Ribbons and bows signal holiday season

The sound of rustling ribbon—3,600 feet of it—filled the air Monday as the members of the Clarkston Farm and Garden Club got together to prepare for their annual greens market.

The women were planning to make 600 bows at three yards each, and they went about their work seriously. Some cut lengths, others tied them into bows. As the work went on, the business of the club was conducted over the buzzing of busy workers. The third annual greens market will be held Nov.

30-Dec 1, 10 a.m.-7 p.m. at the Masonic Temple of Clarkston, 2 N. Main St.

"In addition to wreaths, we'll have roping and all sorts of wonderful arrangements," said Duffy Liddicoat, club spokeswoman.

Proceeds from the sale benefit the club's scholarship fund and community improvements. The club is responsible for planting and maintaining flower barrels in downtown Clarkston. Scholarships benefit those in need and those interested in environmental studies, Liddicoat said.

Man recovering from crash

A 50-year-old Waterford man was critically injured after he stopped to help an injured woman at the scene of an accident on Maybee Road Thursday night.

Ralph Holewa was taken to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital after the accident in which he was struck by a car driven by a 17-year-old Clarkston girl.

According to Deputy Tom Poulin of the Oakland County Sheriff's Accident Investigation Unit, there were two accidents. A Clarkston woman, Loraine Grabowski, 58, was knocked down by an eastbound car driven by a 20-year-old Clarkston man as she tried to cross Maybee Rd. As Grabowski was lying in the road several drivers pulled off to the side of the road to assist, including Holewa.

Poulin said the 17-year-old saw some commotion on the dark road but had no idea what had happened. Her car struck Holewa in the roadway as he tried to help Grabowski.

As of presstime, no charges had been filed against any of the drivers. Monday morning a POH spokesperson said Holewa was alert and in stable condition.

Township takes action against brokers

Over $3 million in losses cited in arbitration filing

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Bad investment advice caused Independence Township to lose $3.5 million, according to a claim expected to be filed this week by township attorneys.

The 13-page suit alleges that, between September 1993 and March 1994, two salesmen from Westcap Securities Management knowingly lied to township treasurer John Lutz, concerning four separate security investments, totaling $5.331 million. As of May 1994 those investments were worth only $2.193 million, a 59 percent loss.

The claim, dated Nov. 18, 1994, is against Westcap, based in Houston, Texas, salesmen Craig L. Leibold and Jeffrey D. Oetting (both were employed by Westcap), and National Western Life Insurance Company, also a part of Westcap.

The township's total investment portfolio is between $10 and $11 million. The $3.5 million loss is in addition to mortgaged backed security investments that have fallen in value. The investigation into two other mortgaged-backed investments totaling about $600,000 is not complete. Those two investments are believed to now be worth about $100,000 total.

Those same two investments were also recommended by Leibold and Oetting in 1990, while they were employed by PaineWebber.

The Michigan Treasury has said municipalities are not allowed to invest in such mortgage-backed securities, although that has been disputed by township officials and other sources. Although the mortgage securities are not worth much now, they will regain their value if they are allowed to mature.

Independence Supervisor Dale Stuart confirmed that the overall investigation into the township's investments is not complete. Two specially-hired attorneys - whose hourly rate is between $125 and $220 - continue to investigate the matter and will also recommend a township investment policy.

"We are still investigating other portions of our

The news in brief

DNR holds public hearing

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has scheduled a public meeting on environmental issues affecting southeastern Michigan. The hearing will be held Tuesday, Dec. 6 at 7 p.m. at the Oakland County Commissioners Auditorium, 1200 N. Telegraph, Pontiac. This is just one of a series of hearings scheduled around the state this fall and the only one in Oakland County. Information gathered will be used to establish long-range environmental goals for the DNR and the US Environmental Protection Agency.

The public is invited to attend and share ideas. Anyone who cannot attend may send written suggestions to the Southeast Michigan Initiative, DNR, 38980 Seven Mile Rd., Livonia, Mi. 48152-1006.

Tech center holds open house

The Oakland Technical Center Northwest Campus will host its annual holiday open house on Dec. 4 from 1 to 4 p.m. The program will include student demonstrations in the various technical programs offered at the school, as well as free refreshments and door prizes. Student-made floral decorations, wreaths, baked goods and gifts will all be for sale.

OTCNW is located at 8211 Big Lake Rd., Clarkston, just off Dixie Hwy. The event is free and the public is invited to attend.

Gypsy moth update

Gypsy moth egg masses in Independence Township are in the process of being counted, so residents are asked not to destroy any of them for the time being. The counts must be completed before the end of the year in order to determine whether infestation is bad enough (300 egg masses per acre) to qualify for overhead spraying.

"Leave visible egg masses until January so they can be counted," said resident Peggy Dryer, who has been spearheading the effort to get aerial spraying approved for the township.

Friends of Library to meet Nov. 29

The Friends of the Independence Township Library will meet Tuesday, Nov. 29 at 7 p.m. at the library. The meeting will include a salute to Friends president Chris Shull and selection of a nominating committee for a slate of officers. An optional five-dozen cookie exchange will also be held. Anyone interested in working to promote the library is invited to attend.

Hereafter, the Friends will meet the last Tuesday of every other month, including Jan. 31, March 28, May 23, July 25, Sept. 26 and Nov. 28, 1995.

Goodfellow paper drive Dec. 2-3

The Independence Township Fire Department and the Clarkston Rotary Club will be selling Goodfellow newspapers Dec. 2-3 from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

This is the 54th year for the Goodfellow paper drive. Proceeds will be used to purchase shoes for residents in need. Proceeds will be donated to Lighthouse North for purchase of warm clothing, food, heat and electricity.

The Goodfellows will be out in force in many locations around the township.

Young Clarkston company honored

2-year-old firm named to 'Future 50'

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

The phone at Chase Plastic Services is answered by the most cheerful voice you'll ever hear. The call is handled quickly and efficiently. Messages are given and calls are returned.

For owners Carole and Kevin Chase, who formed their own company in 1992, that initial contact by a potential customer can make or break their company. So they searched long and hard to find the right person for the job.

Such attention to detail may be one reason their company has been named to the Future 50, a listing of Metro Detroit's top companies based on growth, sales, employment and entrepreneurial spirit during the past year. The list is sponsored by WWJ radio, The Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce and BDO Seidman.

A plaque on the wall inside the company's Clarkston office sums up the philosophy: "We shall strive for excellence in all endeavors. We shall set our goals to achieve total customer satisfaction and to deliver defect-free, premium value products on time, with service second to none."

The way president Kevin Chase sees it, his approach is a throwback to earlier days when business wasn't so big and impersonal. After working for one of the country's largest plastics distributors for nine years, he struck out on his own at the age of 31 when he decided he didn't like the direction the company was taking.

"We researched what customers said was wrong with distributors," he said. "They forget who pays the bills... When (customers) call up we say, 'Hi, Bill,' not 'What's your customer ID number?'"

'A lot of our competitors sell the same product so there's only one way to differentiate yourself, and that's service.'

Kevin Chase

"A lot of our competitors sell the same products so there's only one way to differentiate yourself, and that's service." The philosophy appears to be paying off. The company began with two employees in May, 1992 with one warehouse for the pelleted plastics they distribute. Now they have 10 employees and warehouses in Michigan, Illinois, Minnesota and Texas. Gross sales were $6 million in 1993 and are expected to hit $10 million this year. The company serves customers in 20 states, Canada and Mexico and buys plastics from around the world.

The Chases credit their employees with some of that success. They say they experience very few sick days and believe it's because they've hired carefully, then empowered each person to get the job done as they see fit. They've also made it known they value their family and their employees' families.

"We really encourage people who come on board with us to be individual thinkers," Carole Chase said. "Look at this as if it were your business."

"We do not look over their shoulders," Kevin Chase added. "We pay a very competitive pay. We do not want a lot of them; we just want the best. Each one controls or directs their own area. We pay people to make decisions."

"People respond better in that atmosphere," Carole Chase said. "When you're told how to hold your pencil, it's no fun. We have very few sick days; they want to come to work here."

The Chases are quick to add that a friendly, competent staff will only get a company so far, however. The product must be there too. And though plastics is a field that is growing with no end in sight, the company has chosen a niche for itself, choosing to serve small plastic consumers, which make up about 20 percent of the overall market, according to Kevin Chase.

"Our niche target is not the big guys," he said.

"We could see there was going to be a need for the small customers—mom and pop. We work with small to medium-size processors which are not getting the attention they need."

Chase Plastic Services buys plastic in raw, pellet form and sells it to companies which use injection molding to produce all kinds of products, from automotive parts to medical, dental and even furniture items. About half their orders are sent out the day after the order is received, which means they must continually carry inventory—"the right inventory," in Carole Chase's words.

"Our suppliers don't like us," Kevin Chase said. "We're too demanding. But that's OK."

The Chases, who live in Clarkston and have two children, expect their company to continue to grow, but say they'll maintain that small-company feel which has made their customers so happy.

"Small used to be a negative but not anymore. Big is slow, expensive, political," Kevin Chase said. "We'll take this wherever it will go—we think we know where it will go—as long as we can keep doing what built the business."

Help is here for holiday grieving

The holidays can be especially difficult for people who have recently lost someone close to them. Therefore, Donelson, Johns and Evans Funeral Home is offering a very special event Dec. 4.

The firm will sponsor a Holiday Help program to assist people who have experienced the death of a family member or close friend. The seminar will be held at 7 p.m. at Central United Methodist Church, 3882 Highland Rd., Waterford. The two-hour program was developed by Accord Aftercare Service, a national grief counseling and information organization and has been presented around the country.

"At first people are doubtful whether they should attend the program because they are afraid it may cause them to relive their grief," said Dr. Sandra Graves, educational consultant for Accord, said. "Afterwards, participants feel the Holiday Help program gives them a sense of hope for the upcoming holidays."

The program is free and refreshments will be served. To make reservations or to obtain a Holiday Help booklet, call Kathy Garwood at 673-1213.

Fire/police building approved on 4-3 vote

Board minority: no need for both

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Future financing of the planned fire station/sheriff's substation has some officials worried.

But a 4-3 Independence Township Board vote Nov. 16 to build the fire station and substation together allows township architects to draw up plans, working for a summer, 1995 construction start date.

The entire seven-member board did approve of building the 4-bay fire station, but three members think future finances are too unstable to add the substation onto the project. By including the substation, the township will pay $400,000 more, bringing costs up to about $1.7 million, or over $2 million after extra costs are added up.

Supervisor Dale Stuart, Treasurer John Lutz and trustee Jeffrey McGee voted against the dual project, saying there is too much risk and no need for a new substation. Clerk Joan McCrary and trustees Mel Vaara, Daniel Travis and Bruce Mercado voted for the motion, saying the township can afford the costs, plans have always included both and shouldn't be changed now.

Stuart "strongly urged" the board to look more closely at the proposal and consider building a substation at another date. The proposed building plans would allow the addition of a substation.

"Our first responsibility is to make sure we make a fiscally sound decision. The part these estimates don't anticipate is any new officers in the future. The prudent thing is to build the fire station and evaluate at a later date where to put the substation."

Stuart's main concerns are as follows:

● "Can we afford the police cost? We could but we may not be able to because it takes into account we'll get the maximum in revenues every year. That's a lot to count on.

● "I don't think the new location adds more to what we already have, except more layout.

● "Geographically, it's not in a centrally located area of the township.

● "With Proposal A (property tax cut) we still don't know what the effects of that will be on us. There will be a lot of changes coming in taxation and it could effect local governments."

The township still has over $300,000 left to pay on the current substation building it purchased. If the police move out, that building will still have to be paid for.

McGee added, "I've really not heard one good reason why we should move the police, other than some saying because we should. I just don't understand why we have to do this. There is nothing to show me why we're taking this risk. There are too many issues we don't know about yet."

But the board majority, like McCrary, said now is the best time to go forward with both stations.

"For the four years I've been here, this proposal has included the police also. Now we have the chance to do this where we can afford it and it will never get any cheaper than it is now," said McCrary.

Vaara, Travis and Mercado all agreed the plans have always included both stations and it should not change now.

McCrary also added that the township will be able to afford the building, based on very conservative figures, and could still hire additional officers in the future.

According to figures presented by township financial director Kerry Donahoe, the police fund will come out of its $170,000 deficit by 1996. By 1999 the police fund balance will be up to $500,000, taking into account the building payment.

Scheme "A" approved

The board voted 6-1 (Supervisor Stuart voted no) to approve the building plans for Scheme A, rather than Scheme B.

The benefit of Scheme A is the fact the substation is located on the back of the 4-bay fire station, which would also include the administrative offices of the fire department.

The 18,205-square-foot building would be located on Citation Drive, near the burned down court house. Square footage totals include 2,360 for the administrative offices, 3,475 for the sheriff's substation and 12,370 for the fire station.

The $1.758 million cost does not include added costs for financing, architect/engineering fees, surveys, soils investigation, furnishings, equipment, telephones, etc.

The land will cost $307,000 and will be paid for separately through money already set aside in the fire department budget, from past carry-over funds and with funds from the 1995 budget.

For a bond of about $2.028 million at 6.75 percent interest each year for 10 years, the township will end up paying over $2.894 million over 10 years. Each year the fire department budget will pay about $230,000 of the payment, and the police fund about $54,000. The yearly total payment will be about $285,000.

