More raises

Board OK's 3 contracts

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

The Clarkston Board of Education unanimously approved three separate contracts Dec. 14.

Agreements were reached with the Central Office Secretarial and Clerical Personnel Association, the Cafeteria Managers Association and the Cafeteria Association

The three-year pact with the Central Office Secretarial and Clerical Personnel Association includes a 4.5 percent raise in salary each year. A 0.4 percent longevity pay surplus was tacked onto the 1993-94 school year, pushing the total increase to 4.9 percent respectively.

The contract removes compensatory days as an option on inclement weather and teacher break days. It also discontinues a practice of using other paid leave days on sick days and personal days. This contract also requires that vacation days must be used if an employee doesn't work, as well as a provision for time and one-half pay if the employee is required to work on a holiday.

The two-year agreement with the Cafeteria Managers Association includes: a 4.5 percent wage increase plus a 0.2 percent stipend for funeral time, and a satellite kitchen, totaling 4.7 percent in 1992-93; a 4.5 percent wage increase in 1993-94, plus 0.5 percent for one additional day of work, totaling 5 percent overall.

In the past, managers received two paid days when teachers were in session without students. The managers didn't have to report to work on these days. In the new contract, managers will receive two paid days in 1992-93 and three days in 1993-94.

However, the managers must attend in-service activities or participate in work days, to receive pay on these days.

Some employees get 3 percent raise

Elected officials get none

Some township employees in Springfield received a 3 percent salary increase for 1993.

The township board voted unanimously Dec. 9 to approve the budgeted 1993 salaries for 11 positions.

The supervisor, clerk, treasurer and the trustees are budgeted to receive the same salaries they received in 1992.

The township assessor, assessor's assistant, office coordinator, receptionist, building department secretary, and building inspector are budgeted to receive around a 3 percent increase.

Springfield Township Fire Chief, who received his last raise in 1989, has been budgeted for an increase from $630 a month to $750. The assistant chief's budgeted raise went from $200 to $240 a month.

Community education thrives

American Education

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

Since its formation in the 1970s, the Clarkston Community Education program has mirrored the prosperity of the surrounding area.

"The center has evolved, due in part to a responsive community," said Marilyn Allyn. "Our programs have continued to grow because of theincreasing demand. The only thing holding us back is that we're running out of room for many of our programs."

According to Allyn, her department started as an informal community education system in the late 1970s.

Beginning with night classes at the high school, this fledgling program eventually evolved into a multi-faceted learning center by the mid-1980s, after a newly formed community education department took over the vacated South Sashabaw Elementary building.

In the following years, adult basic education classes were joined by the likes of the STRIVE program for pregnant teens and drop-outs, daycare services for preschoolers and enrichment courses for people of all ages.

Today, over 3,000 people are involved in an array of programs and services offered through Clarkston Community Education. Allyn said nearly 6,000 people will be affected by the programs, in one way or another, by the end of the year.

According to Allyn, about 300 adults are trying to gain the equivalent of a high school diploma through their (See COMMUNITY, Page 3A)

Cafeteria Association includes: a 4.5 percent wage increase plus 0.05 percent for funeral days, totaling 4.55 percent in 1992-93; a 4.5 percent wage increase plus 0.5 percent for one additional work day in 1993-94, totaling 5 percent; a 4.5 percent wage increase in 1994-95.

The Cafeteria Association must also adhere to the same paid-days-off stipulations as the managers to receive compensation for two paid days in 1992-93 and three days in 1993-94 and 1994-95.

Contract agreements for the 1992-93 school year are retroactive.

completion program. She said this number isn't surprising, considering the state of the economy.

"We've found that when the economy is down, adult completion classes thrive, while our enrichment programs fall off in attendance," she said. "Apparently, the people without a high school diploma see the need to improve themselves, in order to help themselves. "With enrichment classes, it's just a matter of people not wanting to spend the money on a program when times are hard," Allyn added.

Enrichment classes usually range from art to wood carving to personal interests. Computer classes are usually the most sought after of these classes, Allyn said.

Lately, the community education center has been training employees of area companies. For example,

Holiday help

Not enough donations so far

BY JULIE CAMPE Clarkston News Editor

There's still time to make the holidays brighter for the needy in the area.

Lighthouse North accepts money, food, gifts and toiletries through Sunday, Dec. 20. The non-profit organization on Maybee Road, Independence Township, provides emergency food and clothing, as well as money for

"At this point, there is not enough money to buy for each family."

utilities, medicine and rent to the needy in north Oakland

It provided nearly 400 families with food baskets at Thanksgiving, and more than 400 families have signed up for help for Christmas.

Director Sherry Kaars said money would help the most, since it would allow Lighthouse North to purchase (at low cost) exactly what is needed, whether it be a turkey or a ham for each family and a small gift for each child.

Ideally, she said, donations of money and food would allow for a whole meal, in addition to gifts for each child. Lighthouse North also provides items for seniors or other home-bound residents in the area, so such gifts of food or stationary or toiletries would be appropriate for them

the state of the s

A few families, businesses and churches in the area have "adopted" families for the holidays. That is, Lighthouse North obtained "wish lists" from the families. The "adopters" then chose from that list to provide a gift for each child and food for the family.

"We absolutely thrilled one family for Christmas," said Kaars on Monday.

A Clarkston-area family had adopted another and showed up at Lighthouse North Monday with two huge bags filled with holiday items. The little girl in the family received the Barbie doll on her list, and the little boy received a motorized car. The family also received a turkey, ham, bread, holiday paper towels and napkins, snacks, candy and lots of other items.

The father of the family, who had been laid off from his job and who had been applying for work everywhere, was overwhelmed by the gift, said Kaars.

"He said, 'I can't believe that anyone would give us all this stuff,'" she said. "That's great to see. ... This community is really making these families' holiday. It's great."

Kaars, however, said she was concerned about the quantity of donations.

"At this point, there is not enough money to buy for each family," she said. "Donations probably will come in the middle to the end of the week. But we never know if we're going to have more than enough or not enough."

employees at the Road Commission for Oakland County and the Independence Township Library have had to take computer courses through community education, in order to operate new computers systems in their workplaces.

And Allyn foresees even more changes down the road.

Allyn said this expansion of programs is limited by

Everest Academy to add nursery school

A nursery school will be allowed at Everest Academy — with certain conditions.

The Independence Township Planning Commission voted 6-0 Dec. 10 to amend the school's special land use request to allow for a nursery school. The approval was contingent upon changing the landscaping plan and moving fire connections to the building.

The nursery school is to be housed in Everest Academy on Clarkston Road and is geared to children ages 3 and 4. The building will not be expanded at this time.

The Rev. Lorenzo Gomez explained to the commission that the nursery school had been in the planning stages since the conception of the school. Some of the parents, he said, asked about a nursery school for younger siblings of Everest Academy students.

