Owners plan to appeal

BY DEBORAH DZIEWIT
Clarkston News Special Writer

A standing-room-only crowd packed the Clarkston City Hall Nov. 23 to hear arguments about a proposed bed and breakfast on Main Street.

At the meeting, the Clarkston Zoning Board of Appeals' addressed the orders of two Oakland County Circuit Court judges regarding the establishment of a B&B.

In the first order, Judge Hilda Gage remanded the ZBA "to make findings of fact" and "to make a finding

"We have a fragile historical district, and it should be preserved. This would interfere and destroy what we have."

whether or not the proposed use is more appropriate to the district, and for further proceedings."

After hearing the arguments of both sides of the issue and comments from the board, it voted 6-1 to deny the plans submitted by the owners, Buck and Joan Kopietz. The Kopietzes planned to make five bedrooms in the lower level of the structure, including the additions of bathrooms.

Voting to deny approval were James Schultz, James (See B&B, Page 22A)

Goodfellows sell paper this weekend

If you see grown men hawking newspapers in the Clarkston area this weekend, don't be alarmed.

It's just the annual Goodfellow newspaper sale, which benefits needy children.

Sponsored by the Independence Township Fire Department and the Clarkston Rotary Club, the paper sale takes place 7:30 a.m. to 4:40 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Dec. 3 and 4.

In its 53rd year, the sale raises money to buy shoes for area residents in need. In addition, cash will be donated to Lighthouse North to provide warm clothing, food, heat, electricity and more to needy families.

Referrals for those in need may be given to schools, churches and Lighthouse North.

Teens charged as adults

Beating possibly gang related

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Three teens were charged as adults last week in connection with the Oct. 2 beating of two Waterford residents.

Daniel Kew, 17, Gary L. Smith Jr., 16, and Colin R. Phipps, 16, all of Waterford Township, were arraigned in 52nd District Court, Independence Township, Nov. 23 before Judge Gerald McNally.

They are charged with assault with intent to murder — a felony punishable with up to life in prison — for allegedly beating a 19-year-old man at Pine Knob Car Wash on Sashabaw Road, Independence Township. A 17-year-old boy was also injured in the fight.

A fourth teen is also sought in the beating.

A preliminary exam is scheduled for 1 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 2, before McNally. Kew is remains in Oakland County Jail, and Smith and Phipps are being held at Children's Village — all without bond.

According to Detective Chuck Young of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, the fight was allegedly gang related. He said "The Brotherhood" wanted the victim to join their gang, but he refused.

A fight began at Area Code 313, a teen night club in Waterford Township. Management asked all of the teens to leave.

Young said a 45-minute car chase involving six cars began, ending in Independence Township. He said the victim stopped at a home on Independence Drive, and he and a 17-year-old friend began running toward the car wash.

However, the other group of teens allegedly stopped the pair at the car wash and began beating the 19-year-old with 4-by-4 boards until he was unconscious. He was treated at North Oakland Medical Center, Pontiac, for acute closed head injuries. He has been released and is undergoing therapy.

The 17-year-old sustained minor injuries from the fight.

SCOTT Dickey (center) and Mark Ladetto (right) receive Outstanding Service awards from Chief DeVore Monday, Nov. 22, during Clarkston's city council meeting. Each officer has been on the Clarkston police force since it began years ago. Ladetto received recognition for "going before and beyond for me," DeVore said. Ladetto not only has his shift duties, but he also helps with administrative duties. Using his computer skills, he creates any forms the department needs. Dickey, who works the midnight shift, was recognized for his "all around outstanding performance as a police officer," DeVore said. DeVore said that Dickey leads in arrests in all categories.

Mayor, supervisor call for 'board-on-board' meeting to iron out city-township contract

BY DEBORAH DZIEWIT
Clarkston News Special Writer

A city-township agreement on library and fire protection and other issues remains in limbo.

Clarkston Mayor Sharron Catallo and Dale Stuart, Independence Township supervisor, met last week and agreed that a "board on board" meeting would be needed to iron out the differences between the two governmental units.

A year has passed since members of each board met to discuss the split of assets, fire protection and library services.

Since that time, the two governmental units have worked under a verbal agreement, while attorneys hammered out the details.

However, differences have since arisen over what city officials thought was agreed upon at the Nov. 11, 1992, meeting.

When Clarkston became a city in July 1992, officials agreed that the township owed the city a percentage of its assets, since city residents helped pay for them out of township taxes.

After calculating the worth of township assets, officials agreed that the township would owe the city $270,000, according to Art Pappas, city manager.

However, township and city officials disagree over the township's length of payment to the city and the interest rate to be charged.

"I believe we said four years with the interest rate the only thing to be decided upon," Councilman Steve Arkwright said. "But they (the township) want six years and no interest."

At the Nov. 22 Clarkston City Council meeting, Arkwright said that if the city were to charge 4 percent, it could mean $6,800 in favor of the city.

"That is not a small chunk of change," said Councilman William Basinger.

Council members also have expressed concern over the 10 percent administrative fee the township expects to charge the city for fire and library services.

While contracts for fire and library services have for the most part been worked out, the administrative fee is one issue that will be discussed at the intergovernmental meeting.

The contract to provide fire protection for city residents charges city residents at the same rate as township residents.

If the township has its way, the city will pay the equivalent of 3 mills, plus 10 percent of that amount as an administrative fee. One mill is $1 for every $1,000 in assessed property valuation. In Michigan, property is assessed at half its market value.

For library services, city is to pay an amount equal to 0.7 mill, with an extra 10 percent of that paid as an administrative fee.

The township wants to levy those fees to cover hidden charges within the administrative structure that cannot be accounted for directly, according to Pappas.

Despite the differences, the mayor said she foresees no problems with the city and township reaching an agreement.

"We hope to get together before the first of the year to determine the length of time and if interest is to be charged and, if it is, the amount," she said.

Planners to tackle historical ordinance

BY DEBORAH DZIEWIT

Windows, doors, aluminum siding — all three are part of proposed changes to Clarkston's historical district

"If aluminum were allowed, do not cover the trim; otherwise it would no longer be the old house facing the street. I don't think that is too much to ask."

Councilman William Basinger

ordinance.

On Nov. 22, the Clarkston City Council gave the planning commission the job to rework the historical district's ordinance to bring it closer to state law and federal standards.

Prompted by Susan Basinger, the Historical Commission chairwoman, the council agreed to change the ordinance regarding the relocation or elimination of windows and doors and the regulation of artificial siding.

Currently the commission does not have the right to disapprove the alteration of windows and door openings or the addition of artificial siding. With an ordinance change, this would be possible.

But council members said the ordinance changes could not be too restrictive.

"We cannot dictate what everyone can do to their homes," said Councilwoman Karen Sanderson. "There will always be someone who will push the issue."

Council members also expressed concern regarding the prohibition of artificial siding.

"We cannot not stop aluminum siding on the fronts," William Basinger said. "But we cannot allow aluminum on the trim on the street facade."

"If aluminum were allowed, do not cover the trim; otherwise it would no longer be the old house facing the street. I don't think that is too much to ask," Basinger said.

The council asked city attorney Tom Ryan to list the proposed changes to the city's current ordinance and to work with the planning commission to make those changes.

It also asked that Susan or William Basinger attend the Dec. 6 planning commission meeting to explain the changes needed in the ordinance to bring it closer to state law.

High-tech to link students, data, teachers

Editor's note: This is the third installment in a story about Gov. Engler's school reform plan. The rest of the plan will in appear in future issues of The Clarkston News.

BY DOUG CARLSON

6. Discipline

■ It is proposed that discipline be improved by adopting a ZERO TOLERANCE FOR VIOLENCE and granting charters to the Department of Social Services and others to develop alternative schools.

■ Those who disrupt through violent behavior would not be allowed to remain in a traditional setting.

■ To address the need for both improved school discipline and alternative schools for youth at risk of dropping out, charter public schools would be created for youth who have dropped out of school, have been expelled from school or could be expelled based on violations committed in a public school.

NOTE: One such school already exists, the Casa Maria Academy in downtown Detroit.

■ The academic program would be part of the overall treatment for these youth.

■ Upon completion of the program at these special charter schools, transition services would be provided upon the youth's return to a more traditional school.

7. School Readiness Education

■ State support would be doubled for school readiness education for 4-year-olds at risk of school failure.

■ Would provide school readiness education for as many as 10,000 children not served today.

■ "Parent-child schools," designed to strengthen families and improve their capacity to support their children's growth and academic achievement, would be encouraged (such as the Kenan Trust Family Literacy Project).

8. Student Education Bank Account

■ Each student in Michigan who attends a public school would be given a Student Education Bank Account (SEBA). The SEBA would be updated annually to reflect deposits provided by state appropriations and, in some cases, local supplements, and withdrawals for educational expenditures made on behalf of students. That is,

School reform plan

students and parents would select a public school and use the SEBA to pay for the school.

■ Every parent would be given a personalized statement of up-to-date expenditures made on behalf of their child.

■ The SEBA would encourage parents to pay attention to cost and would provide families with the opportunity to obtain more educational services than the child previously received.

■ The SEBA would provide greater equity within the state by recognizing that some schools currently cost much more than others. If a school currently costs less than the basic foundation grant, the student should be able to reap additional benefits.

■ The total revenue following a child to a receiving school district shall not exceed the average per-pupil expenditure of the receiving school. It may be less. Any remaining funds would be credited to the child's SEBA. Such extraneous funds could be used for additional public education, i.e. summer school, extra tutoring, etc.

9. Technology

■ Gov. Engler proposes the creation of a Michigan Information Network the goal of which would be to create a virtual statewide network offering interactive data and video connectivity to every educational entity in Michigan.

■ The Network would help to create schools without walls, enable data collection for the Report Card mechanism, break down the isolation of teachers in their classrooms, and engage students in research and correspondence with students of diverse backgrounds.

■ When the Network is completed, schools will have a common network capability that can be shared. ... Students will be able to pace their own learning. ... Teachers around the state will be able to communicate with one another. ... Information resources will be available instantly to supplement outdated texts, and parents can correspond with teachers by electronic mail.

10. Alternative Teacher Certification

■ The purpose of expanding alternative education is to provide an opportunity for talented people who have not taken the traditional teacher preparation route to enter the teaching profession.

■ People with non-academic work experience would be integrated into the teaching field providing for more job-related curriculum delivery to students. Candidates would be attracted to subject or geographic areas in which the recruitment and retention of teachers is difficult.

(To be continued next week.)

State residents due tax refund checks

The Internal Revenue Service is trying to locate Michigan taxpayers who are still due refunds from their 1992 federal income tax returns.

John Hummel, IRS district director for Michigan, said 1,554 refund checks worth $645,056 were returned by the postal service as "undeliverable." The refund checks range in amounts from $1 to $13,111 and average $415, Hummel said.

The IRS believes most of these taxpayers moved or changed their names during the year and failed to notify the postal service or IRS.

If you are due a refund from your 1992 federal tax return and have not yet received it, contact the IRS at 1-800-829-1040.

PTA to talk reform

Whatta story!

Julie Campe

This month marks my fifth year as editor of The Clarkston News and almost my eighth year in the field of journalism, so it's a good time to reflect on some of my favorite assignments.

As a young reporter, one of my first jobs was to write about Cecil Wilmot, who was accidentally locked in Hallman's Apothecary on a Sunday afternoon. He was looking for a birthday card for his son and didn't notice when the lights were turned off and the doors locked. He missed his son's birthday party due to the mishap.

But Doreen Schwarz (from Rudy's) got help for him after she spotted him through the glass door of the pharmacy. Cecil said he simply sat on the floor and read magazines until help arrived.

Then there was the infamous Mill Pond dam series of stories, whereby conflicts between the dam owner and the Clarkston Village Council were regularly aired at village meetings. Ed Adler, owner of the Clarkston Mills and the accompanying dam, was master of the pun and made the meetings interesting to cover. The council, beneath their frustration, also got a chuckle over wordplay.

Speaking of the famous dam, Bill Kelley, owner of Clarkston Lumber, has a dam story of his own.

He is probably one of the best two storytellers I have ever met. Lucky for me, I got to interview him a few years back. He talked about old-time Clarkston stories, including the time a horse disappeared from downtown Clarkston—a story that was passed down from his grandfather to his father and to him.

In those days, he explained, people would hang a man for horse theft. In this case, farmers had stopped in a saloon where the Clarkston Cafe now stands. When they returned, one horse and buggy were missing. They saw wheel marks leading into the Mill Pond and figured that perhaps the horse and buggy had entered the water and somehow drowned. Most didn't believe it and kept their eyes open for the thief.

However, in the 1940s, the truth was known. When Henry Ford bought the Clarkston Mills, he built the cofferdam on Washington Street, but it broke. That's when he found a buggy sunk at the bottom of the pond (the buggy now is at Henry Ford's museum in Dearborn). So the drowning theory was proven.

While we're on the subject of storytellers, Bill Morse naturally comes to mind. He has the gift of story weaving, mixing facts of the natural world with mystery and humor. I could listen to his stories every day. I regret the time I have not spent at the bake shop while he is there. If you meet him, ask him about the bear.

Some people stand out in my memory for a mixture of reasons: their intelligence, mixed with courtesy and humor and a certain intangible quality that I can only describe as grace. Such people in this category have included Dick Morgan, Myrtle Boadway, Art Pappas, Steve Secatch, Rosemary Howey and Helen Austin. If you have ever met them, you know what I mean.

This list would not be complete without talking about the animal stories that have cropped up over the years. I've met a dog who rides sidecar in a motorcycle, a dog who wears sweatshirts, a bird who rides a bike, a cat who sits up on her hind end and looks a little like a human, baby birds who somehow end up at Judy Nichols' house year after year, a dog who eats rocks, a dog who was trapped in a culvert and saved by an elementary student, a robin who made her nest in someone's back deck barbecue grill, geese of an unusual sort, herons who fish in the Mill Stream, ducks and geese who stop traffic on area streets, and many others.

Holiday reminder: Driver sober

With the holiday season upon us, drinking is more common and, unfortunately, so is drinking and driving.

