Using bottled water

CHS drinking water contaminated

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Monday morning Clarkston High School went on bottled water after testing turned up an unacceptable coliform bacteria level in the water supply.

Steve Presby, senior public health sanitarian with the Oakland County Health Department, said the water samples violated the maximum contaminant level allowable. He was unsure Tuesday morning if both wells serving CHS were contaminated or just one.

The samples were taken from a drinking fountain and a sink in the boiler room. Clarkston schools' deputy superintendent for business and operations Steven Lenar said he didn't feel the samples were fair because they didn't come directly off the well. So second samples were taken and the results pending as of presstime.

"We turned off all the drinking fountains," Lenar said. "We changed our menus . . . We also posted signs in the restrooms that said you can wash your hands but we don't recommend that you drink the water . . . It's inconvenient. It's something we want to make sure doesn't happen again."

The school's water was last sampled April 20, Presby said. The school is supposed to be on a schedule of quarterly testing, he added.

"Yesterday (Monday) I collected added samples to try to narrow down the cause," Presby said. "It may be, and this is preliminary, but it may be that the phosphate that is added to the (water) supply to reduce corrosion has overcome the chlorine, which is also added. If that is the case the phosphate acts as a medium for the bacteria."

Presby said the health department checks for total coliform count in the water. "Total coliforms are common in the environment and are not in themselves dangerous," Presby said. "They serve as an indicator for us."

Presby said he has only had one report of a student with an upset stomach. A parent who called The Clarkston News said her two children were ill last week. However Presby said a much larger outbreak of symptoms would be expected if the water was making people sick.

"That type of symptom is not only caused by contamination in drinking water," he said.

Depending on the results of the second tests, the school may have to chlorinate the wells, flushing out the system, then retest to see if the coliform level goes down. Meanwhile, bottled water is available for drinking and food washing at the school.

"Everybody's taking it pretty much in stride," Principal Brent Cooley said Tuesday. "I've got everybody monitoring it. Whenever we need to replace the two-gallon water jugs, we replace them."

The school last encountered a violation three years ago, Presby said. However Lenar said that problem turned out not to be from the wells; rather, an outside water system was hooked up to water athletic fields which had an improper backflow. Water backed up and contaminated the school supply.

Other state testing for a wider variety of compounds became mandatory last year and CHS was late in filing that sampling, Lenar said earlier. However he said Tuesday those tests are now complete. Several problem areas surfaced and have been retested, he said.

Deficit forces deputy cutback

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Even if a November 8 request for .25 mill passes, Independence Township may still not be able to bring back recent cuts made in its police budget.

Since Sept. 1, the township is being supported by one less Deputy II position. The position had to be cut because of a 1993 year-end police fund deficit of over $60,000. Supervisor Dale Stuart said that number could double by the time 1994 ends.

"We don't know exactly what that deficit figure is now but it would have been more if this reduction had not been made," Stuart said.

The ballot question asks for a .25 mill increase and a .4468 mill renewal, which will bring the general operating millage back up to 2.5, which was originally granted by voters in 1990, before the Headlee Override. The Headlee Override decreases the general operating millage rate each year.

In August voters approved a 2.3032 police mill increase, but turned down an increase of .4468.

With the increased mills, Stuart said it's possible the Deputy II position might be restored, as well as the DARE officer position, currently funded by Clarkston schools.

"We had to do something to get that deficit under control," he said. "If the renewal doesn't pass we may even have to cut another position on top of that. It's

The news in brief

Street repair nears completion

DPW supervisor Bob Pursley said Monday that the city of Clarkston's major and local road repair is almost done. All that remains is about $100 worth of work on Wompole, a small spot at the intersection of M-15 and Robertson and a cost of $1,400-$2,000 more on Miller. Councilman Steve Secatchtold contractor Larry Bond to continue the repair. Pursley expects road work to be completed by the end of the week. Roads finished are Madison, Surrey, E. Washington, Buffalo, E. Church, Middle Lake, Overlook and most of Miller.

More warrants issued

Five more warrants have been issued for Dawn Marie Kelley, of Independence Township, on charges she passed bad checks.

Kelley was arraigned Thursday in 52-2 District Court on three warrants issued for crimes of forgery and uttering and publishing in Independence Township. She posted $3,000 (cash 10 percent) bond and was released. She was arraigned on two other warrants in Waterford, and was also released on bond.

Kelley, 32, already faces charges in Oakland County Circuit Court for writing bad checks. According to Oakland County Sheriff's Det. Chuck Young, she has written thousands of dollars in bad checks using the name of a Springfield Township woman.

OCC to ask for millage

Oakland Community College has decided to ask for its first millage increase in 30 years. The election has been scheduled for Friday, March 17; the exact amount to be requested has not yet been decided.

The campaign will be led by a citizens' group called Community Alliance for Oakland's Future. The college currently is supported by one mill approved in 1964.

Candidates forum scheduled

Candidates for the US House and Senate and the Michigan House and Senate have been invited to participate in a candidates forum Oct. 13, 7-9 p.m. at the Waterford Township Hall, 5200 Civic Center Drive. The event is sponsored by the American Association of University Women and the public is invited to come and hear the candidates before election day Nov. 8.

Homecoming sign-up time

The Clarkston High School Homecoming Parade, scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 15 at 10 a.m., is looking for participants.

Anyone wishing to advertise a business, make a float, throw candy or otherwise have fun is invited to meet at the Clarkston Middle School parking lot at 9 a.m. that day. The parade will go through downtown Clarkston via Church St. and Main St.

Investment legality in limbo

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The state law regarding municipal investments is clear to some, vague to others.

Independence Township's investments in Collateralized Mortgage Obligations are illegal and must be withdrawn, according to the Michigan Department of Treasury.

But others say the law is vague and doesn't specifically state municipal treasurers can't invest in CMOs.

Richard Baldermann, the state's administrator of the Local Government Audit Division, said the law is clear to him.

"Treasurers of municipalities have taken an oath of office, so yes, they should know this (investing in CMOs) is forbidden by state law," he said.

"The government making the investment would be given a chance to correct it," Baldermann said. "Unless there was criminal intent when the investment was made, we really wouldn't go after charges. But once it is discovered by the government body, it must be ended."

Baldermann couldn't comment on the specific circumstances dealing with Independence Township's 1990 investment of over $600,000 in two different types of CMOs, now worth about $100,000. The questionable investment was pointed out in the township's annual audit report.

Treasurer John Lutz said the investments, called Fannie Mae's, are not unlike other investments. "They have lost a lot of value but, like all other investments, they won't gain it back until they come to maturity.

"Of all the investments I have done these are the ones being picked apart. We have earned a lot more over the years than we've lost."

Lutz admits, looking back now, he probably wouldn't invest in those two CMOs again.

Lutz also disputes the state's claim that he must pull the investments now. By doing that the township would be guaranteed a loss, he said.

"The problem is that the state hasn't done any changes in the law the last few years to include these types of new investments. I will try to do everything else but pull these investments right now," said Lutz, noting the two CMOs in question will mature in three to six years.

So far, the matter is still under investigation by the township and specially hired experts in investment matters.

Baldermann said his office would get involved when the township turns in its annual audit report to his office. If the CMO investment is pointed out, the state then looks into the matter.

"We would verify it ourselves first and ensure the proper action is done to stop the investment," he said.

Despite Baldermann's insistence that a CMO investment by a public institution is illegal, others say no such wording exists under law. Jeff Mengel, the township's auditor for Plante & Moran, said the law is too vague.

"Even we have asked attorneys to respond and they haven't got a definitive response either," said Mengel. "It think the consensus is it has to be addressed by a higher power like the attorney general."

Township Supervisor Dale Stuart said the question seems to be "was the investment improper."

"If you read the law it's not clear, so it's really hard to say if it's illegal," Stuart said.

The fact Plante & Moran did not point out the investments earlier has also raised some questions, but Mengel said he followed the state's general accounting practices in his audits each time.

Baldermann said the state's requirement that municipalities have an audit done each year is to guard against such illegalities. He said a CMO investment should have been pointed out much sooner.

Stuart admitted there has been concern raised by the township board of trustees about Plante & Moran's inability to point out the investment sooner. "Certainly, absolutely it has been a matter of discussion. It is one of the things we are exploring also."

Plante & Moran has been the township's auditor for about eight years.

Darrell Burks, a partner in the Detroit accounting firm of Coopers & Lybrand, said whenever a state law is unclear it is up to the local government body to set its own policies on investments.

"If the government does not have a policy then we look at some of our past history, make a report and say 'we think you should do this,'" Burks said.

Burks said CMO investments may not "jump out" at auditors if the state laws are not clear, "especially if the laws were made before these types of investments were popular."

Supervisor Stuart said the township is in the process of trying to set some guidelines and investment policies. Specially hired attorneys are investigating the township's investment strategies and will make recommendations.

Ken Carrol, an expert in investment buying for public institutions, said the township has a few options in the type of investment strategy it could adopt.

One possible avenue is to contract with a custodian, more commonly called an investment advisor, whose job would be to safeguard assets and advise on strategy. Carrol said a custodian is not a broker and doesn't cost as much.

The original 1990 investment in CMOs was between $600,000 and $700,000, according to Township Supervisor Dale Stuart. Now those same investments are worth about $100,000.

The township has earned an undetermined amount of interest from the original investment, making it difficult to determine how much has actually been lost.

The original CMO investment under investigation accounts for around six percent of the township's total investment portfolio of $10 million to $11 million. Stuart said other investments are also being reviewed by the investment experts.

Stuart concedes the entire investment debacle raises many questions, but it will be a matter of time before all the answers are known.

"It's a very, very difficult and convoluted issue because it affects so many issues and things," said Stuart. "The problem with all of this is everyone would like a quick answer and have all the culprits lined up and shot. But it will be a long process."

But however long it takes, Stuart said the township is taking the matter seriously because money has been lost.

"It has to be a serious concern for all the people of the township, but from what I have been able to see we are not in any jeopardy. Services will not be cut

State law confusing and vague

The investment of public funds by a public body is allowed under state law.

But what that law means is the subject of debate. In Independence Township, Treasurer John Lutz invested between $600,000 and $700,000 in Collateralized Mortgage Obligations in 1990.

According to the Michigan Department of Treasury's Richard Baldermann, investments in CMOs by any public body is illegal because CMOs are not listed under the law. But township auditors and officials say the law does not specifically say CMOs are illegal.

If anything, the investing of township funds may have been improper, but not illegal, because CMOs are a risky investment, according to officials.

Regardless of the debate, Michigan Public Act 20 of 1943, "Investment of Surplus Funds of Political Subdivisions of the state," which was amended several times, up to 1988, does not specifically state investments into CMOs are illegal. However, the law also doesn't state CMOs are allowed as investments.

"The legislative or governing body of a county, city, village, township ... may authorize its treasurer or other chief fiscal officer to invest surplus funds belonging to and under the control of the political subdivision as follows:"

1 Bonds, securities, and other obligations of the U.S., or an agency of the U.S. in which the principal and interest is guaranteed by the U.S.

1 Certificates of deposit, savings accounts, deposit accounts or depository receipts of a bank which is a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

1 In commercial paper rated at the time of purchase within the three highest classifications established by not less than two standard rating services and which matures not more than 270 days after the date of purchase.

1 In U.S. government or federal agency obligation repurchase agreements.

1 In bankers' acceptances of U.S. banks.

1 In mutual funds.

The section stating what a public body cannot invest in does not mention CMOs.

