Candidates meet petition deadline for August primary

BY DARREL W. COLE and ANNETTE KINGSBURY

Petitions for all offices up for election on the August 6 primary were due by 4 p.m. Tuesday around the state. In Independence Township, what might be a record number of candidates filed to run for local office.

Eighteen Independence Township residents have filed petitions with the township clerk's office for either supervisor, treasurer, clerk or trustee positions. They are:

Supervisor: Dale Stuart, the incumbent, and Mel Leroy Vaara, current township trustee and former school administrator.

Treasurer: John Lutz, incumbent; Kurt Karlstrom, former school board member; Jim Wenger, Clarkston school teacher; Henry Woloson, attorney and owner of his own investment company; and Roberta Badgley.

Clerk: Joan McCrary, incumbent; and Sheila Hughes, current Clarkston Schools board member. Hughes would have to resign her seat on the school board if elected clerk.

Trustee (four will be elected): Incumbents Jeffrey McGee and Daniel Travis; Charles Cederman, zoning board of appeals member; Todd Moss, planning commissioner; Richard Oppman, former planning commission chairman; Larry Rosso, safety path committee member; Joseph Vasquez; Dave Wagner, safety path committee; and Neil Wallace, local attorney.

Current trustee Bruce Mercado is not seeking re-election.

In the nonpartisan race for 52-2 District Judge, only the two previously announced candidates filed petitions with the Secretary of State. They are the incumbent, Gerald McNally, and his former magistrate, attorney Dana Fortinberry. Both are Clarkston residents.

For the 46th Michigan House seat now held by Republican Tom Middleton, Democrat Jeff DuPuis of Ortonville also submitted petitions with the Oakland County Clerk's office. He could not be reached for comment Tuesday.

In the race for the 9th U. S. Congressional District, incumbent Democrat Dale Kildee will be challenged by Republican Patrick Nowak, a Clarkston resident and former director of the Michigan Department of Transportation. A Libertarian from Lapeer, Mal Johnson, has also announced his candidacy, but his party will not appear on the primary ballot, the Secretary of State's office said.

All petitions must yet be certified by the various agencies involved.

Playing in the rain

The news in brief

Contracts ratified

The Clarkston board of education ratified contracts with its administrators Monday night, as well as some changes in the teacher contract approved last year.

Building administrators and directors agreed to a three-year deal with salary increases of 3.58 percent in the first year and two percent in each of the next two years. According to assistant superintendent Duane Lewis, the board's chief negotiator, the bargaining group agreed to a few give-backs, including tuition reimbursements, one vacation day and changes in vision and prescription coverage.

The central office administrators also accepted a three-year deal, with similar concessions. The only financial difference is that their first-year raise is 3.36 percent.

Teachers agreed to changes that reflect the state requirement to increase the time elementary students are in class over the next few years. The changes eliminate morning and afternoon recess, and guarantee that the time elementary students spend in art, music and physical education classes will be planning time for their classroom teachers.

Teachers also received some improvements related to what was called the "unexpected fund equity at the end of the 1994-95 school year." Each teacher will now have a reimbursement account of $1,000 over the life of the contract for supplies and technology.

Election language set

When Clarkston school district residents go to the polls June 10, they will be voting to renew an 18-mill non-homestead property tax, as well as electing two school board trustees each for Clarkston and Oakland Community College.

The tax renewal is necessary because of the change in the way schools are funded under Proposal A. Clarkston schools Director of Business Craig Kahler said the district received a two-year renewal in 1994, but will ask for 10 years this time around.

"The rationale for that (the two-year renewal) was basically the uncertainty over Proposal A," he said.

The renewal will have no effect on homestead property owners. Under Proposal A, property owners pay six mills on a principal residence for school operations. Non-residential properties are assessed 18 mills.

A mill is $1 for every $1,000 in assessed property value.

Tougher weapon policy approved

The Clarkston board of education formally approved its "zero tolerance" weapons policy Monday night.

The old policy was revised at the request of the board, which makes the final decision on expulsions. Some board members were concerned about having to make value judgements about a student's intent in brining a weapon into school.

The new policy states simply "The board of education will not tolerate the possession of weapons or any other device designed to inflict bodily harm."

4th-graders see legal system in action

'Respect for Law Day' seems to engender just that

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The boy who passed them in the Probate Court hallway was just a couple of inches taller. But there were handcuffs on his wrists and tears in his eyes.

It was a sobering scene for several Clarkston fourth-graders who attended Thursday's session of "Respect for Law Week" which began May 6. Sponsored by the Clarkston Optimist Club, selected students from each fourth-grade class in the Clarkston school district participated in events which took them from Clarkston's 52-2 District Courthouse Tuesday to the Oakland County Courthouse's Probate Court, where they got a real-life taste of what crime does to kids.

There — just a few courtrooms away from the Kevorkian trial — they watched prosecutors, defense attorneys, juveniles and their parents grapple with the results of Probate Court Joan Young's sentencing.

A young man, who had apparently dabbled with drugs and been stopped for reckless driving, hung his head and heard his driver's license would be restricted and he'd have to spend hours in community service and traffic safety school. Although his lawyer said he had "a great many strengths," one poor judgment call resulted in a 14-month-long case and the loss of his freedom.

"I'm impressed about the effect of drugs on young people. I hope it will impress you in the same way," Young nodded to those in the courtroom, especially the young students.

Another case involved a juvenile who had been truant from Children's Village, stolen a car and totaled it. Students were especially attentive when he entered the courtroom handcuffed and learned the reason why. The court would pursue a count of felonious assault with a concealed weapon.

Afterwards, Probate Court Administrator Robert Bingham answered their questions within a conference room.

The fourth-graders wanted to know everything. Were there hidden cameras in the courtroom? Was it hard to decide whether a person was guilty or innocent? And just what did assault mean?

Bingham clarified the term. "Assault doesn't necessarily mean you've hit someone," he explained. "It can mean you've threatened to hit someone."

One child said it must make kids nervous when they have to appear before a judge.

"I've been in a courtroom where kids have actually wet their pants before the judge, they're that nervous," Bingham said.

> 'I've been in a courtroom where kids have actually wet their pants before the judge, they're that nervous.'

Students also watched the famous courtroom scene in "To Kill a Mockingbird," noting differences between then and today like an all-white jury, no female lawyers, even architecture. They were also able to question a prosecutor and an attorney.

Before they left, the 9- and 10-year-olds went back into the courtroom where Judge Young also answered questions and told them her favorite cases were the adoptions.

"Everyone gets all dressed up ... It's a real happy occasion, happy for me too."

But not so happy was a trip through "the tunnel," a place underneath the courtroom where students were able to only briefly view locked prisoners in a holding area, awaiting court.

"I saw an arm sticking out. A guy was pulling on the bars like he wanted to be let out," said Brad Kewech of Springfield Plains, who, like the others, admitted the experience was a little scary.

Respect for Law Week was organized by Clarkston resident Ann Dutton, a legal assistant and member of the Clarkston Optimist Club. Dutton said the idea wasn't original — Optimist Club member Bruce Mercado had thought of it two years ago — but after a year without the excursion, she wanted to resurrect it.

Dutton said many caring people offered their expertise, like 52-2 District Judge Gerald McNally who "cleared his court docket" for the kick-off session Tuesday. On that day students also heard policeman-turned-attorney Steve Allen compare getting a warrant to a chocolate chip cookie recipe. "All the ingredients have to be there," Dutton said.

After the week wrapped around lunchtime Thursday, students heading home on the bus agreed they never wanted to face a judge. But some said they might like to be part of the judicial system someday.

Clarkston Elementary fourth-grader Colleen Mead thought she wanted to be a U.S. President. Now, becoming a judge is another option.

"I like to be in charge," she said, while fellow classmate Lindsay Mozer noted it might be neat to be called "Your Honor."

But Andersonville Elementary student Zach Gray — who asked so many bright questions that Bingham had to gently remind him to let others have a chance — had his mind made up to be an attorney long before Respect for Law Week.

"I like to argue," he said.

Board of Education

Deadline looms on bond issue

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Up to 10 new portable classrooms were authorized "with regret" by the Clarkston board of education Monday night.

Even though the board hopes to go to the voters with a bond proposal for a new elementary school before the end of the year, the portables are still expected to be needed to meet short-term enrollment demands. The low bidder submitted a cost of $310,000, plus installation, for the classrooms.

At the request of trustee Kurt Shanks, the administration considered the cost of leasing portables, but found it to be more expensive. Superintendent Gary Haner said he will inform the board of the actual number needed, up to 10, when it's time to order.

Shifts in some attendance areas

At the same meeting, deputy superintendent Michael LaBay presented a plan for some minor boundary adjustments in the elementary attendance areas which may affect where the portables are placed.

Though no formal action was taken by the board, LaBay suggested that students in the Maceday Lake area be sent to Andersonville Elementary next fall. Haner said a promise could be made to the parents that their children would not be redistricted again in the next few years, whether or not a new school is approved by the voters this fall.

In addition, LaBay suggested students in the Old Pond Lane and Pebble Creek areas be returned to the Springfield Plains attendance area. All of the affected areas were sent to schools outside their normal attendance areas last fall due to overcrowding.

"To us this is the most feasible way to go next year," LaBay said. He and Haner asked the board to vote on the matter as soon as possible. But several trustees wanted to make sure parents have an opportunity to comment before the change becomes official.

"The rationale is this is the only change we are making because we're not doing a total redistricting," said board president Bill Craig. The board is avoiding a total redistricting until after the bond election.

However, Haner said due to contractual obligations, teachers must be notified of pending reassignments before school is out. The board expects to vote on the issue at its regular June meeting.

Bond costs presented

Also at Monday night's meeting, architects from Greiner, Inc. presented the board with figures for building additions onto all six existing elementary schools and two middle schools to address both enrollment and equity issues.

