Police renewal and increase on August ballot

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
 Clarkston News Staff Writer

Independence Township residents will have a chance to renew and increase the police budget during the August 2 election.

The township board approved wording for two millage requests at its May 4 meeting.

One question asks for a renewal of 2.303 mills, which is a rolled-back amount from the 2.5 mills approved by voters three years ago. The second asks for an increase of 0.4468 mills which brings the millage up 2.7 needed to reduce the police deficit and keep personnel.

Clerk Joan McCrary said that in past years the police deficit has increased due to various factors. She said the township lost a $50,000 payment from Clarkston when it became a city, the contract for the Oakland County Sheriff's Department has increased and the township has purchased and remodeled a new sub station for the department.

With the renewal of 2.3032 mills for four years the township would collect approximately $1,476,274 per year for police services. A mill is $1 for every $1,000 or assessed property value.

An additional levy of .44468 mill, also for four years, would raise an additional $286,383 per year. Voters must approve the renewal before the extra mills can be added for police services.

Supervisor Dale Stuart reminded the board that he had asked for the lay off of two officers in January. He said if they had done what he suggested the fund deficit would have been taken care of and the officers could have been reinstated in 1995. There are 19 officers on the force.

As it stands now, even if they had reduced the force, the police would still be in debt until 1995.

"I don't think we have any choice. Although I'd prefer to keep the personnel as we have it, I don't think the figures support it and I think it is time we took some action to bring this back into the order it has to be," Stuart said.

Trustee Mel Vaara told the board they should see what the voters want.

"I feel confident if we increase our millage a quarter mill our voters will approve it because they want quality police work and they understand good quality police work costs money," he said.

Trustee Daniel Travis agreed. "This is where we live. This is where we make our principal investment of life and that is what we've got to protect. I think the people will support the millage."

Stuart disagreed, "This is not the time to go to the voters to ask them to support a millage increase."

Library seeks millage hike

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
 Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Independence Township Library is ranked 62 out of 69 suburban Detroit libraries, according to librarian Mollie Lynch.

Lynch told the township board at its May 4 meeting that although they've recently moved into a new building, the collection is far below what is considered average for the county.

"People say they want to get in and get stuff,"

The news in brief

Workers' raises tabled

The City of Clarkston's DPW workers will not be getting a raise this week as the city tabled the motion to approve a change in the pay schedule.

Councilman Steve Secatch, liaison for the DPW, presented a changed pay scale for the city workers at Monday's city council meeting.

"They have not received a pay raise in six years," he said.

However, the pay increase met opposition from Steve Arkwright.

"I'm not saying that they don't do a great job . . . a helluva job. But I don't think they should be paid more than the police department."

With the city budget under review, the council postponed making a decision until all city workers' wages could be studied. The matter will be discussed at the May 23 meeting, when the budget committee will discuss the 1995 budget. The budget will be presented in a public hearing June 13 at 7:30 p.m.

Free shots for tots

The Oakland County Health Division is celebrating Public Health Week in Michigan with special "Shots for Tots" clinics.

The free immunizations will be offered Monday, May 16, noon-7:30 p.m. at the OCHD clinic at the county center, 1200 N. Telegraph, Pontiac. No appointment is necessary but records of previous immunizations must be provided. Children under 18 must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. Free refreshments and prizes will be available.

Free transportation to the clinic will be offered by the Kiwanis, Rotary Clubs and Salvation Army. To schedule a ride call 334-2407 between May 9 and May 13 only.

Playground equipment due

Playground equipment could arrive at Depot Park this week—a few weeks early.

Jeanne Selander Miller, Clarkston City Clerk and co-chair of the Depot Park Playground Committee, told the city council Monday night that the equipment was shipped May 6 and to expect it to arrive any time this week.

Excavation has begun to prepare the area for the equipment, but the committee and its volunteers will not be erecting the play equipment immediately.

Fund-raising efforts are still in progress to help the committee pay for surfacing and additional equipment. The Clarkston Insurance Agency is sponsoring an Italian Wine Tasting May 19 at the Deer Lake Racquet Club to help the committee try and reach its goal. Tickets are still on sale at Rudy's Market or contact Miller at 620-2753.

OCC candidates night

The candidates for Oakland Community College Board of Trustees will appear at an open forum sponsored by the OCC Faculty Association of Auburn Hills and AFSCME Local 2042.

The forum will be held at 7 p.m. on Thursday, May 12 in room 119 of F Building on the Auburn Hills Campus, 2900 Featherstone Rd. For more information call OCC at 540-1540.

Cars washed for free

A free car wash to benefit the Bay Court Park playscape is scheduled on May 15.

The wash will take place 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. rain or shine at the Clarkston Auto Wash, 6791 Dixie Highway at Main Street. Pledges are being collected to raise money for the playscape that will be built this summer at the park located on Andersonville Road.

Youth Assistance honors the best

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

The news about young people today is relentlessly bad.

They can't find England on the map. They're having babies more than ever, and doing drugs. They're more concerned about making money than getting an education.

But recently, Clarkston Youth Assistance took some time to recognize over 60 area youth who quietly go about doing good. They don't ordinarily get the headlines. But when someone needs help, they are the ones who show up.

The young people, who were nominated by the community for something good they've done, each received a certificate from Youth Assistance. In addition, nine of them were chosen by a committee to receive plaques for their extraordinary contributions.

Among them was Steven Stein, a freshman at Clarkston High School. A tackle on the football team who carries a 3.5 grade point average, Steven was nominated by teacher Caren Otto for his volunteer work at the middle-school level for the last two years.

In her nomination, Otto said Steven walks over from CHS to Clarkston Middle School every morning to spend an hour with a sixth-grader who needs help with his school work. Last year he worked with a sixth-grade special-education student at Sashabaw Middle School, where he was a student.

"My favorite story of Steve was when we were trying to teach this sixth-grader how to tie her shoes," Otto wrote. "After 15 years we weren't sure even if this was an achievable outcome. Steve worked with her daily on tying. Never once did I see discouragement or impatience on Steve's behalf . . .

"Within weeks Steve had this sixth-grade girl tying her own shoes."

STEVEN STEIN holds his Youth Assistance plaque and his puppy.

Steve is understated about his accomplishments. "It took a long time; it took almost a whole year," he said of the shoe-tying. "She kept trying."

He said he began volunteering his time through a program at SMS.

"I was in study hall and I wanted to try to work with special ed. kids," he said. "I saw all my friends doing it and it looked like fun. It's fun working with kids. When you help them, you help the kids."

Giving up his study hall meant more homework for Steve, who also worked as a SCAMP volunteer during the summer and plans to do so again this year. He is the youngest child of Leland and Darneta Stein of Independence Township.

Steve enjoys rollerblading and playing street hockey and ice hockey with friends. He is also active

Other plaque winners

Other Clarkston young people who received plaques from Youth Assistance were:

● Scott McGregor, 11: Scott volunteers 4-5 hours a week at Clarkston Elementary School and serves on the safety patrol.

● Jason Kneisc, 18: Jason leads a youth program at St. Trinity Lutheran Church, where he served on the Board of Youth Ministries and helped develop programs for youth.

● ShyLynn Jones, 15: ShyLynn volunteers at the Greenery Nursing Home and does fund raising for Muscular Dystrophy, the March of Dimes and Cystic Fibrosis. She has collected food and blankets for various agencies and worked with the American Legion, which nominated her.

● Jennifer Grieme, 17: Jennifer helped make a trip to Denver to see Pope John Paul II possible for a St. Dan's youth group. She co-chaired fund raisers and is youth representative on the church's Pastoral Council.

in a youth group at Mt. Zion Temple.

He hopes to become a special-education teacher when he grows up. "I think I'm real good at it. I think I can become a real good teacher," he said.

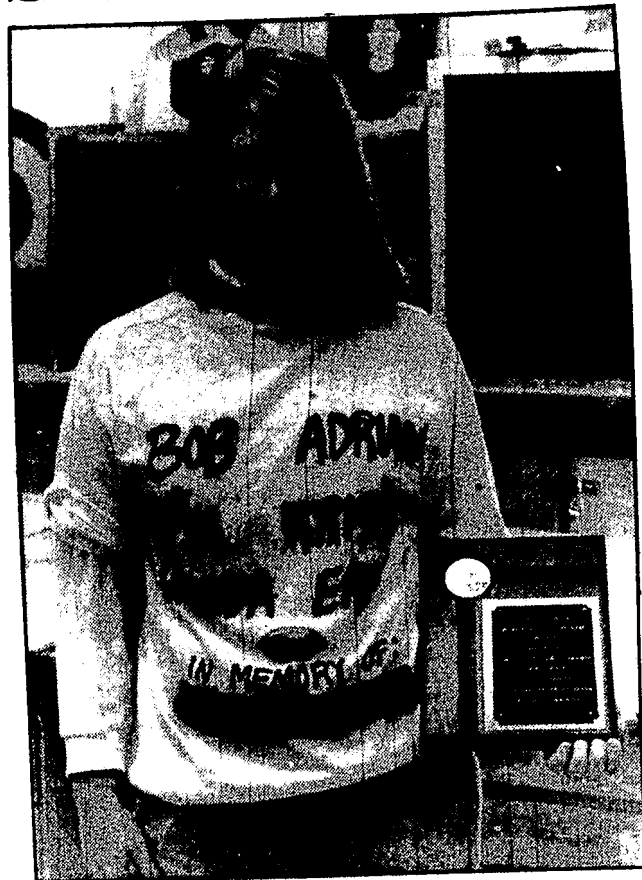

Amanda VanKlaveren was perhaps a typical senior on a typical spring break at South Padre Island, Texas last month.

She and two girlfriends had met three boys, also on spring break, from Illinois. They had known each other about 10 hours when their lives changed forever.

As Amanda tells it, she and Jarett Romanski, a Long Grove, IL. senior with a full-ride football scholarship to Harvard, were getting out of a hotel pool when Jarett grabbed onto a pole supporting a canopy. For some unknown reason it was electrically charged and he was electrocuted.

"To this day I don't know what happened," Amanda said. "When I saw him he was on his back. I heard him say, 'Oh,——.' I walked over and put my hand on his arm and said, 'Jarett, are you OK?' That's when I felt the electricity."

A lifeguard trained in CPR, Amanda detached Jarett from the pole using a plastic chair and began to administer CPR.

AMANDA VANKLAVEREN wears a t-shirt dedicated to the memory of Jarett Romanski, who was electrocuted over spring break.

"The first time I did give him CPR he did breathe," she said. "He'd take a few breaths, then he'd stop, then I'd start again. They say I revived him."

EMS arrived within eight minutes, but it wasn't enough to save the young man who had everything to look forward to in life. Amanda is left with questions about whether she did everything she could and why this happened to her.

"I've always thought to myself someday something is going to happen," she said. "So I was grateful I knew CPR. I just used my common sense."

The three Clarkston girls flew to Chicago for Jarett's funeral and met his family. They are planning a sort-of alternative spring break in Florida after school gets out, since the first one wasn't much of a vacation.

"After the whole thing ended I was very surprised at myself," Amanda said. "I stayed so calm in the situation—I don't know how I could have because everyone else was frantic. I was concentrating on him. I just tried to help him the best I could."

Amanda is planning to attend Oakland Community College next fall on a tennis scholarship, then transfer to the Center for Creative Studies to study advertising. An artist, she does oil and watercolors and pencil renderings. In addition to tennis she has also played softball and volleyball.

An honor-roll student, she is active in a youth group at St. Dan's and the Committee of Nine and Peer Listening at CHS. She works at Deer Lake Racquet Club and is the daughter of Paul and Maryagnes VanKlaveren of Independence Township.

She was nominated for the Youth Assistance award by CHS principal Brent Cooley, who said, "This brave young lady did everything possible to save a life and is to be commended for her quick, calm and appropriate response to a tragic situation."

Mail mystery solved for township couple

BY DEBORAH DZIEWIT
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A week-long mystery ended Monday for an Independence Township couple who had come home from vacation and found that a Post Office clerk had given their mail to somebody else.

Samantha and Glen Stewart-Teufel's mail, which had been held for three weeks while they were in Mexico, had been accidentally given to a neighbor. "I went in on Monday (May 2) after we got back and the clerk behind the counter told me it had been picked up last Friday," Samantha said. "The clerk told me that a man came in and identified himself only by the street, not the house number."

The three trays of mail held a $20,000 retirement check and a $3,000 New Jersey income tax refund check.

Even with her mail intact and safely in her hands, Samantha questions the Post Office policy that allowed the clerk to give the mail to her Elkrun neighbor without proper identification.

"There should be some sort of regulation that they cannot give mail out without identification," she said.

The mystery ended Monday when Stewart-Teufel's neighbor showed up on their doorstep with the trays of mail.

The neighbor was given their mail by the Post Office after he requested his mail. He too had been on vacation, but did not have his mail stopped. His mail box was stuffed and he thought the Post Office might have held some of his mail.

"They assumed it was his and gave it to him," Samantha said. "He got home and had to leave again. He said he left a note for his brother-in-law to bring our mail to us, but he never did."

Clarkston Postmaster Richard Neal said the whole thing was a mistake and he believes his clerk followed regulations.

"Our policy is that the person show identification," he said. "And he showed a street as the same as theirs. It could have been a child or a number of children of theirs."

However, the Stewart-Teufels had not authorized anyone to pick up their mail.

"We are new in town. We moved in last fall and don't know our neighbors all that well," she said.

Last week proved to be busy for the couple. They had to make dozens of phone calls to find out what they were missing. The retirement check got stopped, reissued and Federal Expressed. The New Jersey refund check, which was found in the retrieved mail, can be now be cashed.

They also had to call utility companies to find out what they owed so they could pay their bills.

"But we have to call the gas company, the electric company, our charge cards, Hudson's and find out what we owe and need to pay," Samantha said. "That's hard."

The packages that contained flower bulbs, plants and seeds from three different seed companies did not fare as well. The plants sat in a box unattended for over a week.

"I don't know if some of the plants will make it after being in a closed box for so long," she said. However the company has agreed to send her new plants.

An investigation had been begun by the Postal Service. Last week, Neal contacted the US Postal Inspectors' office and they sent the couple a form to complete to start the investigation.

US Postal Inspector Fred Van DePutte, when he heard of the incident, said it would be not be taken lightly, though it was likely a simple mistake.

Despite having their mail back, the Stewart-Teufels still want to know why and how this could have happened.

"I can't see how they could have allowed our mail be taken by just flashing identification with just a street name. Something is wrong," she said.

New school tops wish list

The verdict is in and a new high school, complete with pool, tops the wish list for Clarkston Schools.

The prioritized list of wants came out of a Focus on the Future community forum sponsored by the school board. About 60 people attended each of two meetings.

When all their answers were compiled, the new school topped the list. The remaining top 10 items, in order of priority, were:

1. equalize elementary facilities with additions;
2. cap kindergarten class sizes at 20, other elementary grades at 25, and limit secondary sizes;
3. Reduce class sizes at all levels;
4. Implement arts throughout K-12;
5. Expand elementary physical education;
6. Restore and expand fine arts at all levels;
7. Provide more equity of middle-school facilities;
8. Expand staff development to offer it on a daily or weekly basis;
9. Develop a process to establish a shared vision.

Now that the process is complete, however, not everyone expressed satisfaction with the way it went.

Penny Shanks, reading a statement prepared by the board of the Clarkston PTA Council, said the council was pleased with the attempt but disappointed in the process.

"The forums are a start in the right direction," she said. "(But) we're very concerned this forum will take the place of a true needs assessment." Her remarks were greeted with applause from the audience.

Board trustee Bill Craig expressed some frustration with the low turnout and the confusion over the format. Some who attended the second meeting expected a debate to precede the prioritization. Instead, the audience was just asked to rank their top 10, without discussion and without knowing the cost of each item.

