplement your standard homeowner policy.

Replacement costs vs. cash value

While reviewing your homeowner policy, be sure you take time to assess the value of the contents of your home.

In a standard policy, your furniture and other contents are covered for up to 50 percent of the amount insurance on your dwelling. So, for example, if you hold $96,000 of coverage on your physical dwelling, the policy would provide $48,000 of coverage on the contents.

Most policies cover the actual cash value of property damage by a covered peril. The actual cash value is the replacement value of the personal property less depreciation.

Depending on your home's contents, it may make sense to pay a higher premium to insure your property for the real replacement cost. Replacement cost coverage generally enables you to insure the contents of your home for up to 70 percent of the policy amount.

Personal articles floaters

If you've inherited valuable antique jewelry or purchased expensive fur coats in the past few years and haven't changed your owner's policy, chances are you're underinsured.

Standard homeowner policies usually insure such items up to certain limits, such as $1,000. You may need to purchase a personal articles floater that covers these possessions or request blanket coverage, which raises the limits for certain items.

Liability coverage

Most homeowner policies also offer you insurance protection for injury to others or damage to their property, even when you are away from home.

However, CPAs warn, this doesn't mean you will be financially protected if you are suddenly faced with a lawsuit seeking hundreds of thousands of dollars in damages. Typically, your homeowner's policy might include $100,000 in liability limits. To increase your liability limits, you may want to consider a personal liability umbrella policy.

Clearly, homeowner policies offer you protection for more than home-related accidents. However, it's important that you understand the limits of that protection and secure additional coverage when your circumstances change.

The above information was provided by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

Annual maintenance good for hot water furnaces

Q: I don't have the budget for a full-blown renovation. Can you suggest some economical pick-me-ups for my house?

A: If you are looking for ways to gradually upgrade your house, many options don't require a lot of money and can aesthetically enhance your home, while also increasing its value.

A lot of these improvements can be done with a few tools or by hiring just one subcontractor.

Of course, before adding any special touches, the house should already be in basically good shape, with a decent paint job and working windows and doors. It would not be wise to spend money on special effects before the house is presentable and in good working order.

Lighting fixtures or ceiling fans can dramatically change a dining room, a living room or an entrance foyer. A visit to an electric store is well worth the trip.

You will see that for between $100 and $300, you can find a chandelier to go above the dining room table. Many electric stores also carry decorative ceiling moldings for centering above the fixture. These moldings cost between $25 and $150 and are easy to paint and install.

If your interior doors are very lightweight and plain, they probably are hollow-core doors, with no raised panels. You can buy very good doors to replace these for about $100 each. You only have to purchase the door; you can reuse the hinges from the old door, unless you want to upgrade to brass or polished chrome hinge.

If the existing doors are of a quality you like, you may choose to replace the handles and hinges with a decorative type. All you'll need is a screwdriver. If you do change the hardware on the doors in a room, you may also want to look at changing the window pulls and the window-sash locks to match.

A more substantial improvement is crown molding. Choose the molding for higher ceilings. You need not put it in all rooms, but perhaps just the living room and dining room.

A reproduction of wood molding has been manufactured recently in a durable foam, which can be cut and installed easily. This product is well worth checking out before you decide to use wood. If you do decide on wood molding, you probably should hire a carpenter, as it takes a lot of skill and special saws to miter the corners.

A bathroom can be improved by installing a pedestal sink for around $125 to $325 for the fixture. It may be necessary to hire a plumber to change the sink, as the drain assembly is sometimes difficult to install.

Also, for small bathrooms, you may consider installing a large mirror on an entire wall to make the room appear larger. In addition, a multitude of styles and finishes are available for towel bars and other accessory hardware for the bathroom.

Q: The house we just bought has an oil-fired boiler. What do we need to know about this equipment?

A: If you have an oil- or gas-fired boiler to heat water for the radiators in your home, it is important to have it inspected, unless it is still under warranty. If the boiler is an older unit, it should be placed on an annual maintenance plan. These maintenance plans are available through utility companies, which also offer priority delivery service and budgeted payment plans.

Common concerns over this equipment are leaks from the exhaust ducts and general efficiency of the unit. Locate the emergency shut-off switch in the event you ever smell fumes that may emanate from this equipment.

