Seven school contracts settled

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

The Clarkston Board of Education approved seven tentative contract agreements Feb. 8.

The representative groups for these contracts included: district mechanics, grounds/ maintenance employees, the Head Custodian and Building Maintenance Workers Association, Oakland Technical Center-Northwest paraprofessionals, district supervisors, building principals and directors and central office administrators.

Each contract is slated to run from 1992-95. All 1992-93 contingencies, such as wage, are retroactive.

According to Duane Lewis, assistant superintendent of personnel services, unsettled contracts remain for Superintendent Gary Haner and four groups who've been pressing for a coalition. Lewis said the Michigan Employment Security Commission recently ruled that the groups had the right to become one union.

These groups include: general custodians, bus driv-(See CONTRACT, Page 20A)

A would-be police officer lost any chance of attaining his career aspirations when he allegedly robbed a store.

Gary Lee King, 26, of Independence Township was charged with robbing Tenuta's Food Mart, Waterford Township, at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 10.

According to Waterford Township police officer William Himmelspach, King was observed entering the store, wearing a mask and toting a green duffel bag with the stock of a shotgun sticking out.

Witnesses said King threw the bag at a cashier and racked the gun, demanding money. He allegedly said he needed it for his family.

After getting some money, King was observed running out of the store and pulling out of the parking lot in his pickup truck.

About six minutes later, he was later picked up with the assistance of Pontiac police. The money was recov-

Rainbow Connection to send teen, family to Hawaii

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

A 15-year-old Clarkston girl and her family will travel to Hawaii soon, due in part to the Rainbow Connection.

Shannon Clark, a sophomore at Clarkston High School, chose the Maui trip as part of Rainbow's "Make A Wish" program. Shannon will accompany her mother,

"She's so excited about the trip. She's been counting the days till we leave. This will definitely be a vacation to remember."

Lisa Braun-Clark

Lisa Braun-Clark, and 12-year-old brother, Justin, on the eight-day trip in April.

Rainbow Connection is a Michigan-based, non-profit organizations that provides "gifts" to children ages 3-18, who are suffering from a chronic or life-threatening illnesses.

Nearly two years ago, Shannon was diagnosed with Ewing's Sarcoma. The disease is a form of bone cancer that primarily attacks teen-agers.

The disease struck just below Shannon's left knee cap. Upon examination, the doctors found that a tumor had attached itself to her tibia and was eating into the

Over the ensuing months, Shannon underwent massive chemotherapy treatment to curtail the cancer's spread and ready her for a delicate operation. The surgery included extracting the tumor, removing five inches on infected bone, and filling that gap in the tibia with a portion of a cadaver's bone.

After replacing the bone, doctors pulled muscles from the backside of her leg to the front to provide a blood supply to the reconstructed tibia. A skin graft was then taken from her hip to patch the exposed areas of her leg.

According to her mother, Shannon has been in remission from the disease for the past eight months. She has another four years to go before doctors are positive that the cancer has been eliminated.

Shannon can get around on the leg, but she still has to undergo physical therapy three times a week. She quit her chemotherapy treatments last June, so much of her blond hair has returned.

The energetic teen also volunteers her time at the Michigan Humane Society in Auburn Hills.

Last July, area volunteers raised $14,776 for Shannon in a bowl-athon. This pledge money will got toward her college education and payment of medical bills.

Lisa Braun-Clark said it took Shannon nearly a year to decide where she wanted to go through the "Make A Wish" program.

"She was torn between the Volvo Open in New York, which features horse jumping, and going somewhere warm for a few days," Lisa said. "Eventually, she settled on Hawaii, after some of my co-workers brought in pictures from their vacations."

While on Maui, the family intends to relax and go horseback riding, which is one of Shannon's favorite pastimes

"She's so excited about the trip. She's been counting the days till we leave," Lisa said. "This will definitely be a vacation to remember."

Boy pulls through brain surgery with flying colors

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

Robin (Frick) Anderson was praying for a miracle, and she got one.

The Clarkston native's 5-year-old son, Matthew, recently underwent a delicate surgery on his brain stem. And his recovery has been nothing short of miraculous.

"Matthew's recovery has been just amazing," said Anderson, a 1984 graduate of Clarkston High School. "His recovery has astounded everyone, especially the doctors."

Prior to the Jan. 26 surgery, Matthew had suffered from a rare form of mid-brain stem gloma, where a tumor had attached itself to the boy's brain stem. Undergoing only radiation treatments, the Pontiac boy was supposed to live only another 18 months to two years.

At the time, Matthew's parents were told that the tumor was inoperable because of its location behind the right eye.

However, they learned of a pediatric neurosurgeon — Ben Carson — at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, who specializes in brain tumors. After examining Matthew, Carson agreed to perform the operation in late

Anderson said the entire ordeal lasted 10 1/2 hours and resulted in the removal of 95 percent of the tumor.

"Dr. Carson said it was a miracle. He couldn't believe how well everything turned out."

Robin Anderson

Carson told her that the remaining tumor would eventually turn into scar tissue.

Prior to the operation, Anderson recalls Carson telling her that the chances of Matthew becoming paralyzed on his entire left side were great. No paralysis ever occurred, however.

"Dr. Carson said it was a miracle," Anderson said.
"He couldn't believe how well everything turned out.
"The day after surgery, Matthew surprised us even more by walking around," she added.

Matthew was scheduled to stay at Johns Hopkins for more than two weeks, but his rapid recovery allowed him to be discharged after only seven days.

"Dr. Carson feels that Matthew's chances for a long life are great, but he'll have to be checked by MRI (magnetic resonance imaging) for the next 10 years to make sure the cancer doesn't recur," Anderson said.

Matthew will have to go back to Baltimore in four weeks to undergo some more post-operative exams.

Financially, Anderson said, her family is in good shape. She said their insurance carrier, Blue Care Network, has agreed to cover 100 percent of the operation's expenses.

Anderson said she'll never be able to thank Carson enough for prolonging her son's life.

"We feel blessed to have found Dr. Carson when we did," she said. "If we'd given up and listened to those people who said Matthew couldn't be helped, our son would probably have died within two years."

Anderson is also grateful to those people who called, sent letters and prayed for Matthew, prior to the operation.

"Since the holidays, the community support has been just incredible," she said. "It's amazing how people will rally to help those in need, especially children."

Head Wavz to hold cancer cut-a-thon

The Head Wavz Salon in Waterford hosts a cut-athon Sunday, Feb. 28, to raise money for children's cancer research.

Head Wavz is holding the event in honor of Matthew Anderson and Chelsea Bazzi, young children who are battling brain cancer. The event runs 9 a.m. to Six stylists will provide $10 haircuts that day. All proceeds go to cancer research and the "Friends That Care" fund, which helps parents without medical insurance. Patrons making additional donations can take home a variety of gifts, donated by numerous Clarkston and Waterford area businesses.

So far, many Clarkston-area restaurants and retail stores have donated gifts.

Head Wavz is at 5421 Dixie Highway, Waterford Township. Businesses interested in donating items to the cut-a-thon are asked to call Debbie Wright at 623-2700.

Board OK's $1,000 extra for cable

New cable studio equipment costs more than expected in Springfield Township.

So the township board voted 6-1 Feb. 11 to allow an extra $1,000 to pay for the equipment.

