Rape suspect heads to circuit court

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE Clarkston News Staff Writer

Rape suspect Delbert Breeding, 31, was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court last week.

Breeding is charged with two counts of first degree criminal sexual contact, two counts of second degree criminal sexual contact, one count each of breaking and entering with intent to commit criminal sexual contact. and assault with intent to commit sexual penetration.

He faces up to life in prison. He remains in Oakland County Jail, unable to post the $600,000 cash bond.

A hearing is set for 8:30 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 14, before Judge Robert Templin in Oakland County Circuit

During the Aug. 26 preliminary exam, a 41-year-old Independence Township woman testified that she was raped in the early morning hours Aug. 4 in her home near Oak Park and Maybee roads.

Other witnesses also testified about evidence during the hearing before Judge Gerald McNally in 52nd District Court, Independence Township.

According to the rape victim, who lives alone, she awakened around 3 a.m. to use the bathroom. In the hallway, she was grabbed from behind by a man who was wearing gloves. She testified that it was always too dark to see the attacker's face.

The woman, who remained composed while testifying, said that the man dragged her into her bedroom, ripped off her clothing and choked her. The man then forced her into the living room, where the woman testified, "I figured I was going to die."

She fought back and scratched his face, bit his arm and tried to gouge his eyes out.

where the man began to sexually assault her with his mouth. The victim said that the rapist tried three times during the ordeal to have sex with her, but was unable to have intercourse.

She testified that at this time, she was able to grab a long kitchen knife that she kept near the bed, and she began to swing at the man, stabbing him at least once.

After he was cut with the knife, the rapist tried to take the knife from the victim. When he couldn't, he grabbed his clothing and fled from the house. The police were called around 3:30 a.m.

Expert witness Deputy Phyllis Clament of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department testified that a partial palm print in blood on the knife matched Breeding's prints.

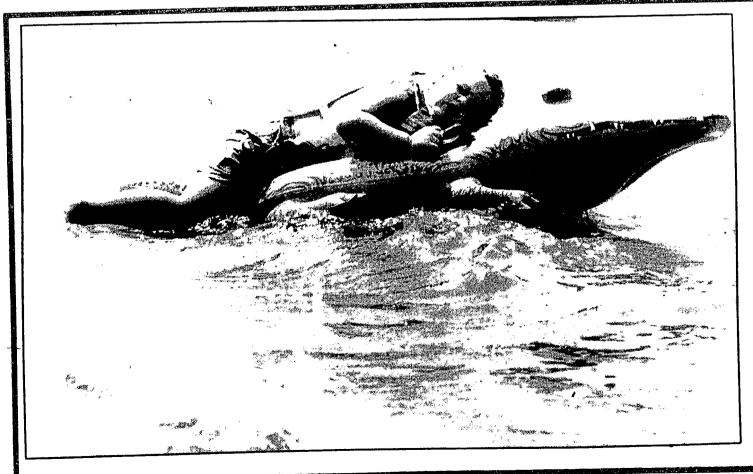

The palm print and a later ink print of Breeding's hand matched at 16 points of identification. Clament said she can identify a print if eight points match.

Deputies Daniel Toth and Peter Brukett testified that they secured the crime scene that morning. They said that identification cards bearing Breeding's name were found strewn on the sidewalk on the north side of Maybee Road at the corner of the victim's block.

Brukett said that about 20 or 30 minutes after finding the cards, he noticed a man riding his bicycle west on Maybee Road. He stopped the man, later identified as Breeding. Brukett said that Breeding had blood on his hands and scratches under his eyes.

The deputy said he asked Breeding to get into the patrol car, so he could ask some questions about a neighborhood incident. Brukett said no accusations were made,

But Brukett testified that Breeding told him, "Just because you found my wallet over there doesn't mean I did anything wrong.'

Both the victim and Breeding were transported to area hospitals. Breeding's hand received stitches, and he was treated for a wound on his triceps, scratches on his face, and bruising around the rib cage.

Later that day, impressions of a bite mark on Breeding and impressions of the victim's teeth were taken. It was not revealed in court if the impressions matched.

Police also searched the defendant's home.

Armed robber steals from dry cleaners

An armed man robbed an Independence Township dry-cleaning store Aug. 23.

Around 4:30 p.m., a man walked into Deer Lake Custome Cleaners on Dixie Highway and demanded money from the front desk attendant, according to the police report.

When that person hesitated, the man showed a handgun under his jacket and demanded money again. The man left the cleaners with $200.

The thief is described as a white male in his mid-30s. He is about 6 feet, 3 inches tall, with a thin build and short hair. He was wearing a red or tan leather jacket, a white Tshirt and sunglasses.

Paul Vaughn, 17, of Waterford was charged with receiving and concealing property over $100.

The sixth person charged in the incident is an Independence Township juvenile, whose name is being withheld because of his age.

All charges are felonies, carrying five-year jail terms. At press time, no date had been set for the preliminary examination.

In early August, someone stole car phones, radios, golf clubs and more from 15-20 cars at the apartment complex off Dixie Highway, behind the Kroger shopping center, Independence Township.

So the Oakland County Sheriff's Department's North Oakland Auto Theft Unit staked out the area and watched while teens broke into the cars around 3 a.m. Aug. 3. Uniformed police officers were called to make the arrests.

Middle school 'concept' not new and not complete

Education report

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

Despite what many people might believe, the transition of Clarkston's junior high schools to middle school status didn't begin with this year's transfer of freshmen to the high school.

Matter of a fact, the process began in 1987, when the district's sixth-graders started attending the junior high schools. According to David Reschke, deputy superintendent of staff development and curriculum, sixth-graders were the first to be exposed to "exploratory" classes, which included more hands-on instruction.

By 1989, similar hands-on teaching was phased in for all grades in subjects such as world language, fine arts and applied technology.

This personal experimentation is part of the "middle school concept," for which the district strives. By definition, this concept assumes that all kids learn best when they see differences in the "disciplines" or classes. This style of education is enhanced by hands-on work, experimentation and more problem solving, compared to a traditional lecture atmosphere.

Reschke said the district is about two or three years away from implementing all the programs associated with a pure "middle school concept." Yet to be added are the practices of teacher-team planning and teacher-advisor

Teacher-team planning consists of instructors brainstorming and cooperating with one another in order to explore a topic through a variety of subjects. In turn, a lesson plan would be developed where a student can examine a subject in one class, then explore it through the eyes of another instructor in a subsequent class.

