Superintendent candidate faces controversy

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

The interviews haven't even started yet but the controversy has begun over one candidate under consideration for Clarkston superintendent of schools.

Owosso superintendent of schools Dr. Thomas Hicks is under fire in his community for attempting to terminate a principal. According to reports in the Flint Journal, the presidents of all the district's parent-teacher organizations have called for Hicks to resign. The board of education overruled Hicks' recommendation and extended the principal's contract for one more year.

Hicks is scheduled to be interviewed by the Clarkston board of education Wednesday at 8 p.m. He will be the third of eight candidates interviewed.

School board president Bill Craig said Monday he was aware of the controversy and had seen one newspaper article. He also said the board's consultant in the superintendent search, Kara Funk of the Michigan Association of School Boards, mentioned to the board in closed session that Hicks had some unresolved issues related to the firing of an employee, so it wasn't a total surprise when it hit the newspapers.

The board selected the eight candidates based solely upon the resumes and other written information they submitted during the application stage of the search. Funk advised them not to make phone calls until after the first round of interviews is completed.

"All our evaluations so far have been off the resumes," Craig said. "You have to somewhat give him the benefit of the doubt."

Craig said he doesn't believe the controversy will bias the board against Hicks.

"I don't think so. All they have to do is relate to what we've been through here. You just deal with the facts, try to keep the emotions out of it."

The schedule of interviews is as follows:

Wednesday, May 8

4 p.m.: Jeff Hudson, Chagrin Falls, Ohio.
6 p.m.: Jeff Grotsky, Grand Rapids
8 p.m.: Hicks

Thursday, May 9

6 p.m.: Richard Lane, Hillsdale

Friday, May 10

4 p.m.: Richard Johns, Gibraltar
6 p.m.: Michael Coury, Bettendorf, Iowa
8 p.m.: Albert Roberts, Pepper Pike, Ohio

Saturday, May 11

8:30 a.m.: Dan Lukich, Richland

All interviews will be open to the public and will be held at the administrative offices, 6389 Clarkston Rd. The audience will be given a chance to submit written comments on the candidates.

Flower day returns

Students in the floral/greenhouse program at Oakland Technical Center Northwest are preparing for their annual spring sale of student-grown annuals, perennials, hanging baskets and various mixed baskets. The sale will be held Wednesday, May 15, 8 a.m.-2 p.m. at the school, located at 8211 Big Lake Rd. The sale continues after that until everything is gone. Pictured are Wrylie VanderKaay (left) and Jennifer Gresock tending to marigolds in the greenhouse.

Hockey decision expected Monday

Concerns from supporters of high school hockey and the Clarkston administration have been aired and now it's up to the board of education.

On May 13 the board is expected to make a decision on whether a hockey team should be started for next season. The board was presented with three options to mull over, or they may decide to ignore them all and put the proposal on hold.

The options include allowing the program to be fully board funded, allowing shared funding between the school and the hockey club supporters, or allowing the club to fully fund the program.

Hockey club supporters, including Jack Leech, met with superintendent Gary Haner, principal Brent Cooley and the athletic department two weeks ago to clear the air after a heated board meeting late last month.

At that board meeting, Haner said, among other things, the school couldn't approve a new sport because by law other girls sports need to be established first, as well as other programs.

Supporters of the program said they were "blindsided" by the explanation given.

But several days later cooler heads prevailed and the two sides sat down and laid everything out on the table.

The school board meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Clarkston Schools administrative offices.

Vision screening for kids

It's estimated that 10,000 children with inadequate vision will enter Michigan schools next fall. To help alleviate the problem, free vision screening will be offered by the Oakland County Health Division to incoming kindergartners beginning in June.

The Health Division's Pontiac office will offer screenings on Monday, June 17 and 24. Hours both days are 4-7 p.m. on a walk-in basis.

Vision screening is required for school enrollment. For more information call 810-424-7070.

The news in brief

Students seek Vietnam veterans to honor

A group of 220 students from Sashabaw Middle School will travel to Washington, D. C. this month for fun and education. Among these stops will be the Vietnam War memorial.

In preparation for the visit, the students would like to learn about the people whose names appear on The Wall. They are seeking people who lost friends and loved ones in the Vietnam War so that they may learn a little bit about these people.

The idea came from SMS computer teacher Jeffrey Peariso, the tour's coordinator, who calls the project "Our Local Heroes." He is seeking copies of photographs or other information that would help the students. No original artifacts or documents be sent to the school, since they will not be returned.

The students will make a small rubbing of any soldier's name.

"The Our Local Heroes project is to help the citizens of Clarkston see the name of their friends and loved ones on The Wall," Peariso said.

All information must be received by May 13. The school is located at 5565 Pine Knob Lane, Clarkston, MI 48346.

Last day to register

Monday, May 13 is the last day to register to vote in the June 10 annual school election.

To register, visit any Secretary of State office or your city or township clerk's office.

In addition to electing two trustees to the Clarkston board of education, voters will select two people to fill vacancies on the Oakland Community College board.

Middle school parents night

Clarkston Middle School and Sashabaw Middle School will hold orientation for parents of incoming sixth-graders on Tuesday, May 14 at 7 p.m. in each school's gym. This event is for parents only.

Mailbox food drop

As part of a nation-wide food drive, the United States Post Office and the National Association of Letter Carriers are asking all residents to put cans of food in their mailboxes Saturday, May 11.

Paul Sharkey, of the Clarkston Post Office, said people can either place the cans in their mailbox (by 9 a.m. May 11) or drop them off at the post office.

He said each local post office will deliver the goods to a local organization. In Clarkston, the donations will go the Lighthouse Clarkston, located on Maybee Road.

Recording secretary leaving

A new recording secretary for the Independence Township board and planning commission is needed.

Barb Eschker, who held that position for eight years, is leaving the part-time job. The duties require taking official notes at the board of trustees meetings, held on the first and third Tuesday of each month, and at the planning commission meetings, held on the second and fourth Thursday of each month.

Pay is $40 for the first hour and $5 for each half hour after that.

A Great Dental Office Would...

Dear Dr. Shader,

In today's society of consumers experiencing poor product quality and service on a regular basis in every industry, it has been a refreshing experience to come across a doctor who truly cares not only about the quality of his work, but personally invests in each and every patient.

You and your staff are an exceptional group of professionals. When I came to your office upon Bob Posch's recommendation after one year of failed attempts at bridgework, I must admit that my expectations were not set that high. Based on prior experience and dental work, having any teeth that could pass for front teeth would be acceptable.

I must admit that you and your staff have given me new faith in dentistry! I was not only treated respectfully and as a professional, but you were all sensitive to the pain concerns that I had. The new bridgework looks great, and feels like my own teeth. So you have exceeded all of my expectations!

I cannot tell you how I appreciate all that has been accomplished for me. I do know that I will continue to utilize all of your services in the future!

Sincerely,

Christine Leoneth

Bringing fault back to divorce court doesn't sit well with counselors; legislature thinking about making some changes

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Never mind that it was April Fools Day. Becky Howells, 33 and Omar Casillas, 24, had chosen this day to get married.

As they stood before 52-2 District Court Judge Gerald McNally in his Clarkston courtroom, the bride's long dark hair was set off by her elegant but simple white dress. The groom, who spoke only Spanish, grinned as his best man translated the vows for him.

After the brief ceremony was completed, McNally gave the two his very own lifetime warranty. "Why not? They might believe me," he said with a big smile of his own.

Though it all took only a few minutes, the newlyweds had already participated in premarital counseling through their church. The bride said she thought it was a good idea for all couples. And she supported a proposed state law that will make such counseling mandatory unless couples are willing to pay extra and wait longer for a marriage license to avoid it.

"It's a good idea, just in case you want to back out," the new Mrs. Casillas, who was married once before, said.

That endorsement would be music to the ears of state Rep. Jessie Dalman (R., Holland), who has proposed a series of 12 bills that would amend Michigan's no-fault divorce law to make it harder both to get married and divorced.

As proposed by Dalman, premarital counseling would be mandatory unless couples pay extra and wait longer for a marriage license. And, in cases where divorces are contested or there are minor children, the partner who wants the divorce would have to prove fault in the other partner. Where minor children are involved, divorcing parents would have to provide a parenting plan which would include providing for the physical and emotional care of the children.

Dalman, chair of the House Judiciary and Civil Rights Subcommittee on Divorce and Friend of the Court Issues, believes no-fault divorce laws have contributed to the divorce rate. In the US, 50 percent of all marriages currently end in divorce, and Dalman said Michigan, where no-fault divorce was instituted in 1972, has a divorce rate higher than the national average (though it has fallen recently).

"The statistics are startling," she said. "Nearly 40,000 Michigan children lost their two-parent home in 1994. That alone tells us that marriage and divorce laws need revision. The goal is to protect innocent children and nonconsenting spouses caught in the aftermath of failed marriages. It is the economic and emotional fallout from divorce that devastates families, forcing children into poverty and afflicting society with numerous problems."

Dalman and her supporters view marriage as a lifetime contract, and say it should be just as hard to get out of as other contracts. "It's easier to end a marriage than it is to break a contract for buying a household appliance," Dalman has said.

In contested divorces, her proposal requires the filing spouse to establish grounds for the divorce, such as desertion, drug abuse, physical or mental abuse, or a prison sentence of three years or more. The proposal has gathered both support and criticism.

Four experts contacted by The Clarkston News all expressed serious reservations about making divorce harder and re-establishing fault criteria. While for the most part they supported the idea of premarital counseling, they were uniformly negative about making divorce more complicated.

"It's going to prolong the divorce which is not good for the two people because they're usually into the negative interaction thing," said psychologist Stan Garwood. "And if there's kids involved it's going to impact them severely."

Garwood says he does a lot of marriage counseling and when a marriage is over he usually counsels that a couple get the divorce as quickly as possible. He also counsels parents in the hopes of reducing hostilities for the sake of the children.

As for mandatory counseling after filing for divorce, Garwood thinks it's way too late.

"By the time a lot of people I work with get to that point, they're in pretty bad shape," he said. "They've been through a lot."

"If two people don't love each other they ought to be able to get a divorce," said Peter Keelin, another Clarkston psychologist. Keelin has experience in custody evaluations and divorce mediation.

"You can't make it better on the kids—it's impossible," Keelin said. "If the parents are psychologically distressed, they take it out on the kids."

Keelin said parents staying together in a loveless marriage because there are no legally acceptable grounds for "fault" sets a terrible example for their children.

"There are no good role models for kids in a loveless marriage," he said. "With fault it's just going to be a lot worse . . . People just tend to repeat the pattern they lived with when they were little."