In November 1992, the board authorized $1,400. On Feb. 11, the board authorized $2,400.

The equipment — a programmable video cassette recorder, switch, monitor and cabinet — is estimated to cost $2,200. The equipment will allow the township to telecast tapes over its access channel.

Trustee Elaine Field-Smith cast the only no vote with no comment.

Injury investigated

Police investigated the injury of a 10-month-old child who allegedly fell down the stairs.

The child had been taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, on Jan. 31 with a skull fracture.

At the request of the Department of Social Services. police went to the Clintonville Road, Independence Township, home, where the accident occurred.

The parents and the child's siblings all reported that the baby had fallen down the stairs when the basement door was accidentally left open.

Tri-Party funds allocated

The people who use the Farley Road approach to Andersonville Road should be singing the praises of the Springfield Township Board.

On Feb. 11, the board voted unanimously to allocate the $48,200 in Tri-Party funds to paving the approach. The board suggested the remaining money go toward regraveling parts of Springfield Township roads.

Trustee Elaine Field-Smith said the board's priority should be graveling. Supervisor Collin Walls noted there is only enough money to put gravel on 4.4 miles of the 57 miles of gravel roads in the township.

Tri-Party money comes from Springfield Township, the Road Commission for Oakland County and Oakland County.

Cable bills increase

Cable-TV rates are going up in Springfield Town-

Subscribers to North Oakland Cablevision, Inc., were informed in their February statement that their bill soon will be adjusted.

According to a Jan. 20 letter from the cable station, the charge for local channels was increased by $1.05, bringing the local-channel rate to $14 per month. The charge for satellite channels increased by 90 cents, bringing the rate for satellite channels to $10.45 per month.

To minimize the effect of the increases, the company said there would be no increases for additional outlets, additional converters, remote controls, premium channels or any other service.

North Oakland Cablevision told the Springfield Township Board that the adjustments were necessary to offset increases to its cost of programming, new services and equipment that have been added and the costs of operating and maintaining the system.

No tax break for White Lake company

A request to establish an industrial development district was nixed last week.

The Springfield Township Board voted 6-1 Feb. 11 to deny the request from the Oscar Larson Co. of White Lake Township. Trustee Elaine Field-Smith cast the lone dissenting vote, favoring the district.

Trustee Dennis Vallad said the designation was unnecessary. "We have sufficient district in the township," he said.

Industrial development districts were begun in the mid-1970s as a stimulus to build new and to upgrade old business. Springfield lawmakers hoped to create jobs and prevent employment reduction. Businesses in the IDD can qualify for a reduction of property taxes for up to 12 years while they are building and upgrading.

The Oscar Larson Co. has been located in White Lake for 46 years. It is re-locating to the corner of Dixie Highway and Rattalee Lake Road, Springfield Township, in hopes of expanding the business.

Water line may lead to Springfield

A water line may be extended down White Lake Road from Independence Township to Springfield Town-

The Springfield Township Board approved, in concept, the extension of a water line to Clawson Tank on White Lake Road, Springfield Township.

The waterline would make the facility more marketable and also would provide lower insurance rates.

The conditions of approval include approval of the project by Independence Township, development of ordinances, and inter-governmental contracts between the two townships.

The possible extension is scheduled to begin this

New cartoonist joins The News

A new resident in the area has decided to share his creative talents with Clarkston News readers in the form of a weekly cartoon.

Wade Woodbury, 30, of Dixie Highway, Springfield Township, has been cartooning for, well, "ever since I can remember," he says.

"All my paperwork, as far back as kindergarten, there's a picture on the back," says Woodbury, who was born in St. John's, just north of Lansing.

At age 14, his family moved to Wyoming, where he eventually studied art education for one semester at the University of Wyoming.

In 1984, he joined the U.S. Army, where he soon found himself creating "Rudsil's Army Facts" for two newspapers in Fort Lewis, Washington.

At The Clarkston News, his cartoon is called "Rudsil's Suburban Facts" and can be found on the editorial pages, Pages 6A and 7A.

Woodbury, a U.S. Army recruiter in the Waterford office, says he created "Rudsil" in 1987.

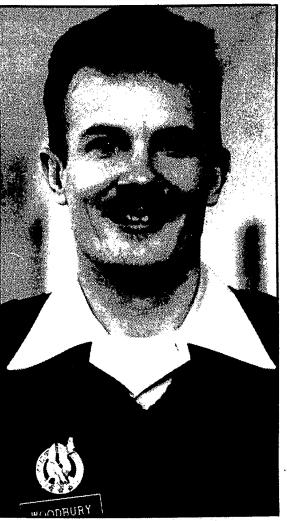

'He's like me in my life — his middle name is Murphy," says Woodbury, with a laugh. "I just made the name up. I created the character. He grew and matured. He has his own personality."

Ideas for the cartoon aren't hard to come by, says Woodbury, who admits he has a little help sorting out the good ideas from the not so good.

First, he sketches his ideas on a notepad he carries with him. Then, he says, "I give the notepad to my wife (Ellen), and if she smiles, then I know it's good. If she doesn't, I don't cartoon it."

Somehow, he manages to 'toon in his spare time between recruiting for the Army at Clarkston High School, Oakland Technical Center-Northwest Campus, Clarkston Adult Education and Waterford Kettering High School.

"It's really relaxing to me," he says. "It's an outlet." And, hopefully, his outlet will provide a moment of humor and relaxation for Clarkston News readers, too.

WADE Woodbury has volunteered to cartoon weekly for The Clarkston News.

Homosexual ad sparks debate

Julie Campe

Gays in the military or not, we've found that many Clarkston News readers don't want gays or references to gays in their hometown newspaper.

Apparently, a few weeks ago, someone called to place a "personal" classified ad in The Clarkston News. Our customer service representative told the caller we didn't accept personals (we don't have a classification for them — though we do have nearly everything else: garage sales, trucks and vans, help wanted, real estate, antiques, etc.).

So the caller phoned Sherman Publications headquarters in Oxford, where the advertisement was accepted under the "notices" classification (though I think 'general" might have been better).

The ad called for male homosexuals to write in (and enclose a picture of themselves) to a Clarkston post office box number. It was specific about the physical appearance of those who were invited to respond (good looking; not overweight; white or hispanic).

The ad ran for two weeks in all five Sherman Publications papers, including The Clarkston News.

The ad department said it received many calls of complaints about the ad, including a few subscription cancellations from people who "don't want to read about that" in their hometown newspaper.

I didn't receive any calls since I'm in the editorial department, not the classified advertising department. But I sure heard about it.

Nearly all of us on staff at The News fielded questions and comments about the ad from friends and relatives (now I know who really reads the classifieds), including a few people who wanted to place personal ads themselves but in the past had been told they couldn't.

But Publisher Jim Sherman says we've always accepted personal ads — they just don't have their own classification.

Further, we can't accept personals from, say, heterosexuals and then not accept them from, say, homosexuals. That's called discrimination. Not only would it be wrong, it also could get us in a lot of trouble.

One caller told our advertising personnel that he didn't want his kids reading this kind of thing. (Though we understood his complaint, we were impressed that his kids were reading the newspaper, particularly the fine print of the classified "notices" section.)

know that homosexuality bothers a lot of people. Many think its immoral on religious grounds. Others say it's unnatural or it just gives them "the

Though the thought of homosexuality used to give me the creeps too. I now know too many friends and relatives who are gay to let it bother me.