The board learned it will cost in the neighborhood of $50 million to build a new elementary school, get the existing elementary schools into parity with each other and make improvements to Sashabaw Middle School and the current high school, which will become a middle school. The estimate does not consider the cost of converting the current Clarkston Middle School to a community education center.

The board will have to move quickly with this information. In order to hold an election this fall between the primary and general elections, financial documents must be presented to the state treasury by mid-June. Waiting any longer to hold the election pushes the opening time for the new elementary school back a year.

Yet to be decided is whether the ballot language will include one question for the entire amount, or a separate question for the new school. The board set a special meeting for Tuesday, May 28 at 7 p.m. at the administration office to further discuss the ballot proposal.

Also Monday night, presentations were made about the conversion of the high school to a middle school and the conversion of the present Clarkston Middle School to adult education.

CMS principal Vince Licata said he will have no trouble filling the present high school, but added a caution.

"This is a very large middle school and not one I would like to see for students this age," he said. To combat the sprawling size (enrollment is projected at 1,028 in five years) Licata plans to cluster each grade in separate areas of the school.

"To create that school within a school, that's the object if it makes it seem smaller to them."

Superintendent search narrows to 2 candidates

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Two candidates were chosen by the Clarkston board of education late Monday night to move on to the next stage in the search for a school superintendent.

Richard Lane, superintendent of Hillsdale, MI schools and Albert Roberts, superintendent of Orange City, Ohio schools, were notified about 11 p.m. Monday of the decision to bring them back for a second interview and visit in the district.

The cut from eight candidates, who underwent interviews last week, to the final two went swiftly at the conclusion of the board's regular meeting. The board rejected a number of candidates under fire in their home districts, with only trustee Kurt Shanks arguing that Jeff Grotsky, superintendent of the 26,000-student Grand Rapids school district, should be seriously considered despite disagreements between him and his board.

Board president Bill Craig spoke to Roberts briefly Monday night and said "He is very interested." He is the only candidate who received a round of applause from the audience at the end of his interview.

Roberts taught elementary school for 10 years before moving into administration. He holds a BA from Jersey City College, two master's degrees from Fordham University in New York, and a doctor of education from Columbia University's Teachers College. He has been superintendent of the 2,300-student Orange City School District for six years.

Lane taught middle school for five years and has been superintendent of the 3,400-pupil Hillsdale district for eight years. He holds a BA from Oakland University and MA and Ed. Specialist degrees from Michigan State University. He is a doctoral candidate at MSU.

Lane will be back in the district on Tuesday, May 21. Roberts will be here on Wednesday, May 22. On both days the public will have an opportunity to meet with the candidates from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the administration office, then attend an interview beginning at 7:30.

Instrumentalists made their way through the spacious new store, stopping at several sections to play while customers pinched produce and popped hors d'oeuvres. Left to right: Jimmy Territo, French horn, Colin McIntyre, tuba, Sarah Treder, trumpet, and Todd Bauer, trumpet, harmonize while a shopper picks out a greeting card in the background.

OPINION

In Focus

by Annette Kingsbury

Who's next in the blame game?

I'll state right up front that I'm not a parent, so anything I say on the topic of parenting may understandably be viewed with skepticism by some.

But I'm confused by the conviction last week in a St. Clair Shores courtroom of the parents whose son is a repeated convicted thief. The parents were convicted, under a local ordinance, of failing to control their son. This is the first time I ever heard of that being illegal. Appeals are pending.

Such a law, if upheld on appeal, sets our entire justice system on its ear, in my opinion. You can now be convicted for something you didn't do.

Besides the civil rights concerns I have about that, I wonder what good such a law is intended to do. It reminds me of the pending change in the divorce law, where someone must now be found "at fault" when a divorce is filed. After the fact, someone must be blamed or the divorce can't go through. In the St. Clair Shores case, now that the kid is 16 or 17 and has turned out bad, someone must be blamed. What a sad commentary.

What bothers me about this is that there are some truly awful parents around—lots of them if you read the papers enough—who are never held accountable for their dismal childrearing. Children are neglected and abused and our social service system sends the parents to classes, at taxpayer expense, so the children can remain in the home. Over and over parents are allowed to fail their children without any excuse and without any penalties.

Conversely, when the St. Clair Shores youth was convicted of stealing from a church, his parents were warned he "needed help." Apparently counseling was not made mandatory for anyone. Therefore, it's the parents fault they didn't get any help for their son.

One wonders, if "parental responsibility" ordinances become all the rage, what will happen when the children of truly disturbed homes grow up and appear before the judges? Who will be blamed? Will it be the system? And who will be assessed the fines—the agency formerly known as DSS?

Anyone who's ever been a parent will tell you the worries go on forever—not just till they turn 18. Are they eating right? Are they doing anything they shouldn't do? Are they happy? And that's how it ought to be.

I believe strongly parents have a moral responsibility for their children. But a legal responsibility for their crimes? What's next? Will a wife have to pay up for her husband's crimes? Rather than attacking the root of the problem, we're looking for someone to blame, someone to be superior to.

That bothers me.

FOOTNOTE: If you've ever wondered whether Clarkston News classified ads work, listen up.

Last week I put an ad in the paper for a car I wanted to sell. The same day the ad appeared, my new car arrived at the dealer. I figured I'd just have to trade the old clunker in, settling for whatever the dealer felt like giving me.

But not so fast. Someone called Thursday night inquiring about the car. I explained the situation and he came right over. The next morning I had a check in my hand and didn't have to settle for trade-in price.

I call that results.

Letters to the editor

Supports McLean

Dear Clarkston voters,

I am thrilled to inform you about a new candidate for Clarkston School Board, Mary Ellen McLean. I was fortunate enough to co-coach an Odyssey of the Mind team with Mary Ellen this year, and my daughter was a part of her team last year, as well.

Mary Ellen dedicated a tremendous amount of her time and energy, and worked very effectively with the children. Due to her devotion as a mother of Caitlin and Kourtney, and her desire to make positive contributions to children and school, Mary Ellen has always involved herself in countless school events at Pine Knob Elementary.

Mary Ellen is a "go-getter." I feel confident that as a board member, Mary Ellen would not sit back and wait for school issues to reach a crisis state. By the same token, she would not make hasty decisions. She would research the issues brought to the board and with an open mind she would evaluate all decisions based on facts.

With her past experiences as a teacher and her current logical sense as a business woman, Mary Ellen possesses the ideal background for making sound business decisions while always keeping a compassionate attitude toward the safety and educational well being of our district children. I can't think of a more qualified person to take on this valuable role.

I know my vote is for Mary Ellen McLean on June 10th.

Yellow means caution

I would like to make a plea to all drivers. Do you remember what a yellow light means? Please remember what you were taught in drivers education. STOP IF YOU CAN! It does not mean speed up to get through the light before it turns red.

I am writing this after nearly hitting two high-school students after school at the corner of M-15 and Washington. I was trying to turn left on to Washington from M-15. The light was yellow, which means the left-turn drivers should be able to go. Not so! Too many people speed up to get through the light before it turns to red.

I actually started to turn thinking the first car, a little white Shadow, was slowing down to stop. Not so; she kept coming. I stopped to let her through, then proceeded to turn left. LOOK OUT! A teen driving a green 4 x 4 followed her through the intersection. People on the street corners were covering their ears for the bang!

Thankfully he woke up and swerved to miss me. I must have been at fault too. I shouldn't have begun my turn. But I think drivers in Clarkston ought to be more aware that the yellow light is the only time left turns can be made in our small village at all three intersections.

Yellow means STOP IF YOU CAN. Please be

Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

Fishing is more than catching fish

We have long believed the only trout that are landed by fishermen, excuse me, fisherpeople, are those who have dropped out of school.

"Trout who stay in school do not end up in frying pans." Quote me. Caught trout are mentally deficient, have attention deficit disorder or are parent defiers.

Eight of us, five adults and three boys, spent the first weekend of May proving my belief.

We spent a total of about 59 hours throwing the most tantalizing baits available into stocked ponds. The reward was one trout, caught by son-in-law Tim Speed, who accepted rejection from all future trout camps graciously.

Of course, we're all disappointed at not being more successful fishing-wise, but none of us wishes we'd stayed home.

Saturday, May 4 was an absolutely beautiful day in the Upper. The sky was cloudless all day. There was a cool breeze, but the temperature stayed in the low 50s.

Grandson Danny Offer, 10, when out of sight of his father, seemed comfortable in just a T-shirt and worn-too-low jeans.

Actually, Danny and Scott Davidson, 13, and his brother, Fisherboy Todd Davidson, 8, were out of sight of the adults much of the time. I guess it's a boy-thing to explore streams, and they found a few to explore.

The stream that was most attractive had lunker steelhead trout laying in the currents, getting their breath before making another dash upstream.

Adults are drawn to that stream, too, but only to look. It's closed to all fishing, thus giving opportunity for life to future lure avoiders.

The weather and youngsters made this fishing trip one to remember. The young'uns arrived with Nerf guns loaded and more energy than Detroit Edison.

It was a constant, "Where's Dan (Scott) (Todd)?" and "Hey, Dad." All three were adamant in their urging to "Let's go smelt dipping," which they did at midnight Saturday. When the smelt weren't running, which they weren't, they wanted to build a bonfire, which they didn't.

Danny and Scott are more like me when it comes to fishing. We get bored. Todd, on the other hand, never tires. He urges his dad to take him fishing right after they get done fishing.

Whereas the adults lost a couple lures in the ponds, Todd lost 10 the first day. The only thing stronger than his distance in casting is his determination.

As for the rest of us, we tempted trout with Little Cleo's, spoons, Mr Twisters, spinners, Rapala's, Flatfish, plastic minnows, crickets and flies, Super Dupers, live angleworms and more.

When Tim caught his 16-inch rainbow on a blue-green Cleo, we all switched to something similar, like all good fisherpeople do.

The fact that this lure never attracted another fish confirms my belief that only dumb trout are caught.

