City hires police chief

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's new police chief won't have too far to travel to work. In fact, he lives just around the corner.

Clarkston's City Council announced that Paul D. Ormiston, a resident of Clarkston and a police officer for the City of Auburn Hills, will take the position left vacant by former Chief Robert DeVore when he resigned in December. Though no public vote was taken, Councilman Steve Arkwright introduced Ormiston at the beginning of Monday night's council meeting.

"We have selected a police chief," Arkwright said, adding that council had reviewed from 34 to 37 applications for the position. "We narrowed down 14 people to five and had a lot of outstanding candidates ... The new police chief is a city resident living on Holcomb St. with 26 years of experience (in the police force)."

Paul Ormiston, a Clarkston resident, is the new police chief.

Ormiston, dressed in a suit and sitting in the front row with his wife Marilyn, a Clarkston school teacher, stood up and greeted those attending the meeting. He thanked the city for hiring him.

"This is a great opportunity to serve the community in which I live," he said.

He also thanked his family for support: "Marilyn, my wife at my side and to a lesser amount — but not to a lesser degree — my son Jon and my daughter Molly."

Ormiston also thanked his parents Harry and June Ormiston, who were sitting in the third row, and displayed a sense of humor.

"Like most mothers of police officers, I don't think she was pleased with my career choice, but (both my parents) didn't try to sway me from my decision."

Ormiston said that as chief he would "try to take (the department) to the next plateau — to take it to the next several plateaus."

His police career began in 1969 with the Rochester City Police Department as a police and fire dispatcher. In 1972 he joined Auburn Hills as a patrol officer and while there he became the AHPD's first recipient of the "Officer of the Year" award (1981).

Parade, fun Tuesday

A full day of family fun is scheduled for Tuesday, July 4 in Clarkston.

The festivities kick off with a parade at 10 a.m. beginning on Church Street, then down Main St. to Miller. Line-up is in the school area on Walden Rd. The parade is sponsored by the Independence Fire Fighters Association.

Then the fun moves to Clintonwood Park on Clarkston Rd., where music, games and crafts will be available all day.

A juried craft show will be open 11 a.m.-6 p.m. adjacent to the park's tennis courts. Artisans will display stained glass, folk art, wood crafts, grapevine, clothing, jewelry, pottery and more.

Kids games begin at noon, including a ring toss, cupcake walk, sack races, moon walk, dunk tank, pony rides and petting zoo. A waterball tournament where firefighters from area departments square off with fire hoses will begin right after the parade.

In addition, entertainment begins at noon with Steve King and the Dillies. At 1 p.m. it's the Dancing Dinosaurs, at 2 p.m. Steve King returns, at 3 p.m. it's the Bernie Stevens Magic Show, and at 4 p.m. the Straw Hat Band.

The park activities are sponsored by Independence Township Parks and Recreation. For more information call 625-8223.

For fireworks, the closest display is at Groveland Oaks County Park, off Dixie Highway at Grange Hall Rd. on Monday, July 3 at dusk. Addison Oaks Park on Romeo Road just east of Rochester Rd. will host fireworks July 1, and downtown Lake Orion will shoot off the boomers over the lake Monday, July 3.

In addition, the band boosters will be hosting a fund-raiser all weekend at the Clarkston Kroger (see related story inside). The winners of a raffle will be drawn after the parade.

The news in brief

Dognapping suspect is arraigned

A Waterford man who said he "found" two dogs belonging to a Clarkston man was charged in 52-2 District Court Monday with larceny.

Tod Joseph Connolly, 18, was lodged in the Oakland County Jail after he could not post 10 percent of a $2,500 bond. A preliminary hearing was scheduled for July 7 at 9:30 a.m.

Connolly allegedly called the victim after taking the dogs from their Wellesly Terrace home and finding the owner's phone number on the dogs' tags. A message left on the victim's answering machine said the thief was going to "ice" the dogs. Fortunately, the victim had caller ID on his phone.

The call was traced to a home in Waterford where a party had been going on at the time. The Oakland County Sheriff's Department located Connolly through a list of people who attended the party. They drove to his home and found the two dogs, a miniature Doberman and a Dalmation, in a car. Connolly answered the door and was arrested.

OCSO Dep. Chuck Young said Connolly claimed the dognapping was a joke and claimed some previous contact with the dogs' owner. The owner denies knowing Connolly, Young said.

Four charged in assault

Four men were arraigned in 52-2 District Court last week on charges they assaulted a 20-year-old Waterford man in a Sashabaw Rd. parking lot.

Ryan Hodge, 19, of Pontiac, was charged with felonious assault and assault and battery. Also charged with assault and battery were Robert Taylor, 18, of White Lake; Michael Stahl, 18, of Waterford; and Christopher Hodge, 22, of Pontiac.

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department was called to the scene of a fight in progress June 19 in an Independence Township parking lot. Witnesses said four men were attacking one man, who was hit over the head with a full beer bottle, beaten and his car, in which his wife was a passenger, was attacked. It all started with the four men hurling obscenities at the couple in traffic.

The victim received only minor injuries and refused transport to a hospital. He fended off his attackers, who at one time allegedly tried to run him over, with a shovel from his car.

The four suspects will be back in court June 29.

Larceny streak in township

Independence Township residents reported 14 larcenies from autos between June 19 and June 22.

Cars parked in lots on Dixie Highway, in Ottawa Park Cemetery, and on Berry Point, Mary Sue, Curtis Lane, Parview, Sun Valley, Bristol Park, Allen Rd., Deer Ridge Dr. and Vail Ct. were all attacked and various items stolen.

In one case, a man left a hair salon on Dixie Highway without paying, then went outside and started going through a woman's car in view of the owner. He was apprehended. In another case, two men were seen fleeing Ottawa Park Cemetery after stealing a purse from a visitor's car. In the other incidents, hubcaps, phones, stereo equipment, credit cards, checks, golf clubs, cash and an ATM card were stolen.

CHS junior wins Journalism Olympics

Focus:HOPE's annual contest gives young writers a different look at life

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

With essentially no journalism experience under her belt, Clarkston High School junior D'Anne Witkowski won this year's Focus:HOPE Journalism Olympics with a story on the Detroit agency's food program.

The competition is open to students selected by high-school English and journalism teachers for their writing skills. The juniors and seniors visit the Focus:HOPE complex, then write a story about what they've seen. This year, Witkowski beat out 110 other entries in the contest.

Witkowski's writing experience, though not in journalism, is extensive. This year she worked on the CHS yearbook, the literary publication and the newspaper, where she wrote the horoscopes and the "Ask Dr. Floyd" advice column.

"I started writing in eighth grade, real cheesy poems," she said. "My teacher, Mrs. Miller, said, 'You have a talent for this.'"

Before that, she admits, her grades were crummy—she even flunked seventh-grade English. "It's not something I'm proud of; it's just funny now," she said. "In seventh grade, I didn't care."

By ninth grade, Witkowski was winning an Award of Excellence for a short story in the Detroit Free Press writing contest. Now, she said, she will write for the rest of her life, though she's not sure of the career she'll pursue.

Fr. William Cunningham, Focus: HOPE executive director, is pictured with D'Anne Witkowski, who is wearing the gold medal she received for winning the Focus:HOPE Journalism Olympics. She also received a $2,000 college scholarship at an awards luncheon May 25.

By D'Anne Witkowski

A woman in faded red sweat pants pushes a grocery cart through the crowded store.

Her black hair is rustled and hangs in her face in long, tangled wisps.

A 3-year-old child calls for her attention from the cart's child seat.

Donna, mother of five children, lifts a heavy box of juice cans into her cart. She speaks frankly and vaguely. Donna is 33, though she has wrinkles and worry lines a young woman shouldn't have.

The bags under her eyes and creases in her forehead show it has been a hard life, and her impatient eyes show it's not getting any easier.

Donna and the many mothers like her do their shopping at Focus:HOPE's Food Prescription Center, a place where they can get free monthly food providing they meet certain income requirements. They have to; for them, there is no other way.

But Donna is quick to point out she's nobody's charity case. She works hard and so does her husband, but their combined incomes are not enough to feed their five children.

Focus:HOPE is a human rights organization operating in Metro Detroit. Focus:HOPE has been working since 1968 to provide opportunities for people with a desire to better themselves and a hope to achieve something greater in life. Focus:HOPE's Food Prescription Program is just one example of the many wonderful things this organization has brought to the community.

Donna has been a participant in Focus:HOPE's food program off and on for 11 years.

"I remember being on (food program) when I was younger. My parents were on it. I was going through some hard times last year, and I had to apply again," she said.

Without the food program she says she would be in the same place, but it would be harder on the family. "I have five kids, that's not going to change. I don't know how I'd feed them, but I guess I'd find a way."

Focus:HOPE's Food Prescription Program offers low-income pregnant mothers, post partum mothers, children under the age of six and senior citizens who live in Wayne, Oakland, and Macomb counties a chance to receive free food. Certain income requirements must be met and once determined, food can be received immediately with no waiting period. The Food Prescription Program feeds close to 80,000 hungry people annually.

Focus:HOPE's food program is for people in need, many of whom have young children to support who would go hungry otherwise. Most people who need this program don't want to need it, but they have no other way. The majority of these people have many responsibilities and problems in the way of families, jobs that don't pay enough and ends that don't meet. The Focus:HOPE food program is a hand reaching out to these people; giving them a chance and a way to help themselves.

"My number-one love in life is writing," she said. "I guess everybody has something they love, like horseback riding... I love to explain things in different ways... I love the smell of ballpoint pens."

Witkowski said she was surrounded by students with far more journalism experience at Focus:HOPE but she didn't panic. After a tour of the facilities in the morning, the students were on their own in the afternoon.

"I knew from the beginning I was going to write on the food program," she said. "There were a lot of people there; not a lot of them wanted to talk to me."

Of the Focus:HOPE experience, she said, "It was so different. I never would have ever in my life gone inside that place except for this. You hear about it... It really was a mind-blowing experience."

Witkowski won't be able to participate in next year's contest since she won this year. But she has some advice for future competitors.

"Don't spaz. And don't be afraid to talk to people. I was scared," she admitted, but had her story done fully an hour before deadline.

Extra bond money to go for fix-ups

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston school board must choose between putting an emphasis on safety or luxury.

The board, at its meeting June 19, voted to spend some of the balance of monies from the Springfield Plains Elementary School bond on renovating bathrooms and an alarm system at Clarkston High.

Converting the boys bathroom at Clarkston Elementary and the girls bathroom at Clarkston Middle school to handicapped-accessible will cost $12,000 and $3,000, respectively. The alarm system is expected to cost about $12,000.

While agreeing on those three projects, the board couldn't decide on how to spend another $270,000 of the leftover bond money. Other possible projects with approximate costs include:

- Clarkston Middle School roof repair, $55,000.
- CMS heating, $100,000
- Sashabaw Plains Elementary hard surface play area, $13,000. This project was included in the original plans for the elementary school but when costs ran over budget it was cut.
- Clarkston Elementary driveway/parking, $112,000.

● Clarkston High hook-up to public water, $25,000-$30,000. Haner said the high school has had two water problems in the past two years because the school is not hooked up to public water.

● Other projects considered by the board include lockers for the elementary schools and playground equipment purchases.

While board members brought up using the bond monies for a variety of purposes, Superintendent Gary Haner said, "the basic focus of this list was to deal with safety items first. I would like the board to come to closure on things like the need for safety vs. lockers. We need to narrow it down amongst ourselves."

Haner said he will bring the list up again at the July 10 meeting.

More troubled water turns up in city

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Those who voted "no" in March 7's special Clarkston city election for community water might want to take a second look at their wells.

The most recent findings conducted by the Michigan Department of Public Health show an additional contaminated well in Clarkston, bringing the total to five wells affected with MTBE (methyl tertiary butyl ether). The new well, on Glenburnie, is contaminated with 2 parts per billion MTBE — not a serious level, according to MDPH environmental sanitarian Lois Graham, who did the testing, but a cautionary one.

MTBE is a chemical additive in unleaded gasoline, tentatively classified by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency as a Group C carcinogen.

So far, water samples have been collected from resident and business wells on the following Clarkston streets: Bluegrass, Snowflake, Robertson, Glenburnie and Miller. MTBE levels ranged from 1 part per billion to 3 parts per billion in the five wells tested. One of the wells had the additional contaminant of toluene, a liquid hydrocarbon considered toxic and used as an anti-knock agent in gasoline.

Graham and Oakland County public health sanitarian Karen Kubic have so far conducted two tests since May when Bluegrass resident Kelly Toth asked to have her well tested because she suspected contamination.

Graham says she would like to do further testing on Holcomb Buttercup streets and is checking with her supervisor to more thoroughly define that area.

She has also asked Kubic to "pick up two more (resident wells) on Bluegrass that we missed with the Bluegrass testing."

Asked if the Mill Pond could be affected, Graham replied that was unlikely.

"Levels are so low, I don't think you could collect a water sample. The volatile chemicals in open surface water evaporate into the air."

Graham said she has been invited to a joint meeting between Michigan's Department of Natural Resources and the previous and present owners of the Clarkston Shell Station at the corner of M-15 and Bluegrass. The station was found to contain underground storage tank leakage of petroleum products into ground water. Most of the affected wells appear to be linked to that site, although one well is located near the village Muffler and Brake business at M-15 and Clarkston roads.

Graham said she expected the MDNR to ask for the Shell Station to pay "for the monitoring of the five wells that are presently contaminated on a quarterly basis ... And also to monitor nearby wells with less frequency, but at least twice a year for plume (contamination) movement."

Although none of the contaminated wells are close to the state health advisory level of 20 parts per billion MTBE, Graham says she recommends a close eye on the situation.

"We don't know what's going to happen, exactly. But we're looking at it, certainly. Right now I have five wells, one new, that have been contaminated with MTBE. We're not issuing a health advisory against the use of the water at this time, pending the answer from the responsible parties regarding a request for monitoring the wells."

Graham added that she could not predict the future of Clarkston's troubled water situation.

"I expect concentrations will change overtime — rise, go down or affect other wells."

Michigan Tastefest returns this weekend

A full weekend of blues and food is scheduled for June 30-July 4 in Detroit's New Center area.

It's called the Michigan Tastefest and after a record turnout last year it has been expanded to five days. Over 35 local restaurants will offer tastings of their specialties, including Clarkston's own Mesquite Creek.

