Superintendent search process begins, with final hiring in July

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

An aggressive schedule for finding a new school superintendent was set Thursday night by the Clarkston board of education.

Working with consultant Kara Funk from the Michigan Association of School Boards, the board set a deadline for applications for April 19. They expect to begin interviewing candidates May 9, and hope a new superintendent can be signed, sealed and delivered by July 1, when current superintendent Gary Haner retires.

"There is a perception that there is a prime time (for the search) and that is spring," Funk said. She urged the board to use a broad set of definitions of what it is seeking in a superintendent to draw the widest field of candidates. For that reason, the board rejected including a requirement that the successful candidate possess a doctoral degree or move into the school district, although both were important to most board members.

The board feels Clarkston's reputation as a desirable place to live will draw good candidates. The posting will be advertised nationally during March and a brochure is being prepared which talks about the job and the community.

The board and Funk will be seeing a lot of each other in the coming weeks. There will be a joint workshop April 4 to prepare for interviewing candidates. On April 22 they will screen applications and then interviews will be scheduled for May 9, 10 and, if necessary, 11. All these meetings are open to the public under state law.

In addition, Funk plans to meet with various employee and community groups for their input, and will hold a public meeting for all interested residents March 27. A place and time for that meeting have not yet been announced.

The only person to attend Thursday's meeting (besides reporters) was Andersonville Elementary Principal Bill Potvin. He told Funk and the board, "I'm here as an administrator and I want to know what and how is my involvement going to be." He suggested Funk attend an administrative staff meeting where she can talk to all administrators at one time.

In order to safeguard the identity of the applicants before the finalists are selected, a post office box will be established to receive applications. Only board members will have access to the applications. When the board decides whom to interview, only those names will be made public.

During Thursday night's meeting the board agreed to set $100,000 as the minimum salary for the position.

An endearing favorite, "On Golden Pond" talks about "sucking face" and relationships. The Clarkston Village Players' production begins Friday.

Players to present "On Golden Pond"

Director Al Bartlett says the Clarkston Village Players' next offering, "On Golden Pond," is one which "tests the waters of relationships." Sometimes those waters are calm, sometimes they've got a few ripples — and sometimes they're ready to erupt into a tidal wave.

That's the intent of the Players' fourth production which premieres Friday, March 8 at the Depot Theatre.

The bittersweet comedy tells the story of Norman Thayer, a retired professor nearing the 80-year-old mark, who fears the debilitating effects of aging. He and his devoted wife Ethel have come to spend another vacation at their charming cottage on Golden Pond.

They take in the son of their daughter's fiance whose youthful energy provides much of the contrast and resolution of the play, which examines issues like love, loyalty and reconciliation.

The production stars Bob Kaminskis as Norman, Merna Kline as Ethel, Leslie Larkin as Chelsea, Jerod Fish as Billy Ray, Fred Janney as Charlie and Dave Kramer as Bill Ray. It is produced by Donna Ellis and runs March 8, 9, 10, 14, 15, 16, 21, 22 and 23 at the Depot Theatre, 4861 White Lake Rd. in Clarkston. Friday and Saturday performances begin at 8 p.m., with Thursday performances at 7:30 p.m. For more information call (810) 625-1826, 634-5198 or Tierra Arts at 625-2511.

Clarkston woman hits jackpot

A 45-year-old Clarkston travel agent won $100,000 Feb. 15 in the Cash 5 lottery drawing.

The winning ticket was purchased at Arbor Drugs on Baldwin Road in Orion Township. The winner, who requested anonymity, said she has been buying lottery tickets for over 20 years and has won as much as $400 in the past. This time her husband picked the winning numbers, and they were both watching the lottery broadcast when the numbers were announced.

"My husband said, 'I think we just hit for $100,000' and I couldn't believe it," the winner said. "I called the party store and waited for the numbers to show up on the store terminal."

The news in brief

Teen to stand trial in fatal accident

An Ortonville teenager blamed in a fatal car accident Nov. 14 on Dixie Highway in Independence Township has been ordered to stand trial.

Micah Mayhew, 17, was bound over on a second-degree murder charge by 52-2 District Judge Gerald McNally after a preliminary exam last week. Mayhew is also charged with felonious driving, driving with a suspended license and possession of marijuana.

The victim, a Bloomfield Township man, was northbound on Dixie when his car was hit by Mayhew's Camaro which had crossed the center line, police allege. Mayhew hit another northbound car and another car was struck by debris. Five other people were injured, three seriously.

Mayhew will be arraigned before Oakland County Circuit Judge Deborah Tyner March 15. He remains at the county jail in lieu of a $117,000 cash bond.

CMS shines with awards

Licata receives double honors

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Being part of a school where students come in all shapes and sizes is comfortable for Clarkston Middle School principal Vince Licata.

"I think I've found my niche with this particular age group. Every day is a little different," said Licata with a smile as he relaxed in his office after school Friday.

But, he added, he takes his role seriously. "They're in between children and adults. Preadolescence is a time of change. They're all in different places but will be at the same place eventually. To get them there is quite a challenge."

Licata recently received top honors on both the county and local levels. He was nominated by the CMS Celebration Committee (a group of staff members) and the Parent Teacher Association for the district's Employee Recognition Award and was recognized by the Clarkston Board of Education last Monday.

In addition, the Oakland County Principals Association named him Middle School Principal of the Year in Oakland County. Licata will now be included in a statewide search for Middle School Principal of the Year, sponsored by the Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals (MASSP).

Although both are laudable achievements, Licata is particularly proud of the employee award.

"It's the first time I've received it. It meant a lot to me, especially when it's local. It feels good when your colleagues and the board of education feel you're doing a good job," he said.

A graduate of Western Michigan University,

Licata received his master of arts from Eastern Michigan University and is pursuing doctoral studies through Michigan State University. He has been an educator within the Clarkston school district for over 20 years. Before coming to CMS he was assistant principal at Sashabaw Junior High and, before that, assistant principal at Clarkston Junior High. He began his career in 1975, teaching English and reading at the latter.

At CMS he has innovated and coordinated a variety of programs including Wolverine Gold Card, Make My Day Award, Golden Trash Can Award and Bringing Up Grades Honor Roll. He has kept old programs running and has supported the efforts of new programs like the Quiet Zone and the CMS Credit Union. In addition, he has established a Professional Sharing time at faculty meetings and asked that faculty members display their college diplomas in the classroom.

Comments gathered by an "anonymous roving reporter" for the Employee Recognition Award included testimonies from faculty, parents and students.

PTA president Cherie Baker, part of the team which nominated Licata for the Employee Recognition Award, said she met with CMS assistant principal Ginny Farmer. "We definitely gave our 100 percent. He's always been helpful in any of the projects we've brought up and he's good with the kids. There's a very positive atmosphere in the building."

Farmer, who warmly refers to CMS as "Vinny and Ginny Middle School," says Licata "supports me in everything I do. I've probably never worked for a principal who's given me so much latitude. He has high expectations for his students and his staff."

With a little prodding, Licata shared what he thought were his strengths as an administrator.

"My ability to see a bigger picture and look at all facets of the building operation, to determine what should be done. My ability to listen to different points of view. And my willingness to make difficult decisions when they have to be made."

But he modestly shares the spotlight with others.

"I was surprised and very honored (to receive the Principal of the Year Award) because I think I'm just representative of all these hard-working principals." Licata said he learned a lot when he was assistant

Top teacher makes classes real

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Maybe there was no "Verona Times" in Romeo and Juliet's day but Dr. Ruth Duling gets her students to imagine one.

In studying Shakespeare's star-crossed teenage lovers, the Clarkston Middle School teacher used to get her ninth-graders to consider other fascinating alternatives like letters to the editor about the pair's tragic relationship, running a trial with Verona's prosecution or Romeo's defense statements — even writing an essay about whether or not the nurse should be fired for undermining her employer, Juliet's father.

Duling feels the story is more "accessible" for teens than thesbian themes that deal with grown-up topics like kings, plots and overthrows. They can better relate to the timeless dilemma Romeo and Juliet experienced: "Will your parents let you be with the one you love?"

That's just one example of Duling's continuing mission: to make education real to her Clarkston Middle School eighth-grade English and seventh-grade geography students. Or, in her words, "You can't be filling them with things they don't care about. You have to give them things to think about in order to establish their values."

Duling, a teacher in the Waldon Rd. building for 27 years — who's no doubt seen a lot of paint jobs — has never asked for a transfer during the time it was

Clarkston Junior High, then CMS. Principal Vince Licata said he and his staff nominated Duling for Newsweek-WDIV Outstanding Teacher of the Year because "We as a committee felt her dedication, innovation, creativity and work ethic really stood out."

Since then, Duling has gone on to be honored as Oakland County's Teacher of the Year and will be featured with three other teachers from Wayne and Macomb counties and Detroit Public Schools at an ceremony and dinner May 13 at the Roostertail in Detroit. Duling will present a speech and be interviewed by WDIV-TV's Mort Crim and Carmen Harlan.

This is the third time in the past four years that CMS teachers have been awarded the title Oakland County Teacher of the Year. Honors went to Danielle Blanchard last year and Steven Charles Himgurg in 1993.

Duling says the award means a lot, "especially if you're a public school teacher and you know the kind of hits we've been taking in Michigan." Her educational background includes a bachelor's in English and social studies, a master's in library science and a doctorate in curriculum.

Known for her hands-on teaching like taking students to the Holocaust Center, letting them plan a week's itinerary in a foreign country, and having them design quilt squares to reflect what each one remembered most about "The Crucible," Duling also possesses a dry, endearing sense of humor, says CMS assistant principal Ginny Farmer.

For example, in talking about one of her projects,

Dr. Ruth Duling, Oakland County's Teacher of the Year, talks to students in her CMS Challenger English class.

Duling said she had the kids bring in home-cooked Chinese so they could better understand the Far East. She warned them, "Don't bring in Chun King!"

Farmer says Duling's students enjoy her "because she implements such creative achievements. The kids are really excited to please her and they love bringing in the projects they make."

But Duling says she does more than foster creative artwork, writing and projects.