"I encourage people to seek counseling but I wonder if you can legislate it," said Barbara Johannessen, an attorney with a private practice in divorce mediation. "There's something a little inconsistent with mandating it."

Johannessen is concerned about the broad way the term "counseling" is used in the proposal. Though mandated, the bills are nonspecific as to who may offer the counseling.

Union gets commission's OK for outdoor seating

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston Union received approval for its request for outdoor seating Monday night from the City of Clarkston's planning commission.

Councilman and commission liaison Steve Secatch, who was part of a subcommittee studying the request to put seating in front of The Parsonage, said Union owners agreed to 12 proposals which included a ban on outdoor entertainment, widening the entrance/exit driveway and a stop sign.

Secatch said he also expects the Michigan Department of Transportation to extend the hours of the traffic signals at the corner of Main and Waldon until 2 or 3 a.m. for increased safety. Currently a flashing light begins at 11 p.m.

"Everything is being done or will be done before operation starts outdoors," said Neil Wallace, attorney for the Clarkston Union. The Parsonage and Union properties are both owned by mayor Sharron Catallo and her husband, Clarence.

However, Union owners don't feel the stone wall surrounding the proposed area should be modified, as discussed previously. Wallace said worries about sight distance because of the wall should lessen because of the driveway improvements.

Clarkston Police Chief Paul Ormiston said after the meeting Union owners were taking "steps in the right direction" with those safety improvements. But the stone wall still concerns him.

Ormiston says he may still bring up suggestions about restructuring the wall at the next council meeting May 13, when the council is expected to vote on final site plan approval.

Wallace said he doesn't see a problem with noise, another concern.

"Without (entertainment) we don't really see it as a nuisance for surrounding neighbors. We're pretty buffered for hours of operation," he said.

"Time will tell," Ormiston said. "If they don't, there won't be an issue. If they do, I'll be talking to them." He said liquor licenses are reviewed yearly by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, which decide whether or not to renew them.

Mills addition gets planning commission nod

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Mills mall owner Ed Adler needs only one more step before he can commence building a 10,000 square foot addition on his W. Washington St office building.

Adler received a unanimous vote from Clarkston's city planning commission Monday night for recommendation of his site plan. Adler gained approval four years ago but wasn't ready to build. Unclear planning commission minutes resulted in Adler having to appear before the city's planning commission again.

Commission chair Dave Huttenlocher said, "My recollection is that nobody was opposed to him needing (two) variances from the ZBA (four years ago)." At that time the city's zoning board of appeals decided he needed a variance on the south side only and granted a 13-foot setback from Depot Rd.

Adler said his plans hadn't changed over the years except for "one little tweak" — handicapped requirements for restrooms. He presented a model to commission members which showed features like a two-foot atrium he'll fill with plants and vertical windows that "reflect the industrial look of the rest of the building."

He wants the addition to match the original structure built by Henry Ford in the '30s. "Some day 50 years from now this will be an old building," said

Adler, referring to the addition.

However Max Brock Realtors president Bowen Brock objected to Adler's project and was concerned about the setback. He said, as a neighboring business owner, he hadn't been notified about the plans. Brock said when Adler gained commission approval four years ago he was concerned, but when nothing happened he figured the plans had "simply gone away."

Adler stood up. "I find it absolutely amazing that we brought these plans in four years ago... Mr. Brock has had about four years to see them. That somebody could come along at this time and have an objection to it, it's mind-boggling," he said.

Planning commission chair Dave Huttenlocher said the ZBA notified surrounding businesses four years ago. "The ZBA has given approval. Notice has been given. I guess it's up to the attorneys and council on what to do about it," he said.

After the meeting Adler said he felt Brock is really upset about the 10 parking spaces that would be lost with the addition. Though Adler owns the parking, "I've let his employees park there for years and I've never said a word about it. He doesn't have prescriptive rights on my parking and my property."

Brock said he had no intent to create difficulty, but was concerned the setback would "mask our building which the city had to ask us to beautify when we first bought it in 1977."

Businesses say parking's a problem

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Since 14 prime spots were axed on Depot Rd. last year after a slip-and-fall lawsuit, the City of Clarkston has struggled with reduced downtown parking.

Everyone has an opinion and there's been a lot of talk, but downtown is still minus those parking spots as it heads into the busy summer season.

During the next three weeks The Clarkston News will interview businesses, city officials and police, for their perceptions before all three groups enter into discussion at the May 28 city council meeting.

At the meeting business owners will look at a concept which could add about 20 more parking spaces at the bottom of the hill on Depot with a north-side walkway.

The proposed plan could cost the city an estimated $61,000. Downtown business owners may be asked to support a special assessment for parking improvements.

For this story, The Clarkston News talked to downtown business owners, asking them if they believe Clarkston has a parking problem, how it affects them and what should be done about it.

Business owners were also asked whether they tell their employees to park elsewhere to free up street spots for clients, and whether they get complaints from their customers who have trouble finding parking on Main and side streets.

All those interviewed say there's a problem.

Dave Chiappelli, who owns Clarkston Hair Design, says he doesn't "see faces I used to see" since the Depot spots were eliminated. He figures that if the former 14 spots turned over four times during an average eight-hour workday, he's losing 2,912 clients per year because of parking.

"It's affected my business. What happens is they love to come in here, but let's face it. They'll find a mall where they can walk in."

He feels the city should purchase private property for public lots. He's also in favor of permits for those who work downtown. Violators would be

'If we're going to have a sign that says two-hour parking, either enforce it or take the sign down.'
Roberta Tzros, NBD Bank

ticketed if they park on the street or exceed posted limits.

Ron Rodda, vice president of sales for Max Brook Realtors Inc. at Depot and Main, said he depended on the mixed parking spots.

"They're vital to the lifeblood of the downtown stores. Nothing can replace those parking spaces," Rodda said. Although he asks employees to park in the city lot off Depot, and clients too when they can't find parking spots on Main St., "some people can't walk up that hill ... We'll never know how many (clients) we'll lose."

Both Chiappelli and Rodda would support the proposed new 20 spaces. "But they're not really where we need them," Rodda said. "In the best of worlds, we'd retain the parking on Depot." He suggested angle parking on one side of Main.

Both NBD Bank manager Roberta Tzros and Clarkston Cafe general manager Carroll Harris say they're successful in getting their employees to park in city lots to free up street spaces for customers.

Tzros, new in Clarkston since her transfer in February, joined the Clarkston Downtown Business Association immediately. And she encountered the parking problem almost as quickly—even though she hasn't heard complaints.

"People don't complain. They just don't come," Tzros said. "People won't wait for bad habits to be changed. They're going to go to another branch where it's easier to park."

It wasn't hard to spot a solution either. "If we're going to have a sign that says two-hour parking, either enforce it or take the sign down," she said.

Harris said her employees are also cooperative about parking elsewhere. But, although she has 20 designated spots in the lot in back of the restaurant, she says most customers don't know about them.

"It's kind of a Catch-22. You're almost better off having your employees park back there," Harris said. She recently suggested to Clarkston Union owner Curt Catalo that they share valet parking for their customers. Those cars could be parked in the city lot.

Harris feels it was "a bad idea" to take the parking off Depot, which she also counted on. "I think they got gun-shy on the lawsuit and acted too quickly," she said.

Although the proposed Depot parking plan doesn't affect his customers, who find places at his gas station and along Church St., Morgan's Service owner John Morgan agrees there's a problem.

"Most all day long it's hard to find a place," he said. Morgan will inherit seven more spaces for his customers after Independence Township Fire Depart-

The best game in town

By Darrel W. Cole

While comments regarding the first running of "The Best Game in Town" weren't all pleasing to my sensitive ears, thanks to all of you readers for the feedback anyway.

So without further delay here are some more reasons why the best game in this town is politics.

● The race for supervisor — pitting challenger and current trustee Mel Leroy Vaara against supervisor Dale Stuart — should be interesting.

These men don't often agree on issues during board meetings and it's not an uncommon occurrence for Vaara to challenge Stuart on agenda items, then cast the lone no vote. Since Vaara said he would run for office late last year, it's been obvious, through his voting and actions during board meetings, he has tried very hard to distance himself from Stuart's positions and recommendations.

Both men are strong-willed and have some strong supporters, but there are also people who like both or have known both for a long time and don't want to take sides.

Either way, look for a heated race because it's Vaara's job as challenger to prove to the people that he can do a better job.

● There is one rumored candidate for clerk against incumbent Joan McCrary. While the potential candidate hasn't responded to the question, he/she is circulating petitions. Here's one tip: You probably would have heard the name before.

● So far, I know of at least five candidates for four trustee positions.

The four challengers I've heard about so far include township safety path committee member Dave Wagner, zoning board of appeals member Larry Rosso, who told me last week he'll run, and former planning commission chairman Richard Oppman, who also said last week he'll run. Another possible candidate has been mentioned as well, but I can't verify if it's true yet.

Incumbent Daniel Travis has already said he's going for his fifth term, but fellow trustee Jeffrey McGee isn't sure if he'll run again (which would bring the total to six candidates).

● Oppman, who served eight years as commissioner including three as chairman, might be the most intriguing (OK, the most fun to write about) candidate to date. He was not re-appointed as a commissioner by supervisor Dale Stuart to begin 1996. Stuart said the decision was based on his policy of allowing a variety of citizens to serve on governmental bodies.

The only board member voting against Stuart's recommendation was, you guessed it, Vaara, who said back then, "It's a mistake not appointing Mr. Oppman again."

● Those who've already turned in signed petitions (the deadline is May 14, 4 p.m.) to the clerk's office for filing and verification include: McCrary for clerk; Wagner for trustee; Oppman for trustee; Kurt Karlstrom for treasurer; and, Vaara for supervisor.

If you plan on running, as of May 8, there are only six days to hand in petitions.

● Issues of The Clarkston News — your best source for the lowdown on local politics — before the Aug. 6 primary election: 12.

● Any comments or tips, call 625-3370. Until next time, see you at the game.

Letters to the editor

Supports Stuart

Dear Editor,

Recently I participated in the Independence Township Vision 2020 strategy sessions. From these sessions a number of very good ideas were produced. Perhaps even more important was that these sessions brought together a broad variety of our communities' leaders and citizens. This was a renewal of the teamwork that in the past has served to make Independence-Clarkston a quality community.

We are now faced with more development pressure than ever before. Although we must recognize we are part of a metropolitan community, we must be more vigilant than ever if we are to maintain and improve the quality of life we enjoy here.

Fortunately, the leadership of Supervisor Dale Stuart in bringing us together will forge from our diversity the strength we will need at this critical juncture. We should all be supportive of this important effort, for it will have far-reaching positive effects on the lives of all of us.

