Practicing their art

LOREN DEACON, 12, applies paint to the face of Jennifer Fogleman, 12, at 4-H Livestock Days on Saturday, May 1. They practiced on each other that morning, so they could paint the faces of visitors later in the afternoon. During Livestock Days at Springfield Oaks County Park, children took part in showmanship demonstrations, a livestock sale and all sorts of activities just for fun. More photos appear on the back page.

Dad, others die in crash

Three men were killed May 1 when one van crashed head-on into another van.

At 3:38 p.m. Saturday, John Carl Wagner, 47, of the Davisburg area, was killed when the 1979 Chevrolet van he was driving northbound on I-75, south of Dixie, went off the road to the right. The van skidded along the guard rail for over 100 feet before turning to its left. The vehicle then crossed all three lanes of northbound I-75, crossed through the median and struck a southbound van.

The southbound van was operated by Dr. John Argy, 48, of Grosse Pointe Park. Dr. Argy and his passenger, Henry Dembinski, a 42-year-old Royal Oak resident, were both killed.

Wagner is survived by his wife, Janis; his children, John and Heather; mother, Melinda Wagner of Warren; his brother, Frank of Yale; and his sister, Melinda Lieska of Memphis.

The crash is under investigation by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

32 condos OK'd

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Residents near Pine Knob Road could have 32 new neighbors soon.

The Independence Township Planning Commission voted 6-0 April 22 to approve the site plan for Pine Knob Country Estates II, with a few conditions. Daniel Travis was absent.

The 66.5-acre development is on Greenview Road, east off Pine Knob Road, north of Clarkston Road. Phase one calls for 15 site condominiums.

Site condominiums are like single-family homes, except the homeowner owns only the house itself and a small "building envelope" around it. The property between homes is owned (and maintained) by the condominium association, which is composed of homeowners.

Books, books and more books

Bookworms are in for a treat this week.

Sponsored by the Friends of the Library, the sale offers "Buck-a-bag" day on Saturday and a special "Friends-only" preview 6-8 p.m. Wednesday, May 5.

The library — at 6495 Clarkston Road, accepts donations of used books. For more information, call 625-2212.

Millage renewal added to ballot

A millage renewal proposal will be added to the June 14 ballot, but it could be moot, depending on what happens June 2.

On April 26, the Clarkston Board of Education unanimously approved the addition of a 32-mill renewal proposal to the June 14 ballot. The annual millage is coming due soon, and voter approval is needed to secure the operational millage rate at its present standing of 38.83 mills.

However, state voters will be voting on a constitutional amendment June 2, which would roll back the Clarkston school district's millage to about 22 mills.

Known as Proposal A, this proposed amendment entails an increased sales tax which is supposed to provide property tax relief and a new way of funding the state's school districts.

Mike LaBay, deputy superintendent of instruction at Clarkston Schools, said it's uncertain what effect the passage of Proposal A would have on this 32-mill renewal proposal. Regardless, he said it will remain on the ballot, comparing the situation to that of a deceased candidate remaining on the ballot.

LaBay said this renewal proposal will be necessary if Proposal A fails because the district will need the money to continue to function.

One mill is $1 for every $1,000 in assessed property valuation.

Springfield cleanup day May 8

Spring cleaning is a yearly tradition passed from generation to generation.

This year, the Springfield Township Spring Cleanup takes place from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. May 8. Citizens may take their refuse to the Springfield Oaks Youth Activity Center at 12451 Andersonville Road.

The township will verify residency and/or property ownership.

The fees this year are: $1 per car, $5 per pickup truck, $10 per large truck and $10 for refrigerators, dehumidifiers, air conditioners and freezers.

They will accept tires, but not tractor tires. No brush, stumps, flammable liquids, oil, paint, concrete or bricks and shoveling of debris will be allowed on the site.

Plastic bags will be furnished at the township hall for roadside cleanup. Residents and township organizations are encouraged to participate in the cleanup of the roads.

If possible, all items should be bagged, boxed or bundled. Additional information may be obtained by calling the township offices at 625-4802 or 634-3111.

Condos coming

The development differs from a regular subdivision in that construction can begin after planning commission approval. Plat approval from the township board is not required.

The land is zoned suburban farm residential, which requires a 1.5-acre minimum lot size. The site plan calls for 32 units in two phases.

Township planning consultant Richard Carlisle praised the developers for their master deed and bylaws. He said plans called for tree preservation, a restriction of fertilizer and the appropriate 25-foot buffer between construction and wetlands.

The commission's approval was contingent upon the following conditions: that a landscape plan be provided, that minor corrections be included on the master deed and bylaws, that the planning commission receive written notice that the developers will be able to purchase part of a Detroit Edison right-of-way parcel before final approval.

Engineering approval is required before construction begins.

Flags stolen from township library

Police are offering a reward for the return of Old Glory.

Sometime this past weekend, the American flag and the Independence Township flag that fly over the library were stolen. In the process, the poles also were damaged.

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department offers a reward for information about the whereabouts of the flags and about those responsible. To report any information, call Detective Joe Duke at 620-2470.