Although the amendment was recommended for approval, problems arose when a letter from the township fire marshall was discussed. According to the fire marshall. the fire connections on the school building were not easily accessible.

Gomez said the plans for the building had been approved by the commission, as well as the state. He said he couldn't understand why somebody earlier hadn't told him the connectors were in the wrong place.

'We can't afford to move it. We did what they told us to do," said Gomez, referring to state officials.

Despite their apparent sympathy with the school's problem, commission members told Gomez and the Rev. Frank O'Brian that the connector still must be moved.

The commission approved the amended use of the building with the conditions of a revised landscaping plan and that the school work with the Independence Township Fire Marshal in a timely manner to relocate the connectors.

Making a list

Julie Campe

While searching for gift ideas this year, I thought back to the gifts I have received in my lifetime. I thought perhaps I could duplicate some of my favorites for others. The challenge, as always, is to remain frugal Books. These were always my favorite growing up. My next-door-neighbor Cindy Criger also received books, so we could share. I remember that she had "The Little Princess," while I had "The Secret Garden," illustrated by Tasha Tudor, of course. Children's books seem to be appropriate gifts for many of the adults I know.

A doll cradle. Mine was made by my father and painted blue. It was a favorite gift of mine, but I don't think I can use this idea. Not only do I not have that kind of skill, but I also don't think the adults on my list can use a doll cradle this year, and I'm finished shopping for the children on my list.

Scissors. My grandfather in Missouri once sent me used scissors, which I loved. They were adult scissors and a little bit rusty, but they cut perfectly. And they were mine, all mine. (I am not ready to give up any of my scissors, however, so I can nix this one from my idea list. But maybe I could buy new scissors for someone ... Can one have too many pairs of scissors?)

Bugs. Another year, my grandfather sent my brothers and I a box full of bug shells, carefully packaged in cotton so they wouldn't break. I'm not sure if this was a Christmas gift or just a surprise package in the mail, but I know it was probably as close to perfection as a gift can get.

When we used to visit my grandfather in Missouri, we often would play with these huge insect exoskeletons. (They're kind of like oversized June bugs — maybe they are June bugs?) With their curled legs, you could make them cling to almost anything — your shirt, your hair, your grandmother's sweater. You could form entire armies or choirs or families.)

Food. When I was a child, my Aunt Leone once gave me a jar of Sanders fudge sauce. Another perfect gift. I have since received — from various people — cookies, candy, sausage, cheese, fruit, bread, pasta and more and have loved every morsel. What could be more fulfilling?

Socks. As a child, I hated receiving socks as gifts and may have even sulked on occasion — just a little, of course. Now, however, a warm pair of socks is one of my favorite gifts.

Sweaters. Perhaps for the same reason I love socks, I also love sweaters, especially warm thick sweaters, maybe with unusual textures. (Some people on my list, however, don't wear sweaters. These strange human specimens say they're too warm.)

Gift certificates. Some of my favorites have been for book stores, movie theaters and video rental stores. However, I once heard of some children who joined forces and bought their mother a large-sum certificate to her favorite department store, so that after the holidays she could get great bargains. (Sorry, Mom. We did not do that for you.)

Paper, pens, etc. I'm not sure if others would appreciate this, but I love various sizes and colors of paper and pens and pencils. They're great for notes, letters, lists, bookmarks.

Calendars. One year, my brother David (my mother's favorite child) gave me a calendar with beautiful flowers (which I later cut apart and hung in my dorm room). And Gary Larson's Far Side page-aday calendars are an annual gift from my step-mother—what would I do without that? (The back of each day can be used as note paper, too.)

I guess I'm finished with my ideas. Now for the actual shopping ...

Press: Show restraint in Somalia

There's an unwritten rule in journalism that members of the media aren't supposed to reprimand their brethren, competitor or not.

However, after viewing the media circus surrounding last week's military landing in Somalia, we have to comment.

It was ridiculous.

Here we had several hundred Marines storming the airport, wary of sniper fire or any other guerrilla activities, and who do they discover, upon clearing the crest of the beach head?

The media.

Engulfed by the lights of TV cameras and electronic flashes, the soldiers tried to secure a vital area. This involved making a few members of the press "hit the dirt" until their identities could be verified.

Afterward, many members of the press chastised the troops for treating them like strangers. Well, in a military operation, soldiers are trained to act first and ask questions later.

Those present were lucky they weren't fired upon, considering the amount of adrenalin flowing through the veins of our fighting forces.

The Persian Gulf War has undoubtedly changed the way the world views war. It's now possible to hear reports of a military offensive in action, via our televisions and radios.

However, to satisfy war-hungry viewers, the electronic media tried to take their coverage to the next level by actually covering a landing.

High-ranking TV network officials have argued that they were invited to attend the landing by the U.S. government. Invited or not, they had no right to interfere with our troops' deployment.

Care must be taken in a country where anarchy is the standard form of government.

And sometimes competitive tendencies must be set aside for the sake of safety and good taste. CM

Reporter's Notebook

"Wow, Nancy, that's the most you've spoke up in the four years you've been here," quipped Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls, after the softspoken Nancy Strole, the new township clerk, loudly called roll at the December board meeting.

The Springfield Township Board formed a chair committee to find new board chairs for township meetings. The members requested the chairs be "utilitarian," "soft" and "height adjustable," reminding the group that Treasurer Lois Stiles in the past sat on a phone book and cushion to see over the desk.

At the Independence Township Planning Commission meeting Dec. 10, Department of Public Works Director George Anderson gave the commissioners a drawing of a water tower intended for Flemings Lake Road. The tower was bright green with a white stripe and had the word "ANDY" written in the stripe. Though Anderson was joking, the commission made sure its approval included that the tower be painted bluish-gray — with no lettering.

I know how to lay down

From May, 1947 to November, 1948 I was allowed to get out of my hospital bed twice a day.

Starting Sunday morning, November 22, 1992 to now (Dec 14) I leave my bed only for urgent

Believe me, accepting bed confinement is a lot easier at 21 than 66.

The earlier session was for tuberculosis. The current session is for lower back pain. (Being a lower back pain is better than having one.)

Since low back pain affects nearly every one of us at some stage of our active adult life, I'm sure you'd love to read about how mine is worse or different. Well, you won't; I've heard many describe back troubles worse than mine.

I'm a fairly active 66, what with a couple acres of lawn to mow, flowers, tree trimming and household maintenance.

But I guess on Nov 21 I should have been less intent on "beating the snow" and given my comeand-go back pain more thought.

Instead I finished roofing the corn crib, hauled out the big, wooden ladder to take down antenna wires in the house, switched the mower for a snow blade on the tractor and did other physical things for five hours. I guess I did stop once for a cup of coffee.

I couldn't get out of bed Sunday a.m. Of course when I had to I did--not even trying to stifle expressions of pain.

