Most MEAP scores down from 1991

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

The recent test results from the Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) have Clarkston Schools officials a little concerned.

"At face value, I'm not very pleased with them (the scores)," said Dave Reschke, assistant superintendent of curriculum and staff development.

"Generally, our track record has showed us to stay with the norm, in regards to other school districts. So I'll hold off on my final judgment until we can examine other scores around the state."

Reschke said his top concern lies with the test scores of elementary-age students. At the fourth-grade level, for example, this year's class scored lower than their 1991 counterparts in all testing areas.

While Reschke doesn't consider a 3-percent sway in either direction as a cause of alarm, this year's elementary scores were down an average of 4.95 percent in all three categories.

The annual MEAP scores assess student knowledge in mathematics, science and reading comprehension. Each student is tested in three-year intervals to evaluate the amount of knowledge retained over that period.

All passing scores are determined on criterion set by Michigan's State Board of Education.

Science

This test has not changed in several years. Some new science objectives were approved by the state board in April 1991, so another test may be formulated in the future.

In science, students in fifth, eighth and 11th grades are tested.

In 1992, 79.4 percent of the fifth-graders met the statewide criterion — 6.3-percentage point drop from last year's score of 85.7 percent.

Eighth-graders accumulated a 63.9-percent passing rate — a decrease over last year's score of 69.4 percent.

Eleventh-graders improved by 4 points over last year's tallies by claiming a passing rate of 55 percent.

Essential Math Skills

This is the second year the new mathematics test has been administered. According to Reschke, scores are expected to be low at first because, in addition to computation skills, the new test emphasizes the understanding (See MEAP, next page)

EVERYONE wants a piece of Elvis Presley Jan. 8, as post offices across America start selling the Elvis commemorative stamp. In Clarkston, dozens of folks waited in line to

The 'King' visits Clarkston

Elvis was sighted in Clarkston last Friday, as the Clarkston post office kicked off the commemorative Elvis stamp campaign.

The festivities started at noon, as about 30 people awaited the chance to purchase Presley's stamp, which is emblazoned with the late rocker's likeness. The first person in line was Dennis Brisque of Clarkston, who bought a sheet of stamps.

Waterford resident Don Tersigni made an appearance as the "King." A professional comedian and impersonator, Tersigni strutted around the post office, greeting patrons and singing songs.

He was admittedly pleased with the response to him and to the stamps.

"The folks reacted very positively," Tersigni said with an Elvis drawl. "No one's ripped my shirt off yet."

Tersigni is the brother-in-law of Cindy Tersigni, who serves as a clerk at the post office. She and her fellow postal workers chipped in money for the performer to appear, besides decorating the post office in a variety of Elvis paraphernalia.

The Clarkston post office was initially issued 40,000 commemorative Elvis stamps to sell, beginning Jan. 8. So far, over 300 million stamps have been printed and are available nationwide.

Most MEAP test scores show decline from 1991

(MEAP, from previous page) and application of mathematical concepts.

He said scores are expected to improve as students gain more mathematical reasoning skills and problem-solving experience.

In this relatively new test, the fourth-graders achieved a 50.4-percent passing rate, which is a 4.4-point fall from 54.8 percent in 1991.

Of seventh-graders, 49.3 percent of pupils passed, which is a small increase over last year's score of 48.4 percent.

The 10th-graders had a passing rate of 24.5 percent, which is a jump of 6 points over 1991. Reschke considers the 10th-graders' math scores to be one of the bright points in 1992's MEAP test results.

Even though it's impossible to compare this new math exam to past tests, a few questions, similar to those on the old basic skills test, were peppered throughout the essential skills test.

For the sake of comparing these questions to basic skills tests of the past, the fourth-graders scored 86.8 percent, which is down 5.9 points over last year. The seventh grade jumped a point by posting a 78.9-percent passing rate, up 1 point over 1991's tallies.

The 10th-graders rounded out the tests with a passing percentage of 85.8 percent, an increase of 8.7 points over last year's scores.

Essential Reading Skills

This is the fourth year that this test has been administered. The previous MEAP reading assessment tested isolated skills, such as identifying suffixes and prefixes and finding root words.

The new test challenges students with two sections: non-fictional and fictional.

The overall numbers are tabulated by a scaled scoring system, which retains a constant interpretation and sets a common standard of performance.

In fourth grade, 41.6 percent of students attained the scaled score for both sections, compared to 44.8 percent last year.

Seventh-graders fared about the same in 1992 by recording a 47.3-percent passing rate for both segments. Last year, their predecessors scored 47.9 percent overall.

In the 10th grade, 40.9 percent of the students passed both sections, which is a drop of 9.4 points over 1991.

Pupil expelled over gun

A 16-year-old Clarkston High School student has been expelled by the Clarkston Board of Education for bringing a handgun to school.

The school board unanimously approved the expulsion Jan. 11. The vote followed an hour-long hearing in closed session prior to the start of the regular meeting.

The student's name will not be released because he is a minor.

According to an informational report from the school district, the teen brought the .38 caliber revolver to school on several occasions. Officials refused to give more details.

School district continues contract talks with unions

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

1993 may be here, but Clarkston school representatives are still trying to hammer out new contracts for employee groups.

Last month, contracts were reached with the Central Office Secretarial and Clerical Personnel Association, the Cafeteria Managers Association and the Cafeteria Association. A two-year teachers' contract was also reached in September, following a five-day strike.

According to Duane Lewis, assistant superintendent of personnel services, the strike set back the district's negotiations with other employee groups. Regardless, he

"We tend to have a lot of small groups, and it just takes time. We'll eventually get to them all."

Assistant Superintendent Duane Lewis

said these contracts were bound to take a lot of time because of their sheer number.

"We tend to have a lot of small groups, and it just takes time," Lewis said. "We'll eventually get to them all."

Lewis expects to come to terms with at least four associations by the end of February. They include: the head custodians, district supervisors, paraprofessionals at Oakland Technical Center-Northwest and building directors and administrators.

The association of grounds and maintenance workers are expected to follow soon after.

The district is also waiting to hear from the Michigan Employment Security Commission, which has been asked to decide on a "coalition" case.

Last summer, Lewis said, four groups attempted to form a coalition, but the district refused such a union. These groups include: general custodians, bus drivers,

Buses on hold

School bus mechanics may have to face more challenges coming up.

A request to purchase four new school buses was unanimously tabled by the Clarkston Board of Education Jan. 11.

Board members cited economics as the reasoning behind their decision.

"It's really hard to promise anything at this point, when we're not sure if we'll have the funds already committed to projects like the upcoming ninth-grade move," said Trustee Karen Foyteck.

The board promised to re-examine the purchase proposal March 8. In the meantime, the older buses will remain on the road, with the help of school mechanics.

Steven Lenar, deputy superintendent of business and operations, requested the purchase to update the district's 27-bus fleet. Seventeen buses already have over 100,000 miles on them. On an average day, the district transports 7,482 students, and the buses log over 3,744 miles.

The district received three bids for the four 72-passenger buses. The low bidder — recommended by Lenar — is Hoekstra Truck Equipment in Troy. Hoekstra has offered to sell each bus for $49,270 apiece, totaling $197,080.

The Secretary of State office on Dixie Highway, Independence Township, will be closed for two upcoming holidays.

To observe the Martin Luther King Jr. holiday, the branch offices will be closed Monday, Jan. 18. It re-opens at 9 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 19.

It also will be closed for Presidents' Day on Monday, Feb. 15, and will re-open at 9 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 19.

special education paraprofessionals and building secretary and clerks.

The matter was forwarded to the MESAC, who has the final say in such matters.

Lewis said negotiations with these groups will continue once a decision is rendered.

Groups without new contracts are operating under an extension of their old contracts, Lewis said.

THIS BRIDGE on the White Lake Road safety path near Deer Lake soon will be replaced with a different bridge with a smaller arch. Apparently, a miscommunication between the contractor, Lanzo Construction Co. of Roseville, and the supplier resulted in the wrong size, said Randy Ford of the engineering firm, Hubble, Roth and Clark. The bridge should have a 5-percent slope to allow wheelchairs to cross. However, it currently has a 14-percent slope. The bridge is part of Independence Township's plan to connect to Clarkston's safety path, which forms a loop for walkers, joggers and bikers. Clarkston is responsible for the about $55,000 cost of materials, labor, grading, hydroseeding and cleanup and is to repay Independence Township over 10 years. The new bridge is to arrive the first week of February, said Ford, adding that the ramps on both sides of the bridge will be constructed in spring. The contractor, who is in charge of installing a sewer along Deer Lake Road for Independence Township, is liable for the costs of the wrong-size bridge, Ford said. (Photo by Julie Campe)

Man hit by car in neighborhood

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A 64-year-old Independence Township man died Jan. 5 after he was struck by a car in his neighborhood.

According to Deputy Thomas Poulin of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Bobby Farley was walking down Cecelia Ann at 6:11 p.m. when he walked into the path of an oncoming car driven by Stacy Grutza, 21, an Independence Township resident.

Poulin said that Grutza was driving north on Cecelia Ann, and since it was dark at the time, she did not see Farley until it was too late.

Farley was taken to North Oakland Medical Center, Pontiac, where he died of severe head trauma and massive internal injuries.

Poulin said Grutza was not injured; alcohol was not a factor, and she will not be prosecuted.

