Little Allison makes medical history

At age 3, she's resuscitated 41 minutes after she's declared dead

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clutching closely to Barney the Dinosaur and a box of M&Ms, little Allison Lawrence was the center of attention in the pediatric ward of William Beaumont Hospital Friday.

Allison, now 4, died May 3 after a cardiac arrest caused by toxic shock syndrome. She was 3 years old.

However, through the efforts of two doctors and some innovative techniques, after 41 minutes of CPR, Allison's heart began beating again on its own. It was the longest documented time a child was in warm-blooded cardiac arrest and one of the longest successful courses of CPR in history.

At a press conference June 4, Dr. Mark Goetting, director of the pediatric intensive care unit of Beaumont in Royal Oak; Allison's parents, Beth and Ben Lawrence of Clarkston Road, Independence Township; and her 12-year-old brother, Benjamin; answered questions about the ordeal and the techniques used to save Allison's life.

According to Goetting, the little girl was suffering from TSS, a condition usually associated with the use of tampons. He explained that the syndrome can occur spontaneously in any age group if a certain bacteria is present in a cut or back of the throat.

Allison had experienced flu symptoms the weekend before she went to the hospital. When she didn't seem to get better, the Lawrences took her to her pediatrician for the second time in one weekend, and the doctor advised them to take her to the hospital for dehydration treatment.

At St. Mercy Joseph Hospital, Pontiac, she was cared for by Dr. Elizabeth Contreras, director of pediatric intensive care unit. Allison went into severe shock at SJMH, then cardiac arrest. Goetting said that he arrived

BETH LAWRENCE explains the events leading up to her daughter's clinical death, while Allison checks out all of the reporters and cameramen. Allison, who turned 4 in the hospital, was clinically dead on May 3 when her heart stopped beating for 41 minutes. Due to innovative techniques including customized CPR, Allison was saved from death. The girl's heart began to beat again after the longest documented time a child was in warm-blooded cardiac arrest and one of the longest successful courses of CPR in history.

Don't forget to vote Monday

Polls are open 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday, June 14, for the annual school election.

Voters in Clarkston Community Schools are asked to renew 32 mills for the school operating budget. That is $32 for every $1,000 in assessed property valuation. See Page 4A for an explanation.

Also on the ballot are five candidates for two school board seats: incumbents Karen Foyteck and Paul Van Klaveren and newcomers Bill Craig, Bill McGregor and Lee Rogers. A voters guide appears on Page 3A.

Results appear in next week's Clarkston News.

Deer breaks into Technical Center

A deer made an unannounced visit at the Oakland Technical Center-Northwest Friday evening.

According to Principal Dan Manthei, a buck surprised custodians June 4, when it crashed through a plate glass window near the school's recess courtyard area. The bewildered animal reportedly ran the halls until the janitors were able to coax it into exiting the school through an open door.

Besides breaking the window, Manthei said the deer scuffed up many of the hallways with its hooves. The smashed window was replaced a couple of days later. The cost of damages was unavailable at press time.

The school is on Big Lake Road, off Dixie Highway near I-75, Springfield Township.

Allison Lawrence, 4, survives brush with death

30 minutes into CPR.

Ben Lawrence said doctors told them something was taking over Allison's body and shutting her down. "(They said) we should prepare ourselves for the worst," he said.

However, thanks to the medical staff, the Lawrences never had to face the worst.

"We weren't ready to let her go yet," Goetting explained, when asked about the fact they performed CPR on Allison for 41 minutes — much longer than usual.

The doctors gave Allison 20 times the conventional dose of adrenalin and performed CPR more vigorously than recommended after the normal American Heart Association's CPR didn't help Allison.

"There was no trick that I didn't know that I didn't use," said Goetting, who has dedicated six years to the resuscitation of children. He noted that Allison has a 1-inch scar from the beginning of an incision that would have allowed him to manually massage her heart in what would have been a last attempt to save the little girl.

The CPR that saved her life was custom-made for Allison. They placed a catheter in an artery in her wrist to monitor her blood pressure and then performed CPR faster and slower, depending on what she needed, as shown by the blood in the catheter.

"This gives the message that customized CPR can help people," said Goetting.

Restarting Allison's heart was the first step in helping her. Her kidneys and liver were damaged, and her brain had been stunned, said the doctor.

"When the heart was restarted, I think the feeling (in the room) was, 'Now we've got to get working,'" said Goetting.

Allison has regained organ function, is alert, talking, counting and singing. She hadn't regained use of her legs when she was released last Friday, but the doctors are hopeful. Allison will undergo speech and occupational therapy three times a week.

Her family was full of smiles and tears of joy at the press conference at Beaumont, attended by TV and print journalists from around the state.

"A lot of things don't matter anymore, just that we're going to be together," said Beth Lawrence. "I will never ever say at the end of the day, 'Allison, I need a break.' ... If anyone else can have the chance we've had, we want them to."

Sound wall on agenda

A possible "sound wall" is on the agenda of the Independence Township Board's next meeting.

Slated for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 15, the meeting takes place at the township annex, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston.

This matter was previously discussed at the June 1 meeting. The board tabled it, so it could invite sound specialists from the Michigan Department of Transportation to discuss noise-related concerns.

The wall — proposed for the M-15 exit and north-bound I-75 — would be about 1,320-feet long and 9 feet tall. It would cost about $250,000 to construct. It is designed to block highway noise from I-75.

Correction

In last week's edition, part of a story about the Oakland County Track Championships was mistakenly added to an adjacent story. The entire article appears correctly in this week's Clarkston News.

Cat with an attitude

After centuries of being chased and harassed by dogs, one cat has evolved with a "won't take it anymore" attitude.

A June 4 Oakland County Sheriff's Department report about "neighbor trouble" on Fourth Street, Independence Township, tells the story.

According to the report, one cat in the neighborhood regularly attacks the dog next door. The dog is a toy poodle, and, according to the dog's owner, the cat has gone so far as to sneak into the home and attack the dog inside.

The owner of the dog allegedly shot BBs at the cat in an attempt to keep it away from the small poodle. That's when the police were called.

The dog owner was told by the police that he was not to shoot at the cat. No tickets were issued.

Candidates for school board profiled

The Clarkston News surveyed the five candidates for Clarkston Board of Education who will appear on the June 14 ballot. Below are their responses.

Bill Craig

Bill Craig, 39, resides on Middle Lake Road, Clarkston. He and his wife, Marie, have two children: Nick, 9, a third-grader; and Matt, 6, a kindergartner. Both attend Clarkston Elementary School.

Craig has lived 22 of the last 26 years in Clarkston, 6 1/2 years at his current address. He is general manager of education accounts for Michigan Bell Communications (Ameritech) and holds a bachelor of science degree from Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo. He was graduated from Clarkston High School.

Craig is past president and vice president of the Parent Teacher Organization at Clarkston Elementary School, a member of the School Improvement Committee, co-chairman of the parent organization for the passage of the recent bond election, community education basketball coach for grades 1-3, and a member of Clarkston United Methodist Church.

What is the biggest problem facing Clarkston Community Schools? What's your solution?

I feel there are three:

We must secure stable funding for education. Proposal A would have been a first step in that direction. Regardless, our main focus must remain on the delivery of quality education within the financial resources available.

We must evolve our curriculum to that of one which will best serve our graduates in the real world — an education that doesn't simply allow our students to memorize information but gives them the critical skills to research, develop conclusions and present conclusions.

Finally, community involvement must be heightened. I feel the schools need to get ownership from the community in the critical decisions ahead.

If elected, what current policies or methods would you change on the school board?

I would accommodate the input of the community. Too many times decisions are made from the perspective of the school district without enough input from the perspective of the community (e.g. parents, taxpayers). By actively seeking out this input, I feel the board would direct the school district more in tune with the community and more likely to gain their support in critical decisions. Without strong community input and ownership, the trust of the community — which is essential for the district to be successful — will not be there.

Why do you want to serve on the Clarkston Board of Education?