These types of practices would be heavily used in math and science classes.

Reschke said the district is to spend this school year to see how this type of cooperation can be achieved. He said that teachers at the sixth-grade level currently meet every two weeks to examine similar points. However, Reschke said the ultimate goal would include a daily meeting of teachers where they could discuss their topics as well as the performances of classes and individual

Teacher-advisor groups, in place in the sixth grade since 1987, gives pupils the chance to talk about life's concerns, either educational or societal. When provided to all grades, these groups will give students a chance to explore behavioral topics on a hands-on basis, such as how to work through a confrontational situation.

Reschke said more exploratory classes and practices can stimulate certain types of students to excel.

"We want to turn on average to below-average students, who may have already written themselves off in regards to school," he said. "Any number of things could

We should see pockets of kids performing more successfully in the next couple of years," Reschke added. "It might not improve our state scores overall, but it's a Reschke said another goal of the middle school concept is to expand extra-curricular activities, especially intramural sports programs.

'Devoid of cuts, these programs would provide all students with a sense of teamwork and physical fitness," he said. "Not only does the expansion of intramurals keep kids in shape, it keeps late bloomers from giving up on a particular sport before they reach their potential.'

However, Reschke said these programs' progression is based on the availability of funds in the future.

According to Reschke, the middle school concept has been a movement in America since the late 1970s. Slowly, he sees it being accepted by many school districts.

With this type of system, the kids will feel more involved and better about school in general," he said. "Ultimately, it should lead to them being better citizens."

Of their $250,000 goal, Clarkston Band Boosters have raised more than 20 percent.

The boosters — with lots of help from the community — are working furiously to raise money for the Clarkston High School Marching Band, which was invited to perform in the Lord Mayor of Westminster's New Year's Parade in England.

So far, they've collected $55,000, said Marla McKee, fund-raising chairwoman.

It all started with a communitywide garage sale at Clarkston High April 24. Since then, proceeds have added up from bowl-a-thons, bottle drives, doughnut sales during parades, summer car washes, Clarkston News subscription sales, and lots of help from businesses.

"What's incredible to me is when I go to these people and ask for help or donations or whatever, I very seldom get turned down," said McKee.

Clarkston High School Marching Band students and Clarkston Band Boosters are selling new subscriptions and renewals to The Clarkston News — and are keeping as much of the money as allowed by law.

The sale is a fund-raiser for the students, who were invited to perform in the Lord Mayor of Westminster's New Year's Parade in England.

So far, the industrious students and their parents have sold 91 new subscriptions and have signed up 126 others as renewals.

Marla McKee, fund-raising chairwoman for the Band Boosters, said the subscription sales have helped raise much-needed money.

Empty home burns

An abandoned house on Sashabaw Road, Independence Township, burned Aug. 23, and arson is suspected.

About 1:50 a.m., the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and the township fire department were called the house, south of Waldon Road.

They arrived and found the west end of the house engulfed in flames. Within minutes, the fire had spread to the east end and enveloped the entire building. No one was hurt in the blaze.

Arson investigators were called to the scene, and the cause is still under investigation. An estimate of property damage was not available at press time.

If you haven't read The Clarkston News classified section lately, you're missing some good stuff.

Even if you're not looking to buy or sell something or to price used cars, the classified section is fun to read.

For instance, last week's section included an ad for "PSYCHIC Summer Sale, $5 off all readings ..." This made me laugh. But if retail stores can have summer sales, why not psychics?

The ad appeared in the "General" classification, which sometimes is the most interesting to read. Each ad is almost a story in itself.

For instance, also in that category were the following ads: ■ 1 MALE CHINCHILLA; 3 cockatiels plus cages. (Maybe an allergy developed in this home?)

■ 1-WAY, NON-STOP TICKET from Orlando to Detroit ... $125. (Sounds like someone decided not to move afterall.)

■ 2 CEMETERY LOTS, Eastlawn Cemetery, $750 for both. (Perhaps the owners of these opted not to die.) ■ THINKING ABOUT CHRISTMAS? Order your personalized Christmas cards before Sept. 30 and receive FREE envelope imprinting from Century/ Regency. 628-4801. (This is for those super-organized people.) ■ STOLEN/REWARD: 8-week-old chocolate lab/mix pup. Our puppy was stolen during robbery of our home. We are offering reward for the return of our children's puppy. (Even a thief should feel like returning a puppy after reading this.)

■ NORITAKE CHINA SERVICE for 12. Extra pieces, over 80. (A possible bargain - remember that some people like to dicker on prices.)

The "Free" category also is fun to read - and can provide some unsurpassed bargains. Some samples from last week:

■ FREE CAT — Lovable, neutered. Good outside/barn cat. 3 years old.

■ IT'S FREE! Job skills class are free to nongrads. Call Oxford Adult Education.

■ FREE REFRIGERATOR and dresser. You

■ FREE WOOD from construction sites. Will

A few more examples:

BY VIRGINIA BLOCK

The mail continues to come from distant areas where folks need to locate early Oakland County family ties.

Mrs. Marjorie Waite passes along a note from a family member in Seattle, Wash., needing to make connections in the Howarth, Spencer Clark family, all prominent early Oakland County residents.

Pat Younie states her grandmother was Mary E. SPENCER HOWARTH. Pat had done lots of groundwork and knew that John HOWARTH had migrated from Great Britain and was accompanied by his mother, Elizabeth Coggin Howarth Youdan.

We find John was naturalized (or at least filed intentions) April 4, 1857. Further checking shows that John Howarth, born Feb. 28, 1813 died July 16, 1892, is buried in Evergreen Cemetery. Buried in the same plot appeared to be two or three wives (?) from marriages to John, as well as the grave of Elizabeth Coggin. We will be checking further into various other records telling of the Howarth family and their existence in the Lake Orion area.

Howarth Methodist Church started in a schoolhouse built on land donated by John. We also find ties to link Elijah Clark and Joseph Spencer so we'll be able to furnish Pam with answers to most of her questions.

A letter forwarded to us was searching for living relatives of Lt. Ernest Fiebelkorn of Lake Orion, whose service in WW II had an accounting in two articles in an Ohio newspaper, in around 1944.