Screaming had an opposite affect on Hazel. She had her own lower back pain. A week before my experience started Hazel was diagnosed as having spinal stenosis.

She hurt; too bad!

What a couple! I couldn't stand. Hazel hurt with every step.

I laid on the bed in the back of our van en route to the doctor--and all subsequent trips to therapists, Funny. Promised surgery actually was a relief. I slept better that night. I accepted the conclusions just like I did when I was 21—another time in my life when I knew everything.

The election was more than a month ago. Voters decided they wanted to make some important changes in government.

We believe the passage of term limits in Michigan, and 13 other states, will help bring about a fundamental change in government. We also believe more people are going to have the opportunity to serve and that government will be more responsive.

The victory of margin was impressive. With almost six in 10 Michigan voters approving of term limits, there was strong support for this change.

One sure cure

We already have a cure for AIDS and all other (sexually transmitted diseases). It's called abstinence, monogamy and drug-free living. In short, moral behavior.

The Apostle Paul wrote, "For the wages of sin is death ..." (Romans 6:23), and according to God's moral order, sex outside of marriage, drug abuse, and yes, homosexuality are all sinful behaviors. Many of those indulging in these behaviors are sadly "reaping what they have sowed."

Tragically, there are those innocent victims who suffer because of the sins of others, as in the case of one killed by a drunk driver. However, the solution in the latter case in not "training in how to drive drunk," but social pressure demanding a change in behavior.

If AIDS is as great a threat to our society as it is purported to be, and I believe it is, shouldn't we promote the one sure cure we already know?

By the way, Paul concludes verse 23, "... but the gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord." Here then is the real hope for all of us sinners, but we must individually accept the gift God offers to us in Christ.

The Rev. Kurt Gebhard North Oaks Community Church

Seeking a little privacy

Catherine Passmore

When I was in ninth grade, I decided to join a choir that traveled and sang at churches across the state.

This is when my double life began.

I and the other new recruits were told from the first day of music camp that we always represented the choir. Our director told us that even if we had been served lasagna every Saturday for two months we were to be gracious. Even if we had been housed with an older couple with 65 cats, no food and we had to sleep on the floor with their 13 grandchildren, we were to be thankful. We were never allowed to say anything negative about our weekends until we were on the bus or at home.

When I got to college, I was told at orientation that "we have an image to uphold" in the community. Since I was at an extremely conservative Christian school, we knew what was expected of us. We had to dress and act a certain way and never ever be negative about anything — until we reached the haven of our rooms, then we could tell each other everything.

I was also in a drama group and choirs in college, which traveled the Midwest and put on productions for churches and youth groups. Again, our lives were on public display, and we had to be careful about what we said and did. But the cars that took us back to campus was where our freedom, and privacy began once again.

For the past 10 years of my life I knew that there would be times when I would have to do and say kind things that I may not want to — I couldn't complain about the toilet overflowing, the bed breaking, an obnoxious teen-ager, or cold lasagna — until I was in a safe place. This was a place were no one could interrupt my privacy and I could be myself.

Having my name in the paper has caused another privacy crisis in my life. I knew when I took the job that many people would read my columns and articles. I also knew that there would be times when the public would disagree with me and would let me know so. In all of that, I believed that my private time at home was mine and that it was a place to shelter me and give me a rest from my work.

Awhile ago person called me at home to voice disapproval about an article I wrote. It really bothered me. It wasn't so much what this person said to me but that I was called at home that really shook me up. I felt as if I had been totally invaded.

When I do a story for The Clarkston News, I am as objective as I can be. I try to get the facts straight, I try to make people realize when I am speaking to them what my objectives are. The facts in the story were correct—the person just didn't like the way the story was presented and didn't think twice about calling me at home about my work.

I just bought a Saturn. My salesman, Chris, told me to call him if I ever had a problem. We've talked to each other about every other week since September about my car. A metal thingy fell off in my glove compartment last Saturday evening.

I didn't go right into the house and look up his name and call him at home: "Chris, this is Catherine. A metal thingy just fell off of my car. What are you going to do about it?"

I would have sounded silly. There is nothing he could have done about it then at home; I would have only been bothering him. I knew I had to wait until the Saturn offices opened on Monday, and Chris got in. That reminds me— I still need to call him at the office about that.

'If it Fitz ...'

You don't have to be nude to donate

Jim Fitzgerald

One of my favorite charities, the Most Holy Trinity Christmas Party for deprived youngsters, will benefit from a fund-raiser at which Vyki Petrovic and about 40 other women will dance.

Nude.

There are different ways of helping people who need it. Just as there are differently employed people who want to help, especially at Christmas. Nobody, just because of their job, should be denied the satisfaction of knowing they gave a toy to a child who otherwise would have received nothing for Christmas.

The need is too great to be too picky about who fills it. And the pickers are too exposed to hypocrisy. A $500 donation may be welcomed from a banker who fine-prints elderly people out of his or her life savings. Should that gift be more acceptable than one from a woman who takes off her clothes for a living?

The other day, a well-dressed, thirtysomething man walked into the Anchor Bar and handed the bartender 10 new $100 bills for the Holy Trinity party. He refused to identify himself

"He looked like a lawyer." said Vaughn Derderian, a member of the Anchor-owning family that annually helps raise great gobs of money for the Holy Trinity party (Should their aid be rejected because some people believe beer is sinful?).

I asked Vaughn's colorful father, Leo Derderian, if he thought the lawyerly looking man was the same generous fellow who, a few Christmases back, pulled up to the Anchor in a stretch limo, ran inside to drop off $1,000 cash for the Holy Trinity party, and quickly sped away, without even saying hello.

"No," Leo said, "that guy looked more like a gangster."
Gangster or lawyer, banker or stripper, I don't care. If they want to buy a Christmas present for a poor kid, I say thank you very much.

Some charities don't agree with me and the people who run the Holy Trinity party. In past years, because of its questionable source, money raised by Petrovic and other nude dancers at Jason's in Windsor has been rejected by such fine organizations as Focus: HOPE. To each his own.

The fund-raiser at Jason's is this Thursday, all day and night. The dancers will give every cent of their salary and tips-probably around $10,000-to several charities, including the Holy Trinity party, which will spend it on gifts, lunch and entertainment for 600 needy youngsters.

"It's Jason's 7th annual Charity Day for Children," Petrovic said. "The dancers and staff prepare for weeks in advance a special day dedicated to raising funds for needy children. Children who need food, clothing, health care and Christmas gifts. In past years the funds have gone to such organizations as the Detroit Institute for Children, the Windsor Jaycees and Sick Children's Hospital.

"There are specially choreographed shows and comedy skits, as well as much song and a wonderfully cheery Christmas atmosphere of love and giving."

