Man takes sheriff car

Five-car chase follows

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It was just like a scene from the Dukes of Hazard Saturday night when a man escaped from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCS) in one of its own cars.

John David Walker, 29, of Independence Township was just a suspect in the larceny of hubcaps that occurred at the Chalet Villa off of Tuson, Independence Township.

Now charges against him include felonious assault and assault with intent to murder.

Walker had been stopped on Airport and Andersonville Roads in Waterford Township in connection to the theft of hubcaps; 29 were found in his car.

He was handcuffed from behind and placed into the back seat of an OCS car. While the officer was taking inventory of Walker's car, Walker maneuvered the handcuffs around his behind, down his legs and around his body, stated Lt. Joe Quisenberry. Walker then climbed over the front seat and took off.

A chase involving five other police cars ensued. Quisenberry said the other cars rammed into the car Walker was driving in an attempt to stop him. At one point on Sashabaw Road, Walker did stop the car he was driving and put his hands above his head as if he were going to surrender.

An officer got out of his car and approached Walker to apprehend him. Walker then allegedly attempted to run over the officer who had to jump out of the way.

Walker was finally apprehended in front of the Pine Knob Music Theatre on Sashabaw Road. The car he was driving became disabled from the ramming.

Quisenberry stated no property was damaged, except to the cars, and no one was hurt in the chase.

A 15-count warrant was issued against Walker. (See CAR, next page)

Planners approve 82 acres on Maybee

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Despite some audience protest, the Independence Township approved the final site plan for a planned unit development (PUD) on Maybee Road.

The commission voted 5-0 Sept. 10 to approve the final site plan for 82 detached condominiums on 36 acres. Rainee Stricklin was absent.

A PUD is a rezoning tied to a specific site plan and requires approval from the planning commission and township board.

If the township board also approves the PUD, the condominiums will be built on the south side of Maybee Road, between the businesses of Dixie Highway and the Ottawa Park Cemetery.

The project calls for trails throughout the complex, through the wooded area and to the pond. The units will be designed to look like single-family homes.

Developers of The Pines of Clarkston, Wineman &

Komer Building, said a forester had surveyed the property for exceptional trees and planned to save the 17 he found.

The developers also said they added visitor parking and created more open space between the development and Maybee Road per the board's early requests.

Sherrill Bailey, whose home is between Maybee Road and the proposed development, said of the final site plan, "Compared to what we started with, I'm pleasantly surprised — not happy but surprised."

When developers came to the commission over a year ago, they had proposed to build 105 attached condominiums on the 36 acres.

Mrs. Culucci of the Deer Lake Subdivision voiced disapproval of the PUD.

"I object to this (PUD) project. Everyone who lives here wants it to be rural. You can't see the forest for the trees. You're losing Clarkston. It's going to be Birmingham, and all of the people who moved here to live in the country will have to move. I think you're all out of your minds," she said.

Pancakes, crafts and more

Pancakes, fresh produce, crafts and a sidewalk sale are good reasons to go to downtown Davisburg Saturday.

The 8:30 a.m. to noon pancake breakfast takes place at the Hart Community Center at the Mill Pond Park, Springfield Township. The meal costs $3.50 for adults and $2.50 for children ages 3-12. Proceeds help support the Springfield Parks and Recreation programs.

Following the breakfast is a Harvest Market, featuring fresh produce and crafts between noon and 5 p.m.

All through the day, area businesses boast sidewalk sales.

Independence residents to see hike in taxes

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Residents in Independence Township can expect to see at least $40 tacked onto their next tax bill.

On Sept. 16, the township board voted 6-0 to raise tax rates this year. Trustee Daniel Travis was absent from the meeting.

Township officials estimate the average homeowner in Independence will find an additional $44.33 on their December bill, compared to last year.

Last year's total tax levy was recorded at 7.0347 mills. The 1992 total tax levy was approved at 7.8205 mills.

One mill is $1 for every $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

The Headlee Amendment to the state constitution dictates the maximum millage rate each year, using property values, the rate of inflation and new construction as factors.

The difference in tax rates over the last year resulted from the following hikes: Fire millage up by .2805 mills from last year's rate of 2.5095; Police millage up by .2987 mills from 1991's 1.9121; Library Debt millage up by

Suspect takes patrol car

Charges included: assault with intention to commit murder, stealing the car, escaping lawful custody, failing to yield to a police signal, and four counts of felonious assault.

Walker was arraigned Tuesday, Sept. 22, in 52nd District Court, Independence township. He remains in Oakland County Jail unable to pay his $300,000 bond.

His preliminary exam was set for 9 a.m. Oct. 2 before Judge Gerald McNally.

Independence Township Millage Rates

Fund	1992	1991
General	1.1905	1.1905
Fire	2.7900	2.5095
Police	2.2108	1.9121
Library Operations	0.7324	0.7324
Safety Path	0.4138	0.4138
Library Debt	0.4830	0.2764
Total	7.8205	7.0347

.2066 mills from last year's rate of .2764.

The safety path rates stayed the same at .4138 mills, as did the general millage at 1.1905 and the library operational millage at .7324. The general millage covers governmental operations and the parks and recreation department.

According to township finance director Kerry Donahue, $3,695,427 was collected from the township last year. In 1992, he estimates the township will garner $4,157,865.

The township keeps only 12.5 cents of every dollar collected, while the schools take in about 72 cents. Oakland County collects the remainder for its operations.

Donahue said the expansion of services account for rises in the police and fire millages. For example, he said, the fire millage rates rose due to the purchase of a new pumper.

Prior to the board's approval of the tax hikes, three area residents voiced disapproval of any rise in taxes.

"I've been here 31 years, and I believe everyone has the right to vote on a tax increase, not just the board," said James Raymond of Ortonville Road.

Township Clerk Joan McCrary explained that additional tax money is needed to cover the costs associated with the growing number of citizens in the township.

A story and editorial in last week's Clarkston News should have said that the Springfield Township Board voted unanimously to freeze the millage rate but only verbally agreed to accept a salary freeze for elected officials. The board is likely to vote on the salary issue after the budget hearing this fall.

Parents tired of conflict, voter apathy

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

Taxes, trust and time were the main issues during a Clarkston school forum last week.

During the three-hour forum on facilities, about 30 people asked questions and gave suggestions.

Some among the about 80 people in the audience said taxes were absolutely too high, regardless of space problems that may require a new building or additions to existing buildings.

Others said they couldn't trust school officials to tell the truth about problems and needs.

Still others said time was running out to debate such issues and immediate action is required.

The comments followed presentations by school officials on student enrollment increases and space shortages. The officials asked for suggestions and solutions from those in attendance. (See related story.)

Money was at the crux of the discussion.

Independence Township resident Gale Walker said, "The bottom line is the majority of the people feel they can't pay a higher millage rate than we already have."

Superintendent Gary Haner noted the pitfalls of living in a bedroom community: "We spend the least on education per child in Oakland County, but our tax rate is among the highest in Oakland County."

School board member Janet Thomas said that the methods of funding education have changed. Years ago, Clarkston-area residents paid 20-some mills for schools. Now, they pay 38.3 mills, which is $38.30 for every $1,000 in assessed property valuation.

Yet school officials say the district is running out of space and needs money for repairs and for additions or new buildings.

Rosemary Lewis, a teacher of 28 pupils at Clarkston Elementary, invited anyone to observe her class. "I barely have room for all the children to sit down and hear a story," she said.

"You should see the junior high," piped up one member of the audience. "You can't even walk between the desks."

However, some in the audience did not trust the officials' opinions on the problems and solutions.

For instance, school officials explained that student enrollment in the early 1970s was about the same as now, but the use of the buildings has changed.

"If you're going to have an election, tell us the truth

— it's not the growing population" that's the problem, said Robert Cunningham, referring to state-mandated programs and space requirements as the culprit rather than high student numbers.

Donald McArthur said, "I can't honestly believe you're going to sell anything until you re-establish some credibility."

As an example, he listed "frills" from the prior bond proposal, such as smoking and non-smoking teacher lounges and a large sum of money for "property development."

However, a teacher in the audience explained that the proposal didn't mean two separate teacher lounges but

"I moved to Clarkston because I heard it was a good school system. I won't stay without a good school system."

Tammi Freed

rather dividing one existing lounge into two spaces—one for smokers, the other for non-smokers.

Tom Chen, vice president of the district's architectural consulting firm, said property development included roads, lighting, landscaping and such items required by the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR). The DNR requires an on-site well, sewage processing center, storm water system, and more.

One resident pointed out that communication is a problem. "You guys educate the kids beautifully, but you don't educate the voters," he said.

One member of the audience responded that information comes in school papers, The Clarkston News, Clarkston Connection, from building administrators and school board meetings.

Marcia Green said she and other parents from North Sashabaw Elementary School had formed a "fan-out" phone system to feed each other information.

Another parent said the problems have been apparent since 1988, yet nothing has changed.

"What are you going to do about it? If we passed a bond issue now, it would be five years before we'd have a new high school," he said.

Haner responded, "We're not going to make it work with that many kids. ... Kids will continue to get, because of a strongly committed staff, a solid education."

However, he said, "As our class sizes rise, ... our competitiveness will diminish."

But the parent demanded to know the school's contingency plans and options. What will happen if bond issues continue to fail? What are the options? "What are you going to do?" he asked of Haner.

David Reschke, director of curriculum, said it's up to the school board to adopt a plan of action and a contingency plan, which is likely this fall. Possibilities include double sessions, staggered sessions and summer school, he said.

School board President Joseph Helpem said presenting such options doesn't sit well with residents.

"Every time we do that, the school board has been lambasted for threatening," he said.

One mother asked, "Why don't you want to threaten the community?"

Parent Tammi Freed said, "I moved to Clarkston because I heard it was a good school system. I won't stay without a good school system."

Another parent said, "I've lived in a double-day session once. I will not do it again."

Parent Sherri Kerby said, "We need community support more than we need a new facility."

John Halleran agreed. "The community's got to come together before you're going to pass any bonds."

Parent Brent Michelsen said, "I'd like to see all the emotion directed to Lansing."

Bob Wyatt concurred. "We don't have an appreciation of the problem," said Wyatt. "Historically, we have made do. When something changed, it changed the caliber of the outcome."