Wayne R. Rader writes regarding the location of a "war buddy" of his brother, Lt. Benjamin N. Rader. Along with B. Rader and E. Fiebelkorn, a third airman, Lt. Walter T. Kuemmerle, of Cologne, N.J., Rader was forced to bail out over the English Channel in an air mission, while the other two set their planes down in Normandy.

It is hoped by Wayne Rader that he can find more information on his late brother's war activities from contact with Fiebelkorn relatives and friends still living in

We have talked with Ruth Fiebelkorn of Rochester Hills, who referred us to George Fiebelkorn of Utica, and we find that neighbors of the Lake Orion family recall Lt. Ben going to school with them prior to entering the military service.

If you know of information to help Wayne, he stated he had talked with John Fiebelkorn (of Oxford Township) via telephone, and would welcome hearing from those who could help locate further information on the wartime friendship.

We suggest that Mr. Rader turn to the Veterans Administration for help in acquiring service records of his brother, as we found them very helpful when our own brother lost his life during pre-invasion practices just prior to "D-Day," June 6, 1944.

Currently, the nation has a World War II memorial celebration that will continue for four years, and there are many possibilities of reunions of soldiers, sailors, Marines and women military service groups, furnishing additional

Do you know how much money your neighbors earn? According to the Oakland County Economic Development Division, Bloomfield Hills leads the county in median household income. In that community, half the households earn more than $150,001, and half earn less. Lowest in the county is Royal Oak Township, with $17,765.28 median household income.

Of the county's 55 communities, Independence Township ranks 18th, with $57,609 in median household income. Springfield Township ranks 21st, with $52,403; and the City of the Village of Clarkston ranks 12th, with median household income as $54,435.

Clarkston's median household income shows an increase of $14,000 over two years. Independence and Springfield remained fairly steady.

Michigan's percentage of seat belt users has increased from 18 percent to 57 percent since 1984, according to Michigan State Police. Police say the increase saved nearly 30,000 people in the period from 1984 to

Jim's Jottings

Politician's art of avoiding questions

Sherman

A couple weeks ago ABC-TV reporter Sam Donaldson asked vice president Al Gore if he thought the recently passed, retroactive income tax was fair.

Gore ignored the question and talked about who it affected, mentioned it not being a precedent and moving foward into the future.

In not answering Donaldson's question the politician reminded me of a "Jottings" I printed 25 years ago. It's how a state legislator answered a constituent's question on his stand on liquor sales.

'If, when . . . etc

'If, when you say whisky, you mean the devil's brew, the poison scourge, the bloody monster that defiles innocence, yes, literally takes the bread from the mouths of little children; if you mean the evil that topples the Christian man and woman from the pinnacles of righteous, gracious living into the bottomless pit of degradation and despair, shame and hopelessness, then certainly I am against it with all of my power.

'But, if when you say whisky, you mean the oil of conversation, the philosophic wine, the stuff that is consumed when good fellows get together, that puts a song in their hearts and laughter on their lips and the warm glow of contentment in their eyes; if you mean Christmas cheer; if you mean the stimulating drink that puts the spring in the old gentleman's step on a frosty morning; if you mean the drink that enables a man to magnify his joy, and his happiness, and to forget, if only for awhile, life's great tragedies and heartbreaks and sorrows, if you mean that drink, the sale of which pours into our treasuries untold millions of dollars, which are used to provide tender care for our little crippled children, our blind, our deaf, our dumb, our pitiful aged and infirm, to build highways, hospitals and schools, then certainly I am in favor of it.

This is my stand. I will not retreat from it; I will not compromise.'

Letters to the editor

Local schools not ruled by parents

It appears to me that the local school control is not by the local general public but is by the school board, the school administration and the teachers.

The teachers demand by threat of strike and get raises that exceed the rate of inflation. The administrators give the raises because then they have an excuse to give themselves the same raises.

If the general public says "no" by voting against increased operational millages, the millages are presented again and again until it is "passed for the good of the children."

To me, it has been for the good of the teachers and administrators' pocketbooks. The teachers say they want reduced class sizes but appear to place their pocketbooks first. I have never seen the school board say "no" to any raises negotiated by the administration negotiator.

Local property millage for schools is now gone. Let us go back to the basics of schools to teach the three "R's" (joke), so the waitress can calculate my 10 percent on my restaurant check.

Maybe more state control of school funding will be good.

Mishmash

With Clarkston being such a happening place, I found myself tom on what to write about this week.

So I thought I'd just comment on some of the various "stories" happening in and around town.

Freshman blues. This week marks the start up of another school year. It's also the first year in a long time that freshmen will be attending the high school. I kind of feel for this particular class because their predecessors had the opportunity to rule the roosts at the middle school level before moving on as sophomores.

From now on, all freshman classes will come to understand the true meaning of "bottom of the food chain." Please go easy on them, upperclassmen.

Don't milk a miracle. In June, I was moved by the story of little Allison Lawrence, the 4-year-old Clarkston girl who was miraculously brought back to life after 41 minutes in the hereafter.

At that time, I was party to a press conference that the family insisted would be their last communique with the mass media. Through the public relations department at William Beaumont Hospital, the family had said that they wanted to put the episode behind them, so Allison could get on with her life.

But just two weeks ago, the teary-eyed Lawrences were featured on the CBS television magazine program, "How'd They Do That?" Subsequently, they're slated to appear on NBC's new show, "Now," in coming weeks.

For a family that wanted to avoid the limelight, they're doing a terrible job.

■ Seeing the light. I cheered when the traffic light was finally installed at the intersection of Clarkston Road and M-15 a month ago. However, some people apparently don't know it's there.

In the last two weeks, I've seen a couple of cars on M-15 whiz through a red light like it was some sort of mirage. Luckily, no one turning on to M-15 from Clarkston Road, at the time.

When approaching the intersection, I'd advise motorists to take a sideways peek for safety's sake.

Quint quandary. This school year marks the first one for the L'Esperance quintuplets of Spring-field Township. Can you imagine — unless they're split up — they're going to drive their kindergarten teacher buggy.

Reunion responsibility. Since early Spring, the Clarkston News has been besieged by numerous inquiries about a reunion for Clarkston High's Class of 1983. At this point, a reunion hasn't been planned, so I encourage all '83 grads to get hold of one of your class officers, especially your president, and get the ball rolling.