Again, I say to each his own. I have friends who rave about the entertainment at Jason's. I've never been there. On my only visit to a strip joint, many years ago, I quickly discovered I was too embarrassed to have a good time. I kept looking shyly at my shoes, which were hardly worth the cover charge.

I have a hard time understanding why there's a paying audience for such entertainment. And I can't help thinking it's too bad some women-and men-have to dance nude to make a living. But maybe they don't have to, maybe they want to, because it pays more than flipping hamburgers, or because it's show business. Maybe I'm just too old fashioned.

Anyway, men, if you enjoy that type of entertainment, tomorrow's the day to go to Jason's. You can tell your wife you did it for charity.*

Or stay home and mail a check, made out to Most Holy Trinity Christmas Party, to me at the Free Press, 321 W. Lafayette, Detroit 48226. Your money will be well-spent, no matter how you earned it, even if it comes with a G-string attached.

See for yourself

"I believe that children are the future Teach them well and let them lead the way Show them all the beauty they possess inside Give them a sense of pride to make it easier Let the children's laughter remind us how it used to be."

Words from "The Greatest Love of All" Do we believe that our children are the future and will one day lead the way? Or have we given up on this generation of children?

Today, children are overlooked, caught in the middle and abused physically, emotionally, verbally and sexually. The violence and explicit sex on television desensitizes our children and leaves them many times unfeeling to it all.

They encounter many-pressures from a very early age — drugs, alcohol, sexual activity — fear of AIDS and a polluted earth. An ever-growing number come from single-parent families — caught in between two parents, not knowing where they belong.

Are they also educationally abused? The only tax we have control over is school millage, so time after time, proposals are defeated with little consideration as to longand short-term effects on our children and preparation for employment in the future. If we don't support educational issues, what kind of messages do we send our children of the importance of education?

Yes, I know people will turn and twist numbers to fit their purpose, but are our children just numbers in a slot? It can be said that 15 years ago our schools held more children and class sizes were larger than they are today, and those children survived.

I'm sure that is true, but does it make it right? My parents survived the depression and world wars, but that doesn't make it right either. I survived the racial riots of the '60s, but I don't want my children to experience such happenings.

As a parent in my sons' school on a daily basis, I see: 1. Parents reading with students in the hall to give them individual attention teachers cannot because of 30plus students per class.

- 2. First- and second-graders juggling their lunch trays down the hall as the next group is already heading to the lunch line.
- 3. 200-plus students eating in the gym and barely able to talk above a whisper with the last 10 of 20 minutes
- 4. I have worked in the computer/ music room with three fifth-grade students per computer and three others waiting for a turn. Hoping that one of the 15-year-old Commodore computers doesn't break down, which happens frequently.
- 5. Walking in my son's classroom when you had to climb over rows of desks because of so little space.
- 6. Seeing physically, emotionally and other special needs children incorporated into regular classrooms, creating a whole new challenge.

My list could go on and on.

I appeal to all parents and community members to come into our schools and see for yourself. The upcoming bond proposal is the fiscally responsible short-term solution. Our children can realize a few benefits at no annual increase to taxpayers.

We as a community have a responsibility to the children of Clarkston. Let's put aside adult differences and focus on what is educationally correct for our children.

Four years ago I was told how lucky I was that my oldest son was in the first grade and he would have time to benefit from a new elementary. Well, he is now in the fifth grade and heading to middle school next year and no new facility. Time is a precious thing, and children grow up so fast. I don't think we can afford to give up on these

Many thanks to our community, friends

Clarkston is truly a wonderful place to call home. We thank God that our family has been calling Clarkston home since 1959.

The love and support that we have received since

Lew (Wint's) death has been immeasurable. One of Lew's favorite statements was: "Joy shared is joy increased; grief shared is grief diminished."

He loved sharing in the joys of this community, and the community has shared in our grief; for that, we are very thankful.

Thank you all for your overwhelming love and concern shown toward our family.

With heartfelt thanks, Nancy, Joy, Ted, Bill and Dree

Water tower concept approved by planners

A ground water tower slated for Flemings Lake Road won conceptual approval from the Independence Township Planning Commission.

The commission voted 6-0 Dec. 10 to approve the idea of a ground water tower on property used by the township Department of Public Works. The tower is to hold 500,000 gallons of water. It will be 52 feet wide and 42 feet high and is estimated to cost $289,000. The bluishgray tower will not include any lettering.

The commission asked that more trees be placed on the side of the tower, which will face I-75.

Four area residents have found employment with a little help from a new support group.

The Employment Resource Group—a support group formed to provide unemployed people a place to discuss mutual problems and cesses—has proved helpful to many, particularly for who found new jobs from the contacts they made in the group, according to Collin Walls, Springfield Township supervisor.

Cagers bounce back to besiege Blackhawks

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

The second time around for Clarkston's new varsity boys' basketball team had a happier ending.

After being crushed by Pontiac Central (65-43) in the season opener three days earlier, the Wolves came back to down host Brandon, 60-47, last Friday night in Greater Oakland Activities League ac-

Brandon coach Wayne Thompson, who said his Blackhawks were especially trying to keep Nick Shires "off-balance" (sometimes double-teaming him) and trying to make Wolf point guard Jeremy Fife to "give up" the ball, expects the Wolves to have a new and improved product the next time the teams face each other.

"I think Clarkston will be much better," said Thompson.

None of the Wolves were full-time starters last season. Fife said his team looked "so nervous" against Pontiac Central but were more confident at Brandon. Clarkston, starting two seniors, a junior and two sophomores, opened the game against Brandon as if it had forgotten about the drubbing by the Chiefs, taking a quick 7-0 lead against the taller

Blackhawks. The hot shooting of Nick Shires, Rick Vollmar and Jeremy Fife paced Clarkston to a 17-5 first quarter advantage. The Wolves remained just as hot in the second quarter and that shooting, coupled with their squeezing man-to-man defense, increased their lead to 31-11 at the half. The Blackhawks, with the help of outside shooting by 6-7 Steve Jurewich (three 3-pointers and a game-high 17 points, outscored the Wolves 17-13 in the third quarter to pull to within 44-28.

Brandon continued to chop away at the beginning of the fourth quarter, closing to within 44-32.

But at that point, Clarkston reeled off seven of the next eight points when Chris Combs sank a five-footer from the right side, Jeremy Fife stoled the ball at midcourt followed by Matt Underwood making a pretty layup while being hacked in the act (making the continuation free wood eank two mon unrow), then Un charity tosses.

That spree put the Wolves up 51-33, a lead to big for the Blackhawks to overcome with less than six minutes left.

Shires (one 3-pointer) and Jeremy Fife each scored 14 for Clarkston. Rick Vollmar netted eight, Underwood and Combs both had seven, Pat Mulligan and Jason Graves each had four and Steve Black had two.

In addition to Jurewich's 17 for Brandon, Matt Parry scored 16.