But it matters not at all when the weather is fine and the camp is full.

A look back

15 YEARS AGO (1981)

Clarkston Village engineers Mosher-Kapelczak say the Deer Lake Farms retention basin is functioning correctly — and not dirtying up the waters of the Mill Pond. They pinpoint the ditches along Holcomb Rd. as the source of some of the Mill Pond sedimentation and lay the finger of blame on the repaving of the roadway.

Though preliminary testing of well water in the Big Lake area in Springfield Township shows no evidence of contamination, final determination of the water's purity still awaits further test results, says Michael Niemann, Oakland County director of public information. The testing is prompted by complaints from area residents who experience chronic illnesses and discomfort, possibly related to impure drinking water.

Everything seems to be under control in Wednesday's Clarkston /West Bloomfield varsity baseball game until a fatal seventh inning. A Clarkston pitcher begins walking West Bloomfield batters — five of them, to be exact — bringing a total of 12 free passes. The final score is West Bloomfield 9, Clarkston 8.

25 YEARS AGO (1971)

A report of drugs being sold in the Clarkston village parking lot brings Michigan State Police to the scene Monday. They find one Clarkston youth has some marijuana in his possession. He is released pending authorization from the Oakland County Prosecutor's office for a warrant for his arrest. David Stoller, Chief of Warrants Divison, rules that the amount of drugs involved makes it improbable that the case would stand the test of law. He denies the required authoization. "These matters are very difficult," says prosecuting attorney Thomas Plunkett. "Proposed legislation may change the penalty for the possession of marijuana to a misdemeanor instead of a felony."

The "Bottles of Building" project of Independence Township wins the Community Achievement of the Year Award for Michigan Week in Oakland County. To date, the Independence project has collected over 100 tons of trash glass.

50 YEARS AGO (1946)

Clarkston school's baseball team beats Ortonville 12-7 on its home ground Tuesday afternoon. After two innings, the Clarkston lineup is changed and a halt is called on the Ortonville scoring. No runs are scored by Ortonville after the second inning. In the mighty seventh Clarkston dashes to home plate with six runs.

Everyone is saying, "See you tonight at Whipple's garage." A good time is in store. There will be modern and square dancing. Nowadays the crowd enjoys a few good time square dances and in the cities and villages the young people are hollering for more. There will be refreshments and a good time. This will be a real house-warming for Pontiac Sales & Service.

Specials at Rudy's Market include Robin Hood Flour, 25 pounds for $1.22; Hershey's Baking Chocolate, 15 cents a package; Post Toasties, two giant boxes for a quarter; Shedd's Coffee, 32 cents a pound; Beechnut Baby Food, three jars for a quarter; Drano, a large can for 21 cents; and Mor Zip Pop Corn, a can for 19 cents.

60 YEARS AGO (1936)

At a special meeting of the council Friday evening, Casper Warden, a former president of Clarkston, is appointed to fill the vacancy in that office due to the resignation of Floyd Andres. At the same meeting Floyd Kimball is hired for a year as police officer. One quarter of his salary will be paid by Independence Township.

At the Clarkston Child Study Club's meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Edward Porritt Monday, roll call is answered by giving a "garden hint." Mrs. W. J. Shotka gives a very interesting and instructive paper on "Sex Problems." A dainty lunch is served by the hostess.

Showing at the Holly Theatre are Jimmie Allen in "The Sky Parade," Jane Withers in "Paddy O'Day," Eddie Cantor in "Strike Me Pink," Boris Karloff in "The Walking Dead; and Roger Pryor and Ann Sothern in "Girl Friend."

Don't Rush Me

By Don Rush

Spring Things II: The saga continues

Ah, I can feel it.

The days grow warmer and longer. Spring is in the air. The signs of new life, the sight of leaves and flowers, the smell of freshly-cut grass, the chirping of all those birds -- all these things start something churning inside.

Inside there's a mounting appetite, a stirring in my soul. As the old saying goes, in the spring a young man's heart turns to . . . accumulating other peoples' stuff.

It's garage sale time, man. And, I can't wait to get out and rummage around. I don't know if it is the junk collector in me, the cheapskate, the horse trader or what. All I know is I have this incredible urge to garage sale.

While it's okay for me to rummage around other peoples' things, I'm not the sort to have strangers scrounge around my stuff. Maybe I'm just too shy and inhibited.

I don't even have to buy stuff at garage sales. Just looking is okay for me. Sometimes I find myself asking what sort of people are these?

What lurks in the hearts of men who wore polyester suits? What sort of tortured soul would listen to KC and the Sunshine Band?

I wonder . . .

I wonder about a lot of things. But I do not wonder where to look for garage sales. Inside this newspaper's want ad section there are over 60 local garage sales. There are neighborhood sales, apartment complex sales, multi and single family garage sales.

There's 'decent' teens' clothes, weed whackers, roller blades, wood burners, tractors, couches, computers, books, toys, toys and more toys. There's a sailboat, a grandfather clock, tools, tools, tools, canning supplies, maternity clothes, a snowblower, kitchenware and a piano for sale.

So much stuff!

And yet so little time. Let the games begin.

If you're planning a garage sale give us a call. You can advertise your sale for as low as $7. Heck, we'll even throw in a couple of big, bright and yellow garage sale signs.

If you're not sure what you should say in your ad, ask our want ad takers. They've taken hundreds of ads and have a clue on what can work for you. Your ad'll reach all the junkies in N.E. Oakland County

Does Clarkston have a downtown parking problem?

FLORIE GAGE, CLARKSTON: I don't think so. I see that parking lot over there (at Main and Washington) all the time and there's always spaces.

SHANE MARGETSON, CLARKSTON: Yeah, there's definitely a parking problem. We're all crammed into this little spot. With all the business there's nowhere to go. I wanted to just come down to get a piece of pizza and I had to park in the Depot lot.

TIM NEWMAN, CLARKSTON: Yes, there's definitely a problem. But I think that's part of the growing pains and we'll fix the situation. It'll have to improve, that's all there is to it.

JACK WILL, CLARKSTON: Yes. The only time I use (parking) is for the ATM machine and the Clarkston Cafe. These spots are always filled up. We lost a guy who was waiting for us. He couldn't block traffic. There were no spots so he's looping around the block. We may never see him again.

CARLENE HOLST, CLARKSTON: I definitely think there is a problem. It would be conducive for the business places to have more parking and it would draw clientele to the area. I think it's hard if you have elderly people coming up (Depot) from that city lot.

Ask the therapist by Stan Garwood, MA, MSW,DCSW

This is the second part of "How to let go of shame or help someone with it."

As stated in my initial response, understanding our shame is not enough. This understanding shall trigger in us a need to initiate some action to pursue a healthier, better lifestyle.

I will outline what I believe will help convert this painful shame into positive behavior. The goal is to reduce the feeling of shame and, at the same time, introduce a positive daily living style.

•Face your shame, keep it in front of you.

•Get help - you do not and possibly cannot do this alone.

•Set goals based on the fact we are all human, we are all equal, we have our own identity and we all have something to contribute to society.

I. Remember, shame cannot be removed from our souls, forgotten or repressed. It still remains with us. Shame can be challenged and put into a healthy perspective.

In order to remove shame's power over us, we need to refuse to allow shame to control what we do, what we think and how we feel. We must repeatedly tell ourselves that I am a person who has a right to feel good about myself. Since we are all "good" people, we deserve to be treated with the same respect and dignity as others. I must make a conscious decision I will no longer live a life centered on shame!

- I will no longer believe my parents - they told me I was worthless.

- I will not accept repetitive criticism from anyone; I refuse to live that way.

- I will treat myself with respect, no longer hating myself.

- I will confront those who shame me due to race, gender or ethnicity.

II. The key to helping yourself deal with shame is that person who will listen to you without judging, without shaming you further.

Isolation is the common reaction to feelings of shame; the deeper the shame, the more one tends to hide thoughts, feelings and actions. Having a person you trust and who is non-judgmental such as a therapist is paramount in overcoming one's shame.

The damage from shame begins to heal when it is exposed to others in a trusting and safe environment. When we allow others to see the parts in us that we ourselves condemn and at the same time, we realize this person continues to accept us (not condemn us), we gradually gain confidence that we are human, we are not so different as we thought.

Make a commitment to yourself:

•You will reach out to others even though you do not feel acceptable.

•You will move toward others though fearful of rejection.

•You will choose only non-shaming persons with whom to share.

•You will move along at a pace which feels comfortable to you.

III. We are all human, equal, have a unique identity and have something to contribute to society.

A. All of us belong to the human race. All people are human and nothing including feelings of shame can change it or remove it. Our goal is to find our way back to society, to our community. We must verify that we belong, life is worth living and "we are worth loving." Thus, we need the support and validation of our peers in order to learn about ourselves, that we are good people and we belong to others.

B. No one is better than I am and none worse. All of us human beings are equal, we are all good people. If one has problems in this area, it is usually because he or she either feels inferior or superior to others.

I am not saying that all people are alike. Some people have greater or more talents, e.g. intelligence, athletic ability, beauty, etc. But these attributes do not make them better than anyone else. Nor do they make you less of a person. You remain that good, acceptable person you are.

C. Another sign of shame is feeling weak and dependent. If you feel this way, you must decide for yourself who you are and how you wish to live your life. You can take control and do what you want without the fear of failing to "please" others, without feeling their rejection.

D. Every person can contribute something to society. We can believe in ourselves, we are "good enough" to do this. When we believe in our competence, we will realize the work we need to do to develop our skills and abilities. A good way to understand our skills and feel good about our accomplishments is through the acquisition of a productive and rewarding job.

Questions Tri-District policy

Dear editor,

This letter is in regards to the March 20, 1996 special section about the 1996 SPI Tri-District winter sports teams. I am a varsity competitive cheerleader at Lake Orion High School.

I am very appalled with this section.