We support the Red Ribbon campaign to remind people to drive sober during the holidays and throughout the year.

The campaign, organized by Mothers Against Drunk Driving, has a theme of "Tie One On For Safety." It runs through Jan. 1, 1994, and encourages everyone to tie a red ribbon to a visible location on their vehicle.

The ribbon signifies that the driver has chosen to drive sober, making the holidays safer, and also may remind other drivers to do the same.

Project Red Ribbon Spokeswoman Connie Sellecca said the ribbon "symbolizes a nation's intolerance to drunk driving."

While the majority of traffic accidents year-round involve alcohol, the holidays are particularly critical because more people are on the roads and more parties take place.

In Michigan alone 38.7 percent of traffic deaths involved alcohol in 1992, according to MADD. That is, of the 1,297 people killed in traffic accidents, 502 involved alcohol.

The same statistics for Michigan show that of the 21 traffic deaths over Christmas 1992, four involved alcohol (19 percent). Of the 22 traffic deaths over New Year's holiday, nine involved alcohol (40.9 percent).

So remember to sober up before getting behind the wheel. And also, don't get in the car if the driver is not sober.

Ather suggestion: If you're hosting a party, at the beginning establish among your guests who is drinking and who is the "designated driver."

It also may be helpful to collect car keys at the beginning of the party and give them back only if the driver is sober. And it may also help to serve coffee and stop serving alcohol toward the end of the party.

We wish you a happy and safe holiday.

About staff editorials

We at The Clarkston News realize that an important duty of a newspaper is to provide more than just the facts found in news stories.

Since we're out there uncovering the news, we get an inside look at the issues. In our staff editorials, we will give our opinions on those issues, just as other writing on this page — letters and columns — also offers opinions.

We leave the editorials unsigned because we've written them as a staff. Every week, we talk about the issues and take notes on everyone's opinions. Then one of us writes it and the rest of us change it until we're all satisfied.

While our opinions aren't always unanimous, our editorials reflect the majority views of the staff. If the staff splits evenly on an issue, we'll write two editorials on the subject.

We welcome your response to our views.

Jim's Jottings

My and your brother Dair

Jim Sherman

Death!

Why him?

Why anyone?

I'm not the greatest judge of man, but why my brother Dair?

Don't give me that Bible stuff . . . Please give me that Bible stuff.

I've too often found myself repeating a ministerial question from another funeral: "Where else is there to turn?"

Indeed, for brother Dair, where else?

The things I'm going to recall will not get him into the Great Hall, but they are the kinds of things that made him a survivor.

Dair made things work. He made do. Raised in the great depression, he grew up knowing times could be hard. He always worked. During school, summers, after high school, Dair worked.

He married, had a child and went off to war. He survived amphibious landings in the Philippines and he lived through day and night air attacks by the Japs at Okinawa.

Before the war he was a clothing salesman at Kaufman's in Owosso. In the Navy his duty was in the engine room of an LST.

After the war he became a tool and die maker at AC Sparkplug in Flint making air filters, etc.

In writing this about brother Dair I think of all the obituaries we've carried in our newspapers, obituaries about people like my brother.

These obituaries are so inadequate. So many people just live their lives . . . raise families, work hard and are good citizens caring for their fellow man. Because they aren't joiners their obituaries are shorter.

But often they contribute more to their communities than those of us who join clubs, serve on boards and do public things.

Brother Dair is such a person. He belonged to the Grange and is a past commander of the Corunna VFW Post. That'll take a couple lines in his obit. It might say he enjoyed fishing, hunting and travel. It will say he was a father, grandfather and great grandfather. It'll say he died suddenly at 73.

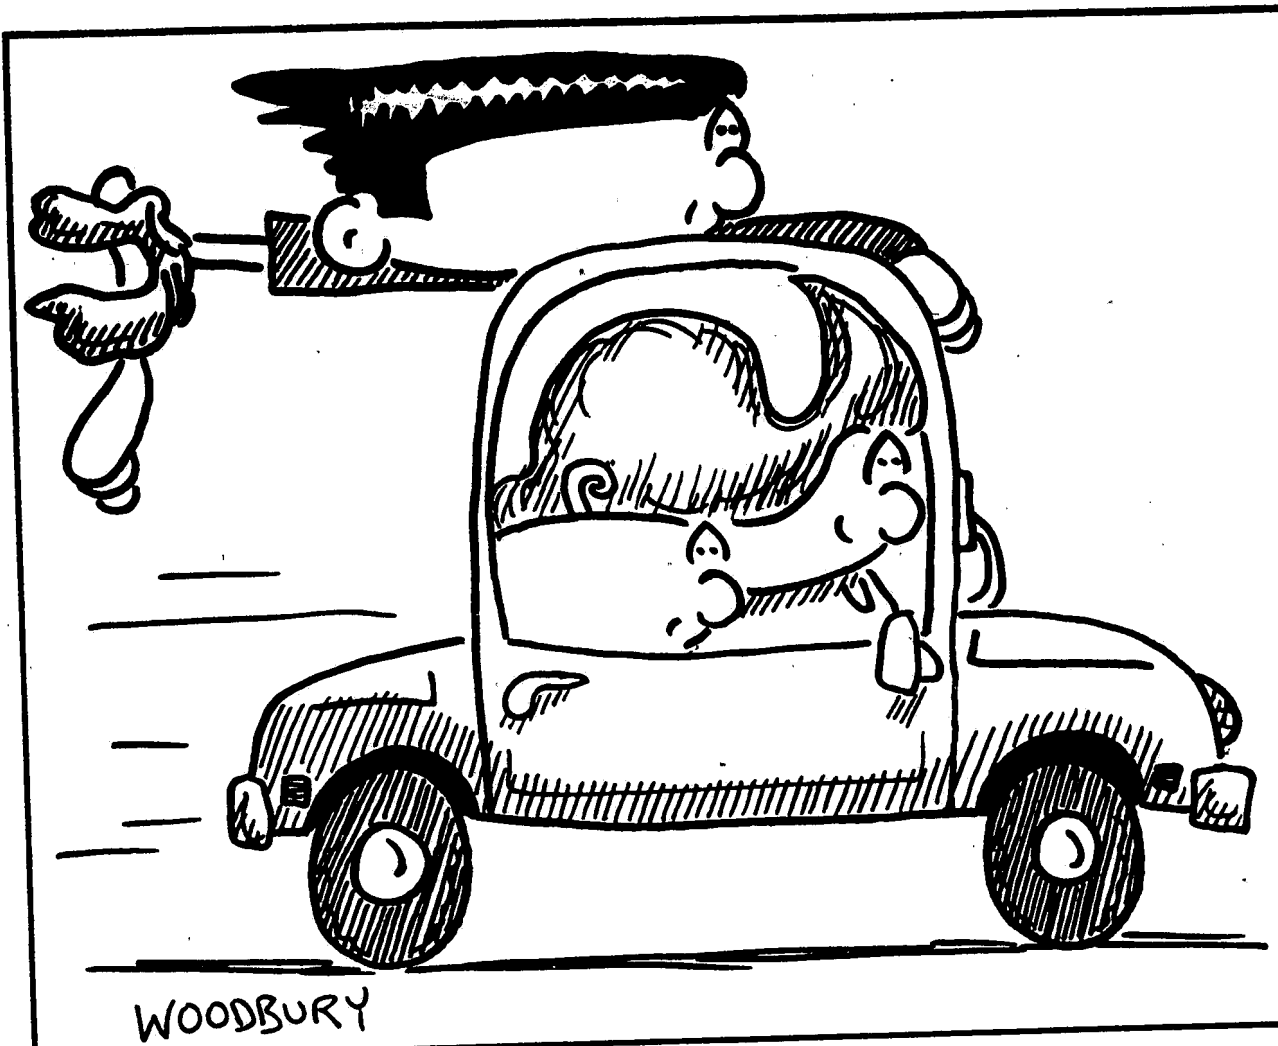

God I hope his survivors know much more about him than that. God, make him as important to them as he was to me. He deserves it.

I know I'm still alive and there's no hidden intent to fortell. But I also know my brother Dair. My intent is obvious and intentional.

It's to tell my few readers what a fine human being brother Dair is, with the hope these words will reach them some way.

Please substitute your "Brother Dair's" name as you re-read this column because there are so many just like him.

Honest, friendly, helpful human beings . . . our brothers, Dair.

Catherine Passmore

The story of two women

I'm a sucker for a sob story. I cry at long-distance calling commercials. "An Affair to Remember" kills me. I was an emotional wreck for at least a half-hour after the credits rolled.

Last week my sister, Diane, and I went to the Hoyt Public Library in Saginaw to look up obituaries for our cousin in Ohio who is doing a family history book — and I came across a story that would be a good Made-For-TV movie.

The setting: Toulouse, France, the spring of 1919. Armande Marcelle Dreyesers, 24, daughter of the police commissioner, meets James — a dashing young officer in the American Army (and a doctor to boot).

James is ill, and the Dreyesers family opens their home to him. Armande takes care of James, chats with him and reads to him. She falls in love with him and becomes pregnant.

Her parents are furious, and plans are made for James and Armande to marry. Their child is born a couple months later and dies after two days. In September, the couple return to the United States and to his hometown of Saginaw, Mich.

Meanwhile, back in Saginaw there is another woman, Katherine Passmore (she is married to a great-uncle of mine). Her husband of 15 years has been in Europe for over a year. She has stood by this man in good and bad and moved around the country with him — including a stint on the Mexican border.

Katherine and her husband have a 12-year-old son. Katherine's husband treats her well and is attentive.

On Sept. 15, Katherine picks up the evening paper and reads that her husband, James, and his war bride, Armande, have arrived in New York City.

She investigates and finds it is true. When James and Armande are tracked down in a Saginaw hotel, he tells Katherine that he is through with her and to get on with her life.

The young French girl and the officer are arrested for adultery (it was a crime and a sin back then) and thrown in jail.

I don't know who I felt sorry for the most. There's the long-suffering wife who worried about James while he was fighting a war, scrimped and saved to manage on his little pension and then was abruptly told to get lost.

Then, there was Armande. She was young, in a foreign country and couldn't speak the language. The only person she knew here — the man she loved and expected to live with the rest of her life — was in jail and had lied to her.

I think my sympathy goes to the French girl.

Katherine divorced James and also demanded a payment of $10,000. Armande wasn't so lucky. I would assume she could have gone back to France or marry a two-timer. Maybe her love for him was enough to get them through the events — she certainly cared for him.

"When Captain (James) Passmore was led away to the county jail, his French 'bride' threw her arms about his neck and kissed him. Tears fell from her eyes as she watched him leave the court room." (The Sept. 25, 1919, issue of The Saginaw News Courier, page 1).

Commercial break.

Hypocrites gamble if they set the rules

Jim Fitzgerald

A man was recently caught cheating at bingo in the Royal Oak VFW Hall. The thieving bum should pray to St. Stucco for forgiveness. Or at least he should pray that the law treats him the same as a lawmaker.

There really isn't a St. Stucco, but I thought there was when I was a little kid attending St. Stephen School and St. Stephen Church. Between those two brick buildings there was a smaller wooden building that was never called anything except The Stucco Building. So I figured there was a St. Stucco who ranked right up there with St. Stephen.

By the time I graduated from high school, I was smart enough to realize the building was named after the cement material covering the exterior walls. I was also smart enough to realize there was a whole lot of hypocrisy going on inside those stucco walls.

Adults were playing bingo. They were paying little money in hopes of winning big money. That was gambling, which was against the law. The nuns taught us it was a sin to break the law. But a priest often called the bingo numbers in The Stucco Building.

And the nuns raised school-supply money by raffling off groceries donated by students' parents. The students were required to sell raffle tickets to their parents who bet on winning more groceries than they'd donated.

Around that time I got a paper route that took me into a neighborhood where some furtive-looking men sold numbers, which was against the law. Sometimes the number sellers were arrested. But what was the difference between betting small on numbers in hopes of winning big, and doing the same on bingo and raffles?

I asked a nun that question and she said gambling was OK when it was done in the name of God. I should have advised a number seller to tell the cops he was dedicating his work to God.

Today, thanks largely to God's name (and muscle), bingo is legal. But cheating at it apparently isn't. A few months ago, that sneaky guy at the Royal Oak VFW allegedly pasted the winning numbers on his card after they were called, bagging a $400 jackpot. When he showed up again last week, minus his mustache but still pasting, the cops were called.

It will be interesting to see whether the bingo criminal is punished as harshly as state Sen. Arthur Miller, who, during court testimony, admitted betting on sports with a bookie, which is illegal in Michigan. For breaking the law, the Warren lawmaker was not arrested, charged or even patted on the wrist.

Today's moral is that lawmakers' policy toward bingo has changed since I was a boy, but when it comes to hypocrisy, the only change has been for the worse.

It's still against the law to sell numbers, unless you work for the state and sell lottery numbers.

Unless you're a state senator, you could get in trouble for betting on football games. But it's legal to bet on horse races because the state gets to drag the pot.

Did you get a load of Jerry Crandall, the state lottery commissioner, when he spoke out against a bill that would legalize video lottery games in bars, bowling alleys and racetracks? "Video poker and video slot machines are frighteningly addictive," Crandall huffed.

How about all the people addicted to buying state lottery tickets in supermarkets and convenience stores, lured there by smelly advertising, trying to get rich against incredibly lousy odds?

I don't blame anyone for wanting to bet a little on the chance of winning big. But why limit them to playing only the state's games? It's not right to discriminate against taxpayers who prefer gambling on video games or in casinos.

It's hypocritical, as always.

Gambling is gambling, in the name of God, or in the name of government. Let's quit weaseling. Let's declare it legal for everyone, or for no one.

In the name of St. Stucco.

Kammer welcome in our district

Citizens in the 9th Congressional District welcome the candidacy of Kerry Kammer. The 9th District has lacked leadership during the tax-and-spend incumbency of Dale Kildee. Mr. Kammer's candidacy gives us all a chance to "let our voice be heard in Washington."

