Morning fire damages two stores

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE Clarkston News Staff Writer

A Main Street building was damaged by fire early Saturday morning, Dec. 4.

Firefighters were called to 25 S. Main St., Clarkston, about 1:30 a.m., according to Independence Township Fire Department Chief Gar Wilson. The building houses The Chocolate Cabbage and Designsmith.

"We definitely had a fire in the basement," said Wilson, noting that the source of the fire is under investi-

Wilson said fire officials are checking into the possibility that the fire began with the water heater. He said, if the heater is the problem, it was more than likely caused by items stored too near it.

When the fire department arrived on the scene, heavy smoke and flames were coming up the stairs and out the back of the building, he said.

"The fire was knocked down pretty quick," said Wilson. He said the department spent the next few hours investigating the building to make sure the fire wasn't in the walls and rafters.

Wilson said two engines, a tanker, rescue truck and an air truck where used to extinguish the fire. Water was supplied from the Mill Pond. There were no injuries.

Wilson did not know the dollar amount of damage. He said the rafters and floor in the basement were charred, and the main floor suffered extensive heat and smoke damage. Wilson said the age and design of the building also makes it difficult to assess the damage.

"The building is so old, I'm not sure they can repair it," he said.

Record number need help from Lighthouse North

BY JULIE CAMPE Clarkston News Editor

In Clarkston-area shopping centers, people bustle in and out of stores, arms laden with holiday packages.

But for some in the area, the holidays look grim.

More families than ever before have applied for holiday help through Lighthouse North. The non-profit agency provides food, clothing and emergency money for medicine, utilities and rent to residents in north Oakland County.

In the first week of December, 450 families had signed up for holiday baskets, with 500 families expected.

"This is by far the largest undertaking for us," said Sherry Kaars, director of Lighthouse North on Maybee Road, Independence Township.

It's typical of the help people have needed the entire year, she said.

As of October, Lighthouse had provided food for 6,447 people, which doesn't include the busiest months of the year — November and December. In contrast, Lighthouse gave food to 5,747 people in all of 1992 and to 5,550 people in 1991.

"Families are still struggling," said Kaars. "It looks like the economy is picking back up. But when statistics go up like that, we have to wonder."

She noted that more people than ever have also applied for help with utility money, rent money and emergency medical money.

Normally at this time of year, Lighthouse North has enough gifts and food for holiday baskets for needy families and can concentrate on the tougher winter months shead

"This is the time people think of others," she said. But "for the first time, we're still asking for volunteers and gifts," said Kaars. "And food is very important. We probably will have enough gifts."

She asks that area families, churches, businesses and civic groups consider helping Lighthouse North again.

The body of a 34-year-old Clarkston woman was discovered Sunday, Dec. 3,in an apartment on Pontiac's north side.

Barbara V. Sanders' body was found by Pontiac police after neighbors called to report a domestic fight. She had suffered multiple stab wounds to her head, chest and front of her body and had been hit on the head with a blunt chief!

apartment where they found the body.

The specific cause of death is not known, but police suspect that it was one of the stab wounds that pierced her beart.

Pontiac police have a suspect in the murder and hope to have an arrest by next week.

Record number need help

(See related story.)

"The things they've done every season are great, but we hope that people will still continue to help," she said.

Lighthouse will provide enough food for a holiday meal for a needy family - plus at least one gift per child or senior citizen, she said. Often, however, that's still not enough.

"Families over-extend themselves trying to prepare for the holidays," she said, adding that parents may still buy their own gifts for their children, even if they don't have the money. They extend themselves in other ways,

As an example, she cited a client who picked up her Thanksgiving food basket on Tuesday and came back Wednesday to ask for more food. She explained that the holiday basket would feed her family for one day — but how would she feed them over the long weekend?

Many ways to help others

Food, money, gifts and time are needed to help needy families over the holidays.

Lighthouse North is seeking donations to help an expected 500 families — a record number, said Director Sherry Kaars. (See related story.)

Those who help are invited to peek inside to see the donated items and volunteers hard at work.

"It's heartwarming to see," said Kaars, adding that the community has always donated enough in the past, and she hopes it's the same this year.

"I always go into a panic this time of year, wondering if we're going to have enough," she said. "It always has worked."

How to donate food, gifts

Canned goods and other non-perishable foods may be dropped off 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday at Lighthouse North — housed in an historical church building on Maybee Road, Independence Township.

Gifts — for children as well as senior citizens also are needed. Ideas for seniors include: stationery, stamps, candy, envelopes, writing utensils, etc. Ideas for children include puzzles, coloring books and crayons, clay, dolls and other toys.

Youth groups, adult organizations and individuals are needed to sort and wrap gifts and foods, assemble holiday baskets, and to help deliver some to those who can't drive. For more information, call 673-4949.

How to donate money

Money — which will be used to buy turkeys in bulk -may be dropped off in person or mailed to Lighthouse North, 5331 Maybee Road, Clarkston, MI 48346. To help year-round, residents may designate their donation "Our Good Neighbor Fund," which provides heat, utility, rent and medical money to needy families.

Candlelight vigil

Kaars invites area groups and residents to join her and her staff in a candlelight vigil 7-8:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 11, to raise awareness of the plight of the needy in the area

It begins at Sashabaw Presbyterian Church on Maybee Road with Christmas carols and travels to Lighthouse North across the street.

Participants are provided with hot cocoa and doughnuts and may tour Lighthouse North if they wish.

Water main construction could begin this month

BY DEBORAH DZIEWIT Clarkston News Special Writer

Clarkston-area residents drinking bottled water may see work begin this month on a water main.

The main — connecting part of Clarkston and a portion of Independence Township with the township's water system — will bring clean drinking water to homes with tainted water and to some of their neighbors.

Independence Township officials were to consider

If approved, work can begin on the first phase of a water main. It replaces 150 wells in Woodhull Lake subdivision in Independence Township and 28 wells along Main Street, Clarkston, some of which are tainted, according to George Anderson, the township's director of public works.

State money covers the cost for bottled water and installation of the water main by way of the 1988 Quality of Life Bond under Act 307.

To build the water main along Sashabaw Road, the township will receive $800,000, and along Main Street, $215,000.

More than 100 residents at meeting

Anderson and other officials from the state Department of Public Health and Department of Natural Resources met with more than 100 residents Dec. 2 to answer questions about ground water contamination and the construction of the water main.

Many residents asked about the nature of contamination and the risks involved.

Most common: gasoline, solvents

Lois Elliott Graham, an environmental sanitarian for public health, talked about the contaminants found in the ground water.

Gasoline and chlorinated solvents were the most common substances, found in several wells along Main Street and in Woodhull Lake subdivision in Independence, Graham said.

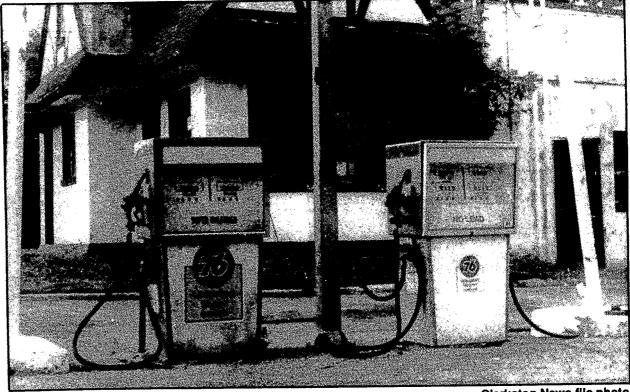

In high levels, they can cause cancer. That's why residents are drinking bottle water.

The DNR also helped answer specific questions about the location and the direction of flow of pollutants.

Leaking underground storage tanks

Officials believe contamination in the Woodhull subdivision stems from leaking underground storage tanks, according to a report from the DNR, which is investigating sources of contamination.

A DNR representative said that an initial investigation covered 21 sites in an area west and east of Sashabaw Road near Pelton Road, south to Woodhull Lake and Lake Oakland. It found sites near Oakvista and Sashabaw roads to have the heaviest concentration of volatile organic compounds — which generally come from petroleumbased compounds such as gasoline.

THE VILLAGE Muffler shop at the corner of Main Street and Clarkston Road complies with DNR underground storage tank

Sites near the corner of Pelton and Sashabaw roads also contributed to tainted wells in the subdivision.

In addition, the owners of the Clark station on Sashabaw Road are conducting their own investigation to determine the extent of contamination from leaking tanks, according to the report.

The DNR suspects other sites on Sashabaw Road of once having leaking underground tanks, but at this time it has no proof that they have contributed to the contamination found in wells.

For instance, at the site formerly housing Morris and Sons' Gulf gas station, underground tanks were removed in 1987 and, according to the DNR, complied with its standards at that time.

