Double trouble?

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

By the start of the fall sports season, Clarkston athletes could see their pay-to-play fees double in cost.

On July 12, the Clarkston Board of Education unanimously tabled an administrative recommendation to raise the pay-to-play rate from $75 per sport to $150. The trustees decided to hold off on a decision because of numerous concerns.

Presently, the school district is prepared to cut as much as $1.7 million from its budget if the Michigan Legislature decides to quit making social security payments. At this point, a $60,000 cut in athletics ranks atop the district's 60-item priority list.

According to Steve Lenar, deputy superintendent of business and operations, state representatives have warned the school district to prepare for a $1 million loss in state aid. Lenar doesn't expect the district to find out how much in state aid will be lost until August or September.

"They're really dragging their feet on this issue," he said.

Lenar asked the board to institute the $75 increase for grades 7-12, so athletes and their parents could have a month to prepare for a higher participation fee. Lenar added that this $75 hike, or a portion of it, could be refunded if the state decides to continue paying a majority of or all the schools' state aid.

Several of the board members were opposed to the $150 up-front fee, saying it was too much of a burden on families.

"I think $150 per student is an expensive ordeal and a financial hardship, when you consider that most of these

Friday's free concert features '50s music

If Blueberry Hill brings back memories, you're in luck. A free concert this Friday features all sorts of '50s music.

Moose and Da Sharks perform the fourth concert in this year's July series in Clarkston's Depot Park. The performance takes place 7-9 p.m. July 23 in the park on Depot Road, west off Main Street.

The Clarkston Area Optimists offer concessions, though patrons may want to bring blankets or lawn chairs.

Sponsored by the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce and First of America Bank, the concert series is in its 14th season. Donations are accepted at each concert or may be mailed to the Chamber's Concert Fund at: 5897 Dixie Highway, Clarkston, MI 48346.

People may want to don cowboy boots for the season finale on July 30. That concert features Country Music Jamboree.

athletes will be participating in more than one sport," said trustee Kurt Karlstrom.

President Joe Helpem was also admittedly concerned about the fee, especially in a pre-collection format. Secretary Sheila Hughes saw some merit in the pre-collection procedure because it could be difficult for the district to collect extra money half-way through the season.

Trustee Janet Thomas was in favor of an earlier proposed cost of $80 per sport for students. Further more, she sees the possible doubling of costs for athletics as discrimination against one group of pupils.

"What bothers me is that if we're going to double extra-curricular fees for sports, we should consider it for all extra-curricular activities," she said.

Hughes admitted that hiking the district's one-year-old, pay-to-play format was unfortunate, but she pointed out that surrounding districts are already charging similar rates.

"I know it's a hard pill to swallow, but when you look at districts around us like Brandon or Rochester, you'll see they're paying just as much per sport or possibly more," she said. "I think parents are going to pay the fee, regardless if its $75 or $150."

This issue will come before the board again at the Aug. 9 meeting.

Springfield man dies in crash

A 72-year-old Springfield Township man died Saturday after a morning accident on Dixie Highway near Bridge Lake Road.

According to Sgt. James Heiligenthal of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Gus Kostopulos was driving his 1985 Buick south on Dixie around 10:05 a.m. when he turned left in front of an oncoming car. Kostopulos was pronounced dead on the scene.

The driver of the other car, Tony Smith, 27, of Springfield Township, was taken to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. He was listed in stable condition on Tuesday. Both men were wearing their seatbelts and alcohol was not a factor.

Kostopulos is survived by his wife, Sybil. He was a retired insurance agent and a veteran of World War II. Funeral services were to be held Tuesday at the Lewis E. Wint TRUST 100 Funeral Home, Clarkston.

Boardwalk on township agenda

To raise or not to raise a dock and boardwalk over wetlands — that is the question Independence Township will grapple at an upcoming meeting.

On July 6, the township board agreed to hear arguments by Jim Ford of the Timbers of Lake Oakland condominium development. A meeting date has not been set.

Ford's plans call for the boardwalk and dock to "traverse" wetlands.

His request was denied twice by the township's Wetlands Board on April 15 and May 20.

When the township board hears Ford's appeal, no new evidence or comment from the public will be accepted. Ford can only recap arguments from his Wetland Board meetings.

Lake Oakland Woods is south of Maybee Road, between Clintonville and Sashabaw roads, north of Lake Oakland.

Gypsy moth invasion hits Deer Lake woodlots

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

Peggy Dryer and Nancy Francis have become proficient with sticky bands, barrier bands and rubber boots — and they hope their neighbors will join them. The two Deer Lake-area residents in Independence Township have turned to the low-tech tools in an effort to slow an invasion of gypsy moths in their towering oak trees.

“We’re really preparing for next spring,” said Dryer, explaining that the caterpillars are beginning to pupate — that is, they’re entering their developmental “resting” stage before becoming moths.

While gypsy moths have defoliated whole areas up north and communities are spraying for them there, the pests are only beginning to enter Oakland County.

Apparently, they’ve found an ideal spot in the neighborhoods surrounding Deer Lake — woodlots filled with huge oak and birch trees, which they love to eat.

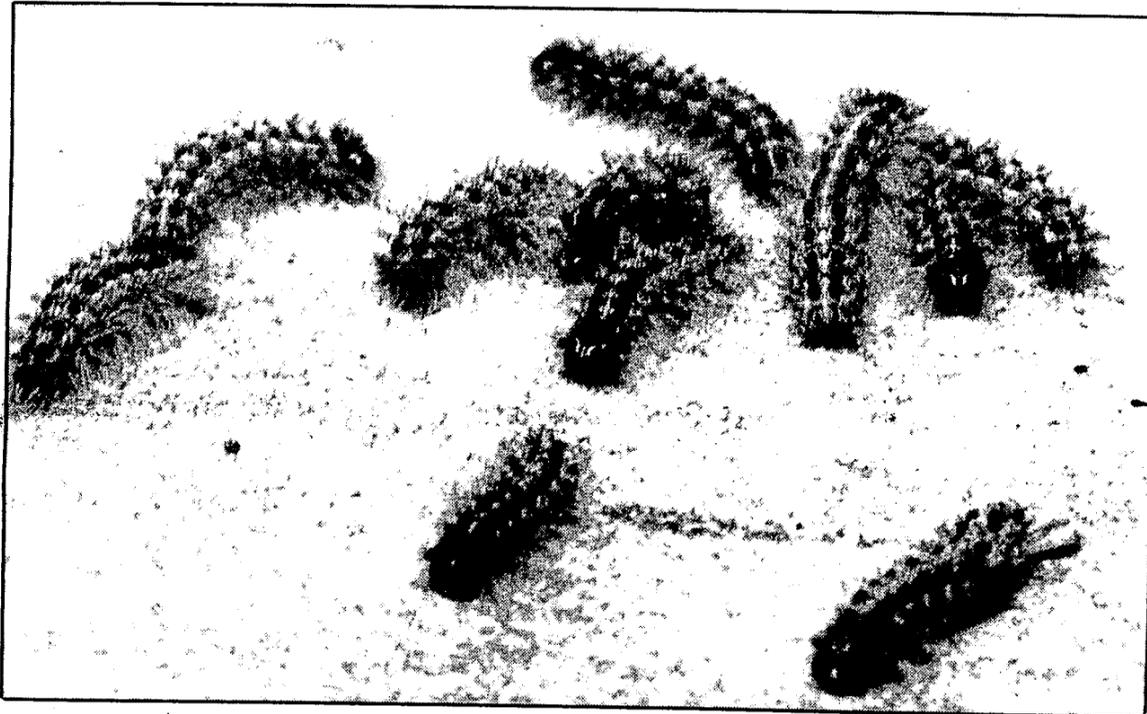

Francis said they’re so bad at her house that she gathers them up by the hundreds each day, and she can hear their droppings pitter patter on her deck.

Dryer said she and her husband, John, spend much time each day gathering the caterpillars caught in their bands around their trees. The two then drop the wriggly bugs in buckets of soapy water, which kills them.

Dryer also pointed out the different stages of the (See MOBILE, next page)

PEGGY Dryer, clad in rubber gloves and boots, prepares to lift a burlap band around an oak tree in her front yard and knock the hiding caterpillars into a bucket of soapy water. The tree also has a sticky band to prevent caterpillars from crawling up.

IN JULY gypsy moth caterpillars (large larvae) are as large as they’ll get, after feeding on oak leaves in May and June. Next, they’ll enter their “resting stage.” As pupae, they change into moths in about 10 days. The female moth is creamy white and does not fly but emits a chemical to attract a male moth. The male is brownish and flies in a zigzag pattern, looking for the female. Both sexes have V- or notch-shaped markings on each forewing. Finally, buff-colored egg masses appear, containing between 50 and 1,500 eggs. The masses are usually covered with hairs from the female’s abdomen. They can survive Michigan winters and hatch during May.

How to manage gypsy moths at home

According to the Michigan State University Extension, homeowners who are aware of gypsy moth problems can protect their trees and prevent them from dying.

Here are a few tips.

■ Keep trees healthy with water and fertilizer, and prune properly. Take care of other insect and fungus problems.

■ Keep your yard as clean as possible. Remove dead branches from the ground and out of trees, where the adult female moth is likely to lay egg masses. Each fall check recreation vehicles for gypsy moth egg masses.

■ Destroy egg masses, which are around for nearly nine months before they hatch. They’re likely to be found under a loose flap of bark on a tree or some other sheltered spot.

■ Use barrier bands. These sticky or slippery bands can be placed around tree trunks to help curtail caterpillars from crawling up a tree and into the leaf canopy. They can be purchased at a garden store. Or make them by using a nonporous material that can be wrapped around a tree trunk, then coated with a commercially made, vegetable-based sticky material. Never put sticky material directly on the tree trunk.

■ Use hiding bands. Cloth, or hiding bands, can be homemade from medium weight dark cloth about 12 to 18 inches wide and long enough to completely wrap around the tree. Fasten each band about chest height around the tree with twine, cord or wire about midway of the cloth. Then fold the top part of the cloth down over the bottom half. Some caterpillars descending the tree in the morning hours in search of a daylight resting spot will hide under the flap of the band. Remove the caterpillars each day by scraping them into a bucket of soapy water.

■ Use biological pesticide. A pesticide containing B.t.k. Bacillus thuringiensis var. kurstaki as the active ingredient can be applied from the ground or aerial spraying. It can be found under such labels as: Dipel, Foray, Thuricide and Bactur. It’s safe to humans (though in rare cases, people have had an allergic reaction to it). It affects only the caterpillars of moths and butterflies and is the “most selective” product available.

■ Use water pressure to spray (and kill) them when they are young.

■ Use chemical insecticides (check garden stores or nurseries), such as formulations of acephate, carbaryl and malathion. But use the chemicals sparingly, as they can kill beneficial insects, such as honey bees.

TOOLS of the gypsy moth brigade include rubber boots and buckets of soapy water. Peggy Dryer’s daily routine includes finding hundreds of gypsy moth caterpillars and placing them in the bucket, where they’ll drown. The gypsy moth has few natural predators in this country, as most birds don’t like them. Small rodents, such as white-footed mice, will eat them, as will calosoma beetles (large, attractive ground beetles, greenish in color), spiders, and a tiny wasp (Ooencyrtus kuvanae), imported into Michigan by the Department of Agriculture.

Mobile caterpillar munching its way into town

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

Gypsy moths are having a field day in communities unprepared for their appetite.

Greg Patchan, horticulture agent for the Michigan State University Extension Service in Oakland County, said that the gypsy moth invasion is spotty in Oakland County — but it will worsen.

While entire counties up north spray for the bugs, only a few communities in Oakland County have hired the helicopter application. Bloomfield Hills and Franklin are two, said Patchan.

He said that in the beginning, usually a few hardwood lots and forests are affected — and homeowners must battle the problems alone. But when it becomes more widespread, sometimes the best approach is a community-wide aerial spray.

Though new to the Clarkston area, the gypsy moth is not a new pest, said Patchan.

"It's an imported pest," he said, explaining that it came into the country at the turn of the century on the East Coast by someone wanting super silk from silk worms.

But the caterpillar and moth have no major natural predators in the United States, he said. And there are high populations of suitable food.

"It's had a field day," he said. It travels in its immediate area the way other bugs travel — caterpillars crawl, and tiny caterpillars are blown from tree to tree by their silken strings.

When the caterpillars become moths, the female can't fly, said Patchan.

"The major spread of the insect is due to man," he said. "Often it hitchhikes to new locations by laying eggs on trailers, lawn furniture and cars."

Hence the name gypsy. Once the moth enters an area, he said, "it's not going to go away. It will continue to spread."

And its effect can change an area. "Large numbers defoliate trees. Some become weakened and die over two to three years," he said.

Healthier trees have a better chance to withstand a season or two without leaves, he said, adding that homeowners should begin with that approach. That means they need to water and fertilize, prune properly and avoid injuring roots and other tree parts.

They also should learn how to identify the moth at each stage, so they can stop the problem before it worsens. "If you're persistent, you can reduce the population," he said.

New subdivisions built in former farm fields probably won't have much of a problem. Neither will urban areas. However, anything is possible, he said. "Many of our urban shade trees they don't like very well, ... but starving gypsy moths will eat anything," he said.

When the problem becomes bad, people should join together in the fight, said Patchan.

"If you have very high populations, support your local officials in starting a general community program," he said.

The most inexpensive option is a community-wide aerial spraying of a bacterial product that isn't toxic to anything but caterpillars, he said.

Individual property owners should use sticky bands and cloth bands to capture and kill the bugs each day.

Homeowners fighting back

gypsy moth on her house. She spotted orange dusty-looking egg masses, brown pupae (cocoons) and the bristly caterpillars themselves. Soon, she said, the moths will appear — usually about 10 days after they pupate.

It's best to kill the caterpillars before they become moths and lay eggs, said Dryer, especially since the immobile pupae are hard to spot.

Experts told her to keep the bands on the trees through August and to buckle up for the real battle next year.

"Unfortunately, we're getting this too late," said Dryer, adding, however, that "we've got a whole year."

So she and some of her neighbors are capturing all the caterpillars they can — and are keeping a sense of humor about it. Dryer even penned a poem (see below).

She said township residents should inform themselves about this ravaging pest and form a gypsy moth "extinction force."

Come down, down the trees you go.	We are out to get you.

Evening comes and up the trees you crawl.

Board approves raises for DPW union workers

Straight-talking George Anderson summed it up this way: "They're good workers and they all deserve a raise."

The Department of Public Works director commended employees Craig Richardson, Roger Belcher and Kathy Ainge. Anderson asked the Independence Township Board for raises for the three July 6.

He got what he asked for. Richardson was promoted from senior maintenance man to superintendent — a position that has not been filled since the retirement of Bill Wilson some years ago. Richardson has been with the DPW for nine years. His 72-cents-per-hour raise brings his wage up to $13.48 an hour. Belcher was moved from "maintenance man I" to "maintenance man II." He now makes $12.35 an hour, up from $11.96. Ainge received the largest raise, from $9.93 an hour to $11.06. He title was improved from "clerk I" to "clerk II."

memories

Curt
McAllister

Last week, me and the Mrs. went on a weeklong vacation. It sure felt good to get away for a while.

Prior to leaving, my co-workers kept making up comical excuses for me to skip my long-anticipated trip, but I had a comeback for their good-natured ribbing. "Remember what happened at the Royal Oak post office?" I asked, in Nicholson-type fashion.

They all laughed, apprehensively I might add.