"You can't get through the hour without showing a National Geographic," she says, waving one around and then opening it up to a significant page. She shows a photo of Africa that brings home the concept of drought and overgrazing — a mesmerizing photo of the Sahara Desert that shows people's homes buried

Independence Township

Attendance figures: Who goes, who doesn't

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Members of Independence Township's board of trustees, planning commission and zoning board of appeals attended their meetings about 90 percent of the time in 1995.

According to meeting minutes of each paid governmental body, that is a higher attendance rate than the 1994 rate, which was 86 percent.

The highest overall attendance rate in 1995 came from the board of trustees with 95 percent. They were followed by the zoning board at 88 percent and the planning commission at 85 percent.

Of all three governmental bodies, only township supervisor Dale Stuart and board trustee Mel Vaara had perfect 1995 attendance, out of 23 regular meetings and 10 special meetings. Vaara has said he will challenge Stuart for supervisor in November.

On the board of trustees, treasurer John Lutz, and trustees Jeff McGee and Bruce Mercado missed only one regular meeting, while clerk Joan McCrary missed two and trustee Daniel Travis missed three.

The board wasn't as diligent at special meetings, however, missing 87 percent of the time.

Zoning Board of Appeals

Board members are paid $150 per regular meeting and $75 per special meeting. They must be in attendance to get paid. If each member attended all 23 regular meetings and 10 special meetings, they would have earned $4,200.

Planning commission

Planning commissioners missed the most meetings combined of any governmental body, with an attendance rate of only 85 percent. In fact, of the commission's 26 meetings in 1995, all seven members were in attendance together at only nine meetings.

Commissioners receive $40 for each meeting attended.

Zoning board of appeals

The ZBA had an 88 percent attendance rate. One member missed five meetings (a 78 percent attendance rate), while another missed four (an 82 percent attendance rate). Three others missed two or less meetings.

Another pit of doom from Pothole Patrol

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Lisa Smith doesn't have to hunt for any bumps in her neighborhood. "It's pretty bad. There are potholes everywhere," she says.

A Clarkston Middle School eighth-grader who lives north of Waldon Rd., Lisa was jogging home after school Friday and agreed to assist the Clarkston News reporter who was gingerly searching for potholes in the area. She found the king of the road on Cramlane.

With a heavy backpack of books — filled with lots of exciting homework for the weekend, no doubt — Lisa bent down and measured the hole, which takes dead aim at a wheel whether you're coming or going. The precarious pock-mark is two feet long. When asked to gauge the depth, Lisa said, "Deep enough. It looks about three inches."

Motorists are advised to reduce speed when entering the danger zone, about three houses south of Snow Apple.

Before she posed for the camera Lisa jogged over to her favorite hole at the corner of Cramlane and Waldon and was a little disappointed to find someone had filled it with rocks. However she, or rather her mom who does the driving, has plenty of other choices.

"My mom says 'I've got these potholes memorized, they've been here so long.' She knows when to stop."

CMS eighth-grader Lisa Smith

Potholes bloom on state roads

Spring arrives March 25, but Mother Nature's roller coaster of rising and falling temperatures is causing one perennial problem to bloom early — potholes.

"The unusual freeze and thaw cycle of the last few weeks is causing roads to deteriorate," says Jerry Basch, AAA Michigan Community Safety Services manager. His advice: "Keep your eyes on the road and watch out for potholes. Slow down and try to steer around them as much as possible without endangering traffic in adjacent lanes."

Potholes can cause significant damage to vehicles, Basch adds.

"Be sure to take your car in for a check-up if steering, ride, tire or noise problems appear," he says. "Keep your tires properly inflated and steering and suspension components in good condition. Especially critical are the shock absorbers or struts, which prevent excessive rebound or bottoming out on severe bumps."

Potholes cost motorists on average more than $100 a year in vehicle repairs for new shocks or struts, blown tires, rim damage, wasted gasoline, body work and even broken windshields.

To report a pothole, motorists should call their local county road commission.

Potholes are formed after snow or rain seeps into cracks in the road surface. The moisture freezes when temperatures drop, causing the ground to expand, rise and push the pavement up.

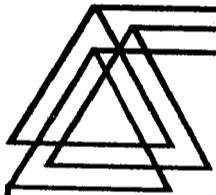

When cars and trucks drive over the hollow cavity, the surface cracks and falls into the hollow space beneath, forming a pothole.

The oldest warship still afloat is the Constitution, built in 1797.

In Focus

by Annette Kingsbury

What the world needs now is art

Watching the Grammy awards on TV once a year is usually an exercise in oohing and aahing over great music and terrible clothes. But this year, three people took advantage of their huge audience to make an impassioned plea for arts education.

Singer Bobby McFerrin, the president of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences, and actor Richard Dreyfuss, who recently portrayed a school band director in the film, "Mr. Holland's Opus," all wondered what kind of a country it is that sacrifices the arts to political expediency.

While in past years it has been fashionable to complain about funding cuts at the National Endowment for the Arts, this year's blame was cast about with a wider net. The speakers were talking about our Republican-led Congress and local school districts which are responsible for funding, or not funding, school arts programs. The speakers eloquently begged for individuals to get involved and make a difference.

Of course, that's already happened here in Clarkston. Though arts at the elementary level were cut a few years back (as in many other districts), educators, the board of education and some parents never ceased wanting to get them back. And with the passage of Proposal A and the influx of new money into Michigan public schools, arts education was restored here.

In addition, the Clarkston Foundation, with money raised privately, provides grants that allow schools to bring in extra arts programming, thus encouraging the development of such talents in students. And of course the high school is loaded with opportunities for aspiring singers, musicians and actors.

All of which makes a former band student's heart glad, for I cannot measure how much my life has been enriched by music. Even though I never made it a career, I wouldn't trade those years in band for anything.

We had our own Mr. Holland. His name was Jack Metz, and he was passionate about the program. Sometimes that meant he got a little hot under the collar when someone didn't take it seriously enough, but we all learned from his devotion that music was something special. Like a lot of things, it takes work to get good at it but there's pleasure in the accomplishment.

As an adult I've continued to appreciate music, which I never thought was anything unusual until I heard a singer say on TV recently that it's a very small segment of the population that actually buys recorded music. This surprised me, since everyone in my family loves music, but a coworker said no one in his family really pays attention to it. That surprised me even more.

Watching all the talent that paraded across the TV screen on Grammy night, you realize that even though some people are supremely gifted, such gifts need to be developed. Kids need to be exposed to the arts early on so that in future generations there will be more artists to share their gifts with the world, not to mention for their own personal growth.

Raise gas tax, improve our roads

'Tis the pothole season.

Therefore, 'tis the season for politicians to blame others and make excuses for our lousy roads.

The posturing between Gov. Engler, some members of the state legislature, Oakland County officials and the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments is angering.

Each one apparently believes they have the best answer for spending we taxpayers' road money.

Engler wants a bigger share of the money available today from both federal and state sources. Oakland County wants more because we claim we receive a disproportionate share - we send much more than we receive.

SEMCOG says the state is diverting millions of dollars from "their" local road projects to freeway work, leaving them short funded.

Our legislature, with the GOP dominating (translate that to Engler dominating) has not come forth with any road-repair-building leadership.

Engler obviously feels he can't support a gasoline tax increase because he thinks his "no new taxes" stance will have the same effect on his future that it had on President Bush.

Continuing that position may help Engler's national political future, but it does not endear him to his home-state citizens.

There's no good excuse not to raise the gas tax, provided it goes entirely for roads and not diverted to stadiums, racetracks, enterprise zones or whatever.

A few years ago we paid a heck of a lot more for gasoline than we do now, thus we can afford it. If you need proof, wait until another "shortage" is created someplace.

This arguing over who should get most for their particular domain should cease lest road improvements will continue to be slow, if ever, as in the cases of M-24 and M-15, just to mention the two over-driven state roads in our area.

Come on, people. Get with the program. JAS

Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

Talk about my pores, leave follicles alone

Many people watch too much television. One person in particular comes to mind this week. It's John Patrell. He sits in his lakefront home and stares at the tv instead of the water.

I know this because he called to tell me something he heard at 7:25 a.m. on channel 2. Of course, he had a special reason to call. He wanted to use what he'd heard to confirm what he believed and practiced when it comes to keeping one's self clean.

He said, "They said, right there on television (as if it came from God Almighty), that we're not supposed to wash ourselves every day. I've been telling you that for years.

"You can jump in and out of the shower once in a while, but not every day. They say if you clean yourself too much it opens pores in your skin and germs get in there."

I really don't like agreeing with John Patrell. If you go along with his thinking it sort of puts you in a position of agreeing body stink is good.

However, as an ardent radio (which is not only much preferred over, but intellectually more stimulating than tv) listener, I've heard commercials for soaps invented to clean our follicles.

When I first heard it the thought came to me that my follicles are a personal thing, and should be mentioned only on tv's Melrose Place, Friends or other trash tv program.

The more I heard the commercial the less I remembered the shampoos made to clean my follicles and let my hair grow again. This is probably not the intent of the commercial.

My message to the hair soap makers of the world is: Leave our follicles alone. Let them be filled with atomic fallout or whatever. If I want my hair to grow again I'll get born again.

Which brings me back to John Patrell... get a new life, John!

Lately I've seen several articles about how seniors are turning on to cyberspace - computers, going "on line" with Internet, America on Line, World Wide Web, etc.

Conversely, I've talked with a number of people who think they've learned enough for this one lifetime.

I've been writing on a what we called a computer for over 20 years. The same one, which is just a glorified typewriter. This week I moved into the 21st century of computers, which will be obsolete by next week. It came with 60 pounds of books of instructions. It's got icons, paintbrushes, encrypted faxes and a better memory than any of our wives.

And it's got games and files and the ability to draw, write stories, check genealogy, research about anything and point out mistakes.

Bottom line... I'm glad I got into it, but wonder if I'll be able to devote as much time to this computer as it looks like I'll want to. After all, there is still golf, lawn, garden and column writing.

A look back

15 YEARS AGO (1981)

The first cuts of staff and activities planned for the Clarkston school district's 1981-82 school year are now official. The board agrees unanimously Monday night to eliminate all interscholastic sports and extracurricular activities and to no longer offer drivers' education. The board also unanimously agrees to notify athletic director Paul Tungate and CHS vocational ed. director Marvin Hess of pending layoffs.

