Incumbents win in city council election

Three city council incumbents retained their seats in Tuesday's election.

In what city officials called a "fairly good turnout for this kind of election," 22 percent of the 800 registered voters in Clarkston re-elected Stephen Arkwright, William Basinger and James Schultz to a second term.

The vote tallies are unofficial until certified by the Oakland County Board of Canvassers.

Arkwright, who has served as a city council member since cityhood in July 1992, led with 155 votes.

Basinger, who served four terms on the Clarkston Village Council and one term on the city council, received 125 votes. Schultz, who has served on the council and as mayor pro-tem, received 117 votes.

Newcomer Anne Knight Weber received 99 votes, and Joan Koptietz received 4 write-in votes.

Will technical center close?

BY DEBORAH DZIEWIT
Clarkston News Special Writer

Educators have begun to read the fine print of Gov. Engler's school reform package, and some are worried about the future of vocational-technical schools in Michigan.

The principal for the Oakland Technical Center-Northwest Campus said a "for sale" sign could be posted on the front lawn next year.

The closing is possible if the plan to not reinstate funding for all voc-tech centers goes through as part of Engler's proposal to change the way schools are financed. And if the center doesn't actually close, the offerings will not be the same.

No plan to replace tech money

"The governor's plan calls to take the $75 to $80 million of revenue that charter millages generated with no plan to replace any of it," said Daniel Manthei, principal at OTC.

Deer season calls for extra caution

While opening day for hunting deer is still a few days away, a couple of Springfield Township residents have already "bagged" theirs.

According to reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, two deer were killed in Springfield Township when they were struck with cars.

One deer was hit on Big Lake Road Oct. 22, and the second was hit on Andersonville Road Oct. 29. No one was injured in the accidents.

Police remind motorists to be on the lookout for deer during this time of year.

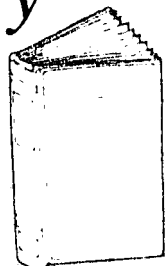

Used book sale at library

Bookworms, drop your bookmarks! It's time to stock up on reading material at the annual Used Book Sale.

It takes place Nov. 4-6 at the Independence Township Library, 6495 Clarkston Road.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Thursday, 1-6 p.m. Friday, and 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday (buck-a-bag day). Donations are accepted.

Friends of the Library may buy books during a preview 6-8 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 3. For more information, call 625-2212.

Grass roots group heads to Lansing

A Clarkston-area man and his grass roots organization is heading to the State Capitol Building, Lansing, to propose a new form of government.

The Cut Excess State Government Committee (CESGC), chaired by Henry Woloson of Independence Township, was scheduled to hold a press conference Nov. 4. At this meeting, it would present its petition language amending the State Constitution to establish a part-time, one-house legislature.

CESGC, an all-volunteer organization with members throughout Michigan, is committed to reduce the size of state government at a time when private sector organizations are being forced to down-size and remain competitive.

"Michigan taxpayers cannot afford to maintain a bloated state government while companies across the state are cutting payrolls, reducing benefits, forcing early retirements and generally doing more with less as a matter of economic survival," Woloson said.

Other features of CESGC's petition include:

■ Cutting the number of state lawmakers to 75 from the present 148.

■ Combining the State Senate and State House of Representatives into one more efficient chamber.

■ Freezing the annual State budget for the operation of the State Legislature at $56 million — a reduction of $40 million per year.

■ Eliminating exorbitant and excessive benefit packages for legislators and their families after the lawmakers leave office.

■ Limiting the amount of time the one house can remain in session to 90 days.

Final leaf pickup day this Saturday

Most of the leaves have fallen, so get your rakes and clear plastic bags ready. Clarkston's final leaf pickup day of the season is 8 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 6.

Clear plastic bags are again offered and can be picked up at city hall 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Wednesday or Friday.

The Clarkston City Council decided last week not to offer a third pickup date.

Call for food, volunteers for holiday baskets

Food, money and volunteers are wanted for the Lighthouse North Thanksgiving program.

The agency, a satellite of Lighthouse of Oakland County in Pontiac, provided Thanksgiving dinners for more than 1,000 north Oakland County residents in 1992.

Food items needed include: sweet potatoes, instant mashed potatoes, stuffing mix, canned vegetables, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie filling, pie crust mix, nut bread mix, evaporated milk and Jell-O.

Cash donations will be used to buy turkeys (at a special low price because of the bulk purchase). Since Lighthouse North doesn't have the refrigeration capacity, donations of money would be more helpful than donations of actual turkeys.

Non-perishable food items and donations may be delivered 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Nov. 15-19 to Lighthouse North at 5331 Maybee Road, Independence Township.

Volunteers are needed Nov. 18-24, with times ranging from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tasks include sorting food and packing and distributing baskets, and delivering to seniors and home-bound residents. Volunteers will need their own vehicles for deliveries.

Fine print of plan: No money for technical center

voc-tech schools could come from the Student Education Bank Account. The bank account would allow the designated school's per-pupil spending to "follow" students to the educational program of their choice.

How tech center is funded now

In 1968, Oakland County voters approved one-half mill to pay for the four local educational districts that make up the Oakland County Intermediate School District. Of the 57 intermediate school districts in Michigan, 28 currently operate under such a millage, said Manthei.

Oakland County's millage — which is actually slightly less than one-half mill because of the Headlee rollback — provides more than 80 percent of the OTC's money, with 11 percent provided from the state's "added cost" budget. Program sales and other revenue sources make up the balance of its budget.

One-half mill is 50 cents for every $1,000 in assessed property valuation. In Michigan, property is assessed at half its market value. The Headlee Amendment to the state constitution automatically rolls back the millage rate whenever property values increase at a rate higher than the rate of inflation.

Technical ed. adds to other education

For more than 20 years, OTC has provided students an alternative and an addition to regular academic education. For instance, students may enroll in advertising design, culinary arts, automotive electronics or building trades.

Manthei questioned the effect on students, schools and business if the technical center's money is cut off.

"In the short term, schools will see more crowded conditions," he said. "The 150 to 160 kids who come from Clarkston could be back at the high school full time."

School costs could rise if school administrators would have to hire more teachers to handle the increase in students and to schedule more classes, he said.

Cuts could effect business, society

The long-term effects of eliminating the money could be serious for the students and, in the end, society, said Manthei.

"Long-term effects could include more disruptions in the classroom because some of the kids don't fit in, which could mean we could see a higher drop-out rate," he said.

Middleton: Money may be restored

State Rep. Tom Middleton said money probably will be restored to operate the Oakland Technical Center-Northwest and other centers like it around the state.

A bill in the Senate calls for the base funding to be restored for all intermediate school districts. In the case of Oakland Schools, that would be one-half mill levied countywide.

One-half mill is 50 cents for every $1,000 in assessed property valuation. For example, the owner of a $100,000 home, assessed at half its market value ($50,000), would pay $25 a year to Oakland Schools if the millage is reinstated.

Middleton said that portion of the bill probably will make it over to the House.

"There's not a lot of controversy on that," he said.

Higher drop-out rates means no job skills, which often leads to higher unemployment. Without a good job, it could mean that some might end up in jail, according to Manthei.

Students would not be the only losers.

"Business and industry will not have a trained pool of entry-level employees to choose from," he said.

Bruce Mercado, an Independence Township dentist and a member of the OTC's advisory committee, agreed.

"Dental offices need trained dental assistants," he said. "Look in the paper — there is a shortage now, and if the program is eliminated, it would be a real loss."

Currently, 620 students from Clarkston, Brandon, Holly and Waterford schools now take one of OTC's technical programs for half of each day. But not one cent of the technical center's money comes from the students' "home" school districts, Manthei said.

"For the 23 to 24 years that we have been open, we have never had the school send money," he said. "We provide credits at no cost to the students or schools. Yet the county pays, while the (home) school gets full funding as if their students attended school full time."

Other options to keep doors open

Manthei said if Engler's plan is approved as proposed, options to keep the technical center open all have problems.

He said the school could become one of Gov.

STUDENTS roll out sweet treats as part of the culinary arts program offered at the Oakland Technical Center-Northwest Campus at 8211 Big Lake Road. Luke Switzer, a Clarkston High sophomore, and Suberina Powell, a Holly High junior, practice making cinnamon and pecan rolls, which will be sold to students and teachers in the center's cafeteria. Students complete four sections before they graduate from the culinary arts Engler's proposed charter schools. However, that would be less than ideal for the school.

"Even with students bringing their share of per-pupil funding, it would not be enough to cover our costs."

"For a quality voc-tech center it costs more — for equipment, support staff, materials, staff development, keeping student-teacher ratios low and maintenance. ... It just costs more."

"For example, in the building trades, the student-teacher ratio cannot be 25 to 30 students to maintain integrity of the program and safety of the students," he said.

Manthei, who has worked at the school for 20 years, said that more than likely the school will be open next year. However, it will not be the same without money from a countywide millage.

"We have faced other challenges and crisis after crisis year after year," he said. "We can survive with faith and hope that our representatives and senators will take care of us."

Tech. center benefited her whole family

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

When Sherry Johnson heard that the Oakland Technical Center-Northwest might be closed next year, she was saddened.

Not only is the Clarkston-area woman a student at the center, but two of her children have attended the school as well.

"The tech. center is very important," she said.

For example, her daughter studied electronics at the center, which gave her the idea that she might be interested in electrical engineering. So after graduating from "That place has influenced my whole family. If that closes down ... I hope it doesn't."

Sherry Johnson

Clarkston High School, she earned a degree from Lawrence Technological Institute, Southfield, and is now employed as an engineer for Ford Motor Co.

