Pouring pennies

Students help Jeremy Leach

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

When Clarkston High School students found out a classmate needed help, they jumped in to help — even those who don't know him.

Sophomore Jeremy Leach, 15, of Springfield Township needs a bone marrow transplant for a chance to cure his leukemia. But testing for a suitable bone marrow match takes thousands of dollars. That's where Clarkston students are helping out.

For instance, the informal student fan club nicknamed "The Kingdom" for the cardboard Burger King-type hats they wear, raised $300 for Jeremy at the Clarkston-Pontiac Northern basketball game.

And on Monday, students who paid $1 could wear a hat in school, a practice that's usually not allowed, according to Clarkston's rules.

A popular event is the parking lot raffle, where students buy a chance to have a close parking space.

Then there was the dance following the Clarkston-Northern game, which raised $500. One student, senior Rob Woodworth, donated $100 that evening.

The biggest fund-raiser may turn out to be last week's penny drive. The three classes and the faculty competed, using huge bottled-water-type jugs to collect money for each "team." The hitch: Pennies counted as positive points (25 pennies means 25 points). But anything else counted as negative points (a quarter takes away 25 points from that jug).

School officials estimate that it will take another week to count all the money, but it was a fun way to raise funds.

"Whichever class wins, it's something to brag about,"

Home burns

Attempt to thaw water pipes results in mobile home fire

A blaze destroyed a mobile home in Springfield Township Sunday when a man attempted to thaw his water pipes with fire.

According to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, the blaze started around 1:45 p.m. March 14 in Oakhill Estates Mobile Home Park. According to reports, owner Peter Sepanek, 42, was attempting to thaw his frozen pipes with fire when it jumped out of control.

Unable to control the flames, he contacted the fire department, while the fire quickly consumed the trailer.

Springfield Fire Chief Marlan Hillman said it took nearly two hours to fully extinguish the blaze. Hillman said the $25,000 trailer was a complete loss, as well as $20,000 worth of contents.

Secretary of State branch to move to shopping center in June

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

It'll cost more, but the Secretary of State's new Clarkston branch office should better serve its territory.

In June, operations are to be moved from the current location on Dixie Highway near White Lake Road to a building under construction in the New York Carpet World shopping center on at 5799 1/2 Orionville Road (M 15 at Dixie), according to spokesperson Elizabeth Boyd.

The new five-year lease costs $11 per square foot, while the current lease costs $9.84 per square foot.

Secretary of State officials decided to move because the Clarkston branch needed more space and better parking and needed to comply with the American for Disabilities Act, which requires access for handicapped people, said Boyd. In addition, the current lease had expired.

The current 1,600-square-foot office handles 400-600 transactions per day. The new 2,430-square-foot office offers better parking.

Boyd said current hours would remain the same: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday and 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Wednesday. The number of employees working in the office also is to remain the same.

The Secretary of State handles automobile registration, driver's licenses, voter registration and more.

Adult foster home PUD earns planners' approval

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

An adult foster care home slated for Eston Road has cleared another hurdle in its bid to settle in Independence Township.

This planned unit development (PUD) proposal was unanimously recommended by the Independence Township Planning Commission March 11. "Adultcare of Independence Township" would occupy the existing residence at 8541 Eston Road, near Clarkston Road. With

"I know people have the right to start these homes, but I don't want it in my neighborhood."

Patty Helpen

access to Walters Lake, the home is on two acres presently zoned single-family residential.

With the planning commission's recommendation, the matter moves to the township board, which has final say in all rezoning matters.

A PUD is a rezoning tied to a specific site plan and requires approval from the planning commission and township board.

The foster care home, slated for the former Sunny Beach Club House, would facilitate 20 senior citizens and up to five caregivers at a time. The home would start with 10 parking spots in the front of the building and be enhanced by added landscaping.

The home would be open 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and seniors would be prohibited from using the property's beach front area. According to Planner Richard Carlisle, the facility would benefit its resident users and the community by providing safe, low-density housing for the elderly. He said the 1990 Census reports that seven percent of the township's population is over 65 years of age.

Present facilities in the area exist for only 50-60 of these people, said attorney Richard Campbell, who's representing petitioner Janet Rikner.

Despite the planners' recommendation, four nearby residents voiced disapproval with the adult home.

Patty Helpen of Lakeview Drive opposed the plan for many reasons, including increased traffic volume from visitors to the foster home.

"I know people have the right to start these homes, but I don't want it in my neighborhood," Helpen told the planning commission members.

John Lutz, a resident of Lakeview Drive and township treasurer, was also against the plan because it takes away from the area's residential flavor.

"This is a residential area first and foremost," Lutz said. "The definition of residential is being twisted around to include words like institutional."

"If this foster home fails, this building will never be able to be a residence again," he added.

Lutz also brought up a court order rendered to this property about 25 years ago, prohibiting large numbers of people from inhabiting the site. According to Campbell, this injunction was originally filed by neighbors in order to stop what was described as "motorcycle gangs" from having big parties in the boat house. Campbell said this injunction shouldn't be enforced against the foster home because it's a socially accepted use.

If approved by the township board, the foster home would have to come before the planning commission in 12 months for a review session.

Woman convicted of negligent homicide

Angie Cox, a 25-year-old Grand Blanc woman, was convicted of negligent homicide March 8.

Cox struck and killed Scott McRae, a 21-year-old Holly resident, Nov. 16, 1991, as he was walking along Dixie Highway, Springfield Township.

At the time of the accident, Cox testified that she thought she had hit a deer. The deputy who responded to the scene assumed the same thing and did not request Cox to complete a breathalyzer test.

McRae's body was found the next day near the place Cox had pulled off the road after the accident.

Cox is to be sentenced April 19 by Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Fred Mester. She faces up to two years in prison.

Man, 22, sentenced to four months in jail

A 22-year-old Springfield Township man was sentenced to four months in jail last week for carrying concealed weapons.

Kevin William James pleaded guilty March 9 before Judge Robert Templin in Oakland County Circuit Court. He was charged with three counts of carrying a concealed weapon Feb. 2.

James was sentenced the same day and received 13 days credit for time already served in Oakland County Jail. He was given work release, if he qualifies.

James was arrested Jan. 3 at the Oakhill Road, Springfield Township, home of an acquaintance.

According to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, the acquaintance's father called police after James allegedly phoned the 17-year-old girl. The call was intercepted by her parents.

While the police were taking the police report at the Oakhill residence, James arrived. The officer on the scene reported that James seemed self-destructive and took him away from the house.

The officer found two horn-handled knives in hip sheaths, two stainless-steel daggers with four-inch blades in James' boots, and a 4 1/2-inch brass-handled copy of a Sykes-Fairbairn Commando dagger in his jacket.

According to the report, James told the police he had planned to kill himself in front of the girl to make her feel guilty.

Diamond larceny case awaiting court date

An area couple are still waiting to find out their fate in the Oakland County Court system.

George and Peggy Lazaris of Pine Knob Road, Independence Township, own Century Jewelers at South Boulevard and Opdyke Road, Pontiac.

The pair were charged with larceny by conversion, a felony punishable by up to five years in prison. Their cases are to appear before Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Steven Andrews sometime after April 19. No specific date has been set.

According to Genevieve Mazur, assistant Oakland County prosecutor, a 50-year-old West Bloomfield Township woman dropped off a pair of earrings on July 23, 1992, to be cleaned and appraised and has not seen them since.

The 1.7-carat diamond earrings were bought from another jeweler in 1988 for $2,850.

According to the woman's testimony before 48th District Judge Thomas Brookover, after she dropped the earrings off, she contacted the Lazarises 15 times over the next two weeks but kept getting the runaround.

She said she was given the wrong earrings twice, and she finally resorted to calling the Bloomfield Township police.

VOLUNTEERS Robin Anderson (left) and Brooke McCall sell candy at a Clarkston Junior High charity basketball game for Jeremy Leach, a 15-year-old student with leukemia. The March 3 fundraiser garnered $376 for bone marrow testing.

THE faculty and coaches of Clarkston Junior High played the students in a charity basketball game March 3. The game helped raise $376 for Jeremy Leach, a 15-year-old student stricken with leukemia. The students nipped their mentors 87-81.

said sophomore Mark Ryan.

The jugs contained a few $20 bills, plus an anonymous $300 donation — and another contribution from Rob Woodworth. He brought in a can of coins he had been saving since eighth grade. Of course, the pennies went to the seniors' jugs; the rest of the coins were divided between the sophomore and junior jugs.

Monday also was yellow-ribbon day for Jeremy — because the students also wanted to give their classmate emotional support. They each wore the ribbons in support of Jeremy and were video-taped that day during lunch. They could talk to Jeremy and wish him well and hold up signs.

Future fund-raising activities include more raffles, a walleyball game, car wash and more.

Woodworth, 17, plans to help in those events, though he doesn't really know Jeremy.

"I've seen him in school a couple of times," said Woodworth.

But Woodworth is motivated by more than friendship. He knows what Jeremy's family is going through. His 10-year-old brother Tim also needed a bone marrow transplant, and Woodworth was the donor. However, Tim didn't survive.

So when Jim Butzine, for whom Woodworth is an aide, told him Jeremy's family needed to raise $50,000 to $100,000, Woodworth knew he had to help, he said.

He's not alone. His friend E.J. Stumph also is helping, as are hundreds of other CHS students.

They simply have to try, said Woodworth.

For more information on helping Jeremy, call Brooke McCall at 693-1462. Or donate by mailing a tax-deductible contribution to: My Friends Care Bone Marrow Transplant Fund, Inc., C/O Jeremy Leach, PO Box 48347-0541, Clarkston, MI 48347.