"The people that did attend welcome this type of dialogue," Craig said. "We have a strategic plan. What this tells us is some things that were important five years ago are still important today."

Craig said the board has a facilities plan and has asked for a new high school before, only to see it turned down by the voters.

"What this says is it's still a major item," he said. "A lot of dialogue has to happen before this can happen."

"This is just a beginning step the board is taking," said board president Tom Howard. "Please stick with us. We have no intention in offering a forum and not listening to the people who attend."

Public hearing set for Bow Pointe SAD

Bow Pointe Road will be the subject of another public hearing June 7 at 7:30 p.m.

Comments and objections to the Special Assessment Roll on file at the township clerk's office will be heard at that time.

The township has proposed improvements to Bow Pointe Road, east of Sashabaw Road, which includes paving it for industrial use. The cost is estimated at $419,052.36 and will be allocated amongst the property owners.

At the May 4 township meeting, attorney Jerry Fischer told the board they did not received the required road right-of-ways needed to begin the project. The new assessment will be assigned to property owners after the board approves it.

"Just so there aren't any false hopes in terms of us getting rid of the subject all together, if we're not able to negotiate an appropriate amount for the conveyance of property once the SAD is confirmed we may be dealing with involuntary land acquisition to get a sufficient road right-of-way," said Fischer.

Appearance and protest at the hearing is required in order to appeal the amount of the special assessment to the state tax tribunal.

In other action:

● A van, cab and chaise will be purchased from Bowman Chevrolet out of the water and sewer funds for the Department of Public Works. The total cost will be approximately $33,334.

● TMP, the architect of the township library, was awarded the position of architect for building renovations at the DPW site on Flemings Lake Road. The additions and renovations cost will not exceed $20,800 and will be taken out of the sewer and water funds.

● Egan - Tooley and Associates were chosen to construct the pavilions and gazebo at Bay Court Park. The money for the project will come from a grant from the Department of Natural Resources. The company was also chosen to build a wheelchair accessible playground at Clintonwood Park with money from the Community Development Grant.

In Focus

by Annette Kingsbury

Who's the dummy here?

Here's a topic guaranteed to raise your blood pressure—garbage, specifically, Canadian garbage. Not a particularly interesting topic, you might think, but listen up.

Did you know Oakland County landfills are filling up with Canadian garbage? Why should you care? Because the more of their garbage we accept, the more trouble we have finding somewhere to dump our own, and the more landfills and incinerators have to be built.

Now I have to admit that a few years ago, I didn't even know what the words "solid waste" meant. That was until Oakland County came up with a plan to put a landfill to the north of me, a landfill to the south of me, and an incinerator just south of the landfill.

Suddenly I and thousands of other north-county residents got an education. We learned about the problems of landfills leaking into the water table, of incinerators spewing poisons into the air. Enough people got upset to prevent the plan from ever taking effect.

However the problem of what to do with all our trash remained. And in the intervening years, several court cases have made things even more complicated.

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled that states could not regulate inter-state commerce. That means Michigan cannot say it won't accept Ohio's trash, and vice versa.

I don't know where it's written that we must also accept Canadian garbage, but we are. Many people have asked me—are the Canadians that smart or are we that dumb? They have vast expanses of sparsely populated land, land so far north its not that attractive to live on. Yet they truck their garbage south to good old Oakland County, a place where it seems everyone wants to live (witness real-estate prices).

Meanwhile, because there are no limits on the garbage landfill operators can take in, they are offering bargain-basement prices for dumping. They want to hurry up and fill up their landfills and open more.

The state has contributed to this mess by requiring each county to have space for 20 years worth of trash. Oakland County, with available land dwindling, points out that you can plan for your own trash for 20 years, but how can you plan for foreign trash, when there is no control on it?

It's taken me a long time to understand this process. After all, I reasoned, if there is demand for your product (i.e.: landfill space), don't you raise prices? However, if there is a glut of landfill space, I guess the price goes down.

Is it logical for our state to be encouraging us to become an international dumping ground against our will? Is that what most Oakland County residents want? I think not.

Though legislation has been introduced in Lansing to help, the battle is far from over. Stay tuned for further developments.

Letter to the editor

Support Rogers

I read with interest in the 4-14-94 edition of The Clarkston News the comments made by school board Trustee Sheila Hughes as she pointed to her expertise in the area of teacher contract negotiations.

I assume by her statement that she is proud to have provided annual increases in teacher compensation packages of 7 1/2 percent per year over the last three years while the rest of the community endured the effects of real world economic pressures. Many of our citizens were lucky to receive any increases at all. Some people in our community even experienced decreases in salary or unemployment.

Since we are looking toward a new teacher contract this year, I certainly hope this community will support Lee Rogers in this bid to unseat Ms. Hughes in June. Rogers will not support such generosity while the administration continues to recommend cuts in the student programs. Rogers, too, is an experienced negotiator with background in union (both sides) contracts and government contracts.

Chaperones impressed

On Saturday, May 7, the Sashabaw Middle School Cadet Band (7th Grade), under the direction of Doug Doty, placed first in state finals band competition with all ones in every category.

Observations of events leading to the victory are equally significant.

Some of the observations include:
The commitment of the participants, arriving for their buses at 5 a.m. on a Saturday, since they were first up to perform in Owosso (8 a.m. curtain time).

The teamwork displayed by the participants, as they packed and unpacked their instruments without supervision (a self-directed team).

The feeling of community and teamwork made by the parents and observers of the performance, as they greeted the band with extended ovationary applause before the first note ever sounded.

The professionalism and confidence that Doug Doty seemed to inspire throughout his team.

The professionalism and genuine interest of the judges in the students' welfare.

For these observations, and more, everyone involved -- all the bands, all of their parents (whether present or not), and the bus drivers (Kay Hudson and Sandy Miller) -- are appreciated.

The larger community of Clarkston can pause, reflect and be proud.

Jim's Jottings

The struggle of man against fish By Jim Sherman

Trout Fisherman's Diary-

(Trout season opened Saturday, April 30)

Like deer hunters, trout fishermen MUST go up at least a day early to scout out the territory.

Friday, April 29-

Up at 6:54 (digital clock). Ducks are flying all over Lake Millecoquin. What could be taken for fish rising on the lake by too optimistic fishermen are really rain drops. The temperature in Engadine is 33 degrees F.

Snow drifts are still two feet high in the front and back yards.

7:22-put on robe, grab 50 cents and drive to newsstand for Morning Friendly. A day old Free Press is still in the rack. Ah, life in the Upper... laid so far back yesterday or today doesn't matter.

WNBX radio reports trout streams north of Newbury are frozen or inaccessible because of the snow.

(Thought, following report of Pope falling in bathtub and breaking thigh bone.) When such a thing happens does a pope yell, "Why me, God!" like some of us do?

Rest of day uneventful except son Jim and friend Rob Gartner got stuck in a cranberry bog at 9 p.m. and had to walk six miles to find a phone to call a wrecker.

Opening Day-

Rise and shine, breakfast, hit the stream (pond)

early, 8:32 on bright day. 26 degrees F.

10:05: Son Jim shouted "FISH ON!"

10:06: Heard son shout "##&?##!"

The fish had won.

Half hour later I heard a major fish splash. I looked over to see Jim reeling hard. It got intense. I watched the struggle of man against fish. His arms tightened, his features determined.

It went on maybe 4 minutes, Jim reeling, pole bent double, fish making runs (swims?)

The fish and Jim both broke water.

At last the trout (biggest I've ever seen and certainly bigger than we thought we were fishing for) weakened and Jim brought it close to shore. I knelt down to scoop the lunger ashore... just then the line and Jim's heart broke.

Again the fish had won and another big one got away.

Describing the size of the trout later, Jim said, "It's OK. I don't have a wall big enough to hold the mounting anyway."

Day two-

Sunny and beautiful. Again rise early, breakfast and hit pond at 9:15.

Saw a couple otter, several ducks and some finches. Never saw our bobbers bob. Never felt a twinge on our lines. Never more disappointed over fishing. May never go fishing again.

What's that? You say pike season opens June 1. See you there.

A look back

15 Years Ago (1979)

"My mother is something wonderful! She's always there when I need her. Loving, sharing everything anyone ever needed. Sometimes she's like an automobile without any gas, but she keeps on moving. And I think she's something very special! Happy Mother's Day Mom!"

25 Years Ago (1969)

The speed limit for M-15 was lowered from 65 miles per hour to 55 mph.

Mrs. E. Laura Perry was honored as a special mother on this Mother's Day. She had lived in Clarkston 40 years and was a member of the Ladies Aid, Garden and Literary Club, Extension Club and was a past county chairman. She had five children, seven grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

The education building was consecrated at Clarkston United Methodist Church. The church had been in Clarkston since 1840.

50 Years Ago (1944)

Mr. and Mrs. N.E. Davison announced the engagement of their daughter, Norma Jean, to PFC William O'Roarke.

Burton Steiner, Byron Miller and Chuck Beack were the honored servicemen at the Rotary Club meeting.

Bill Radoye and the High School Dance Band were chosen to play at the last school dance of the year.

60 Years Ago (1934)

Wylie Pearsall, clerk at the Clarkston Post Office, took a job at Detroit Edison. Mrs. Elizabeth Ronk filled the vacancy.

Troop #36 of the Boy Scouts reported completing the year with high honors. Eight scouts went on a 14-mile hike and wrote a 500 word essay about nature in order to complete their work.

James Van Every of Clarkston captured a snake with three rattles and a button at his farm. The snake was on display at the barber shop.

Wear your poppy

May 12, 13 and 14 are Poppy Days. Everywhere you look you will see the American Legion, Auxiliary, Juniors and Sons of the Legion offering the beautiful red flower to the public.

Do you know where they are made and by whom? They are made at VA hospitals by veterans. Where does the money go? It goes to help the veterans and their families.

Please, when you see someone standing there with the handmade poppy - don't just walk by. Stop and put something in the canister and then wear your poppy proudly. You will be helping the veterans and their families.

Don't Rush Me

By Don Rush

A little Clarkston news history

Last week I was lucky enough to give a group of local homeschoolers a mini-history lesson about early Clarkston newspapers.

I say "lucky" because it forced me to look into that history and learn something. If I hadn't gone into journalism my top two other choices of careers would have been to be a comedian or a history teacher -- I was almost swayed by the likes of Larry Mahrle and Mr. W. Genshaw. Not to say they're comedians but they had their humorous moments. They were my history teachers at Clarkston High.

At any rate, here's a little bit of history for anybody who wants it:

Even though Clarkston was founded in the mid 1830s by brothers William and Jeremiah Clark (Jeremiah's grave is at Lakeview Cemetery -- I checked it out and it's still there) there wasn't a newspaper in town until 1877.

That newspaper was called The Clarkston Enterprise. It was published every other week until 1878. In 1895 The Clarkston Advertiser was started ... and ended. In 1905 a weekly called The Clarkston Record was created.

It lasted six months.

A Lee Clark worked for The Record gathering news. When the paper went under he went to work for his father's monument engraving business (where Tierra's is now) and as a cashier for the Clarkston Bank. During this time he sold advertising space on a chalk board to farmers. This eventually turned into a weekly newspaper called The Community News. It was printed on 8-inch by 10-inch paper.

The Clarkston News was started one month before the stock market crash of 1929, and has been published uninterrupted, continuously every week since. From 1929 until 1933 the Clarkston News struggled and had five different publishers. Then in 1933 an attorney wanting to get out of the city of Detroit bought the paper. He was William H. Stamp.

He and his wife Ann owned and operated the paper until the 1950s when they sold it to Bob Wilson. In 1966 Stamp took back the paper and sold it to current owners Jim and Hazel Sherman.

An interesting note about the Clarkston News came from Mr. Sherman. It seems when they bought the paper its office was in Stamp's Justice of the Peace office (around where Clarkston True Value Hardware is now). The first morning the Shermans were in the office two state troopers led a prisoner, hand-cuffed and shackled through the news room, followed by another policeman into the office where Stamp served up his brand of justice.

After less than two office hours of operation Mr. Sherman searched and found another office -- which was with Dentist Gary Usher, at the intersection of Main Street and Waldon Road.

The Clarkston News moved to its current location by 1970. If you have any news items or feature stories, stop on by 5 S. Main. I'm sure we can find room for it.

(We have to, it's our job as your community newspaper.)

Cars with one plate at risk on Ohio roads

While driving below the speed limit in Lima, Ohio, on the way to his father-in-law's funeral, Mark Green of Kingsford, in the Upper Peninsula, was pulled over by a police car with siren wailing and lights flashing. He couldn't imagine why.

"Because you have only one license plate on your car," the officer explained.

Huh?

As the plate on the back of Green's car plainly announces, his car is licensed in Michigan, where only one license plate is issued. Ohio cars must have plates on both front and back. Was this cop saying Michigan cars break the law and risk a traffic ticket whenever they enter Ohio?

Yes.

Green said the cop told him: "Mr. Green, you are in Ohio now and it's the law to have a front plate ... Just be glad it was me that picked you up and not the state Highway Patrol. They would give you a ticket and I'm just giving you a warning."

On the warning tag it truly describes Green's offense as "no front lic plate."

Oh my. As a regular I-75 commuter to Florida and a dedicated police-avoider, should I start driving via Indiana, or Alaska? I phoned my question to the Shawnee Township Police Department, headquarters of the cop who so valiantly protected the public from the danger of Green's one-plate car.

The woman who answered said she personally thought her fellow cop was wrong, and bet she could guess his name. She could. As scrawled on the warning tag, it was "Officer Wakefield."

But, apparently realizing I might write something that would test the loving relationship between two Big Ten states, she added she was "just a dispatcher" whose opinion meant little, and I should talk to the chief.

Chief Robert Mills graciously disagreed with my thought that he might have a Barney Fife on his force. Mills said Officer Wakefield was only following instructions while specially assigned to patrol an area where there'd lately been a lot of trouble.

Rampant one-plate driving?

Was it true that the state Highway Patrol might have given Green more than just a warning to get a second plate or get out of Ohio?

"I don't know," Chief Mills said, "they run hot and cold."

So. All you through-Ohio motorists should consider yourself warned that sometimes Ohio cops are so vigilant against highway crime -- or have so little else to do -- they bravely fight the deadly invasion of one-plate cars from Michigan.

Speaking of driving: Because my old car was totaled in an accident, I'm now the owner of a Lincoln Continental, which sounds economically impressive, except I bought it used. It has been satisfactory, except for a new-to-me feature that has needlessly empowered my wife.

Our previous cars had speedometers with a moving arrow that indicated the speed by pointing to little numbers. It was reasonable to tell my wife that angles are deceiving and from where she sat in the passenger's seat it might look like I was going 75, but it was actually 65.

The Lincoln speedometer, however, is digital, with flashing digits the size of a damn barn. The other day my wife caught me speeding after I let her out of the car and was several miles down the road. Technological progress can be maritally disruptive.

Hell to the ex-chief: Last Wednesday on the front door of the Metamora Post Office near where I live, there was a sign saying it was closed for Richard Nixon's funeral. Newspapers said it cost taxpayers $23 million to close down the federal government in honor of the I'm-not-a-crook president who was. Someone pelted the Metamora sign with tomatoes.

So far no one has stepped forward to claim credit for this politically incorrect expression of disgust, but I'm tempted. Even if the tomatoes were canned.

It can happen here: Parents warned about gangs

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Your child will "just die" if he can't have a certain brand jacket. He insists on having one pant leg rolled and his notebooks are covered with what looks like scribble.

Could your child be involved in a gang?

"Any one symptom doesn't mean they're part of a gang," Assistant Prosecutor Lisa Tomko told a group of 60 parents at an informational meeting May 3 at Clarkston High School.

The seminar was sponsored by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Clarkston Area Youth Assistance and Clarkston Community Education.

Graffiti and petty crimes have increased in Independence Township in the past year raising community awareness of gangs.

