Woman bludgeoned to death; teen charged

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Diana Jean Farmer Bumgardner lived and died across the creek from the "main road" in a rural community that used to be an old coal camp.

Bumgardner, 51, was found by the Kentucky State Police in the house where she lived alone. She had been stabbed in the neck and bludgeoned to death with the leg of a table, then set on fire.

The murder took place sometime between midnight and 4 a.m. on March 25 in the little community of Smith in eastern Harlan County.

A teen from another little community far away from

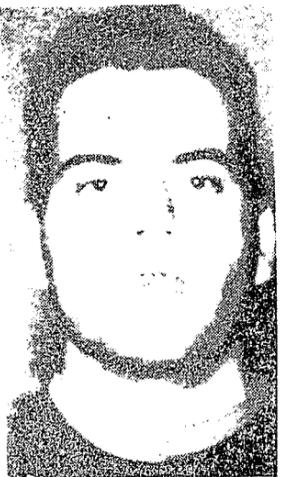

McMahan is allegedly part of the "Local Boys," a group of "misfits," according to Detective Sgt. John McLain of the Waterford Township Police Department. McLain doesn't give the group a lot of credit. "(They are) a bunch of underachievers who got together and create this 'gang' if you will. They're wanna be's."

A 17-year-old Pontiac youth is also being held in connection with the murder. The Kentucky courts will decide in the next two weeks whether or not to try the juvenile as an adult.

A third youth, another 17-year-old from Pontiac, was arrested and later released when police determined he was not at the scene of the crime.

The three Michigan teens were visiting the Smith relative of one of the Pontiac youths. The relative's home (See TEEN, next page)

Robert McMahan, a Clarkston-area resident, is charged with the beating death of a 51-year-old Kentucky woman. He is also wanted in connection to a robbery in Waterford Township.

Smith, Ky., was arrested in connection to Bumgardner's death.

Robert McMahan, 18, of the Clarkston area was charged with first degree murder and arson. In Kentucky, first degree murder can carry the penalty of death.

Close call

Girl, 2, falls through ice

A 2-year-old girl was rescued by quick-thinking relatives last week after she fell through the ice.

On March 22, little Melanie Beard chased her ball onto Lake Oakland, Independence Township, and fell through the ice. A family member saw the incident and called out for help.

According to the Oakland County Sheriffs' Department report, Melanie's mother and grandfather went into the lake and grabbed the child, who was then under the water.

By the time the police and fire department arrived, Melanie was alert but spitting up a lot of water.

She was treated and released from Pontiac General Hospital.

Fitness center expansion planned at Spring Lake

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

An addition to the American Fitness Center may soon be built on the Spring Lake Country Club on Maybee Road.

The Independence Township Planning Commission's 6-0 approval of the conceptual site plan followed a vote on whether the proposed facility qualified as recreational use.

The commission voted 4-2 that the proposed use was consistent with the current recreational zoning. Chairman Richard Oppmann and Steve Board voted against the motion. Voting yes were Joseph Figa, Carolyn Place, Holly Stephens and Cecila Yarber. Daniel Travis was absent.

The proposal calls for an 8,000-square-foot addition to be used as a fitness center with weights and an indoor track. The addition is proposed for the east side of the existing building and is to include an expansion of the parking lot.

American Fitness, which has been in business for seven years, is owned by Spring Lake Country Club, Bob and Patty Heath, and Dan and Jan Fife.

The major disagreement about the plan came from Oppmann and Board, who questioned whether the intended use was in accordance with the current zoning. Oppmann suggested that the commission get a definition of "recreational zoning" from the Zoning Board of Appeals before ruling.

Yarber, however, thought the fitness center qualified as recreational use.

"We should look at this application as an application by local people looking to expand the use of an existing business. We don't need a ZBA definition," she said.

Township planning consultant Richard Carlisle stated, "It is customary and logical to have this (business) in a recreational facility."

Also included in the conceptual site plan is the paving of the gravel parking lot.

Prior to final approval, the developers must satisfy the commission's concerns about lighting, landscaping, the trash dumpster and the two existing signs.

Teen charged with bludgeoning death

was up the hill, about 100 yards away from Bumgardener's home.

According to Kentucky Trooper Johnny Collins, Bumgardener's underclothes were doused with kerosene and set on fire after the beating. The fire apparently was started to conceal the murder, said Collins.

He said police are still investigating why the teens would have been in the home.

The teens were arrested after police received a tip about the murder. McMahan was picked up while hitchhiking away from Smith. Collins said he didn't know where McMahan was going, but "he was sure leaving here."

McMahan's preliminary exam is set for sometime early next week.

A warrant for his arrest was issued in Waterford in connection with a Feb. 16 armed robbery of four 14-year-olds. McMahan was picked out of a photo lineup as the alleged gunman in the morning robbery, where three Starter jackets were taken from the boys.

School board holds off on buying buses — again

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

For the second time in three months, the Clarkston Board of Education has put off the purchase of four new school buses.

The motion to table the purchase request was unanimously approved March 29.

Steve Lenar, deputy superintendent of business and operations, originally requested the purchases Jan. 11 to update the district's 27-bus fleet. He said 17 buses already have over 100,000 miles on them.

By not purchasing these buses, Lenar said, the district will have to pay about $24,000 in repair costs and parts for the maintenance and upkeep of four older vehicles. He said the fleet's four oldest buses could be sold for $3,000 a piece, providing the district with $12,000 in added revenue.

On an average day, the district transports 7,482 students and the buses log over 3,744 miles.

Lenar warned the board that further delay of this matter would only mean it would "rear its ugly head later." The administration had recommended the purchases of the four 72-passenger buses at $49,270 a piece from Hoekstra Truck Equipment, Troy.

The total bid of $197,080 was frozen by the Hoekstra in January, but it's likely to rise in the future, Lenar said.

Again, the board members cited economics as the proposal's biggest detractor.

Commission calls for two zoning studies

Two studies concerning zoning will be conducted at the Independence Township Planning Commission's request.

The first study covers the rezoning of 114 acres near Clintonville and Mann roads. The parcels have been under a consent judgment since the 1970s. Planner Richard Carlisle is to conduct the study and recommend a new zoning to the commission.

The second study concerns the classification of freeway service zoning, which is defined vaguely in the township's zoning ordinance. The two places in the township zoned for freeway service are north of I-75, west on Sashabaw Road, and the extreme northern end of Dixie Highway, near Springfield Township.

Carlisle also will conduct this study and report back to the commission about which action he recommends.

The cost for the studies was not known at press time.

"My problem isn't the justification that we need these four buses, but the impact they'll have on a budget we haven't seen yet," said Trustee Janet Thomas, in reference to the 1993-94 school budget.

The state Legislature's pending plans — in regards to property tax relief and the financing of Michigan's schools — were also a concern to most trustees. Treasurer Kurt Karlstrom and Trustee Karen Foyteck said they wanted to hold off on the purchases until the Legislature's intentions were clearer.

Fearing the unknown, the board tabled the item until a later date.

Events along the Bunny Trail ...

The Easter bunny and Easter chicken are apt to be busy in the next few weeks, so events are starting early to spread the fun around.

Following is a list of Easter activities for all ages in the Clarkston and Davisburg areas.

■ Marshmallow Drop: The event takes place rain or shine at 11 a.m. Saturday, April 3, in Clintonwood Park, Clarkston Road, Independence Township. (A rain-out number appears on the ticket, should an indoor site be necessary.) Children ages 3-10 are invited to gather marshmallows and visit with the Easter Bunny. Tickets are $2 per resident, $3 per non-resident, if participants pre-register.

On-site cost is $3 per resident, $4 per non-resident (if event is not sold out). Tickets are available at the parks and recreation department, township hall, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston. (625-8223)

■ Easter Egg Hunt: This 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. event takes place Saturday, April 3, at St. Trinity Lutheran Church, 7925 Sashabaw Road (1/4 mile north of Clarkston Road), Independence Township. Geared toward preschool children through fifth-grade, the event includes an Easter egg hunt, lunch and an Easter craft. Admission: one bag of Easter candy per family. (625-4644)

■ Easter Spring Fling: From noon to 2 p.m., the seventh annual Easter Spring Fling takes place Saturday, April 3, at Springfield Oaks Activity Center, Andersonville Road, Springfield Township (weather permitting). Events include a walk with the Easter Bunny, an airplane marshmallow drop, and an Easter egg hunt (with children preschool to age 12 divided by age). Prizes, refreshments and Oakie the Squirrel also are part of the event. Cost is $2 per child, payable by advance registration only. (625-8133 or 634-0412)

■ Easter Eggstravaganza: The noon to 2 p.m. program on Sunday, April 4, features an animal egg hunt, egg obstacle course, face painting, live animals and visits from the Easter bunny and Rosco the Clown. Cost is $2 per person at Independence Oaks Nature Center, Sashabaw Road, Independence Township (2 1/2 miles north of I-75). (625-6473)

■ Easter Parade and Dinner: Sponsored by the Springfield Young at Heart Club, the Easter dinner for senior citizens begins at noon sharp on Thursday, April 8, at the Hart Community Center (downtown Davisburg). An Easter Bonnet Parade follows (around 1:30 or 2 p.m.). Cost is $2 for members, $3 for non-members. (634-0412)

■ Easter Egg Hunt: The annual free egg hunt (with a visit from the Easter chicken) is set for 11 a.m. Saturday, April 10, at Sashabaw Presbyterian Church, 5300 Maybee Road, Independence Township (next to Sashabaw Elementary School). The hunt is open to preschool-age children to age 12, with candy and prizes for all. (673-3101)

Kindergarten round-up schedule announced

Parents with young children in the Holly school district should register the youngsters for school next month.

Those with children who will be age 5 on or before Dec. 1, 1993, should register their children at any one of the three elementary schools as follows:

■ 7-8:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 27, Davisburg Elementary School, 12003 Davisburg Road, Springfield Township. Incoming kindergartners welcome — they'll even get to ride a school bus. (634-4301)

■ 9-11:30 a.m. Wednesday, April 28, Patterson Elementary School, 3231 Grange Hall Road, Holly. (634-4441)

■ 2-4:30 p.m. Thursday, April 29, Holly Elementary School, 801 E. Maple Road, Holly. (634-4440)

Before a child may enter school in the fall, two documents are needed: a physical examination form showing that immunizations (including two doses of measles, mumps and rubella vaccine) and vision testing have been completed and a certified copy of the child's birth certificate.

Eggs for an Easter hunt

Hardcooked eggs for an egg hunt must be prepared with care to avoid cracking the shells. If shells are cracked, bacteria from your hands could seep through the shells, contaminating the inside.

Eggs should be hidden in places that are protected from dirt, pets and other sources of bacteria. Total time for hiding and hunting eggs should not exceed two hours. The "found" eggs must be refrigerated until they are eaten.