I'm running for school board because of my commitment toward the continuous improvement in the Clarkston Community Schools. I feel in Clarkston we have great potential if we only pull together. Do I feel everyone will agree with my position on all issues? Of course not. But what I will accommodate in developing those positions is the input of the community. From teacher to taxpayer, from preschooler to senior citizen, we are one community. Let us make our decisions based on what's best for the education of the community's children and the community as a whole.

Karen E. Foyteck

Karen E. Foyteck of Langle Drive, Independence Township, has lived in the Clarkston area for 22 years. She and her husband, Doug, have three children: Mark, 26, a university graduate; Mike, 24, and Matt, 21, both university students. All attended Clarkston schools kindergarten through 12th grade.

Foyteck, owner of North Oakland Office Services, has served one term on the Clarkston Board of Education. She has a bachelor of arts degree in education from Wayne State University, Detroit, and has done graduate work at Oakland University, Rochester.

On the ballot

Her community activities include Clarkston Co-op Nursery School, Clarkston Elementary Parent Teacher Organization, Cub Scout Den Mother, Sashabaw Junior High Parent Dialogue, Clarkston Athletic Boosters, Clarkston High School Parent Volunteer Committee, Committee on Excellence, Facilities Committee, Clarkston Community Women's Club and League of Women Voters.

What is the biggest problem facing Clarkston Community Schools? What's your solution?

Effective use of available funding is the greatest responsibility and challenge of our school board. I believe that it is the responsibility of the board to carefully consider spending priorities and their effect on current and future budgets.

We must focus our attention and resources on curriculum to do our best to meet the needs of Clarkston students. Ultimately, it is the curriculum and what takes place in the classroom that is important. It is our responsibility to ensure that this is where we concentrate our resources to provide our students with the opportunity to gain necessary knowledge and skills.

If elected, what current policies or methods would you change on the school board?

During the past four years, the policy book has been completely updated and revised. The majority of policies are required by state law and have their basis in Michigan School Code.

Our board needs to work with staff to further refine the process of assessing the effectiveness of curriculum. This evaluation must include a process to abandon offerings that are not meeting student needs and achieving desired goals. While the basis for curriculum evaluation has been established, process and specific procedures needed to determine our effectiveness in achieving educational goals; and outcomes must be a board priority.

Why do you want to serve on the Clarkston Board of Education?

I am seeking re-election because of my desire to continue to focus attention and resources to the classroom and students. The textbook adoptions, the applied science course at the high school, and the adoption of Developmentally Appropriate Practices are examples of the progress we have made.

The responsibility of representing the community and all students is a serious one that requires dedication of effort and considerable time. We are accountable to our community and students to use resources wisely to provide the best educational opportunities that are within our means. I have made that commitment.

Bill McGregor

Bill McGregor, 35, of Almond Lane, Independence Township, has lived in the Clarkston area for seven years. He and his wife, Linda, have three children: Scott, 10; Michael, 8; and Daniel, 5. All attend Clarkston Elementary School.

Senior director of accounting at Henry Ford Health System, McGregor has a bachelor's degree in accounting from the University of Michigan and a master of business administration degree in finance from Wayne State University, Detroit.

He is a den leader for Pack 126 Cub Scouts, a coach for Independence Township Youth Baseball; and a member of St. Daniel Catholic Church.

What is the biggest problem facing Clarkston Community Schools? What's your solution?

The biggest problem facing Clarkston Community Schools is adapting to change — change in enrollment size, change in curriculum, change in community demographics, and change in financing. The challenge is having the right facilities for our growing population, the right curriculum for preparing our students for the future, and the right strategic and financial planning processes in place to facilitate that change.

My solution is that the school system should be run more like a business, and the administration should be empowered to be held accountable for measurable results — to include facilities and curriculum planning to improve the education of our children.

If elected, what current policies or methods would you change on the board?

When elected, I would work to make the school board more like the board of a corporation. The school administration are paid professionals who should be empowered to present the issues to the board and offer alternative solutions for the board to decide on.

Currently, the administration spends far too much time chasing down petty details because the board members don't understand what is being presented to them. The use of strategic plans and strong budgeting techniques will naturally develop measurable outcomes that the administration can be held accountable to — particularly in curriculum development to enhance students' achievement test scores.

Why do you want to serve on the Clarkston Board of Education?

I believe that with my education and work experience that I will be a valuable contributor to the board. I understand what appropriate business plans require in order to remain fiscally responsible. I am familiar with budgets the size of Clarkston schools, and I am committed to seeing that the children of Clarkston receive a quality education.

Lee Rogers

Lee Rogers, 46, of King Road, Springfield Township, has lived in the Clarkston area for 20 years. He and his wife, Liz, a deputy sheriff for Oakland County, have one son, Jeff, who was graduated in 1985.

Rogers is president and chief executive officer of L. Rogers Associates, a wholesaler of solid-surface products (whirlpool bathtubs, showers, countertops and furniture) to the commercial and residential building industries.

He was a Republican precinct delegate in 1987-88. He attended Michigan State University, Northern Michigan University, University of Wisconsin, General Motors Institute and Oakland Community College.

What is the biggest problem facing Clarkston Community Schools? What's your solution?

Spending priorities of our district and constant threats of program cuts do not serve the best interests of our students. Further, they do serve to alienate the taxpayer.

Only honest fiscal responsibility and appropriate priorities can restore the credibility of the board and administration. Without the respect of our community, our district cannot build necessary facilities or provide more than average results. The board must set and hold fast to tough priorities that reduce spending on all areas that do not directly support student learning and facility/equipment maintenance. Tougher financial management is a must.

If elected, what current policies or methods would you change on the school board?

1) The agenda for board meetings is made available only a very few working days before meeting nights. Much more notice is required to make informed decisions:

2) Discretionary spending was recently approved to $12,500 from $10,000. I believe it should be reduced to below $5,000.

3) I believe the district should maintain a building fund with a serious objective of $500,000 to $1 million per year growth.

4) Bureaucratic functions should be "cut to the bone" to preclude further cuts in any educational functions.

June 14 millage renewal request explained

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

On Monday, June 14, residents living within the Clarkston school district are asked vote on an operating millage renewal of 32 mills.
Below is an explanation of the ballot issue.

What it says:

Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Clarkston Community Schools, Oakland County, Michigan, be increased by 32 mills ($32 on each $1,000) on state equalized valuation for the year 1993, to provide additional funds for operating purposes (this being a renewal of 32 mills for operating purposes which expired with the 1992 tax levy)?

What it means:

This 32-mill proposal is not an increase but a renewal of current mills. The district presently operates on a rate of 38.83 mills.
The remaining 6.83 mills come from Oakland County every year. One mill is $1 for every $1,000 in assessed property valuation.

Five vie for school board seats

Why do you want to serve on the Clarkston Board of Education?

I believe that our school district must take a sound business approach to operating its schools. More money, large salaries and generous benefits have not resulted in effective operation or higher academic achievement. The board must re-establish its authority over the administration.

Competition in the real world "out there" demands ambitious, thinking students — not persons trained to achieve only minimum standards. My knowledge of economics, financial and cost function analysis, budgeting and contracts totals over 15 successful years and qualifies me to assume the responsibilities of school board trustee. The job must be done. ... I can do it. ... I want to do it.

Paul Van Klaveren

Paul Van Klaveren, 43, of Woodglan Drive, Independence Township, has lived in the community for 14 years. He and his wife, Maryagnes, have two children: Amanda, 17, a Clarkston High School student; and Renee, 14, a Clarkston Junior High School student.

Business process/ systems manager with General Motors Powertrain Division, Van Klaveren holds a bachelor of science degree and master of science degree in engineering and management.

His public offices have included: chairman of the Independence Township Safety Path Committee, and treasurer and vice president of the Clarkston Board of Education.

He also is a board member for Clarkston Area Youth Assistance, a member of the Clarkston Area Optimist Club, an usher at St. Daniel Catholic Church, and a volunteer for Lighthouse North and SCAMP.

What is the biggest problem facing Clarkston

Community Schools? What's your solution?

Continued student growth and outdated facilities is still one of the biggest problems facing the Clarkston schools. The parents, community members and school district need to come together to find a solution to these problems.

The children of Clarkston deserve from us a commitment to work together to find a solution we can all support. Doing nothing should not be an option. I would formulate a plan to bring the community together to work out a solution. We would listen to all options with an open mind and make the right decision for the community and our children.

