B&B fight still simmers

Judge sends case back to Clarkston's ZBA

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A year-long court fight over a bed and breakfast facility in Clarkston may end up in a higher court.

Buck and Joan Kopietz plan to appeal at least one court decision over their right to operate a bed and breakfast facility in Clarkston.

The former Main Street funeral home at the center of the controversy was built in 1862 as a residence. It served as Goyette Funeral Home from 1915 to 1992. The Kopietzes bought the property in September 1991 with plans to convert it into a bed and breakfast.

Help needed to solve mystery

Little Emily O'Connor or Stephanie S. have a friend in Clarkston.

Jennifer Radcliff of Main Street, Clarkston, found a child's "treasure box" on top of the mailbox at the corner of Main and Washington streets.

The box included the name, "Emily O'Connor," and an envelope addressed to "Stephanie S." in Waterford. The box was next to a stack of priority mail also left atop the mailbox.

Radcliff, fearing destruction if the items were left atop the mailbox, called the police department and called "information" for a phone number for the priority mail addressee, which was unlisted. Police also had received no word on the items.

So Radcliff posted the letters and took the treasure box home.

She looked inside the blue plastic box for identification but found only a child's dinosaur stamp, a China figurine of a cat, a Yahtze game and a child's calculator.

"I don't know who Emily O'Connor or Stephanie S. in Waterford is," Radcliff said. "I don't know if there's somebody out there whose child is crying because she doesn't have her kitty cat."

She said she hopes anyone with information about the items will call her at 625-3010, so she can return them to their rightful owner.

"This is precious stuff, of course," she said. "I had a little girl, who used to pick all this stuff up and take it to the grocery store."

Water cleanup plans on Tuesday agenda

After 14 years of waiting, plans for cleaning up tainted ground water in Springfield are complete.

A meeting is planned for 7 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 14, at the Hart Community Center on Broadway. During the meeting, the Springfield Site Action Committee is to discuss the design for the ground water treatment plant. Representatives from the EPA, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and the responsible parties will be at the meeting to answer questions and brief the public about the water treatment system.

The Woodland Trail site is contaminated with PCBs, paint sludge, arsenic and solvents. Cleanup may begin later this year, according to township Clerk Nancy Strole.

Beating preliminary exam postponed

Four men who are charged with beating a fifth man at a Foreigner concert at Pine Knob must wait until next month for their day in court.

Brian Podgorski, 20, Bruce Helm, 19, and Keith Anderson, 20, all of Independence Township; and Ian Morris, 23, of Dryden were charged with assault with intent to great bodily harm less than murder — a felony punishable with up to 10 years in prison.

The victim, a 31-year-old California man, suffered an open head injury in the Aug. 19 beating. He moved to the rehabilitation unit at Detroit Receiving Hospital Aug. 31.

The preliminary exam began on Aug. 30 in 52nd District Court, Independence Township, before Judge Gerald McNally. The court proceeding resumes on at 1:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 15, in front of McNally.

Actress to scream, cry and die on Cinemax

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

A Clarkston woman will see her image flashed across America this week, as an Oakland County-based horror film debuts on a major cable network.

Actress Lisa Sheldon Miller has an active role in "Hellmaster," a $600,000 B-movie featured on Cinemax's "Thursday Night Terror." The film is scheduled to air Sept. 9, 19 and 27.

Miller plays the part of Barb Bunson, a college campus sexpot, who finds herself in the middle of a killing

"Unlike other horror movies, my Femme Fatale character got to kill someone before she's murdered. Personally, I found killing more fun than dying."

Lisa Sheldon Miller

spree initiated by a cult of mutants. A majority of the film is shot on the grounds of the Clinton Valley Center, which acts as the campus for the fictitious Kant Institute.

During the course of the movie, "Barb Bunson" and a few of her classmates do battle against the mutants, who are led by B-movie veteran John Saxon.

However, the Femme Fatale eventually meets a tragic end, when she's skewered by an ax-wielding creature. Miller said she enjoyed her role — especially when she kills a mutant prior to her own demise.

"It was quite a thrill to be involved in this project," she said. "Unlike other horror movies, my Femme Fatale character got to kill someone before she's murdered. Personally, I found killing more fun than dying."

Miller said she was able to "get into" her character even though "Barb" is a far cry from thereal-life Lisa. In reality, Miller co-owns Glennwood Builders and Designers with her husband, David Miller. Besides being a former model and ballet dancer, Lisa holds a bachelor's degree in psychology from Wayne State University.

Matter of a fact, she graduated magna cum laude from the Kalamazoo-based college.

"Lisa jumped out at us because she exhibited a good mix of sex appeal and acting ability. During her screen test, we knew she had talent worthy of the 'biz.'"

Director Doug Schulz

Looking back at her two-months worth of filming, Miller said the movie's technical aspects fascinated her the most because it differed from her experiences in theater.

"First, you have to repeat the same scenes over and over," she said. "Scenes are filmed out of sequence, and the actor has to think about the camera, hitting their marks, and trying to duplicate each take so the film can be edited smoothly."

"Secondly," she added, "what was really surprising to me was when there appears to be a dialogue between two actors; often one of them isn't even on the set. Instead, the actor has to ignore all of the people who are watching and working behind the camera and pretend they are reacting to another character."

In auditioning for the part of "Barb," Miller beat out nearly 500 other girls for the role. Director Doug Schulz, who also co-owns the Dolphin Entertainment Group in Waterford, said Miller exhibited a special blend of talent.

"When we were casting the part of 'Barb,' we were looking for someone that was the polar-opposite of 'Shelly,' who was our strong-willed heroine," he said. "Lisa jumped out at us because she exhibited a good mix of sex appeal and acting ability. During her screen test, we knew she had talent worthy of the 'biz.'"

"Hellmaster" took nearly four years to finally come to fruition. It was released to video last December. Despite the wait, Schulz was satisfied with Dolphin's first feature film.

"I was pleased with the performances and production value, but as a filmmaker I see the shortcomings," he said. "Overall, I consider it a good first effort, but as a perfectionist there's things I'd like to have changed."

Miller is also pleased with the film, even though it's unlikely Oscar material.

"It was quite a thrill to be involved in this project."

Lisa Sheldon Miller

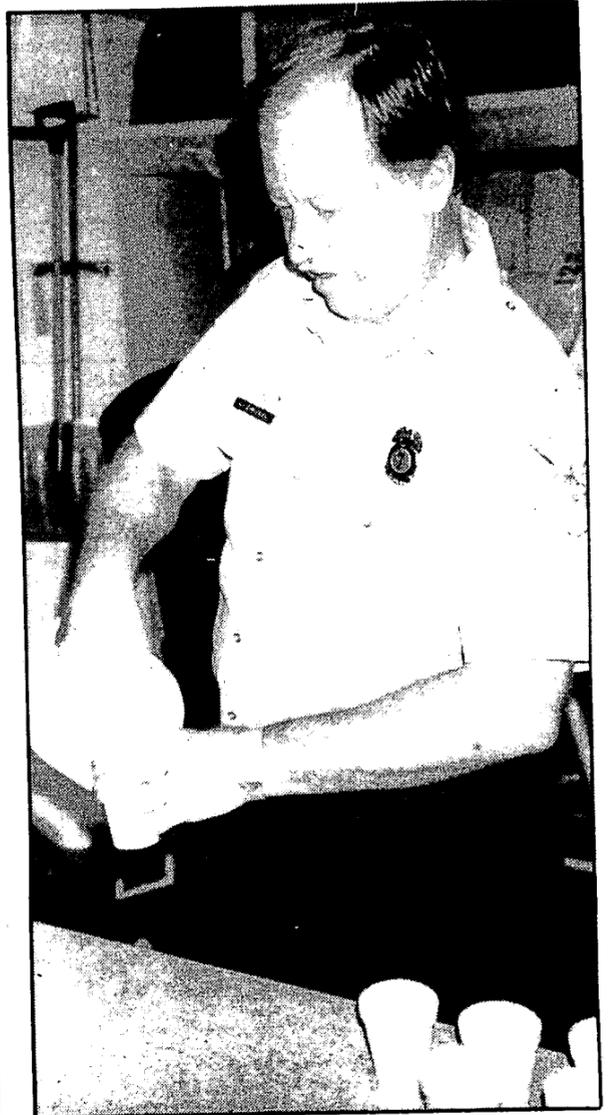

"The film is a mixture of comedy and horror and is certainly no Academy Award winner," she said. "Nonetheless, I was delighted to have had the opportunity as it was a once in a lifetime experience."

Bed and breakfast fight not over yet in Clarkston

The property, which backs up to the Mill Pond, is zoned single-family residential but operated as a funeral home under a "grandfather" clause that allowed it to continue its commercial use.

In 1992, Clarkston's planning commission and zoning board of appeals first did not vote on and later ruled against the Kopietzes' request to operate a bed and breakfast on the premises. In order to open the business, the Kopietzes needed city permission for a non-conforming usage of the building.

The Kopietzes filed three lawsuits in Oakland County Circuit Court. One lawsuit asked for money damages from the City of Clarkston, and the other two appealed the zoning board's actions.

The case demanding money from the city was dismissed by the Kopietzes' lawyer in July with the option to refile at a later day.

A second case — heard by Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Hilda Gage — charged that the ZBA did not make a decision about the special land use concerning the bed and breakfast. The Kopietzes' lawyer, Phillip Adkison, said that a motion before the ZBA to approve the usage died without support.

Gage sent the case back to the ZBA and told the members to make a decision regarding the special land use and to specifically explain their decision.