Five charged with 'Video Bandit' crimes

Five of six so-called "Video Bandits" were arrested last week.

Brothers Wesley Smith, 21, and Walter Smith, 23; their wives Denise Smith, 19, and Rebecca Smith, 22; and Loretta Brown, 32, all of Pontiac; were arraigned March 25 in 52nd District Court in front of visiting Judge Joseph Burtell. A sixth suspect is still being sought.

The group faces one count each of larceny by conversion, a five-year felony; and conspiracy to commit false pretense, a 10-year felony.

The group allegedly opened accounts at various video stores, rented video games and then sold them to people who buy second-hand games. The incidents took place in Rochester Hills, Auburn Hills, Waterford, Commerce Township and Independence Township, according to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Their preliminary exam was set for 1:30 p.m. Friday, April 2, in 52nd District Court.

Public invited to construction update

The $16.1 million bond issue is the topic of a special Clarkston Board of Education meeting 7 p.m. Monday, April 5.

The public is invited to ask questions about the use of the money that voters approved in February. The meeting takes place in the administrative building, 6389 Clarkston Road. For more information, call 625-4402.

New school gains first approval

So far, the Clarkston Board of Education likes the looks of the new elementary school.

On March 29, the school board unanimously granted preliminary site plan approval for the 500-student school, slated for the corner of Holcomb and Bridge Lake roads, Springfield Township.

This approval gives Greiner, Inc., the school district's architectural consultant, permission to move ahead with more detailed planning.

The plan indicates that the three-section school will be serviced by two driveways off of Holcomb Road, which lead to two separate parking lots. The frontal lot, found via the main entrance, entails 60 spaces for staff parking, while a side lot provides 125 spaces for visitors.

The school will be serviced by seven to nine buses, which will enter the site through the main entrance and exit by circling around the staff parking area.

A hard-surfaced recess area will be provided in the rear of the school, with a nearby softball field and physical education area.

The configuration of the building will also provided the district with the opportunity to add a fourth section, or wing, to the west side of the school, if necessary.

Our very own
April fool

Julie Campe

My mother's youngest son was born in April — the April fool.

We should have known then what we were in for — but we were naive. Being only 3 at the time, I have an excuse. I can't speak for the rest of my family.

He played the role of jester well — and continues to do so. He likes the limelight, no matter what the occasion.

For instance, I believe he is the only male in Clarkston High School history to participate in Clarkston's Junior Miss Young Woman of the Year Contest. He likes to tell this story. It's only hours later that listeners find out he was merely a prop in Cindy Criger's magic show. For Andrew (who later earned the moniker: Andrew the Horrible), it was a shining moment and proof enough for him that he deserved to be the center of attention wherever he went.

Fortunately, he is his own best audience. I remember an entire evening when he cracked up laughing every time he caught his eye in the mirror. Unfortunately, there was a mirror in the room in which we were dining. Needless to say, he found himself hilarious and nearly split a gut laughing. (I hate to admit that we laughed at him, even though we didn't know why.)

At an early age, he yearned to perform slapstick tricks on himself. For instance, there was once a leftover cherry turnover from a family supper. He asked, ever so politely, for permission to smash it in his own face, which he did, with the family looking on, incredulously.

It made him smile, and he ran outside afterward, so his dog, Ilsa, could lick it off his face, which tickled and set him laughing again.

It was years later when he challenged his new step-sister, Debbie, to throw a family birthday cake at his face. He taunted her relentlessly until she gave in and heaved it at him. Half landed on the floor, which landed Debbie in trouble. Andrew, however, relished every second.

Then there was the decade when he liked to trip himself and tumble down the stairs — only if onlookers were present. He liked the shocked expressions on their faces and then the amazement when he leapt up and bowed at the end of his long fall. I for one was certain he was destined for stuntman work and encouraged him to fall at every chance for practice (I even helped him along a bit, only in his best interests, of course).

His most recent grab of the spotlight, however, came at my dad's birthday celebration last week. It was time for the toast, and Andrew, of course, plunged at the chance. He held the floor for what seemed like two hours before he finally stopped talking about himself and turned the subject to the man of the hour (who amazingly claims fatherhood of the creature, knowing full well the shenanigans of which he is capable).

There was a mirror in the dining room, so Andrew didn't notice that the rest of us carried on our own conversations while he was involved in his soliloquy.

In fact, he may still be talking there now.

At least he won't have to do anything special to mark April Fool's Day.

Give Clarkston Police a chance

Despite a few complaints, the Clarkston Police Department as a whole is doing a fine job.

The department has accomplished what it was set up to do — catch speeding drivers, deter would-be criminals and provide a sense of security for city residents.

Area residents unaccustomed to driving the speed limit will have to give themselves time to re-learn how to obey those laws. They also will have to give the fledgling police department time to smooth the wrinkles in its operations.

In existence less than a year, the department has acted responsibly, giving far more warnings than tickets. In fact, the department averages 4.6 tickets a day — below the norm for its size.

Stories abound about police incidents in town — but remember, most are untrue. If you have any doubts, call Chief Robert DeVore at 625-0088. He says he's happy to answer questions, as well as help, say, a merchant with shoplifters or bad checks.

If you have an emergency, call 911 — and be assured that the Clarkston Police will arrive in mere moments.

Just give them a chance.

Reporter's notebook

Doc Blanchard of the Road Commission for Oakland County was guest speaker at the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce Member Mixer March 25 at Mesquite Creek restaurant. Blanchard (no relation to the Army All-American football player) said the county's Road Commission is beginning an "Adopt-a-road" program similar to the state's "Adopt-a-highway" program. Not only are volunteers needed to clean up their stretch of roadway, but donations are needed to help pay for trash bags, safety vests and hauling and landfill fees. He noted that the Road Commission receives no county money (and is an entirely separate agency with no taxing authority) but is funded from the state, which uses gasoline tax. Oakland County, the third wealthiest county in the nation, is a "donor" county in the state as far as road money is concerned. For every $1 Oakland County residents pay in gasoline taxes, Oakland's Road Commission gets back 76 cents from the state, he said.

Doris Biscoe of ABC-TV affiliate Channel 7 was among the many area residents who served as guest readers in Clarkston Community Schools on Wednesday and Thursday, March 24 and 25. The district participated in a Drop Everything and Read Day (celebrated countywide on Friday, March 26), with each school planning different activities in addition to reading at a designated time.

***

When guest readers visited classrooms March 24, elementary pupils not only listened to them read a story, but they also could ask their visitors anything they wanted. After Mrs. Amy Morris' first-graders at Bailey Lake Elementary talked to their visitor about reading and the types of jobs that required reading, they asked lots of questions, including this one: "Have you ever had clam chowder? Manhattan or New England?"

Brighten your life

I'm one of a dozen directors of RSVP: Retired Senior Volunteer Program. I say this only to lead into this week's column.

RSVP has a publication called "Advisor." It recently published some ideas on how to interrupt old habits so as to bring something new into your life.

It began with an unattributed quote, "The only difference between a rut and a grave is the dimensions." I don't think publications intended that seniors should talk about graves, but that too is beside the point.

The point is perhaps we should try to brighten our dim lives. The following suggestions are offered:

1. Buy a magazine you've never bought before.
2. Don't follow the news for seven days. (Obviously a non-newspaper person thought of this one.)
3. Sleep on the other side of the bed.
4. Get a therapeutic massage.
5. Mail a funny cartoon to someone.
6. Put the toilet paper roll in so that it rolls the other way.
7. Try a new kind of cereal.
8. Drop a "lucky" dollar bill on the street and make someone's day.
9. Call a friend you haven't spoken to in a year.
10. Play "tourist" for a day in your own town.

11. Clean out a junk drawer—and enjoy finding something you've been trying to locate for ages.

12. Change your breakfast menu for one week.

13. Plan to record family history as a legacy to your family members.

I think you can change your routine and add brightness to your terribly dull life by just thinking up things to add to this list.

***

Also in my file of useless collectibles is this on "Changing Times With Father."

4 years: My Daddy can do anything.

7 years: My dad knows a lot, a whole lot.

8 years: My Father doesn't quite know everything.

12 years: Oh well, naturally Father doesn't know everything.

14 years: Father? Hopelessly old-fashioned.

21 years: Oh that man is out of date. What did you expect?

25 years: He knows a little bit about it, but not much.

30 years: Must find out what Dad thinks about it.

35 years: A little patience, let's get Dad's meaning first.

50 years: What would Dad have thought about it?

60 years: My Dad knew literally everything.

65 years: I wish I could talk it over with Dad once more.

Rudeness appalling

I've never expressed myself in a letter before, but I felt a need to reach out to more than just one individual with the outrage I felt toward at least one patron of a new area restaurant on M-15.

Our family and friends were happy to find another restaurant in Clarkston. We were very satisfied with the eatery. They have really good food, priced right, a great atmosphere and, what we've enjoyed most, a friendly staff.

We know that if you arrive after 5 p.m., you can expect to wait to be seated. It is simply a very popular place. We use the time to sit and chat with our family or friends or the other patrons as they enter the restaurant. However, some people are so rude that I wonder how the staff maintains their friendly service.

One "gentleman" began badgering a hostess and actually sunk to the level of name-calling and demanded to speak to the manager. As a table for six became available, he smugly felt that his rude behavior had gotten him a table instead of the fact that it was simply his turn from the waiting list.

Another individual tried to bypass the hostess and the waiting list and pulled a waiter over to get him a table.

I think these people should be stoned by everyone else who has patiently and courteously waited to be seated (or at least thrown out of the restaurant). No one should expect to be given preferential treatment over others already waiting for service.

If we do not treat people with the respect with which we in turn wish to be treated, we will force the friendly staff at the restaurant into becoming your typical staff "with a bad attitude."

Please, think before you let your anger get the best of you. Enjoy the people around you and relax while waiting for a table.

For the staff at the new restaurant, we should be ashamed if we haven't told you: Thank you for the very friendly service you provide. Keep up the good work in spite of some of the obnoxious people or pompous jerks you meet out there.

Margaret Ellis and family

Police doing fine

Those people who feel that the Clarkston Police are overzealous should check the statistics.

If 17,000 cars pass through the village each day and an average of 4.6 receive tickets, that's only 0.027 percent. In other words, your chances are one in 3,695 of receiving a ticket. Admittedly, these odds are better than winning the Publisher's Clearing House Sweepstakes, but certainly not indicative of a "speed trap."

Pick any spot along Main Street, between Miller and Washington, and you could write 4.6 tickets per minute during a typical day. Village residents have waited a long time to have the speed limits enforced and now it is happening — hooray!

Every time I see those flashing lights, it lifts my spirits. It's proof positive that right here in the village, laws are being enforced. What a unique concept! Tax dollars are actually making a visible difference.