Kerry Kammer's impressive record and commitment to public service is further proof that he is the person to represent the people of the 9th District. As one of the youngest state senators in Michigan's history, Kammer's tenacity resulted in the creation of budget and economic stabilization better known as the "rainy day fund" to handle revenue shortfalls in state government, as well as the Kammer Recreational Land Trust Fund.

Kammer's fiscally conservative nature and unwavering ethical attitude have drawn unprompted Republican support from the entire 9th District.

The broad-based enthusiasm for Mr. Kammer stands as testimony for the desire of the citizens of the 9th District for a candidate whose position of integrity protects and preserves the interests of the people whom he represents.

Educational choice is justifiable

I think the governor's choice of words a few weeks ago was unfortunate, when he described all public education as a "monopoly of mediocrity."

The majority of public school educators we have met in this school district are sensitive, devoted individuals, many of whom have poured their very life-blood into public education, and they welcome and encourage parental input. However, this is not the case all over the state.

I have had personal experience with educators in other districts who resented and insulted genuine parental concerns.

On Oct. 26, I had the opportunity to gather on the steps of the state capitol with hundreds of other parents to show support for true educational reform in Michigan. That means not simply replacing the funding of the status quo, but to see the present educational funding crisis as a window of opportunity for improving "the system."

Why is it that the mere mention of the phrase "educational choice" sends waves of panic through public school hallways?

It seems to me that good public schools such as Clarkston need not fear the word "choice." If parents are happy with their current public school, they would probably CHOOSE to remain in it. Anyway, doesn't competition always bring about improvement and increased sensitivity to the consumer?

The charter school concept would not give tax money to private, religious schools. (Most of them don't want tax money anyway because it means government interference.) It would mean allowing new, smaller schools to spring up where there is a genuine need.

I doubt that the charter school option would cause a mass exodus from the present public school, but it would allow some measure of parental choice within the tax-funded system. For more information, call the Coalition for Parents' Choice 1-800-644-9111.

One more thing regarding the governor's choice of words, "mediocrity" might have been a bit strong, but I think "monopoly" was accurate. In this case, could it be spelled NEA?

'Tis the season

The Independence Fire Department and the Clarkston Rotary Club sell the Goodfellow newspaper 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Dec. 3 and 4.

This is the 53rd year for the Goodfellow Paper sale. Proceeds are used to purchase shoes for residents in need. A cash donation will be given to Lighthouse North and will be used to purchase warm clothing, food, heat and electricity for the needy.

Referrals for those in need may be given to schools, churches and Lighthouse North.

Goodfellows will be out in force and can be found in many locations in Independence Township. Thank you in advance for your support.

Have a safe and happy holiday.

Extra help

We Goodfellows wanted to let everyone know that Machine Engineering is helping the Independence Township Firefighters and Clarkston Rotary Club with the annual Goodfellow newspaper sale.

This is the Goodfellows' only fund-raiser, and 100 percent of the money raised provides shoes and boots for needy children in the area.

The employees of Machine Engineering and company owner Chuck McMichaels have been a part of the program for three years now, but this is the first time that they have told their story.

Some of the employees had been complaining about how commercialized Christmas was and how the "buy, buy" of Christmas was not in the spirit of Christmas. The two ideas were combined, and the employees' gift to the boss was a secret donation to the Goodfellows program.

The engineering firm's annual Christmas office party was a great success that year. The party had lots of good food, entertainment and was held on company time. The employees' gift to McMichaels was also a success. He was surprised by the gift. He was pleasantly surprised by the thought that went into giving the gift and by what the gift purchased.

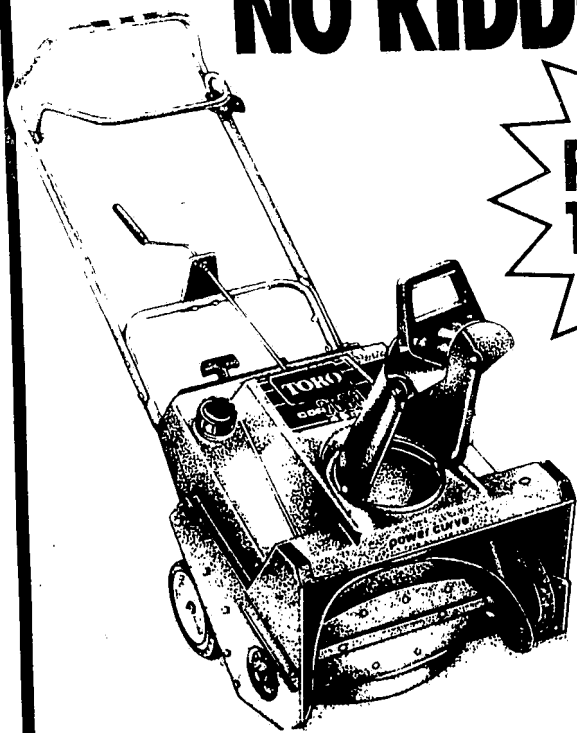

Contribution to the Goodfellows program has become a regular part of Machine Engineering's Christmas party. In addition to increasing their donations every year, some of the employees have also given their time to the paper sale.

If you or your company would like to donate to the Goodfellows, contact any Clarkston Rotarian or firefighter, or call Rotarian Alex Bruni at 620-0077.

Clarkston schools and the Michigan School Report

On Friday, Nov. 19, Gov. Engler announced the release of his Michigan Education Report Project, which provides the public with data to help make decisions about education.

Data will be released yearly beginning in May 1994 as an attempt to keep the public informed on the progress of each Michigan school building and each district.

While the Clarkston school district applauds the governor's efforts to present comparative data on Michigan's school, there are some faults within this Educational Report.

■ The statistics are old. Data at the district level are from 1991-1992, already two years old. Building statistics are a bit newer — based on 1992-93 numbers. Therefore, building summaries and averages will not equal district summaries, since they are based on a different year.

In a fast-growing district such as Clarkston, this "lag" of data produces results that are no longer valid. For example, district enrollment shown on the report is 5,574, but the building enrollments on the report total 5,771. Furthermore, our 1993 Fourth Friday count is 5,907 students. Staff ratios will be similarly out-of-date.

■ The statistics that show the expenditure of funds by building are misleading because they may simply reflect the comparative seniority of staff members at that building. For example, per-pupil expenditures at Andersonville Elementary are shown on the governor's report as $2,099, the highest of our five elementary schools. However, the dollars budgeted for student materials are the same at each of our elementary building. We also provide equal funding per student at each of our middle schools.

■ The "Staff for 1,000 pupils" is not a true reflection of a school's efficiency. A school that operates better economically with higher class sizes and fewer support staff may look "efficient" on paper, but education may suffer.

■ Accreditation information in the Michigan school Report is inaccurate for Clarkston. Two of our elementary schools are candidates for North Central accreditation — Andersonville Elementary and Clarkston Elementary. In addition, Clarkston Senior High has been fully accredited by North Central for many years.

■ Until the state devises a way to require schools to report statistics CONSISTENTLY, there will be gross fluctuations in the way districts have chosen to report their data. Many school districts chose not to report at all because they anticipated inaccuracies and the misuse of data. In our county, Bloomfield Hills, Southfield and Pontiac chose not to report data.

■ The financial index is irrelevant because it considers current local property tax revenue, which has been eliminated as a source for school revenue.

■ MEAP scores as a comparison of districts are not helpful. The MEAP test is changed occasionally, and comparisons from year to year are not reliable. Some of the more affluent districts have major programs that "teach to the test" and may increase scores. Economic resources can affect a district's ability to buy and use these programs. Furthermore, the scientific validity of the MEAP has been contested for years by testing experts.

■ In regard to the drop-out rate, there is no consistent district-by-district method for reporting data. Therefore, the comparison of Clarkston to other districts may be misleading.

Thanks to all

A letter of thanks to the Clarkston community from the Davis family:

As most of you probably know, our 2-year-old daughter Kaitlin was born with a non-functional digestive system and is in need of a multiple-organ transplant.

Since August, when we learned that Kaitlin's only chance of survival was a transplant, this small, warm community has surrounded us with kindness, caring and generosity. We would like to extend our deepest thanks to all of you in the community for supporting us in this time of need.

Clarkston has always been our home, and even though this community has grown since our school years, the caring and kindness of this small town remains unchanged. At this time, Kaitlin is awaiting transplant.

Again, thank you all.

More lies

Here we go again. Lies! Lies! Lies from Lansing. Why does it take $6.9 billion in taxes to replace $5.6 billion in tax cuts? How is it that taxes are supposedly being cut yet all governments and school districts end up with more money?

Mark my words, just like Bill Clinton's deficit reduction package, which raised taxes and had no deficit reduction, the state's school reform package will raise taxes and provide little or no school reform.

We are about to get hit with the largest tax increase in Michigan history and you, the taxpayers, will not be allowed to vote it down. Once again, you are being cheated out of your constitutional right to limit taxes.

James Brennan

Caring customers

We wanted to take a moment to thank all the generous and caring customers who supported our Christmas promotion for Lighthouse North.

We have received cash, food, new clothes, boots, shoes and toys for needy children in our community. These contributions will truly make a brighter Christmas for these children.

Since the campaign has been a wonderful success

again this year, we have extended it through Christmas Eve.

On behalf of Lighthouse North and especially the children, again thank you for your generous contributions.

Over-the-counter nasal decongestant sprays can actually worsen nasal stuffiness. Three days of regular use is typically safe. Continued regular use can cause rebound nasal stuffiness. As the decongestant effect of the spray wears off, an exaggerated state of stuffiness occurs that is actually caused by the spray medication. Also, the interval of relief provided by the spray becomes progressively shorter, necessitating increasingly frequent use of the product throughout the day. The rebound stuffiness may be so intense that it is very difficult to stop using the spray. A physician's help may be needed to successfully withdraw from the spray and recommend safer long term treatment alternatives.

“So I get to The Bank when it opens and I’m standing in line and the woman in front of me gets up to the one and only window that’s open and says to the teller, “I need $500 worth of nickels and $200 worth of Tasmanian Traveller’s Cheques,” so I realize we’re going to be there for awhile and I take out my copy of, “WAR AND PEACE,” and start reading from chapter one, knowing that I’ll have plenty of time to finish and probably be able to solve a few Agatha Christie murder mysteries as well, and then two hours later, I hear that same teller say she was taking lunch and would return in another hour, so I tried to duck out of the way of all the flying paper and pen missiles shot from the people behind me, when I noticed a different teller window had been opened, so I stepped up, getting ready to hand over my simple account transfer from savings to checking to avoid an overdraft on my last three checks, when the woman who had just asked for all that change and foreign traveller’s cheques cut right in front of me and barked at the newly opened window, “I wanted Canadian nickels, not American!” so I waited another hour for the teller to check with the manager who okayed the transaction and watched as the nickels were counted out, and then one of the bank officers announced that it was closing time and no more banking could be done that day, so I figured right then and there, that there must be a better bank where they remember what service means...

Remembering when 'gals' only had hoops

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

In the history of Clarkston High athletics, very few coaches compare to Jan Modesitt in terms of career wins or league championships.

During her 13-year tenure as varsity girls' basketball coach, Modesitt's teams amassed 133 wins and 60 losses from 1966 to 1979. The Wolves collected one regional trophy, three district titles and seven divisional championships during this span.

Yet, despite these accomplishments, Modesitt still remembers the lean years.

"When I took over as coach in 1966, girls' basketball, besides cheerleading, was the only female sport offered at the school," she said. "Matter of a fact, some of the girls on our team doubled as both cheerleaders and basketball players, which was difficult considering that the boys' and girls' seasons ran at the same time."

Girls' basketball in Michigan was eventually moved to the fall sports season in 1973, Modesitt said.

Another major change in girls' basketball occurred in 1969, when the Michigan High School Athletic Association started limiting the number of girls on the court to

10. Prior to this time, the games involved six-on-six contests, with only four players involved in either the offensive or defensive ends.

"The change to five-on-five was the best thing that ever happened to girls' basketball," Modesitt said. "As you can imagine, with six players, the scores remained relatively low, considering there was always two opposing players already at the opposite end of the court."

In the late '60s and early '70s, the discrepancies between the boys' teams and girls' squads were quite obvious, Modesitt said. While a majority of the boys' teams were bused to away games, the girls' basketball team had to drive themselves for several years.

But perhaps the most blatant difference was in the uniforms. While the boys' basketball teams paraded around in new uniforms, the girls' team had to design their own.

"When I first started, the varsity and JV girls' teams were only allotted about $150 from the athletic budget," Modesitt said. "So, we didn't actually see ordered shirts until the 1969-70 season. We finally got full uniforms in 1973."

So, for Modesitt's first three seasons, her teams were adorned in common t-shirts, with Clarkston emblazoned across the front, and matching blue Bermuda shorts. Numbers were often taped to the players' backs in a makeshift fashion.

When asked to compare players of her era to the players of today, Modesitt said present day players have the advantage of camps and year-round training, whereas many of her athletes learned the game from older brothers.

Recalling the era, Modesitt said avid participation by girls was often frowned upon in many circles.

"Early on, girls' sports weren't given much time or serious consideration," she said. "Back in those days, girls were told they couldn't sweat because they had to look good no matter what."

"And you didn't see that many tall girls playing, like you do today," Modesitt added. "Back then, tall girls were especially shy about their height and opted not to play so they wouldn't draw attention to themselves."

However, these trends and attitudes took a turn for the better in the mid- to latter '70s, Modesitt said.

Looking back at her career, the former coach said she'd do it all over again.

"I was blessed with a lot of fun-loving, competitive teams," she said. "We had a lot of good time with the gals, but, again, it was probably because my early teams lacked other physical outlets."

"They probably appreciated anyone who spent time with them," Modesitt added. "I know I appreciated their company and dedication."

Modesitt said many of her former players still keep in contact with her, adding that a reunion of her past teams is presently in the works.

Modesitt still roams the halls of Clarkston High, but only as math teacher — a position she's held for the past 29 years. She said she catches an occasional girls' basketball game, but her busy schedule often keeps her away from most contests.

She praised the job of present coach, Larry Mahrle, whose wife, Kathy, served as Modesitt's assistant for a few seasons.

When asked if she'd ever consider coming out of coaching retirement, she jokingly declined.