Circuit Court Judge Edward Sosnick returned his opinion on the third case June 23.

This case stemmed from another ZBA meeting, when the Kopietzes presented more information, including a promise that no structural changes would take place. At this time, the ZBA decided the proposed bed and breakfast use was "not more appropriate" than the funeral home.

If the proposed use (the bed and breakfast) is more appropriate than the former use (the funeral home), the ZBA is obligated to approve the special use, according to Adkison.

Sosnick ruled the ZBA's decision complies with the constitution of the state and is not vague, as the Kopietzes had alleged. The court also noted that the ZBA is not required by the ordinance to grant a change in non-conforming use upon a favorable finding as to appropriateness, but the ZBA may change the use of the building if it decides to.

The case heard by Sosnick was sent back to the ZBA, so it could specifically comment why the proposed use for the former funeral home is not more appropriate than the prior use.

Adkison said the Kopietzes plan to appeal Sosnick's decision to the Michigan Court of Appeals, and they are waiting to make a decision in the case heard by Gage. Adkison said he expects to hear from the ZBA in September.

Clarkston's consulting attorney was unavailable for comment at press time.

On softball and wedding gowns

Julie Campe

Nearly all of Cincinnati is familiar with Merelyn Mallett's skill with fabric and thread by now.

My sister-in-law, Audrey Campe, was married to Jim Keane over the weekend in that city, and Merelyn created her beautiful gown.

It may be an exaggeration to say that all of Cincinnati was there for the nuptials and to witness the vows, but it certainly seemed as if Audrey and Jim were the center of Cincinnati's attention (though the Cincinnati Enquirer was absent from the event, surely an oversight).

Audrey, who grew up (and played varsity tennis at Clarkston High) with Merelyn's daughter, Sam, presents a special problem for any seamstress.

But Merelyn, an Independence Township resident, was up for the task.

The challenge: To sew not only Audrey's gown with yards of lace and tiny sequins but also to sew each of the bridesmaids' dresses. All but one of the bridesmaids live out of state, a challenge in itself.

But the hard stuff came with Audrey's gown. It had to be beautiful, of course, but it also must be sturdy in all of its delicacy, for Audrey was sure to do a lot of dancing and hugging and that sort of thing.

But the biggest test of the wedding gown took place at Audrey and Jim's house, during an open house between the afternoon wedding and evening reception. (Sam and Merelyn provided the goodies for the open house, too!)

The adults sipped lemonade and beer on the new deck. The kids — and there were dozens, it seemed — ran circles around the backyard, eventually lining up for a turn at bat, with cousin Mark Malone on the pitcher's mound.

Some tiny sluggers hit consistently, and some tiny toddlers could manage only to swing the bat without connecting with the ball, dizzying themselves into small heaps on the grass.

Soon, Audrey took her place in line, with gown, high heels and all. Everyone gathered to watch. Audrey, you see, is an even better softball player than she is a tennis player.

Though none of the children offered and some of the adults suggested it, Audrey did not take cuts for her turn at bat. She knows the rules of the playground.

Instead, she answered questions from awestruck little girls. Four-year-old Jessica from Chicago even invited her to a wedding this fall, where she will be the flower girl.

Soon it was Audrey's turn, and she did not disappoint. Elbow up, legs crouched, her eyes watched the ball — and she let it rip — the ball, that is.

The dress was fine, of course. For Merelyn Mallett had made it.

Sadness, joy, pride make community paper

What is a community newspaper? If any one were to look to the dictionary for a strict interpretation they'd be hard pressed to find the term "community newspaper."

Webster's has several definitions of community: "1. all the people living in a particular district, city, etc. 2. a group of people living together as a smaller social unit within a larger one, and having interests, work, etc. in common . . ." are the first two definitions.

Other words and phrases that jump out under the heading of community are similarity, likeness, ownership or participation, the condition of living together; friendly association, and fellowship.

The word newspaper really has only one definition: a publication regularly printed and distributed, containing news, opinion, advertisements and other items of general interest.

Just putting the meanings of those words together doesn't help much in answering the question: What is a community newspaper?

You need to put the definition of newspaper first . . . a publication with news, opinion, advertisement and other items of general interest . . . to people living in a particular area.

That, however, would be a clinical definition. It doesn't capture the true meaning of community newspaper.

It starts out with community. That common bond that cements its people together. It is not just community news and advertising. It is caring, it is compassionate. When the community mourns, the community newspaper reflects that grief. It is a part of the fiber that pulls a community together at a time of need, or loss.

When there are wrongs that need to be righted, the community newspaper feels that injustice, and is duty bound to demand justice.

The community newspaper not only reports that the local high-school football team has won a state championship, it shares in the victory.

In other words, it is not just a newspaper reporting on the community, it is a part of the community it reports on -- it reflects its community in values, in attitudes, on life.

That is why community newspapers, like this one, not only report on local taxation, but also the birth of new community members, the communion of one of its members to another in marriage, or when a child makes the honor roll.

We are proud of our achievements in the community, but not as proud as we are of our community's achievements.

What is a community newspaper? It is the pulse -- not the heart or life's blood -- of the community. Through the community newspaper you can feel the community's heart beat. You can feel it is alive and breathing.

And, that's what The Clarkston News is, and has been since 1929. DPR

Jim's Jottings

Just wondering

Jim Sherman

I see full page advertisements for various tennis shoes: Nike, Reebok, etc. Only they don't call them tennis shoes, they're 'athletic' shoes or something. All have laces. Each shoe lace is twice as long as it needs to be.

What I wonder about is why don't these brand-name producers use Velcro instead of laces? If it's good for kids, why not adults?

Who did the research on determining the size of Kleenex tissues? Why did they decide on 8.5-by-9-inch semi-squares?

Governor Engler promised to cut taxes while campaigning for office. With the help of the legislature our property taxes were slashed severely, and welcomed extremely by me.

President Clinton, with the help of fellow Democrats has raised taxes, some retroactively.

Why are both these men's public ratings in the dumps?

Taxes rate second to weather in the most cussed category by Americans. We can't do anything about the weather, and when something is done about taxes the opposition is tremendous on both sides. Are we fickle or what?

Side note: Here's columnist Dave Barry's definition of our country as a first-rate nation: A first-rate nation is "a nation that spends way more money than it has."

Another thing I wonder about is -- why aren't automatic door closers more popular as baby shower gifts?

Especially by mature adults with kids of their own? They know no child in the history of the world (or since doors were invented) has ever closed a door without being reminded, as in: "SHUT THE DOOR, YOU IDIOT CHILD!"

This suggestion is quickly followed by (assuming 'idiot child's' hearing has been restored: "SLAM THAT DOOR AGAIN AND I'LL KILL YOU!"

Side note 2: My favorite sport is pheasant hunting, which I haven't done in many years. The fall walk, the working dogs, the day away from the office.

This summer will go down in history as the Year of the Mosquito. No offense to the Chinese, please. It's just a fact: There are more mosquitos this year than any other year in history, or since mosquitos were invented inside the Kremlin.

But the good side is that I get just as big a thrill out of aiming my can of Raid and pressing the trigger as I did in bringing down a big ol' ringneck, assuming I hit the mosquito.

Wetlands and the environmental hucksters thereof are in the news again. Bill Clinton is advocating "replacement" wetlands. Oxford has one. To make a freeway ramp in south Oakland on a wetland the state allowed a swamp to be built in Oxford.

What I wonder about is, what happened to the stuff that grows in that deposited wetland? It's not in Oxford. Conclusion: Wetlands are vitally important, but what grows in them is unimportant to environmentalists.

About staff editorials

We at The Clarkston News realize that an important duty of a newspaper is to provide more than just the facts found in news stories.

Since we're out there uncovering the news, we get an inside look at the issues. In our staff editorials, we will give our opinions on those issues, just as other writing on this page — letters and columns — also offers opinions.

We leave the editorials unsigned because we've written them as a staff. Every week, we talk about the issues and take notes on everyone's opinions. Then one of us writes it and the rest of us change it until we're all satisfied.

While our opinions aren't always unanimous, our editorials reflect the majority views of the staff. If the staff splits evenly on an issue, we'll write two editorials on the subject.

We welcome your response to our views.

Letters to the editor

Column unfair

As long time readers and subscribers to "The Clarkston News," we feel it's our right and obligation to inform this newspaper when we feel they've erred or exceeded the boundaries of good journalism.

This letter is directed to Curt McAllister and his superiors who edit and publish "The Clarkston News." In regards to Curt's opinions under the title "Mishmash" and sub-titled "Don't milk a miracle," his comments were the most insensitive we have ever read.

To go through what the Lawrences did had to be one of the most awful and scariest things a parent can experience. After such a traumatic time in their life, it would be only natural to want to put this behind them and resume sort of normal life.

We are sure that is truly what they desired most. But something as miraculous as what happened to Allison is sure to draw national attention which it did.

The program you referred to, "How'd They Do That," focused its attention on all aspects of the story including the life saving procedure used, the medical personnel involved and the hospital just to name a few.

We have always thought some of the comments by Curt McAllister seemed to be arrogant and had a certain cockiness to them, but this time he went over the line. His comments were mean-spirited and show a complete lack of compassion for Allison and her family.

If ever there was a time to say nothing if you have nothing nice to say — this was it. Also, we can't believe someone else at the paper, especially his superiors, didn't inform Curt what an insensitive person these comments would make him look like.

Aside to Curt, until you walk a mile in someone else's shoes, maybe you should keep your comments to yourself. You owe the Lawrences and anybody who reads "The Clarkston News" an apology for your rude and insensitive remarks.