Entertainment will include Comedy Central's human bowling national world tour, tours of the Motown Historical Museum, Microsoft hands-on family fun, a World Pog Federation tournament, roller hockey demonstrations with the Motown Mustangs, a photo exhibit, walking tours and music, music, music. Blues and jazz will be featured on separate stages all five days, ending with Chicago bluesman Buddy Guy July 4 at 4 p.m. on the grand stage. There will also be free children's shows July 1-4 in the lobby of the Fisher Theatre, and many hands-on children's activities.

Except for food, most events are free. The Tastefest is sponsored by SelectCare, Budweiser, The Wellness Plan, Blue Cross, NBD Bank, Comerica and many others. All proceeds benefit the nonprofit New Center Foundation.

For more information call (313) 872-0188. A copy of the complete schedule is available at The Clarkston News office.

"DOWNRIVER RUN" 13x17

Stay denied, B&B open

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The temporary Millpond Inn sign is a little tattered, but the hearts of the Kopietzes are not.

Though Buck Kopietz admitted the three-year ordeal had been grueling, he and his wife Joan were beaming after a session before Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Hilda Gage June 21. Gage, ironically the same judge who ruled in their favor last fall, refused to grant the City of the Village of Clarkston's request for a stay on the Kopietzes bed and breakfast inn at 155 N. Main. The action by the city came in response to the Kopietzes opening their inn June 11 without the city's OK.

Appealing to Gage, City Attorney Tom Ryan called the Kopietzes' opening "deceitful" and "subterfuge."

"We believe this is in violation of our zoning ordinance. Why they didn't wait is beyond me," Ryan said, referring to a case waiting to be decided in the Michigan Court of Appeals. The appeal was filed by the Kopietzes in 1992 after Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Edward Sosnick ruled that Clarkston's zoning board of appeals had the discretion to deny them a use change.

Another case was appealed to the state by the city after the Kopietzes won a decision from Gage on more appropriate use and structural changes.

"We ask to maintain the status quo," Ryan said, referring to his position that, until the two court cases are resolved, the bed and breakfast should not be open.

The Kopietzes' attorney Phillip Adkison responded.

"I see no threat to the health, safety and welfare of the residents of Clarkston if this bed and breakfast continues ... There's no subterfuge, no deceit ..."

He pointed to another quaint and charming community in North Oakland County.

"If Franklin is the town that time forgot, don't let Clarkston become the town that due process forgot."

But Ryan returned to the insult against the city.

"It's like they're saying, 'In your face, city — we're gonna open up and you do what you gotta do,'" he said.

In the end, Judge Gage turned down the city's request.

"The Court denies the request for the stay. The Court of Appeals can act if they want," she said.

Later City Attorney Ryan said he was unsure what the city's next move — if any — would be.

"We'll probably wait to see what the Court of Appeals says. That would be what I'd recommend to the city. (The city) made a motion and (Gage) didn't grant it. We'll see what happens next."

At council's Monday night meeting, Ryan asked that council make a motion to go into closed session to discuss the bed and breakfast issue. The motion was carried, 7-0.

Although Buck Kopietz admitted he was "a little nervous" before last Wednesday's court session, Joan said she never doubted the outcome.

"It was totally expected. That is exactly how we thought Gage would rule. We weren't anticipating her granting a stay. It would have made no sense."

The Kopietzes are putting the finishing touches on several rooms and plan to finish the African-theme suite soon.

"That should be done for our Open House 4th of July after the parade," Buck Kopietz said. The open house will include a "Name That Room" contest, says Joan, because the present nicknames are only temporary. The only room with a permanent name is the Abbott room, named after Clarkston resident Jon

The Rev. David Yoh hands Millpond Inn owner Buck Kopietz a check for two nights spent at the Millpond Inn last weekend while his wife Mary watches.

Abbott who tried unsuccessfully to open up his own bed and breakfast inn several years ago.

Guests have been filtering in and Buck Kopietz says he has future bookings as well as a waiting list. Recent patrons have included a South American couple who got lost in Detroit and wound up in Clarkston and former Clarkston residents The Rev. David Yoh and his wife Mary.

David Yoh said he needed a place to stay while officiating at a wedding in Clarkston last weekend. He remarked that he and his wife enjoyed Millpond Inn so much that they're returning.

"Just to stay here next weekend," he said. "It's one of the most convenient and charming places to stay."

Yoh should know. He and his wife reside in an area on the other side of the state that's just full of the cozy inns.

"There are almost 20 bed and breakfasts in Saugatuck — the town of 1,000 people," he quipped.

Buck and Joan Kopietz will host an Open House at the newly opened Millpond Inn, 155 N. Main St., immediately following Clarkston's 4th of July parade. For more information call (810) 625-8677.

In Focus

by Annette Kingsbury

A learning experience

Things I learned while staying home a week on vacation to redecorate the house:

DAYTIME TV is a lot more than just game shows, talk shows and soap operas. It was fun to see many of my old favorites, like Cagney and Lacey, The Rockford Files, Magnum P.I. and Lou Grant running all day, every day on cable. My old friends kept me company while I worked.

SEEMS THE GOVERNMENT is investigating the tax-exempt status of some big-time lobbyists—the National Rifle Association and the American Association of Retired Persons. The latter has my dad, the retiree, up in arms. Isn't it interesting, though, how the government can find a way to attack lobbyists who fall out of favor while Congress still takes their money. Wouldn't it be simpler to just outlaw gifts from lobbyists?

COUNTRY MUSIC FANS must be the biggest consumers of tattoos. I say this after attending a large, free, outdoor country-music show in Wyandotte weekend before last. OK, so it was hot. But some people should be arrested for showing up looking like they do. The charge? Criminal bad taste.

ICED CAFE MOCHA is my new favorite drink for a hot summer day. Take one shot of espresso, a dollop of chocolate syrup and some cold milk and pour it all over ice. Since I don't have an espresso machine, I have to go to my local coffee shop to procure this delicacy. But it's well worth the $2.50 they charge for a nice, tall glass.

EVEN THOUGH I WAS SWEATING over a hot wallpaper steamer, it was nice to get away from the pressures of work for a week. No one calling to say they couldn't care less about my opinion (so why read this column?). No one sending anonymous photos of President Clinton in a pink tutu. If you don't like the guy, just say so.

SPEAKING OF THE PRESIDENT, seems he's impressing a few people with his get-tough attitude toward Japan. My dad the conservative, who also happens to have 40 years with GM under his belt, said Clinton would get his vote if he could succeed where so many other presidents have failed and open Japan to US imports. Hearing such a statement from The Dad was just about shocking enough to STOP THE PRESSES. Go, Bill.

IF YOU LIKE THE BLUES, be sure to make it down to Detroit's cultural center over the July 4th weekend. There will be a full slate of top-notch bluesmen, including Chicago's Buddy Guy, who has been called the world's best guitar player by no less than Eric Clapton. See you there.

POOR WINGS. How could we have been so myopic? Seems no one in Detroit thought they could lose. But apparently the national media had been saying right along they couldn't win. One thing you can say: When it comes to loyalty, Detroit fans are the best.

THINGS I LIKE ABOUT CLARKSTON, part III: The SCAMP home tour.

Letters to the editor

Thanks, Carson and Shanks

Dear Editor,

As with most undertakings, many people were willing to help in the drive to pass Proposal C; few were willing to take a leadership role. I would like to take this opportunity to thank two people who did just that — Helen Carson and Kurt Shanks.

Mrs. Carson was the Pine Knob Elementary PTA Chairperson for the bond drive. She worked tirelessly to rally support and involve as many volunteers as possible. When no one could be found to handle something, she did it herself.

Mr. Shanks was the H.U.G. (Help Us Grow) Chairperson. His dedication to the campaign was extraordinary. He believed in this issue and spent countless hours making believers of others.

The children of Clarkston have a brighter future thanks to the endeavors of these two people. We are fortunate to have them in our community.

Debra Sabo

Credit belongs to all

To the editor,

"It's Time" to thank the many volunteers, financial contributors, businesses, PTAs and PTOs for their tireless and successful efforts to pass the bond issue for a desperately needed new high school.

To those who wore T-shirts, manned information booths, worked the town hall meetings, went door-to-door and made the pilgrimage to Rockford, thanks. From the steering committee to the building teams to the smiling folks who greeted the booth workers, or honked as they passed the volunteers that waved the "Vote Yes" signs on election day, you all had an integral part in helping achieve our goal.

You can be very proud of improving our students' lives and helping keep our community a desirable place to live.

Personally, I gained some new friends and a deep respect for the commitment so many people have regarding the quality of education for all kids. Many new faces got involved in the last few months and I urge you to stay involved — not just in the building of the new high school, but in the many other issues that our schools will have to deal with.

Keep up the good work! Together, we can make a difference.

Kurt Shanks,
chairman of the H.U.G. committee

Droppings, pits are Millpond problems

To the Editor,

Tonight I went to the Millpond to go fishing with my Mom and Bob. There was piles of goose droppings. I could not even fish without stepping in it. I fell in pits that were on shore. I noticed there were several others.

I thought this was a place where children can go to fish and play. I don't feel safe. I feel the City of Clarkston should clean up the droppings and fill in the pits and sink holes.

Respectfully,

Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

Get ready to join me in a big lawsuit

Makers of cigarettes are having a tough go these days. Lung cancer patients (victims) are aligned to sue the butts off the nicotine drenched filter tipplers.

Supporting the down-with-smokers movement are the near-bys . . . those who can't stand the smoke outside the kitchen.

Naturally, all the againers have vote seekers in Washington who will back any and all causes for a majority vote.

Tobacco growers, tobacco processors, tobacco paper makers and tobacco users have all been heard in the Nation's Capitol by Congressional and Senatorial committees.

I don't recall any sanctions being placed on the tobacco industry except forcing them to print a "dangerous to your health" message on each pack.

However, I have high hopes those suffering from cigarette smoking will eventually win their cases. The victory will open my suit to have cigarette companies pay for all the pain and suffering caused by having to pick up the billions of butts in my yard.

I cleaned a small, shrub-grass area near our Clarkston News area last week. I do it every year or so. There may be fewer smokers in Michigan today, but for some reason there are a lot more cigarette butts.

If someone is looking for something to invent, look into a cigarette butt-magnet or dissolving chemical that will not be hazardous to our health.

My case against tobaccoists will center on back pain, maybe lower back pain, you know, the kind that can't be cured except by not having to pick up cigarette butts.

Every municipality, every property owner will join me in this class action suit that should, properly handled, not cost me a dime.

Then, with this victory assured, these same municipal and land owners will support our case against all the fast food, quick litter eateries.

Did you ever notice that the McDonalds, Burger Kings, Dairy Queens, etc have the cleanest property in town? That's because they all have subliminal messages at their take-out windows that say "throw it elsewhere."

'Elsewhere' is in my yard. This morning it was a Hot 'n Now carton.

Through the years I've learned to not attempt to destroy discarded packaging stuff by running over it with my lawn mower, hoping to have the blades throw it back in the road.

Like you, this act only results in more non-biodegradable matter that remains on our lawns to be picked up by all of us who suffer from lower back pain.

A look back

15 YEARS AGO (1980)

Unofficial 1980 U.S. Census tallies say Independence Township and the Village of Clarkston reflect the growing trend toward smaller families. The early figures show housing units have increased 43.2 percent — from 4,794 in 1970 to 43.2 percent this year. The village has 15 percent more dwellings — up to 413 from 359 in 1970. Population for the township has increased by 22 percent during the past decade, from 17,361 in 1970 to the present 21,182. Village population has decreased by 9.7 percent, dropping down to 934 from a 1970 total of 1,034.

This year's theme for Clarkston's 4th of July parade is "America the Beautiful." Those who want to participate need to notify the Independence Township Fire Department, the parade's sponsor, as soon as possible. The parade will move down E. Church to Main and turn north, continuing to Clarkston-Orion Road. Motorized units will drop out at that point, but walkers and marchers will continue down Miller Road to Main where they will disperse.

25 YEARS AGO (1970)

Vandals hit the Village of Clarkston in two acts this weekend. On Saturday, June 27, a fire bomb is thrown at Clarkston High School although no damage results. During the night of June 28, the Clarkston Jaycees' bulletin is the victim when the word "pollock" is stenciled in large letters across the sign at the village parking lot corner at S. Main and Washington.

The annual 4th of July sailboat race is announced. The race will be held on Deer Lake at 1 p.m., with the starting line in front of Mac Dougall's. All boys and girls aged 14 to 17 are urged to enter their small crafts and compete for prizes.

Edith Holcomb retires after 16 years of service to the Clarkston Post Office. Her fellow employees honor her with a dinner on June 26. "It will be a little hard to get used to retirement," says Holcomb. "I have met so many wonderful people." Also, Mrs. K.B. Valentine tenders her resignation as chairman of the Independence Township Library Board after nine years of dedication and effort. "Reading books is like a disease with me," says Valentine. "I certainly don't intend to lose interest in the library."

50 YEARS AGO (1945)

News from "By The Way": To the traveller Clarkston is a peaceful, carefree, little beauty spot. Beautiful — because from any approach there are hills, woods and lakes; carefree — because on some nights you will see some of the citizenry and businessmen playing catch on the street in the main section of town; peaceful — because on most days you will see a group of little tots — say from four to nine years old — seated in a row on the steps of the Masonic Temple thoroughly enjoying ice cream cones ... Now that summer is really here and there are a few sunny days each week, the parks are crowded with picnickers ... fishermen do not worry so much about meat now if they can make a good haul. Monday saw the lakes dotted with boats and no doubt many enjoyed a fish dinner that night.

Monday night marks the fifth anniversary of the Clarkston Rotary Club. New officers include president, Earl Terry; vice president, Ralph Marshall; secretary, Arthur Shurz; treasurer, William Burns; and directors Everett Butters, Earl Hoyt and William Vliet. Past presidents include Fred Groven, Gerald O'Dell, Roy Alger, Lloyd Megee and Robert C. Beattie.

60 YEARS AGO (1935)

The Epworth League of the Methodist Church holds their annual picnic at Cedar Glen. There are 13 people who enjoy the supper and the meeting that follows, but most remark that the mosquitoes at Cedar Glen are bigger and smarter than any other place in the county.

Playing at the Holly Theatre are Aline MacMahon and Guy Kibbee in "Mary Jane's Pa," Edmund Lowe and Jack Holt in "The Best Man Wins," Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy in "Naughty Marietta," Frankie Thomas and Helen Westley in "Dog of Flanders," Franchot Tone and Una Merkel in "One New York Night" and George Raft in "The Glass Key."