Sincerely,
Neil E. Wallace

Clarkston loses

At a pivotal crossroads for the Clarkston School District, our school board has made a most unfortunate decision by dropping David Reschke's name from contention for the job of superintendent.

Mr. Reschke is presently assistant superintendent of curriculum, and one might consider that a natural progression. However, the school board has taken a different point of view, one (superintendent experience) that requires candidates from outside our district, for which Clarkston schools becomes the middleman in their career.

Clarkston loses . . . by not allowing Reschke a chance to become our next superintendent. Clarkston loses a team player, someone looking to upgrade our schools - not upgrade his resume. Dave Reschke has been a resident of Clarkston for close to 20 years, was principal of Sashabaw Middle School when it was recognized as a national exemplary school. He has also received recognition and awards for his leadership in many social, civic and school organizations.

Clarkston loses . . . literally. Clarkston is losing taxpayers' money by hiring an outside consultant to find a qualified person, outside our district, for our superintendent's job. (Does this justify her services?) This consultant is costing thousands of dollars in fees and travel expenses.

Clarkston loses . . . Why didn't they consider David Reschke for this position? Why did they hire a consultant when all they had to do was advertise this position in the educational publications? Why of the eight finalists is one applicant's job status "unknown."

Sometimes the answer you're looking for is right under your nose. Clarkston school priorities and the understanding of our system are much more important than full experience in an outstate district. Wake up and smell the coffee, school board, because, as of right now, Clarkston is losing!

Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

Just jottin'

• "The same fire purifies gold and consumes straw" - 1996 Old Farmer's Almanac.

• As of today the Detroit Tigers have allowed over 7 runs per game and have lost 11 of their last 12 games. I've followed them just enough this year to know that much about the 1996 baseball team.

Baseball has been the major sport in my life. Loved to play it. Loved to watch it. Suddenly, after watching four-and-a-half innings in Lakeland last March, my interest plummeted. In that short span the shortstop made three errors - and he made the team.

A caller to the Dick Purtan radio program suggested the Detroit Tigers not refer to the man on the mound as a pitcher, but as a "server" or "presenter." I agree.

• Those of us with claustrophobia shudder at the thought of those astronauts inside a space capsule and shut our eyes when the space people are shown on television.

• It's popular to pick on that part of the population that is discourteous, but there are a lot of courteous people out there who allow us to merge into one lane in a construction zone.

• Received a department store insert recently giving prominent display to its "Dollar Day Sale." There were just four items out of the 42 listed that sold for one dollar. Retirement gives a person time to notice things like that. I don't recommend retirement.

• Governor John Engler is a leading voice on downsizing government in Washington and giving more power to the states. I agree with him. I also believe we have too much government in Lansing and more power should be returned to local government, and I mean villages, townships and cities, bypassing counties. Naturally, that won't happen, and neither will government in D.C. release much power.

• Over 700 new home sites are being readied for a mile-and-a-half of the road we live on in Oxford, W. Drahnner. It's the same kind of growth Oakland Township, Orion, Independence, the Rochesters and others have experienced in Michigan.

But this growth is small compared to the growth in The Valley of the Sun in Arizona.

Last year 123,000 people moved into Maricopa County (the Valley). Thousands of acres of desert have been turned into thousands of acres of homes, shopping centers and Circle K convenience stores.

Michigan and California are listed as the states producing the most migrants.

However, for every three who move into the Valley, two move out. That's been the pattern for at least 15 years, according to the Arizona Republic newspaper.

Those interviewed about leaving cited walled yards where meeting neighbors was difficult, hot summers, miss the ocean or lake, too far from family, health and "just want to move on."

The moving in and out ratio just emphasizes the point that people should spend some time in their proposed new community before making that big commitment.

A look back

15 YEARS AGO (1981)

Alleging a "serious cover-up," attorney Anthony Locricchio says Pine Knob Investment Co. wants members of Independence Township's Zoning Board of Appeals questioned under oath. Locricchio says that will establish that ZBA members held an illegal meeting in October 1979, where they reviewed the proposed 20-story, ski-run-roof hotel.

Jeanne Molzon, who graduated with a bachelor's degree in nursing, says her education prepared her for organizational skills necessary to run the "Kids STILL Count in Clarkston" millage campaign. The first phase will be to get the millage passed through neighborhood coffees where residents will be able to gather information.

Coach Kurt Richardson's Clarkston High School junior varsity baseball team sweeps a non-league double-header to boost their overall season record to an impressive 10-1. Richardson tries to instill recognition of a proud past in his young team. "Clarkston has a long history of being the top dog in the JV GOAL league ... They're a good bunch of kids. They play together well, are very coachable and do everything you ask of them," he says.

25 YEARS AGO (1971)

Three zoning proposals are rejected at the May 11 election, which brings 2,800 of Independence Township's 6,000 voters to the polls. Results also show that 2,300 favor keeping the annual township meeting, while only 461 vote against it. One election critic remarks that voters had one chance in this election to raise their taxes — and they did it. The vote to establish a township park commission passes closely, 1,448 to 1,314.

Clarkston Junior High School Principal Kelly Burnette resigns. His letter of resignation is read by Clarkston School Superintendent Dr. Leslie Greene to a small, but surprised audience at the school board meeting Monday night. Burnette cites personal health and a desire to spend more time with his family as reasons. Sashabaw Junior High School Principal Mel Vaara will replace him.

News from "By the Way": The weather is always a timely subject. No doubt everyone is going about shivering and wondering about the fruit crop. But the weather is one thing you cannot do much about, so you might as well enter into town doings and forget about it ... For years, probably always, there has been a sinkhole just east of Deer Lake on Depot Rd. From time to time gravel has been spread only to sink into the ground, necessitating more gravel. Now that the road is to be covered with tar, the state highway department will attempt to fill the hole. Men are now on the job. It will take 25,000 yards of gravel to fill the hole which is 65 feet deep.

A fire breaks out in the chicken house of the John Knox farm, killing 200 baby chicks and destroying the roof on the wood house. It is thought that an oil burner, which provided heat for the week-old chicks, was the cause.

Don't Rush Me

By Don Rush

Spring things

These are dangerous days in which we live.

Just this past Monday, three deer and four ducks almost did me in. Almost. It was the first time in about a year that critters crossed in front of me and the vehicle which I drove.

It must be spring. Which means drivers on area roads must beware. Ducks will cross in downtown Clarkston as well as in Ortonville. One crossed in front of me on Oakwood Road; two took their lives in their own beaks by Indianwood Golf Course; and one on Clarkston Road, about an 8th of a mile east of M-15.

I guess they were gunning for me.

That same day on Oakwood Road in Brandon Township, three young deer were frolicking on the pavement as I rounded a curve.

I missed them and the ducks, but what is up? Is Ma Nature upset at me? I don't know, but I guess I'll have to pay more attention to the forces beyond my control.

***

I know the weather has been barely spring-like lately, but I know of one plant that is doing very well in my yard, thank you very much.

Those danged dandelions are already popping their little yellow heads up. As a matter of fact they bloomed before any flower in my yard.

I can only hope this isn't a sign of what's in store for my yard this year.

Speaking of yards, the moles have taken over mine. It's worse than any year I've seen. They're on both sides of the house on the hill and in front. I have the mole traps cocked and ready to rock, but as of yet they haven't been tripped.

I'm tempted to try the stick of gum trick someone told me about last year. As the story goes moles are attracted to sticks of gum, eat 'em and die.

I guess it's worth a try.

***

Why do people driving Jeep Wranglers wave to each other? Is this some sort of a secret society or something? I see it every day, and I'm just wondering.

***

And during the election year, politicians wonder why the public is cynical ... case in point: when gas prices jumped 10 cents a gallon, both the President and Republican Presidential Front Runner took action. Republicans want to roll back gas taxes and the President ordered oil companies be investigated by the Attorney General offices.

I guess they don't believe in supply and demand. How many more trucks, sport utility vehicles and big cars are on the road? The answer is lots, and they're sucking down lots of gasoline.

The law of supply and demand says when consumption is up, supply is down, so prices go up.

The law of politics says when it's election year, find somebody to blame besides the public, and hopefully from the other party.

How did you meet your spouse?

TINA KOSTEN, CLARKSTON: On a blind date. We met for brunch at Deer Lake and now we're married and live in Clarkston.

NESAN MANSOUR, ORTONVILLE: I lived in north Iraq and she lived in south Iraq. I went there to study and I lived with her family for awhile because I couldn't afford an apartment. And then we fell in love.

DIANE STREY, CLARKSTON: At a party. I worked for the phone company, he worked for the phone company. I was at a going away party for a fellow employee of mine who was going to be working with my husband at his office. And that's how we met — a long time ago.

CHRIS MOORE, CLARKSTON: Through Clarkston High School. He was a year and a half older. Actually, it was through my brother's friend who was, ironically, my husband's cousin. I went to a party and he was there. About a week later I got a phone call. The rest, they say, is history.

JIM NATALINE, ORTONVILLE: Through work — and we still work together.

Something to do

Last night I had my first anxiety attack about the AP English test. Now I don't mean that I'm planning to have more by calling it my first, because I'm not. I just didn't expect it is all. The AP test is in three days. In three days I'll be taking the test I've spent all year preparing for and $72 to take.

I don't know why I decided to be gripped by fear about it last night in particular. I was lying in bed thinking, honestly, about how happy I was to be going to sleep and all of a sudden this spaz-case voice creeps into my head and says, "The AP test is in two days!" I immediately felt my blood pressure rise and my heart rate increase. Lucky for me I was a rational girl and talked myself out of it by saying to myself, "Hello! What are you worrying about it for now like you can really do anything about it while you're sleeping."

And that's true. I can't do anything about anything while I'm sleeping, which is probably the reason I don't like sleeping. I feel very unproductive when I'm sleeping. I always feel like there's so much to do and I'm wasting my life. I also don't like getting up, but the motivation of daily productivity is usually enough to get me out of bed.

The thing is, I hate doing nothing. I always have to be doing something or I get incredibly restless. I hate, for example, eating alone because I do not feel like eating in itself is a productive enough activity, and so I have to either eat with other people or read while I eat. Very often if I am alone with no reading material and I'm hungry, I will choose to wait until later to eat just because the anxiety produced by eating alone would make me lose my appetite anyway.

Even when I watch television (which I almost never do) I have to be reading or writing a letter. It's not the same with movies, though. Movies are justifiable to me. I can sit and watch a movie and be content with my idleness because movies, like books, hold little secrets that I can apply to life. A movie, for the most part, is art. TV, in my opinion, is mass-produced filler that really does nothing for me in my life.