If elected, what current policies or methods would you change on the school board?

If re-elected, I would continue my efforts to revise the budgetary process to reflect curricular costs. The current budget process does not break out the costs by program within the district. A revised budget process would help ensure that the budget is allocated equitably.

I would also continue to work with the other board members to establish measurable outcomes by which the school district can be judged. The school district should have measurable outcomes that are indicators of their success and continuous improvement.

Why do you want to serve on the Clarkston Board of Education?

I have been on the school board for four years now and have held the positions of treasurer and vice president. Being a school board member is very rewarding and worth every bit of the hard work, long hours and time spent away from my family.

Clarkston is blessed with a lot of wonderful people and beautiful students who deserve the best that we can give them. I have been very fortunate to have been part of this and look forward to continue my efforts to make Clarkston a desirable place to live and raise children.

If the renewal is approved, the owner of a $100,000 home assessed at half the market value ($50,000) would continue to pay $1,600 a year to fund the school's operating budget. The renewal is for one year.

The operating budget pays for such things as teacher salaries, textbook purchases and supplies.

For the first time ever, Clarkston has joined many districts throughout the state in rolling all of its locally voted millage into one large package (32 mills). District officials have taken this approach because of the difficulty of predicting school finances with accuracy over the next five years, they said.

School officials said that if Proposal A — the controversial constitutional amendment — had passed last week, residents would have been asked to renew only 5 mills.

Michigan's schools primarily would have been funded through Lansing and money raised from a 50-percent hike in the state's sales tax. However this proposal failed, causing the state's districts to resume with business as usual.

In the history of Clarkston schools, voters have never defeated an operating millage renewal.

If this renewal fails, Clarkston schools would have enough money to keep the school system running for three months. The 32 mills provides 82 percent of the district's budget.

Clarkston High School Class of 1988 celebrates its five-year reunion on July 24 at the Deer Lake Racquet Club, Independence Township. For more information call Kelly Saunders at 674-4594.

The truth about Mrs. Haven

Julie Campe

I noticed right away that Mrs. Faye Haven's name was on the list of retiring Clarkston school personnel. I felt proud of her but sad that this year would be the last class of children she would teach.

It was the same when Mrs. Mack, my fifth-grade teacher from North Sashabaw Elementary retired. I hear she is doing well in her new home out west, which makes me think that Mrs. Haven, too, will enjoy her retirement.

Mrs. Haven, now at Pine Knob Elementary School, was my teacher for fourth and sixth grades. Perhaps it's because she taught me for two years or maybe it's because she just has that sort of effect on people ... but whatever the reason, Mrs. Haven stands out strongly in my memory.

In fourth grade, I learned the "times" tables, with Mrs. Haven testing us over and over. I don't know if they still use those types of tests, but the idea was to complete the multiplication tables correctly in a certain time period. Those who did not would retake the test. And retake it again and again and again, if necessary. I admit I did not like the multiplication tables.

That is the same year that Laurie Hamilton and I, with the rest of our classmates, planned a surprise birthday party for Mrs. Haven. Once we found out her birthdate, we slyly (we tried to be, at least) found out her favorite flower (orchid), favorite color (I can't remember), favorite dessert and more.

I believe Matt Hool's mother brought the cake. My mother brought the flower, and we all pitched in for the gift (though I can't recall what it was). Our principal, Mr. Lynn Jervis, knew about our plot. And we enlisted the help from Mrs. Elsie LeVigne from across the hall to divert Mrs. Haven, while we assembled the goodies.

We were delighted when Mrs. Haven re-entered the classroom in genuine surprise at the transformation. We were completely happy the whole afternoon.

Fourth grade was also the year I had to start wearing braids again because I would not brush my hair enough and a "rat's nest" would appear, the year we found out that Theresa Whitehead was a really fast runner, and Rachel (what's quiet Rachel's last name?) was the best kickball kicker in class.

It was a good year.

But sixth grade was even better.

We were older then, and Mrs. Haven knew most of us already. That was the year a few of the Bailey Lake kids joined us at North Sashabaw, and Mrs. Haven tried to make it as easy as possible for them (I still remember their names: Dan, Carrie and Renee). She told us all about them and asked us to make them feel welcome.

We felt glad that Mrs. Haven knew us. But it was tough also because we couldn't fool her — not one bit. She demanded the best effort from each of us. Whether it was an all-A student who was not putting forth enough effort in math or a straight-C student who did not study for the Friday spelling bee, she caught on to it all — and did something about it.

Even the "problem" students (as we overheard some of the teachers or substitutes call them — never Mrs. Haven, though) worked hard for Mrs. Haven.

Her classroom was a world unto itself. It was safe. There were straight-forward rules. If you broke one, you knew the consequences in advance (and they were immediately forthcoming).

She asked us questions. She taught us a little about democracy (I think we even voted on class officers), and she let us decide for ourselves what the rules should be for, say, the classroom spelling bee. Sometimes, she let us decide on the punishment for a misbehaving classmate. In those solemn moments, we started to understand the concept of judge and jury.

She noted when someone had improved, whether it was on the kickball field or in reading and writing.

We trusted her. She told us the hard truths about ourselves. And she expected truth back from us. So whether it was Tracy Reitano, Todd Baker, Betsy Spiker, Ray Davis or myself, we told her the truth — always.

And what is the truth? The truth is that Mrs. Haven had a gift for teaching, that she used it to the best of her ability and taught hundreds of children to use their gifts to the best of their ability, and that her gifts will be missed.

Remember to fly U.S. flag June 14

The American flag is one of the oldest national emblems, and its true birthday is recognized as the day that George Washington presented it to the Continental Congress — June 14, 1777.

June 14 has been set aside as the official day in which to honor the American flag each year. Our flag is a symbol of American endeavor and sacrifice. It is a standard for the beliefs and values Americans cherish. It is the cornerstone of freedom for every citizen.

The American flag is not just a bit of cloth and gold thread. It signifies everything we are and want to become. Our flag flies proudly. It has been with us in every great war as the focal point of unity and support for our troops.

The American Legion and Auxiliary will continue to educate our children and the public about the flag because it represents important memories and events in the lives of all those who have served and loved this country. We will continue to show our respect and salute the flag at every opportunity — to reaffirm our great love and support for America.

Remember to fly your flag on June 14 and everyday of the year.

'Citizens' for Lee

This is to notify the residents of Independence Township that our group, Citizens for Fiscal Responsibility in Government, is supporting Lee Rogers as a candidate for the Clarkston Board of Education.

We believe that Lee would bring to the board a sense of fiscal responsibility which would eliminate spending that does not directly benefit the quality of education for our students or the appropriate maintenance of facilities and equipment.

Most importantly, Lee is vitally interested in the quality of education our children are receiving, especially when you consider the monetary resources that are available to our school system.

Our school board and our community needs someone with Lee's intelligence, interest and dedication to the students.

Please consider voting for Lee Rogers June 14.

Prefer traditional national anthem

I'm a traditionalist along with many other people in the community.

The Memorial Day service at the cemetery is a part of our family's tradition.

We missed the Gettysburg Address and are hoping it will return next year as a part of the program.

Mr. Stuart's comments were enjoyable, and the research he had done about the community was most interesting, a nice addition to the ceremony.

Would it be possible to request the traditional version of the "Star Spangled Banner?" The version chosen by Mr. Chapman certainly did not bring out the best in the Clarkston High School Band's ability and left many in the audience in question as to what they were actually playing.

Memorial Day at the cemetery is Independence-Clarkston at its traditional best.

How about it Mr. Chapman?

Time to toil with tilling

Jim Sherman

By the time you read this I will hopefully have finished garden grooming and planting.

It's been a struggle this year. Strange, I have more time to work in the yard and garden this spring, yet it's taken me longer to dig and mow.

Of course, I stay aware of my 6-month-old back surgery, and that slows me. I find in resting my back it is best to rest my eyes at the same time.

I've read no scientific journals on the subject, only drawing my own conclusion. Perhaps it's just an automatic reaction: In prone positions eyes close.

