Brrr!

It was cold out there

BY DEBORAH DZIEWIT Clarkston News Special Writer

Looking at this week's balmy temperatures, last week seems like a bad dream.

But last week's bitter cold sent many huddling and hugging heaters when the lows reached a record 20 below and the highs did not reach above 0.

Local auto repair shops had record calls for belo. Many could not keep up with demand.

Arraigned in rape case

Brett Doyon, who is charged with molesting three children, waived his right to a preliminary exam Tuesday.

Doyon, 38, formerly of Independence Township, is charged with two counts of first degree criminal sexual conduct (penetration) and two counts of second degree criminal sexual conduct (touching). If convicted of first degree CSC, he could spend up to life in prison.

According to police reports, the crimes took place in Independence Township over the past two years. Doyon plead guilty to two unrelated counts of second degree CSC on Nov. 4, 1993 and was awaiting sentencing when arrested.

His arraignment is scheduled for Feb. 7 at 1:30 p.m. in front of Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Denise Langford-Morris.

He remains in the Oakland County Jail unable to post a $170,000 cash bond.

Girl with gun gone

A Clarkston High School freshman was expelled after she was found in possession of a hand gun on school property.

The girl was officially expelled Jan. 17 by the Clarkston Board of Education. Her name isn't being printed because she is a minor.

According to district officials, the girl was found in possession of a .25 caliber hand gun with the intent of selling it to another student. The school district is still investigating one other student in this case.

District officials say the Oakland County Sheriff's Department is not investigating the matter.

Map update on way

Is your address, lot split or subdivision miss-

The Independence Township Board took steps Jan. 18 to revise a township map to include new roads, subdivisions and lot splits. The estimated cost for the revision and printing is $15,000.

The $9,000 township portion is set to come from reallocated Community Block Development Grant moneys. A public hearing must be held before the reallocation is final.

Independence Township Fire Department will pay the remaining $6,000.

"It (the map) is important for us. I'm willing to find the money for it," said Chief Gar Wilson.

The process to update the base map of the township began in 1992, but because the company went out of business, it wasn't finished.

The last base map made for the township was in 1972.

Sewer to extend over I-75

Twenty sites in the proposed Bridge Valley Subdivision will get help from their neighbors across the street.

The Independence Township Board approved the extension of a sanitary sewer from Deer Lake Farms, north across I-75 to the new subdivision in a 6-0 vote Jan. 18. Clerk Joan McCrary was absent.

According to Manny Kniahynycky, P.E. of MiK Development Consulting thin deposits of clay were found in soil samples in 20 lots within a 35 acre area. This kind of soil is usually not conducive to individual septic systems, said Kniahynycky.

The sanitary sewer will plug into a pump station already in place, and the extension is limited to 20 sites.

A final plan approval is still needed on the 296 acre development.

one of the many vehicles painted white for the United Nations.

A stranger in a strange land

Serbia, Macedonia via Clarkston

BY DEBORAH DZIEWIT Clarkston News Special Writer

While his former CHS band mates marched in London, England, Chris Cascone marched the unmarked border between Macedonia and Serbia.

Instead of a snare drum he once played in Clarkston's marching band, Cascone carried a medic kit on his back and cradled a M-16 while he patrolled the mountainous land for Serbian soldiers.

An Army combat medical specialist, the 20-year-old Independence Township resident, was transferred along with his unit, the Army's Berlin Brigade, to the United Nations Protection Forces July 1993.

"My unit was to help the Scandinavian forces already there to deter the spread of violence in the Balkans," said the 1992 CHS graduate. "Our job was to observe and report."

It was the first time that U.S. forces were to be under a general not its own.

"It was the first time that U.S. combat forces wore the U.N. blue hat for peacekeeping operations." he said. "We became part of a 1,000 man force under the command of Danish Brig. General Finn Saermark-Thomsen."

Chris officially joined the Army in August 1992 after receiving word that it had a place for him after months of waiting.

"I had to go back three times before I got a medic spot," he said. "I knew that is what I wanted . . . nothing else."

A job at the Clarkston Ambulatory Center sparked Chris' interest in the medical field.

"I helped clean up, but the doctors that were there let me watch...it was great," he said. "Any question I asked, they answered."

Once he received his orders, Chris spent eight weeks in Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. to complete his basic training. He received 10 weeks of Advanced Individual Training at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas.

By January 1993, Chris was stationed in Berlin,

Germany as part of the 6-502nd Infantry Division. He was a long way home from parents Michael and Leslie and sister Jill and soon would be further away that he ever imagined.

By June 1993, Chris said rumors began to fly that their company would be headed for Macedonia. When the company did receive its marching orders, it had two weeks to prepare for the trip.

Two weeks of long hard work.

"We were issued blue berets and had to turn in our uniforms so that blue UN patches could be sewn on," Chris said. "All the vehicles had to be repainted white — everything. And everyone had to pitch in to load everything up."

Once the company arrived at Skopje, Macedonia, more hard work faced Chris.

"For the first month no one slept." he said. "We had to set up our base camp which was an old abandoned Yugoslavian Air Force base which had been broken up three years before. The Yugoslavian army just tore it all up."

No matter what the job title, everyone became carpenters, plumbers and electricians.

"We lived in an airplane hanger, sleeping on cots and repairing the facility and securing the perimeter," he said.

Moreover, Chris had his regular duties as well. "I was kept busy treating heat casualties," he said. "It was hot and we had cases of dehydration, sunburns, burns and cuts from wire."

At the end of the month, the company had to receive training from the Scandinavian forces that had been patrolling the border for the past year.

"We were given and then participated in demonstrations of what to expect or how to react if we came upon Serbian soldiers," he said. "They were like little acts and only until we could demonstrate that we could do it, we could go to the border."

His platoon was the first to arrive at the observation posts that were located along the northern border of Macedonia, approximately 120 miles south of the Bosnian capital Sarajevo.

Chris spent most of the next six months with 12 to 14 other men at one of the three observation posts established by the Scandinavian forces. However, as

Man charged with assault, now stalking

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE Clarkston News Staff Writer

An Independence Township man charged with assault in December was arrested last week for aggravated stalking.

Randy Wolfe, 31, was arraigned by mail Jan. 20 in front of Circuit Court Judge Edward Sosnick on charges of felonious assault — a felony punishable with up to four years in prison and/ or a $2,000 fine.

The next day he was charged with aggrevated

Wolfe allegedly threw a portable phone at his stalking. ex-wife after they argued last December. She was hit in the face and required medical attention.

According to Detective Chuck Young of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Wolfe was ordered to stay away from his child and ex-wife as part of his bond condition.

Wolfe allegedly ignored this condition and tried to talk to the woman while she was leaving work Jan. 15. He supposedly followed her on Dixie Highway trying to get her to pull over and almost hit another car in the process. A witness called the police.

Homestead affidavits due by March 1

If you qualify for the Michigan Homestead Exemption, an affidavit must be completed and returned to the township assessor by March 1.

An affidavit will be mailed to all residents by the Independence Township Assessor's Office or the Michigan Department of Treasury as soon as it's available from the state.

It is mandatory to return the affidavit to the assessor's office no later than March 1. If it is returned after that date, the property will not qualify.

The validation of a claim will be determined by the Michigan Department of Treasury. The local assessor's office will collect the forms and identify all claims on the tax roll, then send the collected forms to Lansing for validation of an exemption claim.

An exemption status must be recertified every

If you have questions call the assessor's office at 625-8114.

He was arrested and charged with aggravated stalking. He was arraigned Jan. 21 in 52nd District Court, Independence Township in front of Magistrate Dana Fortinberry. His preliminary exam in the aggravated stalking case is scheduled Feb. 1 at 9:30 a.m. in front of Judge Gerald McNally.

Wolfe is now in the Oakland County Jail unable to post the $50,000 cash assurity bond set in the stalking case.

Clarkston grad goes abroad

Continued from previous page a medic, he said he did not rotate and get back to base as much as the other men.

"I was there more than anybody," Chris said. "There weren't that many medics."

On patrol, Chris saw another world and sometimes a past century as his platoon made its presence known in the small villages along the border.

"We saw chickens, pigs, and cows walking the streets. Little kids ran around with only rags on their feet. The farmers used oxen and walked behind the plow. They laid their seed by hand," he said.

Chris' company was relieved in January and he returned home to Clarkston for a three-week leave.

Aggravated stalking occurs when stalking violates a court order, is not the first offense on involves threats of violence against the victim, the victim's family or a members of the victim's household.

If Wolfe is convicted of aggravated stalking he could face up to five years in prison and/or a $10,000

He will appear in front of Sosnick Feb. 17 concerning the felonious assault.

His family kept the tree up and left the lights on the house so that they could celebrate Christmas when he returned. He will return to Berlin Jan. 29 and remain there for the rest of his two years of active duty. He's not sure if he will re-enlist.

