A family affair

Husband and wife graduates Stuart and Kelli Jelinek find son Logan wants to wear a cap and gown too. Mom and Dad were among 46 students who graduated May 29 from Clarkston Community Education's STRIVE alternative high school and adult education programs. See the back page for the story and more photos.

Tax renewal, school board seats on Monday's ballot

In addition to electing two people to serve on the Clarkston board of education, voters going to the polls Monday will also be asked to renew 18 mills of non-homestead property taxes for school operations.

The non-homestead designation applies to all properties not declared a primary residence, mainly commercial properties. Under the relatively new state statute known as Proposal A, the state taxes homestead properties at six mills for school operations, and non-homestead properties at 18 mills.

The ballot question will ask for a renewal for 10 years. It was last approved in 1994 for two years.

"Because the renewal addresses non-homestead property, its approval will have no effect on primary residences," said Craig Kahler, Clarkston schools' Director of Business Services. "Therefore, approval will not increase homeowners' taxes on their primary residences (currently six mills), nor will it increase the current tax on non-homestead property, since the 18 mills is already being paid on those properties."

If the renewal were not approved, Clarkston schools would experience a drop of over $3.3 million in operating revenues next year.

"The state assumes the full 18 mills will be levied," Kahler said. "These mills assure that the full foundation allowance per pupil will be received by Clarkston Schools. Approval also means that no operating millage elections will be required in the district until the year 2005."

OCC race

Voters will also be selecting two trustees to serve six-year terms on the non-partisan Oakland Community College Board of Trustees.

The candidates are James Doyon, Ellen Ferguson, Lawrence Kohl, Jan Mack, Sandra Ritter, Thomas Sullivan, Jeanne Towar, Marguerite Fitzsimmons Walker II and John Wangler.

Polling information

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Absentee ballots are available through the Independence Township Clerk's office.

An error was made in a legal notice and news brief which ran earlier regarding absentee ballots. Voters who cannot go to the polls Monday may vote as late as Friday, June 7 at 4 p.m. in the Independence Township Clerk's office via absentee ballot.

As reported last week, voters in Springfield Township should note that there have been some precinct realignments and changes in voting locations. For more information, contact the clerk's office.

Fire millage on August ballot

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Growth in Independence Township is a double-edged sword for the fire department.

On the one hand, it means that the department's budget keeps growing, even without a tax increase. On the other hand, it also means that the demand for services escalates as well.

So when fire chief Gar Wilson went before the township board of trustees at a special meeting May 30 to ask for a millage renewal, he presented the board with a dilemma. Should it ask for restoration of the full voter-approved three mills, or should it ask strictly for a renewal of its current 2.8879 mills, as reduced by the Headlee Amendment to the Michigan Constitution?

In the end the board voted unanimously (trustee Mel Vaara was absent) to ask for just the renewal. The question will appear on the August primary ballot. The existing millage expires in December.

The difference between the two options amounted to $81,450 next year for the department. However, based on the increasing tax base in the township, the department gained $228,004 in the past year in new dollars, thanks mostly to new construction.

"We've had a big bump in the past year that has resulted pretty favorably," said trustee Jeff McGee. "You've got to go to the voters, and whether they understand Headlee or they don't, it's a perception issue."

Though several people commented that there are some equipment needs on the horizon for the fire department, including perhaps a ladder truck, they also agreed that the community is faced with many new obligations, including the new high school.

"They've just bought a new high school, they're going to ask for another school... They've just got too many drags on them," said trustee Daniel Travis.

A mill is $1 for every $1,000 of assessed property value. The 2.8879 mills represents the fire department's entire operating millage and for 1996 was valued at $2,098,319. Additional money comes from the city of Clarkston, which contracts with the township for fire service.

Parade dates set

Permits for closing local roads for two upcoming holiday parades are being acquired by Clarkston's City Council from the Road Commission for Oakland County.

The 4th of July Parade, sponsored by the Firefighters Association, will begin at 10 a.m. on that date at Clarkston Middle School, proceed west on Church St. to S. Main, north on Main to Miller Rd. and end west of that intersection around noon.

The Labor Day Parade scheduled for Sept. 2 will follow that same route and time.

Council passed a unanimous resolution to secure the permits at its meeting May 28.