Then too, knowing I'd have more time, I expanded planting areas. I made room for zucchini squash, morning glories, sunflowers, daisies and more of the regular flowers: marigolds, impatiens, petunias and geraniums.

That's 468 of on-your-knees planting. Dad planted and weeded on his knees. So does this son. It gets you closer to nature as well as closer to your work. Growing is aided when you wear and tear your fingernails in fresh-turned, cool soil.

I read that somewhere, probably on a Salada tea label.

I also read this delightful bit about this month:
*It is the month of June,
The month of leaves and roses,*

*When pleasant sights salute the eyes
And pleasant scents the noses.*

N. P. Willis, 1806-1867, wrote that.

Speaking of pleasant sights and scents, did you ever see a year when the flowering crab trees were more radiant? More fragrant?

Yes, I stopped and smelled them along the way, as advised one time by a golfer. I hope you did. Let's have a national day for smelling roses, or whatever. It makes more sense to have a day to sniff than some of the holidays for which governments have seen fit to give people the day off.

This was also going to be the spring when I'd have time to drown some worms. We've lived on a lake since 1971 and I've fished it twice. Isn't that ridiculous? Obviously, my priorities are mixed up.

A couple times, while churning up the soil, I'd collect a few angleworms and toss them into the lagoon behind the house just to see if the fish were biting. They were, and I still put planting ahead of angling.

However, when people ask, as they almost never do, 'How does your garden grow?' I can wave my hand in about any direction and say, 'Take a look!' assuming I've kept it watered, fertilized, insecticided and weeded.

Van Klaveren tops

I would like to thank Mr. Paul Van Klaveren — a current member of the Clarkston school board — for his past four years of service, to applaud him seeking another term on the board, and to declare my support of his wish to continue serving his community in that office. I urge others to join me in my support.

In these very tough economic times, Paul's careful and concerned approach to the issues that confront our schools is to be very much appreciated. We need someone on the board who possesses his insistence that all the facts be clearly understood before casting his vote on any proposal that is presented.

It is clearly evident that he demonstrates the type of leadership we must have if our young people are to continue receiving the highest quality education we can provide them.

We support Craig, McGregor

We are a group of Clarkston parents who would like to endorse Bill Craig and Bill McGregor for the Clarkston School Board Election on June 14.

We feel that these two candidates share our belief that while we must spend our tax dollars wisely, we also must insist on a quality education for our children — from another time when educational and technological standards were different. In fact, Bill Craig knows about these differences firsthand because he graduated from Clarkston then and has children in Clarkston schools now.

As parents, we have dreams for our children, and we believe those dreams are more powerful than all the naysayers who continually say that it just can't be done.

We are actively involved in our children's schools. We want parents, like Bill Craig and Bill McGregor, to represent our children, because they, too, are actively involved in their children's schools.

As taxpayers, we want to see that our tax dollars are well spent. However, how can we have faith that this is happening when there is so much discord within the current make-up of the school board?

Just as our individual schools are starting to band together to form a cohesive alliance with the community, our school board needs to be doing so. Electing Bill Craig and Bill McGregor is the first step in making this happen.

Positive progress for our schools will occur only when those who represent us are working as a team with the same game plan.

Elect astute business people who are fiscally responsible. Elect people who want to work as members of a unified team. Elect people who believe in community pride. Elect Bill Craig and Bill McGregor on June 14.

*Killing the

Jim

May 20 news release from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources says Director Roland Harmes "has issued an interim order, now in effect, to permit a resident to dispatch of a raccoon at any time of year if it is doing damage or about to do damage to the resident's property...dispatching of raccoons when the animals are damaging their properties will not adversely affect raccoon populations."

It is expected that this news will not be welcomed by the farm implement industry. In the past, crops such as raccoons and deer were harvested, not dispatched.

I've never gone harvesting myself, but I envision something like a John Deere corn-picker or baler towed into the woods by tractor and parked next to piles of crop food (not bait, of course). When the crop pauses to eat, the harvester presses a button that activates the machinery that picks and bales the deer or raccoon.

There is a certain macho adventure in harvesting animals. A harvester runs the risk of getting his orange sleeve caught between gears and being carried out of the woods by a rampaging conveyer belt.

But what's this sissy dispatching stuff?

What does the dispatcher do, put a stamp and an address on a raccoon and drop it in a mailbox? Call Federal Express or some other overnight shipping service? Does he carry a dispatch case?

Does he worry about someone seeing him shipping behind a tree?

I'm reminded of other sissies, the ones who go filling, or collecting.

You know. I once asked a fellow in an orange jacket if he were harvesting and he said no, he was filling his tags. A tag is a license to harvest a limited number of various crops. To fill his tag, a filler stalks numbers, unlike the harvester, who stalks, say, turnips.

Talk about sissy. The filler is more of a mathematician, for lord's sake, than a harvester.

As for collecting, several years ago my favorite outdoors writer wrote from Botswana that "on the long ride back to camp, we spotted a very nice gemsbok bull, and we stalked and collected him... the previous five days, while hunting in the Okavango Swamp, Warren had collected two nice lechwe."

I admit I don't know exactly what lechwes and gemsbok bulls are, but I'll bet collectors don't have to be very brave to paste them in scrapbooks. Certainly there's no danger of being plowed under by a John Deere machine, as in harvesting.

And stalking lechwes certainly requires less manly energy than stalking postage stamps, because the queues are always longer in the post office than in the swamp.

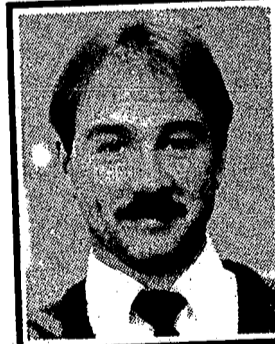

That same outdoors writer was upset by criticism of trapping, the delightful form of harvesting that allows the crop to die a slow agonizing death while trying to chew its leg free from steel claws.

Berating the Bambi-lovers who picket fur stores, he wrote: "Your might ask by what right such people figure they can harass others who disagree with their views. Rights - even basic courtesy - don't mean much to these people."

The idea of a trapping advocate preaching courtesy prompts me to envision a cartoon showing Mr. Fur Courtesy's favorite hunting dog caught in a steel trap. The dog is telling the trapper: "Remember your manners."

Obviously, today's lesson is never go hunting without your euphemisms. It's socially acceptable to say you think it's fun to harvest, dispatch or collect animals, or how much you enjoy filling your tags.

But if you say it's fun to kill living, sentient creatures, people might get the right idea. They might think you're a bloody barbarian.

So close

I couldn't help but feel sorry for the Clarkston varsity baseball team, as the members dejectedly watched Walled Lake Central accept the district championship trophy last Saturday.

This squad had set a lofty goal prior to the start of the season. Win the Class A title.

And who could blame them? They had 12 seniors returning from a 1992 team, which captured league and district championships and fell just short in the regionals.

This team knew it could improve on last year's record of 22-9. And they did, by posting a 23-8 mark this season, which included another GOAL title.

But, in post season, it only takes one bad game to end it all. And, unfortunately, that game came at the hands of the Vikings, 7-6.

The Wolves and Central played a topsy-turvy contest with momentum shifting nearly every other inning. Clarkston claimed the lead three times, only to see their opponents battle back.

It's safe to say that the sixth inning will probably forever haunt these young men, as they allowed two unearned runs to score — giving Central a 7-5 lead. But these Wolves refused to quit as they mounted a comeback in the bottom of the seventh.

With one out, CHS put three consecutive runners on base, scoring a run to cut the lead to one. But alas, the tying run never came in.

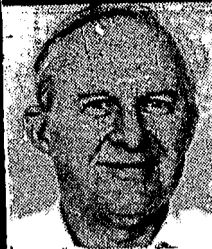

As Central's players trotted out to receive their district medals, the Wolves could only sit and ponder on what could of been. Some sobbed; a few cursed, but most just stared into oblivion.

It just didn't seem fair that a team so talented should lose in such a cruel way. It's a good bet that a couple of these guys will continue playing at the collegiate level, but most of them will have to remember this as their last game.

Odds are, it will take a while for this empty ache to heal. Maybe months, maybe years, maybe never.