But one thing he is sure of, the medical field will be in his future.

"While in the army, I earned money for college, but I don't know yet what I'm going to do or where I'll go to school, but it will be in the field medicine." he said. "I do know that I wanted to do something for myself . . . to have time to grow up and the army helped me do it.

New sign highlights name change

The new sign which replaced Carla's of Clarkston is just the beginning of future planned improvements.

Don't be confused the next time you see the new sign along Dixie Highway at I-75 and on the former Carla's of Clarkson Hair Salon building. The owner Ann Austin, has just started her future planned improvements. The name change from Carla's of Clarkston to Austin & Company Hair & Nail Salon is just the beginning. Phone calls to the salon will be answered Austin & Company starting next week.

Look for their renovation celebration coming soon!

Don't Rush Me

Despite the bad there's hope

Don Rush

There's still hope for us . . . as a people, that

This, despite the fact more people do more violence to others. Lately we've been bombarded with stories of violence. The story of abuse and mutilation of the Bobbits got national headlines.

Closer to home the senseless bashing of U.S. Olympic skater Nancy Kerrigan's leg was news. Still closer to home the alleged rape of minors grabbed our front-page headlines last week. I get reports of guns and drugs at my alma mater, Clarkston High. That makes me feel great. It makes me mad. It makes me want to do something. It makes me sad.

But, there is still hope.

There is still good news -- maybe it is not reported or prominently displayed enough. But good people do good things for others.

I just wish we at the paper would hear of it so we could let you know it.

Hope begets hope.

In Oxford, I remember stories of people stopping to help retiree Glenn Dill shovel his side walk. They didn't know Glenn from the man on the moon, but they stopped anyway. They helped for no other reason than it was a good thing to do. In Detroit last week a man stopped and saved the live of a child who was freezing to death. He didn't have to stop, many didn't, but he did.

Mary Mark of Clarkston wrote us a letter recently. It was a good-news letter. She headlined it, "Optimism in Clarkston is here to stay!"

Here's what she wrote:

"To the mystery person at the A & P parking lot on Tuesday, Jan. 17, at 7:30 p.m., who saw me drop my wallet from my purse as I ran from my car in 20-below-zero weather . . . Thank you.

"Another thank you to the second mystery person at House of Fabrics who heard me inquire about my wallet and informed me that she saw someone place the wallet in the back seat of my four-door, white Oldsmobile.

"I did finally pay for my groceries at A & P and all is well. If you both read this please contact me at 625-9154.

"Praise The Lord for your presence in our community."

I like that kind of news. And would love to report it . . . I know things like this happens all the time. And, the folks that usually do the good deeds are not the kind to seek glory. They do it, well, because they believe they are supposed to.

Too often I cannot report good things. The nature of the business is to report the sensational. If it were a perfect world I'd print just nice news. But it isn't. Therefore, we here at your community newspaper will not just report fluff and stuff.

There are times we have to get down and get dirty. Crummy, dastardly things do happen in this community to perfectly innocent people. You may not like it, I despise it, but we will not brush things under any carpet to keep up the good name of our community.

That would be a travesty of justice. To my knowledge most problems don't go away by ignoring them. Once the knowledge of a problem is thrown out into the public, it can be realized and the good people can do what they need to.

The good people will do good, I am sure of this. As I am sure there is still hope for us . . . as a people, that is.

Update on CMS Portrait Project

Dear Editor,

We thought you and your readers would enjoy an update on the Clarkston Middle School's Portrait Project for 6th graders.

As you may recall during the first marking period students created portraits in terra cotta clay.

This quarter students learned a new technique called Blind Unended Contour Drawing. Using one continuous line, students created head and full figure studies of each other. A new appreciation was gained for both uniqueness in appearance and style of expression. The drawings are marvelous.

We would again like to thank Very Special Arts of Michigan and the Clarkston Foundation for generously funding this program. Thank you, Sally Lindeman for making us feel so welcome in your artroom. Thanks also to the CMS staff and ERA for all of your help in making this project a success. The students have shared much with us and together we have learned a great deal.

Letter policy

Letters to the editor must arrive at The Clarkston News office by noon Monday to be considered for publication in Wednesday's paper. We reserve the right to edit all letters for brevity and clarity and to limit the number of letters from any one individual or on any one topic. Letters are limited to 315 words. We discourage copies of letters sent elsewhere and require that all letters be signed and include an address and phone number. We will not publish unsigned letters, though we may withhold names on written request in special circumstances. Address all letters to: Letters To The Editor, The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main St., Clarkston, MI 48346.

We look forward to the next meetings in February when students will make cubist portrait prints, Picasso style.

We are at a crossroads

I would like to thank the school board for putting an end to the school boundary line controversy with an acceptable, alternative redistricting

It is my hope that the weeks preceding the school board's intervention - the ones filled with frustration, anger and mistrust - can help parents, administrators and board memoers recognize that we have a way to go in achieving a true partnership on behalf of the kids in this district.

We now are at a crossroad. We can stand still, immobilized by our desire to be right on a single issue. Or, we can break apart in different directions, convinced that the damage has been done. Or, we can dust ourselves off, realize that nothing short of a genuine partnership will improve the educational outlook for our children, and collectively go forward in attaining that goal.

The school board has taken us to this point. How will we proceed?

Jan Baker, Clarkston

Some think it's seed time

Jim Sherman

The first day mail was delivered after Christmas I received a seed catalog.

Every year millions of people make thunderous objections to Christmas being promoted too early.

Where are these objectioners to the seed sellers who are pushing their corn and carrots five months before the frost is out?

They make retailers of December 25th's early offerings look like they've missed the sales boat.

My first impulse was to write President Clinton. I know he'd promise to have the catalogs delayed till April. İt's been proven he'll promise anything.

But then, a couple weeks later I received a second seed catalog . . . then a third . . . then a fourth. With the passing days came lower temperature readings, more snow and an increasing need for weather optimism.

So by now I've read Gurney's 1994 Spring Catalog, Park Seed Flowers and Vegetables, 1994, Henry Field's Seed & Nursery 1994 Spring Catalog and Michigan Bulb Co. Spring 1994 Sales Catalog.

I haven't bought anything from them, nor will I, but I may write them a letter thanking them for lifting my spirits above the foot of snow.

Seeing the picture of the young boys in t-shirts and shorts gnawing on an ear of corn makes me think the time will again return when I too will be working my way along the yellow rows of kemels.

These seed catalogs, arriving as they do when there is time to waste, can renew our faith in American ingenuity. Like trying to sell me a desilking brush for sweet corn.

Last year I went for corn cutters. I bought three, one for each daughter. Daughter Susan was least appreciative. She offered no 'thanks,' and very quickly said, "I'll put that in my garage sale."

She's certainly not getting a desilking brush For a guy who plants hundreds of flowers each year I must be the dumbest planter around. If it isn't a marigold, petunia or marigold I'm lost. Seed catalogs don't help.

I can't even pronounce most of the stuff they advertise. What's an Achillea, Abelmoschus, Lavatera, Malva or Platycodon?

And every year the growers come out with new and improved flowers just like the detergent makers. What can be new about a Forget-Me-Not? How and why do they keep bringing to market new roses? What is the matter with the roses we've come to love and enjoy?

What really gets to me in these catalogs is the pictures of tomatoes . . . the greatest produce a gardener can have.

Give me some sun, give me some earth, give me a tomato plant and I'll ask for nothing more until next December 26 when I'll expect a new seed

Is this justice?

By Deborah Dziewit

I often call her the fixer. A close friend calls her the mother hen of all of us.

Friend, family, strangers — if a call for help touches her in some way, she will be there and give whatever is needed.

Some wrong and she will right it.

A hug and an ear, she will gladly supply it and happily sit, smoke and listen.

Giver. That is what she does best.

But, not too long ago, something happened in her life that needed fixing. She became the one to cry out for help. She found herself in need of arms and ears.

However, it was as if the old proverbial brick wall circled itself around her and nothing could knock it down.

This problem seemed not fixable. It's not as if she didn't try to break through the wall; she did with every ounce of her strength.

But this problem was too big for her to fix alone. So, she stood alone and watched her husband of 10 years taken away to federal prison for 5 years.

Her husband, often described as a rebel, an aging hippie, a radical, committed a crime. He broke a law which he knew about but chose not to abide it. This man grew marijuana. He thought there was nothing wrong with growing the plant.

I know some will say that what he did was wrong, and he deserved what he got. After all, growing not is illegal ing pot is illegal.

During the months in preparation for his trial, he realized just how wrong it was. But he and his wife don't believe that he should serve a mandatory five

They believe that the federal guidelines do not fit the crime. It was his first offense. He is not a big drug dealer. He is 50-plus years old. The couple drives old cars, lives in a small trailer with an addition. They heat by wood. They most certainly do not live nor could they live an extravagant lifestyle. They don't have lots of money.