"A county, city, village, township ... shall not deposit or invest the funds in a bank, savings and loan association, or credit union which is not eligible to be a depository of surplus funds belonging to the state."

—By Darrel W. Cole

and taxes will not be raised because of this. The township will still be in good financial standing."

Budget hearing

An Oct. 18 public hearing will be held to hear comments regarding Independence Township's 1995 budget.

The hearing will be held at the township hall annex, 90 North Main Street, at 7:30 p.m. The proposed budget can be viewed by the public at the township clerk's office from Oct. 5 to Oct. 17.

Concerns about golf development addressed

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The fight will continue, but residents against Morgan Lake Golf Classic have a better understanding of what they are up against.

Independence Township planner Richard Carlisle addressed the many concerns of the Ad-Hoc Committee on Morgan Lake Golf Classic at the Sept. 20 board of trustees meeting. While committee members said they understood the issues better thanks to Carlisle, they are still against certain aspects of the controversial development.

John Torrone, co-chairman of the committee and an Orion Township resident who lives on Rohr Road, said the township has been open-minded to concerns but one entrance, not two, should be allowed on Rohr.

"We're going from 400 cars a day on Rohr to 2,000 a day if this goes through."

Dave McGuire, also an Orion resident on Rohr and committee co-chair, agrees. "It's been said traffic will not be a drastic increase but they don't live where I live and see what I see. Having two entrances on Rohr should still not be allowed."

Township board members reminded residents that having one or two entrances will ultimately be a county road commission decision.

Morgan Lake Golf Classic, a planned residential development (PRD), would include about 250 living units (single family and condominiums) including an 18-hole golf course, located off Maybee and Rohr roads, north of I-75.

Residents in Orion are concerned the traffic on Rohr with the two entrances will drastically affect them and their road.

Torrone said they have also gained the support of Independence residents living on Rohr. "Of the 28 homes there we have all but four owners who are against having two entrances."

Supervisor Dale Stuart said it's important for residents to understand plans for development haven't completely been approved. The developers of the land are asking for a PRD rezoning of the property, which includes road layout. That request will be voted on at a future board meeting.

After that expected approval, site plan approval is an entirely different process, according to Stuart.

In his presentation, Carlisle addressed the specific concerns of the Ad-Hoc Committee, which were written out in an Aug. 29 letter. The following questions are from the committee's letter. Responses are from Carlisle.

'We're going from 400 cars a day on Rohr to 2,000 a day if this goes through.'

John Torrone

Q. Committee: Why did the golf course disappear behind Rohr Road?

A. Carlisle: In February of 1993 plans did show the golf course abutting 14 of 22 homes on Rohr Road. In review, the golf course was relocated because of several factors. 1) Concerns were raised about the closeness of the fairway to homes. 2) The planning commission said the location of the clubhouse was too close to Rohr, and should be closer to Maybee. 3) and 4) There was concern the density of development was inappropriate for the area and that access would only come from Rohr Road.

Q. Why is there no joint planning?

A. Over the last 14 years Independence has taken into account planning issues with neighboring communities. Specifically in 1991, the planning commission revised its master plan and attempted to word it so the border areas matched that of Orion Township, on the east border, which is mostly single-family zoning.

Residents and elected officials from Orion Township and Oakland County have expressed their positions to Independence Township at various meetings. While joint meetings haven't taken place, those opinions have been taken into account.

Q. How long will the barricades be in place? Residents said barricades should remain in place at subdivision entrance(s) and keep traffic off Rohr for the duration of construction by using Maybee. Rohr residents were just assessed for a new road and don't want it ruined by heavy equipment.

A. There are plans to restrict access to Maybee but there has not been any specific time restraint. The issue does have to be discussed in more detail. "We are very aware of the barricades and this does need to be worked on. We will not ignore it."

Q. Will signs be allowed at Rohr Road entrance(s)? Residents don't want signs at Rohr entrances saying "Morgan Lake Golf Classic," because it would encourage non-resident traffic to enter and exit there.

A. Signs may be put up directing traffic to I-75. We have requested a complete sign plan and expect to have the planning commission approve it so more problems are not created.

Q. What happens if the golf course becomes private?

A. If the course becomes private the layout and development would still not change.

B & B wins round in court

City attorney Tom Ryan will recommend an appeal of Judge Gage's decision

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A recent court decision about a proposed bed and breakfast in Clarkston may not end a couple's three-year battle with the city.

Buck and Joan Kopietz, owners of Tierra Jewelers who purchased the building that used to house a funeral home north of Clarkston Road on M-15, received a favorable ruling from Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Hilda R. Gage on Sept. 26.

The Court overturned a Clarkston's Zoning Board of Appeals' decision to deny remodeling of the site designated for the bed and breakfast inn.

Before the Goyette Funeral Home was purchased by the Kopietzes in 1991, it was zoned a commercial use in a residentially zoned neighborhood. The Kopietzes applied for permission to do the modifications and change to another non-conforming use under a section of the Clarkston Zoning Ordinance that deals with both structural alterations and more appropriate use to the district.

Their attorney Phillip Adkison states that factors such as the effect on M-15 traffic, lack of commercial deliveries, adequate parking and the part of the building devoted to commercial use (first floor) make the bed and breakfast a more appropriate use than the former funeral home. The Kopietzes live on the second floor.

They and Adkison also argue that the non-conforming use of the structure can be changed to another non-conforming use because no exterior changes were made to the building. The Kopietzes merely partitioned several large rooms into bedrooms and baths to internally construct their inn.

But the main contention now, after being turned down by the ZBA twice — once for applying for a partition in 1991 and then in 1992 on the grounds that the use was not more appropriate — seems to be the interpretation of "structural alterations," as defined in the ordinance.

Clarkston city attorney Tom Ryan said he will talk to council at its Oct. 10 meeting and recommend that Gage reconsider her judgment. He believes Gage "made a couple of errors in it."

"The judge said there were not 'structural alterations.' When the Kopietzes made their application they said they were going to make structural alterations... Their architect said they were going to make structural alterations ...," Ryan said Monday.

If Gage will not reconsider, Ryan says he will recommend going to the Michigan Court of Appeals.

But Adkison argues that within the ordinance's context, "It's pretty clear about structural alterations being 'footprint' or external restructuring."

He added that if the city doesn't like the ordinance the way it's written, "They should change it. They have the power to do so."

"I don't think anybody on council is objecting to a bed and breakfast. I think the objection is the changing of our zoning ordinance," Clarkston Mayor Sharron Catalo said.

Adkison also feels that because of overwhelming evidence that favors the Kopietzes, the ZBA's and city's actions are "just stubbornness now. It's not a matter of doing right."

If the city appeals, it may be over a year before

JOAN KOPIETZ stands on the porch of her home, the site of a proposed bed and breakfast inn. She and her husband Buck continue to remodel the first floor, confident they will win a three-year battle against the city and the zoning board of appeals.

the case comes before the appeals court. But Joan Kopietz feels confident she and her husband will win, even if they have to go to court — again.

"It's because of this business paranoia and they're (council) just killing the town. All we want to do is maintain and improve the building," she said.

Talkin' 'bout whose generation?

You know you're an old fogey when you start to preface lectures to your teenagers with, "When I was your age ..."

But, bear with me. Anyone who has teens knows what I mean.

I guess I've never felt the generation gap more strongly than this year. My son Tyler and daughter Tara are ages 13 and 16, respectively, and seem to be drifting across that chasm of separation between parent and child.

That's OK. I knew it was going to happen. I just didn't expect it so soon.

Now I'm getting what my mother called "the teen-age look," where they roll their eyes with annoyance when I say something maternal or crack a joke they think is corny.

But, in one way I'm lucky. I consider myself an open-minded person and so I like some of their music.

It's just that every time I get in the car lately, my son insists on rolling down the windows and blaring 89x to all of Oakland County.

The other day I got into my car to take an adult somewhere for once and gulped when the FM radio ignited with the turn of a key.

"La!la!la-la-la-la! la! la! la-l-la-la!" screamed Offspring angrily in their song, "Self-Esteem."

Needless to say, I turned it off quickly and there was a slight pause of embarrassing silence.

What this adult doesn't know is that I often ride with 89x or some other "modern rock" station blaring — alone — because I really enjoy it. As long as I have my sunglasses on, I figure people won't recognize me.

I guess it helps me deal with some of my middle-age angst.

After all, the messages are the same. They haven't changed in 25 years.

Now, there are The Counting Crows, The Black Crows and Sheryl Crow.

Then, we had The Eagles, The Animals and The Byrds.

Names like Blind Melon aren't any crazier than The Strawberry Alarm Clock.

"Let me be me — and let me enjoy my music from my own generation of poets," today's teens say. So do I.

You see, my generation was not that different. We needed to have our own speakers for our feelings. It helped me to listen to the Beatles, and it helps Tara and Tyler to listen to Green Day.

And, for them, the day the music died was when Kurt Cobain shot himself. We had to endure the deaths of Jim Morrison, Janis Joplin and Jimi Hendrix.

Let the music begin, and go on — alternative, rock, classical, country — you name it. It belongs to all of us.

The other day Tyler and I were listening to Soundgarden with all the car windows down.

Tyler turned to me and smiled. "Mom, you're cool. You'd should be in a music video. You look like a business woman jamming," he said.

I just make him turn the sound way down when we reach our neighborhood. Maybe it's because I want the tots who live there to listen to "The Farmer in the Dell" a little while longer.

Letters to the editor

Confused on guns

Dear editor:

After reading your recent editorial on guns, the most cogent comment you made was, "I am confused." I don't blame you for being confused on the subject of guns. There is much jingoism, and plain misinformation on the subject. Let me try to help you with your confusion.

Your first point was that guns in schools are no less dangerous than guns on M-15. This logic swerves out of the way of a simple truth. There are legal and illegal guns. There are some things and activities reserved for responsible adults. I love the bourbon Manhattan as prepared at The Clarkston Cafe. I doubt you would champion the Manhattan as a menu selection at the Clarkston High School cafeteria, much less the elementary schools.

Guns kill people! You proudly adopt this argument. Will you also adopt the argument that cars kill people, not drunk drivers? The gun is no less an inanimate object than the automobile. The legal gun in the possession of a police officer, soldier, or responsible citizen is of no danger to society. The action of the person determines if a weapon is used for good or evil.

The "supposed right of the Second Amendment," as you put it, misses an important point. The Second Amendment was never about duck hunting or target sports. It was second only to free speech and an unencumbered free press to assure the people control of a central government. It is and was a threat to government power.

All dictators, including George the III, had to disarm the people to enslave them. When Paul Revere rode, it was to warn the country that the British army was coming to confiscate their weapons. A small battle ensued that the armed citizens lost. The British army still talks in hushed tones of that march back to their barracks. Armed citizens shot that column to pieces.

Please do not use Sarah Brady for your legal research. The courts have consistently sided with the armed citizen. The Brady law has been deemed unconstitutional in five states to date.

I am willing to bet an adult beverage you would be enraged if limits on the First Amendment were proposed. Let's outlaw super market tabloids; they are harmful to the people they defame. Newspapers defame, not editors.

Let's take your conclusion that you will support making guns harder to buy. The requirements to purchase a legal gun in Michigan are and always have been higher than the federal requirements. The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms in a letter to licensed firearms dealers opined that the Brady Bill, now law, has no effect in Michigan. We need not comply.