Farley was retired from Pontiac Motors with 23 years of service. He was a member of the Lake Orion Church of God.

His wife, Dorothy, described him as "a very ornery man (due to sickness) but deeply emotional, loving and caring person."

"He loved his neighbors; he loved his church, and he was devoted to his children," she said. "Deep down in his heart, he was a good Christian man."

The Farleys had been married for 45 years and 40 years ago built their home on Cecelia Ann, off Maybee Road.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by his three children, Miss Shelby Farley of White Lake, Bobby (Iona) Farley of Waterford, and Howard (Sue) Farley of Clarkston. He had two grandchildren, Jennifer Lynn and Michael Farley.

He was the brother of Evaline Baker of Union City, Tenn., James Farley of Troy, Tenn., Luther Farley of Crossville, Tenn., and Elmer Farley of Pensacola, Fla.

The funeral took place Jan. 9, 1993, at Coats Funeral Home, Waterford, with the Rev. Wayne Chellette officiating.

Electric blanket blamed for fire

No one was injured when a fire began in a child's bed last Friday morning.

About 5 a.m. Jan. 8, a Hadley Road, Independence Township, resident turned on her daughter's electric blanket, then went outside to work in the barn.

About 20 minutes later, the daughter came out of the house screaming that her bed was on fire, according to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report.

Apparently, the girl had awakened to flames at the foot of her bed.

The Independence Township Fire Department extinguished the fire, with little damage to the rest of the room.

A malfunctioning electric blanket is blamed for the incident, according to the police and fire reports.

Rich heritage

You can tell a lot about a town from its community newspaper.

The Mobridge, S.D., Tribune is a fun example. The newspaper is to become a tabloid-size paper — same as The Clarkston News — and asked to exchange papers for a while to share ideas and page designs.

Looking at the present Tribune shows a lot about the community. For instance, in early December, the paper was filled with stories about community groups trying to raise money, food and toys for the needy — but they were falling behind their goal — many needed help, apparently.

The closing of J.C. Penney in town was big news and spurred lots of letters to the editor. J.C. Penney continued to advertise before the holidays — everything was 25 percent off. The Chamber of Commerce vowed to try to attract and keep stores in the area.

The "Just Folks" portion of the paper covers "all the things we do as individuals, families and groups." It includes "New Folks," which talks about what the stork dropped off during the past week.

And it includes a "Visitors" section, which lists, for example, "Lisbeth Zephier of McLaughlin and Ada Eagleshield visited Fritz Eagleshield as did Howard Eagleshield." The after-Thanksgiving listing was huge.

The paper also includes a "Cook of the week" feature — a photo of the cook, a short story about him or her, and some of the cook's favorite recipes. One week included "pickle packer" Gene Turner.

Just Folks also included activities by the women of the Moose club, engagements, anniversaries and more.

The "Sporting Life" section includes lots of large action photos of high school athletes and also stories about fishing and hunting: "Mobridge-area fishermen are still enjoying good success. 'Fish aren't jumping in the boat like they did in June, but it's worth it if you dress for the weather,' says Dan Leuning of Oahe Bait ..."

The advertising also is enjoyable to read. For fun in Mobridge, you could "ride the Gold Dust Fun Bus to Deadwood for a fun-filled day of excitement at Deadwood's largest and most elegant gaming and entertainment complex." (Only $25 per person.) Or you could dine at Dakota Country Restaurant, and if you have a sticker on the bottom of your plate, your meal is free. Or maybe you'd rather listen to the National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas, brought to you by KOLY AM/FM, Mobridge.

The paper also wrote about the annual Big Foot Wopila ride, from Sitting Bull Camp to Wounded Knee. The horseback riders traveled 10-30 miles per day, stopping at various ranches along the way. ("For more information, call Terry Yellow Fat.")

Such references to the Native American heritage of the area abound. For instance, an obituary told about first-grader Roxana Miranda Sitting Dog, who died in a one-car accident. She was the daughter of Walter and Anna (Shoots The Enemy) Sitting Dog of McLaughlin.

And a public notice told that "Joseph Good Elk of Mahto pleaded guilty to driving while under the influence of alcohol (second offense). He was fined $400, plus $52 court costs. He was sentenced to 60 days in jail, with credit for two days served ..."

The public notices include an entire court section, which publishes the names of speeders and those driving without a license or under the influence of alcohol. The county also publishes the names and amounts of delinquent taxes.

One oddity — in the "For Rent" portion of the classifieds, the ads don't include the price to rent a two-bedroom apartment or home, for instance.

I don't know what that says about the community.

Opinions

Editorial

Child safety should be top priority

Last Sunday the Detroit Free Press launched a campaign entitled, "Children First."

Publisher Neal Shine said, "The goal is to mobilize against some of the biggest roadblocks in raising children safely, educating them properly and nurturing them in a safe environment."

The Freep had a series of staff meetings last summer where they decided their paper should do more than just record statistics.

Instead of reporting only problems, they needed to do something about making solutions happen.

Shine said, "It will be a continuing project and will move the paper beyond its traditional journalistic role to assume a more active role in responding to the most crucial need in this community and in the state: saving the children."

We look forward to seeing how the Free Press goes about achieving its high goals. We know they'll accomplish much good.

We hope they eliminate many roadblocks in their quest of putting "Children First." JAS

LET'S GET RID of some notes that have been collecting.

Between Christmas and New Year's I was talking to Don Putz. I'm calling him my "modern Christmas shopper."

He's got two lists: one for expensive gifts, one for lesser relatives and friends. Then he checks "hours open" for various stores.

He starts as late as possible at the Somerset Collection, then goes to the all-nighters like Meijers. It makes for a long day, but Don can work his shift at Indianwood and still finish his shopping in one day.

I'M NOT GOING to check my Webster's, but I always thought the word "exclusive" meant one. In our business an "exclusive" story is one we alone have, first.

But, I must be wrong. I've heard radio stations WJR and WXYT both say they have the "exclusive 3-day weather forecast." And, it's the same 3-day forecast we get by calling the National Weather Bureau in Flint.

TWO OF MY FAVORITE media people died in 1992. One is Bill Black of radio WJR. The other is Don Jensen of the Free Press.

Bill Black was the most straightforward reporter I ever heard. He obviously loved Detroit. Equally obvious, he hated seeing his city being wrought with crime.

I remember hearing him report, live, watching a drug deal going on and asking, "Where are the police? They know it's going on here everyday, just as I do."

I doubt if he can be replaced. We even wonder if any other reporter will ever love Detroit like he did.

Don Jensen, a retired Ford executive, wrote a weekly column for the Freep's senior page. He chronicled his family and experiences, he wrote of moving from Florida to California and reasons thereof, of making new friends and staying in touch with old friends.

His was just a "good" column, very well written for us more mature people.

DAVE BARRY, syndicated columnist in the Detroit Free Press Magazine, reviewed the news of 1992. Many say Barry's diddy bag isn't quite full, but he is funny.

For March 17 he wrote - "Chicago is paralyzed for what will turn out to be several days by a massive, multimillion-dollar flood, the cause of which is ultimately traced to the home of Arnold Spooterman, whose last words, according to his wife, were, 'We don't need a plumber, I'll just tighten this . . .'"

One more: August 20, General Motors announces that, in an effort to cut costs, it will stop making cars.

A POPULAR SONG (Lord Have Mercy on the Working Man) on WWWW recently had these lyrics: "Tell me why the rich man does the dancing while the poor man pays the band."

Yeah, they still write 'em like that in country western.

FOR SEVERAL MONTHS TV cameras zeroed in on suffering children in Somalia. We are there. Now TV cameras are focused on the suffering elderly in Bosnia. Don't stay tuned.

Letters to the Editor

Bond a good deal

In 1988, when my wife and I were looking for property on which to build, everyone in these parts made a big deal about how great the Clarkston schools were.

I can recall sitting in Carol's Village Grill, looking at a real estate magazine, and people coming up to us — unsolicited — telling us how great the schools were in this community.

I remember driving past new subdivisions and seeing builders' signs that shouted "Clarkston schools," as if that were some big advantage.

But now, after two years in our new home and experience with four young kids in school, I'm wondering what's so great about the schools here.

I see 35 kids in a class. I see kids meeting on a stage or in a hall. I see toilets that don't work. I see supplies stacked to the ceiling. Worst of all, I see 10-year-old Tandy 1000s computers — ancient technology in this rapidly changing computerized world — with kids having limited access to them because of overcrowded conditions.

I wonder if the parents of the children of Clarkston comprehend what these deficiencies in our schools really mean.

Being a concerned parent, I attended my first school board meeting in October. As I walked out the door that night, I overheard a mother say, "If they don't do something about the schools here soon, we're moving."

Makes one wonder about one's property values.

So I started to attend school meetings, and the real importance of maintaining the excellence of our schools hit me like a truck when I heard Joe Helpem, president of the school board and professor of physics at Oakland University, say that he did not have one American student who completed the graduate program in physics last year.

And so I would urge every Clarkston resident with children in school to get out and vote "yes" on the upcoming school bond proposal Feb. 8.

It will help alleviate overcrowding with a new elementary school. It will repair our tired buildings. It will accommodate the move of the ninth-graders to the high school (where they belong). And it will provide the kind of technology that our kids need to be prepared to compete in the world.

And "yes" won't cost taxpayers a single dollar more per year because this is not a vote on increasing millage. It is a vote on merely prolonging the number of years the current bond-related millage will be paid.