"If she hadn't taken the course (at the tech center), she wouldn't even have known about electrical engineering," said Johnson.

And her son — currently a Clarkston High School student — took the marketing course last year and was named "Marketing Student of the Year." He plans to attend Oakland University, Rochester, and study business and marketing.

And as for Johnson herself, she's employed by an orthopedic surgeon and has enrolled in medical courses at the center.

She pays tuition for her classes, while her children attended free of charge because they were in high school.

Johnson said her own studies at the center have already paid off, especially the terminology class. She understands her own job better, she said.

"That place has influenced my whole family," she said. "If that closes down ... I hope it doesn't."

She said she learned of the center's offerings through her children — and she believes her students have benefited by attending the center than by attending only their regular high school.

"I think it's very good for kids. The high school is not updated enough. The tech. center has computers, more responsibility, more one-on-one with teachers, more specialty training. ... It helps you."

She said that while it's true that Gov. Engler's school reform proposal wipes out property taxes for homeowners, property taxes weren't entirely bad.

"People don't mind paying if you get quality," she said. "And the tech. center is quality."

Tech Center offers options to pupils

BY DEBORAH DZIEWIT
Clarkston News Special Writer

Today's typical high school student has options when looking down future's road.

A four-year college degree isn't always for everyone.

At Oakland Technical Center-Northwest, 11th- and 12th-graders can receive hands-on and eyes-on training that prepares them for work or college.

However, students from Clarkston, Holly, Brandon and Waterford school districts receive much more than that, according to Dan Manthei, principal of OTC.

They acquire skills and habits that can be applied not only to their career choice but also to life in general, said Manthei.

Students develop self-confidence, self-awareness, good work habits, practical problem-solving skills, punctuality and reliability.

The "technical programs allows students to relate academic subjects to the real world and shows how reading, math and science are important in everyday situations," according to OTC's catalog.

Students can sign up for the following programs: advertising design, auto body repair, automated office, automotive electronics, building maintenance, building trades, climate control, culinary arts, dental assisting, diesel technology, electronics technology, floral design and sales, landscape technology, machine technology, marketing, printing technology — desktop publishing or press operations.

High school students can enroll through their school counselors. Those students who have not graduated and are not in high school can enroll through their district's community education programs. High school students pay no fees except for a refundable lab fee.

Summer school programs and adult education programs are also available.

The OTC is located at 8211 Big Lake Road, Springfield Township. For more information, call 625-5202.

Making Euclid proud

The school's Math Improvement Team offered the activity as part of a push to improve the math curriculum by making it more fun. Even Euclid — father of geometry — would be proud. What's more, maybe these young math students will even recognize Euclid's name, just as most school children can recognize Shakespeare's name.

ON FAMILY Math Night Oct. 13 at North Sashabaw Elementary School, families tried hands-on math activities, which made math fun, according to organizers. Here, George and Terri Porritt work on a project with their children, Marilyn and Kenny.

'Bad wells' pose problems in city business district

BY DEBORAH DZIEWIT
Clarkston News Special Writer

Water problems seems to be a way of life for many Clarkston residents and business owners.

A few Main Street and Robertson Court residents have used bottled water in the past year due to tainted water wells — and now two wells have "gone bad" in the business district.

The Masonic Temple and Rudy's Market were granted easements by the city, so new wells could be drilled on city property.

This week, well diggers drilled a 145-foot-deep well on Washington Street after the Masonic Temple at Washington and Main streets ran out of water.

The well head was placed flush to the ground and under a manhole on the sidewalk, as required by the city council.

Rudy's Market also came up dry last month — and it could have a new well next week if everything goes according to plan, said co-owner Robert Esshaki.

Each building contained hand-driven wells inside the structure, completed years ago and now against the law, according to Art Pappas, city manager.

Once the well goes bad, Michigan Health Department regulations require that a new well must be machine drilled and can no longer be inside the building, Pappas said.

Pappas, who used to work for a well-digging company, said a well can go bad for any number of reasons. "The screen in the water vein can become corroded, or if the pipe has been in the ground a long time, it can corrode through — then there will be no suction. Or the vein can go dry," he said.

However, putting in a new well can get complicated, especially when buildings have been built right on the property lines, leaving no room to drill — which posed a problem for the owners of these two buildings.

Esshaki said his well will be placed four feet from the building and close to the alley on the southern side of the market. The location was approved by the Department of Health.

It also granted Esshaki an exemption, so he could dig the well 30 feet from the sewer line that runs down Main Street. Normally wells are dug 100 feet from sewer lines, he said.

Newspapers give flavor of towns

Julie Campe

Midwestern small towns are the same in so many respects that it's uncanny. Though the particulars vary, the general problems and sentiments are the similar.

For instance, the Oct. 20 issue of The Mobridge Tribune weekly newspaper in South Dakota includes stories that — except for the names and places — could have been written about Clarkston.

One story highlights the problems of property taxes in the community, with increases expected in 1994 (of course, we expect decreases here ...)

Another talks about a MEA (Mobridge Education Association) contract that calls for equal dollar increments between "steps" of pay for school employees. Right now, pay for teachers going from "step 18" to "step 19" increases by $275, while pay from "step 19" to "step 20" increases by only $250. The new contract calls for pay to increase by $400 for each step.

The paper also includes a picture page of the annual CROP Walk in town, including people walking dogs, a clown, cute kids, balloons and lots of refreshments.

The letters to the editor included one from a former high school basketball player, stating that "some things never change." The letter writer pointed out that this year's girls' varsity team blatantly displays favoritism by allowing ninth-graders with "popular names" to start, while juniors with "unpopular" names sit the bench.

Another letter thanked the organizers and performers in a community concert (a fund-raiser for the Mobridge Education Foundation).

The paper included lots of Halloween tips, including recipes for homemade grease paint to be used as colorful makeup (with the help of shortening, cornstarch, flour, glycerin and food coloring).

Other space is devoted to "club news" (new officers of community clubs, etc.), "new folks" (new babies in the area) and "business briefs" (about promotions and honors among business people).

The newspaper's "police notes" may be a bit more entertaining than The Clarkston News' "Sheriff's log." Case in point: On Friday, Oct. 15, at 8:33 p.m., "caller reported cattle out 10-12 miles west of Mobridge." On Saturday, Oct. 16, at 4:45 a.m., "Caller reported cows on 700 block, Second Avenue East." At 4:46 a.m., "Caller reported cows on 800 block, Second Avenue East." At 5:09 a.m., "Caller reported 35-40 head of heifers on East Grand Crossing."

Other entries under that heading included unauthorized people hunting on private land, a report of 28 hunters shooting from a road, security alarms sounding at businesses, accidents, intoxicated drivers, juveniles harassing each other, stolen purses, and juveniles drinking in cars.

Of course, the paper also includes lots of local sports (with photos) — and even includes a "fishing report" category, with a chart designating fishing conditions (four fishes mean "excellent"). It also gives "best spots," "best method," and "depth." (In most spots, jig and minnow are best.)

This issue of the paper also includes a two-page advertisement sponsored by local businesses, thanking "our volunteer firemen," with photos of each person.

If this paper is any reflection of its community, it shows that the people in the area may be the rugged, outdoor type, who like sports, animals, children and each other. Sounds a bit like Clarkston, doesn't it?

Opinions

Editorial

Haunted Forest incident shows better crisis management needed

Last week's accident that injured a 15-year-old volunteer at the Haunted Forest was tragic — and also served to point out gaps in the township's crisis management.

While we respect the teen's family's request for privacy, we also respect the public's right to know what happened on public property at a public event paid for with public money.

Two days after the accident, Independence Township Supervisor Dale Stuart answered our questions. However, we were denied access to police and fire reports.

This violates the public's right to know about the health and safety of its local entertainment, as our information was filtered through the supervisor.

Though some may say that Stuart is a man of integrity and can be trusted to give us the information, that's not the point.

The point is that any person in his position has the township's liability in mind first, not the public's right to know.

The point is that no person in power should be given a blanket right to withhold or dish out information on his or her whim, whatever their reasons may be.

The point is that the media, like it or not, is a watchdog of government.

Even though The Clarkston News routinely holds back names of juveniles and could have been trusted to do so in this case, someone decided that media should not see the official police and fire reports.

Even though public safety officials could have "blacked out" the teen's name and let us see the remainder of the information, someone chose not to.

That means vital information still is missing, mainly: How did the accident happen?

The public doesn't know for sure how the boy was found, if he had ever been hanging or if someone pulled the noose around his neck, if a haunted forest participant found him unconscious or if a parks and rec. employee found him unconscious, or even if it's safe to let young teens volunteer at the popular local event.

Maybe the police and fire reports would not have answered those questions. But maybe they would have. The only way to know for sure is to allow reporters to see them.

About staff editorials

We at The Clarkston News realize that an important duty of a newspaper is to provide more than just the facts found in news stories.

Since we're out there uncovering the news, we get an inside look at the issues. In our staff editorials, we will give our opinions on those issues, just as other writing on this page — letters and columns — also offers opinions.

We leave the editorials unsigned because we've written them as a staff. Every week, we talk about the issues and take notes on everyone's opinions. Then one of us writes it and the rest of us change it until we're all satisfied.

While our opinions aren't always unanimous, our editorials reflect the majority views of the staff. If the staff splits evenly on an issue, we'll write two editorials on the subject.

We welcome your response to our views.

Is anyone going to miss Bernie Smilovitz?