Brandon had more 3-pointers than the Wolves (5-1) and more free throws (10-9) but Clarkston lopsidedly had more field goals (24-11).

Seasoned Lakers too much for Clarkston in opener

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

Ten unanswered points in the second game launched West Bloomfield to a 15-8, 15-8 victory over Clarkston Monday

While it was the first match of the season for host Clarkston, it was the seventh one for West Bloomfield (6-0-1), which recently won the Farmington Hills Harrison tournament.

West Bloomfield, returning three starters from last year's squad which reached the Class A quarterfinals, easily won the first game, 15-8.

The second game finished with the same score but that was deceiving.

For about 15 minutes with both teams failing to win off their serves, the game remained deadlocked at 1-1 and then 2-2.

The Lakers then pulled slightly ahead at 5-3 but strong serving by Clarkston's Jenna Lopucki and Rachel Seifferlein propelled the Wolves to an 8-5 lead.

'We stopped passing the ball," said Laker coach Mike Sopko about his team's performance at that point.

But after that, according to Clarkston coach Gordie Richardson, it was the Wolves who weren't getting the ball to the right players at the net.

We just were just not passing the ball. We were out of sync," said Richardson, who noted that the Wolves' top spiker, Heather Steinhelper, had only one kill all night (Steinhelper is also getting over mononucleosis, tonsillitis and just broke her finger).

Out of sync Wolves was good news for the Lakers, who reeled off the match's last 10 points.

With Laker Cindy McCain serving, the Lakers won six straight points. West Bloomfield then won the last three points as Larisa Grinbergs served out the match.

Richardson also noted another reason for his team's downfall late in the

"We got nervous and tried to rush plays," said the Wolf coach. "We need to play with more confidence.

Sopko, knowing that Clarkston is fielding several new players this season, said about the Wolves, "They need to work together, to get to know each other in a game situation.'

Sopkoalsoadded, "We respect Clarkston. They always have a fine team."

Despite the loss, Richardson saw several bright spots.

Richardson, who said his team has "a lot of potential," pointed out, "Rachel (Seifferlein) played as well as she's ever played. Jenna (Lopucki) and Stephanie (Ranta) did a good job defensively," said

For Clarkston, Heather Austin was 9-of-10 serving with three aces and Steinhelper was 9-of-9. Seifferlein and Lopucki (one ace) both were 6-of-6.

Seifferlein and Lopucki each had

Wolves hope solution is in team chemistry

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

Not all of the Clarkston varsity volleyball players have taken a chemistry

But Wolf coach Gordie Richardson expects to see plenty of team chemistry on the court this winter.

"One of our strengths is we work well as a group," said Richardson, whose team last year lost to Waterford Mott in the district finals, finishing 22-14-6 overall and second (8-2) in the Greater Oakland Activities League.

The Wolves have a mixture of seven seniors (which includes Brazilian foreign exchange student Natalia Souza), three juniors and two sophomores. Richardson is counting heavily on the seniors.

'Six seniors have played before and worked together on the floor. Early in the season they're going to have to carry us," said Richardson.

In addition to working well together, the coach said, "We have good setters and the ability to be good hitters." Richardson said he has several players who serve well but he is "concerned with our ability to serve consistently." He said another plus is his team being filled with solid athletes. We have good athleticism," said Richardson.

Top on the list of that athleticism is middle hitter and setter Heather Steinhelper. The 5-10 senior, who currently is trying to overcome a bout of mononucleosis, was selected last season on the Regions 15 and 16 "Dream Team," made first team all-Greater Oakland Activities League and was chosen as the team's most valuable player last season.

led the Wolves in blocks (92), setting percentage (93.1) and was second in serve percentage (93.9) and attack reception

Richardson knows very well that one player cannot carry a whole volleyball

"The key to our team is not what Heather Steinhelper does. Everybody knows what she can do. The key is what everybody else do," said the coach.

Another Heather, Heather Austin, returns after an excellent junior season. Austin, an outside hitter and the team's other main setter in its 6-2 offense, broke a single-season record and tied another in 1992. She has the Wolves best-ever dig percentage (83.6) and tied for the most ace serves (74).

Four other senior lettermen will also see plenty of action, Rachel Seifferlein, Stephanie Ranta, Jenna Lopucki and Michelle Wade. Richardson also said exchange student Souza has quickly adapted a good court sense.

The coach said the three juniors (Lisa Goforth, Andrea Slavin and Christa Herron) are good role players, with Goforth ready to step in as a third setter. Richardson called the two sophomores (Carey Haven and Beth Eby) "talented but still rough around the edges."

Richardson called the GOAL title chase "a real toss-up." Three different teams have won the GOAL in the past three years: Brandon in 1992, Clarkston in 1991 and Lake Orion in 1990.

"We'll be in the hunt," said Richardson.

The coach expects defending champ Brandon (with Norwegan exchange student Bella Engen, an all state basketball player playing volley ball for the first time) to be a top contender.

"They have good size. They'll be a force," said Richardson about the Black-

He said district champ Waterford Mott will be losing a few key players but still could be tough. And he pointed out that Pontiac Northern has some good athletes. The coach doesn't know what to expect from Waterford Kettering and Lake Orion.

Richardson will be assisted by Becky Last year Steinhelper was 281-of- Kosek. The JV coach is Missy Hixon, who 642 in attacks (.311 attack percentage), will be assisted by Candy Polenz. Kosek amassing 183 kills and 91 kill tips (a and Polenz both played for the Wolves,

Key wrestlers missing, Wolves 10th at invite

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

Four Clarkston varsity wrestlers placed at the Lansing Eastern Invitational Saturday.

Jerry Anderson took first, Jason Roughton second and Jon Roy and Jeff Farrand each placed fourth. All four are

The Wolves, ranked second in the state for Class A in a pre-season coaches' poll, finished 10th out of 19 teams. Class A defending state champ Temperance-Bedford won the meet, with Bay City Western second, 1992 Class B runner-up Eaton Rapids third, Howell fourth and West Branch Ogemaw Heights.

"We definitely didn't take our best team over," said first-year Clarkston head coach Mike DeGain.

Three starters, Corey Grant, Brett Walter and Jesse Laycock, didn't wrestle in Lansing either because of injury or illness.

DeGain said there were also some "weight problems," with two Wolf wrestlers weighing in at the same weight division so one of the two could only compete. In addition, Clarkston started three freshmen and one match was voided.

Every Wolf in Lansing won at least one match. The wrestlers who placed grappled four times.

Anderson (140-pound division) won his first four matches of the season, including a close one in the finals against Temperance-Bedford's Doug Fuller.

Anderson, who has placed at the state finals three times, came back from a deficit to win the match.

"It took a lot of guts," said DeGain about Anderson's comeback.

Roughton (152) won three matches but lost in the finals to Ogemaw Heights' Jason Ziegler, Roughton, who also placed at state last season, defeated a Temperance-Bedford wrestler in the semifinals (the Wolves won two of three individual matches against the Kicking Mules).

