Their majesties . . .

Clarkston's 1994 Homecoming King and Queen, Mark Ryan and Jill Attaman, show off their finery in a walk around the high-school gym Friday. It was all part of the Queen's Assembly during the last day of Spirit Week. Perfect weather made for a perfect Homecoming weekend, with the Wolves varsity football team rolling over Adams Friday night and a warm, sunny parade on Saturday. Oh yeah—and the golf team won the state championship too. For more on the events, see Section B.

Show us your costumes!

Halloween-lovers of all ages are invited to share their weirdest, wackiest, scariest costumes with The Clarkston News.

If you're planning the mother of all costumes this year, please send a photo to the staff at the News, 5 South Main St., Clarkston, Mi. 48362. The very best examples will be published. Deadline is Oct. 28. Please be sure to include your name, address and a daytime phone number. Sorry, photos cannot be returned, but may be picked up at the office after publication.

O'Neill, Kildee to debate

Governor to campaign here for O'Neill

Congressman Dale Kildee (D., Flint) and his challenger, Megan O'Neill (R., Clarkston) have agreed to a debate in north Oakland County.

The two candidates will meet at Oxford High School on Thursday, Oct. 27 at 7:30 p.m. The event is sponsored by the American Association of University Women, Lake Orion/Oxford branch.

Two years ago O'Neill and Kildee faced off in the then newly realigned 9th Congressional District. The district was reshaped after the 1990 Census and now includes heavily Democratic Flint and Pontiac and just as heavily Republican northern Oakland County.

It was a close race in 1992 with Kildee keeping his seat. But O'Neill, buoyed by support from conservatives in Congress, announced early on that she would give it another try.

The two candidates were scheduled to debate Oct. 18 in Flint. The Oxford debate could be the only one they'll have in Oakland County.

The candidates will be questioned by three reporters: Tom Murphy of the Oakland Press, Darrel W. Cole of The Clarkston News, and Brad Kadrich of The Oxford Leader. Written questions will also be taken from the audience.

Oxford High School is located at 1420 Lakeville Rd., just east of downtown Oxford. The event is free and open to the public.

In other campaign news, Governor John Engler will come to Clarkston to campaign for O'Neill Saturday.

Engler is expected to campaign on Main Street, then appear at a $25-per-person fund raiser at the Clarkston Mills Mall at 11:30 a.m.

According to an O'Neill spokesman, a recent poll the campaign commissioned from Public Opinion Strategies showed O'Neill and Kildee running neck and neck. If the campaign were held today, the poll showed 42 percent voting for each candidate, with 16 percent undecided.

Kildee had a "favorable" rating by 41 percent of those polled, while O'Neill had a 33 percent favorable rate.

Is the Sashabaw corridor the next downtown?

Township ponders special planning

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The possibility of a Sashabaw Road "downtown" district has Independence Township officials concerned about the future.

Township treasurer John Lutz brought the issue up to the township board of trustees Oct. 4.

"My concern with the whole area is how this is to be developed," said Lutz. "Because we have so much growth this corridor (between Maybee and Clarkston roads) will explode in a short time. We need to make sure that whatever is developed there will be there for a long time. We could be seeing a new downtown area."

Lutz suggested the township planning commission look at and study the issue, but several board members said just one area of the township shouldn't be singled out.

The board and Lutz agreed to have Supervisor Dale Stuart compile a cost study, do some research and present it to the board at a later date.

"I agree we could have some unfavorable development on that corridor if we don't plan ahead, but I've also talked with some developers and builders who do have some good ideas on how it could be developed," said trustee Jeffrey McGee.

Stuart and trustee Daniel Travis, a long-time planning commission member, agreed long-term planning is necessary but had concerns about cost and singling out only one area.

"It certainly would be worthwhile but I would be very reluctant to see this study in one vacuum. We need to take an overall look," Stuart said.

Travis said, "The planning commission has piecemealed little things before by whatever planning issue has gotten the hot-button of the week. We will need money to support this and then the planning commission would be happy to do it."

While the current township master plan, which is a guide to a community's future development, is over 10 years old, board members said certain sections have been updated as needed.

Lutz agreed that the township should first study the issue, but warned that development won't slow down. It's only a matter of time before "strip developments" pop up along that stretch, according to Lutz. "We expect better than 125 new homes to be built and a 260-unit apartment complex and it will only get more intense."

The news in brief

Bicyclist hit

An 11-years-old Clarkston girl who was riding her bicycle on Sashabaw was struck by a car Oct. 13 when she tried to cross against the light. The driver of the car said she didn't see the girl but saw the light turn green in her direction. The girl told police she had tried to activate the pedestrian crossing signal, but when it didn't work, she decided to cross anyway. The girl then left the scene.

Traffic study begins on Miller

The Traffic Improvement Association of Oakland County began collecting information on traffic volume and speed on Miller Road Thursday. TIA director Bob DeCorte says counters are presently on the south side of the first block of Miller, west of M-15. The hoses running from the counters extend across the street and will count the number of cars that pass.

A traffic volume count is also being conducted at the intersections of both M-15 and Clarkston Road and M-15 and Miller. DeCorte says the study, which will determine the extent of the traffic problem, expects to be completed by the end of this week.

Change of heart

A 27-year-old Flint man who said he was an escapee from a Genesee County halfway house turned himself in at the Oakland County Sheriff's Independence substation Saturday. The man said he was planning to run away but had a change of heart. He was taken into custody.

Peeper arraigned

Donald McAgy of Independence Township was arraigned Monday in 52-2 District Court on a misdemeanor charge that he peeped into his neighbor's window.

The incident allegedly occurred Sept. 26, when police responding to a call found a ladder up against McAgy's neighbor's house leading to a second-floor window.

McAgy was released on $1,000 personal bond and ordered to have no contact with the neighbor. A bench trial has been scheduled for Nov. 30 at 1 p.m. If convicted, McAgy could receive a sentence of up to 90 days in jail and a $100 fine.

She gets her man

Sometimes it's awfully hard to collect child support, but one local woman didn't sit back and wait for the system to work. She saw her husband playing baseball at Clintonwood Park Oct. 12, called sheriff's deputies, then pointed him out to them. When the man saw his wife standing nearby with a deputy, he came off the field and was arrested on an outstanding Friend of the Court warrant carrying a $1,000 bond.

Leaf pick-up scheduled

The city of Clarkston will provide a pick-up of bagged leaves at curbsides on the following Saturdays: Oct. 22 and 29 and Nov. 5. Residents must pack their leaves in clear plastic bags, which are available in the city office at 375 Depot Road Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Bags will be sold in multiples of 10 and 25 with a charge of $2 for 10 bags and $5 for 25.

DARE funds high-school intervention

Stopping trouble before it starts

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Second in a three-part series.

It was a busy morning for Oakland County Sheriff's Dep. Dave Hernandez.

After starting out monitoring a middle-school traffic problem, then taking a formal report from a teacher, he moved to the tiny office at Clarkston High School he calls home while working as the school's police liaison officer.

Waiting for him was a phone call from an upset mother, whose daughter, she said, had been threatened by two male students. After promising to look into the problem, Hernandez checked the students' schedules and called them down, one at a time.

He listened to three very different stories and in each case, suggested the students not escalate what so far had not been a serious incident. Making no judgments on who had done what to whom, he asked them to look out for each other. "You're not in any trouble; we're just trying to intervene," he told one student. It was very different than most parent-child confrontations one could imagine. He talked to them as adults, as if hoping they would see the logic of what he was saying.

They seemed to understand and appreciate that. "You hope they listen to you," he said later, calling the case a "classic" problem he sees in his work at

'Sometimes it works; sometimes they get into altercations. You can't walk the halls with them 24 hours a day.'

Dep. Dave Hernandez

CHS.

"These kids don't handle their problems," he said. "They react with emotion."

It's his job, through referrals from teachers, parents and anyone else, to try to help them see the light before they really get into trouble.

"Before you know it, you've got two groups of people who don't like each other," he said. "Hopefully if you catch them in time they know someone is watching."

This semester, Hernandez's work is being funded entirely by Clarkston schools, unlike in past years, when it was funded through the township police millage. For that reason, he is spending all his time on school-related matters this semester. If a police millage request is approved in November, the second semester will be funded by the township.

Freshman Reggie Wiltse chats with Dep. Dave Hernandez in the CHS hallway. "Don't you know beepers aren't allowed in school?" he asked kiddingly.

CHS has had a police liaison officer assigned to it for the last four years, except for last year, when funding was cut. Hernandez also spends time at the elementary and middle schools teaching a program called DARE, Drug Abuse Resistance Education.

"A lot of these kids have seen me so much at the middle school and elementary school, the rapport is already there," he said. And indeed during lunch hours, when he stands in the cafeteria hallway, students stop by to chat, as do teachers and administrators.

"We need this guy; the kids need this guy," said CHS assistant principal Ron Santavicca. CHS has only five counselors for 1,751 students.

"Without the program there was obviously a void," said CHS principal Brent Cooley. "If we needed legal or enforcement assistance, we would call 911."

"We do know he promotes a positive presence of law enforcement and he's skilled in that area, as was his predecessor. The kids like him a lot and he likes kids. He helps define what is inappropriate and what is appropriate."

Cooley said Hernandez works on "prevention, not remediation" because of his quick response time. "Kids find him very accessible," Cooley said.

Cooley believes Hernandez's presence in uniform may be responsible for a decrease in petty vandalism and theft at the school. "I think our young people respond a lot better with adults around," he said.

Meanwhile, back at his office Friday, Hernandez noticed the time—10:30—and the uneaten doughnut sitting on his desk.

"See there, I haven't even had time to eat my doughnut and I brought them in!" he chuckled. But there was still another conflict to resolve, and while waiting for a young lady to arrive, he talked about his work, which is dubbed "kiddie cop" by some of his colleagues on the department.

"I like (working) the road too but it's nice to watch kids grow," said the father of two. "By the end of the semester their attitude will have changed a little bit. Even at fifth grade you can see it. It has an effect on them to know you're there."

In most cases, that's all he has to do, but he's philosophical that some will still get into trouble.

"Sometimes it works; sometimes they get into altercations," he said. "You can't walk the halls with them 24 hours a day."

Part three in this series will focus on the DARE program at the middle schools.

Road work rescheduled

The on-again, off-again sewer work on Maybee Rd. between Sashabaw and Dixie has been rescheduled—sort of.

Thomas Blust of the Road Commission for Oakland County said road closure has been scheduled for Oct. 20-Nov. 15. However those dates are tentative because groundwater must be removed from the site and it's unknown how long that will take.

The sewer will be laid 27 feet deep, which is deeper than the water table, Blust said. The contractor must therefore lower the water table, a process known as "dewatering."

"Those are tentative dates," he said. "We won't really know until just before the closure."

If the dewatering has not been accomplished by Oct 20, road closure will be postponed another week, Blust said. Both dates are subject to approval by the Oakland County Board of Commissioners, he added. However as it gets later in the year, time becomes critical.

"This late in the year we want to be cautious," Blust said. "We've got a small window of time to pave before winter."

A detour will be posted during the closing which will have drivers using Waldon Rd. as a substitute for Maybee.

Linda Richardson of the Independence Township DPW said it's impossible to forecast whether residents on private wells in the area will be affected by the dewatering.

"It depends on how deep they go," she said. "Very rarely does it happen. There's no way of saying whose going to be affected, or when they're going to be affected."

Utility fraud added to drug charges

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Two more charges have made Larry James Hatcher's crime list even longer.

Hatcher, an Independence Township resident, was arraigned in Waterford's 51 District Court Sept. 30 and charged with a felony, public utility fraud, for "stealing" energy from Detroit Edison Co. to support a sophisticated hydroponic marijuana-growing operation he ran from a rented house in Waterford.

On that same day he was arraigned in Independence Township's 52-2 District Court on a misdemeanor charge, also public utility fraud, for pilfering electricity from Edison used for his township home.