An "average" turnout of Clarkston voters, so called by Clarkston Village Clerk Bruce Rogers, elects Ruth Basinger, James Schultz and David Raup to fill village trustee seats. Of the village's 748 registered voters, 114 cast ballots, compared to 45 in last year's village council election.

A film about shoplifting is presented to Clarkston Schools fifth-graders by Gary Pullins, social worker with Clarkston Area Youth Assistance. Pullins fields questions thrown from an audience filled with 10-year-olds. They want to know if a boy or girl who is caught shoplifting can be sent to a juvenile home, what it's like there, should you tell if you see someone steal and would you go before a jury if you're caught stealing. Most importantly, children learn shoplifting is a felony and punishable by law.

25 YEARS AGO (1971)

The Clarkston Board of Education receives a letter of resignation from Ralph Kenyon, assistant principal of Clarkston High School, at its regular meeting. Kenyon asks that his resignation become effective at the close of this school year. He cites his reason as family business.

Someone must have sneezed! A partial denture is turned into The Clarkston News office after being found in the middle of Main St. The size of the three molars on one side and two on the other indicate that the wearer is a very young person. Parents are cautioned to be wary if their offspring asks to dine on soup instead of steak. The owner may claim his teeth by calling The Clarkston News. Gesundheit!

Though Clarkston High School's hopes for a wrestling champion are dashed, three team members carry the Wolves' colors to the Class A state tournament held at Calvin College in Grand Rapids March 5 and 6. Qualifying are senior and Wolves co-captain Mike Packer, who comes home from the state contest with a fifth place, and seniors Al Knake and Kirk Dougherty, who place sixth in their respective weight classes.

50 YEARS AGO (1946)

News from "By the Way": Spring is here — perhaps — so sing like the birdies sing if you care for that sort of thing, but forget starting grass fires that may burn your neighbor's home. Houses are too scarce ... As we write this the news is that the strike-bound GM plants may soon get into operation. Maybe the long-awaited period of plenty may come soon ... According to Fred Hemingway, one of our seniors, the prom on Friday is really going to be something. Better attend. Incidentally, perhaps we should mention that the good music at the prom is to be furnished by our linotype operator "Dub" Masters and his Dixieland Band.

Specials at Terry's Market this week include Lenten foods: cod fish, 47 cents for a one-pound box; Libby Beans, a can for a dime; pure crabapple jelly, 23 cents a jar; Betty Crocker Vegetable or Pea Soup, three packages for a quarter; cottage cheese, 18 cents a pound; and Borden's Vera Sharp Cheese, 22 cents a jar.

60 YEARS AGO (1936)

On Friday evening the Pact Matrons and their husbands are entertained at a costume party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Judd Skarritt. As the guests arrive fresh outbursts of laughter are heard because, while some of the costumes could be termed classy, others are quite comical and cause much fun.

Playing at the Holly Theatre this week are James Dunn and Claire Dodd in "The Pay-Off," Betty Burgess and Johnny Downs in "Coronado," James Cagney and Pat O'Brien in "Ceiling Zero" and Katharine Hepburn and Fred MacMurray in "Alice Adams."

Specials at Rudy's this week include leg o' lamb, 23 cents a pound; beef roast, 15 cents a pound; sliced bacon, 15 cents per half-pound package; Excell Crackers, 17 cents for two pounds; milk, three cans for 18 cents; soap chips, five pounds for 29 cents; and Fels Naptha Soap, 10 bars for 45 cents.

A clarification

To the Editor:

While last week's article concerning state mandated changes to our Historic District Ordinance was generally on the mark, the statement that every resident in the Historic District now needs permission to do any kind of exterior work on his or her home, including restoring decay or damage, is misleading.

Owners of historic homes need review only for work which exceeds ordinary maintenance and repair. Ordinary maintenance and repair includes repairing decayed or damaged house materials. Owners of non-historic structures in the district generally need to request Commission review only if they add an addition or garage, etc.

The Commission will be preparing and distributing explanatory materials concerning the ordinance changes and related material to all residents of the district in the near future.

Sincerely,
Susan K. Basinger
Chairperson
Clarkston Historic District Commission

In a class of his own

We all lost a dear friend and community leader this week when Dr. Leslie Greene died. He was to many of us "Uncle Les," a man of great wisdom, integrity, leadership, and a comfort to know he was there to talk out a problem or give his time generously on advice and direction on many needs of the community.

He was always an educator to all of our children and to all of us in the community by example and, I believe, in living an exemplary life. He was indeed one of the rare people who could be said was in a class of his own.

It occurs to me that the new high school needs a name and I'm reasonably sure Uncle Les would not want it named after him, but he always felt he married above himself when he married Glenna (I think she turned him down the first time he asked) and she was his real strength, friend and guide.

I believe nothing would make him happier and prouder than to have it named, "Glenna Green High School."

It sort of flows with a nice pastoral ring - GGHS.

Sincerely,
James A. O'Neill, M.D.

always beat ten men who haven't and don't.

People Poll

What do you remember most about growing up in the baby boomer generation?

CINDY PREUSS, CLARKSTON, 39: It seems like when I was younger the music was a real big thing. There was the long hair, going to concerts, experimenting ...

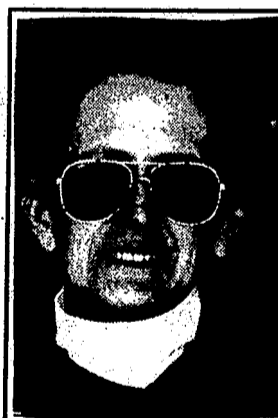

LARRY SPAFFORD, SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP, 40: Vietnam, I guess, although I didn't serve. Kennedy's assassination, of course. But I grew up in Royal Oak and had a real nice upbringing.

DEBE ELWELL, HOLLY, 43: Woodstock and the era when the family was no longer the central focus. Women's liberation.

LINDA WIENER, CLARKSTON, 37: I remember everybody not being so uptight and worried. People are completely paranoid about everything now.

DAVE SHILLING, HASTINGS, 37: Probably the Vietnam War and the hippie generation. Probably just a lot of different types of expressions, people starting to try different things. The pace of life seemed to be a little easier then.

A tragic loss not soon to be forgotten

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

"Young and strong, beautiful one, we embraced so close is gone, was torn away ... It's nothing but a tragedy. Lay to rest your soul and body. Lay to rest your name. Lay to rest your rage, your hunger and amazing grace," from the song River, by Natalie Merchant.

On the wrestling mat, there were few better than P.J. Vandermeer, who dominated opponents for his Clarkston High School team.

In wrestling, Peter John Vandermeer II, known to everyone as P.J., was one of the best around. And he knew it, wrestling with an air of confidence that opponents feared, teammates admired and his large extended family adored.

But in other areas of his life — from school to a career to a relationship — P.J. wasn't as confident, and on March 1 at 1:30 a.m. in the parking lot of St. Trinity Church on Sashabaw Road, the 1995 CHS graduate shot and killed himself, just weeks before he was to head out for basic training in the Army.

His girlfriend was in the car with him when he pulled the trigger.

"We didn't recognize any of the signs," said his mother Carol. "He was withdrawn in the last few weeks and wouldn't talk to hardly anyone. The pastor at his funeral said maybe a lot of it had to do with that he wasn't in the limelight any longer ... that everyone expected him to be the star and now he wasn't."

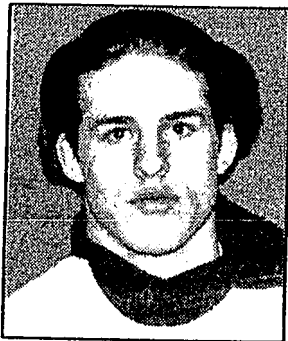

Pete, P.J.'s father, said that he was concerned his son, who lived at home, was unhappy with where his life was headed, but never expected him to end his life.

"We never saw it coming," said Pete, who, along with Carol, attended all of P.J.'s sporting events from football to wrestling.

Pete said his son had some problems he was trying to work out, including a harassment complaint against him, which could have kept him out of the Army, and problems with his girlfriend.

"I'll be honest, he was a little hellion at times, but he was a good kid who would have done anything for his family, teammates or friends. You know, he was like me in not showing emotion to people he cared about, like his younger sister Anna. But her boyfriend told us whenever P.J. saw him he would always say,

Peter Vandermeer

Peter John II "P.J." Vandermeer, 19, of Clarkston, died March 1, 1996.

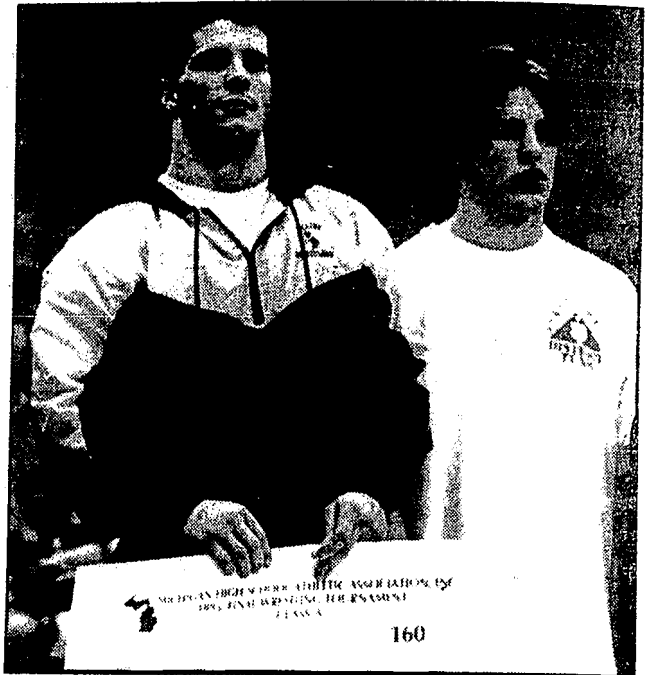

P.J. had a great love for sports. He was a talented varsity letter winner at Clarkston High School and a graduate of the Class of 1995.