The news in brief

Special meeting scheduled to name new superintendent

The Clarkston board of education will meet Wednesday, June 5 at 7 p.m. in the hopes of naming a new school superintendent.

By that date board members will have visited the home districts of the two finalists, Richard Lane of Hillsdale and Al Roberts of Orange City Schools in Ohio. They hope to be able to reach an agreement June 5 and then begin contract negotiations with the top candidate. The meeting will be held at the administration office on Clarkston Rd.

Site plan turned over to city planner for review

After several weeks of appearing before various city bodies, the site plan for the Clarkston Mills addition will be reviewed by the city of Clarkston's planning firm, McKenna and Associates.

Council voted unanimously to send Mills owner Ed Adler's site plan back to the planning commission following that review.

Council decided to refer the matter after Gary Tressel of city engineering firm Hubbell, Roth & Clark raised some questions about the site plan. Councilman Bill Basinger said careful consideration must be given to Adler's addition because this is the first commercial structure to be built in the city in 25 years.

"I'm in full favor of expediting it, but we have many issues," he said.

Adler expressed frustration over the delay. His plans already received unanimous approval at the last planning commission meeting.

Bond election put off till December

The Clarkston board of education has agreed to put off its next bond election, previously being considered for September, until December.

Board president Bill Craig asked the board to reconsider the date at its May 28 meeting. He said the later date would give the new school superintendent some time to learn about the discussion and have some input into the ballot language.

Craig also said moving the election from September to December would not affect the opening date of a proposed new elementary school, if it is modeled after Springfield Plains. Using the existing plans will cut some months off the design time, he said.

City council meeting changed

The regular Clarkston city council meeting scheduled for Monday, June 10 will be held Tuesday, June 11 because of the school board election.

At that meeting, a public hearing concerning the city's proposed 1996-97 budget will be held. Copies of the budget are available for inspection at City Hall, 375 Depot St., during regular office hours. One of the subjects expected to be discussed during the hearing is a proposed levied property tax millage rate.

Regular city council meetings are held the second and fourth Monday of each month at 7 p.m. in City Hall.

A Great Dental Office Would...

Dear Dr. Shader,

In today's society of consumers experiencing poor product quality and service on a regular basis in every industry, it has been a refreshing experience to come across a doctor who truly cares not only about the quality of his work, but personally invests in each and every patient.

You and your staff are an exceptional group of professionals. When I came to your office upon Bob Posch's recommendation - after one year of failed attempts at bridgework, I must admit that my expectations were not set that high. Based on prior experience and dental work, having any teeth that could pass for front teeth would be acceptable.

I must admit that you and your staff have given me new faith in dentistry! I was not only treated respectfully and as a professional, but you were all sensitive to the pain concerns that I had. The new bridgework looks great, and feels like my own teeth. So you have exceeded all of my expectations!

I cannot tell you how I appreciate all that has been accomplished for me. I do know that I will continue to utilize all of your services in the future!

Sincerely,

Christine M. Leoneth

The best game in town

By Darrel W. Cole

You gotta admire our local pols for already (the end-all primary election is Aug. 6) orchestrating some pretty neat "I wonder if they will notice" type political maneuvers.

In the last few weeks there have been some events, comments and actions that could come under that "political maneuvering" umbrella. And, whether intentional or not, some of our candidates were well aware of the games being played.

● On more of a national scope, the most surprising maneuver came May 28 at Clarkston High School. That day Scott Mitchell, the record-setting Detroit Lions QB, was scheduled to give a talk to some students about making transitions.

Neat idea. And while Mitchell's talk was non-partisan, the person who introduced the QB made up for it.

Megan O'Neill-Nini, who was once described as a possible GOP poster child, gave a stirring speech to a captive student audience on the integrity of Republican presidential hopeful Bob Dole. She neatly tied Dole's alleged ability to overcome personal obstacles into the gist of what Mitchell would talk about.

Some of the adults in the audience liked the idea of Mitchell's speech, but were surprised and a little turned off that O'Neill-Nini had to be the person to introduce him, especially glorifying Dole the way she did. No place for a partisan speech, some said.

It's too bad for Republicans the audience wasn't old enough to vote.

● On the local political scene, there were also some maneuvers being played out at the groundbreaking of the new Clarkston High School.

There were plenty of township candidates in the audience that day, including Kurt Karlstrom and John Lutz, both gunning for the treasurer's seat.