When an organizational committee is formalized, please give The News a call, so we can alert our readers.

Bandsies vs. the Jocks. During the past month, the controversy over possibly hiking the payto-play fee in Clarkston has caused some age-old animosities to rise. You know, the band vs. the athletes.

Besides possibly Iran and Iraq, has any conflict surpassed the test of time like these two "rivals?"

At school board meetings, it never seems to fail. For example, a couple of weeks ago, the parent of an athlete told the board that any hike in sports should encompass all extra-curricular activities. In turn, the parent of a band member requested that the band's budget resemble the athletic department's, considering the number and reputation of musicians in the district.

Similar comments were made until the board asked the audience to direct comments at the board instead of other groups.

In the words of that now-famous "advocate" of world peace, Rodney King, "Can't we please just all get along?"

'If it Fitz ...'

Strange bedfellows and disjointed values

Jim Fitzgerald

There are a couple of things you should know about politicians and sports fans...

•Mayoral candidate Dennis Archer really knows how to hurt a guy.

Recently I criticized Archer for promising, in a labor rally speech, that if he wins there will be absolutely not the slightest move toward privatizing city services. I claimed Archer didn't really believe such a rigid policy would be the best thing for Detroit residents who can't get their garbage picked up or street lights turned on. Archer was simply pandering for the union vote, I said.

Archer phoned the next day to deny pandering. He said he'd improve services by winning the cooperation of city workers who, during the Coleman Young administration, lost pride and respect because of inept department heads and managers. Under improved leadership, workers will be glad to give their fellow citizens the efficient, friendly services they deserve, Archer said.

Such a response was what I expected from Archer, of course. A columnist is never surprised - or emotionally wounded - when a candidate expresses polite disagreement. But Archer added something extra.

He said I wasn't the only one who thought it was a mistake to tell the city's unionized workers they didn't have to worry one bit about the option - threat - of privitazation.

During an interview only a few hours earlier, Archer said, Tom Bray made the same comments as mine.

Bray is the ultra, ultra conservative editor of the Detroit News editorial page.

My liberal credentials are bleeding all over the place. Incidentally, Bray is an intelligent fellow and certainly not responsible for the News' July 29 front-page headline that said Yitzhak Shamir is prime minister of Israel. Which would be real news to Yitzhak Rabin, prime minister since June 1992.

•People - including sportswriters - often get excited about the wrong things. Car races, for instance.

On Monday, our front sports page described much outrage because WJBK-TV (Channel 2) didn't give full coverage to that Sunday's Diehard 500 race in Alabama. The race was delayed 80 minutes by a seven-car accident, and when the fun was resumed, Channel 2 opted for a "The Untouchables" rerun instead. Station management said more than 200 irate customers phoned to complain.

On that same Sunday, I watched the First of America Classic Seniors PGA golf tournament played in Grand Rapids and televised on WXON-TV (Channel 20). Just as the leaders were nearing the final holes, and the competition was getting really exciting, Channel 20 switched to some dumb sitcom. I wanted to scream, so I did, and my wife admitted she didn't blame me.

The next day - and the rest of the week - neither Detroit daily sports section printed one lousy word about the TV golf cutoff. It was reported, however, that the tournament ended in a 3-way tie and George Archer won the suddendeath playoff. So I screamed again.

Channel 20 manager Mike Berman subsequently told me only a few viewers complained and I was the only newspaper person to ask for an explanation. Berman said the tournament was running around 90 minutes late because of a rain delay, and when the clock ticked 4:30, he had to run sitcoms because of "a commitment to advertisers."

I hung up before screaming a third time.

To each his own. I realize some people think TV golf is dull. But what can be duller than a bunch of noisy cars passing by? You might as well watch the freeway.

Except a car race offers viewers a much better chance of seeing a bloody accident. The DieHard 500 crash left one driver in critical condition, with a bleeding brain.

What can be said about a só-called civilized society that, instead of watching a hole-out from a sand trap, would rather see someone injured, maybe killed, in a car wreck? Nothing can be said. You have to scream.

Clarkston High senior to finish school overseas A 8 Wed., Sept. 1, 1993 The Clarkston (Mich.) News

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

Janae Cooley regrets that she'll miss Clarkston's Homecoming, the prom and the Junior Miss pageant, but she's looking forward to the benefits of finishing school

"It's funny - I'm homesick before I even leave,"

"There'll be a real cultural mix, so kids aren't just hanging out with others from their own countries."

the Clarkston High senior said, smiling. "However, I can't concentrate on the things I'm going to miss; I've got to think about the things I'm going to do.

"I'll miss my friends, but if I dwell on them or anything else too long, I'll never leave this town," she added. Cooley, who left for Wales on Aug. 31, will attend the United World College for the next two years. Upon completion of this worldwide program, she'll earn an international baccalaureate degree.

The high-achieving teen first learned of the international school two years ago at the Hugh O'Brien Youth Leadership Seminar in Southfield. Subsequently, she sent world college officials copies of her transcripts and later interviewed with alumni.

Shirking incredible odds, Cooley was eventually chosen to represent the United States as one of only 15 seniors allowed to register at any of seven worldwide

Cooley presently holds a grade point average of 3.85, but it was her willingness to learn about and meet new people that led to her selection.

The selection committee was looking for students who exhibited a willingness to adapt to different cultures in a neutral setting," she said. "They wanted students who felt comfortable interacting with people of all nations."

According to Cooley, the Wales campus is on the grounds of St. Donats' Castle, built between 1285 A.D. and 1300 A.D. The campus facilitates 300 students from more than 100 nations. Of this total, Cooley said, only seven of these pupils will be Americans.

She said English is the required language on the campus, and all students will live with someone not of their hemisphere.

"This way, there'll be a real cultural mix, so kids aren't just hanging out with others from their own countries," she said.

At the college, Cooley will be busy with school five days a week and five hours of community service on the weekends, which is required.

Despite being overseas, Cooley said she's still a CHS senior and will be eligible for graduation ceremonies

"After being accepted, (former) Principal Goebel took a look at the college's curriculum and said he'd count it like a year of foreign exchange," see said. "This way, when I come home for summer break in May, I'll be able to graduate with my class."