He is survived by his parents, Pete and Carol of Clarkston; a sister, Anna; two brothers, Mathew and Nicholas; grandparents Walter John and Edna Mae Vandermeer of Pontiac and Alta Jean Bills of Waterford; and several aunts, uncles and cousins.

Funeral services were held March 4 at Mt. Zion Temple in Clarkston with Rev. Loren Covarrubias officiating.

Funeral arrangements were entrusted to the Lewis E. Wint & Son Trust 100 Funeral Home in Clarkston.

Memorials may be made to the family of P.J., in care of his aunt Arlene Farrar.

you think of an exciting wrestler with a lot of life in him. He was the most exciting wrestler I've ever had and gave everyone some of the most memorable matches they'll ever see."

Pete said P.J. had a lot of support from the wrestling community to get back into the sport, but never took that step. "We had college coaches calling him, we had high school coaches who wanted him to help coach. I guess he just didn't realize how many people were there for him."

Both Pete and Carol said the support from the community has been overwhelming, and they know that out of this tragedy must come some positives for his family and other families.

"I was never the kind to go up and give hugs but I've learned to do that now," said Pete. "Some good has to come out of this for us and everyone who knew him. I want all parents and kids to understand they must talk and hug more. Get closer to each other and appreciate what you have."

Carol added, "Good things will come out of this. I hope everyone can learn from this."

The D'Anne & Don Review

D'ANNE WITKOWSKI
Tori Amos-Boys for Pele
1996 Atlantic Records

Never before has a new release been so anticipated by me. I've been waiting for new material from Tori Amos ever since her last brilliant release, Under the Pink. Very rarely do I go and buy an album the day it's released without ever hearing a single song on it beforehand. There's something about Tori Amos that makes her, well, different, and certainly an exception to just about any musical rule.

Boys for Pele is pretty hard to swallow the first time around. The lyrics are very disjointed and vague in comparison to her past two albums. At times her writing is random and hard to connect meaning to. Lines like "girls that eat pizza and never gain weight" and "I've got Big Bird on the fishing line" seem thrown into the middle of the songs with very little in the way of context clues to help us figure them out.

At other times her writing is no less than brilliant and the beauty of her voice resounds through the beautiful "Hey Jupiter" and the breathtaking "Putting the Damage On," by far two of the album's most amazing tracks.

Amos experiments a lot with her music by using harpsichord and funky drum beats that wrap around her voice in the tradition of her "God" single from Under the Pink. Such is the case in the album's first single, "Caught a Lite Sneeze."

Boys clocks in at over 70 minutes with a total of 18 songs and after about the second listen Boys for Pele drags you in. It becomes infectious and grows in you. And it's a good thing to have in you, oh, yes it is. It becomes not just another record, but an unbelievable experience.

Lindsay McCleary is the SMS spelling bee champ for 1996.

7th-grader top speller

It was a relatively simple word that tripped her up last year and another one that made her champ this year.

Seventh-grader Lindsay McCleary is the winner of this year's Sashabaw Middle School spelling bee. She won on the word "orchard" but not before she and runner-up Andrew Dixon battled over some tougher words like "liberalism" and "transistor."

Lindsay was one of 37 students in grades six, seven and eight who met for the school bee after earlier eliminations. David Griffith was the sixth-grade champ; Andrew Dixon was the eighth-grade champ. Lindsay now moves on to the regional bee March 23 at Cranbrook.

Lindsay said she's a good speller and didn't find the spelling bee difficult. "Throughout school people have always come to me to learn how to spell," she said. "I guess it's a strength."

However she won't disclose the word that tripped her up last year and ousted her from the bee in her first year as a contestant.

"I really messed up on a real simple word. I won't tell you what it was. I got nervous."

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

PRE-QUALIFY YOURSELF

DON'T BE NERVOUS about applying for a mortgage — 85% of all applicants are approved. *****

27 S. Main, Clarkston
625-9300

QUESTION: How do I know if I am able to qualify for a mortgage loan from a bank? I'm very nervous about applying.

ANSWER: If you're so nervous that you won't qualify for a mortgage that you're afraid to apply for one, you can relax! Lenders say that 85% of all mortgage applicants are approved. Let's face it - banks are in the business of lending money. That's what they do.

Take some preliminary steps to see how you rate with a lender. Ask the officer if you qualify for a home loan with your income and in what price range you should be looking. It wouldn't do any harm to do some comparison shopping that will lead you to the best deal.

Local breeder prepares for Cobo dog show

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Like a lot of pet owners, Claudia Jakus found herself with a dog one day that she really knew nothing about.

That was 15 years ago, and today Jakus, of Clarkston, has become an expert on the Afghan hound. She will be among hundreds of dog owners showing her special breed at the 78th Annual Detroit Kennel Club Dog Show at Cobo Hall March 10. Over 3,000 dogs are expected to participate in the show, which is called North America's largest one-day, all-breed benched dog show. Last year 65,000 visitors attended the show.

Jakus' 2-year-old blue Afghan, named Uno, will be there among the sight hounds, so named because they hunt by sight rather than scent. Uno is a Canadian champ still looking for her American championship.

It was Jakus' husband who was originally drawn to the breed and brought the first one home.

"We didn't do any investigating into the breed to find out what their characteristics were," she said. That's something she cautions prospective owners against, since Afghans are, when it comes to their affection level, more like cats—they don't listen and don't like being walked on a leash. They like to run and require a fenced yard so they can get the exercise they need.

"In many cases people want them because of their beauty," Jakus said. The coat the dogs are famous for, though natural, takes a lot of work: the puppies start out fluffy, then loose all their hair and go bald when they come into season. After that it's a lengthy process to grow it long and groom it properly.

That didn't deter Jakus and before long she got into breeding and showing the dogs. Since making that decision she's been all over the country and the world selling and showing her Afghans. Showing is her favorite part because of the camaraderie that develops between show people.

"There's virtually no place in the world I could go and say I need help . . . and dog show people will come and help you," she said. "Someone said to me, 'Just put a dog crate out 50 feet from the car and someone will stop.' And that's true. Dog people are like that."

Jakus said a benched show like the one at Cobo is a good place for someone considering a purchase to learn about the AKC's 137 registered breeds. At a benched show, the dogs and owners are on hand all day. The Cobo show is one of only a handful of benched shows in the country.

As for Afghans, Jakus said they are used to hunt mountain lion in Afghanistan and are incredibly fast on their feet. Despite the long, flowing locks which appear to weigh them down, they are lightweight and very agile.

"I have all these trees in my back yard and they (the dogs) must go 90 miles an hour and they've never hit one," Jakus said. Their curled tails stick up above their bodies and allow them to be seen when hunting.

Though Jakus said the dogs cannot be obedience trained, Uno does respond to some commands. "Get down, please," Jakus said as Uno put her front paws up on the kitchen table. And get down she did.

Keeping the dogs groomed is a big job. "I have a special bath tub for them," Jakus said. At least once a week they are washed, dried and combed to keep mats from forming in their hair.

"With a little force and determination you can train this dog to lay on the floor in front of the TV and you can groom them," she said. "The main point is to love the dog and take care of the dog, not the coat."

"I think if you breed these dogs you have to be responsible for them the rest of their lives. A lot of (people) think they're disposable . . . You don't get rid of your kids when you move."

If you're trying to decide which breed of dog to buy, Jakus suggests coming to the Cobo show early so you have plenty of time to see all the breeds. Ask questions and do research on the temperament of the dog before you buy. Then, when you get it home, make sure it always has at least your phone number on its collar for identification purposes. Jakus said you don't need anything fancy—just a magic marker to write the number on the collar where it can easily be seen.

Then be prepared to lavish lots of care on this new addition to your family. Jakus said she spends long days on the road with her dogs. After all-day shows she must walk her dogs so they get enough exercise. Then, the next morning, she gets up early and walks them again. Though she admits they're aloof, she says a real bond has developed between her and her hounds.

"It requires dedication more than work," Jakus said. "They're not a kind of dog that sits on your lap. I think that's one of the reasons I like them so much. Even though we didn't plan it the Afghan is good for us."

The 78th Annual Detroit Kennel Club Dog Show will be held Sunday, March 10 at Cobo Hall from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. The DKC considers the show its primary educational tool, according to president Erik Bergishagen. An information center will be staffed by experienced breeders and feature literature on all dog breeds. A photo exhibit, dog products and an equestrian-style Grand Prix jumping event will all be featured. The Best of Show winner will be announced at 8 p.m. Admission is $25 for a family of

"Intelligent" fun

OM challenges kids to think

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

At 9 a.m. Saturday, Sashabaw Middle School's Odyssey of the Mind team should have been going into performance.

However, though the regional OM competition (held at Lake Orion High School and Middle School) had just begun an hour before, their room was already a half-hour behind. The students took the delay calmly, judging by appearances.

But when they were called to get ready, the adrenaline must have kicked in. "It seems like time slows down," said seventh-grader Robert Koch, as the team went through a few last-minute details with an official. Then it was showtime, and a performance that had taken as long as nine minutes in rehearsal was polished off flawlessly in under seven. The limit was eight minutes.

The SMS students—eighth-grader KC Kerby, seventh-graders Shannon Fell, Jonathon Shanks and Robert Koch and sixth-grader Michael Fischer—came in fourth in the middle school division with their clever tall tale about James Bond—er, Frond. Loaded with puns, a talking dandelion and even a visit from the Beatles, the performance had the judges and the audience giggling.

OM is a competition that asks students to do all the thinking.

Though coached by adults, when the students present their "problem," as it's called, they're all alone in the arena. They must depend on their own skills, both in problem-solving and teamwork, to succeed. From the beginning, when they write their scripts and build their props, to the end, when they face the judges, the OM experience is what they make of it.

"It's a lot of dedication," said Mary Ellen McLean, coordinator for Clarkston schools' teams this year. "They give up a lot of other stuff for it because it's very time consuming."

Chris Heck, a Clarkston resident who is an OM regional director, agrees. She was originally exposed to OM when asked to coach her daughter's team.

"My initial reaction was oh, sure, what could it possibly involve? But I found out."

Her job as coach, she said, was to "provide the Doritos and the Mountain Dew to keep their energy level up." The students spent hours from fall through the competition doing the creative work.