However, prosecutors and federal agents involved in the case believed he was somehow tied in with the big drug dealers in Northern Michigan.

Even the judge who ruled and handed down the sentence did not want to give this man five years without a chance of parole. But, his hands were tied because of the law.

How can this woman fix this? How can mandatory sentencing be changed to fit the crime and the person?

We have seen rapists sent away, only to be released to rape again. We have seen murderers convicted and put away only to be released and murder again. We have seen wife abusers sent away for a few months only to come back and kill the wife.

The scales of justice are unbalanced. This woman of incredible strength intends to tip the scales back where they should be. She will see that the system changes. It might take her awhile — After all, she's known as the fixer.

Cold in the north and south

I talked to my best friend the other day and we swapped cold stories.

Since she is a transplanted Midwesterner with a Southern accent, I was rather surprised (but not sympathatic) at her plight.

She lives in Clarksville, Tenn. which was virtually shut down by the Blizzard of '94. It dumped two inches of snow on the town and had bone chilling temperature of 20 degrees (that's above zero).

I live in a place where last week 24 snow related accidents happened in one day. The snow is up to mid-calf in places and 20 degrees would be a heat

The college she attends was closed, area public and private schools were closed, and the office her husband works in didn't open because too many people couldn't get to work in the two inches of snow.

It is now 40 degrees below zero, I still got into my little car (prayed it would start) and got to work by

8. Schools weren't called off until there was a wind chill advisory that noted you could get frost bite in less than a minute of exposure.

She whined because she had to scrape her windshield.

Last Saturday I had to scrape the inside of my car when a thick layer of ice formed while I was at the mall for a couple hours.

She said it was so cold she could see her breath and her nose froze together.

As someone knowingly said about Michigan weather, "It's so cold here we were talking outside and had to put our words in a bucket, take them inside and thaw them out — just to see what we were saying."

I win.

'If It Fitz ...'

Is this justice? An incredible U-turn

Jim Fitzgerald

When I heard Wednesday that Mayor Dennis Archer had named Ron Ruffin to replace Helen Irving as director of the Municipal Parking Department, my first response wasn't enthusiastic. It was: "Well, at least the job didn't go to Frazier Kimpson."

Kimpson was the department's deputy director. In 1988, he received national publicity via the Paul Harvey radio program when it was revealed that Kimpson owed $859 on 34 parking tickets dating back to 1982. What a knee-slapper.

At the time, and ever after, Kimpson and Irving refused to talk to the press about how embarrassing it was for a parking scofflaw to be the No. 2 honcho in charge of enforcing parking ordinances.

During the Coleman Young administration, it was standard arrogant procedure for his aides - public employees, remember - to refuse to talk to the public via the only practical access available, the news media. And that included Ruffin, when he was executive administrator of the Parking Violations Bureau.

The bureau issues overdue-ticket notices that threaten "a citation will be filed in court" against you for failure to pay the fine within 15 days. In November 1991, Alex Allen Jr., chief judge of the state's 36th District Court in Detroit, told me the violations bureau had stopped filing the citations five months earlier. The reason, Allen said, was a dispute over who should get the money from fines collected, the state or the city.

That meant scofflaws could thumb their noses at an empty threat, and honest citizens protesting allegedly unfair tickets couldn't get a hearing.

Naturally, I asked Ruffin, the bureau chief, for comment. Ruffin refused, naturally. He said only Director Irving could answer my questions, and he would ask her to call me. She never called, naturally.

Flash forward over two years. There's a new mayor, both Irving and Kimpson are history, and Ruffin is now top parking dog. I still wanted to ask about the aborted hearings because I know worried citizens who've waited as long as two years to be assigned court dates they were promised within 60 days.

Ruffin immediately accepted my Wednesday call.

He apologized for the previous brush-off. It was then "strict policy" not to talk to the press and "I had to comply," Ruffin said.

He also said Judge Allen was right about the courtcitation threats, they've been hollow since early 1991. Ruffin stressed, however, that people waiting futilely for court dates are in no danger of losing their driver's license for not paying the contested tickets.

And starting next month, 36th District Court appearances will again be regularly assigned to people wanting to protest tickets. Or they can attempt an out-of-court settlement by requesting an "administrative hearing."

"In the spirit of cooperation," Ruffin said, "fine money collected in state court will go to the state."

Ruffin had just told me more in three minutes than I'd heard from Helen Irving in 10 years. Almost giddy with success, I dared ask Ruffin - during only his first few hours on the job, remember - what he was going to do about blatant discrimination in parking-ordinance enforcement. Would members of the exclusive Detroit Club still be allowed to double-park for two hours while nearby ordinary citizens were ticketed for one-minute meter violations?

"I am going to resolve that problem," Ruffin said. "Within 90 days, those cars will no longer be sitting there for hours."

Oh my.

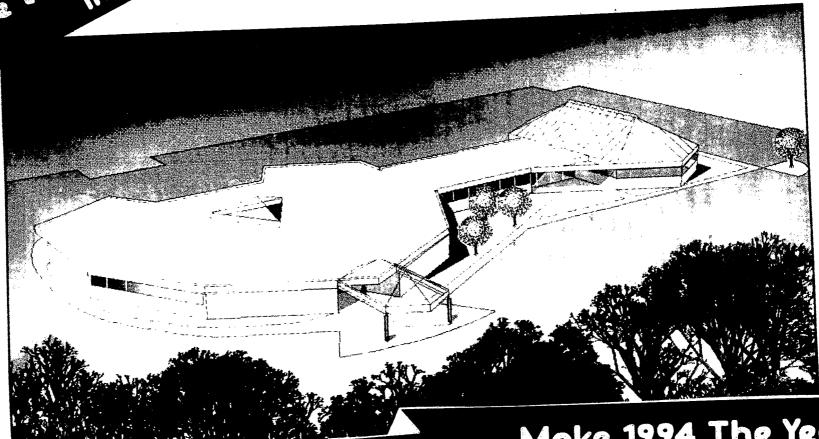

When I complimented Ruffin on the quick improvements, he said the parking department needed "an aggressive director." Was he criticizing the previous director? "I won't speak on that," Ruffin answered.

I accept that. I also apologize for my initial unenthusiastic reaction to Ruffin's appointment. I should have known better. Mayor Archer continues to head in the right directon, Onward and Upward.

Crime Capers

Bound over for jacket thefts

Eugene F. Pickard, 19, will be arraigned in Oakland County Circuit Court next week on charges he stole jackets from an area store.

According to the police report, Pickard, of Pontiac, stole $1,100 worth of jackets from an area Foot Locker store.

He is charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit a larceny — a felony punishable with up to 10 years in prison.

The Foot Locker store on Dixie Highway was broken into Sept. 24, 1993 and 10 Starter brand jackets were stolen.

Pickard supposedly sold the jackets to a girl in Pontiac who was going to return them to another Foot Locker for money. The girl has not been arrested.

Pickard's arraignment is in front of Judge Rudy Nichols Feb. 4 at 8:30 a.m.

Snowboard theft

An 18-year-old man who police say allegedly stole a snowboard has been bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court.

The Clarkston (MI) News Wed., Jan. 26, 1994 11 A

Victor Stesiak of Dearborn will be arraigned in front of Judge Gene Schnelz Feb. 3 at 8:30 a.m.

According to a police report, Stesiak was stopped by security in the parking lot of Pine Knob on Jan. 9 and was in possession of a $500 snowboard that belonged to the ski lodge.

Stesiak is charged with larceny over $100, felony with a maximum sentence of four years in prison.

Four will go to trial in beating case

A trial date has been set for four men who allegedly beat a fifth at a Pine Knob concert Aug. 19, Brian Podgorski, 20, Bruce Helm, 19, and Keith Anderson, 20, all of Independence Township; and Ian Morris, 23, of Dryden will begin their trial before Judge Robert Anderson on Feb. 14.

The men are charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder — a felony punishable with up to 10 years in prison.

The victim, a 31-year-old California man, suffered an open head injury during the beating at a Foreigner concert.

spark plugs and they also sold most of their in stock batteries.

Mark attributes many of the starting problems to cars being left out in the cold or owners whoflood the newer fuel injected vehicles.

Fuel and heating businesses also had their share of emergency calls.

"The phone has been ringing off the hook," said Sheryl Anderson, a clerk for Nichols Heating and Cooling. "We cannot keep up."

Many calls were for "no heats."

"Usually the furnace in not able to keep up with the temperature outside," Sheryl said. "The furnace runs continuously, yet the indoor temperature never gets above 60 degrees. But that doesn't mean your furnace is broken."

While Sheryl said the company tried to prioritize the calls, it was still "first come, first serve" for many of the calls.

Businesses who delivers heating fuel were swamped with calls.

Derek Storrs of Hamilton's Propane, Inc. said the calls were stacking up.

"We've been working 'til midnight for the past three nights," Derek said. "Everybody seems to be out of fuel."