Chief DeVore and the Clarkston Village Police are doing a great job. A few merchants are being alarmists, and those who complain about their tickets in the paper should do it in court.

McGee's closet isn't just frozen in time

Jim Fitzgerald

There was a terrible crashing noise in the kitchen, where I happened to be at the time, in pain. "What was that?" my wife hollered from the living room.

"I'm so glad you asked," I hollered back. "That was two pork tenderloins dated Jan. 26, 1992. Also pork ribs (boneless) to grind with ham for loaf dated Dec. 15, 1992; two chicken thighs and two chicken legs dated Nov. 19, 1989, and three ground round patties dated Oct. 14, 1990."

I read those words and dates, just as she'd printed them, off the wrapping on the four packages of frozen-rock-solid meat that had just fallen on my stocking feet.

"When it comes to an accident report, I am a police investigator's dream," I said, "Not only can I precisely identify the flying projectiles that broke my toes, I can give the exact date that these weapons were put in place and aimed to maim."

Feeling weak and in need of nourishment, I'd opened the freezer compartment of the ice box in search of the Snickers ice cream bar prescribed by my marriage counselor. It was no surprise that I was attacked by hard meat. For older readers, it is sufficient explanation simply to invoke Fibber McGee's closet.

For younger readers, Fibber starred on a radio sitcom when radios had legs instead of earphones. The McGees kept everything they owned in a hall closet that couldn't be opened without causing an avalanche.

Also for younger readers, "ice box is what we used to call the refrigerator. Beckoned by a window sign, a large muscular man would shoulder a huge block of ice into your kitchen and deposit it in the ice box. My mother always warned me to get out of the way for fear a careless iceman might drop a block on me. Little did Mother know that her little boy would grow up to marry a woman who makes a careless iceman look like Percy Caution.

I have a lot of fun in the kitchen. Recently we returned home from a short motor trip, and the first thing my wife did was switch on the kitchen light and announce: "It's too dark in here. One of the ceiling lights must be burned out."

It was an impending technological failure that I'd long dreaded. Several years ago my wife had the kitchen remodeled, and the biggest change was the installation of a ceiling light fixture about half the size of a basketball court. I knew for sure that some day one of the fluorescent tubes inside would burn out, and someone would have to get on a ladder and remove that huge fixture without breaking it or his neck. My only hope was I'd burn out first.

But now she was positive the kitchen illumination had dimmed. I couldn't see it, but what do I know? I go in the kitchen only when I need a busted foot. So I found a screwdriver, dragged out the ladder, and began risking great aggravation, not to mention my life. But:

"Never mind," she said. "I forgot to take off my sunglasses."

What really gets me is her pet TV Peeve. It came up again during a recent episode of "Murphy Brown." One of the characters was having an exasperating phone conversation with his elderly parents. It was obvious that he thought his mother was perhaps lovable but certainly added.

"TV is always doing that, and I hate it," my wife said. She keeps a written score. She said there was a similar obnoxious-old-mom plot twist on "Seinfeld" and "Mad About You" just the week before.

She complained: "They always make the mother or mother-in-law look like an unreasonable weirdo who drives her poor unfortunate husband crazy." Imagine that.

Clarkston's priorities summarized

Our assistant superintendent in charge of curriculum and instruction is David Reschke, and he recently completed a brief summary of curriculum priorities for Clarkston schools. These five priorities are important because they will continue to drive our decision-making about what we teach and how we teach it.

Curriculum priority number one for Clarkston is the completion of the core curriculum for all eight subject areas. This will be a priority for at least two years.

The Michigan Legislature and the Michigan Department of Education continue to influence curriculum activities in Clarkston. Public Act 25 has instructed all districts to review Core Curriculum. Clarkston is currently doing this in detail in social studies and science, with early efforts beginning in language arts. (This process was completed in mathematics in 1992.)

This process requires us to identify broad-based student outcomes for each subject area, to follow these with enabling outcomes for students in each course of study, and to define a process for measuring student achievement based on the student outcomes. An evaluation of new curriculum must also be part of this process.

Raising our expectations for success on the MEAP test and implementing an appropriate plan is our second priority.

Pressures from Congress, the Michigan Department of Education and the public to improve student achievement as measured by the MEAP test will set our second priority.

Our scores overall have declined. Each building principal must begin to work with staff and students to take steps to improve student abilities as measured by MEAP. Especially important is the certification of graduates in the class of 1995 and beyond.

Students must successfully pass 50 percent of the objectives in math and science and must pass either Category 1 or Category 2 in reading. In the class of 1995, 85 percent of our students have passed the science test, 70 percent have passed the reading test and 62.5 percent have passed the math test.

A third priority must be to support and develop our school improvement teams.

School improvement planning at each building has progressed well this year. Important and exciting efforts to identify improvement goals are underway in each school.

This school improvement effort must continue, with an eye toward improved student achievement. The driving force of school improvement should come from broad-based student outcomes identified by the district and the building.

District level outcomes (goals areas) are defined in the 1989 District Curriculum Handbook. These goals need to be reviewed and translated into working outcomes. Each subject area must update these as work continues on Core Curriculum development.

A fourth priority is to examine the entire strategic plan and process in light of budget concerns and employee and citizen involvement.

The long-range planning process as defined by our strategic planning committee has begun to give us a focus for decision-making as a district. Approximately 35 percent of all tasks included in the five-year plan were accomplished in the first year. This fall, we had our first annual update, and our new strategies were recommended. It is a goal to complete the action plans by May and review them in June.

A fifth priority is to provide appropriate staff training for the core curriculum, for the MEAP program, for school improvement and for long-range planning.

This will include finishing the Cooperative Learning groups already established, working with the kindergarten and first-grade staffs on developmentally appropriate practices, and conducting in-service training in content areas such as reading, math and science.

So these five high priorities will continue to drive decision-making in curriculum and staff development:

- develop a core curriculum for PA 25 requirements
- improving achievement as measured by MEAP
- supporting change through the School Improvement process

- examining our strategic plan
- developing staff to support these priorities

These priorities are exciting challenges. We will address them with steady effort over time.

Concerned over school bus driver

My children attend Clarkston Elementary School and ride a bus.

Since the first week of school, there have been problems with the bus driver. She screams at the children, calls them names and misses bus stops.

On a particularly snowy day, the bus got stuck in a ditch, and she screamed at the children to "shut up" or else the bus will tip over. The children were 45 minutes late in arriving home. I was worried sick, and they came into the house in tears.

Since the first week of school, I have expressed my concern repeatedly to the manager of the bus station, the principal of the school, and went as far as to complain to the Clarkston Board of Education.

I have asked if I'm the only parent complaining and have been told that they have received numerous complaints against this bus driver. To date, there has not been any change in the driver.

I realize that driving a bus is not an easy job. The children are not all angels. But since the first week of school, there have been many problems with the driver, and I personally have called at least six or seven times to express my concern.

I am to the point where I'm afraid to let the children ride the bus. Not only do I worry about their safety, but I also worry about what kind of screaming and insults they will hear.

We pay high taxes in this city and expect polite, safety-conscious people driving the buses. I believe that the bus driver does not have the temperament for this job and should be replaced by someone who does.

The children have to respect and listen to the bus driver, but the driver also has to respect the children. If children are misbehaving, and I'm sure they do, they should be dealt with accordingly—and the driver's anger and frustration should not be taken out on the whole bus. I'm very concerned and feel that nothing is being done to protect our children.

Thank you for letting me express my concern.

Elderly housing needed in area

I was pleased to see in the March 17 Clarkston News that the Independence Township Planning Commission has supported the developments of additional low-density housing for the elderly in the township.

In view of the township's past liberal use of Planned Unit Developments (PUD) to avoid density restrictions in township zoning ordinances which tend to benefit real estate developers, it would seem that township officials owe it to the seniors of Independence Township to make a good faith effort at accommodating this proposal, taking into consideration the concerns of those who protest "not in my back yard."

In my past service in government, I have witnessed the plight of the elderly and mentally handicapped along with the difficulties surrounding placement of such persons in the community.

Having the benefit of this experience, I encourage the board, regardless of how their votes will be cast in this particular issue, to make it a policy of Independence Township to support the expansion of elderly housing in the community whenever reasonable.

Those of you who oppose efforts to provide decent housing for the elderly in the community should remember that the elderly seeking your support today were once in your position, and one day you may be in theirs.

Surname Index a goldmine of history

BY VIRGINIA BLOCK

Oakland County is steeped in local history that draws interest from all over the world, notably the U.S. and Canada. In our area we are fortunate to be located in the center of "Pioneers" who traveled to this part of the "new" northwest territory that opened up Michigan to expand our horizons.

Local genealogy and historical societies prove to be goldmine repositories for information needed in researching family lineage. Most groups welcome memberships that provide expanded volunteer hours to aid in manning their museums or libraries; help with publishing cemetery records, surname indices, local histories, or newsletters and quarterlies.

To aid you in your research endeavors, we will invite your input from your society for meetings, announcements, publication releases, etc.

Sharing is the way to communicate via this column. We are reviewing Volume IV of the Surname Index recently published by the Oakland County Genealogical Society.

Previously they have published "First Land Owners of Oakland Co."; Michigan Federal Census of Oakland Co. for 1860; Marriage Returns for Oakland to 1836-1884, and many others. Soon to be published helpful titles include an 1890 Special Census (Veterans and Widows) for Oakland Co., and an 1857 plat map for Oakland, Co.

For a complete list of their large list of available (or soon to be published) materials and prices, write them: Oakland Co. Genealogical Soc., P.O. Box 1094, Birmingham Mich, 48012.

James Inghram, of Lake Orion has found a trip to the court house on Telegraph Rd. very worthwhile. Clues leading him to Mt. Clemens Library proved fruitful in providing some information on Samuel Bellis but much more on his spouse, Eliza Benjamin.

In the "I.G.I." file of the Pontiac Area Historical and Genealogical Soc., we were able to go back about 4 generations for the Benjamin family, but lack leads on Samuel's ancestry beyond 1850 census records from the Mt. Clemens (Washington Twp.) area.

Margaret Fisher is currently looking for early records on George B. Fisher and we have found a listing for his marriage to Amanda Reeves in 1849 in Pontiac, so we are sure that will be helpful for starts.

Doing a family health profile of your ancestors' death records for just 2 generations is vital to your own survival. It usually requires information/knowledge of just your parents and grand parents to provide the important data needed, so send for your free group sheets soon. Let us know where you are stuck and we'll lend a hand.

HAPPY HUNTING!

Township gives $8,000 to non-profit groups

In keeping with tradition, Independence Township has made its annual contributions to three local organizations.

On March 16, the township board unanimously approved $14,500 in total contributions to SCAMP, Common Ground and Clarkston Area Youth Assistance (CAYA).

