MEA president here tonight

Dump Engler campaign begins

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Getting rid of Governor John Engler will be the focus of a speech by Julius Maddox, president of the Michigan Education Association, at Clarkston High School June 1 at 6:30 p.m.

Teachers and support staff from the Clarkston, Brandon, Orion and Oxford school districts have been invited to attend the rally, which is timed to reach them before they disperse for the summer vacation.

Clarkston school superintendent Gary Haner said he learned of the rally when someone faxed him the anonymous flyer circulating in the district.

The flyer says "Out with Engler now," then, "Come to an old-fashioned rally."

It's SCAMP tour weekend

It's the weekend house buffs and supporters of SCAMP have been waiting for.

June 4-5 brings Clarkston Home Tour XII, a close-up peek at five distinctive homes and two gardens in Clarkston and Independence Township.

Saturday from 6:30 to 9 p.m. there will be a champagne reception and auction at the clapboard church on Main Street following the show's premiere. Tickets are $50 per person and available in advance from SCAMP or at the corner of Main and Washington St. at 6:15 that evening.

On Sunday, four hours are noon to 5 p.m. Tickets are $20 and include lunch at the Clarkston Cafe from 1-4 p.m. for the first 400 ticket holders.

Tickets will be available Saturday at Main and Washington from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. A shuttle service will depart periodically to the homes, several of which can be reached on foot from downtown.

The home tour is one of the largest fund raisers for SCAMP, which provides a five-week summer day camp for children and adults with special needs.

For more information call SCAMP at 625-3330.

Garland owner meets public, press

BY DEBORAH DZIEWIT
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Filling the ever growing need of people to hit a white dimpled ball across carefully manicured grass is the ultimate goal of Garland owner Ron Otto.

In plans announced last week and formally announced at a news conference May 26, Otto proposes to lease land from the Detroit Province of the Society of Jesus at Colombiere Center to carve out a 36-hole golf course with all the trimmings.

"We have signed a document on an agreement to agree," Barry Owens, manager of Garland resort, said. "But I can't tell the details of the agreement."

But it doesn't mean that the health care facility for Jesuits and a treatment/conference center will change.

"Our objectives at Colombiere have not changed at all. We have found in the Garland Golf Park concept a way in which to utilize the land around the facility that is both conducive and harmonious to our purposes at the center," the Rev. Joseph Daoust, S.J., provincial of the Detroit province Jesuits, said.

The course would weave its way through 410 acres of almost "virgin timber," with the beginning and end of four nine-hole course surrounding a Colonial French styled clubhouse, according to Joe Reske, a landscape architect who is part of the design team.

The new Garland course would reflect the traditions that began at the Lewiston resort, which encompasses a commitment to the environment, Otto said at the press conference held at Colombiere May 26.

"Along with being challenging, a round of golf should be aesthetically pleasing, and should provide the golf with the refreshing feeling of a walk in the park," Otto said.

"Garland Golf Park is designed to accomplish that. The property at Colombiere allows me to recreate the northern Michigan experience right here in suburban Detroit."

Construction is proposed to begin in 1995 with a completion date set at 1996 or early 1997.

"We will more than likely start with 18 first, then the next 18 two years after," Owens said.

However, as of yet, no formal plan has been submitted by the Garland organization to Springfield Township officials who would have to approve plans

The news in brief

Kildee to visit

U.S. Rep. Dale Kildee (D, Flint) will speak at a town hall meeting sponsored by United We Stand America, on Friday, June 3 at 7 p.m. at the Independence Township Hall. The public is invited to attend.

Kids with guns could be expelled

The state Senate approved a bill May 25 that would require students who bring guns to school to be expelled.

Senate Bill 966 requires a 90-day expulsion for students fifth grade or lower in possession of a gun or dangerous weapon, 180 days for grades six-12. The student could not be enrolled in another school district during the expulsion.

The bill now moves to the House.

Local control of tobacco may return

An amendment passed the Michigan Senate last week that would restore local government control over the sale and use of tobacco products.

Current law does not allow communities to enact ordinances making buildings smoke-free, prohibiting advertising or distribution of free samples of tobacco products.

The bill now goes to the state House.

'Do not resuscitate' bill passes Senate

A bill which allows patients not to be resuscitated by emergency personnel passed the Michigan Senate May 24 with strong bipartisan support.

Current law requires emergency personnel to attempt to resuscitate a patient in a non-hospital setting with no vital signs. The new law allows a patient to execute an order with their doctor and wear a "do not resuscitate" bracelet.

The bill would exempt emergency personnel from liability in such cases, and prohibits life-insurance companies from refusing coverage to people with such orders.

The bill now moves on to the House.

Take a stroll for epilepsy

The Summer Stroll for Epilepsy will be held Saturday, June 4 at Addison Oaks County Park near Romeo and Rochester roads.

The five-mile walk will be held rain or shine. Registration begins at 9 a.m., the stroll at 10 a.m. Teams and individual walkers will raise pledges to benefit the Epilepsy Center of Michigan.

All walkers and their families are also entitled to enjoy all-day activities at the park, including boating, fishing, swimming and disc golf. The OAKlowns will be on hand and there will be free food and beverage for all strollers. Detroit's own White Lace will provide live musical entertainment.

Clarkston man named to Council on Deafness

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

No one ever says no to Ron Swartz.

So says Marcy Colton, Director of Deaf Community Advocacy Network in Pontiac, formerly called Community Services for the Hearing Impaired. She has worked with Swartz, the organization's president, for the past five years.

"He has taught me a tremendous amount — how to get things done, deal with people... He's been like a mentor for me."

That positive spirit and leadership ability are undoubtedly two qualities that propelled Swartz, of Clarkston, into Governor Engler's Advisory Council on Deafness. Swartz is one of 11 new appointments to the council which is composed of equal parts hearing and hearing-impaired Michigan citizens.

Under the State Department of Labor, the Commission on Handicapper Concerns houses DOD which is concerned with matters pertaining to hearing-impaired individuals. As a representative of the deaf community, Swartz, who has been deaf since the age of five, will seek to advocate for them.

During his term there, which will expire in January 1996, Swartz hopes to address issues such as illiteracy and employment.

"Usually the deaf [person] graduates from high school with fourth- or fifth-grade reading skills or worse," he said.

Therefore, there is a great need for qualified sign language interpreters in classrooms or other public settings such as courts and hospitals. Even in financial situations, such as negotiating and applying for mortgages, interpreters are needed, he said.

Currently Michigan rates seventh in deaf population but only 47th in interpreter provision. Out of the state's total population of nine million, 600,000 are deaf, almost half of Michigan's estimated 1.5 million handicapped people. So the need is astounding.

"Because of a new federal law, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the ADA requires the courts, schools... to provide interpreters and cover the expenses incurred," Swartz said.

"But we have problems meeting the demands. There are not enough nationally certified interpreters available to meet those demands."

In order to meet this great need one of Swartz's suggestions is to recruit more interpreters from other states.

Chris Hunter, director of DOD, who is also deaf, says he feels the situation has improved somewhat over the last few years. Now, he says, there are probably as many as 450 qualified interpreters in the state.

"That probably changes the rank a little," he said.

Hunter added that it can take almost six years to become a good interpreter and pass a series of "QA" or level exams. But even then, he stresses, sign language skills alone do not a good interpreter make.

"It's like learning to play golf. There are too many principles and movements of body parts. This is also true of sign language — learning it not only with the hands, but the body and facial expressions also."

Swartz knows how important an interpreter is to a deaf person. A few years ago he had to push for interpreters within his classes at Oakland University. His persistence to get the grants that would cover this expense paid off and in 1990 Swartz became the first deaf person to graduate from OU. He received a bachelor's in general studies with a minor in engineering.

Currently a student at the University of Detroit-

Purtan's sidekick talks to teens

Like many other students, about all sixth-graders Mike Renda and Tom Forst knew about Doc Andrews was that he was a sportscaster on WKQI — 95.5 FM and that their parents listened to that station.

"He's the sportscaster on Q-95. I think he does some sports on TV. I've seen him on TV before," said Renda, 12.

His friend Forst, 12, knew that Andrews, whose real first name is Mark, was "on radio, TV and a dwarf."

But after Andrews, a 4-foot-7-inch bundle of energy and one of radio host Dick Purtan's many morning sidekicks, spoke they would know more. Clarkston Middle School students gathered during two 45-minute assemblies in the school's gym last Wednesday to hear motivational speaker Andrews' messages. And hopefully Renda, Forst, and other Mercy, Swartz is now seeking a master's in business administration.

Swartz lives in Clarkston with his wife Janice and sons Anthony, 6, and Warren, 3, who are not hearing impaired. He has been a GM employee for the past 17 years and presently works as an HVAC (heating, ventilation and air conditioning) development engineer at the plant in Pontiac.

Besides his sign language which is graceful and fluent, Swartz uses TDD's (telecommunications devices for the deaf) which allow him to type phone conversations. He also relies on electronic voice mail through a computer system and just plain paper for written messages. All are examples of the communication he needs to get by at home and in the office.

A concerned father about his own boys, Swartz also hopes to awaken parents of deaf or hearing-impaired children to the help that's available.