You didn't say one word about competitive cheerleaders in the whole paper. In previous editions of "The Lake Orion Review" there have been articles pertaining to us (Lake Orion's Cheer Team), but not once in the Tri-District section.

Did you know that we (Lake Orion's Cheer Team) competed in our regional competition and in the state finals, and are ranked seventh in the state?

We do deserve recognition too, along with the other sports. Competitive cheerleading is a sport. We practice just as much as any other sport, if not more. I just think that our sport should receive some recognition also. Trying to gain support isn't easy, especially if our own community newspaper doesn't include us.

Sincerely,
Kim Thorndycraft,
Lake Orion High cheerleader

Editors Note: There are no Tri-District competitive cheer teams chosen because Oxford High School doesn't have a competitive cheer team. As we point out in "How they're chosen" on page 8 in the winter Tri-District section, each school must have the sport to be included in the Tri-District section. Competitive cheer is no different than boys and girls tennis (Oxford doesn't have teams), skiing (no Oxford team), gymnastics (Orion and Oxford don't have teams) and girls golf (no Clarkston team).

Independence Township

Fire department storage tanks get reprieve

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Instead of spending $60,000 to replace underground storage tanks, the Independence Township Fire Department will fix them up for about $15,000.

The storage tanks have to be replaced because they are not up to current standards. Fire Chief Gar Wilson said he can't get insurance on the 1,000 gallon tanks because of that fact.

Wilson said the tanks can be glass lined with an automatic monitoring system installed which will bring them up to code.

"In 1987 the tanks were up to code but they've slowly gone away from that," said Wilson. "We had planned to get rid of them in 1997 but we found out about this. They should be good for about 10 years if we get it done."

The township board of trustees unanimously approved Wilson's glass-lining recommendation at its May 7 meeting.

The money to do the project will come from the buildings and grounds account.

Other board action

● To allow for access to four proposed residential sites, the board approved a variance on the length of a cul-de-sac, located south of Clarkston Road.

Owner Dimitri Pitovski wants to split a five acre parcel into four residential sites and the only way to access the area is with a longer cul-de-sac. Currently, under R-1B zoning, the allowable length of a cul-de-sac is 750 feet. The variance approval allows a length of 1,060 feet.

The long, narrow parcel runs north and south.

● Final plat approval was granted to Wyngate Subdivision, located south of Clarkston Road and west of Sashabaw Road, contingent upon approval of some minor landscape issues.

● The township approved paying $9,000 to the city of Clarkston for a used road grader/dump truck.

The truck will be used by the parks and recreation department for various jobs. Parks and recreation director Ann Conklin said her department now maintains gravel roads at Bay Court, Deer Lake Beach, Sashabaw Plains and Clintonwood. She said this truck would allow them to perform those duties by themselves without the need of private contractors, the

● In the asset division settlement between the City of Clarkston and Independence Township, the township agreed to pay $270,000. The township was to pay that amount by taking a portion of each township fund (i.e. parks and rec, building, police, etc.).

However, the board was told at its recent meeting that if the payoff were to be taken out of its police fund, a deficit would occur. Rather than create a deficit, the board voted to transfer $23,000 from its almost $1 million general fund balance into the police budget.

"We had a decision to either put the police fund in a deficit or to cover the deficit," said supervisor Dale Stuart.

● For the 12th straight year the board approved a noise variance for the Waterford Hills Raceway to hold the Meadow Brook Historic Races, part of the world-renowned Meadow Brook Concours D' Elegance, set for Aug. 2, 3 and 4.

● The Bow Pointe Road Improvement special assessment district will have a revised schedule for SAD payments. The SAD may be paid off without interest on or before June 30, 1996. The first SAD payment for property owners is due July 1, 1996, and each year after for 14 more years.

It's lights, cameras, auction for Village Players

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

If you're a movie buff, the place to be on Friday, May 31 is Deer Lake Racquet Club.

That evening, an auction including much movie memorabilia will be auctioned off to benefit the Clarkston Village Players.

Imagine owning the copy of a script for "Save the Tiger" used by Jack Lemmon and signed by him. Or a "Dumb and Dumber" T-shirt autographed by Jeff Daniels. Or a great autographed photo of your favorite star, from Denzel Washington to James Garner to Kevin Costner. Or for the truly offbeat, how about a Phyllis Diller workout outfit?

Those items are all among the memorabilia being collected by auction chair Kip Kammer, who said the stars have been generous in responding to his requests.

"Not everybody has responded," he said. "But most of the people have been very responsive, and I find that kind of unusual."

Kammer has been working on the auction since last August, when, as a brand-new member of the CVP, he offered to organize the auction.

"It had been talked about five or six years ago but they just never did it," Kammer said. "When we started talking about it I said 'Hey; that's a great idea.'"

The evening will include dinner and both live and silent auctions. In addition to movie-related items, there are also a number of sports-related things, such as autographed books from Gordie Howe and an autographed basketball from Joe Dumars of the Detroit Pistons.

The purpose of the auction is to kick off a Land Building Fund for the players. If you've ever been to their Depot Theater, you understand the need.

"We're trying to increase revenue for two reasons," Kammer said. "To continue renovations at the theater, but also, as this area grows it's apparent that a theater that (only) seats 84 people" isn't big enough. "I've never seen an empty seat," Kammer said.

The tiny theater hard aside the railroad tracks on White Lake Rd. is usually sold out. Last summer renovations were begun which expanded the backstage area for better dressing rooms and traffic flow for the cast and crew. But there's nothing to do about adding seats, except expand the building—or move.

"I don't like to say the CVP is going to move, either, but I think everybody knows that," Kammer said. "You've got sentimental value to that building. The train goes by. People stop on stage. It's been a tradition for years. But we've also got to reach the reality that this community is growing so fast, and to keep that going we would like to build a theater that's larger."

Kammer noted Independence Township's long-range planning committee, known as Vision 2020, has made mention of the need for a community building of some sort. "It would be nice of the CVP could be involved in that," he said.

Bores bore each other, too; but it never seems to teach them anything.

—Don Marquis

The players new Land Building Fund is proposed to set some money aside "to either add on or find another location and build a new theater," Kammer said. "I guess what we're trying to tell the community is the CVP is a vital asset to this community. . . . What we're trying to get to the community is now we need you."

Tickets for the auction are $8 and are available at Tierra Arts on Main St. or by calling Janet Rose at 625-5551. The event begins at 6 p.m. with dinner first. RSVP by May 22.

Kip Kammer displays some of the memorabilia he has gathered for the auction May 31.

Union seating OK'd

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Waiting to exhale after a long council discussion, Clarkston Union owner Curt Catallo finally got his outdoor seating on Main St. approved Monday night.

Council voted 5-0 to approve Catallo's request. Mayor Sharron Catallo abstained from voting becasue she is Curt's mother. Councilman Bill Basinger also abstained.

It was a lengthy motion too. Council approved the site plan, "subject to the planning commission's review and determination that their recommendation (last week) was 'in substance,' an approval of the amended site plan."

Because no planning commission minutes were in the council's packet for Monday's meeting, members didn't know if the recommendation was for a site plan at all — and those who were present at that meeting couldn't remember.

The motion further said the amended site plan is "subject to incorporating requirements from the subcommittee reports and subject to the city's right to require an alteration in the stone wall to improve the sight line if needed, and that conditions meet city ordinance requirements."

Council also voted 5-0 to have Clarkston Police Chief Paul Ormiston sign Michigan Liquor Control Commission documents for a temporary outside bar.

"It's a modification to a license. Any time you make a modification, the police chief has to sign," Curt Catallo said.

The site plan allows for an outdoor dining/waiting area in front of The Parsonage, which, like the Union, is owned by Curt Catallo's parents, Sharron and Clarence Catallo. Approximately seven tables will seat customers.

The subcommittee which studied Catallo's request said he had to meet several conditions, included a ban on outdoor entertainment and widening the driveway, which has already been completed.

Mills addition put on hold

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Last week Ed Adler was worried about parking for his Clarkston Mills addition. Those fears came true Monday at the Clarkston City Council meeting.

Though he received a unanimous recommendation for site plan approval from the city's planning commission a week ago, city councilt abled final approval to the next council meeting May 28 because they say Adler now has a conflict with a proposed city parking plan. Gary Tressel of city engineers Hubbell, Roth & Clark will be asked to take a look at the situation at that meeting.

Adler had plans drawn up over four years ago for a 10,000-square-foot addition to his W. Washington office building. In 1992 the city's zoning board of appeals granted him a variance for a 13-foot setback from Depot Rd. He wasn't able to build right away, he says, because of financial constraints.

Adler had to reappear before the planning commission last Monday because of vague planning commission minutes four years ago. Planning commission chair Dave Huttenlocher said the planning commission needed to clarify the motion and sent him to council for final site plan approval.

Now, after having spent over $60,000 for architectural plans, "I'm here ... It's the building season, we're ready to go," Adler said.

However, because council is now studying a parking proposal that could add 19 more parking spots on the north side of Depot Rd. at the bottom of the hill, Adler's plans are being revisited. Though owned by the city, those spots have been leased to Adler — who may lose them if the city decides to break the lease and take them back for city parking.

Presently Adler has 134 parking spots and just meets the requirements for parking for his mall and addition. He'll have to come up with 19 more if the city takes them away. Even though Adler says he has the property to mark 19 more spots, council wants him to have those spots blueprinted by the next council meeting.

Adler says he will have to now spend $1,000 more "to re-engineer the whole thing."

He criticized the planning commission and council for their lack of professionalism. Adler has suggested in the past that engineers be hired to review plans before they go to both government bodies.

"They're not professionals and they shouldn't be making these kinds of judgments ... I know I can provide 19 more spaces but it's going to be at a great expense," he said.

"There's no guarantee we're going to have parking on Depot," said councilman Steve Secatch during the meeting. "And what are we going to do — make him wait two more years?"

City council disagrees on parking

Some think it's a problem, some don't

Second in a three-part series

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Most Clarkston City council members agree with business people — there's a downtown parking problem.