Hatcher was indicted by a federal grand jury on Aug. 31 for two counts: manufacturing and distribution of marijuana. His trial date has not been set.

The energy theft was discovered by firefighters from the Independence Township Fire Department who fought the blaze that did an estimated $40,000 worth of damage to Hatcher's Harding Street home on Aug. 18. Although the Oakland County Sheriff's Department Fire Investigation Unit has not solved the case, arson is still suspected.

The drug bust at the Waterford residence, where the marijuana-growing operation was discovered, took place the day before. But Det. Dave Row of the Fire Investigation Unit, said there were "indications of the remnants of a marijuana-growing operation (in Hatcher's Independence Township home) also.

"Some people say he got it started and moved it to Waterford. Others say he had a small one in Independence," Row said.

Township fire chief Gar Wilson said that after his men "pulled the (electric) meter, (they) said, 'Hey, there's still lights on in there.'"

Cpt. Dan DeLongchamp, who was at the scene and in charge the night of the blaze, said that was noticed within the first fifteen minutes firefighters began working.

"Our first thing to do (in a fire) is we pull the meter and cut the drip loops, the line that comes in from the telephone pole to the house — that cuts the power right there.

"We saw that there was wire coming off the back feeding into the house — (Hatcher) was basically taking the electricity before it was registered on the meter," he said.

Row confirmed this, saying his investigation showed that the electrical meter was bypassed.

"He ran a second wire to the Edison box, bypassing the meter itself."

Row said if Hatcher is convicted of the felony, he could face "four years in prison and/or a $2,000 fine." The sentence in Independence is a little less — 90 days and $100 for a misdemeanor.

"Plus we're going to ask restitution of $1,500 for Detroit Edison," Row said.

Hatcher is released on a personal bond with pre-trials and exams pending.

Row said "just to tamper with your Edison meter to inhibit its function is a four-year felony." But his main concern was the possibility of electrocution that could have occurred — to Hatcher or to the firefighters.

"That was 240 volts ... It is a crime and it is a danger for the individual and it is a danger to the firefighters who are public service people. People know it is a crime, but I'm more concerned about people getting killed," he said.

DeLongchamp agreed. "The first thing we grab is the electricity and gas. We were lucky we didn't hit any open wires — That's the chance we take," he said.

Road projects OK'd for federal dollars

Some roads Clarkston motorists frequently travel received federal funding for improvement last week.

Among the projects receiving funding under the transportation appropriations bill for fiscal year 1995 are $5 million for Walton Blvd. construction from Clintonville Rd. to Dixie Hwy.; $1 million to purchase Baldwin Rd. right-of-way; and $1.4 million for design and construction of an extension of Telegraph Rd. from where it presently ends to Walton Blvd.

Kent Rubley, director of engineering for the Road Commission for Oakland County, said none of the projects have specific start dates, nor do they have the required 20-percent local matching funds.

On the Walton Blvd project, the proposal is to widen the road to five lanes for the entire stretch, all of which is in Waterford Township.

"It would be our intent to get at least a portion of it into this year's budget," Rubley said. Property must still be acquired, he added.

The Baldwin Rd. project would cover parts of Auburn Hills, Lake Angelus and Orion Township. The federal money is for right-of-way acquisition only.

"We initially asked for money to complete the right-of-way and construction of the road," he said.

The extension of Telegraph to Walton Rd. from where it comes to a dead end at Dixie would fall partly in Waterford and partly in Pontiac. "I don't believe that's enough (money) for construction," Rubley said.

People for Police wants to keep streets safe

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Serious crime isn't rampant in Independence Township, and Dr. James O'Neill would like to keep it that way.

That's why O'Neill volunteered to serve as chairman of People for Police, a group formed to pass a .4468 mill tax increase for police services which will be on the November 8 ballot.

"It's very hazardous to be a police officer in Michigan," O'Neill said. "Police work today is very technical, it's very legally risky... A lot of things are involved in being a police officer."

O'Neill remembers the days when Independence Township had its own police department, and he doesn't want to go back. He's happy with the level of professionalism in the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, which has a contract with Independence Township to provide police services.

"They're professionals; they know what they're about," he said. "I have a fear people don't appreciate how well we're being taken care of by the police. I worry some day people will want to return to a local police department."

Independence Township has several unique factors, O'Neill said, that benefit from the OCSD. One is Pine Knob Music Theatre, the other is a major freeway, I-75, running through the community. While O'Neill feels they are assets, both must be patrolled.

"The sheriff's department is the best patrol in the whole world and they give us the best buy for the money," O'Neill said.

The millage increase is being requested to maintain the level of service that was in place before the August primary, when voters approved a millage renewal but vetoed the increase. Since then, one road patrol officer has been cut, and a second officer, who teaches the DARE drug program in the Clarkston schools, has been removed from road patrol. His position is currently being funded by the school district so he is used exclusively in the schools.

However the school funding is only for the first semester. The position is expected to be cut if the millage is not approved.

"I think it's extremely important," O'Neill said of the DARE program. "A lot of information comes up to us in terms of what's happening with gangs, drugs and violence. And a lot of feedback goes back to the kids that we know what's going on."

For O'Neill, cutbacks in deputy positions raise the specter of inadequate coverage. He sees that as a danger both for residents and deputies.

"That's the real issue," he said. "We want safety for our citizens but we also want safety for our officers... For any crisis in the community, it's police and fire we're going to deal with the most."

Deputies are usually the first to respond to auto accidents and medical emergencies, as well as crimes and domestic altercations. Even when others take over, such as the fire department or ambulance services, deputies must still complete paperwork on the event.

"I don't know how they get so many things done," O'Neill said. "We're a lot more people out here now. A lot more things are happening."

O'Neill said he's confident the increase being requested will be enough for the foreseeable future, due to the township's continued growth. The 1994 police budget was set at $1,433,312, of which $1,327,492 was budgeted for fees to Oakland County.

The increase will cost the owner of a home with a market value of $100,000 about $22 per year. For a home valued at $200,000, it's about $45 per year.

"I want to see us not cut back on police services, but increase them," he said. "I don't think we're going to need a lot more money."

People for Police held its first meeting recently with about 18 people attending, said Lt. Doug Hummel, OCSD Independence substation commander, who is working with the group off-duty. Their next meeting is scheduled for tonight (Wednesday) at 7 p.m. at the township hall.

People for Police is also planning a picnic for Sunday, Oct. 23 to raise money to buy signs and fliers supporting the millage. The picnic will be held at Independence Oaks County Park from noon to 3 p.m. Admission is $10 per person or $20 per family and includes hot dogs, cider and doughnuts. The Oakland County Sheriff's Marine Division will be on hand with a display, as will the DARE program.

Looking to the future, O'Neill would like to see police and fire millages combined under one emergency safety authority with its own board, as is allowed by recent state law. Meanwhile, coverage must be gotten back to where it was, he said.

"There really are serious criminal violations that occur. You want to make sure we have a presence..

"Certain arraignment and punishment prevents crime. That's the message we want to put out there."

In Focus

by Annette Kingsbury

Oh, those numbers!

Voters can be excused, coming up to an election, if they don't remember all the names and numbers they're being asked to decide upon. But reporters . . . well, that's a different story.

It's come to my attention that here at The Clarkston News we've been having some difficulty getting our numbers straight on the upcoming police millage for Independence Township. I'm not quite sure how things got so tangled up, but thought it might be a good idea to set the record straight.

Back in August, voters said yes to a renewal of their current taxation level, but said no to an increase of .4468 mill, even though it would have cost the owner of a $100,000 house only $22 per year extra. So faced with cutting services, the township is asking for the same increase again on the November ballot.

Police services do not come cheap. The township already budgets $1.433 million in local taxes for patrols. And as supervisor Dale Stuart points out, that doesn't include the millions in county taxes all residents pay, which go for jail and court services, the arson squad, marine division, etc., etc.

So it's a big chunk of what we all spend, whether you contract with the sheriff's department, as the township does, or have your own local police force, as the city of Clarkston does.

Most of us will never need to use these services, and there's the rub. If the only time you ever make conversation with a cop is when you're being pulled over for a ticket, you may wish there were fewer of them. But if your home or car is broken into, you might wish someone had been patrolling your neighborhood.

It's ironic to pay for a service you never plan to use, but that's life in 20th century America. You have to have car insurance, though you hope never to have a crash, and health insurance, though you hope never to end up in the hospital. The alternative is too grim for most of us to consider, so we pay.

But there's one thing that sets this police millage apart, and that is the DARE program. If you don't have kids in school, you may never experience this program either. But it may pay off for you in the long run if it keeps kids from drugs and, ultimately, from crime.

Getting more money from long-suffering taxpayers is tough. It's hard to pull the yes lever on the machine when you know that everyone else is going to be asking for more too—the county, the school district, etc.

But in this election, you might want to consider the DARE program before voting. After watching it up close, I'm really impressed. I wish all schools had it.

Yes, it should be a joint venture between the school district and the communities it benefits, and yes, the township should not have spent itself into a deficit in the police budget. But the bottom line is for it to continue in Clarkston, taxpayers must ante up.

In this case, it just might be worth it.

Letters to the editor

Missing Ivan

Dear Editor:

This week the people of Clarkston mourn the loss of one of their dearest citizens, Ivan Rouse.

His intelligence, generosity and wit touched more lives than he could ever realize. Everyone has an amusing or moving story to tell about this complex and marvelous man.

Thank you, Ivan, for giving us the gift of music. You will be greatly missed, but always remembered, as the music is passed on generation after generation.

With love and gratitude,
Denise McIntyre
(and many other music lovers)

Cow Pie thanks

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who helped make the Clarkston Middle School's Cow Pie Carnival a complete success. A special thanks goes to the Clarkston businesses who supported us through the donation of prizes and to the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department.

A very special thanks goes to Maureen and Terry Losh for the use of their cows.

Thank you to all who worked to put this together and to all who worked during the event -- you know who you are! A final thanks goes to Corena Bell, whose help was immeasurable.

Sincerely,
Pam Ruggirello
Clarkston Middle School PTA

Where's the logic?

Dear Editor:

Ms. Kingsbury questions the "logic" of state legislators who ban children's use of guns in schools but who won't outlaw guns or ammunition for adults.

The logic is clear: Adults are allowed to participate in certain activities that are proscribed for children (e.g., voting, driving, drinking, responsible use of firearms, etc.). No logic or consistency problems here.

The real issue is that Kingsbury would like to limit the use, availability, etc., of firearms. Fine. Since more deaths are caused by alcohol or cars than firearms, I'd like to limit their use and availability. While I'm at it, I'd like to limit Annette's freedom of speech. No logic or consistency problems here, either: Sound like a good deal to you, Annette?

Wouldn't America be a worse place if we followed this kind of "logic?"

Ivan's family says thanks

We would like to thank everyone for their prayers, cards and all the thoughtfulness shown for our dear brother Ivan.

Special thanks to Father Charles Lynch and Father Richards. Also would like to thank everyone at Canterbury by the Lake for the great care Ivan received while there.

Gleaned thoughts

The Detroit Pistons have signed basketball player Grant Hill to play 'small forward' position. Hill is six feet, eight inches tall. My question is: When he grows two more inches will he be a 'large forward'?

The new movie "Pulp Fiction" was reviewed and rated in a recent Detroit Free Press article. They rated it 'outstanding.' That's the Free Press's highest rating for movies. We now know what it takes to get this recommendation. It's an 'R' rated movie with "incessant foul language, very graphic violence, sexual assault, drug use."

Has there ever been a more gloriously beautiful fall than this one of '94? The leaves are colorful without the sun, and are even more outstanding in full sunlight. This year the golds seem more golden, the yellows brighter and the reds redder. And, though the reds in the maples are terrific, I particularly like the sumac.

I wish they'd outlaw the hot-dog, show-off, macho antics displayed by some professional football players after they score a touchdown. The 'R' rated movements certainly should be stopped. I swear I've seen some end zone celebration exhibitions that violate all decency laws . . . by a member of a team that's losing 40 to the just-scored 6. What's to celebrate? Those who score and drop the ball or hand it to the referee, like Barry Sanders, gain all my respect . . . yours too, I bet.