Great specials at Kroger's this week include Gold Medal Flour, 99 cents for a 24 1/2-pound bag; stewing chickens, 23 cents a pound; Swift's Brookfield Spread, four packages for a quarter; and Country Club Coffee, a one-pound tin for 25 cents. Kroger's also has Wesco products — Wesco Scratch Feed is just $1.99 for a 100-pound bag and a 100-pound bag of Wesco Laying Mash sells for $2.39.

Never go to sleep angry.

I've always followed that wise advice, which is usually aimed at couples who've been arguing all day. They should make up before they go to sleep at night. Otherwise she won't make his breakfast in the morning.

But I wasn't mad at my wife, I was mad at my book, "The Chamber," by John Grisham. Why? To begin with, blame the season.

On that day, I'd intended to start reading "The Tibetan Book of Living and Dying," by Sogyal Rinpoche, a Buddhist activist. A kind reader sent it in regard to my column claiming that, no matter what Pat Robertson preaches, Christianity isn't necessarily the only morally acceptable answer to whatever question is raised.

In the forward, Rinpoche's book promises, among other things, to tell me how to help the dead. I admit I haven't spent a lot of time fretting about that particular problem. I guess I thought the dead were beyond help, and I might better aid the breathing.

Obviously, this is heavy, intellectual-type prose. So, before reading further, I consulted a calendar. It's summer! Time for summer reading, a dictate I've always followed, even if I don't qualify.

The idea is that while lazing on the beach in the hot sun, you shouldn't treat your brain as though you are squatting in a snowbank studying for final exams. Read a trashy romance.

The truth is I never saw a beach I wanted to laze on. No matter what the weather, I prefer reading in my favorite chair, in bed, or standing in line at the bank.

And, even though the movie was OK, I'm sure I couldn't read four pages of "The Bridges of Madison County" without retching. I base this certain feeling on the opinions of reviewers I trust. Never mind Julius LaRosa.

In a recent radio interview, LaRosa became the first apparently rational person to claim publicly that the "Bridges" book is better than the movie. (If you never heard of LaRosa, you're too young to be reading this adult material. Go ask your grandpa what Arthur Godfrey dared do to a tenor.)

Anyway, inspired by the movie, the newest item on fragrance counters is a cologne called Bridges. When a film is made of "The Tibetan Book of Living and Dying," I'm fairly certain there'll be no perfume manufacturers scrambling for the right to sell the smell of either condition.

So, like a good little summer reader, I put off the Tibetan book until snowfall and instead paid Kmart $5.63 for John Grisham's latest courtroom wallow to reach paperback, which surely qualifies for sandy lazing, in case the bank line ever stretches that far.

You'll be surprised at how that book made me go to sleep angry.

It was nothing Grisham wrote. It was Chapter 11, which occurred just when the narrative was getting particularly interesting, on death row. Except for the headline and one page, there was no Chapter 11. Instead, it was replaced by Chapter 7, which I'd already read. Chapter 11 was nowhere in the book; believe me, I looked and looked.

So I had to try — and try — to get to sleep without knowing the outcome of a death row confrontation. Which made me angry.

The next day at the Lapeer Kmart, when I exchanged my copy for the complete book, manager Dan Bartholomew was extremely accommodating. I only hope Grisham's publisher, Dell, is equally reasonable about my lawsuit seeking $10 million in damages for mental anguish. My sleep is precious to me.

Subsequently, I will write a legal thriller describing my battle for justice against a giant publishing corporation. There'll also be a movie. I can smell it now.

Don't Rush Me

By Don Rush

Mountain out of a mole hill

I have a new arch nemesis. One that has become the bane of my existence. One so cunning that for the past two years he has out-witted my every attempt to thwart his progression.

The Mole is an evil, vile creature.

And, he must be stopped at all costs. The path of his destruction must be curtailed before he can wreak any more havoc to the flower garden. As you can see this critter is pushin' my buttons.

I have stomped on his tunnels.

I have stuck a hose in his tunnels in an effort to drown him. I have gone as far as placing the draconian-looking death traps over his tunnel. All he would have to do is plow underneath and SNAP! Six, spring-loaded spikes would pin him in his tracks.

Yet, the vermin lives. Maybe this mound maker is Robo-mole. I can see him now, his beady little mole-eyes, squinting in the light of the sun, popping his head up. Snickering.

The dirty, rotten ...

I might as well do nothing for all the success I have to date. I'm sure he's strolling along as if he were taking a walk in the park. Excuse me, under the park.

I have stomped his tunnels flat, gone away and come back 15 minutes later and see he's done his dastardly deeds again.

Curse your eyes!

I have tried to wait him out. Stomp and hide has not worked. I can silently camouflage myself behind the pear tree, as still as a rock, waiting for ground movement so I can pulverize him. He does not return.

I am not making a mountain out of his mole hill. This is not trivial.

This is Jihad, Holy War.

And, it is about time I brought out the heavy artillery. Do you think anybody in our neck of north-east Oakland County would mind if I land-mined his pathway? Does anyone have a bazooka I can borrow for the weekend?

It doesn't have to be this way. Mole and man can live in peace. He only needs to borough a mere 12-inches to the lawn, and he would be in Mole-Switzerland. He can have the lawn. He can dig and eat bugs to his heart's content under the lawn. I want him out of the flower garden.

I want him to stop pushing up the geraniums. Those are my terms. I am, after all, a reasonable man. And, I can smell defeat on the horizon.

Got a gripe?

Focus on the family by Dr. James Dobson

QUESTION: We are not financially able to take long car trips or delve into expensive hobbies, like skiing. Could you suggest some simple traditions that will appeal to small children?

DR. DOBSON: You don't have to spend a lot of money to preserve meaningful family life. Children love daily routine activities of the simplest kind. They enjoy hearing the same stories a thousand times over, and they'll laugh at the same jokes until you're ready to climb the wall from repeating them.

You can turn the routine chores of living into times of warmth and closeness if you give a little thought to them. The key is repetition, which conveys the feeling of tradition.

Let me give you an example. When my family was younger, I attempted as often as possible to put the children to bed in the evening. By that time of the night, my wife was exhausted and she appreciated the help. It also guaranteed me at least 15 to 20 minutes with the kids no matter how busy I had been that day.

The responsibility included diapering Ryan during the first three years of his life. (It took him a while to overcome that requirement, as it does all children.) I figured if I had to put a diaper on a squirming toddler, I might as well turn the activity into something that would be fun for both of us. So we played a little game each night. I would talk to the pins as I was diapering my son. I would say, "Pins, don't stick him; I don't really think you ought to stick him. See, he's being still; he's not wriggling around. Tonight, you don't have to stick him; maybe tomorrow night, but don't stick him tonight."

Ryan loved that game! He'd listen quietly, his eyes as big as half-dollars. And every night Ryan would say without fail, "Talk to the pins, Daddy!" It was something we did together, turning a routine activity into something of pleasure between father and his toddler.

I'm reminded of what Howard Hendricks said when his children were grown. He asked them what they most enjoyed about their childhood — the vacations they had taken, the parks they had visited, and all the moments they had spent together. Their answer surprised him. What they appreciated most were the times when he had gotten down on the floor and wrestled with them!

My daughter felt the same way when she was young. She would rather fight with me than go to Disneyland or the zoo! After we'd had a tussle that left me exhausted, she always thanked me for fighting with her. For some reason, kids love that wild activity. There's kind of an informal love that transpires in a playful romp that doesn't occur any other way.

I also like the idea of reserving one night a week for reading aloud with the family. Sometimes that's difficult to accomplish with children of varying ages, but if your sons and daughters are clustered in age, I think it's a great activity. You can read "Tom Sawyer" and other books that have been so popular down through the ages. The idea is to read together as a family.

In short, I believe many Americans have forgotten the value of characteristics and activities that identify families as unique and different. This benefit was beautifully illustrated by the stage play, "Fiddler on the Roof." What gave the violinist his stability and balance on his precarious perch? I want to give the same heritage to my children.

Heritage Hunt II by Virginia Block

Between "hidden costs" in computer bulletin boards, raising the cost of telephone usage, postage rate hikes, and everyone needing research formerly done by large membership groups — it's back to the basics, folks.

So where are you and why haven't I heard from you, if you are among those lamenting the poor return for your money spent?

We have learned of the recent republication of the three-volume set of reprinted "A Digest of the Early Connecticut Probate Records."

Myra Vanderpool Gormley reports in her last column that these records were published first as Vol. 1 and 2 in 1904, the 3rd in 1906 by Charles William Mainwaring. If you had ancestors in Conn. 1635 to 1750, this will bear looking at, although the 3 books include 2,224 pages.

Cemetery visiting is beginning for many of you, and reading old stones may be easier if you carry a coffee can (or even a large ziplock bag) of flour and a powder puff. Dusting the writing on the marker with the flour is easier reading, does no damage, and washes away with the next rain storm. More and more, pioneer burials that were found in "private" cemeteries have become lost, due to the families no longer existing, or deterioration of the site, and sale of the land for "development."

One of the subjects addressed by Prodigy "friends" was reference to the indifference exhibited by the "bureaucracy," in our quest for vital records in various Michigan counties, citing the difference in prices, attitudes and responses to mailed requests for birth, death or marriage records. In the case of land records, it is suggested that for government records offices, or corporations, that you pay for a certified receipt of your correspondence being received. It might save you bucks in the long run, they said.

An interesting fact came off the conversation where the question was raised as to whether Michigan deaths are indexed for public use.

The person asking, stated that California does this, but wonders what policies in this regard prevail in other areas. Don't overlook the value of cities' directories found in most local libraries, as they offer proof of residence of your "family members," with clues to further research possibilities.

"An Index of Pioneers from Mass. to the West," is a handy guide to many families coming to Michigan and locates the reference to them in alphabetical order, in this gem that we own. Included is info on spouses, where in Michigan they settled and the atlas or reference book where the information is found.

What do you need? Where are you searching? Happy Hunting.

Committee to study Waldon-Main rezoning

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

For the second time in a row, Clarkston's City Council decided to table the Main-Waldon rezoning proposal for further study.

At the last council meeting June 13, Bob and Deanna Olsen's request for council to approve rezoning of the five lots they optioned for a new office building was not resolved. The Olsens hoped a decision would be reached at council's meeting Monday night.

The Olsens have an option to buy the $130,000 piece of property until August 1995, at which time they may apply for another year. They want it rezoned from residential (R-1) to business (B-1).

As with past meetings and hearings before Clarkston's planning commission and council and meetings with Independence Township, the Olsens were supported by many city and township residents. But two city residents — one who lives on Main and one who resides on Waldon — attended Monday's meeting and expressed disapproval. Neither likes the fact he would be looking out at a building rather than undeveloped land.

Dan Stevens, who lives on Waldon, "kitty-corner" from the five-parcel lot, said he moved from Bloomfield Hills because of Clarkston's "quaintness."

"I've never been contacted," Stevens said, pointing to the Olsens' petition which includes signatures from surrounding residents and businesses in favor of their project. "I just read a little bit in the newspaper last week and I was concerned about this issue and upset by building commercial on this piece of property... I saw what they did to Rochester. What's going to happen when all these commercial situations start moving into the village?"

Stuart Mahler, who signed the petition, responded.

"All this gentleman (Bob Olsen) wants to do is add a building that looks very much like a house. The village is made up of buildings and their uses change. When it comes to commercial, we don't apply the same standards."

Deanna Olsen said she had researched the property and checked past zoning. Though council said at the last meeting the property has always been zoned residential, she found the zoning had been changed to commercial in 1946 and switched back to residential in 1973 because "that was the time a gas station was going to be built there." She also presented council with documentation concerning appraisals on the lots from 1981, "to as recent as last year."

The most recent appraisal, performed by Independence Township Assessor Dave Kramer in 1992, echoes the others:

"The site suffers severe topographical characteristics in that the highest point is immediately at the intersection, with the terrain falling off to both the South and the East. Furthermore there is an abundance of wetlands on the site, consuming parcel 5 in total, nearly all of 4, and over one-half of 3, with some wetlands on parcels 2 and 1."

"The Highest and Best Use of the property is commercial. Highest and Best Use is defined as follows: 'the reasonably probable and legal use of vacant land or an improved property, which is physically possible, appropriately supported, financially feasible, and results in the highest value.' This is inconsistent with the present zoning of the property which is residential."

"What's the best use — residential or commercial? I think that's what we're here to decide ..."

Deanna Olsen said.

At the end of Monday's discussion, council moved to appoint a committee for further study. Mayor Sharron Catallo, Councilman Bill Basinger and Councilwoman Karen Sanderson were appointed.

"I don't think it's any stall tactic," Catallo said. "I think you're one step ahead by us taking some time to consider it — even though our own planning commission recommended to deny it."

In other council action:

- Council approved the 1995-96 general fund budget, 7-0. The city will levy the same millage rate as last year — 12.3 mills — to generate total fund revenues of $492,584 for the next fiscal year. Salary increases went to Art Pappas, boosting his present salary of $33,100 to $36,930 for his three jobs as city manager, treasurer and sewer fund biller. City Clerk Jeanne Selander Miller's pay per election was increased from $500 to $600 for local elections and from $1,500 to $1,700 for state and national elections.

- Council voted unanimously to have city attorney Tom Ryan attend every council meeting. "Too many situations are too critical," Pappas said.

- Council voted 7-0 to reallocate 1991 Community Development Block Grant funds for building street corner ramps for those who are physically challenged. Some CDBG funds from a former year are also to be used for building a walkway from the White Lake safety path to the Depot Park gazebo for physically challenged visitors. Councilman Bill Basinger suggested that limestone rather than concrete be used because it packs down better as a surface and requires less maintenance.

- Sanderson was appointed council's representative

Use caution with insect repellents containing DEET

The use of insect repellents containing DEET should be limited, especially when applied to children, due to possible health dangers associated with the chemical, advises Dr. David Wade, toxicologist for the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Wade said exposure to high levels of DEET (diethyltoluamide) can cause adverse health effects including headaches, restlessness, crying spells, mania, staggering, abnormally rapid respiration, convulsions and coma.

Wade said children are particularly susceptible to the dangers of DEET. "If you must use repellents on children, consider purchasing those containing low levels of DEET," he said. No more than 15 percent of the repellent's ingredients should be diethyltoluamide. He advises consumers to check the product's label, which lists active ingredients by percentage.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency recommends that consumers immediately stop using the product if symptoms occur. If the product is swallowed, consumers should immediately contact a poison control center or the emergency department of a hospital. The EPA also advises discretion in using the product on people with acne, psoriasis and other chronic skin conditions.