But Clarkston schools have persevered in the face of many obstacles, he said: However, kids can't get a job at GM right out of high school, as they did 20 years ago. Education is the key.

"The apathy is great," he said, suggesting that parents write to Tom Middleton — a first-term state representative. "He cares. He's like us."

Officials turn to community for suggestions

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

A new high school? A new elementary school? Additions? Staggered sessions? Double sessions?

These are the options facing residents in the Clarkston school district.

School officials outlined problems and possible solutions during a three-hour facilities forum Sept. 16 and asked for suggestions and opinions from those in attendance. (See related story.)

Bond issue request likely

Superintendent Gary Haner said the school board this fall is likely to vote to put a bond issue on the ballot in winter to raise money to fix space shortages in the district.

A bond issue is a way to borrow money for specific purposes, to be repaid by taxpayers.

Haner said it's up to the board to decide what course of action to take to solve the problems and to decide on a contingency plan should the bond issue fail.

Haner favors a bond issue that would extend current debt, so voters won't see an increase on their tax bills. Rather they will continue to pay the same amount for a longer period of time.

If voters don't support new buildings or additions, other options include double-day school sessions, staggered sessions and summer school. Operating money still may be a problem, however.

Population bulge

The basic cause of the space shortages: Student enrollment of about 5,600 is approaching the high numbers that the district saw in the early 1970s.

Early '70s vs. now

However, back then, six elementary schools served the district — now it has only five. Further, just as enrollment began dropping in the mid-1970s, state and federal requirements kicked in, requiring extra space for special education classrooms, for instance.

And the school curriculum changed between then and now — computer keyboarding classes require computer rooms in elementary schools, for example. Occupa-

"As schools become larger, it becomes more difficult for staff to maintain control."

Deputy Superintendent Mike LaBay

tional and physical therapists require space in each building, as do reading and math support services. And in the early 1970s, 250-260 pupils spent an hour each day in study hall, which is not used at the high school level today and not required in junior high.

So as student enrollment decreased in the mid-1970s, the decline made room for other programs and government requirements.

However, the number of students has increased again — by 278 pupils in fall 1992 compared to fall 1991 — and the space is no longer there to house the youngsters.

Necessary repairs: $10.2 million

On top of all of that, existing structures need maintenance and repairs — $10.2 million worth as of September 1992.

"These are not pie-in-the-sky aesthetic things," said Haner, citing as an example, the $2.5 million needed at Clarkston Junior High for boiling systems, bathroom fixtures, tile replacement and more.

What about ninth-graders?

Further, Clarkston's long-range plan calls for a "middle school" structure — with grades 6-8 in the junior high buildings and grades 9-12 in the high school.

To complete that setup, ninth-graders must move to the high school, a move that has been delayed due to space shortages and money problems. The move is estimated to cost $625,125 — for portable classrooms, desks, lockers, supplies and personnel, such as counselor and media professionals.

Government requirements

Moreover, Public Act 25 requires every school to become accredited (among other requirements) as a way to improve each district and to standardize schools.

Accreditation means meeting minimum requirements for such things as curriculum, teacher-pupil ratios, size of media centers and multi-purpose rooms, extra-curricular activities and more.

According to Bob Burek, former Clarkston High principal and superintendent of Fenton Area Schools, a lack of accreditation could affect college admissions — for borderline pupils only.

Since most Midwestern colleges use standardized test scores, those with the highest scores will gain admittance to colleges, regardless of the accreditation status of their school district. However, those whose scores are not among the highest may need an accredited high school to get into college.

Enrollment likely to increase again

Duane Lewis, assistant superintendent in charge of personnel at Clarkston schools, noted that student enrollment has increased and will continue to do so.

Projections come from StanFred, an independent student population projection firm from Michigan State University, which considers birth rate in Oakland County, housing developments within the school district, economics and the previous year's enrollment.

More students, bond issues destined for district

The increase of 278 pupils this year was at the high end of the range of predictions from StanFred, said Lewis.

The increase, said Lewis, was "not terribly surprising to us."

How does class size affect learning?

Mike LaBay, deputy superintendent in charge of instruction, said there's no clear relationship between size of classes and student achievement.

However, control in the classroom and the school building becomes a problem with large numbers of students, so student safety is at risk.

"As schools become larger, it becomes more difficult for staff to maintain control," said LaBay.

Recess and lunch present problems at the elementary level, and discipline and vandalism problems increase.

In addition, support services of transportation, food, lavatories and instructional programs outside of regular classrooms are more difficult with more kids, he said.

Educational goals of district

Tom Chen, vice president of the school district's architectural consultant firm, Greiner, Inc., described the objectives designed in 1990 by a panel of school officials and parents, reaffirmed in 1991, and OK'd by the school board.

They include the following:

- Neighborhood elementary schools of 500 pupils or less. (Current populations: Andersonville, 409; Bailey Lake, 720; Clarkston, 509; North Sashabaw, 562; and Pine Knob, 637.)

- Technology beginning in elementary school.
- Team teaching in middle school.
- Teacher-student mentorships in middle school.
- Higher-order thinking skills for high school students.

- Preparation of students for 21st century jobs and careers.

Facility needs

To make way for the above objectives and to provide space for the projected student enrollment increases, Chen's firm listed the following recommendations for each level.

Elementary school level

- Effective media centers
- Computer labs
- Areas for arts, music, science
- Learning centers in each classroom
- Adequate cafeterias in all schools
- Safe sites in all schools
- Maintenance for all schools
- Remodeling of all schools for fire safety, disabled students and building code updates
- Construction of new elementary school

Middle school level

- Media centers
- Classroom pods
- Team teaching
- Safe sites
- Maintenance
- Physical education facilities
- Remodeling of schools for fire safety, disabled students and building code updates
- Remodeling of high school for middle school, if more effective

High school level

- Media center — research area
- Integrated technology
- Space for ninth-graders
- Safe site
- Building maintenance
- Physical education, athletic facilities
- Remodeling of schools for fire safety, disabled students and building code updates
- Construction of new high school, if more effective

Recent bond history

In 1992, an $8 million bond election for a new elementary school failed.

In 1990, voters defeated three bond issues equaling $84 million (4.7 mills) that would have paid for a new high school, new elementary school, community pool and renovations to existing buildings. One mill is $1 for every $1,000 in assessed property valuation. (Property is assessed at half its market value.)

In 1989, voters defeated a $68 million bond issue to build a new high school, new elementary school and renovation of existing buildings.

In 1988, voters approved a $5.2 million bond issue to cover building repairs and renovations (1.5 mills in 1988, .7 mills at present).

In 1984, voters passed a bond election to build multi-purpose rooms for all elementary schools.

In 1979, voters defeated a bond issue to build a new junior high school to replace Clarkston Junior High.

Construction history

In 1930, Clarkston Junior High was built (with additions in 1954 and '56). In 1952, Andersonville Elementary was constructed (with additions in 1954 and '57). The same year, Clarkston Elementary was built (with additions in 1952 and '54).

In 1956, Pine Knob Elementary was constructed, followed by Clarkston High in 1959 and Bailey Lake Elementary in 1964 (with additions in 1966).

In 1966, classrooms were added to Clarkston High, and North Sashabaw Elementary was constructed.

In 1969, Sashabaw Junior High was constructed.

First alarm

Morning hazards

The one thing some parents know is how hectic it can be in the morning.

During the hustle and bustle of getting children ready for school, getting ready for work or other activities in the day, some very important things go unchecked.

A pan may be left on an open burner, a dish towel on the stove, a curling iron turned on, or a blow dryer dropped onto a wet towel.

All of the above are potential fire hazards. Make sure you check for them and other possible fire hazards before you leave the house.

After leaving the house, the rush of your life may be hazardous, too. Take the time to slow down in the preparation of your day. Stress is a big killer of people, slow down and enjoy your life and family. It may not be here tomorrow.

Cellular phone pole wins first approval

Anyone who has ever been on the phone and heard it go dead knows the frustration of having to call back again and again.

There's hope in the air for those Cellular One customers who continue to lose contact in Independence Township. The company has received preliminary site approval for a 195-foot-high monopole to be placed in a one-acre lot south of Sashabaw Road and west of I-75.

According to Kevin Cousineau, a site acquisition specialist for Cellular One, said he's been working with the township on the pole for about one year. At one point, the township wanted the phone company to locate its antenna on a tower that the county was putting up on Flemings Lake Road. However, the frequencies were so close there could have been problems, said Cousineau.

The company still needs final site approval from the Independence Township Planning Commission, plus and building permits. Cousineau said the antenna should be constructed in November or December and could begin working in the first part of 1993.

"It's great the township approved this," said Nancy Caruso, a Cellular One customer, township resident and real estate representative for Cousineau's company.

"It's a good public service for the area. They needed to do it a long time ago," she said.

Ronk must name new candidate for DDA board

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

So far, no one has been named to an empty school seat on the Downtown Development Authority (DDA) Board.

Independence Township Supervisor Frank Ronk's

Check bounces over Bibles

Store-owners beware! There is a man on the loose who will bounce checks anywhere.

On Sept. 5, a well-dressed man sporting a lot of gold jewelry walked into the Revelations Bible/ Bookstore on Dixie Highway, Independence Township, a half hour before closing.

"He said that he wanted to buy gifts for his wife and daughter," said Rick Munoz, manager of the store. "He seemed to know what he was looking for."

The man, who signed the check Daniel Wood, bought three deluxe Bibles and some compact discs. In all, the check he wrote amounted to $220.

When the check was returned to the store, Munoz called the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSO) and was referred to the Jackson Police Department.

first recommendation — Clarkston school board Trustee Janet Thomas — has been deemed ineligible because DDA bylaws prohibit school board members from taking a seat on the DDA board.

Ronk did not recommend the reappointment of Gary Haner, who has held the seat for the past two years. Haner, Clarkston school superintendent, took over for former school district employee William Jackson in 1990.

The term of this seat expired Sept. 2.

When asked why he wasn't recommending Haner for his seat, Ronk said the superintendent never officially had the seat.

"Mr. Haner was just filling in for Bill Jackson, who left a couple of years ago," Ronk said.

Ronk said he's contemplating another candidate to represent the school district on the DDA board. He said his recommendation will come before the township board Oct. 6.