"Parents — they are unaware or do not know the deaf culture or our agency (Deaf CAN) which advocates a lot of things. There are programs to help parents — sign language classes, telecaptioned devices like TV decoders, teletype machines, deaf clubs," he said. But he feels many parents are "ignorant, too busy or too poor" to go for these services, though he feels the latter is no excuse.

TDD's, for example, can be purchased by paying into your phone bill an amount as low as $6 per month, he said.

Hunter says he is very pleased to have Swartz on the council because "he's very outspoken on issues on deafness." But perhaps the highest praise comes from Swartz's wife.

"You'll never meet another guy like him. He never gives up," she said.

sixth- and seventh-graders would carry some of those positive ideas about goals, successes and dreams home, along with their textbooks.

Before the second assembly which began at 1:30 p.m., teacher Joan Hessel, who had invited Andrews to speak after reading about him in a Sterling Heights newspaper, told students how Andrews affected her every morning.

"He puts me in a good mood at 6:00 in the a.m. so I can be in a good mood when I face you," she said.

Andrews began his speech by saying that "today is the greatest day of my life" because "I'm alive." He encouraged students to be thankful for that, quipping that he had learned "57 people didn't make it" after reading the obituaries that day.

But mainly, Andrews was there to relate to sixth- and seventh-graders his own personal experiences. He also related those of several well-known Detroit personalities who had achieved success even when faced with overwhelming odds or handicaps.

Andrews, who grew up in Fraser near Mt. Clemens, had dreams of becoming a pro basketball player for the NBA. Referring to himself as "verti-

Kammer, O'Neill begin debate season

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

The verbal jousting in which candidates define their differences has begun in the race for the Republican nomination for the U.S. House.

Kerry Kammer and Megan O'Neill, both of Clarkston, met before the North Area Citizens Conference last week at the Orion Township Library. About 50 people attended the meeting.

The NACC is an organization devoted to the environment and slow growth in northern Oakland and southern Lapeer counties. And right from their opening statements, it was clear both candidates had done their homework.

But it didn't take long for Kammer to attack O'Neill on the topic of the environment. The two candidates don't disagree on much, but on wetlands, they are on opposite sides of the fence.

O'Neill believes designating land as wetlands constitutes taking of property and that owners should be compensated by the government. Kammer says if that should ever come to pass, there would be no wetlands designation, and no wetlands at all.

In his opening remarks, Kammer pointed to his environmental record in the Michigan Senate and said he doesn't believe wetland protection is confiscation.

"Now there's another candidate in this room who suggested compensation was in order," he said.

O'Neill stepped to the microphone and stood firmly behind her position. "You must also protect our fifth-amendment property rights," she said. "Our government must compensate for confiscation. I strongly believe that."

O'Neill hammered away at Kammer as a "career politician," a label he declines.

"I don't really think of myself as a career politician," he said. "I'm 45 years old. I was a politician for 12 years."

Kammer shot back at O'Neill's perceived lack of experience. "People ask me, 'Why are you running, Kerry?' It's not because I need a job. I have a job. It's because I'm concerned."

NACC president Henry Gleisner called the evening "lively" and said the exchanges between the two candidates were "interesting and spirited." His organization will endorse one of the candidates some time before the primary, he said.

"We are trying to further sensible ecological issues," he said. "We want sensible development... In the 21st century these issues will be some of the most important national security issues this country can face. The little things we are talking about will become more and more important, and more contentious."

On most other matters of policy, the candidates largely agree. On a question from former Orion Township Supervisor JoAnne Van Tassel, who asked what the first thing is they'd do to reduce the deficit:

Kammer: "The thing that will do the most to cut spending is term limitation. So the first thing I would support is strong term limits."

O'Neill: supports a balanced budget and spending cuts, starting with Congress itself. Calling it "the imperial Congress," she said Congress should be subject to the laws it passes for the rest of the country.

In response to a question on how they could make a difference:

O'Neill: "I have worked in the private sector. I have also worked in government. I think it's more important to have people from the private sector."

Kammer: "I did perform. I think my legislative achievements are second to none."

On the recent ban on assault weapons: Both are against it.

On universal health care: Both are against it, saying the country can't afford it.

On schools of choice: Both are for it, and against the federal government setting school policies.

The property is currently zoned residential and while a golf course could be permitted, Garland would need to apply for a special use permit.

"No proposal has been submitted," Nancy Strole, township clerk said. "We have had initial contact with Garland (Otto) and his staff a month ago — informal meetings at the initiative of Mr. Otto and they informed us of their plans. The second meeting they showed us the concept drawing (it appears to be the same as at the news conference) . . . but that's the way things stand now."

Once Garland submits a plan, it would begin with an initial reviews with the Springfield consultants.

Revisions could be asked and then the planning commission would begin its review.

"Ultimate approval is with the township board," Strole said.

Plans are in the works and Garland officials will present a plan within 30 to 60 days to the township for review, according to Owens.

A Waterford resident who owns property near by the proposed course attended the press conference to discover what impact the course would have on his land. He looks forward to the day a Garland golf course would be within minutes of home.

"I'm here to see what is going on with Garland," Mark Schwalm said. "I like the Garland organization. I own land near their course up north and I golf there. I'm excited that there might be a Garland so close to home."

Ron Otto, owner of Garland, greets the press while at Colomblere, Thursday. He has proposed to build the Garland Golf Park on the acreage surrounding Colomblere.

MEA to rally

Haner said the local teachers' union had booked the CHS auditorium for a meeting. They customarily are allowed to book school facilities at no cost.

But when Haner found out an MEA rally was to take place, he revoked the free rent.

"This is obviously nothing to do with Clarkston schools," he said. "My guess is it's probably something they're going to do across the state."

Clarkston Education Association president Bill Curtis said he was approached by the union's district chairman, Al Bartlett, a CHS teacher, to rent the space.

"This is not a school-district sponsored thing," he said. "It's to get teachers to vote in the primary. It's kind of hard to get them in the summer."

An MEA spokesperson said Maddox is planning to appear at similar gatherings throughout the state this summer. "This is one of many," she said.

Curtis was concerned about the timing of the Clarkston meeting, which was scheduled because Maddox was available that evening. The meeting is one week before graduation. Nevertheless he feels it's important.

"In the last 24 months the tide has turned," he said. "We need more people to get actively involved in the political process."

Climbing interest rates burst the bubble

Someone will have to explain to me how raising the interest rates controls inflation. If you understand, please give me a call.

About a month or so ago, the Dennis and I thought we had found our dream house. It was more money than we ever thought we'd spend, but it had a lot to offer, and with a little creative financing, it appeared to be within reach.

At the time, interest rates were so low we were actually surprised how low the payments would be. Coupled with Proposal A's drop in property taxes, the house almost seemed like a bargain.

But wait. Something beyond our control happened and the deal was put on hold. Then we sat back and waited, wondering whether we'd get the house, and wondering if we'd still be able to afford it.

Because, of course, interest rates chose that moment to begin their climb back up from the cellar. They've gone up a couple of times, perhaps a total of two points, in the interim. Suddenly the house isn't looking like such a great deal.

So I'm confused: isn't inflation when prices go up? The Fed is deliberately raising the price of housing. I've been reading the papers, and I see where the official explanation is that it's supposed to control inflation. But we haven't been having inflation, have we?

The dictionary defines inflation as an increase in the general price level, or an excessive or persistent increase, causing a decline in purchasing power.

That decline in purchasing power is just exactly what the Fed has brought about with its actions, it seems to me. I don't see where prices had been excessively or persistently increasing before the Fed took action.

I've been looking for answers, but even the famous writers in the big newspapers seem to be perplexed by the logic.

I've been a homeowner, in total, for about 14 years. During that time the market has made some amazing swings.

When we were ready to buy our first house, interest rates were so high (16 percent) that mortgages were just plain not available. So we bought on a land contract, with five years to hope we could get a mortgage.

In less than five years, things changed enough so we could get a mortgage. By that time the adjustable-rate mortgage had been invented, to help both lenders and borrowers cope with the wild fluctuations.

During the intervening years, we've always had an ARM, and most years the rate has gone down. Only a couple of times in all those years did interest rates rise enough to trigger a change in our interest rate.

In the last couple of years rates got so low all kinds of new products came on the market. Appar-

Teachers should be applauded

Quietly and without fanfare, the Clarkston Education Association, the teachers' union, signed a one-year contract extension with a pay freeze last week.

The teachers voted overwhelmingly to support the freeze, according to CEA president Bill Curtis, who was also responsible for bringing in a signed contract with a one-year freeze for the support staff.

The settlements allow the school district to go into the June millage election without having to worry about voter backlash. And whatever the underlying reasons are for the settlements, congratulations are due.

Teachers have been getting a bad rap lately. They were once considered dedicated public servants. But as their wages have risen and their union become more powerful, they have become the target of unhappy taxpayers.

And it hasn't always been without cause. When voters see their own paychecks shrinking vis a vis the economy, then watch school employees continue to get raises year after year, it's no wonder they're angry.

Maybe Clarkston teachers knew that. Or maybe they just wanted to make sure the June millage would be successful.