He said he could not predict when the Ortonville-based company would be caught up with its backlog of calls but that they would continue to work the long hours until everyone had fuel.

Northwest Propane, Inc., of Holly, on the other hand was staying ahead of the demand.

"We're not leaving our customers out of gas," said Larry Otto, manager of Northwest. "With our scheduling we are not working to midnight — we don't have to."

Larry recommends an automatic fill system, so that customers can be assured of prompt delivery and an ample supply of gas. Drivers check heating fuel supplies regularly and if running low, the drivers automatically fill the tank.

Schools were also affected by the bitter cold. Hundreds of schools closed last week, including Clarkston, Holly and Brandon, many for two or more days.

"The biggest reason was the wind chill factor," said Kevin Bickerstaff, transportation supervisor. "We had the buses running, but with that wind chill, who wanted kids walking to school or waiting for the bus."

Detroit Edison reported an all time high of electricity demands in its 91 year history.

"Between 6 and 7 p.m. on Wednesday the 17th, customers hit a peak of 7,264,000 kilowatts of power," said Scott Simons, spokesperson for Detroit Edison.

The company reported a few power outages within its boundaries. While power was restored, it proved to be more difficult because of the cold temperatures.

"We were slowed down," he said. "Our hydraulic buckets were hard to move and our trucks were hard to start."

Plumbers also had their hands full with busted

"We have had a busy week and had all that we could handle," said Fred Maitrott, owner of Repair Plumbing Co. inc. of Clarkston. "We're just getting out of it.

We had a lot of frozen pipes."

White is king of CHS' 'Jungle'

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

When it comes to high school basketball, Clarkston High has arguably the most spirited student section in the county.

And the school has junior Mike White to thank for this recognition.

White, 17, is the ring leader of the "Jungle II," a group of nearly 80 rabid fans who love to cheer for the Wolves. For White, who commonly goes by the nickname "Zeke," this project has been more of a legacy than a labor of love.

His brother, Mark, a 1992 CHS grad, began the original "Jungle" during the Wolves' 1991-92 campaign. The student section had been known as "The Zoo" the year before.

After Mark White graduated, the responsibility of getting the students involved in the 1992-93 season fell into the lap of his younger brother.

"At the time, I was helping Coach (Dan) Fife with taping games, and I felt that the student support, prior to the first Pontiac Northern game, had been terrible. There was absolutely no school spirit," Mike White recalls. "So, I brought a megaphone to the next game and got together with a bunch of my friends to cheer the guys on. It kind of spread after that."

This student section eventually evolved into "The Kingdom," as dubbed by some of its more exuberant upper classmen.

White said rooting for the team gives him a chance to be part of a sport he truly loves.

"I played basketball with most the guys on the varsity back in seventh and eighth grades," he said. "I didn't make the JV team last year but I still love to play with them on the weekends."

White also feels he helps his hoop buddies in the stands, especially at home games.

"We try to dismantle the opponent's concentration as much as possible," Mike said, listing chants, screams and noise-makers in the Jungle's arsenal. "I really believe it's an intimidation factor when you've got enough noise going. I've been complimented by some of our players on the fan support because they say it helps fire them up too."

White believes his group played a big part in come-from-behind upsets over Carman-Ainsworth and Saginaw earlier in the season. Clarkston point guard Jeremy Fife agrees.

"They really pumped us up against Ainsworth," Fife said, a couple of days after the game. "They had a lot to with us winning that game."

When attending a CHS game, Jungle II members are easy to spot because of their colorful t-shirts, designed by White. The group's mascot is Marvin the Martian, a character seen in Loony Tunes cartoons.

White has a stuffed version of Marvin, but he's been told to leave him at home because the character's black face might be construed as racist.

"I think it's kind of silly for the school to take this stance because Marvin's a licensed character," White said. "But we're sympathetic to things like that."

White also uses an empty milk jug, filled with 10 pennies, to help make noise. However, this instrument is only allowed at CHS' home games.

"We've been told that the jugs are OK at home, but not at away GOAL games," Mike said.

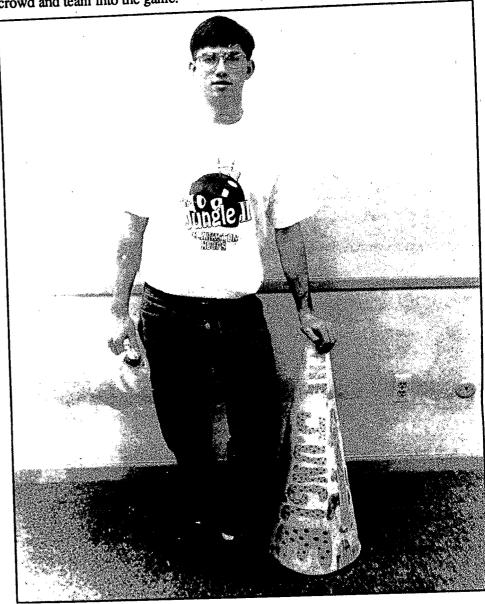

White is also vying for the right to bring his megaphone back to ball games. It was outlawed after students were heard yelling crude comments at the away Lake Orion contest and the Clarkston Christmas Classic.

"When the megaphone gets passed around, some people just can't help themselves" White said. "If we do get it back, it will probably be on the condition that I'm the only one to use it."

Until that time, White said the Jungle II will rely on its frenzied cheering and numerous chants to get the crowd and team into the game.

"With the team turning things around, we're looking at getting more of the student body involved in our games," White said. "It was kind of hard at first, with the team dropping some early ones, but now they're rolling and so are we."

MIKE WHITE is the man behind the "Jungle II," Clarkston's spirited student section.

Wolf spikers maul the Corsairs

The Clarkston varsity volleyball team evened its league record at 1-1 last week with a convincing win over Waterford Mott.

The host Wolves beat the Corsairs 15-12, 15-13 Jan. 17.

"It was good to get the win," said CHS Coach Gordie Richardson of the team's sometime inconsistent play against Mott.

This was evidenced by a big lead loss in the second contest, where Clarkston led 14-7 at one point.

Statistically, the Wolves were paced by Carey Haven who was 12-for-15 attacking with three kills. Stephanie Giroux recorded six defensive digs, while Nicki Winn chipped in with eight assists. Christa Herron served a perfect 11-for-11 for CHS.

Over the weekend, Clarkston performed in the 16-team Grand Blanc Classic, resulting in a 4-4 record. Portage Northern, the No. 1 ranked team in Clarkston took second in the "silver division," which consisted of the competition's bottom-eight, seeded teams.

The Wolves lost to Lapeer East, 6-15, 4-15, to open the tournament. They later rebounded to beat Lansing Catholic Central, 15-5, 16-4, in the second round of round-robin play, before being crushed by Portage Northern, 0-15, 1-

In "silver division" play, the Wolves

Class A won the tournament, while lost to Flushing in the opener, 3-15, before rallying for three consecutive wins over Brandon, Lansing Catholic Central and Grand Blanc. They finished the tournament by losing to West Bloomfield, 5-15, 8-15.

Overall, Clarkston is 8-9-3 this season. In 20 matches, they've scored 422 points, while their opponents have knocked down a total of 490.

CHS' next home match is Monday, Jan. 31, against Waterford Ketter-

Host Wolves rule at Clarkston Invitational

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

The Clarkston wrestling squad proved an unkind host this weekend by winning their own eight-team tournament.

The Wolves defeated four teams to win their pool and the first-place trophy at the Clarkston Invitational. In the first dual match, CHS pounded Rochester 52-15. Hartland was the Wolves' second victim in pool play as the Eagles fell 51-16.

In the final contest of pool play, Clarkston grappled with county power Troy. The Wolves nipped the Colts, 33-31, to move on to the finals.

Clarkston's victorious wrestlers included: Jason Tiefenbach (103 pounds), Jesse Laycock (119), Corey Grant (125), Armin Michelson (152), P.J. Vandermeer (160) and Brett Rebb (171).

In the tournament finals, the Wolves locked horns with regional nemesis Howell, who was ranked No. 2 in Class A coaches' poll. However, No. 5 Clarkston pulled the unlikely upset by topping the Highlanders, 33-30.

Wins were recorded by: Ryan Mick (103), Grant (125), Joe Roy (135), Michelson (152), Vandermeer (160) and Joe DeGain (189).

The victory over Howell avenged an earlier season loss to the Highlanders, who also knocked the Wolves out of the regional team finals last season. The tournament victory — Clarkston's second in a row — was very satisfying, said Coach Mike DeGain.

"We're getting there," he said. "I still see a lot of room for improvement. Actually, I'd be worried if we were wrestling problem-free this early in the year.

"I hope we can hit our peak in about three or four weeks when districts roll around," DeGain added.

At the Clarkston Invitational, team trophies were presented up to third place. Medals were also given to the most valuable wrestler in each weight class, as voted on by the coaches.