Bids for the building could go out by February or March of 1995, with construction possibly being completed at the end of 1995.

Governor expected to veto late tax levy

He may still be convinced it's needed, though

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Two deputy positions probably won't be reinstated for 1995, due to Governor John Engler's opposition to a state law amendment, and a tight time frame.

The amendment, currently under consideration by the Senate Taxation Committee, would allow municipalities to levy any mills approved by voters Nov. 8 on the December tax bills, thereby receiving that income for the 1995 budget year. The current law states only millages approved by Sept. 30 can be levied for the 1995 year.

The bill has already been passed by the state House of Representatives, and now must be passed by the Senate. Once the Senate approves the amendment, it then goes to Governor John Engler's desk for approval or a veto.

But Engler is expected to veto the measure unless it can be proved to him the bill is needed.

Engler's deputy press secretary Pat Masserant said, "I can tell you he's not in favor of signing another late tax levy bill. Local governments should know the law by now, but he has asked the treasury to put a list before him to see just what hardships this may cause some communities."

Masserant said Engler will not make a final decision until the facts are in front of him. She said his "official position" is in general he's not in favor of signing such a bill but would look at the issue again.

The uncertainty puts Independence Township in a bind because if the bill does not pass they will not be able to levy the .4688-mill police increase approved by voters Nov. 8 until 1996. That money (about $280,000) would allow the township to reinstate one patrol officer and the DARE drug enforcement officer, as well as get the police budget out of its current debt of over $150,000.

Aide to Governor Engler

The issue gets even more complicated because the Senate doesn't meet again until Nov. 29. The township's tax bills are due to be sent out Dec. 1.

"We are really on hold until they make a decision," said township supervisor Dale Stuart, who has written several letters to state legislators.

State Representative Tom Middleton (R-Clarkston) said there might be a solution to the problem, despite Engler's opposition to the bill. Currently the amendment would allow any millage voted for by Nov. 8 to be levied for the 1995 year. One proposed change would allow only public safety millages (such as police and fire) to be levied.

"I'm for passing the amendment as it is because for most communities it's for police and fire issues," Middleton said. "But some people are saying you had your chance in August and the people voted against it, so you shouldn't have to rush it through now, especially if it's a non-public-safety issue."

Middleton added that the Governor may be swayed if the amendment won't allow all millages to be passed. "There might be a little window that we could get it passed if it's just for police and fire millages."

Masserant said, "The Governor would possibly be in favor of a bill allowing only police and fire millages to be levied."

The only problem with such a change in the bill is the state house would again have to approve the change, again delaying the bill into late December.

Whatever the final outcome, Middleton said any future hope for late tax levies is probably over.

"With the stumbling we've gone through now, the chances of extending these levies in future years is gone. I think the message being given is that unless you get these millages passed in a timely fashion, don't expect any future exemptions to this law."

The Clarkston News

In Focus

by Annette Kingsbury

Lots to be thankful for

The news media are often criticized for printing so much bad news, and unfortunately that's often what fills our pages and air time day in and day out.

But for me, all that bad news serves a grim purpose; that is, to make me realize just how good I have it; how lucky I really am.

Night after night you hear about men beating their wives, children abused by their parents, about confused adults with no support system around them, and even about countries with no leadership to find a way out of their darkest hour.

But here in good old Oakland County, Michigan, USA, I feel blessed. Sometimes, I fear, I even forget just how blessed. It's easy to take for granted the heat in your home, the running water, the safe streets, the loving family—until you hear some particularly awful example and realize not everyone has it so good.

What is it about Thanksgiving, that uniquely American holiday, that makes me feel so good? I think it's partly because of glorious fall weather (we all know what's coming), partly because the holiday hurry-up has yet to begin. It's not anti-climactic, like Christmas dinner, when all the hustle and bustle of the previous month is over, the presents strewn about the floor, and you just want to collapse.

No, Thanksgiving is about reflecting upon the history of our young country, of giving thanks for our freedoms, of hoping the Lions will win and get the game over before dinner's on the table. And while it may sound silly, I love it for all those reasons.

I love it for giving me an excuse to indulge in pumpkin pie and whipped cream; for the opportunity to get out the good china and silver; for late-fall sunshine gleaming through a few yellow leaves still clinging to mostly bare branches.

And of course, for bringing together the family for a few laughs over the turkey. This year we'll be well over 20 at my house. And while that will be a stretch, it will also be fun sizing up how much the nephews continue to grow, hearing about Mom and Dad's vacation, asking Nana to say grace in her own unique way one more time.

The mounds of dirty dishes will wait as we chatter over coffee and dessert and either moan or marvel about the football game. It all sounds so mundane when you stop to write it down, but it's days like this that make the rest of the year bearable.

Happy Thanksgiving, everyone.

No more money for schools

Teachers has become our enemy who support MEA and NEA projects. The school board asking for any additional funding going to $100,000 MEA men whose sole purpose was to defeat Engler is offensive to taxed people.

It is not all the teachers fault the MEA pushed Wolpe, but those who refuse giving 5 to $500 dues plus another special $90 allocation could give themselves a raise by keeping their extorted funds for themselves and begin representing their own family choice chartered schools here in their own community.

Think again next time school funding is asked for, could teachers operate their own choice schools in our public school buildings independently, represent themselves and pool their own health care coverage choices without the MEA? What a teacher could do with state vouchers allocated for funding their own choice chartered school is unlimited.

I enjoy the $1700 I saved on my tax bill and want to leave it that way. Schools can forget about asking for more taxes as long as teachers have over $3500 per pupil available to them.

Support great after courthouse fire

Dear Editor:

On the morning of October 31, 1994, the 52nd District Courthouse was totally destroyed by fire. The files, records, and equipment were likewise, totally destroyed. Oakland County government responded swiftly and enthusiastically. On Wednesday, two days after the fire, we were answering phones at our new location at 230 Elizabeth Lake Road, Pontiac. A week later, we were hearing cases on schedule. Our thanks to Oakland County government.

Likewise, our thanks to Independence, Waterford, Brandon, Springfield and Holly fire departments. The Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Michigan State Police Post #27, Holly Fire Department and the City of the Village of Clarkston Police Department have been most supportive and understanding in our efforts to retrieve information and recreate our court files.

In addition, the Clarkston Post Office, the National Bank of Detroit, Dixie-Maybee Office have earned our gratitude. They have been most helpful and sympathetic to our situation.

Sincerely,
Hon. Gerald E. McNally
District Judge

Jim's Jottings

Questionable TV

Let me set the scene: The news readers are on the 4:00, 5:00, 6:00 or 6:30 p.m. tv broadcasts. (I'm seldom up until 11:00.) The star anchor introduces a story being covered by a reporter 'in the field.' The reporter finishes the story and inevitably the anchor asks the in-field person a question.

Why? Why didn't the reporter cover all points in the initial appearance on camera?

Answer: It's a gimmick!

Surely you've noticed how these fast-thinking anchors jump in with perceptive questions to which these well-prepared reporters always have the answer.

Jim Mitchell, a former broadcast journalist in Tucson, re-enforced my opinion in a column October 24 in the Phocnix Republic.

He said, "The reporter is ordered to withhold a fact from the story. The anchor is told to ask about that fact. Notice how the camera always switches back and forth at precisely the right moment; that's because the director usually has a script for the "ad libbed" chat.

"In fairness, some questions really are spontaneous. You can spot those. The reporter hems and haws, or answers, 'Only time will tell.'

Anchors also slant the news at times. They do it with facial expressions and/or voice emphasis. These two options aren't available for newspaper writers. We have to add emphasis with capital letters or italics, which are hardly subliminal slantings.

"Worse," Mitchell writes, "they (anchors) demand audience participation. We dullard viewers might not know how to react, so they tell us.

"A shocking story tonight," they cry. Other routine reports are declared "tragic," "disturbing," "exciting," "heartwarming."

This overkill assures its own diminishing impact. If every misfortune must be hyped as "gruesome" or "horrificing," what undemeaned adjective is left for airline crashes and famines and genocide?

Like an editor told me in my early years, "If you're going to keep using our biggest headline type on car crashes, what are you going to use when we go to war?"

Television news writers and news readers often seem to be expressing horror they don't feel. They do it every night, hustling viewers by inflating each story's importance.

They can make a bug found in a restaurant kitchen sound as important as the California earthquake a few years back.

Tv clicker-makers had me in mind when they sought its invention. And, I use it.

Local government issues are important to you.

A look back

15 YEARS AGO

Although proposed construction of M-275 in western Oakland County is expected to be considered by the Michigan Highway and Transportation Commission next week, there is no agreement about the route. The western shore of Deer Lake is one of six proposals on the table. Those concerned about Clarkston's Main Street being the last section of the highway include State Sen. Kerry Kammer (D-Pontiac) who opposes the plan developed by state highway commission member Weston Vivian.

Oakland County commissioner Robert Gorsline (R-Milford) announces he will quit his office midway through his second term. Gorsline says he plans to leave the political arena in another year to become a minister in the Protestant Episcopal Church. He says his decision is based on "my belief that I can accomplish more of my personal goals and my goals for our society in this manner than through continued political involvement."

The Clarkston Village Players complete casting for their upcoming production of "Veronica's Room," a mystery written by Ira Levine, author of "Rosemary's Baby." Karen Sage, Nancy Frady Osmun, Al Bartlett and Len Loveless will star in the production.

25 YEARS AGO

Oakland County has another landfill site open six days a week. The Bald Mountain Road at Dutton Road dump will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, and from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays.

Kathy Matlock, Clarkston resident and physical education major at Central Michigan University, is elected to CMU's Student Senate, the all-campus government body. Representatives were elected from the 17 dormitories on the CMU campus and from off-campus student housing districts.

Mickey Stanley, star outfielder for the Detroit Tigers, is the featured speaker at the Father and Son Banquet sponsored by the Clarkston Rotary Club at Howes Lanes Nov. 17. Stanley tells many colorful anecdotes of his experiences in the major leagues.

50 YEARS AGO

Many complaints have been made this year by farmers to the County Agricultural Agent. They attribute losses of chickens, turkeys and ducks to the fox and have appealed to the Conservation Department for relief. Though the department does not have manpower available for trapping the critters, they are willing to give instructions to any farmers interested in doing the trapping themselves.

"Extraordinary wartime conditions" make public response to the Post Office Department's "Shop Now! Mail in November" campaign necessary, says Postmaster general Frank C. Walker. "Unless more people buy and mail this month the postal service cannot do its job of delivering all Christmas gifts on time," Walker says.

Some Clarkston hunters, including W.S. Barrows, have already returned from the north woods. Barrows arrived home with a 300-lb. black bear and says the meat might be tough "but the rug will be a dandy."

60 YEARS AGO

The Village of Clarkston hosts 200 members of the 17th District including Hazel Park, Royal Oak, Ferndale, Farmington, Northville, Birmingham, Pontiac, Lake Orion, Oxford and Holly. They enjoy a banquet in the Clarkston High School auditorium, prepared by ladies from the Clarkston Methodist Church. Music by the school orchestra is also appreciated.

"Judge Priest," starring Will Rogers, is playing Nov. 23-24 at the Holly Theatre where "Hide Out" with Robert Montgomery and Maureen O'Sullivan begins a two-day run Nov. 25.

The Rudolf Schwarze market is offering specials this week that include lean pork roast, 12 cents a pound; Kraft Cheese, a half-pound package for 14 cents and Super Suds, three packages for 25 cents.

If it Fitz

By Jim Fitzgerald

Gushing over babies is a gender-neutral thing

In my opinion, there was not nearly enough dancing in the street or similar celebration of my monumental, first time-ever achievement.

Not only that, but my surprising accomplishment was almost totally ignored by women who, rather than give me the praise I deserved, preferred to continue doing something else -- something they would never be criticized for doing, but if I did the same thing, I might well be razed.

Pay attention and you will soon understand that today's column is about women things as opposed to men things -- babies vs. batteries -- and some politics, too.

Begin with newly-elected U.S. Sen. Spencer Abraham. For interminable weeks he appeared regularly on our television screens, holding his twin daughters, one in the crook of each arm. But the day after his victory, Abraham was on TV with no children in sight.

"He took them back to the orphanage because he doesn't need to exploit them for votes anymore," my friend Ralph explained.

Ralph wouldn't have said that if Abraham were the mother of the twins. And if John Engler were the mother of those famous triplets, Ralph also wouldn't have said that when Engler next campaigns for office, he'll need a third crook, and shouldn't have trouble finding one in Lansing.

Anyway, last Saturday afternoon, my 10-year-old car wouldn't start. When this happens, my usual procedure is to summon my son or son-in-law to come give me a jump start. But there were jumper cables in my garage, and the old car was parked next to the new car, so I decided, what the heck, I'd try to do the job myself.

This, you must understand, was similar to Queen Elizabeth deciding to chew tobacco.

In 54 years of driving, I'd never once dared connect two car batteries and turn on two engines for fear of blowing up the world. The closest I came was when I owned an Audi, but after an hour of searching, I was too embarrassed to ever admit to anyone that I couldn't even find the battery. And it didn't do a lot of good to connect the cable to the container of windshield wiper fluid.

Later I learned Audi put the battery under the backseat. Whoever heard of such a stupid thing? Is the ignition in the damn glove compartment?

This time, it took me only 30 minutes to get both hoods up, find the batteries, attach the clamps and turn the keys. And the old car started! Wow. I suddenly knew how Eli Whitney felt when he invented the steam room.