This year, CAYA receives $8,000, while SCAMP and Common Ground collect $6,000 and $500 respectively. These amounts are equal to contributions approved by the board last year. The three non-profit groups help youth and the needy in the area.

School board candidates must file petitions soon

Citizens interested in running for the Clarkston Board of Education must file petitions by April 12.

Two four-year seats are up for election. These seats are presently held by trustees Karen Foyteck and Paul Van Klaveren.

The school election is slated for June 14.

Candidates for these vacancies may pick up nominating petitions at the Clarkston schools administrative building, 6389 Clarkston Road, Independence Township. All petitions must be filed with the secretary of the board of education no later than 4 p.m. on Monday, April 12.

For more information, call 625-4402.

Little-league players to use Shiawassee

Some area youngsters soon will play ball in brand-new fields at Shiawassee park.

The Springfield Township Board voted 5 to 1 March 11 to allow the Davisburg Youth Athletic Association to use two ball fields from April 1 through July. Trustee Margaret Bloom voted no, and Trustee Elaine Field-Smith was absent.

The athletic association was formed three years ago and currently organizes baseball and softball leagues for boys and girls ages 7-15. The games are conducted during the week in the evening, so working parents can participate in their children's activities. The DYAA is run by volunteers and only the umpires are paid.

The players will use the fields Monday through Friday. During April, they will use 4-8 p.m., and during the season they will play from 5:30 p.m. until dark.

The motion also stated that at least one day from Monday through Friday, one of the fields must be left open for others to play on.

CARPETMASTER'S CARPET TIPS

HELP FOR THE FRAZZLED CARPET SHOPPER

If you're feeling anxious about buying new carpet, you're not alone. Carpet shopping can be frustrating as well as confusing. But it doesn't have to be.

Your carpet choice is an important one. Choose carefully, and it will be a decision you'll live with for many years.

Before you begin shopping, make sure you're fully prepared. Consider everything that will affect your carpet choice.

Do you have children, pets, frequent visitors? These cause more everyday wear, so choose a durable carpet like a frieze or a dense saxony.

What type of room will you be carpeting? Will it be used often or not? Will people be eating or drinking there? Nylon, Acrylic and Nylon/Acrylic combinations are good choices for rooms subject to food and beverage spills.

What decorating style have you chosen? Do you have a color scheme in mind? Do you want to coordinate the carpet with any other furnishings? Bring upholstery and drapery samples along while you shop to insure your carpet choice achieves your desired look.

How much of your decorating budget will be used for carpeting? Most people shopping for quality can expect to spend $15-30 per square yard. Keep in mind, the real carpet price includes carpet, padding, installation, and the cost of regular maintenance. If you can, calculate your cost per year.

At Carpetmaster our experts can help you evaluate your needs and supply the right floor coverings for your needs.

If you have questions about purchasing your floor covering, call 627-4974 or write Carpetmaster, 1591 M-15, Ortonville, 48462.

10-year celebration

On March 18, North Oakland Home Health Care, Inc., of Clarkston celebrated 10 years of delivering home health care to the homebound.

Plans for the agency were begun by Clarkston resident Maria Baylis in November 1982. On March 18, 1983, The non-profit agency fulfilled all federal and state regulations and requirements and was certified as a provider for Medicare, Blue Cross and Medicaid by the State of Michigan Department of Public Health.

The agency—on M-15, Independence Township—offers such services as nursing, physical therapy, speech therapy, occupational therapy, medical social worker, home health aid, and the services of a registered dietitian. These services are covered by Medicare, BCBS, Medicaid and other third-party payors if specific criteria are met by the patient.

A patient must be in need of skilled services, be under the care of a physician and unable to leave his or her home without assistance.

Baylis has found that an increasing number of people in today's society meet these requirements and need the skilled services of these professionally trained medical personnel.

Over the years, Baylis discovered that some people do not meet the requirements to satisfy third-party payors yet still need some kind of help in their home.

So in September 1992, Baylis started North Oakland Caregivers, Inc., to provide services to people who need help with daily living activities.

With the services provided by the two companies, many people have avoided an extended hospital stay or placement in a nursing home.

The Phantom of Bailey Lake

By Beverly Territo

A Phantom, a Phantom,
It lurks in dark places.
Then, like the swiftest of runners in the swiftest of races,
A black fuzzy bullet shoots through narrow spaces.
Screeching or silent, it zips through its paces.

It ran in the bathrooms.
It jumped in the gym.
It gnawed props on the stage,
And we said, "Let's get him!"

The the Hero of Heroes did lay a snare
Great Gary the Mighty (known sometimes as "Gare")
Said, "We'll catch it and stop it from causing such fright,
And end dark deposits it leaves in the night."

"We'll stop all his chewing.
We'll stop all his gnawing.
We'll stop all the scratching,
And scraping, and clawing."

The Gym storeroom was chosen the scene of demise.
Marsh found the caught Phantom, and what a surprise ...

Not a gerbil nor hamster,
Nor raccoon would it be.
Not even a mouse or a rat
Did we see.

Instead, in the sticky entrapment was spewed
We saw and discovered that ...
We had been "Shrew-ed."

Beverly Territo of Independence Township volunteers at Bailey Lake Elementary School. She said this poem was inspired by a little critter spooking the halls of Bailey Lake Elementary School, until maintenance supervisor Gary Sommers trapped the offender — in teacher Darrell Marsh's physical education office-storeroom.

Springfield tries new planner — for now

If you have questions only a planner can answer, worry no longer.

The Springfield Township Board voted 5-1 March 11 to hire a new planner on a trial basis. The new planner will have a three-month probation.

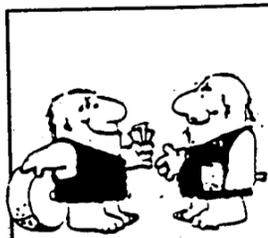

Treasurer Lois Stiles stated, "I'm not convinced this is the way we should go, but I'm willing to give it a try."

The planner, who will be part of Carlisle Associates, will work in the Springfield Township office at least one day a week and will be available for phone consultations the rest of the week. It's possible that the planner will work in the office two days a week, but only with the approval of two of the three officers on the board.

The annual cost is estimated to be $20,000 — over $12,000 less than what had been budgeted.

Trustee Charles Oaks cast the lone no voting saying, "This is going against what we originally wanted. We wanted someone on a daily basis."

Trustee Elaine Field-Smith was absent from the meeting.

DDA talks about White Lake Road

If you're curious about the future of the White Lake Road area, now's the time to find out.

The Independence Township Downtown Development Authority is to conduct an informational meeting to discuss improvements to White Lake Road, primarily an industrial zone.

The meeting takes place at 6 p.m. Monday, March 29, at the township annex, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston.

The approved DDA plan for this corridor from Dixie Highway to Andersonville Road includes water, sewer, drainage, safety paths and road construction, including widening and re-alignment.

The DDA was formed to improve parts of Dixie Highway and M-15 in the township. It uses tax increment financing, which "captures" excess taxes from a base year and uses the money for improvements within the DDA district.

Health insurance bids could save school money

BY DOUG CARLSON

There's a great deal of speculation these days as to how each of us will be affected by the forthcoming national health care plan. It's pretty clear, however, that Hillary Clinton's task force could have a significant impact on many people.

With this thought in mind, I found a recent editorial in the Detroit News to be extremely interesting. It had to do with the Michigan Education Special Services Association (MESSA), which is involved in providing health care benefits to the teachers.

MESSA is at the heart of the business operations of the Michigan Education Association (MEA), the teachers' union that operates out of Lansing. The Clarkston Education Association (CEA) is a part of the MEA.

MESSA manages the health insurance contracts in over 300 Michigan school districts, including our own. They are not an insurance underwriter. They're what is called a "third party administrator," a group that manages and administers health care coverage of providers such as Blue Cross/Blue Shield. These third party administrators are not unusual in the insurance industry.

MESSA is a rich source of cash for MEA operations as they funnel some of their earnings back to the MEA each year for services rendered. For example, they paid the MEA $1.4 million in 1991 and $1.5 million in 1992.

As a result of the affiliation with the MEA, MESSA has a great deal of clout. School districts that try to place their insurance business with other agencies or companies, thus avoiding MESSA's costs, run the risk of a strike by the MEA.

Saginaw tried to switch from a MESSA-administered plan several years ago and found this to be one of the issues that resulted in a strike. On the other hand, Troy and Bloomfield Hills school districts placed their health care coverage up for bid and saved $65,000 and $305,000 respectively.

Many districts don't even ask for competitive bids, preferring to deal with MESSA as a means of buying labor peace.

Independence Township taxpayers should be asking the following two questions: What services does MESSA provide that we can't get directly from Blue Cross/Blue Shield, or some HMO, and how much more is MESSA costing us?

According to 1991 testimony before the state House Appropriations Committee by an official of the Michigan Association of School Boards, full family coverage for one Saginaw teacher for one month was $442.69 under the MESSA contract. The same coverage obtained directly from Blue Cross/Blue Shield would have been $299.25.

When you multiply the difference by the number of employees covered, you can see how the savings of tens of thousands of dollars are possible. And keep in mind that this is money that could then be spent on the students.

It would be interesting to know how much Clarkston is paying for full family medical coverage for our teachers and how much could be saved if we put this benefit package up for competitive bid. As things stand now, this is the only teacher benefit that is not put up for bid.

If Troy and Bloomfield Hills can save tens of thousands of dollars in this manner, why can't we do the same?

We keep hearing that the teachers are interested primarily in doing what's best for the kids. Then they should have no objection to giving the board an attempt to save money on health insurance premiums, money that could then be funneled back into the school system.

I think the Clarkston Board of Education owes it to the taxpayers to look into the health care portion of our contract with the CEA and negotiate a benefit that will be beneficial to the teachers and cost-effective for the taxpayers. Of course, this would have to be done when the contract comes up for renewal.

I firmly believe that most residents would rather see their tax dollars used to education our children as opposed to having them go into the treasury of the MEA.

Doug Carlson resides in Independence Township.

Experienced squad dreams of state title

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Last year, the Clarkston varsity boys' baseball team capped off a great season with league and districts crowns.

So, with 12 seniors coming back, it's easy to see why the Wolves are expecting bigger and better things in 1993.

Coach Roy Warner is impressed with his team and believes it can improve on last year's record of 22-9 overall.