Now it just so happens that Karlstrom had a personal interest in the groundbreaking because during his time on the school board he worked to get the new high school.

So when Lutz and supervisor Dale Stuart were recognized in the ceremony's opening talk as being supporters of the new high school, you can imagine why Karlstrom said he felt "left out," especially when the man he's trying to unseat, who had nothing to do with the high school, was mentioned.

● Some neat backtracking maneuvers were done at a recent school board meeting.

A fellow reporter tells me that board secretary Sheila Hughes, who is running for township clerk, and school board member Barry Bomier, who is running for re-election, got into a little war of words over the controversial redistricting plan. Bomier cast the lone no vote against redistricting, saying he agrees with parents who say the school has not planned well enough for the future.

Said Hughes, "It (growth) is something we have tried to plan for and something this community has not supported us in ... We've tried to be creative but this community has not supported that creativity."

Although Hughes later tried to take back her statements, Bomier took exception to placing blame on the community, saying, "I don't think we've been as creative as we could have been ... I will not put full responsibility on the community. I think the community has supported us."

Hughes, upset, quickly interrupted Bomier, saying "... I did not put all the blame on the community."

● Until next time, see you at the game.

6 vie for 2 seats on school board

Peter Bertling

Peter Bertling, 18, will graduate from Clarkston High School this month. And though he plans to go to Michigan State University in the fall to pursue a teaching degree, he has said he is willing to commute back and forth if elected to the school board.

Bertling has lived in the district all his life and is president of the CHS Class of 1996 as well as a manager at McDonald's. He's never held public office before, but is an Eagle Scout and assistant scoutmaster of Troop 189, as well as a member of the WOLF Leadership council at CHS. His family includes his mother and stepfather, Janet and Kurtis Priebe, two sisters and a brother.

"I am running for school board because I am a student who cares about what happens to other students," he said. "With my student knowledge and background, I feel that I could offer many new ideas to the school board that could greatly improve our school district. Having a young adult would offer the school board a great opportunity to get the view of the students directly before making any decisions that could be a disadvantage to the students."

TOP THREE CONCERNS FOR THE DISTRICT: "The growing population; the problems concerning gangs, drugs and violence; and completion of the new high school."

DESCRIBE WHAT YOU SEE AS A TRUSTEE'S JOB: "I feel a trustee is someone who looks over the affairs of a given area concerning a specific group of people, just as our school board looks over the affairs of the schools for the people of the school district."

IN THAT LIGHT, HOW GOOD/BAD OF A JOB IS THE CURRENT BOARD DOING: "I feel that the job the current board is doing is satisfactory. They handle the monies well and they decide wisely,

A high-school student; a police lieutenant. A current trustee; a former trustee.

They are among the six people who would like to serve on the Clarkston board of education for the next four years. It's a strong showing of interest, but unfortunately only two of them can be elected June 10.

The Clarkston News sent questionnaires to each of the candidates asking about their qualifications and a few specific issues. Below we have reprinted their answers.

though not all decisions are agreeable. Nevertheless, there is room for improvement, as there always is."

WHAT DO YOU THINK SHOULD BE DONE ABOUT ELEMENTARY SPACE REQUIREMENTS: "I think that to use the space at the elementaries as they were intended, renovations must be made. I do not think that asking the voters for a new elementary would be wise right now, but I do feel that the voters may vote in favor of renovations to current facilities. I do think that the district needs to be rezoned (redistricted) and until the new high school is built, I do favor the use of portable classrooms at the elementaries."

HOW MANY SCHOOL BOARD MEETINGS HAVE YOU ATTENDED IN THE PAST YEAR: "In the past year I have attended a dozen or so school board meetings. At first I only attended them because I heard that something of interest to me would be a topic of conversation. But now I attend the meetings to keep informed of the current school issues."

Barry Bomier

Incumbent Barry Bomier, 44, was elected in 1994 to complete a term which had been vacated. He and his wife Gae have two children.

A native of Flint, he holds a BS from the United States Military Academy at West Point and has done graduate work in telecommunications and journalism at the University of Michigan-Flint and the University of Colorado. After a career in the military, including a stint on General Schwarzkopf's staff during the Persian Gulf War, he is now a marketing manager at Atlas Technologies, Inc. and a commissioner on the Michigan Vietnam Monument Commission.