When I burst into the house to brag about my unbelievable accomplishment to my wife and daughter, they were lying on the floor, making foolish faces and obscene noises at the newest family member, 6-month-old Elaine. They barely noticed me, and I was hurt.

Although, a few minutes later, it was OK that they weren't looking out the window when I had to pause the old car in the driveway to investigate a radio aerial I didn't remember seeing during the previous 10 years.

Turned out it wasn't an aerial, it was a strut that holds up the hood. It somehow had stayed up when I put the hood down. Oh well, the damage was minimal.

The next day, during our social hour after church services, I held Elaine high in the air so everyone could see that she just happens to be the most gorgeous curly-head on Earth. And a friend good-naturedly accused me of showing off.

He would never have said that to Elaine's grandmother, who regularly flaunts Elaine in public, cooing and hugging, without ever being charged with creating a flamboyant disturbance. And never once in her whole life has my wife jump-started a car.

The obscure moral is that John Engler cried fat tears when he showed the TV cameras pictures of his triplets. And I said to myself:

Good for him.

Do you know someone who volunteers time or talents to a good cause? We'd like to hear about it. Give us a call at The Clarkston News. 625-3370.

Don't Rush Me

By Don Rush

Just be thankful

Be thankful for all the things we have: good home, family and friends . . .

Be thankful George Perles won't be back as coach of the Michigan State University football team . . .

Be thankful folks like U.S. Speaker of the House Tom Foley and Rosty from Chicago won't be in office in 1995 . . .

Be thankful the men and women of the auto industry are putting together fine cars . . .

Be thankful we can afford these fine cars . . . Oh, and be thankful people are buying these fine cars . . .

Be thankful for the first 10 Amendments to the United States Constitution . . .

Be thankful that we don't just have interpretations of the amendments, but also the words of those who helped create the Constitution, Jefferson, Madison, Washington, etc . . .

Be thankful that ours is a written history, that if read and studied can help insure we don't make mistakes over and over and over again . . .

Be thankful the Detroit Lions football game isn't the only thing to be televised on Thanksgiving . . .

Be thankful the Detroit Lions don't play every night of the week . . .

Be thankful for living in an area that is more wealthy than many nations of the world . . .

Be thankful for the efforts of good samaritans as they work to ease the burdens of others . . .

Be thankful you have no burdens needing to be eased . . .

Be thankful that those who would nowadays would be called a right wing, religious group left their homes in Europe to land on a rock named Plymouth . . .

Be thankful the Mayflower didn't sink . . .

Be thankful for all the wonderful things the individuals of this country have provided to us and the world . . .

Be thankful this is still the country that inspires and offers hope . . .

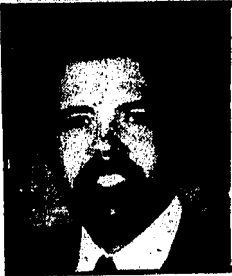

Be thankful we are here and that we have so much to be thankful for. For all these things and all the things missed, be thankful.

Have a happy and loving Thanksgiving this year.

Correction

● In an article about the city water issue in last week's paper, Clarkston City Councilman Steve Secatch was incorrectly quoted as saying "I don't think with 7 percent you'll get people to pay it," within a council discussion about raising the money through bonds. Secatch said 7 mills, not 7 percent.

● An item in last week's News in Brief about new officers of the Independence Land Conservancy should have included the names of Thomas Hall, Robert Innskeep and George White, ILC auditors. Auditors are non-voting members who attend all the meetings and chair committees.

Your finances

James B. Kruzan, CFP Protecting your greatest asset

When most people are asked what their most valuable asset is, they respond that their house, car, retirement plan or business is most valuable. I disagree. I believe that your most valuable asset is your ability to earn a living. I believe this is true for just about anyone who is not already retired.

The extent of the risk of a serious injury or illness affecting your ability to earn a living is startling. The probability of a 30-year-old being disabled for more than three months before age 65 is about 50%. People in their 40s are three times more likely to be disabled than die before age 65. Yet 80% of the population has no disability coverage beyond Social Security and worker's compensation.

To evaluate your disability income needs, begin with an estimate of the income that will be needed during disability. Once the income need has been established, the resources available should be deducted. The first deduction should be from any employer-paid, short-term disability or group insurance benefits. Next, you may wish to consider Social Security disability benefits. However, the Social Security system rejects most of the claims made for disability benefits.

Finally, reduce the monthly income need by earnings from other sources such as interest and dividends on investments. The remaining balance is the disability insurance need. You should note that insurance companies limit the amount of income they will replace through a disability benefit, so you may not be able to insure the entire need.

As you might expect, the key to any disability insurance policy is its definition of the term "disabled." There are four key definitions of disability: "any occupation," "own occupation," "reduction in income," and "residual." You are disabled under an "any occupation" definition when your condition prevents you from doing anything for anybody that will bring home a paycheck. It is the most restrictive definition.

The "own occupation" definition is far more favorable. Under this definition you are disabled if your condition prevents you from performing the major duties of your occupation. For example, under an "own occupation" policy, a heart surgeon is still disabled even if he could work as a professor of medicine. The precise language of "own occupation" policies varies from insurer to insurer, so it pays to read these policies carefully.

"Income reduction" is a relatively recent innovation. Under these policies, you are disabled as long as your condition forces you to earn less than you were earning before you were sick or injured. How much less you have to earn depends on the policy.

"Residual disability" is also a recent innovation. This definition is an enhancement of an "own occupation" policy. Frequently, a person's disability may permit them to return to their own occupation, but only at "half speed." In other words, it may take a considerable period of time after they return to work to get back to their former level of earnings. The "residual disability" provision is designed to provide benefits to bridge that gap.

Heritage Hunt II

By Virginia Block

We mentioned a short time back receiving for review a copy of the book "Genealogy Is More than Charts."

We noted then the appealing way the "how-to" book was presented, but using it in a recent session with folks at O.P.C. (the Senior Center) in Rochester, we began to realize that it is the #1 approach to self-identity, regardless of age, gender or heritage.

Who am I? One time or another all of us have searched for the answer to this question, both out of need, and curiosity.

The need part may have arisen through some phase of daily living that put into so much stress that "burnout" led to health problems. Urged by our physician to make "behavioral/lifestyle" changes, we half-listened, resulting in mental illness, heart attacks, and general "breakdown."

Urged to look at the medical family history prompted many of us to "genealogy." Lack of time prevented us from pursuing it, cost of seminars were prohibitive and besides -- who cares about dead people?

The curiosity side of us was the initial reason for our becoming a family history buff -- never realizing that in this direction, what was learned regarding my self-identity is only now being realized at age 73. My spirituality is realized.

The first chapter of Loma Duane Smith's book lists "101 rewards to be gained from genealogy." Number 53, "When in doubt, don't throw it out" and Number 78, "I become a teacher each time I share new discoveries with my family, and give evidence to support it." Page 172 states, "learning begins at home, where the family began," stating an old Chinese adage "We hear, we forget; We see, we remember; We do, we understand."

Chapter 13, entitled "Preserving Your Community," brings together information on personal collections, libraries, museums and "Whatever happened to the good old days?"

Chapter 12 states "Every meeting of persons is an exchange of gifts." Your personal journal (1) to the homeplace, (2) the home church, (3) to the schoolhouse, (4) to the workplace -- all together form the days of our lives.

This book will be a perfect gift for the hard to buy for, the one who has "everything," the love of your life, or for yourself. It can be yours by ordering it through me at a modest $14.95, and if you can pick it up at our library there's no mailing charge.

My gift to you is being able to share the good things that make sharing mutual.

Happy Hunting.

Help offered for special needs adults

The State of Michigan stops providing special education services when a student turns 26. But now, a program designed to help people with multiple physical and mental impairments past public-school age has been expanded.

The Easter Seal Society of Southeastern Michigan has announced that its Post 26 Enrichment Program in Oakland County will expand to allow for more participants. The program includes training in daily living skills as well as socialization and fun.

The program is offered from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday at the Waterford office of the Easter Seal Society, 1105 North Telegraph Rd. The fee is $70 per week per person; transportation is not provided and participants must bring their own lunch.

Volunteers and supplies are still needed to make the expansion possible.

For more information on the program or to volunteer, call 338-2513, ext. 33.

What does Thanksgiving mean to you?

KEVIN VAHLBUSCH, 7, SECOND GRADE: My friends coming over that I don't see much. I think of the ship that they had to go on, the Mayflower. Eating turkey and getting the house all ready with things. My mom puts out everything my brother and me make at school. I think of the Pilgrims and how they tried to get to a new home.

JULIE CRANE, 9, FOURTH GRADE: It means to be thankful for food and things. I'm thankful for my family and my home and clothes.

MATTHEW JENKINS, 6, FIRST GRADE: Turkey! And I'm thankful for my fish -- a Gold Barb -- and my mom and dad.

ELIZABETH ABRAMS, 8, THIRD GRADE: I remember it because of the Pilgrims and Columbus Day. And you get a nice big dinner.

JIMMIE TURNER, 10, 5TH GRADE: Family, food, life, home, friends. Skipping school! Whatever God put us on earth for.

Rates to increase in Lakeview Cemetery

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Burial rate increases will ensure Lakeview Cemetery can be taken care of long after the lots are filled up.

Costs for lots and burials were raised by as much as $100 by the Independence Township Board of Trustees Nov. 15. The rate increases were recommended by George Anderson, the township's Department of Public Works Director.

"We're at the bottom of the list as far as charges for cemetery services, compared to other communities," said Anderson, who also received approval to put 60 percent of lot sale money into the Cemetery Fund, which is used for perpetual care. "We're getting close to filling the cemetery and it will be full in 15-20 years. We need to make these changes now so when the cemetery is full we'll have the funds to maintain it forever."

Previously only 40 percent of lot sales went into the Cemetery Fund.

There is about $100,000 left in the Cemetery Fund, which was originally set up for perpetual care. But lately, according to Anderson, those funds have been used for capital improvements like buying lawn mowers, fencing, stonewall improvements, etc.

"By using this money now to purchase these items we are depleting the amount in the fund needed to maintain the cemetery when all lots are sold," he said.

The lot sale increase could generate an additional $8,900 each year.

Apart from the need to increase maintenance funds, Anderson said Lakeview Cemetery has the lowest rates when compared to surrounding communities, by as much as $200 per lot in some cases.

The board voted 4-3 to pass the request that 60 percent of lot sales going into the Cemetery Fund. Township supervisor Dale Stuart and trustees Daniel Travis and Bruce Mercado voted against the raise, saying they would like to study the proposal further. The rate increase proposal passed 7-0.

Lakeview Cemetery Rate Increases

Lot type	Old rate	New rate
Resident	$300	$350
Non-resident	$375	$475

Consumer myth/fact

MYTH: If a store incorrectly prices an item, or advertises an item as an incorrect price, the store is obligated to sell the item at that price, no matter how great the error in price is.

FACT: Although the Michigan Item Pricing and Advertising Act requires merchants to sell items at the advertised or marked price, if a gross human error has occurred (ie, a microwave marked at 25 cents instead of $250), the store is not obligated to sell the item at that price.

QUESTION: I am renting an apartment at a bargain price. Why should I think of buying?

ANSWER: If it seems too good to be true, it probably is. The answer could be future condominium conversion.

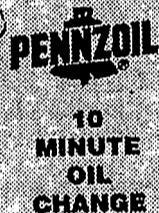

The property owner may want to have all the luxury physical components in place today for conversion and sale of units some time in the future. As a renter you may be left in limbo when the conversion date arrives. Why else would a rational owner underprice rent?

On the other hand, if you BUY your own home or unit, the decision and timing about trading places will be yours and yours alone.

Out of Africa

New pastor finds Clarkston challenging

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

When Heidi Sommers tossed a coin onto a large map of the U.S. and it hit Michigan, she wasn't happy.

"It actually landed on Detroit and I took it right off," said Calvary Evangelical Lutheran Church's new assistant pastor with a big laugh.

But now Sommers, a peppy 26-year-old who loves people, music and the outdoors, feels at home in Clarkston.

"I'm originally from Milwaukee and I'm used to this kind of climate and everything else. I was raised in a suburb very much like this," she said.

Sommers recently graduated from Lutheran Theological Southern Seminary in Columbia, South Carolina and this is her first call.

But before coming to Clarkston, she lived in some interesting places while attending the seminary.

One of them was the village of Makumira in Kenya, Africa.

"Africa was wonderful. The people were very open and gracious," she said. Some of the high points were attending two African weddings, climbing Mt. Meru and going on a five-day safari.

"Oh, it was wonderful," she sighed, her large eyes shining. "We wound up one morning seeing the wildebeest (who were migrating) running by."

After listening to her relate tales of the weddings, you'd say American bridegrooms ought to count their blessings.

"One of the neatest things was watching the women in the wedding party come out with (cloths) wrapped around their heads. They come out behind each other like a train and the groom has to pick out his future wife. Each time he misses he has to pay and keep paying till he picks the right one," she said.

Sommers also spent semesters in Atlanta and Washington D.C., concentrating on urban ministry which she said is very challenging. Though it's sometimes dangerous, she says she was "never scared, except for one time."