And even though I've had my doubts about "personals" in the classified section of a newspaper, I've come to believe that it can be a safer way of meeting people, especially in the Clarkston area, where it's difficult to meet people anyway, particularly for homosexuals.

I guess it boils down to this. Despite any of our beliefs, homosexuality exists. It's legal in Michigan.

So how would we rather have them meet — at the 1-75 rest area (where people are regularly arrested for indecent exposure or soliciting) or through letters in a post office box, instigated by an ad in The Clarkston News?

Kindness strong in community

The Clarkston-Davisburg area should be proud of the way it supports its community.

As observers, we've seen it in many ways -- parades, special shopping days, decorations, flowers, flags, food drives, special activities for kids and more.

But we've also seen it in more dramatic ways. For instance, whenever we have printed stories about children — or adults — who need help with medical bills because of cancer or other expensive or lifethreatening illnesses, the community always responds.

Bowl-a-thons, cut-a-thons, spaghetti dinners, auctions, raffles and just straight donations pour forth from the community to help those families in need.

And sometimes, money is only part of it. Letters, cards and phone calls can mean everything to families during such frightening times

Two such families featured in this week's Clarkston News verify this. They say they are overwhelmed by the kindness of those in the community.

And so are we.

So we pause to acknowledge this kindness and hope to acknowledge it in the future, should the need arise again, from yet another family struggling for a Connecticut Health Center doctors report Spring Fever" is not laziness. They say it's the same sort of thing that prompts bears to emerge from hibernation and birds to mate. Seems the increase in sunlight triggers the pineal gland at the base of the brain to release hormones that give us all that socalled 'restless feeling.' Well, bring it on!

The makers of the lubricant WD-40 know how to market. They sent us three stories on fishermen using it. One mixes it with dish soap to wash his hands before handling any bait. Gets rid of the 'human' smell. Another dips perch eyes in it for ice fishing. And a charter boat captain sprays his King Salmon lures with WD-40. You believe that?

Connie Mack: "I've seen boys on my baseball team go into slumps and never come out of them and I've seen others snap right out and dome back better than ever. I guess more players lick themselves than are ever licked by an opposing team The first thing a man has to know is how to handle himself."

I should have had this item in before Valentine's day, I suppose. It's the origin of why "X" is a kiss. The custom of putting X's at the end of letters and notes to symbolize kisses grew out of medieval legal practices.

In order to indicate good faith and shonesty in those days, the sign of St. Andres - a cross - was placed after the signature on all important documents.

Thereafter, contracts and agreements were not considered binding until each signer ladded St. Andres' cross after his name. Then he was required to kiss the document to further guarantee faithful performance of his obligations.

The cross was drawn hurriedly and often it was tilted and looked much like the letter \"X".

Over the centuries, the origin of the ceremony was forgotten. But people still associate the "X" with the kiss instead of the pledge of good faith, and the custom has continued into modern times.

Letters to the Editor

'Name withheld' letters a waste

I am writing to you regarding the fact that not many people writing to your paper lately have been willing to have their names published.

People have written in, complaining about their neighbors, the school system, high school sports, and many other subjects. I have no objections to people expressing their views, but when someone doesn't have the guts to take responsibility for their words, I wonder how dedicated that person is to his or her opinions.

The tactic of having a name withheld seems especially popular when an author makes attacks on an individual person. I believe that letters with names withheld do not deserve space in your paper. I feel it is a waste of time for your paper to publish a letter from someone who doesn't have the courage to sign their name to their statements.

Teasing too much

I'm in eighth-grade student at Sashabaw Junior High School. I'm writing because of the article written in the paper earlier about one of my fellow students being beaten up by a ninth-grader.

This article made my stomach turn, especially because I saw this fight occur.

As a student, I feel fighting between students has gone too far. There is too much fighting, harassment and teasing in school. In fact, kids get teased and taunted if they earn good grades. Students who get good grades are called "brainers" or "brown nosers."

I realize everyone gets teased every once in a while and that junior high kids say things just be be funny. But after a while, it gets to be annoying. Even students who earn poor grades or who are in special classes are teased. If kids wear different clothes or have different hairstyles, they get teased.

It is ridiculous. Kids may think these remarks are not offensive comments and that they don't hurt, but to those who are taunted, it begins to hurt. Kids take them to heart.

We also have kids bullying other kids. I think kids need to think more about their remarks and behaviors before they say or do them. If we cared more about others, we could make our school a better place.

Property taxes need reduction

Senior citizens, retirees and other property owners, please wise up and back proposals to reduce property taxes.

Gov. Engler is trying to have property taxes reduced but is meeting strong opposition from special interest groups, namely the Michigan Education Association and others. Can you strike and receive higher wages to make up for your steadily increasing taxes and millages? No, you can't, and neither can I.

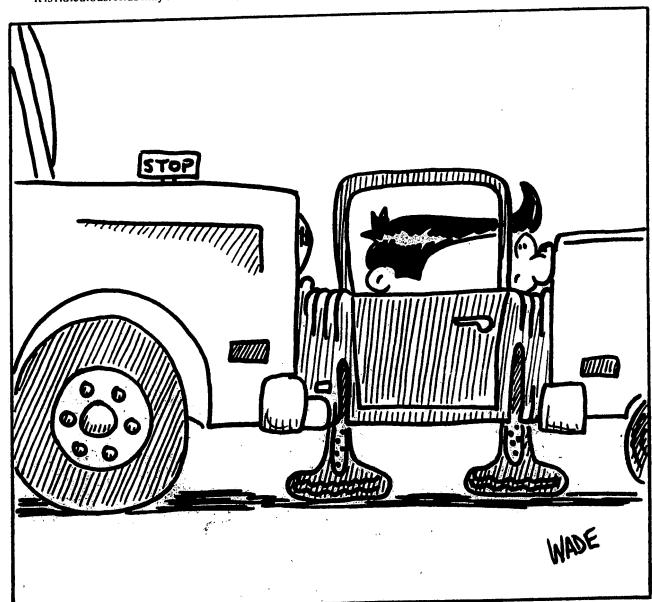

Teachers strike or threaten us with strikes, and we panic and give in to their wage demands. Tax and millage increases appear not to bother the MEA and other education groups because their raises usually exceed the cost of living.

People are losing their homes because of high millages and taxes. The "Blue Ribbon Committee" and others are using the good old cliche, "We love our kids." Well, so do we who oppose high taxes and millages. In my mind's eye, a home with tender loving care is as important if not more important than all the supposed goodies the educators and their compatriots demand. Please let us keep our homes!

I believe a sales tax of 2 cents on food and a 6-cent tax on the dollar for other purchases would be a means to lower property taxes. By doing this, not only would Michigan residents contribute to school and property taxes, but visitors to our great state would also pay a share of our tax base.

Let us give John Engler, the governor, and our legislators the back-up help they need to shift and reduce property taxes to a reasonable and equitable level for all property owners.

Costly no-fault adventure

Fitzgerald

On June 26, 1992, Mary Alice Wright of Royal Oak was driving south in heavy traffic on a stretch of I-75, just north of the Ohio border. Suddenly she couldn't avoid hitting a large truck tire in the middle of her lane. CRASH!