The same is true in school. I can't just sit there in class with nothing to do. I do pay attention, but there are always those ten seconds of valuable time here and there where I can read a sentence or two of whatever book I'm reading or write something down in my notebook. I can't stand to be idle when I know how many books there are to read and how I'll never have enough time in my life to read them all.

I think idleness scares me, really. Idleness reminds me how short life is and I'm afraid that if I sit around doing nothing for too long, some important part of life is going to fly right by me. Like there's this big clue to life hidden somewhere and if I write enough down or read enough books I'm going to find it.

So what if I never do? What if I live the rest of my life as clueless as everybody else? At least I can say I tried and I was never bored, which is more than most can say.

Hockey turnaround

Dear Editor:

In the April 25 edition of The Clarkston News, I launched a rather caustic diatribe against the Clarkston Community Schools administrative staff for their "no" recommendation on hockey to the board of education. It may be true that "perception is reality," but it is equally true that time can change most of those perceptions and the credit must fall squarely where it is most deserved!

Superintendent Gary Haner, athletics manager Dan Fife and the administrative staff met following the April 15 board meeting and issued a memo, dated April 19, detailing the issues and concerns to the hockey supporters. We were compelled in turn to respond and open a dialogue that has since resulted in a 180-degree turnaround on our part. Following the memo of the 19th we met with the entire administrative staff and for the first time a frank and open exchange produced a new atmosphere of understanding and cooperation.

The hockey supporters left the April 15 board meeting feeling as low as we have ever been and bitter that we were not apprised of the administration's "no" recommendation to the board. Since that time, many things have changed for the better. Our perception of the administration's concerns, the flow of information and the individual concerns of board members has taken a phenomenal turn to the positive. The communication link to the administration and board alike is stronger and more encouraging than ever.

Credit for this extraordinary outreach has to rest with Gary Haner and Dan Fife. Clearly, Mr. Haner wishes to leave us in June with a beautiful new high school underway, a superior academic curriculum and an athletic program second to none! The negative comments I made in my letter published in the last Clarkston News issue no longer exist and it is a testimonial to how open and honest communication can affect the complexion of such sensitive issues as our children and their sports activities.

At the May 13 meeting, we will present several viable options for a varsity hockey program for the fall of 1996, which we anticipate will be endorsed by the administration. This is truly a win-win decision process for the board and will provide a very dedicated addition of new and energized faces to the Athletic Boosters.

Dan Fife shared some exceptionally constructive insight with our group. The only unfortunate occurrence in all of this is that we could not have been at this point a year ago, in discussing alternatives that will serve to offer more quality experiences for our young people. If there is a life lesson here for our youth, it is never to give up on something you feel passionately about and never stop communicating!

The future of hockey in Clarkston looks brighter than ever, as we pledge to extend our hearts, minds and backs to doing whatever it takes to create a sensible and workable hockey program within our schools and for our community.

Sincerely,
Jack Leech

Grins and grimaces

● A big grin to Independence Township Employee of the Quarter, Pat Glowzinski, the longest-serving non-department head in the township. For 21 years this classy, pleasant lady has treated the citizens she works for with respect, making sure they are taken care of.

● A grin also goes to the Independence Land Conservancy for sprucing up its annual meeting, scheduled for May 11. Attendees will receive a free white pine seedling, will hear a specialist in forestry, ecology and herbicides from MSU and can get a tour of one of the ILC's preserves. Keep on preserving.

Ei-liners

In a New York minute

Sometimes it takes an event or irony to jolt us upright and remind us about what's important in this world.

Two surprises occurred over the last weekend in April. And both involved sudden deaths.

Saturday I was returning from a state band festival near Lansing, transporting my flute-playing daughter and her trumpet-playing friend back home. As we neared Brighton, I saw a lot of commotion ahead and figured there'd been an accident.

I was right. In the next lane we witnessed a body bag with the all-too-clear outline of a leg and foot. Next to it was a twisted motorcycle. We passed, quiet, stunned and reverent, until we were able to talk about it a few miles down the road.

What had the driver looked like? Married? Any children? What had the person done during his or her lifetime? And why had it been cut short.

The next day, Sunday evening, I was returning from a movie. There ahead on Sashabaw were a myriad of blue and red flashing lights. Now closer, I saw many firefighters and trucks. As I slowed down I noticed a body bag in the closed-off lane.

I felt my mouth open in an "oh" and heard a firefighter yell, "Move it!" How insensitive, I thought, until I realized he was just doing his job.

Though I wanted to go home, turn on the movie of the week and forget about the scene I'd just witnessed, I opened my apartment door, grabbed my reporter's pad and returned to cover the story. Although police didn't know the details, an Oxford woman had apparently run across Sashabaw and been killed by two passing cars.

I talked to some firefighters and noticed one, a young man. His hand was shaking as he lit a cigarette.

I've been thoughtful ever since. I'm reminded of Shakespeare's line, "Oh, untimely death." Or, as a woman in a nearby gas station put it just minutes after the accident: "We never know when our Maker's gonna call us home."

Whether or not we believe in a God, energy—or nothing at all—isn't it important that we make the best of the present?

All people have their theories about being. Some feel they have work to do, some eat, drink and be merry and some stop to smell the flowers. I suppose most of the time I'm somewhere between you-can-make-the-light and time out.

Anyway, after those two ironies I put my rat race on hold. I thought about what's really important to me.

It's not so much the work, although it's fulfilling and I have to make a living. Most of all, it's about being with people I love—and telling them so. Life can end in the blink of an eye.

You hear a lot of people—many of them very successful—say if they had the chance to live their lives all over again, they would spend more time with their loved ones, less at the plant.

Like Don Henley says in the headline song, "You better take a fool's advice and take care of your own. One day they're here, next day they're gone."

Take my advice—fool's or not. Bestow a hug, kiss, a kind word, a bunch of flowers, a walk to get an ice cream cone. And, most of all, tell someone you love them today.

Got a gripe?

Land conservancy will focus on paid director

Meeting open to public

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The push is on at the Independence Land Conservancy.

And on May 11, starting at 9 a.m., the public can see firsthand just what the ILC is all about. That day marks the non-profit organization's spring membership meeting where interested people will listen to an update on the organization's ever-increasing activities — including the possibility of hiring a full time executive director — in addition to a special presentation from a university professor.

If that's not enough to entice people to come out (maybe even join up), the ILC, whose members are all volunteers, is also handing out free white pine seedlings to attendees. At the end of the meeting, a tour of the ILC's largest preserved property will be given.

The meeting will be held at the Independence Township Annex, 90 N. Main Street in Clarkston.

The ILC was founded in 1972 and preserves 19 parcels of township land, totaling 290.4 acres. Seven of the properties are directly owned by the ILC and 12 others are registered as scenic easements.

The organization's mission statement sums up what it stands for: "Dedicated to the quality of wildlife habitat, preserving the character of the landscape, and protecting the natural resources of our community."

At the meeting, after an update in regards to activities in Springfield and Independence townships, a presentation will be given by Dr. Douglas Lantagne, education specialist at Michigan State University in forestry, ecology and herbicides.

From there people will have the opportunity to tour the Nolta-Brennan property, which includes 60 acres given to the ILC in 1982. It's located in the northeast corner of Independence Township, near Indianwood and Dartmouth roads.

Transportation to the site will be provided, but tourists are encouraged to wear boots. Dr. Lantagne will also join the tour.

Joining the ILC is just as easy as coming to the May 11 meeting. Memberships aren't expensive and families can join for as little as $25 per year.

For more information call ILC president Dr. Thomas Stone at 625-8193, or write to Independence Land Conservancy, P.O. Box 285, Clarkston, MI, 48347.

Township picks Glowzinski as employee of the quarter

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Pat Glowzinski, Independence Township's longest-serving employee (not including department heads) who will retire June 14 has been named Employee of the Quarter in the township.

A five-person committee selected Glowzinski, an accounts payable clerk, as the Employee of the Quarter for the second quarter of 1996. The first quarter's award was given to Pat Hasseth, who works in the parks and recreation department.

Job Title: Accounts payable clerk, elections help and anything else that comes up. One of the most interesting aspects of Glowzinski's duties is to go through the week's obituaries to find out who should be taken off the registered voter list.

"It doesn't cover everyone, but it helps a little," said Glowzinski. "Someone has to do it."

Since she started working in the township on April 27, 1975, however, Glowzinski's job titles have varied. She started in the police department (back when the township had its own force) worked in assessing, the treasurer's office, library and other areas.

In that time, Glowzinski has worked under five different supervisors.

"I try to help people no matter what they need," she said. "My philosophy has always been that if you can't get an answer right now, tell them you will eventually. I've always done my best to help others."

Biggest changes she's seen: "Seeing all those stop lights and new streets," she said. "When we moved here in 1956 Waldon was part gravel. Also, the homes are so expensive now."

On her community and her job: "This has been very rewarding for me because of the people I've met and worked with. I feel blessed living and working in the same community. It's been real fun and has kept me active."

Pat Glowzinski is retiring after 21 years with Independence Township.

Her family: Her husband Frank has multiple sclerosis and now she says it's time for them to do the things they've always wanted to do. First on the list is spending more time with their five children, who are all married. Two live in local communities but the others live in different states.

"We want to travel and see our kids and grandchildren," said Glowzinski. "Now we can see them do the special things we really haven't had a chance to see yet."

She also has plans for "shaping up her yard."

On her husband of 40 years (in June): "Frank has always been there for me and done his part," she said. "It's been a tough struggle at times but through the grace of God we've made it. It takes two to succeed."

On winning the award: "Nobody ever believes it will be you," said Glowzinski. "It was a great honor and I feel very lucky to have been selected. It was a wonderful thing just before my retirement. Thanks to everyone for making the last 21 years a very happy and successful time in my life."

Candidate debate scheduled

A debate for Clarkston school board candidates has been scheduled for Wednesday, May 29 at the district's administration office on Clarkston Rd. beginning at 7 p.m.

All six candidates—incumbent Barry Bomier and challengers Peter Bertling, Richard Crigger, Karen Foyteck, Mary Ellen McLean and Robert Wyatt—have been invited to participate. They will field questions directly from the audience.

The event is hosted by the Clarkston PTA District Council, which will also publish a candidates guide the week of May 15. The council will not endorse candidates, however.

"Our goal is to help inform the voters and we have confidence that once informed, our community will elect the best candidates," said the council's legislative committee chairperson, Penny Shanks.

Putting 'fault' back in divorce

they must be considered seriously," she said. And then there's the issue of who pays for the counseling. As it is already, it's tough to get help with a divorce if you can't afford to pay for it.