The Maryland resident, known as the "Science Song and Dance Man," uses parodies of popular songs and his own songs to relate to kids. His environmental message has garnered him invitations to perform in 45 states, for the U.S. president, and on PBS. Earthquakes prompt growth

Lake Havasu: More than 'The Bridge'

By James A. Sherman

What's the relationship between McCulloch chain saws and Evinrude outboard motors? Robert P. McCulloch and Ole Evinrude were brothers-in-law.

That's the kind of useful information you get on tours. In this case the tour was around an island in Lake Havasu, Arizona.

Lake Havasu was made by damming up the Colorado River at Parker. It's 45-mile long lake on which Lake Havasu City was started in 1963 by McCulloch at age 55.

Five years later a friend told him London Bridge in England was for sale and he should buy it, bring it to Nevada and use it to promote his new real estate development.

McCulloch bid $2,460,000, and though that wasn't the highest bid, he got it. It cost him $5.5 mil more to make an island that needed a bridge to get to, plus moving and reconstructing the bridge.

The most interesting things about the bridge is the lights and railing. Apparently that and some strong, convincing promotion was enough to get things started.

Earthquakes in California gave the area another push and today the City boasts 35,000 permanent residents. The number doubles in the tourist season.

We learned more than we needed to know about Lake Havasu while taking the 45 minute, pontoon boat cruise around the island. Captain Claude narrated on his boat "Havasupai" for $9 for seniors, $10 for others.

Havasu got its name from the indians. It means green water. The City is 26 miles long. Temperatures in the summer reach 115 degrees, freezing in the winter.

That's what Captain Claude said. The Chamber of Commerce says, "Average maximum annual temperature is 88.3 (F) and the minimum average is 56.5 (F). Average total precipitation is 3.82 inches. The climate is clear and dry."

In 1990 vacant lots there were selling for $5,000. Today the same lots are $12,000. Claude said you can, however, buy a 1,600 sq. ft. house for $70,000.

There's lot to like about Lake Havasu City. It's very clean and not just because it's new. There's boat shows, boat races, golf, tennis, festivals, camping, fishing, model airplane fly-ins, desert exploring (the Mojave is across the river in California), hunting and loafing.

I didn't mention shopping in the above list. There's plenty of that, too, from boutique to Kmart.

Naturally, we had to walk across the 150 ft long London Bridge. On the island side is a mall of small, fancy shops. On the mainland side is a large Ramada Inn.

Both sides have large, clean and (according to Capt Claude) inexpensive motor/mobile home sites, good condo complexes and several nice subdivisions.

You don't have to travel much in Arizona to know that cities have many square miles within their limits that are undeveloped. Lake Havasu may be 26 miles long, but it really isn't.

It's kind of an exciting city that's laid back, if that's possible. It's busy, yet relaxing. Today it's what was promised in the national advertising campaigns of over 20 years ago.

That's when Parade magazine carried full page ads saying come and locate in Lake Havasu. It took us 20 years to make it, but we didn't locate there. 35,000 others have.

Full view of the 150-ft long London Bridge. In London the bridge was solid and was sinking at the rate of 1 1/2 inches a year. At Lake Havasu it was left hollow and isn't sinking.

Volunteers kick off Lighthouse Food Network

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

After 1 1/2 years, a food program for the needy is about to kick off in the Clarkston area.

The Lighthouse Food Network begins officially with a reception at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 11, at Lighthouse North on Maybee Road, Independence Township.

Organizer Sherry Kaars invites anyone who's interested to attend, but especially stores, agencies and volunteers who would like to participate.

The Lighthouse Food Network started with a suggestion from the Clarkston Rotary Club, which garnered support from Rotary clubs in Davisburg, Ortonville, Oxford, Pontiac and Waterford.

The Rotary clubs raised $6,500 in start-up money, and Lighthouse North serves as the volunteer coordinating agency.

When Ed Adler pledged participation from his Food Town grocery stores, Kaars and Rotary Chairman Lu Hewko knew the program could be a reality. EDS donated computers to track the food.

Kaars explained how the program will work.

With a network of grocers, volunteers and food provision centers in north Oakland County, needy people in the area will get fresh foods that are unsellable in grocery stores — "the kinds of foods low-income families can't usually get, fresh fruits and vegetables," said Kaars.

Volunteers will take care of regularly scheduled "food runs" to pick up produce that grocers would normally throw away. The volunteers would take that food to the food sites, such as the Independence Township Senior Center. Needy families in the area would pick up the food from the food site.

Kaars said the program is valuable because it helps to feed needy people with nutritious foods and because it prevents "waste," by using unsellable foods from grocery stores.

She hopes that grants and donations will provide money to buy vehicles to transport the food, so the program can continue.

For more information, call her at 673-4949.

Township seeks safety path grants

Independence Township will vie for a grant of about $250,000 to construct some safety paths in the area.

On April 6, the township board unanimously approved a resolution seeking grant money through the state's Transportation Enhancement Fund.

Initially, the township considered applying for a grant of $505,000 for a pedestrian bridge at I-75 and M-15, and the extension of safety path to Cranberry Lake Road. However, the township match for such a grant would be $187,600.

This match would nearly exhaust the $210,000 the township receives in safety patch millage money each year. So the board decided to apply for a grant that would cover a list of safety path committee.

