Siren to sound again, thanks to donation

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

It shouldn't be long before citizens hear the familiar whine of the noon siren in downtown Clarkston.

On March 2, the Independence Township Board agreed to donate the aging siren to the Clarkston Community Historical Society. In turn, the City of the Village of Clarkston will take over all electrical and maintenance costs for the unit.

"I'm pleased that the city and township are going about this preservation jointly," said township Supervisor Dale Stuart. "I think it's a nice advancement to the fact that we're still one community."

"Noon wouldn't have been the same around here without it."

Jennifer Radcliff

The siren, located at the Independence Township Fire Department on Church Street, had been disconnected in December. It was first used in 1952 to sound the alarm for volunteer firefighters. It's worth is estimated at $300-$500.

After the March 2 meeting, Stuart said he wasn't sure when the siren would be re-connected and its timer set.

Jennifer Radcliff, a member of the historical society, said two recent attempts have already been made to reset the clock. However, the timer went awry, causing the siren to sound at 11 a.m. and midnight on two separate occasions.

Radcliff has faith that the timer problem will be remedied soon.

It was Radcliff who inquired about the silent siren at a Clarkston City Council meeting Feb. 22. After learning of its near demise, she contacted local leaders in attempt to save the whistle.

Her efforts paid off three weeks later.

"This is definitely good news," she said. "It's gratifying to know that we'll be preserving this historic artifact for years to come."

"Noon wouldn't have been the same around here without it," Radcliff added.

The special St. Patrick's Day Luncheon, created and served up by culinary arts students at the Northwest Inn at the school, begins at 11:30 a.m. The meal features corned beef and cabbage for $4.95. Reservations are required. For more information, call 625-5363.

Tainted soil to stay in Springfield

After months of strong opposition, the Environmental Protection Agency has decided not to transport tainted soil from Springfield Township to Rose Township.

The EPA had planned to take the soil from the Woodland Trail site in Springfield to an incinerator already working in Rose. Both sites are similarly tainted with PCBs and other contaminants. Since Rose incineration finished ahead of schedule, EPA officials said there was time to incinerate the nearby Springfield soil, as well.

However, Rose residents were concerned about the damage the heavy trucks would do to the dirt roads and the possible danger to people if there happened to be an accident.

Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls said the decision wasn't unexpected.

"Given the length of time it took, the final decision wasn't really a surprise," he said, noting that the length of time the EPA took to make a final decision was "inexcusable."

According to Walls, the township now returns to the previous plans of incinerating the tainted soil on its present site — sometime in the future. The time schedule for incineration remains unknown.

Officer stands up for new loitering ordinance

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's loitering ordinance might soon be changed. Village marshal Charles Smalley requested a new loitering ordinance Feb. 22. The Clarkston City Council

"I went over the other night at 9:30 and made them quit crawling on the telephone equipment. ... They don't have enough to do with their time."

Charles Smalley

didn't take any final action but is looking into the matter. Smalley said the ordinance hasn't been updated since 1974 and needs to be changed to "take care of your younger element."

He added, "Up to 17, they're juveniles. Once they're 17, you can book them."

Smalley said "a couple of stores" have been having problems with the young people. He said they often crowd around near the corner of Washington Street and Main Street, where three public pay phones and several newspaper stands are located.

"I went over the other night at 9:30 and made them quit crawling on the telephone equipment," said Smalley to the council. "One kid kicked the news stand over. I went over and nailed her. She was a 15-year-old girl. They don't have enough to do with their time.

"They will not move. The poor lady who has a gift shop (Leta Calcote), you can't get through. If you try to be a good guy, you get 20. Next hour, there's 30, then 35 of them."

The council discussed the possibility of limiting the number of pay phones.

"I don't know how we ended up with three phones," said Mayor Sharron Catalo.

City attorney Tom Ryan suggested that the council contact The Clarkston News, which owns the property where the phones and newsstands are located.

"It's their call," said Ryan.

Industrial office hearing

If you are concerned about a proposed industrial office park slated for Sashabaw Road, your chance to heard is coming up.

The Independence Township Planning Commission holds a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 11, to consider rezoning the 8.33 acres on the southeast corner of Sashabaw and Bow Pointe roads.

The hearing takes place at the township library, 6495 Clarkston Road.

Correction

A story in last week's Clarkston News about Jason Hovanec's athletic scholarship to Northwood Institute should have said that his father, Mel, is vice president of a Clarkston-area computer business, Universal Data.

Smalley said the current group of young people could be a new edition of "The Family," a moniker for a few Clarkston-area youth, some of whom have been convicted of conspiring to sell LSD.

"We've got a new family movement," said Smalley. "The old movement is serving time. We've got a little younger group that wants to replace them."

Residents vent frustration over roads, snow

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Cracked roads and snow removal were on the minds of a few Thendara Park residents March 2.

That evening, about eight park residents complained to the Independence Township Board about cracked pavement throughout the development and a large eroded area along Algonquin road. This washed-out spot formed because of a less-than-effective storm sewer nearby.

Tom Biehl, an engineer with Hubble, Roth and Clark, said the random potholes and cracks could be fixed for $5,000-$6,000. He estimated that the washed out area could be permanently repaired for about $12,300.

The Thendara Park road pavement project was completed in 1991, with its residents covering most of the costs through a special assessment district (SAD).

Biehl said Thendara Park's roads will always have erosion problems because of the development's steep grades.

The board discussed tacking these new construction fees onto the existing SAD, but the residents in attendance resisted. They felt the construction company or the engineering firm, Hubble Roth and Clark, should foot the bill for poor work.

"I don't think the board or the community has to take on this burden, when you consider it was an engineering mistake," said resident Karen McAlpine. "The engineering costs for this project were astronomical, and everyone was expecting it to be done right. Hubble, Roth and Clark should absorb these costs."

This matter was tabled till a later date, so township assessor Dave Kramer could work out new SAD figures and Hubble, Roth and Clark could examine the situation more thoroughly.

Thendara residents also complained about snow removal because the existing SAD for the seasonal project has run dry.

The park residents currently pay a SAD fee of $50 per year for snow removal.

A new contractor, C&H Landscaping of Drayton Plains, took over the roads in December. Last year, the township's Department of Public Works plowed and salted the newly paved roads.

So far, residents claim, the company has charged nearly $14,000 in plowing fees and $16,000 in salting costs so far. Those in attendance accused the company of over-salting the roads, as much as 157 tons, in order to charge more money.

Under contract, C&H charges $900 per clearing of the development's six miles of roadways after two inches of snow has fallen. The company also charges an additional $60 per hour if accumulation exceeds six inches and salting is required.

There's been several large snow accumulations in the past two months.