"Most of the legal agencies do not assist in divorce matters," she said. "So a lot of people in disadvantaged circumstances find themselves representing themselves." No funding is specified in the plan to pay for the mandatory counseling for those who can't afford it.

Patrick Cronin, an Oakland County Friend of the Court worker, predicts that "mental cruelty" will become the new generic if the fault law passes.

"Mental cruelty will become the new form of no-fault," he said. "That's what everyone will plead because that's what they did in the past."

Cronin practiced law in the days before no-fault became law, and he remembers those days vividly.

"There were judges whose opening statement was 'Let the perjury start'" he said. And he suggested that American society has moved on from those days and won't want to go back. "Society is not ready to say 'We're going to ostracize divorcees . . .

"The genie's out of the bottle. You can't go back until society is willing to go back."

He also remembers that when he was in law school in New York, that state had the lowest divorce rate but the highest annulment rate in the country.

His biggest concern is the effect the proposed changes will have on children.

"If they make (divorce) too tough people are just going to walk away and there's going to be more abandoned kids," he said. "Usually by the time they get around to filing, they're ready to leave."

In his 20 years' experience, Cronin has found that generally in early divorces (in the first seven years of marriage), couples break up over money issues. In longer-lived marriages, "It's either they've just fallen out of love or it's just a different chemistry." Either way, couples will get out of the marriages if they want to.

"If they want out, they'll lie," Cronin said. "They'll go out of state too."

Johannessen suggested maybe it's time society looks at offering different types of marriage contracts, rather than try to legislate morality.

"The response should be not to make divorce more difficult, but really to have different varieties of marriage. Maybe the problem is we have basically an archaic system . . .

"As a legal institution we only provide for marriage for life. Perhaps if we had more options people would be better prepared. If we only have the one option, they say 'They don't mean it. There's an out; we can get divorced.'"

Assessing fault, Johannessen said, is a lot like pointing fingers, placing blame. She wonders if the new scarlet letter will become "F," for fault.

"It clearly is a punishment. It's designed as a punishment," she said. "The goal of divorce is the preservation of the estate for the children . . . At the end of it, I don't know who you benefit by placing fault."

CHS senior to attend West Point

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Josh Holst, a senior at Clarkston High School, has had a prayer answered: He has received an appointment to the United States Military Academy at West Point.

He was nominated by Senator Carl Levin, Rep. Dale Kildee and Governor John Engler, and has received a $20,000 scholarship from the Army ROTC. He'll join the Class of 2000 on July 1.

Josh is the son of Phil and Carlene Holst. He is active in a number of CHS activities, including National Honor Society, WOL-F, Blue and Gold, LIFE (a Christian club) PRIDE (a new anti-drug group) and the track, soccer and cross-country teams.

He has also participated in numerous outside activities to broaden his experience, including Boys State, Youth in Government, the Michigan Freedom Academy and the US Space Academy.

Josh has also done volunteer work through his church, and was the recipient of a Youth Assistance award this year. He has received numerous other awards. Despite his busy schedule, he works 10-15 hours a week at Gregg's Gourmet Cafe. He says his appointment is a dream come true.

"It's always been a dream since I was in seventh grade," he said. "I know that's where God wants me to be... I had to work real hard but I prayed a lot about it too."

Besides the strong academics and athletics the academy has to offer, "I always wanted to be a leader and their leadership training is the best in the military," he said.

Josh has his eye on a military career leading up to the space program: He wants to be an astronaut.

Josh Holst

"Quite a few astronauts have come from West Point," he said. In fact, he talked to one of them recently.

Josh will receive a full scholarship plus $500 a month in pay during his time at West Point. He said his parents are as thrilled as he is.

"I owe so much to them. They said they'd support me in whatever I do."

Students take over Lansing

Twenty-eight students from Clarkston High School joined 700 others from around the state recently for the 48th annual Michigan Youth in Government Conference in Lansing.

The students spent four days, beginning March 27, acting as state lawmakers, lobbyists, executive officers, press, lawyers and pages. But the work started much earlier, according to their sponsor, Scott Banks.

"The students began in October writing bills," Banks said. "Over the past six months they have refined their arguments, learned parliamentary procedure and learned how to organize a political coalition."

"The students have written a variety of bills, ranging from school finance to seat belt laws to farm subsidies," said Rep. Tom Middleton (R., Ortonville). "They are definitely up on the issues. A lot of their initiatives mirror legislation written by experienced lawmakers."

Last year, Clarkston's delegation won six Outstanding Performance awards at the conference. This year they topped that, taking seven.

The winners included: best bill, Josh Holst and Heather Cox; outstanding electronic press person, Michael Gay; best senator, Simone Lutz; and a four-way tie for best lobbyist between Tracy Hund, Erin Forney, Kim Bartlett and Erica Breitfield.

"Of the 400 bills written by students from across the state, 19 were passed, with four of the 19 bills from Clarkston High School students," Banks said. "It was a total group effort that made Clarkston the dominant force at the conference."

Designing woman

Senior Jill Gougeon is the winning designer of this year's all-night party T-shirt. Jill, who has classes in both drawing and 3D design sculpture, said she's not planning a career in art. Rather, she may become a dentist. Her design features frogs—this year's theme is "Bayou Bash." Tickets for the all-night party are now on sale at the high school and everyone who buys a ticket gets a T-shirt. The party is held graduation night.

Businesses say parking's a problem

ment station #1 moves out, as expected this fall. He owns the property.

Morgan admitted he presently uses seven two-hour spots along the south side of Church for clients—who sometimes stay there longer than the limit. It will hurt his business if the parking's enforced.

"It's going to make it tough, but I'll just have to work with it," Morgan said. He'll "try to schedule work a little tighter and to make sure when cars are done, customers are notified to pick them up. That way, we won't have as many at one time."

Morgan also says some downtown businesses are not coming clean about their employees using Main St. spots—he knows the cars.

City council members have said the CDBA failed to conduct a parking survey as planned a year ago. CDBA president Buck Kopietz said, "The main reason it wasn't done is because nobody stepped up to do it. I personally don't have the time, but it's something that probably needs to be done."

Kopietz, who shares a private parking lot with Kinetic Systems Bicycles, recently added some parking to the back of his Main St. business, Tierra, for employees. He says the city definitely needs "a master plan ... The township's doing it." Presently, the city has none, although it recently hired a planner.

He feels the Depot plan is only "a Band-aid" and agrees with councilman David Savage that it won't solve the bigger parking puzzle. Kopietz feels strongly one solution is to make Depot two-way.

The 20 additional spots "would help a little bit, but the parking below will never be used fully unless Depot is two-way. We need to figure out how to get cars up as well as down," he said. That idea wasn't viewed favorably by council members, who feel Depot isn't wide enough.

"We might be talking about parking decks (in the future)," Kopietz said. "Every parking space is worth about $200 a day in sales. At $5,000 to $10,000 per space to justify the cost of that space, you're talking about a pay-off in the first year ..."

"I would be willing to support a special assessment in town as long as it brought more retail to town," he added. "There are reasonable solutions to all of the problems, but everybody has to be willing to cooperate and participate."

Next: City officials voice their downtown parking concerns.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

REFINANCE BREAK-EVEN POINT

Think about refinancing, if the current interest is at least 2 points lower than what you are now paying.
*****

QUESTION: How would I know if it's financially wise to refinance my home?

ANSWER: To tell if you might benefit, start with the two-by-two rule. Your present loan rate should be two or more percentage points higher than today's rates. Also, you should have bought it at least two years ago and plan to stay for another two years.

Any refinancing will have closing costs (points, appraisal fees, title research, etc.). Divide these costs by the DIFFERENCE between your old and new payments and you'll get the answer in months as to how long it will take to work off these new costs before realizing any savings. It will probably be around two years.

Pontiac-Oakland Symphony to perform here

They're crossing their fingers at the Independence Township Library, hoping for good weather on Sunday, May 19.

On that day, the library will host the Pontiac Oakland Symphony Orchestra outdoors on the lawn beginning at 2 p.m. In case of rain, the concert will be held at Clarkston High School.

It's the first time the library has attempted such an event, and the first time the orchestra has scheduled a concert in Clarkston. The concert, like most other library services, is free, thanks to grants from the Clarkston Foundation and National Musician's Performance Trust Fund.

Jim Evans, president of the Clarkston Foundation, said the grant was the first the foundation had awarded to a non-school entity. It was awarded because the library serves the entire community in a cultural and educational capacity, he added.

The 41 musicians of this professional symphony, which was formed in 1954 as the Pontiac Symphony, will present a program designed to appeal to the whole family, with an emphasis on popular American music. The program will include "The King and I," a Scott Joplin rag, "West Side Story," "The Music Man," WC Handy's "St. Louis Blues," Sousa's "Washington Post" march, and music from "A Chorus Line." Also included are works of Gliere, Copland, Berlioz and a trumpet solo featuring Glenn Bengry.

Librarian Anne Rose describes the program as an "outdoor librarybrook" festival.

"Never before has north Oakland County and in particular Independence Township had the good fortune to have a high quality orchestra perform live here in the township," she said. "Other cities and townships have done this on a regular basis . . . Our time has come."

The orchestra will be conducted by Annette Kline, a Lake Orion resident and music teacher. She received her bachelor's and master's degrees from Oakland University and was awarded the honor of Distinguished Musicianship in 1991. She has also conducted the Allen Park Symphony, the Detroit Chamber Winds, the 70th Division Reserve Army Band, the OU Wind Ensemble and the Warren Concert Band.

Several Clarkston residents will perform with the orchestra, including Anita Evans, a cellist who has performed solo at the library and teaches Suzuki violin, and Christopher Libstaff.

Concertgoers are invited to bring blankets, low chairs and a picnic lunch to the concert. Refreshments will be provided by the Friends of the Library.

Annette Kline

Pine Knob sinks $1 million into 1996 improvements

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Thanks to a new open-air lounge, patrons who visit Pine Knob Music Theatre this summer will enjoy a larger area to relax in before and after the show.

The "Knob Knook" is the venue's most noticeable improvement for the 1996 concert season. Located inside the east entrance at the base of the hill, the covered 80-by-20-foot area will be adjacent to concessions and near the cabana bar. Special pre-show and post-show entertainment is planned.

"It's where we rented binoculars, chairs, sold pop and that sort of thing. We're going to clear all that out," said Hugh Lombardi, executive director of Palace Sports and Entertainment which owns Pine Knob. "People will be able to relax a little longer. More people will be able to put their refreshments down and stay."

Other improvements include a repainted pavilion, repaving and recurbing in the west parking lot, gravel surfacing in the hill lot, increased landscaping and backstage improvements.