Some facts for your consideration. It takes six months to obtain a concealed pistols permit in Michigan. That time is used to do an extensive background check. Then you meet with a gun board; prove a legal need and training in the use of firearms. A visit with your attorney will convince you that legal gun has the potential for far-reaching civil and criminal consequences. To own and carry a legal gun is already a gauntlet to run.

Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

Ever lose your keys?

Most of us are very attached to our purses/wallets and keys. We have them with us all the time. We use them every day, sometimes several times a day.

I had the experience of losing a set of keys last week. It was terrible. I'd wake up in the night thinking about it. The loss was constantly on my mind, pushing aside plans to go fishing, interrupting my thoughts of fall clean-up and delaying color tours.

Hazel and I were at the Hiawatha Sportsman's Club in Engadine. My habit with car keys when up north with just one car is to put the keys on top of our old wooden ice box in the kitchen. That way Hazel can take the car when I'm busy on the lake.

Saturday morning I reached for the keys to go get a newspaper. No keys! "Hazel, what did you do with my keys?" "I didn't have them!"

My first thought was that she forgot she took them. My second thought was that I forgot where I put them. It's natural, isn't it, to blame someone else first?

All who have lost their keys know exactly what I did . . . retrace every move I might possibly have made after I parked the car.

Not finding the keys, we retrace our steps again, and again and again.

During this time we try to remember what keys are on the chain. In my case there are only four. My car keys. That's no big deal. I lock myself out of my car so often I carry an extra set in my wallet.

My house key. Heck, I'm over 300 miles from home, and the finder will never know what that key fits. Same for the other key on the chain, that's to our garage down here.

So the lost keys are no big thing. Why, then, does the loss bother me so much? Why, doctor, am I spending so much time going through my pants pockets so often, re-checking all the various hiding places in our car, going through drawers, looking under things and staring at the ground while re-walking the front and back yards?

It's got to be because they are MY keys. MINE! Somewhere in this 24-plus-hour time frame I fully realized I had lost the keys, Hazel didn't have them. Once this conclusion was reached I found myself calling myself names. Stupid, Jerk and Dummy came first.

I also considered my advancing years, though I'm still very young (comparably, that is). Am I becoming forgetful? Is this the first stage of Alzheimers?

WHERE IN HELL ARE THOSE KEYS?
Right there, you idiot!
Laying in the yard, about six feet from the steps.
Whew! What a relief!

A look back

15 YEARS AGO (1979)

Pine Knob's quest for the 22-story ski-run-roof hotel hits another zoning snag. Controversy arises over whether recreational districts should include hotel-resort-convention facilities on 10 acres or more and whether such facilities can be built up to 200 ft. high. The issues will be placed on the Oct. 16 ballot. The Clarkston News, the Clarkston High School Students Against Smoking organization and the American Cancer Society sponsor an essay contest for youths on "What I Think About Smoking." The contest is part of this year's Great American Smoke-out activities and hopes to make students aware of the harmful effects of smoking. Winning essays will be published in a November issue of The Clarkston News.

The Clarkston Wolves clip Rochester 19-14 in their first victory of the 1979 season Friday night. The win is attributed to gritty defense with just seconds remaining.

Negotiations which began March 31 between the Clarkston Education Association and the Board of Education fail to reach a settlement. CEA members vote on Sept. 26 to "withhold their services on Sept. 29." The three areas of disagreement are longevity pay, personal leave days and salaries.

The Square Rounders Round Dance Club kicks off their 1969-70 season at the Clarkston Community Center. Twenty-four couples dance to the calls of Connie and Bessie Dahl.

Open House will be held at Pine Knob Elementary Monday. Parents can meet with teachers and visit their children's classrooms. The theme for the 1969-70 year is "The New Generation."

If it Fitz

By Jim Fitzgerald

They're asleep at the wheel and the computer terminal

If at first you succeed, try again. That's how I say it. Dave Dionne said if I do try again, the headline on the trying column should be:

*Water, water everywhere,
But is anybody up?*

I told Dionne I don't write the headlines at the top of this stuff, some intelligent copy editor does. Which reminds me of something I should explain right now, before I forget it.

Dionne's headline, with aid from Samuel Coleridge's "The Ancient Mariner" (I went to school), refers to some Detroit Water and Sewerage Department employees sleeping on the job and wasting taxpayers' money. I will surely get back to that. But first:

Because of something I wrote Sept. 16, several of you wrote and phoned to suggest maybe I didn't go to school. A typical reproach came from Dr. Harold McCaughrin of Petoskey:

"Tsk, tsk, tsk. Say it ain't so. Say the computer did it. Say the proofreader was out to lunch. Anything except admit that one of the last strongholds of English and how she is writ done it."

What was writ was "I didn't know Smith hardly at all" and "son-in-laws." The former is a double negative that actually says if I didn't know Smith hardly at all, perhaps I knew him quite well. The latter contains a misplaced 's' which wrongly implies that my two daughters married the same man, and he is in more than one law business.

The mistakes are easy to explain, although you must promise not to tell anyone. For a long time now, I have been part of a covert operation designed to monitor the consciousness of copy editors. My bosses chose me for this important assignment because my continually grammatically and factually correct copy, day after day after day, so often puts editors, not to mention innocent bystanders, to sleep.

The devious procedure is that I make occasional errors on purpose to see whether they wake anybody up. On Sept. 16, they didn't, except for Dr. McCaughrin and a few other apparent insomniacs. End of explanation.

And, ironically, back to the sleepy question raised by Dave Dionne who lives in Lincoln Park near the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department substation on Montie Street, from where he keeps hearing zzzzzzzs.

Dionne said that almost every day for the past 18 months, there have been one or two department employees sleeping in a department vehicle parked outside the station.

Although I don't belong to the Optimist Club, I said maybe the resting employees were on lunch break. Not unless their break is as long as four hours, at any time between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Dionne said.

I recalled that several weeks ago I spotted a Department of Parks and Recreation truck parked illegally and blocking traffic outside the Big Boy near Belle Isle while the driver was inside getting food. He didn't get the parking ticket you or I would get.

I put the vehicle number in the newspaper, along with the time and date of the infraction. And quickly I heard from Parks and Recreation Director Ernest Burkeen, who apologized and said the driver had been reprimanded.

So why not try again? Around 2:30 p.m., Sept. 23, outside the Montie Street station, there was a man sleeping soundly in water department vehicle number 19887, license plate 285-X36.

I'm looking forward to hearing from Stephen Gorden, director of the water department. Even if those snoring workers are off the clock, and simply like to sleep near the job rather than at home, they present a dangerous image for passing taxpayers with weak stomachs. Gorden might want to pitch them a tent.

Don't never go nowhere but Onward and Upward. And wake up.

Don't Rush Me

By Don Rush

It'll cost us nothing

On the radio I heard some big-wig in the Democrat party answer a question that asked what will the crime bill or the health bill cost me?

The big-wig in the National Democrat hierarchy said, "Nothing."

No, I didn't crash my car into a telephone pole when I heard that.

"Nothing." As easy as you please he said, "Nothing." I bet he even had a straight face when he said it will cost tax payers nothing to pay for the crime bill.

He actually believed that just because he told us this billion dollar baby will cost nothing, that we would believe him.

Don't you ever wonder what is going on in Washington, D.C.? Don't you ever wonder what they think of us?

He said it will cost nothing -- what he forgot to say is that it won't cost the federal government much. The new "crime" bill mandates that states pay the way.

Speaking of that "crime" bill, I'm going to quote columnist Walter Williams from his column in the Aug. 31 Detroit Free Press:

"The fundamental starting point is we each own ourselves. If we own ourselves, we have the right to protect ourselves against those who would violate self-ownership through aggressive acts such as murder, rape or theft. Historically, private acts of aggression pale in comparison to government sponsored or sanctioned aggression, such as slavery, extermination, purges and imperialism.

"The brutal lesson of history was not forgotten by our founders. Thomas Jefferson observed: 'When governments fear people, there is liberty. When people fear government, there is tyranny.' He added: 'The strongest reason for the people to retain the right to keep and bear arms is, as a last resort, to protect themselves against a tyranny in government.'

"... George Mason could have just as easily been talking about today's anti-gun movement when he said: 'To disarm the people is the best and most effectual way to enslave them.' And who's behind this movement? It's for the most part liberals in and out of Congress who want to make us servants to the state.

"They try to exploit our constitutional ignorance by claiming the Second Amendment refers to a 'well-regulated militia' and government does the regulating. Nonsense! Noah Webster defined militia as 'the effective part of the people at large,' and George Mason defined militia as 'the whole people, except for a few public officials.'

"... With pious expressions, liberals often ask: 'Why would anybody want a military assault weapon? You can't hunt with it.' They want us to believe the framers gave us the Second Amendment so that we could hunt... and do a little target practice.

"Before we surrender our guns, we should remember that history's most barbaric people also were gun-ban advocates. Adolf Hitler sought a strict ban on gun possession by Jews. All over the post-Civil War South, laws were written to restrict the sale of arms to blacks. Hitler and Southern racists weren't trying to fight crime. They sought to prevent Jews and blacks from defending themselves...

"So far as crime is concerned, we should enforce existing laws and put criminals away. But I bet that if more law-abiding citizens carried guns, there'd be less street crime. Criminals are cowards who prey on the defenseless."

Amen, brother.

Amen.

CHS student life By Don Downey

Go to Homecoming, but don't go overboard

We've seen the signs on the school walls and the T-shirts and at the assemblies. Homecoming. That celebrated football game-parade-dance which causes so much excitement for so many people.

Going to a home football game and a dance is a great way to spend a weekend, but even the most spirited students wonder if Homecoming is perhaps a little overdone.

The theme for this year's Homecoming dance is "We've got Tonight," and I think it is important for everyone to remember that it is only one night. Just one Saturday night out of 52 every year on which it is possible to have a good time.

So what would possess people to go through weeks of preparation and fistfuls of money so that they can kick off their expensive new shoes and dance in their stocking feet on the gym floor on this single, unlasting night? I personally think it's insanity, but it is probably just the pressure to participate in one of the most important social events of the school year.

The girls spend hundreds of dollars on a perfect dress/shoes/earring/manicure combination, causing themselves great anxiety which could make it difficult for them to actually enjoy the dance. The guys fork out their money for expensive tickets, restaurant bills, flowers, and anything else they can think of to impress their dates. Even I got caught up in the hype last year, causing me to quit my job on two days' notice because I was scheduled to work on the night of the dance.

What is even harder to understand is why so many people spend so much money on the dance, but refuse to take part in all the other Homecoming activities. I know people who rebelled and went to Dairy Queen during the pre-tapping assembly and who don't plan on participating in the other activities, but who do plan on joining everyone else at the dance.

I have to wonder why people with so little interest would still feel obligated to go to the dance and give so much money to support an idea they don't care about. I think seniors should save their school-dance excitement for the prom, and all students should save their money for something a little longer-lasting, like spring break or a car.

If it's not too late, I would like to ask the students of Clarkston High School to go to the dance and have a good time, but at the same time to keep a realistic view of the significance of this one Saturday night. I would also like to see everyone shift the meaning of Homecoming from a glitzy three-hour ball to the two-week school spirit celebration it was meant to be.

IRS has money . . . for some

The Internal Revenue Service is trying to locate Michigan taxpayers who are still due refunds from their 1993 federal income-tax returns.

Arlene Kay, IRS district director for Michigan, said 1,437 refund checks worth $736,390 were returned as undeliverable. The refund checks range in amounts from $1 to over $4,000.