Despite protests, redistricting approved

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Taking up what it had put off for a year, the Clarkston board of education voted 6-1 May 28 to send some students to different elementary schools next fall.

With only trustee Barry Bomier dissenting, the board accepted an administrative recommendation to send students in the Maceday Lake area of the district to Andersonville Elementary in the fall. Those students attended Springfield Plains this year.

In addition, students living in the Old Pond, Oak Valley, Pebble Creek, Hills on Dixie Lake and Forest Ridge subdivisions were reassigned to Springfield Plains for next year. The reassignments are to balance enrollments at the buildings and return as many students as possible to their neighborhood schools.

In making the changes, the district promised that the students will not be shifted again for the next six years.

"This six-year commitment is longer than I've seen," said trustee Kurt Shanks. "It's really going out on a limb as far as I'm concerned and real admirable on the administration's part."

However, the promise rang hollow for some parents, who protested, for the second year in a row, their children's third move. Before attending Springfield Plains, the Maceday Lake students went to Pine Knob Elementary.

"For us this is not about the quality of staff and services at Andersonville," said parent Tim Sullivan. Diane Burder pointed out that her child had already attended kindergarten roundup at Springfield Plains.

Dave Kras, another parent, said, "No matter where our neighborhood goes, two portables (classrooms) will go . . . When asked why it's acceptable to have six portables at Andersonville and none at Springfield Plains, the administration informed us the portables at Springfield Plains will be in the way of construction."

The parents asked the board to put off the redistricting until after an election can be held on a proposal for a new elementary school, expected later this year. They also asked the board to be flexible and creative in finding a solution to the problem.

"We had to ask three times for a new elementary school," said board secretary Sheila Hughes. "We've tried to be creative but this community has not sup-

Debate continues on downtown parking

BY EILEEN OXLEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Robert Esshaki may be right. In a recent Clarkston News story about parking, the Rudy's Market co-owner said, "Perception is reality."

That seems to be the bottom line when it comes to parking in downtown Clarkston. While some business owners, residents and visitors think there's a problem, others don't.

At Clarkston City Council's May 28 meeting, business owners were among those who voiced opinions about a topic that's been discussed for years.

Gini Schultz, a longtime Clarkston resident and owner of Main Street Antiques, doesn't see a problem. "I've listened to this the last 25 years, I've done my own surveys," she said. "I don't think I've had to drive more than one block to find a parking place. I think part of (it) is a mindset — If I want to go to the bank I want to park in those three spaces. If not, there's no parking in the village."

Schultz compared the downtown situation to malls, where people don't think of walking much greater distances. She criticized those who blame council for all of the problems of downtown businesses.

"When some of the businesses are not doing well, they turn to the council to see what the council does for their business. Individual merchants are responsible to do what needs to be done in their business," she said.

She added that people who want to frequent a business will find a way if they want it badly enough. "If you want these things, you will walk for them."

Clarkston Mills owner Ed Adler suggested that the problem is perceived at different levels of intensity. The biggest problem, he feels, is at places like Rudy's and NBD Bank where business is transacted quickly.

"There are more people going in and out," he said. Also, he added, "It has been my experience that the many people at the businesses have no policy about where their employees park." Adler has a rule for his. "There's a designated area where employees park. You get reprimanded for it. I tell employees where to park and they park there."

Tierra owner Buck Kopietz said the effect parking has on businesses varies. "Certain businesses done before the city spends any money on improvements.

"I don't think we need to spend $7,000 to say we need 18 spaces over here. I'd rather see the money go into asphalt," he said.

Gini Schultz echoed what many have said before: "Before you do anything, I'd like to see you enforce the two-hour limit and see what happens."

Clarkston Police Chief Paul Ormiston said he plans to issue tickets for parking violations as soon as council approves his proposed parking bureau violations ordinance. City attorney Tom Ryan is currently reviewing his proposal.

"The number of spaces we have are adequate. They just are not being properly utilized. I think that's the general feeling," he said. The remedy of enforcement regarding current parking limits "remains to be seen. We'll see and then we'll adapt to whatever."

In other council action:

● At presstime the city's finance committee planned to meet June 4 to finalize the 1996-97 city budget draft for council approval.