A day later, we were off. Our seven-day journey was to include a day at Cedar Point, three days in Washington D.C. and the rest of the week in New York state to attend my wife's cousin's wedding. Whew, with an agenda like this, who needs a vacation.

Now, instead of giving you a boring spiel about all the things we did, I thought I just hit some of the highlights. Mind you, all these journal-type entries happened in chronological order.

Day 1: We hit Cedar Point, with temperatures in the high 80s. Had a great time, even though the Mean Streak gave me a headache — felt like I went 10 rounds with Mike Tyson. The longest lines were for the water rides. Tell me, why do some women always insist on wearing white T-shirts on these rides?

Day 2: After staying the night in a cheesy motel with mirrors on the ceiling, we drove to Washington via Pennsylvania. What beautiful rolling hills, makes Michigan look real flat. Pennsylvania must have the most polite road signs in America — they actually apologize for ongoing road construction.

Day 3: We took an all-day tour of Washington D.C. It was 95 degrees in the shade. We visited embassy row, most of the major monuments and museums and toured the White House.

The Clintons weren't home. They were away sucking up to the Japanese at the Economic Summit.

I still get all choked up when I visit the Lincoln and Vietnam memorials. Boy, talk about one's emotions going 180 degrees within a matter of 100 yards.

Day 4: Temperatures hit 100 degrees, with Michigan-like humidity. Everyone around the capital was geeked about the big Super Ball drawing, like our Lotto, which was over $100 million. We didn't buy a ticket though — the lines at the party stores were too long.

We hit the remaining sights today, like the Jefferson Memorial and the Holocaust Museum. We only got to see a portion of the museum because tickets had been sold out weeks in advance. Sold through Ticketmaster, they're about as hard to come by as Redskin tickets I'm told.

Day 5: Left D.C. and drove nine hours to Syracuse, New York. We got to my wife's uncle's house just in time for the wedding rehearsal.

First thing Uncle Jim ask: me, "Did you get a shot at Clinton when you were in D.C.?" He an ultra-conservative, my kind of guy.

We also visited a nearby town which is the birthplace of L. Baum, who wrote the Wizard of Oz. Would you believe the downtown streets are painted yellow?

Day 6: Had to get up early because the wedding starts at 10 a.m. It's a Catholic service — the long one, I might add. Wouldn't have been that bad if it wasn't so hot. For the next five hours, we go to a posh reception hall, where people don't start to loosen up until the last half hour.

Luckily, Uncle Jim is having a post-reception party at his house. Good time, met a lot of interesting people — especially a tipsy optometrist who specialized in racy jokes.

Day 7: Left for Michigan, with intentions of seeing Niagara Falls on way through Ontario. It was a mad house, people everywhere and no parking. We saw the top of the falls from our car.

We got home later that night, tossed our laundry into the washer and fell into bed.

Luckily, the next day was a Monday — time to go back to work. Good, I needed some rest anyway.

Editorial

MAC would be good for CHS

For the past decade, Clarkston High School has been a big fish in a little pond — athletically speaking.

The Wolves have dominated the GOAL in a majority of the varsity sports shared with the league's five other members. This dominance has resulted in four consecutive all-sports trophies, not to mention those shared with Lake Orion over the past 10 years.

Let's face it, for all intent and purposes, Clarkston and Orion are the Greater Oakland Athletic League (GOAL). Since joining the GOAL in the mid-1970s, Clarkston has reaped the benefits of a lopsided league. Just a peak at the school's overcrowded trophy case will attest to this point.

Sure, folks can argue that the other schools have some tough teams too. Waterford Mott and Kettering are especially strong in girls' softball; Brandon is reknowned for their girls' softball and soccer programs and Pontiac Northern's boys are tough on the football field and track.

But the league's true powerhouse is Clarkston. This past season, the Wolves claimed eight league championship teams out of a possible 16 sports, with the lowest finish for any remaining team being fourth place.

So, the time is right for a change. A tougher league will provide Clarkston with better competition, which will help steel its teams for post-season play. The Macomb Area Conference would undoubtedly press the best teams Clarkston has to offer, when you consider this league already consists of 26 teams.

But that's the beauty of competition — pitting the best against the best. And with schools like Utica Eisenhower and Romeo in the MAC, CHS will see some top-flight talent up close.

Undoubtedly, there'll be some people who'll argue that Clarkston should remain in the GOAL and continue to conquer it for years to come. But how much of a challenge is five opponents, including one with Class B distinction.

Clarkston deserves this "promotion." If inducted into the conference, Clarkston's athletic teams will be definitely assured of a competitive league schedule and not one that merely serves as a warm-up for the post season.

About staff editorials

We at The Clarkston News realize that an important duty of a newspaper is to provide more than just the facts found in news stories.

Since we're out there uncovering the news, we get an inside look at the issues. In our staff editorials, we will give our opinions on those issues, just as other writing on this page — letters and columns — also offers opinions.

We leave the editorials unsigned because we've written them as a staff. Every week, we talk about the issues and take notes on everyone's opinions. Then one of us writes it and the rest of us change it until we're all satisfied.

While our opinions aren't always unanimous, our editorials reflect the majority views of the staff. If the staff splits evenly on an issue, we'll write two editorials on the subject.

We welcome your response to our views.

Jim's Jottings

Mishmash

Jim
Sherman

Being somewhat conservative by practice I've become a mutual fund buyer when it comes to the stock market.

Stung several years ago with the single buy of Vesley, the Lapeer camper maker, and more recently by Northwest Airlines, I've become cautious investment-wise.

Besides, owning a few stocks in many companies gives us a lot more mail. With quarterly and annual reports I get to see how word and money merchants can turn phrases to make your investment sound good while dividends are going south.

Not going the "south" route is the maker of Barbie Dolls, Mattel. John W. Amerman, CEO, said, "Last year, net sales were up by 12 percent, and net income increased by 23 percent."

Why, I wonder. Here's how, Amerman says, "Fortunately, toys are a somewhat recession-proof business. Consumers may delay a major purchase... they don't cut back on presents for their children and grandchildren."

The man certainly has us pegged. Can you believe it? Barbie is 34 years old! Sales of her and her accessories brought over one billion dollars this year to Mattel.

Michigan's top three political offices are held by men... Senators Riegle and Levin and Governor Engler. A woman has announced she'll try to get Engler's job when next we vote.

I've neither seen nor heard a woman being mentioned to oppose our tainted senator from Flint when he is next exposed.

Therefore, I'd like to suggest one... Rona Romney. With that name and her background it could be an exciting race. I can't see many people, Republican or Democrat, getting excited about backing Spencer Abraham, who has already announced.

I'm doing a lot more switching of tv channels now for evening news, but at one time NBC was my primary source. It was not because of John Chancellor.

Chancellor retired recently after 43 years with NBC. He offered commentary three nights a week. It was weak commentary. He chose words so soft even those he intended to urge to action fell asleep. Let-us-reason-together was a favorite theme.

Such an approach is admirable, and it worked for 43 years.

Anyway, upon his 65th birthday/retirement he said, "If I were an anatomist, I'd say that back in the '60s and '70s in television, we were interested in things of the head and heart... Today, it seems to me that a lot of the news is in the stomach and in the intestines. There's a category that some people call the pelvic news. The sights have been lowered to other parts of the body."

Nice wording like that helped keep John Chancellor on the tube a long time. But I wonder... if he and slow-minded me were alone in a locker-room at his country club would he have found a more crispy way of saying it?

Merit in eye of beholder

I noticed that the headline in the Clarkston News indicated that the wrongful arrest case against the Clarkston Police and City of Clarkston was "without merit." Granted, Mr. Ryan is a fine attorney, but he does not have a crystal ball. Every attorney knows that it is impossible to tell what a jury will do with any given set of facts.

Maybe in this case Mr. Ryan is correct, but there will be other cases. One substantial judgment could severely affect the 1,000 residents of the City of Clarkston.

It appears that his comments to the press are political in nature so that the City residents do not revolt because of the increased taxes for "police protection."

A few years ago the City of Troy Police Department was hit with a $6 million judgment and as I remember, the City Attorney indicated that the police had acted properly and the case was "without merit."

Police made visit nice

Last week my sons and I enjoyed a nice vacation with my family in Clarkston. We were visiting from Virginia, and enjoyed swimming at the Middle Lake beach every day (just like my sister and did as kids).

I subscribe to the Clarkston News, and often read many negative comments about the Clarkston Police Department. Here, is a visitor-former resident's point of view.

The day we arrived, my dad took my three, four-year-old boys for a walk. After a while, I went out to look for them. An officer stopped and asked if I was looking for a man with three little ones, and she pointed me in the right direction.

Shortly thereafter, she brought each boy a safety coloring book with crayons. They were continuously impressed with the friendly police officers throughout the week.

On the day we were loading the van to leave (2:30 a.m.), an officer pulled up in the drive. He wanted to make sure no one was breaking into the van. Frankly, I'm pleased my parents live in a subdivision so carefully protected. Many thanks to the police department for the special treatment.

Having lived in Virginia for eight years, there have been many changes in my hometown. I believe its called progress and with progress comes growing pains, trial and error, and improvements. Clarkston isn't alone in this — but it seems to me that the people of Clarkston live in a community to be proud of; a special place called home.

'If it Fitz . . .'

Vatican order is baffling

Jim Fitzgerald

The newspaper said the Pope Scope is OK with the Vatican, but the Pope on a Slope isn't. I can understand that, and I laugh.

But some Vatican-related news I simply can't understand, and I groan.

It's been nearly 50 years since I was a practicing Roman Catholic, but I've never lost interest in the religion I was born and baptized into. I have many wonderful memories of midnight masses and a 12-year Catholic school education. And, of course, for all of my life many of my best friends, including close relatives, have been faithful Catholics.

It was with a couple of these friends that I shared laughs while discussing a recent New York Times article that began: "The Catholic Church has given its blessing to the first official papal souvenirs. More than 100 items - from T-shirts and fanny packs to a Pope Scope that allows viewers to see over the heads of people in front of them - will be sold to defray the costs of Pope John Paul II's trip to Denver in August. Many will bear the likeness of the pontiff."

But some suggested souvenirs were rejected as inappropriate, according to John Lemke, president of Famous Artists Merchandising Exchange, the Ohio marketing firm hired to market the pope.

"He's a fairly avid skier, and he loves the outdoors. So one guy offered a sculpture he called Pope on a Slope, with the holy father on skis," Lemke said. "It was a cute idea, and I don't want people to get the idea Catholics have no sense of humor. But it's difficult to pull it off unless you identify a skier in a sculpture as the pope with liturgical garb, and we weren't going to do that."

"And in a parka, everybody looks the same." Not if the skier is pumping with two crooked shepherd's staffs instead of ski poles. Not if there's a snowy halo frozen to the parka.

I figured the church missed a profitable bet by not putting the pope on a slope. Certainly it would have been less offensive - not to mention less perishable - than the Pope on a Rope soap sold during previous papal visits.

But my more religious friends insisted no good Catholic would pay good money for a souvenir sculpture of a skiing pope who might easily be mistaken for a flying nun.

OK. I bought that. I understood. But now I proceed cautiously, from the frivolous to the tragic, to Catholic news I can't even begin to understand. Believe me, I'm not making light of the terribly serious situation described in a second newspaper story. Headlined "Vatican alters its stand," it said:

"ROME - Following reports that several Catholic nuns had been raped and impregnated in Bosnia-Herzegovina, a Jesuit journal with close ties to the Vatican said this week that when a woman is in danger of being raped, it is morally licit that she take recourse in the only means available, contraceptives, to avoid a possible pregnancy."

"But the article repeated the church's traditional ban against artificial birth control for anyone else." Think about that.

If a good Catholic woman, determined to follow Vatican orders, is suddenly confronted by a rapist, what is the morally licit thing to do?

Should she say, "Wait a minute," and then run out and buy a diaphragm for herself, or a gift condom for the rapist?

Is it OK to take birth control pills today, in case the neighborhood goes bad tomorrow?

I'm not trying to be funny; I'm seriously trying to understand.

I don't think the Famous Artists Merchandising Exchange can help me.

Can anyone?

Catherine Passmore

Fun and promises

It is finally over. The wedding I have been planning for and talking about since November has taken place, my dress has been cleaned and put away, and my flowers have been dried and pressed.

For the record, neither Kim nor I went back on any of the promises that we made to each other concerning the wedding eight months ago when she became engaged.

There were no parasols or funny hair pieces. Our dresses are cranberry and yes, I could wear it again (to a really fancy event). The man I walked down the aisle with was funny, intelligent and nice looking.

Neither of us fainted. We didn't cry (but the groom did). I did get the giggles walking down the aisle when the bestman (who is in the National Guard) began saying under his breath "Left ... left ... left, right, left. And I should have won an award for my performance of trying to catch the bouquet. I reached out for it, touched and tapped it over to the girl next to me (who is getting married this weekend).

The most memorable things happened behind the scenes (don't they always).

The groom's eight-year-old niece took a shine to me and was my little shadow whenever the family was over. She kept asking whether or not we would be related when Kim and Jeremy got married. She then boldly offered, in front of everyone, that there were boys in her family I could marry so we could be related.

***

While we were nervously waiting in the dressing room (ten minutes after the wedding was suppose to start) the bridesmaids serenaded Kim with "Going to the Chapel" to pass the time. She sang harmony and was more composed about the event than any of us were.

***

The day before the wedding the bride and I and our friend Jolene made 21 gallons of raspberry punch for the reception. If I see another packet of kool-aid again it will be too soon.

***

Shopping for the punch stuff was an experience too. We cleared Eagle out of Cran-raspberry juice, raspberry sherbet, raspberry koolaide and ginger aile. It was kind of embarrassing.

***

The rehearsal dinner was at a very nice restaurant and throughout the whole meal everyone was kept quiet trying to remember which fork to use. When the groom's sister walked by our table I asked her (as a joke) to dance for us and she complied with a little step or two. Next time she came by I handed her a dollar.

It would have stopped there, except the groom's father (a minister and from what I've heard a conservative one too) noticed and burst out laughing, then he asked if I'd give a dollar to anyone who would dance for me. I told him I'd give him five.

***

All in all, it was an experience I will never forget. There's a lot more to this maid of honor job than I expected, I even had to vacuum in my formal. I need another vacation.

It won't be a long one. I am in a wedding in May and the maid of honor in another next August.

Goodness, I have to think of a gift, and get invitations to the shower and ...

Supporting the doctor

I would like to respond to Mark Jones' July 14 guest column regarding the potential development of Dr. James O'Neill's property.

Mr. Jones made many interesting and truthful observations about modern society's lack of regard for undeveloped lands and forests.

I am troubled, however, by his implication that Dr. O'Neill somehow has an obligation to preserve the land for the public because he's been reimbursed (for services rendered) by public medical insurances or because he is a doctor.

For some 30 years, Dr. O'Neill has given selflessly to this community. Perhaps more selflessly than any individual who lives here.

In addition to the obvious: his many house calls, the weekend and holiday hours he happily provided, the sometimes lengthy hospital visits he made, the church and school work, and the public presentation he gave, Dr. O'Neill has made many valuable contributions to the community about which the general public has no knowledge.

To say, as Mr. Jones did, that Dr. O'Neill has "offered many years of fine service to this community," is an understatement.

Dr. O'Neill owes us nothing.

We, on the other hand, owe him the deepest debt of gratitude for his many kindnesses.

Many of us will be saddened to see changes occur on Dr. O'Neill's lovely property, as well as other properties in the township.

Mr. Jones, I wish we could go back to the simpler, 1920s Independence of my grandparents. Unfortunately, we cannot.