"You know, Paul Tungate (Clarkston athletic director) is still trying to get me back into it," she said, smiling. "But I had a good run. I got out at the right time, with my love for the game still intact."

Wolves hope to steal crown from Huskies

Winter sports preview

Blessed with size and speed, the Clarkston varsity boys' basketball team feels it has the tools to make a run at the GOAL title.

Yet, with these physical advantages, Coach Dan Fife says his team's biggest weapon could be its collective attitude.

"This is a good bunch of kids," Fife said. "There's not a lot of selfishness or people playing for the wrong reasons."

"Their common goal is to win games, not college scholarships," he added.

Fife has eight lettermen coming back from last year's squad, which amassed a record of 13-8, 8-2 in the conference. Last season also marked the first time in seven years that a Clarkston team didn't claim at least a share of the GOAL crown.

Pontiac Northern is the defending champion and — with four returning starters — the pre-season favorite.

The Wolves have two full-time starters coming back. They're senior forward Rick Vollmar and junior guard Jeremy Fife, a Second-Team All-GOAL selection in 1992.

Fife, who sat out nearly half of the past football season, is still nursing a sore foot, broken last summer. His father believes he's about a month a way from playing at 100 percent.

"I'm hoping that Jeremy will be fully recovered sometime after the New Year," he said. "He's our point guard and the guys look for him to lead them on the court."

Coach Fife also expects leadership from his senior players. They include: Rusty Mitcham, Josh Watson, John Weeks and Brent Bundridge. Besides Jeremy Fife, the Wolves have three other juniors back from last year. They're Brad Agar, Pat Mulligan and Jason Graves.

Toby Evans, J.R. Kirk, and Ryan Schilling round out the roster's junior class, while Jeff Mull and Tim Wasilk make up the sophomore contingent.

In terms of height, Mull, Agar and Kirk are the team's tallest players at about 6'4" apiece.

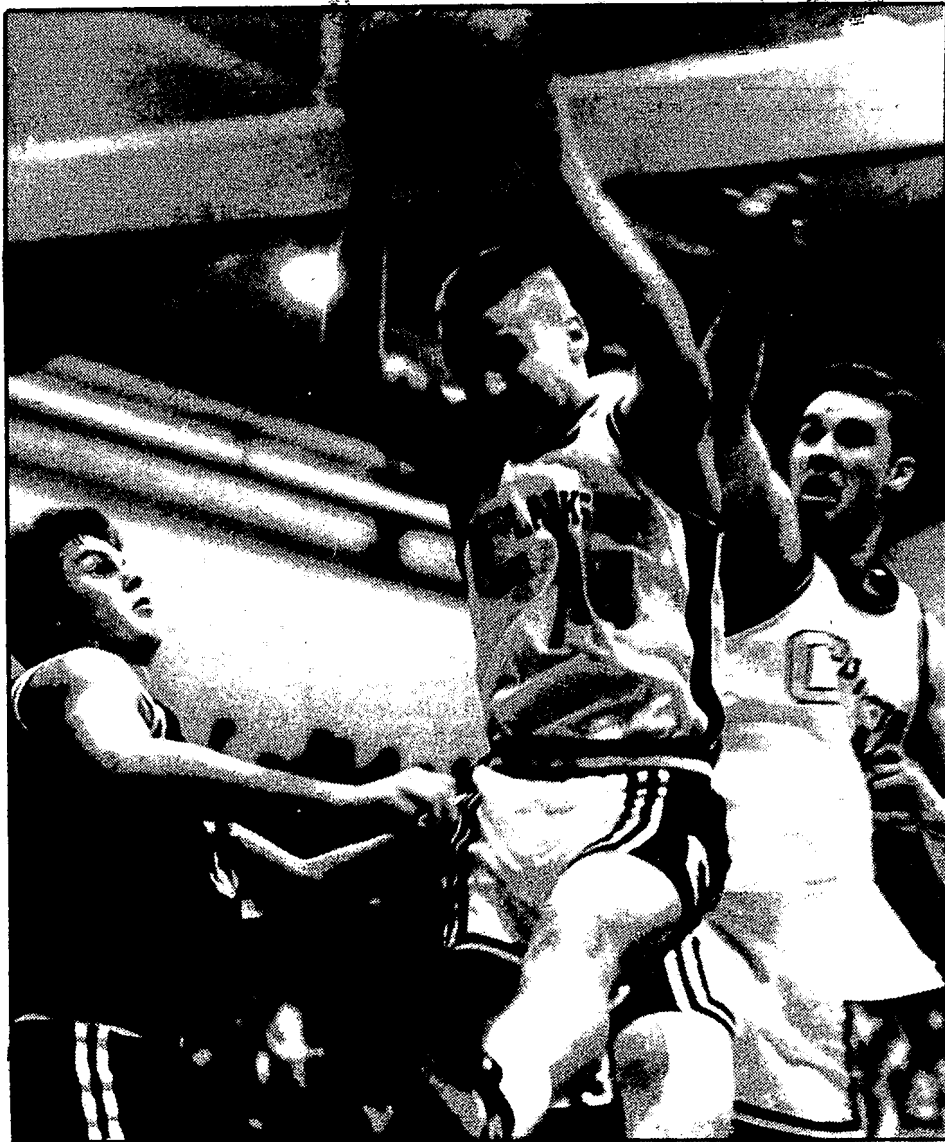

So far, Fife likes what he sees from his team.

"All these kids want to contribute, so we've had some pretty competitive practices," the coach said. "Everyone plays hard and is excited at the thought of earning some playing time."

Fife says that desire is important, considering the task at hand.

"Besides having a tough conference, we probably have the hardest non-conference schedule ever at Clarkston," he said. "Regardless, it should make for some exciting action this year."

The Wolves first game of the season is Tuesday, Dec. 7, when they host Pontiac Central.

RUSTY MITCHAM (14) will be one of five seniors back for the Wolves this season.

Fife gives Michigan a boost at point

In his first two games as a starter, Clarkston's Dugan Fife has proven himself a heady point guard for the University of Michigan basketball team.

Fife, a sophomore, has scored a total of 12 points and dished off a handful of assists in victories over Georgia Tech and Cleveland State. Fife replaced Chris Webber in the starting lineup, after the All-American opted for the NBA after only two seasons of collegiate basketball.

Fife saw little action last year, behind the "Fab Five" and a very deep bench.

In his debut, this year, Fife scored nine points against Georgia Tech in the Tip-Off Classic, while holding pre-season All-American Travis Best to just 6-15 shooting from the field.

High school sports show to air on cable

The Clarkston High sports scene will no longer be limited to the pages of the Clarkston News as cable-TV Channel 65 prepares to air its own sports-talk show.

"Clarkston Sports Talk" is slated to premiere this Wednesday, Dec. 1, at 8:30 p.m. Clarkston wrestling coach Mike DeGain will be the show's first guest. The show will be hosted by TCI facilitator Jason Nellist and Clarkston News Associate Editor Curt McAllister.

This half-hour program will focus on CHS's ongoing seasons, with guest appearances from local coaches and athletes. Check your local listings for the program's dates and times.

Duo named all-state

A pair of golfers from Clarkston's Class A runners-up squad have earned all-state status for their exploits in 1993.

Juniors Jon Dean and Jayson Buchmann were both named to the Class A First Team, which consists of 10 golfers. This category ranks just below the state's "Dream Team," which is made up of the top eight linksters.

The all-state teams were chosen by a panel of high school golf coaches.

This year, Buchmann tied for third overall at the state finals with a two-day score of 149 (70-79). He took second at the GOAL Meet and at regionals, earning post-season honors in both events. During the season, he had a dual-match average of 38.3 and a tournament average of 76.7.

Dean tied for tenth place at the state meet with a two-day total of 156. He also earned all-league honors when he shot a third-place score of 79. Dean had a dual-meet average of 38.6 and a tournament average of 79.5.

Coach Jim Chamberlain spoke well of his returning lettermen.

"Both Jon and Jayson played extremely well this year," said the regional coach of the year. "They definitely deserved to be named all-state, after all they've been able to accomplish this season."

SPAGHETTI DINNER

A traditional, all-you-can-eat Italian spaghetti dinner with salad and garlic bread takes place the second Friday of each month. This month's dinner (and senior center fund-raiser) is 4:30-6:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 10. Cost is $3.50 for adults, $2 for children. Dessert is 50 cents. For more information, call 625-8231.

A CALL FROM SANTA

If your child would enjoy a personal call from Santa Claus, then parents should call the Santa Hotline Dec. 1-3 at 625-1449 to schedule a call. Santa will call 4-6 p.m. Dec. 13-15. Tentative times will be scheduled when parents register. Requests are taken on a first come, first serve basis (local calls only).

BREAKFAST/LUNCH WITH SANTA

A special holiday activity for your child is planned for two Saturdays, Dec. 11 and Dec. 18. A breakfast program takes place 9-10:15 a.m., while a lunch program is set for 11 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. Children ages 8 and under are invited for a hot meal, followed by some Christmas activities, with a visit from good Ol' St. Nick to top off the day's events. Cost is $4 per resident, $6 per non-resident (parents' fee for breakfast is $2). It includes the meal, festive activities, a candy cane and a picture with Santa. Pre-register by the Wednesday before each session.

FOR MORE INFORMATION

Call 625-8223 or stop by the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston. The office is open 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Scholarship honors late GMI professor

The Joseph Hudson Memorial Scholarship fund has been established by Janet Hudson of Clarkston in memory of her husband, a GMI Engineering and Management Institute mathematics professor, who died this past July.

The endowed scholarship memorializes Dr. Hudson's contributions to the Science and Mathematics Department and his sincere dedication to the education of GMI students. The scholarships will be awarded to GMI students who are sophomores or above and are pursuing degrees in applied mathematics.

GMI President Dr. James E. A. John welcomed the establishment of the Hudson Scholarship, saying, "It is fitting that a man like Joe Hudson, who was so dedicated to education, will have deserving students benefit from a fund in his memory."

Hudson, who was educated at Michigan State University, East Lansing, and Wayne State University, Detroit, joined the GMI faculty in 1969. He was 50 years old at his time of death.

Three hurt in crash

Two men and a woman were sent to the hospital after an accident just after midnight on Nov. 28.

According to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report, Daniel Milkey, 17, of Springfield Township, was traveling east on White Lake Road, Independence Township, when he ran a red light at the Dixie Highway intersection.

Milkey was driving a 1984 Chevy Blazer. At the time of the accident, the weather was clear and the road was dry and lighted.

Richard E. Cook, 26, of Independence Township was traveling north on Dixie in his 1992 Chevy Truck and hit Milkey's vehicle.

Milkey and his passenger Sandra Milkey, 34, of Springfield Township were treated and released at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. Cook also was injured.

Daniel Milkey was ticketed for the accident.

Plans to improve Depot Park received a boost when the Clarkston City Council voted 6-1 to allocate a portion of its Community Development Block Grant money to the park.

Local service organizations also received a portion of the $8,000 in block grant money. The council approved $1,000 for Lighthouse North, $1,000 for Clarkston Area Youth Assistance and $1,000 to the Independence Township Senior Citizens program.

Voting yes were Mayor Sharron Catallo and council members Steve Arkwright, William Basinger, Karen Sanderson, James Schultz and Steve Secatch. Doug Roeser voted against the motion without comment.

The $5,000 Depot Park allocation is to buy new equipment and resurface the play area. However, problems may arise with the council's decision.

The park sits on a "100-year" flood plain, which makes it ineligible under block grant guidelines.

However, city Councilman Steve Arkwright said there could be a way around the guidelines. He has been working with block grant officials to complete a steps that could lead to an exception to the federal guidelines for the park.

Many who attended the public hearing Nov. 22 agreed that the park needed attention and that block grant money would best be spent to improve the park's quality and safety.

"I live right across the park, and the park is truly a community resource."

Robin Nance

"I live right across the park, and the park is truly a community resource," said Robin Nance. "It's used by preschool and school age children throughout the year. It draws people in from many surrounding communities."

Despite the problems, the council and park committee members remain hopeful that the grant money will be used for the park.

City manager Art Pappas said there should not be a problem in getting an exception.

"I spoke with a sales person for playground equipment who indicated that playgrounds are considered good land use for a flood plain," he said. "Playground equipment is built to withstand the elements, and it is unlikely to be damaged by high water."

The grant money is not the only source of funding for the park. The Depot Park Playground Improvement Committee continues to raise money, so to make the park safer and more in line with the American Disabilities Act.

It also intends to make areas in the playground area more age-appropriate, such as one area suited to toddlers.

Currently the committee is conducting two fund-raising campaigns — one that reaches the residents and the other, businesses. The money is to be used to buy a "Game Time structure" and make alterations to some of the playground equipment, according to Jeanne Selander Miller, co-chairwoman of the committee.

"It will be a wood-metal structure, except for the plastic slides," she said. "It will include enclosed stairs on the slides, a ramp for those in wheelchairs and a free-standing structure in the toddler area."

Door-to-door campaigning began last week to help raise the estimated $20,000 for the structure and new surface. The group raised $4,500 during the Clarkston Community Historical Society's Crafts and Cider Festival in September.

"We're in our first phase of fund raising," said Jennifer Arkwright, chairwoman of the neighbor-to-neighbor campaign. "We intend to have a donor board, and those that donate over a certain amount will get their name engraved on the board."