The IRS believes most of the people moved or changed their names during the year and failed to notify either the IRS or the Postal Service.

If you are due a refund from your 1993 federal return but have not yet received it, call 1-800-829-1040.

Crop Walk is October 16

Help stop hunger by joining this year's Clarkston Crop Walk Oct. 16.

Crop is the name given to community fundraising events sponsored by Church World Service, an international food relief agency. Money raised by Crop walks is used to provide food, medical care, disaster relief and self-help development efforts to needy people throughout the world.

According to organizer Mary White, 25 percent of all money raised in Clarkston stays in Clarkston to help those in need. Again this year, Lighthouse North will benefit from the walk, as will Pathfinders to Opportunities, Inc.

Pathfinders is a non-profit corporation established in 1992 by parents, educators and others for the purpose of identifying and developing opportunities for young adults with disabilities in Clarkston.

Among the churches participating in this year's Crop Walk are Calvary Evangelical Lutheran, First Congregational of North Oakland, St. Daniel's, Clarkston United Methodist and Free Methodist, Sashabaw United Presbyterian and St. Trinity Lutheran. However people from other churches are invited to participate as well.

The day kicks off at Calvary Lutheran Church with registration at 12:30 p.m., a prayer service at 12:50 and the walk at 1. After an off year last year, White hopes marchers can match the $12,000 raised in peak years.

Those interested in marching can call their own church or one of those listed.

Issues of growth dominate school year

School superintendent Gary Haner

Enrollment continues to climb, overtaking our projections again.

For several years we have been using Stanfred's "most likely" projection to anticipate student numbers. Last year, we chose an average projection between the "most likely" and "high" numbers which Stanfred provided. But our unaudited counts show that the "high" number would have been closer to our current count.

We are now housing 6,071 students, an increase over last year of about 3.1 percent. The increase of 181 students is split evenly between elementary and secondary levels. October County Day (formerly called Fourth Friday) will be this week, October 7, and audited numbers will be available shortly thereafter.

The August opening of Springfield Plains Elementary has helped to alleviate the growth burden amongst our younger students. Some of our older elementary schools have been able to reclaim rooms for music, science and computers. In some instances, the Kids Connection (latchkey) program has found permanent housing and no longer has to share classroom space. Five new elementary teachers were hired in September to spread out class sizes. However, portable classrooms are still in use at the elementary level, and four rooms at Springfield Plains which were to be specialized are being used for regular classrooms.

Two teachers have been added at the secondary level to accommodate larger numbers. At the high school, a teacher turnover of almost 50 percent over the past two years is the result of new staff coming along with the Ninth Grade in 1993, and a group of teacher retirements. At the high school site we continue to use a four-room portable classroom and have carved three more classrooms out of summer space renovations. While we just graduated approximately 350 seniors, our preliminary numbers show a

Along with the challenge of balancing classes, other growth issues dominate our decision-making. Traffic patterns and parking are one growth issue. One example is the traffic nightmare on Waldon Road during morning arrival times. The juxtaposition of driveways from Clarkston Elementary School, Clarkston High School, and Clarkston Middle School (along with increased student numbers) create a jam every day as school buses and drivers converge on the buildings.

We are currently working on plans to alleviate this problem which may include the realignment of driveways and the reduction of entrances onto Waldon.

Phone lines are another growth issue. Some of our older phone systems have been replaced and can handle larger call loads. In several schools, automated attendance lines like Voice mail increase our efficiency and productivity by handling parent calls while leaving other lines free. However, some of the older systems have not been replaced and parents and staff can be frustrated when trying to get through to a building. We are now surveying our equipment and pinpointing problem areas to find the best solutions for our schools.

Also under study is the transportation growth issue. New housing and additional subdivisions strain the current bus fleet to its maximum. Options and alternatives are under consideration. North Sashabaw Elementary starting times were changed this year to schedule an orderly pick-up of elementary students with little expansion of the bus fleet. However, the growth we see on next year's horizon demands a rethinking of the current bus schedule and fleet size.

Reward offered in vandalism

A $500 reward has been offered for information leading to the arrest of the person or persons responsible for vandalism at the Independence Township water tower on Dixie Highway Aug. 24.

Linda Richardson of the township DPW said during the night someone broke in through a fence, tore open a door and damaged a control panel. The intruder also climbed to the top of the tower and walked around.

"We thought they might have done something to the water so we shut that right off," Richardson said. Despite a clean water test, the tank was drained and rechlorinated, she added.

Around 4:30 a.m. a witness saw a man in dark clothing and carrying a black backpack parked in a red Jeep in front of the tower. However it's unknown if that's the same person responsible for the vandalism.

Anyone with information is asked to call the Oakland County Sheriff's Department at 858-4950.

The illegal guns, those carried in the schools, used in robberies and drive-by shootings which kill citizens and police officers, are the problem. If laws cured problems the illegal guns would be gone, and the drug war won. The solution to the problem is enforcement of existing gun laws. The recent federal crime bill named and outlawed 19 long guns. It also has a description of what a now-illegal gun will look like. This description fits another 190 common long guns, including dad's "old trusty" deer rifle and shotgun.

Less than one-half of one percent of crimes are committed with "assault weapons." This federal law is a solution looking for a problem, unless we do not understand the problem the federal government is trying to resolve. The founding fathers taught us that we must fear a government that fears an armed citizen. The armed citizen has been demonized. Newspaper editors cannot be far behind.

I hope you will read this letter, give my thoughts consideration, and print a point of view that opposes yours. We all understand that the First Amendment right of free speech was to assure the free exchange of ideas and points of view and information. This is true even when we disagree with an idea. This unlimited right is the first threat to an oppressive government posed by our founding fathers.

Maybe founding parents is more politically correct? Let's see, what other ideas and words do we need to regulate? A list of 19 assault words seems a good place to start.

Sincerely,
Thomas McCloskey

Destruction of beauty becoming unbearable

I live in a home in the village of Clarkston, where my neighbors and myself have tried to graciously adjust to new homes being built near us over the past year and a half.

Many anticipated, and unforeseen, difficulties have been endured by both the "older" neighbors and the "new." Unfortunately, the destruction of the historically natural beauty that was a part of this village for many, many years has become almost unbearable to some of us, as my poem reflects.

The Pine Tree

Once a lovely pine tree stood strong and tall.
One by one, by "man's" hand, it's limbs began to fall.

For years untold, it cradled little birds and animals, as if, a mother's hand,

And gave back to this Earth, as its life flourished from the land.

The tree ever green and graceful, was a delight to see,

Through every season its limber branches

"sang" to me.

How many others has it touched, as years have come and gone?

How many tales might it spin, if we'd listen very long?

Now, the pine tree stands with un-natural nakedness;

Fewer branches are left to gently caress;
Still struggling to stand with dignity
From the swift, cruel blade "man" wielded, forcing humility.

May some day, each of us listen responsibly
To the "cry" of our land of liberty.

If we thoughtlessly change Earth's natural endeavors,

We may lose the goodness of our land; we may lose it forever.

In appreciation

We would like to take this opportunity to thank Bill Wint of Lewis E. Wint & Son Funeral Home (and the wonderful staff) for your wonderful assistance and genuine warmth and compassion.

Our thanks to the EMS, the Sheriff's Department, the staff at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, the Clarkston community, the Clarkston Women's Club, the GLTA, GMC & Ford's.

Thanks to the family and friends and Chuck, the thoughtful groundskeeper at Lakeview Cemetery. Thank you Pastor Richard Nelson of the Christ Lutheran Church and Jim and Ruth Brueck and family for all of their help and the wonderful wake in Jack's memory.

Without the help and love of all, the unbearable would have been much more difficult.

Thank you, and God bless you.

Dr. Jupiter brings his magic Oct. 21

David Schwaninger has been doing magic tricks since he was 5. At the age of 13 or 14, he says, he got $5 for his first paid show. And though he's gone on to a career in teaching, every so often he dons the identity of Dr. Jupiter and brings his Madhouse of Magic to audiences of all ages.

Schwaninger, of Highland, will bring his show to Springfield Plains Elementary School on Friday, October 21 at 7:30 p.m. Tickets (in advance) are $3 per person or $10 for a family of four. The show is sponsored by Clarkston Community Education.

"We give away a dead body at the end of every performance," Schwaninger said. "We have a lot of fun with that claim. And of course we couldn't say it if it wasn't true."

And who's the lucky person who will take home the prize? Often it's an audience member who takes part in another specialty: the hand-severing trick.

"If they can survive that, many times we give them the dead body," Schwaninger said.

"It's a family show; it's got a lot of audience participation because this is live entertainment," Schwaninger said. Though the show will have a Halloween feel because of the timing, Schwaninger said it's not gory.

Tickets for Dr. Jupiter's Madhouse of Magic may be obtained at each Clarkston school building. Prices will be slightly higher at the door.

Boy's quick thinking saves brother

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

We all talk of brotherly love, but one Clarkston youngster really put it to the test recently.

Six-year-old Andrew Zuker jumped into the waters of the Clinton River and rescued his little brother Patrick after he fell off the family's pontoon Sept. 19.

The three Zuker brothers, Jason, 8, Andrew and Patrick or "Patchy," 4, had gone down the river with their mom Colleen to deliver some garden vegetables to a neighbor.

"I had been talking to my friend Kelly Anderson ... We had butted the front end of the pontoon to her L-shaped dock. We were on the river to see if we could get rid of some tomatoes," Colleen said.

Though Colleen and her husband Paul have a rule that the boys are not to go on the boat without their life jackets, it was one of those moments when she needed eyes in the back of her head.

Apparently Jason, Andrew, Patrick and some of their young friends were "washing carrots" off the Anderson's dock when one boy pulled up the rope to the pontoon. Patrick, who had climbed onto the pontoon, had been reaching out over the water to wash his carrot, and the boat's motion caused him to topple in.

When Colleen saw her son in the water, she ran to the dock but was unable to get to him because of all the children standing in front of her. She said she didn't want to knock them in too.

"Everything was in slow motion ... but it happened so quickly. I screamed, 'He doesn't have on his life jacket! He fell in!'" Colleen said.

"And all of a sudden this blur goes by — this orange and red blur."

It was Andrew, who had on a life jacket. He grabbed his little brother around the neck to keep his head out of the water, like he had seen "on TV."

'I was afraid that I wouldn't have Patchy for a brother anymore.'

Andrew Zuker

Patrick had gone under twice. Andrew held his brother until Anderson jumped off the dock and pulled Patrick in.

Afterwards Andrew said Patrick told his big brother he "kept spitting and spitting out the water." And Colleen told her middle child he was her hero.

She said she was glad all three boys had had swimming lessons since they were three years old and praised Andrew for being such a "quick thinker."

But solemn-eyed Andrew said all he really thought about when he jumped off the dock was one thing.

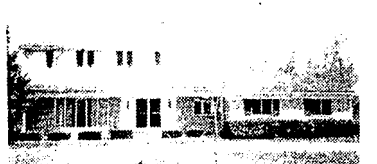

"I was afraid that I wouldn't have Patchy for a brother anymore," he said.

HE AIN'T HEAVY, HE'S MY BROTHER! Andrew Zuker, 6, shows how he arm-held his 4-year-old brother Patrick to keep his head out of the water. Big brother Jason, 8, is to the right.