While I sympathize, and even agree, with many of your concerns, I think we as a community should recognize Dr. O'Neill's right to do as he pleases with his property — then wish him well.

Carolyn Walker

Kids don't like smoke

I would like to express my views on smoking in the public school buildings. I know that Clarkston Schools are trying to make a fair decision on smoking in the school building by Sept. 1. I hope that the decision will go in favor of the kids. The decision should be to have all the schools smoke free. No smoking should be allowed anywhere in any of the school buildings.

There are many buildings and offices where smoking is now prohibited. Oakland University and Oakland Community College, where older students and adults attend, have no smoking allowed in any of the campus buildings. Many of us work in smoke free environments. Our children should have this privilege also. I experienced the opportunity to see four pages (regular size print) of harmful chemicals all produced from a single cigarette. Our children should not be exposed to this. Please Clarkston School Administrators, see to it that our schools are smoke free.

Respect man, land rights

An open letter to the Protesters of Change —
 Have you stood back and taken a long look at yourselves? Or really listened to what you're saying?
 Are you just selfish? Or has jealousy blinded and deafened you?
 As long as the statutes and ordinances of the territory are followed, what right have you to fault what another chooses to do with his property?
 Create your own little wilderness. Buy a little more land. Get together and buy the whole farm (and enjoy the upkeep, operating and taxes as well as the openness). But quit disparaging a man and his family who've spent the last half-century doing more for others than you can possibly ever know.

More citizens should run

When I sat down to write this letter, I thought I'd start out with some notable quote. Perhaps something profound from Thomas Jefferson on a citizen's responsibility to their government, or maybe that quote from JFK.
 Let me see...what was that? Ask not what ... But when I began to think about why I was writing this letter to the paper (to urge all eligible citizens of the City of Clarkston to think about running for a City Council position) I felt perhaps the straightforward mid-western approach might be the best bet.

The town has had, historically, in the 130-plus years we've been in existence, somewhere around 1,000 people. As with any small town, the level of involvement someone was willing to commit to probably hinged how they viewed their investment in the community, most likely a dash or two of patriotism and a genuine concern to make the place they lived a better place.

Of those thousand people, it always seems as though a small percentage of them are willing to take that step. I could theorize why, but I believe, particularly now that we a year into a new form of government, everyone should take their turn. A sincere willingness to help the place in which you live be the best it can be is a good place to start when thinking about your qualifications.

Everyone brings their own special talents and expertise to the table and that diversity is what makes small town government work the best. Every point of view, from each section of town needs to be heard. In combination with new ideas and enthusiasm, a new level of excitement and productivity can continue in our government.

To be eligible to run, you must be at least 18 years of age, a registered voter and a resident for at least a year. You can pick up a petition at the Village Hall, Depot Road, or call 625-1559.

Per our new charter, city elections are non-partisan. You will need to get between 20-40 signatures from city residents and turn your petition back to the clerk by 4 p.m. Aug. 3.

There are three city council seats open for election, so residents can only sign three separate petitions.

By the way, I am a member of a new city group called "Neighbors for a Balanced View." Our purpose is to enhance objective communications between the city council and residents, to encourage active involvement in city government, to improve awareness of city issues and promote a balance of views and opinions in council decisions. As a group, we don't take a collective position on any city issue or candidate and our membership is open to all city residents.

Carol Eberhardt

Willing to help city

After reading Don Rush's article "Deer Lake residents clash over boats," I was disappointed that these issues have to become so confrontational. The discussion of the issues kept being postponed and I couldn't attend this last meeting. I did attend the meetings when the developer was trying to get approval for the land usage.

To sell the final proposal, the developer conceded to restrict boat usage to eliminate the concerns about key-holing and boat density. Everyone who attended those meetings knew the intent and meaning of the word "storage." The word meant no board storage in the driveway, on the roof, on the beach, in the water, or next to a dock that's an extension of the property. This is no different than storing a boat in the public street in front of your house and saying it isn't on my property, so it's O.K.

The city and township have a larger vested interest in Deer Lake than they realize. Deer Lake, as a natural resource, reflects the image of the area no less than the Clarkston Cafe. The council should take heed if there are issues that cause tempers to flare. It may simply be frustration of some of the residents that there is a lack of concern in upholding rules and regulations by those that are empowered to enforce the rules. The only recourse for a concerned resident is to complain to the authorities.

Councilman James Schultz wants to be asked to do something. I propose that a work group be created to recommend lake policy and address all the issues that should have been resolved. These resolutions can then be taken to the council for approval without disrupting the regular meetings. There are many knowledgeable citizens that would be willing to be active in such a work group.

Two injured in auto accidents

Two accidents were reported on Sashabaw Road, Independence Township, this week.

The first accident occurred July 9 at 2:50 p.m. about one-half mile north of Maybee Road. According to Sgt. James Heiligenthal of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Thomas Shaffer, 28, of Warren turned left onto Sashabaw causing the accident. He was issued a ticket in the incident.

Shaffer hit a car driven by Rosemarie Boghosian, 66, of Rochester Hills. Boghosian then struck a pole. She was treated and released at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

A second accident happened July 17 also around 2:50 p.m. when Eleanor Boatright, 50, of Oxford lost control of her car about 1/4 mile north of Flemings Lake Road. According to the OCSO report, another vehicle pulled into Boatright's lane causing her to go off the road. She was treated and released from POH.

Road and weather conditions were good on the days of both accidents.

He Never Turns Away

They come to him for help when they need it the most. Some numbed by their loss, some shattered, they say: "This is someone we loved. We entrust him to you."

And even when he's faced with the crumpled innocence of the youngest asking, "Why?"-and he has to find childlike words to answer a question that even theologians struggle with-he never turns away.

He gives them the consolation of tradition.

He shows them how to accept their tragedy with dignity.

He helps them cope with their grief.

He guides them back to the active world of the living.

He is a funeral director. He practices the most emotionally demanding and least understood of all the professions.

He faces up to traumas every day that most people only have to deal with once or twice in a lifetime.

He would never turn away.

He has earned the deepest thanks from anyone who has ever leaned on his compassion for support. Who turned to him and found that he would never turn away.

School board bans smoking

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Starting next month, all buildings in the Clarkston school district will prohibit the use of tobacco products.

This provision is part of a tobacco limitation policy unanimously approved by the Clarkston Board of Education on July 12. This policy is scheduled to go into effect Aug. 20.

According to the new policy, "the board prohibits the use of tobacco on school premises and district vehicles, including all buildings and grounds owned and operated by the Board of Education between the hours of 6 a.m.-4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday."

Smoking will also be banned during the hours of 4:30 p.m.-6 a.m., Monday through Friday, but will be allowed on school grounds in places designated by the superintendent. These "places" have yet to be identified by Gary Haner.

Products covered under this policy include cigars, cigarettes, pipes, chewing tobacco, snuff or any other matter or substance containing tobacco.

Tobacco is also banned on the weekends except in places designated by Haner.

This new policy has undergone some changes since it gained first-reading approval in June. Originally, the policy only prohibited the use of tobacco from 6 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., with designated areas assigned after school hours.

The change from part-time prohibition to a full-time ban was made so this policy would resemble a bill presently before the Michigan Legislature.

A state law supersedes any district policy, however, a school board has the right to create more restrictive guidelines. Sponsored by Sen. Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron, the proposed state law would be punishable by a misdemeanor fine of not more than $50.

Bill Curtis, president of the Clarkston Education Association, isn't pleased with the district's final draft.

"I still think this is a discriminatory policy anyway you cut it," he said. "The board should have either banned tobacco altogether on the grounds, without a designated smoking area, or created a full-time smoking area.

"My real concerns lie with how the district intends to enforce it and penalize people," Curtis added. "I guess we won't know until the first person is reprimanded."

Three city council positions open

If you are a City of Clarkston resident and have want to be more involved in your local government, here's your chance.

A City Election will be held Nov. 2 for the purpose of electing three City Council Persons whose terms will be effective beginning Jan. 10, 1994.

Candidates should be registered voters in the city and will have lived there at least one year. Petitions can be picked up at the City Hall on Depot Road on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. They must be signed by at least 20, but not more than 40 registered voters in the city.

Petitions must be filed with the city clerk by 4 p.m. Aug. 3, 1993.

Gazebo fees increased

If you're are planning to use the gazebo in Depot Park for your wedding, the price has just gone up.

The Clarkston City Council voted 6 to 1 to increase the gazebo fee from $50 to $100 per wedding and that the money will be designated for improvement and maintenance in Depot Park. Mayor Sharron Catallo voted against the motion.

The use of the bathrooms will still be $25. The increase takes effect on all new reservations.

Quick, nutritious

If you're trying to add more vegetables to your diet, here's a tasty and nutritious dish that features artichokes.

A serving of one average artichoke has 25 calories, is low in sodium and provides more folic acid than most foods. It's also a significant source of vitamin C, magnesium and potassium and has four grams of dietary fiber.

California artichokes are available year-round and will look and taste fresh for up to two weeks if handled properly.

ARTICHOKE AND WILD MUSHROOM STIR-FRY

- 3 medium artichokes
- 1 cup sliced wild mushrooms
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 3 tablespoons each chicken broth and dry white wine (can substitute water for the wine)
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh basil
- Salt and pepper to taste

Bend back outer petals of artichokes until they snap off easily near base. Edible portion of petals should remain on artichoke hearts. Continue to snap off and discard thick petals until central core of pale green petals is reached.

Cut off stems and top 2 inches of artichokes; discard. Trim outer dark green layer from artichoke bottoms. Cut artichokes into quarters lengthwise. Cut out center petals and fuzzy centers. Slice 1/2-inch thick lengthwise.

Dip or rub all surfaces with lemon juice. Saute artichokes, mushrooms, onion and garlic in olive oil 3 minutes. Stir in wine, broth and basil; salt and pepper to taste. Cook about 10 minutes or until artichoke is tender.

Police to cut part-timers, salaries

The Clarkston City Police will soon have three full-time officers and one police officer on the force already will receive a pay cut.

On a 7-0 vote, the Clarkston City Council resolved to authorize Chief Devore to create three full time positions for officers. There are now two full time officers on the force. According to the resolution made by Steven Arkwright, "This change will decrease the need for part-time officers, and thus will decrease training costs, improve officer retention and provide flexibility in scheduling while keeping over-time to a minimum."

A second resolution, which was also passed unanimously, offered salary restrictions for the full time officers. During training officers will receive $5 per hour.

They will receive $7 per hour after they have completed training and $7.50 per hour after one year. Experienced officers will earn $8 per hour and the current sergeant will get $8.50 per hour. The three full time officers will be provided with $100 per month to cover health care costs.

The $8.50 per hour sum will be a pay cut for Sgt. Warner, who presently receives $11.70 per hour. The council stated the cut in no way reflects on his solid performance. Rather, the city can't afford to continue to pay a salary other police departments offer or one which truly reflects his experience.

Contracts for the three full-time officers will begin July 16, 1993, and are not to exceed one year.

Board changes meeting schedule

From now on, the Clarkston Board of Education will only be scheduling one regular meeting once a month.

Until now, the board conducted its regular monthly meetings on the second and fourth Mondays at 7 p.m. During the 1993-94 school year, the board will begin establishing the first meeting as its regular meeting, but will keep the fourth Monday available if a special meeting is needed.

All special meetings will be posted on the front door of the district building at 6389 Clarkston Road, Independence Township. For further meeting information, call Clarkston Schools at 625-4402.

Local man sails his way to six world titles

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

If Derrick Fries were a professional sports franchise, he'd be considered a dynasty.

During his 28 years as a competitive sailor, the 40-year-old Independence Township resident has won numerous championships including six world sailing titles.

A Waterford Township native, Fries took to the water at the tender age of 5. He credits his parents for getting him involved in the sport.

"My parents were sailors and they got me involved right away," he said. "They bought me a small sailboat and, living off of Watkins Lake, that's all I did as a kid." Fries started sailing competitively at age 12. Five years later, he entered his first Sunfish North American contest, which saw him grab first place after the first day of competition. However, a poor second day dropped him from contention.

He rebounded a year later, to take seventh place at the same competition. The near victory helped boost Fries' confidence.

"After that event, I really started believing in myself and my abilities," he said.

After high school, Fries attended Michigan State University, where he was named captain of the school's sailing team. In 1973 and 1974, he was recognized as a collegiate All-American, who won the Inter-Collegiate Wood Trophy along with "A" Divisional honors at the Timme Angsten and Sugar Bowl Regattas.

In 1975, Fries won his first world title in the Sunfish class. He repeated the feat three years later in Puerto Rico. Subsequently, he won four consecutive world championships in the Force 5 Class in 1979, 1980, 1982 and 1984.

During his career, Fries has won a number of national titles in the Sunfish, Butterfly and Buccaneer classes.

Last year, he was inducted into the World Sunfish Hall of Fame, which was created in 1990. He is one of only two Americans out of 10 honorees to earn this distinction.

Fries' experiences in the world of sailing also inspired him to become a writer. Since 1984, he's penned four books on sailing. He's also served as a contributing editor for Sail Magazine.

Fries feels the cerebral aspects of sailing is what's kept him interested in the sport for nearly three decades.

"To me, the self-reliance and the inner-dependence on yourself are the most gratifying aspects of sailing. It's a very tactical and cerebral type sporting event," he said. "There's a lot of variables to manage when you're out on the water. It's pretty much an escape for me."

Despite a bevy of titles and over 300 trophies, there's more to Fries' life than just sailing. He's employed as a special services administrator in the Birmingham school district. Fries is also a NASA Space Ambassador who conducts aerospace educational activities around the state. In 1985, he was Michigan's co-finalist for NASA's Teacher in Space program.

For the past four years, Fries has dedicated a lot of his energy toward his post-graduate work. He recently received an educational doctoral degree from the University of Michigan.