Legally, Ronk can recommend appointments to the DDA board, but it's up to the entire township board to approve all selections.

Haner speculates that Ronk's decision not to recommend him to the board revolves around the superintendent's persistence on the DDA rebate of school money and his vote against a proposed second amendment to the DDA's development plan.

The DDA was created to improve landscaping, lighting, roads, water and sewer service along parts of M-15, White Lake Road and Dixie Highway. It receives money through tax increment financing, which captures "excess" money from a base year for use within the DDA district. The excess money includes school money, unless the township board decides otherwise.

AHH! — I'm old?

Catherine Passmore

I had a mid-life crises the other night when I realized that I was actually 23 years old.

I've been this age for a while, so it shouldn't have been a shock ... but it was. So much so that I even got out the calculator to make sure I was really 23.

You see I had made a list when I was still in high school about what I was going to do in my life, and put ages with my goals and accomplishments.

At this point in my life, according to my list, I should be married and pregnant for my first child.

I am not married.
I am not pregnant.
I am not upset about this.

At one time, all I wanted to do was graduate from college, get married, have a baby (in that order) and be a wife and mom for the rest of my life, which I had estimated would last until I'm at least dead or 80, whichever came first.

Oh, yeah, and in my 40s I was going to take up writing seriously, publish a few books, become famous and retire with my husband in Hawaii. This is not a complicated life plan.

Now that I think about it, I am very glad that my life didn't turn out the way that I had planned it when I was 16, and I'm not too worried about my future.

I will get married some day. My friend Brock and I have decided that if neither of us are married by the time we could retire we'll marry one another.

If I don't have children, my friends will have enough for me to play with, and then when I get bored I can leave.

In my semi-short life I've learned a wonderful thing about living. Life can not be lived by a chart or list. Tomorrow I could die; next month I could land a job with CNN or the National Enquirer; next year I may be on the "Today" show plugging my best selling book.

"Where will I be five years from now? I delight in not knowing. That's one of the greatest things about life — it's full of wonderful surprises."

Editorial

Residents must inform selves

If residents haven't attended Clarkston Board of Education meetings in the past, they should plan to attend this fall. (First and third Mondays, 7:30 p.m., at the board office on Clarkston Road, Independence Township.)

Problems — complex and countless — face the school district, and the board will tackle them once again. Their decision could affect residents' pocket-books, property values, children's education, and the future of the community.

It's up to each person to inform his or herself, especially about issues such as this, that affect their money, children and hometown.

If residents can't attend the meetings, they should at least read about it in the newspaper, such as The Clarkston News. And read the newsletter the school district sends to home — it has never been more important.

And if they miss all of those ways to get information, they should call the principal of their child's building. If they have no children in school, they should call the board office at 625-4402. Or go to the township library (on Clarkston Road) or The Clarkston News office (5 S. Main St.) and look at back issues of the newspaper.

The information is out there. It's up to everyone to inform themselves.

Reporter's Notebook

Last week, a concerned parent of a Clarkston Chief little league football player called to report that one of his son's teammates had dropped a significant amount of weight the night before their game with Pontiac.

The 13-year-old varsity fullback had supposedly lost 6 pounds within 24 hours to make the 145-pound limit.

The young grinder admitted he'd lost the weight through a couple hours of running after a Friday night practice and before the Saturday contest. He said his desire to play, and not his coaches, inspired him to sweat off the excess weight.

A wrestler in the winter, the boy said he was used to losing weight the night before a competition.

This incident caused a few parents to question the boy's coaches, who'd repeatedly warned the boy about rapid weight loss.

Gordon Mason, president of the Chiefs, asked that all concerns be brought to him from now on, instead of to the press. He said neither his league nor coaches condones rapid weight loss or anything else that could jeopardize the health of the players.

Megan O'Neill, the Republican candidate for Congress, has found herself in another controversy.

O'Neill has recently been attacked for her many signs around the Ninth Congressional District. It is alleged that her campaign is purposely ignoring sign ordinances in various communities.

However, O'Neill said, "In complying with the 30 different ordinances in the Ninth District, some mistakes are likely to occur."

O'Neill said that when errors were discovered in the past, they were promptly resolved.

Tom Chen, vice president of Greiner, Inc. — Clarkston schools' architectural firm — quipped during a school facilities forum Sept. 16: "Failure is the mother of success. How much mothering have we seen?"

Chen, whose firm has designed and estimated costs for new buildings, additions and repairs for Clarkston schools, doesn't get paid unless voters approve a bond issue to execute the work.

About staff editorials

We at The Clarkston News realize that an important duty of a newspaper is to provide more than just the facts found in news stories.

Since we're out there uncovering the news, we get an inside look at the issues. In our staff editorials, we will give our opinions on those issues, just as other writing on this page — letters and columns — also offer opinions.

We leave the editorials unsigned because we've written them as a staff. Every week, we talk about the issues and take notes on everyone's opinions. Then one of us writes it and the rest of us changes it until we're all satisfied.

While our opinions aren't always unanimous, our editorials will reflect the majority views of the staff. If the staff splits evenly on an issue, we'll write two editorials on a subject.

We welcome your response to our views.

Letters to the Editor

Time for healing

The basic fabric of local government in our community is in a wounded condition.

The City of the Village of Clarkston has been at odds with the Charter Township of Independence. The people within the village had been divided on the issue of cityhood, and there has been debate within the township over public improvement issues.

The administration and teachers in Clarkston schools had been divided. We have seen a tug-of-war involving the school district and the township on whether certain "captured" tax revenues should go to benefit the school for short-term use or be expended on public improvements now in order to raise the tax base for long-term benefits to the school.

This letter has not been written for the purpose of suggesting that any one or more individuals have done wrong or acted in bad faith. Nor has this been written to suggest that any particular action should not have been taken, and/or that those involved in these matters should abandon their convictions.

Rather, I have written for the broader purpose of offering that suggestion that, with every significant wound suffered by one of our governmental units, our "community" as a single functioning whole is injured — and in some cases permanently scarred.

Obviously, the boundaries of the city, township and the school district can be found on the appropriate maps. These boundaries are of critical importance, particularly when the time comes for such things as voting and paying taxes.

But, in terms of day-to-day life, regardless where boundary lines are now drawn or may be settled in the future, we must not lose sight of the basic fact that we are truly a singular living and breathing community.

Events in one governmental unit ripple, and sometimes flood, into the other units. For more reasons than our shared post office address, we are the people who proudly identify ourselves as being residents of "Clarkston."

We have a wonderful community. The area is alive with historic structures and natural resources and features, we enjoy open space, and I believe we still retain and share a special Clarkston character. Most of all, our community includes many great people in all stations.

Within the recent past, we have witnessed serious heel-planting, accompanied by the expression of strong positions. Inevitable disagreements have resulted. No doubt, additional strong positions will be taken in the future. Such a process is natural, and probably healthy, among an intelligent people. In the process, however, it is of major importance to vigilantly bear in mind that we are one unique and interrelated "community."

Principles and convictions should not be abandoned. Nor should we disregard the need and priority of acting at all times to preserve the fine community we know as Clarkston!

Gerald A. Fisher

Wasteful spending

As a life-long resident of Clarkston/Independence Township, I think I share a growing concern with a silent majority of township residents regarding the direction our township is taking and the turmoil that seems to be constantly recorded in your paper.

Because of some of the allegations and events that I have read about over the last several months, I have attended several of the latest township board meetings to see for myself how our township board conducts business on behalf of its constituents.

Most recently, I attended the meeting last week at the new library's meeting hall. Unlike past meetings, there was no cable-TV coverage in the room to record the meeting. This was doubly unusual because prominently displayed next to the table at which the board was seated was the library's new big-screen TV and VCR equipment.

During this meeting, the township board voted to raise their share of our property taxes by more than 10 percent. In addition, a budget review showed that the current year's fiscal budget needed to be adjusted to add $15,000 more for attorney fees than had previously been included in the budget. Both of these issues were unanimously approved even in these trying economic times.

Why our board cannot follow the lead of Springfield Township in holding the line on taxes and controlling spending is beyond my comprehension.

I am not opposed to paying taxes, and I certainly hope for a township, a city and schools which are improved from those in which I grew up.

However, I have come to the conclusion that there is a lot of wasteful and inappropriate spending of our tax dollars. It is my sincere belief that this will change in November when our new supervisor Dale Stuart comes on board.

I urge all township residents to monitor where their tax dollars are being spent and to actively voice their feelings either through attending these meetings or in letters to the editor.

Only through support of all residents can we work to pull this township together and improve it for the future.

Bruce Whitmer

Thanks parents

As a parent of children in Clarkston Elementary School, I wish to express my appreciation to the parents who came to help clean up the school playground last Saturday and especially to Dr. Elaine Middlekauff, the school principal, and Mr. Tom Lowrie, the PTO vice president.

Dr. Middlekauff came with her young daughter and spent the morning moving stones and raking areas to provide a better place for our kids to play during recess.

Mr. Lowrie brought and operated earth moving equipment from his company, which enabled us to complete the work in hours as opposed to days.

People who question the commitment to our children by school administrators, teachers and business owners would have been very impressed by the work efforts of Dr. Middlekauff and Mr. Lowrie. Many thanks.

Great commentary

What a breath of fresh air when I read your Guest Column, "Nothing to gain by leaving the City of Clarkston."

Jennifer Radcliff serves as president of the Michigan Historic Preservation Network, a group dedicated to preserving Michigan heritage through its historic districts.

Jennifer is recognized statewide as an extremely knowledgeable leader of this group and dedicates a great deal of time in Lansing as well as statewide to support its purpose. I feel she is one of the most qualified people in our area to comment on this issue.

What a pleasure it was to read an article written by someone who truly knows that facts and is qualified to elaborate on a topic.

In response to Mr. William Rausch's letter of Sept. 2:

It's refreshing to see that you, Mr. Rausch, may be beginning to get the picture. You stated in your response to Bill Curtis that:

"Obviously, Mr. Curtis has never been in business, nor does he understand a single thing about business."

Point well taken... how much time have you spent in the classroom?

Grateful for help

Please allow me to thank the members of the community who supported the Clarkston Foundation during our September Golf Outing at Spring Lake Country Club. Our efforts raised close to $10,000, and we are extremely grateful for the high level of support from both golfer and sponsors.