● Mollie Lynch appeared before council to discuss the Internet program that is presently offered to Independence Township residents through the Independence Township Library. Discussion about the city's library contract with the township followed. City attorney Ryan will contact township attorney Gerald Fisher about city residents using the system.

● The 1993 BOCA National Mechanical Code received a second reading and was adopted 7-0.

● Council voted 7-0 to participate in the Oakland County Community Development Block Grant and Home Programs for the next three years.

● Councilman Bill Basinger agreed to draft a flow chart for referrals to the city's planning commission and zoning board of appeals.

'The number of spaces we have are adequate. They just are not being properly utilized. I think that's the general feeling.'

Clarkston Police Chief Paul Ormiston

depend on convenience parking," he said.

Discussion ensued about spending money for improvements and the possibility of a special assessment for the business district for parking.

Forrest Milzow, of Milzow, Morgan and Moreno Realty on Main St., referred to Independence Vision 2020, a long-term planning project being conducted by the township. Milzow, who is serving on the project, said he's finding it "a rewarding experience" to create a vision for future planning.

He'd like to see the same sort of planning done for the city but agrees that more studies have to be

The Clarkston News

In Focus

by Annette Kingsbury

Kids walk in history's path

Each year the second-graders at Clarkston Elementary School take a walk from their building into downtown Clarkston for a history tour. And each year they stop at the Clarkston News building.

This year was my first opportunity to act as their guide when they got to our building, and some of them asked me if I would write about it this week. So here goes.

The students, who studied local history this year, were prepared for their tour by reading some of the books published by the Clarkston Community Historical Society. As they came into our office they recognized some of the old photos we have blown up on our walls. Some also recognized the name of our building, the Walters building, believed to be the oldest remaining brick structure in Clarkston.

I told them a bit about the building as they busily scribbled down its construction date (1870, according to the books) and looked for a cornerstone. Then we went inside and talked about newspapering and how that has changed.

Even though they're only second-graders the kids all use computers today, so they understand how we put out the paper now. But trying to explain to them how it was done before computers, copy machines and printers was tough. I'm not sure they grasped that each individual letter had to be set by hand, even though I showed them samples of the old lead letters.

One group asked a lot of questions. One student wanted to know how old I was when I knew I wanted to be in newspapers (actually he said broadcasting, but close enough). I told him I guess I knew in high school, when I was co-editor of my school paper.

Then another boy asked if I'd ever dropped out of school. I said no, that I'd graduated and gone on to college. Then he asked a question that took me by surprise.

"Isn't college a waste of money?" he asked.

Well! Out of the mouths of babes, as they say. I gave him my honest opinion. No, I don't think it's a waste of money. I probably wouldn't be at this job—a job I love—if I hadn't gone to college. I might be flipping hamburgers or building cars. I might be making more money. But would I be as happy?

It must have something to do with age, but nowadays being happy at what I do is important to me. That's part of why I agreed to share the morning with the students—it sounded like fun. And it was.

As the kids made their way around downtown, they got candy treats from Ginny Schultz at the antique store. Who knows—that may be what they remember most about the day. A few rang the bells in our office that are the symbol of School Bell writing awards. They got a kick out of that, and all the little brick-a-brack on my desk.

But I hope they also got a glimpse of not only how things were once upon a time, but how things are today. What kinds of jobs are available in their town, and what you need to know to hold those jobs. And I hope they went home with their horizons broadened.

Bomier, Foyteck get our nod for school board

It's a pleasant dilemma to have so many people interested in serving on the Clarkston board of education. Six people, only two can be elected.

First and foremost, we recommend the re-election of Barry Bomier, a two-year incumbent. Like many people in Clarkston, he has not lived in the district long (five years). However he has shown in his two years on the board a consistent desire to hear, and a willingness to go to the mat for, the consumers—the taxpayers and parents of the district.

Sometimes this has not set well with the administration and other trustees, witness last week's verbal exchange when Bomier was the lone dissenting vote on a redistricting question. But he has stuck to his guns.

At a candidates debate last week sponsored by the PTA Council, Bomier said, "You have my commitment... to this educational team and to continue to ask the questions of why." For that reason, not to mention his commitment to curriculum and getting the best technology possible for the dollar, he deserves re-election.