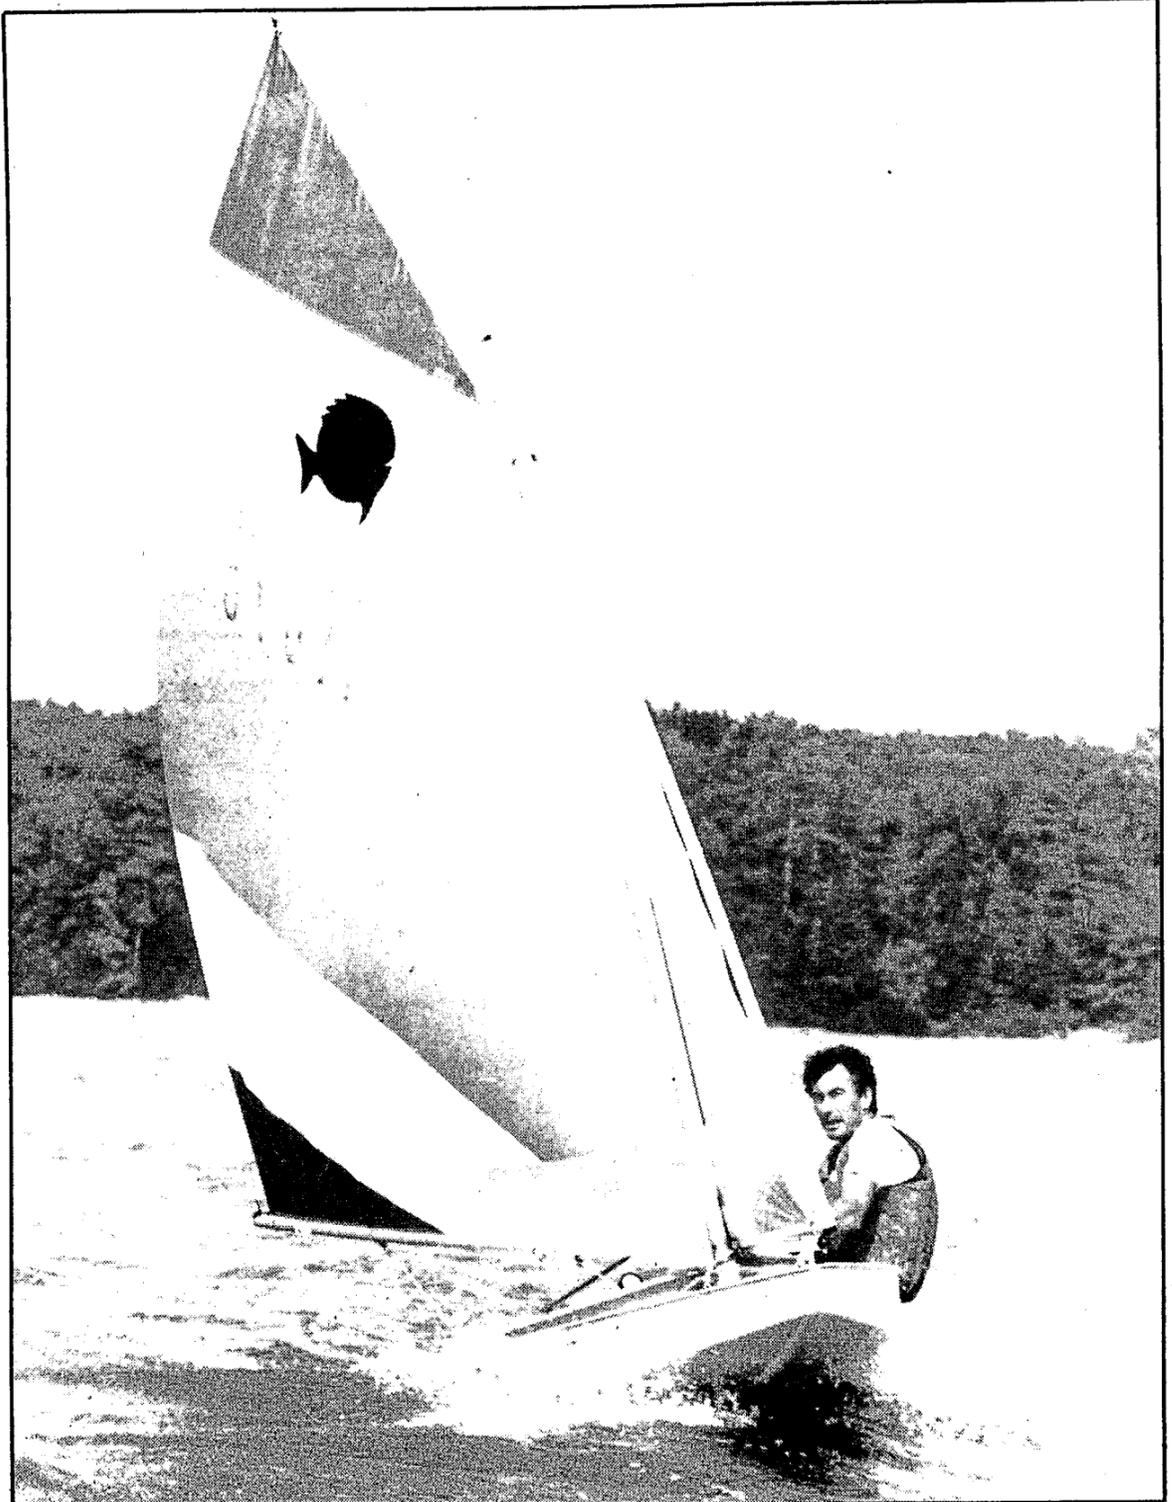

With school now behind him, Fries intends to sail more competitively again, most likely in the master's division. However, this time around, he'll have an apprentice at his side.

"I'm racing a little more locally, these days," he said. "I still want to keep my feet in it and hopefully steer my three-year-old son, Drew, into the sport, like my parents did for me.

"He doesn't have to compete, but hopefully he'll learn to appreciate sailing just the same," Fries added.

DERRICK FRIES, 40, of Independence Township has won six world sailing championships during his 28 years of competitive racing.

Independence trio takes top state honors

BY JACK LEECH

The Hershey National Track and Field Youth Program has always had a reputation for fielding top track athletes and this year, at the top of the list, were 31 runners representing Independence Township.

On Saturday, July 10, a record 1,600 athletes from all over Michigan traveled to Howell High School for the state meet.

To qualify for the day's events, local athletes had to compete in local qualifying meets held in June and finish first in their respective events. Area support of this free program has been under the sponsorship of Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department.

The meet events included sprints from 50 meters up to 800 meters and distances up to 1600 meters. Field events included the standing long jump and the softball throw.

Three area athletes were crowned state champions in their respective events, which could possibly qualify them for entry in the National Championships held in August, in Hershey, Pa. All three champions conquered the field in the 400-meter dash.

The brother and sister duo of Georgia and Cody Senkyr made it a family sweep. Cody's time of 67 seconds was just one-tenth off the existing state record for the 9-10 age division.

Adam Leech topped the competition in the same event in his 11-12 age bracket. When all the results were in, Independence tracksters had placed in 37 events. The 400-meter relay teams placed five out of the six teams entered. To put this accomplishment into perspective, area athletes won over 10 percent of the available honors which would place them as the top team competing at this event.

This overall performance was the best ever for the Independence program, and it stands among years in which this squad have always been one of the top two or three teams at the state meet. Nearly 90 percent of the Independence team achieved their personal best performances at this meet.

Earning places were:

9&10 years: Kellie Fornall (fifth in 100 and second in 200); Catherine Schmidt (400, eighth); the eighth-place 400-meter relay team (Becky Hart, Schmidt, Tara Crawford and Natalie Stutsman); Cody Senkyr (first in the 400, second in the 200 and eighth in the standing long jump); Chris Moore (50, fourth); and the sixth-place 400-meter relay team of Chris Moore, Kip Stehling, Matt Evans and Paul O'Connor.

11&12 years: Georgia Senkyr (first in the 400, fifth in the 200 and eighth in the standing long jump); Kara Bergkoetter (100, fifth); Adam Leech (first in the 400 and fourth in the 800); Klint Powell (softball throw, second); the fifth-place 400-meter relay team (Eilene Hart, Julia Schmidt, Katie Tripi and Bergkoetter); and the sixth-place, boy's 400-meter team of Brett Crawford, Powell, Wes Leffel, and Jordan Pruess.

13&14 years Chris Evans (softball throw, fourth); Jennifer Bauer (second in the 1600 and fifth in the 800); and the 400-meter relay team of Shawn Beals, Brent Bergoetter, Andrew Stutsman and Evans.

complete as the Clarkston Area Optimists sponsor the first annual Open Invitational Track Meet on July 31 at Clarkston High School. Any area youth, between the ages of 6 and 14, may compete. There is no cost for registration at this meet, and ribbons will be awarded to first eight places in each event.

For more information, call 394-0517 or 625-8553.

Biking tips

Whether you're just starting out or are a veteran bike-rider, here are a few tips to consider.

■ Bicycling is a low-impact activity that's excellent for cardio-vascular health.

■ A bike shop will help you find a bicycle that fits properly.

■ When you start bicycling, take it easy. Ride only up to five miles three or four times a week the first month or so.

■ Gradually increase your distance to six miles, then eight miles, until your ride lasts about an hour to an hour-and-a-half.

■ Beginning cyclists may feel discomfort at first. Take days off from cycling if you're sore or tired.

■ The key to getting stronger is to stress your body beyond previous levels. But do it gradually. Don't take large jumps in time and distance.

Local woman takes second in tourney

Mary Jane Anderson of Clarkston took second place in the top flight of the 77th Annual Michigan Women's Amateur Golf Championship last Friday.

She lost a 2-1 decision to Debbie Williams of Ann Arbor at Port Huron's Black River Country Club. Anderson won the tournament in 1990 and was the medalist of the July 12 qualifying round with a 76.

City to examine PR problems

As in every small town there are rumors flying about everyone and everything, including the City of Clarkston Police.

A motion by the Clarkston City Council is designed to curb the rumor mill. "... the police committee liaison will meet with Chief Devore and the officers and discuss ways to deal with the public relations problems. The liaison will get back with the entire council with recommendations on how best to deal with rumors and complaints related to the police department.

The police committee is made up of Steven Arkwright, William Basinger, Sharron Catallo, Paul Ormiston, Jackson Byers and Steve Sitar. Arkwright is the designated liaison.

Hot lunches hiked a dime

Starting this fall, students will have to pay 10 cents more for a hot lunch at school.

On July 12, the Clarkston Board of Education unanimously voted to raise hot lunch prices districtwide. The dime increase is due to the rising costs associated with the Oakland Schools Food Service program.

With this increase, the prices for lunches will now be: elementary, $1.30; secondary, $1.70; and adult, $2.25.

$500,000 bid OK'd for DDA project

Despite objections from Independence Township Supervisor Dale Stuart, the township agreed to sign a bid agreement with Milford Excavating, Inc.

The $575,643.50 bid was for water, sewer and drainage work on White Lake Road. The project is Phase I of improvements planned by the Downtown Development Authority. The sewer main is to extend from Andersonville Road to Mustang Drive, the water main from Andersonville to Dixie Highway.

Milford Excavating's bid was the lowest of 15 bids that ranged all the way up to $955,582.

Stuart objected to the township's signing of the agreement.

"I don't want to pledge the faith of the township if we don't have to," he said. He suggested the DDA sign all agreements for the project.

He was the lone "no" roll call vote. The DDA was established to improve water, sewer, lighting, landscaping and roads within the DDA district, which includes portions of land along Dixie Highway, M-15 and White Lake Road.

The DDA gets its money by "capturing" excess taxes from a base year. That is, if more taxes are generated within the district due to new development or increases in property valuation, all of that extra money remains within the DDA for use within the DDA only.

Test wells to be dug

Residents on Robinson Court, Clarkston, will soon notice digging on their street.

Test wells will be drilled between the sidewalk and the street to determine if the soil in the area is contaminated.

About one year ago a storage tank was extracted from an old muffler shop and contaminants were discovered. The test wells is part of the clean up project.

The drilling and testing will be done by Advanced Environmental with no cost to the city. Residents on the street will be contacted by the Clarkston City Council about the drilling and the project.

Parking mix up at concert

A new police officer created some confusion July 9 in Clarkston when she asked concert goers to move their cars from Depot Street.

The officer, just trying to do her job, told people if they did not move their cars they would be ticketed. She had not been informed that parking on Depot Street has always been common practice during the concerts and other special events in the park.

Councilman Steven Arkwright told the Clarkston City Council July 12 that he will inform Chief Devore that the no parking signs should be covered on concert nights and other designated special events.

After 38 years on the force, undersheriff retires

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

When you take into account his colorful language, looks, and endless chain smoking, Undersheriff Billy Nolin resembles the prototypical policeman you might see in the movies.

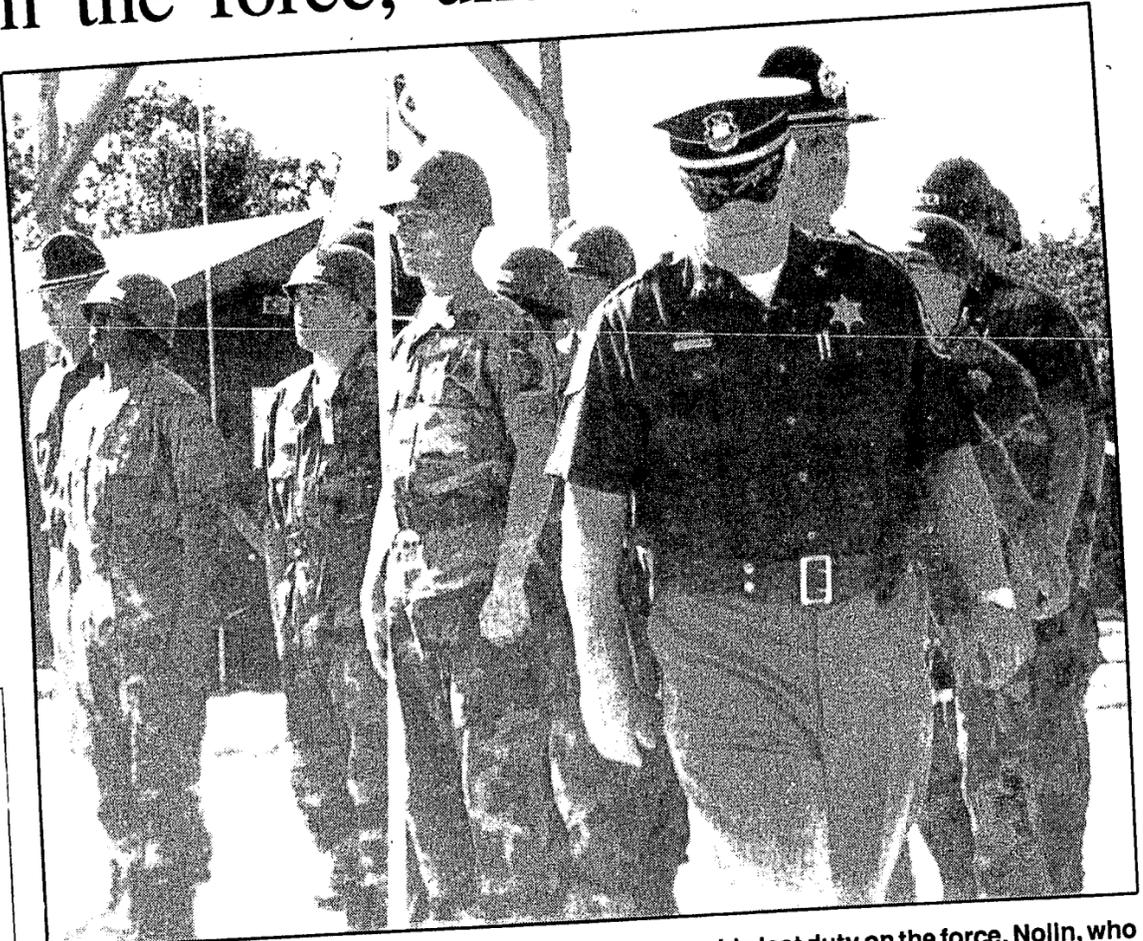

But appearances can be deceiving. He is insightful and expressive. He isn't shy about singing the praises of his boss, Sheriff John Nichols, and he'll tell anyone that the men and women on the Oakland County Sheriff's Department are the best in the area.

After 38 years at the OCSD, Nolin turned in his keys Friday and retired. He and his wife Betty are Springfield Township residents and plan to stay in the area.

A party will be given in his honor July 23 at the Waterford Elks on Scott Lake Road.

The 62-year-old Nolin said he would like to become active in lobbying now that he has some free time, but he doesn't have a specific cause in mind yet.

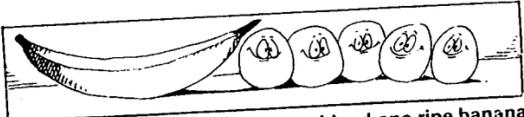

Nolin was the 50th person to sign on with the OCSD when he became a patrolman in Nov. 1957. Before that, he'd been in the Air Force for six years and tried his hand as a factory laborer and a truck driver.