Supervisor Dale Stuart said the contractor will continue to clear the area and that the township will cover the extra costs. These additional costs, he added, will be tacked onto next year's SAD for Thendara residents.

The details of this potential SAD adjustment will be discussed at a future meeting.

Fat Tuesday

ST. DANIEL Catholic community celebrated Shrove (Fat) Tuesday with a Mardi Gras Celebration and Faith Formation Open House. It was an opportunity for members of the parish to see what the children have been learning in their Faith Formation classes while they enjoyed the festivities. The children made festive hats, masks and noisemakers and received necklaces and balloons. Parishioners also enjoyed pacski (a pastry) and beverages while they socialized and watched plays performed by seventh- and eighth-graders in the Faith Formation program. Mardi Gras came to a close with a parade through the building and a closing prayer service. (Photo by Kathy Schinevare)

Julie Campe

I heard news the other day that one of my relatives was taken ill by ... ear wax.

Isn't it horrible? Not that a person who has ear wax would necessarily be horrible. Not necessarily.

Apparently, the affliction was discovered when this relative (who shall remain nameless through this horrible ordeal to protect whatever dignity might remain) discovered he couldn't hear well.

Gradual deafness runs in our family. It begins with ringing and buzzing in the ears, accompanied by slow hearing loss in one or both ears in one or more ranges. And it gets worse as we age.

This relative has particular reason to worry because, knowing all of the above, he continued to participate in high-risk behavior as a youngster. For instance, he used earphones to listen to his stereo when its regular loudness interfered with the rest of the household.

Even though he was warned to keep the volume low on his earphones, one doubts that he could resist the temptation when listening to his early favorites — Elton John, Billy Joel. And if the volume of his singing while wearing headphones is any indication, then the volume of his music was high indeed.

Further, he attended rock concerts. Loud rock concerts. He refused advice from well intended relations to wear ear plugs during these reverberating performances. (Geekiness could not be endured.)

And he played (and perhaps continues to play) his music loudly while driving in his car. Even with his car windows rolled up, anybody on the street can tell he's approaching from the sounds of his R.E.M. or Suzanne Vega tapes.

So it was with all of this in the back of his mind that he headed to the doctor's office recently, prepared to talk about hearing aids and special phones.

Instead, he spent hours in a treatment room, between sessions with some high-powered water thingamajig, which was used to warm up and flush that wax right out of his ear.

I haven't heard the whole story, so I can only imagine how all that wax got in his ears in the first place.

Apparently, when my mother told him to wash his ears when he was younger, he didn't listen any better than when my father told him to keep the volume low on his music.

Or perhaps it wasn't a matter of him listening. Maybe he really couldn't hear. It's possible that the wax recently removed from his ears got its foothold (or earhold?) way back then.

Wouldn't that be horrible?

As American as apple pie ...

All across America in small towns, sirens and bells mark the noon hour.

The siren at the Independence Township Fire Department on Church Street has been part of this little town for over 40 years. It is as much of a tradition for those of us who live and work here as doughnuts are at the Bakeshop.

The siren has been silent for a while, but soon, after a timer problem is fixed, the wailing will begin again.

Thanks to the efforts of Jennifer Radcliff and the Clarkston Community Historical Society, the community was saved from a lifetime of mute noons.

We applaud the township for donating the siren to the society, and we applaud the City of Clarkston for paying for the electrical and maintenance costs for the unit. It was a small symbol of goodwill between two governments that haven't always seen eye-to-eye.

In a time and place that is rapidly changing, it is nice to know that some things never will.

Reporter's notebook

An exotic deer is on the loose in Springfield Township.

According to Marlan Hillman, fire chief at Springfield Township, an Axis deer, found in Asia, was spotted in his back yard March 1. The young buck has a dark coat, speckled with white.

Hillman said the deer, which he spotted at 7 a.m., was from the nearby Double O Ranch on Ormond Road. He said the animal was very tame, allowing family members to approach closely.

The deer fled later in the day, when ranch workers tried to lasso the animal. As far as Hillman knows, the deer is still running free in the area.

If the annual Daddy-Daughter Dance is any indication, elementary-age girls' favorite music comes from Michael Jackson. When disc jockey George McDonald of Silver Moon Entertainment Connection played a Jackson song, high-pitched squeals and screams filled the Clarkston Elementary School gym. Of course, the dads had their favorite, too. During which tune did the dance floor fill to the brim with fathers? Bob Seger's "Old Time Rock 'N Roll." "This one is for the dads — it's only fair," said McDonald, as he started the music. To some fathers, the evening was great no matter which music played. "It's really, really cool," said Stu Hastings, who attended the dance with his step-daughter, Kalicia, 7. "This is a terrific idea, just a lot of fun."

Jim's Jottings

Tigers are the berries if it don't snow

When we flew out of Tampa it was 75 degrees. It had started to snow when we landed in Detroit. It was the snow that, according to the TV streamers, was going to accumulate to five to nine inches.

That, fellow sufferers, is depressing to say nothing of being ridiculous.

The hours of flake falling didn't diminish the joy of feeling a hot sun on pale skin in late February.

The week of Florida weather was enough to partially convince us those sun seekers may be right in escaping Michigan's winters.

I'm not, however, ready to give up all of this December-March season, just portions of it.

A sister in Clearwater, friends in Vero Beach and Stuart, and friends and the Detroit Tigers in Lakeland made this a busy seven days.

The last time we were at the Tigers' spring training grounds they weren't there. We were too early. This time we got a few hours of watching roster players do their thing ... which is stretch, spit, take batting practice, scratch, shag fly balls and chit chat.

Bill Gullickson was getting pitching help from coach Billy Muffett. He looked able to start April 15 at home to me.

Open shirted Rob Deer looked like he spent the off-season lifting weights. Pitcher Dougherty does stretches like nothing I've ever seen. Travis Fryman hit a few out of the park, Skeeter Barnes couldn't get one out of the infield and Mickey Tettleton looked good both at the plate and behind it.

I chatted for a minute with Clarkston's Joe Falls, The Detroit News' prolific sports writer. He interviewed coaching legend Lofton Green in the stands. Green coached River Rouge to fame in basketball for many years.

Coach Sparky was all over the place greeting old friends, watching pitchers, talking to outfielders, posing for photographers and generally smiling about something. I didn't see him scratch or spit. On the other hand I didn't see him eating sunflower seeds either. Maybe that's a game-time habit.

The Strawberry Festival was taking place 10 miles away in Plant City. This affair that highlights country music entertainers and strawberry shortcake lasts 10 days and draws about a million people.

Friends said we had to go, not to the festival, just to Parkesdale Farm for the shortcake. This farm was visited by President Bush and Gov Clinton prior to the election. They had pictures to prove it.

Parkesdale is an assembly line operation. $1.95 for cake, berries and topping. Rubber gloved, red aproned girls with strawberry crowns keep the line moving quickly.