DNR officials also said a present residence on Sashabaw Road could have been a gas station and a taxi cab depot in the 1930s and '40s. It, too, could be a source of contamination.

Direction of contamination uncertain

Despite the report, DNR officials are mystified as to the direction of contamination.

"I've been site manager for three years, and while #### standards. However, it is one of several sites suspected as a source of ground water contamination.

the contamination is widespread and at low levels, there is no particular pattern," said Rebecca Taylor, environmental response division. "It's a headache."

Two known sources in Clarkston

Clarkston, too, has its share of tainted wells that dot the northern end of Main Street. Besides the now-closed Powell landfill on Clarkston Road, east of Perry Lake Road, the DNR reports two known sources for ground water contamination.

While the M-15 Shell service station complies to law, it has reported that its tanks released a small amount of gasoline and suspects that its fuel oil tank might have

The Village Muffler shop, while also in compliance with the underground storage tank law, has investigated the "extent of the releases associated with gasoline and fuel oil tanks," according to the DNR report.

State money covers costs — for now

Other residents questioned the money sources for

A public health official said the township ranks high enough on the DNR's list of contaminated sites that the state awarded it the money to build the water main; however, the state requires discovery of the initial ownership, so it can recover costs for cleanup and for projects such as the water main.

'This is not a grant program," said James Lahti, an environmental sanitarian and funding specialist for public health. "The state must recover the costs.

"If the party or parties responsible for the contamination are identified, responsible party will be identified, and the state will get funds from the responsible party. It must be recovered," Lahti said.

The money comes from the Quality of Life Bond Fund, from the Michigan Environmental Responsibility Act 307, according to Lahti.

"Act 307 was passed because the state Legislature felt that ground water contamination and mental hazards were left to the state to monitor," said Lahti.

Pros, cons of hookup

However, some residents remained unsure about hooking up to the water main. While some residents' wells show no sign of being tainted, residents have been asked to be hooked up.

Other residents wanted to know the effect of construction on yards and driveways.

"It's a free connection," said Randy Ford, township engineer. "We hope to do it with the minimum of disruption."

However, the township's public works supervisor said the residents will see disruption, that it can't be helped. "They will tear the hell out of your neighborhood," said George Anderson. "It will not be a piece of cake, and it will stop traffic." However, he said, "Don't look at a gift horse in the mouth."

better roads OBG funds to help

BY DEBORAH DZIEWIT Clarkston News Special Writer

Springfield officials went back to the drawing board two weeks ago and came up with a new plan to spend some of its grant money.

The board found that Community Development Block Grant federal guidelines wouldn't allow the township to use some of its $43,118 for a new fire station.

Instead, the board decided to spend 40 percent — or $17,250 — on road improvements on Oakhill Drive near Dixie Highway, according to Clerk Nancy Strole, after a

Nov. 23 special meeting. "It was in the area that was designated low- to moderate-income area, where a high enough percentage of the population qualifies," Strole said.

Woman hurt on icy roads

An Ortonville woman was injured Nov. 27 when she lost control of her car on icy roads.

According to reports by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Kerry Sousa, 23, was driving her car on Ortonville Road north of Hadley Road when she lost control of her car, spun around, hit a speed limit sign and Sousa was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital where she was later released.

The 8:40 a.m. accident happened on a cloudy day. Sousa was wearing her seatbelt. She was ticketed for a speed violation.

According to the 1990 census, an area on Oakhill Drive, west of Dixie Highway, now meets the block grant guidelines for low-to-moderate income levels.

The grant — which is under the jurisdiction of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development can be used by helping low- and moderate-income people, preventing or eliminating slums and blight, or meeting an urgent community need.

Communities can satisfy these needs by helping individuals or an area — however the qualification can be Based on the 1990 census, a portion of the township met the criteria of a "neighborhood classification."

Officials at first thought they could use the money to build a new fire station in the designated area. But the use of the building could not meet block grant guidelines, Strole said.

So the township is to use the money to improve the entrance to the trailer park that is northeast of Dixie Highway.

"We will see what the costs will be of paving the portion from Dixie Highway to the entrance-ways," she

As for the remaining 60 percent, communities can use up to 40 percent of its allocation for community

The township intends to use 20 percent or $8,600 of the money for building barrier-free ramps.

The remaining 40 percent will be given to public service organizations. Neighbor to Neighbor will see $9,500; Lighthouse North, $4,300; and Northwest Oakland Community Services, $3,400.

A 4 Wed., Dec. 8, 1993 The Clarkston (MI) News Smooth sailing for Baker College's first semester

College classes may boost image of Oakland Technical Center-Northwest Campus

BY JULIE CAMPE Clarkston News Editor

Baker College classes in the Clarkston area are running smoothly at the end of the first semester.

"It's going extremely well," said Ken Rice, Baker College system director of institutional relations.

33 area residents choose Baker

He said 33 students are enrolled full time - more than expected for the first semester in Clarkston.

Since each student is taking several classes, 75 class hours total are offered at the Oakland Technical Center-Northwest on Big Lake Road, Springfield Township.

"The students have jumped into it with both feet,"

None had previous college experience.

"This created an opportunity for people right in the Clarkston area who felt they couldn't go to college any way else," he said.

Officials at the private Baker College (which has seven campuses and nine locations) chose the OTC-N as a satellite because of its convenient location and ready facilities. It also is at the center of the population in this area, said Rice.

Win-win situation

"It's sort of a win-win situation," he said. Joan Veenhuis, Baker College system admissions specialist, agreed. "It's so convenient for people. That's who is there, people who can get there in 10 to 15 minutes," she said.

That's important for most in the area, since most people work during the day and need to attend classes at night, she said.

In Clarkston, three students are 1993 high school

"The rest have been out for a while," Veenhuis said.

Accounting, management classes offered

Currently, students may take Baker classes in accounting and management at OTC-N. If the demand grows, other classes and degree programs could be of-

But as it stands, if students take three courses per quarter, they could earn an associate's degree in three

Two- and four-year degree programs in business, technology and allied health disciplines are offered at Baker in Auburn Hills, including new two-year programs in interior design and graphic communications.

There's still time to register for classes in Auburn Hills or Clarkston for next semester, which begins Jan. 10. For an appointment, call the Auburn Hills campus at 340-0600. Time is devoted to the Clarkston location on Thursday afternoons and evenings.

OCT-N students may attend, too

In addition, high school and adult students currently enrolled in certain OTC-N classes could earn college credit from Baker, thanks to an "articulation agreement" between Baker and OTC-N.

In effect, this allows a student "advanced placement" at Baker College after high school graduation

The benefits: students save time and money because they can fulfill college requirements without paying for

"We're very similar. Baker College is very careeroriented, and so is the technical center. It's a natural progression."

Joan Veenhuis

classes — and they won't be required to "make up" the credit from Baker College.

Plus, some OTC-N students may attend Baker College night classes on scholarship — if room is available.

Instead of paying $112 per credit hour, they'll pay about $100 for a four-credit class, saving more than $300.

To qualify, students must have a 3.0 grade point average in OTC-N classes, fewer than eight absences from OTC-N classes, and the recommendation of a teacher at OTC-N.

Baker, OTC-N career-oriented

Veenhuis and Rice credited OTC-N Principal Daniel Manthei for helping to create a Baker satellite at the school.

It only makes sense, said Veenhuis. "We're very similar," she said. "Baker College is very career-oriented, and so is the technical center. It's a natural progression."

She explained the history and philosophy of the 100year-old Baker College.

Its founder, Eldon Baker, started the college by training office workers for automotive facilities in Flint. It continues to train people for specific jobs needed in business — as well as to re-train people as the job market changes, she said.

Students in demand in workplace

With business people on the advisory boards, Baker tailors its classes to specific needs and skills of the workplace.

"As a need develops, we train people to fill that need. It keeps us dynamic," Veenhuis said. "We're private, so we can make those changes rapidly. If there are few job opportunities, we phase out that program.

"We like to work for the employer," she said, explaining that businesses otherwise would spend much money and time to train employees.

Sometimes, those who already have bachelor's degrees attend Baker College to gain skills that will make them more in demand in the workforce.

But for those who choose Baker College right from the start, there's an advantage.

"Here, they don't take two years of liberal arts before they get into their major," said Veenhuis. "There's nothing wrong with that, but here students can get right into their major, and it keeps their interests."

Job placement statistics after graduation prove that Baker teaches the right skills. At Baker College, 97 percent of graduates are placed in jobs.

Principal applauds Baker

That's exactly what Principal Manthei likes to hear. He said Baker has a better record than, for example, Michigan State University, University of Michigan or Central Michigan University, which have job placement rates of about 15 percent.

Baker's clear-cut mission and "excellent marketing" are key to its success, he said.