These top priority areas include: Sashabaw Road, Parview Drive, M-15 to Cranberry Lake Road, and Clarkston Road near Eston Road.

The possibility of a pedestrian bridge at I-75 and M-15 will be re-examined next year.

Melody in my mind

Julie Campe

With Mother's Day so near, I can't help but recall some of the most prominent memories about my own mother.

Growing up in a large family, one quickly learns to read between the lines and listen between the words.

Many times I would be the only child home and would hear my mother's voice calling, "Carol-David-Val-Ronny-Andy-Julie — whoever you are! Would you please come here?"

The name she was searching for was my own. But I rarely took offense, for after so many similar episodes, I actually preferred the long string of names to my own. When called by my mother, they formed a melody and a rhythm, kind of sing-songish.

Often times, though, she would truncate the list and call me simply "Val," the name she gave to my sister 10 years before I was born (but perhaps it was really meant for me?).

A few times, I corrected my mother: "I'm Julie."

But after a few of her responses — "I know who you are — just answer me" — I soon did just that. Yes, I answered to "Val." And I also answered to my own name, though it was rarely used, as I recall. Occasionally, I answered to a single "Carol" or "David" or "Ronny." I refused to answer to "Andy," though. One must draw the line somewhere.

It may have been pure absent-mindedness on my mother's part, but she probably would have her children believe that there was some purpose to this litany of names.

If pressed, she probably would admit that it was a sort of drill. She was preparing us, training us to look past people's actual words to find the true meaning behind them.

It worked.

When she called me "Val," I looked past the word itself and knew she meant me. I responded accordingly. It saved time.

This lesson has served her children well throughout the years, though it's important to take everything into consideration — not just the words themselves. Body language, too, is revealing.

Here are a few examples, just in case your mother missed that lesson when raising you.

If your brother is going on and on about some technical equipment he just purchased at work, and your mother responds with a thin smile and absent expression, "That sounds interesting," what she really means is: "I don't really care about what you're saying, but it's nice that you're interested in something that doesn't break any laws."

Or if a young relative has just finished demonstrating his prowess on the piano, and your mother comments, with a broad smile, "That's one of my favorites — do you have any other hobbies?" what she really means is, "You've massacred one of my favorite pieces, but at least I could recognize it, saving myself from embarrassment. There's not much hope for your musical future — I hope you take up baseball."

And, when your mother is accused of liking "Val" the best because that's the name she most often uses when talking to any of her children, and she answers, with a toss of her head, "I don't have any favorites. I don't like any of you," she really means, "I truly don't have any favorites, and at this moment, you all irritate me, and I can't believe I'm still saddled with questions like these, and how did I get to be a mother anyway? I was going to be a movie star ..."

Spring cleanup a worthy day

Spring cleanup offered by Springfield and Independence townships fosters community pride and solves a few problems for area residents.

Is it any wonder that it's one of the most popular programs?

First of all, it's an extra way that area residents can benefit from their tax dollars. We don't often think about how we benefit from the taxes we pay for police and fire coverage or for library or sewer service (for those who have sewer service). But at this one time, we're conscious of the fact that this is our money that's put to good use here.

Residents can use the designated days (May 8 in Springfield, May 15 and 22 in Independence and Clarkston) to rid their own yards and basement of junk.

And they can clean the debris from their roads. Disgusting as it is, many people (out-of-towners, we like to believe) actually dump their garbage on our roads. Yes, bedsprings, stoves, tires, and regular rubbish appear each year on our gravel roads (and even some paved roads).

That irritates residents who 1) hate to look at the trash, and 2) hate to see their beautiful property polluted and defaced.

So spring cleanup pulls people together. We know of a few neighborhoods and community groups who join in cleaning up certain areas. They can then dump the items at their township collecting site for a small fee, and the entire community benefits from a cleaner, prettier environment.

We encourage area residents to do just that, and we thank the township officials who, year after year, provide the dump site and the haulers to help us clean up our community.

About staff editorials

We at The Clarkston News realize that an important duty of a newspaper is to provide more than just the facts found in news stories.

Since we're out there uncovering the news, we get an inside look at the issues. In our staff editorials, we will give our opinions on those issues, just as other writing on this page — letters and columns — also offers opinions.

We leave the editorials unsigned because we've written them as a staff. Every week, we talk about the issues and take notes on everyone's opinions. Then one of us writes it and the rest of us change it until we're all satisfied.

While our opinions aren't always unanimous, our editorials reflect the majority views of the staff. If the staff splits evenly on an issue, we'll write two editorials on the subject.

We welcome your response to our views.

Jim's Jottings

Trout fishing, BABY

Jim Sherman

Serious trout fishermen have rum balls for dessert.

My fishing buddy, Pansy Baldwin, and I became serious trout fishermen this opening day.

We were only semi-serious the other 20-plus fishing seasons we've opened. We weren't serious enough to get out extra early. In fact it was like 2 p.m. when we wet our first line.

We woke to rain in Engadine and it didn't quit 'til 2:00. During those 6 a.m. to 2 p.m. hours we learned just how little there is to do in Engadine.

Listening to the radio is about it. And, in Engadine that means 93.7 WNBX in Newberry. They switched their format a few years ago to rock and roll, and last weekend they featured "The Beatles."