As you know, our non-profit corporation awards grants to finance programs in the arts and sciences for Clarkston-area students.

We are also grateful for the strong personal support given to our organization by administrators in the Clarkston Schools. Several of them devoted a vacation day to our efforts, and we appreciate their continuing financial patronage.

Spartans lose their muscle-movie image

Jim Fitzgerald

In his autobiography, "The Ragman's Son," actor Kirk Douglas wrote that I was in one of his most famous movies.

When you're done thinking about that, think about this: Last season, after Central Michigan University upset Michigan State University, 20-3, ABC-TV football commentator Bo Schembechler said, "That's an unbelievable win; one in a lifetime."

I don't know what Schembechler said last Saturday after CMU upset MSU, 24-20. In view of his past well-publicized opposition to female reporters in male athletes' locker rooms, Bo might have said: "CMU would never have beaten MSU twice in a lifetime if it weren't for Merrily Dean Baker."

In case you haven't been paying attention to the really important news, Merrily Dean Baker, a woman and apparently no relation to Merrily We Roll Along, is MSU's latest athletic director. She was immediately preceded by George Perles who is now only MSU's football coach, having failed in his well-publicized attempt to be appointed Roman emperor.

Feminists might well point out that CMU beat MSU by 17 points when a man was in charge of the jockstrap department, but by only four points after a woman took over. It's this type of progress that gives MSU alumni hope that the Spartans will beat CMU next year, if Anita Hill is made MSU athletic director.

As for Schembechler, he formerly coached MSU's foremost football enemy, the University of Michigan, so you might wonder what Bo cares if CMU scores "unbelievable" wins over MSU? Bo might care because of disgrace by association, which is the same as guilt by association, except for the cheerleaders.

Central Michigan is in the Mid-American Conference, which boasts such nationally unknown grid nonentities as Akron and Toledo. Michigan State is in the Big Ten, along with such famous Rose Bowl habitues as Michigan and Ohio State, for Lord's sake. When a MAC team beats a Big Ten team two years straight, discerning football experts can't help but wonder if they've been mistaken all these years. Was Woody Hayes more wind than wizard?

If a television network hires an ex-Big Ten coach to pontificate on football, would it hire Harold Stassen to host a program on how to be elected president?

Ironically, when I attended MSU, the question was whether MSU teams were good enough to deserve admission to the mighty Big Ten. And I was thrilled when my alma mater was accepted into such monumentally muscle-headed company. More than 40 years later, my question is whether MSU should be expelled for doing irreparable harm to the Big Ten's image. And I would be thrilled if my alma mater were booted.

For added irony, remember that MSU athletes are called Spartans. Which brings us back to Kirk Douglas, who wrote that on Oct. 17, 1959, the crowd noise at the MSU-Notre Dame game in East Lansing was recorded and later used for background noise during battle scenes in the movie "Spartacus."

I was at that game, just as I was at every MSU home game for 30 years. I've never dared see "Spartacus," because I'm allergic to epics starring Tony Curtis in a skirt, unless he's dating Jack Lemmon. But I'm sure the movie warriors sound deliriously happy while killing each other, because MSU won that day, 17-0.

Beating Notre Dame is extremely joyful to MSU, just as losing to Central Michigan is extremely mournful.

But I wouldn't mourn if MSU lost a doubleheader to Akron and Toledo. I quit caring in 1976 when Spartan games were banned from TV because MSU was caught paying football players more than scale, and the most vocal alumni response was outrage at the penalty, not the crime.

Withdrawing allegiance to my alma mater's jockstrap is my small protest against a civilization that can't afford to buy youngsters a decent education but would gladly buy Coach Perles the Roman empire if he'd just stop losing to CMU.

Parents apathetic

APATHY. In my dictionary they give two definitions: 1) absence of emotion, 2) lack of interest or concern. Either describes the parents who did not show up at the "Focus of Facilities" meeting at Clarkston High School on Sept. 16.

Our superintendent, Gary Haner, put together a terrific program to show concerned citizens where are schools are and where we want to go.

You missed a golden opportunity to become more informed and to put your two cents in. And more than anything, that's what Mr. Haner wanted — public input. The facts were all there. Our schools are busting at their seams, and unless we act quickly we'll have children that resemble sardines.

Seriously, it's never too late to become informed and involved. Take it from me — I used to be one of those parents who cared but let others do the work. I'm not going to be a happy camper until our children get what they deserve. I'm going to be working toward a new bond until I drop. So you can join me or you can sit back and let others do the work.

Please vote for our schools. Then I can spend more time with my family!

Editorial missed major details

Regarding the editorial of Sept. 9 concerning the Clarkston teacher's work stoppage, I truly believe the staff of the Clarkston News overlooked some major details.

I have been an employee of Clarkston Community Schools for over 24 years. In that time, I have taught many of the people who are reading this letter.

I am making reference to people who now reside in this community and practice law, design automobiles, keep our streets safe, bring us back to health, keep our offices functioning, etc. I take pride in these people and any part of their success I may have been.

In these 24 years, I have earned thousands of dollars as an employee. I have also spent thousands of dollars as a consumer. I neither apologize for the former nor regret the latter. In other words, I am proud to have served as a teacher.

I do not know why the paper did not address other key details. Why was no mention made that Clarkston is the sixth wealthiest community for per capita income in Oakland County?

Why did the newspaper ignore the fact that no new tax proposal is needed to provide this contract settlement? Why was it not mentioned that Clarkston teachers will drop in income from 17th out of 28 school districts in Oakland County with this new contract?

Finally, when will we deal with the reality that the United States ranks 12th out of the 14 major industrial nations of the world in funding education? These details seem to be of equal importance.

We (the teachers) are not the community enemy. We understand that people are hurting and that times are changing. We also realize that our main way out is through our educational system. Clarkston would never settle for the 17th best school district in terms of academic achievement. The teachers have too much pride and respect to ever allow that to happen.

For those who believe we cost you too much, let me leave you with a final thought. A saying I heard years ago says "If you think education costs too much, try ignorance."

Al Bartlett, teacher
Clarkston High School

Reason for failure

Residents of Independence Township did not choose "their wallets over their library" as Curt McAllister so callously stated in The Clarkston News this past week.

Having been fed a constant diet of "goofy-speak" about how the money was to be spent, we chose to withhold the funds until it is clear how it is to be used.

If there is a need to buy books and augment maintenance and utilities costs, I will be happy to support two years of millage increases if 80 percent of the funds will be spent on books during both years. I'll not vote to buy books and have the money spent on new services.

If there are homebound residents who have no friends or family to assist them with library services, I will gladly volunteer a few hours every two weeks to assist them. I'll not vote to buy, maintain, insure and operate a motor vehicle to serve an unspecified number of residents.

And, lastly, I'll not vote for a library management system in this community that does not serve all of the community ... including Clarkston Village. If the tax-financed library cannot serve the entire community, we should sell it to a private business and let them serve whoever they want.

$5,500 OK'd for extra patrol car

BY EVAN RENTSCHLER
Clarkston News Special Writer

A new car soon will join the Clarkston Police Department.

The Clarkston City Council voted unanimously Sept. 14 to allow Chief Robert DeVore to spend up to $5,500 for a patrol car.

DeVore will likely purchase a used Royal Oak police department car, which has 55,000 miles.

DeVore said he compared about eight cars, including a state police cruiser, but leaned toward the Royal Oak vehicle due to its spotless maintenance record.

The car, a 1990 Chevrolet Caprice, will most likely be used as a backup to the newer Caprice already driven by Clarkston officers.

The new car is necessary because in case of breakdown, the police would be left without any transportation, according to the chief.

As well, the increase in officers requires training, which has tied up the car for up to four hours at a time. At present, the new officers have not completed state certification for radar training.

"This is a great place for having a quick and delicious meal or to get a special carry-out that is not a pizza. The bakery is unbelievable and so are the chocolate desserts."

Space shortage next problem to face

Now that the Clarkston teachers' strike is over, there are a few comments I'd like to make regarding the entire situation.

Although teacher salaries did not appear to be a major issue during the negotiations, let's take a quick look at them anyway.

The teachers' union (CEA) kept bringing up the fact that Clarkston teachers rank 22nd out of 28 school districts in Oakland County, with respect to compensation—an impressive statistic and one that seems to put such things in perspective.

But let's look at their salaries in a much larger perspective. According to a report released by the American Federation of Teachers, when teachers' salaries are adjusted for cost-of-living differences, Michigan teachers as a whole have ranked No. 1 in the United States for the past three years.

In fact, Michigan teachers lead by a wide margin. Here are the top five states for teacher salaries for the 1991-92 school year:

1. Michigan	$43,677
2. Wisconsin	38,219
3. Illinois	37,820

Without the cost-of-living adjustment, the estimated average salary for Michigan teachers during 1991-92 was $40,700. This ranks them fifth in the nation.

Prior to the strike, Clarkston teachers, on average, made something like $44,700 per year. I presume they now make at least 4.5 percent less than that. Some quick mental gymnastics brings one to the conclusion that this is $5,000-plus per month. So much for being underpaid.

But, as I said earlier, salaries apparently were not the main issue in the strike. If I can believe what I read in the papers, a major stumbling block was the added in-service day, even with a 1/2 percent increase in salary. The union refused to accept this extra day's work since they already work 186 days per year, more than any other district.

Having spent 30 years in the auto industry, I'm probably biased on something like this. In the auto industry, you work additional hours or days simply because the boss says it's necessary to get the job done. Sure, you get paid for it, but you have virtually no choice about working or not working.

Local auto workers, particularly those who are unemployed, must be aghast at the prospect of someone making $45,000 a year going on strike over having to work one additional day.

On the other side of the coin, I'm totally in sympathy with the classroom size issue. I'm sure it's virtually impossible to do a quality job in an overcrowded classroom. This is a worthwhile issue and one that is going to have to be addressed by the administration and the board of education.

Obviously, existing schools will have to be expanded or new schools will have to be built. But what about the important educational programs that have been canceled? And what about the maintenance that is required to repair our deteriorating facilities? And, last but not least, what about "pay to play?"