"If you've got the graffiti, you've got the problem," a gang expert said in a video presented at the seminar.

Larry Gibson, a police officer in Madison Heights, said gangs as we know them today began in the late 1960s.

Midwestern gangs came out of the prisons of Chicago. While in prison the gang members weren't able to wear their gang colors or use official gang titles so they began to organize under two nations — the Folk and the People.

The video of a special series on suburban gangs by Channel 2 tracked the beginning of gang activity in Michigan to 1989. According to the video a Chicago gang member was killed in July 1989 and rival gangs threatened to shoot people who attended the funeral. The gang member was brought to Michigan and buried. His fellow gang members came to the state and stayed.

Gangs and gang activity have been documented in 28 Detroit suburbs. According to the list presented to the parents, five gangs are associated with Clarkston and Independence Township.

Just because they are listed with our communities doesn't mean they began here or are based here said Gibson.

Clarkston High School principal Brent Cooley told the parents the school has been aware of gangs since 1991 when the now disbanded Clarkston Vampire Dominion came to the community's attention.

According to school policy, no hats or beepers (attire sometimes associated with gangs) are allowed on campus.

Cooley said teachers are told to look for possible gang-like writings and actions and can report them to

- a pitch fork pointing up or down
- five-, three- or six-pointed crown
- a six-pointed star or a Star of David (used in memory of a Folk nation leader named David)
- colored rubber bands and barrettes
- tattoos which include letters across the knuckles or three dots in the crook of thumb and index finger

According to Gibson, the average age for a gang member ranges from middle school to high school age. He said the oldest gang member they've found in the area was 21.

"There is no retirement plan for gang members, they die," he told parents.

Gibson named a teen club on M-59 between Voorheis and the airport as a gang hang-out. On April 29, the police questioned 100 kids who were possibly involved with or knew about gang activity — only five were from Waterford. He said the kids were from Clarkston and neighboring cities. Some were from as far away as Inkster and Dexter.

So what is a parent to do? The seminar speakers said parents need to be aware of what their children do, where they go, how they dress and who their friends are.

"If you see signs, the sooner you jump in, the better able we'll be able to handle it," Teresa Blundell of CAYA told the group.

"Be willing to acknowledge (gangs). It's something we're going to have to deal with," she said.

"The belief is these are punk wanna-be kids who think they're gang members. If they think they're gang members, we'll treat them like gang members," said Gibson.

If you have questions about gangs or your child's behavior you can call CAYA at 625-9007.

"Gang symbols change daily," said Community Education director Marilyn Allyn. "We still need a lot of education."

OCS Deputy David Hernandez told the parents "Independence is in the infancy stage of gang activity. Our kids are being recruited. It's important to look for gang things."

According to the seminar, some clothing and symbols sometimes used by gangs include:

- hats tilted to the right or left
- colored bandanas
- specific colored beads
- rolled pants cuffs (only one side)

Girls urged to give science a try

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

When Tricia Mack showed up at Clarkston Middle School Monday, she wore a gold lapel pin in the shape of a jet plane.

That was the only outward clue that Mack, who just graduated from the University of Michigan with a bachelor of science in engineering degree in aerospace, has chosen what is still an unconventional career for a woman.

Mack was at CMS to talk to seventh- and eighth-grade math and science classes about how important those subjects are in choosing a career. She particularly emphasized to the girls that they should not be discouraged by those who don't think it's a feminine field to pursue.

A 1989 graduate of Rochester Adams High School whose parents both teach, she related how she had once been discouraged by a male math teacher in high school.

Why are you taking this class? You won't need this," she quoted the teacher as saying when she asked for some help.

Though that's a particularly overt form of discrimination, a recent study published by the American Association of University Women showed that girls are often discouraged in school, even by female teachers. The older the girls get, the lower their self esteem becomes.

The study, called "How Schools Shortchange Girls," showed that boys are called on more in school, regardless of the subject, even if they don't raise their hands.

"Whether one looks at achievement scores, curriculum design, or teacher-student interaction, it is clear that sex and gender make a difference in the nation's public elementary and secondary schools," the report's authors wrote.

They showed that in high school, girls are less likely than boys to take the most advanced math courses and be in the top-scoring math groups. In science, that gap may be widening even today.

And so women like Mack, who have succeeded despite the odds, are trying to reach out to younger girls and tell them they can achieve their goals.

Mack has talked to girls in a program called

WISE, Women in Science and Engineering, and in the NASA Space Grant program. She spent three terms as a co-op student during college at NASA's Center for Manned Space Flight in Houston, Texas, and will begin a job as a system engineer at defense contractor Martin Marietta very soon.

"Think of your futures now," she told the students. "Keep your options open. If you stop taking math and science now, when you get to college you won't be able to become a doctor (etc.) . . .

"Right now you probably have to take math and science. But when you get to high school you'll have the option."

Mack admitted that she often needed to ask for extra help, asked more questions than most students and was intimidated to do so "because you don't want to look stupid . . . But I had faith in myself."

That positive attitude is what got her to Houston. She told about how she was rejected when she applied through normal school channels. Rather than giving up, she called NASA directly and asked if there was any other avenue to pursue in attaining her dream. There was, and she got in.

"I did it and I believe everyone can do it too," she said. "I would never let being female stop you from being anything."

The first running of the Kentucky Derby was held at Churchill Downs on May 17, 1875.

OCC invites seniors to college info-party

Industry in Pontiac, the Charm Farm d.j.'s, ARA Food Services and others will join Oakland Community College in co-sponsoring an "Info-party" for Oakland County's high-school seniors on Sunday, May 22, 2:30-6 p.m., at Industry in Pontiac.

Free food, dancing, contests, prizes and gifts will be combined with "info-breaks" detailing job market and college realities that the seniors will face upon graduation, according to Dr. Patsy J. Fulton, OCC Chancellor.

Special lyrics set to rap and rock music, sung by OCC students, will be used to encourage the high schoolers to "Jump Start the Future" by continuing their education this summer with courses preparing them either for college or their first full-time jobs.

"Summer school can be as little as one course or as much as a semester, but it will give a competitive edge to students entering the work force full-time or entering college this fall," Fulton said. "We especially want students who haven't thought of themselves as 'college material' to know that they can sample one or two classes and become much more valuable to today's employer."

The "Jump Start Your Future" info-party will feature a wide range of music, dance contests, and a fact-finders competition to be eligible for prizes. Facts such as "80 percent of new jobs in the next 10 years will require two years of education beyond high school" will be hidden in rock band poster art throughout Industry and contained in music lyrics. High school seniors who uncover a minimum number of the hidden facts will be eligible for prizes such as dinner and clothing gift certificates, theatre passes, tickets to sports events and CDs such as the Charm Farm's new hit "Flirt."

"OCC is an innovative, cutting-edge college and we decided that our method of communicating should be as innovative as the college itself," Fulton said. "Our co-sponsors have helped underwrite this experiment in reaching young people who may have tuned out more traditional messages," she added.

High school graduating seniors may call (810) 471-7590 for full details on the info-party.

Wolves stroke their way to victories

Mike Aulgur, the number-one player on the Clarkston varsity tennis team, ended up banging a brick wall and could not stop Waterford Mott's John Suchdolski May 4 at home.

The freshman whose record stands now at 3-4 was up by 5-4 in the first set, but he ended up losing 7-5. His second match he lost 6-3.

Pat Wall came off an earlier loss suffered from a Southfield opponent and annihilated Josh Windleer 6-0, 6-0. Number-three player Mike Kopec played a solid game of tennis against Rob Thomas. Kopec won 6-0, 6-2.

Paul Wolven could not keep a positive spin on the ball and lost to Eric Hoisington 6-2, 6-4.

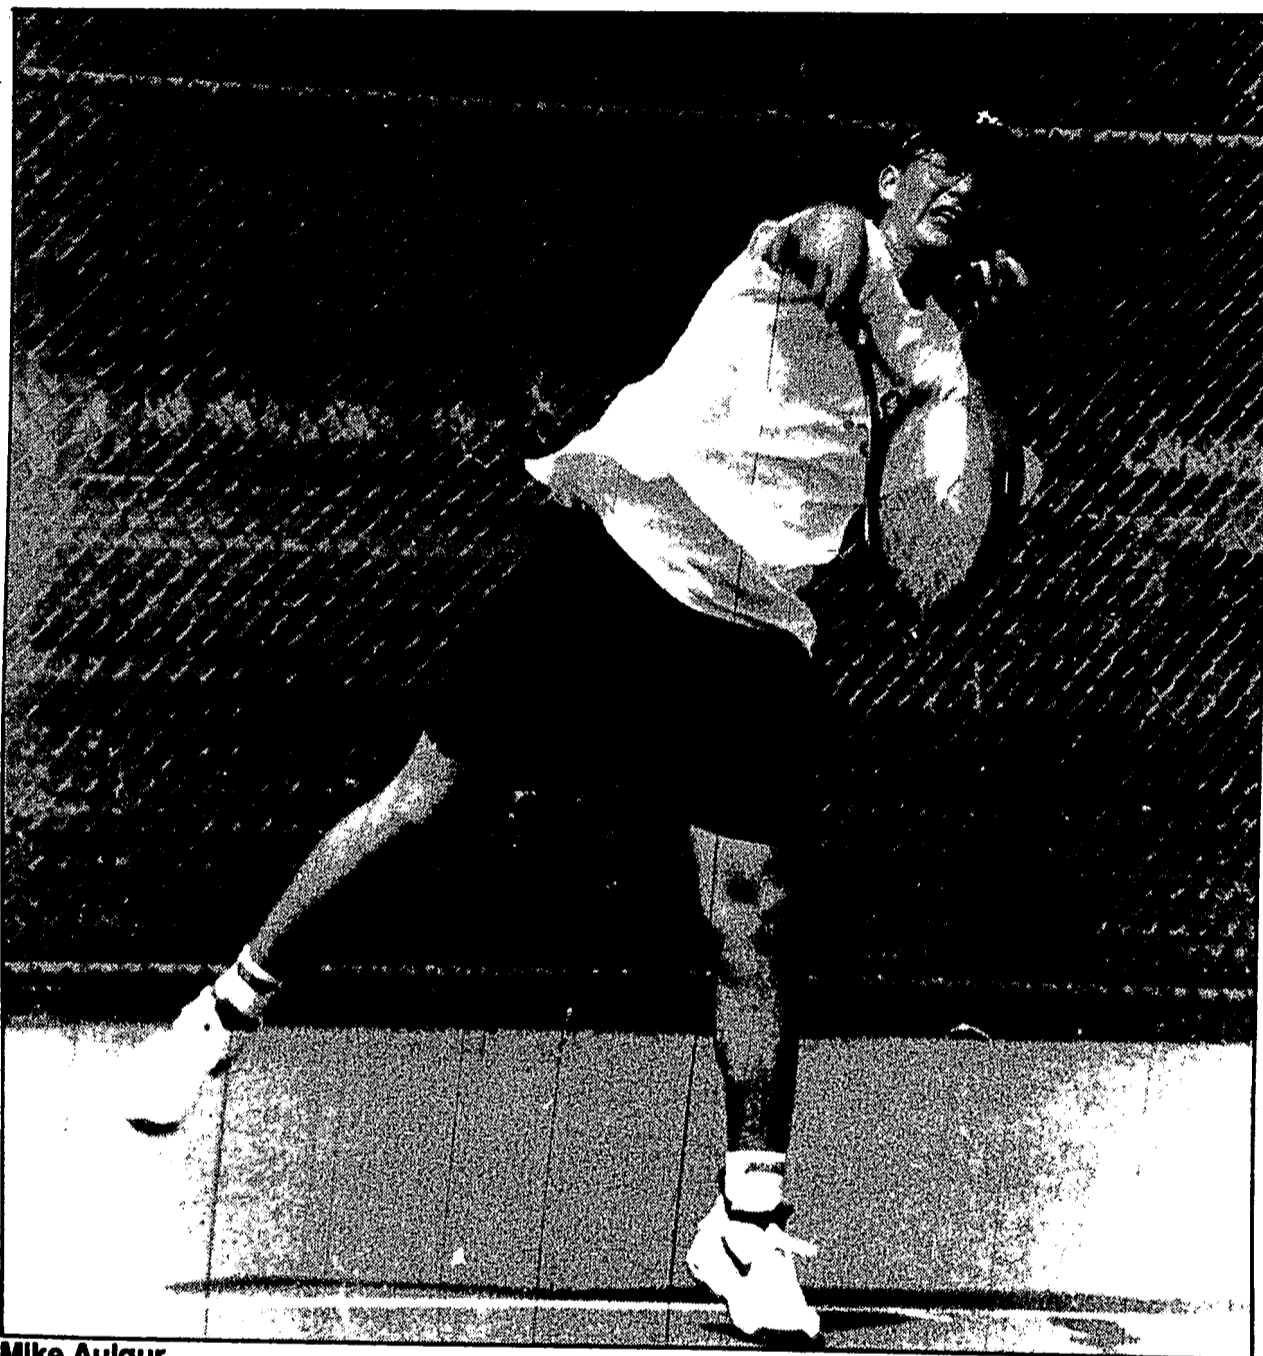

Nicknamed the posse by their teammates, freshman Kevin Kopec and Kyle Stout beat Justin Siclaway and Kenny Bracken 6-2, 6-1. Rob Goeckel and Zac Sanger overcame Justin Tatsak and Chris Quinn 6-1, 6-0. Brian Trollman and Dan Brazier put together a scrappy, tough performance to outlast Paul Hesal and Darrel Taylor 6-2, 6-3.

On May 3, the team soundly thrashed Southfield with the team's only loss coming from Pat Wall.

He lost to Jason Glintz 6-4, 6-1, which he said should not have happened. Mike Aulgur defeated Steve McCall 6-3, 6-2. Mike Kopec beat Kimani Shillingford 6-0, 6-1. Paul Wolven won by forfeit.

The Kopec and Stout took on Chet Naran and Eric Graggs and proved the stronger, beating the pair 7-5, 6-1. Zac Sanger and Rob Goeckel teamed up for a long match but a successful one against Don Mascarenais and Sachin Uppal. They hung in there and won 6-4, 6-7 (6-8), 6-4. Chas Claus and Chris Fizyta liked the score of their first set and made it a pair of wins against James Corley and Ed Reyes 6-1, 6-1.

Next week the team takes on Brandon May 11 at home and a makeup with Pontiac Northern. Saturday the team travels to Holly for an invitational that will pit each of the schools' first four singles and doubles players.

Wolves blast Pontiac Northern, 19-3

BY DEBORAH DZIEWIT
Clarkston News Staff Writer

They came off the bench Monday night and could do no wrong. They hit. They fielded. And at the end of five innings the Clarkston varsity softball team beat Pontiac Northern big in an away matchup, 19-3.

Erin Patterson held Northern scoreless in the first three innings. Kristi Barefoot came in to pitch the remaining two.

Amy Bishop was good for two hits, Allison Vallad had two and Barefoot had two.

Amanda Jenkins, normally a right-hand hitter, switched to the left and hit a double. Stephanie Giroux switched to the right and hit a line drive single.

"I played everyone around," Coach Al Land said. "Pontiac is just a weaker team."

At Brandon May 5, the Lady Wolves almost had the double header in their pockets.

"Each game we had players on second and third, and all we needed was a big hit," Land said of the losses to the number-one team in Class B.

The twin 3-1, 3-1 losses, while disappointing, were good games.

"We were in position to win," he said. "And for our defense to hold Brandon to three runs a game was great."

Patterson pitched both games and Land was pleased with her performance. "Of those six runs, four of them were unearned. We made errors in the field," the coach said.

In the second game, Anne Brueck's double knocked Stephanie Giroux in for the Wolves' only run.

Now the Wolves are gearing up for tough opponents this week. They play Waterford Kettering, rated number six this week, on May 12. The game will not be easy.