Let's hope, one day, each player will be able to look back fondly on this season and appreciate all they were able to accomplish. They were truly a great team.

Dear Julius ...

Mr. Julius Maddox, President Michigan Education Association (teachers' union)

Dear Julius,

Shortly after the defeat of Proposal A, you appeared on public television's "Off the Record" show. During the program, you said that Gov. Engler and the lawmakers should look at an income tax increase as a way to boost education spending and cut property taxes.

Specifically, you made the following comments, and we quote:

"We believe that what the citizens of Michigan must understand, and that they really do, is that you get what you pay for in life and that you can't have a first-class educational system without paying for it."

You went on to say, "The citizens are going to have to pay. Whether we pay for it through a property tax or a sales tax or an income tax, the citizens are going to have to pay."

You also talked about the polling company the MEA hired to survey voters to find out what went wrong with Proposal A. You said the MEA would use the survey results as you regroup from the defeat and begin working with Gov. Engler and the lawmakers on a new school funding plan.

You said that since voters turned down Proposal A, the state would have to look elsewhere to find enough money to make a major impact. You added, "The funds don't currently exist. It's not that we can take the money from somewhere else in the budget to adequately fund education in this state."

When Engler and other Republicans said they oppose an income tax increase for economic reasons, you replied, "Despite the fact that in the past you have said you don't like this solution, you have to be willing — for our students — to look at these solutions that you have tried to dismiss out of hand."

Julius, if you really believe that the citizens of this state will sit still for an income tax increase to bail out the schools, then you're totally out of touch with reality.

Don't you have any inkling at all what the people were saying about Proposal A? Simply stated, they don't want any more taxes, period. Not for the schools, not for the roads, not for anything. And they don't want any tax shifts either.

Now, some of us were very much in favor of Proposal A. We felt it would be good for the schools, good for business, and good for the State of Michigan. However, 54 percent of those who voted saw things differently.

And we understand why. They're tired of seeing their hard-earned dollars poured down an educational "bottomless pit."

They're tired of watching school boards give away the store and then come back to the voters for more money.

In short, they're fed up with the entire educational system, and that's something the MEA is going to have to deal with before going to Gov. Engler with proposals to raise taxes.

Sincerely,
Citizens for Fiscal Responsibility in Government

School renewal request on June 14 ballot; two school board seats to be determined also

What is the renewal all about?

The recent defeat of Proposal A by Michigan voters means that school renewal elections in our state are back to basics. On June 14, Clarkston schools will ask local voters to approve the renewal of 32 operating mills. This is not an increase in millage, but simply a renewal of current mills. The Clarkston Board of Education has pledged to levy no more than our current operating rate of 38.83 mills.

1993 marks the first time that all of the district's locally voted mills are up for renewal. (The balance of Clarkston's school millage — about 7.8 — are county-allocated mills and not voted on locally.)

Why is this renewal so large?

Clarkston has joined many districts throughout the state in rolling all of its locally voted millage into one large package. School districts have taken this approach because of the difficulty of predicting school finances with any accuracy for two, three or even five years into the future. With the rash of changes taking place in the state's approach to school funding, predicting a district's school financial picture for more than one year can become an exercise in "crystal-ball gazing."

What happens with no renewal?

Clarkston voters have never turned down a school millage renewal request. Since these 32 mills represent over 82 percent of the school's budget for 1993-94, a positive vote is very important. Without a renewal, Clarkston would receive only its county-allocated millage dollars, which would be about $6 million of our $30 million budget. Obviously, this would mean running the school system for less than three months.

How many school board seats are open?

Two seats will be expiring on June 30, and five local candidates are running for them. The candidates include William Craig, Karen Foyteck, William McGregor, Lee Rogers and Paul Van Klaveren.

What about next year's budget?

Even anticipating a successful passage of our renewal on June 14, we still need to be concerned about next year's school budget. The failure of Proposal A means that school districts are once again looking anxiously toward Lansing to see what the state's next moves will be. School finance reform is certainly not a dead issue, but the Legislature will have to go back to the drawing board.

Because of the growth of Clarkston State Equalized Evaluation (SEV) and new construction in the district, enough school revenue should be provided to continue our present level of programs through 1993-94. We feel confident that we can hire the additional staff needed at the high school when the ninth grade moves there in August.

If our June 14 renewal is approved, the continuation of the current 38.83 operating mills will provide the current program level if no surprises come from the state. There are, however, several unknowns in regards to the state's funding of schools. They include:

- A possible decrease in school employees' FICA paid by Michigan. Our district may have to contribute thousands of dollars more than it has in the past.

- A possible decrease in school employees' retirement paid by Michigan. Again, our district may be responsible for a much larger portion of this payment than ever before.

- As the state attempts to provide more money for poorer school districts, there is consideration for taking money away from out-of-formula districts such as Clarkston. Now that Proposal A is a dead issue, our state government may once again attempt to equalize education by redistributing school funds.

All of the above factors combined could approach $3 million, based on Legislative discussions prior to the Proposal A vote. We continue to watch developments in Lansing very closely.

Our state legislators are interested in your opinions on school finance. Please share your concerns about potential budget cuts with them. They are: Sen. David Honigman (517-373-1758) and Rep. Thomas Middleton (517-373-2616).

Generations-old problems appear in research

BY VIRGINIA BLOCK

Curiosity prompted us to check out a query on the computer submitted by a person named Harold Block. Since Hubby has a cousin by that name, we were sure that we would luck out with gaining extra information without digging for it, but not so!

In only two generations, it became Acadian lineage that went back 13 — yes, 13 — generations, and it wasn't our Harold at all.

The French Canadian research is sometimes very difficult to come by, and for a number of years we have relied on Jay Reisinger's "Lost in Canada." But she turned to other areas, selling her publication to the Minnesota Genealogical group, and somehow it's not the same. We will share all this new information, gladly, if you are in need of researching Ontario, in particular, and the French Canadians in Louisiana, as well.

If you want to learn more about Malignant Hyperthermia (a real misnomer), this hereditary disease began over 300 years ago in the Dupuis family. Intermarriage in the Quebec and Upper Canada areas spread to the LeBlanc, martin and other families and today presents a risk to families having allergic reactions to certain anesthetics.

Before, the anesthesiologist was blamed if a person died upon administration of the anesthetic prior to surgery. Today, if such an occurrence is life-threatening, it is reversible with techniques that are now standard operating-room procedures.

Even dentists encounter problems with some patients needing "numbing" of areas being treated.

This is not to scare, simply to make certain that both the professional and the public stay on the alert to prevent unfortunate results from treatments meant to be preventive measures.

By the way, have you checked your family tree for incidents of Charcot-Marie-Tooth disease? This one if named for the three doctors who identified it and who developed early treatment studies. It affects the muscular system and is too complex to deal with in this space.

The president of the national Polish Genealogical Society, Rosemary Chorzempa, has just published a new book that makes researching Polish family lineage much easier, and we will share details if you sent us a self-addressed stamped envelope with your request for information.

As many of you prepare to search cemeteries for ancestors' graves this summer, a coffee can of baking flour and a powder puff will be a big help in dusting gravestones to make the reading more legible, leaving no trace after the next rain.

HAPPY HUNTING!

Genealogist Virginia Block may be reached by writing to: Heritage Hunt II, P.O. Box 108, Oxford, MI 48371.

School lauds her for peaceful efforts

A Waterford elementary school recently honored a local woman for her commitment to helping those in need.

Barb Passmore was given the distinction of "Peace Person" at Crescent Lake Elementary School May 25. She was lauded by nearly 200 students in the school's monthly "Peace Program."

The half-hour program consists of students in kindergarten through third-grade honoring a selected guest with gifts of letters and artwork. They also treat their guests with peace-oriented songs such as "God Bless America" and "Let There Be Peace On Earth" around a makeshift "peace pole."

Passmore was selected as a "Peace Person" by school staff because of her many years of voluntary service to the area. For the past 12 years, she's been the coordinator of an outreach program at the Clarkston Free Methodist Church.

This program helps the needy through donations to the Pontiac Rescue Mission and the Salvation Army.

Passmore said she was honored to be a "Peace Person" but said most of the credit belongs to her church.