On Jan. 16, 1993, Wright received an extremely itemized bill from the Michigan Department of Transportation. It said that, in the wake of her accident, the state employed four persons for four hours each, and Wright should pay their total wages and fringes, which came to $303.04.

Huh?

Wright was incredulous. It had been more than six months since her scary accident and this was her first notice that the state held her responsible for damage caused to state property when she hit a loose tire that the state failed to remove from a state highway.

The MDOT statement also said Wright owed $152.32 for the use of a dump truck, pickup and flat bottom, and $64.44 for two sections of guardrail. The total bill, including "8.5 percent overhead," was $563.98.

"If insured at the time of the accident, immediately submit the attached invoice and accident and damage reports to your insurance company for processing," said an enclosed letter from the MDOT's financial operations division. "If not insured at the time of the accident, please remit the full amount of the claim making the check or money order payable to the state of Michigan...

"If we do not hear from you within 15 days, further collection procedures will be initiated.

Wright, coordinator of Emergency Psychiatric Social Services at William Beaumont Hospital, couldn't believe it. No wonder.

She said if she'd tried to veer around the truck tire, she would have hit a truck on her right, or a guardrail on her left. The collision caused her to lose control of the car, which scraped along the guardrail before she could stop. Wright suffered minor injuries and damage to the car exceeded $5,000.

Police didn't ticket Wright or otherwise indicate she'd done anything wrong. Her insurance company, Michigan Mutual, subsequently determined she wasn't at fault and excused her from paying the deductible. But now the state was billing her for $563.98 for damaging a guardrail? Wright said she'd never heard of such a thing, and neither had her insurance agent.

Me neither. So I phoned MDOT and learned I just haven't been paying attention. More than 1,000 motorists are billed annually for damaging state property during auto accidents, said Bill Swartz, a State Attorney General chief investigator.

And innocence has nothing to do with responsibility. If, say, an overpass is damaged in a three-car accident, all three drivers must share the costs, even if the crash was plainly caused by only one of them. And, because of the usual bureaucratic stickiness, it isn't unusual for six months to pass before the bills go out. If an innocent accident victim dies, are his or her survivor's sometimes billed? Yes, Swartz said.

But what if the accident is the result of the state not keeping a state roadway clear of debris? Well, it's possible to sue the state, but lots of luck proving the state had time to retrieve a loose truck tire before some driver hit it.

It's all part of Michigan's no-fault insurance law. The insurers usually pay the state, no matter who's at fault, so you don't hear a lot of complaining from the insured driver who scraped the guardrail. Mary Alice Wright is the exception. She thinks it's an outrageous deal, even if she is insured.

What about the uninsured driver whose accident damages state preperty? Swartz acknowledged that, despite the 15-day threat made by MDOT, the state really doesn't have the resources to aggessively pursue payment from the uninsured.

So God bless insurance, as usual.

And God pity anyone too dumb to realize why insurance coverage costs so damn much.

Crowded school

I am an eighth-grade student at Sashabaw Junior High. I have grown up in the Clarkston school system and lately have become unhappy with the conditions at my school.

My classes are crowded, and the halls are also. This year, I did not receive a locker. Several of my friends also did not receive a locker. The tables in my English class, which also is a science lab, have so many holes and dents in it that I have to write on top of a notebook, not to mention that the tables and chairs rock.

The school's science department has $1 for every student, which seriously restricts the equipment that we have and the labs we can do. Another problem is the crowded cafeteria. If you buy hot lunch, you have to stand in line practically the whole lunch period and then hurry and eat before lunch is over.

I believe that if the schools would not waste money on unneeded things, the education for Clarkston children would greatly improve. Not only would children's education improve, but society would benefit because, afterall, we are the future.

Gays should be allowed in military

I would like to express my opinion on gays in the military, for one, because my aunt is in the Navy, and for another, because I feel people all around the world should be able to make decisions concerning their lives, without having to worry about what others will think or say.

I feel homosexuals should be allowed in the military because they are serving their country and are not hurting anyone. They should not be treated differently or harshly if they are in the military.

Host families wanted

Host families are sought for 25 high school students from France, Germany, Belgium, Spain, Denmark and other countries for the upcoming school year.

Sponsored by the American International Youth Student Exchange Program, the students (ages 15-18) arrive in late August, attend local high schools and return to their home country in June next year.

The students, all fluent in English, have been screened by school representatives in their home countries and will have spending money and medical insurance. Host families may deduct $50 a month for income tax purposes.

The exchange program also needs host families for 4-6 weeks this summer and also accepts applications from American high school students who would like to spend a semester or a year or a summer with a European family. For more information, call 1-800-347-7575.

New Ninth District Republican leader from Independence Neil Wallace has been named leader of the Republican Party for the Ninth Congressional District.

An Independence Township resident, Wallace was elected chair at the Feb. 12 convention-caucus. He is responsible for organizing Republican volunteers and precinct delegates to work to elect Republicans at all levels, especially to the U.S. Congress.

"We elected a team of hard-working, committed Republicans, men and women, who represent a variety of geographical and ideological interests throughout the Ninth District," said Wallace, after the convention.

"We are changing the terms of the debate away from single issues ... because the party can only be successful if it serves its intended function of melding a diversity of interests."

Also elected at the Ninth District Caucus were Frank Millard and Rich Kuhn Jr., to the Republican Party State Central Committee, the governing body for the Republican Party statewide.

James LaVallee of Davisburg was elected to the district's executive committee.

"We are fortunate to be well represented in the party at all levels by local residents," said Wallace.

First alarm

Test smoke alarms for best prevention

A dozen years, ago few had heard about a smoke detector. Today, more than two-thirds of American homes have them installed.

The Independence Township Fire Department would like to remind you that the vast majority of deaths from fire happens late at night when the victims are asleep.

A lot of people think the smell of the smoke will awaken them, and they will get out of their house in time. The awful truth is the smoke will probably kill you in your sleep.

Smoke detectors smell the smoke for you. Now that smoke detectors cost less than a couple of movie tickets, they are a pretty good investment.

If you have a smoke detector in your home, you're a step ahead. If you have only one detector, it should be placed between the living areas (where most fires start) and the sleeping areas, so it can sense smoke before it gets to you. If the bedrooms in your house are not all in one place, each area needs its own detector.

If you have detectors that are wired into the electrical system of your home, it would be a good idea to install a battery operated detector as a backup. Sometimes a fire itself will knock out the power, knocking out the wired-in detector.

Once the detectors are on the job, they should be checked time to time. About once a month, use a vacuum cleaner attachment to clean the detector openings — dust will make the detectors less effective.

Then press the test button to make sure the alarm sounds. Keep spare batteries on hand for replacement, so you don't get caught short. Change the battery once a year to be safe. The fire department can offer advice on installing and maintaining a fire detector.

Remember that the smoke detector can wake you up, but it can't save your life single-handedly. You have to know how to save yourself once you're awake. For advice on making a personal home escape plan, contact the fire department at 625-1924.

First Alarm is provided by the Independence Township Professional Firefighters Local 2629.

Named top teacher in county

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

To his students and colleagues, Steve Himburg is one of the most inspirational figures in the Clarkston school district.

Now, he's been recognized as the premiere middle school educator in the county.