Strangely, no Clarkston wrestlers gained MVP honors.

This past weekend, the Wolves also sent a "B" team to the Oakland Catholic Invitational, where it took third place overall. Harper Woods won the tournament with 200 points, followed by Pontiac Central, 141, and CHS at 121.5.

Six Wolves brought home medals from this tournament. They included: Jack Dyer (145) first; Andy Keelan (135), second; Scott Hund (140), second; Jay Richardson (130), second, Dave Zieman (103), second and Tim Rebb (189), third.

Clarkston's next contest is Thursday, Jan. 27, at Waterford Mott.

Wolves sink the Captains

The Clarkston varsity basketball team ran its winning streak to five games with a 60-52 win over Waterford Kettering last Friday.

The Wolves were in control over the first three quarters as they led 47-30, going into the final stanza. However, Kettering took advantage of a "cruising" Clarkston and rallied for 22 points in the fourth quarter, cutting CHS' lead to a mere four points.

Clarkston staved off the Captains' late charge to win the contest by eight points.

Offensively, the Wolves were paced by Tim Wasilk and Rick Vollmar with 14 points apiece. Brad Agar also chipped in with 12 points, while teammate Rusty Mitcham added nine.

With the victory, the Wolves raised their record to 3-0 in the GOAL, 7-2 overall. Kettering fell to 1-2 in the league, 3-7 overall.

Clarkston hosts unbeaten Pontiac Northern this Friday, Jan. 28. The junior varsity game is scheduled to begin at 5:30 p.m. Spectators are encouraged to come early because this game has a history of selling out.

Senior Keith Turner of Clarkston, a member of the Western Michigan University termis team, tore up the courts in Toledo this past weekend.

Along with partner Aleks Neubauer, the doubles team won two matches at the Mid-American Conference Indoor Invitational Jan. 21-23. The pair eventually lost in the semi-finals.

The Bronchos next match is Jan. 29 against Purdue.

Independence Township Parks and Recreation is offering stained glass classes for adults beginning the week of Feb. 3. Class for beginners will be held on Monday nights. Both classes run from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. For more information, call 625-8223.

SINGLES LINE DANCE

Can't get the husband motivated? Well, come on out and learn this very popular dance by yourself. You will learn line dancing techniques along with basic foot work for line dancing. Techniques will progress as the class continues. Come by yourself or bring a friend. Class is held on Tuesday nights from 8 to 9 p.m. Cost is $35 per resident/$45 per non-resident.

GUITAR CLASS

Learn fundamentals of guitar playing: how to tune a guitar, how to strum and chord as you play. Guitar rental available for the six-week class. Class held on Wednesday nights, 7 p.m. beginning Jan. 26 at Evola Music. Cost is $48 per person plus book fee. Register at the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department.

KIDS CRAFT CORNER

This is a special craft class involving both parent and child. In February, this craft could make a special Valentine's Day gift. Parents will take an active role in each class to help their child create projects designed to enhance self-esteem and coordination.

day, Feb. 7, from 6 p.m. to 6:45 p.m. 1994 SPRING YOUTH SOCCER

The Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department announces that early bird registration is being taken for Under 8, Under 10, Under 12 and Under 14 spring youth soccer leagues. Early bird registration runs through Jan. 28 with the cost being $30 per resident/$40 per non-resident. Regular registration will begin Jan. 31 and run through March 11 with the cost being $35 resident/ $45 non-resident. A mandatory coaches meeting will be held at the Independence Township Annex on March 29 at 6 p.m. March 31 is the last day to register and be eligible for the draft. Anyone registering after that

INTRODUCTION TO BASKETBALL

Introduce your child to one of the most popular sports in the world. Boys and girls, ages 7 and 8, will be taught the correct ways to pass, dribble and shoot a basketball. Basic offensive and defensive techniques will be introduced as well. Pre-registration is a must at the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department. This six-week program begins Jan. 29 from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m., Pine Knob Elementary, $20 per resident/$30 per non-resident.

FOR MORE INFORMATION

Call 625-8232 or stop by the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston. The office is open 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Career in Real Estate!

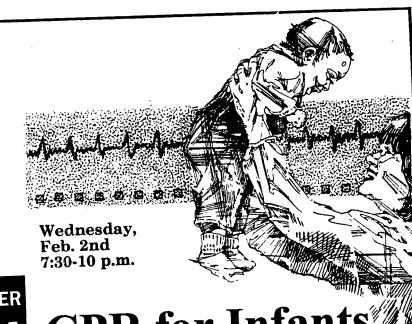

I look for? ANSWER: Any reliable Realtor will help expedite the sale of your property. They'll help in pricing it, qualifying prospects, showing it, negotiating, preparing agreements, helping the buyer obtain financing, and following through with the mass of details involved with each transaction.

The speed of the sale is directly proportional to the number of qualified prospects that are made aware of the property being offered. The agency giving you the best exposure, is generally going to do the best and fastest job.

^{*} The assessment cap with the ballot issue would be 5 percent or the rate of inflation, whichever was less. With the statutory plan, a yearly assessment would be used.

You'll know what to pay on March 16

Millages change with, without voter ok

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE Clarkston News Staff Writer

On March 15, Michigan taxpayers will vote on a constitutional amendment which will provide schools with $10.2 billion. Even if the plan fails at the polls, a new plan will be in effect for 1994.

Each plan calls for $6.5 billion to come from replacement revenues such as a cigarette tax or a tax on interstate phone calls. The other $3.7 billion will come from the state budget.

If the March 15 vote passes, millage rates for Independence Township residents in the Clarkston School District will decrease by 31.96 mills in 1994 with a Homestead Exception. Taxpayers without an exception will have a decrease of 13.96 mills.

The tax rate in 1993 was 56.6187 mills for Independence Township residents within the Clarkston School District. This means a resident with an assessed property value of $100,000 paid about $2,830 in annual property taxes in 1993.

With the proposed constitutional ballot change,

Property taxes will go down . . . but will will the cost be?

the same resident with a Homestead Exemption and $100,000 assessed property value would pay about $1,230 in annual property taxes in 1994.

(Current and future tax rates and the effective tax rate for Clarkston School District residents are given in the graph above.)

In order to identify what your annual property tax liability would be, multiply your total property value (what you sell it for today) by the effective tax rate given in the chart. The Assessor's Office can other school districts within the township.

Property taxes aren't the only changes offered in the ballot. Income tax could increase or decrease, the sales tax may increase and interstate phone calls will be taxed.

Under both plans, the assessment lag year is removed. Revenue sharing for local governments remains in the current system. Summer tax collections remain, along with a provision for counties to request summer collections.

Fly without seeing the sky, ground, clouds

No, their eyes aren't closed

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE Clarkston News Staff Writer

Most people get into planes, sit back, relax and expect to get to their destination even if there is rain, clouds or snow.

For those who pilot the plane, learning to fly without seeing the ground takes a lot of work, practice and determination.

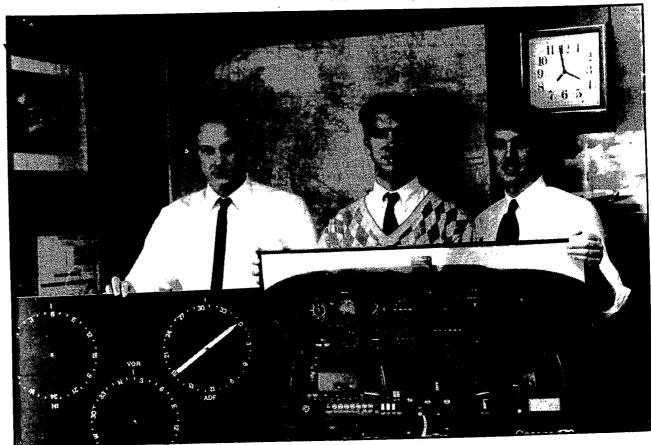

Clarkston Community Education is offering an Instrument Ground Class this winter to teach licensed private pilots how to fly solely by instruments, seeing nothing outside.

The class is taught by Mike D'Alessandro, 25, Ron Kowlaski, 26, and Walter Tuttle, 23, all of Lake Orion. Each of the men work for Pontiac Aviation and have been pilots from three to five years.

According to D'Alessandro there are two kinds of flying: VFR (Visual Flight Rule) and IFR (Instrumental Flight Rule). "They're two totally different worlds of flying," he said.

Students will use practice problems and will be prepared for the Federal Aviation Administration written test to be certified in IFR.

The course includes instrument flight charts, instrument procedures, instrument approaches and advanced meterology.

Students may also practice flying with the trio at Pontiac Aviation if they don't fly at another air

The men say they expect team teaching will benefit their students.

"Since three of us are teaching, we can give them individual attention," said Tuttle.

They hope the class will have between eight and 20 students to keep the teacher student ratio low.