I didn't like the Beatles when I liked them. I heard "baby" so many times I became convinced they couldn't record a song without that word. Does any woman like being called baby? We have a friend who called his wife baby occasionally. She left him.

We tried the other radio station with any power, 102.9 WMKC St. Ignace. They feature country western music. These artists sing the word "baby" just as often as the British group, but with a twang.

The big difference between the two stations was WNBX had a contest. Guess something or other and win "A PAIR OF FUZZY DICE!"

We went for a drive. We parked and watched a float of ducks on Millecoquin River chase each other and dive for smelt we weren't dipping.

We parked and watched a couple deer munching hay in the yard of a deer-friendly feeder.

We parked and watched a couple geese in a small pond. We parked and watched our windshield wipers while questioning and reviewing our past actions and how they related to the weather god.

That god couldn't possibly have seen anything in our backgrounds to warrant washing out opening day of trout season 1993.

In the end we found our reasoning to be accurate. We had good fishing (for us) that afternoon, and the next day Pansy caught his daily limit (five) for the first time in his life.

Side note: Saturday, April 24 Naubinway had its first annual flag raising at the Black River proclaiming itself the "smelt capital of Michigan."

During this smelt "festival" a queen was also selected. After those two major events everyone adjourned to the Cove Bar for a smelt fry. They really know how to celebrate in Naubinway.

Pansy and I dined on grilled steaks, home fries, salad and the serious fisherman's dessert, rum balls.

Talented team

Congratulations to the members of the Young Guns basketball team for taking second place in the state finals in Flint April 1 and 2.

The team was undefeated in the Independence Parks and Recreation Pony League.

Six players from the team played in the state finals: Jerry Anderson, Tom Doyon, Craig Ginter, Aaron Phillips, Dan Scheib and Pat Soronson.

The game on Saturday was won in overtime with a score of 83-81. The final game on Sunday got off to a slow start, but our team soon caught up. Throughout the game, the score went back and forth for the lead. In the final seconds, our team lost by two points.

The players are to be commended for their efforts of achievement. They coached themselves, called their own plays and performed with astounding self-discipline and cooperation.

Congratulations to a very talented team of young men.

Elderly home issues unresolved

In response to Mr. Millard's comments on the elderly housing, I am the person who was misrepresented by Curt McAllister.

I am not opposed to senior housing in my neighborhood. I am opposed to the rezoning of a single-family residential lot to a commercial entity.

It would be perfectly acceptable to put a senior home at the residence, a senior home with six people, which is consistent with the current zoning. However, the proposal is for a senior home that will not only house 20 seniors but will also serve as an apartment for an additional five workers.

I think you will agree this will change the quiet residential aspect of our neighborhood. Our concerns include the fact that the property in question is on a private road that is maintained by the residents, and to date the issue has not been resolved.

Another concern is the lack of precautionary measures proposed to insure that a senior who may have Alzheimer's disease could wander into a dangerous situation. The property in question abuts lakefront access, and with a ratio of one or two caregivers per 20 seniors, there is a great potential for accidents.

The residents have several other concerns that, contrary to Mr. Millard's belief, are not being taken into consideration. I am not the unfeeling person that Curt McAllister chose to portray. If he would have taken the time to get the facts by researching the meetings prior to the one he attended and would have quoted me in context, Clarkston News readers would have read an article that was true.

'If it Fitz . . .'

Open spaces testify to state's true richness

Jim Fitzgerald

As I was writing a check for my 1992 state income tax, I looked out my living room window to admire how wealthy I am. As a Michigan taxpayer, I'm so rich I can afford to own a large truck for no other purpose than to park it diagonally.

Ironically, I was looking at the closed Lafayette Clinic building, half a block from my home on the east edge of downtown Detroit. It's ironic because the clinic used to treat mental patients, and looking at it makes me crazy.

Gov. John Engler closed the state's only psychiatric research facility in October to save money. At the time, I admitted having gained no special expertise concerning the 127-bed clinic's value while walking my regular shortcut through its driveway on my way to work and back. I was willing to consider Engler's economic arguments for moving the patients and research capabilities elsewhere.

My protest was aimed at the state's crowbar methods. Some evicted patients were treated more like freight than people. One of them said she and about 30 others "almost felt like hostages...going to Iran." There was surely a better way to get the job done, and Engler should have found it.

Anyway, the clinic is now just one more abandoned, boarded-up building in a city full of them; a useless monument to thrift - and to paradox. The life has gone out of my shortcut.

For a while, however, I could see one good result of the closure.

Previously, the clinic's parking lots had been overcrowded with the cars of employees and visitors. Some cars were parked on the sidewalk, despite signs prohibiting it. Other signs forbid parking in the best spots unless you were Dr. Important. The designated fire lane usually was clogged in defiance of posted restrictions.

But now there was no one inside, and all those free empty parking spaces outside. Workers in the nearby Wayne State University pharmacy building and Blue Cross & Blue Shield headquarters noticed. I've often seen them drive around and around several blocks, waiting for a free, no-limit space to open up at the curb. Now there was room for around 200 of them at the clinic, and they were quick to move in.

That's great, I thought. Those parking spaces belong to the taxpayers, the parkers are taxpayers, so why shouldn't they get their money's worth out of the clinic lots, rather than let them remain as useless as the clinic.