Himburg was recently named a winner of the Newsweek-WDIV Outstanding Teacher Award for being Oakland County's top middle school instructor.

Winners were chosen from all counties within the metropolitan Detroit area. In Oakland County, teachers from 28 school districts were eligible for awards at the elementary, middle school and senior high levels.

Winners will be honored with a banquet May 26 at the Roostertail Restaurant in Detroit. That evening, Himburg will be presented with a $2,000 cash award and a certificate of achievement.

Himburg was nominated by CJHS Principal Vince Licata. The special education teacher admits the award came as a shock.

"I was definitely surprised," Himburg said, humbly. "It's always nice to be recognized by your profession, principal and building.'

Licata said Himburg's award means a lot to CJHS.

"This is an honor the entire school can take pride in," the principal said. "Steve is a very deserving individual."

Himburg's teaching career began in 1967, when he was hired as a math teacher at Fraser High School. Two years later, he moved to Lyon, France, to teach English to adults at the Berlitz School of Foreign Language.

In 1971, he was hired by the Clarkston school district to teach retailing at the Oakland Technical Center-Northwest. A year later, he took up the part-time task of teaching general education classes to inmates at the Greens Lake Minimum Security Prison.

Despite a crippling injury in 1974, which left him a parapalegic, Himburg continued to teach at OTC-N until 1981. For the next four years, he moved out to California and attended graduate school at San Diego State University. Himburg eventually picked up a master's degree in special education.

He rejoined the Clarkston school system in 1989 as a special education and basic math instructor at CJHS.

Besides teaching, Himburg is a sports enthusiast. He coached CJHS's ninth-grade football team for seven years. Himburg has also competed in numerous Boston and Detroit Free Press marathons, wheelchair and all.

Civically, Himburg has been active in Clarkston Area Youth Assistance and SCAMP, where he's an acting board member.

STEVE HIMBURG recently was named the county's top middle school instructor.

Wolves grab third-straight GOAL title

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

Ten Wolves reached the finals, helping Clarkston win its third straight Greater Oakland Activities League wrestling meet and overall championship.

The Wolves won the Feb. 14 meet at Pontiac Northern with 192 points. Lake Orion was second with 179, followed by Pontiac Northern with 146, Brandon 116.5, Waterford Kettering 56.6 and Waterford Mott 45 (the teams finished in the same order for the overall GOAL title, which combines the league meet with regular season results).

Clarkston won the title without two of its starters.

"Other than that, we wrestled well," said Clarkston coach Mike DeGain, referring to Chad Auten (103) and Brett Walter (112) who didn't make weight.

The Wolves, who will be competing at Lake Orion in the Class A districts Feb. 17 (no results are known because of press deadlines), finished the meet with six GOAL champs.

Senior Jerry Anderson (135 pounds) pinned Kettering's Jason Aiello at 1:35 to become the first Wolf to ever win four GOAL championships.

Anderson, who breaks the school's career victory record every time he wins a match, said Auten and Walter are important to the team in post-season.

"It'll be tough. We need them back," said Anderson, who would like nothing better than a return to Battle Creek for the state team finals. Anderson was a state individual finalist his first three seasons and was a part of the state championship team his sophomore year.

In one of the day's best final matches, Clarkston's Corey Grant (119) edged Kettering's Richard Bair, 9-6.

That was followed by Lake Orion's Mark Steffens (125) 9-1 decision over Wolf Jeff Farrand.

Clarkston senior Steve Locher (130) won his first GOAL title by topping Brandon's Kevin Allen 9-4.

Locher advanced to the finals after being injured by an illegal chicken wing from Lake Orion's Ryan Ormsby. Ormsby was ahead 2-1 in the first period when Locher was injured.

"His circulation was cutoff. After an hour, he was able to wrestle again," said DeGain.

"I wish I could have wrestled him (Ormsby)," said Locher. "I guess we'll get to find out on Wednesday (at districts)."

DeGain said Lake Orion coach Tim Fagan asked him to have Locher concede the match instead of win by injury, thus allowing the Dragon into the finals.

The Clarkston coach refused Fagan's request. DeGain said at the time of the injury the difference in the match was only one point. And giving in to the request would have meant giving up on his wrestler.

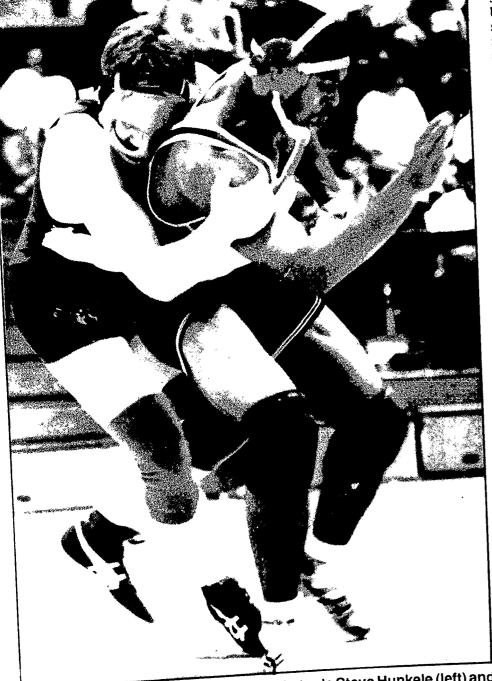

After Pontiac Northern's Koshun Rice (140) edged Clarkston's Jake Briggs, 7-4, the Wolves won three straight matches.

Jason Roughton (145) easily topped Lake Orion's Jason Griffen in a 16-0 technical fall. Brent Hummel (152) pinned Lake Orion's Eric Tyrell in 42 seconds. P.J. Vandermeer (160) followed by pinning Pontiac Northern's Deneko Howard in 54 seconds.

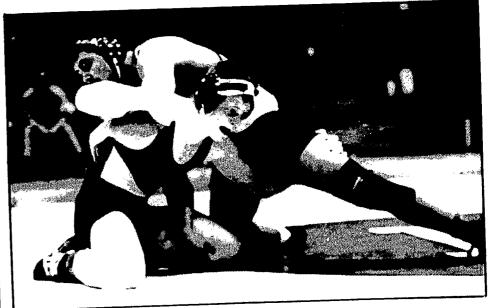

Lake Orion's Ruben Delosrios (171) broke the Wolf string by stopping freshman Joe DeGain, 12-8. The two wrestlers had split earlier-season matches before their third meeting.

Ed Watson (189), a star running back for Pontiac Northern's football team this fall, defeated Clarkston's Steve Hunkele, 5-2.

Clarkston heavyweight Jon Roy advanced to the consolation round, where he was pinned.

IT was strength versus strength as Clarkston's Steve Hunkele (left) and Pontiac Northern's Edwin Watson squared off in the 189-pound GOAL finals. Watson won on a 5-2 decision.

CLARKSTON 171-pound freshman Joe DeGain (bottom) and Lake Orion's Ruben Delosrios met for the third time this season. Delosrios won the GOAL title with a 12-8 decision.

Wolf spikers knock off state's 8th-rated team

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

Strong serving and net play helped Clarkston reach the quarterfinals of last Saturday's 16-team City By The Bay Tournament in Essexville.

In the quarterfinal match, Clarkston topped East Kentwood 15-8 in the first game but the state's No. 3 rated team came back to stop the Wolves in the next two games 15-4, 15-7. The match was tied at 7-7 in the third game.