"I'm honored that they selected me, but I'm just the organizer," she said, humbly. "It's the people of our church who deserve the credit. They're the ones who make our program such a success."

District awaits fallout of Proposal A defeat

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Proposition A has been dead nearly a week, but it's still unknown what repercussions will be felt in the Clarkston school district.

The proposed constitutional amendment lost by about a 55-45 margin in statewide voting, with a majority of the naysayers coming from the metropolitan Detroit area.

Locally, Proposition A fell to defeat in two of three municipalities. In Independence Township, voters downed the measure 4,311 to 3,540. Springfield Township residents also nixed the proposal 1,589 to 1,188.

Only in the City of the Village of Clarkston did it pass — 249 to 162.

If approved, Proposal A would have: increased the state sales tax from 4 percent to 6 percent; capped millages at 40 mills; capped property tax assessment hikes at 5 percent or the rate of inflation, whichever is less; rolled back school operating millages to 18 mills with a maximum of 27 mills; and guaranteed each school district at least $4,800 per student in K-12.

A mill is $.1 for every $1,000 in assessed property valuation.

Clarkston school officials were disappointed by the proposal's defeat.

"I'm extremely disappointed that it failed, especially in Oakland County," said Gary Haner, Clarkston schools superintendent. "Our school district would have benefited from its passage."

If passed, Clarkston's operating millage rate would have been around 22 mills, compared to the present rate of 38.83. The amount of money per pupil also would have increased by $153 to $5,266.

Reading club for adults begins

Do you love to read? Are you in a reading rut or need a nudge to do more reading?

If you answered yes to any of the above, you may want to consider the Summer Reading Club for Adults.

The Independence Township Library's second annual Summer Reading Club for Adults begins June 14 with more prizes and a special event.

Participants read at least one book from each of five categories of books. A packet with suggested reading lists is provided.

Readers who complete the program are eligible for the prize drawings. The grand prize is a $50 gift certificate from the Village Bookstore in Clarkston. Additional prizes are awarded to others in a drawing.

As a special event, noted science fiction expert Jean Jambas presents a free program at the library 8-9 p.m. Saturday, July 12.

See Patience Beer at the library or call 625-2212 to sign up for the Summer Reading Club for Adults.

Looking ahead to next year, school officials are guardedly optimistic about the financial state of the district.

"If our preliminary numbers hold as accurate, our budget for next year should be very close to breaking even, meaning we shouldn't be in a deficit situation," said Steve Lenar, deputy superintendent of business and operations.

However, he added, this projection is based on the Legislature leaving things status quo. There's still a chance that Lansing could pass legislation making school districts pay all of their employees' Social Security and retirement costs.

In the past, the state has covered 95 percent of these items' total costs. If Clarkston were to pay 100 percent, the district would have to shell out $3.3 million per year from its budget, Lenar said.

In turn, the district would enact $1.7 million in cuts, approved by the board in May. This cut-package won't be put into effect until the board deems it necessary.

Ranging from athletics to transportation to elementary physical education, these cuts touch a variety of district activities, programs and operations.

Lenar hopes that this scenario never rings true.

"At this point, these are all unknowns, so it's difficult to plan when you don't know the rules," he said. "At least with Proposal A, there was a game plan on how to proceed. Now, there's a lot of uncertainty revolving around planning future budgets."

"We're prepared to make cuts, but only if Lansing forces our hand," he added.

ARE THERE BUGS IN THE WELL?

VENT CAPS

WATER-TIGHT CAP
VERMIN-PROOF

If you have a VENT CAP like the one pictured on the left, installed on your well, then the answer is probably YES.

Ventilated caps are made so that there is a gap between the cap and the well. That's how the cap vents the well. Many vent caps don't even have a thread where the pump cable exits the well. These gaps may be small to a human but they provide easy access to the well for earwigs, bee's spiders and other insects.

Insects that live in the well eventually die in the well. The insect corpse falls into the well water and provides a feast for the bacteria that live in any water. The level of bacteria in a "safe" well is too low to be a danger to people, but provide these bacteria with food, such as insect corpses, and they grow and multiply rapidly. This can lead to a high coliform BACTERIA COUNT and an UNSAFE WELL.

We have the parts you'll need for installation and can even install it for you, if you desire. We also offer WELL CHLORINATION and CERTIFIED, ACCURATE & COMPREHENSIVE WATER TESTING services. OUR WATER TESTS ARE ACCEPTED BY THE MICHIGAN DEPT. OF PUBLIC HEALTH.

Board nixes cluster option for oddly shaped lot

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

For the first time, Springfield Township has denied a request for a cluster option development.

The board voted 5-2 May 13 to turn down the request for a cluster option. Voting yes were: Clerk Nancy Strole, Treasurer Lois Stiles and trustees Dennis Vallad, Margaret Bloom and Charles Oaks. Voting no were: Supervisor Collin Walls and Trustee Elaine Field-Smith.

The township board is to consider the development again at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, June 10.

The cluster option is designed to preserve natural resources, allow greater flexibility and encourage a more efficient, aesthetic and desirable use of the land by moving the homes closer to one another.

The development, known as The Meadows of Springfield (formerly Maggies Meadows), was planned for 10 acres on the north side of Andersonville Road, east of Edgar Road. Developer Stephen Proctor requested the cluster option due to the unusual shape of the plat — the first request the township has received for clustering for an oddly shaped parcel.

Parcels that qualify are zoned single-family residential or suburban estates residential and must contain: natural assets that would be preserved with the cluster, major topographic conditions that make normal development impractical, and/or substantial portions of wetlands or woodlands.

The ordinance also allows clustering if the parcel is oddly shaped. This is the first time a developer has requested clustering on that criterion.

The clustering allows homes to be built closer together than the zoning allows but limits the total number of homes in the development to the number that would have been allowed without clustering.

Proctor's 15-sided parcel backs up to an electrical sub-station. "If this doesn't qualify as an odd shape, what does?" questioned Proctor after the meeting.

The cluster option would allow Proctor's eight homes to be built away from the station and a gas line that runs through the property. The homes would be on half-acre lots and the price range, according to Proctor, is geared toward empty nesters and first-time buyers.

Strole, who voted against the clustering, said the land could be developed under the non-cluster provision, and Proctor could get usable lots without clustering.

"There are no natural resources to speak of, and he could space (the lots) out so they don't look strange, even though it is an odd-shaped parcel."

Proctor agreed that there are no special natural features except some rolling hills. Proctor and a township board committee have worked on the project since the May meeting and are close to a solution, said Proctor.

"We've put together the nicest site for this odd-shaped property," said Proctor.

Library display cases now available

Need a place to set up an educational display? The Independence Township has two showcases available for nonprofit community groups or individuals to use.

Preference will be given to Clarkston/ Independence Township residents. However, residents of other areas are welcome to use the display cases if they're available.

The cases should be used primarily for educational or informational purposes. There's no charge to use them, but call ahead for available dates, ranging anywhere from one week to one month of display.

Displays are responsible for setting up and taking down displays. The library is interested in unusual and offbeat displays, which may be of interest to the general community. The cases can be locked, and both have lighting and removable shelves. The small case measures 56-by-40-by-14 inches. The larger case is 174-by-53-by-16 inches.

The library is not responsible for lost, stolen or damaged display items. To reserve a date, or for more information, call 625-2212, extension 19, and ask for Mrs. Meyer.

Geared toward preschoolers, the program will be held rain or shine. If it rains, it takes place in Hart Community Center.

In remembrance

A QUILT patch emblazoned with the name of former Clarkston native Patricia Ann King was recently sent off to the Nazareth Home, Louisville, to be incorporated into a large quilt honoring people who've died of acquired immune deficiency syndrome (AIDS). King, 39, died on March 22, 1993. Cathy Szpond of Livonia spent nearly 100 hours creating this patch for her deceased sister. The horse on the patch symbolizes Patricia's love for horses, said her mother, Betty King. The Nazareth Home, which is the only nursing home in Kentucky to admit AIDS patients, began this project nearly a year ago. So far, the quilt consists of 45 separate names, many of those who died at the facility. (Photo by Curt McAllister)

Sashabaw girls' team wins county meet

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

The Sashabaw Junior High girls' track squad overcame a field of 25 teams to win the Oakland County Track Meet June

3. The Cougars scored 63 points at Clarkston High School. They were led by the first-place finishes of Lisa Jennings in the 800-meter run and the 1600-meter relay team.