The teachers say they hope their students will learn and also enjoy the experience of the class.

"(They should) have fun and be safe pilots," Tuttle said.

The men also train pilots for commercial, private, multi-engine and sea planes.

Instrument Ground School begins Feb. 1 at Sashabaw Middle School. It meets Tuesdays from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. The book fee is $70 and the course fee is $65.

Woman loses control of car, hits tree

An Independence Township woman was ticketed for allegedly driving under the influence after her car struck a tree Jan. 15.

According to the report by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Collette Hemminger was driving north on Clintonville Road in her 1991 GMC Jimmy when she drove off the road and struck a tree. The accident occurred about 1:35 a.m.

She was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for minor injuries and ticketed for driving under the influence and refusing to be tested. She was wearing her seatbelt.

Two injured in roll-overs

A man and woman were injured in two separate roll over accidents on I-75 Jan. 17.

The first accident was 8 a.m., east of Dixie Highway when Steve Sholtz, 77, of Mount Morris lost control of his 1990 Dodge station wagon and his car rolled over.

According to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report, Sholtz told officers that a vehicle had cut him off, and when he applied the breaks he lost

He was treated for minor injuries at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

Almost three hours later, at 10:55 a.m. another accident occurred just south of Sashabaw Road.

OCSD reports that Paula Vogel, 43, of Independence Township lost control of her 1990 Jeep when she hit an icy patch. She hit the median and

She was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for minor injuries.

Both Sholtz and Vogel were wearing seatbelt and they were each ticketed for traveling too fast for the weather conditions. It was snowing during Sholtz's accident and the road was icy for Vogel's.

Electrical short blamed

An electrical short of some kind started a fire that heavily damaged a home on Sashabaw Road Jan.

Both the Oakland County Fire Investigator and the insurance investigator have ruled the blaze accidental. According to Chief Gar Wilson of the Independence Township Fire Department, the fire began in a basement bedroom with either a clock radio or heating pad for bed to blame.

Wilson said both inspectors are focusing on the heating pad.

Colleen Smith

Colleen Strong Smith, 80, died Jan. 5, 1994, in Tuscon, Arizona.

A longtime resident of Clarkston and Tucson, she is survived by her husband, Philip; sister, Peggy Conger of Milton, Indiana; sons Dr. B. Perry Smith of Ann Arbor, Dr. David P. Smith of Houston, Texas; Daniel F. Smith of Gaylord; daughter Marlene Smith-Baranzini of Pleasanton, California; and seven grand-

Born in New Castle, Indian, Colleen and her family moved to Clarkston in 1950. She received her B.A. (1964) and M.A. (1966) degrees (Library Science) from the University of Michigan. In 1971 she received the State of Michigan Librarian's Professional Certificate. She was instrumental in founding the Independence Township Library, and served as its librarian for several years.

Colleen retired in Tuscon in 1972 and became a

Laubach Literary tutor. She was a member of the United Methodist Chruch in Tuscon, the Arizona Historical Society, and the Habitat for Humanity Partners Council. She was also a life member of Mensa, the Narure Conservancy, and the U. of M. Alumni Association. A private memorial service was held by the family.

Richard Church

Richard R. Church, 66, of Holly, formally of Davisburg died Jan. 20, 1994.

Mr. Church is survived by a brother Roy C. and sister Beverly Truxall. He is also survived by several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m., Monday, Jan. 28 at the Lewis E. Wint & Son TRUST100 Funeral Home, Clarkston, with Rev. Douglas R. Trebilcock officiating. Interment will be at the Lakeview

Friends may visit the funeral home Sunday, Jan. 27 from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

They celebrate common beliefs

Several area churches gathered together last week to celebrate their common beliefs — faith in Jesus Christ and his saving grace.

Members from Saint Daniel Catholic Church, Calvary Evangelical Lutheran Church, Clarkston United Methodist Church, Clarkston Free Methodist Church, First Church of God, Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church and First Congregational Church kicked off Christian Unity Week at the Independence Township Library by joining together for prayer, readings and hymns.

"We all have Christ in common," said funeral director Bill Wint and a member of the group.

While the group does not have a formal name nor a set meeting date, it does hold five to six events throughout the year. It sponsors the Crop Walk, holds a National Day of Prayer and an all church Thanksgiving Day service the Wednesday before Thanks-

"Any church can join who is interested in eucemenical awareness," Wint said.

Marching Band Memories

Section B Wed., Jan. 26, 1994

The Clarkston Rems

THE CLARKSTON Marching Band pushes through the streets of London at the recent Lord Mayor of Westminster's New Year's Spectacular. Over 170 local musicians performed in this historic, 2.6-mile trek.

Marching band does 'bloody' well

BY TOM BROWN

The anticipation was over. The plane lifted from the runway and the Clarkston High School Marching Band was on its way to London to march in the New Year's Day Parade.

The project was no small one. It certainly was not like going to Linden for a marching competition.

One hundred and seventy-two members of the band and eighty-six adults were responding to the invitation of the Lord Mayor of Westminster and the City of London, the boroughs of London in which Big Ben and a lot of the city's major attractions are located. The students were to march in the Eighth Annual New Year's Spectacular, an "American-style parade" celebrating the beginning of the new year, 1994.

The logistics of this trip were difficult to believe. Each band member and adult left the ground with one suitcase, a carry-on bag and each had a passport carried on their person at all times. Over 200 concert and marching instruments were each neatly packed with their locks taped shut. Fifteen wardrobe cases of complete uniforms and shoes had to be filled and 143 hats and plums were also packaged, along with crates of music, marching flags and other miscellaneous material.

The total number of adults and students made us divide our group into separate, regularly scheduled 747's, one British Airways and the other Northwest Airways. Finally, staff, adults and students were off on this "once in a lifetime" experience.

This tremendous endeavor took place only with the support of a fantastic community, an incredibly dedicated and trusting teacher, Cliff Chapman, and a large number of deeply committed parents. Over $90,000 had been raised by a multitude of activities from selling coffee at parades to an auction and car raffle. The total bill topped a third of a million dollars.

The objective of this trip was to be educational as well as musically enriching. The students were to experience the problems and joys of international travel as well as play their instrument before a world audience. The problem of jet lag, the exhilaration of a night cruise past the Tower of London, the distinction of being in the Hard Rock Cafe in London, the opportunity to see and hear the majestic tolling of Big Ben, the chance to ride the "Tube," the ability to play their instrument while passing through Trafalgar Square were just a few of the experiences given to this

Musicians cherish role as U.S. 'ambassadors'

Perhaps the most important aspect of this trip was for the student to represent their families, their school, their community, as well their country to a people who have so much in common with us. As representatives, our students did a deeply appreciated, magnificent job. With as many difficulties that could have occurred, our group acted as impressive ambassadors of us all.

One could write a lengthy diary about the historical experiences and the impressions of our trip. However, of interest to this community should be the band and its performances. How well did Clarkston High's Marching Band perform for this world class activity? Without prejudice in the matter, they were the best in the parade. Although the 6,000 participants with the 800,000 observers were all spectacular, Clarkston's disciplined and proud presentation was most impressive. The performance at Wembly Grand Arena and the Symphony Band's performance at South Hempsted

High School were thrilling.

Anyone who contributed to this event of supported the idea, can be proud of their part. The performance as musicians was equally matched by the students' attitudes in London. All groups who came into contact with Clarkston were impressed by their discipline and their maturity of behavior. Whether traveling or in the hotel, as a group, the Clarkston Bands were a pleasure with whom to work.

The whole activity was an accomplishment of which this community, the parents of the students who went, and this school can be proud.

We have been bombarded by alleged negatives found in the public school system, both in this state and in Clarkston.

WHAT would London be without seeing "Big Ben," the world's biggest time plece?

This example of cooperation and sustained excellence of our students, teaching staff, and community should put to rest the myths perpetrated by those prophets of doom who claim schools don't respond to

Student's adventures, memories brought to life in personal diary

Chris Lewis is a member of the Clarkston High Marching Band, which recently traveled to England to participate in the Lord Mayor of Westminster's New Year's Day Spectacular. Prior to his departure, he agreed to keep a daily diary for publication in the Clarkston News. These entries are record of everything Lewis saw, did and thought during the band's historic, one-week trip. The diary picks up on Dec. 29, the first morning the band is in London, after a long, trans-Atlantic flight the day before.

Well, we just got the wake-up call today at 6:45 a.m., taking in a breakfast of apple juice, roll, croissant, yogurt and a tangerine.

-9:05 a.m. - We are on the buses ready to leave. I hear some of my fellow band members behind me making fun of the English people they've encountered so far. How biased, considering we're their I'm already planning out in my mind what I want to visit tomorrow. Tratalgar Square, the changing of the guard, St. Paul's Cathedral, the Tower of London and London Bridge.