Former Clarkston man convicted in bankruptcy fraud

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Though former Clarkston resident David Berg tried to conceal some of his income when filing for bankruptcy, his act failed to be as well hidden as the messages in the subliminal tapes he sold.

Berg was convicted in U.S. District Court Sept. 13 after a four-day trial on four counts of bankruptcy fraud. Berg failed to report income and ownership in the SCWL International Corp., which markets subliminal weight-loss tapes to Japan, of which he was 50-percent owner. He hid his earnings, part of his bankruptcy estate, from the bankruptcy trustee and his creditors.

Berg's attorney Clement Waldmann said Monday that his client was found guilty on three counts of the indictment but acquitted on one which involved listing his former Deer Lake home where he lived for two years as being "tenanted by its entireties (Berg and his wife Martha)." Berg had the deed transferred to him through a quit-claim deed when the house was sold to avoid credit card collectors who were after his wife.

Counts Berg was found guilty of include not declaring SCWL Corp. when filing for bankruptcy, stating he did not own stock in any "corporated or unincorporated companies" and stating he maintained no joint bank accounts with any corporation.

U.S. District Prosecutor Ross McKenzie said the FBI stepped in to do a criminal investigation on Berg after the bankruptcy court referred his case to them.

After Berg moved to Florida in 1991, buying a new house there from $113,000 received in equity from the sale of his Clarkston home, the FBI investigated his bank account.

What they found there was evidence on which to try him. Berg had been writing royalty checks to himself as a signer under the SCWL account.

"He was concealing that money from his [bankruptcy] trustee and creditors," McKenzie said.

Berg is awaiting sentencing and could get "21-37 months in prison and a fine from $5,000 to $60,000," McKenzie said. "I'm going to be asking that he make restitution on a payment schedule."

Waldmann plans to ask the court for probation. He said Berg is currently living with Martha at his parents' home in Pontiac.

"He was sort of a rags-to-riches-to-rags individual," Waldmann said.

Several new events for seniors have been planned for this year, including a kick-off luncheon on Thursday, Oct. 6 at 11:30 a.m. at the administrative office, 6389 Clarkston Rd. Cost is $2; call 625-4402 for a reservation. A short program will include a viewing of the new district video, a discussion of classes at community ed. and a chat with superintendent Gary Haner.

In November, Senior Gold Card members will be treated to a tea at the high school prior to a special dress rehearsal of the fall play.

Milestones

Marking 90 years

Elizabeth (Betty) Vogel celebrated her 90th birthday with a party with friends and family at Clintonwood Park Saturday. Vogel was born October 3, 1904 and has lived in Clarkston for the last 10 years. She is a member of the pinochle club at the Senior Center at Clintonwood Park and a parishioner at St. Daniel's. She has a son Tony, daughter-in-law Donella and grandson Reese, who attends the University of Michigan.

Roach-Woodward

Ronald and Elizabeth Roach of Oxford announce the engagement of their daughter, Rebecca, to Thomas Woodward, son of John and Dianne Woodward of Jacksonville, Florida. The Woodwards are former residents of Clarkston. The bride-to-be is a graduate of Oxford High School and works as a professional nanny. The prospective groom attended Clarkston High School and St. Mary's College. He is employed as an operations manager for Realco Recycling Co. Inc. A September 1995 wedding in Oxford is being planned.

Lindsey Cowling, a sixth-grader at Everest Academy, was the winner of the art contest. With her are the Christmas Gala '94 co-

Everest Academy prepares for gala

Three-year-old Everest Academy's first try at an auction was so successful the school is trying it again. Christmas Gala '94 has been scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 3 at 7 p.m. at the school, located at 5935 Clarkston Rd. The evening will include a catered buffet dinner, cash bar and live and silent auctions.

Co-chairs Jan Rabette, Meg Mathues and Sandi Leffel kicked off the planning with a fund-raising luncheon, which raised $2,000, about 10 percent of the goal for the auction, "which is unbelievable," Leffel said.

Next, they sponsored an art contest among the school's students. They are currently looking for donations for the auction, selling advertising for the auction's program and selling tickets for the big event.

Everest Academy was founded by the Legionnaires for Christ and Regnum Christi. It started out with 11 students, Leffel said, then went to 33 its second year. This year enrollment stands at 69 students.

Tickets for the Christmas Gala are $25 per person and the co-chairs are hoping for a sellout of all 250 tickets. For advance tickets call 620-3390.

Ivan Rouse

"Music properly taught is the best mind trainer, and it sharpens the mind for other endeavors."

Ivan Rouse, founder of the Clarkston Conservatory of Music, spoke those words to a reporter last year. The man who was well-known for his eccentricity, his concerts and his devotion to Clarkston and classical music, died October 2. He was 64.

Born in Clarkston, Rouse attended the University of Chicago's American Conservatory. After graduation in 1959 he returned home and founded the conservatory, offering his first concert in 1960. He taught piano and organ to students of all ages and brought in other experts to teach other instruments.

A noted anglophile, Mr. Rouse was also known for his unique use of the English language, his "Ivanisms," as they were called. A lifelong bachelor, "He devoted his life to music," said his sister, Bernice Powell.

"He was very interesting," she said. "He was happy when he was doing for others... He had a great sense of humor. He brought a lot of culture to this area."

Mr. Rouse suffered a stroke in February and after hospitalization at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital he moved to Canterbury on the Lake. Though his health was failing, he continued to beat the drum for the conservatory and other interests, such as the Clarkston Historical Society.

"I have always thought that Ivan offered to our community another dimension," said Clarkston Mayor Sharron Catalo. "In running the Clarkston Conservatory, he did with his life exactly what he wanted to do. I don't know that it was always an easy life for him. But he added to our community. He added a little different kind of culture to this area and he's going to be very missed..."

"You had to enjoy him for what he really was and I'm grateful I did."

Mr. Rouse is survived by three sisters, Bernice (J.D.) Powell, Ina Powell and Dorothy Koop, all of Clarkston; two brothers, Eldon (Valoise) of Central Lake and Clark (Gerry) of Grand Rapids; and many nieces and nephews.

A memorial service will be held Thursday at 1 p.m. at Episcopal Church of the Resurrection with Rev. Charles Lynch officiating. Funeral arrangements are by Lewis E. Wint & Son Trust 100 Funeral Home.

In lieu of flowers, memorials may be made to Clarkston High School for a music scholarship in Mr. Rouse's memory.

County park seeks public's input

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Independence Oaks may soon become even more of a people's park.

On Wednesday, Oct. 12, the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission will hold a public hearing at Independence Oaks' Nature Center at 7 p.m., asking residents for input on the revision of the park's master plan.

The master plan was constructed in 1973 as "a general guideline in philosophy and development potential [for the park]," Joe Figa, chief of design for Oakland County Parks and Recreation, said.

The park began with 799 acres but an additional 300 was purchased over the next few years, making Independence Oaks one of the largest in the county.

Ralph Richard, manager of Oakland County Parks, says now what the park needs are suggestions from residents on how to improve it.

"What's here now is a nature center, boating, trails, picnic shelters, a beach ... They (residents) will give us feedback on what they want to see," he said.

In order to obtain some of that feedback, the park's staff recently sent cards to all season pass holders who had purchased 1994 vehicle season tickets, asking for suggestions on improvements and expansion. So far they have received 600 responses.

While some of those requests include additions like paved bike paths for cyclists and Rollerbladers, increased camping areas for scouts and other organizations and more picnic shelters, others asked for unique features like "a lighted trail around the lake," Richard said.

"Some of the things people want to do are not in keeping with the character of Independence Oaks which is a more naturally sensitive environment."

Figa agreed. "Some people want more trendy things in the park," he said.

But Figa added the staff would be looking at that too and base its evaluation from comments made at the hearing. In addition to residents, community leaders, parks and recreation people from adjacent projects and those involved in public school curriculums will be invited.

"It'll give us a good cross-section of people that use the park," Figa said.

Figa said a plan is under way to expand the park's Nature Center by doubling its size with an additional 4,000 square feet "for more interpretive, educational classrooms and exhibit space." Presently the center offers fall walks, a cider press, exhibits, teaching areas and other activities.

The 1,100-acre park is a natural wildlife habitat for deer, fox, squirrels, birds and fish. It's also been rated as one of the county's highest quality wetland habitats by the Michigan Natural Features Inventory.

Besides usual park offerings like swimming and camping, it boasts specialties like star-gazing programs, night canoeing and an outdoor amphitheater.

Richard estimates Independence Oaks receives 230,000 visitors a year.

"It's one of our biggest parks — in attendance and size. We've had 170,000 people so far this year," he said.

Richard is looking forward to the hearing and hopes many residents will attend.

"It'll give us lots of ideas if they (residents) give us feedback — how much things will cost and where they can go on the site.

"It's for the people — they own it. I'm just the caretaker," he laughed.

The Nature Center is located in Independence Oaks County Park, 9501 Sashabaw, north of Clarkston Road. Park hours are 8 a.m. until sundown, seven days a week. Call the park at (810) 625-0877 for daily entrance fee information.

Park activities

Looking for Halloween alternatives that aren't scary? Independence Oaks County Park is offering two festive programs. Instead of werewolves, a Harvest Hayride takes place on Oct. 16, the night of the full moon. A campfire, treats and program will also be part of the night's activities from 7-9 p.m.

Charge is $2.50 per person and guests must be pre-registered.

A Halloween Happening on Oct. 29 promises to be both entertaining and educational for your little pumpkins. Eight stations will be incorporated in a walk through the woods, where costumed characters will explain "Nature Fears and Halloween Fables." For instance, your little goblin might learn "where the jack 'o' lantern came from." Favorite seasonal snacks of cider and doughnuts accompany the walk which takes place from 7-9 p.m. Cost is $3 and, again, only advance registration is acceptable.

Call the park's Nature Center to register and for more information at 625-6473.

A SUNNY AUTUMN STROLL along Independence Oaks' lush acreage finds Clarkston resident Edward Arakelian and his visiting Connecticut cousin Joseph Mariana taking advantage of the crisp weather. "It's a great place for walking," Mariana said.