Sommers told of a situation in D.C. when she was working in a Christian recreational program. A young teen was pistol-whipped by another on a school bus. A few days later "20 kids took him out (the assailant) on the softball field and beat him 'to death.'" Although the young man lived, Sommers said she could see the others "flashing their knives and guns."

"One of the kids said, 'I don't want to go home. I'm scared ... I'm so tired of being scared,'" she said.

"One of the biggest challenges was finding out where the people were and how we could empower them without making them feel disillusioned because they'd been let down so many times."

Though Clarkston's calmness is nothing like inner-city calamity, Sommers says she's sure to find challenging work in her ministry.

As Calvary's new assistant pastor she will direct Christian education for both children's Sunday School and adult education, conduct pastoral visits and "start up small groups and get the church into community involvement." She also hopes to get youths working with organizations like Lighthouse North.

"I guess I will have to see where the needs are in the congregation," she said.

Of the two bodies within the Lutheran Church, Sommers is a member of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America which she says is more liberal than the Lutheran Church /Missouri Synod.

"They have some basic disagreements. The Missouri Synod doesn't ordain woman," she said with a smile.

CALVARY EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH ASSISTANT PASTOR HEIDI SOMMERS sits on the steps of her new home with Chelsea, her constant companion whom she rescued from the Humane Society and calls "The Three-Legged Wonder."

DURING A SEMESTER SPENT IN AFRICA, Sommers spent time doing things we take for granted. Here, she cleans corn with some of her African roommates.

Mangez-vous Francais?

Clarkston Cafe's new French chef says you'd better learn

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Randy Lincoln has stuck to his story that he would make "improvements, not changes" at the Clarkston Cafe.

But that may be a matter of semantics. Lincoln, new owner/mabnager whose corporation Sign of the Beefcarver Inc. bought the cafe in July, isn't talking much about why Chef Gary Grzywacz left Saturday.

At presstime, Grzywacz was unable to reveal where he was going, but could say why — and rather outspokenly.

"Truthfully, (the new owners and I) have creative differences. When you're under a big corporation, you're under their guidance. Let's just say I have a different way of doing things. They have a different vision.

"I like to use different things they've never even heard of — varieties of potatoes, mushrooms, paw paws ... I like to use the raw product ... Taking a can and reheating it is not my idea of cooking.

"I'm going back to where I want to be. I'll have charge of the menu again," he said Thursday.

"He found a better opportunity elsewhere ... We had differences of opinion," is all Lincoln would say when asked Thursday.

But later Lincoln added, "Gary was good but Matt is better."

Matt is Matthew Chuchman. He's replacing Grzywacz who has been with the cafe for 13 years.

Chuchman brings a wealth of cooking experience to his new job. As a child, he spent eight years in Belgium where his dad worked for Ford Tractor. There, he had the opportunity to taste many different kinds of European cuisine. Years later, after graduating from Schoolcraft College's culinary arts program in 1984, Cushman returned to Europe and spent a year learning the art of French cooking from restauranter Pierre Orsi in Lyon.

When he left Europe, Chuchman worked as a chef at Perroquet, a French restaurant in Chicago, for three years.

"At the time it was rated as one of the Top 10 French restaurants in the U.S.," Chuchman said.

After his stint in Chicago, he returned to the North Oakland area and worked for Mark of Excellence Catering in Detroit and 220 Merrill Street in Birmingham.

"Their cuisine wasn't enough for his training. He then came to us at Chuck Daly's (Great Northern, which Beefcarver formerly owned)," Lincoln said. Chuchman said he hooked up with Beefcarver Inc. after hearing they were doing interviews for chefs at the Birmingham restaurant.

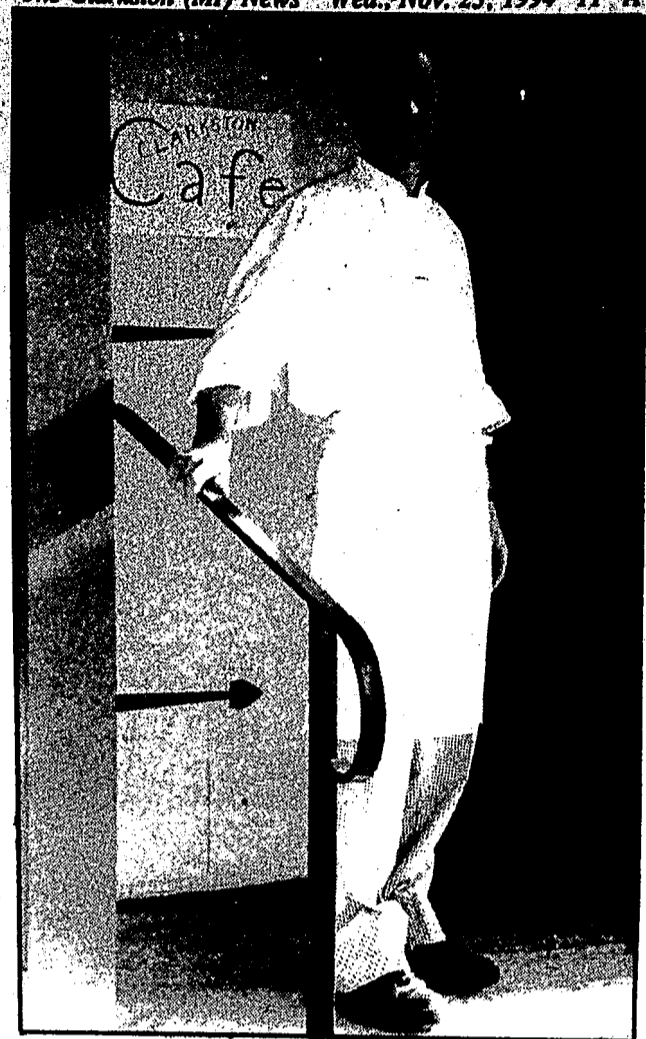

That's when Chuchman got to know Lincoln and Dennis Brinker, Beefcarver's "corporate bosses," as he calls them.

"As you know, they decided to branch out and get into full-service restaurants," Chuchman said. Beefcarver Inc. now owns 12 Sign of the Beefcarver restaurants in Michigan plus the Old Woodward Grill in Birmingham and Wagon Wheel in Troy where Chuchman has also worked. The Clarkston Cafe is Beefcarver's latest addition.

Chuchman says he has a lot to offer diners. The new menu won't be out till December and — yes — it will still feature favorites like raspberry pie, hazelnut catfish and chicken Caesar salad.

But it will also showcase some of the new chef's creations.

"We'll still keep some of the old," Chuchman

NEW CHEF Matthew Chuchman said. "I have a saying ... There's no use trying to fix something that's not broken. People have learned if they have a craving for that item and if they've had it at the Clarkston Cafe, they can come back and get it again."

But expect to see "fresh herbs, wild mushrooms and wild game," which he plans to order a lot.

The slightly built chef looks younger than his 31 years and joked about his first meeting with former

Kids learn cost of Thanks

Students in Michele Shaltz's fourth-grade class at Pine Knob Elementary got a hands-on lesson on the cost of the Thanksgiving feast Nov. 16.

The students walked over to Food Town market across Sashabaw Rd. from the school. There, armed with calculators, pencils and clipboards, they set about finding the best prices they could on a grocery list prepared by their teacher.

The list included such things as five pounds of turkey, eggs, two pumpkin pies, sweet potatoes and cranberry sauce. The students worked in teams, each team accompanied by a parent. They would find one item, determine which brand or package was the best buy, add it to their list, then scoot quickly to the next item.

David Kuhs, Nathan Loba and Jennifer Sommers check out frozen turkeys.

In many cases they had to do a little math. For example, you don't find many five-pound turkeys. In another case, the cheapest pumpkin pies were priced at three for one price, but the list only called for two. Sometimes the kids needed their calculators, sometimes they were able to do the figuring in their heads.

Shaltz said the students had worked on unit pricing for a week before their trip to the store. They also learned how to double and triple recipes.

"We're learning about the prices, the better buy," said student Elizabeth Hunt. The team with the overall lowest price would be declared the winner.

Most kids brought their feast in at around $20. When they returned to school, after stopping for a cookie, Shaltz said they would write checks, just like their moms and dads do in the check-out line.

"They were surprised when we started talking about how much things cost," she said.

The Clarkston News

Early lead, late comeback keep game close Wolves battle to the end in district loss

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

In the end, a below .500 record and a second-round district loss will never show the true character of the Clarkston girls basketball team.

Right to the final buzzer of their 55-45 loss to

Sophomore Allison Richards lets go of her picture-perfect jumper against Lapeer East.

Lapeer East Nov. 16, the Wolves showed why records and numbers don't always adequately demonstrate the quality of a team and its players. Although coach Larry Mahrle had his first below .500 record in 17 total seasons of coaching, he said the 1994 squad worked as hard as any team.

"It's tough to lose and we're disappointed in how our league record was especially, but we finished strong and the girls who are coming back are real-excited and want to start right away," he said.

"I have been proud of this team from the beginning."

The Wolves came into the game expecting to win and they showed it. They started out with a 10-2 run, set up by hard-nosed defense and a patient offense. After one quarter, the score was 13-6 and Clarkston had East frustrated and surprised by their determination and defense.

"The kids expected to win the game," said Mahrle. "They go into every game with the intention of winning."

But a combination of circumstances let East slowly come back. The Wolves couldn't hold on to the lead as East outscored them 24-7 in the second quarter. A combination of circumstances led to East's comeback.

Besides East being relentless on the offensive glass and better handling Clarkston's press, referees seemed to call the touch fouls much tighter on the Wolves.

At one point in the second, East had about five offensive rebounds in a row and one player scored five straight points within a few seconds. That play put East ahead for good.

Helping East out was the benefit of 17 free throw tries, in the second quarter alone. The Wolves didn't shoot that many free throws the entire game.

But, entering the third quarter, the Wolves weren't about to quit just yet. Trailing 30-20, Clarkston scored the first four points, cutting the lead to six points. At the end of three, the Wolves trailed 39-36 and had momentum on their side.

"I was real proud the way they came back," Mahrle said.

But East made two free throws and a big 3-point basket to take a 44-38 lead. Sophomore Carin Kirk took a nice pass from sophomore Sue Naboychik, scored the bucket and was fouled. After she missed the free throw, East then went on a 5-2 run, before forcing the Wolves to take desperation 3-pointers with about 1:35 left in the game.

Not helping matters was senior Kerry Kelly fouling out early in the fourth quarter.

Clarkston received strong performances from Naboychik for her all-around game, while junior guard Leah Howard, junior Nickie Winn and sophomore Allison Richards hit some big shots at crucial times.

Seniors Kelly and Sarah Antonazzo played their last games for the Wolves basketball team. Both played hard all season and helped provide leadership for a young squad.

Their 9-13 record should improve next season, thanks to the talented and returning players coming back.

Inaugural SPI Tri-District team set to go

Athletes in the Oxford, Lake Orion and Clarkston school districts will now compete for honors accorded by Sherman Publications, Inc., the parent company of The Oxford Leader, The Clarkston News and the Lake Orion Review.

The SPI Tri-District teams will be chosen by the sports staffs on the company newspapers. The inaugural prep football and girls basketball teams will be announced in all three newspapers Nov. 30.

The Tri-District teams will expand to include all sports following the winter season, assuming fan and reader interest is there. Only sports that are played at all three schools will be included.

"We wanted to give our local athletes recognition they might not get from other publications," said publisher Jim Sherman. "This gives us a chance to reward the student-athletes in our local communities."

The company will select a first and second team, as well as an honorable mention squad. Selections will be based not only on athletic performance, but on other aspects of student life as well, including grade-point average.

Sherman believes selection to the teams will be important to the athletes because "our reporters know the community better than anybody."

"Our teams will be chosen by people who have intimate knowledge of the kids involved," Sherman said. "These teams won't be chosen by someone who has seen the kids play maybe once or twice; our people are there every day."

Next week, read about
Clarkston High athletes on the first-ever SPI
Tri-District football and girls basketball teams.

Wasilk (CHS '91) takes the full ride at OU

From walk-on to team captain, it's been a fun, satisfying and sometimes rough three years ... but he's not done yet

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Chris Wasilk knew what he must do. So when the then freshman walked on to the Oakland University basketball court, he purposely took on the best player. That player happened to be All-American senior guard Eric Taylor, who averaged 23 points per game the year before.

But Taylor's lofty credentials didn't deter Wasilk. As a freshman walk on, the 1991 Clarkston High graduate knew in order to prove he was a player, he must show his future teammates he could handle the challenge.

"I wanted to guard him, because I knew if I guarded him I'd get better," Wasilk said. "I never sat back saying 'I'll guard an easier guy, that way I'll look good.'"

From then on, Wasilk's competitiveness would never be doubted. And now, three seasons later, Wasilk has used that same determination and drive to help him become one of three captains on the Oakland University men's basketball team.

From walk on to team captain. It's quite a jump, he admits, especially for someone who rarely played in his junior year at Clarkston.

"You have to be willing to start on the bottom, get walked on," he said. "But you can't back down just because they have a scholarship. They still have to prove themselves, and although you may not be on an equal level, if you keep playing hard you will make an impact."

Wasilk has made that impact, especially on defense. He is expected to be the team's starting point guard entering the season, not a small responsibility in 10-year OU Coach Greg Kampe's program.

As the point guard, Wasilk will be expected to run the team and be a leader. His job will be to distribute the ball to other high-scoring players, while being asked to guard the opposing team's best scoring guard.