"They don't provide training if there are no jobs available," he said.

"Their mission or vision is comparable to ours, except they deal with students a year or two older."

College classes may help OTC-N image

Baker classes also benefit the technical center, said Manthei, mentioning not only the offers to OTC-N students but also the image.

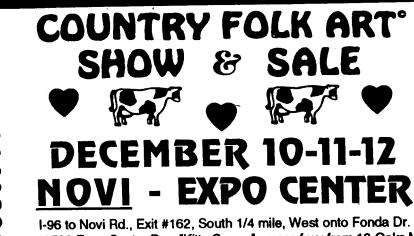

'Some people associate vo-tech education as being OK for some students but not for college kids," he said. "The reality is that career-tech ed. has higher expectations in some ways."

While OTC-N teaches skills that are in demand, the community's perception of the center has not kept pace.

We need to be the school of choice, not the school of last resort," said Manthei, adding that Baker College classes could help.

"I would hope it would change the image in the community."

Former Clarkston resident, farm owner dies

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE Clarkston News Staff Writer

"He was a Christian man — that should come first," said Bernadine Miller of her late husband, Clark.

Mr. Miller, 81, was also described as a loving father and grandfather. He was considerate, helpful and very hard working.

A former Clarkston resident and the man who farmed the homestead now called Cook's Farm Dairy, Mr. Miller died Nov. 30, 1993, from cancer.

He was born in a maternity home on Holcomb Road to Benjamin and Letta Miller Feb. 8, 1912, and was raised in a Main Street, Clarkston, home.

Mr. Miller attended Clarkston schools and graduated from Clarkston High School when it was still housed in what is now the Independence Township hall.

On June 14, 1933, he married the former Bernadine Bailey. Mrs. Miller said she and her husband lived with his parents for six months after they were married.

"Then we moved here and have been here ever since," she said. The couple celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary in June.

The couple began with 80 acres that had originally belonged to Mrs. Miller's father. She said her father had been fixing the farm up for her brother, but her sister-inlaw didn't want him to farm. Mr. Bailey then offered to sell the land to the newly married Millers.

Mrs. Miller said her husband admitted he knew nothing about farming but decided to give it a try. "And he was a successful farmer, too. At least I think he was,"

she said. The couple began farming their first 80 acres in 1934 with a team of horses and an old-fashioned plow. They paid a man $20 a month, out of their $40-a-month budget, to work for them and gradually began to develop their land, which now totals 200 acres.

Mrs. Miller said their goal was to be part of the Michigan Milk Producer's Association. They started to build their herd and bought a tractor after five years.

On Palm Sunday in 1958, the barn on their property burned to the ground.

"Not being a quitter, he decided to rebuild the barn," said Mrs. Miller.

The Millers' oldest daughter was married that spring and their new son-in-law, John Cook, began working for them. After five to seven years, Cook bought the farm from the Millers and formed Cook's Farm Dairy.

Mr. Cook recently died, and his son, Clark Cook, now runs the dairy.

"Clark (Miller) worked on the farm until this summer," Mrs. Miller said.

Mr. Miller's son-in-law, Jerry Ballard, said that he was a hard-working man and more. "He was a man of integrity, a man of his word. He'll be greatly missed by his family.

Along with his wife, Mr. Miller is survived by his daughters, Sally and her husband Kendall Andrews of Davison, and Sandra and her husband Jerry Ballard of

He is also survived by his grandchildren: John Mark and his wife Rodnie Cook of Reed City, Clark and his wife Lori Cook of Ortonville, Jill and her husband Ron Walls of Florida, and Julie Ballard of Florida. He also has five great-grandchildren; Katie, Jamie, Chelsea, Alexandra and Ashlyn.

Mr. Miller was a lifetime member of the Seymour Lake United Methodist Church and a lifetime member of the Masonic Lodge F&AM No. 339, Ortonville.

The funeral was Saturday, Dec. 4, at the Seymour Lake United Methodist Church, with the Rev. Erik J. Alsgaard officiating. Burial followed at Seymour Lake Cemetery, Ortonville.

Saying goodbye

Julie Campe

This is my last week at The Clarkston News. I hope to become a self-employed writer — a pen (or computer) for hire, if you will.

So far, my future work includes the Chamber Music Network (Troy) and the Genesee County Community Mental Health Center (Flint).

I will miss The Clarkston News and the Clarkston-Davisburg area. My first "real job" after college was at The Clarkston News, so I feel as if I've grown up here, professionally. Of course, I literally grew up here (I graduated from Clarkston High in 1981).

While I'm looking forward to the future, it's still hard to leave.

I think I will most miss ...

... My coworkers. ...

... Tuesday evening talks during late-night layout with my coworkers, Curt and Catherine, and the staffers of our sister newspapers. ...

... Birthday parties at The News and all the creative gag (and otherwise) gifts from Tim Speed, Stu McTeer, Mary-Jo Abdoo, Deanna Sera, Curt McAllister, Catherine Passmore, Deborah Dziewit, Pam Gerhardt, Shirley Rush and Leta Calcote. ...

... Photography. I loved taking photos of Clarkston Youth Enrichment events, elementary school events, and other area happenings. ...

... The two coffee shops on Main Street and their accompanying goodies. ...

... Rudy's Market. ... ... My view from the second floor of The Clarkston News. ...

... All of the nice people who help The Clarkston News by writing columns, cartoons, games, letters and more: Doug Carlson, Jim Carlson, Rina Chemin, Ann Conklin, the Rev. Glen Currie, Stan Garwood, Tom Hoyes, Amy LaValley, Sue Reeves, Amanda Van Klaveren, Sgt. Wade Woodbury, and others. ...

... Fun Daze, Concerts in the Park, Crafts and Cider Festival, parades, Clarkston Village Players. ...

... The community-conscious people who call us with good story ideas or help us with stories when we ask them: George Anderson; Dr. Mike Baker; Lorna Bickerstaff; Sharron Catallo; Brent Cooley; Sharon Devereaux; Mike Dillon; Ginny Farmer; Pat Flanigan; Jan Gabier, James Goebel; Harold and Norma Goyette; Gary Haner, Linda Irwin; Sherry Kaars; David Kramer, Dr. Jean Lang; Steve Lenar, my mother, Juanita LePere, my father, Dr. Ronald LePere; Duane Lewis; Vince Licata; John Lutz; Mollie Lynch; Daniel Manthei; Joan McCrary; Jenni Simsack; Marla McKee; Dr. Elaine Middlekauff; Anne Moller, Jeanne Molzon; Doris Mousseau; Judy Nichols; Dr. James O'Neill; Art Pappas; William Potvin; David Reschke; Ann Rose; the Rev. William Schram; Lois Stiles; Nancy Strole; Dale Stuart; Neil Wallace; Collin Walls; the Rev. Bob Walters; George White; Gar Wilson; Bill Wint; all of my relatives; and others.

... The people who give this town character: Marilyn Allyn, Don Brose, Carol Currie, Jim Evans, Tom Lowrie, Ed Masters, Bruce Mercado, Dick Morgan, Fred Ritter, Sheila Ritter, Ivan Rouse, Gini Schultz, Helen Vergin, and others. ...

... Writing about Andrew the Horrible. (Now what will I use as an outlet for the stress he causes?)

Thank you, Clarkston and Davisburg, for making this job always interesting and usually fun.

An alternative to mall shopping

Shop locally — without the hassle

While some of us already are finished with our Christmas shopping, some of us have only just be-

Those in the second category — even if you already have your ideas - may want in on a little secret: The malls are not the only place to buy Christmas gifts.

In fact, they are a disincentive to shopping.

Consider the mall-shopping regulars among us. We face parking lot jam-ups, circling for a close spot to the doors, so we don't have to carry our purchases far.

Once in the mall, we wander, only to be towed in a direction we may not want to go. We're carried along because a majority heads to a certain destination that is a mystery to us, but we continue to blindly and willingly follow.

If we choose the mall, more than likely we are jostled, pushed while we carry our gifts and our coats, since typically the malls are overheated.

Suddenly, in the midst of the ever-growing crowd, a light might flicker and we might begin to wonder: there's got to be another way to find the perfect gift.

In downtown Clarkston and any other point on the compass within minutes from your doorstep, a solution can be found without stepping one foot in a

One-of-a-kind, special gifts can be bought from our area merchants — and close to home.

What can be better than finding a vacant parking spot; stepping out into the cold, clean air, and seeing the shops decked out in garland and lights?

What can be better than walking into one of the shops, shaking off the cold and maybe snow and finding the right gift so near?

Fine wines make great gifts, and can be found in any number of markets, as can fruit and food baskets.

Clothing --- sweaters, coats, shirts, shorts, vests, natural fiber tunics — all can be found so close. And if the article of clothing doesn't fit, it's easy to return because the stores are just a hop and a skip away.