Cooley said her second year at the world college would also be the equivalent of her freshman year at a university. So when she graduates, she'll be able to attend an American university with sophomore status and cred-

At this point, Cooley said she's considering entering either Kalamazoo College or the James Madison program at Michigan State University, upon graduation from the

Gridders to challenge Northern for title

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

Facing a formidable schedule, the Clarkston varsity football team is banking on a balanced effort to win games, and, more importantly, to dethrone defending champ Pontiac Northern.

"I consider this team to be a balanced one ... on both sides of the ball," said varsity coach Kurt Richardson. "We don't have any great, great standouts to speak of, so we're going to have to focus on executing as a team."

Last year, the Wolves posted a record of 6-3, which is impressive considering the team started the season 0-2.

This season, the Wolves will field a team of 44 kids, including 14 returning players. According to Richardson, his starting units will be a mixture of juniors and seniors.

Offensively, CHS will be led by senior quarterback Kevin Dankert, who was named the team's most improved player last season. In 1992, Dankert completed 41 passes in 100 attempts for 509 yards and two touchdowns.

His top target will be junior Jeremy Fife, an all-GOAL wide receiver last year who snared 23 receptions for 267 yards and two TDs. However, Fife recently broke his foot in a basketball mishap and will miss the season opener against Troy.

Senior Rusty Mitcham returns at tight end, where he earned honorable mention all-league honors in 1992.

Defensively, the Wolves will rely on the double-duty talents of Mitcham at outside linebacker and Fife at defensive back.

Junior Jason Graves, who recorded 18 tackles and two interceptions in 1992, should also help bolster the Wolves' defensive backfield. He'll be assisted by a bevy of tenacious teammates, who include: junior P.J. Vandermeer, linebacker; senior John Zamora, defensive back; and senior Nat Abney, defensive back.

Looking ahead to the league race, Richardson sees Pontiac Northern as the team to beat, especially with the return of star fullback Edwin Watson. The coach also expects Lake Orion to be much improved, considering they have one of the quickest kids in the county in tailback Kurt Dubowski.

Despite a tough schedule, Richardson expects his charges to rise to the challenge.

"When it comes to the GOAL, we should be right in the thick of things," he said. "We'll be OK this season. The opener against Troy should be a great indicator of what we're made of because they're one of the best teams in the county.

"It should be another exciting season because there are no soft spots in our schedule," Richardson added.

Wolves start hoop season with two wins

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

Taking a page from the Detroit Pistons' playbook, the Clarkston varsity girls' basketball team used defense to win their first two games of the season last week.

On Aug. 24, the Wolves topped Lakeland 37-25. The turning point in the contest was a 6-0 run in the second quarter, with the game tied 11-11. After that point, the Wolves stayed ahead for good.

Scoring-wise, Clarkston was led by three seniors. Anne Brueck earned gamehigh scoring honors with 11 points, while Erin Patterson added 10 points and 10 rebounds. Teammate Laura Seitz also scored five points, while dishing out six assists in the effort.

Two nights later, the host Wolves "stole" a victory from West Bloomfield, 62-23. Seitz scored 10 points and notched nine steals, while Brueck added six points and nine steals. Senior Shawna Greene chipped in with six points and six steals for

Also contributing offensively were Patterson (9 points), Elissa Shires (8) and Sue Naboychik (7).

Despite the easy victories, Coach Larry Mahrle said his squad still has to polish its skills.

We're a young ball club, with a lot of work ahead of us," he said. "We need to work on our transition game and shot selection, but, at this point in the season, I'm pleased with our play, especially our aggressiveness."

The Wolves travel to Rochester on Sept. 2.

Seniors head to nationals

The Clarkston Reds senior softball team has qualified for the 60-and-older World Series in Houston later this month.

The Reds, who play in a traveling league, qualified for the World Series by taking second place in a 12-team tournament in Dorchester, Ontario, about three weeks ago. The World Series, slated for later this month, includes a long, drawnout competition between 110 teams from North America.

The Reds, who've accumulated a record of 11-3 in their traveling Ascot League, are coached by Grant St. Amour of Clarkston. Other area residents on this metropolitan squad include Chuck Mason, Ed Boyd, Jim McKay and Charles Gavette.

Area men picked for '93 elk hunt

A pair of Clarkston-area men have won the privilege to hunt elk this year.

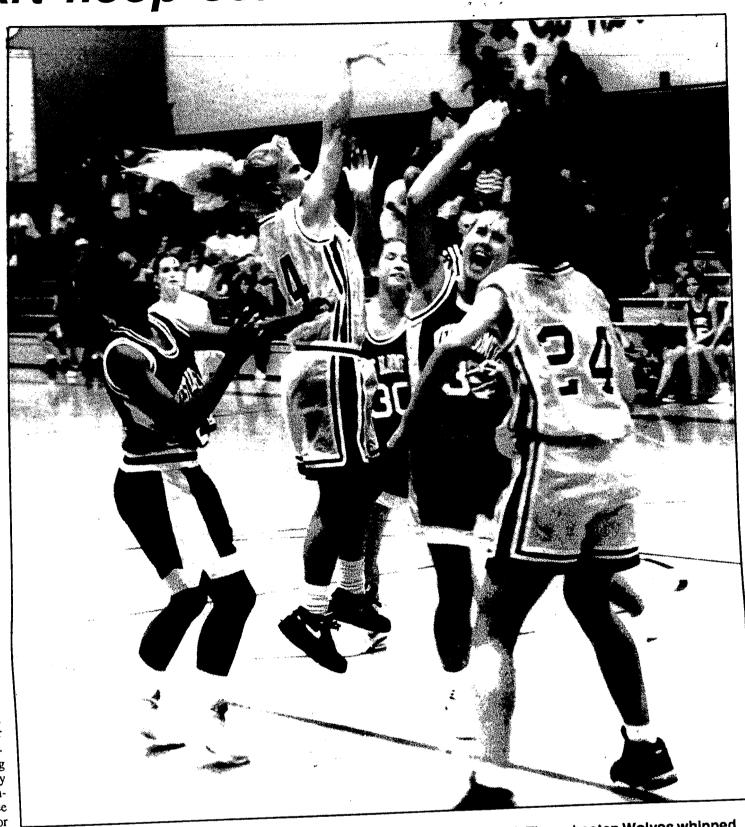

Joseph D. Miller and Kenneth G. Masters were among 165 state residents randomly selected by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources to participate in the state's September elk hunts.