If a radiator is not heating, open the shut-off valve at the bottom of the radiator. At times, these old valves are frozen shut or broken off. A licensed plumber should be contacted to make the repair. If the shut-off valve is open, the problem may be air in the lines, preventing the recirculation of the water in the system.

Bleeding the radiator (letting any trapped air out) involves purchasing a key (available at most hardware stores), which will open the small valve on the top side of the radiator. Before you open this valve to bleed the unit, have a bucket ready to catch the water after the air has been bled from the unit. After a few second of water flow, turn off the valve.

The old large cast-iron oil furnaces can be so inefficient that replacing them with new compact oil or gas furnaces usually makes good monetary sense. Some companies will install these on a payment plan to spread out the costs of a new unit. This, together with the energy savings, eases the money spent. Also, the new unit will increase the value of the home.

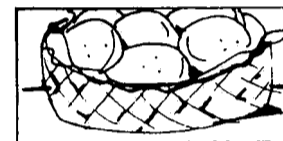

The boiler puts off a lot of heat itself, so make sure no items are within several feet of the the unit, and no flammable materials, including paint, are kept in the boiler room or the general vicinity.

If there are directions for the furnace, take time to read them to learn how to turn off and relight the pilot burner and how to set the temperature controls for the water recirculating pump. During the warm season, turn off the pilot to save fuel costs.

Protect your driveway from Old Man Winter

If your concrete driveway is beginning to crack and chip, consider making a few small repairs to help protect the surface throughout the long, cold winter. Simple measures taken now may help you avoid major repairs later.

The ravaging effects of winter can cause seemingly small cracks and chips to turn into wide gaps and potholes. As the temperature drops, water that has been deposited into cracks and small holes expands as it turns to ice, pushing the gaps in the surface wider apart. This happens thousands of times before springtime, leaving larger cracks and holes each time.

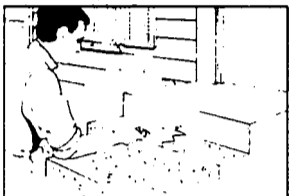

Today, many products can mend worn and chipped

THE RAVAGING effects of Old Man Winter can turn small cracks and chips in concrete outside your home into wide rifts and holes as ice pushes the gaps wider apart. Simple maintenance on these areas this fall may help you avoid extensive resurfacing next spring.

To keep mirrors and sliding glass doors from fogging up, fill the tub first with cold water, then add the hot water.

It takes 4,000 crocuses to make an ounce of saffron.

concrete. Some of these products are versatile self-bonding materials designed specifically for this section resurfacing or repairs, of 1/2-inch or less, to existing concrete.

Here are a few tips to keep in mind when beginning a concrete repair project.

■ Prepare the surface properly. The area to be resurfaced must be structurally sound with all loose sections of concrete removed. Remove foreign material such as dirt, sand, dust, paint, oil and grease by flushing with water and sweeping briskly with a stiff broom. If grease and oil spots remain, scrub the area vigorously with a strong detergent solution, then flush with water. Some residue stains may require treating with a commercial grade muriatic acid.

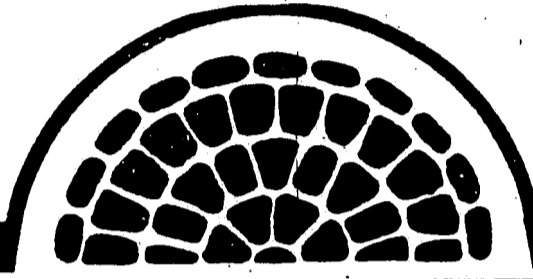

■ Repair minor cracks individually. If a driveway is littered with only a few minor cracks, mix the repair product to a troweling consistency and repair each crack separately. Using a hammer and chisel, widen cracks to an inverted "v" shape and fill with sand and cement mixture. Force the sand mix into place with a trowel and then level.

Allow repair to cure prior to resurfacing.

■ Resurface for more extensive repairs. If the area has a number of cracks and chips, repair cracks then resurface the entire space with a coating of the repair product. Mix the product to a flowable or "thick paint" consistency to spread evenly over a large area. Spread the concrete resurface with a wide soft-bristle brush. "Finish" by brooming or brushing the surface in one direction so that brush marks show uniformly.