Some no-account but quoteable person once said, "Eating an anchovy is like eating an eyebrow." I wouldn't know. Unlike that person I've never eaten an eyebrow. However, if they taste like anchovies, I'll take a dozen. I saw a survey recently that said 95 percent of the people who order pizza do not order anchovies. That tells me a whole lot about people who order pizza.

It was about 10 p.m. on a Friday night this fall when two cars collided at the main intersection in downtown Oxford. It looked bad as one car was flipped. Police and emergency vehicles converged. People gathered. Bar doors came open and customers observed the scene. Seeing all the lights flashing, one bar patron re-entered the room and shouted, "Anyone who wants to leave town should do it now. All the cops are at the accident."

What's that guy in the Men's Warehouse TV advertisements guaranteeing?

Exercise daily. Eat wisely. Die anyway.

NOW members have to love Carry Nation's quote: "Men are nicotine-soaked, beer-besmirched, whiskey-greased, red-eyed devils." To which I asked, "Yeah, but otherwise how do you like us?"

Story time. When little Jimmy's mother came home from the hospital after giving birth to twins, he went wild with excitement. "Gee, mom," he said, "can I stay home from school today?"

"I don't know, dear," she replied. "Why don't you go and ask your teacher."

Jimmy trooped off and was back in minutes. "She said OK!" he exclaimed.

"What did she say about the twins?" his mother asked.

"Oh," he said brightly, "I just told her I had a baby brother. I'm saving the other twin for tomorrow!"

I'd be quite a bit happier if I had a longer memory and bigger bladder.

Letters to the Editor

Newcomers see a town torn

Being fairly new to the Clarkston area, we have been following with interest the ongoing bickering and animosity of citizens in the community toward the schools and public officials.

We realize we were sold a "fairy tale" by our developer with misleading, false and outdated information given to us. After almost 16 months of residency, we have also discovered that "watch dog" tactics are nothing new to the community and are actually a unique part of "upscale small-town living."

The roots are deep and have gone on for many years, depending upon who you talk to or what source you read.

From past to present school superintendents, administrators, school board members, principals, teachers, township officials, police officers, even to the debate over the clock that stands in the center of the village, (or rather the City of the Village of Clarkston), the animosity and lines have withstood time and change with no one thing appearing safe.

One would think that with all the discussion and debate on the various topics throughout the years, all the issues would have eventually been resolved. You'd think this would result in an exemplary community whose school district is a tradition of excellence with a vision toward the 21st century in its facilities, goals, technology and curriculum.

Letter policy

Letters to the editor must arrive at The Clarkston News office by noon Monday to be considered for publication in Wednesday's paper. We reserve the right to edit all letters for brevity and clarity and to limit the number of letters from any one individual or on any one topic. Letters are limited to 315 words. We discourage copies of letters sent elsewhere and require that all letters be signed and include an address and phone number. We will not publish unsigned letters, though we may withhold names on written request in special circumstances. Address all letters to: Letters To The Editor, The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main St., Clarkston, MI 48346.

Excellence doesn't and won't just happen. True excellence is the result of everyone working together with common goals, values and standards, striving for and demanding the best.

This leaves us wondering. Does Ross Perot have Clarkston connections?

Whatta visit!

Accolades to Mike Kalush and the staff of ABC-TV affiliate Channel 7 in Southfield.

Mike Kalush arranged a tour of Channel 7 for Sally Lindeman's grade six fine arts classes of Clarkston Middle School.

Comments on the trip:

Kelly Passage: "Exhilarating experience being called up on stage and sitting next to John Kelly."

Group of 10: "Singing 'Happy Birthday' to Guy Gordon."

Molly Ormiston: "The weather board is not really a map. It is a green-colored board."

Jay Manojlovich: "The workers have to keep on editing, editing and editing."

Tom Forst: "The studios were very small."

David Sage: "The graphics department was cool."

Bill Hamilton: "My favorite studio was the news studio."

Courtney Schubring: "It was exciting to see Robbie Timmons do a news brief."

Michael Rendu: "John Kelly was funny."

Bill Kalush: "The lights were extremely hot and bright."

Tiffany Shaver: She was "impressed by the language they used."

Channel 7 staff, thanks for the royal treatment.

When the question was asked, something clicked in my mind. It wouldn't be true to say I didn't have the remotest idea how to answer it.

Stick with me on this. I'm trying to write colorfully, trying to use words that evoke an appropriate image in the reader's mind.

For example, a recent Associated Press article concerned attempts by the state Legislature to make changes in a "potty parity" bill that would shorten the lines of women waiting outside public rest rooms. One paragraph said:

"The bill passed both House and Senate earlier this year, but the mainly male Senate watered it down to apply only to restaurants, concert halls and sports arenas that seat 300 or more people."

(The italics are mine, but you can use them if you really need that much help understanding where I'm going here.) OK? Now back to the question that clicked, but not remotely.

The questioner was the contractor who is building a little house in the woods for my wife and me. This is sort of a back-to-nature move, living in the wilds without the usual creature comforts, and all that rugged stuff. Good Lord, the nearest gas station is darn near two blocks away.

Naturally, I intend to do a lot of sitting around an open fire, singing macho, ton-lifting songs about owing my soul to the convenience store, which is next to the gas station. So the contractor was wondering about fire control.

Did I want to control it remotely?

Or was I prepared to struggle up out of my chair, risk falling over my footstool, and walk at least eight steps, round-trip, to manually turn up or down the gas on the logs in the fireplace?

Wow. There's no fireplace in my present high-rise home, but that doesn't mean life's been easy. I'm already burdened with three remote control clickers, for the television, VCR and cable box. I'm already irritating myself, not to mention my wife, by pushing the wrong damn buttons and fast-forwarding a tape into oblivion when I intend to pause for a rest stop, or switching channels at a dramatic moment when I intend to turn up the volume.

Do I really want to risk burning down my new home while intending to escape from a shopping channel? No. Without the remotest hesitation, I clicked my mind against an added clicker, colorfully.

Despite the rugged terrain, I'll control the fire by foot. If I'm forced to interrupt a championship sitting marathon, so be it. I realize that life in the wilds can sometimes be rough; I've seen "The Last of the Mohicans."

Speaking of colorful writing, my 12-year-old granddaughter Emily was recently forced to spend an hour in my office and I suggested that, to avoid boredom, she sit down at the keyboard and type a column about her family. This is what Emily wrote, and please don't ask me why:

"When two very special people find each other and get married, both of their family smells are put together and make one very unique smell. Then later when they have kids, the smell fills their home and clothes and the smell becomes theirs.

"A family smell is made up of many things. Here are some of them: What type of perfume your mother uses, your father's after-shave, your older sister's hair spray, your little brother's baby shampoo. The laundry detergent you use. What kind of toothpaste you use, what food you buy and to top it off, everybody's love has a smell. Put your family's love with all the above and you have a FAMILY.

"But you can't smell your own smell. That's how you know you are at someone else's house."

Fall back in time

Last week I watched three children for an evening, and it was the most refreshing few hours of my week.

These kids are at the ages (8, 5 and 2) where playing cards, reading a book, learning new songs and making up stories is a fun evening.

Some of their big thrills are Happy Meals, "Little House on the Prairie," treats from the ice cream man, and reading "The Boxcar Children."

The time I spend with them reminds me of my childhood and how incredibly precious innocence is.

When I was younger, we pretended to be the kids from "The Sound of Music." The big excitement some days was going through a car wash in the big green station wagon or eating pizza with hot dogs on it.

A great evening to me was popcorn and "The Waltons" on Sunday nights or having real tea with Dad's peanut butter fudge once or twice a year.

That time of a person's life is usually filled with the small thrills of jumping off the stairs into a parent's arms and large beliefs about reality that we later throw away.

My friend Cindy said she had to take a Sunday afternoon nap with her mom when she was young. After much moving around, her mom told her she'd spank her if she moved again. That was when Cindy's teddy bear fell off the bed. She said she stared at the bear and sent it a telepathic message: "Come on, I know you can jump up here. I won't tell anyone."

I believed that my dolls played with each other after I fell asleep, that a witch living in my heating duct would steal my baby brother away, and that my parents wouldn't know the real time if they didn't hear the man on TV say, "It's nine o'clock, do you know what your children are watching?"

I also believed that because my grandmother is Native American, I was given special powers. After all, I could tell if it was going to rain just by looking at the sky.

When I was about 9, I read that Indians were able to walk around the forest without a sound. This included walking on fallen leaves. I thought that this would be another of my special powers.

Fifteen years later, I haven't done it. I know that Native Americans used to walk toe-heel, instead of heel-toe as we do now. I've tried that — no dice. I have tried without shoes. I've walked around bare-foot.

But now I'm older, and I've put away my "Sound of Music" record. I don't watch "The Waltons." I hate the car wash, and there isn't a witch in my heating vent.

But sometime before I get too old to walk, I would like to move through the leaves without making a sound. Trying takes me back to the time when there was no other thought on my mind than doing it right.

I think next time I watch those kids we'll try leaf walking.

Call for holiday boxes for kids

Since 1985, scores of families in Clarkston have prepared Christmas boxes for needy children in Latin America and sent them to us at Friends of the Americas.

For most of the children, this wonderful box from America was the only present they received at Christmas. Each box is designed by an American family for a Latin boy or girl of a particular age and sex. It contains 30 new items, such as a dress or shirt and pants, socks, underwear, toothpaste, school supplies, toys, an American flag and, most important, a photo and letter from the person who prepared the box.

Over the past eight years, Friends has delivered more than 300,000 Christmas boxes to the neediest children in 20 countries of Latin America: children who survived recent natural disasters, children in refugee camps, orphans, street children and children in the "marginal areas" of the big cities of Latin America.