"There were seven girls at my house constantly. I mean there's still paint on the garage floor in that house were we lived."

But like her charges, Heck got hooked. Though she no longer has a child involved in OM, her responsibility continues to grow. She said she's remained involved because she thinks it's so good for kids.

"I love what the program does for the kids. The thing I like about it the most is there are so many ways we're asking our kids to conform and be regimented. . . OM comes along and says "I want you to be a free thinker." We seem to attract the people who don't think like everybody else . . .

"A lot of kids are not athletic, not musical. Where so we put those kids? OM seems to have become a niche for them."

Heck's daughter is now 23 and a college student. Mom feels the OM experience has helped her daughter as she's moved on in life.

"It's based on teamwork. It isn't based on the right clothes or what their dad does or what kind of car they drive . . . You can't do it alone. Everyone has to be committed 100 percent."

Gotcha!

New police video system provides safety for city, training for officers

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Thanks to a new video surveillance system people may now think twice about committing a crime in Clarkston — or telling a tall tale to get out of one.

The City of Clarkston recently purchased a pair of Eyewitness Patrol Car Surveillance Systems for the city's two police patrol cars. Each system features a VHS recorder, color video tape, a locker that protects tapes, a black and white monitor and a wireless microphone receiver that operates up to a range of 1,000 ft. The two systems were purchased from Kansas-based Kustom Signals, Inc. for $4,595 apiece with an additional $115 apiece for installation. The monies came from the city's police budget.

One of the systems is already in place. The other will be installed when the new police car arrives, said Clarkston Police Chief Paul Ormiston.

Ormiston said, more and more, officers are confronting violence and the system provides accuracy. "A witness is not always credible," he said. Officers and those they arrest will now see real scenes on film. Even when the officer has to enter a building where the camera can't go, "You might be looking at a brick wall but you'll hear everything that's going on inside," he said.

Clarkston Police Officer Brian Kirk provided a demonstration of the new system last week. Kirk opened up the patrol car trunk and revealed the locker — similar to an airplane's "black box" — that houses the control system which is wired to the other pieces of equipment in the car.

"It's bullet-proof, weather-proof, insect-proof," Kirk said. An excerpt from Kustoms Signals confirms this: "If the worst should happen, the evidence is secured in the patrol vehicle's trunk, out of reach."

Kirk then climbed into his car and explained how the system may be activated in three ways — through turning on the light bar atop the patrol car, speaking into the microphone or pushing the record button on the VCR system attached to the car's rear-view mirror where the camera is also located.

The part-time officer was the first to learn the system and said it took only about 2 1/2 hours to be taught by a cadet from Macomb's police academy who also installed the system.

"It's fairly easy to operate. The camera does everything. All you have to do is remember to hit the record button," Kirk said with a chuckle.

Driving around his half-mile beat in Clarkston, Kirk pointed to the small black-and-white monitor which is located on the passenger's side of the vehicle. The screen showed the traffic before him. He was able to zoom in close to read a license plate. The screen also shows how fast a car is going and keeps track of the speed as it changes — sort of a built-in radar.

Kirk said the system helps him in his career. He's able to see his actions whether he does a good or bad job.

"It's a great tool," he said. "They say you're your hardest critic. As soon as I make a traffic stop I can view that at the time of the traffic stop. Or if the officer doesn't feel comfortable in reviewing that at the time of the stop, he could review it later." The tape may be viewed in color inside City Hall.

Ormiston said the system will especially be valuable for capturing drunk drivers on film. So far, the CPD has made seven drunk driving arrests this check myself on film. The biggest problem I have is putting my back to the person. You want to always have them in view so they don't shoot you or something."

Though, he added, the system is mainly used for traffic stops, "You never know when something (more serious) is going to happen — even in Clarkston."

Chief Ormiston agreed with Kirk that the system is an invaluable tool for training young officers.

"To view his actions to be sure he's conducting himself in a professional manner, that he's giving the citizen proper respect or to view things that he's doing that are unsafe," he said.

But the main thing, of course, is to capture a person in the act of committing a crime or violation, he said. He points to the flexibility of the system. "For example, if someone ran a red light, the officer could

If convicted on the suspended license charge, his sentence could include a year in prison and/or $1,000 fine, confiscation of his license plate and impoundment of his car for up to 120 days.

James Frond, played by Jonathon Shanks, comes to the rescue of the weeds.

Odyssey of ... the mind

The halls of Lake Orion High School and Junior High were filled with excited students Saturday as the regional Odyssey of the Mind competition was held.

Clarkston schools sent over 100 students to the competition, with teams ranging from early primary years to middle school. Each presented a prepared problem they had solved from a list of choices available through OM.

Chris Heck, an OM regional director from Clarkston, said though she's been involved for years, she loves the excitement of game day.

"The energy level in the building is incredible. It's almost touchable. They're so happy to be there. There's props all over; there's noise . . ."

That was certainly true Saturday. Police had to warn parents to move their cars from illegal parking spots, and groups could be seen hauling in props in all sizes. Costumes ran the gamut from tame to coconut shell bikinis on a group of boys from a Lake Orion Catholic school.

Of Clarkston's 16 teams, two—both from Pine Knob Elementary—finished second in their divisions and one—from Sashabaw Middle School—finished fourth. The SMS team, pictured here, chose the problem called "Tall Tales of John Jivery." According to coach Greg Warner, who shared coaching duties with Penny Shanks, the team had to write and present their own tall tale explaining why something exists. It had to include a hero who accomplished a feat and had to be presented within eight minutes. The team was also assisted by student Liz Alea as stage manager.

Their story told of hero Frond, James Frond who set out to learn why weeds kept disappearing—17 in recent weeks, according to a broadcast from WEED radio.

The plants suspected a conspiracy of fungi, since all the missing were green. A mushroom cloud was the suspected murder weapon. Enter Frond to the tune of the Beatles' "Help" as four miniature moppets poked their papier mache heads out from the backdrop. At this the judges (who were all wearing funny hats, by the way) all began to giggle.

One of the funniest moments was when one of the greens was dying on the compost heap. As she expired, up popped a sock puppet, a dandelion called Louie, with just one line. "She's dead, Jim, dead." It was such a surprise the audience and judges all cracked up.

"They were great," said co-coach Shanks, noting their 6:39 performance time. "It's amazing what adrenaline can do." Afterwards the students all said they felt it had gone well. A judge asked how many Beatles records they had to listen to to find all the songs they used. No problem, Jonathan said—they had the "Anthology."

Wolves fall in semis to champion Holt

CHS keeps it close early,
but pins do them in later

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It took junior Gordie Golec a long while to pull his emotions in. He had just been pinned in his must-win match at 215 pounds and the emotions of a tough weekend were hard to hold in.

He lay sprawled out, face down, shaking and crying on the mat for what seemed like minutes, showing the pain everyone associated with Clarkston wrestling was feeling that day, at that moment.

On this day, in Clarkston's semifinal loss to Holt in the team dual state wrestling tournament, nobody would blame any one wrestler for the 42-20 loss.

With heavy hearts the Clarkston Wolves wrestling team ended a spectacular season, finishing 22-2 overall and earning the distinction as one of only two teams in the Division I to appear in the final four two straight seasons (Holt is the other school).

And while this Clarkston team was disappointed in losing, their coach Mike DeGain said they will always be champions in his eyes. The team's goal was to win a Division I state title, but they ran up against a powerful team in Holt. It had been doubly hard for the kids to focus because of the suicide last week of P.J. Vandermeer, a teammate on Clarkston's state runner-up team last season.

"I think everything played a part this weekend," said an emotionally-drained coach DeGain. "After we found out (Friday just before the team left) it was just really hard to get excited about wrestling. It didn't seem so important after all. They all wrestled their hearts out and we couldn't expect anything more.

Coach Mike DeGain gathered his emotionally drained wrestlers and gave them words of praise after losing to Holt in the state wrestling semifinals March 3.

"It takes a lot of things going right to win a title. And on top of everything else, Jeremy (Lafferty) and Jason (Tiefenback) didn't practice all week because they were sick. There are certain things that happen in life you can't control and just have to deal with."

In the end, Holt's strength up and down the lineup was too much for Clarkston. It also proved too much for Holt's championship final opponent, Bay City Western, who got beat 53-3 in the final.

DeGain said his Wolves squad had a great

Titles won with head, heart

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Winning with their heads and playing with their hearts led the Clarkston volleyball team to a district title March 2.

That combination of talent, hard work and smarts is the reason the Wolves, now 37-13-1 overall, clinched districts as well as the Oakland Activities Association Division I title this season. Coach Gordie Richardson said it's no coincidence his team's grade point average is 3.3, just as it's no coincidence they are good athletes.

"I just have some kids on this team who do some real good things all the time, not just on the court," said the tenth-year coach whose teams have won four of the last six district titles and three of the last four. "Having kids that excel in sports and school makes it special for me. It also means you can challenge them mentally with more offensive plays and different sets. And it's because of those reasons that we can do a lot of other things."

The Wolves used all their resources at districts, held at Lakeland High School, in beating three teams. But in the end it was determination that brought a district title home.

CHS beat Waterford Kettering 15-7, 15-13 in the first round then went on to beat Waterford Mott 15-9, 14-16, 15-6. In the championship final, won 7-15, 15-2, 15-9.

While Richardson said his team had some let-downs during the tournament, they performed well when they had to and reached another goal. It also helped that seniors Lisa Herron and Stephanie Giroux returned from injuries to provide some key plays.

"I'm certainly pleased with what the kids have achieved," said Richardson. "And I'm as pleased as anything that they are such a team. They have not allowed anything get in the way of their goals. It's been one of those real big seasons you won't forget for a while."