No, no, that would be too fair and economical, ruled some unknown state bureaucrat. After a few days, keep-out signs went up at the lot entrances. When that didn't keep enough cars out, chains and red cones were added. Finally, heavy cement curbing was hauled in to guarantee the barricade.

There was only one slight problem. A few authorized persons still come to the clinic occasionally, probably to make sure it stays useless. A few parking spaces must be reserved for them at the main entrance, so it wasn't practical to erect a permanent barrier there.

What was needed was some way to allow those few privileged state employees to drive as far as the front door while at the same time preventing any ordinary taxpayer from driving beyond it, into the adjacent parking lot. The solution was a state-owned truck the size of a moving van, parked diagonally from curb to curb, just beyond the entrance.

Believe me, this is investigative, stakeout reporting at its zenith. I can see that truck from my living room, bedroom and home office. I don't know when it was first parked, but I have been looking at it every day and night since returning from a month's vacation April 3.

It is there when I go to sleep at night and when I get up in the morning. Weekdays and weekends. When I go to work and when I return. Noon and midnight.

The sole purpose of that taxpayer-owned truck is to prevent taxpayers from using taxpayer-owned parking spaces that, of course, must stay as useless as the building they surround.

Isn't it great to be so rich you can afford to own a truck for parking only?

Just give me a Donny and Marie record

Catherine Passmore

I was reminded Sunday afternoon that we don't need a lot of things to be happy.

I spent a couple hours with three generations of the Thompson family and observed that a simple piece of paper gave a lot of enjoyment to the grandkids.

I made one of those folded paper deals that tells your fortune for David, who is 6 (instead of fortunes I wrote things like "Mom and dad love you" and "You are very special" inside). I had promised him one a couple of weeks ago and finally delivered.

I also made one for his sister Amber and his cousin Bryce. Then I saw them play the "game" together and with their parents and grandparents the rest of the meal and laughing at the responses. They really liked it.

Last time I babysat for David and his sisters, learning the theme to the "Beverly Hillbillies" entertained them for more than an hour. Amber and David really got the giggles learning this song, even though they have no clue who Granny, Jethro, or Miss Hathaway are.

One of the little boys my mom takes care of can play for hours with the dog leash outside. We have a large back yard, a sand box, a swing, millions of toys; but Stephan toddles to the deck and plays with the dog's leash, twirling it and carrying it around.

I tried to remember what kinds of things I liked as a child. I had a lot of dolls when I was a little girl. I had the ones whose hair grew, who messed their diapers, sneezed, ate, and cried. But my favorite dollie was Beth, and she didn't do anything. All the others have been given or thrown away, but in the recesses of the basement is a box of stuff and Beth is there.

I don't remember any of the games I got; I don't remember most of my dollies; I barely remember any shows or movies I liked. The memories from my childhood I do remember include pretending to be the different characters of the "Sound of Music" with my friend Susie. Or pretending we were part of Mountain Family Robinson, or that we were going to fly away in a balloon.

I even used to pretend to be in the "Donny and Marie" show with my friend Christy. We'd stand at the top of my stairs and have my brother and sister on as the special guests of the week.

Except for a few records, none of the games and fun times I remember from being a child had props (I didn't even have purple socks for the Donny and Marie hour).

There are so many things that I want — a computer, a new camera, a million dollars (make that $10 million), but these are just things.

What would make me happy and what would be a memory is if my peas (the first I've ever sown) would grow this summer; if I could spend an afternoon looking at bugs with one of the little kids in the field across the street; or if Amber could get through the Beverly Hillbillies theme just once without stopping and saying, "Now why is the oil you put in your car called Black Gold and do you drink Texas Tea?"

Mother's Day more than flowers

BY STEPHEN KENT

It is spring. Previously dormant bulbs are emerging from their flower beds. The seemingly lifeless grass is turning a vivid green, and the leaves on the trees are enthusiastically popping from their buds. Comparable to this beauty and splendor is the observance of Mother's Day.

What is Mother's Day? Is it that we make Mom her favorite dinner all by ourselves, without the help of a Swanson Frozen Entree? Do we perhaps pick up a goofy card and watch in shock as Mother realizes that we have inherited her warped and demented sense of humor? Or is it that it is Mom's day to kick back for a change, and let everyone pamper and take care of her?

I think Mother's Day is all of the above and much more. Mothers are a separate breed. Their courage and wisdom help guide us through the many mazes of life, with never-failing concern and understanding. Often, it is not until later that we realize just how smart our mothers really are.

When a person is 16 years old and he thinks he knows and has what it takes to survive in this world, nothing can be said or done that will change his mind.

When he realizes that it is not as easy as he once thought, Mom is still there for him when he comes home with his tail between his legs. Mom lets you keep face when you both know that she was right all along. You should have listened to her to begin with!

I remember when I was very young, I had a pet hamster, Abacromby. Well, it happened that the little guy had passed away and I was crying my eyes out, and I asked my mommy if she could "fix him."

Being the special person she was, she immediately began to administer CPR, blowing tiny puffs of air into his little mouth and using her pinky finger to do chest compressions, all in hope to save Abacromby from a terrible fate and to make her little boy's tears go away.