- 10:15 a.m. - We just stopped at Westminster Abbey. Wow, what a church! It was awesome, intricate work.

- 11:15 a.m. - We stop at McDonald's for lunch, prior to our first performance at South Hempton High

- 2:02 p.m. - The performance for us could have been a lot better, my lip was giving up on me, and it wasn't a pretty site. There was a choir group that performed right after us that was from Dallas, Texas. They were awesome! Let's just say it's an experience I won't forget.

Day 3: Dec. 30

Well, this was a totally busy day. Again, we woke up at 6:45 a.m. and had the same 'ol breakfast and an eight o'clock meeting. After that, a group of us went to the High Street Kensington Station and caught the "Tube." We went first to the Green Park Tube stop and headed toward Buckingham Palace, which isn't actually as magnificent as I pictured a "palace."

Well, we wanted to see the changing of the guard and we knew that Buckingham Palace would be packed with tourists sticking their faces through the gates. We later walked through the park that went through St. James' Place —like the Monopoly board

Children who will be 8 years old by August 1994 could have the opportunity to do just that by joining Soap Box Derby.

Those who are interested can attend derby club meetings scheduled at the Hart Community Center in Davisburg. The next meeting will be from 10 a.m. to noon Jan. 29. Other dates will be Feb. 19, March 19 and April 16.

The Northwest Oakland Derby Car Club now has its own 800 number that can be called for details of club events and meeting dates.

The derby club spokeswoman Helen Vergin says that Soap Box Derby "teaches valuable real world lessons in areas such as teamwork, self esteem, how to win and how to lose, continuous improvement and communication."

the squirrels, who were gray. Well, Danielle fed a squirrel and I had a pigeon sit on my arm. Then, out of no where, Danielle had a pigeon land on her head.

We backtracked through Green Park and stopped to have lunch at the Hard Rock Cafe, where I had a cheeseburger and a salad. Afterwards, for time's sake, we decided to take a cab to the London Dungeon to meet up with the rest of our group. It cost about 10 pounds, and we didn't save much time because we got caught in a traffic jam.

Personally, I found the dungeon not to be worth the 5 pounds it cost for admittance. It was quite the rip off, actually. Because of the time we spent in the dungeon, we weren't able to see the Tower of London. What a bummer.

After hooking up with Oliver, we decided to go to St. Paul's Cathedral. Wow, what a place.

Day 4: Dec.31

Today is the day we're going to Windsor Castle. I had never been in a castle, so this was quite an experience. We toured the castle grounds and then St. George's Cathedral.

After lunch, we reported to Wembly Arena to practice because we'd play later that evening. We played at about 7:30 p.m. and waiting around for five and half hours just to play for five minutes didn't seem worth it. We also got a chance to see performances by a cheerleading group from South Africa and a band from North Carolina.

Later that night, we went to a disco for it was New Year's Eve. The place was a bit packed with us and about five other bands. A majority of the music was rap and alternative. I later called my parents and Mindie back home to wish them a "Happy New Year."

Day 5: Jan.1 After a 9 a.m. meeting, we left for the parade. We've learned that we're to be 110 out of 115 total events. It's very cold and we aren't able to bring our coats with us. It's the type of cold that chills to bone, not like the "dry" coldness in Michigan.

Upon disembarking the buses, we all instantly cold. I hate thinking of the color guard in this weather. It's seems like cruel and unusual punishment.

We soon discover that we've got an hour and a half to wait, so we headed for a nearby Tube station.

Marching in long parades isn't all fun and games. Your shoulders and arms begin to get sore after a while. After finishing the parade, we found out that we were receiving an award called the "golden heart."

After a warm dinner, a few of us decided to do some site seeing. I got a group together consisting of me, Jason Crothers, Ken Moniaci and Colin McIntyre. We first went to Big Ben, wow, what a sight.

From there, we walked across the bridge to Waterloo enroute to Picadilly to find Planet Hollywood. We found it and we also the long line outside, so we kept walking. We came upon 221B Barker Street, the supposed residence of Sherlock Holmes and Doctor Watson. A commemorative plaque hung out front.

Day 6: Jan. 2

We're going to Stratford and Oxford today. The grass and countryside, along the way, seemed greener than I'd ever seen. In Stratford, we visited a couple of Shakespear's homes and broke for lunch.

Our next stop was Oxford. During our drive through the countryside, we went by the most famous witches' homes in England. That was quite interesting. Upon arriving in Oxford, we take a guided tour of the campus ... what a campus! It's traditional and beautiful.

Later that night, we took a cruise on the Thames River. The boat was two stories tall, with a dance floor on the top for a dance that was to commence later that evening.

Tomorrow, we leave. A pity isn't it.

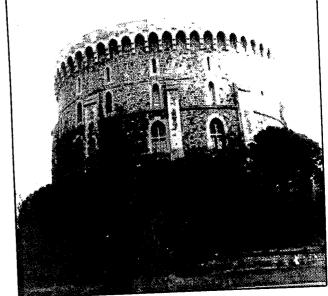

Day 7: Jan. 3

We left the hotel for Gatwick a little after 8 a.m. and it took us and hour and half to get there. After checking in, four hours later, we took off for Boston. Before we had loaded on the plane, I had finished my A.P. English Monster Assignment, hallelujah.

After a lunch, we watched the inflight movie "Man Without A Face." It was good, with a hardhitting topic.

Just outside Boston, our pilot had to pull up just before landing in order to put the landing gear down manually. I saw fire trucks, ambulances and police cars rushing toward us, just as we took flight again. To be that close and not being there ... it's kind of scary to think about. Well, the second landing was much better.

After going through U.S. Customs, I boarded a plane for Detroit. We finally set down about 9 p.m.

STUDENTS toured historic Windsor Castle and Its Central Tower.

let-lagged, but excitedly happy. Two planes were needed for the band.

Good news report

The Rev. Glen Currie

Has our society gone crazy?

The recent attack on Nancy Kerrigan is another grim reminder how violent our society has become. While all the facts are not in, it seems clear that this act of violence was motivated by greed and jealousy. It's appalling to think that there were even discussions about taking Nancy Kerrigan's life. What has happened to our society?

Crime and violence has become such a way of life in America that many have become insensitive to it. There seems to be no place of safety and security anymore. We have had to spend billions of dollars to provide security for ourselves. Many Americans have become prisoners to their own homes. Even quiet, serene Clarkston and its surroundings has not escaped violence.

What's the solution to this national nightmare? Many studies have been made to determine the behavioral patterns of criminals, but most seem to have forgotten the importance of the family and the church as the foundation for a peaceful society. Parents have the responsibility to raise their chlidren in the "nurture and admonition of the Lord" (Ephesians 6:4). This means it is the parent's responsibility to train and discipline their children to be good citizens in our society.

One trend that greatly disturbs me is that parents do not take their families to church like they should. Less than 50 percent of Americans attend church regularly. The church has a tremendous stabilizing influence on our young people. It's no coincidence that crime has risen as church attendance has

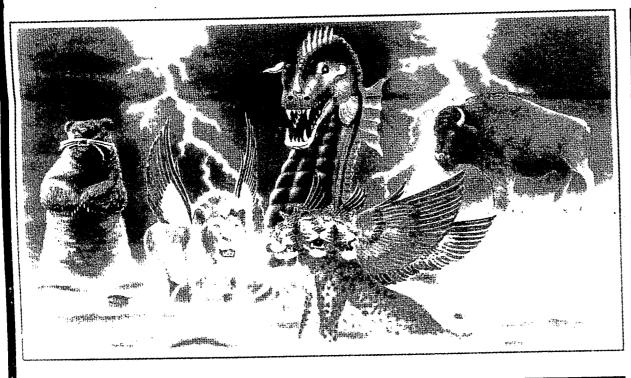

Those who attend Bible-believing churches are taught Biblical morality and values that will make our society a more wholesome and safe place to live. These kinds of churches are teaching that violence is a sin against God and humanity. They are teaching, "Thou shalt not avenge nor bear any grudge against the children of thy people, but thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself" (Leviticus 19:18).

Bible believing churches teach key passages of Scripture such as Ephesians 4:25-32 that give instruction on principles of love, kindness and forgiveness. These are behavioral traits that are lacking in our society today.

How will we solve the crime problem? More jails and policemen won't stop the hideous crimes from being committed. Parents need to reclaim their God-given responsibilities. Take your family to church regularly in 1994. Return to Biblical teaching and morality.

Do you know someone who volunteers time or talents to a good cause? We d like to hear about it. Give us a call at The Clarkston News. 625-3370.

Day of hearts

The day of hearts is just around the corner and area middle school age children are invited to participate in the Independence Township Library's "Cash in on Your Heart's Desire" contest.

Students can enter their Valentines under three categories: Arts and Crafts, Poems (original or adapted), or Humor (one-liners, jokes and cartoons.)

The creations can be a combination of the categories, but the student will be asked to choose one category in which to be judged.