Insect repellents are most often used in Michigan to ward off mosquitoes and deer ticks, which can carry Lyme disease.

For further information about DEET, contact Wade at 517-373-1087.

Dunaskiss may challenge Patterson

BY DAN MCCARVILLE
Lake Orion Review Staff Writer

He's not saying he will, and he's not saying he won't. But he is saying maybe.

State Senator Mat Dunaskiss (R-Lake Orion) is pondering his political future, with a possible run for Oakland County Executive or US Congress not out of the question.

Now in his second term in the Senate, Dunaskiss, who previously served 10 years in the State House of Representatives, said he is considering both options. The lawmaker said he will make a decision in September.

"It's really been encouraging in the Senate with the legislation we've been passing," Dunaskiss said. "That makes it difficult to think about moving on. Diane and I are going to take some time and talk about it."

L. Brooks Patterson's term as County Executive is up in 1996. Dunaskiss said Monday he thinks Patterson may enter the Michigan gubernatorial race in 1998, when John Engler's term is up.

Whatever Patterson's intentions are, Dunaskiss feels the county executive should do a better job of representing the entire county.

"He (Patterson) is forgetting about North Oakland County," said Dunaskiss, referring to Patterson's position on SMART, the OCC millage, and the latest

Oakland County Sheriff's Department contract negotiations. "He has to get back to reality."

As for a run at US Congress, Dunaskiss is exploring the idea of being the Republican candidate to face incumbent Dale Kildee in 1996. Megan O'Neill lost to Kildee in 1992 and 1994. Dunaskiss said he has to weigh the pros and cons of serving in Washington.

"It's a grueling schedule, being gone three days a week, plus the amount of time spent at home servicing the district," Dunaskiss said. "Is it something for us as a family?"

The summer will afford Dunaskiss an opportunity to consider his options. Whatever he decides, Dunaskiss said he will hit the ground running this fall.

"Once I make up my mind I'm going to do something, I think about it 18 hours a day," Dunaskiss said. "I'm very driven."

Promotions in DPW, building departments

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Six Independence Township employees were promoted to higher positions.

Four employees in the department of public works were recommended for promotion by director George Anderson, while two building department employees were recognized by director Beverly McElmeel.

The township's board of trustees approved of the promotions and pay increases at the June 20 meeting.

The DPW promotions and pay raises went to:

- * Jeffrey Cooper, from senior maintenance person to superintendent, with a .75 cents an hour raise.
- * Roger Belcher, from maintenance to senior maintenance person, with a .43 cent raise.
- * Chris Turk, from labor to maintenance person, with a .42 cent increase.
- * Kathy Ainge, from clerk II to clerk technician, with a .52 cent raise.

Building department promotions and raises are for:

- * Katherine Poole, from clerk to secretary, with a .45 cent per hour raise.

* James Howard, from zoning ordinance officer to building inspector II, a $3.03 raise per hour. Howard was hired as part-time building inspector in Dec. 1993, then hired as full-time zoning ordinance enforcement officer in June 1994. But with increased construction activity, McElmeel recommends he be used for full-time building inspector.

Other board action

Two fireworks permits were approved by the township board.

Pine Knob Music Theatre received a permit for July 1-4, which will allow over 250 various types of fireworks displays to be shown.

Lake Oakland also received a permit for a small assortment of fireworks on July 1. The American Legion and the Lake Oakland Fireworks Fund will show the display from American Legion property over Lake Oakland.

The township fire department, which also approved of the permits, will provide stand-by coverage on display nights.

The township board met in closed session for about one hour to discuss pending litigation.

The regular board meeting lasted only 35 minutes.

The next regular board meeting is scheduled for July 5, a Wednesday.

AAA announces top 10 stolen cars

Many people believe brand new, expensive sports cars would be the most likely theft targets. While that may be true nationally, it's not the case in Michigan, where statistics show late-model, full-size cars and trucks are the vehicle of choice.

"In Michigan, vehicles are stolen not so much for their actual value, but how quickly and easily they can be sold to chop shops, which tear the vehicles down and sell the parts separately," said Bob Vogt of AAA Michigan's Claims Investigation Unit.

"Nine out of 10 of the most stolen vehicles are either Chevrolet full-size trucks or Oldsmobile Cutlass cars. There's a large number of these makes and models in Michigan and a strong market for their parts."

Michigan's top 10 stolen vehicles, in 1993, as reported by the Automobile Theft Prevention Authority, are:

1. 1986 Chevrolet full-size truck.
2. 1991 Chevrolet full-size truck.
3. 1985 Chevrolet full-size truck.
4. 1984 Oldsmobile Cutlass.
5. 1992 Chevrolet full-size truck.
6. 1993 Ford full-size truck.
7. 1989 Chevrolet full-size truck.
8. 1988 Chevrolet full-size truck.
9. 1985 Oldsmobile Cutlass.
10. 1986 Oldsmobile Cutlass.

Protecting Your Car

To help reduce your chances of becoming a victim of vehicle-related theft, AAA Michigan offers the following safety tips:

- Lock it and pocket the key.
- Park in a well-lit, well-traveled location.
- Don't leave valuables in view.

Fun on the dunes, in the air

A weekend adventure 'up north'

By Don Rush

Fun in the sun in Traverse City is alive and well, thank you.

Desiree and I packed in a lot fun in one weekend, recently. Our host was one of the city's newest, Bayshore Resort, located about two blocks east of downtown.

Open since the summer of '94 Bayshore is unique to a city that has 60 lodging properties and 4,200 rooms to rent -- it is the area's first "smoke-free" motel. While this might seem a risk at first, Bayshore was packed with families, young couples and senior citizens.

It's design is Victorian. It's pleasant and clean. You'll find no cigarette holes or smell in the drapes or linens left from previous guests. It's a little thing, but one touch that can add a lot to an enjoyable stay.

Bayshore has also hooked up with a couple of other private enterprises that can add spice and adventure to your stay. Beach activities right outside the back door are taken care of by Jet Sport and Recreation. Organized Adventures handles day trips, hiking, biking and horseback riding in that beautiful area of the state.

On our first full day there, we hooked up with Ceil Kadrovach, from Organized Adventures, to tour the Sleeping Bear Dunes and the 7.4 mile Pierce Stocking Scenic Drive (at one point on the drive you can look almost straight down 450 feet to Lake Michigan). She picked up our group of 18 people at the lobby in the morning and took us away for the day -- we were back by 4 p.m.

We stopped to shop at Glen Arbor for about an hour before heading over to the dunes for lunch and hill climbing. While many have seen the dunes, what was nice about going on the tour, was not having to drive. This gave us time to take in the scenery on the way there and back.

The dunes, as always, are a wonder. You appreciate the vastness of the dunes and Lake Michigan once you make your way up 130 feet of loose sand to the top. Once you reach the crest, it's another mile and half jaunt to Lake Michigan's shore; round-trip from the parking lot it's 4.5 miles. It was made all the more fascinating by listening to foreign exchange students who had never seen it before. They were in awe of the beauty that surrounded them.

That tour, which included a box lunch like mom would have packed, cost $30 a person.

That evening we headed out to the Old Mission Peninsula that separates the east and west bays for dinner at Kelly's Roadhouse Cafe (try the rib dinner) and to Chateau Chantal for wine tasting. (Bob Beigin's Chateau Chantal on Rue de Vin is open until 9 p.m. each night. If you want a picturesque view of the both bodies of water and a wonderful sunset, go there.)

On Sunday, before we headed back to Oakland County, we did the beach-thing for awhile. Boy, did we.

After donning the bathing suits and heading out the back door we went to the Jet Ski and Recreation booth and signed up for parasailing. That was fun.

After a little apprehension about the idea of being towed 400 feet above the bay, it was easy. Anybody can do this -- you don't even get wet. You get sucked off the back of the boat by that big parachute and glide through the air. You can bring your throwaway camera and take pictures while you're up there, because you don't need to hold on to anything. You're strapped into a harness.

For a half-hour glide through the air the price runs $45 a person. They also rent waverunners, aqua bikes and jet boats.

We didn't think of home once while we were having fun. It was just what the doctor ordered -- a fun-filled weekend away from home.

For more information on Bayshore Resort or the Traverse City area call the hotel at 1-800-634-4401 or the Traverse City Convention and Visitors Bureau at 1-800-TRAVERS.

Rates at Bayshore range from $80 a night to $290. They have golf, romance and casino packages, as well as a $49 a night senior citizen package (two-night minimum, Sunday-Thursday, April 1 through October.)

Bayshore sits on the West Bay in Traverse City.

Just a little point of reference while parasailing.

In a Clarkston state of mind...

Piano Man finds niche at downtown cafe

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

*"Sing us a song, you're the piano man,
Sing us a song tonight.
Well, we're all in the mood for a melody,
And you've got us feelin' all right."*

—from "Piano Man," by Billy Joel

Michael Krieger has lots of people feelin' all right at the Clarkston Cafe tonight.

As they filter in for dinner and drinks around 7 p.m., the evening is just beginning. But already Krieger's sweet, clear tenor drifts above the clinking glasses and banal chatter. At the bar a man sits watching a boxing match, idly munching popcorn.

Krieger finishes Billy Joel's "Piano Man" and launches into another favorite — "Your Song" by Elton John. He seems to belong at the old upright Baldwin piano, his curly head bent over the keys almost reverently, adoringly, as if they're his children.

But make no mistake about it, the poetic dreamer has a sharp wit.

"I'd buy a big restaurant and I'd hire me to sing," he warbles, parodying John's classic.

The man at the bar catches it, turns and chuckles appreciatively.

Krieger is presently the cafe's own Piano Man and performs there every Thursday and Friday night. He's been there since late March when he first walked in, says Clarkston Cafe's general manager Carroll Harris.

"He wouldn't leave until I came up and listened to him. He was persistent, you could say. I watched people's reaction. They really got into it."

Mesmerized by Krieger's music is little Evan Erickson, who came to the Cafe Friday night with his parents Tom and Renata and big brother Trevor.

Harris booked him for the two nights each week and hasn't regretted her decision.

"We've had nothing but compliments on him since he started here."

But Krieger's reception hasn't always been that positive. A pianist since childhood, Krieger left Detroit in 1992 for Los Angeles where he sought a recording contract. But the producers wouldn't buy his mellow, soul-searching music, nor did he feel kin to the high-gloss impersonal L.A. scene.

"It's a very difficult town for a musician to feel he or she is making any progress. It's hard to get past anybody's secretary on the phone. They get a million record calls a day."

Though Krieger admits he "learned a lot musically and in terms of the music business" while in California, "I was trying to figure out where I was going to live," said the former Van Nuys-based resident.

Frustrated with dreams that didn't materialize, he decided to travel across the country, sending letters to friends whom he literally "begged" for bookings in small clubs.

"I'd even do a concert in your living room," he wrote.

Those gestures turned into reality. Krieger's search for a niche took him into nine states during his "Living Room Concert Tour." Though he also played in small clubs and coffee houses, most of the concerts were, indeed, in living rooms.

Some of the people who booked him were old friends who had joined him in the Great Peace March of 1986 when he walked across the U.S. promoting nuclear disarmament. During the march Krieger had gotten to play with legendary greats like Pete Seeger, Graham Nash and Peter, Paul and Mary. Peter Yarrow called Krieger "a fine and sensitive singer."

That period was also a time for him to do some introspection about the kinds of songs he wanted to write and sing. Most compositions reflected social and political issues instead of the "you-broke-my-heart love songs," Krieger said.

Back in Michigan, Krieger played gigs at Boodles in Madison Heights, Prima Diner in Southfield and Backstage Restaurant and Footlights in Royal Oak. But his soul-search eventually ended in Clarkston.

Now, Krieger feels he has found a home at the historic restaurant on Main Street. He enjoys the regulars who come in and request Joel, John, Carole King and others.

"He's wonderful," gushes Maryann Karlstrom, who, with husband and son, both named Gunner, has a standing table in the back nearly every Friday night. "He's just nice to listen to in this type of atmosphere — and he's happy. He loves what he's doing."

"It's really great when people come in and ask me to sing a song and tell me it's their favorite," says Krieger. "When I was young I wanted to be a pop star. I never dreamed I'd be playing in a restaurant — just being around people and making people happy through music."

You can catch pianist Michael Krieger every Thursday and Friday night at the Clarkston Cafe, 18 S. Main St. in downtown Clarkston. He also does private parties, weddings and other functions and may be contacted at (810) 542-5732.

Turtle crossing

No, it's not a creature from Jurassic Park, but the Pupillo family thought this large snapping turtle just might have come from that time period. According to Laurie Pupillo, the 28-inch long, 16-inch wide marine reptile was spotted June 4 crossing their lawn on Rattalee Lake. "We've seen some smaller turtles around here before but not that big," said Pupillo. "I guess I won't be going swimming there for awhile." Pictured behind the turtle are, left to right, Stephen, Dominic and Jonathan.

Traveling tuber returns home

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Detroit City Police Department finally got to the root of the problem concerning the disappearance of Mr. Potato Head last fall.

He was returned to Sashabaw Middle School math teacher Jeff Peariso last week who expected to reunite Head with his owner, SMS assistant principal Mike Krystyniak.

Peariso, who lives in Lake Orion, said he "just happened" to be dining at the trendy Mexican restaurant "Xochimilco" near Detroit's Hart Plaza where Head was found.

He was spudded "eating with several Detroit police officers at a table," said Peariso, who was dining nearby — although Peariso said the police could have been eating him. A photo showing a plate of mashed potatoes — with eyes, nose and mouth that resembled Head's — was a former threat from an unknown source.

However, when Head was examined by police — and area chefs — he appeared to be in tact and said he was in the best of health. He denied rumors of tuberculosis and root canals.

"He had a great tan. He was nice and brown," Peariso said, adding that the DPD had turned Head over to his care.

Peariso could give no explanation as to why Head was released in his custody, but said he was "The Good Samaritan." The DPD credited Peariso with the final rescue of the traveling tuber who experienced a series of misadventures that took him all over the world this past year.

Many Clarkston residents and SMS students and staff members have been involved in the search for Head, who was nabbed from Krystyniak's desk during parent-teacher conferences last fall.

There have been several suspects in the potato-napping. Peariso is one of them and admits to encountering Head while on the eighth-grade Washington D.C. trip and on a personal vacation in Las Vegas.