Later, she found out that the fuzzy critter was only trying to hibernate, and all was fine.

Some might question her mental stability for doing such a thing. But obvious to me, she was trying to make her child feel better, even if that meant lip locking with a hamster.

As we grow older and get busy with our lives and careers, we sometimes forget to call, visit or just drop a note, saying, "I love you." No matter how old and gray we may become, our mothers are still our mothers. They cared for us when we were ill, held and comforted us when we were scared and felt alone. On occasion, they even kicked our boo-boos to make them feel better.

Recognizing Mother's Day means more to me than just a box of candy, dinner or a basket of fresh flowers. It means that you realize and convey to your mom your love, appreciation and just how much she means to you.

My mother is gone now, but the flowers still bloom. Mother's Day will continue to be a special day for me as it honors my mother and all mothers for their love, courage, strength and understanding.

I often wonder if when God created a mother, did he not also simultaneously create the rose, the lily and the orchid?

14 homes planned for Paula Drive development

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

After years of run-around, the amended site plan for South Village Park on Paula Drive has gained final approval.

The Independence Township Planning Commission voted 6-0 on April 22 to approve the plan, with one condition: the developer must submit documented proof that the state health department approved the 50-foot separation of the septic tank and wetlands. Daniel Travis was absent from the meeting.

The 26.275-acre site condominium development is near Timberline Estates, which is off White Lake Road, south of Dixie Highway. The property is zoned for residential use. Plans for South Village Park call for 14 units, with lot sizes varying from 18,900 square feet to 26,400 square feet.

Site condominiums are like single-family homes, except the homeowner owns only the house itself and a small "building envelope" around it. The property between homes is owned (and maintained) by the condominium association, which is composed of homeowners.

The development differs from a regular subdivision in that construction can begin after planning commission approval. Plat approval from the township board is not required.

The site plan, in the works for at least four years, began in 1989 with conflicting requirements from different units of government.

First, the township approved the plan with septic tanks 50 feet from wetlands. Then, the state health department told the developers that the septs had to be 100 feet from wetlands.

However, the township said the septs would be too close to houses at that distance. So the developers eliminated two lots to comply with everyone's requirements. Then, they met with the state health department again and were told that the septs only had to be 50 feet from wetlands, instead of the original 100 feet.

Planning consultant Richard Carlisle told the board that all of the lots in the present plan comply with township specifications.

Clarkston shocks Waterford Mott 6-5

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

The Clarkston varsity girls' softball team concluded a busy week by knocking off the fourth-rated Class A team in the state.

On May 3, the Wolves (8-3 overall, 4-2 in the GOAL) beat state-ranked Waterford Mott 6-5. The Corsairs (5-2 overall, 4-2 in the GOAL) fell behind early, after the Wolves scored six runs in the second inning. This offensive spurt was sparked by Crystal Lemke's two-run double.

Mott clawed its way back to within one run, but pitcher Heather Austin stood firm and kept the Corsairs from tying the game. Austin also had a fine day at the plate by hitting 2-for-3. Laura Seitz chipped in with a 2-for-4 performance of her own, and had two stolen bases.

So far, CHS coach Al Land likes what he sees from his young team.

"I'm very pleased with their performances at this point in the season," he said. "We've had a lot of close games that could have gone either way, including our three losses, but the girls have hung tough.

"We've played a number of good teams and fared well, so their confidence is growing," Land added. "With a couple more games under our belt, I think this team will finally understand what its capable of, and respond to those expectations."

On April 24, the Wolves participated in the Saturn Tournament and won two of three games.

CHS lost a nine-inning heartbreaker to Bay City Western, 3-2, in the first contest. Western was the Class A runner-up last season.

The Wolves bounced back in the next two games, however, and dumped Alma, 9-0, and Lapeer West, 11-1. The second day of the tournament was canceled, due to rain.

On April 26, Clarkston played a tough Waterford Kettering club and lost 3-0. Despite a good defensive showing, the Wolves could only muster two hits in the contest. Austin was the losing pitcher, while allowing only five hits in the game.

Three days later, the Wolves came back to split a pair with visiting Lake Orion. CHS won the opener 7-2, with Austin picking up the victory.

The 11-hit attack was led by Austin who was a perfect 3-for-3, including two runs-batted-in. Shawna Greene, Lemke and Stephanie Giroux also had two hits apiece for Clarkston.

In the nightcap, the Wolves' lost a 1-0 heartbreaker. Unfortunately, he game ended on a bang-bang play at the plate, which would have tied the contest.

With two outs, Shawna Greene attempted to score from second base on Missy Phillips's single, but the ump called her out at the plate.

In all, the Wolves had 10 hits, three of them provided by Laura Seitz. Erin Patterson was the losing pitcher, despite allowing four hits and striking out six Dragons.

The Wolves continue their quest for the league title this Thursday, May 6, when they host Brandon.

QUESTION: I have an older, low-interest mortgage. Should I entertain having the buyer take it over?

ANSWER: Taking over a mortgage can be a practical and profitable sales tool. But be cautious. Don't take for granted that assigning the mortgage to another is automatic.