I read where someone wants to have Elvis Presley nominated for sainthood by the Vatican. Others insist he's alive and others believe doctors are lying about the cause of his death. To all these Elvis hangers-on I say, 'Get a life!'

My friend Kevin Foley thinks he's a farmer just because he sowed some oats.

I could have gone a lifetime without seeing June Allyson plugging Depends on television. I don't need to know things like that.

Why don't the makers of shampoo make television commercials showing long-haired men swirling their tresses? Doesn't men's hair bounce?

I've never understood why cowboy-types think it's OK to wear their hats in restaurants, elevators and maybe to bed. And, I certainly don't understand why people think they can do these things while wearing baseball caps . . . frontwards or backwards.

Bill Patterson says, "It hardly seems possible that most of 1994 is gone already. If you haven't broken your New Year's resolutions, you're working too hard."

Then there's the story of the bachelor who quit dating a girl because her voice had a ring in it.

A look back

15 YEARS AGO (1979)

A majority of Independence Township residents vote emphatically against the proposed 22-story Pine Knob hotel in a special election on Oct. 16. About 4,480 residents cast votes; 71 percent vote "no" and 29 percent vote "yes." Pine Knob's attorney Anthony Locricchio dubs the election results a "panic vote." He says Pine Knob will take its battle to the courtroom, where he predicts victory.

A landslide for anti-gravel millage occurs when a majority of votes gives Independence Township the go-ahead to purchase 80 acres of a proposed 487-acre gravel mining operation. A 75-percent majority in Oct. 16's special election approve higher taxes of .3 mill for a five-year period for the township to purchase the land.

A Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizen's Award is given to Clarkston High School senior Leslie Wirpsa for her outstanding contributions as a young person of the community. Leslie, 17, is a National Honor Society member, a CHS madrigal singer, has been a summer counselor for SCAMP and works at Bob's Hardware where she does "just about everything except lift the 90-lb. cement bags." In January a state DNR winner will be selected from questionnaires completed by local winners.

25 YEARS AGO (1969)

A mythological theme is incorporated into the CHS semi-formal Homecoming Dance Oct. 25. Due to the fact that the students are not attending school because of the teachers' strike, arrangements have been made for them to buy tickets at Richardson's Dairy Bar or from CHS student government members.

Don Anthony of Clarkston will be honored for five years of service to Big Brothers of Oakland County at the Annual meeting on Oct. 22 at the Elks Lodge in Pontiac. Big Brothers provides help to boys from fatherless families. The public is invited.

Clarkston's cross-country team readies for regionals after going undefeated so far this season. The regional meets will be held at Oakland University on Oct. 25.

50 YEARS AGO (1944)

Lt. Mary Gassick, the first Clarkston girl to enter the services, returns to Clarkston on a 16-day furlough. Miss Gassick, a nurse, has spent one year in Iceland and the rest of the time in the European theatre of operations. She has been out of the country for over 26 months.

Clarkston prepares for a big Halloween with plans being made for cider and doughnuts, movies, a parade, a bonfire and a dance.

Walt Disney's "Snow White and the Seven Dwarves" is at the Drayton Theatre and the Holly features "The Heavenly Body" with Hedy Lamarr and William Powell.

60 YEARS AGO (1934)

The Clarkston Independents football team suffers its first defeat in Pontiac against the Pontiac Merchants Sunday. Although a very fine game is played in the first half, several Clarkston players have to be taken out during the second half because of injuries. The final score: Pontiac, 28; Clarkston, 0.

A dance is held Saturday, Oct. 20 at the Williams Lake Country Club with music provided by the Michigan Ramblers.

Specials at the Rudolf Schwarze market include hamburger, 12 cents a pound; Campbell's Pork and Beans, five cents a can; and P & G Soap, four bars for 17 cents with a free circus book.

Dire thoughts

Another loss.

Only a few short days ago the life of a young man was taken from this Earth. Not far away in the city . . . but very near, within our reach.

It has happened before. And like before I again lie awake in bed, restless, sad, angry, not knowing what to do. So I turn to something I can find comfort in. I find a pad of paper and pencil and write, hurriedly, not wanting to lose a thought.

By the light of day I can only shake my head and walk away.

Another loss of life.

It happens every day, every hour, every -- but not so close.

Sometimes I want to raise my clenched fists into the night and scream, "Why the pain? Why the pain?"

In God's good name I find myself cursing. Inside, not wanting to hear my words myself. I won't speak them.

What kind of damaged mind inflicts so much pain and torment to another living being? What kind of desire or wanton lust drives such a sick mind?

How does such a mind come to exist? Somewhere along the line of life what happened to create such uncaring, brutal beings? What went wrong?

Some will try to find excuses. There can be no excuses. There is right and there is wrong. The human mind knows the difference. It's not the booze, it's not the drugs. Something else, much deeper, much darker directs one to turn his back on conscience.

I lie awake pleading for answers to questions that keep pounding, hammering at me.

I see the light of youth snuffed out, carelessly discarded like a used match.

And my insides boil.

Young lives are cut short all too often in our society and each time I hear of it I shake my head and say nothing. I do nothing.

Everything seems pale, I see nothing inside. Am I empty? I feel numb for a loss of life that I didn't even know.

I ask myself, why? What right do I have to feel the sense of loss, the pain over this act of brutality? It is not mine to feel. What of the family?

What of their lives? Now, how will they live? Will peace of mind come to them as I know it surely will to me? I pray it will.

But, all I can sense is pain and anger. There will be too much self doubt, second guessing. If only, if only . . .

I want to reach out and offer comfort to the family. There should be no guilt.

And the losses continue to mount. Can any sense be made of this senseless act of pure brutality? I'm restless. I'm angry. I'm sad and empty.

Am I being selfish for letting myself feel this way? The questions keep pounding. I force myself to hear them. But can I find the answers? Should I try to find the answers?

Why the pain?
Why the pain?

Bowls may be tricky, bags are dangerous

I was invited to join a mixed-gender group for sexy bowling.

No kidding. Our mission was to sculpt bowls out of wet clay for a good cause. I'd seen actor Patrick Swayze do it, with the close, personal help of beautiful Demi Moore, in the movie "Ghost," so I had high spectating expectations. Demi gave Patrick good cause to wonder where her inhibitions went, not to mention her shirt.

My wife accompanied me, of course. I was acutely aware that I would need her help, because it had been a bad week. I'd been left holding the bag twice, literally, and I didn't want it to happen again if the stupid clay came in bags.

My continuing problem is that, as good as I am at spectating, I'm equally bad at participating, especially if any sort of manual dexterity is required. There was no way I could sculpt a bowl without the help of my wife, whom I married because I knew there was no way I could go through life opening frozen TV dinner packages without her help.

That week's first embarrassing bag was the small, plastic type that modern babies now suck milk out of, rather than from the glass bottles that were good enough for my ancestors and me and my children. There has been no change in the nipple, probably because of powerful Washington lobbyists representing the bra industry.

I was alone with 3-year-old Adam in his home, and he ordered "a bottle of apple juice with warm water in it right now and that's it." Some kids have to be taught to say "please." I'm trying to teach my grandson not to take me hostage.

Wasting the kitchen, Adam produced the bag and its bottomless container. I managed to put the juice and water in the bag, but then couldn't figure out how to get the bag in the container without spilling apple juice and warm water all over my pants, which is what happened.

Unfortunately, Adam's regular baby-sitter arrived in time to fall on the floor laughing while explaining you're supposed to attach the bag to the container before pouring the liquid in the bag. She then got up and told the whole town, especially my relatives, how dumb I am.

The second embarrassing bag happened on the day I do my chore, which is emptying wastebaskets into a big plastic bag and taking it out to the curb. Except, try and cry as I might, in 10 minutes I couldn't open the new brand of plastic bag that my miserable wife bought.

So another grandchild, 8-year-old Tricia, opened it in one second. And then she took several bows, heralding her superiority all around the neighborhood.

That's it. I don't want to talk about it anymore. Except to say:

But seriously, folks, not including the bowl I eventually screwed up despite my wife's help, there is a splendid national exhibition of beautiful and unusual bowls and other pottery in the Swords into Plowshares Peace Center and Art Gallery at 33 E. Adams in downtown Detroit through Oct. 27.

It is part of the nationwide "Empty Bowls" effort, founded by area residents Lisa Blackburn and John Hartom, to fight hunger in Detroit and all around the country. The gallery is open from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, and visitors are welcome to make their own bowls. To arrange group visits, phone 1-313-965-5422 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. weekdays.

Demi Moore wasn't there the night I made my bowl, and neither were Jim and Emily Bristah, the couple who run the peace gallery. Moore probably was still claying around with Patrick Swayze, and the Bristahs gave some excuse about Jim having surgery. The truth is I've performed for them before, and they're so nice they couldn't bear seeing me make a fool of myself again.

Onward and Upward? It's not in the bag.

I miss him too

When I first met Ivan Rouse it must have been about 14 years ago because my daughter Tara, who is now 16, was in a stroller on that hot summer day.

A young mother, who had not been to school for several years (I had gotten married at the end of my sophomore year at MSU), I needed something to make me feel important.

Not that being a mother didn't do that to some extent. But I had decided I needed some kind of career to make me feel as though I was contributing to the family's income as well as to my own self-worth.

Because I had studied piano for thirteen years, from age six to nineteen, I got an idea that I might be able to use all that knowledge by giving private lessons. That way I could stay at home with Tara (I didn't have a car at the time), earn some money and feel more self-fulfilled.

I had gone home to Holland and talked to my old piano teacher who taught at Hope College. He gave me advice on method books and juvenile repertoire.

But I needed something else — passion.

I found that in Ivan.

While looking through the phone book one day in the yellow pages, I saw Clarkston Conservatory listed under "music instruction."

Clarkston Conservatory? I liked the name: It sounded, well, professional. After all, my dad had gotten his master's at the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago. One plus.

Then there was Mr. Rouse's first name — Ivan. That sounded Russian and I had always loved Russian composers like Tchaikovsky, Stravinsky, Prokofiev and my favorite, Kabelevsky. Dmitri Kabelevsky wrote many of the rebellious, haunting and dissonant pieces I fell in love with as a teen after being bored with the simple melodies of the classical masters. Two pluses.

When I finally found the conservatory I was surprised. It didn't look at all like I had envisioned. Instead of a tall austere studio, here was a charming, ivy-ridden cottage.

Three pluses. Here was a man who was obviously down-to-earth, not burdened by materialism.

And that's what I found too, in Mr. Rouse. He came and sat down next to me, spending a couple of hours, not only expounding on the joys of piano teaching, but peppering the conversation with his wise "Ivanisms" (though, at the time, I didn't know that's what you folks called them).

I was also a little scared of him. I didn't know why then, but know I do. He was one of those people who wasn't afraid to be himself and thus, he made a dent. He was eccentric, yes, but an impassioned man who seemed to eat life.

In the background while he was looking into my eyes (a little too close for comfort, I thought at the time), I noticed a portrait of him hanging on a wall. It reminded me of Vincent Van Gogh.

It's funny that I have always remembered us sitting on that old couch and having that conversation. Some people you never forget, I guess.

The other day I walked down the street and stopped in front of the conservatory. It was a few days after he died. I peeked through the window and I swear I saw that same old couch we had sat upon years ago. Then I went down to the back yard.

A few months before his death, I saw an article about him and his conservatory in a local magazine, written by a colleague of mine.

I was glad to see it. "Dear Ivan," I thought. The writer had mentioned a sign to his garden that warned visitors to "Keep to the defined path."

I guess Ivan did that in some ways because he was obviously disciplined. But in other ways I'm sure he didn't.

I think he strayed off that defined path occasionally, picking flowers or playing symphonies — doing all those things adventurous, creative and passionate people do. And because he did, as you folks have well said, he made all our lives a little richer.

I'm glad I got a chance to cross Mr. Rouse's path — defined or not.