I prefer biscuits to cake with the crushed berries, but I'd really rather have just ice cream and berries in my dish.

However, the berries were sweet and disappeared quickly.

A person needs an experience like that to contrast with the five-to-nine inches of snow TV streamers threaten.

Parody in action

Much Ado About Nothing This Side of Mars
(a one-act school board parody)

Agenda Item 3A (Was the sky blue today in Clarkston?)

Hal Slowburn — "I looked out my window today, and I believe, without a doubt, that, yes, it was blue. Would anyone else like to discuss this matter, further?"

Bart Powersfun — "I don't think we should jump to this type of conclusion, without extensive meteorological data supporting it."

Delia Truths — "I concur with Hal. The sun was shining, and the sky was blue."

Hanna Pompous — "It's fine and good to say the sky was blue where you live, Delia, but what if we found out it was gray over Deer Lake? I've seen this kind of thing happen before, and we certainly don't want to damage our credibility."

Ron Stalwart — "I also saw a blue sky today where I live, and I feel comfortable with the notion that the rest of Clarkston was the same."

Dale St. Lukewarm — "I would like to think we can reach a unanimous decision here. Even though the sky looked blue to me, I would be willing to listen to more input."

Sarah Foilfret — "As long as we have no authoritative proof as to whether the sky was blue in Clarkston today, I can't go along with the risk. We owe it to our constituency to have proof."

Hal Slowburn — "Are we going to have to order a meteorological survey to decide this? If that's the case, it's pretty sad."

Bart Powersfun — "Wait a minute. I don't think it's sad at all! What's sad, Hal, is your disregard for the public's trust!"

Hal Slowburn — "OK, what's it going to take? Do you want to order a weather survey?"

Hanna Pompous — "I think we need to examine the financial implications of doing that."

Bart Powersfun — "I agree with Hanna. If it costs $1, that's $1 too much. You know, people are out of work. The Carlson, I mean, Clarkston school district budget can't weather this expense."

Hal Slowburn — "If it's going to help us reach a decision on this, I'll pay for the meteorological survey out of my own pocket."

Sarah Foilfret — "I think we should state, for the record, that we, as a board, oppose any spending of monies for information gathering."

Bart Powersfun — "I agree with Sarah. I oppose spending of any kind, unless I hear otherwise."

Epilogue

Two hours later a vote was taken. The result showed three members in favor, three opposed and one abstention. After another hour of debate, a decision was reached: four members in favor, three opposed. (And I thought childbirth was agony!)

Is there some element of truth in satire? Decide for yourself. Attend a school board meeting or catch one on cable. Two school board seats will be voted upon in the upcoming June election. This community voted for the kids on Feb. 8. Let's keep it going by voting for the best people to represent them on the school board in June.

Jan Baker

Seniors saturated

The senior citizen taxpayers of Independence Township have just about reached the saturation point.

We have been and continue to be soaked with real estate property taxes (mostly school taxes), despite the fact we have all been paying for our offsprings' education for 50-some years, and there is no end. The township, to add insult to injury, continues to increase these taxes annually. The old phrase "taxation with representation" is applicable today. We are all taxed to death without any school representation.

I am paying over $800 per month in real estate taxes for my small home and 2 1/2 acres of land. Ninety percent of this land is classified as wetland or swamp, including some weed-covered lake frontage.

The tax-loving township does not maintain or provide snow removal or rubbish pickup. Matter of fact, I wonder just what the township does for these prohibitive taxes.

My home has been on the market for the past year, and I have reduced the price $70,000 below township valuation, but no sale to date. The average buyer is fearful of our high taxes and rightfully so.

The claim that proof of the pudding is in the eating, take a breath and look around this area. The rate "For Sale" signs are going up makes you wonder. Are we facing a "ghost town" dilemma in the not-too-distant future?

'If it Fitz . . .'

Remote fan relays secret
of vexation

Jim Fitzgerald

It may be some sort of an antibliss conspiracy aimed at making me look like a fool in the eyes of the woman I married.

Glenn Baker, the one and only founder of FoFOOO, wrote from Lake City, Fla., to tell me how to smoothly get around any obstruction my wife erects between me and my never-ending quest for sophisticated information.

Peter Greenquist of Ann Arbor mailed me the same advice on how to circumvent spousal blockage in pursuit of knowledge. And colleague Matt Fiorito, my favorite bowling writer, walked across the hall to give me duplicate thwart-the-woman instructions.

When I followed this triple-tendered advice, the results were embarrassing. But before learning about this latest failure in my attempt to control my intellectual environment, you want to know about FoFOOO. OK.

FoFOOO is my fan club. It's an acronym for "Friends of Fitz, the One, Original, Only." (That means the club is unique, not me.) FoFOOO was founded in 1985 by Glenn Baker when he was a civilian employee of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in Khamis Mushayt, Saudi Arabia. FoFOOO was a gesture of pity for a columnist who had no fan club in his own country, not to mention his own family.

Baker, who formerly had worked in downtown Detroit, contacted me from overseas after reading a column in which I complained about my phone bill. With typical precision, I'd griped that it was cheaper to call Saudi Arabia than the town next door, but I didn't know anyone in Saudi Arabia.

"You do now," Baker responded, explaining he was a Free Press subscriber and was able to persuade eight coworkers to read my column because there really wasn't that much to do in Khamis Mushayt. FoFOOO was born.

Baker even gave me members' phone numbers, but I never dialed them. I didn't know the time difference between Michigan and Khamis Mushayt and I was afraid of awakening FoFOOOers at 3 a.m. and making them angry enough to disband the only fan club I ever had.

That was eight years ago. Baker is now stationed in Florida but, he assured me last month, FoFOOO still lives on in his mind, where there is plenty of room for club meetings because the other eight members long ago left Khamis Mushayt and found package labels to read.

Baker came back into my life in response to a recent column berating my wife for rewarding her most thriving houseplants by moving them from our family-less family room to the living room where there were living people, about 1 1/2 on my best nights. The problem is she puts the plants on a coffee table midway between my chair and the entertainment center, blocking my remote control of the TV, VCR and cable box.

Baker said not to fret, I could get around the plant by bouncing remote clicker signals off the ceiling or walls to the entertainment center, even off the wall behind me as I faced the TV screen. I thought Baker might be kidding, but then Greenquist and Fiorito said the same thing. So the next time a plant got in my way, I reacted with confidence.

"Look at his," I said, flamboyantly aiming the clicker eastward, although the TV was westward. The TV remained off. "Look at what?" my wife asked.

For the next few minutes, I aimed clickers all over the room, praying for the bounce that would re-establish my control of my cultural life. Nothing happened, except my wife cowered.

"I will schedule a commitment hearing," she said. "You need help."