The lender has a stake in who's going to make the payments. Many mortgages are written which specifically prohibit this practice without the consent of the mortgage lender. The teeth will be found in an inserted acceleration clause which makes the whole balance due and payable upon sale. However, laws in this area have been changing.

Pet Health Tips

HEARTWORM TESTING?

Heartworm is a deadly disease transmitted to dogs via mosquito bites. It can be prevented by annual blood testing and administering preventative medicine to your pet.

There has been a noted increase in the amount of "occult" (undetectable) heartworm disease in dogs.

In many cases adult worms in the heart go unnoticed because they are not producing the microfilaria (offspring) for which your pet is currently being tested.

It has been discovered that the advancement of heartworm preventatives has resulted in the sterilization of adult worms in the hearts of some pets.

The recommendation of the American Heartworm Society is the administration of an antigen test, recently made available to detect the existence of these adult heartworms. So make sure your dog receives this "occult" test!

Man charged with exposing himself

A 20-year-old Independence Township man could be sentenced to life in prison for exposing himself to area women.

Joseph Alan Lunsford had already been charged with three counts of indecent exposure, which are one-year misdemeanors. He pleaded guilty on March 4 and will be sentenced for these on May 7 in front of Judge Gerald McNally.

However, on April 1, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department received a call about an indecent exposure, and Lunsford was picked out of a photo lineup by the victim.

Based on previous three misdemeanor charges, he could be classified as a "sexually delinquent" person. Indecent exposure by a sexually delinquent person is a felony punishable by life in prison.

Lunsford was arraigned on the April 1 charge in front of visiting Judge Joseph Burtell on April 29 in 52nd District Court, Independence Township. His exam was adjourned until 9 a.m. July 30 in front of Judge McNally.

Lunsford is in Oakland County Jail awaiting forensic evaluation.

According to the police report, Joseph Alan Lunsford allegedly has approached women in his car, usually when they were alone in a shopping strip parking lot, and has fondled himself in front of them.

From Our Perspective

Doug Carlson

Capital appreciation bonds let Clarkston schools buy now, pay later — big time

On April 5, there was a lengthy article in the Detroit Free Press entitled, "Michigan Schools Load the Future with Debt."

The article went into considerable detail in describing delayed payment or capital appreciation bonds, better known as CABs. Currently, over 80 school districts in the state of Michigan are involved with this type of financing.

CABs were made legal by the Michigan Legislature in 1986. They're a heavy interest form of bond, which is utilized to stretch out paying for new buildings, swimming pools, buses, computers, etc. In many cases the articles being financial will be outdated or obsolete long before the bill for them is paid.

School districts win voter approval of CABs with a pledge that no additional property taxes will be needed to pay them off. However, the payoffs require extending current taxes by 10 to 20 years and can force tax increases if property taxes stagnate or assessments are held in check by state law.

Financial experts foresee a huge balloon of debt settling over Michigan education by the year 2000. In most cases, the school boards and/or administrators who sold the bonds won't be around to face the next generation of taxpayers, those who will be stuck with the bill.

When residents vote on bond issues, they generally don't understand or even care about the kinds of bonds that will be sold to finance the proposed programs. They simply want the new school or whatever.

However, here's how the system works:

■ With a conventional bond issues, a school district begins paying interest to bondholders immediately. That requires extra income and generally means a tax increase.

■ With CABs, the district doesn't have to pay anything for several years. That means no immediate tax increase, but in the long run taxpayers pay dearly for the delay because interest keeps piling on top of the principal, making more and more interest due.

Michael Forrester, an analyst with the New York credit-rating agency Standard and Poor's, warned against CAB's in a December 1990 article in Creditweek magazine.

Forrester said, in part, "To many taxpayers the promise of new school facilities for their children, coupled with a pledge of no new taxes appears irresistible." Because interest on the bonds continues to accrue, the true debt burden is understated "and could leave a district and its taxpayers vulnerable to unpredictable economic or financial conditions."

Neil Munro, editor of the Oakland Press, recently wrote an editorial on CAB's entitled, "Balloon Note Borrowing by Local Schools Must be Banned."

When the Free Press article came out, I was happy to see that Clarkston was not included among the 80-plus districts that had gotten involved with CABs.

Nevertheless, I called Steve Lenar, business manager for Clarkston Community Schools, to double-check the information in the Free Press. Here's what Steve told me:

■ When our bond issue for $16.5 million was passed in February, the school system also refinanced all but $2.3 million of their existing debt to take advantage of the low interest rates.

■ The total amount financed came to a little over

$22 million. Of this amount, approximately $15.5 million is in CAB's. Apparently, Clarkston was left out of the Free Press article because of the newness of our bonds.

■ When the entire $22 million is paid off in the year 2016, we will have paid in excess of $46 million, plus the $2.3 million that was not refinanced. Much of this interest will be because of the CABs.

The purpose of this article is simply to inform Independence Township residents of the existence of CABs and why Clarkston was omitted from the Free Press article, which many people have asked me about.

This article also is to inform the school board about our situation because I'd be willing to bet that few, if any, of them were aware of CABs, or of our administration's interest in CABs at the time they voted on the $16.5 million bond issue.

But I really wonder if such knowledge would have made any difference. As Steve Lenar put it, "If we had planned to sell only conventional bonds, it would have involved a tax increase, and the bond issue never would have passed." And he's absolutely right.