Jennings broke her own school record with a time of 2:33. The 1600-meter relay team consisted of Lissa Shires, Tracy Warner, Gretchen Pitzer and Jennings. They won with a time of 4:43.42.

Other Cougars who placed at the meet included: Lisa Gebus (second-high jump), Amanda Worden (second-200 meters), Kammy Powell (third-shot put), Tracy Warner (third-1600 meters), Michelle Druskinis (fourth-400 meters), Gebus (fourth-70 meters), Sue Naboychik (sixth-long jump).

The 800-meter relay team also took third place. This squad consisted of Worden, Shires, Naboychik and Gebus.

Coach Amy Beattie said her team's success came from channeled exuberance.

"We went into this meet with the feeling that we'd be in strong contention," she said. "Sometimes junior high kids won't perform well at big meets because they may be too nervous. Our kids seemed to use the nervous energy to their advantage."

SJHS boys place 13th

The Sashabaw boys' team took 13th place at the meet.

Their top individual performers included: Pat Jones (fourth-100-meter hurdles), Mitch Harget (fifth-long jump) and Kyle Russell (sixth-800).

The 400-meter relay team of Jeremy Roughton, Ryan Kulka, Eric Knake and Jay Richardson took fourth place. The 1600-meter relay team of Matt Gifford, Kyle Russell, Dennis Busch and Jeff Lovelless took fifth place.

Clarkston Junior High boys strong in sprints, long jump

Clarkston Junior High also had a fair share of participants place that day. For the boys' team, they included: Zak Dove (fourth-long jump), Todd Bauer (fifth in the 55-meter and 100-meter hurdles) and Ryan Schlaff (sixth-70-meter dash).

CJHS girls relay teams, individuals shine

Placing for the girls' squad were: Amanda Yarber (fourth-100 meters), Jennifer Bauer (fourth-800 meters) and Tracy Pope (fifth-55-meter hurdles).

Two relay teams also performed well for CJH. They were the fifth-place, 1600-meter team of Kristen Maine, Suzanne Jupp, Natalie Vaughn and Bauer, and the sixth-place, 400-meter squad of Margaret Seitz, Melissa Wells, Becky Lynady and Yarber.

Wolves fall in district finals to Kettering

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

The Clarkston girls' softball team did something that no other previous squad has done in the past five years — advance to the district finals.

However, the Wolves ran into a buzzsaw, in Waterford Kettering, ending an impressive 22-win season.

Clarkston won its pre-district opener on June 1 when they edged West Bloomfield 5-4. Junior Erin Patterson pitched a one-hitter and struck out eight batters for the Wolves.

Offensively, CHS was paced by junior Shawna Greene, who went 2-for-3 and scored two runs. Junior Laura Seitz also scored two runs and added three stolen bases in the victory.

On June 5, the Wolves traveled to Walled Lake Western to take on Waterford Mott. Despite a slow start, Clarkston crushed the Corsairs 12-0.

Patterson pitched the entire game, allowing only five hits. This contest marked her 18th win of the year.

Senior Missy Phillips led the team with three hits, including two doubles. Seitz, Greene, Heather Austin and Crystal Lemke also chipped in with two hits apiece.

In the finals, Clarkston went flat as Kettering rolled to a 10-1 victory. Patterson started the game but ran out of gas half way through, allowing the Captains to rally. Austin came on in relief.

"Erin pitched really well in the first game, but she started to tire out in the fourth inning against Kettering," said Coach Al Land. "I can't say enough about the way she improved this season. With a little luck, I think she can evolve into one of the county's better pitchers next season."

Seitz, Austin and junior Amanda Van

Klaveren had two hits apiece against Kettering.

During the regular season, the Captains won two of three games from CHS, despite finishing behind the second-place Wolves in the GOAL.

LAURA SEITZ collected four hits in district play June 5.

Baseball team ousted from post season

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

The Clarkston varsity baseball team's season came to a crashing halt June 5, when they lost to Walled Lake Central in the district finals.

The Vikings clipped the Wolves 7-6 in a very topsy-turvy game at Walled Lake Western. Clarkston went into the game as the defending district champs but Central rallied back on three separate occasions.

The deciding blow came in the top of the sixth inning, when the Vikings broke a 5-5 tie with two unearned runs off reliever

Eric Carlson. Carlson had no-hit Waterford Mott in the previous game, which the Wolves won 3-0.

CHS put together an impressive rally in the bottom of the seventh inning to cut the lead to 7-6. But, with runners at second and third, and only one out — the Wolves couldn't advance either the tying or winning runs.

Coach Roy Warner said his senior-laden squad had a hard time dealing with the loss.

"The kids took it pretty hard," he said. "We wanted to keep going."

Against Central, the Wolves were paced by Scott Jenkinson with two hits and 3 runs-batted-in, and Tom Doyon with two hits.

In the previous game against Mott, CHS was led by Jenkinson with two hits and an RBI, and Dan Eby with two RBIs.

Early last week, the Wolves crushed West Bloomfield in the pre-district opener. Pitcher Aaron Phillips earned the win for Clarkston.

Phillips and Doyon each socked homers against the Lakers.

The Wolves ended the season with a 23-8 record, claiming the GOAL championship.

A DEJECTED Eric Ryan watches Walled Lake Central accept district championship medals at Walled Lake Western June 5. The Wolves lost a 7-6 heartbreaker to the Vikings in the finals.

Tracksters fail to place at state meet

Seven Clarkston High track athletes went to the Class A track finals this past weekend, but none of them placed at the meet.

The girls' 1600-meter relay team came the closest with a ninth-place finish. Medals and points were awarded up to eighth place.

The squad took first in its heat with a time of 4:07.1, which was its best time of the year. Anchor runner Angie Brown, a junior, also had a personal best by running a 400-meter split time of 59.8 seconds. Other members of the relay team consisted of junior Kristen Stanton, sophomore Carey Haven and freshman Nicki Winn.

"Each girl gave it her all, resulting in their best time of the year," coach Gordie Richardson said. "As a team, I thought we represented ourselves well, but the meet was full of outstanding performers."

Other state qualifiers for Clarkston included: Brown (200 meters), Stanton (high jump), Leah Scharl (high jump) and Michelle Wade (discus).

Senior Kyle Powell, the lone male representative for CHS, placed 11th in both the discus (143'1") and shot put (49'7"). Last week at the Oakland County Track Championships, Powell broke an 18-year-old school record in the shot put with a heave of 52'7".

The former school record had belonged to Tim Dougherty at 51'3".

Clintonwood Park to open new fields

Four new ball fields at Clintonwood Park will be opened to the public this Saturday, June 12.

The grand opening is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. with a "Parade of Athletes." Further festivities include: opening remarks by local dignitaries, the ceremonial first pitch, and the National Anthem.

Numerous games are slated for these fields throughout the day. The park's new concession stand will also be open to visitors.

Other events include a moonwalk for the kids, facepainting and a hot air balloon launch, weather permitting. For more information, call the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department at 625-8223.

Madonna-bound

COURTNEY WHITTAKER, a senior at Clarkston High School, has signed a letter of intent to play basketball at Madonna College. Pictured with her mother, Sally, Whittaker officially signed on May 15. The prep star chose the Livonia-based college over schools such as Wayne State University, Morehead State University (Ky.) and Tri-State University (Ind.). During her senior year at CHS, Whittaker averaged 15.8 points and 6.7 rebounds per game. She was named a Team tri-MVP, first-team All-GOAL and honorable mention all-state by the Basketball Coaches Association of Michigan. Whittaker and her teammates won the GOAL title this year with a record of 10-0, 19-3 overall.

CHS garners medals at meet

The Clarkston varsity track teams claimed one winner at the Oakland County Championships May 29.

Senior Kyle Powell won the shot put with a heave of 52'7". He also grabbed a third in the discus to help the boys' team earn 10th place out of 28 teams. Lake Orion was crowned the champion in the boys' division.