Gift certificates for dinner make great gifts and can be found from a number of wonderful restaurants.

Antiques, a piece of folk art — they maybe not often be thought of as Christmas gifts but are everlasting and can be found in a number of local shops.

Books, grapevine wreaths, unusual Christmas ornaments, candles, perfume bottles, dolls, sports cards, plants, baskets, gourmet foods and coffees, confections, lamps, rugs, cotton and wool throws, pillows, children's clothing, framed art, pottery, glass ware, jewelry, mugs, gardening tools, art supplies, beauty salon gift certificates, ribbons and bows and wrapping paper ... all of this and much more can be found within minutes of your home.

Now who wants to go to the mall?

Jim Sherman The secret of losing weight

In her Detroit Free Press column recently Susan Watson told us she takes off her makeup before weighing herself.

She also removes her fingernail polish, brushes her teeth and gargles. Then she approaches the scales with extreme caution; first a toe, leaning on the sink while gently lowering her body onto the scales, etc.

She admits the weighing-in time may vary from two hours to from sunlight to sunset.

Part of what Susan does is general practice for many of us. When achieving a particular weight is important (like when the doctor says 'I want you down to . . .' and my apointment is in one hour) I'll clean and cut my nails, wash and dry my hair a couple times, clean my ears and -- you know the

Such was the case two weeks ago. I had a 3-month date for cholesterol checking. I think weight and cholesterol are synonymous. I don't even care if they are or not.

This 3-month date came close to both deer hunting and Thanksgiving. OK, I'll take the day before Thanksgiving which is six days after numerous deercamp feasts. That would certainly give me time to lose the pounds I knew I would gain.

In six days of breathing northern air I gained eight pounds. I did a lot of the cooking, and I did a lot of the eating. Also, northern air is very fattening.

Well, it had to come off by November 24, 10 All you dieters (and that includes 99% of the population 99% of the time) know that all you think about during these recessionary times is eating.

Tastebuds control all thinking. The brain becomes the ugly mass it looks like in science projects. It's just there, taking up space while the tastebuds maneuver the cells down the aisles of candy, peanuts, pastries, rich gravy, ice cream and French fries.

Oh, occasionally a call will be heard to ignore the t-buds, to think positively, be rational and remember your cholesterol and appointment.

But that call is but a glancing blow compared to the knock-out punches thrown by our born-with desire to put things, especially food, in our mouths.

And everything tastes so good. I get yearnings for things I don't even care for, like fried kidney, rhubarb pie and chocolate cake. True: I don't like chocolate cake.

My all-day thoughts are of eating while I'm actively dieting. I try to delay breakfast with the idea of eating only two meals a day. So, instead of eating breakfast at 7:30 I eat at 7:00. Lunch doesn't come quick enough so I eat a bite-size Snickers at 10:00.

The only way I wait for Hazel's dinner is by having some milk, orange juice, banana, grapes, peanut butter or a left-over. Sometimes it's all the

A person has to be downright stubborn to lose weight.

The past week has been a difficult one at the Clarkston News because our esteemed leader, Julie Campe, is leaving.

Yep, after eight years at The Clarkston News, she's bidding a fond farewell to her hometown newspaper. It's going to be sad to see her go.

Looking back, I often marveled at how an English major such as Julie could know so much about journalism. She definitely taught me a few things about the field, in the way of layout and numerous grammatical tips.

In the office, Julie was the eternal optimist. I can still remember the day she interviewed me for a position and how genuinely sincere she was. It knocked me for a loop, considering my current editor was a foul-mouthed, old sour puss.

Julie was just too good to be true. She very rarely chastised her reporters for missing a deadline and often apologized for her own mistakes. Now, this is definitely unheard of in annals of journalism.

Actually, I believe an editor apologizing for something, anything, is one of the signs of the Apoca-

Julie also had a knack of simmering down a situation. Whenever someone called or came in to complain about a story, she'd sit, listen and offer the paper's point of view. And if an error had been made, she'd apologize and reassure them that The News would try to remedy similar oversights in the future.

She really has a way with people, be it a feature story or one of her many cute kids photos. Through her efforts, she made The Clarkston News what everyone loves to see in their local newspaper — straight news, sprinkled with heart-warming stories.

For eight years, she strived to produce a community paper that people could relate to. And with her efforts, The News has won numerous state and national journalism awards.

Now, she'd modestly tell you that these successes were due in part to her hard-working staff. Well, that's just Julie.

Humble 'til the end.

About staff editorials

We at The Clarkston News realize that an important duty of a newspaper is to provide more than just the facts found in news stories.

Since we're out there uncovering the news, we get an inside look at the issues. In our staff editorials, we will give our opinions on those issues, just as other writing on this page — letters and columns — also offers

We leave the editorials unsigned because we've written them as a staff. Every week, we talk about the issues and take notes on everyone's opinions. Then one of us writes it and the rest of us change it until we're all satisfied.

While our opinions aren't always unanimous, our editorials reflect the majority views of the staff. If the staff splits evenly on an issue, we'll write two editorials on the subject.

We welcome your response to our views.

Meat of the matter

Jim Fitzgerald

At Thanksgiving I'm reminded that when I was a boy, although my father had four daughters and one wife or perhaps because of it - he was an antifeminist. And my mother aided and abetted him.

At the holiday dinner table, Dad always gave me one turkey leg. He ate the other one.

"How come Jimmie gets the leg?" my much older sister, Terrible Jean, would holler.

"Because he's a boy," my mother would explain. Of course.

In those days - I'm talking the 1920s and 1930s - it was recognized that men worked harder, so they should eat better. And even if the man of the house didn't work so hard, he was still the boss, and if he wanted dark meat, he got it.

The second choice of meat went to the first-born son. That was because he would inherit the chair with arms, at the head of the dining room table, if Dad ever fell on the walk home from work and drowned in his pail of beer.

Yes, my children, draft beer used to come home in a pail, carried carefully by the handle, lest the slosh become spill. Each man had his own personal pail, filled at the neighborhood fast-beer franchise.

Dad used to complain that the beer was heavy, and I would say someone should invent light beer. I was a precocious child.

Important historical educational note: When an unhappy wife hid her husband's pail, because his conduct wasn't beyond the pale, he would holler with gusto. It was subsequently discovered, however, that men couldn't holler without gusto, which was soon in short supply. Now you know why, several years ago, Schlitz quit selling beer and started selling gusto.

But back to turkey legs. I always got the one Dad didn't eat, not only because I was the first-born son, I was also the last-born son. My four sisters and mother had to eat white meat whether they liked it or not.

Today, being extremely politically correct, I realize this was an unfair, sexist method of slicing up Thanksgiving dinner. Gloria Steinem probably makes speeches about turkey-leg rights. The matter of first dibs on the turkey is not as emotional an issue as lesbian rights, but it's still important.

When it comes to nourishment, why should the first-born son receive automatic preference over the first-born daughter, especially Terrible Jean?

In my parents' case, it should be noted that they weren't merely following the then-acceptable dictates of a "man's world." They also were concerned about my survival. They wanted to build me up physically with dark meat so I might be able to defend myself against frequent attacks from Terrible Jean who was just as bigger as she

But, as Steinem would certainly ask, why shouldn't stronger females beat up on weaker males? The flip side has been a fact of life for too long.

Historically, big brothers have tormented little sisters, and beefy husbands have battered tiny wives. I can understand my parents' consternation at having spawned two children who contradicted tradition.

But was it right for Mother and Dad to use turkey legs in an attempt to close the muscle gap opened by a freak of their genes?

No. Their motive was more noble than that of parents who favor their male offspring with choice cuts and college educations simply because a woman has never been elected president. But my mother and father were wrong to give me exclusive rights to the turkey leg that Dad didn't eat.

Even if I'd been bigger than Terrible Jean, and had been stomping her instead of vice versa, I still would have received the drumsticks as my due, simply for being male.

I've been assuaging my turkey-leg guilt for almost 40 years by granting my wife complete control of the Thanksgiving turkey. She carves and serves. I eat whatever is put on my plate, white or dark, and never begrudge her or my daughters a drumstick.

I call that exceptionally non-sexist conduct, well beyond the pale. So please forgive my past sins and pass

Let's fix the bad, share the good

It appears that Superintendent Gary Haner didn't like Gov. Engler's Michigan School Report.

Well, I have a copy of the report, and I have to agree with his comments about its statistical validity. However, this was a first effort, and they did the best they could with what they had to work with. I have to believe that in this age of high-tech information sharing, future editions of the report will be much more meaningful.

Where Superintendent Haner and I come apart are the MEAP tests. Sure, some districts may "teach to the test" or may have economic resources that allow them to buy and use these programs. So what! Who cares how they scored in Bloomfield Hills? I want to know how we scored in Clarkston.