"He (Head) partied hearty. He kept me at the craps table till the wee hours of the morning. Mr. Potato Head was down several thousand dollars, but he spent his winnings on wine and women."

Peariso said the glamour went to Head's head.

Peariso also commented that because of spud scandals, Head's marriage might be baked. "Mrs. Potato Head has also been fooling around," Peariso said. He showed The Clarkston News photos of Mrs. Head and "friend" Mr. Pineapple Head in Hawaii.

At presstime Krystyniak had not been reunited with Head and said he had expected to find him in Washington.

"I was beginning to wonder ... I was thinking that that was where we'd be reunited — on the White House porch or something striking like that," Krystyniak said. "It turns out he had been in my own home (at one time). My wife was in collusion with a friend to get him to Australia."

Krystyniak said his wife is now a prime suspect in the case which is still under investigation. His wife

—Maurice Barres

SMS math teacher Jeff Peariso was spudded at a Detroit restaurant where Head (pictured) was found.

"just happens" to work at Xochimilco's.

"It's kind of sad to be (allegedly) betrayed by your own wife," he said.

However, Krystyniak felt he and his wife's situation was not as serious as the Heads, who aren't seeing eye-to-eye. He added that the Krystyniaks would have to work together because of a recent development — a cardboard box full of relatives from Head's family tree ... er, plant.

"Now I have an extended family to support, a whole box full. I have to get a new shelf in my office just for them," he said with a sigh.

Band boosters host July 4 raffle

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

They're ba-ack.

The Clarkston Band Boosters will return over the July 4 holiday weekend with a fund-raiser with a patriotic flair.

The boosters will be raffling off a four-foot carved wooden statue of Uncle Sam created by a Clarkston woodworker, John Koval. Other prizes to be raffled include a grocery cart full of groceries, donated by Kroger; two mountain bikes, donated by Coca Cola; and a $50 US savings bond, donated by Comerica Bank.

For the third year in a row, the boosters will set up shop at the Clarkston Kroger store on Dixie Highway starting Friday to sell tickets and refreshments. Kroger manager Rick Onan is a former band student himself and a big supporter of the Clarkston instrumental music program, several band boosters said.

Boosters will be at Kroger Friday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.; Saturday, 9-4, Sunday, 10-3, Monday, 10-5 and Tuesday, 9-2. The band will perform on Monday. Raffle tickets will be on sale until 1 p.m. July 4 and winners will be drawn after the parade. (You need not be present to win.) The boosters will receive a percentage off all the refreshments they sell as well.

During the July 4 parade, the boosters will sell coffee and other refreshments in the Clarkston News parking lot, along with cookbooks, raffle tickets, T-shirts and hats.

Band booster fund-raising co-chairperson Marla McKee said the boosters are proud of their kids, both for their music and hard work and for the way they behave when representing their school. She points to a recent competition in St. Louis.

"The judges just raved about our kids," she said.

John Koval shows off the wooden Uncle Sam he created which will be raffled off July 4 by the Clarkston Band Boosters. Tickets are $1 each, three for $2 or eight for $5.

Koval, vice president of the boosters, said the money raised goes to provide the band with necessities the school district doesn't provide.

"Some of the extra things we need we have to raise the funds for," he said. "Just last year we bought a trailer. We virtually have to haul every piece of equipment in the bandroom."

Koval spent 40-50 hours carving the Uncle Sam which will be raffled off. The face is hand-carved; the rest was done by machine. It's painted and finished so it will stand up to outdoor use.

Koval has been woodworking for 18 years and has provided his family with beautiful furniture, as a brief tour through his house proves.

A firefighter who works 24 hour shifts followed by a couple of days off, Koval spends his free time in his basement workshop. He's built some of the signs in front of Clarkston school buildings and his subdivision, and has been called into work on the clock in front of NBD downtown on occasion.

Koval and his wife have two children, a tenth-grader and a second-grader come fall. They expect to be working with the band boosters for many years to come.

Future fund-raisers will include the Labor Day parade, Renaissance Festival in August, Spree coupon books, marching band invitational September 23 and the Santa's Workshop antique and craft show Nov. 11.

"Thank you in advance to the community for all their support," Koval said.

Clarkston hires new police chief 82).

Other highlights include leading the effort to create the Officer's Field Training Program, being appointed acting police chief in July 1986 and becoming actively involved in the voluntary Police/Senior Citizen program. Ormiston is also certified as an infrared Breathalyzer operator for the State of Michigan, a radar operator and in use of the automatic external Defibrillator through the Oakland County Medical Control Authority.

One of the reasons he will fit into the Clarkston community as its new police officer is, he feels, his ability to extend his involvement as a citizen. Presently he is the Youth Group coordinator at St. Daniel Catholic Church and does volunteer work with Auburn Hills senior citizens.

During his interview before council June 7, Ormiston said the job requirements and his accessibility as a Clarkston resident would fulfill a need "in creating my idea of a police department and in the community in which I live. There won't be the separation of (my) family ... I have a lot to offer this community. In Auburn Hills I'm doing a lot of things — working with seniors, getting (neighborhood) block parties together — things I would like to be doing here for my own community."

"For the community it's better — They've got one of their own."

Ormiston's contract includes a $43,000 salary "to start," said Clarkston City Manager Art Pappas Tuesday. It's more than former Chief DeVore received because Ormiston will be on 12-hour call, five days a week. At the end of six months, Ormiston's contract and salary will be reviewed, Pappas said. His contract also includes 10 days paid vacation a year with sick days and holidays, but no medical benefits.

Pappas said an annuity might be included but "(council) is looking at stuff like that. (The city) doesn't have any present police policy. Council is trying to work that into their overall plan for police officers."

Ormiston will officially become Clarkston's Police Chief July 1.

Early deadlines

The Clarkston News and the Pennystretcher will have early advertising and letter deadlines due to the July 4 holiday. The classified advertising deadline will be Monday at 10 a.m. Display advertising, photos and letters to the editor must be received by 2 p.m. on Friday.

Both the Pennystretcher and The Clarkston News will be received by subscribers on their regular days. The Clarkston News office will be closed on Tuesday, July 4.

Section B

Knob notes

By Eileen Oxley

Preferring to be low-key, Tesla is not your typical glamorous rock band.

They don't dress flashily, soup up their stage with pyrotechnics, employ muscled bodyguards or feature sexy women on their videos and album covers. Instead, they prefer jeans and T-shirts while delivering their trademark — raw, rockin' music that's been delighting fans for over a decade.

"We don't act like stars, we don't look like stars. We don't wear sunglasses at night or leather jackets in 110-degree weather," says bassist Brian Wheat. "We just want to be musicians and play."

The still-original five-members — Wheat, singer Jeff Keith, guitarists Frank Hannon and Tommy Skeoch and drummer Troy Luccketta — went after success the old-fashioned way — through hard work and touring.

And they earned it. Every previous Tesla album has sold more than one million copies. The long list includes "Mechanical Resonance," "The Great Radio Controversy," which included the hit single "Love Song;" "Five Man Acoustical Jam," the ground-breaking acoustic album which included "Signs;" "Five Man Video Band;" "Psychotic Supper;" and an "MTV-Unplugged" concert, hailed as one of the series' best.

Tesla's most recent recording, "Bust a Nut," follows the band's tradition.

"'Bust a Nut' steps in the same direction as the last album. Scratching that gear on 'Psychotic Supper,' that's us. We like it rough and rockin'," says Keith.

And low-key, of course. On a recent tour, Tesla surprised its fans by beginning its concert with the house lights up and two people walking across the stage, picking up guitars and jamming. It took a few minutes before the audience realized the two scruffy figures were Hannon and Skeoch.

"We caught them offguard," says Keith. "They thought they were the guitar techs, no way could this be the band. It felt weird but we did it the first night and everyone got off on it. You could tell that this was not the usual."

The band closed its performance with another lack of pretense — choosing not to exit, then re-enter for the usual encores. Keith simply asked the audience, "We're not going to hide behind the amplifiers. Do you want to hear another?"

When Nancy Clark stopped to buy cat food, she didn't expect to walk away with a dog.

Now Duffy, a lovable 10-month-old English sheepdog, is part of the Clarkston family's household.

Michelle Phaup, who lives and works in Clarkston, also admits she's a sucker for a cute, furry face. A volunteer for K-9 Stray Rescue League, she became involved in the organization last spring when she stopped by at the same Pet Supplies Plus store in Waterford that Clark patronized.

"I stopped by because I saw an 'Adopt-a-Pet' sign. I already had two dogs I had gotten from the (Oakland County Animal) shelter on Brown Road. That's where (K-9 Stray Rescue League) picks them up," Phaup didn't adopt a dog or cat — but she was definitely bowled over.

"I said, 'I'll raise money, I'll do anything ... I will go and find a home for Greta (a particular dog she was taken with, whom, ironically, her ex-husband adopted)."

Now Phaup and others donate a good deal of their time to supporting K-9 Rescue League, a non-profit organization that commits itself to saving "pound puppies and kitties" from the Oakland County Animal Shelter's euthanasia list.

The organization's volunteers periodically show dogs at several locations around the Oakland County area, including Pet Supplies Plus in Waterford on Dixie Highway in the Northway Plaza and Frank's Nursery in Bloomfield Township on Telegraph Road. Their mission: to save animals from Death Row. Their hope: to find foster care or a permanent happy home.

Clarkston residents will have their own chance to adopt a pet when K-9 comes to Clintonwood park for a show, following Tuesday's 4th of July parade in downtown Clarkston. Phaup estimates they will have 30 dogs and cats next to the petting zoo.

Metamora resident Carole Powell founded K-9 Stray Rescue League several years ago.

"Originally, she started going by the (Brown Road) pound, getting (the dogs and cats) their shots and standing out in front of K-Mart and giving them away," said Paula, Stovall, K-9 volunteer.

Eventually K-9 became state-licensed. Most dogs and cats come from Oakland County Animal Shelter "because their situation is so urgent," says literature from K-9. The pamphlet also states that 13 to 17 million dogs and cats are put on Death Row each year. Most are not adorable babies or purebreds but older and larger mutts who are often overlooked. Some dogs have found a new life of service. To date, four dogs have been placed with U.S. Customs, nine with Leader Dogs for the Blind and one with PAWS With a Cause.

All dogs and cats are spayed, neutered, given shots and wormed before they may be adopted or placed into foster homes. Disposition is a priority rather than breed and size.

Stovall says K-9 is always looking for new volunteers to do anything and everything for the League's charges — and of course, to shelter animals. Fundraisers, phone callers to do follow-ups and drivers are also needed besides those who have innovative ideas about saving as many animals as possible.

Although donations for the non-profit organization come from private individuals (all are tax-deductible), Stovall says volunteers pay for many of the operational expenses out of their own pockets. Founder Powell rents a kennel in Imlay City for rescued dogs and many K-9 volunteers provide foster care for both dogs and cats in their own homes.

"Right now, Carole pays per dog per day to keep these dogs in homes (and the kennel). The biggest problem is keeping a dog, taking him off Death Row and finding him a home. Anybody who adopts one of our dogs (or cats) is actually giving an animal a chance to live," Stovall said.

Phaup, a broker for Clarkston Real Estate, is currently helping K-9 by "putting together a plan to house dogs that will never be put to sleep."

"We're trying to get the cable company to do taping — free advertising on the local cable access network because K-9 is a non-profit organization. It'll show dogs and cats that are available for adoption."

Phaup feels the investment in one of K-9's animals brings unlimited dividends.

"They will give 10 times back, actually more than that, probably ... And all they want is your unconditional love."

K-9 Stray Rescue League's Adopt-a-Pet will be held from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. July 4 in Clintonwood Park on Clarkston Road. For more information on the organization call (810) 620-3784.

Scharl departs as one of Midwest's best

Next stop is U-of-M track, CC

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Senior Leah Scharl ended her high school athletic career as one of the best tracksters in the midwest.

She was selected to run in the June 10 Midwest Meet of Champions, an all-star event for seniors that pits Michigan's best against the best from Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

Not only did Scharl run, she anchored the winning 3200 relay team and came up with a blazing split time of 2:15.6. The team ran a 9:20.

"I felt really good. It was a great facility and place to run," said Scharl, who earned a medal and plaque in the process.

That victory topped off a stellar track and cross country career for Scharl. Besides numerous accom-

CHS girls track season point leaders

1) Leah Scharl, 155; 2) Stefanie Burklow, 109; 3) Kammy Powell, 92.5; 4) Jennifer Bauer, 60.75; 5) Liz Murphy, 60.5; 6) Renee Staley, 55.5; 7) tie, Lisa Herron and Liz Cook, 47.25; 8) Stephanie Bradford, 45.5; 9) Kelly Christie, 44.25; 10) Liz Holman, 19.75; 11) Carrie Mead, 18; 12) Gretchen Pitser, 15.25; 13) Nicole Bauer, 12.

plishments in the 400 run and high jump, she anchored Clarkston's 3200 relay team which won regionals, OAA and took second in the Class A state meet.

During the fall cross country season Scharl finished 5th in the Class A meet, coming back from a stress fracture which forced her to sit out most of her junior year.

In addition, she was named Academic All-State in cross country and track with a GPA over 3.8.

The next step for Scharl is running for the University of Michigan track and cross country teams. While few scholarships are given for the UM programs, Scharl said she is going to be on the teams.

"My best race is probably the 800 but I still like cross country the best of them all."

● Junior trackster Stefanie Burklow did finish 8th in the 800 run at the Class A state meet June 3.

After meet officials recorded Burklow finishing 9th — and missing out on medal contention — coach Gordie Richardson sent in a video tape of the finish which shows without a doubt she took 8th and did earn a medal.

Purple Power!!!

Marissa Combs, Megan Renda, Courtney Barker, Sara Zerba and Jennifer Wickline.

McCormick camp returns

Grant Hill, NBA Rookie of the Year, will be making a guest appearance at the Tim McCormick Basketball Camp, to be held at Clarkston High July 17-21.

The camp is for boys and girls in grades 4-9 and players will receive a camp T-shirt and special prizes.

McCormick, a 1980 Clarkston High grad, helped lead the Wolves to a 26-1 record that season as he became a high school All-American. As a senior at the University of Michigan he was named MVP of the NIT and led the Wolverines to that title. He was drafted in the first round of the NBA and played ten years in the league. During the last two seasons he has worked as a TV color analyst.