Detours announced

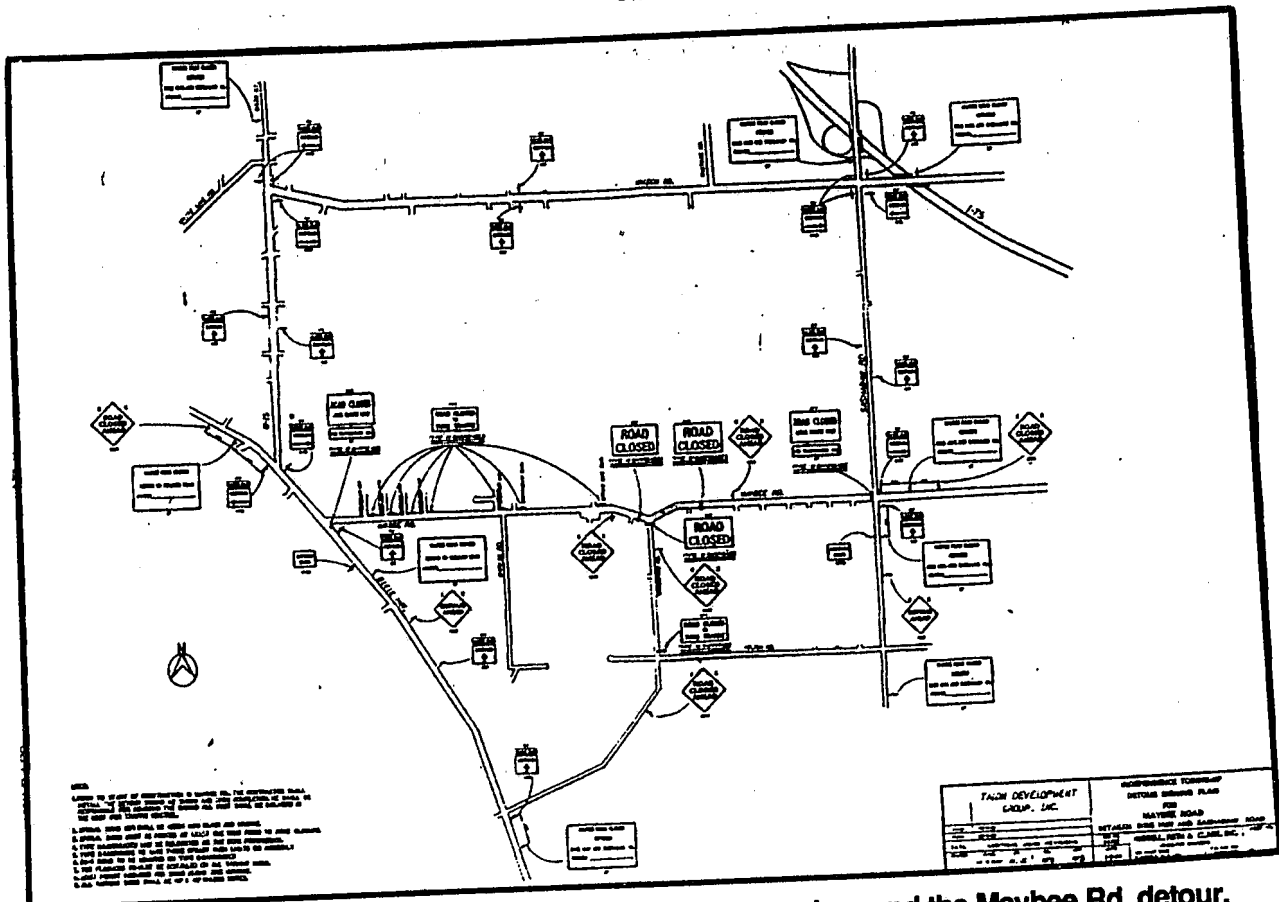

Don't be surprised to see those orange signs that signal distress for drivers popping up all over Independence Township soon.

The Road Commission for Oakland County has announced that due to installation of a sewer line, Maybee Rd. between Sashabaw and Dixie will experience detours between Oct. 10 and Oct. 28. Between those two roads, Maybee will be closed to through traffic, with Walton being suggested as an alternate route.

"The road will be closed to through traffic but it will be open for local residents and emergency traffic at all times," said Thomas Blust of the Road Commission. There may be some delays.

He added that township consulting engineers will be on-site daily, and Road Commission engineers will also visit frequently.

"Our job is to see the sewer goes in with the least inconvenience to the travelling public and we maintain a safe access and return the road to its original condition."

This map shows the location of signs that will be posted around the Maybee Rd. detour.

Township police deficit forces deputy cutback

all we're talking about is maintaining the status quo because I think we have adequate police services."

The requested .25 mill would bring in about $175,000 extra to the police services fund, while the 2.5 mills would bring in over $1.5 million to maintain current services.

The DARE officer program costs about $75,000 and a Deputy II position costs about $70,000.

The Independence Township Board was set to drop the DARE officer program until Clarkston Schools Board of Education agreed to fund the DARE officer for the first semester.

Stuart said the deficit in the police services fund came about because of a combination of circumstances, including an increase in county charges for the use of sheriff's deputies.

Since taking office in 1992, Stuart said one of his main goals was to build the township's fund balance (carry-over funds) back up.

"By the end of this year it will be about $400,000 and when I got here it was about $90,000," he said.

Having a strong fund balance, which should usually be between 15 and 20 percent of the budget, improves credit ratings, which lowers costs when a community goes out for bonds.

Lighthouse North needs help

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Some perfectly good donations intended for Lighthouse North went recently to the Judson Center in Birmingham instead because of storage and staffing problems at Lighthouse.

A Clarkston man said he tried repeatedly to donate good coats and other clothing and was turned away. "Either they can't accommodate you or they have limits," he said. "These are all perfect clothes. I think it's absolutely ludicrous they don't want them."

The problem, according to Lighthouse North branch manager Wendy Halsey, is not enough volunteers and not enough space.

"There's not enough people to help sort (clothes)," Halsey said. In addition, the clothing storage area was recently moved from the basement to the upstairs of the former church on Maybee Rd. which now houses Lighthouse North, "so we were limiting it for a couple of weeks." The move was recently completed.

However, Halsey admitted that the problem won't be going away unless more volunteers step forward.

"We're sorry if we made people upset, but I had to be respectful of my volunteers. Most of them are older women and it's a labor-intensive job."

Clothing that is clean, wearable and in season is now being accepted Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. "If we had volunteers here we could do it everyday," Halsey said. "Coats we're taking now, but please hold summer stuff until spring."

Minor household items are also being accepted, but toys and bicycles are not. "We just don't have room for them," Halsey said. "We have to put our priorities in."

'We're sorry if we made some people upset but I had to be respectful of my volunteers.'

Wendy Halsey, Lighthouse

In order to recruit new volunteers who may work during the day, Halsey said Lighthouse North is planning to start evening work sessions, probably once a month. More opportunities to volunteer will be scheduled over the holidays, when there is a lot of activity at the charity.

Headquartered in Pontiac, Lighthouse provides emergency services to the needy, including food, housing, a battered-women's shelter and counseling. Lighthouse North concentrates on north Oakland County.

To volunteer call Lighthouse North at 673-4949.

New Chamber president plans busy year

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

The Clarkston Chamber of Commerce has more members than it's ever had, but new president Don Brose wants to make it bigger and better still.

Brose, who took over the presidency from Marc Cooper last week at the Chamber's Annual Meeting, said he plans to institute monthly meetings that will be held at local businesses and feature interesting speakers.

The first such meeting is scheduled for Oct. 12 at Brose Electric from 7 to 9 p.m. Cost is $3 for members, $6 for non-members. The evening will include hors d'oeuvres and beverages and will feature a talk on "Turning Down Time into Prime Time" by Mark Roby, director of the Detroit Center for Attitudinal Healing and president of Prime Time Consultants.

"This has been a year of progress," Brose said in his remarks to the members at the Annual Meeting. "I'm real confident this is going to be a good year for the Chamber of Commerce."

The Clarkston Chamber is only about seven years old, and Brose has been a member and board member most of that time.

His firm, Brose Electric, was founded by his grandfather in 1927 in Detroit. Brose now owns one of two stores (the other is owned by an uncle in Allen Park). He sells both to builders and the retail trade.

"There are always two or three different reasons why you might join a Chamber," he said. "One is civic activity. The other is you meet a lot of people and it helps business."

"I have found that being active, you feel good about doing that sort of thing. Second, it gives you a diversion from the day-to-day thing. I work 50-55 hours a week . . . You've got to do something different."

Brose, his wife Robin and children Rob, 12 and Lee Anne, 8, have lived in Clarkston for six years. He has run the Chamber's successful Concerts in the Park series for the last five years.

He said about 50 percent of businesses in the Clarkston area with more than one employee belong to the Chamber. Membership now stands at 169.

"That's the highest it's ever been," Brose said. He credits teamwork, rather than a specific membership drive, with the increase.

"The board members do a great job of recruiting. Everybody knows we're there. The benefits of being a member are numerous (but) some of them are hard to quantify."

Brose plans a major push toward making Chamber members more visible in the community, via publicity and joint advertising. The intent is to get Clarkston people to shop their home town.

"There are a lot of new people moving into Clarkston and our business community is not that big.

Scott, who won the Chamber's annual President's Award. Poolmart & Spas received the annual Beautification Award.

We want to tell the average Joe in Clarkston you can shop here . . . Don't automatically assume you have to go to Somerset or Summit Place to shop."

In addition, the Chamber is looking into increasing benefits of membership. The board is looking into offering health insurance to members, weekly "Chamber chats" at a local restaurant and sponsoring community activities, such as a circus scheduled for June 30.

"When I started our business in the Clarkston area 12 years ago, I was kind of surprised," Brose said. "There is a lot of community but very few people consider business part of the community . . .

"With the amount of growth in this area I believe there's a tremendous opportunity for business. Why not let the Chamber help?"

The Chamber is also planning its 8th annual Community Expo for 6-9 p.m. Nov. 9 at Spring Lake Country Club. It's a chance for Chamber members to show off their business and meet other members. Admission is $2. Call 625-8055 to reserve a table or buy tickets.

Trophies, class go hand in hand for area kids

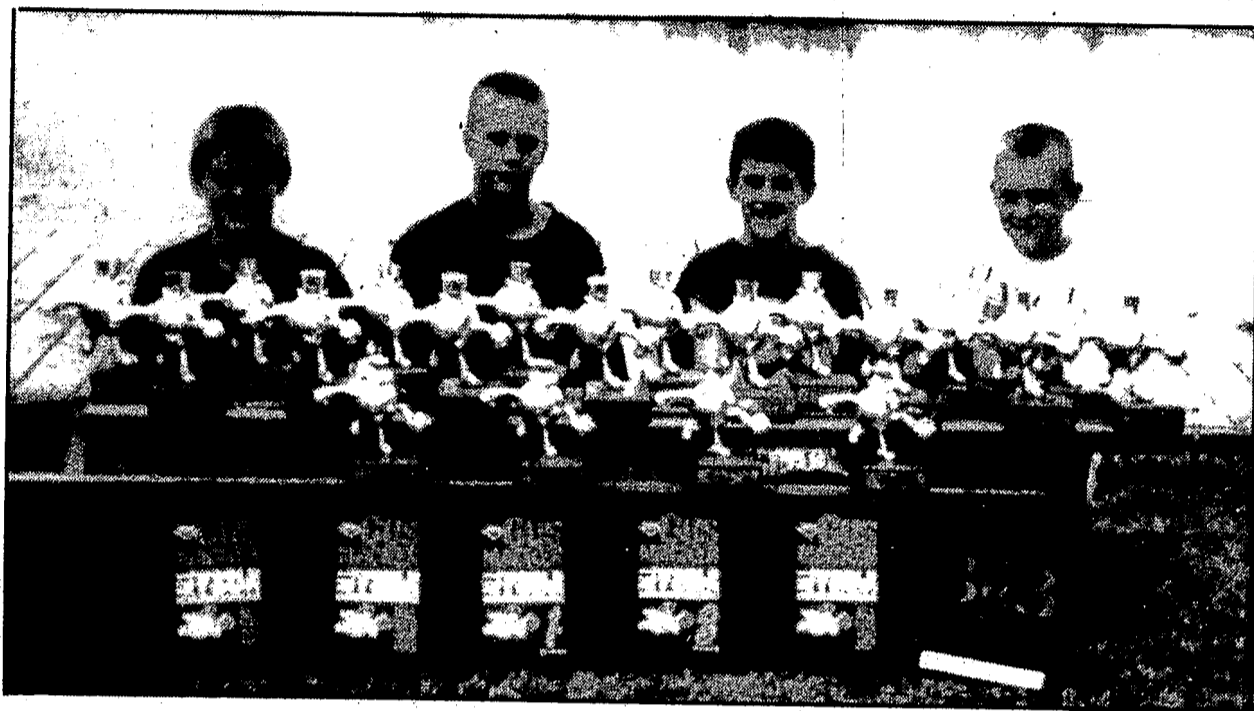

Just call them Macker mania's original one-and-only hoop-shootin' hand-shakin' net-swishin' trophy-takin' good sportsmen.