"We raised the loading dock roof so trucks can get in easier," Lombardi said. All backstage amenities for concert artists will be upgraded, he added.

In addition, Pine Knob has added a permanent TV studio under the women's restroom at stage left which will showcase Knob acts. "We did everything out of a trailer the past three years," Lombardi said.

Finally, those who walk down the familiar path past the VIP area to the pavilion will notice the old waterfall has doubled in size. Pine Knob decided to expand it. "It makes it really spectacular," Lombardi said.

All improvements are expected to be finished by Pine Knob's first show of the season, a concert by legendary folk artist Bob Dylan May 16.

This year Pine Knob has already booked 60 events, with another 25 expected to be added throughout the summer. They span a wide range of tastes, featuring performances in rock, country, comedy, adult contemporary, rhythm and blues, pop and variety. Around 20 series packages go on sale this week. Tickets may be purchased at the Palace Box Office or charged over the phone by calling (810) 377-0100.

Work progresses for expansion on the waterfall, expected to double in size this year.

Up close and personal

Have you ever plucked Eddie Van Halen's guitar? Seen Alice Cooper's eyeliner? Munched a Cheeseburger in Paradise with Jimmy Buffett?

The Clarkston News wants to know if you've had a close encounter of the Pine Knob kind. If you have an interesting story to share, whether it's the time you got a backstage pass, changed Ted Nugent's bus tire or bumped into Gloria Estefan at the party store, we'd like to hear about it.

We'd also like to know if you're a super fan and have a mountain of tickets, T-shirt collection or shrine devoted to your favorite performer.

It's time to take a trip down Memory Lane and open that dusty copy of Great Expectations, with the pressed rose between pages 12 and 13 Perry Como gave you 20 years ago. It's time to get that box out of the attic with the drumstick you caught at a Metallica concert.

Maybe you're the only one who thinks disco will return and the highlight of your life was meeting the Village People. If so (and that great white polyester suit is still hanging in your closet) you have an experience to share with our readers.

Milidrag gets federal appointment

George D. Milidrag, a Clarkston resident and founder and chairman of Troy-based Engineering Technology Ltd., has been appointed a member of the board of the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp.

The organization oversees the operation of the 2,342-mile international waterway which links the Great Lakes and the Atlantic seaboard. The seaway is overseen jointly by the United States and Canadian governments. Milidrag's appointment was sponsored by US Ambassador to Canada (and former Michigan governor) James Blanchard. Milidrag was nominated by President Clinton and confirmed by Congress.

A commodore of the US Naval Institute at Annapolis, MD, Milidrag, 63, is an avid yachtsman with 25 years experience. In recent years he has played a key role in the creation and development of the Palm Beach Maritime Museum in Florida, of which he is chairman of the board of governors.

Engineering Technology was formed by Milidrag in 1973. It supplies a variety of product engineering, design and business services to its customers, including leading automakers.

Milidrag was born in Detroit and attended Wayne State University. He earned his Certificate of Engineering at the Chrysler Institute of Engineering. He was recently honored by the Society of Automotive Engineers as chief executive of one of the world's leading 100 automotive industries.

He and his wife Tina maintain homes in Clarkston's Heather Lakes and in Palm Beach, FLA.

The St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp. board directs the operation of the corporation and provides insights on the effects of Seaway operations.

Baseball team's frustrations and losses mount with three straight

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It just keeps getting worse. First the Clarkston baseball team can't stop committing errors, now they are struggling to score runs.

Last week the Wolves (3-7 overall and 2-3 in the OAA Division I) suffered three straight losses. They lost to Rochester 2-1 on May 1, Rochester Adams 16-9 on May 3 and Pontiac Northern 3-2 on May 6.

The loss to Northern, traditionally a weak baseball school, was particularly disheartening. Coach Roy Warner said it was only the second time in his 27 years a team of his lost to Northern.

"They were just making all the plays," said the coach. "One time their first baseman was on his back and he somehow makes a throw to third to get our runner out. It was the way it was going."

Each team had only two hits, but the Wolves allowed the game-winning run to score in the seventh inning on two throwing errors.

Senior Jeff Mull pitched six innings, giving up only two hits and no earned runs with 13 strikeouts.

Against Adams, the Wolves were able to score but also couldn't stop the opponent. Adams cranked out 12 hits compared to Clarkston's seven.

"They were a good hitting team," said Warner. "But we had six errors in that game."

CHS started off well, scoring two runs in the first inning. Adams came right back, scoring four runs. The Wolves exploded for five runs in the fifth inning, but couldn't pull out the win.

Mull had his biggest day of the season, going 2-for-4 with two home runs and five RBI. Senior second baseman Nate Manuel was 2-for-4 and senior left fielder David Barth was 1-for-2 with a homer and two RBI.

The loss to Rochester started off the week on a sour note. Once again, CHS couldn't generate any base runners.

"We just don't seem to get anyone on base," said Warner. "We had three stolen bases and hardly anyone got on. We can't do any damage without people on."

While the team is struggling, Warner said they just have to keep practicing hard.

"We have to keep working if we want to improve," he said.

Middle school track battle

Sashabaw and Clarkston middle school track teams fought it out in classic fashion: on the course. Look on page 12B to find out who won the showdown. Plus find out more about how both squads fared in recent meets.

Senior catcher Amanda Jenkinson obeys her coach's signal and slides into third base, but ... after the play was over and she was safe, she had a smile for everyone against Mott May 1.

Battle with Brandon May 9

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

You won't hear any complaints from Clarkston softball coach Al Land. He says his 15-5 Wolves squad has gone beyond his expectations.

And this week Land and his hard-working crew will have their toughest test of the season. On May 9 the Wolves are scheduled to play state power Brandon in a doubleheader at Brandon.

Last week, CHS went 3-1, including its first Oakland Activities Association Division I loss.

On May 1, Clarkston beat Waterford Mott 13-5 and then followed that up with a May 3 doubleheader win over Troy Athens, 10-1 and 14-2. But in a 2-1 loss to Rochester Adams May 6, Clarkston's bats failed them for the first time all season.

The loss dropped them to 7-1 in the OAA Division I, one game behind leader Brandon.

"It would have been nice going into that game with both teams undefeated in the division," said Land. "But we just couldn't hit that day. I don't know what it was."

Despite the loss, Land said his team has done all he's asked.

"We've had a great year and these kids have played beyond my expectations," he said. "They've all stepped up their games and — you could see it after losing to Adams — they don't like to lose."

The Wolves could manage only three hits, all by junior Sue Naboychik, against Adams. Both Adams runs were unearned, but the Wolves still had a chance to win in the last inning.

With no outs, Naboychik led off the inning with a double, but no one could drive her home.

Against Troy, Land's team had no trouble hitting, and the first four batters — senior Nicki Hard, senior Crystal Lemke, sophomore Tiffany Honey and senior Amanda Jenkinson — were a combined 20-for-36 in both games.

Hard had six hits, Jenkinson had six RBIs and Honey and Lemke each had five hits.

Land said all four players have performed well all season. But most surprising might be Hard's contributions as a lead-off hitter, taking over for injured All-Stater Stephanie Giroux.

"I'm not stealing her all the time like I did Stephanie," said Land. "But she hasn't been thrown out yet. She has good speed, hits with power and doesn't go after bad pitches. What she can do is put the ball in play and has confidence and character up there."

Land also said Jenkinson is still battling an illness and isn't 100 percent, but still gets the job done.

Against division foe Mott, CHS found themselves down 1-0 after the first inning. But behind the solid pitching of sophomore Rachel Fuller, Clarkston scored in every inning except the second and sixth.

After Mott took a 1-0 lead, the Wolves got their chance. Senior Nicki Hard led off and ran out a bunt to first base. After senior Crystal Lemke laid down a perfect bunt, a passed ball scored Hard from third base.

Next up, sophomore Tiffany Honey was hit by a pitch, setting the stage for senior Amanda Jenkinson's long sacrifice fly to centerfield that scored Lemke.

Top teams win, but CHS battles each point

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Competing against some of the top tennis teams in the state is never easy, but the Clarkston tennis team doesn't expect miracles.

They may lose to those powerhouses, but this season the scores don't really show how close some of the matches are. In years past teams like Bloomfield Hills Lahser and Rochester would breeze through every match. Now they can't anything for granted from this talented and hardworking, but still inexperienced, squad.

Brett Steel, playing #1 doubles, unloads on this shot against Lahser May 2.

"I've told our kids I wouldn't trade any one of them for any of the Lahser kids," said a proud second-year coach Kevin Ortwine. "No matter where Lahser may be ranked.

"Even when we're down 6-0, 5-1, we're still out there doing the best we can to win one more game."

That attitude was evident last week. The Wolves proved they are much better than teams like Royal Oak Kimball and Pontiac Northern. They beat Kimball 8-0 April 30 and Northern 6-2 May 1.

But, although getting closer, Clarkston still can't reach the level of Lahser, rated #5 in the state, or OAA Division I power Rochester. The Wolves lost to Lahser and Rochester by same 7-1 margin on May 2 and May 6.

While the scores look convincing, neither team could dominate the Wolves. Against Lahser, the Wolves got a win from #1 singles player Mike Aulgur, while #3 singles player Kevin Kopec lost in three sets and the doubles team of Chas Claus and Jeremy Davidson also played well.

"I told them after that match I was proud of them," said Ortwine. "Nobody let down out there. Sure, we would have liked to win more matches but we know we can compete. Lahser is just stacked all the way down to doubles players."

Against Rochester, the Wolves were again tough. The lone win (6-1, 6-3) came from #4 singles player Jim Kyle, now 12-4 on the season. But Kevin Kopec, 8-7 overall, lost again in three sets as did the #3 doubles squad of Claus and Davidson.

The #1 doubles team of Paul Wolven (still nursing a wrist injury) and Kyle Stout played tough in a 7-5, 7-6 loss, while Mike Kopec finished strong in a 6-2, 7-5 loss.

"We lost to them last year 8-0 and it wasn't this close," said Ortwine. "We just didn't finish up some close matches this time or it would have been closer."

The Lahser match was particularly heated, especially when Aulgur defeated Lahser's #1 player, senior Mark Thomas, who is ranked among the top players in the midwest and won the OAA Division I tournament last season. Aulgur won 7-5, 6-3.

The win was important for Aulgur, 10-5 overall this season, because it means he may get a top-four seeding for regionals.

"This was huge for him seeding-wise," said Ortwine. "He's beaten everyone he was supposed to beat this year and has two big wins, over North Farmington and, now, Lahser. He's really had a great year against some tough competition."