Where will the money come from to pay for all these things? The only plausible answer, short of direct intervention by Lansing, is to ask the taxpayers for additional millage. And what do you think their mood will be, given the state of the economy, their increased property taxes, the recently negotiated raises for the teachers, and the anticipated raises for the administrators, maintenance personnel, and all others associated with the school system?

All I can say is, "Good luck." I think they're going to need it.

Purse snatchers strike at shopping center

Two thieves stole the purse of a 66-year-old Independence Township woman at a shopping center Sept. 16.

Last Wednesday, the woman was in the parking lot of Frank's Nursery on Dixie Highway at White Lake Road in the early evening when two white males in their late teens or early 20s stole her purse.

The woman was not injured during the theft. Her wallet, which contained some money and credit cards, was taken when the purse was stolen.

The woman described the men as having collar-length dirty blond hair. The men drove an older blue hatch-back with a bright blue driver's door that didn't match the rest of the car, according to the report at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD).

Anyone with information about the crime is asked to call OCSD Detective Joe Duke at 620-2475 or the OCSD tips line at 858-TIPS (858-8477).

About the winner:

Kathy Gove of Algonquin, Independence Township, is the $50 winner in the season's first Clarkston News Football Contest, winning on a tiebreaker (for games Sept. 18-20).

Gove and former Clarkston High School star running back Dan Griffiths of Independence Township each picked 17 games correctly, but Gove edged Griffiths in the tiebreaker. Gove guessed that 45 total points would be scored in the Notre Dame-Michigan State game, and Griffiths guessed 42 (83 points were actually scored).

Four other people from Independence Township weren't far behind, all choosing 16 games correctly: Judith Yrjanainen, Fred E. Munger, Mark Girling and Todd Schick.

Clarkston News sportswriter and guest picker (and big sports fan) Carol Currey of Hallman Apothecary also had a pretty good week — both picked 15 games correctly.

Clarkston runners earn trophy, 3 medals

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston boys earned a trophy and three medals in two invationals but Lake Orion proved to be too much for the Wolves in league cross-country action.

Clarkston 12th out of 20 teams
(Sept. 19 at the Holly Invitational at Groveland Oaks County Park)

Senior Derek Lachman's 23rd-place finish was the highlight for the Clarkston boys' team at the Holly Invitational.

Lachman finished the run in 17:59. Brad Patterson had the next best finish for the Wolves, taking 49th (18:36). He was followed by Steve Cohoon in 70th (19:25), Jeff Dengate 73rd (19:29), Curt Duca 92nd (19:58), Greg Fisher 101st (20:20) and Eric Woodward 102nd (20:25).

Lake Orion 21, CLARKSTON 38
(Sept. 15 at Lake Orion)

Lake Orion had too much of a kick as the Dragons stopped Clarkston, 21-38.

"The meet was actually close until the third mile," said Clarkston co-coach Mike Taylor, who shares his coaching duties with Mike Kaul. "Lake Orion is very good but we did not run as well as we know we can."

Dragons placed one, two, three.

Clarkston's Brad Patterson broke that string by placing fourth (18:23). Two of his teammates were close behind as Derek Lachman took fifth (18:28) and Steve Cohoon was sixth (18:52).

However, a large group of Dragons followed the Wolf trio, placing seventh through 10th to put the meet out of reach for Clarkston.

The next two best efforts for the Wolves were by Greg Fisher who placed 11th (19:32) and Jeff Dengate who took 12th (19:38).

Clarkston 5th out of nine teams
(Sept. 2 at the Cavalier Classic)

Seniors Derek Lachman, Brad Patterson and Steve Cohoon medaled at the Cavalier Classic.

The Wolves finished with 180 points. Swartz Creek won the meet with 93 points.

Lachman placed 10th (17:05), Brad Patterson was 19th (17:38) and Steve Cohoon finished 22nd (17:50).

Five other Wolves broke the 20 minute mark at the meet: Adam Pastor (18:54), Greg Fisher (19:08), Curt Duca (19:16), Eric Carlson (19:22) and Jeff Dengate (19:36).

CLARKSTON'S Derek Lachman (center) gets a quick jump in the start of the Holly Invitational cross-country meet last Saturday at Groveland Oaks County Park. Lachman earned a trophy by placing 23rd.

Scharl sets pace for Wolf girls

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

In her first three cross-country meets of the season, Clarkston sophomore Leah Scharl has won a trophy, a medal and dual meet.

Clarkston at Holly Invitational
(Sept. 19 at Groveland Oaks County Park)

Scharl won her trophy by placing ninth (21:16) in the Class AA division at the Holly Invitational Sept. 19. Over 90 teams in about five divisions ran the muddy course at Groveland Oaks on a crisp, sunny morning. (The Clarkston varsity girls' team totaled 429 points at the event - final placing was not known at press time).

Freshman Stefanie Burklow had the Wolves' second best finish at the Holly invite, placing 76th (23:18). She was followed by Mary Liimatta at 86th (23:34), Stacy Patterson 125th (25:38) and Anna Vandemere 133rd (27:14).

Lake Orion 26, CLARKSTON 33
(Sept. 15 at Lake Orion)

Leah Scharl won the individual race but defending GOAL champ Lake Orion was too much of a team, defeating the Wolves 26-33.

Scharl took first place at the Dragon course by finishing at 21:57.

Lake Orion captured the second- and third-place finishes.

Wolf Mary Liimatta placed fourth (23:34) and teammate Stefanie Burklow was fifth (24:06).

However, Dragons then finished in positions fifth through 10th to clinch the meet.

Clarkston's Stacy Patterson finished 11th (26:25), Michelle Schroeder took 15th (29:03) and Anna Vandemere placed 16th (29:14).

Co-coach Mike Taylor knew Scharl would run tough against the Dragons but he was especially pleased with the efforts of Liimatta and Burklow.

"Mary Liimatta ran her first race ever in 24:04. A great job," said Taylor. "Stefanie Burklow also ran very well."

Clarkston at Cavalier Classic
(Sept. 2)

Leah Scharl won a medal at the Cavalier Classic by finishing at 21:10 for an eighth-place finish.

Freshman Stefanie Burklow barely missed earning a medal, placing 38th (23:04).

Clarkston did not have enough girls to finish in team rankings at the event.

However, two other Wolves won medals in the reserve race. Anna Vandemere finished fifth (26:23) and Michelle Schroeder was ninth (27:10).

Mandi Henkel also ran in the reserve race, placing 18th (28:38).

Ground attack sparks Wolves to first win

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's running attack inflated the score and the Wolves' defense deflated Waterford Kettering's air attack.

The Clarkston varsity football team, with the help of Eric Ryan's 119 yards rushing and Justin Tappero's 106, scored three unanswered touchdowns en route to a 20-8 victory over Kettering.

And don't forget the Clarkston defense, stingy as usual.

The win was the Wolves' (1-2) first of the season and Ryan's 7-yard touchdown with 5:06 left in the first quarter was the Wolves' first score of the season.

"It was great for the whole team. It lifted us up," said the 5-9, 205-pound Ryan about the first TD.

Ryan then scored the Wolves' second touchdown on a 2-yard run with 9:37 left in the first half. Chris Combs' kick for the PAT gave Clarkston a 14-0 bulge at intermission.

Tappero made it 20-0 (the PAT failed) when he hit pay dirt from one yard out in the fourth quarter.

The Captains evaded a shutout when quarterback Don Fellows connected with Clint Pleasant on a 12-yard touchdown pass with 1:24 left in the game. Fellows also ran in the PAT.

Ryan, who also ran for 89 yards the previous week, was quick to point out the running and blocking accomplishments of teammate Tappero.

"Justin had a great game," said Ryan. Tappero also couldn't take sole credit, praising the "hogs" on the offensive line.

"The holes were there," said Tappero. Tappero said his team finally felt like it was playing Clarkston-style football.

"We all felt we were back. We got a taste of Clarkston football," said the 5-8, 130-pound halfback.

Nick Shires was back again on the field for the Wolves, but this time for his first start at quarterback.

"With the way Eric and Justin ran, we didn't need to pass the football," said Shires.

But the quarterback, knowing that he only completed 1-of-3 passes for three yards (Kevin Dankert also completed 1-of-6 for 24 yards), admitted that the offense still has some bugs in it.

"It's not where we want it to be," said Shires.

Clarkston head coach Kurt Richardson agreed with Shires. Richardson was happy about winning the first game but he felt his Wolves had even played better the previous week in a loss to Lansing Sexton.

CLARKSTON running back Marc May (44) runs up the middle against Waterford Kettering. The Wolves amassed 230 yards on the ground.

Another reason for the coach's concern was that Clarkston fumbled seven times, losing two of them.

But all of the Wolves are happy about their defense.

Fellows completed 13-of-25 passes for 135 yards (including two interceptions by Jeremy Fife and Jeremy Doty) but the Captains were stalled on the ground. Kettering rushed for only 12 yards on 20 carries.

E.J. Stumph and Shires led the Wolves with five tackles apiece. Steve Black, Combs and Doty each had three. Fife, Marc May, Brian Phipps and Mark Kulka each had two.

Both of Fife's tackles were near midfield on Captain kick-off returns.

May also had two assists and one fumble recovery.

The Wolves' next game is on the road Friday night against a tough Ypsilanti squad.

NICK Shires (5) made his first start as quarterback against the Captains. Also in the photo are center Jon Hanson (53), fullback Eric Ryan (33) and Kettering linebacker Tim Galley (52).

Moms and pops hop Oct. 3

The second annual Homecoming Hop for Mom and Pop will rock around the clock Saturday, Oct. 3 from 7:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the American Legion Hall on Orinville Road.

The dance, sponsored by the Clarkston Athletic Boosters, is a fundraiser for the new athletic building adjacent to the Clarkston High School football field.

D.J. Dick Myre will spin the 50's and 60's music. Door prizes and a 50-50 raffle will be available and prizes will be given for the best 50's and 60's outfits. In addition, there will be a cash bar and munchies.

Tickets (only 225 sold) cost $10 and are available at all home game concession stands or by calling Dale Ryan at 625-5261.

The Clarkston Athletic Boosters are also sponsoring a pancake breakfast on Saturday, Oct. 10 from 8 to 10 a.m. at the Clarkston Elementary School multi-purpose room. Tickets for the breakfast will be sold at the door. The breakfast precedes the homecoming parade.