As for the Lawrences, don't let this one irresponsible person upset you. We applaud your courage and wish you all, especially Allison, all the best.

Heartfelt thanks

The week of Aug. 16-20, the Clarkston High School Marching Band students participated in Band Camp.

Unlike previous years, this year Band Camp took place on the high school campus, so the band could save its funds for the New Year's trip to London, England. Each day, about 200 students marched, played instruments and sweated their way through 12-hour days in sweltering heat.

Thanks to many helpful people, all 200 survived the grueling week. The students were exhausted but well cared for and very well fed!

As the mother of a band student, I speak for many when I extend my heartfelt gratitude to the many generous people who donated time, talent, patience and food: The Clarkston Band Boosters, Mr. Cliff Chapman and staff, and the six generous businesses in the area.

Terrific driving

Two Saturdays ago, my son, Gordon and I were talking with Dr. Irv Kernis, when we were abruptly interrupted by the sound of tires screeching, rolling hub caps and the wail of a terrified youth.

Upon arriving at the scene, it was apparent that the youthful biker was unharmed, but quite frightened. He was being reassured and comforted by his mother.

Apparently, the lad was crossing M-15 on his bike, pulling out into the path of an approaching truck. If it wasn't for the quick response of Dick Morgan, the driver, the boy surely would have been injured. To avoid him, Dick swerved up over the curb, onto the right-of-way.

Dick deserves our collective round of applause. Job well done.

Freedom from religion?

Catherine Passmore

Correct me if I'm wrong, but I believe the Constitution of the United States gives citizens the Freedom of Religion, not the Freedom from Religion.

According to area newspapers and my own church bulletin, the ACLU (the American Civil Liberties Union) claims that the annual student-led prayer time called "See You at the Pole" is unconstitutional.

The event has taken place around the nation since 1988 and is now happening in Africa, the former Soviet Union and Mexico. Students meet together at the school's flag pole before school begins and have a time of prayer.

The ACLU alleges that the event is held after school or during breaks and poses a conflict between church and state. They are trying to persuade public schools to discourage the event from happening on their school grounds.

To me, this is trying to keep religion and the expression of religion in public out of people's lives. Last year about 20 Clarkston students met at the high school to pray for each other, their friends, school, town and country.

I'll admit that this is a Christian event and that not everyone in Clarkston is a Christian or even believes in any sort of god. Taking that into consideration, I would have to go along with the ACLU if all students were forced to participate in the prayer time, regardless of their beliefs.

But no one is forced to participate in the prayer. If it offends them they can keep moving into the school.

Sometimes school is not the friendliest place, especially for students who are religious. Having the reassurance of the prayer to usher in the new school year could really help. For kids who think visualizing "friends" in English class is wrong; who leave parties because of drinking, drugs and sex; who flunk a test rather than cheat, it is nice to know that across the prayer circle is someone who is going through the same thing.

In a world where we daily see children with guns, crack pipes and children of their own — you'd think the sight of kids at prayer would be a relief.

State lifer law is a loser that needs changing

Jim Fitzgerald

Michigan and its governor and Legislature are justifiably portrayed as unusually cruel and pigheaded in the September issue of Rolling Stone. I don't mind saying I told you so. I love it.

The magazine's circulation department estimates 6.2 million readers from all over the world will be exposed to the article titled: "The State of Michigan vs. Gary Fannon - A Tragic Miscarriage of Justice Continues." Included are the addresses of Gov. John Engler and some legislators, along with the suggestion that readers write them urging the elimination of the law responsible for an incredible injustice.

I hope the mail pours. Only immense public pressure will persuade some gutless elected officials to do what's right, even at the risk of losing the support of a small but vocal segment of voters who think the only solution to the drug problem is to imprison a teenager until he dies.

Like me, readers of this column probably don't usually read Rolling Stone. You may feel uncomfortable on the same side of an argument as a magazine with a counterculture reputation. Relax. U.S. Attorney General Janet Reno agrees with Rolling Stone on cases like Fannon's. So do many federal judges. Heck, even Sen. Orrin Hatch, the tough-on-crime conservative Republican from Utah, questions the mandatory sentencing requirement that put Fannon in a cell forever.

Because I've written about Fannon several times, you may recall that more than six years ago, at age 18, he was sentenced to life with no chance for parole for his first offense, an aborted involvement in a comparatively minor drug conspiracy. The judge had no choice.

Lately there's been much publicity about the unfairness of mandatory sentences for drug offenses. Reno said: "It's so frustrating to find federal prisons full of nonviolent first offenders while three-time bank robbers get out after serving only half of their sentences."

U.S. District Judge Stewart Newblatt said: "Mandatory sentences deprive judges of the ability to be fair. I accept the concept of punishment, but the viciousness of our mandatory-sentencing policies apparently is not understood by the public."

Now get this: Newblatt, Reno, Hatch and others were talking about federal laws that mandate minimum sentences of, say, 10 or 20 years. In Michigan, that's a day at the beach. Ours is the only state that mandates life with no chance of parole for anyone convicted of having more than 650 grams (about 1.4 pounds) of cocaine or heroin.

About 150 people are imprisoned under our infamous "650-Lifer Law." Maybe some deserve it; Fannon doesn't. He was entrapped by an undercover cop who later was fired - but not prosecuted - for drug use. Fannon eventually backed out and was in a different state when the drug deal went down. He's already been locked up 6 1/2 years, more than many murderers serve. He should be freed today.

Engler could pardon Fannon, but his compassion is apparently tempered by his fear of appearing soft on crime. Sen. William Faust, D-Westland, however, plans to introduce legislation that would allow Fannon to be paroled. Faust told Rolling Stone:

"I know it's going to be an uphill battle . . . But I'm convinced that at least half the drug lifers just shouldn't be in there. Yes, some of them, like Gary, made stupid mistakes. But I've made mistakes. And there probably wouldn't be any legislators in the country if everyone was put in jail for stupid mistakes.

"To take away their whole life for a nonviolent crime, a first offense. That seems to me an injustice. It's just terribly wrong."

Amen. Ask your legislator to support the Faust bill.

Smart ways to save for child's college education

The Michigan Association of CPAs recommends that you begin saving for a child's education before he or she is out of the cradle.

If that hasn't been done and your child is a few years away from enrolling in college, CPAs say that with a rigorous savings plan you may be able to set aside the funds needed to pay for the tab of higher education.

How much is enough?

According to a college board survey, the average cost for one year at a four-year college or university for the 1992-93 academic year was about $6,000 for in-district students attending a public institution and about $15,000 for students attending a private school. This includes tuition, fees, room and board.

If college costs increase about 7 percent a year and your child enrolls in college 10 years from now, you can expect to pay anywhere from $50,000 to $125,000 or more for four years of college education.

Savings strategies

If your children are still very young, you could build a diversified portfolio that includes a combination of high-risk, high-yield investments, such as stocks, as well as some fixed-income instruments, such as bonds or certificates of deposit.

As you get closer to your child's college years, it's best to avoid high-risk investments and consider short-term, fixed-income instruments that offer you greater liquidity. Here are some saving vehicles to consider:

Mutual Funds enable you to invest in a variety of investments vehicles, such as stocks, options, government or state municipal bonds and money-market instruments. Because mutual funds offer a broad range of investment options — and risks — you can look for funds that suit your specific college savings needs.

Series EE U.S. Saving Bonds: Interest on bonds purchased in 1990 or later is free from federal income tax if the proceeds are used for certain educational expenses.

To be eligible for the tax exemption, the purchaser of the bonds has to be at least 24 years of age, and the bonds to the date you will begin paying college tuition bills. Interest from zero coupon municipal bonds is free from federal tax. It is generally free from state and city taxes as well. However, there is some degree of risk since municipal bond prices can fluctuate greatly.

U.S. Treasury zeros tend to have less risk, but the interest income is taxable currently, even though the holder does not receive any cash.

Bank Savings Plans for college are offered by many banks. One of the most popular is the College Sure CD offered by the College Savings Bank of Princeton, N.J. (800-888-2723).

The bank will provide an individualized projection of your college costs and recommend investment strategies based on your child's age and the type of college your child wishes to attend. Available nationwide, this is the only plan in the country that offers a plan indexed to college costs.

Whatever investment options you select, as your children get older, be sure to involve them in the savings process. Finally, CPAs emphasize that no matter how high your current income, establishing a college savings program is vital to your own future financial security.

The above information was provided by the Michigan Association of CPAs.

If college costs increase about 7 percent a year and your child enrolls in college 10 years from now, you can expect to pay anywhere from $50,000 to $125,000 or more for four years of college education.

proceeds from the sale of the bonds must be used to pay for the qualified higher educational expenses of either the purchaser, his or her spouse, or dependents.

The tax break phases out for married taxpayers filing jointly who have adjusted gross incomes of between $68,250 and $96,250 in 1993. For single taxpayers and heads of household filers, the phase-out range is $45,500 to $60,500.

Zero Coupon Bonds are useful devices for building a college fund because you can link the maturity of the

Sharing information benefits distant relations, too

BY VIRGINIA BLOCK

The Durand Atlas, 1817-1877, of Oakland County has always provided help to people with questions on family living here at anytime mentioned above, but accessing it was tedious until we found that an index did exist.

Now that the copy we obtained has been made more readable by meticulously going over the typewritten copy with a black pen, into the computer it goes. In many instances, the reference will include a thumbnail sketch of the entire family that includes parents of the subject (or person) named, as well as background or place of origin (i.e. state or native country).

This type of information helps tie together families, whose descendants still live in this community, and can complete adding many new lines to existing ones.