CHS girls varsity basketball coach Larry Mahrie will help teach campers.

Cost for the week-long session is $70 and enrollment is limited to the first 75 campers in each session. The session for kids in grades 4-6 is from 7:30-9:45 each day and for grades 7-9 is from 10:15-12:30 each day.

Registration forms must be turned in the Clarkston High Athletic Dept. by July 11. For more information call 682-8131.

Sports in brief

● Golf lessons for adults and children will begin at the Rochester Community House July 18. Cost is $57; call 651-0622 for more information.

● Water Safety Day will be held at Waterford Oaks Watepark July 5 and 7. The free clinic for swimmers age 8 and older will cover water and boating safety, rescue devices for non-swimmers, beginning swimming fundamentals, CPR, first aid and more. Classes run 9:30-11:30 a.m. followed by open swimming. Pre-registration is required by calling 858-0916 (TDD 858-1684).

Just the basics

Volleyball fundamentals was the focus at the Clarkston High Volleyball camp for grades 6-12 last week. Varsity coach Gordie Richardson, along with current and former players and coaches, ran the camp to have fun and teach the basics to young and old. Pictured above, these two girls practice the proper way to set.

The Dawg Pound

Results rounded up by Jack Leech

11-year-olds

June 20: The youngest Dawgs team could only muster three hits in a 10-2 loss to the Lake Orion Dragons.

12-year-olds

June 20: Thanks to four runs scored in both the 1st and 5th innings, the Riverdaws beat the Lake Orion Dragons 11-2. Greg Keister pitched seven strong innings and added 2 hits and 2 RBI, while Matt Harrison had 3 hits, including a two-run double in the 5th.

June 22: A three-run rally in the bottom of the 6th inning put the Dawgs in front of the Brandon Braves by one run. That was enough as Clarkston won 11-10, helped along by Ryan Kaul's strong pitching in the final inning.

June 24: The Rochester Braves made a comeback of their own and scored two runs in the bottom of the 6th to give the Dawgs only their second loss of the season, 7-5.

13-year-olds

June 19: In a crossover match with the North Oakland Baseball Federation's American League, the Oakland Indians ripped the young teen Dawgs (who play in the National League) 14-1.

June 25: Continuing crossover action, Clarkston lost a doubleheader to the Astros by scores of 10-1 and 9-1. The Dawgs did manage to play the entire pitching staff, including Francis Hodges, Ryan Marino, Jon Bemis, Ryan Clement, Nick Petrinec and Brett Crawford.

14-year-olds

June 21: The mighty Riverdaws bats and four-hit pitching by Justin Nanney combined to rock the Troy Titans 14-1. Nick Upchurch slammed a solo homer and Chad Umbcheid went 3-for-4 to pace the Clarkston attack.

June 25: Weak hitting brought the 14's their most disappointing loss of the season, losing by a score of 3-1 to the Rochester Cubs. Despite seven strikeouts by Eric Jenks, Rochester scored three runs in the third to seal the victory. The Dawgs never had a chance to make a comeback as rain forced the game to end in the top of the 6th inning.

15-16-year-olds

June 20: At Clintonwood Park (Clarkston's home park), Dawgs pitchers Travis Pegg and Dennis Bush combined for a 6-5 win over the Rochester Blackhawks.

June 23: This time the Blackhawks came up with a close 8-7 win, despite strong pitching from Jason Frack and Mike Gray.

June 24: The senior Dawgs split a doubleheader with the Troy Braves, losing the first 8-7 and winning the second 11-6. Clarkston's Jarrod Thomas and Matt McGinnis got the call on the mound in the first game and performed well despite the loss. In the second game, Dennis Bush and Travis Pegg once again formed a winning pitching combo by giving up only five hits.

JV boys gather to take first in OAA track meet

A strong contingent of freshman and sophomores led Clarkston to the boys JV Oakland Activities Association title last month.

The Wolves took first out of eight teams, racking up 151 points. It was a dominating performance as the JV squad took eight first-place finishes and scored points in all 13 events.

Placing for Clarkston, by event, were:

- * Long jump — freshman Marc Venegoni, 1st.
- * High jump — freshman Ron Grinold, 3rd; freshman Brenton Bergkoetter, 4th.
- * Shot put — Eric Leigh, 1st.
- * Discus — soph. Jason Olafsson, 2nd; Leigh, 4th.
- * 100 dash — soph. Ryan Schlaff, 2nd; freshman Jeff Long, 3rd.
- * 200 dash — Venegoni, 2nd.
- * 110 hurdles — freshman Curtis Brewer, 1st.
- * 300 hurdles — Brewer, 1st.
- * 400 dash — freshman James Holst, 2nd.
- * 800 run — freshman Jonathan Burklow, 1st.
- * 400 relay — Grinold, Venegoni, Bergkoetter and Long, 2nd.
- * 800 relay — Long, Grinold, Venegoni and Bergkoetter, 1st.
- * 1600 relay — Long, Bergkoetter, Burklow and Holst, 1st.
- * 3200 relay — Burklow, soph. Jeff Deevey, freshman Scott Watson and sophomore Nick Pinazzo, 1st.

Freshman sports

By Michael Romein

Freshman baseball

The Clarkston Wolves Freshman Baseball team finished the season with some exciting play.

On June 5, the Wolves mercied Brandon 13-3 behind the strong pitching of Josh Clark. He struck out three batters, walked two, and only allowed four hits. Clark also contributed on offense with four hits.

Other Wolves supplying some offense were Brian Herzog, who was 3-for-3, and Bryant Caudill, who had four RBIs. Kelly Myers, Mike Little and Nick Giroux all had two hits each.

On June 6, the Wolves played a doubleheader with the Lake Orion Dragons. In the first game, Bryant Caudill and Matt MacInnis teamed up to pitch a 10-3 victory. Combined, they struck out eight batters, walked three, and only gave up eight hits against a strong Dragon squad.

However, the Wolves flexed some of their own offensive muscle. Herzog led Clarkston with 3 hits and 2 RBIs. Clark, Little, Caudill and Justin Dionne all had two hits.

In the nightcap, Jared Thomas pitched well when he needed to, securing a 7-3 victory despite rainy weather. Thomas also helped the offense with 2 RBIs. Dan Caputo and Clark each had two hits. Jeff Drolshagan contributed with a key hit in a five-run, second-inning rally.

The Clarkston freshman team finished with an 8-5 record. "We let a couple of games slip away, but overall, we played well," said Coach Rod Hool.

Bryant Caudill led the team in hitting with a .684 batting average, and Jason Coryell followed at .650.

Jared Thomas led the team in pitching with a 3-1 record, and Matt MacInnis was 2-0 with a 1.20 earned run average. Caudill and Clark also pitched well throughout the season. "Our pitching staff was the backbone of the team," said Hool.

The players would like to thank everyone for supporting the team, especially the athletic department and the parents.

(I would like to thank Rod Hool, and all of the other coaches — Karen Czamecki (JV softball), Jody Viviano (freshman softball), Jerry Ostrom (JV baseball) and Brian Fitzgerald (JV soccer), for their help throughout the season.)

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

BEFORE YOU REJECT OFFER

EXPERIENCE HAS SHOWN that your best offer might be one of the first received.

27 S. Main, Clarkston
625-9300

QUESTION: I received an offer to buy my home just one week
after it was placed on the market. Is it possible that the price was set too low? Should I be skeptical of a good offer which comes so fast?

ANSWER: It's human nature to assume that if you receive such a good offer after only a week, that you'd get even better offers by waiting. It rarely works that way. Experience has shown that the first offer is often the best one. This is because a listing is exposed to a large group of potential buyers. Your best offer is likely to come from that group. Be cautious before rejecting a good early offer out of hand.

8th-graders storm Washington, D.C.

More than half of Sasahabaw Middle School's eighth-graders spent May 23-27 on a trip to Washington, D.C. Approximately 142 students and 12 adults took part, said SMS math teacher Jeff Peariso who traveled with the middle-schoolers. Their tour included visits to the Capital, Arlington Cemetery, the Washington Monument, both the Lincoln and Jefferson monuments, Mt. Vernon, the National Archives and the Botanical Gardens. Peariso said the students visited only "the front of the White House because it was the day of the jumper (the man who made national news when he jumped the White House fence)." The students have been planning the trip since last fall. During that semester they held a Weather Raffle to raise funds. Many local businesses donated prizes for the raffle and Peariso said students were able to raise a great deal of money that way.

Recall announced on Gerry baby products

The National Traffic Highway Safety Administration (NHTSA) has announced a safety recall involving 37,599 SecureRide infant child safety seats manufactured by Gerry Baby Products. Model 626 infant child safety seat manufactured from August 15, 1994 through March 17, 1995 does not meet federal safety standards due to an important warning label that has been mislocated.

The required label warns owners not to use a rear-facing child safety seat in the front seat of a car that is equipped with a passenger-side air bag. A deploying air bag could seriously injure a child in that position. In this type of situation it is best to put the rear-facing child safety seat in the back seat.

Owners of the Model 626 infant child safety seat should contact Gerry to obtain a new label and installation instructions. This can be done by calling Gerry toll-free at 800/952-5552, or by writing Gerry Baby Products Company, 1500 E. 128th Ave., Denver, CO 80241.

Remember, to keep your child safe, it is important to know how to correctly use an infant/child safety seat. Anyone who has questions on child safety seats should call NHTSA's Auto Safety Hotline toll-free at 800/424-9393.

Summer fun for everyone at Bay Court Park

Now that summer is in full swing, kids and parents can take full advantage of Bay Court Park, just as these little ones are doing. All that was needed was some sunshine and finding the right play equipment.

Milestones

Livieratos-Carmean

Spyros and Chrisanthi Livieratos of Clarkston announce the engagement of their daughter Denise to Michael Carmean, son of William Carmean of Union Lake and Marilyn Carmean of Clarkston. The bride-to-be is a 1995 graduate of Central Michigan University who received a BS in business administration. The prospective groom graduated from Ferris State University in 1993 with a BS in criminal justice. A September 1995 wedding is planned at St. George Greek Orthodox Church in Bloomfield Township.

Parrott-Carlock

Scott and Sandra Parrott of Clarkston announce the engagement of their daughter Wendy L. to David W. Carlock, son of David and Cheryl Carlock of Clarkston. An August 1995 wedding is planned.

Reunions

● The 1965 graduates of Our Lady of the Lakes High School are searching for lost classmates. A 30-year reunion is planned for July 29, 1995 at the Wyndham Gardens Hotel in Novi. For more information, please contact Diane (Sioma) Waggoner at 810-887-7605 or Judy (Tossey) Dengate at 810-681-1420.

New scholarship

Corey Bildstein of the Clarkston High School Class of '95, is the recipient of a scholarship from the Class of '65 in honor of their 30th reunion. Corey is the son of David and Nancy Gignac and William Bildstein, all of Clarkston. He plans to attend Michigan State University this fall to study engineering.

Pat Owen, of the Class of '65 reunion committee, said the committee is still accepting donations toward its scholarship fund and hopes to make the award an annual event.

"We were looking for some way to give back to the community," Owen said. Donations were made by class members in response to a note on their reunion invitations.

To make a donation send a check to her at 14519 Rice Dr., Sterling Heights, MI 48313.

Corey Bildstein

At school

● Brant Blomberg of Davisburg was named to the Dean's List at Central Michigan University with a 4.0 GPA. The 1994 Clarkston High graduate, who will be a sophomore next year at CMU, is an engineering major. His parents are Steve and Hellen Blomberg.

● Ethan James Lee, a 1991 Clarkston High graduate, recently graduated from Oakland University in electrical engineering. He is now employed by Siemens Automotive of Auburn Hills.

● Heather Flor, of Clarkston, was named to the Dean's List at Michigan Technological University for having a GPA of 3.5 or better. The MTU senior is majoring in civil engineering.

● Patrick Fabrizio of Clarkston has been awarded the doctor of medicine degree from the University of Michigan Medical School. He is the son of Joseph and Nancy Fabrizio and the husband of Laura Fabrizio.

Kristen Gray, daughter of John and Alice Gray of Clarkston, recently graduated from Raabe College of Pharmacy at Ohio Northern University with a BS in pharmacy.

Business briefs

● Deborah Elert of Clarkston has been promoted to Senior Representative in the Detroit District of Janssen Pharmaceutica. Elert graduated from the University of Colorado with a BS in business administration. She began her career with Johnson and Johnson, Janssen's parent company, in 1983.

● David Miller of Clarkston, doing business as Glennwood Custom Builders was fined $250 by the Michigan Department of Commerce for "willful departure from or disregard of plans." The action took effect April 27.

● Mark Slade of Davisburg, doing business as Champion Homes and Contractors, was fined $1,500 by the Michigan Department of Commerce and ordered to make repairs to a complainant's property for "poor workmanship, failure to acknowledge a complaint as justified, failure to correct a complaint within a reasonable time, and failure to adhere to standards of construction."

● Century 21 Hallmark West announces the receipt of ERC (Employee Relocation Council) national designation of CRP (Certified Relocation Profession) to Linda Kustra, Century 21 Hallmark West's relocation director.

In service

● Air National Guard Senior Airman Cheree L. Craze of Davisburg recently graduated from the structural specialist course at Sheppard Air Force Base (Wichita, Texas).

Students were taught construction and maintenance of wood and masonry structures. Also included in the training were interpretation of construction drawings, bricklaying, and uses of concrete, mortar, etc.

Craze is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Fuller of Davisburg and a 1989 graduate of Flint Northern High School.

Bill and Laura (Custer) Popp announce the birth of a daughter, Emily Marie Popp, born March 18, 1995. Emily weighed 6 pounds, 10 1/2 ounces and was 18 inches long. Grandparents and Bernice Popp, Bill (Sugar) Popp of Iron Mountain and Scott and Marie Custer of Milford.

ABWA honors Fisher

The Inde-Spring Chapter of the American Business Women's Association has elected Barbara Fisher Chapter Woman of the Year. A member since 1989, Fisher is an active fundraiser for ABWA. She is the former owner of Fisher Electric, a commercial contracting company. She now works for Burkland in Goodrich, where she went to work after tiring of retirement. ABWA also elected a new executive board to be installed in August. They include (in photo from left) Jan Gillespie, treasurer, Bridget Hughes, president and Barb Fisher, vice president. Not pictured is Jan Warren, secretary. For more information about upcoming ABWA events, call 620-2956.