Kickers shut out Corsairs

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

One win, one loss and one tie.
The Clarkston varsity boys' soccer team experienced the full range of endings during its last three matches.

The 1-1-1 performance gives Clarkston a 3-4-1 overall record and 1-2 mark in the Greater Oakland Activities League.

CLARKSTON 1, Waterford Mott

(Sept. 21 at Waterford Mott)
Forward Scott Rooney's breakaway goal and shutout goalkeeping by Nathan Forbes earned Clarkston its first GOAL victory, a 1-0 win over host Waterford Mott.

Rooney, about 10 minutes into the second half, took a pass from Pat Forbes and slithered through the Corsair defense. Clarkston coach Dan Fitzgerald, who was pleased with his team's efforts after a lackluster performance against Lake Orion three days earlier.

Ryan Noll tied the contest with six minutes left. Phillips assisted.

Shootouts occur after ties in GOAL matches for the Wolves but not in non-league competition.

Lake Orion 1, CLARKSTON 0

(Sept. 16 at Clarkston)
Lake Orion led 3-0 and then continued to pour it on in the second half for a 5-0 GOAL victory over Clarkston.

"We played terrible, terrible," said Clarkston coach Dan Fitzgerald.

Fitzgerald said both the Wolf defense and offense were responsible for the loss.

"We were totally flat," said Fitzgerald.

for the match's only score.

Goalkeeper Nathan Forbes stopped about five Mott shots to preserve the win and the shutout.

"Nathan played really good. It was his best game this season," said Clarkston coach Dan Fitzgerald.

CLARKSTON 2, Royal Oak Kimball 2

(Sept. 19 at Royal Oak)
Clarkston came back from a 2-0 deficit to salvage a 2-2 tie against a tough Royal Oak Kimball squad in non-league action Sept. 19.

Kimball went into the match with a 4-1 record, with its only loss to top-rated Troy.

Forward Aaron Phillips cut Kimball's lead to 2-1 by scoring a goal with 14 minutes left in the match. Nick Bielak passed the ball to Phillips who knocked it off the Kimball goalkeeper and into the net.

"His shot hit off the goalie's chest and went in from an impossible angle," said

$4,500 netted for Rainbow Connection

A recent golf tournament raised about $4,500 for a non-profit group that helps terminally ill children and families.

About 92 people golfed in the Aug. 26 Rainbow Connection Golf Outing at the Pontiac Country Club.

"It was well organized," said Mike Mosharo, whose company, Women's Health Center of Clarkston, sponsored the event with R.R.T. Specialists. Mosharo said area merchants were generous in their donations of hats, T-shirts, sweatshirts, golfballs and other items to give to participants. And plans already are underway for next year's event. To help, call 625-9260.

Golf outing speaker L. Brooks Patterson founded the Rainbow Connection when a Clarkston-area man and his two children were killed in a plane crash. Now the group grants wishes to terminally ill children.

Co-chairs Jim Brimacombe and Mary Etta Callton said the day was a success. Top golfers — most from the Clarkston area — include: First-place men's team: Chris Clark, Keith Patten, Kevin Bates and Bill Bates; First-place mixed team: Michelle Maurice, Martin Tisdale, Kevin Kungel and Sean Kungel.

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Officials at the University of Michigan have delved into the participation of two of their basketball players at Tim McCormick's Basketball Camp this summer.

This investigation followed the announcement that three Michigan players — Jalen Rose, Chris Webber and Eric Riley — had been declared ineligible by the university. The trio reportedly received $300 apiece for appearing at a charity basketball tournament in Holland, Mich., last month.

The university has explained the situation to the NCAA and asked the governing body to immediately restore the players' eligibility.

This case has also forced university officials to investigate the participation of its players in several basketball camps because of an NCAA rule prohibiting more than one player from appearing at the same camp. It's believed that two or more Wolverines appeared at 10 different camps, including McCormick's at his alma mater, Clarkston High School.

Sophomores Juwan Howard and Rose made guest appearances at the camp in June.

McCormick said he talked to the players' coach, prior to inviting the pair to his camp.

"I called coach (Steve) Fisher to see if it was OK for them to appear at my camp, and he said there'd be no problem," said the New York Knick. "He (Fisher) said he'd check with school and NCAA officials to double check, though."

Recently, McCormick said he's been questioned by school officials about the duo's pay and duties at the camp. He refused to comment about how much Rose and Howard were paid for their appearances.

McCormick, who recently signed a deal to announce Piston basketball games for PASS, expects all the Wolverines to be exonerated soon.

"When these players visit camps, they leave a positive impression. At my camp, Juwan and Jalen did an excellent job and the kids really enjoyed them," he said. "I can't see any of these players remaining ineligible for too long.

"There's no way the NCAA could suspend every college basketball player who appears at a summer camp," he added. "If that was so, over half the players would be declared ineligible."

Golfers win two matches ... with ease

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A little breathing room was welcomed by the Clarkston varsity boys' golf team last week.

After beginning the season with several tight matches, the Wolves won two one-sided affairs against Brandon and Waterford Mott. The two Greater Oakland Activities League wins raised Clarkston's overall record to 5-1 and league mark to 4-1.

CLARKSTON 158, Waterford Mott 168
(Sept. 17 at Pontiac CC)

Julio Fonseca's one-over par 37 sparked Clarkston to its third straight victory.

"He played real well. He's been practicing hard," said Clarkston coach Jim Chamberlain about Fonseca, a transfer student from Texas who fired two birdies early en route to earning medalist honors.

Chamberlain stresses to his team the importance of course management, not getting too discouraged after having one bad hole. He said Fonseca's course management has improved lately.

Fonseca's teammates also were strong against the Corsairs, who dropped to 3-4 overall and 3-3 in the GOAL.

Jayson Buchmann shot a 39, Adam Haviland a 40 and Jon Dean a 42. Myles Mosher also shot a 44 for the Wolves and Dan Schieb had a 46.

Matt Hemmerly had the best finish for Mott, firing a 39. Steve Miller had a 42, Ryan Suchodolski 43 and Greg Stroh 44.

CLARKSTON 159, Brandon 185
(Sept. 15 at Spring Lake CC)

All four Clarkston golfers shot better than the top Blackhawk as the Wolves rolled to an easy 26-stroke victory.

Julio Fonseca and Jayson Buchmann were co-medalists, firing 39s. Adam Haviland was close with a 40 and so was Jon Dean at 41.

Clarkston coach Jim Chamberlain said if he were to give a most improved golfer award at this point in the season, it would go to Haviland.

Haviland has been a late-blooming senior, rarely getting a start last season but turning it around this year.

"I've been very pleased with Adam. He's been very consistent," said Chamberlain.

Brandon was led by Chris Reetz's 42. Andy Roberts followed at 46, Nick Slocum 47 and Nick Kroll 49.

Cagers clip Cardinals

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Four Wolves scored in double figures as the Clarkston varsity girls' basketball team defeated Davison, 61-42.

B-ball clinic begins Sept. 26

Fourth- through eighth-grade girls interested in improving their basketball skills can participate in a clinic at Clarkston High School.

The clinic, sponsored by the Clarkston High School girls' basketball program, takes place on seven Saturdays (Sept. 26-Nov. 7) from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

The cost of the program is $40 per participant ($35 for each additional child from the same family). Each person will receive a T-shirt.

Basketball fundamentals and participation will be stressed and there will be some competitive games. The instructors will be Clarkston varsity girls' coach Larry Mahrle and some of his varsity players.

Participants can sign up at the door on Sept. 26 or by calling the Clarkston athletic office at 625-0906.

The Cardinals hated the Wolf balanced attack but Clarkston coach Larry Mahrle loved it.

"One of the things we stress is balanced scoring. It's more difficult to defend against," said Mahrle, whose team increased its record to 6-0.

Clarkston led 16-7 after the first quarter but then that margin was trimmed to 25-19 seconds before the half.

However, 5-4 point guard Laura Seitz handled the in-bounds pass and launched a 55-foot shot beyond mid-court that bounced off the backboard and into the basket for a 28-19 lead at intermission.

Mahrle said the play was directed to Seitz.

"I told her 'take one dribble and let it fly.' Laura can throw the ball," said the coach.

Courtney Whittaker led all scorers with 17 points, edging Davison center Michelle Dunning who netted 16 points.

"She had a good all-around game," said Mahrle about Whittaker, who also had five assists.

Alyson McChesney scored 14 for the Wolves and pulled down eight rebounds. Heather Steinhelper netted 11 (including one 3-pointer) and passed off for seven assists. Seitz scored 11 and picked off five steals.

Other Wolves who scored were Anne Brueck with four and Heather Austin and Erin Patterson each with two.

The only other Cardinal in double figures besides Dunning was Michelle Pfeiffer.

Davison connected on 10-of-14 free throws while the Wolves sank 9-of-18.

M-15 to get lights and landscape

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., Sept. 23, 1992 21 A

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

By next spring, Clarkston-area residents should find a long line of street lights running from the southern portion of M-15 to the city limits.

This $170,000 project is set to coincide with the ongoing widening project along M-15. Both endeavors will run from Dixie Highway to Paramus.

The lighting project, along with a streetscape plan, was kick-started by a group of area merchants who own businesses on M-15. Group representative Bill Wint approached the Independence Township Board with a petition Sept. 16 and asked that the Downtown Development Authority (DDA) board call a special meeting to discuss lighting along M-15.

That night, Wint warned that time was of the essence.

"What we're proposing is for the benefit of everyone," Wint said. "We consider this roadway the gateway to our community, and we should make it as attractive as possible. It only makes sense that we move now, while MDOT (Michigan Department of Transportation) is widening M-15."

The township board and DDA President Dick Ayres agreed with Wint's sentiments and scheduled a meeting for Sept. 21.

The installation of street lighting was covered under a previously approved DDA plan. However, it was included with a few other projects that the Clarkston school district and the DDA wanted postponed. The DDA recommended the postponement of all projects Aug. 31, so the township board and school board could examine the possibilities of cost-cutting at a second joint meeting. This meeting has yet to be scheduled.