Road chloriding OK'd in Springfield

With spring around the corner people who live on gravel roads begin to worry about chloride.

The Springfield Township Board is prepared. It voted 6-0 March 11 to award a road chloriding contract to Road Maintenance Corp., Leonard. Trustee Elaine Field-Smith was absent.

The corporation chlorides Oakland and Addison townships and part of Orion Township. It also applies chloride to Pine Knob and Waterford roads in Independence Township.

According to Supervisor Collin Walls, all references highly recommended the company, and even a competitor highly recommended them.

The board's action calls for additional applications on the first two runs of the season for selected heavy travel areas. The cost for the extra application will be considered at the April board meeting.

The total cost, as it stands, would be $59,885 for chloride applications for all 57 miles of dirt roads in the township. In 1992 only 38.3 miles of road were chlorided at a cost of $56,893 for the township, with residents paying about $25,000 more.

Library staff considers numerous changes in future

Branch must deal with new catalog system, unpopular hours and WOLF

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Despite budgetary cuts, Independence Township Library employees are still looking forward to some innovative changes in the near future.

One of these changes is the addition of a $100,000 automated library system, with 17 terminals. These terminals would allow patrons to locate reference material by "key word searching," without having to know the names of books or authors.

All a person has to do is type in the name of the subject, and the computer scans library files for all titles and related subject matter.

Director Mollie Lynch said the system is long overdue.

"Besides Royal Oak's Library, we're the only one that I know that still uses a manual card catalog," Lynch said. "This new system would bring us up to speed with other libraries in the area."

She said the automated library system would increase productivity, without the need for additional staff.

"This will help us with staffing because it'll allow us to have self-checkout, and the response time for circulation will be faster than what we have now," Lynch said. "It will enable us to spread out our personnel."

Lynch said the library will seek grants from private foundations to help fund the system. Presently, the library has only enough money to cover one-fourth of the system's cost.

Lynch aspires to have the money to buy the system by the summer, so residents can see the units by fall.

Last fall, the library lost one full-time employee, cut all its part-time help, and reduced its hours. The library is presently working on a budget of about $456,500, down $100,700 from last year.

No money is being allocated to the library from the township's general fund this year because of budget restrictions. So, the facility must rely on funding from the millage, state aide and fines to finance its operations.

Lynch said the reduction in hours have ushered in numerous comments from the public.

"We're hearing a fair number of complaints from the public concerning the hours," she said. "And clearly, they're not the most convenient hours. If we could, I'd prefer to have our old hours back."

The new hours include: 1-9 p.m. Monday and Tuesday; 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday; 1-6 p.m. Friday; 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday; and closed Sunday.

Lynch said budget cuts and increased usage were the catalysts behind the severing of hours.

"We had to cut back because of budget constraints and that fact that our use has gone up by 50 percent," she said. "With use on the rise, there was no way our staff could handle this influx of people, so we had to reduce our hours."

Lynch doesn't foresee any new hours added in 1993. Looking ahead, Lynch said the library also intends to leave the Wayne-Oakland Library Federation (WOLF), after many years of membership.

"We will leave WOLF, assuming that Metro Net gets going," Lynch said.

So far, Metro Net has gained the support of seven southeastern libraries that plan to break away from WOLF. This alliance stems from a dissatisfaction over the archaic practices of WOLF, which can't accommodate the needs of all its members, she said.

WOLF's services include book ordering, loans, processing, cataloging, and consultation.

"They're definitely an outdated system," she said of the 60-member organization. "I'd say WOLF is about 10 years behind the times."

Lynch said Metro Net's perks include a more progressive philosophy, regarding data base systems and the sharing of state aid money. Even as an associate member, like Clarkston, Lynch said WOLF takes a large chunk of its members' state aid money for its operations. She said Metro Net's membership fee would be lower than WOLF's, with the money going toward new, innovative ways to improve the libraries' data base network.

Lynch said the savings from the membership fees could help pay for the same services offered by WOLF, except through alternative organizations.

Metro Net isn't a sure thing, however. It must be approved by the state Legislative Council before it becomes a legal entity.

Bordine's denied 'specialty farm'

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

An application to declare Bordine's a "specialty farm" was denied by the Springfield Township Board March 11.

In a letter to the board, Bordine's accountant Leonard Gayeski stated that Bordine's Better Blooms on Dixie Highway meets the criteria designated by the U.S. Department of Agriculture for specialty farms.

Specifically, it defines farms as "those enterprises of 15 or more acres in size which meet the income requirements ... and produce agricultural, horticultural or floricultural commodities."

About 36 of Bordine's acres are planted or used in growing plants, trees and shrubs.

Supervisor Collin Walls made the motion to deny the application. He said the application information was no longer current, and he believed that part of the 36 acres did not qualify because it was commercial.

The board voted 6-0 to deny the request, saying it will consider a revised application for fewer acres. Trustee Elaine Field-Smith was absent.

After the meeting, Gayeski said Bordine's wanted the designation because, under Michigan's Farmland Preservation Act (1974), the company could qualify for refunds in its single-business tax.

Gayeski said a complicated formula involving the company's gross income, property taxes and number of acres would determine the amount of a refund.

In return, the company must promise to farm the land for 10 years minimum. If the company stops farming after 10 years, it must repay the refund for seven of 10 years.

Special programs

Over the next two months, the Independence Township Library offers two educational programs for adults. These programs run 7:30-9 p.m. in the library on Clarkston Road. They include:

■ April 6 — Pre-Retirement Seminar — A representative from the Social Security Administration explains the benefits available to you when you retire and the procedures to follow to make sure you get your full benefits.

■ April 20 — Discipline: Techniques that work — Dr. James Windell, psychologist and author of "Discipline: A Sourcebook of 50 Failsafe Techniques for Parents," discusses discipline methods that can be used with children from toddlers to teens and are designed to resolve problems as well as prevent them from occurring in the future.

Arsonist still on probation

It has been almost one year since the Missionary Baptist Church on Sashabaw Road was set on fire by a member.

Vincent Smith, 23, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to three years probation in August 1993 by Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Robert Anderson in connection to the May 28 fire.

When the Independence Township firefighters arrived on the scene, they found Smith, apparently overcome with smoke, lying outside the church office.

Five small gasoline fires had been set throughout the church — in the pews, the office, the utility room, the bathroom and on a raised stage.

David Row, arson investigator for the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, earlier declined to comment on the motive in this case. Instead, he gave seven major motives in arson: fraud, crime concealment, pyromania, vanity or recognition, revenge, civil disorder and vandalism.

To report any information about arson, call the police at 858-TIPS. Or call 1-800-44-ARSON to report information. Up to a $5,000 reward can be given by the Michigan Arson Control Committee for information about arson.

Long-lasting stories

Julie Campe

In any workplace, people come and go. But if the office is anything like The Clarkston News, their stories will remain.

For instance, at The Clarkston News, there was Pat Young, a reporter who moved to a desolate part of New Mexico with her husband. They have built their own log house, with their own sawmill. And she is a grandmother. We remember Pat for her energy, her humor and her ability to eat anything and not gain weight. And, of course, we remember her gutsiness at living out her dream by making that move a few years ago.

Then there was Gloria Johnson, an advertising salesperson, whose son Gary wrestled at Clarkston High. We remember her because she was so in love with her husband — even in her 40s. It's not as if the others in the office didn't love their husbands, but Gloria — she was something else. Maybe it's her passion in general that makes her stand out. She also loved sailing with her husband and would save her vacation days so that during the summer she could take every Friday off for a long weekend of sailing. Eventually, she and her husband moved to Lake Huron where they could sail anytime they wanted. But we recently heard that they had sold everything and moved out west. Another Pat Young phenomena?

Donna Fahrner is another story. She worked the longest at The Clarkston News and was likely the first contact the public had with the office. We remember her because she was an inexhaustible resource on Clarkston. If we didn't know who to call for a story, for instance, Donna knew. She also knew who was related to whom and who was sick and who was married and anything else about Clarkston. She has since retired but occasionally still gives us story ideas.

Former editor Kathy Greenfield, who left for The Flint Journal a few years ago, is remembered for her quiet but on-target humor and her crystal clear thinking. Her ethics are unmatched, as is her steady impact on the reporters she trained. Those who worked for her agree time and again: "She's the best boss I ever had."

Others are remembered for their flamboyance, their resilience, their story-telling, their lovableness, their cooking and, yes, their work attributes.

But when James Gibowski leaves next week, I'm not sure what we'll remember him for.

Maybe it'll be his precision. (He deliberates carefully before estimating whether it's an 83 percent or 85 percent chance that a certain movie will be nominated for an Academy Award, for instance.)

Or perhaps it'll be his humor (sarcasm at its best). His one-liners, many of which shouldn't be repeated, are unforgettable.

I think, though, that he'll best be remembered by the friendships he managed to form with the many people at The Clarkston News and in the community. His friendship is different from most work relationships. He doesn't take words, gestures and friendships lightly. If he says something, he means it.

He shows his consideration in small ways, such as taping an Armand Asante movie for Grace, for saving photos and articles about Seattle for Linda, for remembering stats about Notre Dame for Stu, for taking people seriously enough to debate with them and to listen to them.

Then again, maybe we'll just remember Jim for his wall of photos — athletes, cartoons, movie stars.

But one thing is certain. Wherever Jim goes, his stories will remain.

Real school agenda hidden

The recent raises granted by the Clarkston Board of Education to various school administrators reminds me of the new campaign strategy introduced in the presidential election — namely, tell everyone what they want to hear to get yourself elected, but keep your real agenda hidden.

While the strategy is not completely new, its undeniable success will not be lost on others. The obvious question concerns who or what to believe, and that applies locally or nationally. Small wonder voters have so little faith in their "public servants."