OAKLAND COUNTY

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

"HEARING OF ASSESSMENT"

LAKE IMPROVEMENT BOARD

FOR WALTERS LAKE

Notice is hereby given that the Lake Improvement Board for Walters Lake, Township of Independence, County of Oakland, will meet at Independence Township Library, 6495 Clarkston Road, Clarkston, Michigan, at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday evening, July 11, 1995 to review, to hear any objections to, and to confirm a three-year special assessment roll for the purpose of implementing an Aquatic Weed Control Program and a Lake Dredging Engineering Feasibility Study on Walters Lake for the years 1996, 1997 and 1998. The total annual assessment is estimated at $24,350.53 with the individual assessments to be presented at the Hearing. The special assessment roll will be on file at the Independence Township Offices for public examination. Any person may appear and be heard at the said hearing, which is called pursuant to the provisions of Section 14 of Act 345 of the Public Acts of 1966.

Act 186 of the Public Acts of Michigan, 1973, as amended, provides that the special assessment must be protested at the hearing held for the purpose of confirming the special assessment roll before the Michigan Tax Tribunal may acquire jurisdiction of any special assessment dispute. Appearance and protest of the special assessment at the time and place of review is required in order to appeal the amount of the special assessment to the Michigan Tax Tribunal. An owner of or party in interest in property to be assessed, or his or her agent, may appear in person to protest the special assessment, or may protest the special assessment by letter filed with the Drain Commissioner at or prior to the time of review, in which case personal appearance is not required. If the special assessment is protested as provided above, the owner or any party having an interest in the real property may file a written appeal of the special assessment with the Michigan Tax Tribunal within 30 days after the confirmation of the special assessment roll.

FOR WALTERS LAKE

Jim Mehaffey and his daughter Sarah are fascinated by Grady Pinner's antique clocks.

Pinner, an electric repairman, has been restoring "all kinds of clocks" for 30 years.

Susan Gahan stands by while her mother Irene Gahan works on a quilt. Irene had many people stopping by to watch her demonstration. "You have to cut everything very precisely. If you use a 1/4-inch seam, everything comes out beautifully," she said.

Something old, Something new

Antiques and crafts fill downtown Clarkston

Though the day looked a little overcast Saturday, the streets of downtown Clarkston were bright with activity.

In The Clarkston News' parking lot several antique collectors and dealers displayed their wares next to a bake sale and balloons. Featured also in the lot and along Main Street were a bevy of demonstrators — everything from quilters to pasta-makers.

Susan Gahan, co-owner of Olde Apothecary Antiques and secretary of the Clarkston Downtown Business Association, organized the idea a couple of months ago. She rounded up fellow dealers, craftsmen and others who were interested in an event that would bring folks downtown for some fun.

"To let people know there's fun stuff to do down here. We've got some great shops," Gahan said. She added that she was "keeping a folder of everything that's going on and the response I get, so when I ask for the (Depot) Park next year I'll have a record."

Those who participated paid for rent space, with the fees going to Lighthouse Clarkston, who, along the CDBA were sponsors.

Clarkston resident John Ettinger enjoyed the fair with his friend Paul Emerick, who was visiting from California. The two seniors relaxed in the shade on lawn chairs and remarked that the event fit in just fine with the quaint streetscape.

"It's a nice town," said Emerick. "Lots of older buildings and things... And a few older people here and there."

Added Ettinger, "They've tried to keep the spirit of the old days here. It's a good town. They take a lot of pride in keeping it up."

Impact players highlight soccer squad

It was an up-and-down year for the soccer programs in Oxford, Lake Orion and Clarkston.

The Wildcats of Oxford had the best year, reaching the district final before falling to Mt Clemens Lutheran North 2-0. The Wildcats were bidding for their second straight district title after cruising through the Flint Metro League.

It was a different story in Clarkston, where the Wolves scored just four goals all season and finished 1-13 playing in the Oakland Activities Association Division II.

And in the middle was Lake Orion. The Dragons finished 5-8-1 and lost in the second round of the district.

But plenty of players had impacts on their teams, and they make up the 1995 SPI Tri-District team:

Megan Burns, Oxford, Sr.: Burns got all-state honors for the fourth straight year, this year making the first team. She scored 24 goals and added 25 assists as the Wildcats' top scorer.

With a little scoring help from teammates Autumn Laidler and Jenny Arnold, Burns could no longer be triple-teamed by opposing defenses. She was clearly the Flint Metro League's top player, helping the Wildcats breeze through the FML season until a stunning upset by Linden in the league tournament.

GPA: 3.5.

Beth Wolosiewicz, Oxford, Sr.: In just her second year of playing soccer, Wolosiewicz developed into one of Oxford's, and the region's, top defenders. She was a second-team all Flint Metro League selection, and she also made the all-region team.

Wolosiewicz, a three-sport star at Oxford, also chipped in a little offense, scoring four goals and handing out three assists.

GPA: 3.9.

Jessica Ballenberger, Oxford, Soph.: Ballenberger, before a late-season injury, was one of Oxford's top defenders. She wasn't an integral part of the offense, with just one goal, but she was one of the reasons goalkeeper Sarah Courtright led the league in shutouts.

Ballenberger was an honorable mention selection for the Flint Metro League team and will be counted on as a leader for the Wildcats next season.

GPA: 4.0.

Autumn Laidler, Oxford, Fr.: Laidler burst onto the Oxford soccer scene in her first year, providing the all-stater, Burns, with some much-needed offensive help.

Laidler, in her first year of varsity soccer, scored 17 goals and dished out 14 assists and was a third-team all-state selection.

GPA: 3.8.

Jenny Arnold, Oxford, Jr.: Arnold, who led her junior varsity team in scoring a year ago, was another offensive threat the Wildcats added this year.

The junior, who will be one of Oxford's top threats next season, tossed seven goals and two assists into the mix for Oxford coach Erick Pfeifer.

GPA: 3.25

Penny Richards, Lake Orion, Jr.: Richards kept improving as the season went on and excelled at the end. She tallied one goal during the campaign and wasn't afraid to mix things up with the opposing team.

"Penny did an excellent job most every game," coach Paul Elder said. "She plays tough defense and is a very physical player. She has a lot of speed and strength."

GPA: 3.7.

Kristi Elliott, Lake Orion, Jr.: Putting the ball into Lake Orion's net was no easy feat this season with Elliott in goal. The junior is in the Olympic Development Program and brings a tenacious attitude with her on the field.

"Kristi makes a huge difference in goal," coach Paul Elder said. "She's got a lot of God-given ability and a competitive spirit. She has size, strength and agility and loves to compete."

Stats: six shutouts, 1.5 goals against average.

GPA: 3.75.

Tamara McArthur, Lake Orion, Fr.: McArthur burst on the varsity soccer scene as a freshman led the team with eight goals scored. Still, most believe she's only scratched the surface in terms of her potential. A quiet player, McArthur was constantly knifing through defenders or making the pretty pass to set up a teammate.

"She's going to be a lot better," coach Paul Elder said. "Teams are going to have to mark her. She has very good dribbling skills and has a very strong leg."

GPA: 3.0.

Meredith Krug, Lake Orion, Sr.: A team captain, Krug was strong in every game, never letting down until she broke her hand in the district opener, and she still played in the next game. A salutatorian for the Class of 1995, Krug was rarely beaten defensively and helped break up the other team's scoring chances.

"Meredith was very consistent all season," coach Paul Elder said. "She was the last line of defense before our goalkeeper. She's very disciplined and she's good at getting the ball away from most other players."

GPA: 3.97.

Audrey Schlaff, Clarkston, Sr.: For four years on the varsity Schlaff led her team as a tough defender. Coach Dan Fitzgerald said Schlaff, who scored one goal this season and was voted team MVP, led the team by example with a strong determination.

"She always marked the other team's best player and was great in man-to-man situations," Fitzgerald said. "She was aggressive and a hard worker for us."

GPA: 3.75.

Brynn Allyn, Clarkston, Jr.: This tough, aggressive junior came on strong this year to become a consistent force. Coach Dan Fitzgerald described Allyn as "very aggressive to the ball, fast, strong and a solid dribbler."

Allyn was voted her team's most improved player and used her all-around skills to play several positions.

Baseball team blends youth, experience

The hallmarks of this talented group of baseball players are its blend of youth and experience, coupled with flat-out ability.

Two sophomores and three juniors join four seniors to comprise a first team which would give any All-Star team a run for its money.

The team has a decided Lake Orion flavor this season, with five selections. The senior battery of pitcher Tom Stauffer and catcher Mark Lantzy showed it belonged at the next level, as Stauffer will play at University of Toledo next year and Lantzy at Saginaw Valley State University.

Junior Dennis Mahan and sophomores Rick Green and Derek Jones serve notice that Lake Orion will continue to be a force in 1996.

Clarkston places two players, junior Jeff Mull and senior Mike Turk, on the first team. This pair faced the competition in OAA Div. I and took no prisoners with a gutsy determination on the field.

The up-and-coming Oxford team also had two players make the first team, junior Chad Austin and senior Eric Raab. Picked as a second-rate team in the preseason, Austin and Raab propelled the Wildcats to a respectable season that included some huge wins along the way.

Tom Stauffer, Lake Orion, Sr., pitcher: Taking to the hill with complete command this season, Stauffer ended his four-year varsity career with a 20-5 record and a 1.16 ERA. The senior is headed to University of Toledo on a baseball scholarship and was named the MVP of OAA Div. II. When he wasn't pitching, Stauffer handled the chores at second base and also carries a solid bat.

"Tom's dedicated to being the best he can be in baseball," coach Neil Roberts said. "That's the key for him. He's not a fly-by-night guy. He's a student of the game, and that's why he's a good player."

Stats: 5-2 record, 1.28 ERA, 71 strikeouts in 49 innings, .393 batting average, 10 doubles, two home runs, 12 RBI.

GPA: 3.0.

Mark Lantzy, Lake Orion, Sr., catcher: This backstop completed an overpowering battery with pitcher Tom Stauffer for the Dragons in 1995. An All-League selection, Lantzy earned Honorable Mention All-State honors as a junior. Defensively, Lantzy was without peer, throwing out 61 percent of would-be stealers this season. Lantzy was a three-year varsity performer and will attend Saginaw Valley State University on a baseball scholarship.

"Mark's as good a catcher as anybody gets, no question about it," coach Neil Roberts said. "He understands how to call a game."

Stats: .276 batting average, four doubles, 15 RBI, threw out 22 of 36 runners trying to steal.

GPA: 3.8.

Dennis Mahan, Lake Orion, Jr., outfield: This talented football player appears on his second Tri-District First Team. Mahan provided the complete package for Orion this season, with his speed, fielding, power and offensive skills. He earned All-District and All-League honors while picking up the LO team's "King of Swat Award." With 12 career home runs, he's closing in on the school record. Also pitched this season.

"There isn't a kid on any team I'd want to trade for Dennis," coach Neil Roberts said. "He's the best outfielder anywhere and he's a competitor. When he goes out there, he goes out there to win."

Stats: .354 batting average, six doubles, seven home runs, 21 RBI, 31 runs scored, 2-1 record, 1.88 ERA, 22 strikeouts in 26 innings.

GPA: 2.8.

Rick Green, Lake Orion, So., infielder: This talented sophomore proved he belonged at the varsity level by putting together an outstanding season. Green divided time between infield, outfield and designated hitter and showed versatility by handling any assignment.

"Rick has speed and power and is a real good ballplayer," coach Neil Roberts said. "He'll play anywhere you put him. He has real good speed and is pretty selective at the plate."

Stats: .304 batting average, five doubles, three home runs, 22 RBI.

GPA: 2.7.

Derek Jones, Lake Orion, So., infielder: Nicknamed "Yard" for his heroic home run in an Ohio tournament to start the season, Jones was voted "Mr. Clutch" by the Orion team. Jones was one of the top RBI producers in Oakland County this season and played well defensively at first base. Just a sophomore, Jones is a prime example of someone who "speaks softly but carries a big stick."

"Derek is a man of few words," coach Neil Roberts said. "He's a quiet leader and gets the job done. He has good power and is a real selective hitter. He's a serious ballplayer."

Stats: .389 batting average, six doubles, three home runs, 28 RBI.

GPA: 3.85.

Mike Turk, Clarkston, Sr., infield: Clarkston's team MVP was consistent on both sides of the ball. Not only did he lead the team in batting average and home runs, he also tied for pitching wins, led in saves, ERA, and was second in innings pitched. On top of that, he also played first base when he wasn't pitching.

Coach Roy "Pop" Warner said Turk was consistent all season and often kept his team in the game with either strong hitting or pitching.

Stats: All-OAA Division I and team MVP; 15-for-48 hitting, .313 batting avg.; 9 RBI; 7 runs scored; 3 HRs; 3-2 pitching record; 1.62 ERA; 29 strikeouts in 38 innings; and, 2 saves.

GPA: 2.8.

Jeff Mull, Clarkston, Jr., outfield: Mull is a solid defensive outfielder with a strong arm from the field.

"He's pretty good on both sides of the ball," said his coach Roy "Pop" Warner. "He's the kind of rightfielder you look for because he could get it to third base on a direct line."

In addition to solid defensive skills (he committed only one error on the season) the CHS junior was also third in batting average, tied for the team lead with 65 at bats and led his team in innings pitched.

Stats: All-OAA Division I; 18-for-65, .277 batting avg.; 7 RBI; 3-4 pitching; 3.60 ERA; 54 strikeouts in 42 innings.

GPA: 3.1

Eric Raab, Oxford, Sr., infielder: This versatile senior was as valuable for his off-field leadership as his on-field accomplishments. Raab spent most of his season at shortstop, and was also used on the mound.

But it was his qualities as a captain that impressed

The Tri-District selection process

Sherman Publications, Inc. Tri-District soccer, baseball, softball, girls track and boys track teams include athletes from Clarkston, Lake Orion and Oxford schools.

Tri-District team selections, which began this past school year with fall sports (football and girls basketball) and continued with a complete winter sports Tri-District special section, will continue next school year for all sports, provided all three schools offer the sport.

The three school districts are covered separately by The Clarkston News, Lake Orion Review and Oxford Leader. All three newspapers are owned by Sherman Publications.

Criteria for player selection to the Tri-District teams include on-field performance, grade point average, coaches' recommendations and other intangibles.

Information and stories were compiled by Darrel W. Cole, Clarkston News staff writer, Brad Kadrich, Oxford Leader editor, and Dan McCarville, Lake Orion Review staff writer.