For example, of all our 10th-graders who took the math test, 25 percent achieved a "satisfactory performance." Think about that. Twenty-five percent. Has anyone in the administration looked into this number? If so. what's being done about it? You can contest the scientific validity of this all you want, but it's still a pretty good indicator of a problem.

On the other hand, students in Clarkston Elementary School outscored their counterparts in all the other elementary schools on ALL the tests (math, reading and science). With respect to the science test, 90 percent achieved a "satisfactory performance."

Has anyone in the administration wondered why the Clarkston El. students did so well on these tests? Do they have brighter students? I doubt it. Do they have brighter students? I doubt it. Do they have the best teachers? It's possible, but I doubt it. Is it because they have fewer students (508)? That undoubtedly helps, but Bailey Lake students also scored well (relatively), and that school has more than 700 students.

What then? Maybe it's something intangible like morale, enthusiasm or leadership. Has anyone ever talked to Principal Elaine Middlekauff about what they might be doing differently? I have, albeit briefly, and it's impressive. In my opinion, parents of children in Clarkston Elementary are fortunate indeed.

So before we throw out the MEAP tests with the bath water, we might want to take a look at what they're telling

Let's fix the bad, share the good, and spend less time criticizing those who are trying to improve the schools.

Let's face it. Michigan schools have nowhere to go

Kammer letter not accurate

It is not often that I get to see a copy of my hometown newspaper, but last week I got a kick out of reading the latter from the Goyettes beating up my old friend, Kerry

The Goyettes accused Kerry of voting to increase taxes. If they were thinking a little more clearly, they might have remembered that Kerry Kammer voted "no" on every increase in the state income tax, and there were many during his eight years. They might also remember Kerry sponsoring and passing laws to jail for at least two years those who committed crimes with a gun. Kerry also voted for balanced budgets and passed a bill that set aside part of every budget into a "Rainy Day" fund, just like all of us who have families must do with our own budgets.

Kerry Kammer was always in trouble with the liberal tax-and-spenders — that is why many Republican leaders supported him when he was unopposed for reelection.

Hope this letter clears up some memory problems.

Township expense cuts should start at top

BY VINCENT PARIS

Catherine Passmore's Nov. 17 understandable, but out-of-context mention of my suggestions for possible township budget reductions at the Nov. 2 Independence Township Board meeting require specific clarification.

First of all, I suggested to the board that money be appropriated to fund a privatization study for possible contracting of mowing, snow removal, cemetery and maintenance needs. Such a study would show the economic feasibility of contracting such services or remaining with the present situation, which could be the taxpayers' best dollar value (a unionized work force).

Possible short-term savings could be realized in wages, FICA, unemployment, worker's comp., equipment maintenance/repair, storage, and supervision. Longterm savings could also be seen in medical, disability and retirements and equipment purchase.

I agree with Mr. Donahoe (township financial advisor) that there is "a union contract" already established. Fine, honor it. This doesn't restrict the township from conducting a privatization study that could show viable and big-dollar cost savings to taxpayers. Should government be in the business to provide jobs or, instead, be responsible for creating an environment for private business to flourish? Contracts with unions can be re-written, without eliminating jobs or reducing positions through

In the Davison area, where I serve as the parks and recreation director, an approximate 9 percent reduction in our total expenditures will be realized by privatizing mowing duties alone. Based on this estimate, the general operating fund for "parks" in Independence Township could possibly see reductions of $29,000 (or 9 percent of the $317,124 parks' expenditures). Mowing savings for our administration building, fire halls, DDA, cemetery and safety paths could also be contracted out.

And, remember, for every $1 paid out in wages to full-time employees, 40 cents is expended for short-term and long-term benefits. And, even with "summer help" mowing, savings can be made in management hours, equipment repair/ purchase/ storage, fuel, FICA, etc.

And how will the board know if privatization of services will work unless a comprehensive study is undertaken?

Secondly, I mentioned immediate savings could be made by making the four township "board only" positions, non-paid positions. This would be a budgeted expense reduction of $22,500. My rationale here is based on a philosophy of volunteer service.

These four positions could be just as well served by the present officials, or others in our community, without a compensation package.

The board could send a clear message on fiscal prudence by enacting such a policy. From the top down, new "standards" for the entire state can be established. I challenge the board to set precedent, not follow it.

Other short-term and budget reform standards can be established by discontinuing the "perkmobile" policy for all non-emergency department heads, including the township clerk and treasurer, who get to take their own personal vehicles home. I challenge these two full-time officials to refuse this extravagant pastime and wasteful fringe and collaborate to establish vehicle standards that are public service-oriented and on the cutting edge of fiscal prudence.

My concern for budget reform lies in a philosophy that individuals in public service should be primarily concerned with community betterment and not monetary or longevity secureness. As a person who has worked and volunteered at the local, county, state, national and international levels of government, I can attest to dollar waste at all levels. Let's start at home.

Supervisor Dale Stuart has started the ball rolling. I now challenge other full-time and part-time officials and status quo department heads to get on the band wagon. They should initiate meaningful, cost-saving measures to operate with frugal and innovative administrations. I firmly believe six-figure or even seven-figure-number savings could be realized down the road by re-thinking the way we provide services to the taxpayer.

Change does take time, though, for some public officials. Their political "time" may be running out. See you at the voting booth.

Vincent Paris resides in Independence Township.

A manager of the store stopped Bleckley when he noticed cartons falling out of his jacket, according the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report.

Bleckley told police that he was with two crack dealers from Pontiac whom he owed money. He said he planned to the sell the cigarettes to a party store in Pontiac for $10 apiece.

Chanukah begins Dec. 16

The festival commemorating the rededication of the second temple in Jeruselum begins at sundown Dec. 9 and continues through Dec. 16.

Chanukah, which is observed by Jews the world over, is an eight-day festival celebrating the Maccabean victory in their struggle for independence and religious freedom against the Syrians in the the second century Before the Common Era.

It is celebrated by the lighting of a menorah with eight candles on each night of the celebration.

cute packaging ideas — is the key. Start early by purchasing notions and wrapping materials on sale right after the holiday for next year.

"Pretty packaging is what really makes the gift complete," says Treitman.

Here are a few ideas to get you started:

■ Bake small loaf apple breads — wrap in a red school box for a teacher's gift.

■ Home-canned salsa and chips — put in a terra cotta pot for a "Mexican Fiesta."

■ Dried soup mix in a soup mug or new pretty soup kettle and ladle for the cold winter ahead.

Healthy gourmet

Here's a gourmet Italian dish that's delicious yet low in fat and cholesterol.

High-fat olive oil, pine nuts and parmesan cheese were eliminated from the original recipe, leaving basil and a mix of other ingredients as substitutes.

To bring the taste closer to the original, a tablespoon of parmesan cheese may be used. This will add about a half gram of fat to each serving, but it also adds richness to the flavor.

LINGUINE WITH PESTO (Low-Fat Version)

(Serves 6) 3 cups chopped zucchini (skin removed).Broccoli may be substituted

3 cups fresh basil

1/4 cup fresh parsley

3 cloves garlic, cut into quarters

1/4 teaspoon onion powder

1/2 teaspoon salt (or to taste)

1 pound linguine, cooked Place zucchini, basil, parsley, garlic, onion powder and salt into food processor or blender and process until mixture is pureed. Taste and adjust seasonings as desired. Spoon pesto sauce over platter of hot linguine and toss.

Winter sports preview

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

Despite losing 13 seniors to graduation, Clarkston wrestling coach Mike DeGain is feeling pretty good about his team's chances this season.

"It's a new group this year, but I don't see that as being a problem because we have a number of young guys coming back who had a lot of success last season as well as over the summer," he said. "I don't think anyone's going to be weeping too much for us this year."

In 1992-93, the Wolves won their third straight GOAL title with a record of 19-4 overall. They also claimed two all-staters, three regional champs and six individual league titles.

The most prominent grapplers to graduate are Jerry Anderson, the Class A state champ at 135 pounds, and Jason Roughton, who took third overall in the 145-pound weight class.

However, this year's team could be just as talented as last season's squad, DeGain said.

The Wolves are spearheaded by junior P.J. Vandermeer, who won 160-pound titles at league, districts and regionals in 1993. This state qualifier registered a record of 40-10 last year, including a team-high 26 pins.