Take it from one who came from the City of Detroit and got nothing for his tax dollar: The Feb. 8 bond proposal is a good deal.

See for yourself

As a parent of two children who attend North Sashabaw Elementary School and as a para-professional teacher's aide in that school, I have seen firsthand that our children's education suffers because of the overcrowding at North Sashabaw.

Our children don't receive the quality education they could and should receive in the Clarkston school district.

My children's classes are overcrowded to the point that there is hardly any room to move around. When winter jackets and boots are thrown in, it's a quagmire.

This overcrowding is also reflected in the fact that there is less time allowed for individual instruction when needed. The school itself is crowded, which means limited time is available for physical education, computers and library services.

North Sashabaw is a wonderful school and will stay so if we can keep the student population around 500. The building of a new elementary school will alleviate our building's overcrowding. I invite anyone who has not visited an elementary school in the last year to do so this month and see the overcrowding up close. I also ask every parent who has a child attending a Clarkston school to please do what is best for our children: Vote yes on the upcoming bond issue.

Call for courage

'If it Fitz . . .'

A wrong turn follows a right on city streets

Jim Fitzgerald

Joan Heffner of Birmingham and a friend had a nice experience after getting lost in Detroit and stopping at a gas station for help. She said newspapers are always full of bad stories about Detroit, and it would be refreshing if I wrote something good. I agreed, but didn't write fast enough.

Just before beginning today's column, I read on the front page that a "trail of robberies and death" began at the same gas station on the same day Heffner phoned me.

I enjoy living in Detroit, and prefer writing stuff that might improve my city's battered image. About the swell time my granddaughter had in the Barrel of Fun at Cobo Hall, for instance. But even if I were dishonest enough to ignore the dismal reality, it would still be there, the frightening truth of living in a city that still offers rewards, but at an ever-escalating risk.

Heffner's scary but ultimately pleasant experience began when she couldn't turn left after "really enjoying 'The Nutcracker' at the Fox Theatre." The right turn was followed by several wrong turns, and the self-described "two little old ladies in high heels and fur coats" suddenly had no idea how to get back to Birmingham. And they were low on gas.

"We stopped at the Sunoco station at Jefferson and VanDyke, and the two men working there couldn't have been nicer," Heffner said. Although it's a self-serve operation, "they pumped our gas and gave us exact directions on how to get home."

And Heffner added, with reluctance: "I don't mean to discern between races" but she and her friend are white and the station attendants were black and ...

And Heffner thought it would be nice if people read that some suburban whites had been treated kindly by Detroit blacks. She didn't want to make a big deal out of it. Certainly it isn't news that most black people are kind, the same as most white people. But lately there's been much rotten news about racial violence, so maybe I might agree it was a good idea to give Heffner's nice experience some publicity?

Sure. And I understand her hesitation to mention two races in the context of good and bad. I am similarly hesitant about describing the snapshot of 6-year-old granddaughter Tricia hanging on tight to keep from falling down inside a spinning barrel at the annual Christmas Carnival in Cobo Hall.

Tricia is white and she is hanging onto the hand of a boy who is black, and they are laughing. The photo shows my hope for the future. It reflects what Ed Bradley of "60 Minutes" recently said about the racial situation: "It requires fundamental changes so that we truly live together."

As a white man, the same color as David Duke, I find it hard to write about that snapshot without sounding condescending, and obvious. It shouldn't be necessary to point out that two children can have fun together, whatever their colors, and that it's a shame they can't grow up without learning to hate and fear each other simply because of their race.

But I keep pointing it out, because I must. Just as I must report the denouement to Heffner's nice experience. A few days later, at the same station, a woman was robbed of $1,230 and her Cadillac. And, police said, the thief drove the stolen car on a two-day rampage that included murder and three more robberies.

I don't know the race of the criminal or victims. It doesn't matter. The crime matters. It's outrageous that, in some areas, it's not safe to stop for gas.

All of us should be outraged, and stay outraged until good news is no longer news simply because it's good.

Catherine Passmore

Behind the scenes

When I was younger I thought that the newsroom would be filled with the tension of breaking stories. I was wrong.

Lately, the big topics of conversation have been Marla vs. Cindy, Barney the Dinosaur, when you are in your early, mid or late ages, and helpful hints. I can say with certainty that Clarkston is not waiting with baited breath to hear our thoughts on these subjects, but here they are.

Marla vs. Cindy has been a hot debate for a couple weeks now. I truthfully don't remember where the discussion started, but I wish it would end soon.

On the one hand we have Marla Maples. She is a home-wrecker with a little talent. She got to her present position in life by being the mistress of a wealthy man. I'm sure her parents are proud. Oh, by the way, she played basketball in high school — a redeeming quality to one in the office.

On the other hand there is Cindy Crawford. She was a straight-A student in high school and has worked hard to become a super model. She did not date or marry a famous person until she was already famous herself.

Guess who I have been backing for a month.

Now, onto Barney the Dinosaur. No one in the office has seen the show, yet we are all humming "I love you, you love me ..." to the tune of "This Old Man." One unnamed sports writer has informed us that he gets very annoyed with the children in the commercials because they over act. What child actor doesn't over act? Thousands of children love Barney and don't notice the obnoxious children.

Is 23 early or mid-20s? Is 27 mid- or late 20s? If a train left Boston on Thursday and traveled east at 50 mph and there was a cow on the tracks in Ohio, what is probability that the cow would be named Clara-belle?

Our newest joy is "Life's Little Instruction Book," which I received for Christmas. I have shared the helpful hints with my co-workers and they have been kind enough to return the favor. Here are a couple from the last list that Julie (who is in her very early 30s) made for me: "Learn to handle a handsaw and hammer," and "Wave to crosswalk mothers." Thanks, Julie — I will.

Letter of intent

We, the Clarkston Community Bond Campaign Committee, also known as HUG (Help Us Grow), would like to commend the Clarkston Board of Education for putting together a complete document of information known as the Bond Proposal Information Packet - February 1993.

This packet will be used as the basis for all factual reporting of the short- and long-term impact this bond proposal and will have on the residents of Clarkston Community Schools.

We know that the Feb. 8 bond proposal doesn't

From the heart

Bond issue a short-term solution

As home and auto owners, we realize the importance of maintenance and repairs. Problems compound and rapidly worsen when postponed over time.

To create a safer environment for Clarkston children and to lengthen the life span of our school facilities, repairs in our school buildings are imperative. No new money for major building repairs has been approved since '88. With budget cutbacks, maintenance and repairs — other than the everyday — have had to take a back seat to minimize direct program cuts.

As increased numbers of children pass through the hallways of our school buildings, it only stands to reason that more use requires increased numbers of repairs or replacement of such things as floor tiles, sidewalks and bathroom facilities.

Cracked and broken floor tiles create safety hazards for our children. Many of our buildings show a hodgepodge of floor tiles, since through the years as replacements are needed, old patterns are no longer available.

Many buildings also average 30 or more children per toilet, and since the newest building in the district is over 20 years old, many bathrooms are in great need of replacements. In addition, many bathroom partition doors are broken, making privacy impossible.

With inclusion of special needs children into our buildings, many toilets, sinks and drinking fountains are not barrier-free to accommodate their basic needs.

High ceilings in classrooms are energy-inefficient and therefore are more costly to operate. They also create problems in providing adequate lighting for our children to work and learn.

The upcoming bond proposal addressed the most critical (as identified by building principals and custodial staff) but certainly not all the maintenance and repair issues that exist.

Leaky roofs; outdated, broken bathroom and drinking fountain fixtures; inappropriate storage of materials due to lack of space; creates an unsafe, undesirable place for our children to learn.

The responsible short-term solution to these maintenance issues is the passage of the Feb. 8 bond proposal. The longer the problems go unattended, the more costly and, most important, the greater risk our children face as a result.

Pride in our community includes pride in our schools, and for the "Love of Our Children," we urge your support on Feb. 8.

From the Heart is prepared by the Help Us Grow Committee (the Clarkston Community Bond Campaign Committee).

address all the needs of our district. But it's a first step toward: repairing the facilities that we have, dealing with critical overcrowding at all elementary schools, moving the ninth-graders to the high school where curriculum needs of these students are better served, and updating the desperate needs of science and computer technology to prepare our children for today's rapidly changing technical world.

We feel this proposal is the best solution at this time to address these needs yet not burden the community financially.

We as parents realize that some people will say, "We housed more children 15 years ago, and class sizes were larger," not knowing that students were automatically scheduled a 45-minute study hall with a class size of 200-300 students.

This is not how we currently teach our children. Many curriculum changes have occurred since that time; however, these changes place further restraints on our inadequate facilities.

Many would have you believe that this is not a good time to extend our current bond indebtedness when, in fact, this is a most opportune time. Interest rates are low; we are coming out of a recession; and all indications point to further long-term increased enrollment for Clarkston schools.

Each year we put off these facilities needs, we continue to allow our children to be herded into small classrooms where their chance for an average education is met with inadequate facilities and 30-plus students.