Fifty-five licenses will be issued for each of the three elk hunts - Sept. 8-12, Sept. 15-20 and Sept. 23-29.

The successful applicants were computer drawn from 25,128 people who applied for the September licenses.

Of the 165 hunters, 123 are allowed to take only antierless deer, while 42 have the choice of taking an antiered or antierless elk. Both Miller and Masters can kill only anterless elk.

This year's elk hunting areas include parts of Emmet, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Otsego, Montmorency and Presque Isle

SENIOR Shawna Greene shoots in traffic against West Bloomfield Aug. 26. The unbeaten Wolves whipped the Lakers 62-23, as Greene notched six points and six steals in the victory.

Varsity soccer team posts perfect start at 3-0

Facing a trio of non-league opponents, the Clarkston varsity soccer team has gotten off to a scorching start for the '93 campaign.

During the past week, the Wolves (3-0) dumped Milford, Lakeland and West Bloomfield. So far, their victories have been a culmination of high scoring and stingy defense.

On Aug. 24, CHS blanked host Milford

4-0. Clarkston received two goals from Tony Sartor, while teammates David Hartke and Mike Kunckler chipped in with one apiece. J.R. Kirk was also credited with two assists in the contest.

Goalie Shane Collier made five saves to earn the shutout.

Two days later, the Wolves cruised past Lakeland 3-1. Kirk scored twice and Nick Bielak added a goal in the win.

On Aug. 30, Clarkston exploded against West Bloomfield to post a 5-2 victory. Kirk continued to pad his statistics with three more goals as Ray Torrance and Ben Grinold tallied a goal each.

Collier made seven saves in goal for his third victory of the season.

The Wolves' next game is Thursday, Sept. 2, at Bloomfield Hills Andover.

West Bloomfield Invitational Wolf golfers win

The Clarkston varsity boys' golf team started their season on a high note last weekend by winning the West Bloomfield Invitational.

The Wolves shot a combined 317, between their top four linksters, to defeat a field of 12 teams. This marks the second time in the past three years that the Wolves have won this tournament, held annually at the 72-par Tam O'Shanter Golf Course.

By winning, CHS earned a first-place trophy. They were 12 strokes better than Birmingham Brother Rice, while West Bloomfield and Lakeland settled for third and fourth places respectively.

The Wolves were paced by medalist Jayson Buchmann, who shot a 76 to lead all golfers. Coach Jim Chamberlain was pleased with the junior's gritty performance.

"I'm especially proud of Jayson because he started the day with three bogies but bounced back to shoot just one over par," Chamberlain said. "He showed a lot of class, playing the way he did."

Junior Jon Dean took second place overall with a score of 78, while teammates Ryan Karlstrom (81) and Corey Bildstein (82) took eighth and eleventh places respectively. Myles Mosher (90) and Jeremy Jensen (91) rounded out the rest of the field for the Wolves.

Clarkston's next home match is Sept. 2 against Lake Orion.

JV cheerleaders win Spirit Award

Junior varsity cheerleaders at Clarkston High School have made a name for themselves this summer.

While at Cheer Michigan cheerleading camp at Camp Nahelu, Ortonville, the last week of July, the freshmen, sophomores and juniors took one of the highest honors awarded — the Spirit Award.

Coach Debi Hool said the Clarkston JV team had never won the award before.

"I was very happy," she said.

The cheerleaders also took ribbons in a slew of other categories: jumps, precision, group coordination, voice and mental toughness.

She said she was the girls worked hard to earn the awards.

"They're a very dynamic cheerleading squad, very enthusiastic," she said. "They'll definitely be a lot of fun to watch at the games.'

They'll get to show their talents at the first football game of the season Thursday, Sept. 2, against the Troy Colts.

For 5 more days, purchasing pop aids athletic boosters

Sports fans and area residents have a chance to help high school athletes when they buy soda pop and treats Aug. 28 through Sept. 6.

The Clarkston Athletic Boosters' biggest fund-raiser of the year takes place those days at Kroger's grocery store on Dixie Highway, Independence Township.

For 10 days, Boosters receive a portion of each of 30,000 cases of Pepsi products sold — and the products are offered at lower-than-normal prices. Also offered are Vernor's ginger ale and A&W rootbeer.

In addition, anyone who donates $1 to the Boosters gets a chance to win three Kroger shopping sprees. And Pepsi is donating Reebok gift certificates to a 3-point shoot-out champion.

During the whole week, the Boosters will be on hand with concessions — hot dogs, chips and pop ($1.50). Ice cream floats are $1. The Boutrous Co., owner of Clarkston Oaks shopping center, contributed to the fund-raiser.

Proceeds help the Boosters pay off the debt on the Clarkston Team Building at Clarkston High School's football field and to support other athletic activities in the district.

The event—sponsored by the Boosters, Kroger, Pepsi, Thorn Apple Valley and Frito-Lay—takes place 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. weekends and 4-8 p.m. Monday through Friday. Labor Day hours are 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Benefit raises $565 for Leach

The Spray Masters Waterski Club benefit show for Jeremy Leach raised $565 a couple of weeks ago.

Conducted on Big Lake, Springfield Township, the 1 1/4-hour program attracted nearly 100 spectators. Proceeds from the Aug. 21 event were given to the Jeremy Leach Fund to help find a bone marrow donor for the leukemia-stricken teen, a Clarkston High School student.

The Spray Masters consist of Clarkston-area residents. The club recently took third place at the Michigan State Invitational and Show Tournament.

Tennis team's goal is to dethrone Dragons

Fall sports preview

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

For the past nine years, Clarkston's girls tennis teams have played bridesmaids to Lake Orion High School.

But that string ends in '93, says coach Becky Craig.

"Lake Orion is in for a fight this season," she said. "We've got a very strong team. So if we're finally going to beat them, it's going to have to be this year.

"Our girls have got great attitudes, and they really want to be number one in the GOAL," Craig added.

The Wolves have eight players returning from last year's 7-5 squad, which took second place in the league. Senior Kristy Swartout is the top returning player for Clarkston.

Last year, she earned all-league honors by taking second place in No. 1 singles at the GOAL meet. Other players destined to play singles include senior Amanda Van Klaveren and sophomores Rene Van Klaveren and Mary Schmidt.

The rest of the team will battle for doubles spots. Top candidates include: junior Kelley Wall, junior Rene Schubert, senior Carly Kade, junior Jody Weatherington and freshmen Samantha Schubring and Kristy Kade.