He made a dent in my life. Because he did I'll never forget him.

High school tours announced

The newly remodeled Clarkston High School will open its doors to the public this fall to show what 1992 bond money was spent on.

The tours will depart from the school's front doors at 10 a.m. Thursday mornings through December 8 (excluding Thanksgiving). No advance reservations are required.

A tour guide will meet visitors and escort them through the newly completed media center, renovated science classrooms and labs, computer labs, new classrooms and major office renovations which have provided a career counseling center, according to Barbara Johns, the schools' communications coordinator.

"Along with the renovations, guests will have a first-hand chance to see how the building is handling a student population of over 1,700," Johns said. "Included on the tour will be stops at the auditorium, the cafeteria, gymnasium, and a brief look at the grounds, weather permitting."

The Clarkston board of education is planning to ask for a bond issue in the spring to finance a new high school, based on continued enrollment growth in the district. If it is approved, the current high school would become a middle school, and Clarkston Middle School would be used for other purposes.

No firm date or ballot wording has yet been announced for the election.

Community groups who would like to schedule tours on different days or times should call Johns at 625-4402.

CHS student life

Happy Halloween!

Halloween has always been my favorite holiday. When else can you dress up like a ballerina and inhale peanut butter cups like there's no tomorrow?

Halloween doesn't require very much effort and it is a great way to get in spirit for the following holidays. It's too bad that so many people treat Halloween as a second-rate holiday and let it pass without a thought.

There isn't very much to do on Halloween for teenagers. We're too old to go trick-or-treating (or so we've been told), and most of us don't like sitting on our front porch for two hours giving out candy. The Haunted Forest is fun, but only the first seven or eight times.

Most people think Halloween would be a lot more enjoyable if there weren't so many rules on what they could do. Those people just have to remember that Halloween doesn't have any rules.

This year everyone should get into the Halloween spirit. Just do something that you wouldn't usually do. Invite some friends over and rent some old horror movies. Give your whole bowl of candy to the lucky kid that comes to your door first. Take a day off and go to the apple orchard or pumpkin patch. Wear whatever you want to school and ignore the insecure people who think you have to follow their social rules.

But who says you can be weird on October 31, but you have to go back to normal in November? Who says you can't make student council sorry for having a country-western day by dressing up like Howdy-Doody every day for a month? Who says you have to wear clothes that match every day, even if you're running late? Who says you can't be your own person and live any way you want to?

Halloween is all about being different. Try it; it could be fun.

Pine Knob enjoys a record year

If the eating and drinking are any indication, Pine Knob enjoyed a record summer this year.

The folks at Volume Services, official concessionaire for the Palace and Pine Knob, say they enjoyed their most successful summer ever, with increases of 30-40 percent this year. Eight of their top 10 concerts ever occurred this year, and the record was broken and re-broken six times just this summer, thanks to Lollapalooza and Jimmy Buffett.

"We would like to take all the credit for what happened this summer but the bottom line is we've had a great summer weather-wise and we've had a good schedule," said Sean Henry, general manager of Volume Services.

Henry said the increase in sales went against industry standards.

Freshman enters Teen All-American Pageant

Melissa Short, daughter of Alan and Deborah Seybert of Davisburg and Mark and Kim Short of Ortonville, has been selected as an entrant in the 1994 Miss Michigan Teen All-American Pageant held at the Royce Hotel in Romulus Oct. 22 and 23. A Michigan finalist will be chosen to compete in the national pageant in Miami next August.

Melissa attends Clarkston High School where she is a freshman, active in BGO Softball and Interact Club. She also volunteers for SCAMP and attends John Casablancas Modeling and Career Center in Troy. Melissa is sponsored by several family members and businesses. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ritlaw and Mr. and Mrs. Seybert.

At school

● Freshmen Amy Foraker, Christopher Lewis and Jill Theryoung, all of Clarkston, are among new members of the Carl and Winifred Lee Honors College at Western Michigan University this fall. Each had at least a 3.85 GPA in high school.

● Douglas Tredler of Clarkston received a master of science in engineering from the University of Michigan at the end of the summer.

● Michelle Ann Darby of Clarkston earned a bachelor of science in business at Miami University at Oxford, Ohio Aug. 19. She was among 687 students awarded degrees at summer commencement exercises.

● High-school students interested in pursuing careers in engineering or business are invited to visit GMI Engineering and Management Institute during Discover GMI Day Saturday, Oct. 29. Hours are 11:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Meet faculty and tour the campus. For more information or reservations call 1-800-955-4464, ext. 7865.

Business brief

● Mary Novak has been named a Realtor Associate at Clarkston Real Estate Services, Inc.

● Stephen D. Arkwright, CFP has been authorized by the Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards to use the CFP certification mark and the marks CFP and Certified Financial Planner. Arkwright, of Clarkston, works for Paine Webber in Rochester. He has been in the business for 10 years and specializes in retirement planning, he said.

In service

● Army PFC Jeffery Cardinal has been decorated with the Army Achievement Medal which is awarded to soldiers for meritorious service, acts of courage or other outstanding accomplishments.

Cardinal, a colts driver radio operator, is the son of Pamela Cardinal and Jim Cardinal, both of Waterford. He is a 1992 graduate of Mott High School.

● Ryan Richmond, son of Glenn and Mary Richmond of Clarkston, enlisted in the Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program Oct. 7. A prospective 1995 graduate of Clarkston High School, Richmond is scheduled for enlistment in the regular Air Force after graduation. After basic training he will receive technical training in the administrative career field while earning credits toward an associate's degree in applied sciences through the Community College of the Air Force.

● Senior Airman Scott J. Bennett has completed flight engineer qualification training at Kirtland Air Force Base in New Mexico. He was the first Senior Airman accepted into MC-130H Combat Talon II flight engineer program.

Bennett and his wife Brenda are both stationed at Hurlburt Field in Florida. Brenda is in engine management and takes care of all aircraft records. She is the daughter of Al and Mary Murphy of Conroe, Texas. Scott is a 1989 Clarkston High School graduate who entered the Air Force in January, 1990. He is the son of Gene and Margaret Bennett of Clarkston.

Student ambassador named

Christine Sailor, center, of Clarkston, was recently inducted into Eastern Kentucky University's Student Alumni Ambassadors. The students serve as hosts and guides at a variety of campus events and as ambassadors for Eastern to groups both on and off campus. Membership is by invitation only; students are selected based on leadership, dependability and academic performance. Flanking Sailor are Larry Bailey (right), director of EKU's Division of Alumni Affairs and Lally Jennings, associate director.

Timing is everything

Chelsea Taylor Anthony of Clarkston was the first baby born in the new Family Birth Center at William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak. Chelsea was born Sept. 26 to Debra and David Anthony. They are shown along with Jessica, 5.

To Haiti

Navy Petty Officer Third Class Matthew Malone, son-in-law of Annette Sommers of Clarkston, is one of 10,000 Navy and 2,000 Marine Corps members patrolling the waters off the coast of Haiti.

Malone is an aviation boatswain's mate onboard USS Wasp. He helps direct aircraft on the flight deck. Homeported in Norfolk, Va., the Wasp is the largest amphibious assault ship in the world.

Malone is part of an amphibious ready group (ARG) that has spent the last seven weeks steaming the Caribbean waters off Haiti. The ARG is part of a multi-national task force responsible for carrying out United Nations Security Council sanctions aimed at restoring democracy in Haiti.

Malone, 22, entered the Navy in October, 1991 and is also trained in aircraft firefighting.

Be sure to stock up in your IRA

Retirement statistics show that today's Americans are enjoying longer lives and cite inflation as retirees' greatest economic worry. For that reason a fixed monthly income stream may no longer be sufficient to fund a satisfactory lifestyle during retirement years.

To protect against inflation, the ability to grow assets and retain the purchasing power of money is essential. Based on historical performance, that's where stocks can offer an advantage. By offering a combination of capital growth and dividend income, stocks offer the ability to largely offset the erosion effects of inflation. However, there can be no assurance the specific stocks will provide this service in the future.

Few investment vehicles are of a longer term nature than an Individual Retirement Account, and no other financial asset has historically offered a higher return over the longer term than common stocks.

Ibbotsen Associates, an oft-cited research firm, reports that from 1926 through 1993, stocks offered an annual total return, after adjusting for inflation, of 7.2 percent compared to 2.5 percent for corporate bonds, 1.9 percent for long-term government bonds, and 0.6 percent for Treasury bills. Whether this performance will continue is anyone's guess.

If you reinvest dividends within your IRA, returns can be considerably greater. Also using Ibbotsen's figures, $1 invested in a broad index of U.S. common stocks on Jan. 1, 1950 through Dec. 31, 1992 with all dividends reinvested would have grown to $150. Remember, dividends and capital gains accumulate in your IRA on a tax-deferred basis. If you sell stock in your IRA for a gain, no tax is due on that gain until you retire and begin distributions, provided the gain is reinvested back into your IRA.

Diversification, widely accepted as the best way to minimize the risk of investment and achieve reasonable returns, is easy to achieve with the vast array of stocks available among hundreds of industries. Moreover, stocks can be easily liquidated to take profits or reduce losses, unlike many other investments that may lock in investors for a particular period of time.

A diversified high-quality portfolio of stocks can offer the IRA investor both capital appreciation and dividend income. Of course, investment decisions should be made only upon a full consideration of the particular financial situation. Consult with an investment advisor about the possibilities of equities within your portfolio.

Special program looking for students

Children who are or will soon be 3 years old who are developmentally delayed, low income or at risk for later school success are being sought by Clarkston schools.

Thanks to a $45,000 grant, Clarkston Community Education has room for such children in a free preschool program called CHEX. Children will meet Monday-Friday, 9 a.m.-noon but extended day-care hours are available for working parents which can be subsidized through the Department of Social Services based on income eligibility.

Children must be three years of age on or before December 1, 1994 and have at least two "risk factors" that could put them at risk for success in school when they get older. Their parents must in school or job training or working.

Parental involvement is a key component, according to Margie Ried, Funshine Project Coordinator. There will be two parent-teacher conferences and two home visits during the year, plus field trips. Referrals will also be made to other community resources as needed.

"The whole point of this was to get the kids into quality day care, but also to include a quality preschool program," Ried said. "A lot of programs don't do that."

Anyone knowing of a child who might qualify for the program is asked to call Ried at 674-0993. For more information about the extended day care subsidy, call the Department of Social Services at 858-4346.

There are 18 slots available in the CHEX program, which is expected to begin in November.

Ried hopes the children who enroll this year will "graduate" into the district's free 4-year-old program, "APEX," next year.

Heritage Hunt II

By Virginia Block

The mail brings many kinds of requests for help, but perhaps one of the most unusual is one from a gentleman wanting to find out more about a species of butterfly (nearly endangered) called the "Kamer Blue."

It appears the name Kamer was that of a small community in New York state, long ago, where the butterfly was found. The name Kamer was that of the writer, seeking a connection to his ancestry, the butterfly being the clue.

Since it was only a story he had read five years previously, it will take a look at an early gazetteer to first find out for certain, where Kamer was located.

It is possible to locate others of that surname from early census records, too, and perhaps a trip to a library where New York phone directories are located will produce other Kamers of today.

We will offer, in the near future, a new kind of workshop for beginning historians. Videotaped in three parts, the producer of the films states they are "like having a personal genealogy teacher for yourself, for a whole day."

The classes will be limited to 20 persons at a time, for three consecutive classes. To genealogical societies who seek to build membership (show me one who doesn't need new members NOW), these tapes would be a sure way to replace "teachers" with the diminished supply of available people who faithfully taught classes for so long.

Now, after 15 years of giving time and energy to so many, we have fewer folks to respond to the challenge of meeting the demands of newcomers to family history. Genetic research today creates the need for all of us to seek death records of three previous generations to find the answers to our own health problems.

We are certain to find it much easier to "do" your family if you attend our workshops. "I don't have time" is not reason enough to save your life by knowing that almost all deaths caused by diabetes, heart trouble and cancer will be documented for you in death records of your parents and grandparents.