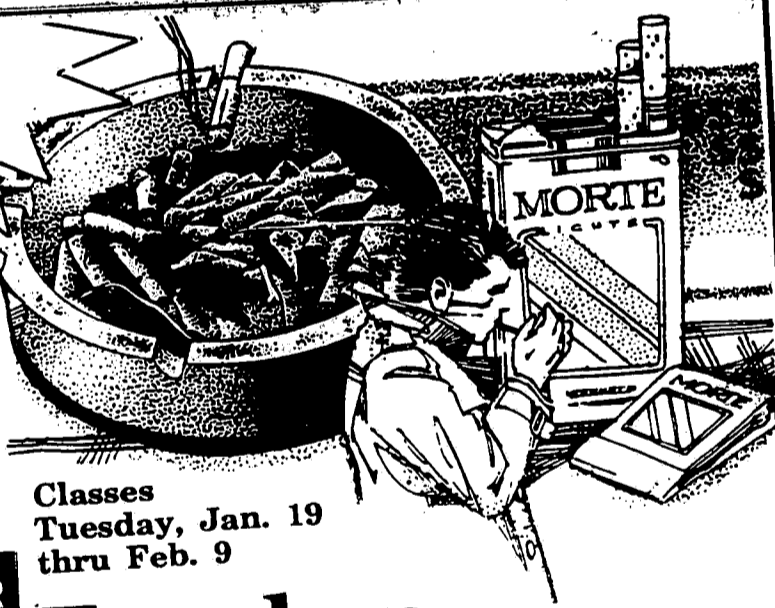

Therefore, it is the position of HUG to establish a Letter of Intent so you, the community, will better understand our goals and approach in educating you on the merits of this bond proposal.

Our number-one choice of contact to the people of this community is person-to-person. We will approach this position from several angles:

- Invitations to Town Hall Meetings throughout school district.
- Brochures handed out at area grocery stores.
- Door-to-door canvassing of neighborhoods Jan. 16 and 17.

We also feel this bond is a good initial step for many major problems Clarkston Community Schools face.

It is fiscally responsible in that it doesn't increase your current tax millage rate. Clarkston is one of the lowest bond indebted school districts in the 28 Oakland County districts, with a 1.7-mill bond scheduled to expire in seven years.

We are in the top one-third in family income in Oakland County, yet we generate nearly the lowest number of dollars per child. For these and many more reasons, we feel this support is fiscally justified.

Chamber mixer at technical center

Business people in the area may want to mark their calendars for the January member mixer of the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce.

It takes place 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 28, at the Oakland Technical Center-Northwest Campus, where guests will eat lunch prepared by students, hear a presentation by Principal Daniel Manthei, and go on a tour of the building.

The school — on Big Lake Road near I-75 and Dixie Highway — is a regional center, where high school students and adults can take classes ranging from automated office to diesel technology. The school also can work with businesses.

Cost is $6 for members, $7.50 for non-members. Reservations are required by Monday, Jan. 25. Call 625-8055 for more information.

No distortion

My "Buyer Beware" letter appearing in the Dec. 30, 1992, letters to the editor section criticized some local real estate brokers for using deceptive ads when selling properties around Deer Lake.

I also mentioned some non-lakefront homeowners in Deer Lake Pines subdivision were keeping their boats on the lake overnight.

The last two sentences of my letter read: "I only ask that local realty companies research all conditions upon which a house is offered for sale. This will prevent misleading ads and unhappy buyers."

Well! On Jan. 6, 1993, an "unhappy buyer" exploded into The Clarkston News. I was accused of distortion and misstatement of fact and self interest, of having four boats on Deer Lake, an ax to grind, and of having three dogs. Oh! Unhappy Buyer also thinks I am a woman.

In fairness to Unhappy Buyer, if I had signed my name to the letter, his attack on his neighbor may not have taken place. The damage is done. Using this public forum is not the time or place for these petty attacks.

As Unhappy Buyer erred in the interpretation of my letter, Unhappy Buyer has in my view erred in the understanding of the subdivision by-laws. To quote Unhappy Buyer: "The fact is, as a resident of Deer Lake Pines, I am granted lake access and full use of the lake just as any other lakefront owner through the Deer Lake Pines Home Owners Association private lakefront beach, as defined in the by-laws of the association.

"That use is solely governed by the by-laws, which makes no mention of, nor regulation against, homeowners in the Pines keeping their boats full time on Deer Lake."

By-laws are a product of deed restrictions established for this subdivision and recorded at the county offices. Deer Lake Pines deed restrictions dated May 23,

1979, clearly state under Park Privileges: "Said park shall not be used for the storage of any boat or other material."

These restriction are open for review at the township building department. By law, it is the responsibility of the subdivision association to enforce these deed restrictions. To date, Deer Lake Pines has chosen to ignore this portion of the deed restriction and per Unhappy Buyer has excluded the restriction from their by-laws. If boats are at anchor, tied to a tree, or pulled on share, they are being stored.

As you can see, Unhappy Buyer, there is no distortion or misstatement of fact, no ax to grind and no self interest.

I have one boat, and my one dog died. When I served in the Marines, we had a saying: "Women wear pants, and men wear trousers." Please be assured I wear trousers.

Unhappy Buyer, you owe your neighbor a large public apology. I think roses would also be nice.

I remain,

R.K.T.

Employer's point of view on bond

Once again, the voters of Clarkston are asked to decide the fate of their children, and once again the rhetoric of the shortsighted is heard.

However, let me explain my point of view as an employer and businessman.

Clarkston's children are dealt a poor hand. Because of "fiscal inept" voters, today's children will not be qualified to compete on an equal basis in the marketplace for solid jobs. The children who will seek jobs in the year 2010 will not possess the skills necessary to perform in a highly technical, skilled environment.

In the Clarkston school district today, we have decided that rather than support our district monetarily, we would be better served to eliminate computer instruction, music and art. We would, however, be reluctant to disband the athletic programs. What are we thinking? Where are our priorities?

We are responsible for training and developing our children. We must address overcrowding and the reduction of programs that provide a child with total education.

As an employer, I seek individuals who are technically qualified and socially able to represent my company in the marketplace. Those capable are those who have been exposed to a stimulating and demanding educational environment.

In our schools today, teachers can't address individual learning concerns because of overcrowding.

Clarkston children lag behind other school districts in computer basics. Our children are required to sit in hallways for certain training because we, the "responsible voters," have decided that we wouldn't even renew the bond.

Next month, we will be asked to vote on the future of our children. I hope that those who call themselves "fiscally responsible" will look at the damage they have done and attempt to rectify it. The proposed bond issue does not increase the annual tax bill — it merely asks for an extension of our existing bond.

Please be sure to vote next month, and please study the bond issue closely. At a minimum, we should all be willing to provide our children with the quality education we required when we were in school.

Knife-wielding man leaves after threats

A knife-wielding man attempted to fight a Springfield Township resident Jan. 9.

According to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report, the Springfield man had gone to the Davisburg Medical Center on Andersonville Road at 9:20 p.m. to see a relative who works there. When he got out of his car, a man exited another vehicle and approached him.

The would-be attacker asked the complainant if he wanted to fight. When the complainant replied no, the other man showed a switch blade and repeated the question.

The victim got into his car and grabbed a club. At that time, two people walked out of the building, and the man with the knife got into his car and sped away south on Andersonville Road.

The man is described as white, 5-feet-11, with a stocky build and blond hair.

The victim said he knew of no one with a motive to hurt him, and he did not recognize the man.

Win streak continues as lineup changes

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston coach Dan Fife knew at least one thing after his team's 50-42 victory over Lake Orion last Friday night on the Wolf court.

"I couldn't tell you who's starting on Tuesday," said Fife.

Fife has used at least five different starting lineups in the Wolves first seven games. The victory over the Dragons was Clarkston's fourth straight and upped its record to 5-2 (2-0 in the Greater Oakland Activities League).

Only 14 points were scored in the first quarter, with Clarkston holding a slim 8-6 lead.

The Wolves jumped ahead 13-8 in the second quarter but the Dragons tied it at 13-13. But at that point the Wolves regained the lead and held it for the rest of the game, leading 21-16 at the half and 32-23 after three quarters.

The game wasn't pretty, especially on offense. Neither team shot very well, the Dragons had plenty of turnovers, and the Wolves missed several layups and shot only so-so from the free throw line (13-of-24).

"I think the game was ugly because of the intensity of the two teams. It was a typical Clarkston-Lake Orion game," said Fife.

And even though it was ugly, Fife saw the beauty in his team's efforts.

"They're not as talented as the teams in the past but they just played hard," said Fife.

Lake Orion coach Chuck Mahoney thought his team's turnovers were the difference in the game. He said his Dragons played toe-to-toe with the quick Wolves out Clarkston's bench was a little deeper with that quickness.

"I thought they played with more players that were quick," said Mahoney, whose team dropped to 2-4 overall and 1-1 in the GOAL.

Nick Shires and Matt Underwood have been the team's highest scorers but they were held to 13 and nine points, respectively.

Point guard Jeremy Fife finished with 10 points but missed at least a half dozen layups trying to drive through traffic.

"A lot of times Jeremy is not strong enough to finish it," said coach Fife about his 5-9, 145-pound sophomore son, who often leads the Wolves in assists and steals.

Rusty Mitcham finished with seven points, Steve Black and Josh Watson each had four and Rick Vollmar added three.

Lake Orion, which shot a hefty 17-of-22 from the free throw line, was paced offensively by Igor Perkovic who scored nine.