So, the administration did what it had to do to get the new school. Let's hope it all works out the way it's planned.

Reform group sets public meeting

A local organization who's pushing for a one-house Legislature has scheduled a public meeting for Monday, May 10.

The organization is known as Cut Excess State Government Committee (CESGC) and it's spearheaded by Independence Township resident Henry Woloson.

The meeting takes place at 7 p.m. in the Independence Township Annex, 90 Main Street, Clarkston.

Woloson's proposal would cut the number of state lawmakers from the current 148 to 75, all elected to a single chamber. They would serve staggered terms, with about half up for election every two years.

Woloson says Michigan could save $40 million a year under a unicameral system such as the one he's proposed. CESGC would have to garner over 256,000 signatures on a petition within 180 days for this proposed constitutional amendment to make a statewide ballot.

For more information on the meeting or CESGC, call 620-1738.

Collecting toys

Toys reflect raw materials from era

BY JIM CARLSON

The last column featured a photo of Teddy Roosevelt. Teddy is way before our time and most likely before your time!

The A. Schoenhut Co., Philadelphia, Pa., was the manufacturer. Schoenhut produced the "Adventures in Africa" series featuring Teddy Roosevelt from 1909 to 1911. There are over 50 pieces in the playset. Note that this is the same Schoenhut Co. that made an elephant and clown pictured in an earlier column.

Toys featuring political characters were made and played with for years. For instance, George Washington riding a horse in the form of a candy container was a popular toy at the turn of the century.

Toys from each era reflect available raw materials. Some of the earliest toys were made from wood. Tin toys started in the 1870s, and the turn of the century papier mache was introduced. Cast iron, followed by pressed steel, die cast and finally plastic has been the progression of materials for toys.

The question for the next column: Who is the largest manufacturer of tractors, truck and road equipment in the world? Hint — it's not one of the Big Three automakers.

Area theater-goers are in for a treat from the Clarkston Village Player's new play; "The Tomorrow Box."

The play looks at the status of Jack and Maureen Cooper's relationship. Jack (Verne Vackero) has always made the family decisions, and Maureen's (Jan Cable) place was always in the kitchen. Now near retirement, Jack decides to sell the family farm to his son Joe (Scott Brickmeier), so he and Maureen can retire to Florida.

Maureen is devastated by the prospect of leaving her home; and egged on by her daughter-in-law (Angela Fournety-Ross) and a feminist lawyer (Irene Hengenstebeck-Day) initiates a court action to block the sale of her home. Ultimately she moves out, leaving Jack to realize that he needs and loves Maureen, who really is an independent and capable human being.

"The Tomorrow Box" will be presented at 8 p.m. on May 7, 8, 14, 15, 20, 21 and 22 at the Depot Theater on White Lake Road, one mile west of Dixie Highway.

Poetry Corner

My Favorite Friend

By Neil E. McPherson

My favorite friend takes care of me,
Puts bandages on my scraped-up knee
She reads to me and often sings
Goes to the store and buys me things!
She reminds me of what I've forgotten to do
And gives me a hug when I want her to!
She cooks my meals and makes sure I'm fed,
Washes my face and tucks me in bed!
She listens to me, trusts what I say,
Takes time out on a busy day,
To help me with problems that worry me,
Then finds an answer that I can't see!
She's loving, kind and very sweet,
Just the friend you'd love to meet!

Neil E. McPherson's mother submitted this poem that Neil wrote as an elementary school student. He's now a ninth-grader, but his mother thought others could relate to his poem. They reside on Reeder Road, Independence Township.

Wanted: Veterans exposed to mustard gas

The Department of Veterans Affairs is searching for thousands of veterans exposed to mustard gas while participating in classified tests of protective equipment and ointments during World War II.

They participated in these tests under an oath of secrecy recently lifted when evidence indicated long-term health effects related to that exposure.

Many of the veteran, or their survivors, may be eligible for VA benefits based upon certain health conditions related to their exposure.

The medical conditions that can be caused by the gas include respiratory cancers, skin cancer, bronchitis, emphysema and asthma, chronic conjunctivitis, keratitis, clouded vision, non-lymphocytic leukemia, and obstructive pulmonary disease.

For more information, call the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs toll-free: 1-800-827-1000.

Reunion

Past members and parents of the Clarkston band program are wanted to form an Alumni Association, which would help with fund-raising, chaperoning and general support of the band program.

The first meeting takes place 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 11, in the Clarkston High School band room. For more information, call Gina Green Stubblefield at 623-0926.

Goodbye 313, hello 810

Just when you were getting used to your new ZIP Code, Michigan Bell soon will change your area code.

Effective Dec. 1, 1993, Oakland, Macomb, Genesee, Lapeer, St. Clair and Sanilac counties will have the area code 810. Small portions of Washtenaw, Livingston, Shiawassee, Saginaw and Wayne counties will also have the 810 area code.

During the transition, from Dec. 1, 1993, to Aug. 10, 1993, customers can be reached at the new area code or by dialing the old one.

Your seven-digit phone number will not change. The cost of the phone calls will not increase because of the additional area code. If a call is currently local, it will remain that way, even if the (313) or (810) area code must be dialed.