I really do.
Anyone for FoFOOO?

Catherine Passmore

Beauty secrets of the stars

The '90s are the decade of the infomercials. Ross Perot has them, Richard Simmons and Cher have them, even the guy with the round machine that dries food has them.

Most of the infomercials I have seen deal with beauty. Not beauty actually — more of a promise of glamour.

Since I don't buy things from television but still wanted to experience the joy of being glamorous, I mentioned numerous times that Julie and I should go to a nearby salon and have a makeover.

(Just so you know, it is a lot more fun to get a makeover with a friend; then you can make comments like, "I hope you don't have to go out in public with that much makeup on," or "Seriously, you can carry off that green mask better than anyone else I know.")

So, off we went last Wednesday afternoon to become glamorous.

I had a hard time keeping from giggling through the two-hour makeover. It seemed kind of silly to put so much time and effort into makeup. Then, I remembered how much money I had spent on makeup in the past year and realized that, if I really listened, I could get some tips on how to utilize my million-dollar makeup drawer.

Julie (aka "the Makeup Virgin") seemed to really get into the whole experience, sometimes a little too much, I'm afraid. When applying the eyelid base we turned around for a second and she became "Clown Woman." She had a thick white coating on her eyelids and on the bridge of her nose. "That is very attractive — very early '80s punk rock."

My big thrill for the day was learning how to keep lipstick on. This may not sound exciting, but for a person who has six tubes of lipstick I never wear because it comes off before I walk out the door, it was a revelation.

The way you do this is apply the lipstick, put a tissue over your lips (keep your mouth closed) and brush loose powder over the tissue. It does work!

Even though it took a long time, we both looked glamorous in the end. We ended up spending enough money to feed an entire third world country for a month, "But I'm worth it."

As we were leaving the salon, commenting on our exquisite beauty (glamour), Julie said, "I like it — now if only I had time to get my hair done and go clothes shopping and ...."

Board responsible for pay increases

The Clarkston school district, a financially strapped institution, just passed its first bond issue in years.

Now, our school board has found it appropriate to give our superintendent a 3 1/2 percent raise. Gary Haner has received a more than generous 6 percent raise every year, despite the fact that we are in financial trouble.

Although his salary does not come out of the bond money, it comes out of the tax dollars we pay to operate this school system. The board has admitted we do not have the funds available in the operating budget to maintain our building, yet they would give Gary Haner a raise! This is criminal!

When you look at the whole picture, it just doesn't make sense. 1) Gary Haner is applying for positions in other school districts. I must presume his loyalty to Clarkston is questionable, at best. After all, if he liked it here and wanted to stay, why would he be looking for another job? 2) Our school district has repeatedly been in financial trouble. 3) The economy is poor, and many voters in this community have not had a raise in years or have lost their jobs completely. To give Gary Haner a raise at this juncture is as ludicrous as GM executives receiving huge bonus checks when the company is losing millions of dollars!

From a responsible business perspective, 6 percent raises are not handed out when operating funds are not available. As a matter of fact, 3 1/2 percent raises aren't handed out either, especially to management. The school board has made a poor fiscal decision, and the members who voted in favor of this raise will not get my vote in the next election. They are Joseph Helpem, Sheila Hughes, Paul Van Klaveren and Thomas Howard.

I have often said that if you have a problem with the board, take it up with them instead of taking it out on the students. I urge the voters of this community to take this issue up with the board, and elect someone who will act in a fiscally responsible manner.

Brian Chesley

Raises not right

Twenty-four years ago, my parents moved our family to Clarkston because of the small-town family atmosphere and excellent school system.

Both my husband and I went through the Clarkston schools and feel we received a good education.

Two years ago, we purchased a home in Clarkston in hopes that our family could have similar experiences as we did growing up. In that two years, we've paid high taxes while listening to our neighbors voice concerns over the declining quality of education their children were receiving.

When the bond issue came up, we were very supportive in hopes that this was a start and would make a difference. Many people we spoke to in the community spoke of poor management and broken promises in the same breath as the bond issue. We were pleased that the bond issue passed, only to have our hopes dashed the following week by the story on the front page of The Clarkston News.

How could someone who campaigned for the bond issue, because of the lack of money in our school district to provide basic necessities for our children's education, accept a pay raise?

Everyone likes to receive a merit increase for a job well done, but in these times and with this situation, is it called for? $97,000, I think not.

Now one unit

On Feb. 26, the Clarkston Educational Support Personnel (ESP) units voted 109-3 to become a coalition of one negotiating unit. Our ranks include the bus drivers, custodians, secretaries and special education and media paraprofessionals.

I would personally like to thank everyone who supported the four ESP groups' efforts. I'd like to especially thank Bill Curtis and Al Bartlett from the Teachers Education Association for their time and encouragement.

Spikers go to regionals

CHS claims GOAL, district titles

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

In just one week's time, the Clarkston varsity volleyball team has added two more pieces of hardware to the school's trophy case.

The Wolves claimed the league title on March 3 with a 15-6, 15-3 win over Brandon. This victory set the stage for the Wolves' district championship run on Saturday, March 6.

CHS knocked off Waterford Kettering, Waterford Mott and a hard-nosed Lakeland team to win its first district title since 1987 and third in school history.

"We're thrilled to win a district title," said coach Gordie Richardson. "A few of the seniors, who were on the basketball team, really wanted to win one because they came up just short this past basketball season."

The district title also broke a string of futility for Richardson, who's had five teams advance to the district finals in the past six years and lose.

In the first round of the districts, the Wolves met Kettering and pounded the Captains 15-3, 15-7. Senior Heather Steinhelper was 19-22 hitting and recorded eight kills in the two games. Senior Heather Austin added six assists, and junior Christa Herron was 15-15 serving with three aces.

"Whenever you get to this stage of the game, you're going to see some great volleyball."

Coach Gordie Richardson

In the second round, Clarkston played host Waterford Mott, and the Wolves sunk the Corsairs 15-1, 15-0. Steinhelper was 8-8 hitting with 5 kills, and senior Rachel Seifferlein registered three kills on 5-6 hitting.

In the finals, the Wolves battled Lakeland, who placed second in the Kensington Valley Conference this season. The feisty, black-shirted Eagles stunned the Wolves in the first game 15-13, as Clarkston made several uncharacteristic errors.

"Lakeland really played well at first," Richardson said. "We really didn't play that poorly, but we made mistakes at inopportune times."

The second game saw the Wolves jump out to an 8-0 lead, but the Eagles fought back to take a 9-8 advantage. Both teams swapped numerous serving errors, before the Wolves eventually eked out the win, 15-13.

Gaining confidence, the Wolves utilized the teamwork of the earlier rounds and topped Lakeland 15-6 in the deciding game. It was a contest where the Ferris State-bound Steinhelper took control as both a setter and hitter.