In addition to driveway maintenance or repairs, some products may be used for a variety of repairs, including mending steps and walkways; horizontal setting of stone, marble, slate, flagstone, brick and patio block; repairing old masonry; moisture proofing and beautifying basement walls; and leveling uneven concrete surfaces.

Simple, low-cost measures save energy in home

Some actions you take to protect the environment—recycling, driving the car less often, using environmentally safe products—require a change in lifestyle.

The following home energy-saving techniques help the environment, too, but they are simple, inexpensive and can lower your heating, cooling and water heating bills every month without changing your lifestyle.

Insulating doors and windows

Start with your home's biggest energy wasters—the window and exterior doors. More heating and cooling dollars escape through these—per square inch—than through any other part of your home. For instance, heat passes through a window with a single pane of glass 14 times faster than through a well-insulated wall. So even if you have properly insulated your home, you still can be wasting money and energy.

ADD storm windows and caulking to keep the warm air in and the cold air out.

Storm windows or double-pane windows stop this energy drain. This extra layer of glass creates a valuable insulating air space between the glass panes. Adding a storm door will create the same insulation effect between the doors.

Caulking and weatherstripping

After insulating your windows and doors, don't overlook their caulking and weatherstripping needs. Caulking, a rubber-like material that expands and contracts, seals air leaks around each pane of window glass, and between the actual frames of doors and windows and the house.

Weatherstripping is a flexible material (foam, rubber, felt or aluminum) that helps to assure a snug fit between the parts of the doors and windows that open and close. Weatherstripping must be placed around the sides, top and bottoms of windows. This keeps outside air out, and inside air in.

These simple measures can save a surprising amount of money and energy. Almost 40 percent of your monthly heating and cooling bill could be going through cracks due to poorly caulked and weatherstripped doors and windows. Caulking and weatherstripping is cheap, and the materials are easy to find at almost any hardware store.

Water heating

In the average American house, water heating is the second largest energy user. Save water and the energy needed to keep it hot by maintaining an energy-efficient water heating system and conserving hot water.

Start with the water heating tank itself:

- Keeping more hot water on hand than you need can waste energy.

- For every 10 degrees you lower the temperature, you can save about 6 percent of your water heating energy.

- If the sides of your water heater feel warm to the touch, you may need more insulation. Wrap a water-heater blanket around the water heater, especially if the water heater is in an unheated area of your home.

- In addition to insulating that water heater, you will also save money by insulating the hot water pipes leaving the water heater.

Low-flow shower heads and faucet aerators reduce water flow, saving both water and energy. Aerated showerheads and faucets mix air with water to maintain pressure, and low-flow showerheads pulse the water flow. These simple devices are easily installed and can reduce the amount of water and energy used by 50 percent.

Thermostat setback

A set-back thermostat allows you to change the temperature setting, or turn off your heating or cooling system, at preset times. Each morning when you leave, and each evening when you return, the temperature changes to save money.

For more information on saving energy all around your house, call your electric utility's residential marketing department.

Don't use rubber gloves when polishing silver and don't store silver with rubber bands. Rubber darkens silver.

Here's a hint for cooks: there are three teaspoons in a tablespoon.

Savor herb flavor, aroma this winter

If your garden has left you overwhelmed with a bumper crop of dill, basil, parsley or other fresh herbs, you may wish to preserve the aroma and flavor for the winter ahead.

Sylvia Treitman, home economist for the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service, offers the following helpful hints to get you started:

- Gather fresh herbs in the morning. Snip with scissors. Harvest leaves before plant flowers. Rinse well. Dry on paper towels.

- Dry herbs by tying stems together in small bunches and hang upside down in warm, dry room. A clean brown bag with holes is a good dust cover while drying.

- Herbs can be frozen without blanching. Wash, drain and spread on a flat tray to freeze. When firm, pack into freezer containers or freezer bags.

For more information, call the Food and Nutrition Hotline 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday at 858-0904.