Loitering fines a better idea

Upon reading the article concerning the need for a new loitering ordinance which appeared in your March 10 edition, I was amazed and very angered by the mayor's and city council's solution to the problem — namely, get rid of the three pay phones on the corner of Main and Washington streets.

Did it ever occur to any of these individuals that perhaps they just might take a look at why these young teens are hanging out downtown at 9:30 p.m. and later and question the responsibility and awareness of the parents of these youths?

The article did not mention the night of the week that

Mr. Smalley was referring to, but it clearly indicated that these youngsters frequent this area on a regular basis.

I should think that a parent of a young teen-ager would want to know where their son or daughter is at that time of night; and if they are not concerned with the whereabouts of their offspring, perhaps a little shock value could be used in the form of a hefty loitering fine they would have to pay.

I suspect that the city officials are of the new-wave thinking, which takes the posture that one mustn't do anything to youths in our society that might damage their self-esteem. Instead, avoid any confrontation at the cost of Mr. Smalley's safety and sanity. Good thinking!

Trusting God

With all the bad news we're faced with each day, I want to tell you some good news.

Members of the churches of Christ across the country are joining together in a special effort to pray for the leaders of our great nation.

We're calling the campaign "In God We Trust," and we're asking people in our community to join members of churches of Christ in prayer for those men and women who will be leading our country.

Just imagine the country we could have if all our leaders made Godly decisions. I hope everyone will get involved in praying for our national leaders, for those in city and county government, our school administrators, and for those moms and dads who lead our families.

We can improve the news we see in our newspaper if we'll place God first in our lives. Please join churches of Christ in prayer to help bring American back to God.

Jim's Jottings

Shoeing up for distance

I think of golf most when I can't play it.

Between being somewhat tentative about my back and the weather, golf is on my mind a lot these days.

Thus I take to reading Golf World magazine more carefully . . . like even reading the advertising for shoes, of which I have three pairs.

Now I have four.

Before I get into the sales pitches on shoes, I remind you of previous Jottings coverage of the straighter, farther, harder, softer, deeper dimpled golf balls.

Remember there are the Lithium Surlyn and Zylin covers, those with proven aerodynamics, Titleist HVC's patented cuboctahedron dimple pattern with eleven different dimple sizes and the 420-Interlok ball that "literally drills through all encountered air-resistance."

There's more, but I want to switch to shoes. Golf shoes, the ads say, may be even more important to hitting a golf ball farther/straighter than balls, clubs, carts or bags.

Etonic says golfers are "looking for the widest, flattest area so that their feet can grip as much of the ground as possible. The better the grip the more traction they have. And that leads to a more powerful swing."

Etonic has built a "wider power platform." And the spikes "grip the ground and hold on tight."

Got the picture? These pieces of steel apparently have little fingers that, once you take your stance, grab hold of the sod.

Etonic accomplished this through their "Ground Control research, it's next generation of Stabilizer Technology."

Not to be outdone, Foot-joy has spikes "stronger than steel." It's "Metalite Composite spike from Trisport consists of abrasion-proof titanium tungsten carbide post," etc.

But, forget the spikes, if you can. Foot-joy's DryJoys are breathable, stretchable and waterproof membraned.

For you non-golfers, who drive by golf courses and see us swinging sticks, cursing and thoroughly enjoying ourselves while it's raining . . . we're supposed to play in the rain.

Golf shoe builders, clothing and umbrella makers and those who make golf club grips have equipped us with all the necessary stuff to make playing golf sans sunshine enjoyable.

Most shoe people brag about their shoes being more water resistant than the other guys.

Reebok, who made "THE PUMP" a must for every civilized person in the world and some who are uncivilized, has put THE PUMP in their Greg Norman Attack 2000.

It will not only allow wearers to "create a custom fit each and every time you lace up your spikes," but if you pump it hard and long enough it might even squeeze out the water you get in your shoes while enjoying a round of golf in a cloud burst.

C'mon, doc! C'mon weatherman! Give me the OK to go out and sing and swing in the rain.

Jim has left the building

This week marks a sad time at The Clarkston News as we bid a fond farewell to sports writer Jim Gibowski.

Jim has taken a job in Seattle, a city he always spoke of fondly and vowed to return to one day. He'll be covering sports for a small suburban weekly, The Issaquah Press, which is similar to The Clarkston News.

In the past, I often kidded him that he had a moral obligation to stay in Oakland County because he was of a rare breed — a Democrat. Now that he's moving back to the Left Coast, er, West Coast, he'll be just another face in the liberal crowd.

But joking aside, I'll miss Jim. He was always one for a good debate, even though they sometimes took hours to finish. He's also a man of principle, who took the time to research his stories and ask the probing questions.

And I know Clarkston is going to miss Jim, especially the area's athletes and coaches. In his three years with The News, he took the sports section to unparalleled heights, earning numerous state and national awards for his coverage.

From little league to varsity competition, Jim was always on top of Clarkston's sports scene. Unfortunately, his thoroughness has put The News in a tough situation. You see, with Jim as our writer, readers have come to expect a high degree of coverage from our sports section.

We must warn you, however, this level of coverage may be difficult to match.

Until we find a replacement, I'll be taking over a good portion of the sports writing. Now, I have experience, serving as the sports coordinator at my previous newspaper job.

But, with beats like Clarkston Community Schools and Independence Township occupying a large portion of my attention, sports coverage will probably fall off a bit.

And it's not for certain that Jim's position will ever be fully filled, so stay tuned.

Getting back to Jim ... Besides being a terrific writer, I'll always remember him as a good friend. He's the type of guy who'd bend over backward for a friend, which is a rare trait in this day and age.

So thanks for everything Jim. I hope you and your cat, Tillie, have a good life in Washington. I promise to think of you everytime I see Cindy Crawford on TV or hear Barney the Dinosaur's theme song.

Ridicule, like sports, is forever.

Letter policy

Letters to the editor must arrive at The Clarkston News office by noon Monday to be considered for publication in Wednesday's paper. We reserve the right to edit all letters for brevity and clarity and to limit the number of letters from any one individual or on any one topic. Letters are limited to 315 words. We discourage copies of letters sent elsewhere and require that all letters be signed and include an address and phone number. We may withhold names on request but will not publish unsigned letters. Address all letters to: Letters To The Editor, The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main St., Clarkston, MI 48346.

Pleats are so easy

Jim Fitzgerald

Sometimes something is missing for so long that you forget it was ever there. But then it returns and you remember it fondly, and you're glad it's back. That's how I feel about pleated pants.

Last week, for the first time in God knows how long, I got a new suit. I put on the pants and looked in the mirror, and it was a few seconds before I realized why my new pants looked different from the pants I've been wearing for so many years that only God can count them.

Then I put my hands in my pockets and was startled to find enough room to make fists. I pushed my fists outward and noticed the fabric billow below my belt. Pleats!

The next day I remarked to a friend how nice it was that pleats are returning to pants. He looked at me askance. About my pants. I like the sound of that. I should have asked him to dance.

My friend explained his askance: "It must have been 10 years since you bought a suit."

"How do you know? Did God tell you?" I asked, ever alert for a holy squealer.

My friend said pleats have been back for a long time. I said it was news to me because I don't do lunch. I've always believed the only sensible reason to buy new clothes is because your old clothes no longer fit you. I've kept from gaining weight for God knows how many years by never eating lunch. So my pants never become tight. They never become loose because I don't attend diet meetings or exercise classes.

Life is simple, and dressing is cheap, once you realize the most super lunch is superfluous. And Vic Tanny and Florine Mark are out of their minds.

The only reason I finally got a new suit is my wife said she was so sick of my old suits she would buy me a new one with her Social Security check. If I'd known it would come with these marvelous pleats, I would have married an older woman who'd have become eligible for Social Security sooner.

My new pants have four definite folds across the top. Two of the folds evolve into conventional creases that descend to my shoes. The other two folds serve no purpose other than to create pleats. They are purely decorative, even frivolous, if you wish. Only God knows for sure, but I think the last time I wore frivolous pleats was before World War II.

Unlike lunch and push-ups, a little frivolity is necessary. It pains me to realize my thirtysomething son grew up without knowing the frivolity - not to mention comfort - of pleats in his pants. He knew nothing except pants that stretched tightly and blahly across his abdomen without the slightest ripple of fabric. He thought creases always stopped ascending at the crotch.

He never knew the pleasure of putting his hands in his pockets and jingling coins. He never carried a dime that didn't leave a lasting impression of President Franklin D. Roosevelt in his thigh. He never sat down without feeling scrunchy pain.

It is dumb enough for skinny boys to wear tight pants. But old men with big stomachs also wear them, which is really stupid. Fat women hide under full skirts, but too many fat men wear pants the way apples wear skins.

If cleanliness is next to godliness, comfort is certainly next to sanity.

It is insane for anyone to wear too-tight pants on purpose. The return of pleated pants to the United States signals the rest of the world that this nation is regaining its sanity.

I wore my new pants to work. I jingled the coins and keys in my pockets, and I luxuriated in the soft parting of pleats. I remembered actors George Raft and Fred Astaire, who always wore pleats. It was marvelous nostalgia.

In a hallway, I joined steps with a woman I know. She was tottering terribly on spiked heels. I asked her if she knew comfort was next to sanity.

She asked me if I knew my pants were baggy. Besides me, only God knows I shook my fist at her without taking it out of my pocket.

Sad letter policy

Anyone can write a letter to The Clarkston News and request their name be withheld.

As a long-time subscriber to The Clarkston News, I have watched its policy regarding letters to the editor evolve from a real policy — "We will not publish unsigned letters" — to a real non-policy — "We will publish any unsigned letter depending on how we feel about the writer and the topic."