"Heather can control a game when she's hot," Richardson said. "She's an outstanding athlete. She was really snapping off some shots that day."

Steinhelper finished the tournament with 59-65 hitting, 31 kills. Seifferlein was 23-27 hitting, 11 kills. Austin chipped in with 22 assists, and senior Michelle Wade added 18 digs and 26-27 serving, 4 aces.

During the district, senior Jenna Lopucki also set the school record for most service receptions in a year. She collected 25 that day, giving her 477 for the year.

She breaks a record shared by CHS graduates Kelly Laidig (1987) and Candy

Polenz (1991) with 451.

By winning the district, the Wolves have qualified for the regionals at West Bloomfield High School this Saturday. They'll face Walléd Lake Central in the first round at 10 a.m. If they win, they'll play the victor of the Birmingham Marian/Grand Blanc contest at 1 p.m.

Richardson remains confident about his team's chances.

"Whenever you get to this stage of the game, you're going to see some great volleyball," he said. "I hope we haven't peaked because we're playing at the top of our game right now."

"It's a credit to the kids because they've taken on roles," Richardson added. "They've got an attitude of 'team first,' which has made for a fun season."

Tragic loss to Romeo ends cagers' season

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Clarkston's quest for a fourth straight district championship ended Monday night. The boys' varsity basketball team was dumped by Romeo 67-52 at Lapeer East High School. Coach Dan Fife said his squad hit a rut against their bigger, stronger opponent. "It seemed that everything that could go wrong, went wrong," he said. "Maybe we were too spent from the Northern game or looking past Romeo to the district finals on Saturday. What ever it was, it wasn't meant to be."

Romeo surprised Clarkston with offensive spurts of 15-2 and 10-0 in the first half as the Bulldogs took a 41-29 lead into the locker room. The second half wasn't any rosier for the Wolves as Romeo continued to apply pressure, resulting in several steals and fast break opportunities.

The Bulldogs' lead stretched to a commanding 54-35 late in the third quarter, sealing the lid on Clarkston's collective coffin.

The Wolves were paced by seniors Nick Shires and Matt Underwood who tossed in 15 and 10 points respectively. The first round loss to the Bulldogs (13-8) dropped the Wolves' record to 13-8 for the season.

This defeat came on the heels of the Wolves' heartbreaking loss to Pontiac Northern last Friday. That loss snapped an eight-year string of GOAL championships for Clarkston.

Adding injury to insult, Fife learned that his son, Jeremy Fife, was diagnosed with a fractured knee cap the day after the Romeo game.

"He hurt it about a month ago and played on it anyway," Fife said of his sophomore point guard. "We were surprised that it was such a severe injury. He's been told to lay off it for some time until it heals."

Despite losing the last two games of the year, Fife said he was proud of his team's accomplishments this season.

"They accomplished more than anyone thought they could," Fife said. "We proved that we could play ball with about anyone on our schedule. There was a lot of pluses to this team."

"I'd say I probably got more out of this team than any other I've ever coached at Clarkston," he added.

WITH 2:30 remaining in the game against Northern, Jeremy Fife passes to Rick Vollmar (21), who drives between defenders for two points. His effort pulled Clarkston ahead of Pontiac 48-47. However, the Huskies won, 57-56.

Huskies edge Wolves, win GOAL outright

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

It's the end of an era. For the first time since 1985, the Clarkston varsity boys' basketball team won't claim at least a share of the GOAL title.

And just like eight years ago, they have Pontiac Northern to blame.

Last Friday, March 5, the Wolves lost a heartbreaker to the Huskies, 59-56. A Clarkston victory would have meant the two teams share the league crown, but it wasn't to be.

"It was a real heartbreaker," said CHS coach Dan Fife. "Our guys played about as well as they could play. It's just a shame that someone had to lose such a close game."

The loss drops Clarkston to 13-7, 8-2 GOAL. The Huskies, who are ranked No. 3 in the state in Class A, raised their record to 17-1, 10-0 GOAL.

According to Fife, it was your typical Northern-Clarkston showdown.

"It was a very rough and physical game, but our kids like it that way," Fife said. "Everytime we play Northern we know we're in for a battle."

The contest was close at the half, with the Huskies sporting a 28-26 lead. The third quarter was equally tight with Huskies maintaining only a one-point advantage at the end of the stanza.

The fourth quarter followed suit, as Northern led the Wolves 57-56 with only 32 seconds left in the contest. But Northern's James Jones stole the ball on the next possession and was fouled on his way to the hoop.

He hit both ends of the one-and-one, leaving Clarkston with a three-point deficit. The Wolves tried two three-pointers in the waning seconds of the game but missed them both.

Clarkston was paced by senior Nick Shires with 21 points, and junior Rick Vollmer added 16. Senior Matt Underwood also chipped in 10 points for the Wolves.

Swinging from the heels

Hot-dogging, Locher, Rush, saying no

James Gibowski

I was just thinking ...

■ The Fisher King?

Some of the University of Michigan basketball players certainly seem bigger than their coach, Steve Fisher.

A few weeks ago in a game against Penn State, Ray Jackson could have made an easy break-away lay-up. But noooo! Instead, he flipped the ball high off the backboard so teammate Chris Webber could come behind him and jam.

Why does Fisher (and there are some other coaches, too) allow this hot-dogging, unsportsmanship and showing up of the opponents?

If I'm a Penn State player, I either say a few choice words to Jackson or intentionally foul Webber.

The hot-dogging play was praised by Channel 7's Don Shane on the 11 o'clock news. (Fittingly, Shane also plays up hockey fights.)

Apparently, Fisher and Shane think alike when it comes to sportsmanship.

■ Loching up some titles

Does Lake Orion varsity wrestling coach Tim Fagan still believe Clarkston 130-pounder Steve Locher should have conceded his match against Dragon Ryan Ormsby at the GOAL meet?

At that meet, Locher was behind 2-1 in the first period but was injured because of Ormsby's illegal chicken wing. Locher couldn't continue, so he won by injury default.

Fagan still felt Ormsby deserved to be in the finals and asked Wolf coach Mike DeGain to have Locher default. DeGain thought Fagan's request was unwarranted and premature, to say the least.

Locher more than proved his equal to Ormsby. After winning the GOAL finals, he defeated Ormsby at the individual districts (finishing first) and then qualified for this weekend's individual state finals in Battle Creek.

■ Far from the middle

If Rush Limbaugh's radio talk show were a sport, it would be roller derby, where skaters (one-sided screened callers) are only allowed to go around the track to their right.

Limbaugh, who once worked in public relations for the Kansas City Royals, describes himself as an entertainer, but he has grown to be a political spokesman. He and his callers criticize the "liberal media," forgetting that his popular show is part of the media.