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP LIBRARY
CLARKSTON, MICHIGAN

IN JUNE, Gladys Teggerdine Crawford and some of her children and grandchildren visited Jim and Irene Russell of 61 N. Main St., Clarkston. The whole group poses for a photo on the porch before eating lunch. Gladys' father, David Teggerdine, built the house in 1919, while Gladys was away at school. She earned a bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, and her children and many grandchildren also attended U-M. Her children, Don and Barbara, say they enjoyed fishing and ice skating on the Mill Pond and Parke Lake during visits to their grandparents' home in downtown Clarkston.

She was married in Main Street home

(This is the last of a three-part series about the Teggerdine family.)

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

As newlyweds, Gladys Teggerdine and her first husband Gerald McNaught discovered a few benefits when visiting Gladys' parents' home in downtown Clarkston.

"My father never thought that a small roast was as good as a big one," Gladys, 92, says, adding that she and Gerald always took the extra roast home.

Gladys' family laughs in Jim and Irene Russells' living room. Some things never change, says Gladys' daughter, Barbara Hunter of North Carolina. Gladys and Gerald eventually had three children: Donald, now of Minnesota; Barbara, now of North Carolina; and Marilyn Morrison, now of Connecticut. All followed in their mother's footsteps and earned one or more degrees from the University of Michigan.

Barbara urges her mother to tell about her wedding day.

Gladys smiles but doesn't say anything. Her expression seems to say, "Where does the story begin?"

But Barbara is persistent, and Gladys' story comes out in bits and pieces.

Her next-door-neighbor, Fanny Irish, made the wedding invitations. Fanny was 10-12 years older, unmarried and very nice, says Gladys, adding that she had nice handwriting.

The wedding itself took place in the backyard of her parents' house. Her parents arranged for a piano player to provide music, and her mother planned for Gladys to come down the central staircase of the house, out the front door, and around to the back.

Gladys, however, did not want such a grand entrance.

"I went through the kitchen and out the back door," she says. "I didn't want the neighbors to see."

Afterward, the couple drove to Grand Rapids that night, then took a boat across Lake Michigan. However, to make events go according to plan, a little conniving was necessary.

"In those days, you did crazy things on Halloween and crazy things when you got married," says Gladys, with a smile beginning to show.

Gerald heard that someone was planning to kidnap the bride.

"We wanted to make sure that didn't happen," says Gladys.

So while Gerald went to get the car, "he left the best man and me in my wedding dress hiding in the bushes," she says, and her listeners laugh at the image.

The actual date: June 27, 1925. The Russells' living room fills with smiles as recognition sets in. This day of Gladys' return visit is also June 27 and would have been her 67th wedding anniversary with the late Gerald McNaught.

But the Russells have a tale of their own to tell. This day is Jim and Irene's wedding anniversary, too — their 22nd. The room erupts into congratulations and exclamations over coincidences.

But it seems one more coincidence marks the house.

Reflections Section C

The Clarkston News

Wednesday, September 16, 1992 Page 1

In its 70-some years, only female children have lived there. Prior to the Russells, the Woolfendens lived in the home and had only daughters while they lived there.

The Russell children attend Clarkston schools.

Gladys says she remembers when town officials built Clarkston High School on Waldon Road (now Clarkston Junior High).

"My father thought it was foolish to build that old high school so far out of town," she says, laughing.

Soon it is past noon and time for lunch. The throng first gathers for a group photo on the porch, and Gladys notes that the tall trees either side of the house are new.

The magic of Gladys' stories begins to fade as cars and trucks of the present roar over the atmosphere of the past that she has created. Arrangements for lunch are made, people scatter, and soon only Gladys' memories are left lingering in the Russell home.

Cancer-fighting tip: Rich desserts can be the largest contributors of fat in diets. Choose low-fat alternatives such as fruit or frozen yogurt.

A Clarkston-area resident has been promoted to vice president, manager of computer operations at the D'Arcy Masius Benton & Bowles advertising agency.

Greg Anderson, 42, joined the firm in 1979 as a project manager, applications development, and advanced to senior technical support analyst in 1982. In 1984, he was elevated to manager of computer operations, a position he held until his recent promotion. This is a new position at the agency.