On Sept. 21, the DDA board approved the continuance of the lighting project because the cost had been reduced from $220,000 to $170,000. This project entails the erection of street lights and decorative lighting on both sides of M-15. According to Tom Biehl, an engineer with Hubbell, Roth and Clark, a 23 large street lights will be erected on both sides of the road, about 180 feet apart. These lights will cost $130,000 to install.

Twenty-two decorative lights will also be installed on both sides of the road to light the safety paths. Located between the larger street lights, these gas-lamp fashioned lights will cost about $40,000 to install.

The DDA board also voted to landscape along the roadway. This project, estimated at about $40,000, would include the planting of trees and bushes along the corridor. The DDA board instructed township planner Dick Carlisle to create a landscaping plan for future consideration.

Biehl said the contracted company, Jacob's Electric of Troy, should start installing the lights within the next two weeks. He expects them to be up and functional by spring. The landscaping should also be started by next spring.

Dick Ayres, president of the DDA, said he's glad the lighting project is underway. He said the lights' presence will beautify this busy roadway.

"Aesthetically, the lights will be beautiful," he said. "With the styles we've chosen, they should provide safety as well as a touch of class to the area."

"We appreciate the support of the schools in this endeavor, and we'll continue to be conservative when looking at the costs of other DDA projects," Ayres added.

The DDA was created to improve, lighting, water, sewer and landscaping along parts of M-15, Dixie Highway and White Lake Township. It works by capturing "excess taxes" from a base year and spending them on improvements within the district only.

Pair charged in diamond heist

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A local couple have found themselves in court due to a missing pair of diamond earrings.

George and Peggy Lazaris of Pine Knob Road, Independence Township, own Century Jewelers, at South Boulevard and Opdyke, Pontiac.

They are charged with larceny by conversion. According to Genevieve Mazur, assistant Oakland County prosecutor, a 50-year-old West Bloomfield Township woman dropped off a pair of earrings on July 23 to be cleaned and appraised and has not seen them since.

The 1.7-carat diamond earrings were bought from another jeweler in 1988 for $2,850.

According to the woman's testimony before 48th District Judge Thomas Brookover, after she dropped the earrings off, she contacted the Lazaris 15 times over the next two weeks but kept getting the runaround.

She said she was given the wrong earrings twice, and she finally resorted to calling the Bloomfield Township police.

The couple was arraigned in Oakland County Circuit Court Sept. 15 in front of Judge Steven Andrews on charges connected with the earrings and will face a pre-trial hearing on Sept. 30 in front of Andrews. The couple are free on bond.

Larceny by conversion is a felony punishable by up to five years in prison.

Reflections

Mother's book covers emotions during pregnancy

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

When Lisa Steele George discovered that she was pregnant, she found numerous books on the physical aspects of pregnancy, but not even one book about emotions.

She decided to write that book.

During the process of publishing her book, "Peaceful Pregnancy Meditations" through Health Communications, Inc. (HCI) in Deerfield, Fla.

"To me, a meditation is a reflection on feelings, attitudes and emotions. The book is more for affirming," she said.

The book, which is slated for wide release in April, contains a meditation for each day of the 40 weeks a woman is pregnant. With each meditation, there is a facing page with lines for the mother-to-be to write her own feelings and thoughts. There is also an addendum for mothers, like George, who are overdue up to two weeks.

George, who now lives in Royal Oak, was graduated from Clarkston High School in 1980. She works as a supervisor for voice communications at EDS. She was an English major at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

"I always had wanted to write a book," she said.

"When I found out I was pregnant, I read everything I could about it. I studied everything about the physical aspect. I still felt something was missing. I started my own journal on my feelings. I wrote about the weight gain, the happiness and hope, the anxiousness I felt. The writing gave me an emotional outlet. The more I wrote the more I felt in balance."

George credits her husband, David, with giving her the support that she needed to do this project.

"He was wonderful. I would read parts of it to him and he would suggest different words and changes. He was my walking thesaurus, too. When I was so pregnant I didn't want to get up and look up a word he would do it for me," she said with a laugh.

When she decided to publish the book, she read books on how to get a book published and went step by step. In November 1991 she sent the manuscript to 28 publishers. In January, she knew that three were interested in the concept.

"I decided to go with HCI in March because of their personal touch." A woman in the acquisition department of HCI personally called George about the book.

"I never knew anything about the (publishing) process. I didn't realize complexity of publishing. It takes an average of two years to publish a book. I'm a member of the Author's Guild of New York and they gave me legal advice and helped me to negotiate my contract."

The book is divided into the three trimesters of a pregnancy. In the first trimester some of the meditations include: "Guarded Joy," "Secrets" and "Overwhelmed." The second trimester includes "Emotions," "Fetal Movement" and "Public Property."

"I wrote the one about public property one day after three people had touched my stomach before I had even gotten to my desk in the morning," George recalled.

In the third section are meditations on waiting, labor pains and one called "One contraction at a time."

"The addendum has a lot to do with patience. I was two weeks overdue, and patience was on my mind a lot," she said with a laugh.

Now, feeding 8-month-old Dalton Robert, she said, "I do believe that the more peaceful and happy the mother is during her pregnancy the better it is for the baby."

George has another work in progress and said that anything that she does write will concern women and issues and challenges for women.

Producer honored

A Clarkston-area resident was honored recently when a commercial he produced was recognized for highly sophisticated creative techniques.

Craig Mungons, producer of the 30-second spot "National Jeep Sale," is vice president, executive director of Campbell-Mithun-Esty Advertising (CME), Southfield.

Art Direction magazine honored Mungons' spot and two others by CME that were created for the Jeep and Eagle Dealer Advertising Associations.

The spots used a computer-generated technique to lend dramatic and appealing visual style to the traditional dealer spots while still being direct in the copy. The process involved a number of different layering and image compositing techniques that allow several images to appear simultaneously in one scene.

They won the recognition in the TV consumer single category.

'Butler in a box' helps quadriplegic

A Clarkston company designed and built a home in Waterford for a quadriplegic man so he could have the independence of living by himself.

The M.J. Lorimer Building Co. on Main Street, owned by Michael Lorimer, built the 1 1/2-story house barrier-free and with voice-activated features.

The house features "Butler-in-a-Box," which is the first complete, electronic home environmental control system that responds to voice commands. The owner's voice is programmed into the box and can control the elevator, automatic doors, lighting, heating and air conditioning, TV/VCR entertainment center, phones, intercom, and the security system.

Lorimer said the house took about one year to complete — the average time frame for a house of this size.

The 4,000-square-foot home also boasts cut fieldstones, copper gutters and hand-peeled log beams, rails and staircase.

New menu at Cafe

A new menu emphasizes The Clarkston Cafe's lighter fare for the health-conscious by adding a special category labeled "Under 400 calories."

The Main Street, Clarkston, restaurant adds a food-for-fitness section that includes spaghetti squash prima vera and salmon in papillote (parchment paper). All of the new dishes were created by Chef Gary Grzywacz, former understudy to Master Chef Milos Cihelka at The Golden Mushroom.

Each low-calorie listing specifies the amount of fat, carbohydrates and cholesterol per serving. The menu, for example, attributes 67 calories to a new spa dessert, fruit sorbet bombe.

The menu also calls attention to a "Frugal Feast," a less-expensive menu item posted daily on a board with other specials. Other additions include a new "Pasta Pasta" section, featuring a heart-wise prima vera, made with olive oil.

The Cafe has adopted a new "preferred seating" policy. Under it, diners may call ahead as they leave for the Cafe. Their names are recorded and they get priority in seating when they reach the Cafe.

"They do their waiting while riding in the car," says Lee McNew, co-owner of the Cafe, which does not require reservations.

Also new at the Cafe is a wine list that adds a Michigan wine, Leelanau Renaissance, and Chateau Neuf du Pape from France.

"Let's discuss your Career in Real Estate Sales"

QUESTION: The amount of money I have in the bank and the amount I'll need to finance the purchase of our first home are a little close for comfort. Should I pull in my horns and wait or "go the limit"? The property is an unusually good buy.

ANSWER: It's better not to spend every last cent available for a home. On the other hand, you might justify going the limit if your home is an excellent buy; if it is unlikely to need maintenance or repairs which are above and beyond your personal capability; if your outlook for financial advancement is bright, and if your family has proven that it can tighten belts if you really have to.

NEWLYWEDS: Mr. and Mrs. James Mann Jr.

Terpstra, Mann exchange vows

Kathy Terpstra and James Mann Jr. were united in marriage on July 25, 1992.

The bride, daughter of the late Robert Terpstra and Mary Terpstra of Clarkston, is a graduate of Springfield Christian Academy and is employed as a teacher in the Brandon school district.

The groom, son of James Mann of Florida and Ethel Mann of Oxford, is a graduate of Brandon schools. He is employed by Dean T. Reed Construction as a carpenter.

The 6 p.m. wedding took place at the Faith Baptist Church of Waterford with the Rev. James Combs officiating.

The church was filled with fresh flowers. Candles were in every window and all around the church. There were pew bows on all of the pews.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, John Terpstra, wore a dress of white satin adorned with pearls and sequins. She carried a beautiful arrangement of pale pink roses, asters, star gazed lilies and pearls draped from the bouquet.

Lisa Terpstra, the bride's sister, was the maid of honor. Other bridesmaids included Lori Evans, Melanie Pace, Cindy Thorn and Jean Cox. The bridesmaids all wore raspberry colored satin dresses which were tea length in the front and floor length in the back.

Flower girl was Amber Thorn. She wore a white satin dress with pearls and sequins on it that complemented that bride's. The dress was completely hand sewn by the bride's mother.

Michael Filhart was the best man. Mark Fout, Mark Retford, John Terpstra, Dan Mann, Guy Thorn and Bruce Cox were the other groomsmen. Derek Foyt was the ring bearer.

Over 250 guests attended the wedding and the reception that followed at Springfield Oaks in Davisburg.

The couple honeymooned in Lake Tahoe, Nev. They now reside in Waterford.

CELEBRATING their 60th double anniversary are: Vivian and Ray Jacobson (left) and Freemont and Inez Thoe. The couples were married in a 1932 double wedding ceremony.

60th double wedding anniversary celebrated

Two sisters and their husbands recently celebrated their 60th double wedding anniversary.