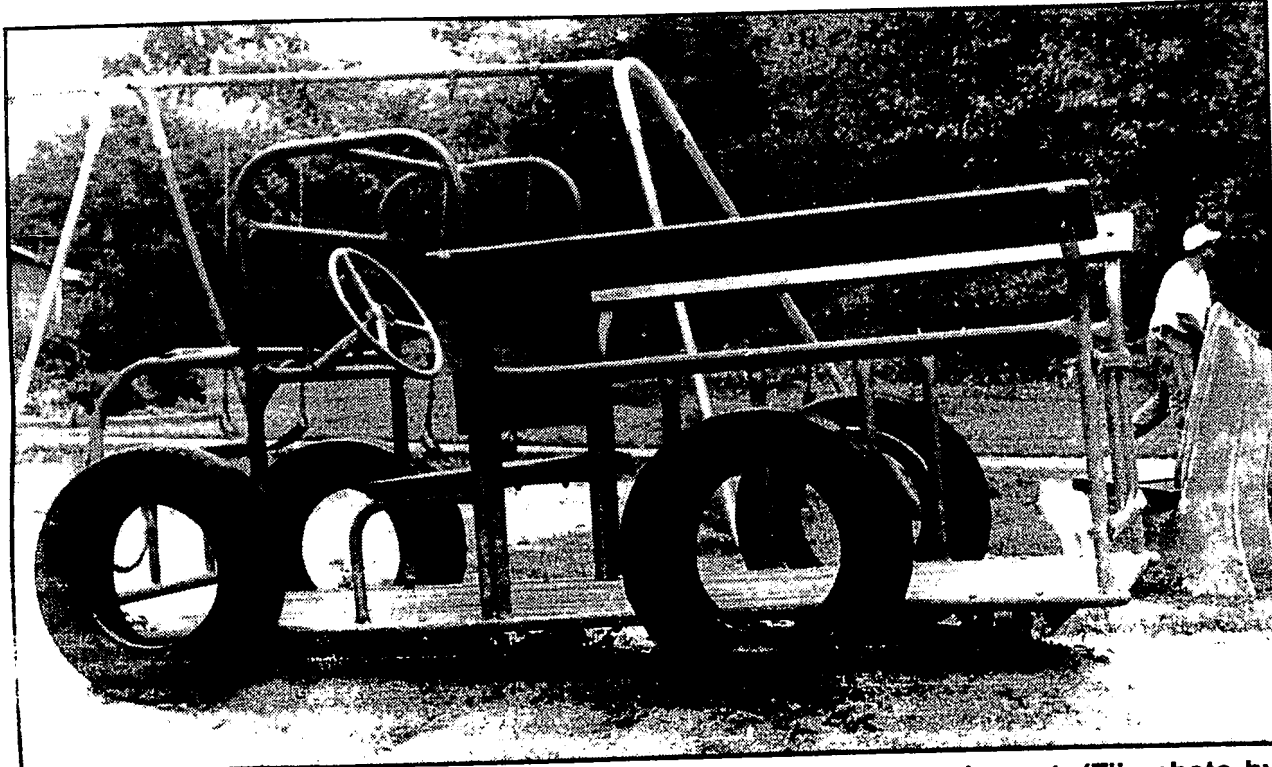

However, the committee would appreciate any amount — "even a dollar would help," Arkwright said.

The business-to-business campaign, chaired by Brenda Orlando, is based on the same type of campaign. Instead it targets local businesses.

With a money donation or purchase of a piece of equipment, businesses can be recognized on the donor board also, Orlando said.

In addition, more financial help could also come from block grant money. The city needs to reallocate $6,513 from unspent CDBG money from years past, according to Pappas.

If the park can receive 1994 CDBG money, the council will set another public hearing to discuss the possibility of reallocating the money to the park.

Many changes

Our salute to Clarkston educators ends this week with teachers talking about changes in education over the years.

In honor of American Education Week Nov. 14-20 we invited a few staff members to answer one of three questions for The Clarkston News. They gave thoughtful, insightful responses.

Suvonne Sanford
Media specialist,
grades 6-8
Clarkston Middle School

"Over the past 25 years, I have participated in the evolution of our school library. Instead of being merely a depository of books and basic audio-visual materials and equipment, it is now an integral contributor to the school curriculum. During the '70s and '80s with the addition of multimedia, the library became a media center. Listening centers were established so students could view media kits, records, cassettes and film loops. All of these media as well as video and camcorders have greatly enhanced the curriculum.

"The focus of the media center today is to provide skills to students so they may become effective users of ideas, resources and information. The importance and complexity of this function has increased tremendously in recent years due to the revolution in information and instructional technologies. Computers, CD-ROMs, on-line data bases, laser disks and other advancements in technology will enable students to achieve personal success in the next century."

Jane Loveless
Elementary speech
pathologist
N. Sashabaw Elementary
Bailey Lake Elementary
18 years experience

"When I was hired 18 years ago, speech pathology was taught much differently from how it is today. The major emphasis was on articulation (being able to pronounce sounds properly), enrolling many kindergartners and first-graders. We worked with about 55 students at each elementary school. Developmental errors were unheard of, as were language disorders (difficulty processing information and/or verbally expressing oneself).

"Therapy today deals with articulation, but the majority enrolled as second- and third-graders. This allows each child the time to outgrow their errors without being removed from the classroom. About 30 speech students are enrolled at each elementary school, providing more intense therapy in the allotted time.

"Language services are now being worked on in the classroom instead of the speech room. This enables the student to learn language skills and strategies in coordination with his academic subjects, as well as complete classroom assignments.

"The therapist and the teacher are now working as a team to help the total child learn to communicate and become more successful in the classroom. I feel this delivery system better fits the child's needs, allowing for fewer disruptions in his day."

Ruth Powers
Second-grade teacher
Pine Knob Elementary
25 years experience

"There have been many changes in education since I started teaching 25 years ago. The most important is that we are trying to meet the child at their stage of development. Of course, this takes a lot more time on the teacher's part, readying materials for a diverse group of children, but I think it greatly enhances the children's self-esteem. We all know that a child who feels good about himself/herself is more successful in school.

"We also do much more in the way of 'hands-on' learning. We use manipulatives in math and create learning centers instead of the total book, pencil and paper tasks of yesterday. I think we understand that there are many different ways of learning, and we need to have a variety of learning activities in our classrooms.

"The subject of reading has gone through numerous changes in philosophy during my tenure. I started out with a total phonics program my first year. Next, we had stories with a sight vocabulary. After that, we had stories with an open-ended vocabulary. Reading swung back to sight vocabulary and phonetic skills. Then to literature, just as it is written, with the children writing and getting their thoughts on paper. I think we need a combination of all of these methods to have a literate group of youngsters graduate from our classrooms.

"Through all these changes, one thing has remained the same. The children are still eager to learn and enjoy coming to school each day. That makes me eager to be there to teach them."

Rebecca Craig

Administrator
(Former teacher of K-12 special education, high school Student Council teacher)
Clarkston Special Services

"The most exciting and challenging change I have seen in education over the years is that of the inclusion of our special needs population in their home school. This change in philosophy has caused all kinds of changes. It's thrilling to see what's going on in schools throughout our district.

"The acceptance of special needs students by their peers is heart-warming. For students to be a part of their home school and involved in all aspects of their community is what it's all about ...

"The changes that staff have made to ensure that all students will experience success in their classroom and that all students can be a contributing part of that class ... to see the social and academic gains made by our included students is fantastic.

"They have surpassed our greatest expectations and continue to amaze us in what they are capable of. How do I feel about these changes? I love it! I truly believe all of us have benefited from inclusion. The most exciting part is I'm sure more good changes are on the horizon."

John Matheus
English teacher, 7th
grade
Gifted and talented teacher, 6th grade
Sashabaw Middle School
22 years experience

"The completion of education in the Clarkston Community Schools has greatly changed since my first year as an educator (1972). Through the last 20 years, our students have benefited from such excellent additions as: elementary multipurpose rooms, media centers, computers, elementary and middle school gifted and talented programs, high school intensive and advanced placement classes, support/enrichment math and reading classes, progressive special education programs, challenging (foreign language, technology, physical education) programs, improved band and vocal music experiences, increased athletic and intramural opportunities, positive textbook adoptions, and a dynamic curriculum.

"Clearly, Clarkston Community Schools have demonstrated its commitment toward 'excellence in education.' Strong parental involvement and community support have made our school district one of the finest in Oakland County. This partnership is essential for our students' success.

"Twenty-two years ago, I began my career as an educator in Clarkston. Although the challenges are many, Clarkston Schools remain committed to giving its students a quality education. I am proud to be a Clarkston teacher."

Ruth Duling
English teacher, grade 8
Journalism teacher
Clarkston Middle School
(also taught English,
grades 7, 9)
In 25th year of teaching

"When I joined the staff, the English program consisted of working in the Warrens grammar book and reading from class sets of paperbacks. Writing, when it was done, was usually about teacher-assigned topics; and we did little to acknowledge, let alone assist, students with the problems writers face as they work. In a real sense, each teacher was left to his or her own resources.

"In the following years, we have made strides in articulating a K-12 program, although this work is not yet complete. Instruction in language structure and mechanics is better integrated with writing instruction. Students write more often these days, both sort, single-draft papers and papers which are taken to a final draft. Our instruction and program does more to help students recognize and deal with the complexities of reading and writing effectively."

Teacher keeps up with changes in classrooms

Changes are and must be continual in education. All of the changes that have occurred during my teaching career would make a very long list — some good and some, perhaps, not so good.

I have found it necessary to continually refocus my goals and renew my teaching skills. For example, I have had to readjust my method of teaching division in math three or four times. Areas that should be emphasized in social studies have probably changed six times. I never quite catch up in science, and reading seems to always be a subject to debate. And some old methods and programs have received new names and given new life, such as the process writing program.

The biggest change has probably been in the arena of technology and our efforts to keep pace. Today, it is not uncommon for fifth-graders to complete assignments on their home computers. Of course, this wasn't even dreamed of 30 years ago.

There has been a change in discussions in the classrooms about future careers. Discussions are more focused on high-tech jobs and possible requirements rather than on assembly line-type jobs and techniques. Actually,

Dorene Cutshall

• Fifth-grade teacher
• Pine Knob Elementary School
• 33 years experience

most kids would like to grow up to be a celebrity, preferably a sports star.

Evidence of social change is pervasive. Television, prevalence of divorce, both parents working, and peer pressure are but a few of the forces that have tremendous influence upon our children's attitudes and values.

Children are much more knowledgeable about the world around them. They know and talk about social issues. They are concerned about such things as diseases, war, divorce, death and, yes, even sex. Material possessions have great importance, and they must be expensive.

There was a time when fifth-graders didn't even know about drugs. Today, in an effort to circumvent future drug abuse, there is an anti-drug program conducted by a representative of the sheriff's department in the classroom.

Another change I have observed, and am saddened by, is the decline in the practice of social graces. It doesn't seem to be deliberate but rather an unawareness.

Also, and perhaps it is only peculiar to Clarkston, there has been a decrease in the number of male teachers in the elementary schools. To my knowledge, there haven't been any employed during the past 18 years. The question begs to be asked: Why? There is such a need for male role models in the school setting.

All in all, kids are just as wonderful, resilient and eager to learn as they were 30 years ago. It's just that too often I feel there isn't enough of me to accommodate all of the special needs of more than 30 students.

With so many of the changes in education directed toward a high-tech oriented society, it is my hope that we can provide the necessary means needed to prepare our children to meet the challenges of the future.

To reiterate, these are but a few of the changes observed by a fifth-grade teacher. To be sure, my colleagues with other vantage points would have longer lists that would span even fewer years.

Linda Palace
Math teacher, grades 7, 8
Clarkston Middle School

"I had many wonderful teachers when I went to school. They were excellent role models, and I made up my mind to become a teacher when I was in junior high school. I didn't start college until I was 30 years old, but I finally did fulfill my dream.

"Education has changed quite a bit. It has gotten more complicated and sometimes stressful for both teachers and students. It used to be we could spend a lot of time on the areas where students were having problems understanding the material. Now we have an outline of chapters to cover in a given number of weeks. That's why it is so important for students to keep up. We cover so much more at an earlier age. Even though this is more difficult, it is necessary since our students are competing with students from other industrialized nations."

in the classroom to fit so much in.

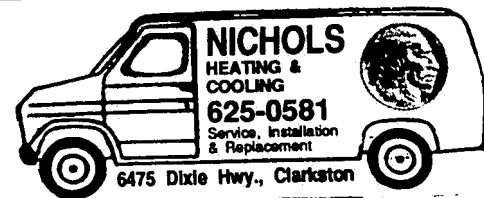

"Keeping up with the fast pace of technology and trying to incorporate it in the schools is tough. It requires equipment, training and time.

"The attitude of society toward teachers is the most difficult. It hurts when people say that teachers are greedy and are not doing their job.

"I accept change as part of living. The good changes will stick. The not-so-good will eventually be found out and disappear.

"The one constant is the child. The child must be developed, nurtured, and taught to be productive. A child is a child, and that does not change."

GUARANTEED SALE?

SOME AGENCIES WILL GUARANTEE the sale of a home after a specified period of time.

MAX BROOCK INC. REALTORS

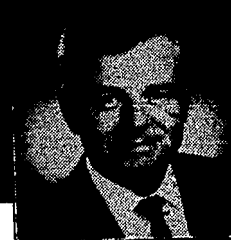

27 S. Main, Clarkston
625-9300

QUESTION: I put my house up for sale. My Realtor promised that if the house was not sold by my deadline, his agency would guarantee the sale (lower than the market price). Is there a catch here?

ANSWER: The broker is justified in offering a price below market value. Remember, the broker will buy your house at wholesale. It would be worth much more to a buyer who intended to live there.

However, the broker will incur an average of three months' taxes, insurance, utilities, lost interest on investment while the house is vacant, legal fees, buying and selling, maintenance and mortgage points.

Kopietzes plan to appeal

ZBA explains why B&B not allowed in city

Huttenlocher, Robyn Johnston, Margaret DaCosta, David Raup and Tom Goldner. Tom Hunter voted against the denial.

City attorney Tom Ryan recommended to the board that since the Kopietzes intended to structurally change the former funeral home, it had no choice or no authority other than to deny them a use change.

Citing passages from Clarkston's zoning ordinances, Ryan supported his recommendation from Section X, which states: "No existing structure devoted whole or in part to a use not permitted by this ordinance in the district in which it is located shall be . . . structurally altered except in changing the use of the structure to a use permitted in the district in which it is located."

Ryan argued that alterations could be made only if the Kopietzes were to change the funeral home to a single-family residence.

Kopietzes' attorney Phillip Adkinson argued that if alterations were allowed to return the structure to a single-family residence, then could not these very same alterations be made on changing one non-conforming use to another — if that new use is allowed within the district?

"Any modifications that are made will be more conforming, certainly not less conforming," Adkinson said.