Friends has established an intricate distribution system for delivering the Christmas boxes to needy children — and each box is personally handed to the needy child by an American.

This year, Christmas boxes will be distributed in many countries of Latin America, jungles, the highlands of Guatemala, and other areas of Ecuador, Columbia, Nicaragua, Panama and Dominican Republic.

The U.S. ambassador or his wife often serves as Friends' country chairman for the project. It's an opportunity for our diplomats and other Americans to go where the poor children are and provide them with direct assistance. But most important, it's a chance for American families to express their love for the children of Latin America by spending family time together to prepare these boxes.

We want to take this opportunity to invite the people of the Clarkston area to participate in this project and prepare Christmas boxes this year. If you would like to prepare a box, please write for our "Christmas Box Action Kit" at Friends of the Americas, 1024 N. Foster Drive, Baton Rouge, LA 70806. Or call 504-926-5707. Please mention that you read about it in The Clarkston News.

Though changed, now town center

It seems like change is occurring around our town faster and faster all the time. Some of it, particularly the traffic, is not so pleasant. And it's tough when dedicated businessmen who have been our friends close or move on.

But there is, in the heart of our community, an institution that has gone through dramatic change in the last few years — change most of us would have never thought possible.

Our Main Street market in downtown Clarkston was a friendly place, comfortable as a pair of old worn shoes. Yet many folks were concerned about what would happen when it sold.

Last Friday evening, as I shopped while waiting for my pizza, I was taken by the crowd of folks in the store, talking like old friends to one another and with the guys who run the store.

It seemed oddly as if this store, first established by Rudy Schwarze, has become something of the town center. More than just a grocery store, it's a place where you can count on seeing your neighbors and get a chance to talk or just say, "Hi."

But then, why not? Inside, the store is bright and open and well stocked with a variety of interesting products. John, Laith and Robert seem to have a knack for trying new ideas and then refining them so they fit for us. Real, genuine, friendly service ... and it seems to be constantly improving.

We are all very lucky, and I just wanted to stop a moment and say thanks to them.

Father, coaches influenced Kaul's way of life

Name: Timothy Kaul
Family members: My wife, Linda; sons Gary, 21, a junior at Michigan State University; and Ryan, 10, a fifth-grade student at North Sashabaw Elementary.
Residence: I have lived in Clarkston since 1971. This is my 25th year of teaching here.
Education: A bachelor of arts degree from Oakland University, Rochester, in 1969 and a master's degree from Oakland University in 1973.
Job title: Teacher
Job duties: Teaches eighth-grade pre-algebra, seventh- and eighth-grade math, and three classes on skills for adolescence/ health for seventh grade.
Coaching: Junior varsity golf for six years and junior varsity basketball for 12 years.
Biggest challenge at work: Working with so many levels of students, from special needs students to the academically gifted.
Favorite part of job: I've always enjoyed working with children and relating to kids. I believe my strong suit has been my willingness to communicate with young people.
Favorite sports: Golf and basketball
When not working, I may be found: at Spring Lake Golf Course.
If I had three wishes: 1) All the success and happiness in the world for my two sons; 2) a long and healthy retirement for my wife and I; 3) one round of golf at Augusta National Golf Club.
Last book read: "McNally's Luck" by Lawrence Sanders.
Best advice: Advice to team in coaching — Don't get to high if you win or too low if you lose. Also, fear no one, but respect everyone. Advice from someone else —

Mickey Rivers (former baseball player), "If you ain't got no control over it, then there ain't no use worrying about it."

Ten years from now: I hope to be still living in Clarkston, retired, spending at least two months a year in Myrtle Beach, S.C.

On my first day of school, I remember: I can barely remember what I had for breakfast this morning.

Most admired person: Arnold Palmer and my father. Arnold Palmer made the pro tour what it is today. He has great charisma and is a tremendous ambassador for the game. My father is as fine a person as I've ever known and is respected by everyone.

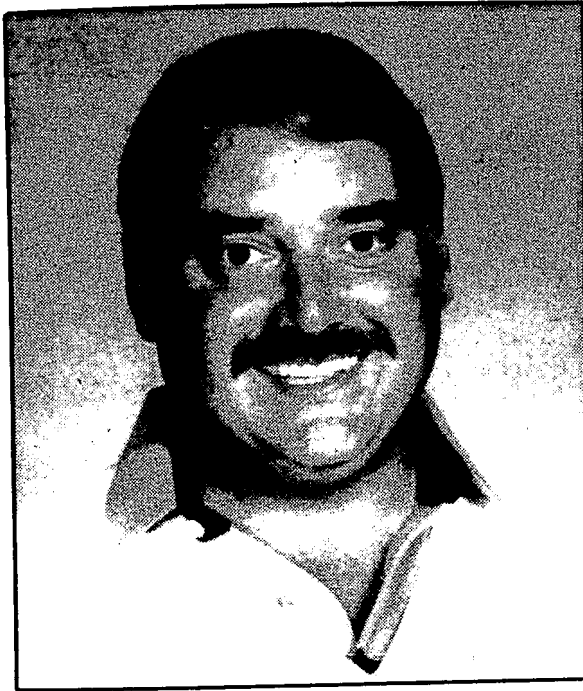

Person, book, event, etc. that most influenced me: Two people who were an influence on my becoming a teacher and eventually a coach were Bill Willson, my cross-country and golf coach at Pontiac Northern, and Ray Hull, an English teacher at PNHS.

Favorite saying: "Life is short; we're only here for a very brief stay, so smell all of the flowers along the way." — Walter Hagen

Other: A concern at this time for myself as well as most educators is what is going to happen with education reform in the state of Michigan.

Obviously, property tax reform is desirable and alternative forms of funding are long overdue. My concern is to whether the state Legislature will replace our current system with one which is fair and equitable for all the school age children in the state of Michigan. I hope that all our state elected officials from the governor on down are giving this issue their top priority.

Milk allergy is due to the protein in milk. Milk protein is found in all dairy products. It can even be found in "nondairy" products. By reading the food label, one can ascertain if milk protein exists. Caseinate, casein, lactalbumin, whey, and beta-lactoglobulin are all milk proteins which must be avoided if milk allergy is present. Milk fat does not cause milk allergy. Therefore, skim milk is no different from whole milk protein. However, nondairy creamer, nondairy whip toppings, and even hot dogs may be found to contain milk protein. It is very important to read all food labels if one is attempting to avoid milk protein.

Safety path slated for Andersonville

Walkers and bikers near "Waterford Hill" subdivision soon will have a safe way to get to the new Bay Court Park.

The Independence Township Board voted unanimously Oct. 5 to install a safety path along Andersonville Road, from Parview Drive to the park entrance, with the cost up to $15,000.

Some spots in the path may be six feet wide instead of the regular eight feet due to terrain and the closeness of Andersonville Road.

Ann Conklin, director of the township parks and recreation department, said neighbors told her only that they wanted the paths as far from their homes as possible.

Conklin said she would discuss construction of a safety path with the park's current contractor.

The about 40-acre Bay Court Park is in the southwest quadrant of the township, on Greens Lake. It was purchased, in part, with a state grant. A parking lot and driveway are under construction in the park.

Hoopsters drop contests to Northern, Caps

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

The Clarkston girls' varsity basketball team saw its losing skid hit four with losses to Pontiac Northern and Waterford Kettering last week.

On Oct. 26, the Wolves were nipped 63-59 by the host Huskies. Clarkston outplayed their taller opponents in the first half, evidenced by a 37-28 lead at halftime. However, Northern wittled the lead down to five in the third quarter, before outscoring the Wolves 17-8 in the final stanza.

"I thought we played really well until the fourth quarter," said Clarkston Coach Larry Mahrle. "We missed too many key shots down the stretch, besides never going to the foul line.

"It was a game that just got away from us," he added.

In defeat, the Wolves were paced by Laura Seitz with 16 points, including four three-pointers. Teammate Anne Brueck scored 11 points, while Elissa Shires and Crystal Lemke chipped in with seven points apiece.

Two days later, Clarkston played host to league-leading Waterford Kettering and fell 43-36. The win raised the Captains' record to 13-3 overall, 8-0 in the GOAL, while CHS dropped to 9-8, 2-6 in the conference.

The first half of this contest was a low-scoring affair as Kettering took a 16-10 lead into the lockerroom. The second half was a lot more of the same, as Clarkston failed to cut into Kettering's lead, despite a 17-point effort in the fourth quarter.

"We just fell a little short again," Mahrle said. "We started slowly in the first half by only hitting four of 24 shots, but luckily they didn't fare a whole lot better.

"We've been playing all of our opponents tough, but ending up on the short end of the stick," he added.

So far, this season, the Wolves have lost four games by two points and one game by one point.

Against Kettering, CHS was paced by Seitz with 16 points. Lemke added six points, while teammates Brueck and Shawna Greene knocked down five apiece.

With just three games left in the regular season, Mahrle said his girls are determined to scrap till the end.

"The team has got a good attitude going into the last three games, with the intention of winning them all," he said. "They want to build momentum going into districts at Lapeer East."

Clarkston's next game is Thursday, Nov. 4, at Lake Orion.

ERIN PATTERSON (20) tries to get a shot off against a Waterford Kettering opponent Oct. 28. That night, the Wolves fell 43-36 to the first-place Captains.

Wolves finish season in middle of the pack

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

The Clarkston cross country teams rounded out league play last week by taking third and fourth places, respectively, at the GOAL Meet.