"They were hitting the 10-foot line," said Clarkston's Heather Steinhelper about the taller East Kentwood team.

The height (one 6-1, two 6-0 and two 5-10 players) of the Grand Rapids-area team helped it spike the ball at a sharp, difficult angle against the Wolves.

Clarkston (16-10-5), which had a very good team attack percentage of .296 in the tourney and a 91 percent serving percentage, reached the quarterfinals by defeating Bay City Western, the state's No. 8 rated team.

The Warriors had defeated the Wolves twice earlier this season but the third time was a charm as Clarkston topped the Bay City squad 15-8, 9-15, 15-7.

The match might have been the Wolves' best effort of the season.

"Probably as close to it," said Clarkston coach Gordie Richardson. "When we play together as a team, we can beat anvbody.'

Clarkston opened the tourney by defeating another Bay City team. The Wolves easily topped Bay City All Saints 15-4, 15-5.

That was followed by a tie with Ogemaw Heights. Clarkston won the first game 15-4 but loss 10-15 in the second.

"We were out of sync. It's like we stopped playing," said Richardson about the Wolves' second game.

The Wolves ran into a very tough Class B team in their third match. Richland Gull Lake (No. 2 in the state) crushed Clarkston 15-2, 15-5.

But after that one-sided loss, the Wolves made it out of pool play with their victory over Bay City Western.

Steinhelper, who has been heavily recruited recently Ferris State University and the University of Toledo, finished the tournament with a .420 attack percentage, 42 kills, 13 blocks, 51-of-56 sets (11 assists) and returned 19-of-20 serves.

Rachel Seifferlein had a strong tourney. Her attack percentage was a healthy .314 (with 18 kills), served 26-of-27 and chased down 19 digs.

Jenna Lopucki led the Wolves with 18 digs and she returned 44-of-50 serves (88 percent).

Heather Austin set 99-of-104 attempts (29 assists) and served 54-of-59 (13 aces).

Michelle Wade served a perfect 21of-21 and had 18 digs.

Christa Herron served 27-of-30 (five aces). Lisa Goforth served 13-of-14 and returned 24-of-29 serves.

Carey Haven and Herron each had five blocks.

Boys 9th at SEMSL finals

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston boys finished ninth at the Southeastern Michigan Ski League finals, Feb. 11 at Alpine Valley.

The Wolf girls did not qualify for the event but Clarkston's Jennifer Curd did qualify individually.

Walled Lake Central won the boys' meet and Birmingham Marian finished first in the girls' event, which features top teams from the Pine Knob, Alpine Valley, Mt. Holly and Mt. Brighton divisions. Skiers competed in both slalom and giant slalom events.

"No one really skied well," said Clarkston coach Judy Roeser, who hopes her Wolves ski better at the regionals, Thursday, Feb. 18, at the Pine Knob Ski Resort. The top two teams at regionals qualify for the state finals.

"I think the boys felt a little intimidated by the other racers, said Roeser.

The coach said her teams the past few days have especially been practicing their G.S. skills in preparation for the regionals.

'We've been working hard on G.S.

Hopefully, we'll be a little faster and not be so intimidated," said Roeser.

The Clarkston boys were tied for fourth after the slalom but dropped to 10th in the giant slalom.

The Wolves' top skier, Scout Trim, had the flu on the cold day but still finished with Clarkston's best times in both events.

Trim finished 20th in the slalom (50.22 seconds). Walled Lake Central's finished first at 46.85.

Clarkston's Mike Kozlowski finished 26th (51.49), Paul Rumph 37th (53.62) and David Hartke 47th (55.76). Brian Meloche placed 73rd (68.28) and Brian Bovee DQ'd.

Brighton's Blake Lancaster won the G.S., with the two combined runs taking 40.69 seconds.

Trim finished 42nd (43.96), Kozlowski 51st (44.47), Rumph 56th (44.83) and Bovee 60th (45.10). Hartke placed 63rd (45.48) and Eric Bauer was 73rd (46.08).

Curd DQ'd in the slalom and finished 52nd in the G.S. (50.96). Marian's Kelly Cook won the slalom (51.38) and Mercy's Nicole Gable captured the G.S. (41.24).

Second-half enthusiasm slays Dragon cagers

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston recked in the first half and streaked in the second, eking out a 50-45 victory over Lake Orion last Friday night.

The Wolves scored only four points in the second quarter as the host Dragons took a 28-21 lead into intermission.

"We were absolutely pathetic in the first half. We were not mentally ready to play the game," said Clarkston coach Dan Fife. "Orion brought the game to us. They got every loose ball and rebounded. They got second shots.

The Dragons increased their lead to 38-27 after the half, but a 9-0 run by Clarkston late in the third quarter and early in the fourth gave the Wolves new

The pesky Clarkston defense, which has been holding opponents to about 48 points a game, helped preserve the win by holding the Dragons to only five points in the final quarter.

The victory upped Clarkston's Greater Oakland Activities League mark to 6-1 and overall record to 9.6. Lake Orion dropped to 2-6 and 5-11.

The win was another in a series of nail-biters for the Wolves this season.

'A lot of people talk about how we're not a very good team this year," said Fife. "But maybe it's just the way we win. We have to win in the trenches.'

The coach credited much of the win to a trio in those trenches.

"Rusty (Mitcham), (Jason) Graves and (Brad) Agar changed the game with their enthusiasm," said Fife. "They turned it up defensively. And then our crowd got behind us."

Fife said enthusiasm was the subject of conversation at halftime and not X's

"Halftime wasn't about drawing plays," said the coach.

Offensively, Nick Shires supplied Clarkston with 40 percent of its scoring. The senior nailed two 3-pointers, five field goals and sank 4-of-5 free throws for 20 points.

Jeremy Fife (one 3-pointer) scored 11, Rick Vollmar eight, Matt Underwood five and Chris Combs, Agar and Steve Black each had two.

Dave Centers scored 12 for Lake Orion. Dragon Jesse Heck, averaging about 18 points a game, was held to eight.

HOW many 93s will be added to these varsity winter sports' championship banners located in the Clarkston High School gym? That question will mostly be answered in the upcoming weeks when the Wolves begin post-season play. Three 93s, however, will be going up for sure: the wrestling, boys' skiing and girls' skiing teams have already won GOAL titles this winter (and the boys' basketball and volleyball teams are still in the hunt for league honors). From Our Perspective

The perfect school

Doug Carlson

Our group would like to congratulate all those who worked so hard on the campaign to pass the school bond issue. You put forth an unprecedented effort, and it certainly paid off. And since the entire package is being funded without a tax increase, it appears that the schools and the community both came out winners.

In a recent issue of U.S. News and World Report, there was a very interesting article entitled "The Perfect School." I mentioned it to Dave Reschke and provided him with a copy upon his request.

In the coming weeks, we would like to share it with you also. However, because of its length, it will have to be done in segments, and even the segments will have to be paraphrased.

If you would like a copy of the entire article, our group would be happy to provide it to you. Simply call me (625-844) and leave your name and mailing address. There is no charge for this service.

Following is the introduction to the article:

Building "the new American school" is in vogue. The Edison Project, entrepreneur Chris Whittle's ambitious attempt to create a private school system educating 2 million students on 1,000 campuses, will announce its prototype next spring and plans to open its first schools in 1996.