"Kettering is coming off from a big win against Brandon. We're going through a little hitting slump," Land said.

Frosh softball team win 1, lose 2

The freshman Wolves softball team played tough to score a 10-9 victory at home against Troy April 27.

Tracy Harmon was the winning pitcher and had 10 strikeouts. Heathers Unsworth was two-for-four with two singles. Allison Farah hit the crucial bunt that sent the tying run across and send the game into extra innings. Allison Prudhomme and Tracy Harmon pitched against Waterford Kettering May 3. The team lost 11-8, Stephanie Vogler was two-for-three with a double and a single.

Against Hartland, the Wolves lost 17-7. Harmon and Megan Bjurman were the pitchers. Prudhomme hit a double and Margaret Seitz hit two singles for the Wolves.

"I should not have changed pitchers in the last inning," Coach Kim Olszak said.

Trackers take Brandon down

BY DEBORAH DZIEWIT
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The girls and boys track coaches put in younger and less experienced players in their meet at home against Brandon May 3 to give them the opportunity to gain meet experience.

The experiment paid off--both teams won. The boys team downed Brandon 101-36.

Mark Moore pole vaulted 9'6" for a first-place finish. Josh Preston tossed the shot put 38'8 1/4" for a first and slung the discus 104'10 1/2".

JR Kirk got three individual first-place finishes. In the high jump his 6' leap over the bar was tops; in the long jump he soared 15.5'. He clocked a 15.5 in the 100-meter hurdles for a first.

The 800-meter relay team of Chris Saunders, Dan Slavin, Mark Moore and Steve Anderson placed first with a 1:46 finish.

Moore, Kirk, Slavin and Saunders raced to a 48.7 first-place finish in the 400-meter relay. John Zamora ran a 53.3 in the 400-meter run for a first and Todd Bauer ran a 46.8 in the 300-meter hurdles for a first.

Matt Wenger, one of the team's key and experienced mid-distance runners, placed first for his 2:06 run of the 800-meter run. Zamora clocked a 24.0 in the 200-meter dash for a first.

The 1600-relay team of Zamora, Matt Gruber, Jason Graves and Wenger placed first.

The Wolves now hold a 2-2 record overall with a 2-1 GOAL record to date.

Girls track big win

The girls' track team soundly thrashed Brandon May 3, 101-27. The Lady Wolves now hold a 3-1 record overall and a 3-0 GOAL record.

Kammy Powell took a first in the discus with a 90'4" throw. Kristin Stanton leaped 5' for a first-place finish in the high jump. Shannon Binkley soared 13'5 1/2" in the long jump for a first.

All four of the relay teams finished first. In the 3200-meter relay, Leah Scharl, Beth Fletcher, Stephanie Burklow and Lisa Herron clocked in at 10:51.6. In the 800 relay, the combined run time of Derenda Howard, Gebus, Renee Staley and Stanton was 1:57.9. Binkley, Stephanie Bradford, Howard and Angie Brown's 400-meter run clocked 55.9. Herron, Liz Vandermeer, Burklow and Nickie Winn stopped the clock at 4:34.2 in the 1600-meter relay.

Howard placed first in the 100-meter hurdles with a 17.3 and Brown raced a 13.5, 100-meter dash. Winn placed first in the 400-meter dash with a time of 1:04.1. Howard stopped the clock at 55.65 with her 300-meter hurdles event. Herron placed first in the 800-meter run and Brown placed first in the 200-meter dash with a time of 28.2. Scharl crossed the finish line first in the 3200-meter run with a time of 12:40.5.

Golec hits 3 out of ball park

BY DEBORAH DZIEWIT
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Can a team score too many runs in a game? Coach Roy Warner hopes not. "I hope we didn't get all 22 runs for the season," he said of the Wolves baseball team win over Pontiac Northern May 9.

Their bats blazed for 20 hits with senior Jeff Golec leading the pack with three for four at bat, helping the team to a 22-1 victory over the Huskies.

But his three times at bat was much more than three hits. He blasted three out of the park driving in 10 runs.

"Nobody has done that before," Warner said. "Over the fence back to back home runs."

He ended the game with 11 RBI. Matt Humpreys was three-for-four; Kevin Covert, three-for-three; Brent Bundridge, three-for-four and Jamie Churchill, two-for-three.

Last week's May 5 doubleheader against Brandon proved not to be the same type of play the Wolves. They lost 5-4, 8-3.

Golec led the Wolves with three hits and two RBI.

"We played bad," Warner said. "Just too many errors and we're giving the game away."

Looking at team statistics, many of the players hold impressive numbers.

Bundridge carries a .462 batting average, Jeff Mull a .438. Humpreys is batting .480 and has 11 stolen bases to date. Golec leads the team with 17 RBI and Bundridge not to far behind with 15.

The Wolves pitching staff's ERAs are what Warner calls "decent." Charlie Nolen is throwing 0.64, Mull a 1.59, Covert 2.37 and Jamie Churchill 1.00.

With the team's regular playing season begins to wind down, each game is important.

"It's time to regroup the troops. We're starting each with a clean slate. We can't worry about winning GOAL. It's more about playing well and consist. We're starting over and building," he said.

The Wolves travel to Waterford Kettering Thursday to battle it out in a doubleheader.

The Wolves to be seen on TCI

TCI cable will be taping the varsity baseball team's games against Oxford May 10 and show it on Channel 65 Friday May 13 at 8 p.m. It will also tape and broadcast the Wolves' game against Lake Orion May 16 and show it May 20 at 8 p.m.

Corrections

In last week's story about the Wolves track meet against Kettering, the 200 meter dash should have read Renee Staley as placing second in the event.

Moving is moving

Main Street Blues

Deborah Dzielwit

I really thought moving would be a snap. Pack up, load up and ship out. Move in. A truly joyful experience.

Boy was I wrong. Moving is pure pain with just a trace of stirred-in joy.

The pain begins long before you pack the first box. There's all that nerve-wracking waiting to close on a house. The bit of joy comes after you've signed your name for the 42nd time and the keys to the house are in your hand.

Then there was that first walk through our new home without the furniture, which proved to be another painful experience.

Suddenly the flaws — the carpet, the walls, the ceiling — become flashing neon lights. Paint me. Replace me.

The pain — trying to paint fast without making a mess. The joy emerged once the walls were painted and seeing the difference a warm white made instead of a dark brown beige.

With the two days gone into my three days off from work, I now had only three days to finish packing, loading and moving into the new house.

In between, I had to squeeze time to pick up kids, fix dinners, run to soccer practices on two sides of town and still pack . . . more pain.

By the third day, I was ready to really start moving stuff in. Joy set in. We really were going to be living in a new and bigger home.

I loaded a rental truck with everything I could carry and stuff maybe I shouldn't have. I wanted to be done by noon. I wasn't. I found more stuff to pack. More stuff I thought I should load.

Once I arrived at the new house, I wanted to quit. How could I unload the truck so it would be ready to load up again once my husband arrived with his five strongbacks?

So I ran and the pain set in.

By the time friends arrived to help and the strongbacks came with their first load, joy was not part of my mind set.

In the midst of all of this, six 14-year-old girls were blasting Ace of Base downstairs and three young boys and my younger daughter were running up and down the stairs and around all the corners.

And there's more. In the midst of that, the carpet people walked in with an armful of samples. I hope I didn't chose the white!

In retrospect, I thought moving would be oh so easy. When I heard people groan after hearing the news of our move, I never understood.

I do now. Physically, it's nonstop work. Carrying boxes, moving furniture, hanging pictures, unloading boxes — it's work.

But what really surprised me was how beat up emotionally I became during the move. I wanted

Under Construction

Here comes the bride, and the headaches

On Saturday I stood up in the wedding of my friend Pam. I wasn't ready for it, and it seemed no one else was either.

The material for my dress arrived in January, but I didn't contact the seamstress until the end of March. I ordered my shoes 12 days before the wedding and I bought the gift five days before the big day.

I left Clarkston Thursday around 2 p.m. Eight hours later I was in Wisconsin and I was lost. I called on the car phone and she stood on the balcony and waved me in.

She had gone to the doctor that afternoon and was diagnosed with mono. She was on some kind of medicine that made her hyper, and at the same time she was sicker than a dog.

Friday began early (7:30 a.m.) because Pam couldn't sleep. The caterer called and couldn't get into the church to set up, so the first trip was to the reception site to find an open door.

Then we went shopping. We had to get the groom's gift, prescriptions (we went to two different places), shampoo and stuff for her honeymoon, and ribbons for decorations.

We ended up at the mall and found out she hadn't picked out the bridesmaids' earrings. We stood at the store for a long time saying, "Whatever is in your hand is what we like the best Pam." While we were there she told us she had forgotten to get earrings for herself. AAHH!

We went to lunch together at a nice restaurant and thought we'd have time to relax and have fun. The waiter brought our drinks and spilled Pam's in her lap. We decided it would be best for us to laugh together while the wedding fell apart.

There was the mother-in-law who wanted to run the show while decorating the reception area. The Best Man was late for rehearsal. No one could remember which side her dad was suppose to walk on. During the rehearsals, her mother forgot when she was supposed to stand. It became hysterical.

Finally the day of the wedding came. We got our pictures taken as couples (with the man we walked with). The photographer told my guy to put his arm around me as if we were dancing and he put his hand on my bum. I moved it and he blushed — I'm sure it will be a beautiful photo.

The singer didn't show up until three minutes before the grandmothers were seated. Pam told us she didn't care, because no matter what happened or didn't happen that day, she would still be married.

She was right. And as soon as she stepped through the door to walk down the aisle, everything fell into place and was beautiful. The rest of the day was without flaw, except we did have to remind her mother to stand.

Benefits fill spring calender

A hunger walk, a jewelry fashion show and a can drive are planned in May and June to benefit Lighthouse North.

"It's a great time of year (for benefits)," said Wendy Halsey of Lighthouse North.

Halsey said the organization needs food during the summer months because children are home from school and are eating more meals there. She said there is a great need during the summer but they get most of their donations in the winter.

The National Association of Letter Carriers Food Drive will take place May 14.

The post office said residents should place non-perishable food by their mailbox or in a container at the post office on that day, and postal workers will collect the items. The food that is collected will go to Lighthouse North.

Fun Daze will take place May 21 beginning at 9:30 a.m. in Depot Park, Clarkston. Halsey said they expect Fun Daze to be their biggest fund raiser of the year.

Residents can collect pledges for the one-mile fun walk or the five- or 10-kilometer walk/run. If $100 is collected for the run, the resident's registration fee will be refunded.

The Clarkston (MI) News Wed., May 11, 1994 17 A

For more information about Fun Daze call 673-4949.

A jewelry fashion show, an auction and catered dinner by Ernesto's, an Italian Inn of Plymouth will be featured at an afternoon of elegance. The event will be held at Chateau du Lac ("Castle on the Lake"), a home in Heather Lakes Estates owned by George and Tina Milidrag. Those who attend will also be given a tour of the home and grounds.

Halsey said some of the items available at the auction include a weekend at the Ritz Carlton, use of a condo in North Carolina and sporting event tickets.

The event will take place June 26 beginning at 3 p.m. and costs $75 per person. It is limited to 100 people and reservations can be made by calling Lighthouse North at 673-4949.

Schools wrestle with budget

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

An update of the Clarkston school budget for the current year shows things aren't as bad as they once seemed, according to Steve Lenar, deputy superintendent for business and operations.

The district is now expected to have a general fund balance at the end of the year of $763,892, despite spending about a half-million dollars more than it took in this year. Though the balance is less than originally anticipated, Lenar said extra expenditures for retirement incentives will pay off in the long run.

"The actual deficit could have been much larger," Lenar said Monday night at the regular meeting of the board of education.

"So I really feel the best I ever feel looking at a deficit of one-half million dollars. . . Overall I feel pretty comfortable with where we're at and what we've done this year."

At the same meeting, Lenar gave the board a draft of his projected budget for 1994-95. It showed the increased expenses associated with opening a new elementary school, as well as increased costs for retirement and federal payroll taxes caused by Proposal A.

Lenar said more employees than expected took advantage of the district's early retirement incentive, causing a bulge in payouts this year.

But superintendent Gary Haner said expenditures of $428,500 last year and $628,000 for early retirement will save, over a five-year period, $1,121,000.

"The more expensive employee retires and a less expensive employee is hired," he explained.

The board is planning a public hearing on the new budget on June 27. Meanwhile, two secretaries were officially laid off by the board, effective in June, as a cost-cutting measure.

Assistant superintendent for personnel services Dwayne Lewis explained that since secretarial staffing is based on enrollment, fewer secretaries will be needed next year. The opening of a new building will lower individual building enrollments. The lay-offs were based on seniority, not location, he added.

The difficulty of deciding what to keep and what to cut surfaced again when the board was asked to vote on furniture bids for some remodeling at the Special Services building.

Lewis presented an unitemized bid for $34,599 worth of furniture to the board on Monday night, which didn't give them time to resolve their concerns. Trustee Kurt Karlstrom didn't like it. It was approved in a split decision, 4-2.

The board also approved borrowing up to $4.5 million from the state School Bond Loan Fund to get it through the summer months. Due to changes generated by Proposal A, a much smaller summer tax will be collected, and without a loan the district would have run out of money before state checks began arriving.

Trustee Sheila Hughes said she has asked the state to loan the money interest-free since the problem was created by Proposal A.

"I think it's ridiculous we have to borrow and pay interest on it," she said.

Prom week

It's prom week! This is a memorable time for everyone involved. Everyone is going to be dressed their best to have a great night.

Prom isn't like Homecoming; it's much better. I think the best part is when everybody goes to Cedar Point the next morning. That just really tops the weekend off!

I went to the prom last year at CHS with my boyfriend. I had so much fun. But when we were coming home from Cedar Point we took a wrong turn and drove to Pennsylvania. Can you believe that? So a good piece of advice for all travelers this weekend is to go west on the Ohio turnpike, not east. We learned the hard way.

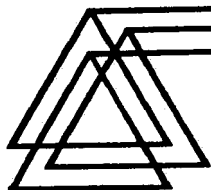

This year prom is held on a Friday. This is unusual because it is usually held on a Saturday. A lot of the girls were complaining because it just simply isn't enough time to get ready by the time you get out of school.

I have a lot of friends who are not going to prom because it's too expensive. That's too bad because this event you'll remember the rest of your life. And the junior class is responsible for getting the whole thing together. They put a lot of time and effort into decorating it.

The theme this year is "Never say Goodbye." It's being held at Petruzello's. It was really nice there last year.

The prom is going to be a blast even though it's a lot of money. It's more than worth it.

Liquor license transfer approved

A Class C liquor license transfer from the Clarkston Cafe to Sign of the Beefcarver received unanimous approval Monday night from Clarkston City Council.

Two weeks ago, the council tabled passing the same resolution after some council members questioned the city's responsibilities.

However, the council did not know at the April 25 meeting that the Liquor Control Commission had sent a form to the city police requesting information about the potential purchasers of the Cafe.

In Chief Robert DeVore's report, he found no violations or problems with the buyers. In an inspection by the fire marshal, the Cafe will clear up the minor violations found. In a letter to the city council, the fire marshal found no reason to file the violations with the LCC.

With the city's passing of the LCC's required resolution, the liquor license is one step closer to being approved for transfer to the Beefcarver.

Newmarch leaves SCAMP job

Bunny Newmarch has left her job but she's just moved down the hall.

The former executive coordinator of the North Oakland Funding Corporation, the fund-raising arm of SCAMP, has taken on a new job as a secretary in Clarkston Schools Special Services building. She will continue working for SCAMP part time until a replacement is found.

Newmarch said she was involved with SCAMP for 15 years, first as a volunteer and the last eight as executive coordinator, where she was responsible for all fund-raising events.

"The opportunity became available at Special Services for a secretary," she said. "I always felt at some time I'd like to move into the school system."