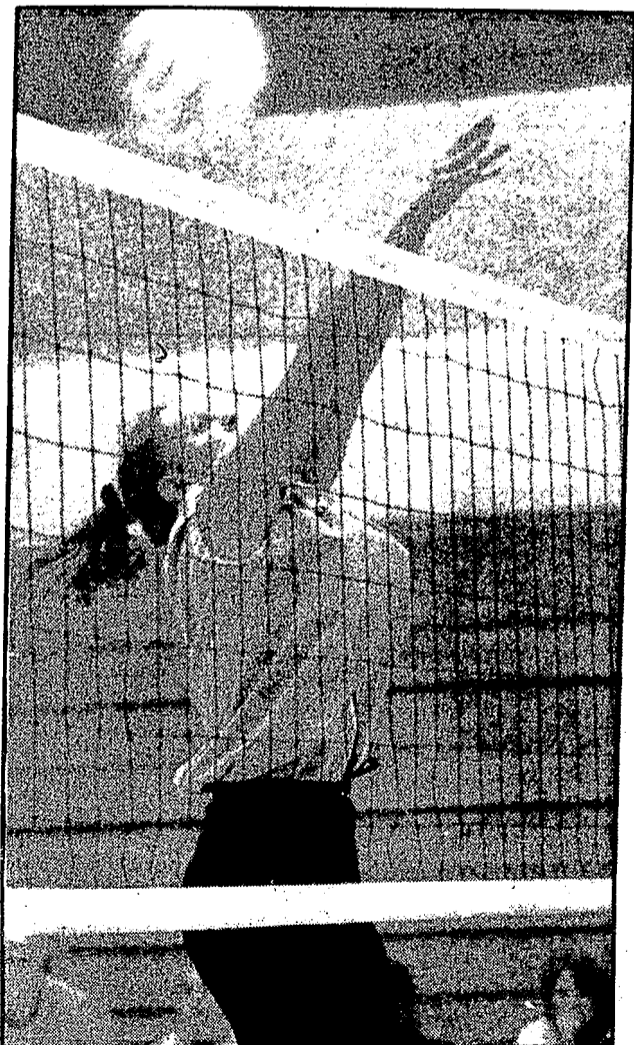

In districts, the Wolves may not have won in convincing fashion every match, but they did excel in several areas. The team served at a 93 percent rate, had an 89.7 attack percent, averaged 10 kills per game and was 86 percent in serve receptions.

For the three-match districts, Giroux, Herron, Nickie Winn, Nicki Hard and Megan Bjurman once again came up big, while the entire team came up with big plays.

Giroux, Herron and Winn are also expected to be named Academic All-State for volleyball, according to Richardson.

Richardson said he thought his team could have performed better defensively and had better focus, but they still made the plays when it counted.

Wolves circle in on district play

Next up: Lapeer West on March 6, with finals March 9

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A 61-30 thrashing of Holly wasn't much of a district tune-up for the Clarkston basketball team March 4.

But during March Madness tournament time, any win is a good win. The Wolves, who finished the season at 16-4 overall and 10-0 as the Oakland Activities Association Division I champions, move on in districts to play Lapeer West (14-6) March 6 at 7 p.m. If they win that battle they will play for the district championship March 9 at 1 p.m.

Districts are being hosted by Clarkston.

Holly, 2-19 overall, wasn't much of a test for Clarkston as the Wolves took a 35-16 halftime lead and a 55-22 lead after three quarters. Everyone played for the Wolves while sophomore Dane Fife led the team with 24 points and 12 rebounds, and senior Tim Wasilk added 17 points.

"They really just couldn't handle our pressure and we played pretty good," said coach Dan Fife. "It's good to come out in the first game and play well no matter who you play."

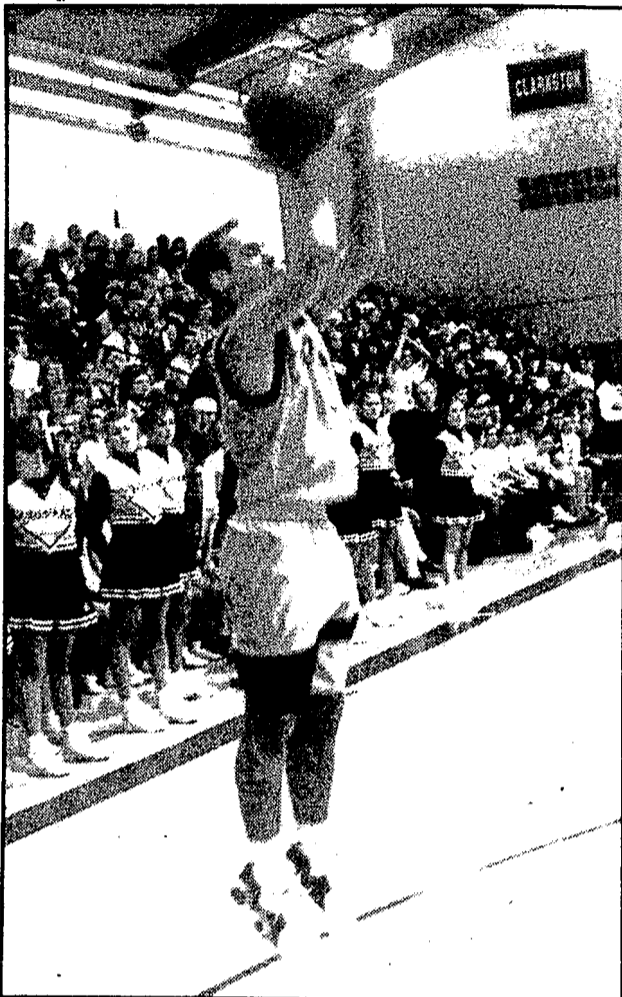

The good games came in two wins last week against Pontiac Northern and Pontiac Central, although the Wolves already had the OAA title wrapped up by then.

They beat rival Northern 62-59 Feb. 27 and Central 63-54 March 1.

"Beating those two teams was real good for us going into tournaments," said coach Fife. "They played us tough and we were able to work on some things."

Northern threw a box-and-one defense on Dane Fife, which allowed Wasilk to score 26 points and take the game over late. Fife still scored 25 points himself.

"Tim's really shooting the ball well for us right now," said Fife.

Against Central, the Wolves got 28 points from Dane Fife, 17 from Wasilk and 14 from Schapman.

Third district in four years for Richardson

Vs. Waterford Kettering

The Wolves had an easy time of it in the first game against Kettering, but had a slight let down in the close second game, committing nine errors.

"I told them then what we've talked about many times before about coming out after an easy win with the same intensity we have in the beginning," said Richardson. "We have to understand we can't just go through the motions."

Vs. Waterford Mott

The Wolves won the first game once again but lost a close second game. In the third and deciding game, CHS was down 6-1 before Giroux served 14 straight points to give her team the victory.

The Wolves dominated at the net against Mott, racking up 30 kills, including nine from Winn, seven from Herron and six each from Giroux and junior Megan Bjurman.

Clarkston also served at a 94 percent clip, led by Giroux's perfect 26-for-26 performance.

District finals vs. Lakeland

The Wolves weren't about to lose to Lakeland, despite losing the first game. They came back in the second to win easy and were down 8-9 in the third before Clarkston served seven straight points for the win.

"All of a sudden we just started playing better," said Richardson.

The Wolves once again were dominating at the net with 33 kills, including six each from Giroux, Bjurman, Herron and Allyn, while Winn had five and Hard four. As a team CHS had a 91 percent attack percentage and a 90 percent serve reception, while serving 91 percent.

What's next

Richardson's squad will meet up with Lapeer East at 6 p.m. March 9 at Walled Lake Central. The 5 p.m. game is Birmingham Marian and Walled Lake Central.

The Wolves already beat East 15-11, 15-13 in the Grand Blanc tournament Jan. 20.

"We're going to work on some little things this week, but I would be surprised if the team lets down," said the coach.

Dane Fife stars in March Madness TV spot

Sophomore basketball player Dane Fife is hoping to lead his team to the promised land during March Madness tournament time.

In addition, he's also leading the way as one of 12 of the state's best hoopsters selected to appear in a new March Madness promotion currently airing on CBS Detroit's 62.

Fife, who averages around 23 points per game, is one of the high school players used to help feature the excitement surrounding the NCAA college basketball tournament, which will be aired by CBS beginning March 14.

Clarkston youth wrestling

At the Mid-Michigan Wrestling Association Regional Wrestling Tournament March 2, Luke Markell finished second in the 13-14 age group's 90-pound weight class.

In addition, Tony LaJoie was third in the 9-10 age group's 71-pound class.

Over 30 teams participated in the tournament. Wrestlers placing here move on to the league finals, scheduled for next weekend.

● Luke Fedio of Clarkston finished his final season for the Grand Valley State University men's basketball team. The 6-3 guard averaged 11 points and a team-best 6.1 rebounds per game. He also had 34 steals and 42 assists for the Lakers. One of his season highlights was a 30-point, 11-rebound game against Spring Arbor College in a December tournament game. GVSU finished the season 11-15 overall and 9-9 in the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

The Wolves finished the season with a match that summed up their season. The team played their hearts out, but it was not enough to win over more experienced squads.

The Wolves lost to Troy, 5-15, 4-15. Liz O'Connor led the Wolves with five digs, and two serving aces. Ingrid Zimmerman also had two aces. Mandy Harrison played an excellent all-around game, and the team passed at 80 percent.

The Wolves closed out their season in grand fashion with a big 68-43 victory over Cranbrook.

"It was nice to end our season with two straight wins," said head coach Neal Sage.

1996 Division I Individual Wrestling Finals Preview

Seven Wolves wrestlers have big hopes

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

For predictions of individual finalists for all four divisions, check out the Michigan Wrestling News' latest edition, available by calling 810-625-3480.

Individual glory now dominates the thoughts of seven Clarkston wrestlers.

A.J. Grant, Ryan Mick, Chad Auten, Jeremy Lafferty, Scott LaBrie, Joe DeGain and Gordie Golec are primed for the Division I Individual Wrestling Finals, scheduled for March 8 and 9 at Kellogg Arena in Battle Creek. Beginning times for both days are 4 p.m.

According to Michigan Wrestling News editor Scott Strickler, all seven have a strong chance at placing in their respective weight classes. The Wolves are sending the third-most individuals to the finals, behind Holt (eight) and Bay City Western (11). Western competed in the same individual regional as the Wolves.

In the team finals, Holt beat CHS in the team dual semifinals and then went on to crush Western in the finals.

It's the second-straight season CHS has qualified seven wrestlers for the state finals, the most in school history. Repeating as state qualifiers are Mick and DeGain, who qualified for the third time. Senior Joe Roy was a qualifier last season at 142 pounds but failed to qualify this season at 145.