Whether you have a butterfly with your same last name, or need to know what diseases run in the history of your ancestors, self identification will result in the process of seeking the answers. It's great to know who we are, and healthy to boot.

Happy Hunting.

Boosters say thanks

I want to thank all the teams, cheerleaders, and pom pon squads and coaches who came to our Pancake Breakfast on Oct. 15.

Also Clarkston Elementary Principal Elaine Middlekauf, and custodian Dave Whitehead for allowing us to use the multi-purpose room.

Thanks also to all the parents who came with their children and to all the Boosters who worked to make it another successful day.

Dale Ryan
Chairman & Vice President
Clarkston Athletic Boosters Club

Kudos

A very special thank you to the many area businesses that helped to make the 1994 Homecoming program a success for the P.T.S.A.

It is the caring and the sharing of this community that makes it so special. Also a warm thanks to the Weverstad and staff, at American Speedy Printing, who put in countless hours and were a pleasure to work with.

Attention all hunters

On November 15 our traditional firearms deer-hunting season opens in Michigan. Close to 800,000 hunters participate annually and pump millions and millions of dollars back into the Michigan economy. We all take it for granted that our hunting privileges and firearm ownership rights are secure.

But wait! For years and years back in Washington D.C. our U.S. Congressman from the 9th District, Dale Kildee, has been working steadily against hunters and law-abiding firearm owners by supporting several anti-gun bills that were introduced into Congress by various social engineers.

Let's go back to 1986. Kildee voted against the Firearms Owners Protection Act but voted in favor of four amendments to this act that would have seriously affected hunting and restricted firearms.

In 1991 he voted against the Staggers Instant Background Check bill concerning handgun purchases. He supported the "Brady Bill," voting for it several times through the legislative process until it finally was signed into law in the fall of 1993. He voted against the Marlenee Hunter Harassment amendment that would have protected hunters from animal-rights fanatics.

This spring and summer Rep. Kildee voted against hunters, sportsmen and law-abiding citizens by his continuous support of the pork-barrel-laden "Crime Bill." This new law bans possession of more than 175 different types of semi-automatic firearms, many very similar to the rifles that hunters will be carrying in the woods on November 15.

Dale Kildee has shown us by his voting record that he favors more restrictive legislation such as banning handguns, semi-auto sporting rifles, and hunting in general. His record is so bad the National Rifle Association rates him with an "F."

Megan O'Neill, his opponent, wants to punish criminals that commit crimes with guns while protecting the rights of the law-abiding firearms owner and defending the Second Amendment.

We as sportsmen, hunters and firearms owners must elect Megan O'Neill as our new representative from the 9th District, and oust Kildee, who betrayed our trust.

Before you hunt November 15 vote for Megan O'Neill on November 8!

Randy P. Dresback

Kids say thanks

Dear Community,

Thanks so much for enhancing our Clarkston Community Walk last Tuesday.

Seventy-five third-graders and 32 adults came through and you were gracious enough to welcome us.

Our kids learned so much! Mr. Stuart and Mr. Pappas spoke to our groups and we were informed about some of the details government officials in our community monitor ... plus we learned more on our community's history. Thanks for the pens and maps!

Several businesses along Main Street took time to talk to six groups of students. The bank gave all the kids pencils and suckers, the antique shop gave us all an old fashioned candy stick. Thanks!

Mr. Bickford, Mrs. Walters, Mrs. Tower, Mrs. Mizusawa and Mr. and Mrs. Mauti spoke to all our groups at their private homes. Our kids definitely had first-hand knowledge on our community's history. Thanks for the cookies, Mrs. Tower!

A special thanks to Mrs. Regiani, Mrs. Hadden and many other parents who contacted homeowners, businesses and also chaperoned. Wow!

Our students have been enriched! We're grateful to live in such a caring town!

Mrs. Wenger,
Mrs. Nugent,
Mrs. Steele,
Mrs. Kelsey

And now, some observations by the kids:

I learned so much on Tuesday I'm going to freak!

Colleen Mead

It's definitely more interesting than working all day.

Kyle Fitzsimmons

I guess some people really have interesting lives.

Matt Herran

You never now what you can learn.

Ashley Hudson

I never knew that Henry Ford lived in Michigan.

Maggie Adams

I appreciate everyone letting us in there houses and jobs.

Matt Dudek

Thank you for stopping your work ...

Sarah Mahrle

I really had the greatest day of my life.

Dana Geiger

It was like a great big present.

Emily Clark

I wish I could go everywhere a second time.

David Holland

I had a really great time!

P.S. Who's idea was it?

Carriage house owners get a setback

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A recent court decision denying property owners the right to knock down a structure on their own land won't stop them in their battle with the City of the Village of Clarkston.

Ray and Mary Jo Reinbolt of Redford, who own property in Clarkston Village West Condominiums, had their attorney David Gorcyca ask Oakland County Circuit Court Judge John McDonald to retract a city resolution requiring the preservation of the three-sided stone carriage house that sits on their lot off Holcomb Road.

The judge denied their request on Oct. 12. Now, Gorcyca says, he will probably amend the complaint.

"In my mind, the city has no legal authority to pass that resolution to allow a government to restrict the use of private property other than zoning ordinances that protect the health, welfare and safety of the residents," Gorcyca said Thursday.

"If need be we'll take it to a jury and ask for damages for every dime (the Reinbolts) have had to expend in order to get the resolution repealed."

A pre-trial has been scheduled with Judge McDonald on Oct. 25 in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Gorcyca says he's also "still seeking money damages from the city" for his clients, who would have to build "over, above and around the stone structure," taking them $40,000 over their pre-approved mortgage limit of $210,000. And because interest rates have climbed about two percent during the year and a half his clients have been fighting this,

"you're looking at an extra $144,000 in interest," he said.

The Reinbolts and Gorcyca also complain that the city calls the old carriage house an "historic structure" — but it's not on any register, making it unprotected historically. Because of that, they argue that it has no market value and therefore it's an eyesore.

But the big objection is the cost.

"You can't afford to move it and it's too expensive to build over it," Gorcyca said.

'You don't want to have Big Brother ruling your city.'

Attorney David Gorcyca

Clarkston city attorney Tom Ryan says he thinks the case can be resolved — if the Reinbolts are willing to sell the property. They have expressed that as an option.

"I'm hopeful they will sell it — several people are interested," Ryan said. "But I've been told they're asking too much."

Ryan said that recently someone bid on the property and the Reinbolts "got within a couple thousand dollars of selling."

"But the deal broke. They didn't get the price they wanted," he added.

Gorcyca didn't interpret the incident that way and he didn't agree with Ryan's amount, saying the prospective buyers offered considerably less — a few thousand dollars worth — than the Reinbolts were asking.

"There was a bid on it, but that would be the last resort," he said. "It's a beautiful piece of property and they want it."

"They've invested a lot of money in clearing some of the land, changing the boundary lines ... My clients are not willing to take any more losses," Gorcyca said.

His feeling is that "the city is losing property taxes on the investment they want to make." And he has another opinion.

"You have a municipality telling people, 'You keep it up then.' To expend private money to improve upon city property to preserve a structure that the city 'deems' valuable ... I just want the city to come forward with some just basis of how they think they can preserve the structure."

"You don't want to have Big Brother ruling your city," Gorcyca said.

Little auditioner almost makes it big

Cousin wins 'Miss Saigon' role

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Justin Rovillos Monson is a bundle of energy — all 3 1/2 ft., 32 pounds of him.

Which is why his parents, Vernetta and John, thought their exuberant 3-year-old would be perfect to audition for a role in "Miss Saigon."

The casting crew of the play was looking for Asian-American children to fill spots in the production and Justin also fit the bill there — his dad is white and his mom Filipino. Though he favors Mom in features and coloring, Dad says, "He's got my rambunctiousness and personality. He's really funny, always making faces like me."

At the first audition held at Detroit's River Place Inn on Oct. 6, there were 50 children. Though the audition called for four- to five-year-olds, Vernetta said she decided to "take the chance anyway."

"At the audition, parents weren't allowed. They told him to touch his head, ears and nose ... and run to the producer and give him a big hug because (the kids) had to do that in the play."

After that, Vernetta said she and her husband were told, "His looks are perfect, he's exactly what we want." But they were concerned about his age and he was a little shy.

Nevertheless, little Justin had made it into the eleven finalists.

In the second audition, held the following day, John said his son and the other kids had to "lay on their bellies and write" — mimicking yet another scene in the play.

"We found a crack and peeked," Vernetta laughed. The children also played "Duck, duck, goose."

JUSTIN plays with his Legos police station. "My dad helped me build it," said the 3-year-old who auditioned for a part in "Miss Saigon."

Justin said he liked that. But when he got tapped as the goose, he fell while trying to catch the other child.

"But I was okay," said the brown-eyed youngster.

Even with his looks and charm, Justin didn't get picked to be in the production, though his 4-year-old cousin, Lindsay Regala Won, did. His parents found out the following Monday when they called the Detroit Free Press for a list of winners.

Vernetta said she was disappointed, but felt happy her son had made it as far as he did. She feels his good manners and intelligence had something to do with it.

What's next for Justin? His mom would like to get her handsome son into modeling, but also feels he might try another audition in the future.

"He says he wants to be a movie star," John said. Justin may have other ideas about that.

The precocious youngster would have to also decide between "Batman, a police guy, a train driver or a power ranger."

Calling all kids

Children age 8-12 are being sought to co-host this year's Michigan Thanksgiving Parade.

WDIV-TV Channel 4 will hold auditions on Saturday, Oct. 22 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the WDIV studios. Children must be accompanied by a parent or guardian.

Two lucky children will share co-hosting duties with Chuck Gaidica, Carmen Harlan and Mort Crim live during the parade. Last year, over 200 children tried out for the jobs.

"A Wonderful Place To Live"

Bids accepted for Dixie, M-15 bike

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A $75,146 bid for construction of safety paths on Dixie and M-15 was accepted by the Independence Township Board of Trustees Oct. 4.

The areas to be completed for 1994 are Dixie Highway from Lingor to Parview and on M-15 from Cranberry Pointe to Deer Ridge.

Independence Township Parks and Recreation Director Ann Conklin told the board she expects low-bidder Formtec Concrete to be finished with the projects by November 15. Formtec, from Utica, will charge $24,000 and $47,000 less, respectively, than the other two companies who bid on the project.

Safety paths are supported with a voter-approved millage. The 1994 millage rate for the safety path fund is .3889, which will generate $238,638 of tax revenue for the township.

In 1988 the safety path millage was renewed by voters for 10 years, expiring in 1999.

Other Independence board action on Oct. 4:

Two controversial rezonings were approved on Maybee Road and at the corner of Indianwood and Eston roads.

The Maybee Road approval includes rezoning 25 acres north of Maybee, adjacent to Hi-Wood Village Subdivision from single family (R-1A) to multi-family residential (R-2). The rezoning will allow about 100 multiple family units.

The Indianwood/Eston property will rezone 88 acres from rural residential (R-1R) to suburban farm residential (R-1C), allowing 1.5 acre lots, for about 35 homes.

Both requests were approved by the planning commission and township planner and follow the township's master plan.

About 125 homes in Deerwood II and Deerwood Mañors would be affected by a street lighting special assessment district.

A public hearing is set on the Deerwood II SAD request for Nov. 1 at 7:30 p.m. The SADs could cost the homeowners about $25 or $30 over the course of a year.

Five street lamps are to be installed.

Carole Ann Lippincott was hired to fill the vacancy of maintenance apprentice in the township's parks and recreation department.

She was the parks and recreation's van driver.

The township's longest serving employee, Patricia Glowzinski, was promoted to the position of Secretary in the clerk's office from her clerical-technical position.

Glowzinski, who has been the account clerk for six years, has worked in the township since 1975 and her new position calls for a $12.47 per hour wage.

Sue Learnont was appointed to the township's Board of Canvassers, replacing Christie Shull.