"Silk," as Wasilk is called by teammates and friends, waits and watches during OU practice drills.

Wasilk (#23 in front) gets good rebounding position at a recent Pioneer practice. As one of two seniors, Wasilk hopes to lead high-scoring OU, 21-11 last season, back to the NCAA Division II playoffs.

It's a job Wasilk relishes, and has been expected to do before. While in high school, Wasilk also had to battle to prove himself. After starting on the junior-varsity team as a sophomore, he moved up to varsity the next year, but received limited playing time.

"As a junior when I wasn't starting I don't think the thought of playing in college ever really got in my head," said Wasilk. "After that year I was just hoping to start and have a good senior season. Once the year started and I got better and the team began winning, I thought maybe I could go somewhere small."

Wasilk was the starting point guard for the Wolves team that went 20-0 during the regular season. He averaged 13 points and seven assists, but went mostly unrecognized because of teammate — and still a good friend — Dugan Fife, the University of Michigan's starting point guard.

After being put in touch with Kampe, Wasilk was told he could be a preferred walk on, which basically meant he made the team, but would have to prove he could play in order to earn any scholarship money in future years.

Because of his tough defense, Wasilk played that first year, and proved to teammates, coaches and himself, he was an asset.

"I never expected to be captain of a college team coming out of high school. I was more worried about making the team. But then into my sophomore year my goals started getting bigger and I gained confidence, knowing I could play at this level. As a junior I could see myself as a captain."

Wasilk will be the first to admit he's not a scorer and will never be as talented as some players. He also knows his hard work won't be matched by many either.

Although his three years have been filled with good moments, it hasn't always been easy for the one-time walk on. He admits that early on it was difficult taking a back seat, although he never complained to his teammates or coaches.

"There were times where I felt certain people on scholarship got to play over me because I was a walk on and didn't get recruited, but I never dwelled on it. It just crossed my mind. There was never a time that I thought, 'Why did I do this.'"

Wasilk's career averages at OU are 1.9 points and 1.5 rebounds per game. Last season he averaged 3.2 points and 1.9 rebounds, with 34 assists in 29 games. He played about 12 minutes a game and led the team in 3-point shooting percentage at 47 percent (18-for-38), which is the third highest percentage in OU history.

But just as important to Wasilk is his 3.15 grade-point-average and Academic All-Great Lakes Inter-collegiate Athletic Conference selection last season.

The Pioneers are loaded offensively. Last season they scored 189 points in a game against Madonna College (in Detroit), shot over 1,000 three-pointers, averaged 11.3 three-pointers made per game and averaged 97 points per game.

Those lofty numbers led the Pioneers to a 21-11 record and the school's first-ever berth in the NCAA Division II Basketball Tournament.

Wasilk knows his job to ensure the Pioneers' victory this season will be to do just what he did as a senior at Clarkston: Keep everyone else happy.

Because he has proved he belongs on a successful college program, Wasilk has earned a full athletic scholarship this season. The previous two years he received a 3/4 scholarship.

Several of Wasilk's Clarkston teammates also went on to play college basketball. See Page 22A for the story.

For Wasilk — "Silk" to his teammates and friends — it's all about lessons. He says the lessons he's learned from his athletic experiences, from the tough coaching of high school coach Dan Fife and now Kampe to battling for respect as a walk on, will only help him be a better man.

"I don't know for sure exactly what my job will be but I am confident I'll be successful because of what I've gone through," said Wasilk. "I can handle the rough times or decisions I don't like because I've gone through it. I can handle adversity."

Being a walk on isn't easy, but Wasilk said if it's something an athlete wants to do, they shouldn't let the fear of rejection stop them.

"You have to keep proving yourself, keep working hard and get better. But if you want to do it, do it. Don't leave any doubt. If it doesn't work out at least you know you tried and gave it your all."

"You don't want any regrets."

With three semesters left, the senior majoring in Management Information Systems says he has tried to make the best of the opportunity Kampe gave him.

"I'm glad I got the opportunity but I also know I did something with it. I feel I accomplished some things since I've been here. We have this year ahead of us but at the end I'll feel I gave my best, that I didn't hold back. So, yeah, I can look back and say it was all worthwhile."

Best and brightest honored by Optimists

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Clarkston High School principal Brent Cooley got a look at his future student leaders last week.

As the best and the brightest students from Clarkston's elementary and middle schools were honored by the Clarkston Optimist Club, Cooley was sizing them up as future high schoolers.

"It is impressive," he said when it was his turn to introduce his top students. "As I watch these young people, I was projecting their roles in high school. And I watched their moms and dads. They're so proud and we're so proud in the schools too."

The event was the Optimists annual Youth Recognition Breakfast, held Nov. 16 at Spring Lake Country Club. Each Clarkston school principal was invited to bring along a student (two at each elementary, four at each middle school, eight from the high school) they felt deserving of some special attention. The students, parents and principals were treated to breakfast, then the principals stepped forward to explain why they'd chosen each student.

A common thread ran through all their remarks. The students they chose were all good academically, though not all straight-A students. They participated in school life, through sports and clubs. But beyond that, each student was described as someone who helps others, is unfailingly good-natured, a good citizen and a joy to have in school.

"These are the students who will be members of Optimist clubs in the future," said Dr. Jean Lang, principal at Sashabaw Middle School. "They will be active in all kinds of civic work."

"You can be models," Cooley told the kids. "Other young people can learn from you. And I'll share a secret with you; we adults can learn from you

The event is one way the Optimists live up to their credo, "friend of youth." It's just one of many special events throughout the year in which young people are recognized for their accomplishments by Optimist clubs around the country.

"I commend the Optimist Club for being a friend of youth, and much more than just saying it, but actively going out there," Cooley said.

The students honored were:

KATIE DOUGLAS and BRIAN LARSEN, Andersonville Elementary.

LISA HOPCIAN and RAY SMITH, Bailey Lake Elementary.

CALEB BORCHERS and ERICK TIMMERMAN, Clarkston Elementary.

KEVIN HALL and TARA WURM, North Sashabaw Elementary.

RYAN COCCIOLONE and STACY MERCADO, Pine Knob Elementary.

SCOTT DENSTAEDT and SARA DUNLAVEY, Springfield Plains Elementary.

RACHEL ARMSTRONG, TOM FORST, JUSTIN GAY and BRIANNE KOHS, Clarkston Middle School.

BRYON BEUTLER, SCOTT BICKERSTAFF, JENNIFER FOGLEMAN and JESSICA MOORE, of Sashabaw Middle School.

KRISTY BAREFOOT, ANDY HARP, COLIN MCINTYRE, MICHELLE NEWTON, MIKE ROMEIN, DAVE TROLLMAM, RONDA VAUGHN and HEATHER WEBSTER, Clarkston High School.

Bryon Beutler listens as his principal, Dr. Jean Lang, describes his "unchanging optimism in the face of any adversity. She also implicated him in the disappearance of Mr. Potato Head from her school.

Kids learn about helping

Students in Bernice Rynders fourth-grade class at Andersonville Elementary School worked last week to gather food for Lighthouse North in honor of Thanksgiving. As of Friday, the class had gathered over 200

In service

● Navy Seaman Recruit Michael Doud, son of Linda Doud of Clarkston, recently reported for duty aboard the aircraft carrier USS Nimitz, homeported in Bremerton, Washington.

● Navy Seaman Apprentice Derek Sunman, son of Frederick and Mary Sunman of Clarkston, recently received a letter of commendation.

Sunman was cited for superior performance of duty while assigned aboard the fleet ballistic missile submarine USS Pennsylvania, homeported in Kings Bay, Ga. He consistently performed his demanding duties in an exemplary and highly professional manner.

He is a 1993 graduate of Brandon High School.

Township takes action against brokers

investments," said Stuart, adding that the loss does not put the township in any financial danger. "They (Westcap, Leibold and Oetting) are not the only potential claimants with regard to this whole controversy.

"We do want to keep the public informed of the whole process, but, just as with the new investment policies we are looking into, we want to make sure we have things ready to go."

The claim is not a lawsuit and cannot be filed in any court, due to a "common" contract provision Independence agreed to when it began doing business with Westcap. The claim instead goes to an arbitrator of the National Association of Securities Dealers.

"It's an agreement that is common in this business," said Stuart. "Rather than sue in court, you have to do arbitration through an arbitration panel of the NASD. It's certainly a faster process."

Leibold and Oetting were fired from Westcap in March 1994, about a month after township auditors first learned the township had lost significant amounts of investment money. Both salesmen are now working for Meridian Associates, also based in Houston.

According to the claim, Leibold and Oetting had been doing business with the township since April 1990, first through PaineWebber and then through Westcap. Both "solicited and obtained the township's account," after being hired by PaineWebber in October 1989, according to the claim.

Around October 1992, the two left PaineWebber for Westcap. The township agreed to transfer its account to Westcap, based on the salesmen's contention that they knew what was best for the township because of their past dealings.

While at Westcap, the salesmen, between September 1993 and March 1994, recommended the township enter into many security investments. The four securities in question lost nearly 60 percent of their value in one year.

The claim was filed because the township states the salesmen did not disclose vital information about the four investments.

"They knew that each such misrepresentation was false or made with reckless disregard for the truth. Each such misrepresentation was relied upon by the township in deciding to purchase each of the four instruments," according to the claim.

The claim also says the investments were unsuitable because:

- Each of the investments were too risky to be a proper use of public funds, particularly given the

Investment	Purchase value in 1993	Value as of May 1994	Loss (% decrease)
Security "1"	$2,048,009	$873,000	$1,175,009 (57 percent)
Security "2"	$897,500	$205,000	$692,500 (77 percent)
Security "3"	$1,434,293	$723,000	$711,293 (50 percent)
Security "4"	$951,533	$392,000	$559,533 (59 percent)
Totals	$5,331,335	$2,193,000	$3,138,335 (59 percent)

legitimate investment objectives of the township.

- The return was not equal to the market risk.
- The 30-year term of investments did not match the cash flow needs of the township.

● There was no protection to minimize the risk. All investments would decline dramatically in value if interest rates were to increase, which they did.

The actions of Leibold, Oetting and Westcap violated several laws and policies, according to the claim, including various parts of the contract agreement between Westcap and the township, and the Texas Securities Act.

The salesmen also have had claims filed against them by several other customers "for unsuitable trading and unauthorized trading and that they were fired by Westcap after an internal investigation," according to records discovered by the township.

The township's claim will first be served to the named parties, where they will gather information for their own response.

SCAMP has gift ideas

Cards, baskets available

Christmas gifts featuring a taste of Clarkston are being offered by Clarkston SCAMP this holiday season.

SCAMP is a non-profit corporation founded in 1977 which provides summer camping opportunities for special-needs young people. The organization uses the baskets and Christmas cards as a fund-raiser.

The baskets range in price from $20 to $50 and may include beeswax candles, granola, bean soup, mustard, caramel corn, honey and mulling spices, depending upon which basket you choose. Mugs and a cookbook are also available.

SCAMP cards are $8 for 10 greeting cards, $6 for 10 note cards. They may be purchased by mail order or in person at SCAMP's office at 6590 Middle Lake Rd.

For more information call 625-3330.

Sheriff's log for Independence Township

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 14, $200 was taken from a purse left unattended in a car for five minutes on Everest.

Some commercial mailboxes on Sashabaw were pried open and the mail scattered in a field. One owner said it's been a continuing problem.

A 29-year-old Clarkston man was arrested on an outstanding warrant at his home on Felix.

A Hadley resident reported numerous hang-up calls in the middle of the night for the last six months.

Malicious destruction of telephone lines on Mann Rd. A resident reported that when she tried to call police to have an unwanted Waterford man removed, he cut the phone lines. He later repaired them.

Non-injury accident on Waterford Rd.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 15, attempted warrant arrest on Everest. Police went to arrest a 30-year-old male resident but he wasn't home.

Car/deer accident on Waterford Rd. A police officer destroyed the injured deer.

Malicious mischief on Paramus. A resident reported several incidents in which his lawn had been run over, trash knocked over and rocks removed.

Non-injury accident on M-15 near Dixie.

A 17-year-old Clarkston boy received minor injuries when he lost control of his car on Waterford Rd.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, two pumps were stolen during the breaking and entering of two construction trailers on Mann Rd.

A crane was damaged at a construction site on Waldon Lake.

Harassment on Rockford.

Two Clarkston residents were injured in an accident on Waldon near Sashabaw. A 31-year-old woman was taken to St. Joseph Hospital for treatment.

A Caseville man was taken to St. Joe's Hospital after he lost control of his Jeep, possibly because of a blown tire, hit a pole, rolled, then hit a tree.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 17, larceny of eight custom-made windows from a house under construction on Reese.

Fraud on Shell Ct. A resident reported another resident copied his Social Security number, then used it to open an account with a utility company. After running up a bill, he moved, the report alleges.

A Flint man is suspected of writing a bad check for $501 at a business on Dixie.

Warrant arrest on Everest. While police were looking for a Clarkston man, they discovered his sister had an outstanding warrant and arrested her.

A man's gold and diamond ring valued at $2,700 was reported stolen from a business on Ortonville Rd. The ring was left in a bag on a desk, the owner said.

Reckless driving on southbound I-75. A Fenton woman said that as she was driving, a man pulled alongside her in another vehicle, smiled, then deliberately veered his car into hers. She had to go onto the shoulder to avoid a crash, and then he wouldn't let her back on the road. She got his license-plate number and said the vehicle also contained two children. It was registered to a Mt. Morris resident.