The Wolves open the season Sept. 1 at Lapeer East.

THE girls' tennis team will be led by a trio of seniors this fall. They include: Kristy Swartout, Carly Kade and Amanda Van Klaveren.

Drivers warned not to use White Lake

Drivers should stop using White Lake Road as a thoroughfare, according to Independence Township Supervisor Dale Stuart.

On Aug. 17, Stuart said that some drivers have been seen bypassing construction signs prohibiting the usage of White Lake Road, putting themselves and construction workers in danger.

The road is under construction, so water and sewer lines can be installed as part of a project funded by the township's Downtown Development Authority.

Stuart warned that the closed road will be heavily monitored by police and that any person not working or living along White Lake Road would be ticketed.

The road is expected to be re-opened in mid-No-

Fourth-generation quilter shares art

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE Clarkston News Staff Writer

Sue Reeves began quilting before she even began school.

"My grandmother was a quilter," she explained. Reeves remembers that at age 5, she was at a

Reeves remembers that at age 5, she was at a summer cabin, and her grandmother told her that her stitches weren't straight enough.

They soon became straighter — in the tradition of her family. Reeves' mother, grandmother and greatgrandmother all practiced the art of quilting.

The Ortonville resident teaches her craft this fall in three sessions for Clarkston Community Education.

The first session begins Sept. 15, where students will learn to make miniature Amish quilts. If you're looking for holiday ideas, a Holiday Applique Quilt session begins Oct. 13. A one-day lesson Oct. 23 teaches the intermediate quilter Whole Cloth Quilting.

Reeves, project coordinator for communications for Clarkston Community Education, is a language arts instructor for STRIVE Alternative High School.

Her handiwork is beautifully displayed throughout the building in co-workers' offices and her own.

Quilting is satisfying — as are other sewing-related arts, Reeves said.

She said she's always created art with her hands,

"This is what I do to relax. It's my hobby — it's my passion."

Sue Reeves

including knitting, embroidery and cross stitch. She has taught classes in knitting and owned a needlecraft store in the 1970s. About eight years ago, she decided she needed to focus on one craft and chose quilting.

"It's the most expressive, and the designs are never ending," said Reeves.

She makes a lot of miniature quilts because she can do them in a short time and move to a new design or idea. She pieces the quilts on a machine and then hand-quilts the pieces.

That technique makes the quilt sturdier — and it's more practical to use a sewing machine for piecing, she said.

Reeves has been a member of the Country Quilt Guild for six years. She is also part of the Michigan Quilt Organization. She participates in trunk shows and workshops, lecturing on the history of quilts and the techniques used to create the masterpieces.

She isn't above learning from others, though.

"I like to go and take classes," she said, adding that quilters are usually very giving people and share ideas readily.

And quilting itself is very giving, she said.

"This is what I do to relax," said Reeves. "It's my hobby — it's my passion."

For more information on quilting classes — or other enrichment classes — call Clarkston Community Education at 674-0093.

Divide perennials in fall for best results

Early fall is the best time to dig and divide daylilies, peonies, iris, hosta and other spring and summer flowering perennials.

"That is not to say that these plant must be divided," says Mary McLellan, master gardener coordinator at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

"Peonies, for instance, will grow in one place for years without needing dividing. But if you want to relocate plants, increase the number of plants or renew an old, overgrown planting, late summer or early fall is the time," he said

Dig plants to be moved or divided carefully, with a spading fork, if you have one, to minimize root injury. Lift as much of the root system as possible. Then use a sharp knife to cut the larger roots or rhizomes into smaller pieces.

Peonies need three to five pink eyes or buds on each section. Iris needs one fan of leaves and several feeder roots; for daylily, a single fan division is sufficient.

Prepare a new planting site ahead of time, so roots don't dry out before they go back into the soil.

Daylilies are not very particular about how or where they're planted, but it's easy to plant peonies too deep, McLellan said.

Peonies planted too deep may not flower. Plant peony crowns so that the eyes are only 1 to 2 inches below the soil surface. Iris should be planted just at the surface of the soil, not buried.

Iris may quit blooming if plantings become too crowded. The rhizomes (underground stems) are easy to dig and divide. Be sure to discard any showing signs of softness or rot, McLellan said..

Hostas seldom need dividing, but you can easily propagate them by dividing young plants. Older plants do not re-establish readily. Either leave them in place or replace them with young divisions, McLellan suggested.

School bus safety tips

With the school year starting, both motorists and students need to take extra caution near school buses.

The Pupil Transportation Act of 1990 requires all vehicles to come to a complete stop at least 20 feet from a school bus with overhead red lights flashing. Vehicles may proceed only when the overhead red flashing lights have been turned off.

Upon approaching a school bus with overhead yellow flashing lights, use caution and prepare to stop.

Drivers do not need to stop when a school bus has its overhead red lights flashing on the opposite side of a street divided into two separate roadways.

When only yellow hazard lights are flashing, vehicles may proceed with caution past the bus.

"It's vital that motorists be aware of the law concerning school buses because children are not always looking out for themselves," said Betty Mercer, executive director of the Michigan State Police, Office of Highway Safety Planning.

Parents should also be sure their children take extra caution near school buses. At special risk are younger children. In 1990, national statistics showed that 36 percent of bus fatalities involved children ages 5 to 9.

Safety points for student bus riders to remember include:

■ Do not cross the road until signaled to do so by the bus driver.

Make sure the bus comes to a full stop before entering or exiting.

Don't go after anything that rolls under or in front of the bus; instead tell the driver about it.

Never walk right in front of the bus, behind the bus, or close to the sides or wheels.

■ Know where the emergency doors and windows

■ Arrive at the bus stop about five minutes early.

■ Line up when the bus approaches.

Stand back at least six feet to give the driver room to pull over.

Dietary calcium, manganese bring menstrual relief

Mood swings, lack of concentration, water retention and pain are the all-too-familiar symptoms of menstrual

Research findings published in the May 1993 edition of the American Journal of Obstetrics and Gynecology indicate that calcium and manganese - nutrients found in milk and other dairy products — help relieve the monthly pain routinely experienced by millions of women.

In a carefully controlled study of 10 women, researches found that increasing calcium intake from 600 to 1300 mg and manganese from 1 to 6 mg significantly reduced premenstrual pain and mood swings.