Such is the case for Patricia Younie of Seattle, Wash., whose query related to information on the wife of John Howarth, Mary E. Spencer.

Knowledge of the name of Mary's father, Joseph Montrose Spencer, will ring a bell for many of you tied to the Spencer lines. However, the Howarth lineage is furnishing many additional surnames.

The John Howarth that married Jennie Clark brought forth information from Marjorie Waite (cousin to Pamela) that John's sister was Florence Howarth Porritt. Children of John and Jennie were a son, Carroll (deceased), and daughters Mary Squires (deceased), Dorothy Wiltsie (deceased), Edith Liebaert of Rochester and Helen Fiebelkorn. Helen was a teacher in Lake Orion schools and raised her three children alone, after husband Ernest was killed in a fall from a scaffold while helping to build a new dairy barn on the Silver Bell Road farm of Russell Porritt, father of Marjorie.

Today these people are all able to help each other fill in missing parts of their families history, as well as leaving a legacy for their own future generations.

Yet another interesting piece of a puzzle is filled by learning that one of Ernest and Helen Fiebelkorn's children is the Ernest Fiebelkorn being sought by Wayne Rader of Lima, Ohio. While the Mormon Church holds the theory that in 10 generations we are all related to each other, we would agree that sharing may prove it.

We would add that for those who are first or second generation folks without ready-made histories, YOU can get there from here. It may just take digging deeper, but we'll give it a try.

Happy hunting!

Trout 101

By Bruce Stewart

The worm dances by on a trip with no arrival.
A stone fly nymph swims for dear life and wings.
Tea time on the little Sable.
A pleasant sinking as I sit in the silt and gray gravel.
A silent snap sends the fly as it flings.
Sleek and slender, a master since the Bible.
But why am I, always liable?

Under the willow's arms, behind the granite's tail.
An ampoule of adrenalin seeks a vein.
Maple-tainted waters give no way.
Each cast is it, a Cahill without fail.
Humbled once again, I tie in vain.
A key to the lock at the end of one's day.
Why must it always end this way?

Seclusion from man, a mink a welcome sight.
The wings of an eagle flair with the current.
Fisherman of the fly will never write their song.
But what could be a better wrong?

Bruce Stewart of Clinton Township formerly resided in Independence Township.

Philip R. Seaver Title Company

Joan Wummel, Office Manager

Buying a home is an important purchase. Once the deeds and mortgage documents are signed, the property is yours, so you think, but it may not be. Chances are, you are the owner, but a sure title is not simply having a deed in hand. A deed alone will not cancel prior "rights" others may have to your property—rights and claims you would never expect to exist.

When a title policy is issued through Philip R. Seaver Title Company, you can rest assured that your property is protected by the policy subject only to its terms. If a flaw in the title is discovered, the title company will defend the title as issued, at its own expense, and will correct or clear the title or will pay any loss incurred. Now that you may be considering refinancing your home, you'll need title insurance again, and the rates at Philip R. Seaver Title Company are very competitive in the area.

A low, one-time premium covers the entire cost for as long as ownership remains in your name. Protection of your property rests on the financial stability, professional integrity and responsible management of the title insurance company. So, select your title insurance as carefully as you would any other insurance. Protect yourself against loss due to title defects. Insist on an owner's title insurance policy through Philip R. Seaver Title Company, located in Clarkston at 6751 Dixie Highway. Phone 625-6100 for additional information today.

Boehringer & Lazarus, DDS, MS

William E. Boehringer, DDS, MS • John A. Lazarus, DDS, MS

Discovering that you need braces or other orthodontic treatment may be frightening. Helping patients to overcome such anxieties, Dr. William Boehringer and Dr. John Lazarus offer you professional orthodontic care. Early examination of your child's teeth can uncover existing or potential conditions that may respond well to interceptive orthodontic treatment. This may eliminate the necessity and expense of full orthodontic care during the teen years or adult years.

Once the determination is made that you or your child require orthodontic services, Dr. Boehringer and Dr. Lazarus will discuss proposed treatment plans and projected fees prior to initiating any procedures. They will work closely with your family dentist to provide an overall dental health care program. You're never too old to wear braces. Crowded teeth are harder to clean, which may cause tooth decay and gum disease. The services here include all aspects of orthodontics from pre-counseling and assessment through follow-up care as well as dentofacial, orthopedic and TMJ treatment.

Striving to improve the appearance of your teeth and facial structure, Dr. William Boehringer and Dr. John Lazarus provide a warm and friendly atmosphere in which to receive your treatments. Their office is located in Waterford at 4250 Pontiac Lake Road (near M-59, across from Meijer's), phone 674-3136, and Saturday and evening hours are available for your convenience. Make an appointment soon for an initial consultation.

Colts buck Wolves in season opener, 16-13

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Despite the valiant efforts of their defense and senior tailback Joe Davis, the Clarkston varsity football team fell to Troy last Friday.

The Colts edged the Wolves 16-13, in a contest that could have gone either way.

"I felt we played pretty well, especially the defense," said Clarkston coach Kurt Richardson. "A couple of breaks and we could've won the game."

After a scoreless first quarter, Troy was the first to draw blood. Clarkston quarterback Kevin Dankert was intercepted by the Colts' David Cheek, who returned the errant pass to Troy's 47 yard line. Seventeen plays and 53 yards later, running back E.J. Howell barreled in from the two-yard line.

Troy held the Wolves on the next series of downs, before capitalizing on a short punt. Again, the Colts were knocking on the door.

However, Howell fumbled on Clarkston's 24-yard line and the ball was picked up by linebacker Mark Kulka who returned it to Troy's 38. From there, the Wolves relied on the pinballing moves of Davis, who eventually scored from five yards away.

The Wolves failed to tie the score at seven apiece, when kicker Brian Phipps shanked the extra point.

Trailing 7-6, with less than a minute to go, Richardson instructed Phipps to squib kick the ball, so Troy couldn't set up a return. The Colts recovered the line-drive kick on their own 42. Subsequently, quarterback Brian Kipke hit Cheek with a 28-yard strike, putting Troy in field goal range for Paul Boehms.

With little distance to spare, he stroked a 45-yard kick to end the half.

The second half saw the two teams play to a stalemate until Davis broke off a 43-yard touchdown run early in the fourth quarter. Davis' jaunt put the Wolves up 13-10, following Phipps' successful extra point shot.

However, Troy scored on the ensuing possession to lead 16-13. After that, Troy's defense stiffened, preventing the Wolves from ever mounting another comeback.

Despite the loss, Richardson credited his defense for keeping the Wolves in the game. He also lauded Davis, who churned up 156 yards on the ground and two touchdowns.

TROY'S E.J. Howell bulls his way for some hard-earned yards against Clarkston Friday night. The Colts nipped the Wolves 16-13 to open the 1993 gridiron campaign. (Photo by Curt McAllister)

"Joe had a great game," Richardson said. "I was really surprised to see him do so well because he's never shown us that type of ability in either practices or scrimmages."

Richardson said his squad needs to improve its passing game, which only produced 29 yards through the air. Unfortunately, for the Wolves and Dankert, the offense will be missing all-GOAL wide receiver Jeremy Fife for another game.

He broke his foot in a basketball mishap during the summer.

"I don't know when he'll be back," lamented Richardson, "but it won't be soon enough."

Looking ahead to their next opponent, Lansing Sexton, Richardson sees another encounter with a big team.

"They traditionally field big teams, who are usually among the best in the Lansing area," he said. "They got beat by Utica Eisenhower last week, but Utica is the number one team in the state."

"I'd say they're bigger than Troy, but slower," Richardson said. "Regardless, they'll be tough to beat."

Wint golf outing scheduled for Sept. 24

Enjoy a day of golf and good times during the Lewis E. Wint Memorial Golf Outing on Friday, Sept. 24, at the Springfield Oaks Golf Course.

The four-person scramble event, held in memory of the former Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission chairman, will offer 18 holes of scratch play for men and women of all skill levels.

Festivities include a pre-tournament lunch at 11:30 a.m., tee-off at 1 p.m., cocktails at 6 p.m. and dinner and awards ceremony at 7 p.m.

Four holes will offer prizes for a hole-in-one with a $10,000 cash prized on hole number 17. Closest-to-the-pin and longest drive contests will also take place.

The $100 per person entry fee includes lunch, dinner, cocktails and a golf cart. Dinner guests are charged only $30 per person. The deadline for golf registration is Wednesday, Sept. 15.

Winning team members will have their names engraved on a tournament trophy which will be on permanent display at Springfield Oaks. Participants will also be eligible for a variety of door prizes.

The inaugural event is sponsored by the Oakland Parks Foundation, in cooperation with the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission and the Clarkston Rotary Club.

Proceeds will benefit the Lewis E. Wint Memorial Fund for the expansion of the Independence Oaks Nature Center, Independence Township.

Future expansion of the current Nature Center will include the addition of exhibit, assembly and educational areas. Dedicated in 1985, the Nature Center has accommodated more than 240,000 nature lovers and 30,000 children in its Environmental Awareness Program.

The facility will be renamed the Lewis E. Wint Nature Center upon its completion in 1995.

Lewis E. Wint served on the Oakland County Parks' Board of Commissioners 18 years, including 15 as chairman, and was a founding member of the Oakland Parks Foundation.

The Clarkston resident was the recipient of the United Way "Heart of Gold" award in 1985 and was an active member of the Clarkston Rotary Club and other community organizations.

He was the founder and proprietor of Lewis E. Wint and Son Trust 100 Funeral Home in Clarkston.