Non-injury accident on Dixie.

Clarkston Police

TUESDAY, NOV. 15, ticket issued to Royal Oak male driver for rear-ending Farmington Hills male driver at M-15 and Washington.

Larceny of tools from auto parked behind a Main St. business.

Malicious destruction of property to car parked at a Main St. business; vehicle was keyed.

Hoopster teammates moved games to college

Chris Wasilk's teammates at Clarkston High in his junior and senior years also moved on to the next level.

Considering the success of the Wolves basketball program, it's no surprise Wasilk, now a co-captain at Oakland University, and several others from those teams in 1989-90 and 1990-91 seasons are playing college basketball. Both teams won GOAL championships, and, in Wasilk's senior season, they went 20-0 in the regular season.

According to Wasilk, here is a list of players he was teammates with who went on to play college basketball.

- Dugan Fife, University of Michigan.
- Mark Galbraith, Oakland Community

College.

- Nick Shires, walk on at Northwood.
- Luke Fedio, second year at Grand Valley

State.

- Bill Knight, senior captain at Ferris State University, an OU rival. Also played two years a Oakland Community College.

● Reggie Reed, recent graduate of Alma College, where he played four years. Wasilk says the friends he "hung out" with at Clarkston, especially Fife, Galbreath and Derek Wiley, still stay in touch. "Dugan lived right down the street from me and all of us were constantly doing some kind of sports whether it was basketball, football or whatever," he said.

CHEF, from page 11A

Piston John Salley, who used to come into Chuck Daly's.

"All of a sudden I looked up..." said Chuchman, wide-eyed, as he demonstrated how he bent over backwards to view the 7-foot-plus NBA star (Chuchman stands 5 foot 7).

He likes some of the "improvements" Lincoln's made at the cafe — especially the windows.

"In Europe, when you think of a cafe, you think of open windows and watching people. I don't think people go out just for the food. They also want the ambiance. To me, that's what a good dining experience is," he said, smiling.

Council in the kitchen

Members' menus include festive and family fare

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Like most of us, members of Clarkston's City Council lead busy lives. Steve Secatch is a lieutenant for West Bloomfield's Fire Department, Steve Arkwright is a certified financial planner for Paine Webber and Mayor Sharron Catallo has to be on call 24 hours a day.

Council members make only $25 per regular meeting, but spend "anywhere from three to 12 hours per week doing various jobs," estimates Art Pappas. All that doesn't leave much time for cooking, but when contacted, council members agreed they had favorites they could share for the holiday season or anytime.

Here are a few. Sample and enjoy.

City Clerk Jeanne Selander Miller

Being mom to a little son and daughter isn't easy, but Jeanne Selander Miller is a patient parent.

She's always spent time in her quaint Clarkston kitchen with Cullen, 8, and Gillian, 5, who attend school at St. Hugo's in Bloomfield Hills.

"I have a cute story to tell about Cullen," Selander Miller said, away from the kids who were busy cutting and peeling apples for pie in the family's kitchen. "When Cullen was 2 we had made rolled sugar Christmas cookies and cut them out. I turned my back for a minute and he had them all rolled back into a big ball."

The petite redhead, who does medical records and reviews at home, says she makes cut-out cookies every year with her two youngsters. "Some of them are just GLOR-ious," she laughed.

This Thanksgiving the Miller family will be guests at her sister's home, "a couple of doors down.

"It'll be the first time in 10 years I haven't had to cook," she sighed, contentedly.

Mayor Sharron Catallo

"I'm known for my not cooking," laughed Sharron Catallo when called for a recipe to contribute.

She came up with Roasted Vegetable Soup, something she says is easy and different and serves her vegetarian family members, although she is quick to point out she's NOT vegetarian.

LITTLE COOKS HELP MOM IN THE KITCHEN: Front to back: Gillian, Cullen and Clarkston

Though she found it in a Thanksgiving cookbook, the mayor, who lives in a historic church near downtown Clarkston, said, "It's different than any vegetable soup recipe I have. It's nice for the fall and it's nice for the winter."

When asked if she had any traditional holiday favorites, Catallo laughed.

"Nothing is traditional with me. Turkey is traditional — everything else varies."

City Manager Art Pappas

With his Greek heritage, Art Pappas was lucky to grow up with all that savory Mediterranean cuisine many of us wish we knew how to cook.

Now, thanks to the city manager, you can finally try your hand at Avgolemono Soup, that delicious egg-lemon-chicken concoction enjoyed at the nearby Coney all the way to Greektown.

"The thing that's tricky is not to let the eggs cook," warned Pappas. It's suggested that you mix the eggs into a little of the hot broth before adding to the rest of the soup.

The Farina Cake is something "my mother used to make," said Pappas who added that since his wife Mary Ann doesn't make it because "she doesn't like sweet stuff," he enjoys it at his sister's home occasionally.

Pappas says he thinks the reason Greeks eat so much lamb is topographical.

"They don't have room for cattle ... I guess the sheep and goats can run up and down the mountains," he said, with a typical hearty laugh. Opa!

Councilman James Schultz

When one thinks of Christmas, the charming old-world country of Germany comes to mind with all of its Yuletide charm.

And, as most of us know if we have any German genes, Christmas is Tannenbaum time when visions of sugar plums — and German cookies — dance in our heads.

Now is a good time to get started with the City Clerk Jeanne Selander Miller wash and peel apples for a pie.

Schultzes' recipe for Springerle, traditional cookies that improve with age. Schultz says in his family Springerle "were made in November so they could 'age' for better taste during the Christmas season.

"As my father's parents came from Numberg, Bavaria, Germany, this Christmas tradition goes back for many generations. Our family had lovely carved wooden cookie molds and carved wooden springerle rolling pins used to make designs in the dough," Schultz wrote in a preface to his recipe.

"I remember large jars of these at my grandmother's house along with lebkuchen and pfeffer-nusse."

Wife Gini says the whole family is involved during holiday time.

"When we bake traditional pumpkin pie, we use real pumpkins," she said.

Councilman Steve Arkwright

Steve Arkwright says he used to own a restaurant and still loves to cook.

But one of the offerings guests enjoy most when visiting the Arkwright home is simple but delicious — a "Rotel" dip that's best with tortilla chips or dip-size Fritos.

"There are only two ingredients — it's real easy," said Arkwright, who works as a stockbroker for Paine Webber in Rochester. "It's like the cheese dip at Chi Chi's. My family's been eating this for about 30 years before Chi Chi's ever began."

His wife Jennifer echoes the accolades for the dip which is a combination of Velveeta and Rotel, a canned mixture of tomatoes and green chilies.

"You can find it in the aisle with the tomato products," she said. "It's nice and spicy and you can make more if you add more Velveeta."

Councilman Steve Secatch

Steve Secatch didn't know his meat loaf creation would be so popular when he conjured it up for his fellow firefighters years ago.

Kitchen-tested recipes from council

From 1B

"When I was a firefighter I used to cook a lot," said Steve, who has been running the shift at the West Bloomfield Fire Department since he became a lieutenant in 1986. He's been a firefighter for 19 years.

Now, his wife Shirley says, her husband of 27 years has become quite a hit.

"His favorite thing that he's known for is his meat loaf. He makes a meat loaf that's out of this world. When I worked everyone loved it and would ask for meat loaf sandwiches," she laughed.

Steve attributes the extra-specialness of his version to French's Meat Loaf Mix, 2-percent milk ("so it's not too thin") and a small can of tomato paste to top the loaf halfway through baking.

The Secatch family, which includes daughter Stacey when she comes to visit, rounds out the meal with "baked or mashed potatoes and gravy, a side vegetable like broccoli and rolls," Steve said.

When you're tired of turkey — Try it.

Springerle

James Schultz

- 4 eggs
- 2 c. sugar
- 1 T. softened butter
- 2 T. anise seeds
- 3 3/4 c. flour
- 1/2 tsp. baking powder

Beat eggs in large bowl until thick and yellow. Gradually add the sugar and butter and beat for 10 more minutes.

Mix the flour and baking powder in another bowl. Stir in the egg-sugar mixture and stir until smooth.

Roll out dough to 1/2 inch thickness on a floured board. Use a lightly floured springerle rolling pin or cookie mold to make a design in the dough. Cut apart the cookie squares with a knife. Place the cookies on a well-greased cookie sheet that has anise seeds on it about one inch apart (liquid anise could be mixed into the dough if seeds are not a favorite). Let the cookies stand overnight uncovered in a cool dry place to set the shapes.

Bake at 300 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes (they should be light in color). Remove from cookie sheets and cool on wire racks. Store in an airtight container for two weeks or more. Some extra anise seed can be placed in the jar with the cookies. Makes 4 dozen.

Roasted Vegetable Soup

Sharron Catallo

- 1 lb. carrots, cut into 1 1/2 in. pieces
- 2 or 3 medium-size all-purpose potatoes (about 3/4 lb.), peeled and quartered
- 1 large onion, quartered
- 4 cloves garlic, unpeeled
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. freshly ground black pepper
- 1 T. vegetable oil
- 2 c. chicken or beef broth
- 1/2 tsp. dried thyme leaves, crumbled
- 2 c. half-and-half or light cream
- 1 T. chopped fresh parsley

Preheat oven to 500 degrees. Place carrots, potatoes, onion and garlic into medium-size roasting pan; sprinkle with salt, pepper and oil. Toss to lightly coat vegetables. Place pan in oven and lower temperature to 350 degrees. Roast vegetables uncovered for an hour, stirring occasionally until they are tender and lightly browned. Remove from oven and cool slightly. Remove skin from garlic and discard. Also discard any pieces of onion that look more burned than brown.

Place vegetables in food processor, add broth and thyme and process until the mixture looks pebbly (May be made ahead up to this point and chilled until ready to proceed). Transfer pureed vegetables to large saucepan, add cream and cook over medium heat, stirring frequently until heated through. Season to taste with additional salt and pepper if necessary. Ladle into shallow soup bowls and sprinkle with parsley. Yield: 6 cups, 8 servings.

Avgolemeono Soup

Art Pappas

- 1 can (46 oz.) chicken broth
- 1 c. orzo macaroni or 1/2 c. long-grain rice
- ("We always use rice," says Pappas)
- salt and pepper to taste
- 2 eggs
- juice of 2 lemons

Bring broth to a boil. Stir in rice, salt and pepper. Bring to a second boil. Cover and simmer for 30 minutes (10 minutes for orzo) or until rice is tender. Remove from heat. Separate eggs. Beat whites until peaks form. Add yolks. Beat until blended. Add lemon. Stir only until barely mixed. Gently stir two ladlefuls of soup into egg mixture. Pour this combined mixture back into the soup pot. Stir gently. Ladle into soup bowls. Serve immediately, before the froth subsides. Serve before a main course or with crusty bread, cheese and a salad.

Meat Loaf

Steve Secatch

- 2 lb. ground round
- 1 pkg. of French's Meat Loaf Mix
- 1 c. milk (2-percent if possible)
- 2 medium eggs
- 3 T. catsup
- 1/2 medium onion, chopped
- 3 slices white bread, broken up
- 1/2 c. dried bread crumbs
- 1 small can tomato paste

Mix with hands. Bake at 375 degrees for 1 hr. Midway through baking, cover with tomato paste.

Rotel dip

Steve Arkwright

- 1 lb. of Velveeta cheese
- 1 10 oz. can Rotel (found in the tomato products aisle, Rotel is a mixture of stewed tomatoes and green chili peppers)

Mix ingredients together and melt in microwave or double boiler. Serve warm with tortilla chips or dip-size Fritos. Add more Velveeta to increase dip.

CLARKSTON ART PRINTS

Coming Home for the Holidays

Also Available to Supplement the Collection

"Christmas Time in Pontiac, 1912" is a 1987 work printed in warm sepia, faithfully depicting the holiday season at the county seat. The original Oakland County courthouse is seen at Saginaw and Huron Streets.

Limited Edition Historic Pictorial PERFECT HOLIDAY GIFTS

Charming, nostalgic views of lovely Clarkston during Christmas-time of yesteryear make this collection of limited edition art prints the perfect holiday gift idea. Each is 11 x 14, ready to frame.

Former Clarkston resident Dallas Keffer has over the past decade executed these ink and watercolor drawings after painstaking research, to present an accurate image of the village life at the beginning of this century.

"Coming Home for the Holidays," a 1984 work selling now for the first time, depicts a young husband and wife arriving home at the Clarkston depot (1912) for Christmas with family. "A Clarkston Christmas--1912" was first released in 1983. Returning now in a second color edition, this work portrays a day of shopping along Main Street. It is also available in a black and white edition of the line drawing continuing from 1983.

These prints may be ordered by mail for delivery before Christmas by sending payment plus $1.00 per print for postage and handling to the address at right. Please allow ten days for delivery.

Library holiday party a tradition

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Get ready for Ming the Magnificent, coming to Independence Township's Library.

December 3 will mark the special holiday magic show with Ming, but more importantly it is also the 12th year the library's Youth Services Department has sponsored a children's Holiday Party. Anne Rose has been director of the youth services department for all of those years, helping originate the party back in 1982.

But besides the annual party, Rose said her department is involved in many other activities for children. The goal of the youth services department is to help children and parents become familiar with library services.