Still, they could have chosen this year to go for broke. A new state law goes into effect next year that will impose severe penalties on teachers who strike.

Therefore, it could have been expected that teachers would have held out this year for contract concessions, perhaps to the point of strike.

The option was considered, Curtis said, and rejected. Teachers understood voters would not look favorably on a millage they felt was lining teachers' wallets.

We're glad they understand that. And we're glad they took the initiative to get the settlement ratified before the June election.

The settlement doesn't mean everything's OK now. The school district is still facing a shortfall in next year's budget that will most likely require some uncomfortable decision making.

However, we hope residents will remember come fall that those decisions are not the fault of the teachers. They bit the bullet when it was necessary. The rest of the problems will have to be worked out as districts all over the state get used to financing under Proposal A. AK

Senator DeConcini (D-Arizona) said, "Around 7 million documents are classified each year (by our government), about one each second for a 40-hour week." Such secrecy adds emphasis to our reasons for not trusting Washington.

We've been in very few businesses where so many people are as friendly as they are at Sam Allen's junk yard in Pontiac. Too, we've been in few places as fascinating as Sam Allen's. Once I tell everyone I'm going to do something, I really try to follow through.

Of course — it all depends on what I say I'm going to do — but this latest was something I could do.

Run a race.

I began seriously training for the race more than six weeks ago. I know it wasn't much time, but I worked my way up from running a mile to three miles. Slow and steady I would add another eighth or more each day.

The week before the race, the three miles seemed easier and easier to run. I added hills. I made it to the top without stopping.

I was ready for the Fun Daze 5 k race Saturday. My first race ever.

I woke up Saturday morn at 5 a.m. with butterflies banging and my heart keeping time to some supersonic song, I wandered my home while the sun rose in the east . . . thinking.

The I can'ts welled up and bubbled like hot creamy oatmeal. With each bursting bubble popped another reason I could not race surfaced.

As I put on my shorts, I thought, "I can't, I don't know anybody." As I put on my shirt, "What if I fail . . . I can't run three miles." As I laced my shoes, "I can't, I'm not in good enough shape yet."

But some ounce of determination remained. It quieted my fears as I drove into Clarkston two hours early for the race.

Music blasted from the stand in the parking lot at Depot Park as I registered. I told everyone who would listen — "This is my first race."

It wasn't until I pinned the number on my shirt that I knew I would be in that race. Butterflies, desert mouth, banging heart would not keep me from the starting line.

I joined more than 350 runners and walkers at the Main and Depot starting line.

The gun went off and I jumped — up not out. It took an instant before I realized that the race had begun.

People streamed around me — Captain Optimist in his bright red cape and his two children up front in the cart — the older man who said if I stood in front I would get run over, men, women, kids, young, old, in shape out of shape, all flowed around me.

I quickly squashed the "Everyone is faster than me," and instead focused on getting a rhythm — a running to my own beat — while more and more runners passed me.

I hit my beat within the first three quarters of a mile. I was running a race.

The first mile — 8:17. The second — 17:43. The clock read 27:23 as I crossed the finish — hot and dripping sweat, with no fanfare, no family — really no one to witness and cheer what I thought a remarkable glorious finish.

But that was ok. I did it. I didn't need anyone to tell me I did all right. It was enough for me that I finished the race standing up.

But everyone else I met that day — friends, grocery clerks, strangers on the street — knew I had run a race. I kept my number on my shirt all day, and whether asked or not — I bragged proudly — "I ran my first race today. I came in 11 out of 22 in my age group and I was 125 overall."

Not bad for a first race — not bad for a just quit ex-smoker who will turn the big 40 this summer. Yep, not bad at all.

Who's on first is secondary at new parks

Recent telecasts of Detroit Tigers games from Toronto, Cleveland and Arlington, Texas, featured repeated, athletically thrilling pictures of people eating and drinking while sitting at tables.

It was enough to make a cynic suspect Tigers owner Mike Ilitch instructed the camera operators to show the viewers back home how exciting baseball would be in Detroit if Cecil Fielder and Alan Trammell were cocktail waiters.

Geez, if Martina Navratilova were a big league baseball player, she'd have a stroke, overhead.

Navratilova recently complained about tennis fans and players being distracted from the competition by the occasional ring of cellular phones.

Hey, distraction from the game is what baseball is all about in new ballparks like the one Ilitch wants taxpayers to help build next to his theater and restaurants in downtown Detroit.

Forget hot dogs and beer that drip on your lap in the bleachers. If you can afford it, you can glance occasionally at the game between taking forked bites of a three-course meal served on table linen, with the appropriate wines.

You can enjoy the private bar in a luxury suite. Watch one of several TV sets. Use the fax machine. Phone your broker. Stretch out and take a nap.

Never mind what's the score. What's the game? Who's playing?

The purpose of the new baseball parks is to make it easier for wealthy spectators to do anything except watch the baseball game. It's like going to a three-hour movie and watching the popcorn counter for two hours.

In Cleveland, there's even a glass wall on the home dugout that spares the luxuriously seated from having to worry about seeing a lousy throw or a dropped fly; instead they can watch their favorite players scratch and spit in the dugout.

And in Toronto, while waiting for room service, you can watch the game through your hotel room window, while thousands of bored baseball fans look back at you, hoping you're on your honeymoon and forgot to close the drapes.

It's either that or go to the food court to play pinball or ride the merry-go-round until the fireworks start.

What's it all mean? It means the National League and the American League are admitting their product is boring.

The games are too long and the talent of overpaid mercenary athletes is ever-thinning to accommodate the ever-growing number of teams. The best way to watch today's games is at home or at work, on TV, while changing channels, reading the paper, sewing a quilt, earning a living, eating three meals and getting eight hours of sleep between innings.

So what are the owners doing to keep the fans buying tickets to the ballpark?

What they should be doing is order the managers to stay in the dugout, the batters to stay in the batter's box, the pitchers to stay on the mound, and the umpires to call a strike a strike instead of a ball.

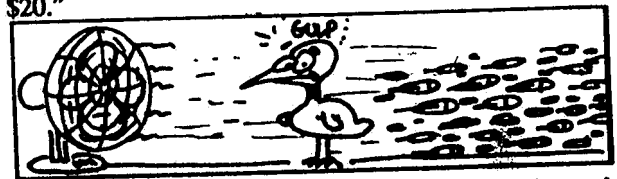

But instead, for customers with lots of cash, they're building stadia that are a home away from home, a bar and grille away from restaurant, an office away from office building, and an amusement park away from Disney.

The idea is if you get tired of watching the constant changing of the pitchers, don't fret, there are many more interesting things to do at the ballpark.

That is if you can afford the luxury of doing something at a baseball game except watch it.

It is easy to see where baseball-with-built-in-distractions is leading us. Someday the sign on the stadium box office will say:

"No Game Today, But Ticket Prices Raised Only $20."

Clarkston girls is Discovery Kid

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Juliana Martin has always had abundant energy. She found a good way to channel some of it when she was recently picked from 250 area youngsters to be a part of the Summit Place Discovery Kids, a children's performing troupe. They will entertain and model in fashion shows, seasonal revues and center activities at the mall during the next year.

The 8-year-old Clarkston third-grader who attends Brandon's H.T. Burt Elementary School possesses an easy smile and perky personality. Now she's one of the 22 Discovery Kids who were selected during two full Saturday auditions last month.

During the first audition Juliana said she had to smile, walk, turn and sing one of four selected songs. She chose "Twinkle Twinkle Little Star." For the second audition she brought in a favorite cassette tape and sang and danced to the music using her own imagination. Was she confident about trying out?

"Yeah," Juliana said, wrinkling her freckled nose with typical 8-year-old candor. "But I was really nervous. I felt a little shy 'cause some of the other kids looked so flexible — but I'm really flexible too."

Much of that limberness is due to gymnastics begun when Juliana was five. Her mother Mary said it was a good outlet for her child.

"I started her in gymnastics because she was jumping off the coffee table and climbing everything. She always had a lot of energy," Mary said.

A brief session with dance classes when 3 wasn't satisfying.

"The kids goofed around too much. It was too boring," Juliana said.

When she began her gymnastics training Juliana found it more suitable "because gymnastics was more active and I like active things. I could jump around more and be a little wilder," said Juliana. She proudly displays several ribbons and awards she has won during the past few years.

The busy youngster also enjoys roller skating, roller blading, swimming, soccer, reading, singing — and basketball.

"She's a very good basketball player. She played on a team this year as a third-grade starter. Most of the kids [playing] are fourth-graders," Mary said. Juliana has been a starting guard on the school's team which includes both grades.

Juliana said she has already performed in three shows for Summit Place shoppers — a Mother's Day special where the youngsters sang "Mother songs" and two shows with animal and ecology themes. During the animal show the kids sang "Bare Necessities," the Disney hit from the movie "Song of the South." For the ecology revue they belted out and danced to "Recycle Rap" and "Bad Attitude," a song about littering.

Juliana already has two fans, a friend who saw her perform on Mother's Day and a boy "who came up to me and said, 'You did good.'"

She was brought to the auditions by her grandmother rather accidentally. Her cousin Matt was supposed to try out but was unable to make it so Juliana took his place.