The Springfield Oaks Golf Course is located on Andersonville Road, near Hall Road, Springfield Township. For more outing information, call 335-2771 or 858-1684.

CC teams win tri-meet

The Clarkston cross country teams opened their seasons with wins over Lapeer East and West high schools Sept. 1.

The boys' team scored 20 points to outdistance the Eagles (35) and 15 points to knock off the Panthers (47).

East's Matt Holen won the 3.1-mile race in a time of 19 minutes and 13 seconds, but the host Wolves nailed down the next five spots. Curt Duca took second place with a time of 19:16, followed by teammates Jeff Dengate (19:16), Jeremy Lafferty (19:26), Steve Anderson (19:29) and Matt Warner (19:44).

The girls' squad also rolled with 23 points against East (33) and 15 points against West (50).

The Wolves were paced by all-stater Leah Scharl as she defeated a field of 18 runners in 22 minutes, nine seconds. Teammate Anna Vandermeer took second place with a time of 23 minutes, 39 seconds.

Clarkston also received top-10 performances from Stefanie Burklow (fifth), Stacie Iezzi (sixth), Erin Schillenn (ninth) and Stacy Patterson (tenth).

The Wolves host Fenton on Friday, Sept. 10.

Kickers' streak hits four

The Clarkston varsity soccer team pushed its unbeaten streak to four with a win over Bloomfield Hills Andover Sept. 2.

The Wolves spanked Andover 4-2, with goals from J.R. Kirk, Brian Bovee, Tony Sartor and Ray Torrance. Goalie Shane Collier also notched his fourth win of the season.

Prior to this victory, Clarkston had beaten non-league foes Milford, Lakeland and West Bloomfield. This week, Clarkston will be engaged in the 16-team Springfield Christian Academy Labor Day Soccer Invitational.

Local teens win Macker

A trio of teams from Clarkston took top honors at the Gus Macker 3-on-3 tournament played at Oakland University two weeks ago.

The winning squads included the "Clarkston Wolves," the "4 Most Wanted" and "Acadia".

The Clarkston Wolves consisted of Jason Frack, 14; Mike Maitrott, 13; Mark Endreszl, 14; and Dan Neubeck, 13.

The 4 Most Wanted was comprised of J.R. Kirk, 16; Shane Collier, 16; and Rick Volmer, 17.

Acadia consisted of Jeff Cumberworth, 14; Dane Fife, 14; Tim Wasilk, 15; and Mack Brown, 15.

Recreation Roundup

HELP FOR YOUR HOUND

Know the basics of first aid for your animal. It's especially important, if you are a hunter, to be prepared when working your hunting dog in the field. Learn what to do if an accident, such as a broken leg or gunshot wound, happens to your dog. This seminar demonstrates how to safely gain control over the injured animal and how to transport it safely. The class is open to anyone interested in first aid for their dog, not just hunters. Program date is Thursday, Sept. 16, 7-8:30 p.m. or Saturday, Sept. 18, 4 to 5:30 p.m. Cost is $2 per resident/$4 per non-resident. Pre-registration deadline is Tuesday, Sept. 14, at the parks and recreation department.

MEN' 30 & OVER 4-ON-4 BASKETBALL LEAGUE

Independence Township Parks and Recreation offers its first ever "4 on 4" basketball league. The two courts at Sashabaw Junior High are perfect for full-court 4-on-4: not too long, not too short, but ideal for a great workout. Participants must turn 30 by Feb. 15, 1994. Registration by teams, not individuals, no later than Sept. 30. Games are played on Thursdays, beginning Oct. 7, with a seven-game schedule plus playoffs. Game times are 8-10 p.m. Sponsor fee is $100; player fee is $14 for residents/$24 for non-residents; plus $18 per team, per game for officials.

FOR MORE INFORMATION

Call 625-8223 or stop by the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston. The office is open 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Striding for second

CLARKSTON'S Curt Duca took second place at a recent cross country meet against Lapeer East and West high schools. His time of 19 minutes, 16 seconds helped propel the Wolves past the Panthers and Eagles. The CHS girls' team was also victorious in the Sept. 1 tri-meet. (Photo by Curt McAllister)

Golf team tops Kettering

The Clarkston varsity golf team got off to a rousing seasonal start by defeating Waterford Kettering Aug. 31.

The Wolves topped the Captains 161-176 at the Spring Lake Country Club, Independence Township. Clarkston was led by Jayson Buchmann who shot a meet-best 38 on the 36-par course.

Teammate Myles Mosher recorded a 40, while Jeremy Jensen chipped in with a 41. Ryan Karlstrom and Corey Bildstein also shot 42s, which equaled the best score for Kettering.

Wolves 42-40, dropping Clarkston's record to 2-1.

Rochester dominated the contest's first quarter by holding CHS to only two points, as they poured in 13. The second quarter was a virtual deadlock, 6-6, as both teams' defenses buckled down.

The third quarter saw the Wolves surge back as they outscored the Falcons 14-6, reducing the deficit to just three points. The final stanza proved to be a dog-fight as the Falcons saw Clarkston nail a trio of three-point shots.

However, it just wasn't enough as Clarkston fell two points shy of sending the game into overtime.

CHS was paced by Anne Brueck who led all scorers with 18 points, including four three pointers. Teammates Shawna Greene and Erin Patterson added nine points in the effort.

Clarkston's next game is Thursday, Sept. 9 at Lapeer West.

Clinic slated

A fall cheerleading clinic sponsored by the Clarkston varsity and J.V. cheer teams has been scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 18.

All participants will be taught the fundamentals of chants, stunts, jumps, mounts and cheers.

The clinic is slated to run from 8:45 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the CHS gym. Girls of all ages are welcome.

The cost of the camp is $6 per person and all participants must wear a t-shirt, shorts and tennis shoes. All long hair must be kept in a ponytail.

Cheerleaders are asked to bring a sack lunch and box drink to the camp.

Clarkston Chief and eighth- and ninth-grade cheerleaders are encouraged to sign up. For more information, call 623-0958 after 6 p.m.

'94 baseball tryouts set

The Orion A's, a member of the North Oakland Federation Baseball League, is holding try-outs for any 15-year-olds interested in playing during the '94 campaign.

The team seeks players from its representative playing areas, which include: Clarkston, Lake Orion, Brandon, Oxford and Rochester.

Try-outs are slated for Sept. 18 and 19 and Oct. 2 and 3. They begin at 11 a.m. at the Orion Township Park, 2525 Joslyn Road.

This competitive traveling teams reserves the right to cut any player during try-outs. For more information, call Curt Adkins at 628-0899.

Student takes third in 'best bagger' competition

JEFF PRUETT competes in the Best Bagger Competition, while other Kroger employees around the state look on. Pruett placed third in the competition.

Jeff Pruett, a 20-year-old Clarkston-area resident, won a prize in a recent grocery store competition.

Pruett placed third and won a full-size, two-person boat in the recently held 1993 Kroger Best Bagger Competition.

A recent graduate of Clarkston High School, Pruett has worked at Kroger since February and plans to attend Oakland Community College this fall to study art.

"I really enjoy working at Kroger," he said. "The people are great, and the money lets me do things I wouldn't be able to do otherwise."

Pruett and six other finalists beat out thousands of Kroger baggers throughout Michigan, advancing to the statewide competition after winning both their individual store and zone competitions.

The seven contestants were judged on five criteria: speed, organization, efficiency, weight distribution and appearance/attitude.

Good news report

Need to solve our nation's spiritual illiteracy

The Rev. Glen Currie

School bells are ringing again! Once again we focus our attention on the importance of our children getting a good education.

More and more, we recognize that if our nation is going to compete in the global market and if our kids ever hope to have good jobs, then they must have a good education. Parents who recognize this are getting more involved in their child's education and are making sure their kids stay in school and do their homework.

Yet there is a crisis in education. This crisis is in the spiritual education and moral development of our children.

Many parents who would never allow their kids to skip school do not see the importance of making sure their kids attend Sunday school and church. Many parents see this as only optional. As a result, our nation has become spiritually illiterate.

Crime, drug addiction, juvenile delinquency, and suicide are rising at an alarming rate among the nation's youth. I believe that is directly linked to the lack of spiritual training. One of the prophets in the Old Testament lamented about this same problem in Israel a few years before she fell to the Assyrians: "My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge" (Hosea 4:6).

The answer to this problem is to make sure our children receive Biblical education in the home and at church. Parents are admonished in the Bible to, "Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it" (Proverbs 22:6). Parents are also exhorted to "bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord" (Ephesians 6:4).

Bible training is so important because the Bible is inspired by God and is "profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works" (II Timothy 3:16-17).

A study has revealed that the average U.S. child, by the time he or she reaches age 65, will have spent 9 years of life watching TV. Even if this person goes to Sunday school every week during those years, he or she still will have spent only four months studying the Bible. That's a very disturbing thought.

Don't neglect the importance of your child's spiritual education. I believe it is more important than a secular education. A proper spiritual education will prepare your child for eternal life (John 3:16).

This Sunday, when you are tempted to sleep in and skip church or plan some activity in place of church, remember that the training you and your child will miss is critical to spiritual development.

The Rev. Glen Currie, pastor of Maranatha Baptist Church, may be contacted by writing to him at: 5790 Flemings Lake Road, Clarkston, MI 48348.

10 free trees offered by Arbor Day Foundation

Ten free trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during September.

The free trees are part of the non-profit Foundation's Trees for America campaign.