Choosing a candidate for the remaining slot has been difficult. All of the candidates proved at the debate that they are dedicated to getting the best for the kids they would serve. This is an altruism not seen in candidates for other types of elective office. Even high-school student Peter Bertling, 18, showed he can think on his feet, even if some of the issues are unfamiliar to him.

However, our vote must go to Karen Foyteck by a narrow edge over Mary Ellen McLean. We admire McLean's advocacy for children. However, we also admire Foyteck's dogged attendance at board meetings during the past year, at the same time as she was co-chairing the latest facilities committee.

At a time when a new school superintendent will be coming on board, we feel Foyteck's ability to hit the ground running will be a tremendous asset. She is already certified by the Michigan Association of School Boards, due to her earlier service on the board, and has received the MASB's Award of Merit, as has Bomier. She is knowledgeable about the issues and cares about such things as mastering curriculum and kids' love of learning.

We wish both Foyteck and McLean could be elected. Since they can't we support Karen Foyteck for the second board seat. AK

Do-nothing Congress; need for knees

During the first session of the 104th Congress, 88 public bills were enacted.

Some think that's bad. I agree. There shouldn't have been any. I'd like to see a lot more do-nothing Congresses.

However, Sidney Blumenthal, journalist, writing in The New Yorker, leads us to believe 88 new laws are not enough.

He writes, "Now that the first session of the 104th Congress is over, the record of (Speaker Newt) Gingrich's experiment in prime ministership can be measured, in a rough and ready way, and the 104th turns out to be the least productive first-year Congress in modern American history. It enacted 88 public bills."

"The first session of the 103rd Congress, by comparison, enacted 211—a figure on the low side of average. The last Republican Congress, the 83rd, in its first year, 1953, passed 288. And the notorious 80th, indelibly branded the 'do-nothing Congress' by Harry Truman, passed 395 in its first year, 1947."

"Not since the paleolithic times—before air-conditioning, before television, before jet travel—has a Congress fallen into comparable doldrums."

Well, Sidney, my boy, unless you're a girl, I can't recall a single one of the 88 bills passed this session that we couldn't have lived without.

The only bills we hear about are those given to politicians by special interest groups, whose lobbyists are paid handsomely to drop handsome funds into campaign troughs of those who are handsome and not so handsome.

We elect people to go to Lansing and Washington to fix our roads, make the best use of our too-high tax dollars and give certificates to people of a certain age or accomplishment.

What we're getting are bad roads and deficits. But we do get recognition certificates. All we really need is to pass ten laws to cover the commandments and one for gravity.

I never knew my father's father. So, I can't go back any further than my dad for this 'like father-like son' scenario.

I can tell you in our family it's a two generation thing.

I'm talking about gardening—planting and weeding on our knees.

I can see my father now, on his knees, pulling weeds, thinning various veggies and dropping seeds. The knees of his bib overalls are worn thin, faded and dirty.

I'm into flowers, not veggies, but my method is the same as his, on my knees, close to the earth. However, we differ in wear. I wear black jeans that are not worn thin and faded because daughter, Luan, bought me knee pads that are held on by Velcro. But this father-like-son ends with me. Son Jim plants neither flowers nor veggies.

And, the only time you'll ever see him on his knees is in a very close match on a golf course when he'll get down on all fours to line up a putt.

A look back

15 YEARS AGO (1981)

Nine vie for two seats on the seven-member Clarkston Board of Education. They include Robert Clark, Hadyn Cook, Ann Glenn, Thomas Goldner, Gerald Harbaugh, Carolyn Place, Carole Rausch and Douglas Roeser.

It's been almost a year since students on bus number 78 staged a shaving cream battle that nearly caused an accident. Though 12 months have faded a lot of memories, Clarkston schools administrators and teachers are determined to avoid further episodes. Therefore, there will be a "shaving cream ban" in effect the last day of school — although students will be allowed to spray themselves to their hearts' content the first day of vacation or any time thereafter.

Independence Township board members vote to spend $11,131 in transportation credits. During the May 26 meeting they unanimously approve a proposal to channel the money into transportation and lighting car-pool parking lots.

25 YEARS AGO (1971)

A temporary injunction to stop Independence Township from appointing members to the newly authorized Parks and Recreation Commission is issued by Oakland County Circuit Court Judge William Beasley. He acts on a lawsuit by township residents John Shiff and Gerald Anderson, who object to the parks and recreation issue being put on the recent election ballot. The two residents base their suit on the attorney general's opinion that the question is not allowed at this particular election.