Next fall, 11 groups ranging from Outward Bound to the small town of Bensenville, Ill., will introduce visions of redesigned schools they have drafted under the auspices of the New American Schools Development Corp. (NASDC), a business-backed nonprofit group organized in 1991 at the behest of the Bush administration.

The nation's schools are in desperate need of such bold efforts. While the reform movement of the 1980s elevated the mission of public education — to include high academic aspirations for all students, not merely for the gifted and the privileged — in practice, it has mostly meant tinkering with a fundamentally flawed machine. Nearly 10 years and billions of dollars after the landmark report "A Nation at Risk" warned of a "rising tide of mediocrity" in education, most U.S. schools are not performing up to today's new, higher standards.

As Secretary of Education Lamar Alexander has lamented, "We don't need faster Pony Express horses in American education, we need the equivalent of the telegraph."

Now, the reformers are returning to their drafting tables — this time not to tinker, but to reinvent schools from top to bottom. The Edison Project, for instance, is contemplating schools that educate kids from birth to age 18, schools with high-tech student "desks" and other radical departures.

Under NASDC, the Outward Bound plan calls for a curriculum built on a series of student expeditions.

Both the NASDC teams and Whittle plan to spend millions to launch their visions. Ultimately, however, the innovations and reforms that will be widely adopted by the nation's 84,500 public schools are those that will allow educators to do more for less.

In recent months, U.S. News has visited public school systems throughout the nation in pursuit of particularly promising reforms. The magazine has found nine innovations that, taken together, would dramatically improve the performance of the nation's public schools without requiring a great deal of additional funding. They represent a beginning — the foundation for imagining the perfect public school.

Next week: Innovation #1, "Teachers as Entrepreneurs."

ENERGY AFFECTS SALES PRICE

QUESTION: How can the degree of energy efficiency (or deficiency) affect the selling price of your home?

ANSWER: In the area of buyer financing, for example, lenders are looking closely at the projected utility costs for a home in determining whether a prospective borrower can afford both the monthly mortgage payment AND the utility payment.

In a recent study, sixty-six percent of real estate brokers surveyed indicated that a well insulted, energy efficient home is worth more (an average of 9%).

It pays to make your home energy efficient—in more ways than one.

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP LIBRARY From frumpy to fabulous New wardrobe boiset-1

New wardrobe, hairstyle and makeup make a new woman

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE Clarkston News Staff Writer

Paula Rathsburg, 34, was innocently watching Kelly and Company when they posed a question that changed her life.

"Are you tired of your wardrobe?" they asked.

She was and wrote them a note to tell them so. A couple weeks later she was contacted by the show to be one of seven women to receive a makeover — in her wardrobe and looks -- on the Feb. 8 show.

"I just wrote this note. I told them my sister, who is

"I got rid of clothes I had for six or seven years. It was time for them to go."

Paula Rathsburg

10 years younger, always called me frumpy and that I don't like to shop for clothes. I ended it with 'Help me become a '90s mom,'" she said.

Rathsburg and her husband Martin have lived on Snowapple, Independence Township, for five years. She is a labor and delivery nurse at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac. She has three children: Martin Jr., 10 1/2, Amy, 9, and Danny, 3.

Before

After the initial phone call, a woman from Debbie G's came out to her house and spent two hours going through Rathsburg's closet.

'She organized it and showed me what goes together. It made me feel like I had a new wardrobe. I got rid of clothes I had for six or seven years. It was time for them to go," said Rathsburg.

The clothes she had to get rid of included a pair of comfy sweats that she wore to take her kids to school. But through the process, she found that she didn't have to keep two- or three-piece outfits together — she has learned to "The other day I went to breakfast and I wore a wool blazer with my jeans. The blazer went with an outfit and I would have never thought to put it with jeans. They said 'Gee Paula, you look so cute,'" she laughed.

Rathsburg will also get her makeup and hair done professionally. "You get to a point where you need something new, a change," she explained. The hair will be done at Leon's Hair Salon in Grosse Pointe, and the makeup will be done by a representative of Estee Lauder.

She has decided to let the salon do whatever they want to do with her hair, "If I don't like it, it'll grow out," she said. Since she usually only wears eyeliner and blush she hopes they don't make her look made-up.

Her family is excited about the make over. "My sisters are really excited. They think it's about time I had a makeover," she said.

"You get to a point where you need something new, a change."

Paula Rathsburg

After

"We had a lot of fun," reported Rathsburg after the makeover and show were complete.

"The Friday before the show, Dale from Leon's did my hair. He put an auburn color on it. I've never had color on my hair. If he hadn't suggested it, I wouldn't have thought of it," she said.

PAULA Rathsburg of Snowapple Drive says her sister called her "frumpy" before her makeover. She was just plain ready for a change.

Her hair was also cut short. Since she has had short hair before, Rathsburg said it wasn't too much of a shock.

The day of the show she, her children and mother had to be at the studio at 6 a.m. Her hair was re-done and makeup was applied by a technician from Estee Lauder.

We had fun back stage. It was fun to feel the buzz of the whole place. The kids saw newscasters, and my son got a lot of autographs."

She was disappointed that she didn't get to talk with Marilyn Turner or John Kelly, hosts of the show. It also came as a surprise that she was supposed to return her clothes to Talbots after the program.

"I like it though," she said. "I loved the makeup. I like my hair. I even ended up buying the clothes she picked out for me to wear on the show. I had a fun time.'

On-call firefighter has evolved with department

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE Clarkston News Staff Writer

Rex Fenstemaker, 76, is humble about what he does for the Independence Township Fire Department, but his co-workers are quick to voice their praise.

Engineer Al Doran best described the sentiment of the firefighters: "It's hard to find somebody with (as) much dedication."

Fenstemaker grew up in Hastings and moved to his Church Street, Clarkston, home 51 years ago with his wife, Rose. He worked for Pontiac Motors for a year, Standard Oil for 23 years and as a custodian for the Clarkston schools for 20 years.

But his claim to fame is 50 years as an on-call firefighter for Independence Township.

"I was a truck driver and I liked it. So Bill Allen and "It's just nice to be around the guys. It's been a lot of fun. I've been lucky."

Rex Fenstemaker

I drove the trucks. We got $1 a run," said Fenstemaker. His job at the station now includes chasing equipment, cleaning the station and helping at the scene. If the fire is taking a long time, he brings coffee, water and hamburgers to the firefighters.

His main job is chasing. That means when the firefighters go on a CPR, run he goes to the hospital and picks up the equipment and the firefighters.

"My dog and wife go with me, it gives us something

American History Month

In urging resistance to the Stamp Act of 1765, Patrick Henry reportedly said, "If this be treason, make the most of it."

These almost treasonous words were uttered in the House of Burgesses, which met in the capitol building in Williamsburg, Va. There, Washington, Lee, Mason and others debated issues of the say. The capitol building, completed in 1705, burned twice and was rebuilt on the same foundation.

to do. It's fun," said Fenstemaker.

Fenstemaker, although quiet about his own contributions, sings the praises of his wife.

"Don't think you'll be a fireman for 50 years if your wife doesn't like it," he said, laughing. "You leave a lot of meals and company to go on runs."