In both the boys' and girls' divisions, Lake Orion grabbed top honors while Brandon took second place. In the girls' race, the Wolves earned 56 points, trailing only the Dragons (28) and Blackhawks (50). This finish solidified CHS' hold on third place after taking third during the regular season with a record of 3-2.

This Oct. 26 meet also marked the third consecutive year where a Clarkston runner finished in first place individually. Sophomore Anna Vandermeer took top honors at Independence Oaks Park with a time of 21 minutes, 58 seconds.

Last year, she took eleventh place at the conference meet. Junior Leah Scharl, an all-stater in 1992, had won the past two GOAL Meet races. However, she was lost half-way through this season with a stress fracture.

Teammate Stacie Iezzi (23:30) also gained all-league honors with a sixth-place finish at the meet. Rounding out the field for CHS were: Stephanie Burklow, ninth; Erin Shillenn, 16th; Stacy Patterson, 24th; Suzanne Schmidt, 25th; and Mary Brewer, 31st.

In the boys' race, the Wolves tallied 79 points to finish in fourth place behind Lake Orion, Brandon and Waterford Mott. Yet, a 3-2 regular season record enabled the Wolves to claim third ahead of the Corsairs (2-3 in the GOAL).

At the league meet, CHS was paced by foreign exchange student Torbin Ernst, who grabbed eighth place with a time of 17:55. He just missed all-league status by one place.

Jeff Ferrell of Mott took first at 16 minutes, 20 seconds.

Other finishes turned in by CHS included: Matt Warner (14th), Jeff Dengate (16th), Jeremy Lafferty (19th), Steve Anderson (22nd), Brian Ginn (27th), Tim O'Rourke (28th) and Nic Chaffin (29th).

Looking back, Clarkston Coach Mike Taylor said he was satisfied with his harriers' performances.

"I'm not disappointed in either team, but we could have run better," he said.

On Oct. 30, both teams traveled to Swartz Creek to run at regionals, with the boys' squad taking seventh place overall with 260 points.

The meet's top three teams were Brighton (43), Lakeland (58) and Holly (88). The top three squads and 15 individual runners qualified for the state meet in Grand Rapids this Saturday, Nov. 6.

Ernst was the Wolves top finisher with a personal-best time of 17 minutes, 25 seconds. He took 36th overall. Other Clarkston finishes included: Dengate (48), Warner (51), Ginn (59) and Anderson (66).

In the girls' race, Vandermeer qualified for the state meet with a medal-winning, 15th-place performance. Her time of 20 minutes, 33 seconds was also a personal best for the sophomore.

"Anna really ran a terrific race," Taylor said. "To qualify in one of the state's toughest regionals speaks for itself."

The Wolves' didn't place as a team at the regionals because only five runners participated for Clarkston. Besides Vandermeer, Burklow (54) was the only other CHS harrier to finish in the top 60 with a season's-best time of 22 minutes, 24 seconds.

Gridders top Polar Bears in season finale

The Clarkston varsity football team capped another successful season by downing Highland Park, 31-30, in triple-overtime, last Friday.

The win raised the Wolves' overall record to 6-3, while the Polar Bears fell to 5-4.

"It was an excellent way to end the season," said CHS Coach Kurt Richardson. "Earlier in the season, this team could have rolled it up, but they kept scratching their way back."

"They showed us what they're all about," he added.

Highland Park opened up scoring in the first stanza when quarterback Terrence Reed ran 35 yards for the score. The Bears connected on a two-point conversion pass to take an 8-0 lead. Clarkston responded in the second quarter on a two-yard run by their own signal caller, Kevin Dankert. The two-point conversion failed, however, leaving the score at 8-6.

Clarkston kicker Kevin Covert connected on a 27-yard field goal just prior to intermission to give the Wolves a 9-8 advantage.

The third quarter saw only one scoring play when Dankert hit Brad Agar with an 11-yard scoring strike. However, Reed brought his team back in the fourth quarter when he ran it in from seven yards out, with less than two minutes left in regulation.

A successful two-point conversion pass by Reed knotted the game at 16 apiece, forcing overtime.

The two teams failed on their first OT possessions. In the second overtime, Reed scored on a 10-yard run and completed the two-point conversion.

Not to be outdone, Dankert scored on a one-yard dive and then ran in the two-point conversion, tying the game 24-24.

In the third overtime, Clarkston's Joe Davis scored on a 10-yard run and Covert nailed the extra-point, giving CHS a 31-24 lead. Reed came back to score again on a 10-yard jaunt, but Highland Park failed to score on the two-pointer, securing the win for the Wolves.

CHS Coach Kurt Richardson (left) led his charges to a 6-3 record and a GOAL championship this year.

Three-peat bid falls short for CHS kickers

The Clarkston varsity soccer team's season came to an end Oct. 27 when it was upset in the second round of districts by Walled Lake Central.

The host Vikings (8-10-1) blanked the Wolves, 2-0, dropping CHS' record to 13-6-1. The loss also snapped a string of two consecutive district titles for Clarkston.

"Central played a pretty decent game," said Clarkston Coach Dan Fitzgerald. "I felt we dominated most of the game, but we just couldn't finish our scoring opportunities."

Folks needed for CAYA's 10th Annual Bowl-a-thon

Woman hurt in accident

A 47-year-old Ortonville woman was injured in a two-car accident Thursday, Oct. 28.

Jean Ann Reed was driving northbound on Ortonville Road when another car pulled out of Berry Point Road in front of her, and she hit it, according to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report.

The day was cloudy, but the road was dry. Reed, who was wearing her seat belt, was treated at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital for minor injuries.

The driver of the second car — Ruth Josephine Brueck, 47, of Independence Township — was issued a ticket for failing to yield. Brueck was also wearing a seat belt and was not treated for injuries.

Murdered man's family, friends search for clues

A 33-year-old Pontiac man's family and friends are asking for help in solving his murder.

Charlie Murray was murdered in Huron National Forest, 18 miles west of Oscoda near the first weekend of October. His body was found more than a week later.

Judy Campbell of Clarkston, whose sister was engaged to Murray, said that he was shot more than once with buck shot while he was bow hunting. The killer then robbed him, leaving the bow equipment.

"We want to find out who did this and why," said Campbell.

Campbell said that a motor home was in the area of the murder, parked on the corner of Carter and Bassonette roads. She said she hopes these people will come forward with any information they have.

"Somebody saw something. Somebody knows something," said Campbell.

A $10,000 reward has been offered by the Dearborn-based Big Game Hunters. If you have information about this incident, contact Detective Russell Smith at 1-517-362-3434.

Exam on embezzlement charges to continue

Another month will pass before the preliminary exam of a former area nursery school treasurer continues.

April Merrit, a 32-year-old Independence Township resident, was charged with three counts of embezzlement on Aug. 31. Each count is punishable with up to 10 years in prison.

The courtroom exam has been adjourned until Dec. 14 at 1 p.m. in front of Judge Gerald McNally at 52nd District Court, Independence Township.

Merrit was treasurer of Clarkston Co-op Nursery School in 1991. According to the Oakland County Sheriff's report, discrepancies in bookkeeping were found when Merrit was replaced as treasurer.

An investigation was launched in 1991, but because of the detailed work in tracking money and receipts, Merrit was not charged until August.

Easy to see gypsy moth egg masses

Now that most of the leaves have dropped from the trees, it's a little easier to spot gypsy moth egg masses, according to Peggy Dryer.

"It might be startling to see them on their houses," says Dryer, who advises residents to take a look. Dryer — who lives near Deer Lake, Independence Township — drew attention to the intruding gypsy moth caterpillars this summer, when they ate many of the leaves from the towering oak trees in her yard and the yards of her neighbors.

But experts say next year and following years are likely to be worse, with caterpillars defoliating trees in the area.

The gypsy moth was introduced at the turn of the century in New York by someone hoping to find a better source of silk. The moths and caterpillars are making their way west across the United States. They have few natural predators — and if their infestation is complete, they can kill trees by eating the leaves year after year.

Oakland County Cooperative Extension experts offer pamphlets on controlling the pests. But the best way is prevention, says Dryer.

That means killing the insects as caterpillars and killing the egg masses after moths lay the eggs.

The golden-color egg masses look kind of powdery and may be found anywhere a protected "pocket" might appear, such as on tree bark, on house siding, and next to fixtures or trim.

Since they're easy to spot now, says Dryer, it's easy to scrape them off and put them in soapy water, which will kill them. Some of her neighbors are burning them or burying them in a coffee can.

She points out that it's much easier to get rid of them now — as unmoving masses — than to wait until they hatch into hungry caterpillars in the spring.

Dryer says neighbors must all work on the problem, since the moths and caterpillars don't know boundaries and can travel from tree to tree and yard to yard.

She wants to let people know now, while they have an easy way to tackle the problem.

Horse facility modified

An equestrian facility on Oakhill and Reese roads has been reduced by 3 acres.

The Independence Township Planning Commission unanimously modified the special land use of the 29.67 acres, allowing 3 acres to be split off for a new home.

The owners plan to sell the land, which includes a 6,000-square-foot barn and a training track. The new owners would like to build a new home on the sectioned-off land and use the existing home for their horse trainer.

Township planner Richard Carlisle said the plan was consistent with the master plan of the township. He recommended approval without any conditions except a 75-foot setback from the barn and a maximum of 24 horses on the land.

Woman injured in Dixie crash

A 22-year-old Clarkston woman was taken to the hospital after an 8:30 p.m. accident Oct. 22.