CLARKSTON 69, Imlay City 41 (Jan. 5 at Clarkston)

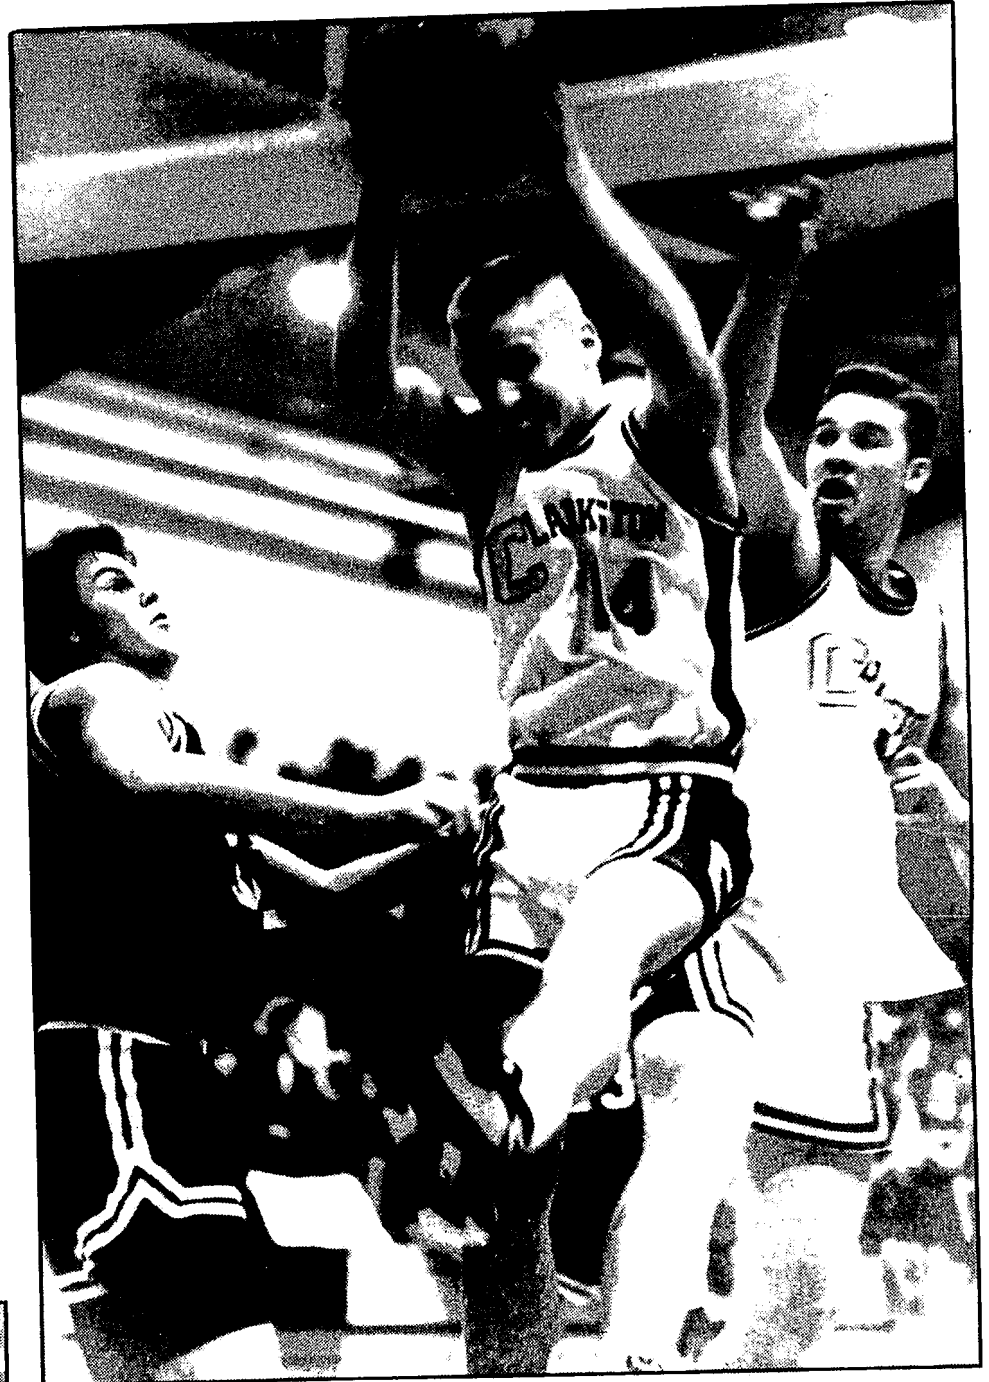

The host Wolves jumped out to a 10-2 and then coasted to a 69-41 victory over Imlay City Jan. 5.

"We got them down early and they just didn't recover," said Clarkston coach Dan Fife. "We shot pretty well."

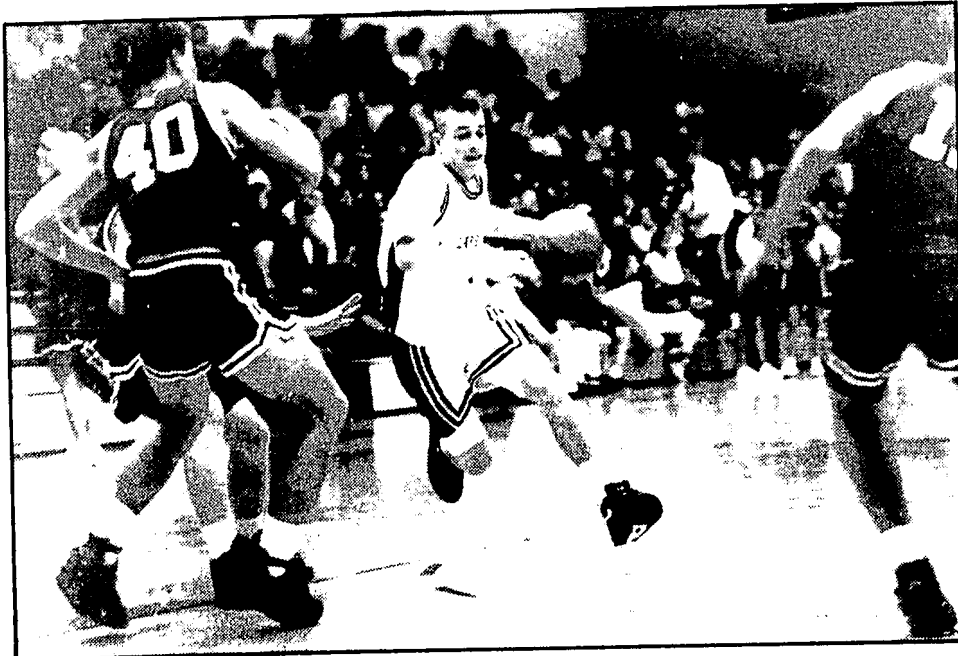

The Wolves led 20-8 after eight minutes, took a 43-26 bulge into intermission and then led 52-33 after three quarters.

Eleven Wolves scored.

Matt Underwood led all scorers with 17 points. Nick Shires (one 3-pointer) and Jeremy Fife each netted 12; Rusty Mitcham and Rick Vollmar each totaled eight; Steve Black had three, Jason Graves, Pat Mulligan, Josh Watson and John Weeks each had two; Brad Agar added one.

RUSTY Mitcham pulls down a rebound as teammate Steve Black, far right, tries to assist. Mitcham scored seven points in the victory over Lake Orion.

JEREMY Fife weaves through three Dragon opponents.

Girls hope it's all downhill with experience

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Qualifying for state has been a Clarkston girls' ski team tradition.

The Wolves, who placed 10th in the state finals last season, have made the trip north for the past eight years.

Clarkston coach Judy Roeser expects that tradition to continue in 1993.

"One would think they would be there," said Roeser about Clarkston's chance for making it again to the finals.

Five of six starters are returning: seniors Courtney Whittaker and Jennifer Curd; juniors Lisonn Hutchinson, Carrie Millen and Kristi Stuetzer.

Whittaker, selected as the team's Most Improved Player last season, finished 42nd in the slalom at the state finals last year. At the regionals, she was eighth in the G.S. and 14th in the slalom. She was seventh in both events at the Pine Knob Ski Division meet.

Curd placed 41st in the slalom at the state finals. She was 20th in the slalom at regionals and 21st in the G.S. at divisionals.

At state, Millen finished 44th in the slalom and 52nd in the G.S. She was 28th in the slalom at regionals and 30th in the G.S. Her best finish at divisionals was Hutchinson finished 57th in the G.S. at state, 47th in the slalom at regionals and 32nd in the slalom at divisionals.

Stuetzer placed 60th at state in the G.S. and was 42nd in the G.S. at regionals.

Roeser said one reason for the Wolves' continued success is location, Clarkston skiers are closer (less than five miles away) to the Pine Knob Ski Resort than any of the other nine schools in the Pine Knob Ski Division.

"We're here," said Roeser. "I think location is an explanation."

Roeser also said she can help any Clarkston girl who skis recreationally at Pine Knob make the transition to skiing through gates in the slalom or giant slalom.

FIVE Wolves who earned varsity letters last season return for the girls' ski team. From left are: Carrie Millen, Lisonn Hutchinson, Kristi Stuetzer, Jennifer Curd and Courtney Whittaker.

"Any girl I get I can make into a good racer," said Roeser.

Roeser expects Kingswood and Bloomfield Hills Andover to give the Wolves the most trouble in the Pine Knob Division. Last year, Clarkston finished second overall to Andover in the division.