BILLY NOLIN salutes the men who graduated Friday from the Oakland County bootcamp on the day he retired. A party in Nolin's honor will be held July 23 at the Waterford Elks on Scott Lake Road. The 62-year-old Springfield Township man had been undersheriff since 1985.

Substitute for whipped cream: blend one ripe banana with egg white(s) until the mixture becomes thick.

His brother, uncle and brother-in-law were policemen, so he decided to give it a try as well.

"It's a good steady job. It's treated me real good." Nolin said, reflecting.

He explained he enjoyed his job because it was something different every day. Nolin said the force is a lot different from when he joined.

"We've improved. Everyone is more educated. It's a career now," he said of the 800-member department.

In 1957, when he was a patrolman, Nolin worked alone a lot because of sparse populations. At that time, Troy, Southfield, Novi and the like were just townships, not cities. There was only a one man car for the entire north end of the county, Nolin said.

Nolin became a detective in 1968 and investigated everything from damaged property to murders.

"To me, the police work started to pick up then," Nolin said.

He was promoted to criminal detective in 1972, and was Chief of Investigations in 1973. The next year, he became a Lieutenant in charge of detectives, the crime lab, communications and also crime prevention.

Three and a half years later, Nolin was named a police captain, before accepting the undersheriff's job in 1985.

He describes his position as being like the vice-president. Anything that happens in the department comes to him and he and the sheriff work on it together, with Nichols having the final word.

"If anything were to happen to the sheriff, I'd be the sheriff until they appoint another one, which, in my case, would be about three hours," joked Nolin, a Democrat, referring to the Republican hold on Oakland County government.

On his last day, July 16, he was the inspector at the graduation of inmates at the Oakland County Boot Camp in Lake Orion. The camp, which is in its third year of existence, puts non-violent first time offenders through a military-style boot camp for eight weeks instead of sending them to jail.

"It gives those kids a direction," praised Nolin. "I went through boot camp in '47 and haven't forgotten a day of it," he said.

When asked what shocking events he remembered from his years on the force, Nolin mentioned two occurrences. He recalled the first dead body he saw, three days into his job, and the first autopsy he witnessed just after he'd eaten breakfast.

"After its over, you block the bad and remember the good," Nolin said. "The things I try to remember over my career are the light things."

Local woman meets Willie Nelson near home

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

When Independence Township resident Gale Koster planned a recent family outing, she had no idea that country western crooner Willie Nelson would show up.

Koster spotted the singing star from her backyard, which is located across from the Pine Knob Golf Course pro shop. The Max Broock real estate agent caught a glimpse of Nelson July 7, as he was entering his tour bus after a round of golf.

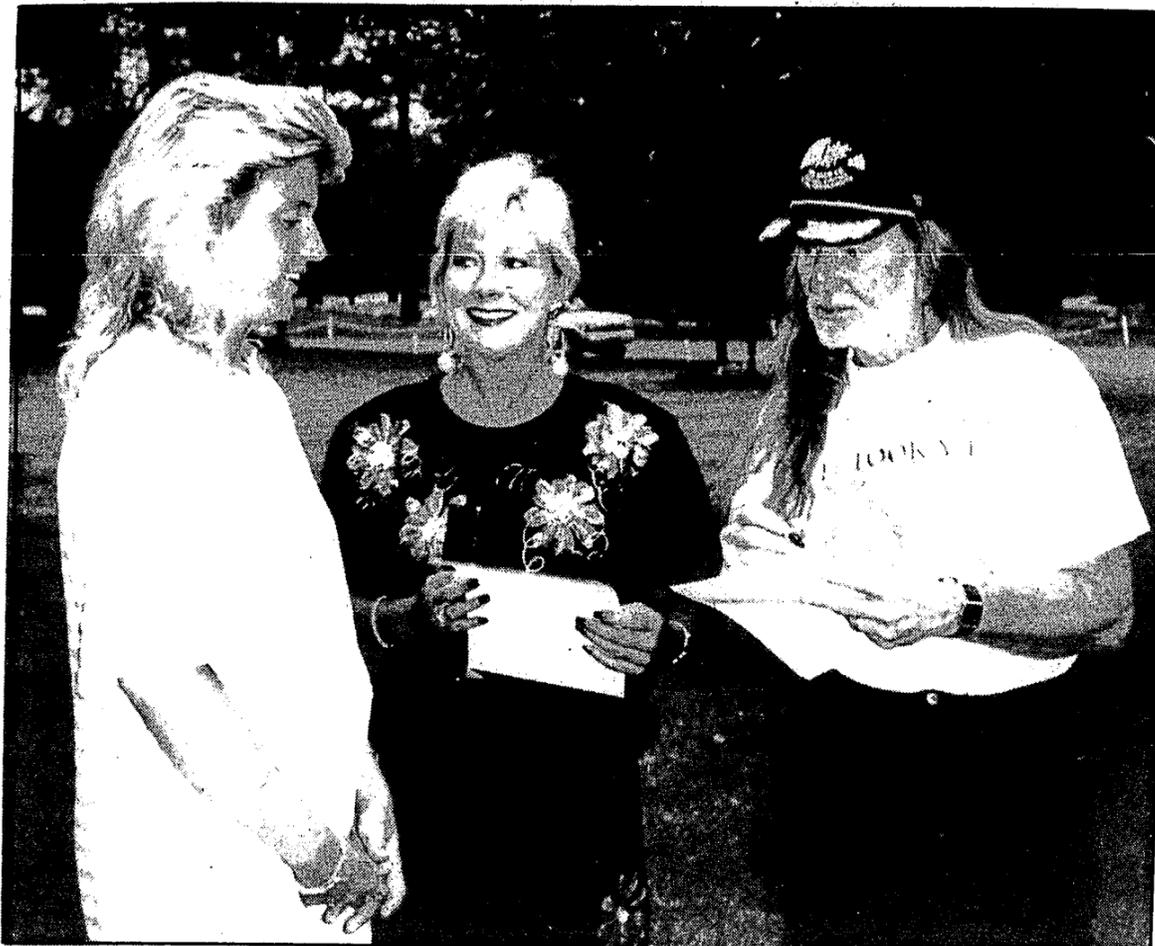

Koster and a few family members approached the bus and asked the driver if they could meet Nelson. To their surprise, Nelson exited the bus with a handful of glossy pictures, which he signed for nearly 15 minutes.

"You couldn't have met a more gracious person," Koster said. "I found him to be very quiet and mild-mannered. For some reason, I envisioned him to be a little more outgoing. I've been a fan of his for quite a while."

Koster and a few relatives posed for several pictures with Nelson, before he re-entered his bus and left. He was scheduled to appear at the Pine Knob Music Theater the next evening, July 8.

According to Koster, the Pine Knob Golf Course is frequented by a number of celebrities.

"I wish the course would contact the newspapers more about some of these guests," she said. "I think people would be surprised by the number of celebrities who've played golf in their backyard."

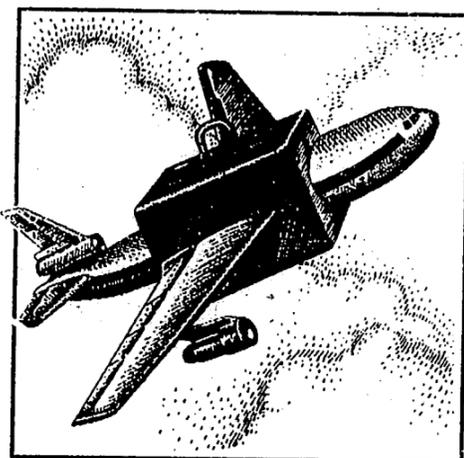

GALE KOSTER (center) chats with country western signer Willie Nelson. The Independence woman spotted the crooner during a backyard cook-out on July 7. Here, she poses with sister-in-law Cindy Koster, who was celebrating a birthday that afternoon.

QUESTION: What information should I be aware of when looking for mortgage money?

ANSWER: When you look for mortgage money, there are several questions to ask beside, "What is the interest rate?" There's a lot more to financing than interest.

Get a complete estimate of all closing costs involved with your loan.

If it's an adjustable mortgage, find out how long the interest rate will remain the same and when the escalator provision will kick in. Is there a limit on the rate of increase? Determine if there is a prepayment penalty. If there is, what are the provisions on length of time and amount.

Families find support with 'Shakers'

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

When Bill Doerr's left side began to stiffen six years ago and he moved a little more slowly, his wife thought he had suffered a stroke.

Bill, 67, of Independence Township was actually suffering from Parkinson's disease.

Parkinson's disease is a slowly progressive disorder affecting a small region of the brain that governs control of movement. It is characterized by slow movement, shaking, rigidity of muscles and imbalance.

Bill suffers from stiffness, especially in his shoulders. "If you keep moving, it loosens you up," he said. "They must keep moving," his wife, Barbara, added. "The more sedentary they are, the worse they become."

Bill plays tennis and basketball. He said that when he gets too stiff for those activities, he will take up golf.

To keep their spirits up, the Doerrs attend "The Movers and Shakers," a support group for Parkinson's patients and their caregivers.

The closest support group for Springfield and Independence township residents meets at the Pine Hill Congregational Church on Middlebelt Road, West Bloomfield.

"It's been a real boon," said Bill. "It gives you a place to ask questions."

Barbara agreed. "It's supportive to me to talk to spouses and to see what they've done," she said. "You don't have to make the same mistakes they did."

They have attended the meetings for four months. At the meetings, doctors and representatives of drug companies speak about issues of concern to the patients and caregivers.

"Through the benefit of being a group, we can get people in to give us information," explained Barbara.

Last month's meeting featured Dr. Richard M. Torsch of Mount Siani Hospital, Detroit. A Parkinson's specialist, he answered many of their questions. Torsch plans to open a clinic in Oakland County specifically to help Parkinson's patients.

Getting information is an important task for the patients and caregivers.

"It's a progressive disease, and you need to have all the information you can get to maintain your quality of life," said Barbara.

For more information about Parkinson's Disease, call the Michigan Parkinson's Foundation's 24-hour information line at 1-800-852-9781.

Milk the sting out of hot peppers

Bite into a hot pepper, and your mouth feels like it's on fire.

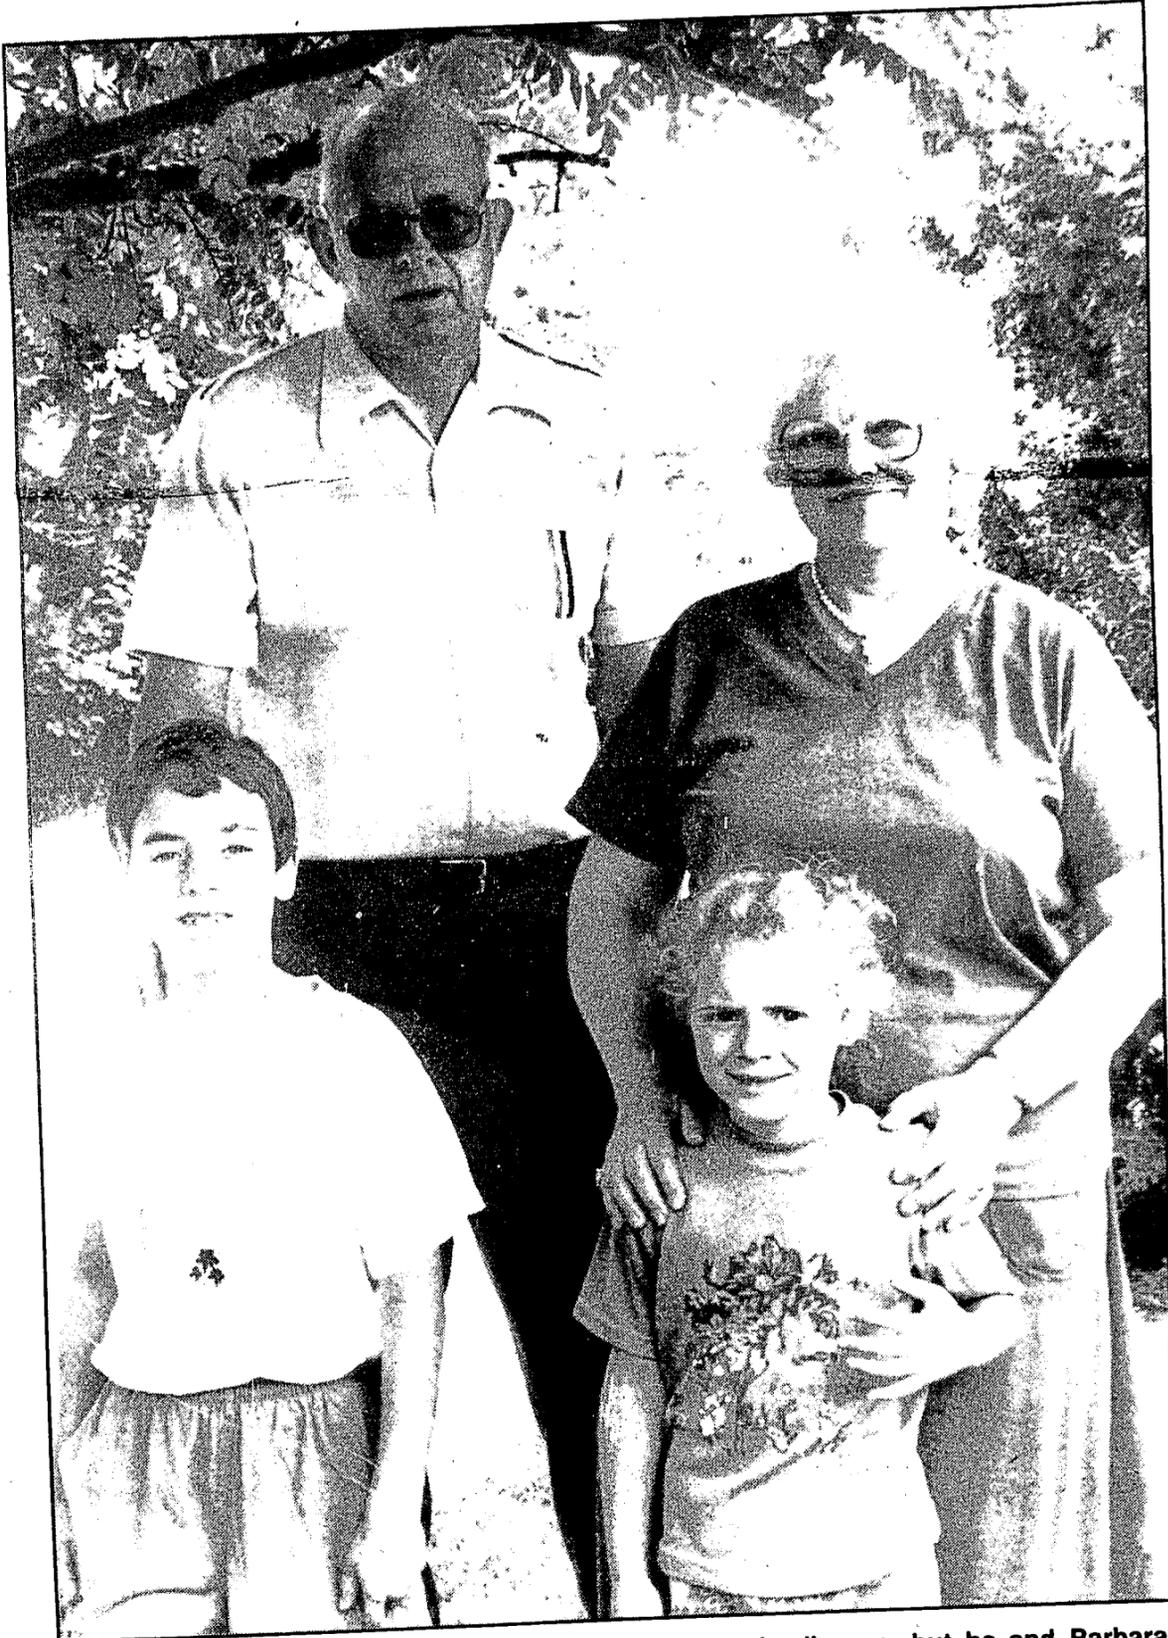

Cool it down by drinking milk, suggests the Academy of General Dentistry.