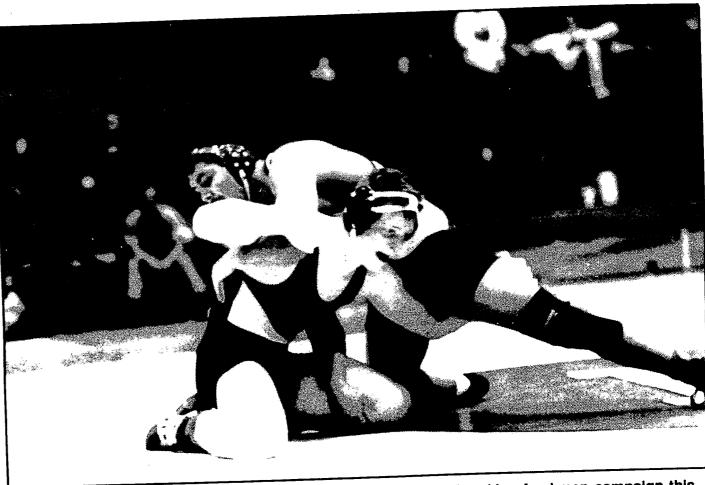

Vandermeer also honed his skills this past summer at the AAU National Wrestling Championships in Hershey, PA. He earned a silver medal by taking second place in his weight class.

Another top-notch junior letterman is Corey Grant, who shares a school record with Vandermeer. Both grapplers pinned an opponent in seven seconds last year.

Grant had a record of 19-2 last season. At 119 pounds, he also registered 10 pins on his way to an individual league title. This year, he's slated to jump two weight classes and wrestle at 130 pounds.

Also scheduled to jump a couple of weight classes is junior Armin Michelson, who was 25-7 last season. At 135 pounds, he took second at the Oakland County Meet. He'll compete at 152 pounds this year.

Jason Laycock, a junior, is expected to return to a starting role in the 125-pound weight class. Laycock missed a portion of last season with a hip injury sustained in a car accident. He had a record of 15-10, with eight pins, in the 130-pound class.

SOPHOMORE Joe DeGain is looking to improve on his record-breaking freshman campaign this season.

Joe DeGain heads the sophomore contingent of returnees at 189 pounds. Last season, at 171, he won at districts, took second at the GOAL Meet, and placed sixth at the Oakland County Meet.

DeGain also set the school record for number of pins by a freshman (21). Over the summer, the youngster qualified for the Teen Cadet World Championship in Germany as a member of Team USA.

Unfortunately, his chances to medal were cut short when he suffered a shoulder injury at the Olympic Training Center, Col. Refusing to step down, he wrestled anyway and lost in the first round to an opponent from Turkey.

Shortly after returning to the U.S., DeGain has surgery on the shoulder, which forced him to sit out football season. He's still undergoing therapy, said his father and coach, Mike DeGain.

"We're still easing him into it, but by all indications, he should be 100 percent come our first meet," the elder DeGain said.

Another sophomore looking to improve is 112-pound Chad Auten. In 1992-93, he had a record of 23-11. He also placed sixth at the Oakland County Meet.

The lone senior with wrestling experience to return for the Wolves in heavy-weight Bob Lipinsky. He was 1-1 at 189 pounds last season.

Looking ahead to the league race,

"I think the GOAL will be a little tougher overall than last year."

Coach Mike DeGain

DeGain sees a number of obstacles for his young team.

"Lake Orion is going to be good. I imagine they'll be our nemesis again for the league title," the coach said. "Pontiac Northern is also going to be there. They had a young team last year, with their best wrestlers returning.

"I think the GOAL will be a little tougher overall than last year," he added.

The Wolves' first meet is scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 11. That day, they'll send their A-Team to the Owosso Invitational and their B-Team to a Ferndale meet.

In only its first year of existence, the Clarkston High JV pom pon team has been getting high marks on and off the field.

Clarkston's 11-person team brought home three trophies from the Mid-American Competition Nov. 13. About 20 schools competed in the contest, held at Plymouth High School.

The Wolves took first place in the "prop" competition, while grabbing second place honors in the dance and pom contests.

The JV team is presently preparing for The Palace Competition Dec. 18.

Clarkston hopes to make league's final cut

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

In about five weeks, Clarkston High School officials will learn if they've been accepted into the county's newest league.

This conference doesn't have a name yet, but for all intent and purposes it would be an "Oakland County League," consisting of 24 schools.

This new league took root Nov. 30, after 16 principals of the Metro Suburban Activities Association (MSAA) and the Southeastern Michigan Association (SMA) unanimously voted to merge their existing leagues and admit eight other schools.

Dave Symington, principal at Bloomfield Hills Lahser and president of the MSAA, said the purpose behind the merger was to bring competitive equality to the members of the two leagues.

"In some cases, we had schools like Andover with 800 students taking on Troy, with 1,800 students, in athletic endeavors," he said. "With this new league, we can create four comparable divisions of six (schools) or three divisions of eight to even things out. Ultimately, it will probably have a structure similar to that in the Macomb Area Conference."

When rumors of this possible merger cropped up earlier in the year, Clarkston was one of the first schools to apply for admittance.

Clarkston Athletic Director Paul Tungate said the Wolves' odds of being named one of the "lucky eight" at a Jan. 20 structural meeting are excellent.

"I think we're in," he said. "Everyone's really excited about the possibilities surrounding this league."

Admittance into this league would also lead to the dissolvement of the Greater Oakland Activities League, which Clarkston helped found in the mid-1970s. Lake Orion is already poised to join the Macomb Area Conference next year and the GOAL's four other schools are also seeking entry into the new league.

"Oakland League" officials have said that they'd like to start conference play by next fall.

Tungate said he's already scheduled next year's sport through the winter campaign, but it can easily be altered, considering most of the schools on Clarkston's schedules will be or are prospective members of the new league.

"We can make it work, believe me," he said, smiling.

Symington said a school's admittance into the league will be based on its size, its extra-curricular activities, diversity of the student body and its proximity to the original 16 members.

While the emphasis has been on sports,

Symington said the new league is for other pursuits as well.

"This is not purely an athletic league, but an activities association," he said. "There are other extra-curricular functions like Quiz Bowl to be figured into the equation."

Ultimately, the league's divisions will be determined on size as well as level of success, Symington said.

"The divisions will be based on the schools' sizes two-fold, with prowess making up the other one-third of consideration," he said.

Clarkston would most likely be lumped in a higher division in most cases, based on its population (1,678) and all-around success in sports.

In the end, Symington believes this league could rank among the toughest in the state, in regards to athletic endeavors.

"We're really tickled to death that its worked this well so far," he said. "We feel we have the makings of something special here"

Deer, elk are now 'un-endangered' species

In 1900, white-tailed deer numbered only about 500,000. Today, they number nearly 20 million.

In 1900, the rocky mountain elk population was around 40,000. Now, it's close to one million.

The wood duck population was headed for extinction in 1900. Presently, the wood duck is one of the most common waterfowl in the eastern United States.

The National Shooting Sports Foundation (NSSF) reports that at one time these three examples of wildlife were considered endangered species, but today each is flourishing thanks to the science of wildlife management. This successful new science studies the needs of a particular species of wildlife, what it needs to maintain its numbers in its habitat, and how it relates with other animals and with man.

Early research in this new science revealed that if habitat conditions were favorable for given species, its numbers could quickly increase. This understanding stimulated the growth of state wildlife agencies.

Today, state wildlife agencies now manage more than 42 million acres of prime wildlife habitat across 50 states.

Only 50 years ago, pronghorn antelope faced possible extinction. Wildlife managers implemented stocking, transplant and habitat improvement projects aided by a new law that placed a tax on sporting firearms and ammunition. Between 1937 and 1947, more than 7,000 pronghorn antelope were rounded up and released to new ranges in an effort to start new herds.

By 1946, the pronghorn population had increased to more than 230,000—nearly 20 times the total that had existed two decades earlier. Today, wildlife management programs, combined with regulated hunting to maintain herds at healthy levels, have raised the pronghorn antelope population to a healthy level.

In all, four former Clarkston basketball players are active in this conference. The other two are Bill Knight at Ferris State University and Chris Wasilk at Oakland University.

Wolves earn honors

On the heels of a 12-9 season, the Clarkston girls' varsity basketball team announced its post-season honorees last week.

Senior guard Laura Seitz was named First-Team All-GOAL. She averaged 8.6 points, 5.1 steals and 3 assists per game. This marks the second consecutive year that the CHS captain has earned all-conference honors.

Teammate Anne Brueck, a senior, was recognized as a second-team selection by the league's coaches. On the year, Brack average 9.6 points, 4.1 steals and 3 as a second-team selection by the league's coaches.

Senior Erin Patterson and jur Kelly also earned honorable ment:

At the team banquet, Seitz when and CHS' most valuable player, while a siy earned most improved honors. Freshman Sue Naboychik and sophomore Leah Howard were presented with the Coach's Award from Coach Larry Mahrles.

dvisory board to be required for each school A 20 Wed., Dec. 8, 1993 The Clarkston (MI) News

Edior's note: This is the fourth and final installment in a stor about Gov. Engler's school reform plan.