And, like those retailers, office managers and property owners, they have a variety of opinions on how to solve it.

Though several council members objected to comments and opinions expressed by downtown business people in last week's article, they side with the enforcement issue.

Councilman Steve Secatch echoed NBD Bank manager Roberta Tzros when he said, "If we have a two-hour sign, let's enforce it or take it down."

He remembers when Clarkston was still a village and Chuck Smalley, a part-time parking enforcement officer, used to mark tires. But, Secatch chuckled, "I think everybody knew he was there Monday, Wednesday and Friday and they cleared out." On Tuesday and Thursday they'd be back in the forbidden spots.

Since Smalley left and Clarkston initiated its first city police department in 1992, "we left (parking enforcement) up to the police department and we didn't really get many complaints," Secatch said.

"I'd say there IS a parking problem at certain times of the day," he added. "Most of it's during the week — and a great majority of it would be the employees themselves. There's a great many people employed downtown and they take up a lot of spots." He feels the worst times are weekdays from 2 to 6 p.m.

Secatch supports Clarkston Police Chief Paul Ormiston's plan to step up enforcement. He suggests the city enforce parking from, say, 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. in the Main-Washington city lot as one solution. That would enable folks to park for longer hours, but not overnight.

He doesn't think parking stickers for employees will work because of job turnover and "cheating," nor does he go for angle parking. "MDOT (Michigan Department of Transportation) controls the parking spots on Main St. and MDOT is not going to allow for angle parking."

Secatch, who was part of the subcommittee which studied Depot Rd. improvments, disagrees with Clarkston Cafe general manager Carroll Harris, who said the city was "gun-shy" about removing Depot parking spots after a slip-and-fall lawsuit.

"If somebody else fell, we would get sued again. The council didn't take this lightly. We did it because we had to."

Mayor Sharron Catallo says she's always viewed Clarkston as "a small town with a limited number of parking places. People do realize that, and even business people coming here should realize that."

Catallo said she doesn't hear many complaints about parking, but she agrees that the situation has been discussed for years.

"I really wish the parking study from the business people would have been done — it would have been comprehensive. Now we're just getting things done piece by piece," she said.

As far as a parking structure, which has been talked about for Depot St., Catallo said, "I don't think this town lends itself to a parking structure. If I go down to Birmingham, I don't want to park in a parking structure. I want to park in front of the place I want to go to."

Besides, she added, "If that came in under a half-a-million (dollars) I'd be amazed. I shudder to imagine what a parking structure would cost ... Certainly we would consider it if the businesses paid for it. In all honesty, we couldn't."

Councilwoman Karen Sanderson predicts traffic and parking will worsen with development.

Sanderson teaches in Hamtramyk and can deal with rush-hour traffic on I-75, but not at Dixie and M-15. "I get home from work about quarter to 4. The other day I tried to buy gas." She got so frustrated she went home.

She agrees that enforcement is the top priority. She worked with the Clarkston Downtown Business Association to try to get a parking survey done, but said the Transportation Improvement Association of Oakland County failed to provide the instrument needed to conduct the study.

"The last thing I would like to see is a parking structure," she said. "I think the town's too small. I'd rather see enforcement ... If there's a perceived problem, there must be a concerted effort to ticket people."

Councilman Dave Savage, newly elected this year, is an architectural designer.

He thinks strategy's the key — along with a master plan for the entire Clarkston community. Visualize, says Savage. "We need to have long-term strategy. Where are we heading, where do we want to go?"

He's not so sure adding 20 parking spots at the bottom of Depot is more than just a piece of the puzzle or, as CDBA president Buck Kopietz put it in last week's article, "a Band-aid."

"The 20 proposed parking spots — there's a very good example of how a one-hour discussion about a sidewalk turned into a parking issue," he said.

With the proper approach, "we could find some very unique solutions to the problem," he said. Savage favors a parking structure as one solution and feels the design could complement Clarkston's old-village charm. He also feels parking meters —antique, of course — would provide additional revenue for the city and enable it to take care of headaches like crumbling downtown sidewalks.

Like many, Savage feels it's not only up to the city and business owners to find solutions. He feels residents should play a part also.

"That's why I'm going to urge council to appoint a citizens' group to get involved. You can't just point your finger at the business association. they've got their own problems. Plus, a number of businesses don't support it. We shouldn't say, 'They didn't get back to us, so there's no problem.'"

Savage suggests that the citizens' group talk to businesses and come up with "viable needs" before

RELO WORLD LEADER IN RELOCATION

QUESTION: One of the major benefits of owning investment property is writing off depreciation as a paper loss. What is the latest status of investment real estate depreciation.

ANSWER: The latest Tax Reform Act has lengthened the depreciation period and the rate at which properties can be written off. As it stands now, property placed into service today can be depreciated over a 27.5 year period for residential property and 31.5 years for commercial property.

Accelerated depreciation (depreciating it faster in the early years ownership) has been eliminated. Both types of property must now be written off using straight-line depreciation.

Tutorial service to rent apothecary building

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Those "for rent" signs may soon be disappearing from the old apothecary building.

Clarkston resident James Wittenburg, who has operated Clarkston Tutorial Services for the past eight years, wants more space and hopes to rent the 4 S. Main St. building that held longtime Hallman's Apothecary and, more recently, Olde Apothecary Antiques.

The antique shop closed a few weeks ago, leaving a vacancy of 3,000 square feet.

Wittenburg appeared before the City of Clarkston's planning commission May 6 and received site plan approval under the condition that the outside sign exclude interior lighting and the plumbing sign be removed. He then received a unanimous 7-0 vote for approval from Clarkston's city council Monday night. Parking was not considered an issue.

"I think it's a great service for the community, so I'm glad you found a spot for it," commission council liaison Steve Secatch said to Wittenburg at the planning commission meeting.

The business will be a dream come true for Wittenburg, who plans to offer more than tutoring. His goal is to include services like skills improvement, psychological counseling, art, occupational and speech therapy and a computer/WEB sitecenter where folks can take classes and log onto the Internet 24 hours a day.

He says his "education store," which he hopes to open in June, will staff approximately 30 part-time teachers. In addition, his wife Liz will be able to lodge her own boutique business, "Art and Sol," which features artwork, jewelry and other items. Both Wittenburgs have established offices for their respective businesses in other communities.

James Wittenburg said the tutoring service was started by his grandfather in 1969. He admits to being "a pretty good student" and graduated from college with a bachelor's in biology.

He's excited about all the educational services he could provide. For example, because he has a young daughter, he's become more aware of women's issues and would like to offer a "girls in education" workshop.

"They still have a tough time of things," he said.

Wittenburg is presently "pounding out a lease" with building owner Maggie McKinney. His building permit will be issued after building and fire inspections are completed.

In other council action:

● Clarkston Police Chief Paul Ormiston reported the new patrol car didn't include all the equipment that had been ordered. A new car won't come back from the dealer until mid-July.

● Ormiston said he expects a report from Detroit Edison which has been doing a lighting study for the city. They will have a recommendation and cost estimates for additional lighting.

● Ormiston's plans for a parking ordinance have been given to city attorney Tom Ryan for review.

● Second readings for the fire prevention and protection ordinance and the 1993 BOCA property maintenance ordinance were completed. Both ordinances were adopted, 7-0. The 1993 BOCA national mechanical code ordinance received a first reading.

● City councilwoman Karen Sanderson said she will obtain results of the Clarkston Downtown Business Association's May 14 meeting before the May 28 city council meeting where parking issues are expected to be discussed by council and downtown business representatives.

● Council voted 7-0 to sell the old city truck to Independence Township for $9,000.

● Council members were told it would cost the city $20 per line for city residents to log onto the Internet system at the Independence Township Library.

City council talks about parking

any improvements are made.

He feels the business district should be "a vibrant place of activity that enhances the lives of the villagers." In fact, he treasures an old photo that shows the drug store, the hardware store, the town market ...

Savage doesn't want to see Clarkston become a ghost town. That's why he feels parking is so important. Like other council members, he's in full sync with Ormiston to step up enforcement — but he doesn't want to scare off visitors.

"I don't think anybody wants to come into town and be afraid they're going to get a ticket. We want to retain our small-town-village atmosphere ...

"I'm not saying let's change it to something that it isn't. Let's get it back to what we had. When I say it's time for a change, that's what I'm talking about."

But, it's more than a pipe dream, says Secatch, who has been discussing a possible special assessment for downtown business owners with other council members. If businesses feel there's a problem, "are they willing to take on a tax commitment?" he asks.

"It isn't free. Everybody has his own idea about what to do. Unless they're willing to help pay for it, I don't see anything changing."

Next: Clarkston police chief Paul Ormiston talks about enforcement.

Hummingbirds are back

The swallows return to Capistrano, the buzzards to Hinckley, Ohio.

And though signs of spring are hard to come by around here this year, Inga Girschner of Pine Knob Rd. said she's seen her first hummingbird of the year.

Girschner saw the elusive, tiny bird at her hummingbird feeder May 9 and urges other residents to keep their feeders filled in order to attract the colorful birds that are a particular pleasure to bird watchers. Hummingbirds feed on sugar water or bright red blossoms.

"Please welcome our tiny travellers from way down south with your filled feeders outside," she said.

Huttenlocher sells business

The Huttenlocher Insurance Group has been acquired by First of America Bank.

Clarkston resident Rick Huttenlocher said last week that under new federal banking regulations, banks may purchase insurance agencies. Other than the ownership, he said nothing much will change. His name will still remain on the business and the location and services will remain the same.

"Nothing has really changed," he said.

Teachers find a unique way to get the message out

Despite dismal weather Saturday morning—or perhaps because of it—the gym was packed at Springfield Plains Elementary School for the first ever Health Fair.

The event was put on by the health and physical education teachers of the Clarkston school district. The district brought health education to the elementaries this year for the first time and expanded physical education time, hiring several new teachers in the process. Many of them were at the fair.