He asked the board to look at the proposed new non-conforming use and look at the possible impact that use would have on the village.

"Look at the exceptions of the rule while focusing on the ordinance," Adkinson said. "They are not increasing the footprint of the building, and they are making sure the physical changes are changes which are of a type allowed within the district."

However, Ryan said the ordinance language made it clear that with the proposed alterations, the case "should never get this far."

In the second order, Judge Edward Sosnick ruled that the ZBA's decision complied with state constitution and laws. He also found that the ZBA is "not required by the ordinance to grant a proposed change in non-conforming use upon a favorable finding as to appropriateness."

Sosnick asked the board "for a statement of specific reasons why the proposed bed and breakfast use is not more appropriate than the previous use."

While the board had discussed the reasons to deny the Kopietzes' request at the June 25, 1992, meeting, those reasons were not stated in an ordered manner, according to Judge Sosnick's findings.

The city attorney compiled the reasons stated throughout the June 25 meeting minutes and suggested the board put the reasons in the record by vote.

The board accepted the reasons in a 4-2 vote, with Tom Hunter abstaining because of personal reasons. Those voting in favor were: James Schultz, Tom Goldner, James Huttenlocher and Robyn Johnston. Those against: Margaret DaCosta and David Raup.

The former Goyette Funeral Home was built in 1862 as a residence and served as funeral home from 1915 to 1992.

In an agreement with the city in 1973, the district in which the funeral home was located was zoned single-family residence with the funeral home designated as "non-conforming" within the district.

The Kopietzes bought it from Harold Goyette in September 1991 with intentions to change it into a bed and breakfast facility.

The ZBA's decisions received mixed reactions from the audience.

"I am very saddened by the decision of the board," said Eleanor Harned of Clarkston Road. "I get the feeling that none of you have stayed in a bed and breakfast."

"What is the difference of a bed and breakfast and a single-family home where they have eight kids and cars?" she asked.

However others agreed with the decision.

"I have lived here for 42 years, and I love the village and the people," said Barb Thomson of Main Street. "We have a fragile historical district, and it should be preserved. This would interfere and destroy what we have."

The Kopietzes don't agree with the board's views and would like to see their dream of a bed and breakfast on Main Street come true.

"We were not surprised by the board's decision," said Joan Kopietz. "Nothing happened that we did not expect. However, that will not stop us. We will appeal. It's a matter of principle now."

"We both feel that a B&B is the best option for that property. We have no choice at this point. We have been backed into a corner once we bought the property."

"The B&B is a great compromise, 'cause as it sits, it's a white elephant," Joan Kopietz said.

Kopietzes' attorney had filed an appeal of Sosnick's decision. He intends to file the ZBA's decision to add to the appeal. The case has been added to the Michigan Court of Appeals docket. Adkinson said he expects a decision in about a year.

Teens hurt in rollover

Two Independence Township teens were injured Nov. 22 when their car hit a tree and rolled over.

According to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report, Robin Lisa Otterbein, 16, was driving a 1989 Pontiac east on Shappie Road, about 1/4 mile east of Hadley Road, when the accident occurred at 3:10 p.m.

It was daylight at the time, the road was dry, and the weather was clear.

Otterbein allegedly lost control of her car, struck a tree and then rolled over. Otterbein and her passenger, Ruddy Carrie, 17, were treated and released from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac.

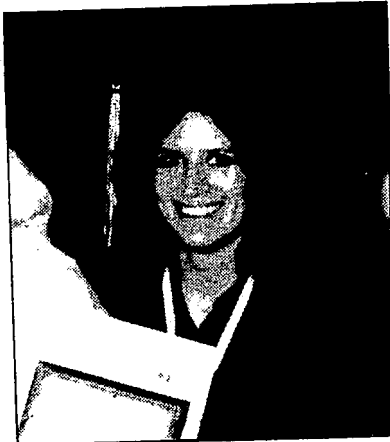

Otterbein was ticketed for violation of speed.

Proposed water lines topic of Dec. 2 meeting

New water lines on Main Street and Sashabaw Road are the topic of a public meeting Thursday.

The meeting takes place at 6 p.m. Dec. 2 at the Independence Township Library, Clarkston Road.

The proposed water lines — in the City of Clarkston and in Independence Township — are to be paid for by the state, due to tainted ground water some areas.

On hand at the meeting are representatives from Michigan's Department of Public Health and Department of Natural Resources, the Oakland County Health Department, Independence Township and the engineering firm of Hubbell, Roth and Clark.

They'll answer questions on ground water contamination and its sources, the money for the projects, and project details.

For more information, call Lois Elliot Graham of the state's Department of Health at 517-335-9175.

Language, culture difficult lessons

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

American students learn Spanish and French in high school, but where do Spanish- and French-speaking people learn English?

"English as a Second Language" classes at Clarkston Community Education not only teach language, but they also introduce students to American culture.

In its second year, the class is taught by Susan Szurpicki of Independence Township, who enjoys the classes, she said.

"Speaking English is what's most important to them, so it's the most important to me," said Szurpicki.

She said about 8-10 students sign up each session. The students come from around the world, but the major-

"Speaking English is what's most important to them, so it's the most important to me."

Susan Szurpicki

SUSAN SZURPICKI discusses the finer points of American football with students in her English as a Second Language class.

Szurpicki teaches the language and American culture to people who are from non-English speaking countries.

ity are from Mexico.

At the beginning of each 15-week session, students are tested to see if they're able to read English. Some students can read novels, while others have difficulty recognizing simple words, said Szurpicki.

From there, they learn to identify objects. Szurpicki's class has been learning to recognize countries. For example, a student who doesn't speak English well is required to point to a country on the map. Another student who speaks better will have to answer 'Canada is the country north of the United States.'

Szurpicki said her students are interested in idioms that are strictly American, such as "He blew his stack," or "Joe's eyes bugged out of his head." The students are so literal that they want to know if Joe's eyes really came out of his head.

"English is such a complicated language," said Szurpicki.

Students are also interested in American culture, even sports.

For instance, one of Szurpicki's students was curious about American football, so one lesson focused on that subject. A football fan in the class prepared and presented the lesson.

Szurpicki said it was good practice for the student to speak aloud and for the others to learn something about American culture.

The group also takes field trips to see well-known area attractions, such as the Detroit Institute of Arts, Meadowbrook and Greek Town.

"They're very interested in (American) culture," she said.

Szurpicki said teaching her ESL class is an enjoyable experience for her.

"The people are so delightful; they're so enthusiastic; they're motivated. Teachers are encouraged when the students are motivated," said Szurpicki.

Operation Can Do underway here

An area restaurant is doing its part to help feed the hungry over the holidays.

Operation Can Do is sponsored in part by Elias Brothers Big Boy Restaurants and runs through New Year's Day.

To help, the public is asked to bring donations of canned foods to any area Big Boy, including the Independence Township restaurant on Dixie Highway.

Also helping in the campaign are Detroit Area and Clinton Valley Councils of Boys Scouts of America, the Hunger Action Coalition and WXYZ-TV.

When Operation Can Do began 14 years ago, three tons were collected. Last year, 210 tons were collected.

"Each pound of food provides almost three meals," said Gabriel Kassab, executive vice president of Elias Brothers Restaurants, Inc. "Last year alone, over one million meals were provided from Can Do food."

Big Boy trucks pick up the donated food and deliver it to an Elias Brothers warehouse. From there, it goes to more than 300 churches, soup kitchens and community food programs in Southeastern Michigan.

Organizers said the food drive is more important than ever because Detroit now has the highest percentage of children living in poverty in the United States.

Appointed by governor

Maureen L. Hewitt, executive director of the Greenery Health Care Center in Clarkston, was one of 16 people appointed by Gov. John Engler to the Michigan Rehabilitation Advisory Council.

Hewitt, a Birmingham resident, was appointed to represent business, labor and industry for a term expiring Sept. 14, 1994.

The purpose of the council is to empower individuals with disabilities to maximize employment, economic self-sufficiency, independence, inclusion and integration into society.

On stage

CARRIE SLADE of Clarkston is among 10 singer-dancers to participate in the Annual Holiday Spectacular Dec. 10-12 at Oakland University's Varner Recital Hall, Rochester. Slade is a member of the Meadow Brook Estate, Oakland's premiere entertainment ensemble. The group is to perform Broadway production numbers from the Tony Award-winning "Will Rogers Follies" and George Gershwin's "Crazy For You," plus a Miami Sound Machine medley featuring MTV-type choreography.

Young singers present 16th holiday concert

The Academy Singers will present their 16th Annual Christmas Concert on Monday, Dec. 13.

The group of 40 junior and senior high school singers and dancers from The Academy of Popular Vocal Arts perform at 7 p.m. at Oakland University, Rochester, in Varner Recital Hall.

Admission is $7 for adults and $4 for senior citizens, children and students. Tickets are available at the door or by calling The Academy at 625-7057.

This year's performance features holiday favorites and new songs with choreography.

The Academy Singers have recorded 24 albums. They have performed on Channel 2 and in numerous Channel 7 projects, including two Emmy Award-winning Thanksgiving Day Parade specials. Their recording of "We Gather Together" was placed in nomination for a Grammy Award in the Best Children's Recording category.

The Academy, based in Independence Township, is led by Gene and Audrey Grier of Independence Township.

OCC slates college information night

High school juniors and their parents are invited to attend a College Information Night Thursday, Dec. 2, at Oakland Community College's Highland Lakes campus.

The free event begins 7 p.m. in the campus' Student Center Arena. OCC counselors, instructors, financial aid and admissions representatives will be on hand to answer questions regarding all aspects of higher education, including: degree requirements, scholarships and financial aid, transfer to a four-year institution, career planning and more.

The Highland Lakes campus is at 7350 Cooley Lake Road, Waterford. Free parking is available in several lots near the student center.

For more information about Information Night, call 360-3135.

Candlelight vigil to help homeless

Lighthouse North is planning a vigil to raise awareness of the plight of the hungry and homeless in north Oakland County.

The event takes place 7-8:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 11, beginning at Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church, across the street from Lighthouse North on Maybee Road. Choirs begin the program, and participants walk on a candle-lit vigil to the steps of Lighthouse North for Christmas caroling.

Choirs wishing to participate may contact Sherry Kaars at 673-4949.

Optimists launch junior club for kids

The Clarkston Area Optimist Club has announced the creation of the Clarkston Area Junior Optimist Club.

The club is forming at both Sashabaw and Clarkston middle schools.

Students in this club are encouraged to become involved in community service projects in the Clarkston area. The youngsters will run the club themselves, allowing them to choose what type of community service and social activities in which to become involved.

Students from other schools are welcome to join one of these two groups. According to the Optimists, the club will help provide self-esteem, giving the students the feeling that they can make a difference in their community.

For more information on the Junior Optimist Club, call Mary Markel at 620-2934 or Bill Schram at 625-5304.

Polish genealogy defined by geography, history

BY VIRGINIA BLOCK

Those of you who purchased the great beginner's workbook written by Rosemary Chorzempa learned early on that for about $3 you had a very well-written guide to get you going, whether you were eight or eighty.

We knew early on that Rosemary had begun her personal family research to look for a possible genetic health link, as she was the mother of a child with Downe's Syndrome. Since she had to research Polish ancestry for both her and her husband it followed that membership in a Polish Genealogical Society was in order.

She became so well informed that her interests resulted in becoming president of the National Polish Genealogical Society of America, where to-date, she is a board member.

This year she became the author of "Polish Roots" and we find it to be one of the most complete guidebooks for research we've seen. In a recent conversation with Rosemary, she told of the arrival of a new baby, in April this year, also having Downe's. With the strides being made in today's genetically connected and heredity diseases, we pray that all of Rosemary's hard work will result in many answers for all of us, regardless of the reason for our quest.

Pointing out that "Polish genealogy is almost completely defined by geography and history," Rosemary declares that Poland has been foster mother to peoples of many nationalities. She further states that especially Russia, Austria, Germany, the Ukrainians and Lithuanians - as well as host over the centuries to Balkan and Carpathian Slavs, to Jews, Prussians, Balts, Gypsies and even Scots.

Truly, she correctly notes that the geography of Poland is a mosaic. Lest we be deceived, it clearly points us in the direction of many of our own immigrant ancestors from Central European background.

In endeavoring to acquaint you with new materials to help your research, nothing pleases us more to find the writer of this book lives in Taylor, Mich., with her hubby and four kiddies. Her book will be bought by us and donated to the P.A.H.A.G.S. Library in memory of the late Jean Sherlock, for many years a volunteer in our Society Library.

This is a lasting memorial and we welcome any books to our library honoring your loved one, or friend. Needless to say, those with Downe's Syndrome family members will be helped by any beneficial results coming from research found helpful by Rosemary's efforts.

You may order your copy from the Genealogical Publishing Co., Inc., 1001 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, Md. 21210, cost is $20, which includes postage, or $17.95 in the bookstores.

Don't neglect starting your "histriology" now. Happy Hunting.

Genealogist Virginia Block may be contacted by writing to her in care of Sherman Publications, Inc., 666 Lapeer Road, Oxford, MI 48371.

TAYLOR HOSNER, 6, daughter of Lisa and Carl Hosner of Independence Township, poses for the 1994 "Children" calendar photographed by Kendra Dew of Berkley. Taylor, a first-grader at Clarkston Elementary School, began modeling at age 3. Her work includes television, industrial films, voice-overs for radio and print work in magazines and newspapers. She has also modeled for various department stores. "She's a great little child to photograph," said Dew. "She just photographs well. She's real precious." The calendars are available for $7.95 at Borders Bookstore in Southfield, Paperbacks Unlimited in Ferndale and from Kendra Dew Photographic, Inc., by calling (313) 541-3890. Business Briefs

President in Who's Who

The president of a Springfield Township-based firm has been accepted as a member of Who's Who Worldwide.

Michael W. Parry, president of Parry and Associates, is included in the 1993-94 Who's Who Registry of Global Business Leaders.

His company is a management consultant firm with clients in North America, Europe and Africa.

Membership in Who's Who Worldwide is limited to those individuals who have demonstrated outstanding leadership and achievement in their occupation, industry or professions.