BY DOUG CARLSON

11. Parents and Teachers Site-Based Decision Making

■ Cov. Engler proposes that greater control of individual buildings be granted to parents and teachers.

■ Fach school would be required to have an educational ad asony board. Members of the board would be appointed by the local board of education but would be chaired by the school principal. It would consist of 5-11 members and would include parents, non-parents and teachers. A majority of the board must be non-teachers.

■ The purpose of the board would be to discuss educational issues, setting educational goals and preparing the school's improvement plan pursuant to Public Act 25 of 1990. The board would ensure that information about school programs and educational outcomes is available to the community.

■ By 1997, each member of the board except the principal would be elected. The parent members would be elected by the parents; the non-parents would be appointed by the local school board, and the teacher members would be elected by the teachers in the school.

■ Ultimately, the board would assume authority over all aspects of school operations except for areas subject to collective bargaining. For example, the board would determine the level of administrative expenditures, approve vendor contracts and make personnel decisions.

Decentralizing school management is supported by research suggesting that school autonomy is associated with improved teaching and learning. Those most closely affected by school-level decisions — teachers, students and parents — ought to play an important role in making decisions about the school's budget, curriculum, and personnel. Support for school-based decision-making is also provided by studies that found education reform was most effective and sustained when implemented by people who felt a sense of ownership and responsibility for the reform.

School reform plan

12. Collective Bargaining

■ Gov. Engler proposes that existing teachers be given the option of not belonging to any bargaining unit.

13. Special Education

Gov. Engler proposes that special education remain unchanged at this time. ISD millages specifically voted to support special education would remain, and all current requirements would continue.

■ He further recommends that the special education millage at the ISD level be "sunsetted" in two years and that this entire area by reviewed during the two-year time

■ Charter schools would be required to accept all students, including special education students, and would be subject to the same mandate for special education as other public schools.

14. Intermediate School Districts

■ These school districts would continue to provide special education, staff development and administrative services to local schools. Their role would be to:

assist local schools in delivering a world-class system of education through universal access to education support services.

provide local schools with administrative services that maximize fiscal efficiency and relieve local educators of the responsibilities in the areas of pupil transportation, payroll and data processing.

I finance and administer, where appropriate, special education services for children with exceptional lestablish audit systems for education and fiscal

To support these roles, Gov. Engler recommends that all ISD millages for special education remain in place and that the Legislature appropriate $50 million in 1994-95 to support general ISD operations. Further, total financial support for special education services in Michigan would be maintained in 1994-95 at prior year levels.

■ Gov. Engler recommends that ISD millages for voc-tech centers NOT be reinstated. Support for these programs would be included in each Student Education Bank Account and that revenue would follow each student to the career-technical program of their choice.

NOTE: State Rep. Tom Middleton indicates there is a bill in the Senate for the base funding to be restored for all intermediate school districts. He is confident the bill will pass.

If you have any questions about the Engler School Reform Plan or would like a copy of the Plan in its entirety, Rep. Middleton would be happy to talk to you. He can be reached at his Lansing office (517) 373-1798 or his local office (313) 628-4511.

help. The committee, comprised of three local elementary teachers, is looking for historical information from 1850 to the present. They're presently putting together a historical text for the district's second-graders.

So far, the authors have generated nearly 35 pages of the area's earliest known history. These passages cover the area's geography, native Americans, the first white settlers, Chief Sashabaw and how Clarkston and Independence Township came to be.

'Children may forget what you said, but they will never forget how you made them feel' ~Linda Irwin

Name: Linda Irwin

Family members: My husband, Cliff, and I have been married for 29 1/2 years and have three daughters. Jodi is married to Pete Burkett, and they have a son, Connor. Lisa is married to Ron Olsen, and they have a son, Kameron. Lori is a graduate assistant at Central Michigan University, Mount Pleasant, and is working on her master's degree.

Residence: When we moved to Clarkston we decided to stay for three years; that was 29 years ago! This is a wonderful community to work in and to raise a family.

Education: Northern Michigan University, Marquette; Oakland University, Rochester; and Michigan State University, East Lansing. I have taught in or worked for Clarkston schools for 18 years.

Job title: I have been employed by Clarkston Community Education as project coordinator for Kids Connection for eight years.

Job duties: Coordinate eight child care programs that service children in grades K-5. Working parents use Kids Connection before and after school and the other half day their children are not in kindergarten. More than 500 children, or 20 percent of the elementary population, are enrolled in our program.

I hire staff, keep the accounts and do the budget for a self-supporting program; handle all licensing through the Department of Social Services; and do payroll. I am problem solver, memo-writer, supply orderer and contact person. I was once asked by the board office to send them a list of what I do, and it took three typewritten, single-spaced sheets. I love my work.

Volunteer activities: Co-founder of Clarkston Coop Preschool; president of Education Commission of Methodist Church; member of the United Methodist Chancel Choir since 1979; president of the Clarkston Women's Club; volunteer and employee of Clarkston SCAMP.

Biggest challenge at work: Finding space to house my programs and utilizing, to the best of our ability, the space we are given. With over 500 children, 80 families on the waiting list and the elementary schools so crowded, it is quite a challenge. With the cooperation of the building principals and the help of a very creative and flexible staff, we have managed for the last 10 years. We do have a motto, though: "Have box, will travel!"

Favorite part of job: I am a "people person." The staff in Community Education are the most caring and hard working people I've ever had the privilege to work with and for. The children and my staff are why I come to work. I tell my staff that it is my job to facilitate their jobs in any way I can. They are loving, caring ladies, and I am very proud of them and the work they do. The children are safe and happy, and the parents feel secure leaving their young people with us.

The administrators and teachers have been very supportive and do all they can to help us. When no two days are alike, you never know what is around the next corner. You are encouraged to use your creative skills working with and for people you respect and admire, and for children and parents who need your service. What more could you ask for?

Favorite sport: I enjoyed skiing and walking but am limited to a very short distance since being diagnosed with multiple sclerosis. Now I love to ride in my golf cart!

When not working, I may be found: With my family, with my friends, at church or on my golf cart.

LINDA Irwin's job covers before- and after-school care for children, with 20 percent of Clarkston's elementary pupils enrolled in one of the programs.

If I had three wishes: I would wish for peace in the world. I would wish that no child would go to sleep hungry (both physically and emotionally). I would wish that this society and this community would become a kinder, gentler society (I'm not a George Bush fan).

Last book I read: "The Bridges of Madison County" by Robert James Waller. It was the most beautiful love story I have ever read.

Ten years from now: I will be doing whatever makes me feel happy and worthwhile with my loved ones and friends around me.

On my first day of school: Are you kidding? I don't remember my first day. Our daughter's first day was memorable as she came home and was quite upset that she had not learned to read.

She also told us that she had passed out at school. After picking ourselves up off the floor and assuring ourselves that she was in good health, she explained that she had merely "passed out" papers.

Most admired person: I admire many people and like to think that I live my life based on the good I see in all of them.

Favorite saying about children: Children may forget what you said, but they will never forget how you made them feel.

Other: "To everything there is a season and a time for every purpose under heaven." I was put on this earth for a reason. I may never know what that reason is, but in my own little corner of the world, I am trying t make a difference, to leave this earth a little better than I found it and set a good example for my children and grandchildren. I have a good life and am very grateful for what I have. I couldn't ask for more.

Mr. Schultz was retired in 1984 as Manager of Chrysler Serviceability and Time Schedule Research. He began working at Fisher Body, Pontiac, in 1948 as a clerical assistant. He then transferred to Pontiac Motor Engineering early in 1950, where he became responsible for compiling entire model engineering informational books. Joseph served in the U.S. Army from 1940 thru 1946 in the 30th Infantry in the U.S. and European Theater and also the Mediterranean Theater as a first lieutenant. He attended MSU and studied animal husbandry and also played polo while there. He loved animals, especially horses and once worked for the Metamora Hunt Club Whipping Hounds. Later, he had his own showhorses and many dogs, especially St. Bernards. He was a great riding instructor and lead many young riders to victory and blue ribbons. Joe was active in United Fund campaigns.

He was a graduate of the Dale Carnegie Sales Course and spent 5 years as a certified instructor, President at the Oakland County Posse and Director for Junior Achievement Groups. He also loved cruising the Great Lakes and went on several fishing trips in Canada. He loved making beautiful wood carvings.

He is survived by his wife, Joni (Martha); children, Joette Brock (Ronald) of GA, Jolene Boggs (Verlin) of Clarkston and Janette Aten (Kerwin) of Kalkaska; six grandchildren; sister, Eileen Hodges of N.Y.; preceded in death by his sister, Rita.