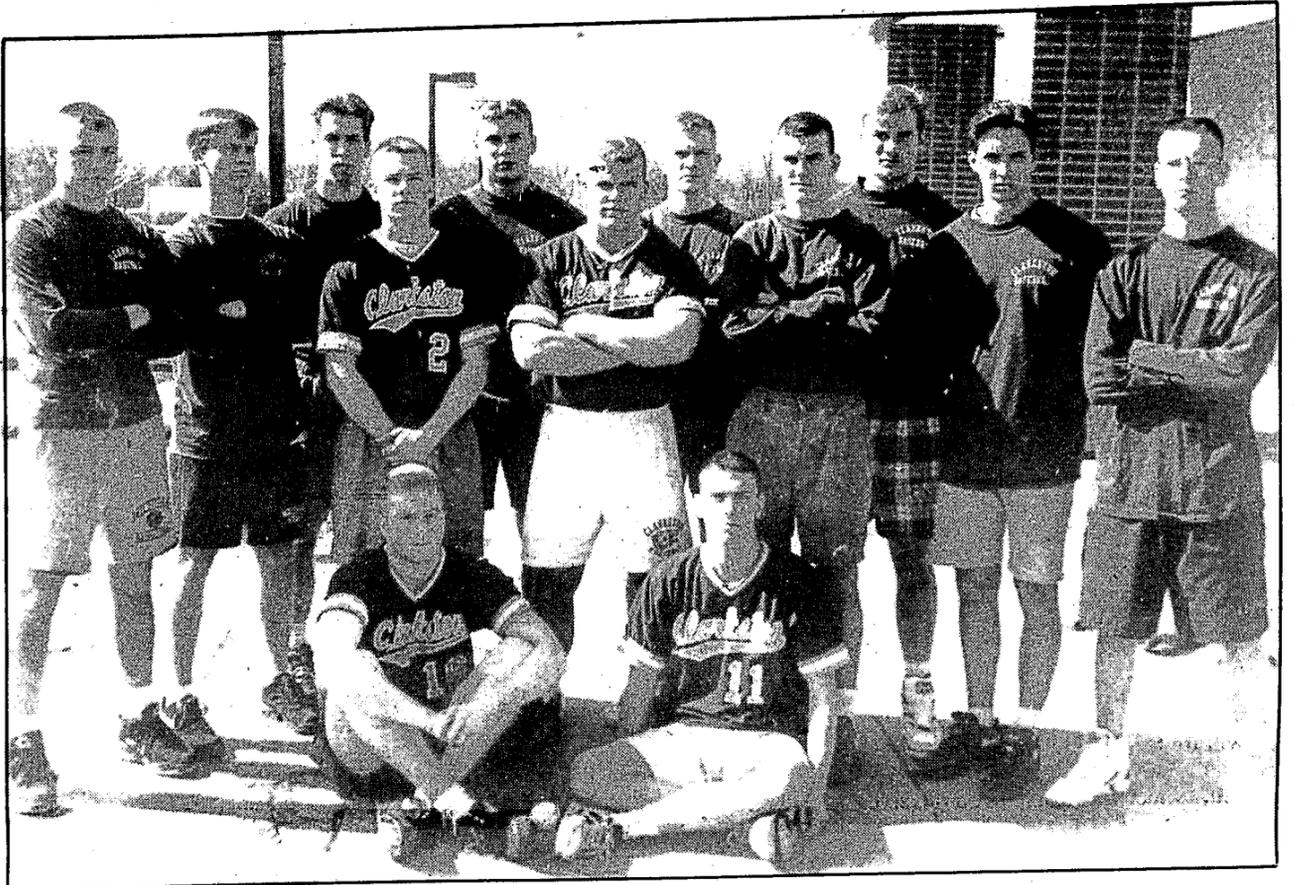

"I hope we can get as far as last year. And I hope we're the last Class A team not to lose at the end of the season," he said, cautiously. "With our experience, we have the potential of being a very good ball team."

Offensively, the Wolves shouldn't be lacking for fire power. They'll be relying on the bats of seniors Matt Underwood

"With our experience, we have the potential of being a very good ball team."

Coach Roy Warner

(402, 26 RBI), Tom Doyon (.356, 15 stolen bases) and Chris Combs (.319, 23 RBI). Infielders Doyon and Underwood were all-district and all-league performers last season. Combs was a second-team All-GOAL selection at catcher.

THE CHS varsity baseball team will be counting on a heavy contingent of seniors this season if they hope to improve on last year's campaign.

Outfielder Brent Bundridge also racked up some impressive numbers last year (.330, 12 stolen bases, 27 RBI). The junior was named to the GOAL's second-team in 1992.

Defensively, the Wolves should be solid, Warner said. He has seven players who could take the mound in 1993.

Spearheading the pitching ranks is Eric Ryan, who amassed a record of 8-1, 2 saves in 1992. The hard-throwing senior had an earned run average of 2.39 last season, earning him all-district and all-league accolades.

The Wolves will also be relying on the arm of senior Eric Carlson, who had a record of 2-1, 3 saves in 1992. With an earned run average of 3.98, he was named the squad's most improved player last year.

Other potential pitchers include: junior Matt Goebel, senior Jeff Marshall, senior Aaron Phillips, senior Adam Rice and senior player-manager Mike Wood.

When asked if he considers CHS the early GOAL favorite, Warner answered guardedly.

"I guess you could say that, but, first, we gotta play a game to know," he said.

Besides Clarkston, Warner said Waterford Kettering and Waterford Mott should field good squads in 1993.

The Wolves' first game is April 5 when they host Lakeland.

Recreation Roundup

MARSHMALLOW DROP

Children ages 3-10 are invited to Clintonwood Park to gather marshmallows and for a special appearance from the Easter Bunny. Tickets are available from the Parks and Recreation Department, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays until Friday, April 2. On-site tickets will be available only if the event is not sold out prior to April 3. Pre-registered cost is $2 per resident, $3 per non-resident. On-site cost is $3 per resident, $4 per non-resident.

KIDS CRAFT CORNER

Parents take an active role in this class to help their child create an Easter project designed to enhance self-esteem and coordination. For children ages 2 1/2 to 5, the class is 12:30-1:15 p.m. Tuesday, April 6. Cost is $8 per parent/child combination.

KISSING BUNNIES

Have fun making your own smoochin' boy and girl bunny. For ages 6 and older, the class is 4-6 p.m. Saturday, April 17.

Wolves hope to improve last year's finish

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

With a strong contingent of returning lettermen, coach Walt Wyniemko feels the boys' track team has a legitimate shot at the league crown.

"We're going to be relying on our seniors a lot this season," the coach of 14 years said. "We'll be especially strong in the field events, with a good, balanced attack overall."

"We've got the talent to make a good go of it," Wyniemko added.

Last year, the Wolves garnered a dual meet record of 4-2 and placed third at the GOAL meet, behind Pontiac Northern and Lake Orion. Since then, they've lost their lone state qualifier, long jumper Dan Griffiths, to graduation.

"We'll be especially strong in the field events, with a good, balanced attack overall."

Coach Walt Wyniemko

However, several key performers are back in 1993.

In the field events, senior Steve Locher will try to defend his GOAL title in the pole vault, while team MVP Steve Bennett, a senior, tries to improve on his sixth-place vault in 1992.

Senior Kyle Powell returns to throw

THE CLARKSTON boys' varsity track team will need big performances from several seniors this season if they want a crack at the league crown.

the discus and shot put for CHS. Last year, he took second place, respectively, in both events at the conference meet. Senior Steve Hunkele took fourth place in the shot at the GOAL meet and is looking to improve on that performance.

Clarkston will rely on a trio of senior speedsters to carry the bulk of the sprinting load. They are Greg Fisher, Andy Howe and Bennett.

Wyniemko considers senior Steve

Cohoon his top middle distance threat and taps senior Brad Patterson as his best long distance runner.

A lot is expected of sophomore J.R. Kirk, who was named the team's most improved player in 1992. He'll compete in the hurdles, high jump and long jump.

Wyniemko considers Pontiac Northern and Lake Orion to be Clarkston's toughest opponents this season. However, he added that everyone looks good on paper.

"At this point, everyone's 0-0, so you just go for it early," Wyniemko said. "If we continue to work hard, good things will happen. We should be very competitive this year."

Clarkston's first meet of the year is at the co-ed Andover Relays on April 3.

Girls intend to keep track title at CHS

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Championships are difficult to defend because everyone wants a shot at the top.

Just ask the members of the Clarkston girls' varsity track team, who'll try to defend a string of five consecutive GOAL titles this season.

"It'll probably come down to us and Pontiac Northern as usual," said coach Gordie Richardson. "Those meets are usually dog fights, whose outcome is determined by just a couple of points. They've got some great runners coming back, so we'll have to be ready."

This year, Richardson is dealing with a team of 40 girls, consisting of 19 freshman. Despite the squad's youth, the coach is anxious to test his raw recruits.

"Luckily, we've got good track programs at both junior high schools, so the kids are coming in prepared," he said. "It's just a matter of finding out where they'll best fit in."

"We'll probably have four or five freshman come in and fill a role right away, but it's all guesswork at this point,"

"Luckily, we've got good track programs at both junior high schools, so the kids are coming in prepared."

Coach Gordie Richardson

Richardson added.

Even though half the team is new, the Wolves aren't lacking for experience or talent.

"We've got pretty good depth," said Richardson. "We don't possess blazing speed; but adequate speed. Our returning letter winners have enough talent to see us through most the meets."

Clarkston should be strong in the field events, with the return of three seasoned veterans.

Junior Kristen Stanton is back, looking to improve on her seventh-place finish in the high jump at the state meet last year.

Seniors Rachel Seifferlein and Michelle Wade also return to toss the discus and the shot put. Last season, Seifferlein was second in total meet points for CHS. She was also a state qualifier for the shot put in 1991.

Richardson is also counting on a trio of hurdlers: senior Cara Rayner, junior Shannon Binkley and junior Derenda Howard. Junior Angie Brown continues to be the Wolves' top sprinter as well as a pivotal part of the sprint relay teams.

The Wolves will also rely on sophomore Carey Haven in the middle-distance events.

Sophomore Leah Scharl is expected to dominate the long-distance events, especially the 3200 meter run, which she ran at the 1992 state meet. Scharl is already considered one of the county's top cross country runners, after earning all-state honors last fall.