Learnont, a Democrat, was appointed because state law requires Republicans/Democrats be equally represented on the board.

Other board of canvasser members include Republicans Nancy Woodruff, Janette Barks and Democrat Cecilia Yarber.

Oakland Schools selects

new superintendent

James Redmond, PhD. is the new superintendent of the Oakland Intermediate School District. He assumes his new duties in January.

Redmond comes from the Yamhill Education Service District in Oregon, where he has been superintendent since 1988. He began his career as a teacher and child-care worker and has held positions along the way as director of research, director of affective education, school psychologist, director of special education and associate and acting superintendent.

A graduate of Loyola University of Chicago, he earned his master's degree in school psychology from Western Illinois University and a PhD. in educational administration from the University of Oregon. He's married and has three school-age children.

Redmond succeeds Dr. William Keane, who retired from the superintendency in August to teach at Oakland University. Dr. Herman Dick of Clarkston, a deputy superintendent, has been serving as interim superintendent.

Oakland Schools offers services to and oversees all Oakland County school districts.

Sheriff's log for Independence Township

MONDAY, OCTOBER 10, fight in a bar on Dixie.

A 33-year-old Davison woman who was stopped for speeding in I-75 was arrested on an outstanding warrant out of Lapeer.

A sign was damaged and threats were made on Morning Mist.

A Clarkston man who has several outstanding warrants against him was accused of writing a bad check for $450 on Mary Sue to purchase a truck. He later made the check good.

The window of a Jeep was smashed on S. Main. A mailbox on Waldon was smashed, apparently by someone throwing a pumpkin at it from a passing car.

Non-injury accident on Sashabaw.

A Holly woman said she would see her own doctor for injuries suffered in an accident on Dixie.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 11, TCI Cable TV reported damaged cable on Lake Waldon.

Lost or stolen dealer license plate on Broadway. Lewd remarks were heard on a CB radio on Maybee.

A crossbow pistol was found on a bike path on Sashabaw.

A Pontiac woman was uninjured after her car missed a curve on Maybee Rd., hitting some trees.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 12, a resident of Sunnydale found a deed was missing.

Larceny of lumber from a home under construction on Windy Knoll.

Spouse abuse on Stevens. A man struck his wife in the head and threw her to the ground several times before fleeing. He later refused to come to the substation to talk to police.

Threats and possible stalking on Dixie. Several employees of a store said the husband of one of the employees had been calling the store making threats. He has also followed his wife, from whom he is separated, and spray-painted her car.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 13, threats on Whipple Shore.

A man was arrested on three warrants, including one felony warrant, on Mary Sue. The charges include writing a bad check and failure to appear on charges in two other courts.

Four hubcaps were stolen from a 1991 Pontiac parked in a Waldon Rd. shopping center. The report stated there have been other, similar incidents in the parking lot after dark recently.

A 29-year-old Pontiac man was arrested for assault and battery and violating a restraining order to stay away from his ex-wife and her family on Major.

Someone saw a car on Pine Knob Golf Course driving on the lawn and doing doughnuts. A witness got the license-plate number, which was registered to a Clarkston man.

Car/deer accident on Maybee.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 14, two trucks in a rental car lot on Dixie were found by a deputy on patrol to have the keys in them and the ignition running.

Profanity was spray-painted on a trailer on Oakgrove.

Breaking and entering of a 1993 Ford pickup on Pelton. A cassette player, two speakers and an amplifier were stolen from the locked vehicle.

Radios were taken from two cars parked in a driveway on Deerwood. The thief broke the lock on one car and a window on the other.

A Grand Blanc man driving on northbound I-75 tried to avoid a deer and ran off the road and into a ditch, doing heavy damage to his car and sustaining injury.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 15, failure to pay for $12 worth of gas on Ortonville Rd.

Larceny of two flags from a pole on Deerwood. The resident said two vehicles were also vandalized.

A window on a 1990 Buick was smashed on Reese Rd.

Three unlocked cars in a Dora Lane driveway were burglarized. Taken were cigarettes, two jackets, a tie and five tapes. A jacket and tie were later found in the bushes.

Two hubcaps were taken from a 1995 Ford parked on Parview.

A windshield and door window were broken on a vehicle parked on Hubbard Hills.

Deputies were called to investigate retail fraud on Sashabaw and ended up arresting a Pontiac man on two misdemeanor warrants, one for assault and one for malicious destruction of property.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 16, the window of a 1984 Olds was broken in a Maybee Rd. church parking lot and nine tapes were stolen.

Larceny of a car phone from a 1984 Bronco parked on Glenburnie.

Larceny of a gold and diamond pendant valued at $500 on Parview.

Spouse abuse on Waldon. A 30-year-old woman said her husband punched her in the nose with his fist.

Car/deer accident on northbound I-75 near M-15.

The Oakland County Sheriff's Independence substation has responded to 9,967 calls this year through Oct. 16.

The Clarkston News

The Wolves Class A championship golf team shows off some of the hardware they've won this year. From left they are Jayson Buchmann, Tim Klimek, Jeremy Jenson, coach Jim Chamberlain, Corey Bildstein, Myles Mosher and Jon Dean.

State champs!

After 2nd-place finish last year, golfers are tops

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

It was a tough day Friday for Clarkston Wolves varsity golf coach Jim Chamberlain.

While his team was out setting a school record on the first day of the state final tournament in East Lansing, Chamberlain had no idea how they were doing. He could only wait, and hope.

"It's nerve-wracking for me because I never see them," he said Monday, with the state title safely in hand. He explained that during the tournament, coaches have their own duties to perform, such as scoring. Based on the sketchy reports that reached his ears during the day, he wasn't optimistic.

But he needn't have worried. His team, which finished second in the state finals a year ago, played a scorching first round Friday that was good enough to carry them through a lesser Saturday for the state

Class A championship.

The team finished the first day of the finals, held at Forest Akers East Golf Course at Michigan State University, with a four-man score of 286, 16 strokes ahead of Troy. Tim Klimek shot a 70; Corey Bildstein a 71, Jason Buchmann a 72 and Jon Dean a 73. All four were in the top 10 finishers on the day.

"We're all pretty much experienced," said Jeremy Jenson. "We've been up there before. We were all used to the course."

But the second day was a different story. On the West Course, "The greens were unbelievable," said Tim Klimek. The top four Wolves finished at 320, not the lowest total of the day. But it was the two-day total that counted, and Clarkston beat out Traverse City, 606-614 for the championship.

"We all played very safe—very defensive (the second day)," Jenson said. "And our scores weren't very good."

Coach Chamberlain said a letdown can be expected after shooting a spectacular first round.

"We talk about that. The hardest thing to do is not get defensive," he said. "That's the concern; we've got the lead, we've got to sit on it."

Following Clarkston and Traverse City in the finals were Portage Central (622) and Troy (625). The combined two-day totals put Jon Dean at fourth, with 148, and Jayson Buchmann at eighth, with 152. "The whole season was just fun," Jenson said.

"All of us are friends. We had a good time."

Of the top six players on the team, five are seniors. They've all been playing for many years, and for Jayson Buchmann, this was his third trip to the state finals.

"He's finished in the top 10 every year he's played," the coach said. "He's accomplished a lot in his career." Dean finished 10th in the tournament last year.

Chamberlain, who retired from teaching last year, said he wanted to continue coaching at least long enough to see this group graduate.

"I wanted to go through with these kids at least," Chamberlain said, adding that he will be back next year. "I'm going to be on the golf course in the fall anyway."

All of the seniors said they're looking for college opportunities where they can continue to play golf.

"There's a number of excellent junior colleges to get started," Chamberlain said. "There are a lot of junior colleges known for golf programs and it's a good stepping stone to get into a four-year college."

For returning team members Tim Klimek and Dave Barth, next year without the Fab Five will mean a lot more work, according to Klimek.

"We're going to have to play a lot harder next year," he said.

NOTE: Coach Chamberlain said he couldn't pick just one golfer for Player of the Week honors this week. Rather, he nominated the whole team.

"They're all deserving," he said. "It was a team effort. They all contributed."

Adams falls, 41-24, at Homecoming

BY MICHAEL ROMEIN
Special to The Clarkston News

There was a lot riding on this game. First of all, it was Homecoming, and the crowd was enormous. Secondly, it was a division opponent that the Wolves were playing—Rochester Adams.

And finally, a loss would mean no playoffs. The Wolves only had three games left, and this was definitely the toughest.

"Homecoming can work against you because you've got all the other things going on," said Wolves coach Kurt Richardson. "The biggest thing was keeping them on track."

Despite the distractions, Clarkston met the challenge and defeated Adams 41-24 behind a great game by Jason Graves with six touchdowns and 284 yards.

The game already seemed over in the first quarter. Clarkston's first drive was for 90 yards in four plays, capped by a two-yard touchdown run by Graves. The Wolves took an early 21-0 lead, and their defense was perfect. Adams went three and out on their first three possessions while the Wolves ran over Adams' defense again and again.

On the Wolves second possession, facing a 4th-and-10 from the 30, quarterback Toby Evans dropped back to pass, but couldn't find anyone open. He went on to run it for a first down at the 15. Graves scored again on the next play, but missed the extra point on a bad snap. The Wolves led, 13-0.

Again, Adams was stopped on three plays and Clarkston took over. Another four-play drive was highlighted by runs of 29 and 26 yards by Graves, who then scored the touchdown, 19-0.

Clarkston lined up to go for two. Evans faded back, and under heavy pressure, lofted the ball to the side of the end zone. Brad Agar was there and made a one-handed catch for the two-point conversion, 21-0.

Adams comes back

Despite the big lead, Adams played tough. They stopped Clarkston on defense and recovered two Clarkston fumbles. On offense, they matched Clarkston's 21 points with three touchdowns of their own, tying the score with 1:02 left in the half. After the second Clarkston fumble Adams added a field goal for a 24-21 lead with :09 left.

The Wolves were stunned. "It's Homecoming; let's show some pride!" one player shouted on the sidelines.

Pat Mulligan quickly returned the kickoff 75 yards, but couldn't get into the end zone before time ran out. All of a sudden, the Wolves were losing.

"Most definitely I was worried," Richardson said. "But these kids have come from behind several times before." When asked about his half-time speech, the coach said, "There was a little yelling and screaming but also what do we have to do to come back."

Alpena trip Friday

Next up for The Wolves is the long trip to Alpena Friday before finishing out the season at home against Lake Orion Oct. 28.

Coach Richardson said the Alpena game was scheduled before the new Oakland Activities Association was formed and the Wolves were searching for an opponent for that week.

The two Class A schools have exchanged film but other than that Richardson doesn't have much of an idea what to expect; Alpena is 3-4 so far this season.

Despite a four-hour bus ride and an expected letdown after Homecoming, Richardson expects a good game. "We'll have a big crowd up there," he said.

After Homecoming half-time festivities which included the band, pom pon squad, cheerleaders and introduction of the Homecoming court, it was time for more football.

Clarkston could get nothing going on their first possession. They punted to Adams, which took all of one play to give the ball back on the first of two interceptions by Ryan Shapman. The Wolves took over on the Adams 46 yard line, and four minutes later Graves scored his fourth touchdown of the game. After the extra point, the score was 28-24.

But Clarkston wasn't done yet. Again Adams turned the ball over, this time on a fumble which was recovered by Clarkston at the Adams 16. Clarkston scored on the first play, but there was a penalty, moving it back to the 31.

How long was it before they scored again? As long as it took Graves to run 31 yards. Two touchdowns in 1:67 quickly turned the game around, 35-24.

On Adams' next possession they put together a long drive, but it ended at the Clarkston 12 on the interception by Shapman to begin the fourth quarter. However the Wolves couldn't move the ball, and punted it away.

Adams quickly put itself in a hole. They were called for three penalties, including one for unsportsmanlike conduct, giving them a 3rd-and-37 from their own four yard line. They punted a play later, and Clarkston took over a midfield. It wasn't long before Graves was in the end zone again, and the Wolves were leading 41-24 (the extra point was no good) with 2:48 left in the game.