Funeral services were held Dec. 7 at the Lewis E. Wint & Son Funeral TRUST 100 Funeral Home, Clarkston, with the Rev. Douglas R. Trebilcock officiating. Memorials may be made to the Disabled American Veterans Service Foundation or the American Heart Association of Michigan.

Barbara V. Sanders

Barbara Vera Sanders, 34, of Clarkston died Dec. 5, 1993. She is survived by her parents Lois Sanders and Gary Sanders; her brothers and sisters Gordon, Matthew, Julie and David; and grandmother Barbara Sanders.

Women need more calcium

Overall, women's intake of calcium seems alarmingly low, especially for younger women who would benefit most from higher calcium levels, suggests a Prevention magazine survey of 16,500 readers as part of its Healthy Women Survey conducted in cooperation with the Medical American Women's Association.

Most worrisome of all, say the authors, is that women who benefit from calcium the most — women under 35 - report consuming the least.

"Someday I'd like to see a survey where 100 percent of women, young and old, are meeting their RDA for taking calcium," says Dr. Sydney Bonnick, AMWA osteoporosis ex-

The current Recommended Dietary Allowance for calcium for women ages 24 and older who are not pregnant or lactating is 800 mg, or the equivalent of three glasses of milk daily.

Bonnick supports the recommendation of 1,000 mg of calcium daily for premenopausal women and 1,500 mg daily for postmenopausal women who aren't on estrogen.

Kevin weighed 6 pounds and 2 ounces and measured 19 inches long.

His proud grandparents are Glenn and Zona Sommers of Springfield Township and Robert and Louvern Betit of Longmeadow, Mass.

Honors

Michele Ginn of Clarkston was one of four Oakland University, Rochester, students to receive a $1,500 scholarship to support their interests in Slavic studies.

Ginn, a non-traditional student majoring in sociology, said her interest in Slavic studies was promoted when her daughter was given a Youth for Understanding Scholarship that included living in Finland and visiting Russia for a summer. Ginn works with young children in both secular and church settings, exploring childhood experiences of children from around the world, including Russia and other Slavic countries.

The new scholarships at OU were established through funds from the estate of Annie Kaviuk, formerly of Fraser, to commemorate the memory of her son, Frederick G. Kaviuk, a 1983 graduate of OU.

Engagement

Mr. James C. Hitchcock of Clarkston announces the engagement of his daughter, Betty Paige Hitchcock of Duxbury, Mass., to Mr. James K. McLaughlin, also of Duxbury. Betty is a 1977 graduate of Clarkston High School and was graduated from Brown University, Providence, R.I., in 1982. A May 1994 wedding is planned.

& Allergy Specialists

Cory E. Cookingham, M.D. Cynthia L. Cookingham, M.D. Cory E. Cookingham, M.D. Joel A. Beene, M.D.

Affiliated With William Beaumont & St. Joseph Hospitals

Allergy Immunotherapy is injection therapy with the allergens to which a person is allergic. It is the most effective treatment method for unavoidable allergens such as dust, dust mite, trees, grass, weeds, and mold. Immunotherapy increases the immunity of the individual to allergens. The result of immunology is that the individual can be exposed to the allergens in the environment without developing allergic symptoms. Immunotherapy can lead to a medication-free and improved quality of life.

Robots change over time

BY JIM CARLSON

Gee, that was an easy question from the last column. Everyone had to know the "critter" pictured was a robot.

The robot was saying, "One small step for me; one giant step for robots!"

A few Buck Roger-type robots appeared in the 1930s. Louis Marx, USA, produced some of these early wind-up space toys.

Japan began producing space toys in the 1950s, and these toys moved into real prominence. Robots, space vehicles and moon cars were made from tin and had colorful lithographs depicting monsters, space creatures and astronauts.

Most were battery operated, although a few maintained a clockwork mechanism.

Today, one of the most sought-after space toys is Robbie The Robot. This piece is very colorful with blue, silver and red.

The robot pictured was from the early 1980s. By this time, intelligence could be programmed into the toys. The robot pictured can pick up cups, turn when an object is encountered and has lights that flash.

Question for next time: What is it?

Toy collector Jim Carlson resides in Independence Township.

The Greatest Gift

Our church choir is practicing the cantata called "The Greatest Gift." The words of the theme song keep echoing in my ears after I hear their practice: "The greatest gift in all the world is Jesus." That is a simple statement, yet very profound. Jesus Christ truly is the greatest gift.

Many people are going to be searching through malls and department stores for a special gift this Christmas season. The problem is that no gift will bring total satisfaction. Most gifts will eventually wear out or even be broken. There is only one gift that will last for eternity the gift of eternal life that is provided through God's Son, Jesus Christ.

That's why the Christmas season is so special. It is a celebration of the birth of the Messiah. When the angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream, he announced that the virgin Mary would miraculously bear a child and that his name should be called Jesus, "For he shall save his people from their sins" (Matthew 1:21).

The greatest gift is Jesus because he offers eternal life as a free gift to all who will trust him as Savior. "Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved (Acts 16:31). For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord" (Ro-

The best gift I ever received was when I accepted the mans 6:23). Lord Jesus Christ as my Savior. You can have the greatest gift in all the world if you will receive Jesus Christ as your Savior. "Thanks be to God for his unspeakable gift" (II Corinthians 9:15).

Frozen cans?

Check carefully for spoilage

Leaving cans of food in an unheated camper, car or porch could cause problems.

The food may freeze, losing quality or even freezing, said Sylvia Treitman, home economist for the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service.

If foods were left in the cold, examine each for signs of spoilage: bulging or raised lids, rusted or swollen seams, seepage of contents.

If spoilage signs appear, dispose of can — do not open or taste contents.

If canned goods are frozen, defrost them slowly do not heat the can. After cans have defrosted, carefully check for any signs of spoilage.

Tips for storing cans

- Keep canned goods in a cool, dry area away from heat or possibility of freezing.
- Label new canned goods with the date purchased and use up older cans first.
- Store low-acid canned goods such as meat, poultry, stews, vegetable soups and vegetables for two to five
- Store high-acid canned goods such as juices, fruits and pickles for 12-18 months.

Genealogy not child's play

BY VIRGINIA BLOCK

It is always heartening when a young father of two preschoolers seriously pursues his family's history and includes the interests of the children in preserving the stories with their pictorial and visionary sides at a younger level of understanding.

Never let it be said that the task of assembling all the "lines" is child's play; however, for the surnames include: HOLMES, KENT, KLINE, MONTLE, WHITENIGHT, SHELDEN, LINCOLN, MANNING, ABBE(E), BRADLEY/RIPLEY, CAREY/ALLEN, and KNOWLTON/HANSON.

The use of a computer has greatly reduced the time of recording, helped develop a simpler spreadsheet for listing census records and via Prodigy, connected two people searching the same Stephen Lincoln, but from different ancestral lines.

In the process, the information that Stephen died ca. 1873 in the Genesee Co. poor house, also provided information that the county, while digging a new drain, in 1991, in the area where the house had been, discovered skeletal remains of 39 people.

It appears that two graveyards were in existence at one time where the unclaimed deceased were buried, unnamed and forgotten. Stephen's son-in-law also died there, as well, so it appeared to the informant that perhaps two of the writer's great-grandfathers were among those buried in those graveyards.

Reportedly, a member of the Flint Genealogical Society has taken on this project and documented 400 deaths at this time, noting the bodies were reburied in another location. Thanks for sharing with us, Tim, as it may solve the time and effort of many folks heretofor unaware of this situation in a fruitless search for a family member.

Some records exist in a book compiled from the cemetery for those from the Oakland County poor farm, and printed by the Pontiac Area Historical and Genealogical Society. (A few were buried in a section of Oak Hill Cemetery as

We are impressed by the help that Tim received via inter-library loan with books from the Morgan County (Alabama) Library that provided much family background.

If you would find a connection to these aforementioned surnames, we will share answers wherever possible, as we've been given copies of pedigree charts for both the Holmes and Kent sides of Tim's family. Thanks, Tim, for sharing.

We are seeking information for documentation on a CALKINS-GOSS marriage for proof of paternal parentage. Happy Hunting.

Genealogist Virginia Block may be contacted by writing to her in care of Sherman Publications, Inc., 666 Lapeer Road, Oxford, MI 48371.

A4-year-old Russian boy who moved to Israel developed severe rickets, a disease characterized by soft and deformed bones. when cow's milk was eliminated from his diet due to a milk allergy.

Beginning at 3 months of age, the boy's parents were instructed to substitute almond paste diluted with water in place of cow's milk. As he got older, the only other foods the boy received were meat, potatoes and cabbage.

When the child's diet was enriched with calcium and vitamin D, he grew 4 inches within 12 months, and the bone abnormalities disappeared.