Better known to family and friends as Fab Four Junior, the local quartet of 10-year-olds did their share of winning in several Gus Macker 3-on-3 tournaments.

Chris Webb, Michael Loveless, Aaron Waterbury and Jason Hunt did their community proud by winning two tournaments and finishing second in another. But more importantly, these kids won the most prestigious awards by earning the Good Sportsmanship team award in three Gus Macker tournaments.

The four-man squad won a Macker, the 3-On-3 Roundball Classic at the Silverdome, and finished second in another Macker. This past summer the four Clarkston hoopsters played in four tournaments.

"I feel it is noteworthy that in this age of trash-talking, ref-bashing, strutting one's stuff and belit-

Regionals next goal

Golfers unbeaten in new league

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Coming off a frustrating week, the Clarkston golf squad came back strong last week and won the Oakland Activities Association Division I league tournament.

In addition to that, the Wolves showed their determination by beat Rochester 153-156 in a dual meet Sept. 29.

The next day, Sept. 30, Clarkston proceeded to dominate the OAA Division I meet, winning by nine strokes over Troy. After the Wolves' 314, Troy was next with 323, followed by Rochester at 327, Rochester Adams at 331 and Bloomfield Hills Lahser at 333.

Coach Jim Chamberlain said he was proud of the way his players performed all season, especially considering they went undefeated in the tough new league.

"It was the first year of this new division and they went undefeated. That's quite an accomplishment," he said.

Senior John Dean was the division tournament medalist, shooting a 76. He was followed by seniors Corey Bildstein and Jason Buchmann with 79s, and senior Jeremy Jenson's 80.

The dual match with Rochester was especially intense for Clarkston's players. In previous weeks the Wolves lost a few close tournaments Rochester.

While Chamberlain said he wasn't sure if revenge was a motive, he did say, "They just went in there confident and shot well."

The Wolves did just that led by Buchmann's 36 and Jenson's 38. Rounding out the top scorers were Bildstein with 39, and Dean and sophomore Tim Klimek at 40.

With regionals set for Oct. 7, with a 9:30 a.m. shotgun start at Romeo Golf & Country Club, Chamberlain said his team has one goal.

"We have had a goal all year to get in the top three at regionals and qualify for the state meet," he said. "There will be a lot of Macomb County teams there and with schools like Rochester, Rochester Adams, Lake Orion and Grand Blanc, we'll have to play hard and play against the course, not against other teams."

The coach said the Romeo course isn't too difficult, which could play into the hands of the opponents. "Whenever the task is easier you always have the chance of allowing other teams get into it."

Golfer of the Week

Senior John Dean is Clarkston's golfer of the week for winning the OAA Division I tournament Sept. 30 and leading his team to victory. Dean also won the pre-season Division I tourney. He shot a 76 in the most recent meet and a 78 in the previous meet. "He finished real strong last year and was All-State. He's a very solid, steady and reliable golfer who plays all year round in tournaments and other events."—By Coach Jim Chamberlain.

Game by game Wolves get better

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The goal remains the same.

The Clarkston varsity football team wants to continue its winning ways. But there is a higher goal.

"We want to get better each game as we win," said coach Kurt Richardson. "That's our number one goal, and since that first game (a close 14-6 loss to state-ranked Troy) the players have been doing that."

The improvement continued Sept. 30 with a 31-0 win over Rochester.

For the second game in a row the Wolves had solid efforts on offense and defense. But, as with last week's win over Troy Athens, senior quarterback Toby Evans came through with a strong performance.

"Toby is so much better from game one," Richardson said. "Now he's making better decisions."

Those good decisions helped Evans complete 10-of-14 for 138 yards, including two touchdown passes. His play is a key to the team remaining well-

Struggles continue for team

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

No one said it would be easy.

They were right, although that comes as no surprise to Clarkston girls basketball coach Larry Mahrle. Going into this season in the new and grueling Oakland Activities Association Division I, Mahrle expected tough times.

As expected the Wolves cruised through a 4-0 early season record against non-conference foes. But since entering league play Mahrle's squad is 4-4 overall, including 0-4 in the OAA.

"We knew when we got into this league these teams would be tough," he said.

The level of competition is quite intimidating, as evidenced by last week's opponents, Bloomfield Hills Lahser and Troy, whose combined record is 13-3 overall.

On Sept. 27 the Wolves lost 31-25 to Lahser and balanced, rather than relying so heavily on senior running back Jason Graves.

But Graves still did his share with 69 yards rushing (in limited action), a 51-yard punt return for a TD, a field goal and four extra points.

"We threw the ball well and took advantage of their turnovers," the coach said. "We've got room to get better but we're getting to where we have some good balance on offense."

Except for a series at the start of the second half, the Wolves played consistent on both sides of the ball the entire game. Since the start of the season, Richardson has said his team must learn to play hard-nosed and mistake-free throughout the game.

Against Rochester, that philosophy was working well and improves Clarkston's record to 4-1 overall and 3-1 in the Oakland Activities Association Division I, one game behind leader Troy.

The Wolves gained 250 yards of total offense and shut down Rochester's attack, limiting them to just 85 total yards.

Clarkston came out and scored first on an 18-yard pass from Evans to senior receiver Pat Mulligan.

on Sept. 29 they lost 55-44 to Troy.

"We're still thinking we can beat some of these teams and will work hard to do that," Mahrle said. "But we're also trying to take a long-look approach to it because we are a young team (only two seniors) and it's important to improve each game. One way to get through things like is to just keep working hard."

While the team continues to work hard and remain positive, the Wolves have had trouble scoring.

Against Lahser, they let a fourth-quarter lead slip away by being outscored 13-6 in the fourth.

The Wolves were led in scoring by Nickie Winn with 10 points.

Clarkston's scoring punch increased against Troy, but it still wasn't enough despite good games from sophomore point guard Elissa Shires, who scored 11 points, and senior forward Kerry Kelly, who scored 16 points.

Junior Nickie Winn also added 11 points.

Boosters dinner

The Clarkston Athletic Boosters will host an Oct. 17 pasta dinner at 6:30 p.m. for all members.

The "get-to-know" meeting will include presentations from some coaches on what to expect for the rest of the fall season, as well as discussions about winter and spring sports.

Dinner is free to all current and prospective members. For more information or to reserve a place setting, call Ellie at 620-0759, or Rich at 625-9513.

Soccer squad battles

The Clarkston boys soccer team ran into some tough competition last week and fell to 3-6 overall.

On Sept. 27, the Wolves lost 4-1 to Troy Athens, despite a goal from J.R. Kirk.

On Sept. 29, the story was much the same but closer. Clarkston lost 1-0 when a Rochester Adams player scored with less than four minutes left.

● Donald Counts of Clarkston caught a 36-inch, 17 pound pike in Green's Lake Oct. 3. He used a blue gill hook. Counts, who said he's fished all over the world including many times on Green's Lake, said, "I've never seen a fish like that come out of Green's Lake."

Freshman sports

By Kit Gischke

Clarkston freshman football coach Dave Whitehead must be proud of his football squad after a 21-7 Sept. 27 win over Ann Arbor Huron.

The coach credited the entire team for the win. And finally, an apology on my part. Last week, I neglected to mention the freshmen cheerleaders, who could in their own right be called a sport. Sorry, girls!

Next it was Graves' turn as he ran back a punt 51 yards for a touchdown.

After senior tight end Brad Agar hauled in a 3-yard pass from Evans, Rochester never had a chance.

"We were not really worried at any point in the game but once we scored on that punt return it opened it up for us," Richardson said.

Graves ended the first half scoring with a 31-yard field goal. The Wolves were up 24-0 at the half. Clarkston came out in the third quarter and added a 1-yard Graves TD to seal the victory.

Other keys on offense were the strong play of the senior-dominated offensive line (nicknamed "The Hogs"), the pass catching of Mulligan who made some difficult grabs, and the play of Agar.

Richardson said the entire defensive unit played well, especially the secondary.

But as Richardson has preached all season his team must stay focused, continue to play hard on every down and limit mistakes.

Clarkston gets its next test Friday, Oct. 7 at Bloomfield Hills Lahser. "It's the first time that we've gone there so it will be different for us," Richardson said.

JV sports

By Michael Romein

JV Soccer

Clarkston's JV soccer team played two games this past week.

On Sept. 27 the Wolves lost 2-1 to Troy Athens. Mike Gabriel scored on a penalty shot for the Wolves.

On Sept. 29, Clarkston beat Rochester Adams 2-0 by scoring both in the last 10 minutes of the game. Josh Holst and Chad Granlund did the damage for the Wolves' first win in OAA Division I.

This week, the JV Wolves play at Fenton, Oct. 7, 4:30 p.m.

JV Football

Clarkston's JV football team made it back-to-back wins with a Sept. 29 shutout, 6-0, of Ann Arbor Huron.

Jeff Long scored the only touchdown of the game on a 5-yard run and the Wolves defense did the rest.

Their record is 2-3 overall with their first home game of the season set for Oct. 6 against Bloomfield Hills Lahser at 7 p.m.

JV girls basketball

The girls team won two tough games last week.

On Sept. 27 the girls basketball team beat Bloomfield Hills Lahser by 10 points, led by Jenny Bauer's 11 points and Stephanie Vogler's great defense.

On Sept. 29, the Wolves beat Troy 34-29 as Megan Bjurman scored six points.

This week, they host Royal Oak Kimball Oct. 6.

JV golf

The JV golf squad finished third in a tournament at Great Oaks Country Club. The Wolves' score of 180 wasn't enough against Rochester Adams' 171 and Rochester's 173.

Clarkston received good play from Jeff Cumberworth with a 40 for nine holes, and Bryan Haggard with a 44.

The Wolves followed that with a scrimmage victory against Milford, led by Haggard's low score of 43.

With an overall record of 10-6, the Wolves play this week at Wabek Country Club vs. Bloomfield Hills Lahser.

Personal bests are goals for runners

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

While team goals remain different for the boys and girls cross-country squads, individual goals stay the same.

In each race co-coach Mike Taylor expects his athletes to shoot for better times, regardless of where they finish. So far this season his runners have done just that, making improvements with each race.

"With the guys they are happy with personal bests," said Taylor. "I think they understand it's hard to win meets unless you have at least five guys under 19 minutes.

"The girls are different. They know they can be as good as anyone and we talk a lot about winning and working together on grouping and staying near the top."

BOYS RUNNERS

Last week the boys squad didn't win a dual meet against Brandon but did come up with some personal-best times.

"We ran well and had some better times," Taylor said. "It was a closer meet than the score showed because we had some real close times with Brandon runners in all the places."

Brandon won the meet 23-32. Clarkston senior Brian Ginn continued his solid season with a second-place finish in a time of 17:39.

At the Pioneer Invitational Oct. 1, the Wolves runners placed well, behind Ginn's 22nd place in 17:34 and senior Matt Warner's 32nd place in 18:00.

They were followed by senior Steve Anderson, 43rd in 18:25, junior Tim O'Rourke, 61st in 19:15 and senior Andy Holland, 67th in 19:33.

The Wolves took 8th place among 13 teams.