Congratulations to the players on your selection to the 1995 spring sports SPI Tri-District teams.

first-year coach Jim Manzo. "He's a hard-working kid, a good example for the rest of the team," Manzo said. "If I had nine Eric Raab's, I'd be in pretty good shape."

GPA: 3.4

Chad Austin, Oxford, Jr., outfielder: Austin started the season on fire, keeping his average at or near .600 in the early games.

A mid-season slump slowed him temporarily, but he rebounded to post solid numbers at the plate as the Wildcats' leadoff man. With good speed and a solid glove, Austin also provided defensive stability up the middle.

"He had our best season," Coach Jim Manzo said. "He slowed down a little there in the middle, but he came on and had a great year."

Stats: .387 batting average, three home runs.
GPA: 3.0.

Pick up your First Team T-shirts

All SPI First-Team selections can pick up their special Tri-District T-shirts at the local newspaper office after July 12.

The T-shirts are adorned with the SPI Tri-District logo on the front and back as well as the logos of some of the proud sponsors of the Tri-District athletes.

First-Team athletes can pick up their T-shirts

Competitors highlight Tri-District diamond team

Gamers. Competitors who scratch and claw and never quit. That's an accurate description of the members who are first-team softball selections to the SPI Tri-District Team.

Clarkston leads the way with five spots on the first team. Crystal Lemke and Stephanie Giroux were outstanding for the Wolves this season, as were Tiffany Honey, Kiley Maitrott and Amanda Jenkinson.

Lake Orion rounds out the squad with four selections on the first team. Three seniors, Melanie Garrard, Bree George and Jamie Webster, provided excellent leadership during a see-saw year, while junior Lisa Barnowsky combined great defense with productive hitting to nail down a first-team spot.

While Oxford didn't land a player on the first team, the Wildcats did place three quality players, Katie Bell, Kristi Millard and Anette Body onto the SPI's second team.

In the classroom, the SPI first-teamers are no slouch, with a collective GPA well above 3.0. With a combination of academic achievement, great athletic skills and a fierce competitive nature, the SPI softball first team members are as formidable as they come.

Melanie Garrard, Lake Orion, Sr., pitcher: Although new to the pitcher position, Garrard is no stranger to the diamond, where she was an outstanding shortstop the last few seasons. Garrard learned to pitch to fill a hole and did remarkably well while also seeing action act shortstop. She also had an over-the-fence home run this season at Lapeer West.

"It takes a lot to give up being a starting shortstop to help us pitch, coach Denny Davis said. "Mel has a great arm, great speed and a lot of range. She makes a lot of plays."

Stats: .371 batting average, 15 doubles, four triples, two homers, four steals, 23 RBI.

GPA: 3.3.

Bree George, Lake Orion, Sr., infielder: A three-year varsity performer and a two-year All-District selection, George has been a rock for the team at third base. In addition to her powerful offensive talents, George carries a good glove to handle the hot corner. She also led the team in RBIs this season with 27 and rarely struck out.

"Bree is a tough little nut," coach Davis said. "She gets right in on you at third base, closer than anybody. She can really hit the ball and she wants to win."

Stats: .315 batting average, 13 doubles, two triples, one home run, 27 RBI.

GPA: 2.5.

Lisa Barnowsky, Lake Orion, Jr., outfielder: Her glove is what gets her your immediate attention, but Barnowsky showed this season she is not a one-dimensional player. The junior was third on the team in RBIs and made opposing players think twice about taking an extra base with her fine defensive skills. A great team player, she is considering pitching next year to make the team more competitive.

"Lisa has an excellent arm," coach Denny Davis said. "She'll dive, make a catch, roll over and hold the ball up. Al Kaline would be proud. She's a really neat kid."

Stats: .286 batting average, nine doubles, 19 RBI.

Jamie Webster, Lake Orion, Sr., infielder: It's been a meteoric rise for Webster, who didn't make the varsity team as a junior. But an injury to the team's regular first baseman earned Webster a call-up last season, and she hasn't looked back since. Webster's not the fastest player, but she tied for the team lead in steals because of her smarts. She was also very dependable at the plate.

"When she went down to JV, I wasn't sure she would stay with it," coach Davis said. "But she did, and since I called her up, I haven't been able to get her out of the lineup. She hustles, works hard and has the perfect slide."

Stats: .293 batting average, three doubles, four steals, 16 RBI.

GPA: 3.0.

Tiffany Honey, Clarkston, Fr., infielder: This freshman started out the season not knowing if she was good enough to play varsity. But coach Al Land said she soon took over duties at the "hot corner" and helped solidify the lineup.

"She made great strides in her ability, has the softest hands on the team and a great feel for the ball," the coach said.

While her almost-perfect defensive play made her a fixture in the lineup, her offense was just as solid. She finished with the team's fourth-best batting average.

Stats: CHS team most improved player, honorable mention All-OAA Division I; .322 batting avg.; 12 RBI; 15 stolen bases; and, .426 on-base percentage.

GPA: 3.1.

Amanda Jenkinson, Clarkston, Jr., catcher: For as hard as Jenkinson played, she was just as good a hitter and defensive player.

"I've never seen anyone hustle like her," said coach Al Land. "She just loves to play and that really catches everyone's eye."

Her love for the game translates into a batting average over .400 and the ability to gun down runners attempting to steal second.

Land said she was a team leader because of her intensity, but also because she has a good sense of humor.

Stats: All-OAA Division I first team, All-District honorable mention; .417 batting avg.; 32 RBI; .648 slugging percentage; and, 2 HR.

GPA: 3.3.

Kiley Maitrott, Clarkston, Sr., outfielder: This senior not only helped the team with her versatility but also her leadership.

Coach Al Land said Maitrott, a team captain and three-year varsity player, played outfield early in the season but moved to first base later on to get some more offense into the lineup.

"She really led by example and it was nice to see someone who knows the routine stop and help the younger kids. She was great to have on the team."

Maitrott was also a skilled player, able to drive in runs from the 5th or 6th spot, was second on the team in RBI, and also had one of the team's strongest arms.

Stats: .318 batting avg. and 19 RBI.

GPA: 3.5.

Barnowsky, LOHS

Jenkinson, CHS

Garrard, LOHS

Crystal Lemke, Clarkston, Jr., infielder: Smarts and talent. This shortstop has both and her performance during the season was evidence of that.

She batted almost .400 on the year, but her greatest attribute was her defensive play at shortstop. Whether deep in the hole or running one-handers, Lemke could throw anyone out at first base.

"She has a rocket for an arm and takes as much pride in her play as anyone I've met," said coach Al

Land.

In addition to her skills as a player, Land said Lemke is a true "student of the game" who studies the position and understands what needs to be done.

Stats: All-OAA Division I and All-District first team; .396 batting avg.; 30 runs scored; 14 RBI.

GPA: 3.0.

Some ups, some downs for 1995 teams

Clarkston baseball

The Wolves under coach Roy "Pop" Warner finished the season with an overall record of 9-13. But playing in the highly competitive Oakland Activities Association Division I, CHS managed a 3-7 record.

Scoring was a problem (they averaged only 3.3 runs and 5.3 hits per game) all season long for Warner's team, who started out at 0-4. As the season progressed, however, the Wolves played better and lost eight one-run games in the last half of the season.

Clarkston softball

A strong core of stellar players wasn't enough to overcome a lack of experience for the Clarkston softball team.

The Wolves, led by fourth-year coach Al Land, had only three seniors but relied on several underclassmen in posting a 13-23 overall record and a 3-8 mark in the Oakland Activities Association Division I, which included Brandon, Rochester Adams and Waterford Kettering.

In the classroom, however, the Wolves team was tops. They were selected Team All-State Academic for having an overall GPA of 3.4.

Clarkston girls track

For the 11th straight year Clarkston's girls track team had an undefeated division dual meet record at 5-0 and, for the 10th straight season, either tied or won a league title.

Under 11-year coach Gordie Richardson the Wolves came through with a young squad and tied with Troy Athens for the Oakland Activities Association Division II title. CHS also finished 7th at county and 6th in regionals.

The Wolves sent their 3200 relay team to the state finals where they took second, while two other athletes qualified in three events.

Three members of that 3200 relay team were selected Academic All-State for GPAs of 3.8 or higher. Of the team's 32 members only six are below a 3.0 GPA.

Clarkston boys track

The boys track team finished fourth in the Oakland Activities Association Division II standings.

After heading into the final week of the season in contention for a title, the Wolves, coached by 16-year veteran Walt Wyniemo, lost a tight four-point dual meet to Lake Orion. CHS still had a shot at a title going into the division meet but injuries to team co-MVPs and state qualifiers J.R. Kirk and Jason Graves ended those hopes.

CHS finished 5th at the Saginaw Valley Indoor meet and the Oxford Invitational, and was 9th at regionals.

Clarkston girls soccer

With only four goals scored all season the Clarkston girls soccer team struggled to a 1-13 mark.

Playing in the Oakland Activities Association Division II was no help either. But despite the lack of scoring punch, the Wolves played hard all season, according to coach Dan Fitzgerald.

Dragon boys track

Anytime you can boast of a state champion, it's a good track season. Senior Tony Luebbert won the discus event with a throw of 158-4 at the state finals, while two other athletes, Rob McLean (400) and Doug Rupp (1600) qualified for the state meet.

As a team, Orion finished tied with Waterford Mott in dual meets in OAA Div. II, and just two points behind Mott in the final league standings. Orion also captured sixth place at the Andover Co-ed Relays, the Oxford Invitational and the Class A Regionals at Holly.

Dragon girls track

Injuries kept the Lake Orion girls track team from achieving its full potential, but sophomore Karen Chastain provided some highlights with a fourth place finish in the discus in the Class A State Finals. Susan Lacey, Hillary Moon, Robin Bailey and Megan Danko were hampered by injury, but still found a way to contribute.

The Dragons had a 3-3 record in dual meets and finished second at the Lake Orion Relays. In addition, they wound in third place at the OAA Div. II meet and fifth place at the Walled Lake Invitational.

Dragon baseball

After last season's district title, nothing less than a repeat performance would satisfy this talented group. It wasn't to be as Orion lost in the district final to Rochester Adams. Still the team tied with Waterford Mott for first place in OAA Div. II.

The talent level on this squad was superb, with Tom Stauffer, Mark Lantzy, Dennis Mahan and others showing some fine play on the diamond. Combined with young stars as Rick Green and Derek Jones, a strong baseball tradition is being forged right now.

Lack of consistent defense prevented the team from finishing higher than 18-9. The offense and the pitching went as expected, but coach Neil Roberts had planned on a better defensive team.

Dragon softball

The team's 9-20 record isn't indicative of the kind of season Orion had. Several times the Dragons lost close games that could have gone their way with a good bounce or two. Senior leaders Melanie Garrard, Bree George, Jamie Webster and Natalie Coronado kept the team competitive all season long.

Ups, downs for 1995 Tri-District teams

With the likes of Jamie Tuson, Erica Erickson, Lisa Barnowsky, and Julie Fitch returning for another season, coach Denny Davis is confident the team will be a central factor in Oakland County next season.

Dragon soccer

Offensive production was a season-long problem for the girls varsity soccer team, but it wasn't due to a lack of opportunities. Orion constantly had good scoring chances in the early part of most games, yet the team was unable to convert. The Dragons went through a scoreless drought midway through the season.

The squad did win its district opener this season before losing to a talented Romeo squad. The overall 5-8-1 record could have much better with a few more timely goals. Still, only three seniors graduate from the 1995 squad. With an abundance of returning players, big things are expected in 1996.

Oxford soccer

The Oxford Wildcats, who came into the season as defending district champions, rolled through an impressive regular season in the Flint Metro League undefeated.

They stumbled a little in non-league games, but seemed to have righted themselves and put themselves in position to win their first Flint Metro title under coach Erick Pfeifer. But a stunning second-round loss to Linden in the league tournament ended that quest, and the Wildcats fell to Mt Clemens Lutheran North in the district championship game.

Still, they weren't without accomplishment. Senior Megan Burns was named to the all-state first team, while freshman Autumn Laidler earned a third-team selection and goalkeeper Sarah Courtwright was an honorable mention.

Oxford boys track

Coming into his first season as track coach, Ron Roop expected the year to be a learning experience, with his young charges taking their share of lumps along the way.

But the Wildcats, after a slow start, came on strong with a middle-of-the-pack finish in the Flint Metro League. Anchored by quick relay teams, distance runners John LeRoy and Jayson Welter and speedsters like Seth Crawley and John Hamell, the Wildcats surpassed their own expectations. Senior Nathan Hoard qualified for the state meet for the second straight year, and was also second at the Oakland County meet.

Oxford girls track

Look up the word "young" in the dictionary and you could very well see a picture of the 1995 Oxford Wildcats. Their top two distance runners were sophomore Christine Freeman and freshman Becky Keller.

Senior Kim Cabic came through with a stellar final season, but the Wildcats fell victim to a lack of numbers. With fewer than 20 girls to run 16 events, Oxford often couldn't get a full lineup together.

But coach Cheryl Anderson praised the work ethic of the girls who did hang in there, and an abundance of youth, anchored by Freeman and Keller, bodes well for the future.

Oxford softball

The Wildcats picked up their first league win in almost two years, a sign of progress under coach Rick Sands.

Though they only won five games, the Wildcats were in many others and were only a few key hits and defensive plays away from a respectable season.

Oxford baseball

First year coach Jim Manzo must have wondered what he got himself into when his Wildcats lost their first half-dozen, but the Wildcats soon began playing better ball.

Led by center fielder Chad Austin all year, the Wildcats also got contributions from Jason Boersma, Jason Sheldon (especially late in the year), Jeff Cardona and Jonathon Schulz as they began to pick up their play.

Softball squad

Stephanie Giroux, Clarkston, Jr., outfielder: Coach Al Land says Giroux is simply one of the best players in the state.

No doubt, others agree as she was recently voted All-State.

"She's had the most consistent season I've ever seen anyone have," said Land. "She really never had a bad game."

While Land said her statistics speak for themselves, it's the way she carries herself and goes about playing that are most impressive. He said she is always focused on the game, stays on an "even keel" and doesn't let anything get to her when she plays.

Stats: CHS team MVP, All-OAA Division I, All-District 1st team and Class A All State; 60 base hits and a .508 batting avg.; 52 stolen bases in 53 attempts; 19 RBI; 72 total bases; 42 runs scored; .570 on-base percentage; and, 4 HRs.

GPA: 3.97.