Readers should direct their criticism at The Clarkston News for granting the request and publishing the letter.

It's sad when people want to attack others anonymously. It's sadder still when the newspaper lets them.
Carol D. Balzarini

Editor's note: Since Jim Sherman bought The Clarkston News in 1966, the letter policy has remained the same: We will not publish unsigned letters; however, we may withhold names from publication on request.

Upset by teen loitering story

I am writing in concern to the story printed on March 10 dealing with the subject of teens loitering on the corner of Washington and Main streets because we "don't have enough to do with our time."

As an eighth-grader at Clarkston Junior High, I take offense at this comment. Teens are up town often because the local businesses don't welcome teens in their stores, thinking we are going to steal or vandalize their property.

I think the whole town should come together in an attempt to find something for teens to do without getting in trouble.

I am also upset that the village marshal, Charles Smalley, thinks that local teens seen frequently around town might be a new edition of "The Family." Just because one group of teens from Clarkston got in with the wrong crowd doesn't mean that all teens will be involved in this type of activity nor that at the age of 17 all teens will do something to cause them to be arrested, as implied by Mr. Smalley, that at age 17, "you can book them."

I hope you take these issues into consideration and possibly write stories on possible solutions in the future.

He Never Turns Away

They come to him for help when they need it the most. Some numbed by their loss, some shattered, they say: "This is someone we loved. We entrust him to you."

And even when he's faced with the crumpled innocence of the youngest asking, "Why?"—and he has to find childlike words to answer a question that even theologians struggle with—he never turns away.

He gives them the consolation of tradition.

He shows them how to accept their tragedy with dignity.

He helps them cope with their grief.

He guides them back to the active world of the living.

He is a funeral director. He practices the most emotionally demanding and least understood of all the professions.

He faces up to traumas every day that most people only have to deal with once or twice in a lifetime.

He would never turn away.

He has earned the deepest thanks from anyone who has ever leaned on his compassion for support. Who turned to him and found that he would never turn away.

Industrial office park receives first OK

Two parcels along the Sashabaw Road corridor have been recommended for rezoning by the Independence Township Planning Commission.

The commission unanimously approved the rezoning from single-family residential (R1A) to industrial office park (IOP) March 11. The matter will now be forwarded to the township board, which has final say in all rezoning matters.

The two parcels, totaling 8.3 acres, are at the southeast corner of Sashabaw Road and Bow Pointe Drive.

Under IOP guidelines, these parcels can be used for light industrial and light manufacturing of semi-completed products.

This land is part of a package initiated by the township to establish the appropriate zoning for the Sashabaw Commerce Park. The park concept was established by the planning commission about 12 years ago, after the Sashabaw Corridor study was adopted.

Township officials aspire to establish a quality industrial office park near the intersection of Waldon and Sashabaw roads, which would benefit from the access to I-75.

Over the past two years, the township has been working with property owners to extend utilities to the area and convert Bow Pointe Drive from a private road to a public one.

According to township planner Richard Carlisle, this innovative park plan would prevent the spread of strip commercialization south of the Waldon and Sashabaw intersection.

Bond issue update

District and staff administrators are hard at work implementing the many parts of our successful bond issue. Here's an update on what's going on within each category:

Repair and renovations

All school buildings are slated for repairs and renovations in critical areas. The projects are coordinated with ongoing repairs funded by the district's general fund. Greiner Associates, the district architects, have devoted over 40 people to this huge list of projects, so they can be completed as efficiently as possible.

■ Every renovation is being reviewed by staff, so it is relevant to teaching and learning. This examination extends to type of sinks and cabinetry, location, ease of use, and so on.

■ The assistant superintendent of business and operations and the supervisor of buildings and grounds have examined every building's physical plant to determine the impact of renovations on that building's systems.

■ It should be noted that bond issue repair dollars are additional money for our buildings, and general fund expenditures will continue as normally scheduled to keep our buildings in the best shape possible.

High school renovations

■ Preliminary meetings with the state fire marshal have signaled the go-ahead for a new media center, counseling complex and newly renovated instructional areas in science and computers. When completed, the high school renovation will provide 10 additional classrooms, six for regular instruction and four for special education (the autistic program will be expanded to the high school).

■ Each renovation plan is being examined by staff who will be using it, so teaching and learning needs will be a priority in every area. Renovations begin as soon as school is out in June, and some demolishing work may start earlier if it does not disrupt classroom work.

Technology

■ The technology committee is meeting with technical consultants to study each school building and draw up a specific plan for the technology in that building. This includes consideration of equipment, wiring and available space. Once plans are finalized, they will be coordinated with Greiner Associates and put into action.

■ Next year, every school in the district will be able to enjoy a new technology access center in its media center. Where space permits, computer labs will be wired and furnished with new equipment for fall 1993. Some elementary schools will have to wait until 1994 for finished computer labs because lab space is not available now. (Shifting students to the new elementary school should provide lab space by fall 1994.)

New elementary school

■ A 20-member committee of teachers, administrators and school board members meets regularly with representatives of Greiner Associates. The group has been reviewing potential designs for the new school and identifying teaching and learning needs to be incorporated into the new building.

■ As a whole, the committee is taking great care to state how the building will be used for Clarkston's educational purposes. Once this is done, preliminary sketches will be worked up and further refinements considered.

Target date for opening the new schools is fall 1994.

■ The site has been visited by the committee, as well as landscape architects, and specialists in sewer and water management. Now in process is the work of technical specialists who are studying the site for DNR impact, drainage, soil borings and so on. Because of the size of the building, it will be provided with its own sewage processing system.

Naturally, elementary redistricting will be necessary when the school opens. A computer program at Oakland Intermediate School District will expedite this process, and we are now supplying data to the program. Final decisions on redistricting will be made as the new school nears completion.

Financing

■ District financial advisors are coordinating activities leading up to the sale of bonds. Excellent ratings from Standard and Poors (AA) and Moody's have been obtained through the efforts of our consultant and staff. Bonds will be marketed beginning March 15 with Kemper Securities as the lead underwriter. Later in March they will be sold on the open market, including an opportunity for local investors. Watch for specific announcements in our local papers if you are interested.

We will continue to keep you informed on the progress of our bond construction and renovation as work progresses.

Gary Haner is superintendent of Clarkston Community Schools.

Walled Lake spikers sideline Wolves at regional

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Errors never help, but errors at the wrong time especially hurt.

Clarkston's varsity volleyball team dominated the offensive statistics, but Walled Lake Central took advantage of some key Wolf errors in the Vikings' 15-8, 15-12 victory in the semifinal of the Class A regional March 13 at West Bloomfield.

"It's not always how well you played; it's when the errors occurred," said Clarkston coach Gordie Richardson. "We made a lot of blocking errors and had poor serves at poor times. We were pumped up, trying too hard to block the balls."

The Wolves had an outstanding .422 attack percentage and a 91 percent serve percentage but they made nine blocking errors in the first game and finished the day with only one service ace.

The loss ended a successful Clarkston season. The Wolves finished 25-12-2,

MOMENTS after Clarkston lost the regional semifinal match to Walled Lake Central, coach Gordie Richardson offers some words of encouragement to his players. (Photos by Curt McAllister) won their first district championship since 1987 and captured the Greater Oakland Activities League title.

Walled Lake advanced to the regional final but Birmingham Marian topped the Vikings 15-7, 15-7 (Marian pounded Grand Blanc 15-3, 15-8 in the semifinals).

The Wolves and Vikings were tied 6-6 in the first game but Clarkston failed to go ahead after making two service errors. This helped Walled Lake take a 12-6 and eventual 15-8 first game.

The Vikings led 8-6 and then 14-8 in the second game. Clarkston cut that deficit to 14-12 but another service error prevented the Wolves from getting closer. Walled Lake then clinched the match with a 15-12 win.

Richardson said it wasn't the Clarkston errors that entirely decided the match. "Walled Lake is a good defensive team. They passed the ball a little better than us," said the coach.

Heather Steinhelper finished her Clarkston career with a strong performance.

"She played outstanding, pretty close to flawless," said Richardson.

The all-state candidate, who will be playing at Ferris State University next season, finished with 25-of-26 attacks for 17 kills (including 11 kill tips). She served 11-of-11, set 9-of-9 and had four blocks.

However, Richardson noted when Steinhelper is in on such a high percentage of attacks (26 of the team's 46), the Wolves usually lose. In other words, Clarkston needed more firing power from others, a more-balanced attack.

Rachel Seifferlein finished with 6-of-6 attacks and four kills and Christa Herron was 3-of-4 with two kills.

Michelle Wade served 6-of-6 and Seifferlein was 5-of-5.

Heather Austin set 25-of-26 and totaled eight assists.

Defensively, Jenna Lopucki had nine digs and returned 7-of-8 serves. Lisa Goforth had five digs and returned 10-of-10 serves.

Rooney will suit up for Dayton

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Scott Rooney will compete in indoor soccer this weekend in Atlanta, Ga.

Next fall, the Class A first team all-stater will continue his kicks outdoors at the University of Dayton in Dayton, Ohio.

Rooney, a quick 5-9 Clarkston High School senior, has received a four-year scholarship at Dayton, the first-ever Clarkston soccer player to receive a full-ride.

"They have a strong defense but no scorers. I'll probably start as a freshman," said Rooney, who will compete with his club team (the Vardar Team) at the Indoor National Championship in Atlanta this weekend.

Rooney, a three-year letterman at Clarkston who led his team in goals all three of those seasons, helped the Wolves capture Class A district championships the past two years.