For the second year in a row, Strickler will lend his insight as a former coach, official and now media person as to how each CHS finalist may do.

Last week, in predicting the final eight Division I team dual matches, he was 7-for-7.

One thing all the Clarkston wrestlers have in common, Strickler said, is conditioning, stamina and the fact they have wrestled against the best all season long.

"You're really only as good as your competition, so all these kids have a chance to place," said Strickler.

One intangible only Clarkston wrestlers will have to deal with is the recent suicide of P.J. Vandermeer, a wrestler on last year's squad who finished second in the state finals at 160 pounds last season.

Coach Mike DeGain said it may be hard right now for the kids and coaches to get excited about the weekend but he knows they will give their best effort.

103 pounds

Freshman A.J. Grant, 39-5, 2nd place in region 2:

Grant, the winningest freshman in CHS history with 39 wins (beating Jeff DeRoseau's old record of 35 wins in the 1989-90 season), opens with Livonia Stevenson's Katsuhiko Sueda (43-9 and 3rd in region 4).

Romeo's Jim Borowski (42-1, 1st in region 2, ranked #2 by the MWN and #5 by the Michigan Wrestling Association) beat Grant in districts and regionals this season.

But besides Borowski, others to watch include East Kentwood's Hai Nguyen (40-3 and 1st in region 1), who Grant could meet in quarterfinals, and Anchor Bay's Nick Trombley (38-4, 1st in region 3 and #7 by MWN).

Strickler said he expects Grant to finish in the top five, but he does have a tough bracket after his first match.

"A.J.'s coming off a real good weekend (beating Holt's R.J. Eding in team semifinals) and could do well against anyone, but Nguyen could be tough as he's only lost to wrestlers at 112 pounds," he said.

125 pounds

Junior Ryan Mick, 42-6, 2nd region 2 and returning state qualifier:

Mick starts off against Northville's James Kyle (29-9 and 3rd in region 4) but is in a bracket with two of the state's top-ranked 125-pounders in Owosso's Wayne Kingman (43-2, 1st region 1 and #8 by the MWN) and Anchor Bay's John Burke (40-1, 1st region 3, #3 by the MWN and MWA and finished 2nd in the state last year at 119 pounds). Mick could meet Kingman in quarterfinals and Burke in semifinals.

A.J. Grant started things off right for the Wolves when he beat R.A. Eding of Holt in the first match.

If Mick gets past those opponents, he could meet up in the finals against Bay City Western's Charlie Spencer (40-3), who beat Mick in the regional finals, or West Ottawa's Karl Nadolsky (42-3, 2nd region 1, #7 by MWN and finished 1st in state last year at 100 pounds).

In last year's state finals, Mick (then at 112 pounds) went 1-2.

Strickler said Mick could also take a top five finish because he too wrestled well in the team semifinals.

"If he can keep it up, he could do well," said Strickler. "But put him in the opposite bracket and he'd be in the semifinals or finals."

140 pounds

Senior Chad Auten, 47-8, 2nd region 2:

Auten opens against Livonia Stevenson's Nick Petryk (42-10 and 3rd region 4), but the going gets tough after that.

Auten's bracket includes state-ranked 140-pounders Donovan Rinehart (43-2, 1st region 1 and rated #7 by MWN) of Rockford and Berkley's undefeated Scott Losey (39-0, 1st region 3 and rated #3 by MWN and #4 by MWA). Auten would have to beat Rinehart in quarterfinals to reach Losey in the semifinals. Auten has lost to Losey already this season.

If Auten were to make it to finals he would most likely meet up with Southgate Anderson's Ray Stanley (45-1, 1st region 4 and rated #4 by MWN and #5 by MWA).

Strickler expects a top four finish for Auten, who dominated his opponents in team quarterfinals and semifinals this weekend.

If Auten does meet Losey in the semifinals, Strickler expects a classic matchup. "It would be a match between a technician (Losey) and a terminator (Auten). If it's in tight Losey could have the advantage, but if it's wide open Chad could pull it off."

160 pounds

Senior Jeremy Lafferty, 46-5, 1st region 2 and rated #7 by the MWN:

Lafferty starts off with Livonia Churchill's Chris Seder (32-7, 4th region 4) and has a favorable bracket which should help him to the final match.

All the Division I wrestlers ranked ahead of Lafferty must battle in the opposite bracket, which could be to Lafferty's advantage. In the other bracket are West Ottawa's James Tietema (43-2, 1st region 1 and rated #5 by the MWN and #4 by the MWA) and Roseville's Kyle Williamson (47-1, 1st region 3 and rated #6 by MWN and #5 by MWA), along with Holt's Tandem Hayes (35-6 and 4th region 1).

Grant had lost to Eding earlier in the season, but wrestled hard for the 4-1 win.

Three of Lafferty's five losses this season came to the state's top two 160-pound wrestlers, Millington's Jason Holmes (#1 by MWN and MWA) and Fowlerville's Cody Dinning (#2 MWN and #3 MWA), to whom Lafferty lost twice. However, both of those wrestlers are in Division III.

Lafferty also lost to Roseville's Williamson twice this season, was upset by Troy's Brian Kretschmer (31-6 and 3rd in region 3) earlier this season and was pinned by Holt's Hayes in team semifinals. Lafferty and Kretschmer would meet again if both win their first-round matches.

Part of the reason for Lafferty's disappointing team semifinal showings was he didn't practice at all last week because of a cold.

171 pounds

Junior Scott LaBrie, 41-10, 2nd region 2:

LaBrie starts off in a tough bracket against Roseville's Ryan Tavernier (43-3, 3rd region 2 and ranked #6 by MWN and #4 by MWA), who beat LaBrie in team quarterfinals 7-5 in overtime.

But if LaBrie gets past Tavernier he has a difficult way to the finals because of a loaded bracket which includes Rockford's Jon Pell (44-2, 1st region 1 and rated #5 by MWN), Berkley's Ben Gitler (40-3, 2nd region 2 and rated #7 by MWN) and Brighton's Larz Olson (26-0, 1st region 3 and was 3rd in state last season at 160).

The opposite bracket is just as tough with Royal Oak Kimball's Brian King (37-1, 1st region 4 and rated #4 by MWN and #3 by MWA) and Grandville's Kelly Krepps (35-3, 2nd region 3 and ranked #5 by MWA).

Strickler said LaBrie, who has also wrestled strong as of late, has a good chance to finish in the top eight if he can get past Tavernier in the first match.

189 pounds

Senior Joe DeGain, 48-0, 1st region 2, ranked #1 by the MWN and MWA, and returning state qualifier:

DeGain starts off against Traverse City's Shawn Maison (37-12, 4th region 1), but Strickler said no one should stop DeGain from his first state title.

"Hands down he is the favorite," said Strickler. "It's his to win or lose. If he can wrestle his match, he won't lose."

DeGain's road to the finals isn't very tough and the only other rated 189-pounder in the finals from Division I is Dearborn Edsel Ford's Andy Watson (40-2, 1st region 4 and ranked #10 by MWN), whom DeGain beat earlier this season at the South Lyon Invitational.

But Strickler expects DeGain to meet up in the finals against either Lake Orion's Mike Calcaterra (43-7, 2nd region 3 and defending state champ at 185 pounds) or South Lyon's Brian Janes (41-3 and 1st region 2).

DeGain, who has been scored on offensively only once this season, won't be easy to defeat. He's already beaten four of the possible eight wrestlers he could meet in the finals, including Janes, Watson, Calcaterra, whom he beat four times this season, and Howell's Ryan Arnold (47-5, second region 1), whom he beat twice.

Two factors are important to note in DeGain's run for a title. The first is he has been nursing a slight rib muscle injury and, second, Vandermeer was DeGain's daily wrestling practice partner for most of his high school career.

Joe's coach and father Mike DeGain said the suicide was tough on his son. "For the last five or six years Joe spent more time on the mat with P.J. than anyone else. That's where you earn each other's respect and I think in Joe's mind he wants to show P.J. that all that work meant something to him."

It's the senior's third trip to the state finals, where he took fourth as a sophomore and sixth as a junior.

215 pounds

Junior Gordie Golec, 42-16, 4th region 2:

The surprise state qualifier of the Clarkston crew will have to be on top of his game to place, as he starts off against Temperance-Bedford's Casey Bly (38-12, 1st region 4).

Some of the wrestlers to watch out for include Utica Ford's Mark Augustiniak (36-1 and 1st region 3), Grandville's Jason Jenkins (36-5, 3rd region 1) and Owosso's Glenn Olger (45-6 and 1st region 1).

Strickler said Golec has had a great season because he's done better than many thought he would. "He could pull something out but he will have to be at his best."

season and went farther than most people thought they would.

"A lot of people thought we'd have a down year, but we battled back from losing three state finalists and made it the final four again," said coach DeGain. "I think everyone can look back and be proud of that. They are all great kids."

The Wolves were in the match almost to the end, thanks to some inspired wrestling from the lower weight classes, beginning with 103-pounder A.J. Grant. But, eventually, Holt won nine of the next matches with six pins and one technical fall to pull away, compared to Clarkston's one pin and one technical fall.

Grant, a freshman, started off aggressive, intense and ready against R.J. Eding, who had beaten him earlier in the season.