Kim Wolfe, a health teacher who helped organize the event, was excited about the turnout. "We're very pleased, especially for the first one," she said.

For both parents and kids, there was a lot to see and do. You could try your hand at sit-ups and push-ups, get your blood pressure or hearing checked, get shots (ouch!) or test your agility on Roller Blades or with juggling apparatus. There was also a bus equipped as a tumbling gym parked outside—a favorite hang-out for the kids which was pronounced "awesome" by one excited kid. And you could have a chat with a dentist, firefighter or police officer and take home a lot of handouts, as well as a free bag of popcorn.

Participants included St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, the Red Cross, the Clarkston PTA District Council, the school food service department, Independence Township Parks and Recreation and many more. It was dubbed an "Affair of the Heart," but it looked like just plain fun.

Hockey OK'd for 1997

Board votes unanimously for full outside funding of sport

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

With a board apparently confident that outside funding of a school sport will not cause problems, hockey at Clarkston High School will most likely become a reality in 1997.

The Clarkston Schools Board of Education voted unanimously May 13 to approve hockey as a varsity sport for next winter's sports season, although there are some details to be worked out between the administration and the hockey supporters.

A packed gymnasium at Clarkston Elementary School listened to several people speak about the positives of adding hockey at CHS. The list included a parent who moved to the Clarkston area from Pittsburgh because of Oakland County's strong hockey leagues, the athletic director of Trenton High School, who started up that district's team 20 years ago, and a representative of the Lakeland Hockey Association, the largest association in the United States.

No one spoke out against adding hockey to the Clarkston sports program.

In recent weeks the administration said it was unanimously against adding hockey to the school program. Reasons included other, more pressing needs, such as counselors and social workers, and a legal requirement to add a girls sports team. However several board members expressed an interest in seeing whether hockey could be made to happen at no cost to the district, and more meetings were held between administrators and the hockey parents.

On Monday the consensus of the board was that even though the hockey program will be funded by the parents and not the taxpayers, it is still under the control of the athletic department and must meet the same high standards.

Board secretary Sheila Hughes said there may be concerns about having a sport outside-funded, but she is confident this can work.

"I do believe as long as this program is administered by the athletic department it will be a positive and not make a black mark on this community. This is the best way to do this at this time, but again, it will be under the guidelines of the athletic department."

Superintendent Gary Haner said this approval sets the groundwork to start hockey, but the board may come back at some later date and vote to assist in the funding.

He also said that with hockey's addition, a girls sport must be added, although which sport hasn't been determined. Currently, gymnastics and pom pon function as unofficial sports.

Leech added, "We want to be as successful as other sports at Clarkston. We've agreed that hockey will be a first-class addition to this athletic program and we will accept no less."

The board was presented with three options before the meeting: Make hockey a board-funded sport, a shared-funding sport or fully outside-funded sport.

Board member Janet Thomas made the first motion for option #2, but that was voted down 5-2 (yes votes were cast by Thomas and Barry Bomier). After that, option #3 was approved.

Leech and Haner both said they are also committed to helping coordinate the construction of an ice arena in this area.

Expectations of soccer coach met; but he still wants more

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Working hard and improving each match has helped the Clarkston soccer squad to a .500 record.

While coach Brian Fitzgerald admits not many people figured his team would be 5-5-1, he said he's not surprised.

"We're right in the middle now, but there were some games we should have won," said Fitzgerald, in his first season as varsity coach. "We work hard and, when we click, we're pretty good. We're also starting to learn the game more and all our young players are getting smarter. I think we've done well for what we have."

Last week, however, Fitzgerald wasn't too happy with his team's 7-0 loss to West Bloomfield on May 7.

"It was the worst game we played all year, but I guess you have to have some of those kinds of games," he said.

A May 9 match against Bloomfield Hills Lahser was canceled with 13 minutes to play in the first half and CHS down 1-0, and a May 11 match with Royal Oak Kimball was canceled as well.

Fitzgerald said several players have been playing well at times, including freshmen Jenny Kerney and Kara Bergkoetter.

Senior Brynn Allyn has also played steady and, for the first time in her career, began playing goalkeeper last week. Fitzgerald said he moved her to that spot because it's an area that needs improvement.

"She looks pretty good there so hopefully she can do a good job," said the coach. "She's a good athlete who can jump and move and we really need that in that spot. She's a great team player and has a great attitude and has been like that all year for us."

The Wolves, 3-3-1 in the Oakland Activities Association Division II, have two big games this week, against Lake Orion on May 14 and the regular-season closer against Waterford Kettering May 16 at home.

> 'We really need to beat Orion and Kettering (this week) because we don't want to drop toDivision III.'
> Soccer coach Brian Fitzgerald

Fitzgerald said it's important to win those two games because the OAA division alignments are going to be changed for next season.

"We really need to beat Orion and Kettering because we don't want to drop to Division III," he said. "We could probably win a lot more down there but we want to play the better competition. Plus we have some real young players who will be around for a few years."

The Wolves open district play May 20 at 7 p.m. when they host Waterford Kettering. The winner will advance to play the winner of Waterford Mott/Rochester on May 23.

Aulgur, Kopec, Kyle get regional seeds as Wolves end season

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Last week may not have ended in storybook fashion, but the Clarkston tennis team won't dwell on the past.

On May 17 the Wolves will have three players seeded in the regional tournament, something coach Kevin Ortwine said is a direct result of his team's strong season.

Junior Mike Aulgur at #1 singles, tied for the third seed, senior Mike Kopec, #2 singles, was seeded fourth, and sophomore Jim Kyle, #4 singles, was seeded third. Junior Kevin Kopec at #3 singles, wasn't seeded but was came close to the fourth spot.

Last year the Wolves didn't have any players seeded in 13-team regionals.

The Wolves finished the season at 8-4 overall and 2-2 in the Oakland Activities Association Division II, matching last year's overall record. But Ortwine said this team is much better and battled in most matches.

The best example of how much improved Clarkston is this season was at the OAA Division II tournament May 9. CHS finished fourth, but was only two points out of second place.

Winning the tournament was Bloomfield Hills Andover, followed by Troy Athens with 25 points, Birmingham Groves with 24 and Clarkston with 23. Lake Orion finished last.

"It was really as close as we could get," said Ortwine.

The singles players once again came through at the OAA tourney, but the doubles teams couldn't pull out a win. Aulgur, Mike Kopec and Kevin Kopec all finished second, behind Andover players, while Kyle took third overall.

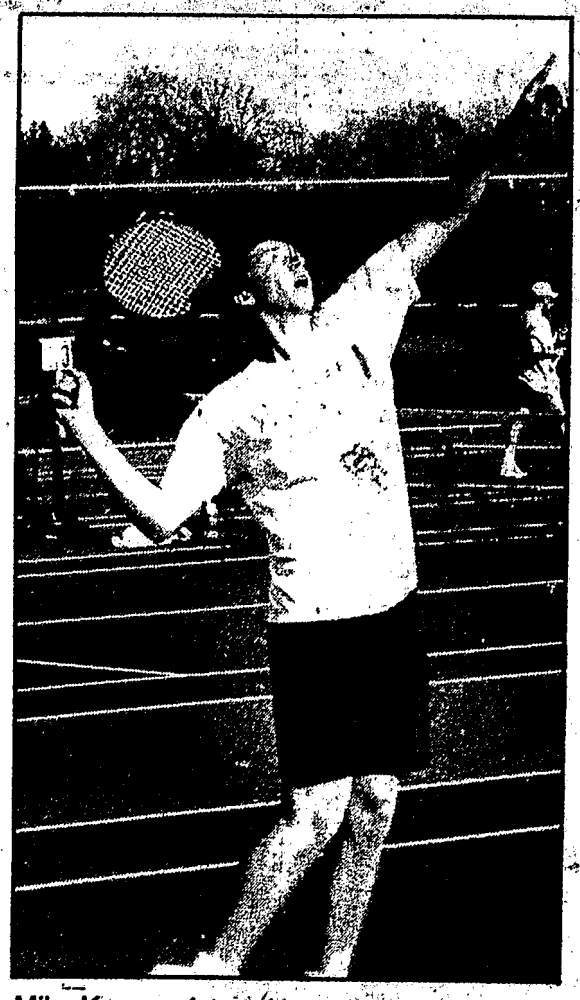
Aulgur lost in the finals 6-1, 6-4. Kevin Kopec lost 6-4, 7-5 and Mike Kopec lost 7-5, 6-2.

Aulgur had a big win over a Groves player on his way to the finals, which solidified his high regional seeding.

All four have been the backbone of Clarkston's strong season, Ortwine said.

"They all have really improved from last year," said the coach. "They never stopped improving during the season either."

The #2 doubles team of Zach Sanger and Dan Brazier came closest to moving the Wolves into second place, but lost a close match to Athens 7-5, 7-5.



Mike Kopec, pictured here serving in a match earlier this season, has a good shot at advancing in regionals as he earned a top four seed.

Clarkston moved on to the Holly Invitational May 11 and finished second overall, led by a win from Kevin Kopec and the #4 doubles team of Jayson Scheiderer and Dave Trollman.

Mike Kopec finished second while Aulgur and Kyle finished third.

The Wolves earned a second-place trophy with nine points, behind Holly's 11 points. Petosky was third with eight points.

On May 7 the Wolves lost 8-0 to Bloomfield Hills Andover, the #1 ranked team in Class B.

Fife named athletic director

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Longtime varsity basketball coach Dan Fife was named athletic director for Clarkston schools by superintendent Gary Haner Monday night.

For the last two years, Fife has split the job with Paul Tungate, who previously held the position full time. Tungate took retirement two years ago but agreed to stay on part time. Fife at the time was part-owner of Spring Lake Country Club.

Haner said Monday that Fife has divested himself of his interest in the club, which made him available for full-time work. He will retain his coaching position, "unless this role creates a conflict with his responsibilities as athletic director," according to a memo from Haner to the board.