The 10 trees are the Sugar Maple, White Flowering Dogwood, Pin Oak, White Pine, Red Maple, Birch, American Redbud, Silver Maple, Red Oak, and Colorado Blue Spruce.

"These trees were selected to provide benefits every season of the year: lovely spring flowers, cool summer shade, spectacular autumn colors, and winter berries and nesting sites for songbirds," said John Rosenow, the Foundation's executive director.

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between Oct. 15 and Dec. 10 with enclosed planting instructions. The 6- to 12-inch trees are guaranteed to grow, or they will be replaced free of charge.

Members also receive a subscription to the Foundation's news magazine, Arbor Day, which includes regular features about tree planting and care.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to Ten Trees, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Ave., Nebraska City, NE 68410, by Sept. 30.

Area woman named Michigan Bell's 'Good Citizen'

Linda Hernandez works up quite a sweat at the Azteca Athletic Club in Pontiac, but not from boxing. Raising money for the neighborhood gym is what gets the Clarkston-area resident's heart pumping.

And Michigan Bell recently gave her its Good Citizen of the Month Award for her volunteer efforts. She is a switching equipment technician for the company in Waterford.

The club provides children ages 8-19 a place to hone their athletic skills and encouragement to keep up their studies.

"The gym prides itself on being a haven for children searching for guidance," Hernandez said. In order to use the gym, youngsters must be drug-free and maintain at least a C average.

Many of the gym's participants have gone on to major universities. One student recently graduated from the U.S. Military Academy in West Point, N.Y.

Hernandez began working with the organization about six years ago. She said she was impressed by the gym's founders, Yolanda and Ruben Flores, and their dedication to children who often have no one else to turn to.

"I usually put in about 12 hours a week at the gym," Hernandez said. "But Ruben Flores has been coaching every night after work for 25 years. He's the one who deserves all the credit."

She joined the board of directors two years ago and has organized fund-raising events, award banquets, golf outings and tutoring sessions.

Her efforts now are dedicated to renovating the building and creating a much-needed addition.

"My dream is to build a new room where kids can

LINDA Hernandez used her $100 award from Michigan Bell to buy paint and supplies for the Azteca Athletic Club, where she volunteers about 12 hours a week.

Cool storage keeps apple pickin's fresh

Apple season is upon us, and with such an abundance right now, many people purchase bushels at a time.

Keeping apples fresh once home is important to prolong their wonderful flavor and great nutritional benefits, according to Sylvia Treitman, home economist for the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service.

All apples continue to ripen once picked and kept at room temperature. So, if the apples you buy are too firm or too sour, you may want to keep them out for one or two days. Once an apple is ripe, it should be kept in a plastic bag in the refrigerator.

If you have too many apples to store and not enough refrigeration space, here are some alternate ways to help prolong the life of your apples:

- Find a place in your home that stays between 32 and 45 degrees, such as a porch or garage.

- Wrap each apple in crumpled tissue or paper and pack into a large container such as a plastic garbage can with a tight lid.

- Don't open container frequently, but when you do, pull out ones that have begun to soften.

- Apples can be kept anywhere from two to six months this way, depending on the temperature and humidity. The closer to 32 degree the better.

For ideas on using apples or other information on food and nutrition, call The Food and Nutrition Hotline weekdays, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 858-0904.

Garden Corner

Need more garden space? Break new ground in fall

Whether you want to start a new garden next spring or enlarge your current plot, this fall is the time to break new ground.

Mary McLellan, master gardener coordinator at Michigan State University, says the first step is getting rid of grass.

"Don't just till it under," she advises. "It will keep coming back. Remove the sod entirely, or kill the grass by covering it with plastic, old carpet, tar paper or some similar material, or by using a herbicide such as Roundup — more than once, if necessary."

After the grass is gone, spade or till the soil once or twice to bring up weed seeds that have been lying dormant there. Those that germinate now will be killed by subsequent tilling or winter cold and so won't be around to plague you next year.

Removing the sod and working the soil in the fall will also reduce problems with white grubs — those fat, C-shaped larvae that grow up to be June beetles. White grubs ordinarily feed on grass roots, McLellan explains.

When sod is converted to garden in the spring, they switch, too, and feed on vegetable or flower roots. Preparing the garden spot in the fall eliminates some grubs outright and leaves others exposed to predation by birds and to killing cold temperatures.

As long as you're working the soil, consider taking a sample and having a soil test run, McLellan suggests. Your county cooperative extension service office has information. If a soil test shows your garden needs liming, you can do that now, too.

Preparing the soil in the fall, whether in a new garden or an existing plot, may enable you to get an earlier start next year.

"Especially if your garden soil is slow to dry out in the spring, cleaning up debris and preparing a seedbed in the fall may enable you to take advantage of decent weather in early spring to plant cool-weather crops," she

"Don't just till it under. It will keep coming back. Remove the sod entirely."

Mary McLellan

says.

"If you have to wait until the soil is dry enough to till or plow in the spring, you may be planting your early crops one day and your warm-weather crops the next."

The above information was provided by Michigan State University's Outreach Communications. For more information, call 517-336-1555.

Counseling office opens in downtown Clarkston

With the close of the Consortium for Human Development's Clarkston-area office, a new counseling office has opened in downtown Clarkston.

The Makenzie Counseling Group, named after one of the partner's 10-month-old daughter, plans to continue the Consortium's services in the area.

The Consortium — a mental health counseling clinic formerly serving the Clarkston area and northern Oakland County for the past 20 years — closed its Sashabaw Road office earlier this month when officials condensed three offices into one.

Opening an office at 39 S. Main St. are: Perry Williams, who served as vice president of operations at the Consortium, and his partner, Susan Einheuser, a University of Michigan graduate. The partners both live in the area and serve patients from the area.

Williams said the small size of Makenzie Counseling Group will lend the personal approach not always found in the atmosphere of a larger clinic.

The Makenzie Counseling Group provides traditional counseling services, including the diagnoses and treatment of more serious mental disorders, which require medication and/or psychiatric treatment.

It also offers small-group interaction in the form of Attention Deficit Hyperactive Disorder (ADHD) support groups, Christian and women's support groups, and self-esteem-building groups with a focus on adolescents and children.

The REACH program was founded by Williams, an experienced mountain climber. It affords individuals the experience of outdoor hiking and mountain climbing in an effort to strengthen tangible skills, while gaining an increased awareness of the power of nature to heal emotional stresses and difficulties in life.

The ADHD counseling and group interactions — founded by Einheuser — provide a support system for children and adults experiencing this disorder. They also offer education and insight to the families coping with this condition.

The primary focus of Makenzie Counseling Group is to help people from all walks of life in attaining personal goals and desires in a positive, healthy manner.

Traffic safety programs, academic counseling — including private tutoring — and educational seminars on the roles of proper nutrition, spiritual strength and human support systems also are offered.

With the high prevalence of suicide, drug abuse and divorce in this country, Williams and Einheuser said they believe it's never too late to reach out for professional, confidential and compassionate assistance — which is exactly what they offer.

New surgical practice

Dr. Earle W. Spohn Jr.

Since the closing of Detroit Osteopathic Hospital, Dr. Earle W. Spohn Jr. has opened a new surgical practice in the Clarkston Professional Building, M-15, Independence Township.

Spohn has been in surgical practice for 20 years. He is board certified and is trained in all forms of general surgery as well as laparoscopic surgery.

Spohn, an osteopathic physician, subscribes to the holistic approach to surgical practice. He performs minor surgeries in the office setting and is on staff at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital and the North Oakland Medical Center for major surgical procedures.

Inspection honors

Chateau Land Development Co. named a Clarkston-area resident a winner in Oakland County during its 1993 Annual Inspection Awards for its manufactured home communities.

David Chynoweth accepted the award, which was given based on a rating on improvements over previous years and overall appearance of the community, its facilities and home sites.

Public invited to puppet show

Not only is the Independence Township Library a place to check out books, it has puppets too.

Over fifty puppets have been donated by the Clarkston Community Women's Club in honor of Alethea Rose, a long-time resident and selfless volunteer.

This donation is part of the Women's Club continuing support of the library. The puppets will be hung on a designated wall, where they can be checked out by the public.

Small gift puppets will be given to children attending the "The Music Lady," Rita Kirsch's musical puppet show on Saturday, Sept. 11. The show runs from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The event is free and refreshments will be served. All children under the age of 3 must have an adult sit with them.

For more information, call Anne Rose at 625-2464.

Greyhound finds new life with Clarkston family

BY SARAH R. GLASS

A new celebrity lives in the Village of Clarkston these days, recently retired from his days in the fast lane.

He resides with the Harthunses on Clarkston Road. You may have seen him proudly leading Herb and Alma around town. Or maybe you've spotted him at Clarkston High School, making use of the track for exercise.

His arrogant demeanor, beautiful dark eyes and golden brown fur make him easy to spot.

Fur, you ask? Yes! Major is a 4-year-old greyhound, recently adopted by the Harthuns family through The Michigan Greyhound Connection. You may have heard of the plight of these wonderful animals, but until you have contact with one of them, you don't know what a tragedy their destruction is.

Racing greyhounds are wonderful animals and truly terrific pets. By nature, these animals are extremely affectionate, sensitive and shy. Their gentleness makes them an ideal pet, even with children or for older adults. They are blissfully happy just lying beside their owners, and they love to be petted and coddled.

Because their affectionate nature has been so suppressed by lack of human contact during their running days, the dogs really love attention and return it tenfold. It's important to remember that these dogs know three things before they are adopted: their crate, their trainer and how to run.