Mary initially had some qualms about Juliana joining the Discovery Kids because it might interfere with family time and school, two firsts in the Martin household. But she feels her daughter can handle the sometimes rigorous practice schedules and performances.

"It makes her feel happy and confident. And it's good for her self-esteem," Mary said. "She likes to be a part of things, on a team."

And besides, Juliana is so responsible.

After her mother leaves for work at 6 a.m., Juliana is busily taking care of her brothers, 3-year-old Dennis Jr. and 10-month-old Joey, so her dad Dennis can sleep until 7:30.

When she grows up Juliana would like to be a teacher.

"First grade, because first grade was my favorite year — and a mom, because I like having kids," she said.

He Never Turns Away

They come to him for help when they need it the most. Some numbed by their loss, some shattered, they say: "This is someone we loved. We entrust him to you." And even when he's faced with the crumpled innocence of the youngest asking, "Why?"—and he has to find childlike words to answer a question that even theologians struggle with—he never turns away. He gives them the consolation of tradition. He shows them how to accept their tragedy with dignity. He helps them cope with their grief. He guides them back to the active world of the living. He is a funeral director. He practices the most emotionally demanding and least understood of all the professions. He faces up to traumas every day that most people only have to deal with once or twice in a lifetime. He would never turn away. He has earned the deepest thanks from anyone who has ever leaned on his compassion for support. Who turned to him and found that he would never turn away.

Guest commentary

Ask the therapist / Stan Garwood, MA, MSW

Dear Mr. Garwood:

My sister, age 40, is having flashbacks that she and her therapist believe indicate that she was molested as a toddler. Her flashbacks also show a brother and sister in the same situation. They don't believe her. What are flashbacks? How reliable are they?

Signed,
Curious sibling

Dear Curious:

According to Webster's Dictionary a flashback is: Interruption of chronological sequence in a literary or theatrical work by interjection of events of earlier occurrence.

In the context of your letter, your sister is experiencing a glimpse or portion of a memory stored in her subconscious mind. We can depend on our psyches to protect us from feelings too strong or anxiety-producing for us to handle. This is especially true of youngsters who are vulnerable to many new experiences and feelings and who have not developed a solid sense of reality.

I suppose a way to understand this better is to look at this as our body/mind protecting us from intense feelings through the means of repression. If I don't think about it, it does not exist. If I can avoid remembering the feeling, I won't get upset, angry and/or depressed.

Your sister could have readily repressed a negative, fearful, traumatic event occurring and recurring in her toddlerhood and which only now has come to light.

Through her treatment with her therapist, your sister is learning to explore her feelings, recent and not so recent. And she is also learning to express them. It is likely that due to this process, your sister can now recall early childhood incidents, incidents which for years she has kept "bottled up" (repressed). She is slowly arriving at a point where she can handle this type of trauma.

Based on my 26 years and several similar cases, I believe the mind is recalling past life events. This likely means that they had actually taken place. Your other siblings could still be in a state of denial. Or, on the other hand, they remember the events as well as the concomittant feelings, but wish not to deal with them at this time.

Send questions for Stan Garwood on family issues, emotional or psychological problems, marriage, divorce, etc., to The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main St., Clarkston.

Buddy program for people with AIDS

The Oakland Livingston Human Service Agency is starting a new Buddy/Companion program for people with AIDS residing in Oakland County.

OLHSA recently received $24,125 from the Ryan White C.A.R.E. Act Title I to offer the new services. The program is designed to provide buddy/companions to people with AIDS in an effort to serve as a personal lifeline to those isolated from families and friends because they have AIDS. Services, to be provided by volunteers and paid staff, will include household and personal tasks as well as companionship.

"These services are an extension of OLHSA's AIDS Home Support program," said Mallory Waldman, coordinator of the AIDS Home Support and the Buddy/Companion programs. "We'll continue to assist clients with such tasks as meal preparation, housecleaning, laundry, and grocery shopping but we are adding a new twist to our current services by offering companionship."

This program is adding a new dimension to OLHSA's services by inviting volunteers to reach out to people in the AIDS community. "Quite a few people have called to ask me if they could volunteer but we were not able to accommodate them," said Waldman. "This new grant will allow us to include volunteers in a program and extend our hours of companionship and service."

OLHSA is collaborating with Wellness Networks, Inc., AIDS Interfaith Network, and Caregivers to recruit workers and clients. Wellness Networks will also assist with the training of the buddy/companions. For more information, contact OLHSA at 858-2338.

Pinball wizard

Independence woman wins world championship

BY LEE DRYDEN
Special to The Clarkston News

Most Clarkston residents would probably be suprised to learn that there is an international champion living in their area. They would be even more suprised once they learned that this person is an international champion of pinball.

Wendy Hollibaugh travelled to Chicago to compete in the International World Championship of Pinball last month. She took first place in the women's singles division.

"It was great. I really didn't expect to win at all," said Hollibaugh.

Hollibaugh became interested in pinball from her fiance, Tim Morse, who plays and collects many different pinball games.

The couple got the idea to go to the tournament from an ad in a magazine.

"I just thought it would be fun to take a weekend trip to Chicago. I wasn't really thinking about the competition," said Hollibaugh.

The tournament was set up with the 300 competitors split into different divisions. Five preliminary matches are played in each division, with four competitors moving to the finals.

Each match is a head-to-head competition with the winner needing to win two out of three to advance. A coin is flipped before each match with the winner being able to choose which particular game they play on.

"All of the large manufacturers had their newest models there. We got a chance to see them before they come out to the public," said Hollibaugh.

After winning the final match, Hollibaugh did not immediately realize what she had accomplished. "It didn't sink in until I received the trophy," she said.

Hollibaugh credits her success in pinball to "watching others who have been playing longer than I have and picking up techniques."

"I wasn't suprised that Wendy won. She definitely dominated the competition all weekend," said

Morse, who finished fifth in the men's division.

Hollibaugh lists a memorable experience of the weekend as seeing competitors from all over the country and all over the world, including competitors from France, Holland, and Hungary.

Hollibaugh stated that pinball is a game that others may enjoy just as she has because "the games are sophisticated enough where they can appeal to both beginners and experienced players."

"The best thing about pinball is that it is a cheap and fun form of entertainment," she said.

Rare swan sighted

The recent sighting of a male trumpeter swan at the Holly Recreation Area marks the first official documentation of a trumpeter in southeast Michigan in more than a century.

"Birdwatchers sighting this swan are encouraged to let the Department of Natural Resources know its location," said Tim Payne, DNR District Wildlife Biologist. The birds are protected under the state Endangered Species Act.

"People should appreciate seeing this magnificent bird. We ask that they do not disturb the bird, and enjoy it from a distance," Payne said.

The three-year-old bird was brought as an egg from Alaska in 1991 as part of an effort to re-establish trumpeter swans in Michigan. The bird was raised in isolation at the Kellogg Biological Station's bird sanctuary for two years, and was released in May, 1993 at the Rifle River Recreation Area in Ogemaw County. On April 28, 1994 the bird was seen near Bay City and the next day it was sighted in Holly. It can be identified by a green tag, numbered 57, on its right wing.

A trumpeter can be easily differentiated from the more common mute swan. "A trumpeter is a slightly larger bird, 25-35 pounds, with a big, flat, black bill and holds its neck straight," Payne said. "The mute has a large black knob above its orange bill, and has an s-curved neck."

In Michigan, hunters and settlers eliminated the native trumpeter population by the late 1880s. Nationally the population was down as low as 66 birds. Michigan's restoration project is funded through the DNR's Natural Heritage Program, with contributions made primarily through the Nongame Wildlife Fund check-off on state income tax forms.

Birdwatchers who sight the bird are asked to note the date, time and location and call DNR wildlife biologist Julie Parsons at (810)666-2837.

Bobcats chew up Wolves in districts

Varsity soccer team ends season 2-13-1

BY DEBORAH DZIEWIT
Clarkston News Staff Writer

For the first half, the Clarkston girls soccer team deflected almost all Grand Blanc's attempts to score in the district game May 25.

Time after time goalie Michelle Schroeder caught, grabbed and jumped on goal attempts. Only one black-and-white ball slipped through her mighty defense and made the net during the first half at Clarkston's home field.

But in the second game of district play, the Wolves seemed unable to boot up an offensive attack and lost to Grand Blanc 4-0.

Coach Dan Fitzgerald said prior to the game that if the girls could keep the score down that first half, the Clarkston girls might have a chance.

But Grand Blanc team dominated the Wolves playing a lot of defense.

"The team was very good," Fitzgerald said. "We got tired chasing them and after the second goal so soon in the second half . . . they had us."

But the Wolves, with a record of 2-12-1 against a team that was 12-2-2, were stopped again by Grand Blanc's red and white machine.

"We played up to our potential," Fitzgerald said. "The other team was better. They went on and won districts and I imagine they will win a few more."

In the second game of district play, the varsity girls soccer team could not keep up against the offensive attack by the red and white.

The varsity girls soccer team tries to keep the ball away from the mighty Grand Blanc team. The girls lost 4-0.