The Holiday Party is one way Rose can promote that goal. The Dec. 3 event's two shows are scheduled for 10:30 a.m.-noon and 2-3:30 p.m. (please come to only one show).

Because of the party's past success — the 125 tickets will be taken quickly — two shows were scheduled this season. Children ages 3-11 are invited to pick up free tickets at the library. But because of space limits only one adult can accompany the children to the show.

Included in the party is:

● The magic show with Ming the Magnificent. Rose describes his show as, "Perfect for kids, with a very relaxed and easy style."

● Refreshments, cookies and snacks.

● A small book for all the children to take home.

● Short films will also run in both shows.

"It is a very festive kind of party," Rose says, noting the Clarkston Optimist Club helped out this year with manpower and funding. "We get a great response every year from parents and kids and our tickets are always gone real quick."

Rose admits the original idea was to help "get people familiar with the library, to actually be here and see it. We wanted to give the children a pleasant place to come for a party."

While the Holiday Party is special, the Youth Services Department is active in many other ways. In everything they do, the goal is to keep kids involved in the library.

Some of the programs Rose is involved in include Wednesday story times throughout the year (from 10-11 a.m.) for preschoolers, other holiday events, special children's programs and presentations, a summer babysitting workshop, summer reading programs, book swaps, etc.

An added benefit the library received this spring was a $50,000 federal grant for science materials. With the grant money the library purchased many educational science books, videos and other reference materials.

At the library

● Sheryl Krasnow of College and Career Counseling Associates returns to the Independence Township Library Nov. 29 and Dec. 6 at 7:30 p.m. with her information-packed, two-part seminar for parents and college-bound students, Dollars for College.

Parents of high-school students and adults planning to attend college can learn the ins and outs of financial aid.

To register for this free program, which will be held in the library's community meeting room, call 625-2212. The library is located at 6495 Clarkston Rd.

Santa needs a check-up for holiday

Santa needs a lifestyle change, according to the doctors at Henry Ford Hospital.

He's overweight, he smokes, he suffers from job-related stress and he only exercises once a year—climbing down chimneys. In addition, his diet doesn't look so good. Overdoing it with the cookies and milk can hike his cholesterol and his risk for heart disease too.

"Santa needs to stay away from high-fat foods and start exercising regularly, not just once a year, to lose that belly," said Keith Burch, MD. "Kids can do Santa a big favor by leaving fruits and vegetables on Christmas Eve instead."

"He's overweight and out of shape and that has to take its toll on his back. Lugging around that pot belly as well as the sack full of presents can create serious strain on his back muscles and lumbar spine, not to mention causing a hernia," Burch said.

As if smoking a pipe isn't bad enough, Santa also breathes in soot and other toxins while he's going down all those chimneys. This puts him at serious risk for mouth and lung cancer as well as other respiratory diseases. It also can contribute to heart disease.

"Santa should go through a smoke-stoppers program during his off-season when he's not so stressed," Burch said. "He needs to be around for a long time and quitting smoking is the best thing he can do for himself and everyone who depends on him."

Spending so much time with children in the malls around the holiday season also can be a health problem for the big guy. Kids can carry all kinds of viral illnesses and pass them along, especially if they happen to cough or sneeze while sitting on someone's lap.

"I highly recommend that Santa get a flu shot," Burch said. "He gets lots of exposure to all kinds of things. He might even be better off staying away from the kids altogether before the big night."

With the large volume of work Santa has to accomplish in one night, a stress management class wouldn't be a bad idea either. He might benefit from some meditation techniques and relaxation tapes.

Given Santa's age, he also should have a general check up which includes an electrocardiogram, colon exam, hearing test and prostate exam.

"If Santa made a few lifestyle changes, he'd feel better all year long," Burch said. "And who knows, if he really makes an effort, he might even be around forever."

How not to destroy your diet during holidays

While the holiday season should be a time of goodwill and cheer, for many people it is a diet disaster waiting to happen.

Holidays are often equated with an endless stream of parties complete with an array of tempting appetizers and drinks. Unfortunately, many of our holiday favorites are high in fat, cholesterol and calories.

But fear not. One can still enjoy the holiday season without becoming enemies with the bathroom scale.

Roxolana Karanc, RD, a dietitian at Henry Ford Heart and Vascular Institute, offers these practical tips to help make it through the season without adding to the waistline or the risk of heart disease:

- Don't attend a party hungry. Skipping meals can make it difficult to resist high-calorie, high-fat snacks such as nuts, crackers, chips, dips, cheeseballs, pastries, cookies, pate, etc.

- Take advantage of bite-size raw vegetable appetizers at parties. These are healthy and can fill you up before the temptation for other high-fat items takes over.

- If you choose to eat cheese and crackers, try lower-fat choices such as part-skim mozzarella and Swiss, neufchatel, melba toast, breadsticks, flat breads and bagels.

- Try a non-alcoholic beverage such as fruit juice, club soda or mineral water.

- Avoid creamy, sweet drinks. Just four ounces of eggnog contains 355 calories, compared to just 90 for the same amount of champagne.

- Offer to bring a heart-smart dish or appetizer that is low in calories and fat.

- Get enough rest. If you're tired, it's easy to eat without thinking.

- Enjoy the food at a party, but focus on the company of others, particularly those farthest from the serving table.

Guilt-free Christmas cookies good for all

Holiday memories often include the aroma of homebaked cookies. Unfortunately, many cookies are loaded with fat.

For example, refrigerated cookie dough may have five to six grams of fat per serving, usually two cookies. Box cookie mixes may have six-10 grams of fat per serving, even if one follows the lowfat method.

So in a heart-healthy diet, is it possible to have your cookies and eat them too? Yes, according to Roxolana Karanec, RD, a dietitian with Henry Ford Heart and Vascular Institute.

For a healthier holiday, Karanec suggests trying some innovative fat skimming tricks that will result in delicious cookies"

- Mix dried fruit such as raisins, prunes or apricots into the cookie dough instead of high-fat ingredients like nuts and chocolate chips.

- Use smaller amounts of nuts (1/3-1/4 cup per recipe). For a satisfying crunch, leave the nuts in larger chunks.

- Replace half the fat in the recipe with an equal amount of pureed fruit such as ripe bananas, stewed prunes, applesauce or canned pumpkin.

Karanec also suggests the following substitutions:

BUTTER, LARD, SHORTENING, MARGARINE: Use vegetable oils.

WHOLE MILK: Use skim milk.

EVAPORATED MILK: Evaporated skim milk.

WHOLE EGG: Two egg whites or 1/4 cup liquid egg substitute.

BAKING CHOCOLATE: Three tablespoons cocoa powder plus one tablespoon vegetable oil.

Sugar Cookies

3/4 cup sugar
1/3 cup tub margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg whites
2 2/3 cups all-purpose flour
1/3 cup vanilla non-fat yogurt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
vegetable oil spray

Heat oven to 425 degrees. Cream sugar and margarine.

Mix in vanilla, egg white and yogurt. Mix together flour, baking powder, baking soda and nutmeg. Add gradually to yogurt mixture. Mix well; chill.

Divide dough into three equal parts. Roll each 1/4 inch thick on lightly floured cloth-covered board. Cut with 2-inch cookie cutter. Place on cookie sheet sprayed with vegetable oil spray. Decorate with colored sugars.

Bake until no indentation remains when touched, approximately 6-8 minutes. Yield: 4 dozen cookies.

Nutritional analysis (per cookie): 57 calories, 1 gram of fat, 1 gram of protein, trace of cholesterol, 24 mg sodium, 11 g carbohydrate.

Celebrate with Michigan food

"You need not look beyond Michigan's borders to prepare your traditional Thanksgiving meal," according to Dr. Gordon Guyer, Director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

"From turkeys to pumpkins, Michigan growers and producers make everything needed to prepare the meal most Americans look forward to all year long."

In 1991, state producers raised an estimated 4.7 million birds, ranking the state 11th in the nation in turkey production. There are about 250 potato-producing farms in the state, including about 58,000 acres in production. The annual estimated value of the crop is $100 million.

The agriculture department is supporting the re-establishment of a commercial cranberry industry in the state. They are currently grown commercially on one farm in the UP. Records dating back to 1874 indicate cranberry production from the state's marshes was big but declined after World War I.

Help Lighthouse during season

Once again this year, The Clarkston News will be collecting items for Lighthouse North during the holiday season.

Food, personal care items, gifts and children's books will be accepted at The Clarkston News office for distribution to Lighthouse clients. The News office is open Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Lighthouse asks that all items donated for gifts be unwrapped to avoid duplication. Wrapping supplies will also be accepted, as will paper grocery bags and 30-gallon trash bags for packing and clean-up.

To try to provide a traditional holiday meal, Lighthouse is seeking canned vegetables, including yams, stuffing mix, cranberry sauce, pie filling (pumpkin and fruit), pie crust mix and roll mix. Money to purchase turkeys and fresh produce will also be accepted.

Personal items, such as toothpaste, are also in great need, since most grants and food stamps cannot be used to purchase them.

In response to requests by the public to "adopt" a family for the holidays, Lighthouse will make available 100 families this year on a first come, first served basis. Requests must be received by Dec. 2. Call 673-4949. Names will be distributed on Dec. 17.

Last year Lighthouse North served a record number of families during the holidays and expects to do at least the same number this year, perhaps even more. Volunteers are needed to sort donations, pack baskets and help with the distribution process.

Donations may be brought to The Clarkston News no later than Monday, Dec. 19. They may also be taken directly to Lighthouse North, or to the Knights of Columbus Hall beginning Dec. 19.

Anyone wishing to register for a holiday basket who has not already done so should go to Lighthouse North on Dec. 1 between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Bring picture identification, ID for everyone in the home, proof of income and verification of address, such as a utility bill or lease.

After Dec. 1, all requests for assistance must go through the United Way First Call for Help program. Call them at 456-8800.

Christmas at the Castle Nov. 27-Dec. 11

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

"Christmas at the Castle" is the appropriate name of this year's holiday walk at Meadow Brook Hall on the Oakland University campus.

For the hall is as close to a castle as was likely built in Oakland County. Visitors surely feel transported back to a more elegant era strolling its paneled halls.

The hall is decorated by area florists, decorators and collectors for the Christmas season, and reporters got a sneak preview last week.

The displays provide a lot of good ideas on decorating even the most modest of homes. Based on the preview, shimmering gold is still in vogue this year. Everything from gold ribbon to gold-covered leaves and twigs to metallic shavings from a stamping plant was used to create that special holiday ambiance.

Judy Sieber of Au Courant Gallery created a tree decorated with twigs poking out from the evergreen boughs. The tree was hung with copper, brass and silver-colored shavings from a friend's factory floor. Under the tree was a mound of fabric containing metallic threads. Sieber said the tree cost essentially nothing, as long as you know someone with a metal factory.

Grand Oak Herb Farm also employed twigs among the evergreen tree branches, as well as gold ribbon. Swanson Florist used gold-painted twigs and leaves and gold ribbon.

Lyle Dever of Waterford decorates Knoke Cottage every year with his collection of antique toys. This year he brought along some new items purchased from a collector of Indiana artist

Randall Folger, who hand-carves wood into large sculptures of Bulwinkle the Moose, the Cat in the Hat, etc.

Now in his 22nd year at the Christmas walk, Dever said he doesn't do it to attract customers to his antique business; rather, it's out of a love of Meadow Brook Hall.

"I just do it to help with the house," he said. "You cannot replace this house. It's just something I like to do. I enjoy it."

Also displayed this year will be hand-made wax dolls by German artist Eveline Frings. Frings calls her dolls "Ladies of the Castle," tying in nicely with this year's Meadow Brook theme. The dolls have startlingly lifelike faces, real human hair, silk gowns and a quality that can only be described as other-worldly.

Frings' dolls sell for upwards of $30,000 and are only rarely available in this country. The artist herself is coming to Meadowbrook during the exhibit.

Also exhibiting during the Christmas walk will be Bordine's.

Meadow Brook Hall was built in the 1920s at a cost of $4 million. It was given to Oakland University, along with 1,400 acres of land and $2 million, by owner Matilda Dodge Wilson in 1957. The 100-room mansion was copied from the finest examples of English Tudor and Elizabethan architecture.

This beautiful wax Lady of the Castle is right at home in Matilda Dodge Wilson's former home.

The Christmas walk opens at 1 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 27 and will run through Dec. 11. Hours are 10 a.m.-9 p.m., Monday-Wednesday, and 10-5 Thursday-Sunday. Admission is $10 for adults, $5 kids under 13 (no strollers allowed), $5 for OU affiliates. Knoke Cottage tours are an additional $1. For more information call 370-3140.

Activities crowd holiday schedule

The Christmas season is more than just the observance of one day. From Thanksgiving to New Years, the holidays are jam-packed with fun things to do.

Below is a listing of some of the events that have reached The Clarkston News:

A CHRISTMAS CAROL AT MEADOW BROOK THEATRE: This production is billed as "the ultimate holiday attitude adjustment" and will run Nov. 25-Dec. 29 on the Oakland University campus.

Special family discounts are available for the Thanksgiving weekend. Adults paying full price may purchase half-price tickets for children age 12 and under. Call 377-3300 for ticket information.