Greyhounds are much more sensitive to environmental toxins than other dogs because of their lack of body fat. Materials such as red dyes, rawhide chew toys containing formaldehyde and artificial flavorings must be avoided. Their skin is very tender and cuts and bruises easily.

In addition, greyhounds are a "sight hound," which means they spot their target by sight and will chase it until caught. They cannot be tethered or allowed to run loose for fear of self injury. To be allowed to run loose, they must have an enclosed area. Even though greyhounds are tall, they are not jumpers, so fencing doesn't have to be very high. A 4- or 5-foot-high fence encloses them just as well as an 8-foot-high fence.

And it's easy to adopt a lovable dog such as Major — the Greyhound Connection takes care of that.

The adoption process matches each animal to its new family with as much care as possible. For instance, because the Harthunses have a cat, The Michigan Greyhound Connection "cat tested" Major to make sure that he was neither afraid nor aggressive toward cats. He was also checked to make sure that he got along with children and other dogs.

Each adopting family is also carefully screened to make sure that each animal will live in a loving, caring, non-abusive environment.

Right now, Major is experiencing the "puppy stage" he was never allowed to have as a pup — quite an experience for the Harthunses.

When a 4-year-old, fully grown, 80-pound dog with 4-foot legs starts to act like a puppy, there's only one thing to do — get out of the way.

Alma says that a more appropriate name for him would have been "Emmett," as in Emmett Kelly, because Major is such a clown. When he goes through his antics, you would think he has 16 legs with four feet at the end of each one.

Yet as big as he is and as klutzy as he may seem, he has not damaged anything in the Harthunses' home. Not destructive in the least, he likes to carry things and will bring you a shoe or a purse or his blanket or a toy and then run off to bring something else.

Major, and greyhounds in general, enjoy playing with small stuffed animals and other soft toys that they can toss and catch. Needless to say, while going through the adjustment period, there isn't much you can leave lying around. It isn't much different from any other puppy except that Major can reach the tops of counters and tables without a problem.

One big advantage in adopting a greyhound is the dog's crate training. Major has made the transition from living in a cage to living in a house without a hitch. The Harthunses have had no problems with messes in the house. Because of his training, he knows when it's time to "take care of business" and does not leave "presents" for others to clean up.

So those of you who have seen Major at the high school track may rest easy — any messes you may find in the vicinity were not left by Major. And besides, Herb always carries a shovel and a garbage bag ... just in case.

Major appeared with me in Clarkston's Labor Day Parade on Monday. If you saw us, don't be alarmed by the "battle scars" he still wears. These were received before he arrived to live out his retirement with the tender love and care of his adopted family.

As greyhounds go, Major wasn't one of the lucky ones. He had to wear a metal muzzle. And because he is a large male, he has many calluses and scars from living in too small of a crate. With care and attention, most of these will disappear, and in a few months he will be much sleeker and healthier, unrecognizable from his adoption appearance.

If you're interested in learning more about these wonderful animals, please don't hesitate to call The Michigan Greyhound Connection or the Harthunses to get acquainted with Major (see related story). You won't regret it.

Sarah R. Glass, who was raised in the Clarkston area, is the daughter of Herb and Alma Harthuns of Clarkston.

Thousands of racers can be adopted

Every year, up to 50,000 greyhounds are killed if they become too slow to race, can't be used in breeding, or show no potential to race.

Other retired racers are sold to research laboratories, and a small but growing minority are adopted into families.

Greyhounds who have been bred to race begin their training early. If they show no aggression or are slow by the age of 17 months, the dogs are disposed. In an article about greyhounds, Hugh Geoghegan, director of the Greyhound Rescue Association in Massachusetts, said about 80 percent of the puppies born for racing never make it to the track.

If the dogs do race, they are classified according to speed. If the dog becomes too slow, it is killed or sold. Most dogs retire before age 4.

Dogs that are rescued from the track and adopted by families usually have some sort of rehabilitation. Since the dogs are used to living in a crate, they must get acquainted with homes and the unusual things inside, such as stairs, mirrors and rugs.

The first month of the adoption is a getting-acquainted period, where the dog may act like a puppy. But they are docile in the home and can be trained to live with small animals, according to greyhound adoption officials.

Families who would like to adopt a greyhound must meet stringent requirements. They must learn the foods the dogs eat, where the dogs must sleep, and how to care for the dogs when they are outside.

For more information about adopting a retired greyhound, call the Michigan Greyhound Connection at 1-800-398-4DOG.

10-year reunion set

The Clarkston High School Class of 1983 has scheduled its reunion for Saturday, Oct. 2.

The 10-year event will be held at Alley Oop's Restaurant, Pontiac, from 7:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tickets are $30 per person.

The Class of '83 will also be holding an informal gathering Oct. 1 at Clarkston's Homecoming football game. Alumni are encouraged to attend at this pre-reunion party.

For reunion or registration information, call Michelle Phaup at 625-1000 or Sandy Rice at 668-1266 or Martha Huttenlocher at 399-0753.

Obituaries

Esta Mae Barnard

Esta Mae Barnard, 84, of Waterford died Sept. 1, 1993. She was a member of the First Baptist Church of Elfers, Fla., and was a secretary for Waterford Schools, with 24 years of service, retiring in 1969.

Mrs. Barnard was preceded in death by her husband, William; and brothers, Oren and Lloyd.

She is survived by her children, Robert and his wife Della of Florida, William and his wife Carlye of Davisburg, and Roland of Clarkston; 16 grandchildren; 18 great-grandchildren; and sister, Alethea Beebe of Rochester.

The funeral was Sept. 4 at the Lewis W. Wint and Son TRUST 100 Funeral Home, Clarkston, with the Rev. James C. Berg officiating. Burial was at Lake Worth Memorial Gardens, Lake Worth, Fla.

William C. Gugel

William C. "Barney" Gugel, 80, of Clarkston died Sept. 6, 1993. He was a veteran of World War II, having served in the 27th Fighter Group 9th Air Force.

He worked the majority of his life as a photo engraver at Wayne Colorplate and was a member of IPEU. Barney was an all-city and all-state halfback for Cooley High School, Detroit.

Mr. Gugel was preceded in death by his wives, June M. and Jane E.

He is survived by his daughter, Barbara and her husband Gary Zabel of Clarkston; grandchildren, Michael, Matthew and Paul Zabel; and brother, Robert and his wife Gladys Gugel of Florida.

The funeral was planned for 11 a.m. Wednesday, Sept. 8, at the Lewis E. Wint and Son TRUST 100 Funeral Home, Clarkston, with the Rev. Tom Struck officiating. Burial was at Glen Eden Cemetery.

Memorial tributes may be made to the Hospice of Southeastern Michigan or the Michigan Animal Rescue League.

Community Education at a glance

Fall registration

Registration for high school completion classes and adult enrichment classes continues at the Clarkston Community Education Center 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

High school completion students should call 674-0993 to make an appointment with an academic advisor. Classes begin the week of Sept. 15. If you haven't received a fall 1993 Community Education brochure, call or stop by the community education center.

Fitness Factory aerobics

This class features low impact—no bounce—with soft and slow movement to trim and tone and strong movement to burn fat. Unlimited attendance is optional up to four times a week. Ten-week low-impact classes meet 6:30-7:30 p.m. Tuesday/Thursday, beginning Sept. 14, at Pine Knob Elementary (Sashabaw Road). High/low combination meets 6:30-7:30 p.m. Monday/Wednesday, beginning Sept. 13, at Bailey Lake Elementary (Pine Knob Road). Fee is $49.

Builders License Seminar

Designed for the candidate who is planning to take the State Builder's License Exam, the course covers Builder's State Law, rules, regulations, construction, Lien Act, and all phases of residential building requirements. It is not necessary to be a candidate for the exam to take this program. Materials included in class fee. The eight-session course takes place 6:30-9:30 p.m. Wednesdays, beginning Sept. 15, at Sashabaw Middle School. Class fee is $155.

Microsoft Works on the Macintosh

Class teaches basic word processing and data base skills. The course also covers how to integrate the two programs together to create personalized letters, documents, address files, inventory lists, personalized letterheads and more. Prerequisite: typing or keyboarding skills. The five-session course takes place 6-9 p.m. Wednesdays, beginning Sept. 15, at the Oakland Technical Center-Northwest Campus. The $78 class fee includes books.

Woodcarving and whittling

This course gives step-by-step guidance in carving your own animals and advances students to relief carving. It covers types of wood and tool sharpening and teaches how to carve a whale, owl, fox, bird and a relief carving. Students furnish their own tools but should not purchase them until after the first class. The 10-session class takes place 6:30-9:30 p.m. Wednesdays, beginning Sept. 15, at Sashabaw Middle School. Class fee is $54.

'Clay Critter' jewelry

Learn to make unique "critters" out of Polymer clay. Students go home with a finished piece of jewelry. The fun projects are on display at the Clarkston Community Education Center. The class takes place 6:30-9:30 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 14, at Sashabaw Middle School. Class fee is $15; supply fee is $10.

Personal power, positive self-esteem

Bill Thompson of Perfect Solutions teaches how to gain freedom from a negative past, freedom from self-imposed limitations of the present and freedom to self-actualize in the days to come. The four-session course takes place 7-9 p.m. Thursdays, beginning Sept. 30, at Sashabaw Middle School. Fee is $42.

For more information

Clarkston Community Schools Department of Community Education operates out of a building at 5275 Maybee Road, Independence Township. To register, to obtain a brochure, or for more information, call 674-0993. Visa or Mastercard may be used to pay enrichment class fees.