According to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report, Susan D. William was driving her 1987 Chevrolet southbound on Dixie Highway, about 500 feet north of Waterford Road. Another car turned left in front of her, and she hit it.

The road conditions were dry; the night was clear, and the road was well lit.

The driver of the other car — David J. Villereal, 36, of Waterford — was not wearing his seat belt. He was not hurt.

William, who was wearing a seat belt, was treated and released from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac.

Tickets are pending the investigation.

Hearing on community block grant money

Money for community development is the topic of a public hearing Tuesday, Nov. 16.

The hearing before the Independence Township Board takes place at 7:30 p.m. in the township annex, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston.

The board wants opinions from area residents on how to spend about $73,983 in 1994-95 Community Development Block Grant money.

Fire equipment sold

A station wagon and chain saws were sold by the Independence Township Fire Department.

The township board unanimously approved the sale Oct. 19.

One chainsaw went to the City of Clarkston for $355, and the other was sold to Al Doran for $289. Doran also was the high bidder for two cut-off saws at $357 each and for the 1982 Chevrolet station wagon, which sold for $677.02.

Sheriff's Log

Go figure

Local actors may have expected tomatoes — but they were surprised by bullets in their theater.

During Clarkston Village Players' rehearsal Monday night, Oct. 25, someone shot a hole in Depot Theater next to the railroad tracks on White Lake Road, Independence Township.

The bullet entered the wall and traveled through stacked curtains on the stage, leaving about eight holes in the folded fabric, according to some of the actors.

No one was injured, according to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

The Players were rehearsing for "Veronica's Room," an adult thriller that opens this weekend. Described as "creepy," the plot includes lots of twists and keeps theater-goers on the edge of their seats.

While the Players have incorporated the real sound and vibrations of passing trains into their performances, real bullets are not part of this play, they said.

Yoga helps people relax, beat stress

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

In today's fast-paced society, Americans are constantly on the look out for ways to relieve stress. Regina Murcia-James relies on a discipline that

"It's proven very therapeutic to people with weak back muscles, due to the sitting positions and gentle stretching movements involved."

dates back nearly six centuries — yoga.

According to the 42-year-old Waterford resident, the practice of yoga involves "stilling the mind in order to acquire a state of balance and harmony."

Murcia-James just began her seventh year of teaching as a member of the Yoga Association of Greater Detroit and the International Association of Yoga Therapists.

Until last year, she held classes at the Calvary Lutheran Church in Independence Township. Murcia-James now teaches a class in Waterford Township.

She was first introduced to yoga as a teen-ager in her native Australia.

"My first class was with my mother when I was 15 years old," Murcia-James said. "It was very popular in the "Yoga has helped me be less impatient and negative toward others."

'60s, and it seemed like everyone was trying it. Being a generally nervous person, I gravitated toward yoga and, eventually, fell in love with it.

"It can be very simple, but deep at the same time," she said.

Murcia-James teaches "hatha-yoga," or basic yoga. She said the ultimate goal of her class is for her students to tap an inner-calmness, which can lead to physical health. This concerted concentration is achieved through slow, deep breathing, coupled with simultaneous stretching movements in an array of positions.

By focusing on breathing and stretching, Murcia-James said her students can more easily clear their minds.

"It's very difficult to clear your mind just by concentration," she said. "Deep breathing and stretching makes it considerably easier."

Murcia-James said yoga has an advantage over other forms of exhaustive exercises in that it doesn't deplete the body of energy and require rest afterwards. In fact, she said, yoga replenishes the body's energy supply through its passive movements.

"I've been told that some doctors are referring their patients to yoga classes," Murcia-James said. "It's proven very therapeutic to people with weak back muscles, due to the sitting positions and gentle stretching movements involved."

This boost of energy is just one of the benefits to be extracted from this ancient science. Murcia-James said yoga allows a person to cope with life's daily problems once a calmness is achieved. She added that this tranquility is also beneficial in confrontational situations.

"Personally, I'm a very quick-tempered and quick-moving person," she said. "Yoga has helped me be less impatient and negative toward others."

A majority of Murcia-James' classes usually consist of 10-15 people at a time. Yet, despite the numbers, most new students go into the class exhibiting a degree of wariness or skepticism.

"At first, a lot of people are scared that yoga is some sort of mystical system that's going to take over their minds," she said, smiling. "However, they're usually so relaxed by the end of class that they know there's nothing to fear. In fact, by this time, most have already learned to like it."

Yoga's resurgence may eclipse its level of popularity from three decades ago, said Murcia-James.

"It's definitely coming back again," she said. "People now realize that they have some degree of control over their health, through the body and mind. So I think yoga will eventually become a bigger phenomenon than it was then."

"It can be very simple, but deep at the same time."

"At one time, it was the world's best-kept secret, but now it's slipping out all over the place," Murcia-James added.

Class information with Murcia-James can be obtained by calling 673-3472 or the Yoga Hotline at 557-0047.

Boy has trouble with bowel movements

My 7-year-old nephew has trouble with bowel movements. He often won't go for a whole week, and when he does, he has to take all of his clothes off first. He has been treated by a physician for compacted bowel. The boy's parents are divorced, and he lives with his mother. When his parents first discovered his problem, they would force him to sit on the toilet until he had a bowel movement (which rarely occurred). His parents now realize that was a mistake. What can they do now to help him? His condition is painful and embarrassing to him.

Concerned Aunt

Dear Concerned Aunt:

I have worked, in my 25 years in counseling children and families, with quite a few children who endure this complaint. Interestingly, most of them have been ages 7-9, and most have been male. Social-economic status seems to have no bearing on this problem.

My first recommendation you've already completed. That is, rule out any physical problems by taking him to his family doctor or pediatrician. In your case, I assume an organic basis was ruled out. When this point is reached, I explore for possible behavioral and emotional conflicts or trauma and any control issues that may be prevalent.

Your nephew could be entered into a power struggle with his parents or may be reacting to trauma. You mentioned divorce, and I would be interested to know if the delayed bowel movement per chance coincided with its onset.

Power struggles by definition require two sides, both insisting on their own way. Each feels determined to do just the opposite of what is asked. Usually, the more determined a parent is to "control" a child, the less success he or she will have. One person cannot fight alone. When a parent learns to do nothing during this type of struggle, the child's power is dissipated. Remember, within the scope of their own lives, children this age have very few areas of control. Their bowel regulation is one of them.

On the other hand, if these symptoms are brought on by the divorce, counseling may be in order. Bowel retention behavior may be symptomatic of deeper emotional conflicts. Stimulating him or her to verbalize feelings and acknowledge the frustration, worry and or resentment connected to mom and dad separating, the new living arrangements, possible family discord, etc., is crucial in this situation.

However, to protect their parents or to mitigate against side taking, children characteristically abstain from sharing their hurt, which is the beginning phase of withdrawal and another form of withholding or retention.

Family therapist Stan Garwood, M.A., M.S.W., resides in Independence Township. "Ask the Therapist" appears in The Clarkston News regularly. Scholarship offered

High school seniors and college music students are invited to audition for college scholarships in December. The Tuesday Musicale of Pontiac set try-outs for 9:30 a.m. Monday, Dec. 27, at Central United Methodist Church, Waterford. Vocal or instrumental soloists may apply.

For more information or to request applications, call Scholarship Chairwoman Margaret Warczak at 332-4975. Applications are required by Dec. 1.

Scholarship deadline

High school students with a "B" average or better are eligible for a $1,000 scholarship.

Students should request applications by Dec. 15 from Educational Communications Scholarship Foundation, 721 N. McKinley Road, P.O. Box 5012, Lake Forest, IL 60045-5012.

To receive an application, students should send a note stating their name, address, city, state, ZIP Code, grade point average and year of graduation.

Winners — 125 of them — will be selected by Jan. 14, 1994, on the basis of academic performance, involvement in extra-curricular activities and some consideration of financial need. For more information, call 708-295-6650.

QUESTION: What is a blend loan?

ANSWER: Sometimes a bank will allow a mortgage takeover at a rate higher than the original loan rate but lower than the current market rate. This is called a blend loan.

Say a seller lists his home for $150,000 and anticipates that a new buyer will need a $120,000 mortgage. The old existing mortgage is $40,000 at about 7%. Today's prevailing rate will surely be much higher.

A blend loan might be used to combine the difference in rates and amounts owed to come out with a new loan at a rate higher than the original rate but lower than the current rate.

Inter-library loan helps genealogists

BY VIRGINIA BLOCK

Some time ago we ran a query for Edwin L. Carson, of Ashland, Oregon looking for clues to burial place of ancestor George Northway, who died 19 Oct 1864. The burial place has been found, in Clifton Cemetery, Washington Township, Macomb County.

The problem now, no obituary on death record can be located. Since records of George's role as a county commissioner (?) in Oakland Township, as well as a Justice of the Peace, we feel certain his passing would be well noted in the newspapers of the day (or week).

Mr. Carson still seeks the location of information of Stephen Green, born 1816 in Penn. Stephen was the father of the oldest grandchild of George Northway. We do have record showing the marriage of Stephen Green to Harriet Northway, both age 21, of Oakland Township on 13 March 1840 by Orange Foot, J.P.

By coincidence, Melvin and Betty Gilchrist, of Mecosta, Mich., doing Gage research show a Northway collateral line, and we found a marriage between a Gage and Tripp line. Perhaps the theory of the Morman church that in only 10 generations, we are all related, is not so far-fetched after all.

Certainly all the above named families were early settlers from New York or Eastern states claiming bounty land in Michigan.