Before joining the company, Anderson was data processing manager at Michigan Screw Products and Flint Ink Corp. He earned an associate's degree from Schoolcraft College, and a bachelor's degree from Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo.

Pet of the Week

DETROIT would make a terrific pet in any household.

Daring Detroit

Detroit is as fun-loving and exciting as his namesake indicates.

This 6-month-old red and white hound dog weighs 30 pounds and is housebroken. He's not aggressive, so he's good with children and other pets.

His $72 adoption fee includes neutering.

To see Detroit, visit the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Road, Rochester Hills, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Three families host exchange students

Three area families are welcoming new children into their homes.

Bill and Cindy Garner of Davisburg, Frank and Katy Desrochers of Clarkston and Richard and Gail Selvala of Clarkston are hosting students through a Youth For Understanding (YFU) International Exchange.

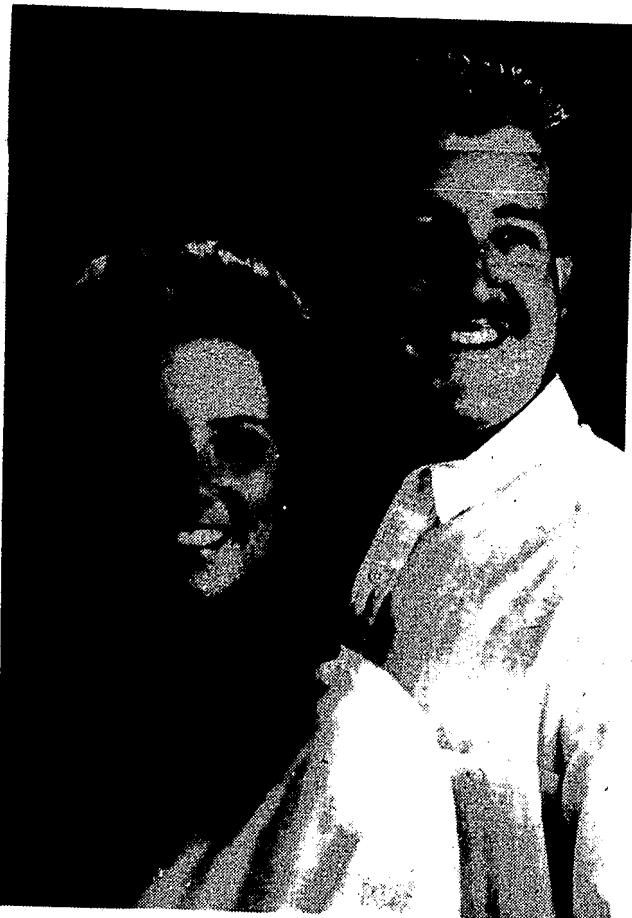

The Garners will receive a new "daughter" Natalia Viang Waltrick Souza of Brazil.

The Desrochers family welcomes Helene Mariann Anderson of Denmark.

Jan-Philipp Kacza of Germany will be the Selvalas' new "son."

All three YFU students will attend Clarkston High School and will live with these families during the academic year.

Engagement

Dr. Harold and Norma Ford of Cranberry Lake Road, Independence Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Kelly, to Michael May of Plainwell, son of Russell and Marianne May of Sashabaw Road, Independence Township. The bride-elect holds a bachelor's degree in elementary education from Western Michigan University (WMU), Kalamazoo, and is a special education paraprofessional for Clarkston Community Schools. Her fiancé holds a bachelor's degree from WMU in criminal justice and is a public safety officer in the City of Kalamazoo. A June 26, 1993, wedding is planned.

In service

Marine PFC Ryan Pyke, son of John and Beverly Pyke of Waldon Road, Independence Township, recently completed recruit training and was promoted to his present rank.

During the training cycle at Parris Island, S.C., recruits are taught the basics of battlefield survival, introduced to typical military daily routine and personal and professional standards.

Pyke is a 1985 graduate of Springfield Christian Academy, Springfield Township.

Airman First Class Rodney E. Denne was graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas. A 1989 graduate of Our Lady of the Lakes High School, Waterford, he is the son of Frederick E. Denne of Waterford and Sheilah M. Denne of Oak Park Drive, Independence Township. During the six weeks of training, Denne studied Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

Marine Lance Cpl. Bruce Banks, son of Bruce Banks II of Edgar Road, Springfield Township, recently reported for duty with 7th Engineer Support Battalion, 1st Force Service Support Group, Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif. He joined the Marine Corps in August 1990.