"Milk contains a protein called casein, which wipes the pepper's active ingredient from nerve endings in the mouth and helps stop the stinging," says Dr. Kevin Seidler, spokesman for the Academy.

Other good sources of casein are milk chocolate and certain beans and nuts.

Some people, however, prefer the burn of hot peppers.

"Researchers think that the stinging may stimulate the body's production of endorphins, the body's natural painkillers," Seidler said. "The release of endorphins gives you an overall sense of well-being."

BILL and Barbara Doerr pose for a photo in their yard with two of their grandchildren: Matthew, 8, and Cynthia Stevens, 5. Bill has Parkinson's disease, but he and Barbara find encouragement in The Movers and Shakers support group.

Can my smoking really harm my little daughter?

Q. We just brought our first baby home from the hospital, and my wife has started giving me grief every time I light a cigarette. She insists it's "bad for the baby. Can my smoking really harm our little girl?"

A. I'm afraid it can. C. Everett Koop issued a report in 1986, during his tenure as Surgeon General, on the health effect of involuntary smoking (second-hand smoke).

Data presented demonstrated that involuntary smoking is a cause of disease, including lung cancer, in healthy nonsmokers. It also was revealed that children of parents who smoke have an increased frequency of respiratory infections and respiratory symptoms compared to children of nonsmokers. They also may have diminished lung capacities. Recent evidence suggests they may have an increase in emotional and behavioral problems as well.

Separating smokers from nonsmokers in the same air space may only reduce, not eliminate, the risk of nonsmokers being exposed to tobacco smoke.

It is estimated that 83 percent of lung cancers are caused by cigarette smoking. Lung cancers account for 111,000 deaths per year in our country. Death rates from cancer of the pharynx, esophagus, tongue and mouth are about six times as great for smokers as for nonsmokers. Death rates from heart disease are twice as high for smokers as nonsmokers, and death rates from peptic ulcers are nearly three times higher in smokers. Clearly, cigarette smoke presents a danger to good health.

Aside from the effects of secondary smoke to your daughter's maturing lungs, remember that children of smokers are far more likely to become smokers themselves, thus inheriting the legacy of cigarette-related disease. I would urge you to investigate the variety of methods available to help you quit smoking, for your daughter's sake, as well as your own.

Q. I have tried to quit smoking several times, and I have failed. Is this common? I would like to try again, but I'm afraid I can't stop smoking.

A. According to a survey of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, at least 60 percent of adult smokers who have tried to quit have relapsed. Most smokers succeed only after making several attempts to quit. Remember that quitting smoking is not an event, but a process — and persistence is a critical part of the process.

Cancer answers

Many things may help an individual give up or stay off cigarettes — it depends on her or her motives for smoking and how addicted he or she is to cigarettes. The American Cancer Society offers self-help materials that have assisted many people in quitting smoking. Others have successfully quit with support groups. There is not single best way to quit smoking. Since people smoke in different ways and for different reasons, quitting smoking is accomplished through many different means.

You sound very motivated to quit, and friends who urge you to try again to stop smoking can be a great means of support. Some tips to use while giving up smoking in order to avoid cravings and weight gain include:

- Get regular exercise, especially walking, which is an effective activity that is not too strenuous.

- Avoid other smokers so that you do not tempt yourself or test your willpower. Many relapses occur when the quitter is in the company of smokers.

- Avoid habits, places and situations that are especially strongly tied to smoking. For instance, try having a morning cup of tea instead of coffee.

- To avoid weight gain, drink plenty of water and substitute low-calorie foods or sugarless gum for cigarettes.

Q. I recently stopped smoking. During the holiday parties and with a more hectic schedule I am very tempted to start smoking again. Do you have suggestions to prevent my return to cigarettes?

A. During parties, try your best to stay away from alcoholic beverages because alcohol can increase your urge for a cigarette. However, if you choose alcohol, ice up or water down your drinks. This will help decrease your calories.

Although a hectic schedule can increase your desire for a cigarette, it may actually help you to stop smoking. The key is to keep yourself too occupied with holiday preparations to allow yourself time to light up.

Try to keep busy at your holiday parties, play bartender or help serve food to others. If you can keep your hands busy, you will not be able to smoke too. If all else fails, you can always leave early. It is better to leave than to have that first cigarette, which almost always results in resumption of smoking.

Q. I have smoked for 45 years. Is it too late to quit smoking? Isn't the damage already done?

A. It is never too late to stop smoking cigarettes. The long-term health benefits of being a non-smoker for outweigh the unpleasant withdrawal symptoms associated with quitting smoking. Not only will your chance for a long life dramatically increase, but you will significantly reduce your risk of heart disease, stroke, chronic bronchitis, emphysema and several types of cancer.

Once you quit smoking, the body begins to repair itself immediately. Breathing becomes easier; the sense of taste and smell improve. The lungs of a smoker, even with a severe habit, can return almost to the condition of a lifetime nonsmoker if no disease process has started, although these changes can take up to 15 years.

It is recommended that both smokers and former smokers obtain a chest X-ray approximately every year to detect any evidence to lung cancer. This is important because the early stages of lung cancer progress with little or no apparent symptoms; and once symptoms become evident, the disease may be quite advanced.

Baby boomers have vision changes

As American's baby boomers enter their 40s, they should prepare for subtle changes in their vision.

"Many vision changes are due to normal aging of the eye, and very few will cause permanent vision loss," says Dr. Harold T. Prange of the Michigan Optometric Association.

Vision changes baby boomers should watch out for include:

- Presbyopia, which results from reduced flexibility of the eye's lens and begins to blur vision at age 40-45. It makes reading newspapers or restaurant menus difficult. Optometrists solve this problem by prescribing reading glasses, contact lenses or multifocal lenses.
- Spots and floaters, which are often harmless particles floating in the fluid of the eye but should be evaluated by an optometrist.
- Glaucoma, which occurs when fluid pressure in the eye rises above normal, causing a loss of vision if left untreated. That's one reason regular eye examinations are important for people in their 40s. If diagnosed early, chances are good vision can be maintained.

■ Cataracts, a cloudiness in the eye's lens. Symptoms include blurred or hazy vision, spots and double vision. If monitored, vision can often be improved with a change in eye-glasses; and surgery may not always be needed.

■ Retinal disorders, such as macular degeneration, diabetic retinopathy and retinal detachment. Thanks to advances in eye care, vision conditions once considered sight-threatening may be successfully treated if diagnosed early.

People who may be experiencing any of these problems should schedule an examination with their family optometrist.

Free AIDS testing offered in county

Most have been told how to protect themselves from AIDS. Yet every 14 minutes a new case is diagnosed in the United States and every 30 minutes someone dies from it.

"If a person engages in risky acts, it is a good idea to get an AIDS test every three to six months," said an AIDS counselor from the National AIDS hotline. "The body produces HIV antibodies three months after contact with the virus."

Testing by a private physician costs between $30 and $80. Prices vary, depending on the physician and insurance coverage. If the results are positive, the physician is required by law to notify the insurance company. The Oakland County Health Department will administer the test for free, and all results are confidential. The health department also counsels a patient before and after the test, answering questions, discussing methods of protection and, if tested positive, will refer a patient to places that provide physical and emotional counseling.

It is against the law for anyone knowingly to pass the HIV virus to another person. However, people who carry the AIDS virus are not required to tell anyone.

For free testing in Oakland County, call 424-7155 (Southfield) or 858-5220 (Pontiac).

For information about AIDS, call the AIDS hotline at 1-800-342-AIDS, which operates 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Too lazy to brush?

Don't feel like brushing? You're not alone.

Two-thirds of the participants in a Finnish study said that laziness was one reason they avoid regular check-ups and brushing, reports the Academy of General Dentistry.

"Laziness is a powerful influence in avoiding the toothbrush and the dentist," says Dr. Kevin Seidler, spokesman for the Academy of General Dentistry.

"Every day, I see patients who need teeth extracted for periodontal surgery because of laziness with brushing or flossing," he says. "Some patients only see me when they're in pain, while regular check-ups would have helped prevent problems."

Researchers at the University of Oulu in Finland questioned 390 patients, ranging from age 25 to 45, on what prevents them from brushing their teeth daily and visiting a dentist annually. They found that 66 percent cited laziness as a factor.

The study also reported a difference between the sexes: women were more inclined than men to brush their teeth daily; more women than men avoided the dentist because of a previous unpleasant dental visit; and more men avoided the dentist because they thought dental disease wasn't serious.

Wanted: Breast cancer study participants

Women over age 35 are invited to take part in a breast cancer prevention study, which involves hospitals across the country.

In the Detroit area, researchers at Henry Ford Health System and Harper Hospital are looking for women to participate in the Breast Cancer Prevention Trial.

The Trial, which began in 1992, is the first large-scale breast cancer prevention study. Nationally, 8,000 women are enrolled. However, researchers need 16,000 participants to complete the study.

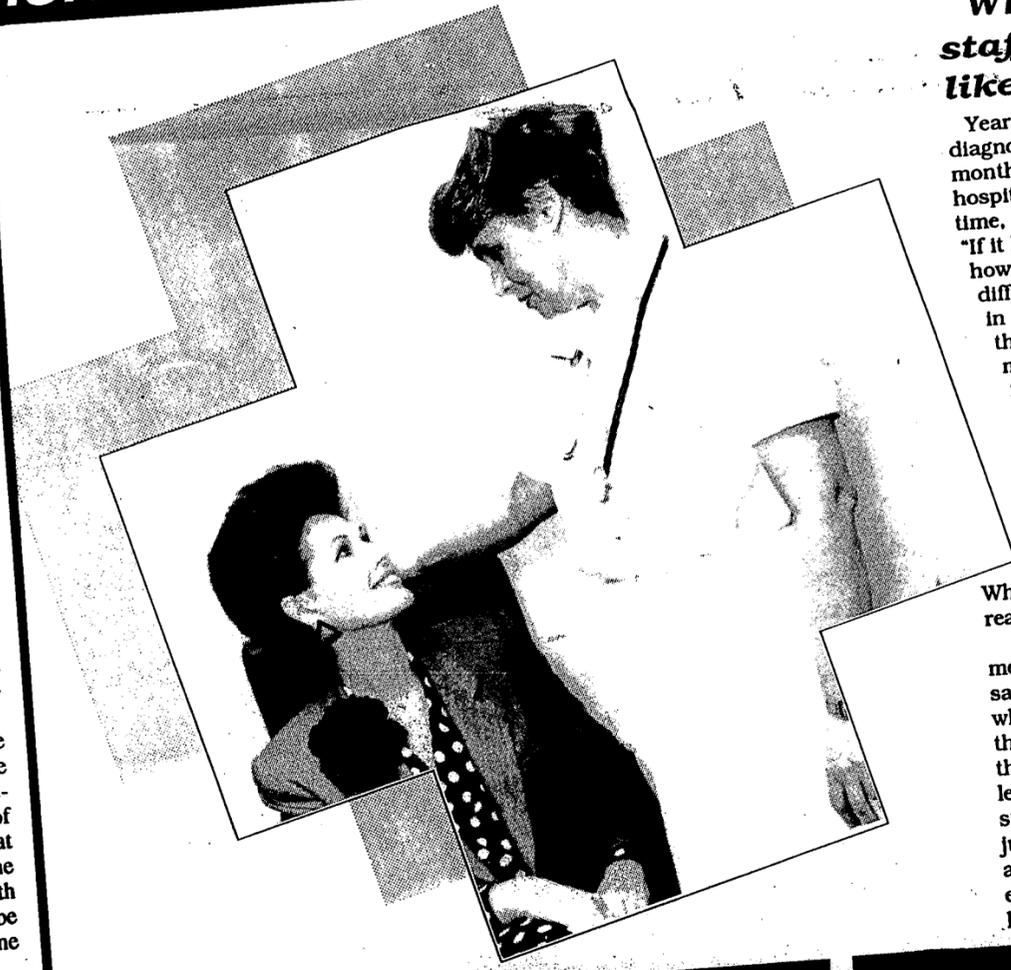

Divided into groups randomly, half of the women in the Trial take tamoxifen and half a placebo (an inactive pill that looks like tamoxifen) every day for five years.

Women over the age of 35 are eligible for the trial. In addition, risk factors such as a history of previous biopsies, age at first menstruation, and the number of relatives with breast cancer also will be considered to determine eligibility.

Women who are interested can contact Louise Moroz, Henry Ford Health System at 313-876-1046 or the Breast Cancer Prevention Program, Harper Hospital, 313-745-9600.

Call 625-3370 to place an ad.

ISN'T IT GOOD TO KNOW...

"Wheelock's caring staff makes you feel like family."

Years ago, Darlene Pierson's son was diagnosed with severe asthma at just 6 months of age. So began the monthly hospital visits, for three to five days at a time, for over a year. As Mrs. Pierson says, "If it hadn't been for Wheelock, I don't know how we would have gotten through such a difficult time. The staff treated our child in the same way they would have treated their own, and they did their best to make us feel comfortable during his frequent stays there."

The Pierson's son is now 28 years old and for over 25 years, Wheelock Memorial has given the Pierson family peace of mind when it comes to medical care. "We have four children and it is good to know Wheelock is always there with a caring staff ready to make us feel just like family."

More recently, Mrs. Pierson received medical care at Wheelock and goes on to say, "The staff has always been wonderful when it comes to providing you with a thorough explanation of any surgery or therapy required. And, when you're released from the hospital, the care doesn't stop there. They even take the time to call just to see how you're doing. Wheelock has always taken such good care of our family... even our grandchildren are using the hospital now!"

62 million Americans are at risk; are you one?

High blood pressure, a disease with no warning signs and commonly known as the "silent killer," affects an estimated 63 million Americans — nearly half of whom don't know they have the disease. Moreover, of those being treated, only half take their medicine properly.

Given the current array of effective blood pressure medications and less complicated dosing regimens, it should be easier for patients to comply with their doctors' treatment plan, according to Citizens for Public Action on Blood Pressure and Cholesterol.

Although high blood pressure can be controlled with medicine and lifestyle changes, such as diet and exercise, the basic cause of the disease has yet to be discovered.

Hypertension facts show state at risk

■ Hypertension is the chronic elevation of blood pressure. Blood pressure is the reflection of the flow of blood pumped by the heart times the resistance of the vascular system through which blood flows. The brain, the nervous system and the kidneys all play a role in regulating blood pressure.

■ The heart is a muscle that expands and contracts; there are also muscles in the walls of the small arteries that expand and contract.

When the heart pumps, or contracts, the elastic tension in the arteries increases and blood pressure rises. This is called systolic blood pressure. When the heart relaxes between beats, elastic tension decreases, and blood pressure falls. This is called diastolic blood pressure.

■ Normal blood pressure is usually defined as 120/80. In other words, when the heart contracts, the pressure reaches 120 millimeters of mercury as measured by a blood-pressure gauge. When the heart relaxes, the pressure drops to 80 millimeters of mercury.