Myra Gormley, genealogist whose columns are found weekly on Prodigy, reports in her latest program on Reference books, their cost, and emphasis on inter-library loan, if you are NOT building a personal library. She lists bookstores and publishers, naming those who have free catalogs. We are not permitted to list them, but will share the list with anyone requesting information from the list, if you'll write and include an S.A.S.E., naming your area of interest.

Memberships in genealogical societies usually offer reduced rates on many publications, as well.

"An Immigrant Nation: United States Regulation of Immigration, 1798-1991" is the title of an interesting booklet prepared by the U.S. Department of Justice. It is most informative and a copy can be found in the library of the Pontiac Area Historical and Genealogical Society. All are invited to the Oct 14 meeting of this Society, guest speaker will be James Jessop, teacher and lecturer on family history and research. Meetings are at 7:30 p.m., lower level of the Pontiac Public Library, 60 E. Pike St. There is no charge and the public is welcome.

Happy Hunting.

Genealogist Virginia Block may be reached by writing to Heritage Hunt II, Sherman Publications, Inc., 666 Lapeer Road, Oxford, MI 48371.

Engagement

Suzanne Kiser announces the engagement of her son, James Kiser of Clarkston, to Stephanie Jane Rosenberg, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Norman Rosenberg of Hartland. Stephanie is a 1992 graduate of Oakland University, Rochester, and is completing her master's degree at Wayne State University, Detroit. James is a 1986 Clarkston High School graduate and a 1991 graduate of Michigan State University, East Lansing. He is currently working as a representative of the food industry. The wedding is planned for May 14, 1994.

Friends of youth

VanKlaveren. Missing from the photo are directors Dan Stencil and Richard Ruth. The club's motto is "Friend of Youth," and its activities and fund-raising efforts are geared to Clarkston area youngsters. The club meets at 7:30 a.m. Wednesdays at the Spring Lake Country Club.

In service

Marine Cpl. Duane A. Cochran was recently promoted to his present rank while serving with 2nd Assault Amphibian Battalion, 2nd Marine Division, Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, N.C.

The 1987 graduate of Clarkston High School joined the Marine Corps in July 1989. He is the son of Nancy Cochran of Shappie Road, Independence Township.

Marine PFC. Ann M. Welch, a 1991 graduate of Clarkston High School, recently reported for duty with Marine Wing Headquarters Squadron One, 1st Marine Aircraft Wing, Okinawa, Japan.

She joined the Marine Corps in April 1992.

Great prize

HANNA Swanson, 2, of Independence Township seems a little awestruck by her prize of a Great Pumpkin. The youngster won it during the Great Pumpkin Patch event at Coldwell Banker/The Michael Group on M-15, Independence Township, Oct. 24. Sponsored by more than 20 sales associates at the real estate office, the event offered 300 free pumpkins (2 1/2 tons) to any "kid" in the community, as well as free cider and cookies. Minnie and Mickey Mouse were on hand, as were a small band of mimes and even "Dracules" (alias Linda Walsh). The company said it offered the event to thank the community for its support throughout the year. The sales associates plan to offer it again next year.

Obituaries

Charles John Ash

Charles John Ash, 79, of Davisburg died Oct. 29, 1993. He was retired as a production manager for Ford Motor Co. in Mahwa, N.J., in 1980. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge No. 570 and past president of the Lions Club in Ramsey, N.J.

Mr. Ash is survived by his wife, Martha Ann; and children, Ernest and his wife Frances of Davisburg and Jeanine and her husband Peter Silberstein of Albany, N.Y. He is also survived by his grandchildren, Diana Barnett; Allan, Thomas and Christopher Ash; and David and Michele Silberstein.

Mr. Ash also is survived by three great-grandchildren and his brother, Alfred Ash of Hernando, Fla.

The funeral took place Tuesday, Nov. 2, at the Lewis E. Wint and Son TRUST 100 Funeral Home, Clarkston, with the Rev. Douglas R. Trebilcock officiating. Burial was at Andersonville Cemetery, Springfield Township.

Dorothy Louise Brow

Dorothy Louise Brow, 52, of Waterford died Oct. 29, 1993. For the past 12 years, she was an employee of the Archdiocese of Detroit and was a Vista worker at the Oakland County Welfare Rights office. Also, she was an active member of the Al-Anon Club for 25 years, a support group for families who have relatives with addiction problems.

Mrs. Brow is survived by her husband, James; children, Scott, Todd, James and Cindy Brow and Steve Staley; mother, Mary Staley; sisters, Alice Owen and Susan Lintz; sister-in-law, Barbara Peach of Pennsylvania; brothers-in-law, William Brow and Jerry Brow; and grandchildren, Jeremy, Justin, Andrea, Timothy, Nicholas, Stacy, Steven, Stephanie, Amanda and Steven.

The funeral was Monday, Nov. 1, at the Lewis E. Wint and Son TRUST 100 Funeral Home, Clarkston. Burial was at Prestonville Cemetery.

Ambrose A. Poeppe

Ambrose A. Poeppe, 75, of Waterford and formerly of Clarkston, died Oct. 29, 1993. He was retired from the General Motors Technical Center and was a disabled veteran of World War II. He was a member of the DAV Chapter No. 19, Royal Oak, and of Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church, Waterford.

Mr. Poeppe is survived by his wife, Margery; children, Kathleen Gerlach, Janet Priebe, Dean, Gregg, Gail Menna, Kevin, Kirk and Patti Adelaine; 21 grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; sister, Irene Meyers; and mother-in-law, Clarissa Kenney.

Mass of the Resurrection took place Tuesday, Nov. 2, at Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church, Waterford. Burial was at Lakeview Cemetery, Independence Township. Arrangements were made by the Lewis E. Wint and Son TRUST 100 Funeral Home, Clarkston.

Kenneth C. Craft

When Kenneth C. Craft, 65, died of cancer Nov. 2, his family lost a caring father and grandfather, who loved to laugh.

"He had a good sense of humor," said his daughter, Nancy Lee Gignac. "He kept his grandkids going with that."

Craft taught his children to have strong values, said his son, Steven Craft.

"He was an excellent father. He gave his children a fantastic work ethic that we have today. He taught his children that if you work hard, good things will come to you."

Even though Kenneth Craft and his wife, Marilyn, were divorced years ago, they remained friends.

Marilyn even cared for him during his illness.

"He was a happy person and enjoyed life," said Marilyn, who works at Hallman's Apothecary.

She and Kenneth were sweethearts while students at Clarkston High School (which now houses Clarkston Middle School).

In fact, Kenneth and his brother, Harvey, were the only two employees of Judge William Stamp's Clarkston News business. Marilyn helped at the paper once in a while, folding about 40 papers with Mrs. Stamp.

That newspaper experience may have launched Kenneth Craft's career as a pasteup foreman for such newspapers as The Pontiac Press; the Southtown Economist, Southtown, Ill.; and the Hammond Times, Gary, Ind.

When new owners bought The Pontiac Press (and turned it into The Oakland Press), they fired all managers, including Kenneth. The day he was fired was his daughter, Karen's, wedding day.

Never down for long, Craft started his own real estate company in the Clarkston area, Ken Craft Real Estate, and operated it for six years in the 1970s.

"It supported our family for many years," said his son, Steven.

Not only will Craft's family miss him, the Clarkston community probably will, too.

"He was a Clarkston person when Clarkston was developing," said Steven, mentioning that his father was an on-call Independence Township firefighter and a former member of the Clarkston Eagles and Clarkston Lions Club.

He also was a charter member of the Calvary Lutheran Church, Clarkston.

Mr. Craft is survived by his ex-wife, Marilyn; children, Karen Sue and her husband Ronald Crawford of Waterford, Nancy Lee and her husband David Gignac of Clarkston, and Steven Charles Craft and his wife Karla of Waterford; and mother-in-law, Helen Mortimore of Clarkston.

He also is survived by his grandchildren, Derek, Corey and Megan Bildstein; Justine Gignac; and Marcus and Alyssa Craft. Also, he's survived by his sister-in-law, Josephine Craft of Waterford, and several nieces and nephews.

The funeral was planned for 1 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 4, at Calvary Lutheran Church, Clarkston, with the Rev. Robert Walters officiating. Burial was set for Ottawa Park Cemetery, Independence Township. Arrangements were made by the Lewis E. Wint and Son TRUST 100 Funeral Home, Clarkston.

Memorial tributes may be made to Hospice of Southeastern Michigan or Calvary Lutheran Church.

Elegant dessert

Any day can feel like a special occasion with this luscious Chocolate Walnut Souffle Torte.

This is ideal to serve when friends come over for dessert and coffee -- or it can polish off an elegant, formal dinner.

CHOCOLATE WALNUT SOUFFLE TORTE

8 ounces semisweet chocolate
2 ounces unsweetened chocolate
3/4 cup unsalted butter
6 large eggs, separated
1 cup super-fine sugar
3 tablespoons strong coffee
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla extract
2/3 cup toasted walnuts, finely ground
Pinch of salt

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease 9-inch springform pan; line. Grease and flour bottom and sides of pan. Melt chocolates and butter; cool. Beat egg yolks and 3/4 cup sugar until ribbon forms. Add coffee, vanilla, chocolate and walnuts. Beat egg whites with salt until soft peaks form. Add remaining 1/4 cup sugar, beating until stiff. Fold into batter. Pour into pan. Bake 50 minutes, until a pick comes out almost clean. Let cool in the pan; then invert onto serving plate.

Architecture topic of free programs

Greek Revival, Queen Anne, Bauhaus, Postmodern — whatever your architectural taste, your knowledge will grow with two special library programs in November.