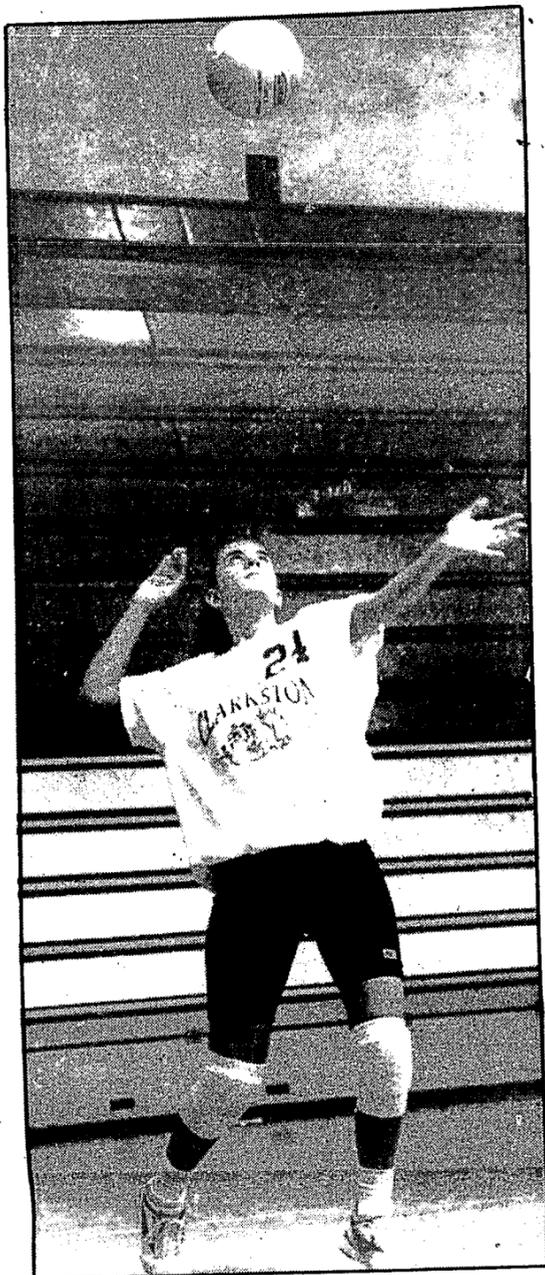

With only a few weeks worth of practice under their belts, the squad has already impressed their coach.

"The girls have really worked hard so far," he said. "I'm excited about our prospects for this season."

"What's amazing is that they really enjoy the weight room," Richardson said, surprisingly. "Ten years ago, I couldn't drag anybody in there."

Wolves to rely on speed, defense this year

CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

With speed and experience on its side, the Clarkston varsity girls' softball team could make the GOAL race very interesting this season.

Coach Al Land says he expects a lot of improvement over last year's team, which went 10-15 overall and finished fourth in the league.

"We're a much improved team," said Land. "Last year, 90 percent of our squad was made up of sophomores, who've all returned as juniors. Last season was kind

"We're very balanced in the field, and we've got some girls who can flat out run. We should be a fun team to watch this year."

Coach Al Land

of a learning year for most our players.

"However, we've got a lot of good talent back, so, with a break here and there, we should challenge for the GOAL title," he added.

Land lists speed and defense as his squad's greatest assets.

"We're very balanced in the field, and we've got some girls who can flat out run," he said. "We should be a fun team to watch this year."

Land said his two quickest players are freshman Stephanie Giroux and junior Laura Seitz, who'll bat one and two in the order. The coach is really high on Giroux, who like Seitz, is a left-handed hitter.

"Gordie Richardson (varsity girls' track coach) was pretty disappointed that Giroux didn't go out for the track team," Land said. "He's told me that he considers Stephanie to be one of the fastest girls in the county."

Land also expects big things out of his number three hitter, junior Shawna Greene, as well as senior co-captains Heather Austin and Alyson McChesney.

"I'm really counting on Heather and Alyson for their power and leadership," he said of his All-GOAL performers. "They should drive in a lot of runs for us this year."

Austin will play third base and pitch, while McChesney splits duties at first base and catcher. Another pair of seniors — infielder Lisa Rotundo and outfielder Missy Phillips — will also be expected to step forward in the field and at the plate.

Land said the one weakness his team probably has is in the pitching department. Austin returns as the only experienced pitcher, but Land believes he's found a diamond in the rough.

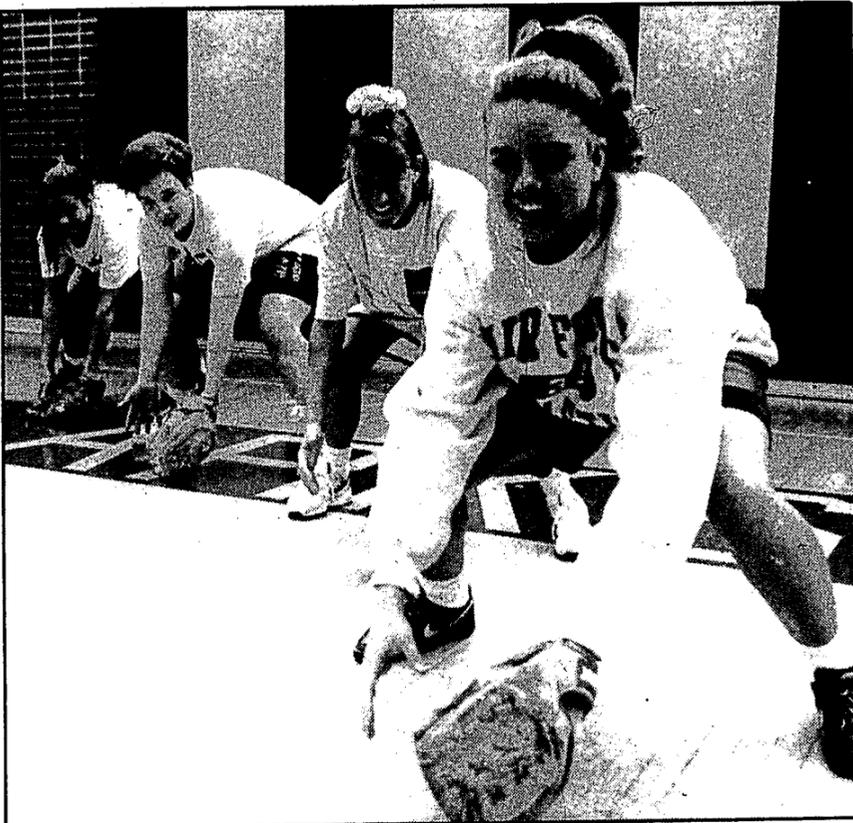

"Junior Erin Patterson has really been working hard as a pitcher and has made impressive strides," he said. "She only took up pitching last year, so it's been a learning process for her. But I think she'll do just fine this season."

Land considers Waterford Mott the pre-season forerunner, followed by Brandon and Waterford Kettering. He isn't counting his own squad out, however.

"It's going to be a difficult climb, but we have a chance to surprise some people," Land said.

Clarkston's first game is April 5 when they host Lakeland.

Kids home alone can face difficulties

A national survey commissioned by Camp Fire Boys and Girls shows how teens feel about the time they spent home alone when they were younger.

The results of the independent survey of 509 teenagers ages 13-18 may not be as dramatic as the popular movie or the recent rash of child-abandonment cases, but it showed that some youngsters faced difficult situations.

On average, youth say they were 11 years old the first time they stayed home alone after school and 12 years old the first time they stayed home alone from school when sick.

Some of the key findings:

- Looking back on their childhood, teens have mixed feelings about being home alone after school. More than half (52 percent) said it wasn't a problem to go home to an empty house after school when they were 12 or younger, but 48 percent said they disliked it.

- Many youths faced emergency or potentially dangerous situations while at home with no adult present:

- Received a prank phone call (61 percent)
- Stranger came to the door (54 percent)
- Electricity went out (34 percent)
- Called 911, police or fire department (5 percent)
- Had a fire (4 percent)
- Gave emergency care to a sibling who was sick or injured (4 percent)

■ Teens are divided on whether time spent home alone as a child creates stress or teaches personal responsibility.

■ One-fifth of teens (22 percent) took care of younger family members when they were age 10 or younger.

■ Nine respondents had someone try to break into their home (seven of those live in cities with at least 500,000 population).

Camp Fire recommends that children role-play various emergency situations so they have opportunities to practice making the right decisions.

Jeremy Leach bone marrow drive Wednesday, April 7

A bone marrow drive for Clarkston High sophomore Jeremy Leach is planned for next Wednesday.

The event takes place 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. April 7 at the Boy Scouts of America building, 1100 County Center Drive West, Waterford (at Telegraph, 1/2 mile south of Dixie Highway).

Donors must be ages 18-55 and in good health, must agree to give two tablespoons of blood to be tested and must consent to be included on the National Bone Marrow Program Registry. The procedure is free to donors.

Joel Leach of Springfield Township, Jeremy's father, said the American Red Cross is conducting the drive at a cost of $45 per person. The test normally costs around $100 per person. Community fund-raisers will pay for the testing, he said.

"Fund-raising is going very well. There are can and bottle drives at the county, in Lake Orion schools, in Clarkston schools. ... I can't even keep up," he said. "My mom even had a concert in Ann Arbor. She plays the piano. It costs $3,000."

Leach said his son entered the hospital Tuesday for four days of chemotherapy.

"He's been feeling pretty well. I guess we're just getting nervous," he said, adding that a bone marrow match is all that's needed to begin the procedure to save his son's life.

Chances are one in 40,000 that a match will be found, he said, explaining that the challenge is to test as many people as possible.

To be tested next Wednesday or for more information, call Maureen Gillis at 858-0309, David Higgins at 858-0316, or Joanne at 858-0303.

To donate money to help pay for the testing, send checks to My Friends Care Bone Marrow Transplant Fund (with Jeremy Leach's name somewhere on the check), P.O. Box 48347-0541, Clarkston, MI 48347. Or donate at the bone marrow drive next Wednesday.

From Our Perspective

Testing student performance

Doug Carlson

This is Innovation No. 5 from the U.S. News and World Report article, "The Perfect School."

Testing student performance

Last spring, 140,000 Kentucky fourth-, eighth- and 12th-graders took a revolutionary set of statewide tests. It included projects requiring small groups of students to synthesize knowledge from a number of different subjects, as well as portfolios of students' writing gathered during the school year.

Mandated by Kentucky lawmakers as part of a sweeping 1990 school reform package, the new tests are a sharp departure from the low-level, largely multiple-choice tests that the nation has relied on to gauge the performance of its schools.

Already, the Kentucky tests are presenting a truer picture of what students are learning — and not learning. What's more, they are sparking teaching and curriculum reforms in many Kentucky classrooms. Reformers in other states are turning to these new "performance" tests as well.

Educators have become increasingly dissatisfied with the rote learning and lowly skills measured by standardized tests and with their effect on teaching. To get students ready for multiple-choice exams, teachers spend weeks drilling them on work sheets and other dull exercises. By contrast, the more sophisticated Kentucky tests demand a different-kind of classroom instruction.

"Kids are being asked not only for the answer but also for how they got it," says Lennie Hay, principal of the 600-student J. Graham Brown School in downtown Louisville. Geometry students, for example, not only solve problems but also provide prose explanations of their reasoning.

The new tests have enlivened teaching in many classrooms and encouraged the kind of interdisciplinary thinking that school reformers have been calling for elsewhere. Such work is necessary preparation for the rigorous thinking required in the exams. One question on last year's test, for instance, posited that Washington, D.C., had been bombed and asked students to draft the outline of a new government, using the philosophies of Hobbes, Locke, Rousseau or Montesquieu.