Vice president named one of company's best

A Clarkston-area resident was among 19 Ross Roy, Inc., Bloomfield Hills, employees honored in September for extraordinary service to the company.

Len Bokuniewicz, vice president and creative director for Chrysler Direct Marketing, received the highest Ross Roy service award.

The Spirit of Service Award is presented to those employees who consistently did more than they were asked to do in their work.

New on association's education subcommittee

Robert O. Vandermark of the Clarkston area has been appointed to the Education Subcommittee of the International Association of Assessing Officers.

Vandermark, administrator of real property for Oakland County, has been a member of the international association for 25 years. He served on the Ethics Committee in 1992.

Vandermark also served the association as chairman of the State and Provincial Council and is a certified instructor for several association courses. He is also a member of the Michigan Assessor's Association and the Oakland County Assessor's Association.

The international association is a nonprofit, educational association.

New director of speech, language pathology

Theresa Marie Ross has joined the Greenery Health Care Center Clarkston as director of speech and language pathology.

Ross previously managed the speech-language department at RehabCare in Flint. She also worked as a speech therapist for Bay Valley Home Care and Community Hospice.

Ross holds a master of science degree from Southern Illinois University in communication disorders and sciences and a bachelor of arts degree in audiology and speech sciences from Michigan State University, East Lansing.

A native of Ortonville, she and her husband currently reside in Flint.

Independence man up for three Grammys

Gene Grier has been notified by the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences, Inc., that three of his recordings have been nominated for a Grammy Award. Each of Grier's nominations are in the "children's field." Of the hundreds of children's recordings made every year, 91 were selected for nomination. Three of those recordings by The Academy Singers were composed, written, produced and directed by the Independence Township resident. "The Creation" and "A Midnight Clear" were written specifically for children's choirs. "A Ziggy and Friends Christmas" was written for children of all ages. The Ziggy recording is also under consideration for an animated television special.

Clarkston kids dance 'The Nutcracker'

Seven Clarkston-area children are to dance in the Classy Dancer Ballet Corps' annual production of "The Nutcracker Ballet."

Megan Baker, Kacie Colbert, Erin Lamont, Allison Moss, Andrea Ronk, Angela Thomson and Adina Peteuil (who plays the lead role of Clara) join the 74-member cast in the Dec. 11 performance at Pontiac Central High School.

Complementing the cast this year are Keith Clifton and Jonette Swider, professional dancers from Los Angeles in the roles of the Prince and the Sugar Plum Fairy.

The performance takes place at 7 p.m. in the school auditorium. Tickets are $8 pre-sale and $10 at the door.

For more information, call 666-1971 4-9 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

For $4.75 a week, you can reach 42,500 people in over 18,500 homes every week with an advertising message on these pages.

COPY DEADLINE: 5:00 p.m. Friday preceding the week of publication.

Pine Knob hosts golf outing fund-raiser

A Clarkston-area golf course hosted a March of Dimes golf outing that raised more than $4,000.

The Equitable's Hobley Agency in Troy sponsored the outing in August at the Pine Knob Golf Course in Independence Township.

Proceeds were donated to the Southeast Michigan Chapter of March of Dimes.

March of Dimes seeks to improve the health of babies through the prevention of birth defects.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Because the People Want to Know

CLARKSTON

CITY OF THE VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON

375 Depot Road
Clarkston, MI 48346
MINUTES OF THE CITY COUNCIL MEETING
November 22, 1993

The meeting was called to order at 7:40 p.m. by Mayor Catallo and was followed by the pledge of allegiance.
Roll: Present: Arkwright, Basinger, Catallo, Roeser, Sanderson, Schultz, Secatch.

Moved by Arkwright, supported by Secatch, "That the minutes of the meeting on November 8, 1993 be approved as submitted." Motion carried.

Moved by Schultz, supported by Basinger, "That the agenda be approved as prepared." Motion carried.

Schultz was given the Oath of Office and was sworn in as a City Council person to serve for a two year term.

Secatch reported that there are now only 6 news boxes at the Clarkston News lot, down from 13 a few months ago. Secatch wanted to acknowledge and thank Julie Campe of the Clarkston News for being responsive to our concerns about this problem.

Basinger indicated that the Cable Committee had met and there would be a public hearing scheduled in the spring to address cable rates, complaints and programming. He reported that TCI Cable is under investigation for FCC regulation violations in 13 states including Michigan.

Arkwright indicated he spoke with Chief Devore about making the alley behind the Clarkston Cafe one way. Devore looked into this and does not think it is possible as larger trucks would have no way to turn around and exit the alley.

Arkwright indicated that Devore is looking into getting stop signs at the intersection of West Washington and Holcomb. This may take a couple of months as Holcomb is a county road.

Chief Devore awarded Officer Scott Dickey and Officer Mark Ladetto plaques for service provided to the Village of Clarkston. Devore praised these two officers for doing an outstanding job with our police department. Both officers have been with the department since it began in July 1992.

At 7:50 p.m. the Public Hearing was opened to discuss how Clarkston's 1994-95 Community Development Block Grant funds would be allocated. Pappas indicated that there would be $8,000 available this upcoming year from this federal program and that a maximum of 40% or $3,200 could be used to fund community service.

Pappas indicated that there are a number of restrictions that accompany this funding. Funds may be used in low-income areas. However, since the results of the 1990 census were tabulated, there are no longer any low-income areas in the Village.

Arkwright indicated that he would like to see funding for the Depot Park Playground and that he had met with various people from that committee about the possibility of obtaining CDBG funds for this project. Depot Park is a 100-year flood plain and apparently CDBG funds cannot be used in a flood plain. Arkwright spoke with Mr. Lee Mitchell from Oakland County and has obtained a copy of the policy by which exceptions can be made to the flood plain restriction for CDBG. If the council decides to allocate funding for this project Arkwright and members of the playground committee will follow the policy to see if this project can qualify for an exemption.

Selander Miller, as chair of the playground committee, presented information to the Council about what was being proposed for the playground. A copy of the project description is attached.

Pappas indicated that the park is used by head injury patients who he felt could benefit from the new equipment, which is approved by the ADA, that has been proposed.

Pappas indicated that he had spoken with a sales person for playground equipment who indicated that playgrounds are considered a good land use for a flood plain. Playground equipment is built to withstand the elements and is unlikely to be damaged by high water.

Arkwright indicated that all publicly held land within the Village is within a flood plain.

Debbie Garrett, Village resident, indicated that at present the equipment in the park is not safe and is not accessible by wheelchair.

Robin Nance, Village resident, indicates that she lives across from the park and that the park is truly a community resource that is used by preschool and school age children throughout the year. She feels it serves more than just the immediate community and that it draws people in from many surrounding communities.

Jen Arkwright, Village resident, indicated at Crafts and Cider held this fall in the park, that 60-70 people volunteered to work on the playground project. She stated that these people were not just from the Village.

Mobile billboards

You'd be hard put to find a car dealer who doesn't advertise on billboards.

But Saturn North in Springfield Township has taken the billboard concept a step further, by making it mobile.

As a joint venture between Saturn and Flint's Mass Transit Authority, Saturn North has commissioned a 35-foot-long portrait of two of their best-selling cars, to be painted on the side of an MTA bus. These huge portraits, of a gold SL2 sedan and a bright red SC2 sport coupe, will be traveling around the Flint area throughout the year.

Saginaw artist Mike Church used Saturn automotive paint to achieve a perfect match to the body colors and then added airbrush highlights to bring out the contours of the vehicles.

Carolyn Bush, resident of Independence Township, indicated that she uses Depot Park. She expressed concern that there were no curb cuts at the northeast and southeast corners of Holcomb and West Washington.

Pappas indicated that funding had been previously allocated for these curb cuts. He indicated that the CDBG funds that had been allocated for sidewalk improvements and drainage improvement along Holcomb could no longer be used there as this is no longer a low income area. Pappas indicated that we are in danger of losing this funding if we do not find another way to allocate it. There is approximately $6,513 involved from unspent CDBG funds from 1991-93.

Pappas is to check with the county to see if the needed curb cuts can be funded out of the Tri-Party funds.

Another public hearing will be scheduled to reallocate the CDBG funds from 1991-93.

Kurt Badarian, Village resident, expressed concern that there is no safe way to walk to the park, or to access the park in a wheelchair.

Sheri Kars, from Lighthouse North, came to the meeting to request that the Council continue to allocate a portion of the CDBG funds to Lighthouse North. Lighthouse North serves low to moderate income people through a variety of programs. They provide food, personal care items, funding for medical emergencies, and diapers and formula through their Young Moms program. She indicated that the need for these services is increasing in our surrounding communities over the past few years. She is asking the Council to continue the funding at $1,000 this year.

Jen Arkwright, Village resident, indicated that members of the Playground Committee were willing to lobby on behalf of the Playground project to change the flood plain designation if that was thought to be warranted.

Moved by Schultz, supported by Basinger, "That the public hearing be closed." Motion carried.

The public hearing was closed at 8:30 p.m.

Resolved by Sanderson, supported by Arkwright, "That the Community Development Block Grant funds be allocated in the following manner: $1,000 to Youth Assistance, $1,000 to Lighthouse North, and $1,000 to the Senior Citizens and the balance, $5,000, to the Depot Park Playground Project." Roll: Yeas: Arkwright, Basinger, Catallo, Sanderson, Schultz, Secatch. Nays: Roeser. Resolution passed.

Catallo indicated that she wants to find an additional $800 for the senior citizens at the time the budget is established.

Attorney Ryan indicated that the county wanted our Truck Ordinance altered to restrict trucks in the Village from 5 axle trucks to 6 axle trucks. Ryan indicated the reason for the change was to provide conformity with other truck ordinances within the county and so that the county would provide the signs.

Schultz indicated this would not accomplish what we intended it to do and was not in favor of the change.

This was the first reading of the truck ordinance. The second reading of the ordinance will be at the December 13, 1993 meeting.

Moved by Sanderson, supported by Basinger, "That the meeting scheduled for December 27, 1993 be canceled." Motion carried.

The proposed changes in the Historic District Ordinance will be discussed at the Planning Commission Meeting on December 6, 1993.

The council was in favor of the following changes: all changes in the windows and doors on the street facing facade of historic homes must go before the Historic District Commission, aluminum trim would not be allowed on the street facing facade, the original trim may not be modified in efforts to accommodate aluminum siding.

Ryan will make a list of the statutory changes in the ordinance. The first reading of the ordinance changes will be at the meeting on December 13, 1993.

Catallo is scheduled to meet with the Township Supervisor on November 24, 1993. Basinger and Arkwright felt if the Township wants to renegotiate the contracts and asset settlement both boards should be present. Basinger will review the Clarkston News from November 11, 1992 for the terms of the agreement.

Arkwright indicated the only thing that had been left undecided was the interest rate at which the Township was to pay for holding our assets. This was to have been decided upon by our two accountants.

Secatch suggested a meeting be held at the Village Hall on either December 13 or 14. Catallo will extend the invitation.

Resolved by Roeser, supported by Arkwright, "That the Council will go into closed session to discuss pending litigation." Roll: Yeas-7; Nays-0. Resolution passed.

The council went into closed session at 9:15 p.m.

Moved by Arkwright, supported by Basinger, "That the meeting be reopened." Motion carried.

The meeting was reopened at 9:50 p.m.

Moved by Arkwright, supported by Sanderson, "That the meeting be adjourned." Motion carried.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:55 p.m.

WHO SAYS VOLVOS AREN'T ATTRACTIVE?

$22,900*

The Volvo 940 Sedan. A European family car whose appeal goes well beyond its surface all the way to its price. Equally compelling are such standard features as anti-lock brakes, a steel unibody with Side Impact Protection System, power windows, and more. So see us for a test drive. Because while hearing about it may be one thing, driving it is definitely quite another.
Drive safely.

We are SIDING and GUTTER Specialists

We are not a Jack-of-all-trades. We can not guarantee you the absolute lowest price, as we will not sacrifice the quality products or workmanship that you deserve. But what we will guarantee is an honest and fair price with products and workmanship of the highest quality. We also do our own work. We don't get your job and sub-contract it out, or sell it. So if you are only looking for the cheapest way out, call someone else who claims they can beat any price. If you are looking for an honest and fair price, quality products and workmanship, dependability, and someone that will still be here after your job is completed, give us a call. Helping you make your home the one you've always dreamed of is what we do.

SHALLA Travis shares her story with Frankie Schmidt. Each eighth-grader read his or her story to children in small groups. Betty Anderson, director of the SPICE program, said the smaller children always enjoy when the bigger "kids" pay attention to them.

JAMES Holst reads to Jamie Gootee and Andrianna Smith as part of his eighth-grade English project at Clarkston Middle School. His story, "LeRoy's Day," follows a young boy as he goes through a day. SPICE preschool 4-year-olds listened as eighth-graders read original compositions to them last week during class.

Ready audience

BETTY ANDERSON, director of Clarkston's SPICE preschool program, holds Shaye Pockrandt as he listens to one of the stories. (Photos by Deborah Dzewilt)

Deck the halls

Deck The Halls originated in Wales where the tradition of bringing greenery inside for Christmas was always part of the festivities. The song is now sung all over the world and 'boughs of holly' are shipped from the special places where they do grow to far away places and big cities so that we all may still Deck The Halls.