"Preserving Historic Buildings" takes place 7:30-9 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 9, in the Independence Township Library, 6495 Clarkston Road.

Certified historical architect Michael Kirk talks about how to recognize old buildings worth saving, the difference between restoration and renovation, and other topics.

"Current Design Trends" takes place 7:30-9 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 16, at the library. Architect Arthur F. Smith talks about trends in residential architecture, including what goes into good design, why good design is not necessarily more expensive, and what's involved when working with an architect.

To sign up for either free program, call 625-2212. An interpreter for hearing impaired people is provided if requested one week in advance.

Singers wanted

Men who like to sing are invited to join the 10th Annual Christmas Carol Chorus in Waterford.

The Pontiac Chapter of SPEBSQSA rehearses at 7:30 p.m. Tuesdays, beginning Nov. 9, at Schoolcraft School, 6400 Maceday Drive, Waterford.

Performances begin Sunday, Dec. 5, with the Goodfellows Christmas Capers benefit at the CAI building, Waterford, and continuing with caroling at local restaurants and nursing homes on Tuesday evenings Dec. 7, 14 and 21.

No fees, costumes or experience are required — just a desire to sing the old Christmas favorites for receptive audiences. To register, call Bill Pascher at 391-0572, or show up at the Tuesday night rehearsals.

Food needed

The Third Annual Adopt-a-Senior Thanksgiving program needs donations of food.

Offered by the Oakland Livingston Human Service Agency, the program provides Thanksgiving food baskets for low-income, home-bound and handicapped senior citizens in Oakland County. It helps seniors who can't afford to buy special holiday food.

Food may be donated 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, through Nov. 22, at the Community and Family Services office at 196 Oakland Ave., Pontiac. For more information, call 858-1679.

Minutes of Regular Meeting
October 25, 1993

Meeting called to order by Mayor Pro Tem Schultz.
Roll: Present: Arkwright, Basinger, Roeser, Sanderson, Schultz, Secatch.

Absent: Catalo.
Minutes of the October 11, 1993 meeting approved as presented.
Agenda was accepted with the additions of DPW Supervisor and Leaf Bags under new business.

Resolved by Basinger, supported by Secatch, "That the City Council execute the Intergovernmental Agreement to Provide Community Water Service to the City of the Village of Clarkston with the Charter Township of Independence as enacted by the Independence Township Board." Resolution passed.

Moved by Arkwright, supported by Schultz, "That the City Building Inspector, Seymour Stone, be deputized by the City Clerk to issue citations for zoning and building infractions." Motion carried.

Resolved by Secatch, supported by Basinger, "That Ronald R. Pursley be appointed DPW Supervisor beginning November 1, 1993." Resolution passed.

Resolved by Sanderson, supported by Basinger, "That the permit as amended be issued to Robert Eshaki of Rudy's Market for permission to drill a well on the City right-of-way be issued." Resolution passed.

Moved by Basinger, supported by Arkwright, "That the Chief of Police employment agreement be amended to provide that the chief may engage in supplemental employment as brought to the Council's attention of consulting for small business security provided, however, that none of this supplemental employment is conducted on City time or interfere with his duties as City Chief of Police, nor is he to use City resources for this purpose." Resolution passed.
Meeting adjourned at 9:25 p.m.

Community education at a glance

Management skills

This one-session class takes place 9-11:30 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 6, at the Community Education Center. It shows how to increase effectiveness, train, lead and motivate team members to achieve the company mission and goals. Fee is $25.

Guilt-free creativity for women

This session helps women identify the reason for their high level of fatigue and stress in their busy lives. It takes place 7-9 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 11, at Sashabaw Middle School. Fee is $12.

Camcorder, advanced

This class covers lighting, editing, zooming, placement and more. It takes place 6:30-9:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 11, at Sashabaw Middle School. Fee is $12.

Builders' pre-licensing seminar

This seminar presented by Pat Crilley School is designed for those planning to take the state Builder's License Exam. It includes builders' state law, rules, regulations, construction, lien act, and all phases of residential building programs. The $155 fee includes all materials. The three-session class takes place 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturdays, beginning Nov. 13 at the Community Education Center.

Divorce recovery workshop offered

Men and women of all ages can benefit from Divorce Recovery Workshop in the Clarkston area.

The eight-week workshop takes place 7:30 p.m. Mondays, beginning Nov. 22. A $7 donation is requested.

The small-scale meetings take place in an area home, so those interested are asked to call Sue at 625-3964 for a location.

"There's a very big need in the '90s for this type of thing," said one of the organizers of the group.

The meetings include speakers and discussion and a helpful booklet. Topics include: "Understanding your divorce," "Feelings of divorce," "Coping with our past," "Using our anger in a healthy way," "New identity" and "Forming new goals."

Book helps find vital records

If you're interested in family history, you may be interested in a $6.50 book that serves as an aid to locating vital records.

"Where to Write for Vital Records" is published by Consumer Education Research Center, a national non-profit consumer group formed in 1969.

A new updated edition includes a state-by-state listing of the addresses and telephone numbers of the archive where each record can be found, the cost of a copy of the document, and sample form letters containing all of the information needed to get vital documents. It also includes government offices of other countries where you can get help in locating vital records. Further, the book contains information on the Family History Library of the Mormon Church, which contains over 200,000 volumes of family history records and a list of almost a quarter-million people who are willing to share information to help you find family roots.

The book helps locate copies of records of birth, death, marriage or divorce.

To get a copy of the book, send $6.50 (plus $2 shipping and handling) to Consumer Center-Documents, 350 Scotland Road, Orange, NJ 07050. Or call 1-800-872-0121 with a credit card number.

PUBLIC NOTICE OF SALE

3941 ELIZABETH CITY OF TROY OAKLAND COUNTY, MICHIGAN

The City Manager is hereby authorized to receive proposals for the sale of City owned property described as Parcel 88-20-21-203-018, Lot 118, Troy Meadows Sub. No. 3, and located on the west side of Elizabeth, south of W. Waffles and west of Livernois, subject to the following conditions:

A. The value is to be established by an appraisal at the direction of the officials of the City of Troy.

B. Existing platted and recorded easement rights shall be retained by the City of Troy.

C. Property and structures will be purchased in 'as is' condition. Construction of storm drainage improvements on this site are anticipated to be completed on or before November 16, 1993.

D. The City Council retains final authority to approve or disapprove sale of the parcel.

The property is a 98'x134.49' single family lot Zoned R-1B with the address of 3941 Elizabeth. The property is improved with a single family home with a two car attached garage.

Please be advised that this property is contained within a floodplain as determined by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA). Therefore any federally secured loan for this property will require floodplain insurance at the Purchaser's expense.

The conditions of sale shall be outlined on the "City of Troy Offer to Purchase Form."

Offers to purchase will be accepted only on "City of Troy Offer to Purchase Forms" with no additions, deletions or changes to the terms and conditions of sale. These forms are available through the Right of Way Department of the City of Troy. No offer shall be accepted which is less than the appraised minimum bid price of $125,000. Sealed offers to purchase must be delivered to the City Clerk's office of the City of Troy no later than 2:00PM, Tuesday, November 16, 1993. At that time all offers to purchase will be opened and posted in the Troy City offices for public review for seven days.

MARK ENVELOPED "SEALED BID," 3941 ELIZABETH IN THE LOWER LEFT HAND CORNER WHEN SUBMITTING AN OFFER.

Those who have submitted acceptable offers to purchase by the November 16, 1993 deadline will have the opportunity to submit revised sealed offers to purchase until 2:00 PM on Tuesday, November 23, 1993 under the following conditions:

1) The revised offer must exceed the highest purchase price of any offer received November 16, 1993 by an amount of not less than 2.5%.

2) THE REVISED OFFERS ARE TO BE SUBMITTED IN A SEALED ENVELOPE MARKED "REVISED OFFER TO PURCHASE, 3941 ELIZABETH."

A deposit of not less than 5% of the total amount of the offer to purchase shall accompany the first offer in the form of a bank letter of credit, cashier's check, money order or certified check.

Interested parties may review a disclosure statement regarding this property in the City of Troy Right of Way Department, 500 W. Big Beaver Road, Troy, Michigan, Monday-Friday from 8:00 AM to 4:30 PM.

Arrangements for appointments to inspect the property may be made with the Right of Way Department of the City of Troy by calling 524-3498. LX45-1

Expression through movement

LISA BLIMKA, 21, of Independence Township instructs her pre-ballet class. Blimka has taught dance classes for three years.

This year she is teaching about 170 Clarkson Community Education students ballet, tap, jazz and lyrical ballet.

She teaches at a dance studio, takes three dance classes a week, and teaches 25 community education dance classes this fall, from ballet to jazz.

Lisa Blimka, 21, of Independence Township, has a full week of dancing and teaching, but she doesn't seem to mind.

"I always wanted to express (the) joy of dancing," she said.

Blimka has been dancing for 18 years and teaching for the last three. This year she teaches about 170 Clarkson Community Education students ballet, tap, jazz and lyrical ballet, which is a slow, muscular dance, combining jazz and ballet.

For the first time, community education offers beginning dance classes for high school students. Most of these students have never enrolled in a dance class before this one.

On Monday nights, Blimka teaches jazz to about 15 students.

"It was a good turn out from the high school," she said.

Blimka said she teaches the older kids the same basic steps and dances as her younger students, but the high school students put everything together faster. The high school students will perform at least two dances at the community recital at Clarkston High School in June.

Dancing is a good activity for any age student, said Blimka.

It's a lot of fun, a different way of expression, and it helps in the coordination and muscle development, she