Boys earn high marks in GOAL meet

Kirk goes to state meet

BY DEBORAH DZIEWIT
Clarkston News Staff Writer

At the GOAL meet May 24, the Clarkston boys track team accumulated 75 points for a fourth-place finish.

JR Kirk's 6'4" leap in the high jump earned him a second-place tie. Jason Graves, at 5'8", placed fifth in the event.

Again it was a Kirk-Graves combination in the long jump with Kirk jumping to a second-place finish with a 19'10" jump, six inches shy of last weeks jump.

Marc Moore's 10 foot vault earned him a fourth in the pole vault event.

The Wolves' relay teams faltered a bit with the 3200 team coming in with a time of 8:59.49. Rich Bevins, Jeff Dengate, Josh Holst and Matt Wenger placed sixth with their run.

Chris Saunders, Marc Moore, Dan Slavin and John Zamora teamed up for the 400- and 800-meter relay and placed sixth in both events. The clocks read 1:38.4 in the 800 and 47.9 in the 400.

Kirk ran a 15.1, beating his preliminary time by a second, for an eighth in the high hurdles. Chris Evans ran a 16.4, which was three seconds faster than his preliminary time, for a fifth in the 110 hurdles.

In the 3200 meter run, Brian Ginn finished sixth with a time of 10:30.

In the 300-meter hurdles, John Zamora placed second with a time of 2:05.5. Todd Bauer placed fifth with a time of 43.5

Matt Wenger placed fifth in the 800-meter run with at 2:05.5 time. Jason Graves came in third with his 52.8 second time in the the 400-meter run.

● At the May 27 Oakland County Meet Jason Graves placed sixth in 400-meter dash with a time of 52.1. Of the 31 Oakland County teams competing, Clarkston came in 29th.

● Kirk qualified and will compete in the long jump at the state meet June 4 in Midland.

Girls track season ends on high note

Last weeks girls track team's performance can be summed up in one word in the coach's eyes — outstanding.

In the Oakland County meet, the Clarkston girls finished 14 in a field of 31 teams. They racked up 19 points and tied with Farmington Hills Harrison.

"The girls were outstanding," Coach Gordie Richardson said.

Kristin Stanton, who will represent Clarkston at the state meet in Midland June 4, placed third in the long jump. She cleared the bar at 5 feet — just two inches shy of the Troy Athens winner Traci Owczarek.

In the 400-meter dash, Angie Brown streaked to 59.6 finish for a fourth.

The Wolves' 4-by-200 relay team finished fifth with a time of 1:49.6. In the 4-by-400, the girls took a second with a 4:08.1 time.

The results of the May 24 GOAL meet were not available at press time. Coach Richardson said he will have the results available for the next issue.

Girls take on cold and Rochester, takes second game to warm up

BY DEBORAH DZIEWIT
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A cold front hit Clarkston about the same time the Rochester Highlanders came to town.

"But we didn't think about it," Coach Al Land said of the girls softball team's one loss, one win double header May 26.

In the first game, the girls lost 11-1 with Amanda VanKlaveren scoring the lone Wolf run. She hit a double and scored on a ground out.

Alesha Ulasich pitched for the Wolves.

"I told her she was going to pitch the whole game, no matter what happened," Land said.

The sophomore pitched in place of Erin Patterson so she could gain experience.

"She was a little nervous," Land said. "She struggled for the first couple of innings but she settled down in the last two."

All of Rochester's runs came out of the first three

Weather, Dragons prove too difficult for varsity Wolves

Baseball double header shortened to one game

When the Wolves varsity baseball team visited Lake Orion on May 26, they not only faced a team playing for the GOAL title but horrid weather conditions as well.

Lake Orion defeated the Wolves 4-1 clinching the GOAL championship with the victory. A double-header was scheduled but the second game was cancelled because of the weather.

An unseasonably cold temperature and extremely strong winds blowing directly at home plate made hitting nearly impossible.

"It was awful. It was like late football season weather out there," said Roy Warner, head coach.

Clarkston managed only four hits against Lake Orion pitcher Tom Stauffer, who registered nine strikeouts. Seven Clarkston errors also contributed to the loss.

The Wolves scored their only run in the third inning when Jamie Churchill singled in Blake Farah. Churchill, Farah, and Mike Turk were the leading hitters each going one for two.

Clarkston's record stands at 12-13 entering district play.

Jennifer McChesney of Clarkston recently completed her softball season with the Miami (Ohio) University Redskins. She finished the season with two home runs, nine RBIs, 33 hits and 12 runs.

innings.

In the second game, the Wolves turned up the heat on the Highlanders and beat them 14-3.

Clarkston scored five runs in the second and eight in the third.

"We batted through the line-up and then some,"

Land said.

The Wolves sent 13 girls to the plate and out of that big third inning, four singles, two doubles and a triple went down in the books.

Stephanie Giroux, Amanda Jenkinson and Shawna Greene each got two hits.

Patterson got the win for the Wolves.

"She pitched well considering the weather,"

Land said.

● In the May 24 double header against Lake Orion the Wolves chalked up a double victory.

Crystal Lemke, Jenkinson and VanKlaveren each had two hits in the 8-1 win over the Dragons.

"We had a big five-run second," Land said of the Wolf win.

YOU'RE OUT: A Lake Orion runner is tagged out at the plate during Thursday's miserable weather at Lake Orion. The planned double header was cut short to one game.

Giroux hit a bases-loaded single to drive in two of the Wolves' runs.

In the night cap, the Wolves claimed a 7-6 victory.

The game-clinching play: Giroux hit a single, stole second and VanKlaveren hit a bases-loaded double to knock in two runs, winning the game for Clarkston.

Lemke, Giroux, Anne Brueck and VanKlaveren each had two hits.

District play started for the Wolves Tuesday afternoon against Waterford Kettering. The results were not available at press time.

Land did not predict an easy game.

"It's a fifty-fifty proposition," he said. "I see the winner as the one who takes advantage of a mistake and the flood gates opening. It will not be a close game."

The Wolves ended the season 23-11 overall and 10-5 in GOAL.

SOME VARSITY PLAYERS warm their hands over a charcoal fire that was supposed to roast hot dogs. A bitter wind chilled players all game long.

Taunting can cause ejection

High school athletes and fans best watch their behavior when playing or watching an athletic event.

The Michigan High School Athletic Association has adopted a plan to combat taunting in school sports.

In all sports, taunting will now be considered a flagrant unsportsmanlike foul, penalized by ejection from the event.

One who commits an unsportsmanlike foul would be penalized with an ejection from competition for that day and the next day as well.

Warnings may be given but are not required by game officials. At tournaments, a manager may give spectators one warning for taunting. After that, spectators who taunt others will be ejected by security personnel.

Taunting is defined as "any actions or comments by coaches, players or spectators which are intended to bait, anger, embarrass, ridicule or demean others, whether or not the deeds or words are vulgar or racist. Included is contact that berates, needles, intimidates or threatens based on race, gender, ethnic origin or background and conduct that attacks religious beliefs, size, economic status, speech, family, special needs or personal matters.

"At face value, some will think that by empowering officials and tournament managers to eject participants and fans from games who engage in unsportsman-like behavior, they are being given too much authority. That thinking misses the mark entirely," said John E. Roberts, MHSAA executive director.

But it should not be left to the official or tournament official to demand good sportsmanship.

"It's going to be up to school administrators, athletic directors and coaches to say, 'We're not going to accept this kind of behavior at our events.' If those responsible for running our school programs take ownership of this campaign, then officials will not have the pressure on them to become the primary enforcement arm of these new rules.

"It is up to schools to turn away from the negative role models we see regularly on televised professional and major college athletic contests, and demand from their coaches, players and fans the highest levels of sportsmanship," Roberts said.

Historic stroll

Members of the Vikings 4-H Club of Clarkston, who are all home-schooled children, participated in a walking historical tour of downtown Clarkston May 4. One of their stops was the Clarkston News building, where assistant to the publisher Don Rush gave them a capsule history of the business, which is now housed in one of the oldest buildings in the city. Here, Clint Boling (right) appears to be enjoying the talk.

Seniors to play World Series

The Clarkston Michigan Softball Club qualified for the Senior World Series to be played in Orlando in October.

The sixty-five year old plus players played five games in three days in Annadale, Virginia May 19-22 and didn't lose one.

The Clarkston-based team, sponsored by Lapeer Lanes, defeated the favorites along the tournament road to take the championship.

"We needed a first or second to qualify for the World Series," Ed Cable said. "When we won our we could have still gone — but we beat the favorites and then went on to beat the team we played on the first day."

The champions will head to Orlando in October. But they won't be idle. They are part of a softball league with 10 teams. The teams play every Monday and Wednesday mornings at Clintonwood Park.

"Come out and see us play," Cable said.

Letter to the editor

Catch Bay Court A good experience fever

Dear Editor:

As president of the Clarkston Area Optimists and co-chair of the Volunteers for the Bay Court park Playscape I am excited to be a part of this dynamic community.

The playground construction at Bay Court begins on Wednesday, June 15 and runs for five full days, ending with a celebration and grand opening of the play structure on Sunday, June 19.