Happy Holidays

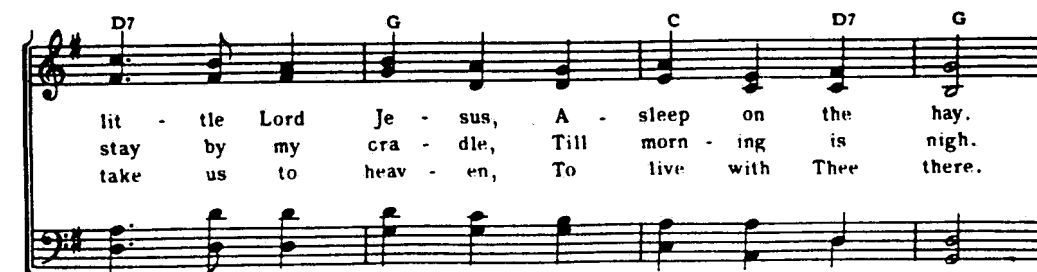

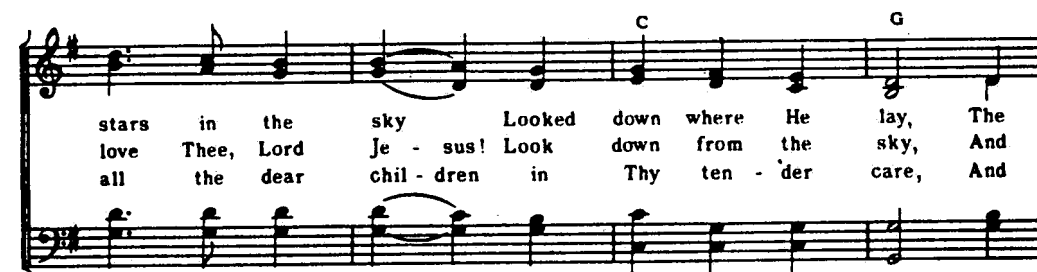

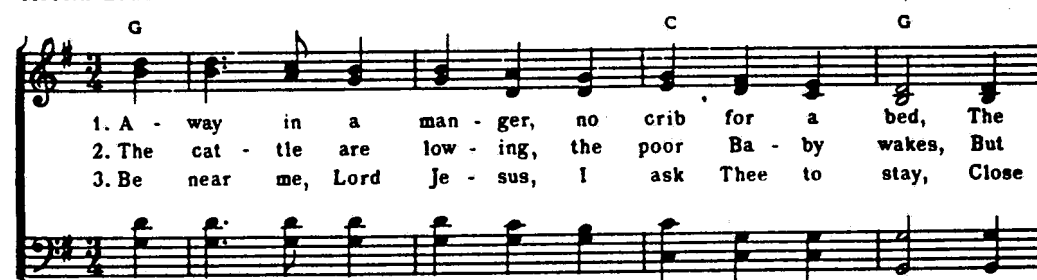

Away in a manger

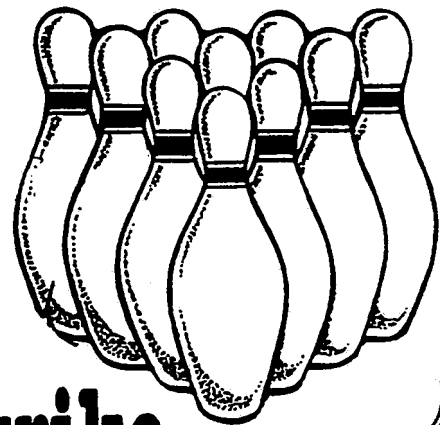

This song has often been attributed to Martin Luther, although it is not confirmed that he did write it. But it does come down to us from that era, sung to the tune of a German Folk-song. It has been a favorite all these years of little children everywhere with a tune that is easy to sing and a lullaby message enjoyed by all ages.

O Come, All Ye Faithful

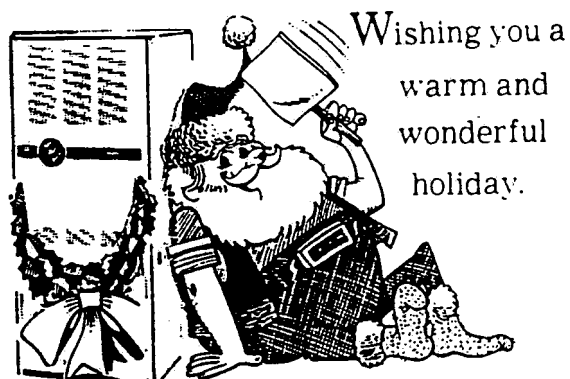

O Come, All Ye Faithful was originally sung in Latin and didn't become popular until after the English translation in 1841 by Frederick Oakeley. The music is usually credited to John Reading, an English organist at Winchester during the later half of the 17th century.

God rest ye merry, gentlemen

God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen is another of the traditional carols for which no author is known. It has been a favorite of carolers from the times of the minstrels of old England until present day. Since neither the words nor music can be traced to an individual it is surmised that many have added their own flair to the song throughout the centuries.

The First Noel

The First Nowell is one of the oldest and most mysterious of our carols. No record is known of its origin. Sir John Stainer harmonized this version from the many renditions of his day. The song is not in keeping with scripture: the shepherds didn't see the star. But the music and words of this old song remind us all of the wonder of the season.

What Child Is This?

The words What Child Is This are sung to the old English tune "Greensleeves" which was popular before the time of Queen Elizabeth. It was one of the best-liked tunes of its day and Shakespeare mentions it twice in "The Merry Wives of Windsor." The present words about the Christ Child were written by William C. Dix during the reign of Queen Victoria.

It came upon the midnight clear

This is another of our American born carols. A Unitarian minister from Boston, Edmund H. Sears wrote the poem which was later set to music by his friend, Richard S. Willis. The real Christmas message rings out to ages in this beautiful carol written in 1849: "Peace on earth, good will toward men."

Edmund H. Sears Richard S. Willis

1. It came up-on the mid-night clear, That glo-rious song of old, — From
2. Still through the clip-ven skies they come With peace-ful wings un-furled — And
3. For lo, the days are hast-ning on, By proph-et bards fore-told, — When an-gels bend-ing near the earth To touch their harps of gold: — "Peace still their heavn-ly mus-ic floats O'er all the wear-y world. — A-with the ev-er circ-ling years Comes 'round the age of gold — When on the earth, good will to men From Heav'n's all-gra-cious King!" — The bove its sad and low-ly plains They bend on hov-ering wing — And peace shall o-ver all the earth Its an-cient splen-dor fling — And world in sol-enn still-ness lay To hear the an-gels sing — ev-er o'er its Bab-el sounds The bless-ed an-gels sing — the whole world give back the song Which now the an-gels sing —

HARK! THE HERALD ANGELS SING

Written in 1730, the words to this song were inspired by the pealing of the church bells on Christmas morning. Charles Wesley was to become one of the most famous protestant hymn writers. However it was not set to music until 1840 when Dr. Cummings of Waltham Abbey fitted it to this tune by Mendelssohn. It was published as such in 1856.

Mendelssohn

1. Hark! the her - ald an - gels sing, "Glo - ry to the new-born King!
2. Christ, by high - est heav'n a - dored; Christ, the ev - er - last - ing Lord;
3. Mild He lays His glo - ry by, Born that man no more may die,

Peace on earth, and mer - cy mild, God and sin - ners re - con - ciled."
Late in time be - hold Him come, Off - spring of the fa - vored one.

thoughts turn gratefully to those who have made our progress possible. And in this spirit we say, thank you and best wishes for a wonderful holiday.

The Taste of Christmas...

Kid's Krunchy Krazy Korn

8 cups puffed popcorn curls
(from 8-oz. pkg.)*

1 cup firmly packed brown sugar

1/2 cup margarine or butter

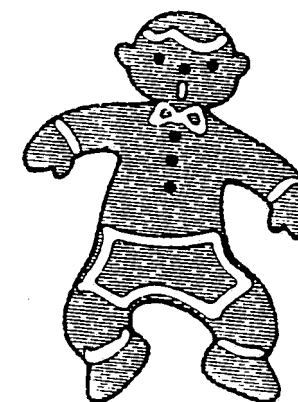

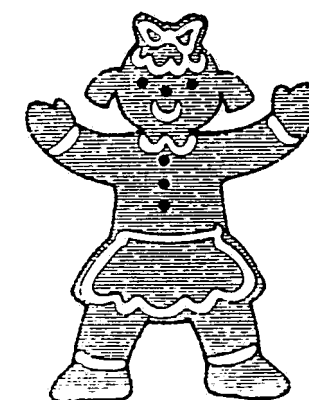

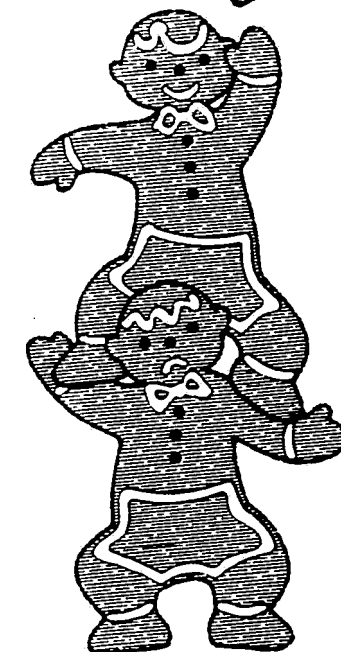

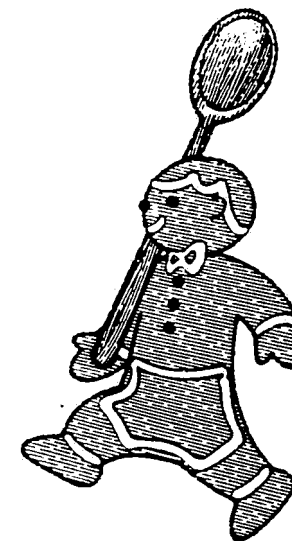

1/4 cup light corn syrup

1/2 teaspoon baking soda

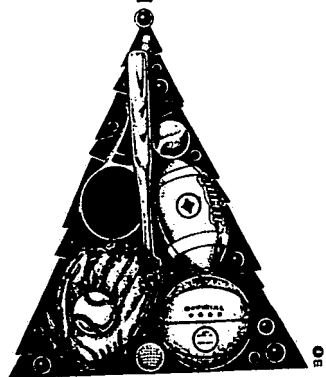

1 teaspoon vanilla

Heat oven to 250°F. Place popcorn curls in 15x10x1-inch baking pan. In large saucepan, combine brown sugar, margarine and corn syrup;
bring to a boil over medium heat,
stirring constantly. Simmer
2 minutes; remove from heat. Stir in baking soda and vanilla. Pour mixture evenly over popcorn curls; mix well.

Bake at 250°F. for 30 minutes, stirring twice during baking.
Immediately remove from pan; cool completely on waxed paper or greased foil. Store in tightly covered container. 8 cups.

We're Sportin' Our Holiday Cheer!

Hope a great time is in the game plan!
With warmest regards to you and every member of your "team" on this joyous occasion.

The Taste of Christmas...

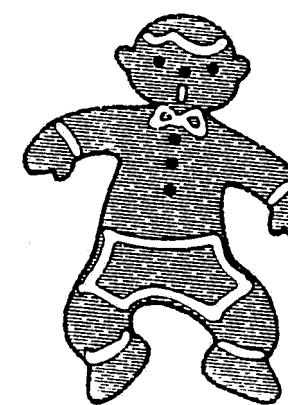

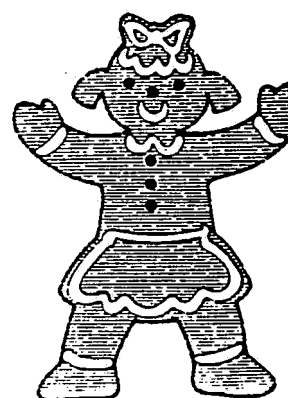

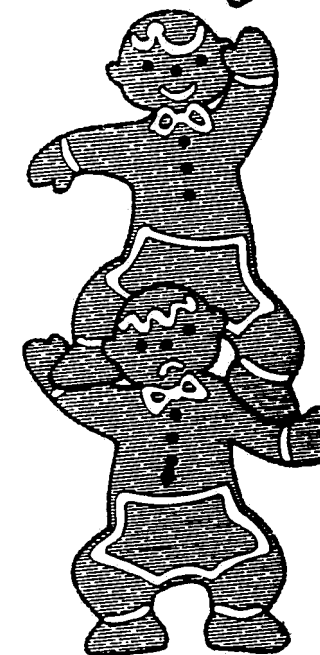

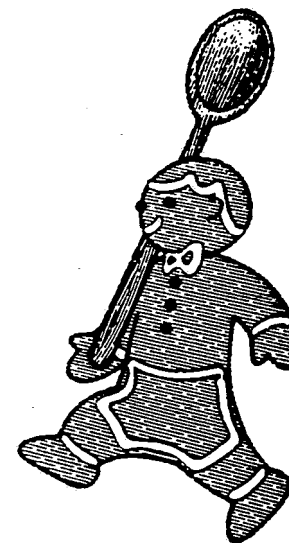

PUMPKIN SPICE COOKIES

- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup mashed, cooked pumpkin
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1/2 teaspoon lemon extract
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 2 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon ground allspice
- 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1 cup raisins
- 1/2 cup chopped pecans
- Lemon Buttercream Frosting (optional)

Cream shortening in a large mixing bowl; gradually add sugar, beating well. Add eggs; beat until well blended. Stir in pumpkin, vanilla, lemon extract, and grated lemon rind.

Combine flour, baking powder, salt, and spices in a medium mixing bowl; stir well. Gradually add to creamed mixture, stirring well. Stir in raisins and pecans.

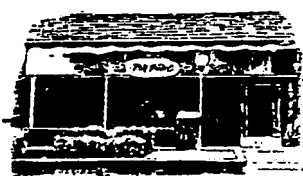

Drop dough by teaspoonfuls 2 inches apart onto greased cookie sheets. Bake at 375° for 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove to wire racks to cool. Frost with Lemon Buttercream Frosting, if desired. Yield: 7 dozen.

Kaleidoscope Cookies

- 1 can Pillsbury Vanilla Frosting
Supreme® Food color
- 1 pkg. purchased cookies such as vanilla wafers, chocolate
wafer cookies or ginger
snaps

Divide frosting into 3 small bowls; add desired colors to two bowls and stir to blend. Place frostings in pastry bags with small writing tips or in small resealable plastic bags with very small hole cut in corner for piping.

Decorate one cookie at a time. Pipe dollop of desired color frosting on cookie; spread with knife. Pipe different color frosting over frosted cookie in a spiral pattern starting from center, or in parallel lines on opposite edges. Using toothpick, draw lines outward through frosting starting at center of cookie, as shown in diagrams. Yield will vary based on type and size of cookies.