The Clarkston coach said the girls' division is more balanced than the boys'.

But if the tradition continues, the Wolves will again be one of the few teams to rise above that balance.

Rebuilding boys' team defends Pine Knob title

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Having a "rebuilding" year is probably the most common cliché used by coaches in pre-season assessments.

Clarkston coach Judy Roeser puts that "rebuilding" label on her 1993 boys' varsity ski team.

"I said that about the girls last year — look what happened," said Roeser, whose 1992 "rebuilding" girls' team finished 10th in the state last season and first overall in the Pine Knob Division.

Only three lettermen return on the boys' team, which finished seventh in the state last season. The Wolves will be counting on senior Scout Trim (one varsity letter), junior Mike Kozlowski (two varsity letters) and David Hartke (one varsity letter).

"Scout's my senior. I think he's going to be an outstanding skier. I'd guess he's one of the fastest, league-wise."

Last year at the state finals, Trim finished 39th in the giant slalom and 51st in the slalom. At regionals, the consistent Trim was 17th in the slalom and 18th in the G.S. He was fifth in the slalom at divisionals and ninth in the G.S.

Roeser hopes Kozlowski comes back strong after an injury.

"Mike blew out [his knee] during the summer (while riding a ski). It will be interesting to see how aggressive he is," said the coach.

As a sophomore in the state finals, Kozlowski finished a strong 32nd in the slalom. In that same event at regionals he was 25th and was 19th at the divisionals.

Hartke was brought up from the JV squad last season, doing well in some key late-season meets.

"Dave's a nice technical skier. He has good form," said Roeser.

Hartke, as with teammate Kozlowski, seems to do better in the slalom. At state he was 47th, finishing even higher than his 48th place at regionals. He finished 30th at the divisionals.

Several Wolves this season will also compete in a series of JV ski meets that have been added to the schedule (the Wolf JV girls will also compete). Roeser likes the JV schedule, which gives more of her skiers (especially the underclassmen) an opportunity to ski in competition.

One of those underclassmen, Paul Rumph, will probably see little action at the JV meet. Roeser expects the freshman to move up with the varsity.

The coach said members of her team have told her they'll be in the thick of things in the division race.

Roeser said, "I think there's a lot of promise. They have high expectations."

Wrestlers win invite, pin two foes in duals

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The South Lyon Invitational championship.

Two convincing dual victories over Hazel Park and Waterford Kettering.

Even with those accomplishments last week, the Clarkston varsity wrestling team won't know what kind of team it really is until the next few days.

On Thursday, Jan. 14, the Wolves travel to Lake Orion. Last season, Clarkston won the Greater Oakland Activities League but was upset by the Dragons in the district opener.

Two days later on Saturday, Clarkston travels to Bay City where the Wolves will compete in three dual meets, going up against two Class A top-10 rated teams.

Clarkston (rated No. 8 in the Wrestling Coaches Association poll) will grapple against Grandville (No. 1), host Bay City Western (No. 3) and Flint Northern.

Clarkston coach Mike DeGain, who will be missing the services of all-state wrestler Jerry Anderson because of an injury, said he thinks the quad meet in Bay City could possibly be the toughest one in the state this season.

CLARKSTON first at the South Lyon Invitational (Jan. 9 at South Lyon)

Eight Wolves reached the finals as Clarkston won the 10-team South Lyon Invitational.

Clarkston coach Mike DeGain said his team got ready for the invite two days earlier with a victory over Hazel Park, the state's No. 9 rated Class A team.

"We wrestled real good. We were a little more motivated after coming in with a win over Hazel Park," said DeGain.

Clarkston finished the invitational with 197 1/2 points. The Wolves were followed by host South Lyon at 143, Temperance-Bedford "B" team 131, Fowlerville 121, Ann Arbor Huron 83 1/2, Richmond 60, Fraser 68, Birmingham Seaholm 67 1/2, Lapeer West 63 and Redford Union 57.

Four of the eight Wolves in the finals won: sophomore Armin Michelsen (135 pounds) pinned Richmond's Jacob Clark at 2:56; senior Jason Roughton (145) defeated Fowlerville's Shane Basch, 9-2; sophomore P.J. Vandermeer (160) pinned Ann Arbor Huron's Andy Bair in 57 seconds; freshman Joe DeGain (171) pinned Seaholm's Paul Bunting at 4:15 (Bunting recently finished second at the Oakland County Meet).

Four other Wolves placed second after losing in the finals: Fraser's Jason Ohrt (hwt) pinned Jon Roy at 1:31; Richmond's Dan Riedel (112) edged Brett Walter, 7-5 in overtime; South Lyon's Jeremy Brown (119) pinned Jeff Farrand at 2:51; Fowlerville's Brian Byars (140) defeated Anderson by injury default. Anderson hurt the back of his shoulder and could be out of action for two weeks or more.

Two other Wolves placed at the invite. Steve Hunkele (189) finished third and Steve Locher (125) placed fourth.

CLARKSTON 71, Waterford Kettering 3 (Jan. 7 at Clarkston)

Ten pins, including five in less than a minute, sparked Clarkston to a 71-3 demolishing of Waterford Kettering.

The win upped Clarkston's dual meet record to 5-0 overall and Greater Oakland Activities League mark to 1-0.

The 10 Wolves who pinned were: Chad Auten (103) against Jason Blair in 39 seconds; Brett Walter (112) against Craig Waider at 29; Steve Locher (125) against Freytag at 32; Jesse Laycock (130) against Chris Lane in 39 seconds; Armin Michelsen (135) against Jason Aiello at 4:29; Jerry Anderson (140) against Mike Ritchie in 16 seconds; Jason Roughton (145) against Andy Thornton in 26 seconds; Jack Dyer (152) against Brian Sorenson at 4:21; Joe DeGain (171) against John Banks in 34 seconds; Jon Roy (hwt) against John Haviland at 1:22.

Clarkston's Steve Hunkele (189) won on a 17-0 technical fall and P.J. Vandermeer (160) won by void.

Kettering's lone victory was in 125-pound action, as Captain Rich Bair defeated Jeff Farrand, 12-5.

CLARKSTON 47, Hazel Park 21 (Jan. 7 at Clarkston)

Clarkston won seven of its first eight matches en route to a 47-21 victory over Hazel Park.

"The scoring indicates it was easy but our kids were just ready," said Clarkston coach Mike DeGain.

Wolf Chad Auten (103 pounds) was very ready, winning the first match in 20 quick seconds with a pin of Mike Kimball.

Brett Walter (112) followed with a 10-2 decision over Chuck Cupp; Jeff Farrand (119) took the fizz out of Larry Champagne by pinning him at 2:29; Steve Locher (125) pinned Dave Knight at 3:29.

Hazel Park's Gary Harrison (130) broke the Wolf win string by pinning Jesse Laycock at 3:56.

But the Wolves came back with three more straight wins. Armin Michelsen (135) pinned Kevin Dunaway at 3:23; Jerry Anderson (140) won on an 18-3 technical fall over Ed Daniels; Jason Roughton (145) pinned Brandon Sequin at 1:24.

Highland Park then managed to put together two straight wins. Aaron Hilgendorf (152) won on an injury default over Frank Lafferty and Nathan Ethridge (160) topped P.J. Vandermeer, 7-2.

Clarkston's Steve Hunkele (189) crushed Rich Daniels on a 19-2 technical fall but Highland Park's Mike Galegher (hwt) came back to pin Wolf Jon Roy at 2:37.

Skis, trails at Indian Springs

Indian Springs Metropark near White Lake provides cross-country ski trails and ski equipment rentals this winter.

Sledding (no tobogganing) on moderate slopes is also available. The park also has a nature center, with seasonal exhibits, a park naturalist on duty and nature trails for self-guided hikes.

Up to 12 miles of groomed trails for cross-country skiing travel over varied terrain at the park — one of eight Huron-Clinton Metroparks offering the skiing.

Ski equipment rentals are available weekends only at the Ski Touring Center at the Golf/Activity Center Building.

Cost for rental (up to four hours) on the weekends is $6.50 for a complete set, $2.50 skis only, $2.50 boots only and $1.50 poles only. An insurance fee of $2 per set is required on all equipment ($1 of the insurance fee is returned when the equipment is returned in satisfactory condition).

The use of the trails is "free," with the operation of all facilities, depending upon weather conditions.

Cross-country ski maps and/or brochures are available at most of the Huron-Clinton Metroparks. Metropark vehicle entry permits are required: (annual) regular - $15, senior citizens $8; (daily) $2 weekends and holidays; $2 weekdays, except Tuesdays which are free-entry days. Park hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

For cross-country skiing conditions, contact the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority at 1-800-234-6534 (toll free) or the office directly at 625-7870.

Boys take 3 of 4 top places in ski opener

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston boys' varsity ski team opened its defense of the Pine Knob Division overall title with a 15-22 victory over Bloomfield Hills Andover Jan. 7 at the Pine Knob Ski Resort.

"I was thrilled with the results," said Clarkston coach Judy Roeser, whose team (as with its opponents) hardly had the chance to ski (no snow) the few weeks before the season opener.

Three Clarkston skiers placed in the top four spots.

Scout Trim finished first. His two combined runs on the giant slalom course totaled 35.53 seconds.