Honors

Yvette Havel, daughter of Karen Havel of Pontiac and Bill Havel of Clarkston, received a $5,000 Paul Douglas Teacher Scholarship for the 1992-93 school year from the Michigan Department of Education.

Havel is a junior at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant. She is majoring in mathematics and computer science in the teacher education program.

Jim Simonson, a junior at Clarkston High School, has been selected to perform in the Blue Lake 1993 International Jazz Band.

Simonson was chosen to the 18-piece band while attending a fine arts camp in Twin Lake during summer. The band is composed of high school musicians from all over the country. Simonson will play bass.

The jazz band will be traveling to Europe for a three-week tour next June. Their scheduled stops include: Germany, Denmark, Sweden, Holland, Belgium, France, Switzerland and Austria.

At CHS, Simonson performs in the marching, concert and jazz bands.

Nathan Cook of Clarkston and Corrie Glazer of Davisburg were named to the dean's list at Ferris State University in Big Rapids, Michigan.

Jessica L. Miller of Clarkston received a legacy scholarship from the Western Michigan University Alumni Association Southeast Michigan Chapter.

Miller, a 1992 graduate of Clarkston High School, received a one-time, nonrenewable $1,000 grant. She was a three-year member of the tennis team and drama club, was vice president of her senior class and was active in many theater productions. Her father, Larry Miller, is a WMU, Kalamazoo, alumnus.

Mary Ann Whipp of Amy Drive, Independence Township, is the grand prize winner of a $50 gift certificate to the Village Bookstore, Clarkston.

Whipp's name was drawn from among 18 names of readers who completed the entire program of the Summer Reading Club for Adults at Independence Township Library. Club members who read books in at least five categories during the summer months were eligible for the grand prize.

Olympic winners

JERALD and Glenda May of the Clarkston area smile with Olympic spirit during a reception at the Summer Olympic Games in Barcelona, Spain. May was one of the lucky winners of an all-expense-paid trip for two to the Olympic Games in Visa's Olympic Trip Giveaway sweepstakes. Each purchase with a Visa Card during the promotional period was an automatic entry to the sweepstakes. Visa was a worldwide sponsor of the 1992 Olympic Games and contributed $2 million to the U.S. Olympic Team through cardholder transactions.

Four area high school students have been named as semi-finalists in the 1993 Merit Scholarship competition.

Stacey A. Galazin, Shea Krammer, Adam Pastor, and Luke Windram, all of Clarkston High School, are part of the 15,000 semi-finalists this year.

Next spring, the 1993 Merit Scholars will be announced, and they will receive awards worth $25 million for college undergraduate study.

New arrival

It's a boy for proud parents Martin and Lauri Cervantez.

Jaymz Andrew was born Aug. 31, 1992. He weighed 8 pounds, 14 ounces, and measured 21 1/2 inches long. He has two sisters, Jessica and Kellie. The Cervantez family resides in Germany.

Grandparents are Harold and Sandra Anderson of Clarkston; Jesse Cervantez of Rochester; Pat and Nancy Fahey and Bob and Katy Hodge of Portland, Oregon.

Engagement

Carlson, Tallant to wed

Doug and Lin Carlson of Phelan Drive, Independence Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Lauren Ann, to Douglas Tallant of Troy. Douglas is the son of Mary Lou and Charles Tallant.

Both are 1991 graduates of Michigan State University, East Lansing. Lauren, a 1987 Clarkston High School graduate, is completing her graduate studies in social work at Wayne State University, Detroit. Douglas is employed by Integrated Systems Technologies in Warren.

The couple has set a July 10, 1993, wedding date in Jonesville at the historic Munro House Bed and Breakfast.

VERY INTERESTING Estate Auction

Estate of CHARLES & EVA CALHOUN SATURDAY, Sept. 26th at 10am 333 Groveland Rd, Orionville, MI (4 MI south of Goodrich, off M-15)

AUCTIONEER NOTE: This is a very unusual sale, because we have no idea of what all is here. Mrs. Calhoun lived on this 100 acre farm till the age of 90. This farm had a fire in it so it makes it difficult to find things in there with no electric. All we can tell you is we have found some very nice and interesting items from the house and outbuildings and here is a sample of the findings this far.