In addition to earning all-state honors, Rooney was selected in the fall as first team All-Midwest and on the Detroit News Dream Team. He also was his team's most valuable player his junior year and co-MVP his senior season.

Rooney knows that the college defensemen will be bigger and quicker than high school opponents.

"I think I will need to work on my one-on-one skills," he said.

Rooney's high school coach the past two years, Dan Fitzgerald, thinks Rooney is already a good one-on-one player.

"He's very good taking a guy one-on-one. He's fast, plays smart and is a hard worker," said Fitzgerald.

Actually, one-on-one will be somewhat of a change for Rooney, who was often doubled- and even tripled-teamed while playing for the Wolves.

Several colleges were interested in the fleet-footed Rooney. He once considered Bowling Green University in Ohio but then narrowed his choices to Michigan State University and Dayton.

Rooney has a 3.1 G.P.A. and plans on majoring in business. He already knows at least one other person on the Dayton campus. His brother, Mick, is a sophomore there.

No doubt, Mick will get a kick watching his younger brother in action.

JERRY Anderson eventually spun out of the grasp of Holly's Dan Winohradsky for a key 2-point reversal in the 135-pound final.

JASON Roughton, right, finished third in the state after defeating Grandville's Dave Engvall in a 3-0 decision.

Anderson 1st, Roughton 3rd at finals

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston wrestlers have been calling a quick reversal move "The Anderson."

Now they will call Jerry Anderson a state champion.

Anderson, a 135-pound senior, topped Holly's Dan Winohradsky 4-2 in the Class A individual state finals on Saturday at Battle Creek's jam-packed Kellogg Arena.

Anderson's teammate, 145-pound Jason Roughton, captured third place. Wolves P.J. Vandermeer and Steve Locher also competed in the two-day event but didn't place.

"I always wanted to be a high school state champion," said Anderson, who years ago won a free-style state championship in club wrestling.

The first-place effort was especially sweet for Anderson, who finished third at state in both his junior and sophomore years and fifth his freshman season.

"I had no doubt he was the best," said Clarkston coach Mike DeGain. "Jerry made sure he erased everybody else's doubts."

Anderson, 34-2 this season and the Wolves' career victory leader, used "The Anderson" (a sudden, lightning-quick twisting reversal) to pick up two important points in the second period against Winohradsky. The Wolf led 4-1 and let the Broncho escape for the match's last point, having confidence that he could prevent Winohradsky from picking up big points.

Coach DeGain witnessed "The Anderson" several times during the season but said Anderson is one of few wrestlers who have the quickness to pull it off successfully.

"I wouldn't dare teach it to anybody else. If you don't do it with the same intensity as Jerry, you can get nailed," said DeGain, who said the move is especially effective because Anderson "doesn't telegraph it."

Anderson's victory over Winohradsky was the third time he defeated the Broncho this season.

"He's a tough kid," said Anderson, who edged the Broncho 7-6 at the districts and then defeated him 14-5 at the regionals.

Anderson said he wasn't overconfident before the match but he was confident.

"I was never more ready. I was ready," said Anderson, who credited his family for their support the past four years.

Anderson easily won his opening match on Friday with a 17-2 technical fall over Hazel Park's Kevin Dunaway. He also had no problems in his second match, downing Traverse City's John Ockert 14-5. He topped Walled Lake Central's Frank Lovio 6-2 in his semifinal match.

Roughton, who finished second in the state last year, was extremely strong in all five of his matches, except for the crucial last minute in his semifinal match.

The senior, who finished with 43-5 mark this season, pinned Warren Mott's Jason Wyrembelski at 4:36 in the opener on Friday. That was followed by an 11-2 decision over Dearborn Fordson's John Bouchard.

Roughton dominated the first five minutes of Saturday's semifinal against East Lansing's Josh Young, pulling out to a 3-1 lead. But in the closing seconds of the match with the wrestlers on the edge of the mat, Young went ahead 5-3 with a takedown and a near fall. Roughton got out of it and was credited with an escape (one point) but not a reversal, thus the match ended 5-4 in Young's favor (Young ended up being edged 6-6 in the final against Ypsilanti's 47-0 wrestler Assad Nimer).

"He got four but I thought he got two," said Roughton about the closing seconds. "And I thought there was more time on the clock."

DeGain thought Roughton should have been credited with a 2-point reversal and not an escape, which would tied the score and sent the match into overtime.

"They were at the edge of the mat. There was too much gray area. My opinion, the call should have gone the other way," said DeGain.

Roughton was dejected after the match but he did rebound for two shutout matches. He stopped Hartland's Brian Morrison 4-0 and then earned third place by a 3-0 decision over Grandville's Dave Engvall.

"He really showed his amount of pride to come back and take third," said

DeGain. "It's hard to gather yourself to come back."

"It was just a matter of who wanted it more," said Roughton. "I was totally sore. I was wrestling with my heart and pride."

Two other Wolves qualified and wrestled at state but didn't place.

Vandermeer, a 160-pound sophomore who finished at 38-9, dropped his opening match by losing to Jenison's Jason Lovell 8-3. The Wolf came back to nip North Farmington's Jarod Lawrence 6-6 in overtime criteria. However, Traverse City's Dave Sivits then eliminated Vandermeer by edging the Wolf 10-9.

DeGain said Vandermeer's experience at the finals will be helpful for his remaining two years.

Locher, a senior who ended up with an 18-12 mark, won't get the chance to return but he was happy to reach the '93 finals. The 130-pounder was pinned in both of his matches. Grosse Pointe North's Dan Skuce, who ended up second, pinned Locher at 2:58 in the opener. Ann Arbor Pioneer's Steve Basmajian followed by pinning the Wolf at 4:07.

Locher, who was injured nearly all of his junior season, said, "The first time being up here, I was kind of scared. Just walking out at the parade (before the matches began) I was nervous."

Nervous or not, Locher, Vandermeer, Roughton and that creator of "The Anderson" were all glad to be among (or be) the best.

Training in the classroom

Doug Carlson

This is Innovation No. 3 from the U.S. News and World Report article entitled "The Perfect School."

Training in the classroom

Last year, Peter Kressler, a veteran history teacher at Holt High School outside of Lansing, co-taught instructor Trudy Sykes's college-level course on the teaching of social studies. But the course was not taught on the Michigan State University campus, where Sykes is on the faculty. It was taught at Holt High, where Kressler's senior history class served as a lab.

This unusual teacher-professor collaboration is a reflection of Holt's unique role as a "clinical school," a public school working closely with a university-level school of education. Functioning as teaching hospitals do in the training of new doctors, clinical schools aim to replace the traditional six weeks of student teaching with a far more intensive regimen that includes not only teachers in training but also teachers in their first few years on the job.

This new model of inducting teachers into their profession is sorely needed, educators say. Not only have many education courses become irrelevant to public school teaching, but overstretched school systems tend to throw rather than ease new teachers into their extraordinarily difficult jobs. Partly as a result, fully a fifth of the new teachers in some school systems abandon their jobs after a year.

Creative pairings

But at clinical schools, student teachers and entry-level teachers are taught the latest classroom techniques by colleagues with experience in the trenches. At Holt, they are immersed in discussions and demonstrations on teaching, led by MSU faculty members and Holt's staff. One fixture on the school's weekly calendar is a 2 1/2-hour Wednesday morning meeting on creativity in the classroom. During a recent session, Dan Chazan, a Michigan State faculty member who is team-teaching a Holt algebra class this year, joined several Holt staffers in discussing an innovative technique — pairing students with professionals who use math in their daily work, as a way of making math "real" to students.

At present, there are only a few schools like Holt nationwide. But a group of influential Michigan political, corporate and education leaders has proposed that within a decade, there be a network of clinical schools to train all the state's new public school teachers. "You don't want to induct new teachers into mediocre schools" where exemplary teaching is neither exhibited nor valued, says Michigan State Professor Gary Sykes.

The teacher-training program at Holt sends a strong signal to beginning teachers that they are entering a profession with high standards. Student teachers "get down to serious teaching much quicker because of this laboratory setting," says Trudy Sykes. The chance to work in clinical schools and to help train new teachers is also a point of professional pride to top veteran teachers, whose talents often go unrewarded in public schools. In Louisville, Ky., teachers at clinical schools are helping to design and teach University of Louisville education courses that are taught at the clinical schools. MSU officials are considering making Holt's senior teachers adjunct members of the MSU faculty, further increasing their status.

Clinical schools also help keep university faculty in touch with the realities of classroom teaching. Professors who are in schools like Holt every day simply cannot approach pedagogy as an ivory tower abstraction; they are forced to grapple with student alienation, lack of supplies and other intrusions on ideal classroom instruction.

Some reformers see clinical schools as a way to bolster the academic grounding of teachers entering the profession. The courses designed by clinical school teachers in Louisville, for example, permit college graduates with degrees in biology and literature to earn teaching licenses by spending one year at a clinical school without having to endure education courses on a college campus. Ultimately, reformers suggest, clinical schools might permit the nation to by-pass the superficiality of education degrees altogether.

City to talk taxes

Taxes are the topic of the next City of the Village of Clarkston Council meeting.

It takes place at 7:30 p.m. Monday, March 22, at the city hall in Depot Park.

During the meeting, the council will hold an informational hearing for residents to discuss 1993 assessments and taxes, as well as the 1993-94 budget.

Sheriff's log

Go figure

A disoriented drunk provided local police with an emotional roller coaster March 10.

That afternoon, a woman called the Oakland County Sheriff's Department to report that someone had gotten a truck stuck in front of her Flemings Lake Road home. Upon arriving on the scene, the police found the driver urinating near his immobilized vehicle.

When officers tried to approach the staggering driver, he blurted obscenities at them. He quickly changed his tone, however.