Since SCAMP provides camping opportunities for children with special needs, Newmarch said she'll be working with the same children in her new job. And her former coworkers are still in the same building.

"It sure is a great group of people to work with," she said.

A NEW OWNER! A NEW LOOK! A NEW NAME! Carla's is now Austin and Company!

Ann Austin purchased Carla's Hair & Nail Salon from Carla Dutcher in April, 1992. After the transfer of ownership Ann chose to maintain the same services and name until the staff and clientele were comfortable with the change.

After a smooth transition Ann began looking for ways to improve the salon's services to meet the changing needs of their clientele. This year the entire strip center updated its exterior look and the installation of a new sign made the name change official - AUSTIN & COMPANY Hair & Nail Salon.

Kim Horton receptionist schedules appointments.

Ann Austin had begun her dream 5 years prior as an employee of the original owner and operator, Carla Dutcher. During this 5 year period, Ann worked closely with Carla and became familiar with all aspects of the business. While Ann had prepared herself for ownership the change from employee to owner came about sooner than expected. Ann's goal had always been to purchase the salon from Carla upon her retirement. Then the unexpected happened when Carla's mother passed away and after 15 years of ownership, Carla chose to sell the salon to enjoy life outside of work.

In the seven years Ann has been at the salon she has seen the salon grow from 3 hairdressers and 1 manicurists to 5 hair stylists, 4 nail techs and 2 receptionists. We are trying to meet the needs of the area - adding staff, services, products and educating our customers on the importance of using professional products.

Ann stated "I feel very blessed to have come this far in two short years, a large portion of the credit goes to my staff, who are 'The Company'. I couldn't ask for a better group of girls. They are professional workers and make the customers comfortable. We enjoy each other and our clients, which everyone feels, as they come into the salon." Ann is also very grateful for having a supportive family as she realizes her dream.

The staff attend hair shows regularly to keep informed on new techniques and products and to stay motivated. Austin & Company is a family hair care salon from baby's 1st haircut to grandma's perm. With a style for all men, women and children.

Austin & Co carries a large selection of hair products, e.g. Paul Mitchell, Scruples, Malibu, Logics, Nioxen, and their #1 seller - Matrix.

The nail room offers many services from manicures, pedicures, acrylics and gel nails, paraffin dips (deep moisturizing hand treatment) and nail art. They use and sell OPI products, Matrix polish and matching lipsticks plus Body Drench - moisturizing products.

As we continue into the 90's the clients of Austin & Company keep searching for more services to meet changing lifestyles. Not so long ago the idea of a full service salon simply meant hairstyling. Today, Austin & Company is continually striving to meet the new

PROGRESS STORY REVISION

Library millage on August ballot

said Trustee Daniel Travis. "It's the old description of a boyfriend that is really handsome but has nothing between the ears. We have a handsome facility, but there's nobody home."

In the township library there are 1.3 books per person as opposed to the 2.8 books per person needed to reach an average collection.

Lynch said the township library runs on a budget of $501,000 while neighboring Orion Township has a budget of $863,000 and Waterford runs on $1.8 million.

"There's no way we can compare or keep up with them," she said.

With the present budget Lynch estimated it would take the township 21 years to obtain an average collection and 36 years to reach above average. That was estimating costs at $20 per book and included replacing worn-out materials.

She told the board if the millage were increased 3/4 of a mill it would take four to five years to reach average and seven to eight to go above average.

Lynch said she often hears complaints about the short library hours and the lack of materials. There has been a request that the library be open for four hours on Sundays during the school year. Lynch said these things can not be accomplished without an increase.

"Legally we have no basis to increase (the millage)," Lynch told the board.

At this point in time, said Lynch, the only option available to the library is the millage renewal and the addition of mills lost during a tax roll back.

The ballot language approved by the board calls for the renewal of 0.7199 mill and an addition of 0.0301 mill which will bring the total up to what was authorized by township residents before a tax roll back. A mill is $1 for every $1,000 of assessed property value.

The renewal will bring about $461,432 to the library each year for four years and the addition will bring an extra $19,293 a year.

"The questions comes down to, do we continue to operate at the level we are ... or do we look for (alternatives)," said Lynch.

One of the alternatives discussed at the meeting was a district library. The library would no longer be a township department and would have its own elected or appointed governing board. It would have equal representation and taxation from the township and city and could ask for up to two mills to operate.

The cons to the district library include contracts for township services such as lawn care, maintenance, bookkeeping and payroll, and the loss of potential general-fund contributions.

Becoming a district library would require a special election which would cost the library $7,000

Stuart's view was in the minority at the meeting and the renewal and increase were approved. The exact ballot wording is available at the township offices.

to $10,000. If the proposal was defeated the library would remain a township department.

The other alternative would be to place the library under Act 164. This would remove it from the township, provide stable funding and allow the library to levy up to two mills on its own.

Under Act 164 the city residents wouldn't be represented on the library board and the city would have to contract with the library for services. The library would have to contract with the township for services and could lose potential general fund contributions.

"I could live with either (a district library or Act 164)," said Trustee Mel Vaara.

Supervisor Dale Stuart said that it is too late for the library to file under Act 164 this year. The district library change was not part of the ballot wording approved by the board.

Oxford Bank earnings up

Oxford Bank Corporation, the holding company for Oxford Bank, announced today that its net income for the first three months of 1994 was $455,000, 4.4 percent more than earnings of $436,000 for the same period in 1993.

Randall G. Fox, chairman, president and chief executive officer of the company and the bank, released the earnings report and commented, "We are continuing to grow at a rate well above industry averages and our earnings reflect that growth. Barring the unexpected, we should have another excellent year in 1994."

"ASK RON"

QUESTION: Is the purchase of a home still a good investment even with a low inflation rate?

ANSWER: It certainly is! If you buy a house for $80,000 with a $20,000 down payment and the house appreciates at only 4%, it will increase in value in one year alone by $3,200. This $3,200 represents a 16% return on your $20,000 investment. Sixteen percent is an excellent return. It's hard to find an investment that returns 16% regardless of the inflation rate. It doesn't stop there. The interest on your loan is an income tax deduction. Property taxes are also a deduction which further increases the return.

Family blames vaccine for child's death

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

When Brandy Mulliniks got her diphtheria-tetanus-pertussis shot at 16 months last June she was crabby and tired-acting. According to most, this reaction to immunizations isn't uncommon.

Her mother was able to get her to sleep at 11:30 p.m. after an evening of crying. Eight hours later, when her mother tried to wake her, Brandy was dead.

"When I went over (to Brandy's house) and she was dead, I knew it was the shot. Her doctor told us it was SIDS from day one, and that's just life—move on," said Brandy's grandmother Clarise Gibson.

Gibson couldn't move on. She had recently given birth to twin sons and needed to know what caused the death of her first grandchild.

"You don't have a child who is healthy, take them in to have their immunizations and have them die 12 hours later," said Gibson.

Gibson, who lives in Springfield Township, has spent the past 11 months phoning across the nation, writing numerous letters and reading thousands of pages about immunizations—all in search of finding out what killed Brandy.

At first she hoped to get answers from Brandy's pediatrician. "They didn't give me the time of day

'You don't have a child who is healthy, take them in to have their immunizations and have them die 12 hours later.'

Clarise Gibson

from the day she died," said Gibson.

Brandy had been taken to the doctor's for an eye infection that afternoon and while in the office the doctor gave her a DTP shot.

Gibson called the local office three times the day Brandy died and spoke to two different doctors. "They told me she had been treated for an eye infection and that's all," said Gibson. Finally one of the doctors said Brandy did have the immunizations, but she died from SIDS.

An autopsy was done on the baby and five months later the medical examiner said the little girl didn't die from SIDS, but didn't tell the family the cause. This April he told Gibson Brandy died from a reaction to her immunizations.

While waiting for the autopsy report, Gibson began searching for answers. She tried the county health department. "No one would volunteer anything. I had no cooperation. I had to go out of state for help," she said.

She contacted drug companies, the Michigan and Massachusetts Departments of Health, county morgues around the state and in North Carolina and New York.

"I ran into blocks at the health departments. Nobody bothered helping me. Nobody wants to be involved in it," said Gibson. "It's just a chain; you call one and they refer you to someone else."

The someone else that came to Gibson's rescue was Janet Ciotoli of Endicott, New York. Ciotoli's son, Richie, died from what was diagnosed as an acute pertussis reaction 33 hours after receiving his DTP shot.

"As soon as I told her about Brandy, she told me I was telling her story again," said Gibson.

Ciotoli put Gibson in touch with Dissatisfied Parents Together which operates the National Vaccine Information Center.

The NVIC/DPT is a national, non-profit educational organization that represents parents and health care professionals concerned about childhood diseases and vaccines, especially whooping cough (pertussis).

The organization has five goals:

- Inform the public about childhood diseases and vaccines in order to prevent vaccine injuries and deaths.

- Assist those who have suffered severe reactions to vaccines.

- Represent the consumer by monitoring vaccine research and development, vaccine policy making and vaccine-related federal and state legislation.

- Work to obtain the right of the parents to choose which vaccines their children will receive.

- Promote the development of safer and more effective vaccines.

Ciotoli also put Gibson in touch with people and resources throughout the country so she can sort out what happened to Brandy.

"I'm glad I met her, otherwise I'd still be in the dark. Everybody that you talk to says in all honesty that (immunizations) are a shot in the dark," said Gibson.

Brandy's family believes she died from a reaction to her DTP shot.

Approximately 2.9 million children receive their DTP shots each year in the United States and, according to a Food and Drug Administration study. About 18,000 of these shots cause convulsions or shock. It is unknown how many of those children die or are left brain-damaged.

"The risk of giving the shot far out weighs the risk of not giving the shot. Moms shouldn't be afraid to ask their doctor (about immunizations). If they're concerned or if I'm concerned, then I don't give that shot. I don't look at them as an adversary," said Dr. James O'Neill, a Clarkston-area pediatrician.

"There's no medicine, no vaccine that guarantees us we'll be O.K.," said O'Neill.

Barbara Loe Fisher, author of "A Shot in the Dark," wrote in USA Today (Dec. 11, 1991), "Children who have sensitive neurological or immune systems or who are sick at the time of vaccinations are not properly screened out of the mass vaccination campaigns.

"Before you vaccinate, become educated about vaccine. It is easier to take the time to go to the library, ask your doctor questions or refuse vaccination until your child is over that bad cold than it is to bury a child or watch him grow up brain damaged."

Gibson has gathered enough information to limit the vaccinations her twins receive, and a second grandchild due this summer will also receive limited shots.

"It isn't fair to bury a kid for this. Not for something that was supposed to help her," said Gibson. (This is the first in a series about immunizations.)

Milestones

A first for Clarkston bands

Bands from all three secondary schools earned first division ratings at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association State Festivals. Having all the bands earn first division ratings at the state level is a first for the school district.

The CHS Wind Ensemble and Symphonic Band, conducted by Cliff Chapman, traveled to Grand Rapids April 29 and 30 to earn first division rating in their classifications.

On May 7 the Sashabaw Middle School Cadet Band and Symphony Band, under the direction of Doug Doty, earned straight ones at the junior high state festival. The Clarkston Middle School Concert Band, directed by Julie Mathews, also earned ones at that festival.

Members of the Varsity Concert Choir, Chorales, Bel Canto Choir and Barbershop Ensemble earned straight one ratings, which is the highest mark. They went on to state festival on April 27 and received twos, the second highest rating.

Director Grayce Warren said the state marks displayed the choirs' "talent, dedication to the performing arts and excellence of musicianship."

"This is the first year that so many choirs have done so well. I am very proud of them," said Warren.

Quails teach students about life at Our Lady of the Lakes

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The students in the sixth-grade class of Our Lady of the Lakes got a first-hand lesson on life, growing and death this semester.

"It's an extension of the sixth-grade teaching of creation," said teacher Betty Stone.

Stone received 32 fertilized quail eggs from Michigan State University — one for each of the children in her class. Only seven quails hatched after a problem with the incubator, and five lived long enough to be sent home with students.

The chosen quail watchers were Diane Bastian, Scott Contor, Nick Kirby, Kaitlyn Melnik and Katie Wise.

Diane, 11, from Springfield Township said taking care of her quail, Skippy, was fun.

"I liked it a lot because my parents treated it like my own pet. It felt really good having my own pet," she said.

Skippy didn't live to adulthood though. "My quail died. It drowned in the sewer," Diane said.

Skippy was taken outside for air and Diane said she assumed her brother was watching the little bird and it fell into a sewer drain. The Bastians were able to rescue the bird.

"We tried to squeeze water out (of him) and a little came out, but he still died," she recalled.

"It taught me responsibility and that I should never leave (a pet) unattended," Diane said.

Nick, 11, of Clarkston had better luck with his quail Bill.

"He eats a lot and he goes to the bathroom a lot," Nick said. He got some help from his mom, but most of the care was given by him. "It's a big responsibility, you have to feed it and keep it clean," he said.

Nick said Bill the quail was interesting, but he did have his problems. "He went to the bathroom too much," he said. Nick let Bill go at the Drayton Plains Nature Center.

Katie, 12, of Waterford learned taking care of her quail, Daffy, was a big responsibility.

"I learned it's hard to take care of it. You have to clean it and feed and water it or it will die," she said.

Daffy now flies and likes to land on people's heads. "It's fun because when you get bored you can let it out of the cage. It was fun to have my own pet," she said. Katie released Daffy at the nature center with Nick.

The quails were over one month old and could fly before they were released. Nick and Katie said they let their birds go together so they wouldn't be alone. When they were released Bill and Daffy quickly made themselves at home running and flying around the field, much to the apparent relief of their former owners.

Heritage Hunt II

Michigan Week begins May 21

Time to visit the libraries, cemeteries and get-togethers for June graduations, weddings as summer family reunions loom ahead for so many of you.

Perhaps a visit to Europe is even in your plans, so start now to begin your "journal." Today, a notation in a looseleaf notebook will be easy to collect and save the thoughts and activities on a daily basis.

No matter the path you take each day, note it, to reflect on later. Taking a moment to "remember for tomorrow" will pay great dividends for the future.

While most organizations plan to curtail meetings during July and August, the classes being given at OPC in Rochester will continue, as will the classes being held in the library of the Pontiac Area Historical and Genealogical Society on Tuesdays. Located at 60 E. Pike St., (lower level) the library of P.A.H.A.G.S. offers many resources for searching areas throughout the U.S. and Canada, as well as some European materials.

The request for help on several new "seekers" have come at a time when we will be able to get printed before the final meetings of area groups.

Hazel Spencer of Auburn Hills is looking for the information on Richard and Catherine (Taylor) Hart, who came to Ontario, Canada, in 1841 from Ireland and were in North Gower, Marlborough Township, Carleton Co., Ont. Other names she searches: Holden-England, Mass., and Mich.; Benner-New York (Buffalo area); Spencer-Michigan; Emlow-Canada, Michigan; and Wall-New York and England.

Bettie Cunningham Martin seeks information on Vallondington H. Caulley, born in Nebraska in 1875, moved to Missouri and died 1931. He married Emma S. Farris born 1878, died 1943.

Stella Pokorski, Rochester Hills, hopes those doing Polish research may share some common lines with these: Hycho-Michael (Chycho); Gumda-Martin; Pokorski-Joseph; and Woloszyk, Lawrence. No contact has been made yet with the Polish Gen. Soc.

E.D. Barrett is searching: Lapham, Jones, Charles Johnson, and McDonald. She can reach each of these folks having these queries, so you may contact here, if you need to exchange information.

Michigan Week begins May 21 with Heritage Day, and continues to May 28 which is Family Day. What are you doing to celebrate the 41st year of observing with pride your state and its marvelous history?

The many opportunities to locate hidden genetic-hereditary diseases/illnesses is becoming easier with information of discoveries being made via medical research. If you have an interest in finding the pattern of diabetes, heart disease, cancer and many other causes of death in your ancestor we have a questionnaire that may help. Send a S.A.S.E. and request a medical chart.