Capt. Dan Delongchampe agreed with Fenstemaker.

"Rose always answers the phone 'He's on his way,"

"She's been good to me," said Fenstemaker.

He has been good to the firefighters, too, whether it was teaching them to play euchre on quiet summer afternoons, taking their wives home while they're on a run, or joining them at the scene to bring them supplies.

"He's a real asset to the department," said Delongchampe. "Nobody else does what he does in the area."

Doran added, "He's on top of getting our equipment from the hospitals. Some departments don't get their stuff back for two or three days — he gets ours the next day."

"He's a hell of a person," said Delongchampe. For Fenstemaker, the feeling's mutual.

"It's just nice to be around the guys," he said. "It's been a lot of fun. I've been lucky."

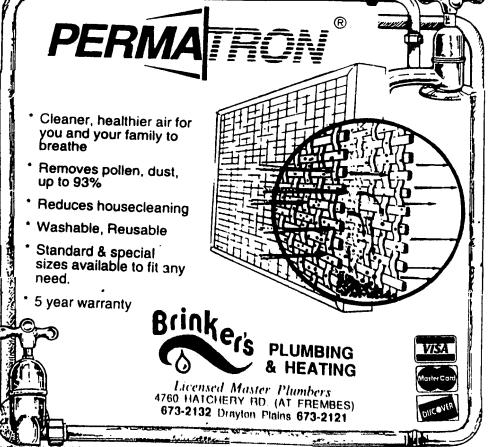

REX FENSTEMAKER, 76, of Clarkston has been an on-call firefighter for 50 years. He started out driving trucks in 1943 and still helps the department everyday. Capt. Dan Delongchampe says of Fenstemaker, "It's in his blood."

CHS alumna named director of local cable station

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

A Clarkston native has been named the new director at Independence-Clarkston cable-TV Channel 65.

Amy LaValley, 24, of Orion Township was named to the post last month, following the resignation of Joel Burnell. The former director has taken to the road to bolster his singing career.

A 1987 alumna of Clarkston High School, LaValley has a bachelor's degree in broadcasting and cinematic arts from Central Michigan University, Mount Pleasant. She served as both a full-time facilitator at Telecommunications Incorporated's (TCI) headquarters, Troy, and a parttime employee under Burnell, prior to her promotion.

TCI owns and operates several public access stations throughout the county, including the cable studio on Waldon Road, Independence Township. These stations are partially funded by their residing municipalities.

Channel 65 offers a variety of programs 6-9:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. The rest of the time, it broadcasts a community calendar of events.

As director, LaValley is in charge of managing the studio, scheduling programs, and filming meetings held by the Clarkston Board of Education, Independence Township Board and Clarkston City Council. She also teaches free production classes at the studio once a week.

LaValley says she enjoys her new job.
"I like it a lot," she said. "I consider myself lucky, considering the lack of job availability in this particular field."

LaValley considers the continual upkeep of the equipment as the most demanding aspect of her job. However, public interaction makes it all worthwhile, she

"I like working with people," LaValley said. "It's satisfying to see people come in and produce their own programs. There's a sense of accomplishment on both

She says nearly every program, produced by interested citizens, eventually makes it on the air

LaValley believes that Channel 65 will continue to flourish in the Clarkston area.

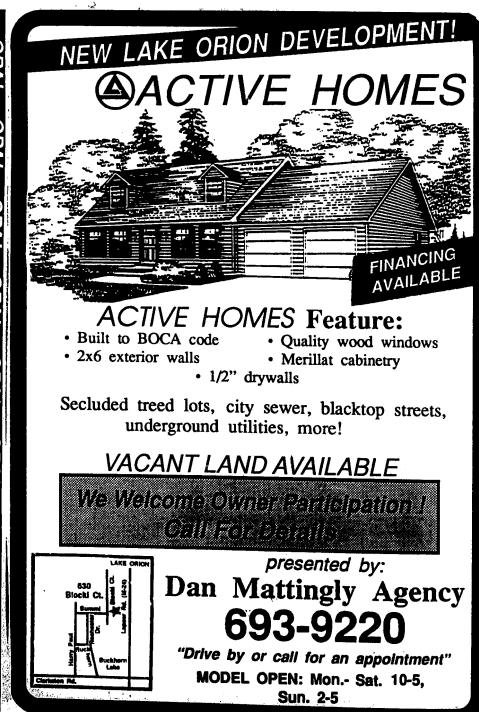

"The residents of the Clarkston area have been very helpful and interested in our operations," she said. "This community is very involved with public access TV, so we should be around for a long time."

State awards given for Oakland County park projects

Projects at Independence Oaks County Park earned statewide community service awards for the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission.

The Michigan Recreation and Park Association gave the county parks commission community service awards for outstanding contributions to parks and recreation at the community level.

One award was given to the Hoo Hoo Club, a lumber industry organization. The other was given to Troy Baker Middle School and its principal, John Acton.

The Hoo Hoo Club has assisted Oakland County Parks with environmental projects since 1988.

The club has donated and distributed tree seedlings at the annual Independence Oaks Nature Center Earth Fair, planted trees at Orion Oaks County Park and created a 4,000-tree nursery at Independence Oaks County Park. Additionally, the Hoo Hoos helped establish a Christmas tree recycling program at nine of the Oakland County

The group also supplied materials and directed construction of a picnic shelter at the Cohn Outdooor Amphitheater at Independence Oaks. The shelter is used by school groups on field trips.

Since 1986, Troy Baker Middle School has sponsored a Memorial Tree planting program at Independence Oaks. Students donate tees in honor of family members, fellow students, school staff and Earth Day.

Initiated by Acton, the program has contributed trees worth $3,200. Included in the total are eight sugar maple trees, which will be used for maple sugar processing and educational programs at the Independence Oaks Nature Center.

"The beauty of the trees and the educational programs made possible by their existence will be enjoyed for years to come," said Ray Delasko, park supervisor.

Contributing trees and labor to the program were Beach Tree Farms, Bordine's, Country Oaks II, Telly's Nursery, Tom's Nursery, Vidash Nursery and Wilkop's Nursery.

Other participants include the City of Troy, Independence Oaks County Park, Global Releaf of Michigan, North Oakland County Builders' Association, and North Oakland County Board of Realtors.

Senior gold card program announced

Clarkston schools continues a new program for senior citizens called the Senior Gold Card, available to residents who live within the Clarkston school district and are over 62 years of age.

The new card entitles the holder to free entry for all Clarkston home athletic events (both middle school and senior high school), as well as special discounts at the Oakland Technical Center boutique.

It also provides free dessert on the holder's birthday at the OTC's award-winning restaurant on Big Lake Road, as well as special ticket prices for drama productions at Clarkston High.

Monthly calendars are mailed to all Gold Card holders to keep them up on music, athletics, elementary events, and more.

Here's how to get a Senior Gold Card:

- To avoid any unnecessary delays, please call the office of one of any of the Clarkston schools and set up a convenient time to register.
- Bring proof of residency with you. For example, a driver's license or a voter registration card.
- You will receive a Gold Card on the spot, along with a calendar for February events in the school district.
- You must appear in person to register for your card. No one may register for another resident.
- You must bring your Senior Gold Card with you when requesting discounts or free admission to district events. No privileges can be given without the Gold Card. For more information, call Barbara Johns at 625-