■ High blood pressure is defined as a systolic pressure greater than or equal to 140 millimeters of mercury and/or a diastolic pressure greater than or equal to 90 millimeters of mercury.

■ Nationally, hypertension affects the health and

However, certain behavior choices (over which we have control) and genetic factors (over which we have no control) are known to increase the chance of developing the disease. To find out if you could be at increased risk, take the following quiz.

□ Does one or both of your parents have high blood pressure? High blood pressure tends to run in families. Your chance of having the disease is significantly higher if one or both of your parents had or have it.

□ Are you overweight? Being overweight doubles your chances of having high blood pressure. Eat a well-balanced diet low in fat, sodium and cholesterol to help achieve your ideal body weight.

□ Are you a salt-a-holic? For some people, cutting back on salt may help lower blood pressure. Less salt in your diet may also allow your blood pressure lowering medicine to work better.

□ Are you a smoker? If you smoke, your risk of heart attack and stroke increases. Smoking injures blood vessel walls and speeds up hardening of the arteries. It can also prevent your blood pressure medication from working properly.

□ Do you regularly consume alcoholic beverages — more than one or two drinks a day? Alcohol can raise your blood pressure and interfere with medication.

□ Do you avoid regular exercise? Regular, moderate, aerobic exercise such as walking, running, swimming or biking can help you maintain your ideal body weight and make your heart perform better. Consult your doctor for an exercise routine appropriate for you.

□ Is stress a big factor in your life? While stress can produce a temporary rise in blood pressure, it is not a proven cause of high blood pressure. Regular exercise is one of the best ways to help your mind and body relax.

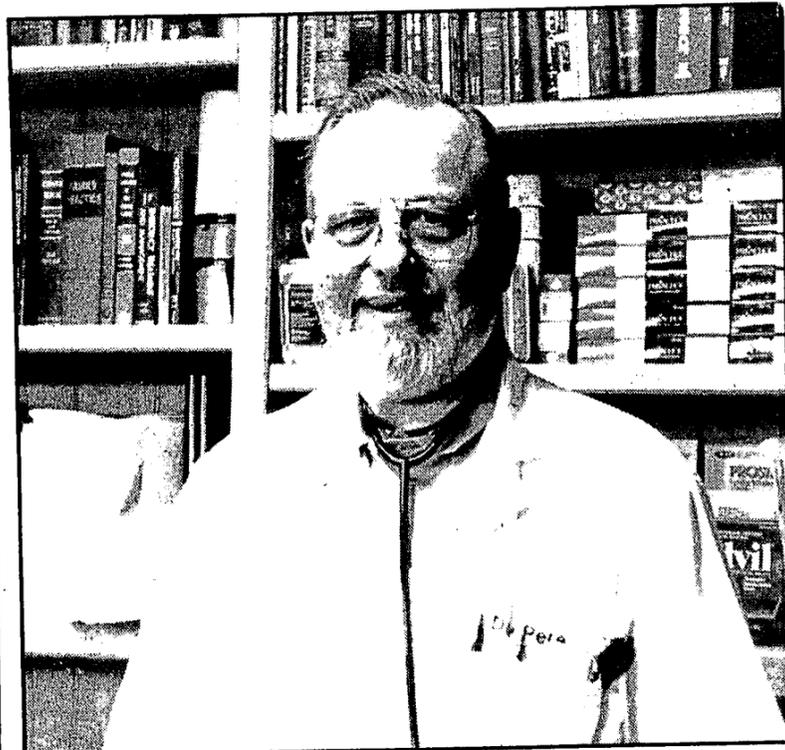

□ Are you a diabetic? Do you have high cholesterol? Have you had a heart attack? If you have any of these conditions and high blood pressure, your risk for heart disease is significantly greater. For example, if you have high blood pressure and high cholesterol and you smoke or are overweight, your chances of developing heart disease can more than double.

If you answered yes to any of the questions above, your risk of having high blood pressure is above average. Therefore, it's important to have your blood pressure checked regularly.

Fiber performs essential functions

Fiber plays an important role in good health and good nutrition.

Dietary fiber is the indigestible remnant of plant cells, especially cell walls, found in virtually every type of food that comes from plants. Fiber helps move food through our digestive system and has been shown to have a positive effect in lowering risk of diseases such as colon cancer.

Different foods provide fiber in different amounts and different types. Studies show that various fiber sources perform different functions in the body. That's one reason experts advise getting your daily fiber from a variety of sources.

The important message for most of us is that we need more of this nutritional essential in our diets. Although there is no official Recommended Dietary Allowance

(RDA) for fiber, experts advise that we consume between 25 and 40 grams of fiber per day, depending on body size. Most of us get half that amount.

It's easy to get that amount of fiber from a varied, well-balanced diet. Resorting to special high-fiber supplements is often a mistake. Too much fiber can cause digestive system problems and may decrease absorption of important nutrients.

Adding more fresh fruits and vegetables to your daily diet is an easy first step. Choose whole-grain products, such as brown rice, bran muffins or whole wheat bread, to increase daily fiber. High fiber or bran breakfast cereals can help, or add oat or wheat bran to your regular cereal, to baked goods, to a cup of yogurt.

Tips help in choosing day care for your child

One of the most important decisions in new parents' lives is who will care for their child while they are working.

The American Academy of Pediatrics' offer advice and guidelines on the health of children in day care. Your child's day care program should:

This recipe from the "American Heart Association Cookbook" produces tasty cookies — great for a child's lunchbox or an afterschool treat.

RAISIN-OATMEAL COOKIES

Yield: 3 dozen

- 1 cup flour, sifted
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 1/2 cups quick-cooking oats
- 2 egg whites, slightly beaten
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1/3 cup oil
- 1/2 cup skim milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 cup seedless raisins

Sift together flour, baking soda and cinnamon. Stir in the oats. Combine egg whites, brown sugar, oil, milk, vanilla and raisins and add to flour mixture. Mix well.

Drop batter a teaspoon at a time onto an oiled cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes, depending on the texture desired. Shorter baking time results in a chewy soft cookie. The longer time results in a crisp cookie.

Per cookie: 82 calories, 1.3 g protein, 2.3 g total fat, 0 mg cholesterol, 14.5 g carbohydrates, 14.3 mg calcium, 79 mg potassium, 23 mg sodium.

Be licensed or registered with the state. Although every state requires day care licensing, many centers and home care facilities are not monitored.

Allow you to visit at any time.

Require medical evaluation of staff and children to prevent infections in the program. All personnel should have a complete health assessment, including a tuberculosis test, before beginning work. Children also should be medically evaluated and immunized according to the AAP's recommended schedule.

Have an adequate staff/ child ratio. Caregivers should have special training or experience in recognizing children's changing needs. There must be enough staff to: give individual attention to every child, supervise all children, feed infants individually, wash or supervise handwashing, promote child development, and evacuate all children from the facility in an emergency.

Have a written place for emergencies. Your child's day care facility should have an exit plan in case of fire, smoke detectors, fire extinguishers, safety caps on electrical outlets, a first aid kit, and posted instructions on how to treat an injured, poisoned or choking child.

Provide enough space indoors and outdoors. Crowding can have a negative effect on children and can make contagious diseases more difficult to control. Proper heat, light and ventilation also should be maintained.

Designate specific areas for children who need rest and quiet.

Provide a variety of activities and materials. Every child care facility should have age-appropriate books and safe, sanitized toys for all children. Time should be allotted for play, rest, meals and other activities.

Promote good health habits. Self-care and cleanliness can be introduced as soon as a child is able to learn. Your child should be taught regular routines for washing his hands, using the toilet, brushing his teeth and blowing his nose. Staff also should wash their hands before feeding, after diapering, and after helping children go to the bathroom.

Provide adequate nutrition. Meals and snacks should be nutritious. If your child is in day care for nine of more hours, he should have at least two meals and two snacks a day. If your child is under 18 month of age, you can give the day care staff instructions regarding formula, foods and a feeding schedule.

Have a written policy for the management of sick children. Very few illnesses should exclude children from day care. Diarrhea, vomiting, high fever and other highly contagious diseases should be mentioned in the policy.

Children need calcium

Most parents know calcium is an important part of children's diets.

Yet a United States Department of Agriculture survey found that more than half of children ages 1-5 do not get enough calcium.

"Calcium is necessary for children to develop healthy bones and teeth," explains Jeanette Endres, registered dietician and professor at Southern Illinois University.

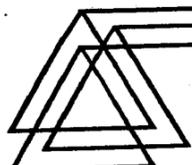

In addition, studies indicate that growing children need two to four times more calcium per pound than adults.

As part of a balanced diet, Endres recommends parents encourage their children to eat foods high in calcium. Dairy products such as milk, cheese and yogurt are among the best sources of calcium.

To meet the recommended dietary allowance for calcium, the National Dairy Council advises parent to give their children a minimum of three servings from the milk food group each day.

Long-term calcium deficiency can lead to osteoporosis, which gradually decreases bone mass and density, resulting in weak, brittle bones and increased susceptibility to bone fracture.

Once osteoporosis occurs, it cannot be reversed. However, children who have adequate calcium in their diets can reduce the risk of developing osteoporosis later in life.

More tick species suspected of spreading Lyme disease

Researchers at St. Louis University have identified the bacterium that causes Lyme disease in two more species of ticks.

The Borrelia burgdorferi organism was found in the lone star tick and the American dog tick. The researchers are conducting tests to determine whether these ticks will be efficient transmitters of the disease.

If this proves true, it would expand the list of proven Lyme disease transmitters to include tick species covering nearly the entire United States.

It is the lone star tick that some scientists suspect may be responsible for the transmission of the Lyme disease-causing organism in eastern and south central parts of the United States.

Currently, there are two primary transmitters (vectors) of Lyme disease. They are the deer tick, which occurs in the northeast and midwest United States, and the Western black-legged tick found in the Pacific Coast areas, such as California and Oregon. Both ticks are members of the same tick genus, called Ixodes.

While St. Louis University and other researchers have already clearly identified the Borrelia organism in previous studies of the lone star tick, this does not prove they are capable of actually transmitting the disease.

However, researchers at St. Louis University suspect this may be true because Lyme disease cases have been identified in Missouri and other states where Ixodes ticks do not exist and the lone star tick does.

"If we prove that the lone star tick is a competent Lyme disease vector, it could be a serious problem, because they are widespread throughout the eastern and south central United States, an area previously thought to be only a minor Lyme disease risk," according to Professor Dorothy Feir, Ph.D., of the St. Louis University Biology Department.

Initial tests show that a small percentage of lone star ticks actually carry the bacteria, said Feir. But the tick occurs in such large numbers that it should be still be considered a major threat.

The department is also looking at the incidence of Lyme disease in dogs. The recent introduction of a canine Lyme disease vaccine has generated considerable interest in this information.

"Currently, only human cases of Lyme disease must be reported to the Centers for Disease Control," Feir said. "Because dogs can pick up ticks so easily, we need to have a better understanding of how this affects the prevalence of Lyme disease in these animals, as well as the possible impact this could have on humans."

Another possible outgrowth of the lone star tick research may be expanded transmission research to look at the possibilities of other blood-sucking insects as Lyme vectors. This includes other tick species, as well as fleas, flies and mosquitoes. Researchers have identified the Lyme disease bacteria in each of these insects, but they have not proven whether they can transmit Lyme disease.

Are grilled and barbecued foods unhealthy?

With warm weather, people are anxious for the taste of barbecued burgers, ribs and chicken once again.

But some are concerned over increasing their risk of cancer by eating grilled food.

Sylvia Treitman, home economist for the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service, said, "We get an increase in calls this time of year with people asking if it is safe to barbecue."

The best advice for consumers is that barbecue or grilling should not be used every day as the main method of cooking. It's OK once in a while.

Grilled fatty meats are suspected of increasing the risk of cancer. If meat is allowed to become charred — even when broiled or pan fried — some risk occurs.

Treitman offers a few tips to lessen the risk when you want to barbecue:

- Pick low-fat meats, or at least trim all visible fat before grilling.
- Wrap meat in foil to protect from the smoke.
- Don't place the heat source directly beneath the meat — put coals to one side.
- Scrape off charred parts of meat.

- Place aluminum foil or a metal pan between the meat and the coals to catch the dripping fat.

For other food and nutrition, food safety or food preservation questions, call the Food and Nutrition Hotline 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday at 858-0904.

Summer reminder: Don't leave groceries in hot car

It's easy to forget groceries should not be left in a warm car.

Most cars retain heat so well that even a pleasant spring day of 70 degrees can actually be too hot for food to be left in the car for longer than an hour.

According to the Oakland County Cooperative Extension, it's a good idea to keep an extra ice chest in your car for summer grocery shopping. Cold foods can be kept safer this way. Often unplanned emergencies arise, and shoppers end up making several stops on the way home.

Here are a few more food safety tips for hot weather.

- Put groceries away immediately after shopping — perishables need to be refrigerated first.
- Perishable foods should not be left out more than two hours.
- Defrost all frozen foods in the refrigerator — never at room temperature.
- If you are eating outdoors, never leave food out in the hot sun. Provide a source of cooling, such as a bowl of ice to set food in, and keep food in a shaded area.

If you have other food and nutrition questions, call the Food and Nutrition Hotline at 858-0904 weekdays.

Wrinkles not the only sign of aging

Growing old can put a wrinkle in your tastebuds and make eating unpleasant, but there are a variety of solutions, according to the Academy of General Dentistry.

As taste and smell sensors decline with age, older people often make matters worse by not drinking enough fluids or by allowing uncomfortable partial and full dentures to keep them from eating balance meals.

"When people can't chew food very well, their diet consists of soft, easy-to-chew foods of marginal nutritional value," says Dr. Carl Vorhies, an Academy spokesman.

"The side effects of some medication contribute to dry mouth, which makes chewing and swallowing more difficult and increases the risk of tooth decay," Dr. Vorhies said.

To improve eating habits, talk to your dentist, who can offer solutions by adjusting dentures, preventing cavities, detecting vitamin deficiencies and referring you to a dietitian.

Chewing gum helps to prevent cavities

Researches tested the effect of gum chewing on plaque and discovered chewing for 20 minutes after each meal stimulates salivary flow, which contributes to a decrease in plaque, reports the Academy of General Dentistry.

The University of Iowa study showed that gum chewing swishes saliva throughout the mouth and in between teeth, producing the cleansing action.

"Saliva naturally cleanses teeth by neutralizing acids that break down enamel and contribute to tooth decay," says Academy spokesman Dr. Howard S. Glazer.

Another recent study, conducted in the Central American country of Belize, found that xylitol-sweetened gum was effective in preventing cavities. Gum sweetened with xylitol helps reverse developing cavities by boosting the production of minerals in saliva that repair tooth enamel.

Acyclovir, a drug long used for other diseases, is now known to shorten the course and severity of chicken pox, the only remaining childhood disease not prevented by routine vaccination.

The first anesthetic, ether gas, was discovered by two Americans—Crawford Long and William T.G. Morton—in 1840.

Lupus symptoms: Fatigue, fever, rash

Systemic lupus erythematosus, or lupus, is a type of arthritis that affects women about eight times more often than men.

There is no uniform pattern of symptoms on the onset and is difficult to diagnose.

Fever, weakness, fatigue or weight loss may be among the first signs of illness. A skin rash may appear on the face, neck or arms. Another early sign of lupus may be joint pain in the hands, wrists, elbows, knees or ankles.

Other common symptoms may include muscle aches, swollen glands, lack of appetite, low-grade temperature, hair loss, nausea and vomiting, an increased tendency to get infections or to bleed easily and inflammation of the lining of some body parts.