Steve Locher (pole vault) and Steve Cohoon (800 meters) also garnered fifth-place medals that day.

The girls' team took 11th place, behind the strong performances of Rachel Seiffertlein. The senior took third place in the discus and fifth place in the shot put.

Angelic Brown earned a fourth-place medal in the 200 meters and anchored the third-place, 1600-meter relay team of Kristen Stanton, Carey Haven and Nikki Winn.

He Never Turns Away

They come to him for help when they need it the most. Some numbed by their loss, some shattered, they say: "This is someone we loved. We entrust him to you."

And even when he's faced with the crumpled innocence of the youngest asking, "Why?"-and he has to find childlike words to answer a question that even theologians struggle with-he never turns away.

He gives them the consolation of tradition.

He shows them how to accept their tragedy with dignity.

He helps them cope with their grief.

He guides them back to the active world of the living.

He is a funeral director. He practices the most emotionally demanding and least understood of all the professions.

He faces up to traumas every day that most people only have to deal with once or twice in a lifetime.

He would never turn away.

He has earned the deepest thanks from anyone who has ever leaned on his compassion for support. Who turned to him and found that he would never turn away.

RYAN KONKLE, a fifth-grader at Andersonville Elementary School, won the district spelling bee on May 14. Ryan won when Melany Morearty misspelled "weevil." He spelled it correctly, then correctly spelled "whetstone." Ryan's favorite subject in school is spelling, and he studied for two weeks with his mom, he said. Runner-up Melany is a fifth-grader at North Sashabaw Elementary, and her favorite subject also is spelling. Melany practiced spelling with her mom and friends before the bee. Special services mark church addition Homecoming ceremonies are planned in honor of the new addition at New Life Christian Center.

The 1 1/2-story addition includes 1,344 square feet on the ground floor and about 2,100 square feet total. It houses the pastors and their family.

Materials for the addition were paid for with money donated to the church. It was built by the people of the church.

Pastors Kenneth and Diane Everhart are to lead in the singing, praise and worship, old-time gospel preaching and prayer for the sick.

Special services are planned for 7 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday and include a visit from Evangelist Lois Bunch of Fort Worth.

The Rev. David McMurray, former pastor of the church (then called Pentacostal Tabernacle), is to speak Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Regular church services are 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Sunday, 7 p.m. Wednesday, and endtime teaching 7:30 p.m. Friday.

The church is at 9880 M-15, three miles north of I-75, in Independence Township.

Chamber Golf Classic planned

Area residents and business people have a chance to help the community and have fun at the same time this summer.

The annual Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce Golf Classic takes place Tuesday, Aug. 3, at Heather Highlands Golf Course in Springfield Township.

The outing, at $125 per person, is the Chamber's only fund-raiser of the year and helps to pay for: Free concerts in Clarkston's Depot Park, college scholarships, and the annual business expo.

The golf package includes 18 holes of golf and cart, continental breakfast, hot dogs and chips on the course and a three-entree buffet dinner — plus lots of prizes, snacks and complimentary drink tickets. An additional nine holes of golf are possible on the Executive Course after dinner.

Non-golfers may participate for $35 for dinner only. Golfers may create their own foursome or allow the Chamber to match them up.

The day begins with a 7 a.m. continental breakfast, 8 a.m. shotgun-start (four-player scrambles) and 2 p.m. dinner.

Chamber golf committee members ask that area businesses golf, sponsor a hole, or donate items as "give-aways."

For information on donations or tickets, call the Chamber at 625-8055. or call the following committee members: Fred Ritter, 625-2500; Betty Simmons, 625-8800; Bruce Mercado, 625-5000; Curt Harder, 625-5041; Gary Haner, 625-4402; Brenda Orlando, 625-7141; Mike Bogle, 625-3344; or Mick Morrow, 620-9110.

Students reach graduation day, despite obstacles, delays

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

Tears, nervous laughter and shouts of, "Hi, Momma!" from toddlers in the audience marked a standing-room-only graduation ceremony last week.

Fifty-three students were graduated June 2 from Clarkston Adult Education and STRIVE Alternative High School and received a standing ovation from the audience in Clarkston High's Kirchgessner Theater.

Eight of the graduates shared their stories, with community education Director Marilyn Allyn stationed

The first speaker, Callie Coleman, said alternative high school changed her life.

"If it wasn't for STRIVE, a lot of people wouldn't be here today," she said, thanking those who helped her along the way.

Danny Collins studied electronics at the Oakland Technical Center through adult education.

"Many people helped me on my learning journey," he said. "One special person helped me to set goals in my life, my electronics teacher at OTC, Don Peters. To me, he is a teacher of a lifetime."

Collins said his family inspired him to continue his

"I stared one day and looked in the abyss and saw nothing looking back at me. And it was there I found my character. I chose to finish high school," he said, adding that he plans to attend Oakland Community College.

Remedy in effect for raccoon rascals

If a raccoon is damaging your property, you now have authority to solve the problem.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has issued an interim order, permitting a resident to "dispatch of a raccoon at any time of year" if it is doing damage to or about to damage a resident's property.

DNR wildlife biologists said wild populations of raccoons are at high levels this year, and private landowners' dispatching of raccoons when the animals are damaging their property will not adversely affect raccoon populations.

For more information, call 517-373-1263.

QUESTION: Do you have any suggestions on how to make your home look its best during showings?

ANSWER: The buyer has to LIKE WHAT HE SEES. Minor signs or wear should be corrected. A few dollars spend touching up the front door or replacing worn trim or removing rust stains can add hundreds of dollars in sales appeal.

Storage space should look, spacious. Toss out or sell all the paraphernalia you've been accumulating in the closets, attic, basement or garage. You'll still be left with plenty. Be sure to stack or hang them in a manner that looks like you have room to spare. Don't give prospects the idea that space is at a premium in your home.

STRIVE and Adult Education students graduate

Nadine Fortin said adult education was a turning point, not only in her education but in her confidence.

"I'm really excited to be here," she told the audience. "I'm really proud of myself."

She thanked her family, especially her mother, for their support. And she thanked the staff at community education.

"They are just wonderful, wonderful people. ... They listen to everything you have to say," she said, adding that she, too, planned to attend college.

Cindy Haycook said most people tackle life in this order: high school, college, marriage, children and first home.

"This class is different," she said. "We have started our lives without first graduating. Each of us had a different reason to quit school."

However, thanks to family and adult education staff, she and others found the help they needed to return to school.

Kip Knisley, too, had help, he said. "If I could thank anybody, I'd like to thank my parents."

He said they provided transportation for the 15 miles to and from school everyday. "I'll find a way to pay it off," he said.

Janelle Pond said her life changed when she returned to adult education.

"Back then, I chose to leave high school," she said.

She started again in 1986, when she first met Marilyn Allyn. But she stopped school again, only to return in fall 1992. And there to greet her, she said, was "Marilyn, with her bright smile."

"Thanks to my family for helping to make my dreams come true," she said. "And thanks to Funshine from Alec, my 2-year-old."

Cindy Roy, a STRIVE student, said her education has not been easy, but the staff helped.

"Always they were there to see me through and give me the extra push," she said.

"It seems the things that need saying most go unsaid. I'd like to thank my mom, who was always there when I needed someone. Two other people I never knew how to thank are my father and David Marlow. Thank You. I love you both."

Steve Yenshaw of STRIVE said his teachers and staff had a better attitude in "helping students in extreme stress than anywhere in the United States of America."

"I can only hope that I can have an impact on someone's life like they have had an impact on mine," he said.

He mentioned his instructor, Lee Johnson, who impacted him the most, he said.

And he thanked others. "My grandmother called me every morning to make sure I was up for school," he said. "My mom and dad are directly responsible for helping me achieve my goals."

The graduates are listed below.

IMMEDIATELY after graduating, Charles Fischer of Pine Knob Lane, Independence Township, bursts out laughing and hugs Chris Elkins and his family members.

BEFORE the graduation ceremony begins, Gary O'Toole and Nadine Fortin talk while standing in line. Nadine addressed the audience during the commencement ceremony.