Roy (heavyweight) and Farrand (119) both split four matches to earn their fourth-place finishes.

Clarkston will get another shot at the invitational's winning team on Dec. 30 when the Wolves, Kicking Mules and several other strong teams compete at the Goodrich Tournament.

In the mean time, Clarkston will defend its Oakland County championship this Friday and Saturday at the Oakland Community College - Orchid Ridge campus. The finals on Saturday are expected to start at 6:20 p.m.

Three Clarkston "B" team wrestlers won their divisions and two others placed at Saturday's Ferndale tournament.

(Clarkston's "B" team wrestles against other first-string varsity teams, with all matches counting toward individual varsity records).

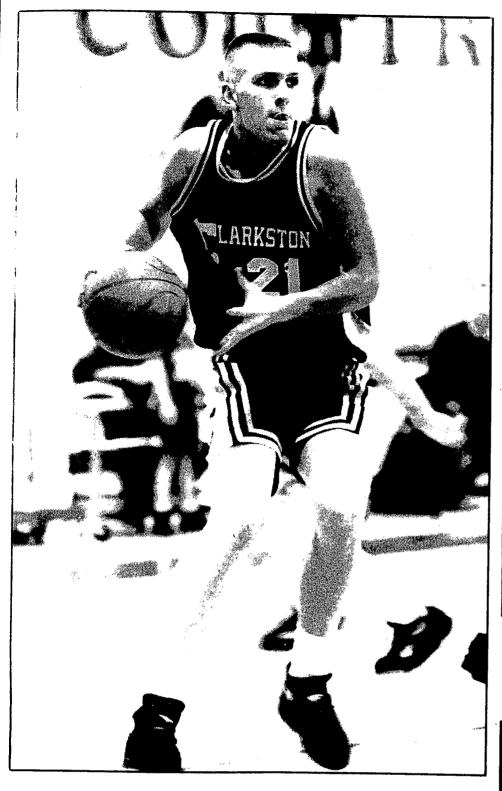

Charlie Liggett (145 pounds), P.J. Vandermeer (160) and Steve Hunkele (heavyweight) all won their divisions.

Armin Michelsen (140) captured second and Chris Allen (189) was fourth.

Romeo won the nine-team tournament, with host Ferndale coming in sec-

2 charged in armed robbery

Two men were charged with the Dec. 4 armed robbery at Dandy Oil on Sashabaw Road, Independence Township.

Joe Nacianceno, 30, and David Farmer, 31, both of Pontiac, were arraigned before Magistrate Dana Fortinberry in 52nd District Court, Independence Township, Dec. 11 on charges of armed robbery, a felony for which they could receive life in prison.

The preliminary examination is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 17, before Judge Gerald McNally.

According to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report, two males entered the gas station at 12:30 a.m. and waited until all the customers left the building. One male showed a portion of a handgun and demanded money from the 66-year-old male cashier.

The two men then left on foot westbound on Maybee Road with about $100. They were tracked to the Clarkston Free Methodist Church on Winell, off of Maybee.

No one was injured in the incident.

Bond for both Nacianceno and Farmer was set at $250,000 cash/ security

If you enjoy going to township meetings in Springfield, then you had better clear the second Thursday of each month in 1993.

The township board voted unanimously to change its meeting dates from the second Wednesday of the month to the second Thursday of the month in 1993.

The meeting was changed to allow Supervisor Collin Walls to attend Davisburg Rotary Club meetings. He was asked to be the Rotary president in 1993 but could not accept unless township board meetings were changed.

In 1993, the township board will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the township hall, 650 Broadway.

Chanukah marks struggle for religious freedom

Chanukah begins at sundown on Saturday, Dec. 19, and ends at sundown on Sunday, Dec. 27.

Chanukah (pronounced kha-noo-kah) is a festive holiday also called the Festival of Lights. The word Chanukah is Hebrew for dedication.

Though it usually falls in late November or during the month of December, Chanukah is not the "Jewish Christmas." Christmas is a sacred Christian holy day that celebrates the birth of Jesus, the Christian messiah; while Chanukah is a festival observed uniquely by Jewish families.

The eight-day holiday begins on the 25th of Kislev on the Hebrew or lunar calendar.

The history of Chanukah is told in the Book of Maccabees, an apocryphal work.

In 175 Before the Common Era (BCE or BC), Antiochus IV became king of Syria, the land to which Israel had been annexed. He tried to force the Jews to renounce their faith and customs and to worship Greek idols. Antiochus' plan was to forge a kingdom of "one people," all with the same beliefs. He became the champion of an intense hellenization.

On the 25th of Kislev in 167 BCE, the enforced hellenization of the Jews reached its peak. Antiochus decreed that any Jew caught observing the Sabbath, having in his possession the Torah or Five Books of Moses, or in any way maintaining Jewish customs and not worshipping the Greek gods, would be killed. He also ordered that the central Jewish Temple in Jerusalem was to be polluted and called Zeus Olympius.

In the small town of Modi'in, northwest of Jerusalem, a man named Mattathias, along with his five sons, rallied Jews from the entire country to join their fighter forces in opposition to the Syrians and their evil decrees.

On his deathbed in 166 BCE, Mattathias asked his son, Judah Maccabee, to continue the fight for religious and personal freedom.

"Maccabee" is Hebrew for "hammer." It symbolizes how Judah and his followers acted as the "hammer of the Lord" while they fought the numerically superior Syrians.

Judah Maccabee and his small band of followers won a series of brilliant military victories over the more numerous Syrians. The fighting culminated in 164 BCE, with the victory of Judah Maccabee and his followers over Lysias, who was the Syrian commander in chief, and his forces.

The Maccabees gained possession of Jerusalem and began to cleanse the Temple, which had been desecrated by the Syrians. The 25th of Kislev was set as the date for rededication of the Temple to coincide with the third anniversary of Antiochus' evil decree.

According to the Book of Maccabees, celebrations

A MENORAH, or candleabra, holds a master candle and eight others. The master candle, called the Shammas, is used to light all the other candles, which are lit one per day during Chanukah. The holiday also includes prayers of praise and hymns of thanksgiving, as well as gift giving and special foods and games.

to rededicate the Temple lasted eight days, and Judah decreed that they be designated as days of rejoicing for future generations.

THE RESERVE OF THE PARTY OF THE

Historical tradition holds that, at the time of the rededication, only one oil cruse could be found to burn in the Ner Tamid (nair tah-meed), or eternal light, which hung over the Holy Ark containing the Torah scrolls. This container of oil held only enough to burn for one day, but instead, the oil lasted miraculously for eight days.

Since the Maccabean victory, Chanukah candles have been lighted in Jewish homes in all parts of the world, to commemorate the relighting of the Eternal Light. The festival reminds Jews that by fighting Antiochus' tyranny, the Maccabees maintained the identity and religious freedom of the Jewish people and preserved Judaism.