This will be like an old-fashioned Barn Raising! People from all walks of life gathered together to make a dream come true -- the dream designed by Clarkston area school children and built by parents, families, individuals and groups.

Join your friends and neighbors from the Optimists, Rotary, Chamber of Commerce, real estate offices, builders, library, fire department, Oakland County Sheriff's, Parks and Recreation, churches, Scouts and schools to make this playscape a reality. You will have the time of your lives!

Join us for Build Days June 15-19 at Bay Court Park on Andersonville Road between Dixie Highway and Nelsey Road. Please call me if you want more information at 625-4434.

Catch the enthusiasm and spirit of true community!

Sheila Ritter

Dear Editor:

Flotronics was recently featured in The Clarkston News. As the owner/president I was very impressed with the reporting and the proficiency of presenting the facts. I enjoyed reading our customer's reactions about Flotronics, and appreciate the added follow-up by Annette.

I also found Annette Kingsbury to be very pleasant, therefore making the interview effortless. We are very proud of the fact that this is our third year on Private 100. The insert clearly indicated the significance of that honor.

The staff and I have received numerous comments on the article from many residents of the community. We certainly appreciate this recognition, and your accurate reporting.

Sincerely yours,

Clarkston Police

THURSDAY, MAY 26: A 24-year-old Clarkston man was stopped by an officer at 12:15 a.m. and issued a ticket for a no-turn-on-red violation. It was discovered he had been driving with a suspended driver's license.

The same officer had stopped the man the night before for speeding in a 25-mile-an-hour zone and had given him a warning. When the officer asked for his license, the man replied that he had left it at home in his other pants.

SATURDAY, MAY 28: At 11:10 p.m. an officer responded to a 911 call from a 37-year-old Clarkston woman on Surrey Lane. The woman claimed threats were being made against her by her 39-year-old live-in male companion.

Upon arrival at the scene, the officer found both parties intoxicated. The woman stated she had a restraining order against the man but after police checked no such order was found. The man agreed to leave and was dropped off at a restaurant on Dixie Highway but came back later, officers said.

According to Clarkston police, this is the fifth or sixth such incident reported this month at the home. Because of the two young children who reside with the couple, Oakland County Protective Services has intervened. A hearing originally set for Monday, May 23 was adjourned but will be rescheduled.

The assigned case worker would not comment on the subject of the hearing but police speculate it may be about temporary protective custody of the children.

Police Chief Robert DeVore said Clarkston officers hold no judgments against the family.

"From our perspective we're just trying to look out for the welfare of the kids. If the court should decide that the kids belong with their parents, that's great.

"We're just doing our job. We're not trying to persecute them or have an influence on the court," he said.

cally challenged — that means short," Andrews said that a kind teacher helped to mold his dream a little more realistically.

"She said, 'I don't know if you can play sports but you might want to talk about it — be a sports-writer or sportscaster,'" said Andrews.

The teacher planted a seed which germinated in college and Andrews finally reached his goal.

"Since my senior year of college I haven't had to pay for Pistons, Tigers, Lions or any other sports event. Plus they feed me — I get free food and go in locker rooms and talk to the players," he laughed.

Andrews said he knew he "not only had to be good, I had to be better" since there were very few positions in local radio and television for sportscasters. But he made it and he said others could too.

"I was different," he said, striking a familiar chord in many middle schoolers' hearts. "People 'looked down' on me," he added, referring good-naturedly to his height. "They didn't see me, they were always bumping into me. So I had to talk louder."

Also near but not-so-dear to middle-schoolers was Andrews' tale of bad grades during his preteen years. But in ninth grade he decided he had to make a change.

When he turned his life around and believed in himself, striving for goals even when it looked as though there were brick walls ahead, he broke through them.

"No young person can be called no good, useless or stupid," Andrews said forcefully. "Whatever is told, you believe is true. It's a self-fulfilling prophecy."

Andrews said by believing in yourself as worthwhile you can overcome that. But sometimes it's hard for young people when parents, teachers and other kids send them bad messages.

Middle School last Wednesday.

"Hang with the positive people. Get away from negative people. People who are positive and feel good about themselves get somewhere," he said.

One of those people included an old friend, "Stanley", whom Andrews met when he was 15. Stanley was one of those different kids, shy and quiet. But he had goals. Years later Andrews ran into him at a Pistons game and the two friends shook hands, recalling old times. Before he left Stanley turned to Andrews.

"Oh, by the way, my name's not Stanley anymore — it's M.C. Hammer," the now-famous singer said.

In closing, Andrews encouraged students to think about what they might like to do for the rest of their lives. He added, "It's nice to have friends who believe in you."

"If you think you can, you can. If you think you can't, you're right," he said, meaning that much of our success lies in the way we think and program ourselves mentally.

Andrews is a motivational speaker for mostly adult programs in such areas as sales training, leadership for executives, employee motivation and association conventions. He feels it's also important that kids get the message.

"Kids are normally born with a good attitude in life. But when others give them negative messages it changes their outlook and attitudes.

"I tell them — kids — don't let anybody stand in your way."

Singing for the fun of it

A unique kind of partnership is forming between some young people who enjoy singing barbershop harmonies and the old pros.

Clarkston High School's barbershop ensemble, comprised of 33 boys, performed at the Christmas concert of the Merry Motor Men and the Oakland Shores Sweet Adelines.

At that time, the Pontiac Chapter of the Society for the preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America promised to visit CHS to meet with the students and talk about their craft. That promise was carried out recently.

Burt Szabo, Ph.D, of the Society, along with a quartet called The Uncalled 4, visited the school for a workshop. Choir director Grayce Warren said the visit was to "instill the interest of high-school boys in barbershop."

Barbershop singing is a uniquely American art form.

"Barbershop music is energetic music," Szabo told the students. "It's fun music and you shouldn't look too serious when you sing it."

The CHS barbershop ensemble is an after-school activity. The boys meet once a week and also sing in competitions sponsored by the Michigan State Vocal Association.

The barbershop ensemble got its start at CHS with former student Scott Turnbull, a 1979 CHS grad. He and three fellow students started a group called the Quadrats after hearing a Pontiac quartet. They asked Warren to start an after-school chorus.

The CHS ensemble sings at various local events and sang the National Anthem at Tiger Stadium May 20.

Obituary

Irene Rowland

Irene J. Rowland, 91, of Clarkston died May 29, 1994.

Mrs. Rowland and her late husband Vic operated the Vic Rowland & Son Gulf Station in Bloomfield for many years. She was a longtime resident of Clarkston and a member of both the American Business Women's Association and the Elks Lodge no. 810.

She is survived by a son, James (Bonnie) of Grayling; four grandchildren, Robin (Tom) Boatright, Chris Rowland, Judy (Mark) Roberts and Jim Rowland; and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services are Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Lewis E. Wint & Son TRUST Funeral Home in Clarkston. Burial will follow at the Lake View Cemetery.

Grads

Daniel Travis received his master of fine arts degree from Rutgers University's Mason Gross School of the Arts in a commencement convocation May 19. The 1986 Clarkston High School graduate completed his BFA at Miami (Ohio) University. He is currently appearing in the role of Paris in the New Jersey Shakespeare Festival production of Romeo and Juliet. He is the son of Dan and Betsy Travis of Perry Lake Rd.

Honors

● Corinne R. Hardey, daughter of Judith K. Hardey of Independence Township, graduated from University of Michigan-Ann Arbor with a bachelor of science in biopsychology, phi beta kappa with highest distinction. Hardey was a 1989 Clarkston High graduate.

● Marilyn J. Williams, of Clarkston was named to the dean's list at Madonna University for the past term. Williams is a senior majoring in learning disabilities.

● Four Clarkston High graduates were named to the dean's list at Alma College for the 1994 Winter Term. They had to achieve at least a 3.5 GPA. The students were Lisa Brinn, Kimberly Clark, Staci Hill, and Abraham Savas.

● Nicole Anne Oswald, of Clarkston was named to the academic honors list at Ferris State University for fall semester. A 3.5 GPA is needed to be eligible.

● Stacey Hovenac, a 1990 graduate of Clarkston High, was named to the dean's list at the University of Detroit-Mercy for Term II of 1993-94. A 3.25 GPA or higher must be attained to make the dean's list.

CHS student wins essay contest

Sharing her dream of one day helping abused children, Jennifer Grieme of Clarkston won Oakland County's first-ever Executive Scholarship Program.

Grieme, a senior at Clarkston High School, won the award along with Naomi Smith of North Farmington High School. Students were judged on an essay they wrote incorporating the theme of "I Have a Dream," from the speech by the late Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Grieme plans to attend Hope College in the fall. She will receive $750 toward her college education from the contest, and will be honored at a breakfast at Oakland Community College June 21.

Grieme is the daughter of Sandy and Gary Grieme and was one of seven students recently honored by Clarkston Youth Assistance. She received a plaque for her volunteer activities with the St. Daniel's Church youth group.

In her essay, she talks about her career dream, and how she is achieving that dream step by step. She encourages others to follow their dreams as well.