"Oh, I love you. You know I love you," the 45-year-old Independence Township man reportedly told the officers.

When the officers asked the man if he knew where he was, he responded "Arkansas."

The man was given a breathalyzer test and blew a blood alcohol content reading of .257. A reading of .10 is considered legally drunk.

The man was taken to the Oakland County Jail shortly after.

Monday, March 8, a license plate was reported stolen from a car parked on Vinewood, Independence Township.

Tuesday, March 9, a car was maliciously damaged while parked on Lancaster Hill Drive, Independence Township.

Wednesday, March 10, a Grand

Blanc man was arrested on Dixie Highway, Independence Township, for drunken driving.

Thursday, March 11, someone broke into a home under construction and a nearby construction trailer on Reese Road, Independence Township, and stole two portable heaters.

A pair of $120 Nike Air tennis shoes were stolen from a car in the Sashabaw Junior High School parking lot on Pine Knob Road, Independence Township.

A $250 tree was maliciously damaged at an apartment complex on Parview Drive, Independence Township.

Police assisted at a slip-and-fall accident at Cherry Hill Lanes-North on Dixie Highway, Independence Township.

Someone maliciously damaged a car parked at the Park-and-Ride lot on Dixie Highway, Springfield Township.

A woman on Eston Road, Independence Township, reported that her 16-year-old daughter had run away and possibly eloped to Ohio with her boyfriend.

Friday, March 12, police investigated an activated security alarm at a home on Tahoe, Independence Township.

A pair of keys were stolen from a "running car" parked on White Lake Road, Independence Township.

Someone broke into an automobile at the Oakland Technical Center-Northwest on Big Lake Road, Springfield Township, and stole a $100 radar detector.

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., March 17, 1993 19 A

Police investigated an open-door alarm at a home on Clintonville Road, Independence Township.

Local police assisted in clearing a 150-car pile up on northbound I-75, near Grange Hall Road, Groveland Township, that sent about 25 people to the hospital.

A car parked on Dixie Highway, Independence Township, had its convertible top slashed and an electric grinder stolen by thieves.

Sunday, March 14, an OCSD patrol car sustained two dents while parked in the substation lot on M-15, Independence Township.

Police investigated an open-door alarm at a home on Maybee Road, Independence Township.

Monday, March 15, a 17-year-old juvenile who was absent without leave from the Children's Village program, Pontiac, was taken into custody on Sashabaw Road, Independence Township.

The above information was compiled from reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. As of March 14, the Independence Township sub-station had responded to 1,985 radio calls.

PTA Reflections: 'Imagine that ...'

The 1992-93 PTA Reflections in Art contest brought out 120 would-be artists.

The students were judged in the categories of art, literature, music and photography. Ten finalists were selected to participate in the state and national Parent Teacher Association competition. Following are the winners in each category.

In art: Devon Ostrand, Nicole Fonseca, Allison Haller and Derek Bannasch
In music: Jimmy Territo
In literature: Julie Koval, Jimmy Territo, Amber Lang and Ashley Halleran
In photography: Heidi Olafsson
Below are the winning entries for literature.

Giants of Winter

By Julie Koval

The giants stand, undisturbed by the silvery-white laughter falling to cover their crisp, green tunics.

They reach up to touch
the heavens,
as if to grab
a star
and hold it like a candle in the night.

The black, powerful silhouettes
against the purple sky
watch the world
motionlessly.

The mysterious creatures catch the bits of drifting lace
and proudly wear it on their emerald coats of needles.

Poor Harry Stone

By Jimmy Territo

I tell what I saw, and I tell it with awe,
I tell a story that starts with three attorneys at law,

The "D.A., David Call, and tough Fuji Ling
And the dude that was dubbed the great "Malpractice King"

Harry Stone.
He was rotten right down to the bone.
And he was spoken of by doctors with an unpleasant tone.

The three once went out for a day on the farm.
The morning was peaceful and there was no alarm.

But a cow had a cow, and it busted the gate.
It ran after the lawyers at an alarming rate.

Fuji Ling said, "Aah so!" David Call just said, "Wow!"
Harry Stone said nothing; he was hit by the cow.

He let out a scream, a most excellent howl,
The sight that they saw then was bogusly foul;

There was blood on the lawn, there were guts on the street,
And his brains were all smashed by the cow's great big feet.

The cow had run far, but still could be seen.
And the farmer got sued for all of his green.

Then the story had leaked by the tongue of some liar
And appeared on the front of the National Enquirer.

Everyone stopped, read, and raised an eyebrow.
It read: "Harry Stone smashed to a pulp by a cow."

This was a miracle that couldn't be beat.
There was dancing and prancing around in the street.

Flags were flown, banners were hoisted
And the doctors all over the nation rejoisted.

The morgue went to the farm to pick up the parts,

But the funny thing was,
They could not find his heart ...

Puzzle Pieces

By Amber Lang

Imagine if our lives were puzzles
And we were left to put
All the shapes in the right places
Where would birth be put?
By life or by death?
Would happiness be put by sadness?

And what would be our border
Other people? or materialistic things?
Would our pieces be strong and steady?
Or would they be flimsy and unstable?

There are so many questions
That seem to be left unanswered.
Will there be too many pieces?
Or not enough to make it complete

When we finish this wondrous puzzle of life
We shall glance back
At how well the puzzle looks
Even though we put it together
With too many pieces of one
And not enough of the other.

My friend

By Ashley Halleran

We walk along the beach together,
Just my friend and me,
Others will see one person forever.
But two is what I see.

Her long golden hair is like sunshine,
Her deep green eyes are like grass,
Her body is so tiny and fine,
But, still, others just pass her.

I can confide in her, all of my goals,
She is always there for me,
She'd never tell a soul,
Isn't that the way it should always be?

When we get sad,
We're there for one another,
She would never get mad,
If I cry to no one other.

We talk together all the time,
About things that make us blue,
We talk together in great detail,
And tell our feelings true.

I'm not embarrassed to talk to her,
Most people think that I'm alone,
She's the one that I prefer,
She thinks just like she's my clone.

My parents say that it's just a phase,
But I know that they aren't right,
Having her there for me really pays,
Even if she is out of sight.

Others that pass seem to stare
As if it were just me
They see no one there,
But us is what I see.

No one else can see us,
Even if they stretch and bend,
All they will always see is me,
Not my imaginary friend.

TEENS IN ACTION pose by a display they created at the Independence Township Library. The teens developed the display to demonstrate the proper way to get items ready to be recycled. Their project will be displayed in various locations around the township. Pictured (from left) are Jill Manley, Katie Higdon, Roxanne Haight and Angela Ruth. They are all eighth-grade students at Clarkston Junior High. Clarkston Teens in Action is an extension of Girls Scouts. The girls have been together in a group since kindergarten. Not pictured are Mandy Werner, Jenny Allen and their leader, Jane Werner.

Wetlands review board meeting on Thursday

The construction of three new ponds is on the agenda for the Wetlands Review Board.

It meets at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 18, at the Independence Township Library, Clarkston Road.

During the meeting, it will consider whether or not to approve a request from Spring Lake North subdivision to excavate 11,000 cubic yards of material. If approved, the developer would construct three ponds with overflow structures and a storm sewer outlet in wetland area. The developer also would place 150 cubic yards of fill material in .026 acres of wetland to build a stub street.

The project is planned on 33.65 acres between Maybee and Waldon roads, west of Sashabaw Road. The property is zoned for planned unit development, which is a rezoning tied to a specific site plan.

Athletic association wins statewide award

An area youth organization was honored for its community service by a statewide association recently.

On Feb. 8, the Davisburg Youth Athletic Association received a 1992 Community Service Award from the Michigan Recreation and Park Association at the 1993 MRPA Annual Conference in Dearborn.

Accepting the award were athletic association President Jim Ashley, Treasurer Jean Vallad, board member Cheryl Smith and Vice President Softball Barb Bastian.

The award recognizes outstanding contributions to recreation and parks at the community level.

Springfield Township Parks and Recreation Department nominated the organization for the award. The non-profit organization handles advertisement, registration, obtaining sponsors, field scheduling, games and tournaments with parent volunteers. It also hires and trains umpires and handles field maintenance.

In 1992, about 400 participated in the youth assistance league, which includes baseball and softball teams for boys and girls ages 7-16.

Mathematically sound

A FIVE-STUDENT math team from Sashabaw Junior High School took sixth place at the Mathcounts competition Feb. 27. Held at the Lawrence Institute of Technology, Southfield, the district contest featured students from 16 Oakland County middle schools, who battled wits over a variety of complex math questions. The sixth-place team finish earned

CJHS choirs take home honors

More than 30 Clarkston Junior High Choir students participated in a recent festival.

Of the solos and small ensembles receiving written comments at the Michigan School Vocal Association District Solo and Ensemble Festival, ninth-grade groups are eligible to advance to the state level.

At the state level, they perform new repertoire and sightread music for an adjudicator.

Engagement

Albert and Marilyn Bohnert of Shawnee, Kansas, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandra, to Jeffrey John. The bride-to-be was graduated from the University of Colorado at Boulder with a bachelor of architecture degree. She is a member of Gamma Phi Beta Sorority. She resides in Denver, where she is an assistant designer at Storck Development. The prospective groom is the son of David and Connie John of Clarkston. He received a bachelor of science degree in business administration from the University of Colorado at Boulder. He is a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity. He lives in Denver, where he is a shareholders' services representative at Invesco Financial Fund. A Sept. 18, 1993, wedding is planned.

At college

Seventeen University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, students ignored the lure of surf, sun and sand and chose to spend spring break volunteering on an Appalachian farm.