Lots of glassware, such as, Benningtons Rebekah at the Well, depression glass, carnival glass, some occupied Japan, crystal, and hundreds more, antiques- lots of nice pieces of furniture including a very sharp Victorian 4pc bedroom, from the barn- many hand tools, garden tools, lathe (wood), drill press. And we are still finding hundreds of things, items of special interest- Ford 9N tractor, 1930 Ford Model I, 1965 Chevy Impala with only 35,000 miles, 3-VW's, horse drawn farm equipment, other misc. Farm equipment, old advertising signs, antique tools, antique auto items and parts, lawn tractor, and hundreds of other items far too numerous to mention.

Don't miss this one for it could be the sale of a lifetime!

Apple treats made by patriotic women for festival

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

It seems only appropriate that a group promoting history and patriotism be responsible for making apple pie treats for the upcoming Crafts and Cider Festival.

For the sixth consecutive year, the Sashabaw Plains chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) will be active in the Sept. 19-20 event. The 32-member organization is composed of ancestors, traced through genealogy records, who were military or civilian patriots of the American Revolution.

The Sashabaw Plains chapter includes residents from the Clarkston, Holly, Fenton, Waterford, Brandon and Springfield Township areas.

This year, DAR is preparing 30 pie-pans and selling "apple pie squares" at 75 cents a piece. They'll also be offering half-pan pies — the equivalent of two pies — for $9, and "Divinity cookies" for 10 cents a piece.

According to chapter Regent Dorothy Lowe, her organization became an annual participant in the festival so it could raise money for operational costs. She said the

"Who better to make all-American, apple-pie desserts than a group who actively promotes patriotism in their communities?"

Dorothy Lowe

idea of making apple pie treats came from the festival's sponsor, the Clarkston Community Historical Society.

"The Historical Society was eager for us to participate in the festival because they'd been looking for a group to make apple pie-type desserts," Lowe said. "We loved the idea. Who better to make all-American, apple-pie desserts than a group who actively promotes patriotism in their communities?"

Lowe said her group enjoys the festival because it gives DAR's members a chance to work together and meet people from other communities.

"Working at the festival is really fun. It's made us a much closer group over the years," she said.

Lowe said success also motivates DAR to set up a booth each September. She said her group's goodies are a hit every year, usually selling out half way through the second day.

Lowe feels the festival is one of Clarkston's biggest draws of the year.

"You'd be surprised at how well known this festival has become over the years," she said. "The art and craft exhibits are just beautiful, and people seem always interested in visiting the historical homes.

"It really makes for a nice weekend," Lowe added.

FOUR members of DAR have put a lot of time and effort into this year's Crafts and Cider Festival. They include (from left): Dorothy Lowe, Dorcias Wolf, Mary Lou Andres and Patricia Beach. Pies will be sold as pieces or half-pans.

Crafts festival Saturday and Sunday

As summer winds down and the air becomes crisp and cool, it's time once again for the annual Crafts and Cider Festival.

Sponsored by the Clarkston Community Historical Society, this two-day event is slated for the weekend of Sept. 19-20. The festival's features more than 80 artists and crafts people displaying their works and wares.

As the festival's name implies, hot and cold apple cider is sold, as well as doughnuts and other tempting goodies from local civic organizations.

There's bound to be something for everyone at the Crafts and Cider Festival, including a playground and nearby activities for the kids, and walking tours of Clarkston's historic district conducted by the historical society.

The festival originated in the early 1970s as the Clarkston Community Historical Society's main fundraiser. In the beginning, only about 10 crafts people were featured, most of them from the Clarkston area.

Since then, the event has grown to nearly 80 artists from all over the country. The historical society uses the proceeds raised at the festival to fund educational programs and has recently assisted in funding the new historical room in the Independence Township Library.

The Crafts and Cider Festival takes place 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday in Clarkston's Depot Park. For more information, call Kim Huttenlocher at 625-2499.