Happy Hunting.

Shutter bugs picture America

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Second-grade students at North Sashabaw can tell you what is beautiful about their country — and what needs improvement.

As part of a program sponsored by K-Mart and Kodak, the children were given disposable cameras and told to capture their country on film.

"They were really insightful," said Linda Johnson.

Johnson's class participated in the program along with students in Durell Pitser's and Carol Zorka's classes.

Each student took seven pictures of things that were good in America and seven pictures of things that needed improvement.

"They thought sharing, recycling, friends, their family and new cars were good about America," said Johnson.

Some things the children thought needed improvement were cigarette smoking, drinking beer, drinking and driving, pollution and war.

The school was contacted by the Drayton Plains K-Mart and all the photos will be displayed in the store.

"This goes perfectly with our ecology unit," said Johnson. "At this age they're so enthusiastic about it. We had a lot of parents who got involved and took the kids around.

The children were asked to pick their best picture. Judges from the area and from K-Mart picked the best three photos.

David Torrone, 8, won first place with his photo of an approaching storm.

"My mom just said, 'A storm rolling in and the sun's still shining. It would be a good picture.' So I took it," said Torrone.

He also photographed flowers and trash. He said he was surprised and happy when he learned his picture took first place.

Edward Beebe, 8, won second place with a picture of a home that needed improvement.

"We were driving down in Pontiac and saw a broken down house and I took the picture," he said.

Beebe also took pictures of tulips, recycling bins and trees. He chose his winning picture with a little help from George White, the principal.

Third place was won by Amber Oliver, 7. She took her picture of rocks and a stream because there were ducks in the area. None of the ducks got into the picture.

Oliver said taking pictures was a fun experience, "I like pressing the little button."

The top three photos will go to a national competition next month and will be judged by photojournalist Linda Solomon. The first place winner in the national contest will receive a $5,000 scholarship.

The second and third place winners will get camera equipment.

"They've learned a lot. I think all in all this was supportive, well run and a good learning tool," said Johnson.

We are SIDING and GUTTER Specialists
We are not a Jack-of-all-trades. We can not guarantee you the absolute lowest price, as we will not sacrifice the quality products or workmanship that you deserve. But what we will guarantee is an honest and fair price with products and workmanship of the highest quality. We also do our own work. We don't get your job and sub-contract it out, or sell it. So if you are only looking for the cheapest way out, call someone else who claims they can beat any price. If you are looking for an honest and fair price, quality products and workmanship, dependability, and someone that will still be here after your job is completed, give us a call. Helping you make your home the one you've always dreamed of is what we do.

AAA urges teens to safety

During May and June, thousands of high school students across the state will be making their personal pledges to remain free of drugs and alcohol during junior and senior proms and graduation activities.

"Prom and graduation season produces lifetime memories," said AAA Community Safety Services Manager Jerry Basch. "AAA wants those memories to be happy ones. We are asking young people and their parents to help make prom and graduation season safe and enjoyable by making a sobriety pledge."

According to recent studies, about 90 percent of high-school seniors have tried alcohol, and about half report drinking in the last month. In comparison, 63 percent of seniors have smoked cigarette; 32 percent have used marijuana and 6 percent have used cocaine.

Heavy "binge" drinking among youth is another concern. According to a University of Michigan survey of high school seniors, 30.5 percent of the respondents reported taking five or more drinks in a row at least three times in the past six months.

"All underage drinking is illegal and involves great risks," said Basch. "In addition to the legal consequences, even low levels of alcohol consumption pose risks, since judgment, reaction time and coordination begin to be affected. Heavy alcohol use greatly increases those risks."

The use of alcohol could be costly -- if you don't lose your life, you will lose your driver's license, and a lot of cash. The average cost for a drunk driving conviction (fines and attorney fees) is $4,000 plus increased insurance, which can add up to three times your current premium for a three-year period.

Since Jan. 1, 1992, Michigan has drunk driving laws which require, among other measures, destruction of the driver's license at the time of arrest for drunk driving. The law also requires a mandatory 30-day license suspension for a first conviction of drunk driving and harsher penalties for repeat offenders.

In 1991, 95 students between the ages of 16 and 19 lost their lives as the result of a drunk-driving accident. Sadly, drinking and driving tragedies increase during prom and graduation season and can put an end to a young adult's dreams.

"Over 3,000 young drivers nationwide are killed each year in alcohol-related crashes," said Basch. "Traffic crashes are the number-one killer of high school students in the U.S. AAA hopes to reverse this trend and make sure Michigan students celebrate prom and graduation season safely."

Kids and quails

Kaitlyn, 12, of Waterford named her quail Dale "Because I like Chip and Dale and because it rhymed with quail," she said.

Dale was released at a bird farm in Bloomfield Hills because Kaitlyn was afraid if she let it go in the wild it would die.

Learning about the quails from the eggs until they were released was a expansion of the Growing Healthy Science series used in Waterford Schools. The children learned about cells and growth. They kept scientific logs throughout the experiment and different kids were in charge of the incubator each day.

The scientific learning that went along with the project was only part of what Stone wanted her students to experience. "They've realized the value of life," she said.

Into the sun

Bicyclists take advantage of a sunny Mother's Day to get in a spring ride

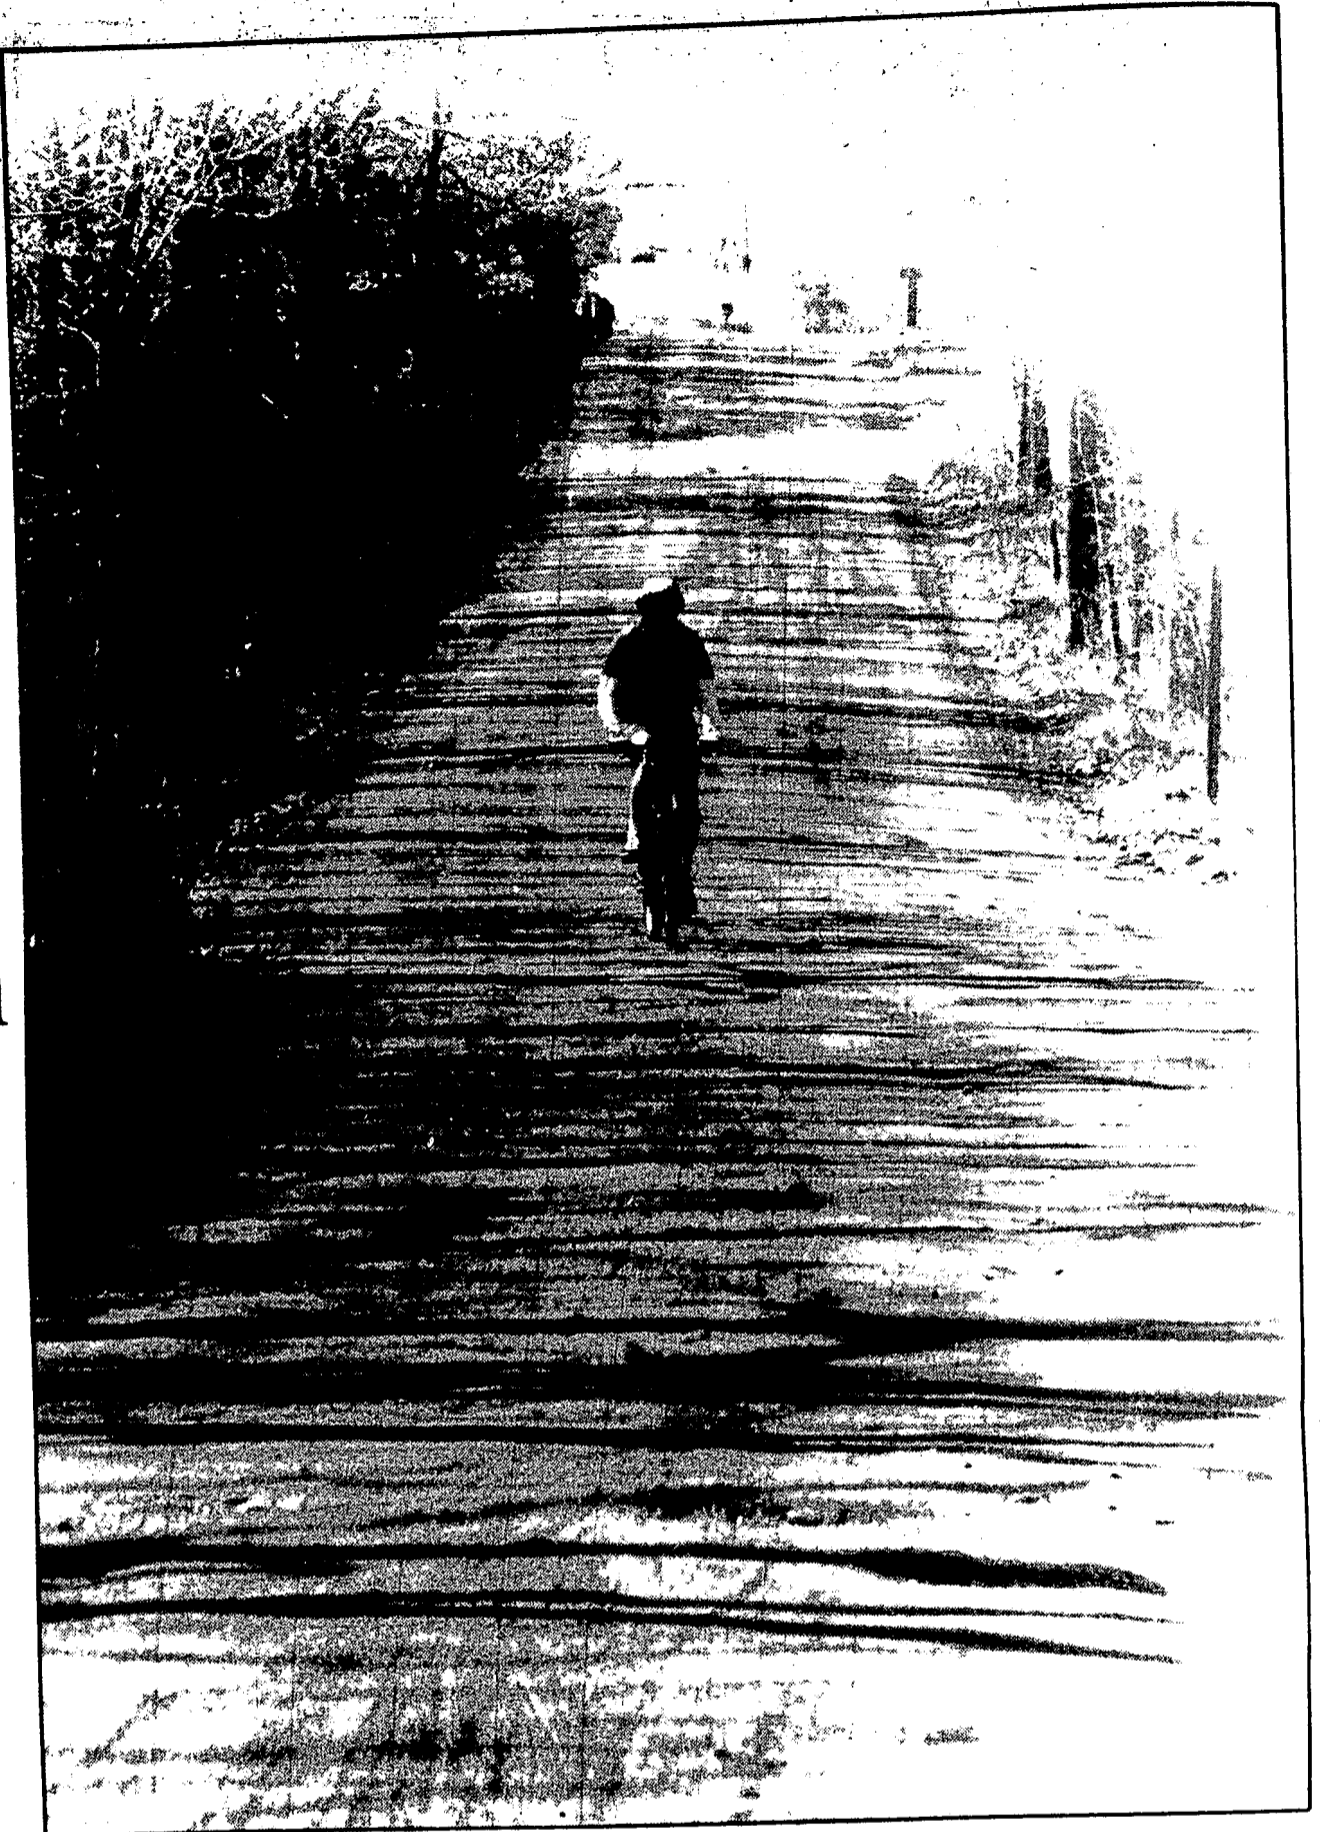

Close to 400 bicyclists showed up to ride in the ninth "Back 40" spring tour of north Oakland County on Mother's Day.

Three routes--17, 27 and 44 miles--were mapped out for different abilities and endurance levels. The event was sponsored by Kinetics, Flying Rhino Cycling Club and John Bowman Chevrolet.

Cyclists began at Clarkston Middle School and wound their way through the back roads of Springfield and Independence townships.

Part of the proceeds from the event will go to support DARE.

Photostory by Deborah Dzewit

A lone cyclist pedals his way along Bridge Lake Road. He had yet to hit the double hills of Rattalee Lake Road, which are just around the bend.

Father and son team, Dennis and Jay Pace from Holt, prepare for the Sunday ride. All they had to do was fit the wheels into their bikes, and they were ready to hit the dirt roads. It was the pair's second time to ride "Back 40."

A special gardening supplement to The Clarkston News

Growing the biggest pumpkin ever

BY DEBORAH DZIEWIT
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Many of us like to brag.

Many times you hear it drifting over the air on a playground — "My ball bounces higher than your ball. My cookie has more chips than your cookie. My dog is bigger than your dog."

Even adults do it but maybe more to themselves — "My lawn is greener than your lawn. My car is faster than your car."

With gardening season upon us, the "I can grow something bigger" is sure to hit young and old alike.

Don Van Houtte of Van Houtte Farms, who grew a 692-pound pumpkin last year, and Larry Gavette, producer of the See How They Grow show, which airs on Waterford's and Clarkston's public access television, want to give gardeners an opportunity to see just how green their thumbs are by trying to grow a giant pumpkin.

They are sponsoring the First Annual Southeastern Michigan Giant Pumpkin and Vegetable Contest and will provide two free seeds and instructions on how to grow giant pumpkins.

"We want to see who can grow the biggest son-of-a-gun pumpkin," Gavette said. "We had people as far as Kansas City, Missouri send for seeds. Parents and grandparents are ordering them for their children."

The free seeds come from Van Houtte, the regional winner of the World Pumpkin Confederation competition in Lansing. He won with a 692 pound pumpkin. Mike Van Houtte, Don's son, took second with a 666 pounder.

Bill Garvey, a White Lake Township resident, has been growing large pumpkins for 10 years.

"The first year I grew a 100 pounder plus. I got the bug and I grow them bigger every year," he said.

Two years ago one of his pumpkins made the news when Gov. John Engler used it for his Halloween party.

Anyone can grow the big pumpkins if they have the space — a 20 by 20 foot space is suggested.

With the seeds, helpful growing tips will be provided to help the grower get their pumpkin to its maximum size.

The pumpkins need 130 to 150 days to reach full size. Seeds can be planted between May 1 and May 15 or after danger of frost is past. If starting the seeds indoors, take care when transplanting the tender plants outside.

"Make sure the stems don't break," Gavette suggested.

Garvey cautions the grower to watch out for cucumber beetles when the plants are small.