Among those was Kelly Kostrzewa of Clarkston, a sophomore majoring in anthropology in the College of Literature, Science and the Arts.

Participating in the U-M's Alternative Spring Break program, the students worked at the Lend-A-Hand Center on Stinking Creek in Walker, Ky., Feb. 21-27.

The students performed a variety of activities at the southeastern Kentucky farm. They repaired fences, built gates, dug drainage ditches, made hay trees, cleaned livestock stalls and accompanied nurses on home health care visits.

Gillespie, Kovarik unite in marriage

Heather Sue Gillespie of Clarkston and Craig Alan Kovarik of Traverse City were united in marriage Oct. 17, 1992.

The Rev. John Tupper performed the 2 p.m. ceremony at St. Wenceslaus Catholic Church, which was decorated with all-white bouquets, potted ferns and fig trees.

The bride is the daughter of Dennis and Jan Gillespie of Clarkston. She was graduated from Owosso High School in 1987 and Central Michigan University, Mount Pleasant, in 1991. She has a bachelor of fine arts degree in graphic design and is employed as a freelance designer.

The groom is the son of Gerald and Nancy Kovarik of Traverse City. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. He holds a master's degree in mechanical engineering and is employed by Ford Motor Co. in the electric vehicle program.

The bride wore an ivory satin gown with embroidery and pearls across the bodice. Her ivory Juliet-cap headpiece featured four satin roses and a layered veil with ribbon trim. She carried an all-white cascading bouquet, with trailing ivy, white roses, freesia, stephanotis and casablanca lilies.

Amy S. Bonis Hepner served as matron of honor. Other attendants were Becki Schaaf, Jodi Kovasa, Kristy Sellers and Adrian Hipsher.

Best man was Steven Komrska. Other attendants included Ron Rienas, Robert Lefevre, Scott Kovarik and Brian Gillespie. Ushers were Mark Patterson and Bruce Olmstead.

Following the reception at the Traverse City Opera House, the newlyweds departed on a wedding trip to San Diego, Calif. They make their home in Clarkston.

NEWLYWEDS: Mr. and Mrs. Kovarik

New arrivals

It's a boy for Erik and Teresa Johnson of Fayetteville, N.C. Both are 1986 Clarkston High School graduates, and Erik is a first special warfare training group sergeant in the U.S. Army Special Forces.

Club notes

On March 6 several members of the Clarkston Critters 4-H Club participated in the State 4-H Rabbit Show.

The day began with a colorful parade of flags representing the counties that sent clubs. Ember Gilbert, a member of the Clarkston Critters, carried the flag for Oakland County along with Rob Keen.

After the parade, the judging began and the Critters performed well.

Lorne Deacon won first place and a Gold Medallion Award for best of variety for a mini-lop senior buck.

Lindsay Dees won first place and a Gold Medallion Award for best opposite sex variety for her English Angora junior buck.

Also taking first-place awards were Scott Jacks with a Netherland dwarf junior buck, and Phillip Jacks with a Holland-lop junior buck.

Second-place winners were Erin Shook for a Netherland dwarf senior buck and Lori Shook for her Netherland dwarf senior doe.

Taking third place was Jessie Doyle for both an English Angora senior doe and Netherland dwarf senior buck.

Allison Barth participated for the first time in any show, presenting a mini-lop buck.

In service

Air Force Airman Rodney E. Denne is serving with the coalition forces in the Arabian Gulf region in support of Desert Storm Southern Watch and Cease Fire. The airman, a security specialist at Grand Forks Air Force Base, N.D., is the son of Rick Denne of Lamont Drive, Waterford, and Shellah Denne of Oak Park Drive, Independence Township. He is a 1989 graduate of Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes High School. The goal of the coalition forces is to enforce the no-fly zone in support of United Nations resolutions against Iraq.

Friendly faces/ Nancy Doyle

Something for the kids ...

As with many volunteers, Nancy Doyle of Independence Township is quick to push the limelight away from herself and onto others.

"This is not a me thing," she said.

But someone knew that this woman deserved recognition for her service, and Doyle was named 4-H Volunteer of the Month in February.

The 36-year-old mother of three started the Clarkston Critters Club in 1989 along with her neighbor Kim Boose.

"I was just looking for something for my kids," she explained.

She spoke to Sue Stapelton of 4-H and decided to begin a group in Clarkston.

Doyle and Boose, along with Tana Jacks and Barb Snook, oversee 38 kids, ages 5-16. She said that 4-H is good for kids.

"4-H is fun, educational and gives kids a solid background for life out on their own."

The club has many activities to keep the children and leaders busy, including an annual trip to a horse ranch near Cadillac and a petting farm twice a year at Bordine's Better Blooms in Springfield Township.

"Setting up the petting farm teaches kids a lot of skills, including public speaking. The petting farm is a great opportunity to learn a lot of different things," said Doyle.

In addition to animals, children can compete in 4-H fairs with such projects as creative writing and decorated cakes. The children once made a club quilt that won second place at the 4-H Fair.

But for Doyle, the club is more than a place to learn crafts. It's also a way for children to develop their values.

"I want my members to grow up and remember the ideals they learned from my leadership and from 4-H," said Doyle.

Time-saving ways to trace family ties

BY VIRGINIA BLOCK

The query received from James E. Ingram of Lake Orion is printed in its entirety (with his permission) to help beginning enthusiasts learn early on some time-saving ways to find solutions to their questions: "I have traced my great-great grandfather, Samuel W. Belles back to 1867. How do I find out where?"

I have checked the 1850-1860 census records for Orion, Oakland-Addison tapes, and no record of Samuel W. Belles.

His wife's name was Eliza J. Benjamin. She was born in Mich. in 1832. How would I research their marriage records?

I know that Samuel W. Belles was born in New Jersey in 1829. How could I research this further?"

Great query! As per my request, James included his phone number and our ensuing conversation furnished needed information to aid my search for answers to his questions.

We asked where Samuel was buried and was told Samuel rests in Lake Orion's Evergreen Cemetery, along with his wife, who preceded Samuel in death.

To date, no death records have been obtained, although it might be possible to check records in the sexton's office at the cemetery.

We found a marriage record for Samuel W. Beller, 23, of Romeo, to Eliza J. Benjamin, 20 of same, at Pontiac, 21 Nov. 1852, by G. Taylor, M.G. (Minister of the Gospel)

Witnesses: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bishop of Pontiac.

Of course, it is evident that a typo is the culprit in the difference in spelling Samuel's last name. Clues are found that since Romeo was the residence our next clue is to look into Macomb County to continue our search. That we will do, James.

Remember that our help is not confined to those histories found in families living in the Oakland Co. area nor limited to the State of Michigan or the U.S.A.

We serve all of you, no matter where you are. We realize the need to introduce gradually the steps that will provide the greatest service to our readers.

In an effort to be able to help everyone, we ask your indulgence if you find your progress is more advanced than our starting point.

Ask us to help, no matter where you are.

The Rotary Club International is a civic organization with clubs in all communities. Among the fellowship interests of its members is one for genealogy, and it has a publication called "ROTO-GENE" that can be most helpful.

Access to the magazine is not limited to club members. Perhaps inquiry at the local level will evoke an interest in your town to bring this great fellowship closer to home.

We wish you Happy Hunting.

Job opportunities for area youths

Those ages 14-21 have a special opportunity at summer jobs in the Clarkston area.

The Summer Jobs program offered by the Clarkston Career Center is open to youth who meet low-income guidelines or have a disability or handicap.

Jobs pay $4.25 per hour, begin June 21, and continue for about eight hours, with about 20-40 hours per week.

Positions available at school and township worksites include clerical aides, library aides, maintenance aides, parks workers and SCAMP aides.

Each candidate will be interviewed to determine if he or she is eligible for the program, and an effort will be made to match jobs with interest.

The program is federally funded through the Job Training and Partnership Act.

For more information or to apply, contact the career center at 5275 Maybee Road, Independence Township, at 674-4791 (8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays).

Does someone on your team consistently hit home runs, score lots of goals or pile up lots of serving aces? We'd like to know at The Clarkston News. 625-3370

FINDING THE RIGHT SELLER

IF YOU NEED FINANCIAL help, finding the right seller is as important as finding the right house.

MAX BROOCK INC. REALTORS

QUESTION: I am having bad luck finding a home to buy. I can't seem to get the right financing package from any of the sellers. I do need help with the down payment. Is there any hope?

ANSWER: The important thing to remember is that you only want to buy ONE house. The best way to buy it is to have your Realtor find the right house with the RIGHT seller to go along with it.

Your next home may be recently owned by older people who are retiring or owners with personal or financial reasons who will be able to provide financing on a first or second mortgage basis for the buyer. Their main objective is to SELL THEIR HOME.

Local program wins national accreditation

Clarkston Community Schools' Funshine Early Childhood Program is among the first infant/toddler and preschool programs in the United States to be accredited by the National Academy of Early Childhood Programs.

The Academy recognizes early childhood programs, which meet national standards of quality. The Funshine Early Childhood Program, at 5275 Maybee, serves 115 children ages 2 weeks to 5 years, according to director Margie Ried.

To become accredited, the Funshine Early Childhood Program has to meet a variety of strict criteria related to providing activities appropriate for infant/toddler and preschool-age children, to having well qualified and trained staff, to having an adequate number of staff for the number of children, to meeting stringent health and safety standards, and to having opportunities for parental involvement.

The accreditation process included an on-site study of the program and review by a three-member national commission.

SUMMARY

CITY COUNCIL

MINUTES OF REGULAR MEETING

MARCH 8, 1993

Meeting called to order by Mayor Catallo at 7:40 p.m.
Roll: Present: Basinger, Catallo, Roeser, Sanderson, Schultz
Absent: Secatch
The minutes of the meeting of February 22, 1993, were accepted as presented.