Stock home for storms

Winter storms come quickly in this part of the country. You won't be caught unprepared if you follow these tips from the Michigan State Police.

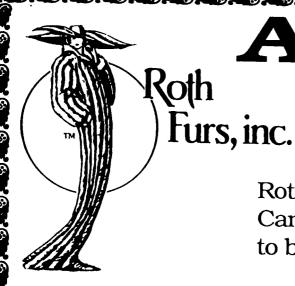

In hour home, make sure you have a supply canned or dried foods, flashlights, candles, battery-powered radio, extra blankets, heavy clothes and any prescription medication you'll need.

Note precautions when using kerosene heater

Fires from kerosene heaters can be avoided by using common sense and following some precautions from the Michigan State Police.

Make sure you store the fuel in a metal container outside. Don't overfill your heater, and never fill it while it is already burning.

Keep your windows open slightly since the heater consumes oxygen. Keep your heater clean and in good working condition, and have adequate space around the heater for safety.

By Tom Erickson

If a simple man who loves,
Makes another's life happy,
Is he any the less a man,
Than a great scientist
Who discovers a way to Annihilate the earth
Quicker!

Support groups begin for parents, teens

Sometimes, a little help makes things easier. With that in mind, two support groups have formed in the Clarkston area and begin meeting in January.

Parents with children who have Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder can get some free help through a support group at the Clarkston office of the Consortium for Human Development, Inc.

According to Perry Williams, vice president of operations for the Consortium, "The awareness of ADHD by schools and parents is increasing to the point that many have to wait weeks for testing."

Even after a child is tested and found to have the condition, the availability of support groups for parents is limited and many are not free.'

The group, led by therapist Susan Einheuser, meets 10:30 a.m. to noon Saturdays. Call 800-336-2343 to register.

Another support group focuses on helping teenagers stay off or avoid drugs and alcohol by building selfesteem.

The group uses professional and peer support to encourage teens to say no comfortably and to mean it. The group meetings 6-7:30 p.m. Wednesdays in the Clarkston office, beginning Jan. 6. Call 800-336-2343 to register.

The Consortium is a non-profit outpatient counseling center providing treatment for mental health and substance abuse. For more information, call 625-9600.

What's new in business

Body Wise helps patients deal with pain, stress

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

Dottie Kobus used to help people from the scalp up, but now she's concerned with treating the entire body.

Kobus is the owner of the Body Wise massage clinic, which opened for business last July. The office is at 5884 Dixie Highway, Independence Township.

Originally a beautician at the Ladies and Gents Hair Salon in Waterford, Kobus has been a certified masseuse for the past three years. She said an interest in health inspired her to enter the field of myomassethics.

'This career stemmed from an interest in health, personal as well as family-oriented," she said. "It's amazing what a good massage can do for a person's well

Kobus said a massage has numerous therapeutic advantages. They include: reducing stress, lowering blood pressure, toning and oxiginating the skin, increasing circulation and flushing toxins from one's system.

At Body Wise, Kobus offers two types of massages: sports and therapeutic. A therapeutic massage is a soothing, total body massage, while a sports massage involves more of a rigorous workout of groups of muscles.

Kobus charges $35 per hour for both types of mas-

Body Wise also offers facial cleansings and a threeday yoga class for $30 apiece.

Kobus, who works alone, said a majority of her clientele are ages 30-45.

"I've found that this is the age segment who's most interested in their physical well being," she said. "Massage therapy can be beneficial to nearly everyone, from the sports-minded to the pain-ridden.

"It's for anyone who's into feeling good," Kobus

Kobus finds her role of "healer" rewarding.
"The most gratifying part of my job is seeing a patient feel good after a treatment," she said. "It's great knowing you've helped a person with what they came in Body Wise's services are available by appointment only. Appointment hours start at 1:30 p.m. to correlate with Kobus's office aid job at Walled Lake Western High School.

DOTTIE KOBUS owns and operates the Body Wise massage clinic at 5884 Dixie Highway, Independence Township. Her services include everything from massages to yoga.

Widely distributed

A local cable-TV show has become Clarkston's most distributed cable-access production.

"A Difference of Opinion," hosted by Dr. John and April Cowan, is viewed in 22 communities, and eight more will soon be adding it to their formats, says Joel Burnell of Clarkston's United Artist cable.

"This production reaches more communities than any we've ever produced," he says.

According to the hosts of the show, the program is popular because it offers a step-by-step plan of action to attain their dreams.

'Our program helps viewers break through the veneer that separates them from their dream, then offers a step by step plan of action," says April Cowan.

Chiropractor John Cowan has a practice in the Clarkston area, is past chairman of the Michigan Chiropractic Society and is a motivational speaker. April manages the household, the practice and, in her own words, the family dream.

A Difference of Opinion can be seen in Independence Township and the City of Clarkston at 8 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays on Channel 65.

Dealership gives new car to Okemos man

"You've won a new car!" is expected during a game show, but not a wine and cheese party.

Don't tell that to Duane Possanza of Okemos. He won a 1993 Saturn SL1 from Saturn North at a wine and cheese party Nov. 24.

About 30 people attended the party given by the auto dealership on Dixie Highway, Springfield Township. The party raised over $58,000 for the American Diabetes Association.

The raffle was operated like sweepstakes. The diabetes association sent 37,000 tickets to people and suggested that they buy the tickets and a chance to win the car

Carolyn Cameron from the diabetes association said she was pleased with the support. "It's been one of our biggest fund-raisers out of the Saginaw office," she said.

Ron Rodda Sales Manager

QUESTION: The price is right on a house I want to buy but the location and number of rooms is all wrong. What do you advise?

ANSWER: No matter how great a bargain a house may be - it is not the right house if your family will be unhappy or uncomfortable there. If you have no car, why buy a house where there is no public transportation nearby? Why buy a house where there are not enough bedrooms for the size of your family or a yard for the size of your family dog, or downstairs bedroom for an invalid family member.

Buying an unsuitable house at any price is like buying a hippopotamus because it's a bargain.

Cable Prices.....

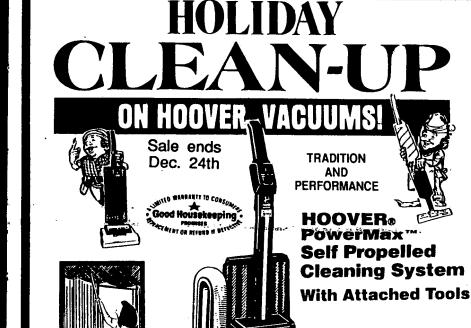

If the house is not RIGHT for your family, it won't be a good buy regardless of price.