"Since SLE is difficult to diagnose, it is important that people with these symptoms see their doctor immediately," said Allan Morton, D.O., of the Michigan Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation. "Talking with your doctor about fears, anger and depression usually helps."

Some studies suggest that people inherit the tendency to get lupus. Scientists think that a virus may trigger the genetic tendency and bring on the disease.

According to the Arthritis Foundation, treatment for people with lupus includes taking medication, resting when the disease is active, exercising and being careful about exposure to the sun. Excessive exposure to the ultraviolet light of sun may worsen the skin rashes associated with lupus.

Coping with the daily social and emotional problems that result from the disease can be difficult. In many areas, groups of people who have lupus have formed support clubs.

For more information or to request a free copy of the brochure, Systemic Lupus Erythematosus, contact the Arthritis Foundation, Michigan Chapters at 350-3030 or 1-800-968-3030.

How to recognize suicide symptoms in youth

When a teen contemplates suicides, the warning signs are often there.

Parents, teachers and friends can learn to recognize them, to help a despairing teen and perhaps save a life, experts say. If someone is paying attention, the young person has a chance.

One study found that two-thirds of would-be suicides had given off serious signals by word or behavior.

Signs include: threatening suicide; self injury; and problems at school, problems with selling, eating or low self-esteem.

If you recognize any of these warning signs, take the young person seriously and get help. Call your family doctor, call a children's counselor, or call the 24-hour suicide prevention hotline at 1-800-333-4444.

Test homes for cancer-causing radon gas

Radon is second only to cigarette smoking in causing lung cancer, according to the American Lung Association of Michigan.

"Because it is an invisible gas with no odor and no immediate health effects, people tend to ignore it. As radon is inhaled into the lungs, it can deposit radioactive particles in the airways," said Dr. Mark Upfal of the Lung Association's Environmental and Occupational Health Committee.

According to Upfal, the problem of high concentrations of indoor radon is compounded with the approach of cold weather. "People typically spend more time indoors during the winter when indoor air ventilation is reduced. This increases exposure to radon," he said.

Radon is a radioactive gas occurring naturally in the soil when uranium and radium, common elements in the soil, decay. The radon gas then moves through the soil and finds its way into structures through foundation cracks and opening around pumps, pipes and drains.

"It is extremely important that residents test their homes," said Darroll Jenkins of the Lung Association. "It's quick, easy and inexpensive. Testing is the only way to determine if radon levels are elevated."

In most cases, the solution can be inexpensive for the homeowner. A variety of methods, such as sealing crack in floors and walls, can reduce indoor concentrations of radon in the home.

The Lung Association provides information on radon, radon test kits and reducing other indoor air pollutants. For more information, call 1-800-543-LUNG.

Children's diets lack essential nutrients

With the growing evidence that early dietary habits can contribute to the risk of developing certain chronic diseases later in life, interest in children's diets has taken on new significance.

Recent attention has focused on overconsumption of fat, cholesterol and sodium. However, a study reported in the Journal of the American Dietetic Association of over 4,000 2- to 10-year-olds found calcium intake a problem.

The study showed that fat intake remained roughly the same over a 10-year period, but there was a decrease in consumption of many essential nutrients, including vitamins A and B12, riboflavin, phosphorus, magnesium, zinc and copper. Further, over half of the children consumed less than their Recommended Dietary Allowance for calcium.

Small headaches — big problem

Nearly 1.3 million days of school are lost each year as a result of children suffering from headaches, according to the National Health Interview Survey.

By age 6, more than 40 percent of children have experienced headache. Children of all ages can suffer from adult-type migraines. Chronic head pain can affect how a child relates to family and friends and adjusts to adult life.

CITY OF THE VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON

City Council
Regular Meeting
July 12, 1993
Synopsis

The meeting was called to order by Mayor Catallo at 7:40 p.m., followed by the pledge of allegiance.

Roll: Present: Arkwright, Basinger, Catallo, Roeser, Sanderson, Schultz

Moved by Arkwright, supported by Secatch, "That the minutes of the meeting on July 7, 1993 be approved as presented with one correction, a resident from Deer Lake was listed as Don Turner and it should have been Ron Turner." Motion carried.

Moved by Schultz, supported by Sanderson, "That the agenda be approved with the following changes: the parking survey is to be deleted, and the parade clean up and police salaries and contracts were added under New Business." Motion carried.

Pappas indicated that he met with Hubbell, Roth and Clark regarding the well drilling and water testing to be done on Robinson Court. They recommended a $1,000 deposit be secured from Advanced Environmental to cover costs. A letter was obtained indicating that they would make up the difference if costs ran higher than the projected $1,000 and that they would be refunded the difference if costs were less than projected. It was recommended and agreed to that the wells would be drilled between the sidewalk and the street in the grass as opposed to the road as was originally proposed, to prevent future problems with snow removal. The City will be listed as a protected party on Advanced Environmental's insurance policy. They are to call Miss Dig to get clearance prior to beginning this project. Schultz will inform the homeowners on Robertson Court of what is happening with this project.

Moved by Roeser, supported by Schultz, "That the bills for the month of June 1993 totaling $29,713.21 be approved for payment." Roll: Yeas, 7, Nays 0. Motion carried.

Moved by Secatch, supported by Schultz, "That the gazebo fees be increased to $100 per wedding and that all money raised be designated for improvement and maintenance in Depot Park." Roll: Yeas-Arkwright, Basinger, Roeser, Sanderson, Schultz, Secatch. Nays-Catallo. Motion carried 6-1.

The new gazebo fees will be effective with all new reservations. Arkwright also indicated there was an incident at the Concert in the Park on Friday, July 9, 1993. A new police officer was telling people they had to move their cars from Depot Street or they would be ticketed. This was a misunderstanding. The officer was just trying to do her job, but had not been informed that this has always been a common practice during the concerts and other special events in the park.

Arkwright will inform Chief Devore that the no parking signs should be covered on concert nights and other designated special events.

Resolved by Arkwright, supported by Secatch, "That Chief Devore be authorized to create 3 full-time positions for officers. This change will decrease the need for part-time officers, and thus will decrease training costs, improve officer retention and provide flexibility in scheduling while keeping over-time to a minimum." Roll: Yeas-7. Nays-0. Resolution passed.

Resolved by Arkwright, supported by Basinger, "That the Council authorize Chief Devore and the City Manager to sign contracts with 3 full-time officers with the following salary restrictions: $5.00 per hour for officers during training, $7.00 per hour for officers after they have completed their training, $7.50 per hour after one year of service on the Clarkston Police Department, $8.00 per hour for experienced officers, and $8.50 per hour for the current sergeant. The 3 full-time officers will also be provided with $100 per month to cover rearm care costs. These contracts are not to exceed one year." Roll: Yeas-7, Nays-0. Resolution passed.

This pay action in no way reflects on the solid performance by Sergeant Warner. It rather is reflective of the economic reality, that we cannot afford to continue to pay a salary which other police departments may offer or one which truly reflects his police experience.

The new police contracts will be effective July 16, 1993. Moved by Roeser, supported by Basinger, "That the police committee liaison meet with Chief Devore and the officers and discuss ways to deal with the public relations problems. The liaison will get back with the entire council with recommendations on how best to deal with rumors and complaints related to the police department." Yeas-5, Nays-0, Abstain-1. Motion carried.

Kopeltz wanted to know how to get nominating petitions for the City Council positions that are up for election in November.

Nominating petitions are available through the Clerk. All candidates must have at least 20 signatures from voters registered in the City of the Village of Clarkston and not more than 40. All candidates must be registered to vote in the City of the Village of Clarkston and have resided in the city for 1 year prior to the election. Nominating petitions are due to the Clerk by 4 p.m. on August 3, 1993.

McCarty also indicated that a 6 to 8 inch hole has been drilled for the new flag pole on the corner of Washington and Main. This hole is unmarked and a child fell in it this weekend. The police chief was directed to mark the hole with a traffic cone.

Moved by Roeser, supported by Arkwright, "That the meeting be adjourned." Motion carried.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:30 p.m.

Jeanne Selander Miller
Clerk

COUNTY OF OAKLAND

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE ORDINANCE NO. _____ ORDINANCE AMENDING SAFETY PATH DEVELOPMENT DESIGN STANDARDS

An ordinance to amend Chapter 8.1, Article IX, Section 8.1-62 of the Charter Township of Independence Ordinance Code so as to amend the Design Principles for safety paths to be constructed in the Township.

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE ORDAINS AS FOLLOWS TO AMEND THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE ORDINANCE CODE:

Section 1 of Ordinance

Subparagraph (c) of Section 8.1-62 shall be deleted in its entirety from Article IX of Chapter 8.1

Section 2 of Ordinance
A new subparagraph (c) of Section 8.1-62 shall be inserted as part of Article IX of Chapter 8.1, reading as follows:

(c) Safety Path Master Plan. For any development in the Township, involving any use, with the exception of a development which, considering present and potential future activity, involves the construction of not more than one single family residence, and subject to subparagraph (vii), below, the following regulations shall apply if the development is located on or adjacent to a proposed Safety Path, as designated on the Township Safety Path Master Plan:

(i) All plans submitted to the Township for development review shall include a plan and specifications for a Safety Path consistent with the Township Safety Path Master Plan, subject to subparagraph (vi), below.

(ii) The Safety Path shall be constructed as part of the site improvements of the development, in accordance with the specifications in this ordinance, subject to subparagraph (vi) below. The construction of the Safety Path may be deferred only upon the posting of security with the Township, in the form of cash or letter of credit, in an amount determined by the Township Engineer to be equal to one and one quarter times the estimated cost of construction on the last day permitted for such construction. The security shall be accompanied by an authorization for the Township to enter upon the property and construct the Safety Path, and expend the escrowed monies in the event the Safety Path has not been constructed on or before a date specified by the Township.

(iii) The Safety Path shall be constructed on the property of the development adjacent to the right-of-way in substantial conformance with the Master Plan, provided, upon request of the developer, and securing of the right to construct and use the Safety Path in such location, the Safety Path may be constructed within the right-of-way, in a location immediately adjacent to the property line of the development approved by the Planning Commission as meeting the objectives of the Safety Path Master Plan. If the Safety Path is constructed on the property of the development, an easement for the use, maintenance, repair and replacement of the safety path shall be dedicated to the Township following construction and approval by the Township.

(iv) In general, and subject to the provision below, Safety Paths shall be constructed of concrete. The thickness of the concrete safety path shall be a minimum of six inches where vehicular traffic will access the path, and a minimum of four inches in all other locations. All safety paths shall be built on a four inch compacted sand sub-base. In connection with any development, the body granting approval for the development (e.g., the planning commission for developments requiring site plan review) may specify asphalt construction in lieu of concrete, considering the cost of maintenance, repair and replacement, and/or considering the aesthetic relationship of the proposed Safety Path with the surrounding area.

(v) All Safety Paths shall be eight feet in width, and shall be built in accordance with the American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials (AASHTO) guidelines, subject to subparagraph (vi) below.

(vi) Where unique and peculiar circumstances are present, such as extreme topography, dense mature trees and/or wetlands, the Planning Commission shall be authorized to vary the location and/or specifications of Safety Path construction so as to minimize or avoid a safety hazard and/or adverse impact upon natural features. Moreover, during the course of construction, the Township Supervisor may authorize the Township Engineer to work with the developer in the field and permit minor deviations in the interest of safety and natural feature preservation, and provide for orderly development of a coordinated network of safety paths. Any and all required approvals from other governmental entities shall be obtained by the developer with respect to all variances permitted by the Township.

(vii) Where the developer demonstrates, and the Township Board determines, in its discretion, that the Safety Path if constructed, would not then be connected to any other segment of Safety Path in any direction, and that it would not likely be so connected for a period of at least ten years, the Township Board may, in lieu of requiring construction of the Safety Path, permit the developer to either construct an alternate safety feature or other amenity in the development having a cost at least comparable to the Safety Path, or, establish a cash escrow with the Township Treasurer, which shall remain on account for use in ultimately constructing the Safety Path. If an escrow is established, it shall be in an amount determined by the Township Engineer to reflect the estimated cost of constructing the Safety Path in question, and, the developer shall also dedicate an easement for construction, use, maintenance and repair of the Safety Path, if it is to be located on private property.

Section 3 of Ordinance

All other provisions of the Independence Township Code of Ordinances shall remain in effect, amended only as provided above.

Section 4 of Ordinance

The provisions of this amendatory ordinance are hereby ordered to take effect immediately upon publication.

CERTIFICATION

The foregoing ordinance was adopted by the Township Board of the Charter Township of Independence at a meeting duly called and held on the 14th day of July, 1993.

There is not a minute we haven't missed you. Not a day we haven't cried. If love alone could have saved you, you would never have gone away. It broke our hearts to lose you, but you didn't go alone, for a part of us went with you the day God sent you home.

We are SIDING and GUTTER Specialists

We are not a Jack-of-all-trades. We can not guarantee you the absolute lowest price, as we will not sacrifice the quality products or workmanship that you deserve. But what we will guarantee is an honest and fair price with products and workmanship of the highest quality. We also do our own work. We don't get your job and sub-contract it out, or sell it. So if you are only looking for the cheapest way out, call someone else who claims they can beat any price. If you are looking for an honest and fair price, quality products and workmanship, dependability, and someone that will still be here after your job is completed, give us a call. Helping you make your home the one you've always dreamed of is what we do.

Little girl from Taiwan visits United States

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Hsu Ching-Fang, or Candy as she likes to be called, came to Independence Township about two weeks ago from her home in Taiwan to stay with an American family for a month.

Candy is no ordinary foreign exchange student though, she is only eight-years-old.

The little girl's mother is a music teacher in Taiwan and she wanted Candy and her little brother, who is six, to have an interesting cultural experience. So, she sent them to the United States to stay with host families.

Candy is living with the Cowper family on Almond Lane. They found out about Candy through their daughter Amanda's school, St. John's Lutheran School in Rochester.

An eighth-grade student at the school has a sister who is a missionary in Taiwan and the missionary was looking for homes for six students to visit for a month. After a lot of letter writing and faxing back and forth, the Cowpers learned they would host Candy.

"We were well prepared by the missionary," said Connie Cowper. "It was not culture shock, just an adjustment."

"We try to treat her as part of the family as much as possible," said Cowper of her house guest.

She said the little girl is a wonderful guest. The only drawback for the girl, so far, is that she hasn't taken to the Cowper's cat.

Cowper said the little girl is polite, picks up after herself and is interested in a lot of things, especially cooking.

Candy went around the kitchen and pointed out things her family does not have in Taiwan including a dishwasher, a stove with an oven and a water dispenser in their refrigerator. Cowper said from what she knows, Candy comes from a very progressive family.

Seven-year-old Amanda Cowper already has two older sisters, one in college and one who's married. Yet, Amanda says she enjoys having Candy at her house.

"I like it very, very much," she said.

Amanda is getting a cultural experience too. She is beginning to understand some of the Chinese words Candy uses.

Candy said she likes to swim, roller skate and ride her bike in her native Taiwan — all things she will be doing in the United States. When asked what she liked the best about her stay so far with the Cowpers, she thought for a moment and said, "I like everything. I don't like cat."

culture. She has become interested in American cooking while visiting and her favorite dish is spaghetti. Candy also enjoys playing the piano and roller skating.

Creative Kids

CHRISTA KOCH, 6, asks what to do next at the Creative Art Camp. She and about 30 other children made clay picture frames, learned weaving, painted and did paper sculptures at the week long activity sponsored by Clarkston Community Education.