"Scout had a wonderful second run," said Roeser about her senior, who dropped his time down to 17.41 the second time down the hill.

Andover's Kris Traffon finished second (36.19) but he was followed by two junior Wolves. David Hartke placed third (37.58) and Mike Kozlowski fourth (37.92).

Barons finished fifth and sixth but another Wolf junior, Brian Bovee, finished seventh (38.70).

(Six skiers compete for each team, with the top four places counting toward team totals).

The two other Clarkston skiers competing were Theron Shaw, who finished eighth (39.03), and John Duhn, who placed 12th (44.49).

Andover's depth too much for Wolf girls in first meet

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Fifth-, sixth- and seventh-place finishes helped Bloomfield Hills Andover to a 16-22 girls' varsity ski victory over Clarkston.

The Jan. 7 giant slalom meet at the Pine Knob Ski Resort was the Pine Knob Division opener for both teams.

"I'm a little disappointed," said Clarkston coach Judy Roeser, whose team returns five starters from last year's squad that finished 9-0 in the Pine Knob Division regular season. "We have some work to do, but I don't think the season is over."

Roeser did expect Andover to be one of the Wolves' toughest foes this season. After all, last year the Barons won the divisional meet and edged out the Wolves for the overall Pine Knob Division title.

"We hope to reverse that this season," added Roeser.

Clarkston's Courtney Whittaker finished first (her two runs totaled 38.76 seconds) and teammate Jennifer Curd was fourth (40.37) but that was evenly countered by Andover's Susie Lovell's second-place finish (39.00) and teammate J. Kohén's third-place finish (39.52).

The Barons, however, clinched the victory by finishing in fifth, sixth and seventh (six skiers compete for each team, with the top four places counting toward team totals).

Wolf Lisonn Hutchinson finished eighth (42.45) and Kristi Stuetzer placed ninth (42.58).

In addition, Clarkston's Andrea Vasold finished 11th (57.23) and Carrie Millen DQ'd.

Splits not a hit for Wolf volleyball squad

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A split personality, a 7-10 split in bowling and even a banana split (calories) all have their disadvantages.

The Clarkston varsity volleyball team last Saturday also found out splitting three matches has its disadvantages, too.

The seesawing play of the Wolves prevented them from getting out of pool play and into the semifinals of the Walled Lake Central Invitational. (Brighton defeated Walled Lake Western in the finals, 15-13, 15-11).

After it was all over, Clarkston coach Gordie Richardson even resorted to some oldies to get his point across, telling his team its theme songs could be "Roller Coaster" (by the Ohio Players) and "Magic Carpet Ride" (by Steffenwolf).

Richardson said his team had the potential to win the invite.

"I didn't think there was anybody there we couldn't beat," said Richardson. "We have to learn intensity, to focus."

The Wolves opened the day by stomping eventual tourney champ Brighton in the first game, 15-9. But Brighton earned a split by winning the second game, 15-6.

"We played great in the first game," said Richardson, pointing out that the Wolves in the first game had seven service aces (none in the second), only one serve reception error (eight in the second game) and just five attack reception errors (11 in the second game).

In their second match, the Wolves edged Northville in the first game 16-14 but then lost a heartbreaking second game by the same 16-14 score. In that second game, Clarkston was down 1-6, tied it at 6-6, went behind again at 6-12, and then tied it at 14-14 before losing.

In its third match, Clarkston's Heather Austin put the Wolves up 4-0 in the first game with four straight aces. The Wolves, however, ended up losing that game 15-7.

All 12 Wolves played in the second game, which finished with a 15-10 Clarkston advantage.

Both teams then played a one-game tiebreaker to see which one would advance to the semifinals. Rochester easily won it, 15-2, sending the Wolves home. Clarkston's Rachel Seifferlein was a perfect 12-of-12 serving for the day. Lisa Goforth and Andrea Slavin each served 9-of-9.

Heather Austin finished with nine service aces, Michelle Wade had seven and Heather Steinhelper five.

Steinhelper had 14 kills and Seifferlein slammed eight.

In setting, Steinhelper was 39-of-43

(91 percent) and Austin was 61-of-70 (87 percent).

Defensively, Seifferlein returned 19-of-22 serves (86 percent).

Steinhelper was 19-of-22 (86 percent) in attack receptions and Wade was 14-of-17 (82 percent).

Steinhelper finished with a team-high seven blocks and 19 digs. Seifferlein and Wade each had 14 digs. Jenna Lopucki and Austin each had nine digs.

Are your hands numb or painful?

Carpal tunnel syndrome can affect people in their 40s, 50s and 60s who use their hands in repetitive movements. This may make it impossible to do simple tasks without pain. Other symptoms include numbness in the fingers or hands which can sometimes interfere with work, play or sleep.

Surgical treatment for this condition is done on an outpatient basis. A new surgical technique is now available to limit the surgery to two tiny incisions. After surgery, there is less pain and soreness, and a quicker return to your normal activities.

12 approved for township seats

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Independence Township politics soon will undergo some personnel changes.

On the recommendations of new Supervisor Dale Stuart Jan. 5, the township board approved 12 appointments to the planning commission, wetlands review board, zoning board of appeals and board of review.

The board favored all of Stuart's recommendations, which brings new blood to the four boards, especially the planning commission.

Carolyn Place, a former Clarkston school board member, was named to fill a seat that ends Dec. 31, 1994.

Holly Stephens was also named to a seat that expires Dec. 31, 1995. Ironically, she was bumped from the planning commission five years ago by former Supervisor Frank Ronk. She has 15 years of planning commission experience under her belt.

Daniel Travis and Richard Oppmann were also reappointed to their seats on the planning commission. Travis' term runs until Dec. 31, 1994, while Oppmann's lasts until Dec. 31, 1995.

The township board has one remaining seat yet to fill on this seven-person panel. The planning commission has the power to approve or disapprove developmental site plans and to make rezoning recommendations to the township board.

The wetlands board — which regulate the use of township swamps — also includes three newcomers: Timothy Palulian, David Lohmeier and Bruce Mercado, a township board trustee. Palulian's term runs until June 19, 1995, while Mercado's term lasts until Dec 31, 1994.

Lohmeier, who's taking over a seat left by Larry Rosso, has a term that expires June 19, 1993.

Two appointments were made to the zoning board of appeals, a five-member board that can approve or deny variances to the township's ordinances. The new members include Todd Moss and Trustee Mel Vaara. Their terms expire Dec. 31, 1994.

The board of review, which hears citizen's appeals on property assessments, includes one incumbent and two newcomers.

Amy Bachelor-Gasser was reappointed to a two-year term, as was Carol O'Neill and Sharon Santala.

Stuart said he intends to have a hands-on approach with all boards, as will the township trustees.

"I intend to visit various board meetings on occasion," he said. "I also want the township trustee members to swap their board seats every couple of years. This way, everyone will have a taste of how each of these boards operate."

Group hosts open forum on election

Those who don't plan to attend town hall meetings on Clarkston's school bond issue may want to attend a forum about the election.

Hosted by the Independence Republicans, the forum on the school bond issue is planned for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 20, at Clarkston High School.

The Independence Republicans don't officially endorse the bond issue, said spokesperson Frank Millard, who said the forum was intended to be informational.

"We feel that as a community organization, it's incumbent upon us to get these issues before the public," he said. "Schools are a priority in the community."

Different people are to address the school's proposal, the money implications, the timing of the bond proposal and other aspects, said Millard.

Girl falls asleep unnoticed on bus

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

A 4-year-old pre-schooler fell asleep on her bus Tuesday afternoon and was discovered an hour later by her bus driver.

According to Steve Lenar, deputy superintendent of business and operations, Amy Abbott of Independence Township fell asleep on the way to North Sashabaw Elementary School Jan. 12. She is an afternoon student in the two-day-a-week SPICE program, which is held at the Maybee Road school.

Lenar said her bus driver apparently overlooked the small, sleeping student and headed back to the bus garage. The driver, who Lenar asked not to be identified, has nearly 20 years of bus driving experience.

The driver, with child in tow, returned to the garage sitting in her seat when the driver discovered her."

Lenar said the driver took the little girl to her supervisor, Kevin Bickerstaff, who called the child's parents. Lenar said the parents became outraged and called area TV stations.

Amy's father, Martin Abbott, was angry because he believes the event could have been avoided.

"It angers me because I've heard of two other incidents like this one. They (drivers) need to pay more attention to what they're doing and check the buses," he told a reporter from Channel 2.

Lenar said he plans to investigate the matter further, with the possibility of disciplinary action. He also intends to meet with all bus drivers to talk about the procedure of checking their buses after each run.

A similar occurrence happened in Pontiac last fall when a youngster who had fallen asleep on his bus was stranded in a bus garage.

Lenar said the district deserves to take the blame in this matter.

"The bottom line is that we should have checked our buses and we didn't," Lenar said. "All we can do is make sure it never happens again."

As far as Lenar knows, this incident is a first of its kind in the Clarkston school district.

"I've talked to a few district employees and, as far back as they can recall, this type of incident has never happened in Clarkston."

Township to publish agenda

Starting in February, Clarkston News readers can learn what's on the agenda at Independence Township Board meetings beforehand.

The agenda will be published as a public notice the week before each board meeting. The board meets the first and third Tuesdays of each month.

Supervisor Dale Stuart said this allows interested citizens to plan in advance to attend a meeting if they wish.