THE NUTCRACKER: The timeless ballet will be performed by the Michigan Classic Ballet Company and the Birmingham Bloomfield Symphony Orchestra at West Bloomfield High School Dec. 3-4. Tickets are $15 for adults, $12 for senior citizens and children under 12. A benefit Dec. 3 to benefit St. Vincent Sarah Fisher Center will be offered for $8. Call (810) 661-4349.

THE NUTCRACKER will also be performed by the Oakland Festival Ballet Dec. 16-18 at the Royal Oak Music Theatre. Tickets range from $10-$16 and are available through Ticketmaster or the box office. Call 546-7610 for more information.

DOMINO'S FARMS CHRISTMAS LIGHT DISPLAY returns Nov. 23-Jan. 8 every night from 6-10 p.m. Cost is $5 per vehicle and all profits are donated to charity. Tom Monahan's private collection of creches will be on display, and every Friday and Saturday night includes a live nativity scene. In the past two years, over $160,000 has been raised from this event. Call (313) 668-1800 for more information.

OLD WORLD CANTERBURY VILLAGE in Orion Township will offer horse-drawn carriage rides with Santa weekends through Christmas. Cost is $20 per carriage, which holds six passengers. Also, on Dec. 10-12, two glass blowers from West Germany will be on hand to demonstrate their craft. Call 391-9882 for more information.

SUPPER WITH SANTA will be offered by Waterford Parks and Recreation on Monday, Dec. 12 at 6 p.m. The event will be held at the CAI Building, 5640 Williams Lake Rd. Tickets are $5 for ages 12 and up, $3 for kids under 12 and must be purchased in advance at Waterford Parks and Rec., 5869 Andersonville Rd. Call 623-0900 for more information.

THE ANNUAL TREE LIGHTING in Waterford will be held Thursday, Dec. 8 at 6:30 p.m. at the Waterford Township Offices, on Civic Center Drive off Crescent Lake Rd. Guests are asked to bring a non-perishable food to be donated to Goodfellows.

MUSIC UNLIMITED and THE VOCAL ARTS ACADEMY of Clarkston will be presenting their 17th annual Christmas concert Monday, Dec. 12 at 7 p.m. at Oakland University's Vamer Recital Hall. Call 625-7057 for more information.

THE ALIEN WHO STOLE CHRISTMAS is one of the special Christmas star shows scheduled for the Longway Planetarium in Flint this season. Also featured will be "This the Season" and "Nutcracker Fantasy," a laser light show. The programs begin Nov. 25; call (810) 760-1181.

HOLIDAY BRASS will be presented by the Detroit Chamber Winds, part of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, on Sunday, Dec. 4 at 3 p.m. at Waterford Mott High School, 1151 Scott Lake Rd. Tickets are $7.50 for adults, $5 for students and seniors. Call 674-5958 for more information.

CLASSICAL MUSIC featuring Stravinsky's The Soldier's Tale will be performed as part of the Ferndale Music Series on Sunday, Dec. 11 at 7:30 p.m. at the Magic Bag, 22918 Woodward. Cost is $7 for adults; $3 for students and senior citizens. Call 546-2503 for more information.

A CELEBRATION OF SPIRIT, a Christmas concert, will be offered at Unity Church, 780 W. Huron, Pontiac on Sunday, Dec. 4 at 6 p.m. Suggested donation is $6 for adults, $3 for kids 5-12. Call 335-2773 for more information.

VINTAGE MODEL TRAINS will be part of an old-fashioned Christmas open house at the Detroit Model Railroad Club, 104 N. Saginaw, Holly. The open house runs Nov. 25-27 from noon-5 p.m. Admission is $2 for adults; $1.50 for senior citizens; $1 for children 5-18. Call 634-9167.

THE DETROIT LIONS THANKSGIVING DAY FOOTBALL GAME is a sellout. But if you're going, you're asked to bring a coat for the fourth annual Detroit Lions coat drive. Last year, 2.25 tons of coats were collected for the Salvation Army.

ANNUAL HOLIDAY SALES SHOW of the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association will be held Nov. 28-Dec. 10 at 1516 S. Cranbrook at 14 Mile Rd. Hours are 10 a.m.-9 p.m., Monday-Friday, 10-4 Saturday and noon-4 p.m. Sunday. Call (810) 644-0866.

CHRISTMAS AT CROSSROADS VILLAGE will include a spectacular light display, a 50-foot toy train, giant snowmen and nutcrackers and an animated riverboat. The festivities run weekends through December. Admission is $6.95 for adults, $5.95 for seniors 60 and over, $4.75 for kids 4-12. Call 1-800-648-PARK.

Recipes

From 3B

Farina Cake

Art Pappas

- 3 c. water
- 2 1/2 c. sugar
- juice of 1/2 lemon
- 1/2 lb. sweet butter
- 1 c. sugar
- 6 eggs, well beaten
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 1 c. flour
- 1 c. farina (Cream of Wheat)
- 3 tsp. baking powder

Bring water to boil in saucepan. Stir in sugar until dissolved. Simmer uncovered about 5 minutes or until slightly thickened. Stir in lemon juice. Remove from heat. Cool at room temperature. Cream butter in large mixing bowl and add sugar. Cream 5 minutes longer. Beat in eggs and vanilla. Add flour, farina and baking powder. Beat until smooth. Pour into buttered 9 x 13 x 2 baking pan. Bake in 375 degree oven about 30 minutes or until golden brown. Remove from oven. Immediately cut into squares using sharp knife. Pour cooled syrup over hot cake. Let stand 1 hr. before serving.

Cranberry Orange Relish

Jeanne Selander Miller

- 12 oz. of cranberries
- 1 large orange
- 1 c. sugar

Combine all ingredients in food processor until texture is grainy. Serve cold. Can be frozen.

Pumpkin Bread

Jeanne Selander Miller

- 3 c. white sugar
- 1 c. vegetable oil
- 4 eggs (beat one at a time)
- 3 1/2 c. flour
- 2 tsp. baking soda
- 1 1/2 tsp. salt
- 2 tsp. cinnamon
- 1 tsp. nutmeg
- 2/3 c. water
- 2 c. pumpkin

Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hr. 10 min. Check with knife. Bread is done when knife is clean. Sprinkle top of bread with a little sugar to give it a crunchy, crisp crust.

This woodland Santa is actually the top of a very large Christmas tree. It stands on the landing of the main staircase at Meadow Brook Hall.

The practical pumpkin

If you've ever carved a pumpkin, you know the inside is a gooey, squishy place to put your hands.

But it's also home to many potential culinary treats, literally everything from soup to nuts. The seeds can be roasted, and the flesh boiled or baked into delicious fall foods.

So even though Halloween is over, don't throw away a cheap source of nutrition. Below are recipes for soup, bread and several desserts from a variety of sources featuring the all-American pumpkin.

One criticism of using fresh pumpkin in recipes is that it doesn't have the same consistency as the canned variety. If you have a food processor you can overcome this.

Before using the pumpkin to make breads, pies, etc., make sure you boil and then drain the pulp completely, using a strainer and pressing down firmly to extract extra water. Then, use the metal blade of a food processor to whip it into a smooth consistency.

Pumpkin in the round
from Julia Child

- 1 1/2 cups (pressed down) fresh white bread crumbs
- 4 pounds pumpkin (one 6 inch-diameter pumpkin with stem)
- 1 tablespoon soft butter
- salt
- 3/4 cup finely minced onion
- 6 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- pinch pepper and nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon ground sage
- 1/2 cup finely diced or coarsely grated Swiss cheese
- 2-2 1/2 cups light cream
- bay leaf

Spread bread crumbs in a roasting pan and let them dry out in a 300-degree oven, stirring occasionally, about 15 minutes.

Meanwhile, cut a cover 4 inches in diameter in top of pumpkin. Scrape out seeds and strings and rub inside with the soft butter and sprinkle lightly with salt.

Cook onions in butter 8-10 minutes over low heat until translucent. Stir in crumbs and let cook slowly 2 minutes to absorb butter. Stir in seasonings.

Remove from heat and stir in cheese, then spoon mixture into pumpkin. Pour in cream to cover to within 1/2 inch of rim. Lay bay leaf on top and replace cover. (May be prepared in advance to here.)

Bake in a preheated, 400-degree oven 1 1/2 hours till pumpkin begins to soften on the outside and the inside is beginning to bubble. Reduce heat to 350 and bake 1/2 hour more till pumpkin is tender but still holds its shape. (If pumpkin is browning too much cover loosely with foil or brown paper.) May be kept warm in 200-degree oven up to 1/2 hour.

To serve, remove cover and dip into pumpkin with a long-handled spoon, scraping flesh off sides and bottom of pumpkin with each serving.

FOR SOUP: Use 6-7 pound pumpkin and same ingredients, except replace cream with chicken stock to 1/2 inch of rim. Stir 1/2 cup heavy cream and a handful of parsley into soup just before serving.

Pumpkin bread

- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon cloves
- 1/2 cup melted margarine
- 1 cup pumpkin
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup water

Sift dry ingredients into mixing bowl. Add wet ingredients and mix on electric mixer until blended. Do not overbeat. Bake in a prepared pan in a 350-degree oven for 1 hour, 10 minutes or until tester inserted in middle comes out clean. Cool completely on rack. Makes one loaf.

Italian-style pumpkin cheesecake

- Filling:
- 1 pound ricotta cheese
  - 5 large eggs, separated
  - 1 cup sour cream
  - 1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar
  - 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
  - 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
  - 2 cups pumpkin
- Crust:
- 1 1/2 cup amaretti or graham cracker crumbs
  - 1/2 cup melted butter

Blend cookie crumbs and butter together and fit into bottom of a 9-inch springform pan. Place on a cookie sheet and bake 10 minutes at 350 degrees. Cool on a wire rack. Leave oven on.

In a mixer or food processor blend cheese until smooth. Add egg yolks, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Blend in sour cream, pumpkin, sugar, ginger and nutmeg.

In another mixing bowl, beat egg whites with a pinch of salt till stiff. Fold the whites into the pumpkin in 3 additions. Pour gently onto cooked crust and bake 50-60 minutes. Cool completely on a rack. Flavors improve when refrigerated.

Serve each slice cold with a dollop of whipped cream and a sprinkling of cinnamon.

Sarah's pumpkin pie

- 1 1/2 cup pumpkin
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon cloves
- 1 cup brown sugar (not packed)
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1 1/2 cup pet milk (one can)

Place pumpkin, sugar and spices in a mixing bowl and combine. Add eggs and mix till beaten. Heat milk to scalding and add to mix, beating gently until all ingredients are combined.

Place in a prepared, uncooked pie shell and bake in a 425-degree oven for 15 minutes. Then lower the heat to 350 degrees and bake another 30-40 minutes until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Cool completely on ra

NOTICE OF PROPOSED ORDINANCE AMENDMENT

At a regular meeting of the Township Board held on November 15, 1994, the Board authorized a First Reading and Adoption of an amendment to the Township's Zoning Ordinance No. 83 as follows:

SUMMARY OF ORDINANCE

A text amendment to Article II of Chapter 19 Section 19-18 of the Independence Township Code and to the Uniform Traffic Code for cities, townships, and villages, being Sections 5.15 and 5.15(a) through 5.15(h), regarding operating a motor vehicle under the influence of intoxicating liquor and to substantially correspond to Act No. 211 of the Public Acts of 1994, State of Michigan.

In summary, Ordinance 83, Township Code, Section 19-18 and UTC Sections 5.15 and 5.15(a) through 5.15(h), provide the following:

1. Section 5.15 provides for the regulation and use of street, highways, or other places open to the general public regarding operating under the influence of alcoholic liquor or controlled substance; operating with an unlawful blood alcohol content; operating while visibly impaired, allowable blood alcohol content of minors of 0.02% or more but not more than 0.07% alcohol, attempted offenses, and penalties.

2. Section 5.15(a) provides the authority for arrest; preliminary chemical breath analysis; chemical tests and analysis of blood, urine, or breath-rigths and consequences of refusal; use of chemical test results in civil or criminal proceedings; and uniform rules for the administration of the chemical tests.

3. Section 5.15(b) provides the law and procedure for arraignment; pretrial conference; duty of court before accepting plea of guilty or nolle contendere; screening and assessment as to alcohol or drug abuse and rehabilitative services; license surrender and sanctions; and issuance of restricted license.

Section 5.15(c) provides the legal authority for implied consent to chemical tests and the law regarding certain persons who are exempt from blood withdrawal.

Section 5.15(d) provides for the lawful authority for refusal of a chemical test-right of a driver; and the requirement to report to the Secretary of State.

Section 5.15(e) outlines the effect of a refusal to submit to a chemical test; notice of report; request for hearing; and presence of counsel.

Section 5.15(f) provides the effect of failure to request a hearing; the hearing procedure; notice, appeal, notice to motor vehicle administrator, and notice to motor vehicle administrator of another state.

Section 5.15(g) provides the duties of a peace officer if a person refuses a chemical test or if the test reveals a blood alcohol content of .10% or more.

Section 5.15(h) regulates the operation of commercial vehicles by persons whose blood contains 0.04% or more but not more than 0.07% alcohol; arrest at time of accident; violation as a misdemeanor; and prior conviction defined.

The Ordinance also contains savings, repealer, effective date, and adoption provisions.

A true copy of Ordinance No. 83 is kept at the Charter Township of Independence Clerk's office, 90 N. Main Street, Clarkston, MI 48347, and may be reviewed, inspected, and/or a copy obtained during normal business hours.

Respectfully Submitted,

Joan McCrary