Increasing calcium intake also improved mood and concentration overall and reduced water weight gain and menstrual pain. The study suggests that premenopausal women may benefit from consuming at least four servings of dairy foods every day for more reasons than previously known.

Coni Baker, one of the organizers, said the course are open to everyone and are helpful to everyone.

The Rev. Farrell of Detroit, back from a sabbatical in Jerusalem, presents the 12-week sessions, beginning Sept. 15 or 18.

"Leading My Life" takes place 9 a.m. to noon Wednesdays. The course returns to essential aspects of the person (being, intellect, feelings, body) explored in "Who Am I?" and aims to increase awareness of growing and how to progress. Also helps identify life goals and how to attain them.

Managing my Growth" takes place 6:30-9:30 p.m. Wednesdays. Participants cultivate practical skills and attitudes helpful in making the most of their potential. They learn how to plan and manage their lives for optimum grown and healing.

Who Am I?" is offered 1:30-4:30 p.m. Saturdays. The focus is one's being, the positive center of the person. The being, self-image, relationships, intellect, feelings and the body are explored. Attitudes helpful for growth and a decision-making model are introduced.

The $150 fee is payable in installments over the whole period of the course to Farrell directly. To register, call Baker at 625-7995 or Lynn Salata at 391-1383.

Ron Rodda Sales Manager Career in Real Estate? "ASK RON*"*

QUESTION: My home is for sale, but I am out of town a lot. How can the home be shown if I'm not there to let the Realtor in?

ANSWER: Leave your key with the listing broker. It would only be used when you are not home or on your special instructions. If you feel uncomfortable about this procedure, do it only when you go on vacation or leave town for the weekend.

In some areas, it is common to use lockboxes for vacant houses or when owners are often absent. The lockbox is attached to your door with your key inside. It can only be opened by a special key carried by cooperating brokers.

Ask the Therapist

My mother's having trouble

Stan Garwood

Dear Mr. Garwood:

I am 16 years old. My parents have been divorced for two years, and I live with my mother. Sometimes, I hear her crying at night, and when I ask her what is wrong, she tells me nothing and tells me to go back to sleep. She won't tell me, but I think she's having trouble paying the bills. I don't know what else is wrong. It scares me to hear her cry. My younger sisters and I don't know what's happening or what to do. Can you help?

Scared daughter

Dear Scared Daughter:

I can only speculate as to the source of your mother's current emotional state, which prompts her nightly outbursts. She may be dwelling on the divorce itself, even though it occurred two years prior, or she may be having difficulty adjusting to her current life situation.

Divorce, based on my observations, is a most traumatic event in one's life! Divorce brings into play a host of reactions brought on by the "ending" of one life episode and the initiation of a new, different and foreign one.

Your mother, in order to "say good-bye" and complete this marriage phase, must grieve the loss of her husband, her social life, her identity as it was defined, her children's father, the family integrity and in many cases, her home and community. And while she's undergoing the grief work necessary to end this part of her life, your mother probably discovered she's alone.

This translates into the absence of companionship and the person "who I could share things with." Your mother is possibly worrying about the unknown, which awaits her, e.g. finances, living arrangements, employment potential, etc.

On the other hand, she may be experiencing frustrations characteristic of her new situation. Regardless of what she's feeling, that someone to share it with is no

Does she blame herself for the divorce? And the subsequent breakup of the family? And the distancing of father from his children? I can imagine how much this would bother anyone!

I can see that you wish to help. However, even if you wanted to "provide that necessary shoulder," I would expect your mother negating this in favor of someone older and more experienced in life's doctrine. If she has no one, you could help by pointing out the necessity of such a person and perhaps directing her thus. Divorce support groups are very helpful, as well as counseling.

Family therapist Stan Garwood, M.A., M.S.W., resides in Independence Township. "Ask the Therapist" appears in The Clarkston News regularly. Address questions on family issues, emotional/ psychological questions, behavior disorders, parenting, marital discord, etc. to: Stan Garwood, % The Clarkston News, 5 S. Recipe corner

Fancy and easy

Fruit tastes good and is low in fat, and, if you keep canned fruit on hand, you'll always have a nutritious, good-tasting option at your fingertips.

The following fruit recipe looks fancy but is easy to make, with lots of colorful canned fruits.

FRUIT BASKET MERINGUES Makes 6 servings

4 egg whites

1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar

1 cup sugar

1 can (16 ounces) chunky mixed fruits in own juice, drained

1 can (11 ounces) Mandarin orange segments in light syrup, drained

1 can (8 ounces) pineapple chunks, drained

1 cup apricot nectar

1 tablespoon corn starch

1/4 cup orange-flavor liqueur or cold water

2 tablespoons toasted canned coconut

1/2 cup drained canned blueberries

Beat egg whites until foamy in large bowl; add cream or tartar and beat to soft peaks. Gradually beat in sugar, beating until stiff glossy peaks form.

Spoon mixture into pastry bag fitted with medium plain or star tip. Pipe 6-inch circles on aluminum foil-lined cookie sheet; pipe edges around circles to make "baskets." Bake in preheated 250 degree oven until meringues are crisp, about 1 hour. Turn off oven; let meringues stand in oven 2 hours.

Combine mixed fruit, Mandarin orange segments and pineapple chunks in medium bowl. Heat apricot nectar to boiling in small saucepan. Mix cornstarch and liqueur. Boil, stirring constantly, until thickened. Spoon fruits into meringues; spoon warm sauce over and garnish with blueberries.

Per serving: 280 calories, 3.4 g protein, 1 g fat, 61.5 g carbohydrates, 43.5 g sodium.

The Lake Orion Review 30 N. Broadway Lake Orion, Mi 48362

ON THE LAST Friday before school starts in Clarkston, Deer Lake Beach is filled with children of all ages, cooling off on the 90-degree day. Leaving the water (center) are

Summer day

"LOOK MOM!" shouts Danielle Geralds, 3, "I can drink the water." To prove it, the Maybee Road, Independence Township, resident demonstrates. She swam at Deer Lake with her cousin, Ashley Swisher, 7, of Fenton.

CURTIS TOCCO, 4, of Oak Forest, Independence Township, is immersed in his sand project at Deer Lake Beach, while his baby sister and mother sit nearby.