Jennifer Grieme

I have a dream

Martin Luther King Jr.'s speech, "I have a dream," is a powerful message that everyone should stop to listen to. No one's life is without complications or problems, and the same can be said of our schools and communities. These situations should be combatted with visions and dreams that can be worked towards to improve ourselves and our society. King recognized the tangles our country was ensnared in, and stated his wishes and desires for the future and how he hoped to grasp them.

Many people are reluctant to peer forward past the day-to-day hassles and acknowledge what they could be doing to resolve the problems around them. I believe that everyone is aware of our societal problems, but few people want to go through all the little steps it would take to correct them. Instead they want to make a giant leap over the turbulent waters of our country to the land of peace and prosperity. But that jump isn't possible. We need to build a bridge, a little at a time, to solve our problems and not just brush them away temporarily. The smallest steps could make the biggest difference in someone's life.

My dream is to help abused children recover from the horrors they've endured. Before I can help them as a psychologist, I give my time visiting kids at Children's Village and working at SCAMP in the summer. These actions are my first step to achieve my vision. Each way that I can help someone else only adds another stone to the bridge being built to move our country to a serene and comfortable future. If only everyone saw their dreams as being as obtainable as Martin Luther King Jr. did his, our hopes would be strong and secure as well as our bridge.

—Jennifer Grieme

Sunset at the zoo

The Detroit Zoo will celebrate its 65th Anniversary on June 21 with a "Sunset at the Zoo" program to benefit a new Carnivore Exhibit of Sumatran tigers and African lions at the Belle Isle Zoo, part of the Detroit Zoological Institute.

Sponsored by Prudential Securities, Sunset at the Zoo will take party-goers back to the "Roarin' 20s" when the Detroit Zoo opened. A live auction and raffle, ragtime music, and 1920s costumes will add to the festivities.

"Thanks to Prudential Securities' sponsorship, we're much closer to opening the first new exhibit on Belle Isle in more than five years," said Chuck Hammond, Detroit Zoological Society executive director.

Sunset at the Zoo will be held Tuesday, June 21, 6-9 pm on the grounds of the Detroit Zoo. The cost is $40 per person and is open to members of the Detroit Zoological Society. Those interested in attending or membership call 541-5717.

Big Apple Circus debuts at O.U.

Direct from a smash hit three-month engagement at New York's Lincoln Center, America's internationally acclaimed Big Apple Circus makes its Michigan debut June 18-28 on the grounds of Oakland University.

The Big Apple Circus, which New Yorkers have embraced as their hometown circus, performs three months each winter at the Lincoln Center in NYC. Dubbed "New York's one-ring wonder" by critic Cilive Barnes, the circus has continually received critical praise in the national press.

At the Big Apple Circus, no one sits more than 50 feet from the action in the ring. The production incorporates aspects of traditional theater including aerial acts, clowning, mime, juggling and acrobatics, and a special focus on classic equestrianism.

Each year the circus is centered on a theme. This year it's "Carnivale in Venice," recreating the spectacle of Venice during its most festive season. The ring is transformed into Piazza San Marco and the company becomes a traveling commedia dell'arte troupe.

Featured performers include a comedy duo with a contemporary twist from Italy; the Shenyang Acrobatic Troupe from China; a Swiss juggler; a German comedy-trapeze act; elephants, horses, acrobats, rhythmic gymnasts... the list goes on and on.

The Big Apple Circus is a not-for-profit organization founded in 1977 with an emphasis on theatricality, artistry and audience interaction.

There are performances at 1 and 7 p.m. most days. Tickets range from $15-$25 weekday evenings and weekends, and $10-$20 for weekday matinees.

Tickets are on sale at all TicketMaster outlets. To charge by phone call (810) 645-6666. For more information on the show, call (313) 923-8259.

"Bits and Pieces" is not officially the name of this week's offering, but more, the topic of the information we have to share.

Many times a person will donate material that is not pertinent to their own research but of value to others digging wherever they can for clues to follow.

The application for membership to the Daughters of the American Revolution (working papers) are made in the name of Gertrude Richardson Carson, wife of William Henry Carson, 516 Mack Rd., Ann Arbor. There is no date indicating when this information was gathered.

The ancestor from whom she was descended was Abner Mallory. Since the incompleting form shows the 191-date we can assume it was prior to 1920 that the lineage was prepared. Gertrude states she was born in Caro, Mich., (Tuscola County). She was the daughter of Nathan M. Richardson, born March 19, 1845 (married May 26, 1868) and his wife, Emily C. Hovey. The said Emily was the daughter of George Hovey, born Jan. 4, 1815, died Dec. 29, 1899. His wife was Lucinda Snyder, born Feb. 6, 1815, died May 25, 1887, married Dec. 13,

George Hovey was the son of Lorenzo Hovey, born 1780, died 1830, and his wife Anna Hinman, born Sept. 7, 1782, died Feb. 14, 1863(47), married 1802. Anna was the daughter of John Hinman, born Feb. 4, 1747, died 1836, and his wife Hannah Mallory.

Hannah Mallory was the daughter of Abner Mallory, born July 28, 1723, died December 1804 and his wife Susanah Walker, born 1725, died June 3, 1802, married June 25, 1747.

Abner Mallory is the ancestor who helped establish American Independence, "while acting in the capacity of Captain of Militia in Connecticut." We are certain that this information will be good news for some researchers, whether for DAR membership or personal family ties.

Captain Malloy's service is recorded through 1781, with reference to him being Dr. to the state of Health and intellect are the two blessings of life.

Brittany Kenerson, wearing a backwards dress, is surrounded by her classmates.

Back to the closet

It used to be only teenage rock stars wore their clothes backwards. But Friday, the students at Pine Knob Elementary School were invited to do just that as part of Student Week at the school.

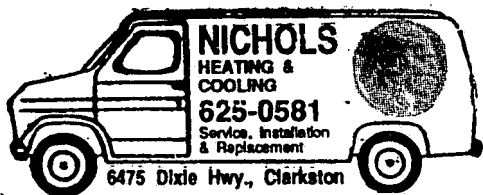

Some students emerged from their buses backwards, and walked up the walk backwards, even though they were warned there would be NO WALKING BACKWARDS.

They showed up with shoes reversed, backpacks in front, and everything from underwear to hats on backwards. They were greeted at the door by principal Bill Potvin wearing his white shirt and tie backwards.

Inside the building, bulleting boards had their lettering reversed, and it took a minute or two to figure out just what they actually said.

Matthew Kuhn, who wore his jeans backwards, said he had practiced the day before to see how it felt. Was it uncomfortable? "Sort of," he said.

Friday's activities were the culmination of a week's worth of fun at the school. On Tuesday, students were encouraged to dress tropical for Hawaiian vacation day. Wednesday was hat and tie day, Thursday was spirit day, when the kids dressed in the school colors.

CHS grad photos future sports stars

BY LEE DRYDEN
Special to The Clarkston News

While many people in this area are greatly involved in youth sports, one Clarkston native living in Florida is involved in a very different way.

Michael Galley, a 1985 graduate of Clarkston High, is the executive vice president of Future Stars of America, a national photography service based in Sarasota, Fla.

Future Stars of America is an agency through which people hire photographers to take pictures of youth sports ranging from Little League to varsity high-school sports.

It is a national agency which has contacts with local photographers all over the country. A team or parent could call Future Stars of America and a local photographer would be hired to take pictures for a game or a whole season, whichever the customer desires.

"With the convenience of having photographers in many areas, we are able to keep the quality up and the cost down. It's the best photographic program in the nation," said Galley.

After attending Clarkston High, Galley went to Michigan State where he received a degree in advertising and marketing. He became involved in

*"Our service will take pictures of any youth sport
in any way
the customer wants.
We are a business centered on children."*

Michael Galley

Future Stars of America after being asked by Carl Smith, one of the founders of the service who Galley knew through his son.

"I've really enjoyed this experience. It's been a learning, step-by-step process," said Galley.

Future Stars of America is involved in many charitable activities as well. It has established a scholarship fund and donates to charities such as Jerry's Kids, UNICEF, and the Make-a-Wish foundation.

It is also sponsoring a baseball camp this summer in Jackson, Miss. where over a thousand kids will be able to participate. The camp will be run by former major league baseball pitcher Gaylord Perry, who is also one of the founders of Future Stars of America.

While the service can be hired to do individual shots, the photographers also are hired by school districts to handle team pictures.

"Our service will take pictures of any youth sport in any way the customer wants. We are a business centered on children," said Galley.

Galley is pleased with the success of the service so far and is optimistic about being able to expand in the future.

"We're trying to make a small business grow day by day and that's what its doing," he said.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

DON'T FEEL GUILTY

OWNERS pay less taxes than renters in the same price range. Ownership is a great tax shelter.

QUESTION: I am a homeowner and my friend rents an apartment. We both earn the same amount of money, but I pay considerably less taxes. I feel a little guilty.

ANSWER: Don't feel guilty. The difference in taxes will always favor the homeowner. For starters, most of the monthly mortgage payment for a home is tax-deductible interest. This runs over 90% in the early years of the loan.

If you sell and buy another home within 2 years for as much or more than your old one, you defer paying any tax on the gain. Also, if you are over 55 and sell, you can deduct up to $125,000 of the profit and never have to pay any tax on it.