When planting the almond-shaped seed, plant the pointed end down to ensure the plant starts growing in the right direction.

The garden soil needs no special treatment, but a touch of fertilizer, a fairly sunny spot and untrampled soil should help the gardener grow a big pumpkin.

Also to ensure getting a monster pumpkin worth bragging about, do what experienced growers do. They usually pick all the fruit blooms off the vines until the middle of July.

"The plant wants to produce so removing these early blooms only allows the plant to become established for the latter blooms (in July)," the hint list suggests.

B.J. Garvey, 9, with the 400-pound, 1993 Michigan State Fair winning pumpkin.

Once the pumpkins begin to grow and reach a diameter of four to five inches, often times the smaller pumpkins are pinched off, leaving all but the largest fruits. Again any remaining blossoms and the vine ends are nipped so all growth will go into the large pumpkins.

The tip list also suggests that the grower limit each plant to one pumpkin on each of the two principle vines.

As for the contest, the pumpkin or any other fruit or vegetable grown, must be raised by the entrant or entrant family and must be present for competition which be held at the Van Houtte Farms, 69475 Romeo Plank Road, Armada on October 15.

"The contest is an effort to introduce people to the world of the large pumpkin. There will be cash prizes for the three heaviest pumpkins, the best decorated pumpkins as well as the biggest vegetables brought to the judging site the day of the contest.

Tech center student garden sale May 18

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

The leaves are just beginning to pop out on the trees. Daffodils are blooming. And at the Oakland Technical Center Northwest, students in the horticultural program are very busy.

The school's annual spring plant sale is scheduled for Wednesday, May 18, and hundreds of flats of annuals, plus herbs and perennials, are getting the finishing touches on a year's worth of work.

"The greenhouses will be completely empty" after the sale, said teacher Donna Papatheodoropoulos. "Everything out there the students have produced themselves, either from seed or from cutting. We started into production back in December."

Last week, students were potting up seedlings, putting pansies into white painted baskets, and creating arrangements with artificial flowers as well.

The two-year program, composed largely of juniors and seniors, includes both floral design and greenhouse. Students spend two-and-a-half hours a day at the center. The rest of the day is spent at their local high school.

Many of them are exploring this as a career," Papatheodoropoulos said. Junior Jaimi Bosnack, already in her second year in the program, said she will transfer to the landscape program next year in preparation for a possible career.

The facilities consist of two greenhouses, a demonstration greenhouse and a polyhouse on the school's campus on Big Lake Rd. The students are also responsible for the flower beds around the greenhouse. The landscape students take care of the rest of the grounds.

In addition to growing the plants, students learn about related ideas like pest control. Bosnack said that this year, the program introduced Integrated Pest Management, that is, using good insects to get rid of pests.

The sale is one way to bring a little extra money into the program. "All the money that is made all stays within our program," Papatheodoropoulos said. "It allows us to work with nicer quality materials."

She said the spring sale and another one held at Christmas time are very popular.

"We do very well; the community's been very supportive of the students' work," she said. "Word of mouth is very good. The prices are very reasonable."

"This year we are going to be doing something different. We are having a garage sale to get rid of horticultural items—flowers, pots—those kinds of things."

In addition, this is the first spring sale which will include artificial flower arrangements. The students have been working on wreaths, door swags, and other interesting and more unusual designs.

KIM WARD (left) and Sheri Peterson place pansy baskets in the greenhouse. Sale hours are 8 a.m.-2 p.m. Anything not sold will remain on sale during school hours until everything is gone.

Environmentally Sound Pest Management is Possible With Some "Common Sense" Steps

If you'd like to rid your lawn or garden of insects, diseases or weeds, you might want to consider using all available methods of pest control rather than turning to pesticides alone, says the American Association of Nurserymen (AAN). This more environmentally conscious approach towards pests is called "Integrated Pest Management" (IPM).

IPM involves avoiding practices that encourage pests, such as over-watering. It also involves selecting plants which will weather the rigors of your particular climate, whether that means blistering summers or frigid winters.

When you use IPM, you should not only take into account the temperature and weather conditions your plants will face, but also the quantity and types of pests already present in your environment.

Ask the professionals at your local garden center about pest resistant varieties of plants and trees. These specially strengthened plants have been carefully selected to combat the ravages of insects, and they can play a pivotal role in an IPM plan.

Other methods of controlling insects without turning to pesticides alone include introducing a pest's natural predators to your site, such as ladybugs, and pruning your plants to keep them healthy and less susceptible to infestation.

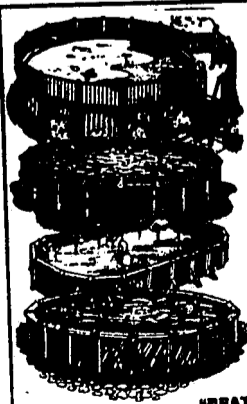

If you do opt to use pesticides as part of your IPM plan, talk to the specialists at your local garden center. They can recommend different types of pesticides depending upon your needs.

It is never wise to attempt to develop your own home version of a pesticide. In mixing chemicals without expert guidance, you could inadvertently create a dangerous substance and cause more harm than good.

So as you develop a healthy, well-cared-for garden, remember that you have a range of options for getting rid of pests. While IPM is a new concept for many of us, it is built on a base of old-fashioned common sense and a commitment to the environment.

A lifetime of learning for this master gardener

BY CATHERINE PASSMORE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

You'd think raising 17 children, ages 15-40, would be enough to keep master gardener Laone Trese busy.

But Trese has been gardening since she was a child, and raising a family wasn't going to stop her. She and her husband Tom, a retired social worker, moved to an old farmhouse on "not quite three acres" on the Independence/Brandon Township border years ago, and now have mature gardens and armloads of flowers to show for the effort.

"Tom always said as soon as the kids got old enough to take care of themselves, I moved out to the garden," she said, laughing.

As a child, Trese helped her father garden. She became hooked after seeing him win a Victory Garden contest. As an adult gardener, she's tried flowers, fruit trees, vegetable gardens and a grape arbor. Currently she's most interested in daffodils and primroses.

Her yard is adorned with beds of them, as well as daylilies, tulips and wildflowers. There are over 1,000 daffodils in her gardens, and she has cultivated 30 varieties.

Daffodils return year after year. "You just have to divide them if they don't flower," she said.

Trese noted that gardeners shouldn't cut off the still-green leaves of daffodils after flowering. The nutrients from the leaves flow down to the roots even after the flower has dried up and died. By leaving the leaves attached until they turn brown, the bulbs will remain strong.

On the side of the old farm house where Trese lives she's planted a primrose path. The flowers aren't really roses; they're a wildflower in many areas. She began this garden five years ago.

"They like the shade and we needed something for this spot," she said.

LAONE TRESE works among some of the 1,000 daffodils she has planted at her home.

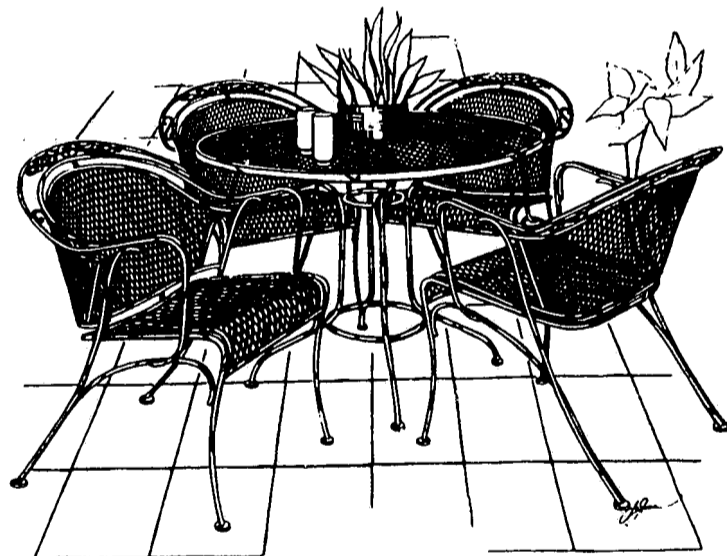

Like daffodils, primroses need to be divided occasionally. Trese gets most of her flowers with this method. Rather than buying a lot of expensive seeds or bulbs, she divides one plant and gets two or three.

The mother of 17 has been a master gardener since 1980.

An organic gardener, Trese uses only natural fertilizers. She grinds up her leaves to place under plants as mulch, which keeps the ground around the

Edison: Put trees in their place

As spring breezes spur thoughts of summertime shade trees, Detroit Edison wants to encourage the wise planting of trees before the landscaping season begins.

Trees add beauty and value to your home, but only if you plant the right tree in the right place. The alternative -- planting trees too close to overhead electric power lines -- can sometimes lead to broken hearts and limbs.

Wind-whipped or ice-laden branches touching wires can interrupt service for hundreds of Detroit Edison customers.

"For people thinking about improving their landscaping, it's far better to plant a tree in the right place than have it grow into our lines and be trimmed back," said Al Shelton, Detroit Edison's director of line clearance.

"We understand the attachment people have with their trees and want to make sure they know what they should and shouldn't do before planting new trees."

The utility over the next few months will complete an accelerated line clearance program to improve electric service reliability. Once completed, Detroit Edison will maintain line clearance schedules on a 3 1/2- to 4-year cycle.

To avoid having your new tree grow into power lines and be subjected to a periodic trimming, Detroit Edison offers the following tree planting tips:

- Besides overhead power lines, avoid planting too close to underground utilities. Call Miss Dig at 1-800-482-7171 for utility location markings.

- Most residential lots require only one or two shade trees. Avoid the common mistake of planting too many trees or planting trees which will grow too large for their locations.

- Remember that trees branch out as well as up. To position trees correctly, know the shape and spread they will have when fully grown.

- It is usually best to plant in the spring or fall. In spring, plant after the ground has thawed but before buds appear.

- Dig the planting hole at least two feet wider and a foot deeper than the greatest spread and depth of the tree's roots. Don't coil roots in a hole. Plant the tree no deeper than it was planted originally.

- Work good soil containing compost, peat moss or organic fertilizer around all roots. Fill the hole with dirt to within one-third of its top, then flood the hole with water to settle the soil. After the water soaks in, fill in the rest of the hole. Leave a saucer-shaped depression around the tree as a catch basin.

A brochure, "Plant A Tree," offers more planting tips and makes suggestions about proper tree varieties for particular locations. Brochures are available at Detroit Edison customer offices or by calling (313) 237-6578.

Hi-tech comes to the garden

Plants in the well-tended garden of the future could be tickled by electromagnetic fields to insure resistance to drought and bumper yields.

The project isn't farfetched to the scientists who have done the research, or to the U.S. government, which has granted patent #5,007,934 to protect their work.

Physicist Abraham Liboff of Oakland University says the activities of plant and human cells can be influenced by electromagnetic fields.

He says these fields, one steady, one fluctuating at a predetermined rate, "can be fine-tuned to speed up a cell's intake of ions," in this case, calcium ions. Ions are atoms carrying positive or negative electrical charges.

Research by Liboff and colleagues at two other universities has shown that fava beans exposed to carefully calculated electromagnetic fields sprouted roots as much as 22 percent larger than those of beans not exposed.

Liboff has joined forces for this and other research with Bruce McLeod, an electrical engineering professor at Montana State University, and Stephen Smith, professor of anatomy at the University of Kentucky. They have formed Life Resonance, Inc., a small holding company in Bozeman, Mont.

The holding company has now received five patents. Liboff says all of the holding company patents and those pending relate to the magnetic control of ions across membranes and means of influencing the passage or inhibition of specific ions.

Liboff says their newest project was done with fava beans placed within copper coils with a second grouping of coils placed to produce fields that are perpendicular to those of the first coils. The fields are tuned by Liboff's formula to the characteristics of the calcium ion.

Liboff and his partners do not get involved with the manufacture and marketing of products, but prefer to license their inventions to others. He says they have already been approached by individuals and agricultural firms concerning their latest invention.

Liboff explains that ability to control plant leaf or root mass can create plants that are resistant to drought and can grow in many areas where crops are now at risk, or create crops that have greatly increased yields. Uses for the invention range from raising fruit to innovative processes in biotechnology.

Spring clean-up May 14 and 21

Independence Township will hold its annual spring clean-up days on Saturday, May 14 and May 21.

Township residents may bring their trash to the DPW building, 6050 Flemmings Lake Road, for disposal between the hours of 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. Proof of residency will be required.

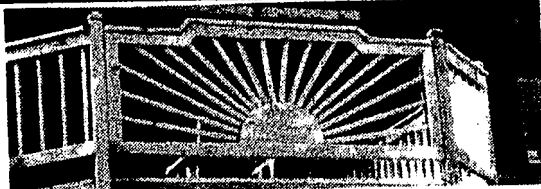

Because of recent laws governing the disposal of appliances containing Freon, refrigerators and air conditioners will be allowed but at a charge.

Items not allowed include oil drums, propane cylinders, barrels, storage tanks and vehicles and chemicals of any kind.

Each vehicle will be charged a fee for dumping. Cars are $5; single-axle trailers and trucks and vans, $10, pick-ups and flatbed trucks, $25. There is a limit of 10 tires at a cost of $1 each.

For more information call the DPW at 625-8222.

Garden tips from Grand Hotel

The Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island is renown for its extensive annual and perennial displays, rose plantings, lilacs, geraniums and wildflower meadows. More than 105,000 bedding plants (annuals) are used in Grand Hotel's gardens; one ton of bulbs are planted in the fall (including 24,000 tulips and 3,000 daffodils); and more than 2,500 geraniums are featured on Grand Hotel's famous front porch.

With that in mind, Stephen Bernhard, superintendent of grounds, offers his expert advice on how gardeners can prepare now for a "Grand" garden that can be enjoyed all summer long.

- Soil testing is important to detect missing nutrients in garden beds and lawns. At Grand Hotel, samples are sent to state testing labs every year, once every several years is usually sufficient for residential gardens. Individuals should contact local county extension agencies for information on how to test their soil.

- To insure best plant growth, build good soil fertility and structure by adding a 2-3 inch layer of compost over your entire bed.

- A good mild fertilizer for flowers of all kinds is a 5-10-5. (The three numbers refer to the three major nutrients a plant consumes: nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium.) Scratch the fertilizer into the top 2-3 inches of soil in the flower beds. Annual beds should be fertilized before planting. In the spring, fertilize existing plants around the base, being sure not to touch the plant in any way.

- Shop at reliable stores for healthy plants. Look for vigorous, white roots and disease- and pest-free tops. Gardeners should ask their local growers which plants are best for the area.

- Care for bulbs planted last fall. Recover bulbs with soil if they have become exposed over the winter; water when dry, and fertilize after blooming. For good blooms next year, let the foliage yellow completely before cutting it down.

- Raking areas of lawn not only removes winter debris and leaves, but also awakens the turf by loosening the soil and removing suffocating thatch. Lightly fertilize grass now to give it the boost it needs to flourish.

- If areas of the lawn have been damaged from the rough winter and the soil is sufficiently dry, now is the time to aerate compacted areas, top-dress with sand/top soil mix and seed. Using a blend of grasses rather than one type ensures overall better success.

- Prune late-summer flowering shrubs, including most clematis varieties, hydrangea and mahonia. Shrubs should be pruned now so that buds are not cut off as they form.

The family-owned and operated Grand Hotel, a 319-room hotel built in 1887, is the world's largest summer hotel. Located on Michigan's Mackinac Island, where no motor vehicles are permitted, the award-winning hotel is reminiscent of a bygone era.

Grand Hotel has been named one of the top 10 summer retreats in America by Travel & Leisure. The Grand opens for the 1994 season on May 13. Weekend packages are available including Games & Garden Week, August 28 - September 1, 1994, a celebration featuring daily garden tours and lawn game events; for more information and reservations, call 1-800-33-GRAND.