"This announcement tonight is one of the more fun I've been able to do," Haner said. He said the shared arrangement between Fife and Tungate had worked extremely well, but now Tungate wants out due to private-sector employment.

"Paul has left me some big shoes to fill," Fife said. "Thank you for the confidence you've shown in me."

In addition to leading an extremely successful boys basketball program (his overall record is 259-68), Fife has been an assistant coach at the University of Michigan, played baseball for the Tigers and Twins and played four years of varsity basketball at UM. He was a team captain and most valuable player during his time at UM.

Fife will report to Clarkston High School principal Brent Cooley, at least until a new school superintendent is hired. The new superintendent will make the final decision on the chain of command, according to Haner's memo.

Girls are Clarkston Invitational champions

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

In a perfect track world there would be no injuries and the weather would be warm. But the track world is not perfect this season and both those problems have been a factor in the Clarkston girls track season.

A factor, yes. But not a hindrance. Despite injuries to key athletes and the worst weather in all of coach Gordie Richardson's 22 seasons, the Wolves are still undefeated in dual meets this season — stretching the 12-year streak — and on May 11 won the Ninth Annual Clarkston Invitational.

Coach Richardson said his team has performed well and some of his younger athletes are coming up with solid efforts. However, the main reason for the team's solid start can be attributed to a couple of factors.

"The kids that should be on top for us have been doing just that," said Richardson.

That was obvious in the invitational win, as senior Stefanie Burklow and junior Kammy Powell accounted for almost 40 of Clarkston's 83 points.

The Wolves finished 11 points ahead of Warren Mott. In third place was Sterling Heights with 69, followed by Livonia Stevenson 57, Bloomfield Hills Lahser with 48, Birmingham Marian with 46 and Lake Orion with 42.

The last time CHS won the meet was in 1993.

In a May 7 double-dual meet with Troy Athens and Waterford Mott, the Wolves once again came away with two wins, beating Mott 82-45 and Athens 90-38.

While the Wolves continue to win, Richardson said it will become more difficult in the tougher meets because some key athletes are injured. Top hurdler Liz Murphy is out for the season, Jennifer Bauer, a member of last season's All-State 3200 relay team, is injured, and Lissa Lukens and Jennifer Gifford are hobbled by leg injuries.

"We've accomplished most of what we set out to so far," said Richardson, who can keep the 12-year win streak alive with a victory over Lake Orion May 14. "But our success has come from our top kids. In big meets there are some areas where we just can't compete as well."

But in the invitational, Clarkston got plenty of Winning close games sign of improvement

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

When the defense is playing at peak performance, the Clarkston softball team is tough to beat.

"I always say pitching is the first priority, defense second and hitting is third," said coach Al Land. "Early on this season our defense was third but last week it wasn't."

The Wolves moved to 18-7 overall and 8-1 in the Oakland Activities Association Division I with a 3-1 division win over Waterford Kettering May 13, and non-division wins over Ann Arbor Pioneer, 5-2, and Flushing, 5-0, in the May 11-12 Royal Oak Kimball Tournament, which was postponed due to rain until next weekend.

Clarkston did take a 4-2 loss to Kimball in a May 8 game and a 5-0 loss to Harper Woods Regina in the Kimball Tournament.

While the wins were important, Land said it was the low-scoring game that most pleased him.

"In a 9-8 game where there are a lot of hits, I don't know what you learn from that," he said. "But in a 3-1 game like we had against Kettering, you learn about playing in tough situations. That was the first time we've ever beat them three times in a season and we wanted to send a message that we are legitimate."

A May 9 doubleheader against OAA leader Brandon was canceled due to rain. The Wolves have six more OAA games left to play.

In the loss to Kimball, Land said the defense played well but his team just couldn't generate any hits. In addition, a questionable call in the sixth inning allowed Kimball to score the winning runs.

Land said his defense continued to play well in the Royal Oak Kimball Tournament.

The Wolves started off with a clutch win over Pioneer, the fifth-ranked team in Class A.

Sophomore Rachel Fuller pitched a two-hitter and Clarkston's five team hits were good enough for five runs.

"Every time we got someone on base we were able to drive them in," said Land. "They had an overpowering pitcher but we were able to get hits when we needed them."

Junior Sue Naboychik hit a triple and senior Crystal Lemke hit a double and triple.

But it was the outstanding performance of Lemke at shortstop that set the tone for the game.

"She was just outstanding," said Land. "She was backhanding balls, going deep for them and gunning down runners," said Land. "The way she has played rubbed off on everyone.

"In games like that you have to play good defense and we really played great. We usually have one bad inning but we didn't that game."

In the next tournament game against Flushing, the Wolves once again played shutout ball, led by senior Alesha Ulasich's two-hitter.

Clarkston scored four runs in the third inning, on a two-run triple from senior catcher Amanda Jenkinson (who continues to battle illness and isn't 100 percent) and an RBI from senior Mary Brewer.

In the next game against Regina, the Wolves faced another strong pitcher but this time couldn't generate any offense.

Clarkston continued playing tough defense in the division win against Kettering.

"We were outstanding again on defense, diving for balls and everything," said the coach. "Tiffany Honey had a great day at third base with seven putouts and really made some great plays."

Senior Nicki Hard led the Wolves on offense with all three of her team's RBI. She led off the game with a home run and hit a two-run double in the third inning.

Young athletes coming on

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Led by a crew of underclassmen, the Clarkston boys track squad split a double-dual meet last week, but saw some good individual performances.

In addition, the Wolves finished 13th in a field of 15 strong teams at the Oxford Invitational May 11.

"Our kids are young but are really coming on, as well as some of our seniors," said coach Walt Wyniemko.

In the double-dual meet May 7, Clarkston lost to Troy Athens, 73-55, and beat Waterford Mott 75-53.

"We were in the running all the way against Athens," said the coach. "We knew it would be a tough meet and I though our kids did a real good job."

The win over Mott was important because it put both teams at 2-2 in the Oakland Activities Association Division II. Athens is 4-0.

Of Clarkston's 12 combined first-place finishes in the double-dual meet, only four went to seniors on the squad.

The Clarkston athletes with efforts good enough for first place against Athens and Mott were sophomore Marc Venegoni in the long jump (18'3") and high jump (5'8") and junior Chris Evans in the high hurdles (42.59) and low hurdles (15.41).

Senior Brian Ginn took first place in the 3200 meter run and 1600 meter run against Mott, while senior J.D. Zuchelkowski's time of 53.8 in the 400 run was good enough for first against both schools.

Other first place winners were: against Athens — Sophomore Jon Burklow in the 800 run; against Mott — the 4x100 relay team of Sophomores Ron Grinold, Jeff Long and Venegoni and Evans, and the 4x200 relay team of sophomore James Holst, Zuchelkowski, Long and Grinold.

Junior Jason Olafsson threw a personal best 132 feet in the discus.

Clarkston didn't fair as well at Oxford with only Evans and Venegoni placing but Wyniemko said his squad was competitive and had some good times.

Winning the meet was power Pontiac Northern with 84 points, followed by Pontiac Central with 62, Detroit Catholic Central with 48, Sterling Heights with 40 and Warren Mott and Waterford Mott with 30 points. Clarkston had seven points.

"We were competitive in most events," said Wyniemko. "Our relays had good times and I think we all gave it a good shot."

Evans was fourth in the high hurdles and Venegoni fourth in the long jump.

Senior Eric Leigh threw a personal best 129 feet in the discus.

Regionals will be held on May 17, 3 p.m. at Milford. the OAA meet will be held at Lake Orion on May 21.

Turk is hall of famer

Mike Turk, director of parks for Independence Township's parks and recreation department, was selected to the Michigan Softball Hall of Fame for nationally recognized performances in the sport.

The township resident was selected for his "offensive ferocity" and "defensive finesse," according to the Hall's announcement.

Turk began his career in 1971 playing for local teams in Clarkston. In 1975 he joined the Colonels of Union Lake where the team two years later made it to the 1977 national tournament. It was the year Turk was named All-American and captured the national home run title.

He also played for teams like the professional Detroit Auto Kings, Softball City and Primo's of Pontiac. In 1988, at the age of 35, he joined national power Nothdurft.

In his first season Turk captured MVP honors at the national tournament and helped his new team to a fifth-consecutive national title. In 1989 and 1990 he was also named MVP of the national tournament.

While leading Nothdurft to eight national titles, Turk averaged .633 with 33 homers and was named either MVP or All-American each year.

"Mike has been, without a doubt, the finest player we've ever had," said Nothdurft manager Leon Grunalt.

He is currently playing for Smith's Disposal in Clarkston.

Top athletes and more lead Wolves to track title

help from athletes besides Burklow, who has the county's top times in the 800, 1600 and 3200 runs, and Powell.

Burklow took first in the 1600 run (5:30), 11 seconds ahead of second place, 800 run (2:29), four seconds ahead of second, and was on the winning 3200 relay and third-place 1600 relay teams.

Powell also dominated her shot put and discus events. She won the discus with a throw of 107'4," and the shot put with a throw of 32' 11 1/2."

Richardson praised the work habits and efforts of both Powell and Burklow.

Senior Lisa Herron is another who Richardson said has dedicated herself to the team. She came in second in the 800 with a time of 2:33.9, one second ahead of third place. In addition, Herron ran on the winning 3200 relay team and the third-place 1600 relay team.

Sophomore Liz Cook continued her solid season by taking third in the 1600 run and fourth in the 3200 run.

Sophomore Megan Plante finished sixth in the 400 dash and ran on the winning 3200 relay and third place 1600 relay.

Junior Kristin Maine finished third in the 3200 run and sophomore Latisha Hawley was sixth in the shot put.

The 400 relay team of junior Kellie Christie, freshman Michelle Erickson, junior Amanda Worden and sophomore Adrienne Brown finished sixth.