Retiree Audrey Friday gets a corsage.

Thanks in part to retirement incentives, 26 people decided to retire from Clarkston schools this spring.

They and their friends and coworkers gathered at Deer Lake Racquet Club May 25 for some fond farewells. Guests were serenaded by the jazz band and madrigal singers from Clarkston High School.

Richard Feeley, Financial Staff Assistant Administrator at GM Powertrain, has been named Business Associate of the Year by the Inde-Spring Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association. He is pictured along with Cindy Hartzman (left), chairperson for the event; his wife, Rita Boyle-Feeley; nominator Bridgette Hughes; and Cathleen Gallagher, president of the chapter. Feeley was nominated for his support and encouragement of the club's goals.

Davisburg Post Office turns 100

The Davisburg Post Office quietly celebrated its 100th anniversary May 26. The office was festooned with red, white and blue balloons and refreshments were served. But it was basically business as usual in the tiny town where the postal clerk knows the name of many of her customers.

Like many towns in northern Oakland County, Davisburg's Post Office was established near a railroad station. In this case, it was the Detroit and Milwaukee Railroad.

Davisburg was first settled by and named for Cornelius Davis, who came from Ulster County, New York in 1836, according to "Michigan Postal History." A Post Office was established there March 4, 1855; the first postmaster was John C. Davis. The town's name was spelled Davisburgh at the time. The name was changed to Davisburg on May 26, 1894, the date now being celebrated.

According to "Springfield: For Those Who Come After," published by the Springfield Township Historical Society, mail was originally brought in by Thaddeus Davis, brother of Cornelius, from a town called Austin Corners at Oakhill and Dixie.

After the railroad established a station at Davisburg, mail was received daily and trucked from the station to the Post Office in a horse-drawn cart.

Fun in the sun

Independence Township Parks & Recreation is offering youth volleyball leagues for kids age 13 through 17. League runs 8 weeks. All games will be held at the Clintonwood Park. League play begins the week of June 20. Team roster and contracts are due by Friday, June 10. League fees are $40 for doubles and $80 for quads. Registrations are being taken at the Independence Township Parks & Recreation Department located at 90 North Main Street. For additional information call 625-8223.

Annual Pig Roast - Monday, June 6, 6 p.m., tickets are on sale at the Senior Center now.

Reservations for the above activities are a must. For additional information call the Senior Citizens Center at 625-8231, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. through 5 p.m.

Postal clerk Jayne Howard chats with customer Ray Giroux.

John Thompson was the first mail carrier. His route was split in two in 1909, when his son took over the second route. Current postmaster Bruce Bergum has a staff of 11.

CITY OF THE VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON CITY COUNCIL MEETING MINUTES MAY 23, 1994

The meeting was called to order by Mayor Pro Tem Schultz at 7:40 p.m., followed by the Pledge of Allegiance.

Roll: Present: Arkwright, Basinger, Roeser, Sanderson, Schultz, Secatch.

Absent: Catalo.

Moved by Arkwright, supported by Basinger, "That the minutes of the meeting held on May 9, 1994 be accepted as submitted." Motion carried.

Moved by Basinger, supported by Sanderson, "That the minutes of the Joint Meeting with the City Council and the Township Board be accepted with a few minor clerical revisions which have been submitted to the clerk." Motion carried.

Moved by Sanderson, supported by Secatch, "That the agenda be approved as submitted with the addition of two items of old business: the budget and Washington Street." Motion carried.

Moved by Arkwright, supported by Roeser, "That a quarterly Village newsletter be sent out with the sewer bills." Motion carried. Jennifer Arkwright has volunteered to write the newsletter. Ryan will begin work on the Wet Land Ordinance next month.

Ryan indicated that as soon as the DPW puts up the signs regulated truck traffic in the Village that the Truck Ordinance can be enforced.

Pappas indicated that he spoke with the building inspector about the problem with grease in the sewer lines behind the three eating establishments on Main Street. The building inspector will inform the businesses of the problem. If the problem is not resolved there will be a special assessment for the businesses involved for future repairs. Pappas indicated that a letter will be sent.

Gary Tressel from Hubel, Roth and Clark will look into the water drainage problem on West Washington after a big rain and advise the Council on how to proceed.

Basinger went over the proposed budget with the Council. Discussion followed. Basinger will prepare a budget presentation with transparencies for the Public Hearing.

Resolved by Basinger, supported by Schultz, "That the next City Council meeting and the Public Hearing to discuss the 1994-95 budget be moved from Monday, June 13, 1994 to Wednesday, June 8, 1994 because of a conflict with the school election." Roll: Yeas-6, Nays-0. Resolution passed.

Resolved by Basinger, supported by Roeser, "That the DPW wage guidelines be adopted effective July 1, 1994." Roll: Yeas-6, Nays-0. Resolution passed.

Resolved by Roeser, supported by Schultz, "That credits from SMART in the amount of $771 be equally divided between SCAMP and the Independence Township Senior Citizens Transportation fund." Roll: Yeas-6, Nays-0. Resolution passed.

Resolved by Sanderson, supported by Roeser, "That the City Manager be authorized to obtain the necessary permits for the following road closures for the parades listed: Memorial Day-May 30, 1994; Fourth of July-July 4, 1994; Labor Day-September 5, 1994; Homecoming-October 13, 1994." Roll: Yeas-6, Nays-0. Resolution passed.

Moved by Sanderson, supported by Schultz, "That the sign ordinance be strictly enforced." Motion carried.

Pat Woods introduced herself to the City Council and indicated that she is a candidate for State Representative in the August 2, 1994 primary.

Moved by Roeser, supported by Basinger, "That the meeting be adjourned." Motion carried.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:15 p.m.

ANNUAL SCHOOL ELECTION
NOTICE OF ANNUAL ELECTION OF THE ELECTORS OF
CLARKSTON COMMUNITY SCHOOLS
OAKLAND COUNTY, MICHIGAN
TO BE HELD JUNE 13, 1994
TO THE ELECTORS OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT:
Please Take Notice that the annual election of the school district will be held on Monday, June 13, 1994.
The polls of election will be open at 7 o'clock in the morning and close at 8 o'clock in the evening.
At the annual school election there will be elected one (1) member to the board of education of the district for a full term of four (4) years ending in 1998, and one (1) member for an unexpired term of two (2) years ending in 1996.
The following persons have been nominated to fill such vacancies:
Four year term: Sheila Goins-Hughes and Lee Rogers
Two year term: Barry Bomier
Take further notice that the following proposition(s) will be submitted to the vote of the electors at the annual school election:
OPERATING MILLAGE PROPOSITION
NON-HOMESTEAD PROPERTY TAX
This millage will allow the school district to levy not more than the statutory rate of 18 mills against non-homestead property required for the school district to receive its revenue per pupil foundation guarantee.
Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property, excepting therefrom homestead property as defined by law, in Clarkston Community Schools, Oakland County, Michigan, be increased by 18 mills ($18 on each $1,000) on state equalized valuation for a period of 2 years, 1994 and 1995, to provide funds for operating purposes; the estimate of the revenue the school district will collect if the millage is approved and levied by the school district in the 1994 calendar year is approximately $1,839,326?
PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the Regular Biennial Election of Oakland Community College, Michigan, will be held at the same time and at the same voting places as the annual school election on Monday, June 13, 1994, and will be conducted by the same school district for those electors of the community college district residing in this school district.
At the Regular Biennial Election there will be elected two (2) members for the office of Community College District Trustee for full terms of six (6) years ending June 30, 2000.

A fine day for remembrance

Many said they had never seen so many people turn out for the Clarkston Memorial Day Parade. Some attributed the large crowds to the summer-like weather. But whatever the reason, the streets of Clarkston were lined with people.

With temperatures in the seventies, Clarkston veterans, the Clarkston High School Marching Band and the Boy Scouts led followers down Main to Washington Street back up Holcomb to the cemetery.

As the sun warmed those who sat amidst the tombstones and the wind snapped at the flags, names of those who had served in the armed services and who now are buried in the Clarkston cemetery were called off and remembered.

A father and his children sit atop a tomb as the Clarkston High School marching band goes by. In the foreground are two tombstones from the 1800s.

Four Scouts perch on a rock as Clarkston's veterans names are called out during Monday's Memorial Day ceremonies.

The Clarkston High School marching band performs for those who line the streets and for those who came to remember at the cemetery.

A letter from Vietnam

I'm marking off the days Mom
I'll soon be coming home.
Before that day I'll be on my way
For my R & R from Nam.

My buddy was going with me
But fate stepped in, you see,
I have to go it alone now,
My buddy won't be going with me.

I have to stay and fight for him,
For he no longer can.
I've signed for "six" to help them out
And I'll mark one up for Dan.

I hope you'll tell my friends at home
It won't be long I pray
Till my time in Nam is over
And I'll be home to stay.

I send my Love and best regards
To friends and neighbors too.
Don't cry; be brave,
and all my love to you.

By former Clarkston resident Martha E. MacDonald in memory of her son, SPC 4 H. Lee MacDonald, who died in Vietnam at the age of 20 in 1970. He is buried in Clarkston.