"We've decided to this so to better inform the public," Stuart said. "In the past, residents would often complain that there were too many surprises at township board meetings.

"Hopefully, this notification can alleviate some of those fears," he added.

New supervisor named for autistic program

A special education instructor from Clarkston has been elevated to the position of autistic supervisor by the Clarkston Board of Education.

Pat Brumback was unanimously approved by the board Jan. 11. She was selected from a field of eight applicants.

Since 1990, she's served as a teacher consultant in the special education department. Her responsibilities included coordinating curriculum and training staff and teachers.

Brumback has also taught first grade at North Sashabaw Elementary School and served as instructor for emotionally impaired and learning disabled students at Clarkston Junior High.

An alumnae of Oakland University and Michigan State University, Brumback has also been active in the Clarkston SCAMP program, which is a five-day summer camp for disabled youngsters.

at 12:30 p.m., 15 minutes after leaving North Sashabaw Elementary. The driver then took another bus, as a substitute, and made another run.

Upon returning to the bus garage at 1:30 p.m., Lenar said, the driver discovered the girl in her initial bus. Lenar said the girl reportedly was calm.

"From what I've heard, she wasn't scared," Lenar said. "Matter of a fact, she was supposedly awake and

Celtic music group based in Clarkston

BY JULIE CAMPE
 Clarkston News Editor

Area residents who like Irish music are in for a double treat Saturday.

Modesty Forbids, a folk-singing group based in Clarkston, performs at 8 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 16, as part of Possum Corner's concert series at St. Daniel Catholic Church.

The concert costs $9 at the door or $7.50 in advance at TicketMaster, The Book Place in Orion Township or L.B.'s Muffins and Yogurt in Independence Township. Music includes Celtic tunes, traditional and contemporary American folk songs, Cajun and country. For more information, call Baker at 625-1227.

The second bonus: the group recently released its first recording: "Golden Vanity," which sells for $10 at the concert. The tape also may be purchased by writing to Modesty Forbids at 3387 Reese Road, Ortonville, MI 48462.

It includes traditional Irish music 200-300 years old as well as two contemporary pieces — one written by Glenn Schultz, a member of Modesty Forbids.

From the Clarkston area are physician Mike Baker on guitar and lead vocals, Bob Hubbach on hammered dulcimer, and Andy Dabczycki on fiddle and viola. Dabczycki is conductor of the Oakland County Youth Orchestra and director of fine arts for Waterford Community Schools.

Also in the group are Glenn Schultz on accordion, whistle, guitar, mandolin and bones; college student Bree Schultz on flute and pennywhistle; Erik Sanderson on fiddle, mandolin, guitar and tenor banjo; and Pete Melton on bass and back-up vocals.

Baker said the recording was three years in the making. It was completed at Cornerstone Recording Studios in downtown Pontiac.

After such a long process, Baker said he and the group members are glad finally to be finished. "We feel good about it now that it's done," said Baker.

However, they grew tired of hearing their own music — including minor mistakes that most listeners wouldn't notice — played over and over again during the process, he said.

"We're our own worst critics," he said. "But by the time it was finished, it was nice. It's kind of fun to plop this into the cassette player in the car."

Since the first recording, they've lost one member and gained two. But that hasn't interrupted their schedule.

They play in pubs, concert halls and festivals throughout the United States and Canada — and they begin a second recording in a few weeks.

Group falls short of Grammy ballot

A group of teen singers, composed of several Clarkston students, fell short of a dream last week.

The Academy Singers and their album, "We Gather Together" were left off the nominee list for the 35th Annual Grammy Awards. They were vying for one of five finalist spots in the "Best Children's Recording" category.

Their album was one of 117 nominated for the Grammy Award ballot in November by the National Academy of Recording Arts and Science.

The final list of nominees include: "Chipmunks in Low Places," Alvin & the Chipmunks; "Snuggle Up—A Gift of Songs for Sweet Dreams," J. Aaron Brown, David R. Lehman & Barbara Bailey Hutchinson; "Woody's Grow Big Songs 1 and 2," the Guthrie Family; "Pete Seeger's Family Concert," Pete Seeger; "Beauty and the Beast" soundtrack, various artists.

Despite the set back, composer Gene Grier, of Independence Township, is still proud of his kids.

"I'm proud of these kids for making it as far as we did," he said. "It's surprising at the number of children's albums released each year. There's hundreds of them. And to be part of the field of 117 is still a great honor for us.

"Now, that we understand the process, we'll come back next year and be more determined to make it to the top," Grier added.

The Academy Singers is a renowned group of teen performers from all over the metropolitan area. In the past 15 years, this elite company has recorded nearly 20 albums and participated in two Emmy Award-winning shows on WXYZ-TV.

'What every parent should know'

Discipline, protection and conflict are some of the topics of a free four-part parenting series starting next week.

Offered by the Independence Township Library, "What Every Parent Should Know" takes place 7:30-9 p.m. Tuesdays. Call 625-2212 to register.

The first session Jan. 19 features Linda Chastain, a parent education specialist with the Child Abuse and Neglect Council of Oakland County. She presents "Peaceful Parenting," with skills for positive conflict resolution.

On Feb. 16, Joyce Wright, the executive director of HAVEN, presents "Helping Kids Protect Themselves." One in four females and one in seven males are sexually assaulted before age 18. Wright explains how parents can help their children develop personal safety strategies.

On March 16, James Javorsky, psychoeducation coordinator at the Harold E. Fox Center of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, presents "Alphabet Soup: Helping Children with Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder and Other Learning Disabilities." The author of an upcoming book on ADHD, he describes programs that work with young children and adolescents. In addition to his professional training, Javorsky is a diagnosed adult with both dyslexia and ADHD.

On April 20, Independence Township resident James Windell speaks on "Discipline: Techniques that Work." Psychologist, newspaper columnist and author of "Discipline: A Sourcebook of 50 Failsafe Techniques for Parents," Windell discuss discipline methods that can be used with children from toddlers to teens.

Ten free trees offered

Every person who joins the National Arbor Day Foundation in January will receive 10 free trees.

The free trees are part of the non-profit foundation's Trees for America campaign.

The 10 trees are Sugar Maple, White Flowering Dogwood, Pin Oak, White Pine, Red Maple, Birch, American Redbud, Silver Maple, Red Oak, and Colorado Blue Spruce.

"These trees were selected to provide benefits every season of the year: lovely spring flowers, cool summer shade, spectacular autumn colors, and winter berries and nesting sites for songbirds," John Rosenow, the foundation's executive director, said.

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between Feb. 1 and May 31 with enclosed planting instructions. The 6- to 12-inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

Members also receive a subscription to the Foundation's "Arbor Day" news magazine, The Tree Book with information about tree planting and care, and a membership card.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to Ten Trees, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Ave., Nebraska City, NE 68410, by Jan. 31.

Help from Bogie

WHEN Allan Felix (Dean Vanderkolk) asks Linda Christle (Helen Naum) about a blind date, she physically tries to describe her to him.

DICK Christle (John Powe), left, tells Allan Felix (Dean Vanderkolk) that there's plenty of available women out there. (Photos by James Gibowski)

HUMPHREY Bogart (Dave Kramer) often appears out of nowhere to help coach Allan Felix about women.

Play It Again, Sam," a comedy by Woody Allen opens Friday, Jan. 15, at Depot Theater. The Clarkston Village Players production also opens its curtain on Jan. 16, 21 (a benefit for the Lionesses), 22, 28, 29, 30. Performances begin at 8 p.m. at the theater on White Lake Road, Independence Township.

Tickets, at $7 ($6 Thursday), are available in advance at Tierra on Main Street, Clarkston, or by calling 625-2511 or 625-1826.

The comedy, directed by Gordon Bardell and produced by Verne Vackaro, centers around Allan Felix (Dean Vanderkolk), a writer whose wife Nancy (Sally Perkey) has left him.

Allan's married friends Linda Christie (Helen Naum) and Dick Christie (John Powe) try to help by arranging dates for him.

Allan not only gets help from his friends but also gets advice about women from Humphrey Bogart (Dave Kramer). Allan, a long-time Bogie fan, is the only one who can see Bogart, one of several characters who suddenly appear on stage from nowhere.

Other characters in the show are Sharon Lake (Linda Pickett) and Jeffrey (Brad Bardell). Several actresses (Amy Justice, Theresa Evans, Cynthia Lohmeier, Heather Brooks and Kristine Navin) play as a host of dream sequence girls.

Thespians wanted

Auditions take place next week for the next Clarkston Village Players production.

"The Speed of Darkness" by Steven Tesich — a drama set in contemporary times — is directed by Karen Stankye.

Try-outs take place at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 18, and Tuesday, Jan. 19, at Depot Theater, White Lake Road, Independence Township.

Parts include:

Joe, in his 40s, a Vietnam vet, "man of the year," self-made man with a secret that affects the whole town.

Anne, age 35 or older, is Joe's happy wife, also with a hidden past. Much of Anne's dialogue is brief responses to questions.

Lou, in his 40s or 50s, is part of the urban homeless. During Vietnam, Joe saved Lou's life. He has many monologues on the philosophy of the homeless, plight of Vietnam vets and the reason for life.

Mary, 18 (or looks 18), is Joe's daughter in her last year of high school.

Eddie, 18 (or looks 18), is Mary's high school boyfriend who idolizes her father.

For more information, call the director at 666-2262.