Entries should be turned in at the library no later than Tuesday, Feb. 8 and all entries will be displayed.

The winner will receive a $10 "Bag-O-Bucks." There will also be prizes for second and third places.

Funny, romantic, extravagant or plain — All that is asked: "Put your hearts in it."

For more information call the library at 625-2464 or the Youth Department at 625-2212.

For $4.75 a week, you can reach 42,500 people in over 18,500 homes every week with an advertising message on these pages.

(c) The following supplements or amendments to the BOCA Fire Code shall apply:

F-106.1 - Restitution: When the fire department is called to respond to any emergency or incident which was the result of a violation of any federal, state or local regulation governing fire safety, or from gross negligence, the responsible person or firm shall reimburse the fire department for all costs incurred as a result of the emergency or incident.

F-11 - Street Number: In order to ensure that residential premises may be located and served in emergency circumstances, all residential (single-family), individual apartments or condominiums and commercial buildings shall have street numbers that are visible twenty (20) feet from the entrance to the premises from the access road.

F-12 - General: All habitable areas of buildings in all use groups shall be accessible by hose lines of a maximum of two hundred (200) feet in length unless the building is entirely covered by a suppression system installed in compliance with NFPA 13 as listed in Appendix A of the National Fire Code as promulgated by BOCA. If building is fully suppressed, hose line provisions as required in NFPA 13 and NFPA 14 as listed in Appendix A will be acceptable.

F-319.0 - Key Boxes.

F-319.1 - General: The fire official may require a key box to be installed in an accessible location where immediate access is necessary for life saving or to verify the existence of a fire or other emergency in those buildings.

F-500.9 - Fire Department Connections: In any building or structure required to be equipped with a fire department connection, the connection shall be located within one hundred (100) feet of a fire hydrant and within fifty (50) feet of a minimum twenty (20) feet wide paved driveway or street and in clear view of the fire

F-500.10 - Certification Required: Any installation, testing, repair or maintenance of fire alarm or suppression systems required by this code or the building code shall be performed by a certified fire alarm or suppression firm.

F-501.0 - Definition: "Certified": A firm certified by the state fire marshal to install and maintain fire alarm and suppression equipment pursuant to Act 144 of the Public Acts of 1982. Upon request, firms shall present evidence of certification to the fire official.

F-503.3 - Standpipes: All standpipe fire lines in all buildings and structures shall be tested at least every five (5) years. In buildings and structures having floors used for human occupancy located more than forty (40) feet (12192mm) above the lowest level of fire department vehicle access, tests shall be made at intervals of not more than two (2) years. Wet and dry pipe systems shall meet the flow demands required at the time of installation or as required by section F-504.2.1 of this code and dry systems shall meet the pressure demands of section F-504.2. At the time of the test all control valves, including those inside hose cabinets, shall be operated and then rest in their proper position to ensure the workability of these valves. Wet and dry systems unable to meet the flow requirements at the time of installation or as required by section F-504.2.1 shall be required to install automatic fire pumps or tanks if deemed necessary by the official for occupancy of the F-508.2.3 - Residential Buildings: In all hotels, dormitories, lodging houses and apartment buildings at least one (1) fire extinguisher shall be provided on each floor at the stairway landing and in the corridor at each elevator or bank of elevators or near the exit doors from the corridor. Prior to making such an installation an installer shall submit plans to the Fire Official and if compliance with the requirements of this code is shown by said plans, a permit shall be issued.

Delete F-100.1 from the BOCA Fire Code. Delete F-112.1 from the BOCA Fire Code and insert the following in its place: Appeals: Appeals to the board may be taken by any person aggrieved by any decision or interpretation of the fire official made under the provisions of this code. The board of appeals for this code shall be the bureau of fire prevention. F-305.1 - General: The storage of tires, combustible or flammable materials shall be confined to approved storage areas and shall be in compliance with all applicable township ordinances F-305.2 - Permit Required: A prsons shall not store in any building or upon any premises in excess of two thousand five hundred (2,500) cubic feet (70M3) gross volume of combustible empty packing cases, boxes, barrels or similar containers; or rubber tires, baled cotton, rubber, cork or other similarly combustible material without having obtained a permit from the code official. F-305.13 - Inside Tire Storage. Inside tire storage shall be arranged so as not to obstruct egress from the building and with aisles between areas of storage a minimum of ten (10) feet wide so as to subdivide the storage into units with no horizontal dimension of more than twenty-five (25) feet wide so as to subdivide the storage into units, with no horizontal dimension of more than twenty-five (25) feet and a maximum height of twenty (20) feet. F-305.14 - Outside Tire Storage: The outside storage of tires, combustible or flammable material shall not be more than twenty (20) feet in height and with no horizontal dimension of more than twenty-five (25) feet in any direction. Storage shall not be within twenty (20) feet of the perimeter of the property or within sixty (60) feet of any building or structure. There shall be a minimum separation of twenty (20) feet between all storage piles. This open space shall at all times be free of rubbish, equipment and other materials. Storage shall be accessible to fire fighting equipment on all sides.

F-305.15 - Fire Protection for Outside Tire Storage: When a tire storage yard is located within one thousand (1,000) feet of an operating water main, a fire hydrant shall be installed on such water main for fire fighting purposes. Portable fire fighting appliances shall be within fifteen (15) feet of any mechanism which operates to produce shavings or rubber dust in all tire storage yards. Smoking is prohibited within fifty (50) feet of a mechanism which is operating to produce shavings or rubber dust in a tire storage yard.

F-305.16 - Residual Cleanup Following a Fire: If any dangerous, hazardous or extremely hazardous wastes occur or are stored on the site of a tire storage yard due to the results of a fire in such yard or due to any other occurrence, such waste shall be disposed of and cleaned up in accordance with all applicable federal, state and local waste disposal regulations. No further tire storage may occur until the appropriate agency has certified that proper removal and disposal has taken place.

F-305.17 - Enclose of Tire Storage Areas: The area in which tires are accumulated shall be completely enclosed with a woven wire fence that is at least six (6) feet tall and has lockable gates. The tire storage area shall be mowed regularly or kept free weeds, vegetation and other growth at all times.

Delete BOCA Fire Code F-313.1, and insert the following amended F-313.1 (Designation), F-313.4 (Posting), and F-313.5 truction), as follows:

F-313.1 - Designation: The fire official shall require and (Authority to remove obs designate public or private fire lanes as deemed necessary for the efficient and effective use of fire apparatus. Fire lanes shall have a minimum width of twenty (20) feet and be constructed of a concrete

F-313.4 - Posting: All fire lanes shall be conspicuously posted with uniform fire lane signs in keeping with the standard established in the Michigan Manual of Uniform Traffic Control Devices, as revised, and as prescribed by the code official and erected on both sides of the fire lanes. Signs shall be erected no further than one hundred (100) feet apart in all areas designated as

F-313.5 - Authority to Remove Obstructions: At any time, if any vehicle, trailer or other object is so located within a fire lane, the governing police agency or Independence Township Fire Department may, after reasonable attempts to notify the owner or other person having control, move or cause same to be moved by any reasonable means.

Section 6 of Ordinance

Except as expressly specified above, the Independence Township Ordinance Code shall remain in force and effect as amended prior to the date of this ordinance. Section 7 of Ordinance

The provisions of this Ordinance are hereby ordered to take effect immediately upon publication.

We are SIDING and

We are not a Jack-of-all-trades. We can not guarantee you the absolute lowest price, as we will not sacrifice can not guarantee you the abordine towest price, as we will not sacrifice the quality products or workmanship that you deserve. But what we will guarantee is an honest and fair price with products and workmanship of the highest quality. We also do our own work. We don't get your job and sub-contract it out, or sell it. So if you are only looking for the cheapest way out, call someone else who claims they can beat any price. If you are looking for an honest and fair price, quality products and workmanship, dependability, and someone that will still be here after your job is completed, give us a call. 'Plie' means bend.

Beginning positions and cartwheels are all a part of Ballet and Tumbling class for four- to six-year-olds.

Taught at Pine Hills Academy, it is sponsored by Independence Township Parks and Recreation. Pine Hills offers six and eight week classes for ages pre-school through adult. These girls will learn beginning ballet positions, rolls, bridges, cartwheels and will use the low balance beam.

The emphasis of the class is stretching and strength. They will perform in a recital with the other Pine Hills Academy dancers in May at the Clarkston High School.

WAITING for class to start, these would-be ballerinas and gymnasts try to be patient. Beginning ballet and tumbling is taught at Pine Hills Academy in conjunction with Clarkston Community Education. The dancers at Pine Hill will perform a recital in May.

PLIES at the bar are part of the fun and learning at ballet class. These girls, ages four to six, will learn beginning positions and early tumbling.

MACKENZIE MCBRIDE, 4, tries to put her hand and head in the correct position during beginning ballet and tumbling class.