Adams then turned the ball over on downs, and the Wolves just ran out the clock.

Graves ended the day with 284 yards on 32 carries (almost nine yards a carry), six touchdowns and 39 points. Toby Evans was 4-10 passing for 71 yards with no touchdowns and no interceptions.

Coach credits line

Coach Richardson said although Graves has gotten all the attention, his offensive line deserves a lot of the credit.

"Everybody was talking about Jason Graves," he said. "The offensive linemen do such a great job for us. They pave the way for Jason . . . They're the ones that are responsible for Jason getting all those yards."

"Those kids are all underweight and they play their guts out."

Motivation also came from the fact that Adams was favored before the game. "Adams got a lot of ink," Richardson said. "We felt all along we were underrated."

Lady runners still undefeated in league

League meet Saturday

The Clarkston High School girls cross-country team remained unbeaten in Oakland Activities Association Division II meets last week with a 6-0 record.

The ladies beat Lake Orion and Waterford Mott in a home meet Oct. 14. Leah Scharl led the way with a time of 20:20. Stefanie Burklow came in third at 21:43; Kristen Maine was fifth at 22:12; Elizabeth Cook was sixth at 22:43 and Anna Vandermeer was seventh at 22:52.

On Friday, the ladies took third at the Oxford Invitational behind Rochester Adams and Grosse Pointe South. Scharl could not run due to injury. Burklow came in 15th at 21:50; Maine was 17th at 21:55.

THE BOYS

The boys fell to Mott and Lake Orion in the dual meet Oct. 14. Matt Warner and Brian Ginn were the top finishers for Clarkston. They tied at fifth with a time of 17:46.

At the Oxford Invitational, the boys finished eighth, "not a good showing," according to Coach Taylor. Warner had the highest Clarkston finish, 32nd at 17:54. Lakeland won the boys meet, followed by Rochester Adams and Rochester.

"Both the boys and girls teams ran well on Tuesday but were very down on Friday," said coach Mike Taylor. "We were flat. We have to ease up and get rested."

LEAGUE MEET SATURDAY

Next up for the runners is the league meet, scheduled for Saturday at Bloomer State Park in Rochester Hills. The park is located at the north end of Avon Rd.

The girls race begins at 3:30, the boys at 4 p.m.

JV sports

By Michael Romein

JV Soccer

Clarkston's JV Soccer team played two games this past week. On Tuesday, they played against Troy. They did not play particularly well, and they lost 5-1. Mike Gabriel scored on a penalty kick in a losing cause for the Wolves.

On Friday, Clarkston played one of their best games of the season against Royal Oak Kimball. However, it was not quite enough for the victory as they lost 2-1. This time it was Shawn Verlinden who scored for the Wolves.

This week, Clarkston plays against Waterford Mott on Thursday. Game time is 5:30 p.m. This will be the last game of the season for the JV team.

JV Football

Clarkston's JV football team won again last Thursday at Rochester Adams, 18-10. After a slow start to the season, the team has come together and reeled off four wins in a row.

Still, Clarkston had its difficulties against

Adams. They did not play well in the first half, and Rochester Adams had a 10-0 lead. There was no scoring in the third quarter until the Wolves finally caught fire in the fourth, scoring three touchdowns in the final quarter for the victory.

Brad Conley and Chad Bailey both caught passes for scores and Dane Fife ran one in.

This week, they play on Thursday against Alpena at 7 p.m.

JV Girls Basketball

The JV Girls Basketball team played two games last week. On Tuesday, they defeated Pontiac Northern 42-27. The Wolves were led by Colleen Stumpf with 14 points. On Thursday, they lost at home to Waterford Kettering in a close one, 35-34. Kettering hit a last-second shot for the win.

The girls' record is now 9-3 with eight games remaining. This week, they play on Thursday at 5:30 against Rochester Adams.

JV Golf

The JV golf team finished their season this week with a 13-7 dual meet record. On Monday, Clarkston finished second out of four teams at Tam O'Shanter. West Bloomfield finished first, shooting a 169, with Clarkston second with 171, Rochester

Adams third with 182, and North Farmington fourth with 206.

Dave Barth and Jeff Cumberworth were the low scorers with 40 each. Bryan Haggard shot a 45, and Justin Bise shot a 46.

In their last dual meet of the year on Wednesday at White Lake Oaks, the Wolves finished first shooting 169. Bloomfield Hills Andover came in second with a score of 182. This time, the low scorers were Cumberworth and Haggard with 40, Bise with 44 and Mike Gray with 45.

For the year, Jeff Cumberworth had the lowest stroke average with 40.8 over 9 holes. Bryan Haggard was second with an average of 43. (Special thanks to JV Golf Coach Mr. Tim Kaul for his help each week on these articles.)

Top runner won't slow down

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Even when it was taken away, Leah Stahl never gave up on what she loved.

After an All-State season as a sophomore, Stahl had to sit out her junior year due to a painful stress fracture in her lower leg. When the pain became too much it looked like a promising cross country career would be cut short.

But Stahl knew she would be back. After all, cross country is not just a sport to her, it's her passion.

"It was like taking what you love and ripping it away from you. I really wanted it back," said Stahl, now a senior and back in form. "I knew I had a team to lead and I wanted to defend my league title. But it's just that running is very important to me."

Stahl has shown her ability to bounce back this season in helping to lead her squad to an undefeated dual meet record. She is close to the form that earned her All-State honors two seasons ago.

In the recent Oakland County meet, Stahl showed why she is among the best in the county with a 6th-place finish in a time of 20:13. Although she placed high, she has run better this season, with a top time of 20:06.

The real struggle for Stahl was the waiting. In her junior season she ran the first four meets but ran with pain. It wasn't until a bone scan was performed that the stress fracture was discovered.

So for the rest of that season, Stahl waited and rested. When track came around, she joined to try and get back in shape. By the summer Stahl was back at the sport she loved, this time with no pain.

Last summer she attended the Wolverine and Port Sanilac running camps.

Co-coach Mike Kaul, who, along with Mike

Taylor, has coached the girls and boys teams for 15 years, said Stahl is the type of runner that works all year round on her sport.

"I know missing cross country really bothered her because she wants to make a mark," he said.

"She is very dedicated and serious about running. There are those who work hard during the season and then stop but Leah is the type who works year round."

Kaul admits Stahl may have been somewhat nervous about a re-injury at the start of the season, but now says she's "running as well as she's capable of."

He said her determination is what helped her back. "She never really got out of shape. She's young, strong and did what she could to get ready."

While Stahl has excelled individually, she said this has been a great season so far because the team is also focused on team goals. "This year we have a lot of depth and good runners."

Freshman sports

By Kit Cischke

Basketball

On Thursday, the freshman girls lost a heart-breaker to Kettering, 30-29.

The girls had three chances in the last 14 seconds of the game, "But we just couldn't capitalize," coach Bryan Ray remarked.

Kristy Tippen had a good game, as did Aimee Giroux. "The whole bench gave me a good game," Coach Ray said.

The loss brings the girls record to 6-5. Kettering was 8-1.

Senior Leah Stahl's determination and love of running has helped her lead the Wolves to an undefeated dual meet record.

7:00 - 10:00 P.M.

$3.00 PER PERSON (Six years of age & older)

Here's how you do it. Bring your parents, bring your friends. Make this a camp trip to remember.

Drive to Camp Agawam. Park in the Activity Field. Check in at Haas Lodge where you can purchase tickets.

Then, follow your guide through the dark and whispering woods. If you meet one of these unwelcome creatures, let him see you...make noise...encourage him to move elsewhere. If you find a building that has become haunted, be sure to walk all through it so that the new residents decide there are too many of us and move on to someplace else.

Kickers fall 2-1 in overtime loss

HEADS UP! A Clarkston player (white jersey) goes for the header.

The Clarkston varsity soccer team beat Royal Oak Kimball a month ago at home, and was hoping for a repeat last week away. And it was close—but not to be.

The Wolves fell to Kimball 2-1 in overtime. Phil Ratliff scored the lone Wolf goal.

"They (Kimball) scored first," said coach Dan Fitzgerald. "It was a pretty evenly played game. Both teams had chances to win."

Earlier in the week, the Wolves also lost to Troy, 3-0 Oct. 11, leaving the team with a 4-9-2 record overall.

And it doesn't get any easier. The Wolves' game against Mott, scheduled for Oct. 20, has been cancelled, leaving them with no games left before the district playoffs begin next week.

Fitzgerald said the scheduling problem is because there is an extra team in the district. Mott was drafted to play the extra team, leaving Clarkston in the lurch.

"It's fairly hard to find someone on such short notice," Fitzgerald said. "It's not an ideal situation. We just have to practice harder."

Coming off a year where his team went 15-5, then switched to a new league, Fitzgerald said it hasn't been easy to keep the team's spirits up.

"There's been a lot of one-goal losses," he said. "It's real hard." But he hopes facing tougher competition will pay off when the play-offs come around.

"We're very capable of winning our district," he said. "But on the down side, we're not used to playing teams we're better than."

The Wolves have drawn Milford at Milford in the first round of the districts, scheduled for Monday at 7 p.m. The winner of that game will take on the winner of the Lakeland-Holly game at home.

"It can make a good thing out of a tough season if we do well in the districts," the coach said.

THE 1994 CLARKSTON SENIORS SOFTBALL CLUB: top row, from left, Everett Blackerby, Ed Cable, Ralph Grover, Bill Banghart, Ken Maas; second row, Bob

Seniors earn national rank

After a respectable week of senior softball, the Clarkston Seniors are ranked fifth in the nation.

From Oct. 4 to Oct. 6 the Seniors won a few and lost a few in the nation's Senior World Series, featuring several Clarkston area players.

On Oct. 4, the Seniors lost to teams from San Diego (the eventual champion) and Atlanta but beat a team from Colorado.

On Oct. 5, they continued their climb with a 4-1 win over Colorado and a 6-3 win over top-seeded Florida.

But the Seniors slowed down from there as they lost 11-3 to a team from Fort Worth, Texas and 3-2 to a Long Island squad.

According to player Ed Cable of Waterford his team was proud to be a part of the Senior World Series, and finish ranked fifth out of 14 teams.

The team's leading hitter in the series was Clarkston's own Nick Sassie, shortstop, who hit 11-for-19 (.579) with a double and triple. Other top hitters were Ralph Grover of Sterling Heights, 10-for-20 (.500), Cable, .389, and Clarkston's Ray Koskela who went 6-for-16.

Other Clarkston players include Everett Blackerby, Mike Miszczak, Manager John Thomas and Bud Keyser.

Cable said the team did miss regular player Clark Balch, recent MVP in the state championships. The Oxford resident became ill and couldn't compete with the team in the World Series.

Netters 10th in tourney

The Clarkston girls tennis team finished tenth at the regional tournament held Friday at Farmington, about where coach Dick Swartout expected.

The Wolves had wins from #4 singles player Kristy Kade, the #1 doubles team of Renee Shubert and Kelley Wall, and the #3 doubles team of Carrie Ruddy and Emily Kortge.

"For the most part the doubles have been the part of the team that's won," Swartout said.

Bloomfield Hills won the tournament, followed by Walled Lake Central and a tie for third place between Farmington Harrison and North Farmington. The top two teams advance to the state finals this weekend in Midland.

The ladies finished the regular season at 5-7 in the new Oakland Activities Association Division II. Swartout said last week OAA coaches will meet Nov. 2 to discuss realignment of the divisions.

Chiefs cheerleaders place at competition

The Clarkston Chiefs cheerleaders, a group of 7- to 9-year-olds, placed in two of three categories they entered in the recent Super Cheer event at Brandon High School.

The young ladies took a second in the dance routine and a third in the clean cheer. The girls cheer for the Chiefs football team.

"We practiced for an hour and a half every day," said coach Pam Babcock. "This is like the cheerleaders' Super Bowl. It's very competitive. The girls do a lot of work."