Kentucky's new testing system is four times as expensive as the old multiple-choice tests. It is also tough on teachers, who must spend a good deal of uncompensated time assembling and grading portfolios. But the biggest challenge of performance testing is ensuring that essays and portfolios are graded against a common standard.

A recent Rand Corp. study of Vermont's four-year portfolio program found troublesome inconsistencies in teachers' evaluations — a problem Kentucky has sought to avoid by training teachers extensively and rescoring samples of tests.

The scores on the first round of testing under the new Kentucky law have been sobering. Only between 1 percent and 14 percent of Kentucky's students were rated "proficient" or "distinguished" by the state. Even so, school officials prefer a more accurate assessment of their students' progress, and they believe the classroom reforms will in time meet the "world-class standards" that Kentucky officials demanded of the new tests.

Artistry pays off

TWO Clarkston Junior High School eighth-graders are top winners of a poster contest sponsored by the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department. Heather Schmidt captured first place and a $600 savings bond, and Todd Bauer took second and a $500 savings bond. The theme for the poster was "The Importance of Wastewater Treatment in our Environment." The contest was divided into three divisions (elementary, middle/junior high school and high school) and open to schools in southeastern Michigan. (Photo by James Gibowski)

First in nation: New program offers enrichment classes for disabled adults

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Many parents of handicapped children wonder what they will do once they kids are too old for special education.

Ed and Lillian Machowski of Independence Township knew their daughter, Marsha, would be left without schooling once she turned 26, so they decided to start their own program for handicapped people over 26.

Marsha, now 26, suffers from multiple handicaps including cerebral palsy. She is wheelchair bound and must be fed through a tube. Although she is limited, the Machowskis felt Marsha needed outside stimulus after she completed special education.

Adults can receive help through Community Mental Health after special education. The glitch is, if the handicapped person lives at home with their natural parents, they get shoved down the list. People in foster and group home receive preference.

The Machowskis and other parents of handicapped children approached Keith Wunderlich, the assistant principal of Montgomery Development and Training Center, and discussed their ideas for a program for their children who were graduating from special education. Wunderlich worked to help the parents.

"We can not say enough about Keith. He has been a gem," said Lillian.

"If it wasn't for Keith, the parents group wouldn't have stayed together. Keith is a dedicated guy," agreed Ed.

Since they couldn't receive help from Marsha's school district, they began looking for space in the area. Lillian contacted St. Daniel Catholic Church, which used to have a program for handicapped adults. They put her in touch with Easter Seals.

"We had a meeting and Easter Seals was enthusiastic," said Ed. "They said 'We'd like this to be an Easter Seal program.' It was more than we were hoping for — we were just looking for some space."

From there, Post 26 was begun in August 1992. It is an enrichment program for adults who are no longer eligible for special education classes because they are over 26. The clients with mental and/or physical disabilities participate in activities geared to their level.

Because Post 26 is the first of its kind in the nation, it was featured locally in this year's Easter Seals Telethon. All three of the Machowskis were featured on the telethon twice. Locally, the show aired March 6 and 7 on NBC-affiliate WDIV-TV, Channel 4. It was hosted by Mort Crimm and Chuck Gaidica, who visited the center in February.

The adults in Post 26 go to the center on North Telegraph Road four days a week, giving the parents a much needed break. That's not to say the parents are not involved in the program. They are asked to volunteer one day per month to provide and participate in activities. They also meet once a month to discuss how to improve the program.

The Machowskis are quick to acknowledge the Easter Seals. "They are the most helpful people I've met," said Lillian. The telethon "was the first time the program had been seen by the public. I feel honored to be on it."

"Easter Seals said there had been good response (from the public)," added Ed. "Our hope is not only to take on new clients as they graduate but to have a base in other communities."

Undersea art

FOUR students at North Sashabaw Elementary recently won a poster contest, promoting the April 3 school fair. The fair's theme is "Under the Sea," from the motion picture "The Little Mermaid." The fair features children's games, face painting, a silent auction, food and much more. The contest winners are (from left): Karen Zyndra, fifth grade; Emily Cushing, second grade; Lauren Penpes, second grade; Emily King, first grade. (Photo by Curt McAllister)

Business Briefs

Chamber directory available in July

Everything you ever wanted to know about the Clarkston area could be at your fingertips in a matter of months.

The Clarkston Chamber of Commerce is soon to release its new community directory.

This 32-page, color book goes to press in June and is available to the public in July. With a shelf life of two years, this directory provides readers with an insightful look at Clarkston and its business community.

Inside, this book features: the school district, local governments, the township library, civic groups, churches, annual happenings, the area's history and profiles on Chamber members.

Advertising spots are still available within the directory.

Upon release, the first copy is free, with additional directories available at $1 a piece.

For more information on ordering or obtaining advertising space, call the Chamber office at 625-8055.

Elected to board for Lighthouse

A Clarkston-area resident has been elected a director on the board of Lighthouse of Oakland County, Inc.

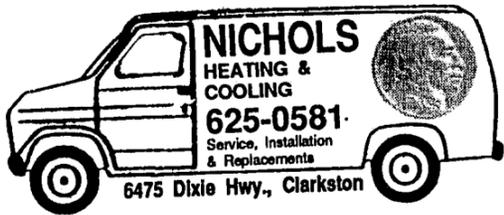

Marc Cooper, owner of The Impressive Type printing company in Waterford, serves on the steering committee of Lighthouse North in Clarkston and has been actively involved in fund-raising for the organization.

Lighthouse is a member agency of United Way of Oakland County. Founded in 1972, the nonprofit emergency human services agency works to empower individuals with the ability to become financially independent. Lighthouse provides food, clothing, medical and other assistance to north Oakland County residents in need.

Record '92 earnings for Oxford Bank

Oxford Bank Corp., the holding company for Oxford Bank, reported record earnings for 1992.

Net income for the year was $1,806,000 or $11.29 per common share. In 1991, the company's net income was $1,701,000 or $10.63 per share. This was the 10th consecutive year that the company's income increased to an all-time high.

At Dec. 31, 1992, the company's total assets were $155,825,000, 4.87 percent higher than the total at the end of 1991: $148,586,000. Total deposits increased by 4.44 percent during the year to $140,588,000 from $134,608,000.

The bank's primary capital, which is the total of shareholders' equity and the allowance for possible loan losses, is now $14,330,000, or 9.2 percent of total assets. The Federal Reserve System requires adequately capitalized institutions to have a primary capital-to-assets ratio of 5.5 percent.

Oxford Bank Co. is a registered bank holding company. Its subsidiary, Oxford Bank, is Oakland County's oldest commercial bank and has been locally owned and operated since it opened for business in 1884. The bank has full-service offices in Oxford, Lake Orion, Clarkston, Oakland Township and Ortonville.

SCAMP wins grant

A Clarkston-area non-profit organization benefits from Detroit Lions Charities' grants.

The Lions Charities has awarded 65 grants totaling $103,458.50 to assist charitable and worthwhile causes in Michigan.

Clarkston SCAMP, which offers a five-week summer camp for disabled youth, was one of the recipients.

Collecting toys

Toy collecting includes 'smile' factor

BY JIM CARLSON

Why should someone start collecting toys? Simple. Everyone who collects toys has a definite "smile" factor. This smile factor is found in speech, mannerisms, interests and how individuals spend their free time.

WHO manufactured these toys? The next column explores that question.

This smile factor is found in reading books and magazines, gathering knowledge about a specific area of interest and speaking to other individuals who collect toys.

The bottom line, however, is the seriousness of every day life seems to disappear when you research the beginnings of a toy that perhaps you played with as a child.

Or when you find the most perfect example of a Schoenhut toy. Or a 1933 Arcade tractor that is almost perfect.

Politics, business and stress all seem to disappear when you can spend time with toys.

This sense of collecting toys, on identification of toys, the history of toys and some of the companies that produced toys will be standard theme throughout this column.

Next column question ... Do you know who manufactured the toys pictured? (Hint, the manufacturer was named in this article.)

Upcoming Toy Show Calendar: April 25, Chicago Toy Show.

Jim Carlson of Independence Township is an avid toy collector.

He Never Turns Away

They come to him for help when they need it the most. Some numbed by their loss, some shattered, they say: "This is someone we loved. We entrust him to you."

And even when he's faced with the crumpled innocence of the youngest asking, "Why?"-and he has to find childlike words to answer a question that even theologians struggle with-he never turns away.

He gives them the consolation of tradition.

He shows them how to accept their tragedy with dignity.

He helps them cope with their grief.

He guides them back to the active world of the living.

He is a funeral director. He practices the most emotionally demanding and least understood of all the professions.

He faces up to traumas every day that most people only have to deal with once or twice in a lifetime.

He would never turn away.

He has earned the deepest thanks from anyone who has ever leaned on his compassion for support. Who turned to him and found that he would never turn away.

Lori Irwin, daughter of Cliff and Linda Irwin of Independence Township and a 1988 graduate of Clarkston High School, will graduate from Central Michigan University, Mount Pleasant, May 8 with a degree in interpersonal communications and recreational management.

She has been awarded a graduate teaching assistantship at CMU and will obtain her master's degree while teaching two classes in the communications department. ***

Seven Clarkston-area residents were among the 1,758 students to receive degrees from Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, at the end of the fall semester of the 1992-93 school year.

Angela Marie Deneen of Boyne Highland Road earned a bachelor of arts degree with a major in elementary group minors.

Matthew T. Ford of Meadowlawn earned a bachelor of business administration degree with a major in management.

Mike V. Kovalesky of Chestnut Hill earned a bachelor of business administration with a major in advertising. Amy Lynn Morris of Waldon Road earned a bachelor of science degree with a major in speech pathology and audiology.

Audrey Allene Peterson of Wagoner Circle earned a bachelor of science degree in elementary group minors. She was graduated magna cum laude.

Kristin L. Smirnow of North Baldwin Road earned a bachelor of science degree with a major in communication.

Daniel Scott Ziegler of North Holcomb Road earned a bachelor of science degree with a major in communication. ***

David Woodruff of Clarkston is among the more than 250 candidates eligible to participate in Alma College's 1993 commencement April 24.

Woodruff, a 1989 graduate of Clarkston High School, is the son of Nancy Woodruff of Kingfisher Lane, Independence Township. He is a candidate for a bachelor of arts degree in political science and economics.

Business Brief

Naturalist part of wildlife festival

A naturalist at Independence Oaks County Park is among those featured in a wildlife seminar series this weekend.

Tim Nowicki will give tips on "Watching Wildlife in Michigan" during the 1993 Michigan Wildlife Art Festival in Southfield.