Maybe Limbaugh thinks members of the media are liberal because they don't sleep overnight at the White House, as he did during Bush's term. (Of course, ABC-TV White House correspondent Britt Hume must be another one of those liberals because he played tennis with Bush but didn't stay overnight.)

One thing that bugs me (and there are plenty of other things) is how listeners fall for Limbaugh's so-called middle-class status. Limbaugh often two-facedly says something like, "Clinton's tax plan will not only soak the rich but also WE in the middle class."

Sure, Rush. You're still in the middle class with income from your radio and TV shows and best-selling book and commercials.

You sound like one of those torn-jeaned rock singers you despise for singing the "Poor Boy Blues."

■ 'Yes, yes, yes, yes, yes, yes, yes'

How many computers could have been put into the needy hands of Clarkston students if the teachers and administrators (some of the highest paid in the country) would have refused (or been refused) a recent raise in pay?

Apparently, the school board members who voted "yes" to the administrative raises think administrative salaries are more impoverished than the one computer room (Troy High School has eight) at Clarkston High School full of outdated Radio Shack Tandies.

Dr. Helpem, remember our little "talk" about keeping costs down? I guess you're a guy who just can't say, "No."

Four Wolf grapplers state-bound Friday

Four Wolves will be wrestling at the individual state finals Friday and Saturday at the Kellogg Center in Battle Creek.

Two have plenty of state final experience while two others have qualified for the first time.

Senior Jerry Anderson, a 135-pounder with a 30-2 record, will be making his fourth straight trip. He placed his first three years and will be one of the favorites this season.

Anderson, Clarkston's all-time victory leader, will face Hazel Park's Kevin Dunaway (32-12) in the opener on Friday.

Jason Roughton, a 145-pound senior with a 39-4 mark, finished second at the finals last season and qualified but did not place his sophomore year.

Roughton's opening match will be against Warren Mott's Jason Wyrembelski (24-12).

Steve Locher, a 130-pound senior with an 18-10 record, came on strong in the second half of the season and will be making his first trip at the finals.

Locher, who was injured most of last season, will tangle with Grosse Pointe North's Dan Skuce (43-2) in the opener.

Sophomore P.J. Vandermeer, a 160-pounder with a 37-7 record, earned his first trip to the finals.

He will square up against Jenison's Jason Lovell (30-9) in his first match.

Township buys three new park vehicles

The Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department will gain three new vehicles soon.

On March 2, the Independence Township Board approved the purchase of two vans and a heavy duty chassis truck. The board voted 6-0 in favor of the motion, with Clerk Joan McCrary absent from the meeting.

The purchases include: a $15,320, full-size van from Flannery Ford; a $14,222 extended mini van and a $20,350 heavy-duty truck from Bowman Chevrolet. Each purchase represents the lowest bid of those submitted by four dealerships.

These vehicles will replace older counterparts in the parks and recreation department. The money for these budgeted vehicles comes from the township's vehicle equipment fund.

Spring getaway

If a spring trip to Mackinac Island sounds like an opportune getaway, you're in luck. And you don't even have to drive.

Tom and Carrie Wilford, who recently organized a trip to Greece for 22 Clarkston-area residents and others, have coordinated a Mackinac Island Getaway for May 15-18.

Tom Wilford, formerly of Clarkston, wrote "Travels with Carrie" for The Clarkston News while he and his wife traveled the world.

The Mackinac trip originates in Cleveland and includes a Clarkston stop to pick up those from this area who would like to get away for the weekend. The cost per person is $439 (30 participants required).

The package includes: round-trip motorcoach transportation; two nights on Mackinac Island with hotel accommodations at the Grand Hotel (including two full breakfasts plus two gourmet dinners, gratuities, taxes and luggage handling); Mackinac Island tour; round-trip ferry boat transportation from the mainland to the island; one night hotel accommodation at Days Inn, Mackinaw City, including a city tour.

Deadline to sign up for the trip is March 26, when a $50 deposit is due. The balance is due by April 20.

For more information, call the Wilfords at 216-943-6703.

Ortonville pair wins $100,000

The Imperial Lottery Club of Ortonville cashed in on someone else's "Cash 5" ticket to win the $100,000 Cash 5 top prize in the Feb. 26 drawing.

The two members of the club, mother and daughter, requested anonymity.

They said they were in line to buy their Cash 5 tickets at M&R Drugs on Sashabaw Road, Independence Township, when another shopper cut in front of them. The store clerk rang up a 5-wager Cash 5 ticket for the woman, but she claimed she only wanted a single wager. After she left the store, the Imperial Lottery Club decided to buy the woman's 5-wager ticket.

The daughter, a 35-year-old housewife, said she was surprised when she realized they had the winning ticket. She watched the drawing on television Feb. 26 and then called her mother to tell her the good news.

They said they plan to use their new-found winnings to pay bills and to go on vacation to Las Vegas and Disney World.

Optimist dinner-dance set for March 20

For those who like to have fun and help a good cause at the same time, a St. Patrick's event is just the thing.

The annual Clarkston Area Optimist club dinner-dance fund-raiser takes place at 6 p.m. Saturday, March 20, at the Deer Lake Racquet Club. Tickets are $30 per person, available from any Optimist member or by calling 625-1129 or 625-8223.

The evening includes an auction, raffle, dinner, dancing and lots of fun. To donate auction items or for more information, call 625-1129 or 625-8223.

The Clarkston Area Optimists' motto is "Friend of Youth," and the club sponsors youth-related activities, such as Tri-Star Basketball, a holiday party for teen mothers and their children, oratorical contest, essay contest, and other youth-related events.

Village Bakeshop goes smokeless

The Village Bakeshop has decided that smoke and pastries don't mix.

Since last week, the owners of the downtown business have prohibited smoking from their premises.

"It came to the point where we thought it would be best for our customers and products," said Susan Montgomery, who's owned the bake shop for the past 12 years.

So far, she said, there's been no negative backlash from the new policy.

"People think it's great," Montgomery said. "We were losing some of our families, as customers, because of the smoke. Now, they'll have a reason to stay."

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

WAITING CAN BE COSTLY

QUESTION: What if interest rates come down from their present level? Wouldn't it make sense to wait before buying a home?

ANSWER: Potential homebuyers who delay the purchase of a home until rates lower will find that the delay may prove costly.

The housing market is somewhat predictable. When interest rates are dropping, you can bet that home prices are going up just as fast! However, the increase in price usually outstrips the decrease in interest rates. Despite a lower mortgage rate, it will cost you more in monthly payments and down payment due to the commensurate increase in price. Waiting to buy is risky.

IF YOU WAIT too long to buy a home, that delay could prove financially costly in the long run.