But the immediate goal for Taylor, who coaches in tandem with Mike Kaul, is to get individual times down even more. "We have to get guys under 19 minutes in order to even compete. The guys realize we have to have that to win."

Taylor said top runners Ginn and Warner know where they stand.

"Brian is a very self-motivated runner and he knows his job is to get up there with the top runners."

On Warner, Taylor said, "He is trying to keep the gap between him and Brian small and works hard to make sure he's close."

GIRLS RUNNERS

The girls didn't get much of a challenge against Brandon, winning 15-50, and taking the first seven places.

Senior Leah Scharl again took first place.

At the Pioneer Invitational, the Wolves finished third with 82 points.

Scharl finished third overall among 52 runners in a time of 20:06. She was followed by junior Stefanie Burklow in 14th place with a time of 21:24. Both runners received medals.

Other top finishers included sophomore Kristin Maine, 18th in 21:42, freshman Megan Plante, 24th in 22:21, junior Anna Vandermeer, 23rd in 22:20, junior Stacie Iezzi, 25th in 22:26 and freshman Emily Hogan, 34th in 23:39.

Taylor said he expected strong efforts from his top runners like Scharl and Burklow, but the team's real strength this season has come from a host of newcomers, including Maine, Plante, Hogan, and Elizabeth Cooke.

"They are four runners who have really contributed that we didn't know much about," Taylor said.

But he also gives credit to every girl on the team for supporting each other, whether they come in first or last.

QUESTION: I was laid off from my job during the recession. My credit rating sank to a new low. I am now back at work and have saved enough for a down payment on a home. Will my poor, past credit prevent me from getting a home loan?

ANSWER: The lender will look at many factors, especially the appraisal of the home to determine its value as collateral. Also looked at will be the amount of the down payment, your total family income and, yes, your past credit history. So, your credit history is only ONE of the many factors to be considered.

Doubles lead rare win over Orion

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

After 24 straight losses, spanning 12 years, Clarkston's girls tennis team finally beat Lake Orion. Coach Dick Swartout was relieved to finally get a win against perennial power Lake Orion, who had dominated the former GOAL conference for 12 years before it folded.

"It's always big for us to play them because in the GOAL we would always finish second and they would finish first," said Swartout, who has coached Clarkston in all 12 of those years. "A lot of times it was a psychological thing, so this will not only be good for us the rest of the season but for next season as well."

The 5-3 victory Sept. 30 against Lake Orion was even more impressive considering Clarkston had lost to them 7-1 earlier in the season.

"We were all pleased with the win and I was especially happy for my two seniors who have been with me for four years, Jody Weatherington and Kelley Wall."

The spark against Lake Orion and throughout the season has been the play the doubles teams, led by first doubles senior Renee Shubert and Wall. They beat Orion in a close three-set match and improved their record to an impressive 11-4 overall.

Other winners were the #2 doubles team of Sam Schubering and Jocelyn Stock, #3 doubles team of Emily Kortge and Carrie Ruddy and #4 doubles of Kate Atkinson and Becky Olsen.

First singles Weatherington also won by default.

Swartout said even though his team didn't sweep their number one rival, all the athletes performed well and kept the matches close, with most going to three sets.

Swartout said he is pleased with how his players have progressed this season, particularly the doubles teams.

"They all work well together and are starting to play more aggressive by getting to the net at the same time," he said. "A good example is the first doubles team was down 5-1 in the first set but came back to win 7-5."

"We're getting a little better each time and that's all a coach can ask for."

The Wolves have a tough schedule this week, playing four matches in seven days.

Clarkston played Rochester Oct. 4, Andover is next on Oct. 5, then the division championship is set for Oct. 6 at Troy Athens. On Oct. 7, a make-up match is scheduled with West Bloomfield.

Don't let flu get to you

Most people probably wouldn't guess that flu and pneumonia are the sixth leading cause of death in the United States. Yet 76,000 people died from those causes in 1992, the last year for which records are available.

Each year the medical community urges residents to get low-cost flu shots. Each year a new and potentially more dangerous strain of flu appears. Yet many ignore the warnings—only 30 percent of those considered at high risk receive a flu shot.

This year the Visiting Nurse Association is waging an all-out war on the bug, offering the shots at grocery stores, schools and shopping centers where everyone can easily receive them.

"What disturbs us most is that people are quite literally dying from the flu and pneumonia and they shouldn't be," said Kathy Bulski, BSN, RN of the VNA.

Flu season takes hold in mid-October. The shots will be offered in Clarkston in coming days to try to hold off this highly contagious yet highly preventable disease.

The Pontiac-Oakland VNA, working with the support of the American Lung Association, is copying successful flu prevention programs in Denver, Salt Lake City and Flint. At each site, a flu shot can be obtained for $10. Medicare will be billed for senior citizens.

Vaccination is the only way to prevent flu, a viral infection of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes and/or lungs that can affect people at any age.

Unlike a cold, which can take a day or two to really kick in, the flu strikes suddenly and severely, leaving victims feeling fine one minute and miserable the next. Symptoms include sore throat, achy muscles, runny nose, fever and chills.

The U.S. Centers for Disease Control expect the Shongdong flu virus to arrive this month, a strain that flu," said Chris Root, president of the VNA in Flint. "Instead, they wait until they have the flu and then worry about what to do to get rid of it. That's not the best action to take."

Seventy-percent of all people who get flu shots are fully protected; the other 30 percent may get less severe symptoms if exposed.

The shots will be offered to anyone over the age of 18. You shouldn't get a flu shot if you have allergies to eggs; if you have a fever or feel ill with something more serious than a cold; you are pregnant or a child under six months of age; or you have a past history of Guillain-Barre syndrome. Check with your doctor first if any of those conditions exist.

Youth Assistance schedules bowl-a-thon

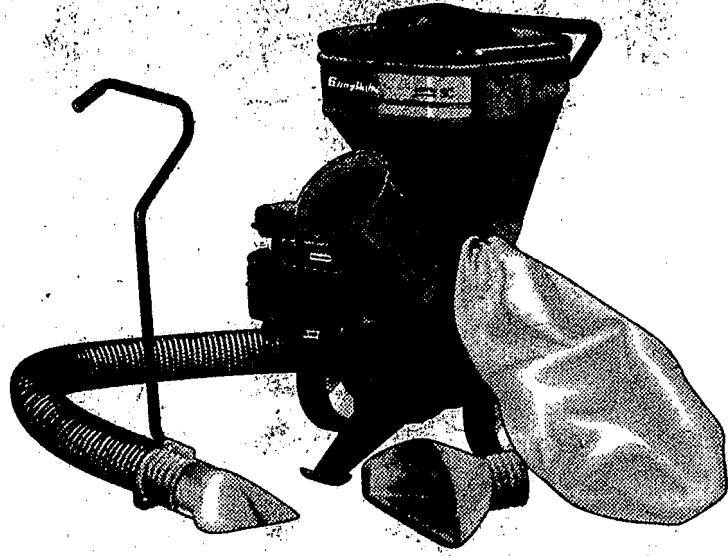

Clarkston Area Youth Assistance's 11th annual bowl-a-thon will be held Sunday, Oct. 23 at 2 p.m. at Cherry Hill Lanes North.

All proceeds will be used to send young people to summer camp. Youth Assistance hopes to raise enough money to send 58 children to Camp Wathana in Holly for a week in June. Cost is $145 per child.

"Youth Assistance feels strongly that a camping experience provides these children with a unique opportunity to explore, be independent, meet new friends and grow in many ways," said CAYA case-worker Teresa Blundell.

To sign up to bowl or make a donation to the camp program, call the Youth Assistance office at 625-9007.

Fire department sounds first alarm for leaf burning

The Independence Township Professional Fire Fighters Local 2629 wants to remind residents that in order to burn leaves they must have burning permits. The permits are issued by the Independence Township Fire Department and are available at any one of the three township fire stations. They are free and good for one fiscal year as of January 1 of that year.

Residents who purchase permits also receive a set of rules on leaf burning which include the following: Burning is allowed only on the first and third Sunday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of each month. Burning is allowed only from the hours of 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Burning of only tree trimmings and leaves is allowed and not building materials, plastics, rubber products, etc.

The township fire department will investigate all open burning complaints, regardless of whether or not a permit has been issued. Tickets will be given for first violations, with a second violation bringing a court appearance citation.

Tips for burning leaves are: Do not burn them when they are wet or while it is raining. Wet leaves don't burn, they smolder, and smoke is the most complained-about issue. If you will not be burning leaves the same day you rake them, it is best to tarp leaves until you do burn them to avoid wetness. When burning leaves, make sure you are in constant attendance and keep the fire stirred up. Loose leaves burn hotter and faster and do not have time to smolder. There is no burning of leaves within 50 feet of any right-of-way road or structure.

The township also advises residents to be sensitive toward neighbors with respiratory problems and suggests that a plan for burning when those neighbors are absent might be a considerate gesture.

Campfire requests are also available through the township and are issued on a daily basis. Those interested must call the fire department at 625-0470 the day of the campfire.

A recent state law will outlaw sending leaves to landfills starting in 1995.

130-IN MEMORIAM

ROBERT J. JOHNSON IN LOVING MEMORY of my Dad who died 3 years ago today, October 10, 1991.

Softly the leaves of memory fall Gently I gather and treasure them all. Unseen, Unheard, you are always near. To some you may be forgotten, To others part of the past, But to those who loved and lost you, Your memory will always last. To me you were someone special, And I miss you more each day, The saddest day of my life was the day you died. I think of you in silence, And when I speak your name, But all I have are memories and your picture in a frame. Though I can't reach and touch you, And your voice I cannot hear, I know you walk beside me, never absent, always near. Your resting place I visit, And place flowers with care, That no one knows the heartache, When I turn and leave you there.

YOUR LOVING DAUGHTER JUDY RX41-1

Step lively!

Springfield Plains students took advantage of a gorgeous fall day for a "fun run" around the parking lot Friday.

The runners had all collected pledges for the new school. So with music playing to encourage them along, each grade in succession took 20 minutes to run or walk around the playground.

The fourth- and fifth-graders took off quickly but though the weather was cool they soon slowed down. Some students alternated walking and running; some appeared to be more practiced runners and kept an even jogging pace. At the end there was cookies and drinks for all.

Nancy Carlson, of the school's transition team, said the race was a way to raise funds, get the kids involved, and get the new parent-teacher organization off the ground. She hopes the walk will bring in $10-15,000. Pledges are still being collected this week.

Carlson said the number-one goal is playground equipment. "This is a new school and we have a minimum amount of playground equipment," she said.

However, other items typically funded by PTA/PTO groups are also on the agenda, such as field trips and special days.

Steven Eby tries to recuperate from the effort.

Heather Parker stretches her legs before the run.

James Dewitt measures the circumference of an apple as Andrew Williams keeps an eye on him.

Apple from the teacher

Everyone knows apples are good for your health, but did you know they are good for your education too?

Fourth-grade students at Pine Knob Elementary School learned last week that they can learn a variety of skills in the course of learning about apples.

Their teachers, Deborah Luczyn, Phyllis Ness, Kay Samuel and Michele Shultz came up with the idea. For one whole day, the teachers turned the tables on the students by giving them apples and teaching lessons in math concepts, literature, history and science.

"Best of all, the students were able to eat the day's lessons," Shultz said. "The kids loved it."

Kirk Williams (right) weighs an apple as Kim Wilson watches.