The girls' assistant coach is Terri Bendes. They competed in the freshman division. Over 600 girls participated in the competition Sept. 25.

with the Rev. Richard Nelson officiating.

Memorials may be made to the American Lung Association or the American Cancer Society.

Clarkston Police

THURSDAY, OCT. 13, a Waterford man was stopped on southbound M-15 while turning onto W. Washington. It was discovered he was driving with a suspended license. He was issued two tickets, one for DWLS and another for a no turn on red violation.

An officer responded to a fire in the Depot Park dump. When DPW supervisor Bob Pursley was contacted he said he was doing no burning for the city. The small fire appeared to be caused by juveniles. DPW workers put it out.

SATURDAY, OCT. 15, a lost purse was reported at Church and Main.

SUNDAY, OCT. 16, a Waterford man was stopped by an officer for running a stop sign at Miller and Glenburnie. It was discovered he had an outstanding warrant from the Waterford Police Department. He was issued two tickets and posted bond.

MONDAY, OCT. 17, a Clinton Township man was stopped at Glenburnie and Miller for running the stop sign. He was checked and issued a ticket for driving with a suspended license.

TUESDAY, OCT. 18, an accident was reported at Main and Washinton when one car rear-ended another. No tickets were issued.

QUESTION: If my septic tank is working properly, is it still necessary to have it pumped out periodically?

ANSWER: The answer is a resounding YES. The time to pump it is BEFORE you have problems — not after.

A properly working system traps the digesting solids in the septic tank so that only rather clean water drains off into the drain field, gradually plugging the pores in the soil under the drain field. After a certain amount of time, you will undoubtedly have a system failure.

How often should it be pumped? It depends upon the size of the tank and usage, of course. Generally, once every 1 to 3 years is suggested.

Hoopsters drop 2 close ones

The Clarkston girls varsity basketball team played two tough games last week, but the outcome was the same in each.

The ladies lost at Pontiac Northern Oct. 11, 43-40 and at home against Waterford Kettering Oct. 13, 35-30.

At Northern, "We didn't play well," coach Larry Mahrle said. "We got behind."

Northern scored 20 of its points in the third quarter. The Wolves came back with 15 in the fourth, but it wasn't enough.

"We had a great run and were tied in the last minute of the game (but) we made some crucial errors," Mahrle said. "We missed a couple of good opportunities."

Nickie Winn led the scoring with 14 points, followed by Leah Howard with six, and Elissa Shires with four.

Against Kettering, Howard led the Wolves in scoring with nine; she also recorded six steals. Allison Richards had four.

"Kettering is a very, very good basketball team," Mahrle said. "We played very hard."

The ladies were scheduled to play at home against Waterford Mott Tuesday, then face Rochester Adams at home Thursday at 7 p.m.

"The kids try hard," Mahrle said. "They're playing great defense. We're going to try to win two this week."

Academic achiever

Kristine Bania

This is the first week of a new series in The Clarkston News. Academic Achievers will feature one Clarkston High School senior each week, based solely upon grade-point average. This year the series will feature the seniors who have cumulative grade point averages of 3.8 or better. First up: Kristine Bania.

NAME: Kristine Bania
GPA: 3.976

PARENTS: Laurie and Gerald Bania of Independence Township.

PLANS FOR AFTER GRADUATION: "To attend a four-year liberal arts university with an intent to major in elementary education." She has been accepted at Capital University in Columbus.

"I've kind of always wanted to be a teacher," she said. "I tutored at Pine Knob Elementary last year and that kind of confirmed it for me. I also teach Sunday school at my church, Calvary Lutheran."

EXTRA-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES: President of Blue and Gold, a community service group; involved in National Honor Society and groups and activities at her church.

HONORS AND AWARDS: Chenille letter and academic pin, Most Outstanding Freshman Spanish Student; CHS Student of the Month.

FAVORITE SUBJECT: "I tend to enjoy my language arts classes the most. (She's currently in her fourth year of Spanish). They give me a challenge as well as opportunities to express myself through creative writing."

JOB: Kristine is a page at the Orion Township Library, working 14-16 hours a week.

FAVORITE CAFETERIA FOOD: As a senior she doesn't have to eat at school, but says her favorite there is hot pretzels.

FAVORITE MUSICAL GROUP: Chamber, a Christian group.

A GOOD BOOK SHE'S READ: "The Joy Luck Club," by Amy Tan. "The theme of mother/daughter relationships had an impact on me."

THE SECRET TO HER ACADEMIC SUCCESS: Kristine doesn't have a first-hour class, but says she doesn't sleep in. Rather, the time is devoted to academics or an early-morning workout.

The secret to her success, she says, is "Time management. I have to make a lot of lists, prioritize, and be sure to allow certain amounts of time for certain subjects."

A GOOD FRIEND IS SOMEONE WHO: "Is willing to drop everything they're doing and make time for the other person."

How to Organize Your Home in a Day Keyboarding

Stop the feeling of not being in control of your own home and take some time out and learn how to develop and organize your existing home's space with inexpensive ideas. More than just a "place for everything." Helpful hints to create a personal system that will help you get and stay organized. One session on Saturday, Oct. 22, 9 a.m. to noon at Sashabaw Middle School. Fee $35.

Desserts, Sweet Endings

Tempt your taste buds with cooking class learning to make three basic desserts that will fit any occasion. Chocolate mousse, cheesecake, and pate-a-choux (cream puffs) plus tips on garnishes. Supply fee $10; class fee $14. One class on Tuesday, October 25, 6-9 p.m. at Sashabaw Middle School.

This is the first step for students with little or no keyboarding/typing skills who want to learn word processing and other computer programs. Course is designed to aid you with your computer training. Hands-on. One person per computer. Offered for six weeks beginning Thursday, Nov. 3, from 6 to 8 p.m. at Sashabaw Middle School. Class fee $54.

Purchasing a Computer, the Educated Approach

Learn what you need to know before purchasing a computer. Includes differences between various brands, printers, and choosing the software appropriate for your needs. Develop a checklist to assist in

PRAYER TO THE HOLY Spirit: Holy Spirit, You who makes me see everything and who shows me the way to reach my ideal. You who gives me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me, and You who are with me. I, in this short dialogue want to thank You for everything and to confirm that I never want to be separated from You, no matter how great material desires may be. I want to be with You and my loved ones in Your perpetual glory. Amen. Thank You for Your love towards me and my loved ones. Persons must pray this prayer three consecutive days with out asking your wish. After the third day, your wish will be granted, no matter how difficult it may be. Then, promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your favor has been granted. Thanks to St Jude for favors received. (D.C.) IILX43-2

AND SPECIAL ASSESSMENT
PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

Date: November 1, 1994

Time: 7:30 p.m.

Place: Township Hall (Annex)

90 N. Main Street, Clarkston, Michigan

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on Tuesday, the 1st day of November, 1994, at 7:30 p.m. in the Township Hall (Annex), of the Charter Township of Independence, 90 N. Main Street, Clarkston, Michigan, the Township Board shall meet for the purpose of hearing comments and objections on the question of creating a district and defraying the expenses of installation, maintenance and operation of street lighting in the Deerwood II Subdivision by special assessment, with the Special Assessment District being all of the lots within the Deerwood II Subdivision.

The cost estimate for the improvement, and associated costs, is in the amount of $12,500.

The Township Board is proceeding with this hearing based upon petitions received from property owners within the Deerwood II Subdivision.

Appearance and protest at the hearing is required in order to appeal the matters to be considered at the hearing to the State Tax Tribunal. An owner or party in interest, or his or her agent, may appear in person at the hearing to protest the special assessment, or shall be permitted to file his or her appearance or protest by letter on or before the hearing, and his or her personal appearance in such case shall not be required.

Clarkston woman wins quilting honors

Heather Kosbab of Clarkston has won the Staff's Choice Award in a quilt competition sponsored by Keepsake Quilting of Centre Harbor, New Hampshire, publisher of The Keepsake Quilting Catalogue.

The entire magazine staff was invited to choose their favorite from among the quilts submitted in the Create a Golden Keepsake Challenge. At the Sept. 12 judging of 160 entries from all over the US and three foreign countries, Kosbab's entry took the most votes.

In her quilt, Kosbab used a variety of applique and other techniques to create a realistic garden with three-dimensional hollyhocks and bluebells. The quilt is dedicated to Kosbab's grandmother, an enthusiastic gardener at the age of 92.

Small but tough

The Clarkston Chiefs football team is working hard this fall. Here, at a recent practice, players work on their tackling under the watchful eye of adult coaches.

For the purpose of electing the following officers:

STATE: Governor & Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Attorney General, 2 Members of the State Board of Education, 2 Members of the Board of Regents of University of Michigan, 2 Members of the Board of Trustees of Michigan State University, 2 Members of the Board of Governors of Wayne State University.

CONGRESSIONAL: United States Senator, Representative in Congress.

LEGISLATIVE: State Senator, State Representative.

COUNTY: County Commissioner

AND ALSO ANY ADDITIONAL OFFICERS THAT MAY BE ON THE BALLOT

Township offices (to fill vacancy) or City Officers.

AND ALSO TO VOTE ON THE FOLLOWING NON-PARTISAN OFFICERS: Two Justices of the Supreme Court, Three Judges of the Court of Appeals, Four Judges of the Circuit Court (Regular Term), One Judge of the Circuit Court (to fill vacancy), one judge of the Circuit Court (New Judgeship), One Judge of Probate Court, One Judge of the District Court (Districts 35th, 43rd, 44th, 46th, 48th, 50th, 51st, 52nd-1st, 52nd-3rd, 52nd-4th).

ALSO TO VOTE ON THE FOLLOWING PROPOSALS AS LISTED BELOW:

STATE PROPOSAL A
A proposal to convene a constitutional convention for the purpose of drafting a general revision of the State Constitution.

STATE PROPOSAL B
A proposal to limit criminal appeals.

STATE PROPOSAL C
A referendum on Public Act 143 of 1993 - an amendment to Michigan's auto insurance laws.

STATE PROPOSAL P
A proposal to establish a Michigan State Parks endowment fund, increase the maximum allowable amount of funds in the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund and eliminate the diversion of dedicated revenue from the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund.

PLUS ANY LOCAL PROPOSALS:
ADDITIONAL MILLAGE AUTHORIZATION FOR POLICE SERVICES:
Shall the Charter Township of Independence be authorized to levy an additional 0.4468 of 1 mill for a period of four years to partially finance police services, commencing with the December 1994 levy? Approval of this proposal would authorize a new levy of 44.68 cents (approximately 45 cents) per $1,000 of state equalized value above the total tax limitation imposed by Article IX of the Michigan Constitution. It is estimated that this levy would result in the authorization to collect approximately $286,383 per year if approved and levied.

Homecoming

The weather cooperated perfectly for Clarkston High School's Homecoming festivities Friday and Saturday. With students decked out in their Homecoming finest, the skies were clear and warm (for October).

All the activities that make a high school fun—band, cheerleading, pom pon, clubs, football—were out in full force, both for the game Friday and the parade Saturday.

The weekend kicked off with the Queen's Assembly Friday at CHS.

"We are excited today!" MC Hank Stein said, and he was a little geeked himself. Introducing the Homecoming couples as they strolled around the gym in fancy dress, Stein called the king, Mark Ryan, the "head honcho." Then searching for words to describe queen Jill Attaman, he dubbed her the "head honchette."

As the court watched, students took part in all kinds of silly games, including the donut hang, in which you have to eat a doughnut without touching it; musical chairs, the Jello snarf and the potato dance.

The contests were designed to find out which class has the most school spirit and the sophomores came away this year's winners.

This banner, by the freshman class, illustrates the Homecoming theme, "We've got Tonight."

The CHS pom pon squad's precision routine was part of the halftime entertainment.

Theatre students mimed handing out candy to the crowd.

The environmental club painted this colorful banner for the parade Saturday.

Brad Bailey makes a serious effort to win the Jello snarf, but it was not to be.

This couple won the potato dance by holding on to their potato (no hands) the longest.