Popular Cranbrook garden sale returns

The Cranbrook House and Gardens Auxiliary will host the 22nd annual spring plant sale on the Cranbrook grounds May 18-19.

Included for sale will be Michigan wildflowers, miniature roses, orchids, patio container baskets, miniature decorative French wire furniture, greenhouse plants, live topiary, ferns, herbs, garden sculpture and more.

There is free parking in the Christ Church parking lot on Lone Pine Road and shuttle service will be provided to the sale.

Proceeds from the sale are used to maintain and improve the 40 acres of gardens surrounding Cranbrook House, for preservation of the sculpture in the garden, and for the upkeep and improvements on the greenhouse.

A word of warning: The sale is extremely popular and many plants sell out early, especially the wildflowers. Last year, thousands of trilliums were gone the first morning, and latecomers were disappointed.

Win prizes for green thumbs

If you think you have a great landscape, beautiful annuals, a colorful perennial garden, an awesome vegetable garden, Bordine's Better Blooms will be holding a gardening contest with a $100 gift certificate as a prize.

All interested gardeners are asked to send in a glossy colored photo by Sept. 1. The following categories will be judged: full landscapes, annuals, container gardens, perennial gardens, vegetable gardens and water gardens.

Send your photos to either Bordine location.

HONEY, I SHRUNK THE VEGGIES

Anyone with a little space and time to spare can grow and harvest their own vegetables, whether it's in a corner of the backyard or in containers on a balcony. How? Midget vegetables.

Specially adapted for small space gardening, midget vegetables help do-it-yourself growers reap the bounty of limited gardening space. With proper planting techniques and attention, the resulting "mini-garden" will yield enough fresh garden vegetables to rival the produce section of any supermarket.

Veggie Varieties

Mini-vegetables, such as cherry tomatoes and midget corn, are easy to work with and take up less space than standard veggie varieties. As a result, vegetable enthusiasts can take advantage of limited space without sacrificing great home-grown flavor. In addition, these small varieties mature weeks in advance of their full-size brethren, which allows for greater and earlier harvests.

Available through local garden supply retailers or from mail-order seed catalogs, midget vegetables prove the old adage that sometimes less is more. Essentially, the only difficult aspect of gardening with midget vegetables is choosing which of the many kinds available you would like to grow.

Putting Your Plants To Bed

Once you've selected your vegetables, it is time to prepare the planting bed. For best results, build your mini-garden in a sunny, well-drained site or container with healthy soil and ample food and water. Remember, poor soil will mean a poor harvest, so amend your planting bed with organic matter such as compost to supply needed nutrients. The addition of a balanced fertilizer will also ensure that vegetable seeds and transplants receive adequate levels of food.

When the planting bed is properly conditioned, you can begin to plant your vegetables. If starting your garden from seed, carefully follow the directions provided on the seed pack to ensure correct spacing and planting depth.

If working with transplants, remember that roots need to be handled gently to avoid transplant shock. Also, make sure plants are set deep into the new plant bed; exposed roots invite disease, pests and an inevitably poor harvest. Cover the prepared planting bed with a landscape fabric such as WeedBlock from Easy Gardener, Inc. Such a fabric will protect transplants against the harmful effects of invading weeds and helps conserve water.

Whether you are starting your garden from seed or using transplants, proper watering is essential for hearty vegetables. Water dissolves nutrients present in the soil

HOME & GARDEN FEATURES

MIDGET VEGGIES HAVE GIANT APPEAL — To guarantee a bountiful harvest from your minigarden, cover newly sown seeds and transplants with FastStart plant and seed blanket from Easy Gardener, Inc.

so they can be absorbed by hungry plant roots. It also stimulates seed germination by softening the seed coat and causing the seed embryo to swell and expand. Regular and thorough watering will increase the yield and size of each year's harvest.

To give newly planted seeds and transplants added protection from pests and frost, cover them with Fast Start, a plant and seed blanket. Simply lay the lightweight, clear fabric over the garden bed, allowing adequate room for plant growth, and secure with pegs or heavy objects.

Acting as a protective sheeting, Fast Start will block out harmful insects and frost, producing a beneficial greenhouse environment for the young and fragile plants. In addition, sunlight and water will be able to penetrate the fabric as it warms the soil and plant life below. Once the outside temperature reaches 85 degrees, remove the Fast Start fabric so flourishing plants are not subjected to overheating.

Easy to create and maintain, mini-gardens and midget vegetables give everyone the opportunity to enjoy the greatest pleasure of growing vegetables — a bountiful harvest.

Other tasty vegetables include:

"Tom Thumb" lettuce — Crisp and green, this compact head lettuce produces more heads per square foot than any other heading variety. Fresh loose leaves are the perfect base for any salad.

"Short 'n Sweet" carrots — Medium to small in size, these crunchy, orange delights add a dash of color and flavor to any meal. Cooked, sliced or diced carrots can also be used as flavoring for breads and cakes.

"Green Comet" broccoli — One of the easiest members of the cabbage family to grow, this variety is popular among experienced gardeners. Delicious when served raw or freshly cooked as a vegetable side dish.

"Pixie" tomatoes — Widely considered one of America's most popular vegetables, this variety of tomato is the earliest-ripening. Its compact vines grow no larger than 18 inches tall producing sweet, juicy fruit perfect for salads, soups and homemade tomato sauce.

Environmental news

BE CAREFUL WITH BUG BOMBS: Total release insecticide foggers are effective but misuse can result in explosion or fire, according to the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Since the addition of aerosol propellants (which have replaced the outlawed CFCs) some mishaps have been reported. In one case, a resident used 14 foggers in a 750-square-foot apartment, blowing out the doors and caving in the ceiling. In another case, a house was destroyed when an air conditioner circulated the propellants to the basement, where they were ignited by a pilot light.

As with all chemicals, read the label carefully, says Dr Gordon Guyer of MDA. Don't use more than directed, and turn off pilot lights and any appliances that create a spark.

CHOSING A LAWN SERVICE: The Eastern Michigan Environmental Action Council recommends asking for a list of chemicals that may be used when hiring a lawn-care service. Other things you should know: how long you must keep off the lawn, how long each chemical persists in the environment, and whether the company will furnish a written contract specifying what is sprayed and when.

LADYBUG, LADYBUG, DON'T FLY AWAY: Garden catalogues will sell you ladybugs, which eat some harmful insects in your garden, but how do you keep them from flying away?

Researchers have found that ladybugs collected right after hibernation in the wild must first satisfy their natural instinct to migrate from their hibernation site—up to four miles in the first 24 hours of their release. Only then will they eat.

Now, some catalogues are selling ladybugs that have already migrated. They are "preconditioned" in a controlled environment, where they awake from hibernation and "fly off" in search of food. Only then are they shipped to gardeners.

Neem oil protects plants

BY HANK BECKER

USDA Agricultural Research Service

An oil extracted from neem tree seeds covers ornamental plant leaves like a raincoat, stopping nasty fungi from infecting the plant.

Wind and splashing raindrops spread disease-causing spores of fungi. "If the spores can't adhere to a leaf, germinate and penetrate the leaf cells, they can't cause the disease," says Jim Locke, a U.S. Department of Agriculture plant pathologist.

Locke says numerous tests found that a spray of one-percent neem oil in water gave hydrangeas, lilacs and phlox 95 to 100 percent protection against powdery mildew. Powdery mildew causes leaves to turn white and drop on the soil, where the spores can reinfect the plant.

A single spray was sufficient to protect the ornamentals from infection. Repeated applications at 7- to 14-day intervals provided disease protection without any damage to the plants.

On plants where mildew had begun to develop, the scientist says, "it was arrested, providing control comparable to each of three chemical fungicides."

Locke says the oil, the first botanical product to exhibit fungicidal properties, has been field-tested the past four years by the Floral and Nursery Plant Research Unit at the Beltsville, Md., Agricultural Research Center. "We're working now to discover how the neem oil protects the plant from infection," he says.

Against another disease, black spot, the neem oil did well in laboratory tests of roses. Locke says the oil "seems to delay infection by black spot -- the number one disease of roses. As a result, rose bushes lose fewer leaves."

Neem trees are members of the mahogany family and are native to India. They require a frost-free climate and will grow in West Africa, the Caribbean, Australia, southern Florida, several southwestern states and Hawaii.

Locke says the botanical insecticides, Margosan-O and BioNeem, also come from neem seeds. Their active ingredient, azadirachtin, does not have fungicidal activity. He is testing the oil as a fungicide that may be commercially available in a year.

Fish free June 11-12

Michigan's ninth-annual free fishing weekend will be observed June 11-12.

During those days, no fishing license or trout/salmon stamp will be required to fish in Michigan. This applies to both the Great Lakes and inland waters, and to residents and non-residents alike. All other fishing regulations still apply.

Michigan's annual free fishing weekend provides a great opportunity for experienced anglers to introduce fishing to children, friends or family members who have never had the chance to try this sport. This year's event will continue to focus on first-time fishing opportunities for both young and adult anglers.

Fishing contest: Independence Oaks will be a site for the Oakland County Parks and Recreation summer-long fishing contest.

Entries must be registered the day of the catch for the free contest. Fishing rods and reels will be presented to the winners of categories for various fish.

For more information call 625-0877.

Proper Lawn Care Reduces Harmful Emissions by 32 Percent

(NU) - Engine manufacturers are developing lawn mower engines that produce far less air pollution than older models.

Although emissions from off-road gas or diesel-powered engines contribute only 2.6 percent of the total emissions currently added to the air, controlling emissions is a serious task. Manufacturers are working to eliminate even fractions of emissions given off by their products. For example, Briggs & Stratton Corporation has developed a gasoline engine that can power a lawn mower for 38 years before it produces the amount of emissions emitted by a newer model car driven for 10,000 miles.

But protecting the earth's natural resources is everyone's responsibility. And according to engine maker Briggs & Stratton, there is a lot that lawnmower users can do to further reduce air pollution. Here are some of their tips for reducing fuel and engine emissions:

• Avoid Gasoline Spills.

The average spill causes as much pollution as operating a mower for one hour. Prevent spills by buying a "non-spill" gas container and filling the fuel tank only 3/4 full. Close the refueling container's vent for storage to reduce evaporated emissions. Don't leave the refueling container in the sun, and store it in a cool place. Also avoid tipping the mower during maintenance when the tank is full.

• Reduce Mowing Time.

Sharpen the mower blade regularly, keep the underside of the deck clean and cut the grass in the most time-efficient manner to keep the running time to a minimum.

• Keep It Maintained.

Use lead-free gasoline and up to 10 percent ethanol. Use 30-weight oil for summer temperatures and change the oil after 20-25 hours of use (recycling the oil). Clean or replace the air cleaner elements at least every three months. Maintain correct carburetor adjustment and tune up regularly.

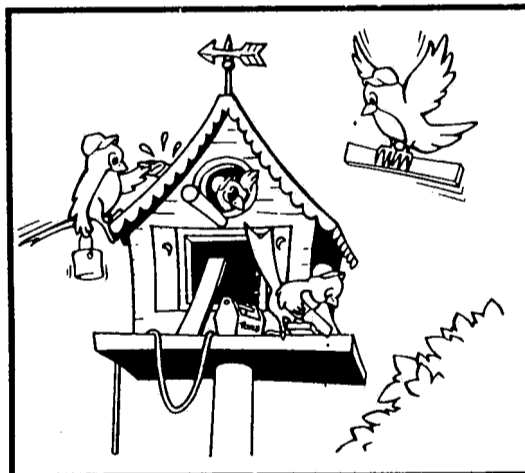

In addition to reducing emissions, practice environmentally sound yard maintenance by mulching or composting grass clippings. Finally, plant more grass and trees. It's nature's way of reducing potential pollution by converting carbon dioxide into oxygen.

Briggs & Stratton is the world's largest producer of air-cooled gasoline engines for outdoor power equipment and locks for automobiles and trucks. It designs, manufactures, markets and services these products for power equipment manufacturers worldwide.

Fry now, pay later

Now that warm weather is finally here, people are getting ready for summer. For many, this often means going to the tanning booth or laying out to get some color on pale skin.

"Prolonged exposure to the sun, even in the tanning booth, can lead to skin cancer later in life," said Mark Balle, MD, a dermatologist at Henry Ford Hospital. "The incidence of skin cancer increased over 500 percent between 1950 and 1985."

More than 700,000 Americans will be diagnosed with skin cancer this year alone, making it the most common form of cancer in the U.S. One in six Americans will develop some form of skin cancer in their lifetime. Yet most cases can be avoided, Balle said.

"At least 75 percent of all skin cancers can be prevented if simple precautions are taken against the sun's ultraviolet radiation," he said.

Physicians at Henry Ford Hospital recommend the following precautions:

- Minimize exposure, especially during the peak hours of 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. when the sun's rays are most intense.
- Wear protective clothing during prolonged periods in the sun, such as sun hats and long sleeves.
- Apply a sunscreen with a Sun Protection Factor (SPF) of at least 15 liberally and frequently. Reapply every two hours when swimming or sweating.
- Keep infants out of the sun and teach children about sun protection. The majority of sun damage occurs before the age of 20.
- Avoid tanning parlors and sun lamps. The ultraviolet rays can cause sunburn, premature aging of the skin and risk of skin cancer.

Tree Topics

(NAPS)—Cleaner air, less damage from floods and many more environmental benefits come from planting trees, experts agree.

That's why the Community Tree Planting Program of the National Tree Trust is so important. The Trust, a non-profit group created as part of the 1990 "America the Beautiful" campaign, receives seedlings from a coalition of forest product companies across the country which makes up its Tree Bank. These seedlings are generally one year old and can be either plug or bareroot. The Trust will provide volunteer groups with an available species list and their general seed source.

If appropriate seedling stock is not available from the Tree Bank, the Trust will work with a local volunteer agency to arrange for the collection, processing and storage of suitable seeds for the region. The nurseries participating in the Tree Bank will receive the seeds, plant them and raise the seedlings. The seedlings will then be used for the Community or Highway Tree Planting Program in the region where the seeds were collected.

Community Tree Planting programs promote the "greening" of America.

Grow a giant pumpkin

"We want to involve the whole family and have the contest open ended. This was real important to Don. He has kids. He wanted the whole family to participate in this... to try and grow a big pumpkin," Gavette said.

Adults can enter pumpkins that have been etched while in the growing process.

"Pumpkins will scar if the skin is cut or scratched," Gavette said. "Our contest will just be bringing that healing tendency and people's imaginations and artistic talents together to make a living, growing masterpiece."

Gavette will be running programs on his cable access program through out the summer which will help the grower get a huge pumpkin — check your local listings for air times.

For more information and the free pumpkin seeds, send a self-addressed envelope to Don Van Houtte at the above address or write Larry Gavette at Waterford Public Access, 1300 Crescent Lake Road, Waterford, 48327 or call him at 674-3622.

Master gardener

plants moist longer while recycling the leaves.

Trese has abundant flowers from mid-March until the first hard frost of the fall. "I love to see a sea of color," she said.

She became a master gardener in 1980 after a semester of classes offered by the Cooperative Extension Service. She also has taken landscaping classes at Oakland Community College.

Still, she said gardening has been full of trial and error. "I did learn a lot from landscaping classes, but I've learned more from doing it," she said.

When she isn't tending her own garden she is planting flowers and pulling weeds in the gardens and flower barrels owned by the village of Ortonville. She's taught wildflower classes for 4-H and parenting classes for community education.

On top of it all, Trese is a senior at Spring Arbor College and plans to teach parenting classes when she receives her bachelor's degree.

All of the Trese children who are old enough have graduated from college; seven have masters degrees and three have doctorates. "I've been going to school since the first one went to college," she said with a laugh.

Through all her studies and time raising children, she still finds time to spend in her gardens.

"Gardening is sort of like raising children," she said. "You provide warmth, attention, time and once in awhile pruning. It's exciting for me to do."