The agenda was approved as presented with the following addition: Old Business: Cable Board Appointment. New Business: Moslem Shrine Request.

Bills in the amount of $61,786.88 were approved for payment. A special meeting will be held on either April 21 or April 22 to meet with the Board of Education and Township Board for a social, information dinner meeting at the Northwest Oakland Technical Center.

Additional insurance coverage was discussed regarding $5,000 coverage for employee dishonesty and an increase to $10,000,000 liability coverage. A decision on this will be made after the budget is studied and a determination of the deductible on the $5,000 coverage.

The request from the Moslem Shrine was approved allowing the 1993 Annual Fund Drive in the City of the Village of Clarkston on June 11 and 12, 1993.

A special working meeting will be held on March 29, 1993, to discuss the proposed letter to City residents on cityhood matters. Meeting adjourned at 9:58 p.m.

By Tom Erickson

Some of us bury our roots
Deep and securely in one spot.
Others spread their roots afar.
In the winds of trauma,
Either can become uprooted easily.
God only know who's
The wiser.

Realtor awarded national designation

Marilyn Moir

A Clarkston-area real estate agent recently was awarded a national designation in New Orleans.

Marilyn Moir, an associate broker with Clarkston Real Estate Services in Clarkston, was awarded the certified residential specialist designation at the annual meeting of the Residential Sales Council of the Realtors National Marketing Institute. The institute is an affiliate of the National Association of Realtors.

Those receiving the designation must complete required courses offered by the Residential Sales Council and must demonstrate specific expertise in applied residential real estate marketing. Less than 2 percent of all Realtors hold this designation.

Moir is a member of the North Oakland County Board of Realtors; is affiliated with the South Oakland County and Birmingham-Bloomfield boards of realtors; is a member of the Board of Directors of Realcomp, the Employee Relocation Council; serves on the Multiple Listing Service Committee; and is an orientation instructor for the North Oakland County Board of Realtors.

She attends the University of Detroit, is a Dale Carnegie graduate and a graduate of the Realtors Institute, holding the state designation.

Grocery cash program helps non-profit groups

An area grocery store is sponsoring the "Hometown Cash Program" fund-raiser for schools, churches, clubs and other non-profit, non-political groups.

From March 22 through Sept. 22, 1993, participating organizations collect Clarkston J&J Foodcenter register tapes from group members and the community.

J&J Foodcenter will then donate 1 percent of the total on collected register tapes to the collecting organization.

J&J Foodcenter is on Sashabaw Road, north of Maybee Road, Independence Township. For more information, call Dave Croke at 625-7775.

Named to health board

A Clarkston-area resident has been appointed to the Henry Ford Health System Board of Trustees of its Northeast Region.

David Spencer, president of Walsh College, is on the board for the region, which includes the Henry Ford Medical Centers in Sterling Heights, Troy, Rochester and Warren.

Statewide honors

Ann Conklin, director of Independence Township Parks and Recreation, accepts a statewide award from Ric Scott, president of the Michigan Recreations and Parks Association. Conklin was presented with the MRPA Fellowship Award for outstanding contributions to the field of parks and recreation in the state of Michigan.

Re-opening means prizes for many

A Clarkston-area restaurant recently celebrated its "Grand Re-Opening."

The Clarkston Dairy Queen on M-15, Independence Township, was closed Dec. 14, 1992, to Feb. 1, 1993, for a winter vacation. In celebration of its re-opening, it had a drawing for prizes.

Mike Smith of the Clarkston area won the grand prize 13-inch color television. Valerie Searing of the Clarkston area won a second-prize cordless telephone. Angela McVeigh of the Clarkston area won the third prize of a portable stereo with earphones. Various other prizes included Dairy Queen squeeze bottles and sunshields for automobiles.

The Clarkston Dairy Queen offers ice cream concoctions in addition to brazier foods such as hamburgers, hot dogs, and Polish sausage, as well as fries, onion rings and more.

Lutz elected to MTA board of directors

John Lutz has been elected to the Michigan Township Association's board of directors for 1993-97. He is profiled in the March 1993 issue of the Michigan Township News.

Lutz, treasurer of Independence Township, was elected to the board at the association's district caucus in Detroit Jan. 21. The caucus was part of MTA's 40th Annual Educational Convention Jan. 19-22.

Lutz serves as MTA District 19 director, representing township officials in Macomb, Oakland and St. Clair counties.

Lutz became Independence Township treasurer in 1984 and has been a member of the zoning board of appeals for four years.

He is currently president-vice president of the Oakland County Treasurer's Association, chairman of Clarkston County Youth Assistance, treasurer of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments Economic Development Committee, and past director of the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce.

He is a certified municipal finance administrator and a member of the National Ski Patrol.

During 1993, Lutz will serve on MTA's Credentials, Building and Site and Urban Townships committees.

The MTA is a coalition of 1,234 townships united to provide a single voice for townships on the state level.

New account manager

Gretchen A. Weger, formerly of Clarkston, has been promoted to account manager at Betz Entec, Inc., Horsham, Pa.

Weger, a 1986 graduate of the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, with a bachelor of science degree in biology, now resides in Waterford.

She began her career with Betz Entec in 1989 as a district representative and was promoted to senior district representative in 1990 and technical specialist in 1991. In her new position, Weger is responsible for sales activities in southeastern Michigan and the Detroit area. She is a three-time Taking Care of Business award-winner, President's Club and Chairman's Award-winner.

Betz Entec, is a nationwide leader in industrial and commercial water treatment technology.

Pet Health Tips

Dental Care

Your pet's teeth are an important part of keeping your pet healthy.

- Gingivitis (or red inflamed gums) will cause tooth loss.
- Tartar & plaque build-up will cause gingivitis & bad breath.
- Tooth loss will allow bacteria to enter the gum and the blood supply of your pet. This could lead to septicemia, which will cause heart problems & liver or kidney failure.

GOOD DENTAL HYGIENE IS NEEDED FOR ALL PETS!!

- Brush your pet's teeth 3x weekly with a pet toothpaste.
- Use dental exercise toys, rawhides, gumbones, nylabones.
- Have your veterinarian examine your pet's teeth routinely!

Glenn Bianchini

Named to bank board

Glenn Bianchini, a Realtor and property manager in Oxford, has been appointed to the boards of directors of Oxford Bank Corporation and its subsidiary, Oxford Bank. He fills the vacancies created by the death of Charles Williams Feb 12.

Bianchini is the owner of Century 21 Real Estate and Wedgewood Investment Co in Oxford. He has been associated with Century 21 since 1975, acquiring ownership of the firm in 1985. He and his wife Dora, an elementary-school principal in the Lapeer School District, are residents of Oxford. They have two children and five grandchildren.

"The active role he plays in the community parallels the philosophy of Oxford Bank," said Bank president and chief executive officer Randall Fox. "His judgement and experience will certainly add an important dimension to the deliberations of our board and we are very pleased he has agreed to serve with us."

Oxford Bank is Oakland County's oldest commercial bank, opening in 1884.

Pet of the Week

TRICKY is a very lovable feline.

Tricky is magical

Tricky is looking to bring a little magic to someone's household.

This 1-year-old calico-colored cat is very friendly and housetrained as well. She's yet to be declawed or spayed.

Her $62 adoption fee includes sterilization.

To see Tricky, visit the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Road, Rochester Hills, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

PEOPLE TRADE THEIR CAR IN BECAUSE SOMETHING IS WRONG WITH IT.

In many cases that is true to the point the car is not fixable. We actually wholesale more cars than we sell to the public.

The key is to find what is wrong & fix it!!!

Check out our cars. We have fixed them & will show you what was fixed. If they are on the lot they get a 3 month/3,000 mile warranty. Compare our cars and then our prices.

O HOLY ST. JUDE, apostle and martyr great in virtue and miracles, kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage, in time of need. To you I have recourse from the depth of my heart and humbly beg whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help in my present and urgent petition. In return, I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. St. Jude pray for us all who invoke your name. Amen. Say three Our Fathers, three Hail Mary's, three Glorias. Publication must be promised. Say this novena for 9 consecutive days. P.L. IILX32-2

JEFFREY TICE (with broom) explains to Clarkston High School students what their reactions should be when the Wicked Witch of the West appears for the first time in "The Wizard of Oz." Tice directs the musical, which is performed at the high school's theater at 8 p.m. March 26, 27 and April 2 and 3, and at 2 p.m. March 28. (Photos by Catherine Passmore)

JANAE COOLEY (Dorothy), Brendan Kelly (the Scarecrow), and Josh Surre (the Tinman) sing in sweet harmony before they go to meet the Wizard of Oz.

'We're off ...'

We're off to see the Wizard ... at Clarkston High School. CHS students present "The Wizard of Oz" March 26, 27 and 28 and April 2 and 3.

Junior Janae Cooley plays Dorothy, with senior Brendan Kelly as the Scarecrow, senior Josh Surre as the Tinman and senior David Byrne as the Lion. Junior Roxanne Bruscha is the Wicked Witch of the West. The Wizard is played by junior Joshua Harsch.

The musical is directed by Jeffrey Tice, with music direction and costume design by Grayce Warren, choreography by Marilyn Kettler, and orchestra direction by Cliff Chapman. Technical director is Rob Tankersley, with set design by Bruce Worden and lighting design by Mike Hiner.

Student directors are Jamie Barger and Erin White. The March 28 show begins at 2 p.m., and all tickets to that show are $3.50. Other shows begin at 8 p.m., with tickets $4 for students and senior citizens and $5 for adults. For more information, call CHS at 625-0900.