Fund-raiser set to help with boy's treatment

A Clarkston-area resident has offered to help a 4-year-old Holly boy who needs medical attention.

Sheri Allingham, who works with the father of the boy in her Ortonville real estate office, said medical treatment could cost more than $150,000 and that testing alone costs $12,000 to $20,000.

"We're just trying to raise as much as we can raise," said Allingham.

A fund-raising party is set for 4 p.m. Tuesday, March 16, at Mesquite Creek restaurant in Independence Pointe (M-15 at I-75), just north of Clarkston. "Bud's St. Patrick's Day Party" costs $10 and includes food, prizes and fun.

Bud is Jimmy Case's nickname. Bud was diagnosed with fiber displasia, a skull deformity. Though his parents now have health insurance, Bud's affliction isn't covered because it was a "pre-existing condition," according to the insurance company.

Allingham said she welcomes help and donations from anyone.

"We can change this little boy's whole life, and all it takes is dollars," she said.

For more information, call 627-4993 or 625-5513. Donations may be mailed to: Jimmy "Bud" Case Fund, 875 M-15, Ortonville, MI 48462.

CARE OF
SHAMROCK PLANTS

Shamrock plants are actually little bulbs. They grow 4 to 6 inches tall and have shiny clover-like leaves during the winter and spring. Blossoms open only on sunny days and close at night and in cloudy weather.

Shamrocks do best in at least four hours of direct sunlight a day. Keep the soil moist and fertilize monthly while the plants are growing. When the foliage begins to wither and turn brown, store the bulbs dry in a cool dry spot until fall. Propagation is done in the fall by separating the bulbs that develop from the mother bulb.

Local boxer to fight Olympic champion

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Since he was a child, boxer Mike Grable has dreamed of the day when he'd be able to prove himself in a big-time bout.

Nearly four years after turning professional, the Clarkston native has been given his shot at glory. On April 6, he'll fight 1992 Olympic gold medalist Oscar de La Hoya in Rochester, N.Y. The bout airs live on the USA Cable Network.

Grable, 23, intends to take full advantage of his opportunity.

"I'm very fortunate to have the chance to fight someone of Oscar's caliber," said the 1987 Clarkston High School graduate. "There's a lot of professional fighters who never get this type of break. This fight will put me in the public eye, so I intend to make the most of it.

"This is going to be my gold medal fight," the 135-pound Grable added.

Grable is presently ranked the 12th best lightweight fighter by the Intercontinental Boxing Commission (IBC), which includes the U.S., Canada and Mexico. His professional record is 13-1-2.

Grable's been active in the sport since age 7. He was influenced by a family with boxing in its blood. The youngest of several boxing brothers, he was trained by his father, Dale Grable, who remains his coach.

Dale trains his son and nearly 30 other aspiring fighters at the Salvation Army Recreation Center, Pontiac. A former boxer himself, Dale has served as a referee and is presently a boxing commissioner on the Athletic Board of Control, Lansing.

Mike has also gained boxing insight from his mother, Rose Grable, who served as a boxing commissioner on the board of control as well.

At an early age, Grable collected numerous boxing titles. He was a five-time U.S. Silver Gloves boxing champ from the ages of 10-14.

In 1986, he won the state's Golden Gloves title for his weight division and was also named the tournament's outstanding boxer.

He turned pro three years later.

"At the time, I felt that I'd excelled as far as I could go as an amateur, and turning pro seemed like the natural course to follow," he said. "I did well the first couple of years; then I took a year off to evaluate my life. I took some classes at Oakland Community College in the meanwhile.

"I needed some time to myself, so I could work out some personal problems and try to establish some balance in my life," Grable added. "I eventually returned to the ring in 1992 and won some fights, which led to the call from de La Hoya's camp."

Grable was supposed to fight at the Palace last month, but his opponent didn't show up. It's been nearly seven months

"Mike has the ability and mindset to win, but the big negative is a seven-month lay off."

Coach Dale Grable

since Grable last stepped into the ring. De La Hoya, on the other hand, has been very active in the circuit, with a fight as recent as March 13.

Training six days a week, Grable believes he can win by taking the fight to the Olympian.

"From bell one to the end, I'm going to get in his chest and push the fight," Grable said. "I intend to be the aggressor, keep the lead, and adapt if necessary."

Grable, who goes by the nickname "Kid Irish," said a victory would gain him respect and better fight offers in the future.

"The promoters aren't bringing me to New York to win, but I don't intend to lose," he said. "I'm going to take full advantage of this opportunity and surprise a lot of people in the process."

Dale Grable also has faith in his son's chances.

"Mike has the ability and mindset to win, but the big negative is a seven-month lay-off," he said. "We're working hard to get him ready, but the rest is up to him."

Report presents education requirements

What can your children learn now that will help them find a job in the future?
That was the question answered by a study by the U.S. Department of Labor entitled, the "Secretary's

GLORIA CONN, SCANS commissioner, presents the findings in the SCANS report to educators at the Oakland Technical Center-Northwest Campus.

Commission on Achieving Necessary Skills (SCANS)."

Gloria Conn, a SCANS commissioner and vocational education consultant to Wayne County Regional Educational Service Agency, presented the findings of SCANS to a group of educators at the Oakland Technological Center-Northwest Campus Feb. 24.

Conn said, "More than half of our young people leave school without the knowledge or foundational skills required to find and hold a good job."

The commission studied real jobs and asked employees, "What do you need to know to do your job now and to move up?"

Compiling the information, SCANS has recommended major changes in the educational system. Conn used the example of applied math. Instead of memorization or paper problems, apply the problem to something concrete in the child's life.

Conn said that in a classroom that uses the SCANS method, there is more than one solution to the problem. The students assess themselves, and the students and teachers plan the classroom activities.

With the method proposed by SCANS, students should develop thinking skills such as problem solving, decision making, reasoning, responsibility and team work — all of which are mandatory for succeeding in the work place, said Conn.

Business Brief

Diamond winner announced

Jean Pisha of Dearborn Heights won a 1/2-carat diamond from an area jeweler in a drawing designed to raise money for a non-profit group.

The "Diamonds Are Forever" ticket raffle to benefit the Oakland Literacy Council was sponsored by the Oakland County Life Underwriters Association.

The grand prize, valued at $2,400, was donated by Waterfall Jewelers on Dixie Highway, Waterford Township.

The drawing raised more than $2,100 for the literacy council, which provides free one-on-one basic reading and tutoring to adults in Oakland County.

Ice fishing, cooking garner awards

Thirty-two contestants braved the cold weather and icy winds during the Third Annual Springfield Open Ice Fishing Derby Feb. 20 at the Mill Pond Park, Davisburg.

The contest began at 10 a.m. and ended at noon. Prizes were awarded for the largest fish and the most fish caught in each age category: 17 and under, 17 to 50, and 50 and over.