Engagement

Brian David Campbell proposed to Deborah Anne Petrick while gliding over Rochester in a hot air balloon recently. Deborah, daughter of Fredrick and Doris Petrick of Warren, graduated from Sterling Heights High School. Brian, son of Bruce and Betty Campbell of Clarkston, is a 1985 Clarkston High School graduate. Both hold bachelor of science degrees from Lawrence Technological University, Southfield. The bride-elect's degree is in mechanical engineering. She is employed by General Motors and is working in Montreal. The groom elect's degree is in business administration. He is employed by Allied Communications in Southfield. Their wedding date is set for November 1993.

Samuel, Bultema unite in marriage

Beth Marie Samuel of Davisburg and Todd Alan Bultema of Muskegon exchanged vows Saturday, June 26, 1993, at the First Baptist Church of Davisburg. The Rev. Dale Peterson performed the double-ring ceremony before 165 guests. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Ivan Samuel.

The bride, daughter of Ivan and Faith Samuel of Davisburg, is a 1989 graduate of Clarkston High School. She graduated in 1993 with a degree in business management from Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo.

The groom, son of Jack Bultema of Twin Lake and Sue Vegter of North Muskegon, is a 1988 graduate of Reeths Puffer High School in North Muskegon. He was in the U.S. Navy for four years and attends Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo.

The bride wore a white satin gown with a cathedral-length train, featuring pearls, sequins and lace on the portrait collar and bodice. She carried white and pink roses and carnations, accented with lily of the valley, stephanotis, and English ivy.

Maid of honor was sister of the bride, Marianne Samuel of Mount Pleasant. Bridesmaids included sister of the groom, Amanda Bultema of Monroe; Susan Acker of Wyoming; and Aimee Gordon of Waterford.

The bridesmaids wore turquoise iridescent taffeta gown, mid-thigh length, with cap sleeves. They carried bouquets of pink roses and carnations with baby's breath and English ivy.

Best man was Brad Olson of Twin Lake. Groomsmen included Dan Hinz of St. Joseph; Eric Vegter of North Muskegon, brother of the groom; and Dennis

Teen earns Eagle Scout honors

A 14-year-old Springfield Township youth was recently honored for attaining the rank of Eagle Scout, the Boy Scouts of America's highest level of achievement.

Michael Carleton Strole, a member of Boy Scout Troop 192, Davisburg, received his award and recognition at a special Court of Honor Aug. 24 at the Hart Community Center in Springfield Township.

For his Eagle project, Strole chose to purchase and install a 30-foot lighted flagpole and flag at the Hart Community Center.

The young scout managed all aspects of the project: personally raising over $700 from Springfield businesses and other contributors, contacting flagpole manufacturers and securing and awarding bids; arranging through his congressman to purchase an American flag flown over the U.S. Capitol; arranging installation of the flagpole; designing and installing the landscaping around the flagpole site; and making presentations to the Springfield Township Parks and Recreation Commission, sponsors of Strole's Eagle project.

In addition to successfully completing his Eagle project, Strole also earned 24 Boy Scout merit badges, exceeding the prerequisites required for Eagle Scout rank.

Michael C. Strole

eightth-grade student at Sherman Middle School in the Holly School District, where he was an honor student. Strole is now a ninth-grader at Holly High School.

Special guests at the Court of Honor ceremonies for Strole included his paternal grandparents, Ethel and James Strole of Falmouth, Va. The youth is the son of Nancy and Wayne Strole of Springfield Township.

Strole has been involved in scouting for the last seven years, beginning as a Cub Scout in 1986 and, since 1990, as a member of the Boy Scout Troop 192, where he most recently served as senior patrol leader.

Before achieving his Eagle rank, he had worked his way up through the Boy Scout ranks of Scout, Tenderfoot, Second Class, First Class, Star and Life Scout.

Strole was inducted into the Boy Scouts Order of the Arrow in 1992. In addition, he participated this summer in the National Boy Scout Jamboree at Fort A.P. Hill in Virginia, an event held every four years, which now draws 35,000 scouts from throughout the United States and from numerous foreign countries, including Russia.

At the Court of Honor presentation ceremonies, Boy Scout leaders noted that only 2 percent of Boy Scouts ever achieve the Eagle rank and that Strole had done so at an unusually young age — when he was 13 years old and still an

Local clinic offers device to help track pets

DR. BRUCE HARLTON exhibits the microchip and scanner used in the Comprehensive Identification System (CIS). This device should help find wayward animals.

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Losing a pet can be one of the most distressing experiences to ever confront a family.

Now, there's a device available that improves the odds of reuniting a pet with its master.

The Comprehensive Identification System (CIS) allows veterinarians and animal shelters to find a pet's owner by "scanning" for a small computer chip which has

"I compare it to a stoplight at a busy intersection. People won't be encouraged to do something until accidents begin to mount. Or, in this case, until they lose their family pet."

Veterinarian Bruce Harlton

been injected into the animal's back.

The scanning device works much like a bar-code scanner at the supermarket. When passed over the animal's back, it picks up the microchip and relays the number back to the scanner. The microchip's number is then forwarded to a database center by a vet or technician. In turn, the center relays the name and address of the owner back to the source.

Device identifies missing pets

So far, the only known veterinary clinic in Oakland County to use CIS is the Clarkston Animal Medical Center. Dr. Bruce Harlton said his clinic began using CIS about four months ago.

DELLA ERICKSON, office manager at the Clarkston Animal Medical Center, runs a scanner over Chloe, who's had a CIS microchip implanted under her skin.

"In my 20 years as a vet, I still find it disheartening when people come to our office looking for or reporting that they've found someone's pet," he said. "Statistics show that 90 percent of all pets found or rescued are unidentifiable and 70 percent of these animals never make it home.

"Now, with CIS, we can help reduce these numbers," Harlton added. "We recommend it for all our patrons, especially ones with puppies."

According to Harlton, each microchip implant costs $25, which is similar to a vaccination fee. For an additional $15, the microchip and pet are registered on a national database system.

Harlton considers this a great investment. He said it's more humane than tattooing and serves as a backup source of identification if a dog should slip his collar upon running away.

In Oakland County, Harlton said microchip scanners are available at the Michigan Humane Society office in Rochester Hills and the county rescue mission on Brown Road, Auburn Hills.

So far, Harlton's clinic has injected nearly 40 dogs and cats with the microchip implants.

"The implants are very small and virtually painless," he said. "We treat them like vaccinations because that's what they are."

Harlton said the implant is placed between the animal's shoulderblades, so it doesn't interfere with any vital ligaments or muscles. He added that the microchip is also treated so it doesn't migrate or move around under the animal's skin.

Harlton said CIS' three main advantages are that its inexpensive, painless and permanent. Unfortunately, he added, most clients don't consider such a procedure until it's too late.

"I compare it to a stoplight at a busy intersection," Harlton said. "People won't be encouraged to do something until accidents begin to mount. Or, in this case, until they lose their family pet."

Light, lemony

Light and lemony, this sponge cake is an inviting idea.

The single square layer lends itself to any number of occasions. Whether planning a shower, an anniversary or dinner party, it's a perfect fit.

FRUIT MOSAIC CAKE 12 servings

- 3 eggs
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1/3 cup hot water
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 teaspoon lemon extract
- 1 1/4 cake flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Cream Cheese Frosting (see below)
- Fresh fruit

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour square pan, 9x9x2 inches. Beat eggs in small bowl on high speed about 5 minutes or until very thick and lemon colored; pour into large bowl. Gradually beat in sugar. Beat in water, vanilla and lemon extract on medium speed. Add flour, baking powder and salt on medium speed, beating just until batter is smooth. Pour into pan.

Bake 25 to 30 minutes or until top springs back when touched lightly. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pan. Cool completely. Frost with Cream Cheese Frosting. Arrange fruit on top in mosaic pattern. Refrigerate any remaining cake.

Cream Cheese Frosting: Beat 1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, softened, until smooth. Beat in 3/4 cup whipping (heavy) cream, 1/4 cup powdered sugar and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla on high speed until spreading consistency, scraping bowl occasionally.

QUESTION: When is the best time to list a house for sale prior to the date you plan to vacate it?

ANSWER: Preferably as soon as you have decided to sell. Even if satisfactory buyers for your present home appear promptly, the complicated paperwork involved in mortgage applications, and dovetailing of your needs and the buyer's needs, can result in problems if you wait too long and are pressed for time.

It's best to allow as much time as you can afford. You are likely to receive the highest price if you can draw from the largest pool of possible buyers. An unhurried sale is the best way to accomplish this.

We are SIDING and GUTTER Specialists

We are not a Jack-of-all-trades. We can not guarantee you the absolute lowest price, as we will not sacrifice the quality products or workmanship that you deserve. But what we will guarantee is an honest and fair price with products and workmanship of the highest quality. We also do our own work. We don't get your job and sub-contract it out, or sell it. So if you are only looking for the cheapest way out, call someone else who claims they can beat any price. If you are looking for an honest and fair price, quality products and workmanship, dependability, and someone that will still be here after your job is completed, give us a call. Helping you make your home the one you've always dreamed of is what we do.

WET and cold, these Clarkston cheerleaders take a break in keeping the crowd's spirits up. After the Labor Day Parade a church fair and antique car show, an ice cream social and a corn roast were held in various places in Clarkston and Independence Township. Early risers were able to eat a hearty pancake

Marching on Main Street

BRAVING the elements, this little Chiefs' football player marches down Main Street during the Labor Day Parade.

THE drummers of the Clarkston High School Marching Band entertain the wet and faithful parade watchers on Labor Day. The annual parade was sponsored by the Rotary Club.