His seminar and others are free with admission to the festival and begin at 11 a.m. Saturday, April 3. Nowicki speaks at 3 p.m.

The festival — featuring wildlife art and artists — takes place 5-9 p.m. Friday, April 2; 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, April 3; and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, April 4; at the Southfield Pavilion. Admission for the weekend is $7 for adults, free for children under age 12. For more information, call the festival sponsor, Michigan Wildlife Habitat Foundation, at 517-882-3630.

Light touch with traditional favorite

Here's how to have a light touch with a traditional favorite. You can turn the perennially popular pumpkin pie into a chiffon delight.

COCONUT CHIFFON PUMPKIN PIE

(Makes one 9-inch pie)

- 1 baked 9-inch deep-dish pie shell, cooled
- 1 3/4 cups (16-ounce can) of solid packed pumpkin
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 3/4 cup packed brown sugar, divided
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract

- 3/4 cup flaked coconut, toasted
- Whipped cream (optional)
- Additional toasted coconut (optional)

In medium saucepan, combine pumpkin, cream, 1/2 cup brown sugar, egg yolks, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg and ginger. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, about 8 to 10 minutes or until mixture thickens. Remove from heat. Sprinkle gelatin over top; stir until completely dissolved. Stir in vanilla. Chill until mixture just begins to set.

In small mixer bowl, beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually add remaining brown sugar; beat until stiff and sugar is dissolved. Fold into pumpkin mixture. Gently fold in coconut. Spoon into pie shell; chill about 2 hours or until set. Serve with whipped cream and toasted coconut.

Friendly Faces/ Mary Jane Chaustowich

She's coordinated Health-o-rama site for 10 years

Mary Jane Chaustowich likes to read, to travel, to garden and to teach. Most of all, she likes to help people. And she doesn't mind taking responsibility or making sometimes tough decisions in the process.

The Springfield Township resident is in her 10th year as site coordinator for the Clarkston area's Health-o-rama at the Church of the Resurrection.

This year, the event takes place 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the church on Clarkston Road (across from the Independence Township Library).

With help from the Clarkston Women's Club, Chaustowich gathers volunteers to run the low-cost health care day, which includes registration, publicity, and exchange of money.

The day provides a much-needed service in the area, she said.

Sponsored in part by Blue Cross and Blue Shield (which makes no money from the event), Health-o-rama's aim is to provide low-cost health screening to those who otherwise wouldn't receive it.

"The major advantage of this is if you're feeling fine and don't see any need to go to the doctor, but you go to Health-o-rama, it could detect early signs of disease, such as diabetes, kidney problems or high cholesterol," she said, adding that test results are available within days.

"It's very low cost — it's much cheaper than a visit to the doctor's office, especially for those without health insurance or those who are retired."

The only stipulation is that those who participate must be age 18.

She added that it's not necessary to fast for 12 hours before the tests and screenings. A four-hour fast is sufficient to detect problems, she said.

"They should have nothing to eat with calorie content for four hours — black coffee is OK, and they should take their morning medicine," she said.

Chaustowich, in-house suspension program supervisor in Holly and substitute teacher in Brandon, takes a day off from work to run the program. But it's worth losing a day's pay for it, she said.

"I feel very good about it. It's a very important thing. We service a lot of people every year who ... would not have had this basic medical care.

"It's a convenience to people in Clarkston. ... It's a good thing to be involved in, and it's a good thing to do for yourself."

Chaustowich uses Health-o-rama services each year herself, as do most of the other volunteers.

She finds great satisfaction not only in running this event but also in her daily work in educating children.

"My big love is education," said the former Clarkston Board of Education member. "I love teaching.... Some people like to be involved in things. I've always loved education. From being a teacher to a busy-body mother to a member of the board of education, there is absolutely no satisfaction in education to beat the satisfaction of being in the classroom. That's where it's at."

—Julie Campe

MARY JANE Chaustowich began her teaching career at Cass Tech. High School in Detroit. Her experience ranges from teaching adult education, alternative education and high school to serving as a volunteer in Clarkston-area schools to serving on the Clarkston Board of Education.

Health-o-rama: Low-cost health care

Project Health-o-rama is offered at 85 sites through April 8 in southeast Michigan.

In the Clarkston area, it takes place 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday, April 6, at the Church of the Resurrection on Clarkston Road (across from the Independence Township Library).

Tests offered at all project sites include height and weight, vision, blood pressure, glaucoma, health hazard appraisal, counseling and referral — all for free.

A blood panel profile costs $12 and screens for total cholesterol, hemoglobin, liver, bone and kidney function, diabetes, gout and more (21 in all). (Don't eat four hours prior to test.)

A colorectal cancer screening kit costs $4. The take-home kit may detect early warning signs for ulcers, colitis, cancer and other problems.

For men, a prostate specific antigen blood test costs $25. It screens for prostate cancer and other problems and is recommended annually for all men over age 40.

Also available in Clarkston are hearing tests and dental checks.

For more information, call the project hotline at 313-424-8600 or call 313-544-3597.

Decorating Ukrainian Easter Eggs

Before decorating eggs in the Ukrainian style, the contents of the egg must be blown out. Use only eggs that have been refrigerated and are uncracked. Make sure hands and utensils are clean.

To kill bacteria that may be present on the surface of the egg, wash the egg in hot water and then rinse in a solution of one to two teaspoons of bleach to a half cup of water.

After removing the contents of the eggs, refrigerate them immediately and use within a day or freeze for later use. Be sure to thoroughly cook the eggs.

Program targets child support evaders

If you're behind on child support payments, the whole state may soon know about it.

Friend of the Court's Most Wanted, Inc., is new and controversial program that will allow custodial parents not receiving child support to put the non-paying parent on television. These non-paying parents will be profiled much like any other criminals, and their picture will be broadcast via local cable into the homes of thousands of Michigan viewers.

The purpose of this programs is to locate non-paying parents, assist in the collection money owed to children, increase public awareness and to make the community aware of the individuals who are delinquent.

Across the nation non-paying parents owe more than $18 billion to their children. Michigan has the second highest rate of unpaid child support, totaling over $2.5 billion dollars.

The government collects only 20 percent of the court-ordered support, so one out of five children in America lives below the poverty line, and more than two-thirds of these single parent families not receiving support payments must rely on welfare.

For additional information about this unique program, contact Scott Constable with the Friend of the Court's Most Wanted, Inc. at (313) 673-6294.

Hunters' safety class offered by sportsmen

Whether you have never hunted before or have hunted for 100 years, you could benefit from an upcoming hunters' safety class.

Offered by the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club on Waterford Road, Independence Township, the class is open to ages 12 and up. The five-class course costs $6. Registration is required by 5 p.m. April 27.

For more information about the class or to register, call 623-0444.

Tree give-away planned

For the third year in a row, Bordine's Better Blooms, with a store in Springfield Township, is giving 5,000 Colorado Blue Spruce seedlings to hundreds of local grade school students.

Given the week of April 26-30, the trees should help to increase awareness and to educate children of the importance of growing trees.

New book discussion group forms at library

The "Autobiography of Malcolm X" as told to Alex Haley is the first book up for discussion in a newly formed book discussion group.

Open to adults, the group meets 10-11 a.m. Thursday, April 8, in the Independence Township Library Heritage Room, 6495 Clarkston Road. Participants should read the book prior to the meeting and be prepared to share their views.

Upcoming titles to be discussed in May and June are "Gone to Soldiers" by Marge Piercy and "Morgan's Passing" by Anne Tyler.

To sign up for the free program led by Catherine Lobb, call 625-2212.

Pre-retirement seminar free

If you plan to retire, you should plan to attend a free retirement seminar at the Independence Township Library next week.

Planned for 7:30-9 p.m. Tuesday, April 6, the seminar covers Social Security Administration benefits. The seminar is aimed at those who are self-employed, work for small businesses or who otherwise haven't had such a seminar through their place of work.

Registration is required. The seminar takes place in the library's community meeting room, 6495 Clarkston Road. An interpreter for hearing impaired will be provided if requested one week in advance. For more information, call 625-2212.

SUMMALRY
CITY COUNCIL
MINUTES OF REGULAR MEETING
MARCH 22, 1993

Meeting called to order at 7:35 p.m.

Roll: Present: Arkwright, Basinger, Catalo, Sanderson, Secatch.

Absent: Roeser, Secatch

Minutes of the meeting of March 8, 1993, were accepted as presented.

The agenda was approved with the following changes: Michigan Bell Permit deferred and Clarkston School Agreement added.

A joint dinner meeting of the Township City, and School Boards is scheduled for Thursday, April 22, at the Tech Center.

Lot splits on Madison Court referred to the Planning Commission, and all property owners within 300 feet be given notification of the Planning Commission meeting on Monday, April 5, at 7:30 p.m.

Lisa Jones and Terry Perdue of the Oakland County Center for Open Housing met with the Council. Council deferred a decision about endorsement and financial support until the 1994 budget.

Basinger made a presentation on taxes and property assessments. Basinger explained the current millage rates, the principles of truth in taxation, and the Headlee millage limitation.

A special budget meeting is scheduled for Monday, March 29, 1993, at 7:00 p.m. in the City Hall.

Gary Tressel was appointed to the Cable Board.

It was resolved, that Artemus M. Pappas, City Manager, is hereby authorized to make application to the Oakland County Road Commission and Michigan Department of Transportation on behalf of the City of the Village of Clarkston in the County of Oakland, Michigan, for the necessary permits to close the following roads on Saturday, May 22, 1993 for the annual FUN DAZE events:

South Holcomb and White Lake Road from Washington to Deer Lake 10:05 a.m. to 11:00 a.m.
M-15 South from Depot to Middle Lake Road, 9:55 a.m. to 10:05 a.m.

And that the City of the Village of Clarkston in the County of Oakland, Michigan, will faithfully fulfill all permit requirements, the Charter Township of Independence shall save harmless, indemnify, defend and represent the Oakland Road Commission and the Michigan Department of Transportation and the City of the Village of Clarkston against any and all claims for bodily injury or property damage, or any other claim arising out of or related to operations authorized by such permit(s) as issued.

The City Council expressed its appreciation to Mike Lorimer, Bonnie Value, and Richard Johnston for sitting on the Board of Review.

Resolved that the Clarkston School Agreement providing $2.93 per parcel for collecting school taxes during the summer for 1993 - 1994 be approved.

Meeting adjourned at 8:45 p.m.

River rambling

OVER 160 students performed in the Bailey Lake Elementary production of Belle Bailey's "Rollin on the River Show." Based on a showboat in the 1800s, the pupils performed a variety of vaudevillian-style acts. Here, a trio performs the song and dance routine called "Three Little Fishes." The performers (from left) are: Jenna Hart, first grade; Cassie Hart, third grade; and fourth-grader Becky Hart.