Clarkston Area Jaycees will sponsor a Village Clean-Up Day on Sunday, June 6. Work will begin at 7 a.m. in the village parking lot. The Mill Pond stream between Main St. and Park Lake will be cleaned of dead wood and debris.

Dan Fife is named University of Michigan senior athlete of the year by the Ann Arbor Quarterback Club. The captain of the U of M basketball team and (2-1) starting pitcher says his direction will be determined after baseball drafts are completed. "I am partial toward playing professional baseball because I feel that I have more future there," Fife says. In the meantime, two pro basketball offers are awaiting his decision — one from the Milwaukee Bucks and another from the Carolina Cougars.

50 YEARS AGO (1946)

A large enrollment is expected for the Water Safety Program sponsored by the Oakland County Chapter of the Red Cross. There are 15 beaches and pools in the county, says Mark Smith, chairman of the program. All phases of the Red Cross program will be taught, from beginning swimming to senior lifesaving, and certificates will be awarded to those who complete the tests. Classes begin at Deer Lake June 19 and run for eight weeks.

At the Clarkston Methodist Church's Wesleyan Build meeting Monday, dinner and business are followed by a presentation of movies by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thayer. The Thayers have taken the pictures in and around Clarkston over the years, which makes it very interesting. Many times those in the pictures did not know they were appearing in a movie.

Playing at the Holly Theatre are Wallace Beery, Margaret O'Brien and Marjorie Main in "Bad Bascomb." The Drayton Theatre is showing a new Dick Powell movie called "Cornered."

60 YEARS AGO (1936)

The business section on Main St. now boasts a beauty spot. The small lot to the south of the bank building has been transformed into a rustic garden. The well where the old oaken bucket will hang and the fence add that picture-book charm that draws the attention of every passer-by.

Friends of Ronald A. Walter, who have appreciated his persistent course through law college, will be pleased to hear he has passed the state bar exam. Ronald is to be congratulated when it is understood that less than a third of those taking the exam passed. His immediate plans for the future have not been formulated.

Specials at Rudy's this week include veal for stew, 14 cents a pound; short ribs, 12 cents a pound; sausage, 19 cents a pound; oleo, two pounds for a quarter; Jersey Corn Flakes, two boxes for 19 cents; Carolene Milk, three tall cans for 17 cents; and pork & beans, three tall cans for a quarter. Signing Off

Today is my last Monday of high school ever. As a matter of fact, school gets out in three-and-a-half days. Last night I, along with a large number of the seniors, celebrated our years together at Mitch's II with fuzzy slides and half of a dead bird slapped on our plates. Well, not on my plate. I gently shoved the plate away from the waitress when she tried to hand it to me. "No thanks," I said. "I'd rather take a bite out of my own thigh."

OK, so I didn't say that to the waitress, but I did say it after she left. The chicken resembled a carcass much too closely to be taken seriously and was much too pink inside to be considered cooked, or even dead. Overall, the only good things to eat were the bread sticks and the salad — well, if you picked around the unidentifiable greens that looked like weeds picked fresh out of the garden — and I really wish I still had the $13 the whole evening cost me.

I'm not basing my entire high school career on the senior dinner, though. I hated the dinner, but I loved high school. I'm honestly going to miss this place. It blows my mind when I look back on myself as a sophomore and compare myself to how I am now. My, how I've grown. My, how we've all grown.

We've learned so much about ourselves. We survived physical science, driver's training, government ("I'm Jerry Ford, and I pardoned Nixon") and crowded hallways. We've lived through the walkie-talkie-clad hall monitors and answered the question,

"Are you a senior?" every day while going out to lunch. We've created our own parking spots in the overcrowded parking lot.

We've worked our butts off and now we get to walk across the stage at Pine Knob, get our names announced to the world and get a sheet of paper that doesn't really have our name on it to ensure we don't swipe the graduation gown for our own personal use. Then it's over.

The hardest part is leaving the people I've spent so much time with and learned so much from. The hardest part is knowing the distance college will put between me and the friends I love so much.

That doesn't stop it from happening, however. It's strange looking around and knowing many of these people I see every day I'll never see again. Many people going far away who say they'll call or write won't, and the next time I see them I'll hardly be able to recognize them.