Ortwine expects the seeding race will come down to #1 players from Birmingham Brother Rice, Lahser, North Farmington, Birmingham Groves and, possibly, West Bloomfield.

His chances of getting a seed improved when the West Bloomfield player was kicked off the team.

Aulgur lost to the Groves player earlier this season and Ortwine said a big showdown could be upcoming at the OAA Division II tournament May 9, to be held at Troy Athens.

The Wolves, 8-3 overall, are one match behind Groves in the division standings heading into the OAA tournament.

Against Northern, the Wolves moved several players around and still won. Mike Kopec won at #1 singles, senior Zach Sanger won at #2 singles and senior Dan Brazier won at #3 singles. All three won 6-0, 6-0, while Brazier didn't lose a single point the whole match.

Burklow heading to UNC-Charlotte

All-State cross country and track senior Stefanie Burklow will be attending the University of North Carolina-Charlotte next fall on athletic and academic scholarships.

She will join a Division I program that won three straight Metro Conference cross country titles from 1992-94 and placed third in the 1995 Conference USA championships. The school also boasts a brand new $4 million track and field center.

Burklow is second in her class of over 400 students with a 3.98 grade point average and will study engineering at UNC-Charlotte.

In cross country, Burklow has Clarkston's school record and took fourth in the state finals. She also placed 14th in the prestigious Mid-East Cross Country Championships.

Last year in track, she was a member of the Wolves' state runner-up 3200 relay team and finished eighth in the state in the 800 run. Before this track season is over, she may set even more records.

Burklow was Academic All-State in cross country the past two seasons and in track last year.

UNC-Charlotte 15-year head coach David Hall is excited to add Burklow to a team that is loaded with solid student-athletes.

"Her combination of athletic and academic abilities offers us everything we could want in a student-athlete," said Hall. "She ran well at the Mid-East championships and that's where she really caught our attention. We feel she'll really be an asset to both our cross country and track teams next year."

Her parents are Mike and Carolyn Burklow.

Kickers rolling, win three of four

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

So much for letdowns.

The Clarkston girls soccer team won three straight games last week, moving to 5-4-1 overall and 3-2-1 in the Oakland Activities Association Division II.

After suffering through two straight defeats two weeks ago, the Wolves had two big wins over division foes Waterford Kettering and Brandon this week, and a non-division win over Lapeer West, 4-2 May 1. CHS lost another non-division match to Detroit Country Day May 5 by a score of 6-0.

But overall, the short win streak was a good boost for the young Clarkston team. Coach Brian Fitzgerald said this squad doesn't let down because they are such hard workers.

In the win against West, CHS got out to an early 3-0 lead before West came back to put the score at 3-2. Scoring for the Wolves were sophomore Meagen Schroeder on a header, freshmen Alaina Dodds and Katy Piechura and senior Brynn Allyn.

Senior goalkeeper Nicole Tolliver was strong in the net again for Clarkston.

In the 1-0 win against Brandon, the Wolves played solid defense and got a score from sophomore Georgia Senkyr with about two minutes remaining in the game. Tolliver stopped six shots to earn her second shutout of the young season.

Clarkston won another close 1-0 game against Kettering to start off the week.

Districts begin May 20 when CHS hosts Kettering at 7 p.m.

The Wolf Den

By Jack Leech,
Clarkston Wolfpack
Hockey Club

The Clarkston Wolfpack Hockey Club is in its first season of play, funded by parents. Its members consist exclusively of Clarkston area players. The team consists mostly of eighth- and ninth-graders with one sophomore and four juniors. The team's coaching staff consists of USA Hockey certified coaches Jack Leech, Mark Postal and Mark Gilford.

Despite the Wolfpack squad missing its top two scorers, they still dismantled Cranbrook 10-1 May 5 at Lakeland Arena. The hockey club is now 2-2 on the season.

The scoring started early in the first period as David Vogt slipped a pass through traffic and Adam Leech redirected it into the Cranbrook goal. Later, Vogt continued his strong performance as he split the Cranbrook defense and scored the first of his four goals (five total points on the day).

In the final two minutes of the first period, Marcus Johnson fed Ben Gray in the corner, who centered a crisp pass to Hank Passmore, who scored his first goal of the season.

Scoring in the second period were Anthony Facione (the first of his three goals on the afternoon) and Josh Babe.

With the score 5-1, the Wolfpack club continued the onslaught with more scoring from Vogt and Facione and assists from Ron Wells, Kean Kammer, Babe and Bill Kalush.

The club next plays Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes' club team May 9, 6 p.m. at Lakeland Arena. Admission is free.

Hitters come through against Mott

With Clarkston ahead 2-1, neither team scored in the second inning. Mott tied the game in the bottom of the third thanks to two CHS errors, but the Wolves answered in the top of the third by scoring five runs.

Lemke led off the inning with a walk and Honey laid down another perfect bunt. Jenkinson's smash to left field scored both base runners. Senior Mary Brewer then had a base hit and freshman Mandy Harrison's base hit scored Jenkinson from third.

Clarkston wasn't done yet, however. Junior Sue Naboychik lined a shot to right field that scored Harrison. Naboychik later scored on a passed ball, after she stole third base.

CHS gave up two runs in the fourth, but came back with four runs of their own.

Hard led off the inning by beating out a throw to first. After stealing second, she scored on Lemke's long pop up that Mott couldn't get to. Honey then smashed a triple over the centerfielder's head that scored Lemke.

Jenkinson then hit a shot to left that got by the left fielder to score Honey. Two outs later, Brewer scored from third base on a passed ball.

With an 11-4 lead heading into the fifth inning, the Wolves defense clamped down and gave up only one more run the rest of the way.

The Wolves scored their final two runs in the fifth, on clean-up hitter Jenkinson's two-run double.

Fuller was tough from start to finish, mixing up her off-speed and fastball pitches to keep Mott batters off balance. She scattered nine hits and had eight strikeouts.

Leading the way on offense was Jenkinson with five RBIs, including a double and two singles. Hard, Lemke and Honey did a great job of getting on base ahead of Jenkinson.

Hard scored three runs and stole three bases, Lemke scored three runs and went 2-for-3 with a walk, a bunt and an RBI double, and Honey scored three runs, had three stolen bases, was hit by a pitch, walked, bunted and hit an RBI triple.

Naboychik was also solid on the day with two stolen bases, two hits and an RBI.

May 17-24: Regionals, OAA and county

Tracks teams patiently wait for big meets

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Blowouts are nice and co-ed meets are fun, but the Clarkston girls and boys track teams know the real tests will be coming next week in regionals, the OAA meet and the county championships.

For now however, both teams are cruising along.

The girls and boys teams both crushed West Bloomfield on April 30 then combined as one team to score in 14 of 15 events at the six-team Lake Orion Co-Ed Relays May 2. The boys also competed in the Ashley Relays May 4, taking eighth out of 14 teams.

The girls beat West Bloomfield 101.5 to 26.5, taking first in 13 of 16 events, including the first three places in the high jump, long jump, mile run, 400 dash and 800 run.

In addition, senior Stefanie Burklow dominated the 1600 and 3200 runs. She set a record in the 3200 run in a blazing time of 11:29, over one minute ahead of second place teammate Kristin Maine, who ran a 12:38.

Burklow, who is headed to the University of North Carolina-Charlotte on a cross country/track scholarship, also ran the mile in 5:37, almost 20 seconds ahead of Maine's time of 5:56.

Clarkston's other double individual winner was freshman Michelle Wilson, who won the 100 high hurdles and 300 low hurdles.

The boys had almost as easy of a time against West Bloomfield, winning 71-57. The Wolves took first place in 10 of 16 events, led by double individual wins from sophomore Marc Venegoni in the high jump and long jump, senior J.D. Zuchelkowski in the 200 and 400 dashes, and junior Chris Evans in the high and low hurdles.

Co-Ed Meet

The girls and boys teams once again combined as one in the Lake Orion Co-Ed meet. Six teams competed in the event but team scores were not kept. Medals were handed out to the first three places and ribbons to the next three places.

The Wolves did put on quite a strong show, however, scoring in 14 of the 15 events.

Clarkston's combined teams took four first-place finishes. The team of Kammy Powell, Latisha Hawley, Eric Leigh and Jason Olafsson took first in the shot put and discus events.

Evans, Curt Brewer, Kim Ledwell and Michelle Wilson came in first in the shuttle-hurdles event, while the distance-medley squad of Jon Burklow, Matt Gifford, Stefanie Burklow and Lisa Herron also took first.

On the same day as the co-ed event, the JV track athletes competed at the West Bloomfield JV invitational with seven teams.

Ashley Relays

Coach Walt Wyniemko was pleased with his team's effort in the boys-only Ashley Relays. His team finished with 29 points, just one behind the sixth- and seventh-place teams.

Wyniemko said several of his athletes performed well in a field that included powerful track teams like Pontiac Northern, Pontiac Central and Lakeland.

Sophomore Venegoni had a big day, taking third in both the long jump (19'5 3/4") and high jump (a tie at 5'8").

Evans also performed well with a fourth place in the high hurdles (15.0 seconds), just 3/10ths of a second out of first.

The shuttle-hurdles team of Evans, Brewer,

Brenton Bergkoetter and Josh Holst came in third, while the heavy-man relay of Steve Bradford, Olafsson, Leigh and Ryan Schlaff also earned a medal.

Clarkston took fifth in the 4x1600 relay, distance-medley, 4x100 relay, and the middle-distance relay.

"We're having some young kids come through for us right now," said Wyniemko. "But every week from now on will be big. The teams we've played so far haven't been the strongest, but we'll find out where we're at."

Girls track coach Gordie Richardson will be busy this week hosting the May 11 Clarkston Invitational, where the Wolves took second last year to Livonia Stevenson. In the meantime, the squad is attempting to continue a 12-year dual meet win streak.

Shadow Box

April 17: The Under 12 Clarkston Shadows soccer team beat the PGSA Mustangs 5-2 at the Shadows' home field of Clintonwood Park. Lauren Hosner scored two goals. Teammates Jenn Carlson, Kristen Brundage and Brandy Knapp each added one goal.

April 28: The Shadows tied Vitesse 5-5 despite having no substitutes. But playing all 70 minutes of the game didn't slow down the team's offensive firepower, led by Hosner's two goals and one goal each from Welbourn, Megan Medina and Knapp.

Jeanie Alee and Jody Piechura played aggressive from their mid-field positions.

JV Softball

The JV softball team kept on rolling this past week with three more victories to bring their record to 9-1 overall and 6-1 in the league.

On May 1, the Wolves came out swinging and scored six runs in the first inning. Allison Prudhomme had a great day on the mound, as she struck out 13 batters, and added to the offense with an RBI single. Tami Angel also had an RBI single. The big hit in the inning came from Sam Hardenburgh. She hit a liner to right that scored three runs.