One couple, Ray and Vivian Jacobson of Ortonville, are the parents of Judy Nichols of Independence Township.

The Jacobsons were married Sept. 26, 1932, in Palisade, Minn., in a double wedding ceremony with Vivian's sister Inez and her husband Fremont Thoe of Bloomfield Hills.

Both couples now live in West Palm Beach, Fla., in the winter and spend every anniversary together.

Before they were married, Inez and Vivian played in The Melody Five, a five-piece orchestra that played at dances in northern Minnesota. Inez played the saxophone, and Vivian the piano. They met Fremont and Ray at the dances. The men were from Jacobson, Minn., a town named after Ray's father, Paul Jacobson.

Ray and Vivian moved to Michigan in 1936, and Ray worked at Pontiac Motors for six years. In 1957, they founded Jacobson Trailer Sales in Waterford.

Freemont and Inez Thoe came to Michigan in 1944, and Freemont has worked in building construction most of his life.

Vivian and Ray are the parents of Judy Jacobson Nichols and her husband, Therm, and Ken Jacobson and his wife, Merrilee. They have five grandchildren.

Freemont and Inez are the parents of their late son, Doran; Joyce and her husband, Ron Kilgore of Springfield, Mo.; and Janet and her husband, Eugene Luppino of Waterford. They have four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Engagement

Phillip and Susan Toretta of Clarkston announce the engagement of their daughter, Kimberly Ann, to Robert Jon Poumade. The bride elect is a 1989 Clarkston High School graduate and attended Oakland Community College. Her fiancé, son of Nicola and John Poumade of Laingsburg, is a 1991 graduate of Lake Superior State. An Oct. 24, 1992, wedding is planned in Lansing.

NEWLYWEDS: Mr. and Mrs. Peter John Hollis

Judith Ann Skonieczny of Sterling Heights and Peter John Hollis II of Clarkston were wed on May 30, 1992, at St. Sylvester Church in Warren.

The bride is the daughter of Nancy and William Stone of Utica and Dennis Skonieczny of Sterling Heights.

The groom, a 1987 Clarkston High School graduate, is the son of Susan and Kenneth Aho of Clarkston and Peter Hollis of California.

His own carousel

TYLER DAWSON, 3 months, of Nepahwin, Independence Township, might not know it, but somebody put a lot of work into his nursery walls. His mother, Janice Dawson, 22, of Springfield Township and her friend Tonya Forester of White Lake hand painted carousel horses all around the room in about 20 hours. Janice Dawson, Tyler's mother, said, "I saw a girl who had it (the horses) painted on her wall, but from the floor to the ceiling, and I liked it. All of our friends are having kids and we wanted something different," said Janice about herself and her husband Paul. Ziebal and Forester are starting a painting business. (Photo by Catherine Passmore)

ALL DONE! While their fellow sheep wait to be sheared or undergo the actual clipping, these three sheep frolic free of their heavy wool. The Hillside Farm and Sheep Shed has 150 sheep and has been in business for 20 years.

Helpern receives research award

A Clarkston resident could help the medical field to better understand strokes.

Strokes are the third leading cause of death in the United States and the leading cause of debilitation.

Physicist Joe Helpern has received a grant to help in stroke research.

Helpern, a Waldon Road, Clarkston, resident and president of the Clarkston Board of Education, is director of nuclear magnetic resonance (NMR) at Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit. The hospital has one of only 14 recognized stroke centers in the nation and boasts a magnet dedicated to brain research that is the best in the world.

This year, Helpern received the Shannon Award from the National Institute of Health (NIH) in Washington, D.C.

Helpern said that each year the director of the NIH budgets a small amount of money for the Shannon Award, which is named after a former director, Dr. James A. Shannon. The award funds projects that may be ahead of their time, said Helpern. He also said that with the latest federal budget cuts, the NIH isn't taking chances with funding research that may not work — but the award does take chances.

The $100,000 award goes toward researching what happens to the water in the brain following a stroke.

Helpern said that the pressure of the water in the brain makes damage worse for a stroke patient, and, "We really don't have a good understanding of water movement in the brain."

Helpern has lectured in the United States, Canada and Germany on strokes, stroke research and the application of magnetic resonance imaging on brain research.

Cable show provides home-school link

Cable-TV could help parents with their children's education.

At 7 p.m. Thursdays, Sept. 24, Oct. 1 and Oct. 8, "Home-School Connection" airs on Independence-Clarkston Channel 65.

Produced by Oakland Intermediate Schools, the series includes three 20-minute programs, targeted to parents of fourth- through seventh-graders.

Topics are: Mental Arithmetic and Estimation (Sept.

24), Measurement (Oct. 1) and Statistics (Oct. 8). Each program addresses local results of the MEAP test and offers a model lesson taught by an Oakland County teacher, a parent/teacher discussion, the debunking of traditional math myths and activities that parents can do at home with their children.

Call 1-800-242-1323 with any questions raised by the program. An answering machine will pick up the calls, to which experts will respond the next day.

Installment plan for water hookup

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

From now on, homeowners and business owners eager to attain municipal water can pay for installation over a period of years instead of all at once.

On Sept. 1, the Independence Township Board unanimously approved an amendment to the water system ordinance. This ratified amendment will allow those who want to hook into township water to set up a payment schedule with the township's Department of Public Works (DPW).

Originally, residents and business owners were required to pay at time of installation, said DPW Director George Anderson.

In an average home, this new privilege will run about $1,000, with another $980 for tap fees, meter charges and capital connection.

Anderson said the $1,000 should balance out the difference between people who'd receive their water via a special assessment district and those people who happen to already live on a road with water mains.

Businesses will be charged according to size and the amount of water usage.

Homeowners and business owners desiring township water should contact the DPW so an appropriate payment schedule can be created upon time of installation. The limit is a 10-year payment period. Anderson said water bills will continue to be sent out in three-month intervals.

Residents protest rent hikes in park

RUSTY THE DOG costs his owners, Judy and Frank Martin, an extra $120 a year in rent. Residents of Chateau Oak Hill must pay $10 a month per pet, $5 a month per child up to 18 years of age, and $10 a month per extra adult in the mobile home. Chateau Land Development Co. President Jeff Kellogg said, "We have been negotiating (with the mobile home owners) for some time. We have been scheduled to talk this Friday for a while. That they decided to protest in the interim is a little awkward for us."

Photos by Catherine Passmore

FRED WALZ, a new father, has to pay an extra $5 a month for the privilege. He and about 100 other mobile home owners at the Chateau Oak Hill mobile home park on Dixie Highway, Springfield Township, protested against their management on Sept. 19-20. The protest was called because, according to Marge Pox, protest organizer, the residents are charged extra for children and pets in Chateau Oak Hill, while other parks owned by the same management are not charged for their children or pets. However, Jeff Kellogg, president of Chateau Oak Hill, said that all three communities in Oakland County pay extra for children and pets; three of their four communities in Genesee County pay extra as does one in Livingston County. Kellogg also said that communities in Macomb and St. Clair Counties also pay for children and pets in their base rent.

Robert F. Williams

Robert F. Williams, 75, died Sept. 19. Chairman and founder of Genova Products, Inc., Williams is known in the plumbing industry for the advent and growth of plastic drain, waste and vent systems, especially those manufactured from PVC.

In 1976, he was inducted into the Plumbing, Heating, Airconditioning Hall of Fame and recognized as "The Father of Plastic Plumbing" in the United States. He was also responsible for the creation of Raingo Gutter and Downspout Systems and DuraSpout Downspouting.

He is survived by his wife, Judy; son, Robert who is the current president and CEO of Genova; daughter, Jeanne Maletic; and four grandchildren.

A native of Flint, Mr. Williams entered into a plumbing apprenticeship, after finishing high school and eventually became a master plumber. In 1945, he started his own shop, Genesee Plumbing & Heating Co., which became one of the largest residential and commercial contractors in the area. In 1955, he expanded into a wholesale business.

During the Korean War, Williams became interested in substituting plastics for metal pipe and fittings, which were in extremely short supply.

After the war ended, he maintained his interest and sold a lot of plastic pipe and fittings to plumbers and homeowners. In 1960, he formed Genova, Inc., first only as a sales organization. Then in 1965 he began extruding his own pipe in a tiny facility with a single extruder. Today Genova has grown to be the world's largest manufacturer of plastic plumbing and rainwater systems, operating six plants across the U.S.

The memorial service was held at the Brown Funeral Home in Flint Wednesday, Sept. 23.

A FORMAL WRITTEN APOLOGY to all of my neighbors in Bunny Run Country Club for the excessive barking and disturbance caused by my two dogs on the evening of Wed. Sept. 16, 1992. But especially to the anonymous neighbor who felt compelled to illegally leave an unsigned, unstamped admonition in my mailbox. I realize that I should maintain a satisfactory noise level with my animals, and I do not plan to leave them unattended in the evenings again. Had I been given an address or a phone number, I might have been able to address your concerns most apologetically in person. According to some reports, a local dog was loose and prowling the neighborhood and so aggravated my dogs to protect their territory in my absence. Thank you for making me aware of the situation, and your concern for my animals is most appreciated. It is my sincere desire to become an outstanding member of this fine and hospitable and quiet community. Ms. Taylor, Detroit Blvd., Lake Orion. IIRX39-1

SELLING flowers for the Clarkston Farm and Garden Club are Laura Logan (left) and Carol Lowrie, both of Bristol Park, Independence Township. The Farm and Garden Club sold fresh and dried flowers at the Crafts and Cider Festival which was sponsored by the Clarkston Community Historical Society. The Festival took place in Depot Park on Saturday and Sunday. According to Kim Huttenlocher, President of the Historical Society, 5,000 to 7,000 people attended the festival, and about 4,000 doughnuts were sold. "We got a lot of positive feedback," said Huttenlocher. "Everyone seemed to have a good time."

WHERE'S MY NAME? Angla Thompson, 2, of Scenic Ridge and her friend Alexandra McMullen, 3, of Novi look through the many handmade name puzzles on display at the Clarkston Community Historical Society's Crafts and Cider Festival Saturday in Clarkston.

LINDA MILLER of Chapel View Drive, Independence Township, serves up apple pie squares to the hundreds of people who attended the Crafts and Cider Festival. Miller is a member of the Sashabaw Plains chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.