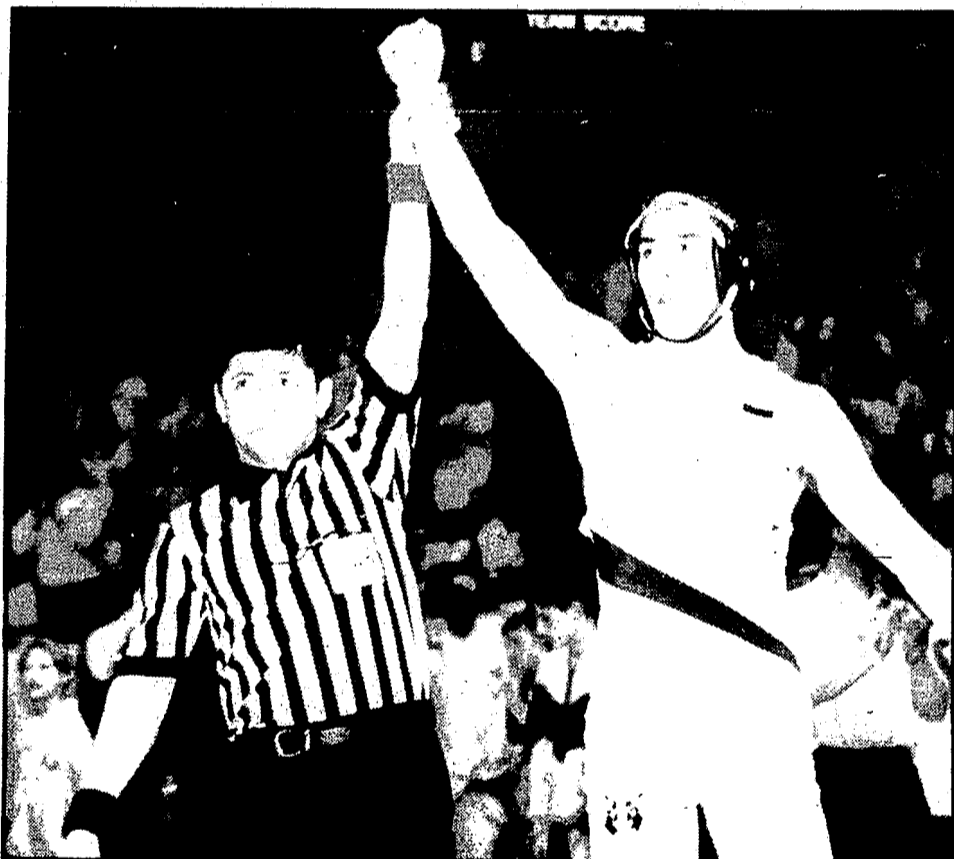

Grant, 41-5 on the season, set the tone right from the start against the lanky Eding, taking a 2-1 lead after the first period by attacking non-stop. The score remained the same after the second period with Grant continuing to push the action.

In the third, Eding, looking a little tired, couldn't keep up with the determined Grant. Grant again scored in the middle of the period and rode out a 4-1 victory, giving the Wolves the big start they needed.

At 112 pounds, sophomore Chris Gomez was no match for 34-5 Greg Parrott. While Gomez battled all the way and avoided being pinned several times, Parrott finally got the six-point pin with 28 seconds left in the final period.

Next up was Dave Ziemann at 119 pounds who battled Holt's Wesley Long, one of the state's best the last few years until he was injured in a car accident last season. Long has only wrestled in the state tournament this season but looked in good form against Ziemann and earned a technical fall in the final period, giving Holt a 10-3 lead.

CHS junior Ryan Mick showed why he is 44-6 on the season with an inspired performance against Holt's Tom Shaver, who had only two losses coming into the match. Mick battled hard and eventually won in overtime, 5-3.

Shaver led 3-2 after the first and second periods, before Mick came back and tied it 3-3 with one minute left in the third. In overtime, Shaver came within inches of scoring but Mick held on by his fingertips and somehow turned Shaver's hold around to score himself and win the match.

After the match Holt had a point taken away for unsportsmanlike conduct, making the score 9-6 and giving the Wolves some inspiration.

Junior Jason Tiefenback, 39-15, was next up against Holt's Gary Williams, who is 33-4 on the year. Tiefenback wrestled hard for three periods, despite not practicing most of the week because of the flu, but lost 5-4.

Tiefenback took a 3-1 lead in the second period and had a 4-3 lead in the final period, scoring most of his points on escape moves. But towards the end of the period, Williams scored on a reversal and Tiefenback couldn't come back.

At 135 pounds, junior Jay Richardson then lost to Holt's Rodney Knott, a state qualifier, 10-4, giving Holt a 15-6 lead.

Next up were two great efforts by seniors Chad Auten and Joe Roy.

Auten, a state qualifier at 140 pounds, dominated Holt's 34-7 state qualifier Russell Clark and recorded a pin in the second period. Auten seemed to coast in the first period, taking a 2-0 lead. But in the second he was patient and waited for the right time to spin out of a Clark hold and get him in a pin hold of his own.

Auten held the pin for almost a minute before he finally got the call with 46 seconds left in the second period.

Roy, who ends his career at 43-

8 this season, and Holt's James Lenon gave fans an exciting, high-scoring match, with Roy coming out on top 15-10.

Roy was ahead 6-4 after the first period but it was tied at 10 after the second. Beginning the second, Roy took control right away with a near fall and reversal, one of many he scored on in the match, and refused to allow Lenon to score any more.

The two wins tied the score at 15-15, but two straight Holt pins and another Holt decision put the match out of reach.

At 152 pounds, Holt's 43-3 state qualifier Corey Meade was too much for the inexperienced Reggie Wiltse, who was pinned in the second period.

Jeremy Lafferty, who had lost only five times during the regular season, looked good early against Holt's 35-6 state qualifier Tandem Hayes at 160 pounds. But, to the surprise of teammates and fans, Hayes pulled a fast move on Lafferty and pinned him in the second period.

Scott LaBrie at 171 pounds was next up to battle Holt's Tom Welsh, both of whom are state qualifiers. Welsh was ahead 3-2 after the first period and 5-4 after the second.

Both wrestlers picked it up in the third and scored a flurry of points, with Welsh taking an 11-9 lead. With about 20 seconds to go LaBrie needed escape points to tie it up but couldn't get the advantage.

With the score 30-15, the Wolves needed two pins and a decision in the final three matches.

Undefeated senior Joe DeGain was the best bet to earn a pin but Holt's Alex Redman did a superb job of running off the mat and avoiding DeGain's holds. DeGain finally won on a technical fall, 19-4, earning his team five points.

Next up were Golec and Holt's Mike Taylor, both state qualifiers at 215 pounds. Golec was down 4-2 when Taylor pinned him.

an important 17-7 decision over 29-4 Bill Tavernier.

Roseville then won three straight matches, when Wiltse was pinned at 152 pounds, Lafferty was pinned at 160 pounds and LaBrie lost a close overtime decision, 7-5 to 43-3 state qualifier Ryan Tavernier.

But the Wolves final three wrestlers of DeGain, Golec and Rebb took over with three straight pins.

DeGain pinned Roseville's Scott Yunke in 46 seconds, Golec pinned Mike Lauinger in the second period and Rebb earned his pin in the second as well.

JV Volleyball

A win over Troy made for a nice ending to the season for the Wolves. They won 15-2, 9-15, 5-15.

Kara McCallum led the Wolves with three aces, serving 11 straight points to earn the victory in the first game. Everyone played, and everyone played a factor in the outcome. Amanda Worden had three kills, and Brooke Wandschnieder had three aces. Shannon Iezzi had two aces, including the game point ace in the third and final game. Tracy Harmon had three aces and 10 assists. Kelly Hannah had two digs and one solo block, along with Kristen Propst. Kara Bergkoetter had one dig. Amber Mitchell had three solo blocks and two kills. Nicole Nelles also had two kills.

"We served incredibly well," said JV Coach Melissa Hixon-MaCaulay. "We did great on serve-receive, and played very well as a team, making very few mistakes. We have improved a great deal throughout the year."

JV Basketball

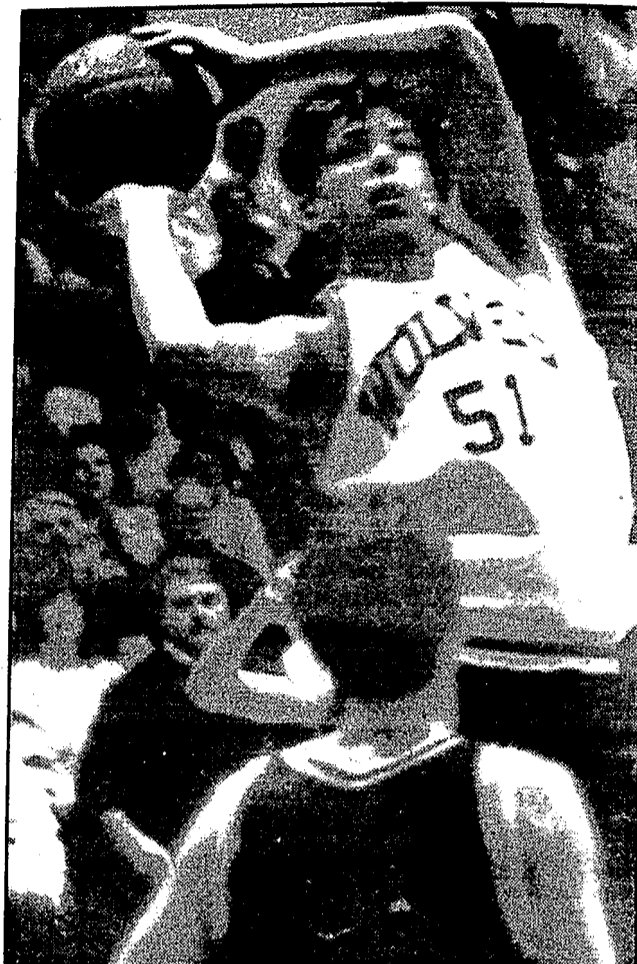

After a crushing defeat at the hands of Pontiac Northern, the Wolves came back to defeat Pontiac Central to end their season on a winning note. They finished their season with an impressive 14-6 record.

On February 27, the Wolves came out flat in the first half and fell behind Pontiac Northern 37-12 at halftime. Though the Wolves outscored the Huskies 24-19 in the second half, the game was already lost, as Northern won by 20, 56-36.

Jeff Loveless led the Wolves with 11 points, and Dan Neubeck was a bright spot with seven points, six steals and four rebounds.

The Wolves reversed roles on March 1, and defeated Pontiac Central 56-42. Although they started slow, they went on a 17-9 run in the third quarter to put the game away. Again, Neubeck had an excellent game for Clarkston, scoring 10 points and excelling on defense. Loveless added 16 points, and Mark Venegoni pitched in with 13.

"It was nice to finish the season with a win," said Coach Kaul.

Mark Whiteman double-pumps in a JV game earlier this season.