Then on May 3, the Wolves won both games of a doubleheader against Troy. In the first game, the Wolves won 4-1. Carmen Lund, debuting in the leadoff spot, had four hits in four trips to the plate, including a double. Angel threw out a runner at third, on a great play. The Wolves also turned a great double play in the bottom of the sixth, as the play went from Tracy Tomkiewicz to Corinne McIntyre to Angel. Prudhomme again got the win on the mound, and struck out 12.

"Allison is performing very well on the mound, and swinging the bat very well," said head coach Karen Czarnecki. "She leads the team in stolen bases, and has a .588 batting average."

In the second game, the Wolves won 12-0. Hardenburgh pitched the shutout for the Wolves in her best outing of the season. She struck out four and did not walk any. She also had a great day at the plate as she racked up three hits in three tries. She scored two runs, and had one RBI. Beth Tuttle, Angel, and Tomkiewicz all had two hits for the Wolves, and Angel batted in two.

The Wolves play Brandon this week, which will give them a good indication of how good they really are.

JV Baseball

The Wolves split a pair of games this week, raising their record to 4-3 overall and 3-2 in league play.

On May 1, the Wolves defeated Rochester 12-10 in a very tough match. The Wolves offense showed up, as they pounded out 11 hits and three home runs. Erick Jenks, Bryan Herzog and Phil Johnston did most of the damage for Clarkston. Jenks had two hits, a double, a home run and two RBIs. Herzog had three hits, a home run and two RBIs, and Johnston had a three-run homer. Nick Upchurch and Spencer Hynes both had two hits and two RBIs, and Jeff Drolshagen had one hit. Jared Thomas did the pitching for Clarkston, allowing seven runs on seven hits in six innings, while striking out eight and walking six.

On May 3, the Wolves were mercied by the Highlanders from Rochester Adams in six innings, 12-2. Jenks and Ryan Dudek were the pitchers for the Wolves, and both had their troubles. The team also was unable to produce many runs. Herzog had two hits including a double, and Nick Giroux, Johnston, Mike Little and Jeff Oliver all had one hit.

"We have given up a lot of walks in the past three games, and that has hurt us," said Coach Jerry Ostrom.

Freshman Baseball

The Wolves are 4-2 in their first six games of the season. The wins came against Waterford Mott 11-1; Waterford Kettering 11-1; Holly 10-1 and Lake Orion 1-0. In the Lake Orion game, Jake Noel pitched a gem, allowing only four hits, and getting the shutout.

The team's losses came to Holly 5-2, and this week, they were defeated by Rochester Adams 12-2.

Against Adams, the Wolves played well to start, trailing only 4-2 in the fourth. They came apart in the fifth, though, giving up eight runs, including a 300-foot homer. Tim Loveless and Jason Brososke led the Wolves at the plate.

"We are playing well so far," said Coach Rod Hool.

Freshman Softball

Due to inclement weather, the Wolves managed to play only one game this past week. They fell to the Rochester Falcons 12-7 in a tough contest May 2.

Jessica Moore and Meghan Hodges did the work on the mound for Clarkston. Daisy Mauti led the Wolves from the plate with four hits. Laura Richardson had two hits, and Ingrid Zimmerman, Ashley Perna, and Jenny Alexander all had one hit. Richardson stole four bases, and Perna, Zimmerman and Mauti each stole two.

"We are starting to play better as a team now," said Coach Jody Viviano. "Hopefully, now we'll start to get some wins."

The Wolves are now 2-4 overall. They play five games in three days this week, against Holly, Rochester Adams and Waterford Kettering.

Buying a home is an important purchase. Once the deeds and mortgage documents are signed, the property is yours, so you think, but it may not be. Chances are, you are the owner, but a sure title is not having a deed in hand. When a title policy is issued by Philip F. Greco Title Company, you can rest assured that your property is protected by the policy subject only to its term. If a flaw in the title is discovered, Philip F. Greco Title Company will defend the title as issued, at its own expense, and will correct or clear the title.

A low, one-time premium covers the entire cost for as long as ownership remains in your name. Protection of your property rests on the financial stability, professional integrity and responsible management of the title insurance company. So, select your title insurance as carefully as you would any other insurance. Protect yourself against loss due to title defects. Insist on an owner's title insurance policy from Philip F. ## Kroger aims to please the Clarkston lifestyle

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

In the grocery business, the area is known as "Power Alley."

It's the part of the store where customers can see and smell the most popular items, including produce, deli and bakery, get some gourmet-to-go and get out. Quickly.

And it's the pride and joy of Rick Onan, manager of the newly expanded and remodeled Kroger store on Dixie Highway in Clarkston. Though a week ago it was still under construction, Onan was excited about how his customers would react to the bigger and better area.

"We've always been one of the highest sales per square foot in Michigan," he said. "Our produce department never was big enough for our business."

Now, with a grand opening set for today, Onan finds himself the manager of the largest Kroger produce department in Michigan. "We'll have more variety, more display space than any other store," he said. Customers will be able to make their selections of ready-to-cook or precooked items, from sandwiches to desserts, snacks and beverages, pay for them on the spot, and be home before the food gets cold.

That's just one of many service-oriented ideas that will be offered for the time-conscious consumer Onan says is his biggest customer.

"Over the past 20 years people's time is becoming more pressured and more valuable," he said. "I think a lot of people want to enjoy other people but they don't want to invest a lot of time in cooking."

Onan bases that notion on his store's record. It's tops in Michigan for selling steaks and deli, and even sells a whole truckload of lawn chairs every summer. The store caters to what Onan calls the lake lifestyle.

With a great location, a great staff and booming sales, the Kroger company decided to invest in remodeling the store even though it's only six years old. It's bigger, brighter and has more variety than the old store, whether you're restocking the pantry, planning a barbecue or looking for a video or flowers.

"It's been such a successful store for Kroger they felt it was well worth making the investment here," Onan said. "They felt very strongly about the people living in Clarkston and the team we have working here."

The store now employs 300 people, some of whom have received special training, such as a meat wrapper who now makes gourmet take-out items in the meat department, including stuffed mushrooms and baked potatoes. The expanded floral staff can make corsages and baskets. Even the meat manager, Dennis Gruno, loves to share recipes with customers.

"He has basically taught me how to cook in the last three years, and he's very gregarious," Onan said.

Onan said reaction to the store has been good, even during construction. "Even during our remodeling, while we were tearing down walls, our seafood department gained sales," he said. "So a lot of the new things we've been doing have paid off." He expects to keep one person employed full-time this summer just to make shishkabob.

All the success, the bright new store, are a plume in the 21-year Kroger employee's cap. But there's some pressure too.

"When the company makes a big investment, they're saying we believe in you," Onan said. "We feel a lot of pressure . . ."

"For awhile during construction it was a lot of aggravation . . . but now that it's actually started to take shape, everyone is really cranked up about it."

Store hours will be 6 a.m.-midnight, Monday-Saturday and 6 a.m.-10 p.m. Sundays.

Company can give you the pool of your dreams

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

It is mid-May, it is spring, though the weather might not feel like it. And that means if you're considering a pool, now's the time to get going.

Dave Butz and his sons, Erik and Steve, have formed a new pool business called AquaScapes in Springfield Township. Though they're new at it, they are in effect carrying on a family tradition; Dave's father-in-law, Albert Assemany, was in the pool business until age finally forced him to retire a few years ago.

Dave was in the computer business for 25 years before deciding it was time to get out. His son Steve is a cum laude graduate of the University of Detroit School of Architecture, and serves as designer for the company.

"All the relatives are in the pool business," Dave said. "Last year my son and I decided to restart Al's business. We've spent the winter getting ready to do a good job for folks."

Many of the contractors AquaScapes will use were previously used by Assemany and his company, Riviera Pools. They will be able to Here's an amazing sports story that sounds too good to be true - but it is true... In 1962, baseball manager Alvin Dark was watching one of his players, Gaylord Perry, in batting practice... Dark, looking at Perry's lack of power, said, "A man will walk on the moon before Perry hits a home run in the big leagues"... Then, 7 years later, on July 20, 1969, Neil Armstrong became the first man to walk on the moon, and - incredibly - on that very day, Perry hit his first major league home run, in a game in San Francisco!

Here's the unusual story of a man who came WITHIN SECONDS of fulfilling a dream of playing in a big league baseball game - but then had the chance taken away... In 1971, pitcher Larry Yount was sent to the mound by Houston to pitch in his first game... While warming up, he injured his arm, marking the end of his major league career, in which he never threw an official pitch.

Ever wonder why gold is called "golf"?... Although golf was developed in Scotland, it was the Dutch who gave the sport its name... The word "golf" is a Dutch word meaning to hit a ball.

I bet you didn't know... Oxford Cinemas has three auditoriums, showing first run movies and Tuesdays are Bargain Days!

Good news report

Jack and Dorothy Nicol of Clarkston are two proud grandparents.

Their grandson, Patrick Cadwallader, 15, of Anaheim, California competed in wrestling's Cadet World Trials in Chicago last month and took first place in Greco-Roman wrestling in his weight group (132 pounds). The win qualifies him to go to Finland and compete for the United States in June.

Patrick and his younger brother Daniel combined hold seven national, four state and three league titles in wrestling. Patrick also plays Pop Warner football and has been to Russia, where he defeated a young Russian wrestling champion in his weight class.

Patrick is the son of Patrick and Johnna (Nicol) Cadwallader, formerly of Clarkston. The younger Patrick plans to return to Michigan to attend the University of Michigan in 1998.

provide stock or custom pools, indoors or out, including spas, fountains and the accompanying structures or landscaping as the customer desires.

"We like to think we're in the new school," Dave Butz said. "A lot of pool builders got their start in the concrete business... Today people are much more sophisticated."

Butz said the visual impact of a pool, as well as its function, are important considerations. How will it be used, who will use it, and what do the yard and house look like where it will sit. The mechanics—how it's built and how it will be maintained—are perhaps not as glamorous but are equally important.

"The things people don't see are just as important as the things they do see," Butz said. He's up on the latest technology and can provide a chemical-free or reduced-chemical pool, if the customer is willing to consider the options.

"We want to keep this pool as problem resistant as we can, not just for now but for the long term," he said. "User friendliness, convenience and simplicity are all available today which dramatically increase your enjoyment of the pool."

AquaScapes strives to make the pool look like it was designed with the home, even if it's added on. Butz is a licensed builder and feels that's an important consideration for any homeowner about to make such a big investment.

"Our name's on it; we treat it like it was our home," he said.