Sophomore Erica Holman was on the third-place 1600 relay squad and junior Lisa Jennings ran on the winning 3200 relay team.

Richardson said Erickson just missed making the finals in the long jump, while sophomore Heather Brown ran a good race in the 300 hurdles.

A special relay race was also held for those athletes who didn't compete in any other race during the day. The Novice Relay team of freshman Jennifer Rooding, freshman Christina Rooding, sophomore Erin Malugin and Lukens took second, earning a medal.

In the double-dual meet, the Wolves had an easy time because Athens' top three distance runners—the heart of the team—have leg injuries and are out for the season.

Against Athens, Clarkston won 12 of 16 events and against Mott the Wolves won 10 of 16 events.

Regionals are set for May 17, 3 p.m. at Milford and the OAA meet is May 21 at Lake Orion.

7-8 grade meet

Once again Clarkston will host the 7-8 grade county track meet, May 30 at CHS.

Richardson said he expects over 30 schools to participate, meaning almost 1,000 kids will be competing. Both Clarkston Middle School and Sashabaw Middle School will be participating.

JV sports

By Michael Romein

JV Baseball

In a spectacular week, the junior varsity baseball team won two games, and did not allow a single run.

On May 6, the Wolves defeated Pontiac Northern by a convincing 14-0 margin. Jon Drallos did an excellent job on the mound, pitching the entire game. He struck out nine, and allowed only two hits. Jeff Oliver, Eric Jenks, Spencer Hynes, Mike Little, Phil Johnston, Jared Thomas, and Bryant Caudill all had hits for Clarkston.

On May 8, the Wolves faced a tougher challenge, and proved that they were up to the task. They recorded a 2-0 victory over Troy behind great pitching from Jared Thomas. He went the full seven innings and struck out 16. The Wolves did not produce much offense, but it was enough. Oliver and Drallos both had two hits for Clarkston, and Ryan Dudek had one.

"We got outstanding pitching all week," said head coach Jerry Ostrom.

This week the Wolves play Ferndale, Lapeer, Troy Athens and Rochester.

JV Softball

The Wolves went 3-1 in four games last week.

On May 6, the Wolves crushed Rochester Adams 12-1. Sam Hardenburgh pitched an excellent game, allowing only one hit. Hope Manuel, Beth Tuttle, and Corinne McIntyre both had two hits for Clarkston. Tracy Tomkiewicz played an excellent defensive game.

On May 7, the Wolves played two games against Holly, winning both. In the first game, it got ugly, as Clarkston prevailed 25-0. In the second game, Holly played much better, but the Wolves still won 6-5. The stars for Clarkston were Hardenburgh, Nicole Buck, Amber Mitchell and Tami Angel.

On May 8, the Wolves were defeated by Royal Oak Kimball, 4-1. The game ended after the sixth inning, when it began to rain. Hardenburgh was strong on the mound, striking out nine and allowing six hits.

"We played well this week," said coach Karen Czarnecki. "I am pleased with what we are doing. I am glad to have girls on the team who are so eager to learn."

The Wolves are now 12-2, and tied with Waterford Kettering in the league at 7-1. They play the Captains this week.

Freshman Softball

On May 7, the Wolves split a pair of games with Holly. In the first game, they lost 11-8. Meghan Hodges pitched, and had a double. Anne Underwood had three doubles, and Janae Fonseca had one. In the second game, the Wolves won 13-9. Jessica Moore pitched, and also tripled. Daisy Mauti had a double and a triple, and Stephanie Pointer also had a triple.

On May 8, the Wolves beat Rochester Adams 13-4. Fonseca had a double, as did Moore and Kathy Kopec. Mauti had a triple.

The Wolves are 4-5 overall, with one game scheduled this week.

Joining pro ranks

Randy Nelson has accepted the head professional and teaching professional position at the recently completed, Arnold Palmer designed Cherokee Run Golf Course just east of Atlanta, GA.

Nelson is a 1988 graduate of Clarkston High School, where he was a member of the golf team. He is also a graduate of Ferris State University with a marketing degree in professional sports management. He completed internships at Hilton Head National and Harbor Town Golf Links on Hilton Head Island, SC.

Randy and his wife Marnie, a tennis pro, will make their home in the Atlanta area. He is the son of former Clarkston residents Gary and Sandy Nelson, now of Lake City, MI.

Knob Notes

By Eileen Oxley

Still blowin' in the wind

Over 20 years ago Robert Allen Zimmerman decided he didn't have much of a stage name and shortened it.

Good thing. Now "Bob Dylan" is almost a household word to members of his generation and their children — and definitely easier to say.

In 1962 Dylan's debut album included only two originals, "Talking New York" and "Song to Woody." But one year later he had three hit singles: "Blowin' In The Wind," "A Hard Rain's a-Gonna Fall" and "Masters of War." And two years later he was performing 200 concerts annually to promote his "The Times They Are Changin'" album.

Through the years the man known as much for his nasal sing/say style as his moving, honest and, sometimes, politically pointed lyrics would become a legend with classics like "Positively 4th Street, "Like a Rolling Stone," "Just Like a Woman" and "Rainy Day Women Nos. 12 & 35.

Dylan earned his first Grammy for "Gotta Serve Somebody" in 1979. In the 1980s "Biograph," a five-disc retrospective, was released and Dylan toured with the Grateful Dead. He also took on the role of "Lucky," one-fifth of the Traveling Wilburys, featuring Geroge Harrison, Tom Petty, Jeff Lynnne and the late Roy Orbison. In 1989 he was inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame.

There will probably never be a slow train coming for Dylan fans. Though the nasal is more pronounced than ever, he's rolling down the '90s railway with appearances at Woodstock '94 and on MTV's "Unplugged."

And he's definitely laid the tracks for other folksy crooners to follow.

Pine Knob kicks off its concert season with Bob Dylan Thursday, May 16 at 7 p.m. Also appearing are Aimee Mann and Kenny Wayne Shepherd.

Knob notes will be a weekly feature again this summer in The Clarkston News. Look for it during the Pine Knob season.

Sports Fans I Bet You Didn't Know

Brought to you by Arnold Simmons of the Oxford Cinemas

Here's a baseball riddle you can have some fun with... How can a team get three triples and three singles in one inning, and still not score a run?... Answer: First two men triple and are out at the plate trying for an inside-the-park homer... Next man triples and stays at third... Next two men get infield singles with the runner holding third... Last man smacks a ground ball that hits runner going from first to second... Batter gets credit for a hit, but runner is out, making three triples, three singles, three outs... and no runs!

Do you have any idea what was the smallest city ever to have a big league baseball team?... Answer is Troy, N.Y.... Troy was in the National League from 1879 to 1882.

Here's one hard to believe, but it's true... There was a big league baseball team that was in LAST place as late as Aug. 30 one year - and yet they still won the pennant... The New York Mets were in last place on Aug. 30, 1973 - but despite that, they, incredibly, won the pennant that season.

I bet you didn't know... Oxford Cinemas has three auditoriums, showing first run movies and Tuesdays are Bargain Days!

TEXT AMENDMENT TO ZONING ORDINANCE
(Lighting Regulation - Exterior Glare)

An Ordinance to amend Ordinance No. 83, as amended, the Charter Township of Independence Zoning Ordinance, as amended, for the purpose of amending Article V, Section 5.18, to provide amended regulations relative to exterior lighting.

The Charter Township of Independence ordains as follows:

Section 1 of Ordinance

Article V, Section 5.18, Subsection 9, shall be amended by deleting the current text and inserting the following:

ARTICLE V. GENERAL PROVISIONS

Except as hereinafter specifically provided, the following general regulations shall apply:

* * *

Section 5.18. Environmental Performance Standards.

9. Exterior Lighting and Glare.

a. Exterior Lighting from Direct Sources - Subject to the provisions set forth herein, all parking areas, walkways, driveways, building entryways, off-street parking and loading areas, other outdoor pedestrian ways, and building complexes with common areas shall be sufficiently illuminated to ensure the security of property and the safety of persons using such public or common areas.

Exterior lighting shall be located and maintained to prevent the reflection and glare of light in a manner which creates a nuisance or safety hazard to operators of motor vehicles, pedestrians and neighboring occupants and land uses. This provision is not intended to apply to public street lighting.

The following additional standards shall apply:

1) Only non-glare, color-corrected lighting shall be permitted. Lighting shall be placed, directed and shielded so as to direct the light onto the site and away from adjoining properties. Lighting shall be shielded so that it does not cause glare for motorists.

2) The light intensity provided at ground level shall be a minimum of 0.3 foot-candle anywhere in the area to be illuminated. Light intensity shall average a minimum of 0.5 foot-candle over the entire area, measured five (5) feet above the surface.

3) Except as noted above, lighting fixtures shall not exceed a height of twenty-five (25) feet. In portions of a site adjacent to residential areas, lighting fixtures shall not exceed a height of eighteen (18) feet, and shall be located so as to result in the minimum interference with residential users.

4) All lighting, including ornamental lighting, shall be shown on site plans in sufficient detail to allow determination of the effects of such lighting upon adjacent properties, and traffic safety. Building or roof mounted lighting intended to attract attention to the building and/or use and not strictly designed for security purpose shall not be permitted. Temporary holiday lighting and decorations are exempt from the aforementioned provision.

b. Light and Glare from Indirect Sources.

1) Glare from any process (such as or similar to arc welding or acetylene torch cutting) which emits harmful ultraviolet rays shall be performed in such a manner as not to be seen from any point beyond the property line, and so as not to create a public nuisance or hazard along lot lines.

2) The design and/or screening of the development shall ensure that glare from automobile and commercial or industrial vehicle headlights shall not be directed into any adjacent property, including residential property.

3) Exterior doors shall be located, operated and maintained so as to prevent any glare and light from creating a nuisance or safety hazard to operators of motor vehicles, pedestrians and neighboring land uses.

Section 2 of Ordinance