Cold-weather dressing

If you must go outdoors during extreme cold weather, remember the following tips from the Michigan State Police:

■ Wear loose fitting, light-weight warm clothing in several layers rather than a single layer of thick clothing. ■ Outer garments should be tightly woven and water

■ Wear a wool hat. The body loses between half and three quarters of its heat through the head.

■ Wear mittens instead of gloves — they allow your fingers to move freely in contact with one another and will keep your hands much warmer.

■ Keep your clothes dry — change wet socks and all other wet clothing as quickly as possible to prevent loss of body heat.

Storm warnings can lesson impact of bad weather

"A traveler's advisory is in effect for northern Oakland County.

Do you know what that means? It means that driving may be difficult due to snow, rain, sleet or strong winds.

The Michigan State police provides the following commonly used terms in winter weather forecasts and their meanings.

Freezing rain and freezing drizzle indicates rain that freezes as it strikes the ground and other surfaces, forming a coating of ice.

Sleet indicates small particles of ice, usually mixed with rain. If enough sleet accumulates on the ground, it will make travel hazardous.

Snow, when used without a qualifying word, such as occasional or intermittent, indicates that a fall of snow is of a steady nature and will probably continue for several house without let-up.

Snow flurries indicate periods of snow falling for short durations at intermittent periods. Accumulations are generally small.

Winter storm watch indicates severe winter weather conditions may affect your area (freezing rain, sleet or heavy snow may occur either separately or in combination).

Winter storm warning indicates that severe winter conditions are imminent.

High wind watch indicates sustained winds of at least 40 mph, or gusts of at least 50 mph or greater, are expected to last for at lest one hour.

Heavy snow warning indicates snowfall of at least 4 inches in 12 hours or 6 inches in 24 hours are expected (heavy snow can mean lesser amounts where storms are

Blizzard warnings are issued when sustained wind speeds of at least 35 miles per hour are accompanied by considerable falling and/or blowing snow. Visibility is dangerously restricted.

Travelers' advisories are issued to indicate that falling, blowing or drifting snow, freezing rain or drizzle, sleet or strong winds may make driving difficult.

Wind chill is the effect of wind, in combination with actual temperature, which increases the rate of heat loss to the human body

Thus says the Lord: You who seek after righteousness have frnot said "Come out from among them?" and be ye separate and I will receive you and be your God and you my children? Many will come and say to Me "Lord Lord" but I will say "Depart from me you workers of iniquity, who hate my word to do it and will not speak the truth. I never knew you!" I am a God of truth. My Son is the truth, My Spirit is the Spirit of truth! Should my children be less and not be as I am? Blessed are the honest and good hearts that hear honest and good hearts that hear and seek after my word to do it but cursed are those that walk twisting my words, hating to do them? I will well them with supplesting purples punish them with everlasting punishment for I am "Just." Depart-depart, from the cages of deceit, for they are the congregation of the Dead! # Retiree helps others with carving

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

For the past 13 years, Donald L. Hindman of Independence Township has shown hundreds of people how to carve wood and appreciate this budding pastime.

The 54-year-old, Cranberry Lake Road resident caught the wood carving bug about 15 years ago, when he visited a show in Livonia.

"At the time, I was carving in stone and ran into some problems with the medium, so a friend suggested that I go to the Livonia Wood Carving Show," he said. "Upon going, I immediately fell in love with wood carving.

"I really like helping others and watching them grow as carvers."

"That day, a couple of dealers gave me a knife and a wooden chain link blank to begin with, and I've been hooked ever since," Hindman added.

In 1979, two years after going to his first show, Hindman started his own club, the Metro Wood Carvers. Meeting once a month in Royal Oak, this organization gives members an opportunity to work on myriad projects, while learning from such wood-carving veterans as Hindman.

In 13 years, this club has grown to over 400 members and ranks as one of the largest wood carving organizations in the country.

"It's really quite amazing how quickly the club has grown," Hindman said, "but that goes to show how addictive wood carving can be."

Wood carving has also provided Hindman with a source of income, since retiring from General Motors in June.

"Wood carving keeps me busy and, now that I'm selling some of my pieces, it also helps supplement my income," he said.

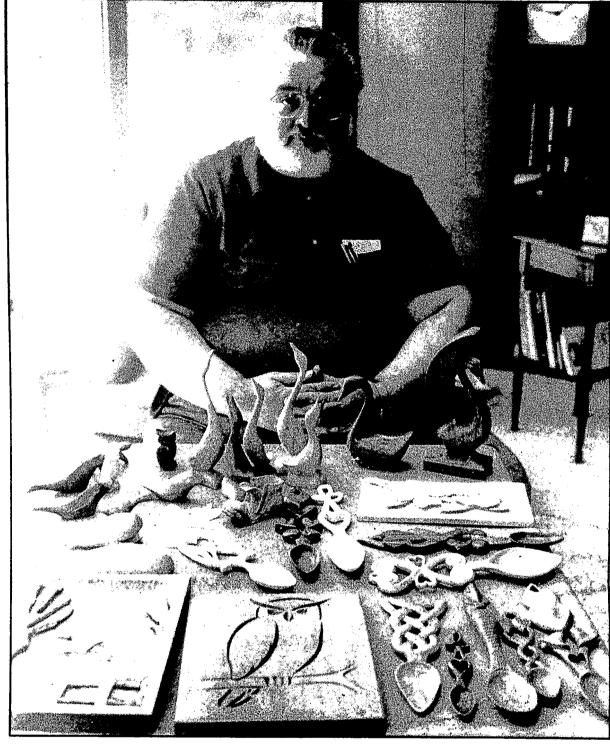

Hindman's income should also benefit now that he's teaching in the school district. For the past few weeks, he's been teaching alternative education classes at the Clarkston Community Education Center, Maybee Road.

He enjoys the prospect of teaching high school-age students because they could pick up wood carving as a trade.

"With wood carving, if it catches on, a young person could make a career out of it," he said. "Nevertheless, the class will expose them to the field, as well as a new medium."

Hindman said this type of exposure is what spurs him to keep teaching classes around the county.

"I really like helping others and watching them grow as carvers," he said. "My biggest thrill is seeing a student get his first blue ribbon at a club show or competition.

"It's moments like this that makes all the hours seem worthwhile," Hindman added.

Hindman's students usually carve from blocks of basswood or butternut wood, even though their teacher has wood shipped in from all over the world.

"I've got wood from every continent on the planet," he said. "Each has its own unique color and grain, so it allows me to pick just the right type for a particular project."

When asked what it takes to become an accomplished carver, Hindman listed three qualities.

"You need patience, practice and the willingness to try."

Donald Hindman

"You need patience, practice and the willingness to try," he said, smiling. "I've got an old saying: 'The road to success begins with the first cut.'

"That first cut may be rough, but it's bound to get better with time," Hindman added.

LAUREL PETERSON is just one of several student-carvers in Hindman's community education class.