In the 17 and under category, Jeremy Attaman, 13, of Clarkston and Craig Moore, 15, of Davisburg each caught 7 1/2-inch bluegills, tying for first place. Jeremy Bassett, 14, of Davisburg captured a 7 1/4-inch bluegill and second place, while Dave Adams, 13, placed third with a 7-inch bluegill.

Attaman also caught the most fish, 14, in his age group. Adams took second place by catching seven fish, and Moore placed third with six fish.

In the 18- to 50-year-old category, Sandy Burger, 32, of White Lake won first place in the largest fish category with a 7 1/2-inch bluegill. Greg Smith, 29, of Clarkston placed second with a 7-inch bluegill, and Earl Colloto, 38, of Davisburg placed third with a 6 3/4-inch bluegill.

Smith caught the most fish in his category with nine; Colloto caught six; and Burger caught five.

James Howenstine of Clarkston placed first in both categories for the 50 and up section. He caught 11 fish, the largest being 7 1/4 inches long.

The fishermen had a lunch of chili, hot dogs, muffins and apple pies at the Hart Community Center, where a Chili Cook Off and a Best Apple Pie contest took place.

Becky Chobot of Davisburg was awarded first place in the apple pie baking contest. The other winners were: Shirley Drouillard, second; Kay Detloff, third; Lois Benfield, fourth; and Shirley Martin, fifth.

Cynthia Gorecki of Davisburg won first place in the chili cook-off. Lois Benfield of Davisburg placed second, and Nancy Stanley, also of Davisburg, placed third.

CRYSTAL HALL, 10, a fifth-grader at Pine Knob Elementary, raised $752 for the DARE bowl-a-thon Dec. 2, 1992. For her efforts she was awarded a $220 gift certificate to K-Mart, a DARE patch, towel and jacket. The daughter of Ronald and Robin Hall of Sashabaw Road worked hard to raise the money for what she sees as a worthwhile cause. "I think the DARE program is a good way to (get kids to) stay off of drugs," she said.

Friendly faces/ Inga Girschner

A friend to animals, children, seniors

When a reporter visited Inga Girschner recently to talk about her volunteer activities, Inga right away said, "I don't want any thanks or recognition."

But many think that this 70-year-old deserves all the recognition she gets and more.

Girschner, a Latvian native who had moved to Germany during World War II, came to the United States in 1952 with her mother.

While she was in Germany, she worked as a secretary and interpreter for an international refugee organization.

"I could speak Latvian, German, some Russian and English, so I was able to help the refugees," she said.

The spirit of helping crossed the ocean with Girschner. She met her husband Axel in Michigan, and they were married in 1959. They had two children, Sven-Eric,

"Whenever someone needs something, I want to help."

Inga Girschner

INGA Girschner, a senior citizen herself, spends much of her time helping other seniors. Her other favorite causes: children, animals and the environment.

28, and Inga-Marie, 26, and then moved to their Pine Knob Road home in 1968.

"After the kids left, I didn't feel I had enough to do," said Girschner.

She found the answer to her time problem in the paper when volunteer activities were listed. She volunteers time at Independence Oaks County Park, helping with children's programs and mailings. And every day she delivers meals to seniors who cannot get out or cook for themselves.

"I like to drive. As long as I have a car and can, I'll do it," she said.

She is also registered to volunteer at the Michigan Humane Society and is a member of the Independence Township Land Conservancy, the Clarkston Area Optimist Club and Clarkston Area Youth Assistance.

But she's uncomfortable with any attention on her good deeds.

"Whenever someone needs something, I want to help," she said. "I'm doing it only because I like to help. I don't like the publicity. There are many volunteers who do more than I do."

Gala raises $12,500

Hundreds of people helped a children's library and had fun to boot Feb. 27.

Cedar Crest Academy's Fifth Annual Gala Evening raised $12,500 for the expansion of library at the private school on Dixie Highway, Springfield Township.

Ticket sales and a silent auction raised the money during the event at the Deer Lake Racquet Club. Guests enjoyed hors d'oeuvres while placing silent auction bids on more than 120 items donated by Cedar Crest families and area businesses.

Of particular interest were 10 theme baskets donated to the auction by each of the classrooms at the school and the faculty, including a troll basket, dress-up trunk, sports basket, stuffed animal basket and an art supply basket.

Franchise owners win national award

The owners of a Clarkston-area franchise recently received a national service award from the company.

Ray and Lisa Smigelski, owners of a Kitchen Tune-Up franchise, received the Kitchen Service Award in recognition of excellence in service in the replacement of custom door and drawer fronts, more commonly known as refacing.

The Smigelskis opened for business in July 1991 and serve areas from Flint to Detroit.

They will have a Kitchen Tune-Up booth at the Pontiac Silverdome Home-builders' Show Feb. 26 through March 7 and at the Flint IMA Sports Arena Builders' Show March 18-20.

Scholarship honors Clarkston graduate

An Eastern Michigan University scholarship fund has been established in memory of former student-athlete Mary M. Smith of Clarkston, a 1990 graduate who died last September.

Smith, 27, was an "outstanding tennis athlete, with a very warm and giving personality, who truly loved the game of tennis," said EMU Tennis Coach Claudia Wasik, Smith's coach of five years. "She was willing, able and ready to help her fellow teammates."

The Mary M. Smith Memorial Scholarship Fund recently was created by Smith's friends and former teammates to provide an annual award to a deserving out-of-state student for the duration of her undergraduate tennis career at EMU.

An informal advisory committee has been established and is seeking donors to help achieve its $50,000 endowment goal to permanently fund the scholarship.

Cash contributions, pledges and planned giving opportunities are available options for donors.

SJHS hosts junior high band festival

The sweet sounds of music will be in the air this weekend, as Sashabaw Junior High School hosts a districtwide band festival.

The Maybee Road school serves as the site of the Michigan Schools Band and Orchestra Association's District 4 Festival March 12-13. Twenty-five junior high bands from Oakland and Livingston counties will attend the two-day competition.

The first day of the festival, March 12, runs 5:30-9:30 p.m. On March 13, the event is scheduled for 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Four bands will represent SJHS, and Clarkston Junior High School will send two to the event.

During this festival, each band will be rated with a score of 1 to 5, with 1 being the best. The bands will be judged on tone, intonation, rhythm, technique and interpretation. Each band will be judged on a prepared performance of three songs in the gym and a sight-reading piece, rendered by the judges' panel.

The bands receive the average score from these two performances. All bands recording a score of 1 overall qualify for the state festival in May.

The public is encouraged to attend this free festival, which features over 1,300 junior high musicians. A concession stand is provided by the Clarkston Band Boosters.

For more information, call SJHS music director Doug Doty at 674-4169.