But some people I won't forget. Some people are forever engraved in my heart as being beautiful and unforgettable. There are few true friends one meets in a lifetime that one will keep for a lifetime. Most people aren't that reliable. I have been lucky enough, however, to be blessed with beautiful people in my life who fill me with love and such an aware sense of life that I thank them, for it is these things that make a life worth living. You know who you are.

Best of luck to everyone. It's a jungle out there. Pack a lot of underwear and take care of your hearts.

What's your dream summer vacation?

MARGI WARNER: Going to Disney World with my two best friends.

AMBER VONDRA: My dream summer vacation probably would be to go to Czechoslovakia. The way I would spend it would be with my family. That's where my Vondra family (dad's side) is. I'd like to see where my ancestors are buried.

T O M M Y GARAVAGLIA: It would be to stay in California for the whole summer and be able to do anything I wanted to — even if my parents said I couldn't do it.

A L E X A N D R A SKRISSON: I would like to go to Paris. I would look at the castles and the neat-looking buildings. I would go to a restaurant and taste all the different kinds of food.

L A U R E N HOULIHAN: I'd like to go out to California and visit my grandma and grandpa.

Graduation, then and now

I remember the hard work, the sacrifices, the staying up all night to finish a paper.

I even remember the time I wrote one of my best free-lance stories on a Saturday morning dressed in an unwashed face and a bathrobe. There was sudden inspiration.

In the background were loud cartoons and two screaming children, knee-deep in Play Doh.

The free-lance writing was one of three jobs I supported myself on while working toward my bachelor's degree a few years ago. Like others, I was finishing something I had started 20 years earlier.

It didn't matter that I was divorced, struggling, poor, with a part-time custody situation to support. I was determined to get that degree and I remember the day I did, with pride.

As I walked across that stage at Oakland University I was overwhelmed with fulfillment of a goal long dreamed. And I heard my teenagers yell, "Yeah, Mom!"

It's that same feeling I saw in the faces of Clarkston Community adult education and alternative high school graduates last week at Kirchgessner Theater. I arrived, expecting to do the usual photo op. I left with an invigorating feeling of joy, empathy — and a few tears.

Talk about sweat equity. Those students earned every hour. Many, like me, had not only learned the value of a hard-won dollar, but the satisfaction and thrill of reaching a goal all by yourself.

Some of those faces reflected some hardship. And it was a beautiful thing to see. There were young mothers feeding babies afterward and young men standing straight and tall.

During the reception I noticed a lovely girl with long, blonde hair passing a toy dachshund around with a pen for autographs. Boy, did that take me back. I remember those things as a kid. Wasn't it a reminder that these, after all, are the young, the leaders of tomorrow?

Isn't it great they achieved the milestone of earning a high school diploma.

By the time you read this I will be getting ready to attend my own daughter's high school graduation. And she, like I, worked hard to reach a goal. Her grades have made it possible for her to attend the University of Michigan next year as either a pre-med or engineering student.

I'm proud of her, as I'm proud of all the high school, adult education and alternative education students. This achievement doesn't just fall in your lap. You deserve it.

At the graduation ceremony, I particularly liked the words of Community Education director Marilyn Allyn: "Receiving your diploma is only the first stop on your educational journey. Spread your wings and fly."

Or, snap the kite string and sail. I look at my daughter and it all comes flashing back — the two heads bent over an algebra equation she didn't understand. The panic in the mornings because she couldn't find her hairbrush.

The mad dashes to the library before it closed. Marching through classes in Halloween costumes. Flying to band festivals in other cities. Bringing forgotten books, instruments and lunch money to school. And you know? It's all been worth it. Congratulations, graduates!

Letters to the editor

Foyteck has experience

As a candidate for Clarkston schools board of education, Karen E. Foyteck deserves your consideration. She has served our community for four years with dedication and integrity as a board trustee. She has also spent years as a parent volunteer involved in PTA, Cub Scouts, Picture Lady and Athletic Boosters. Karen has served on district committees, most recently as co-chair of the facilities study committee.

Karen E. Foyteck is a tireless supporter of Clarkston schools. Vote for Karen on Monday, June 10.

McLean thinks of long term solutions

Dear editor,

I've been a resident of the state of Michigan for almost three years, and a resident of Clarkston for two years. Like many of Clarkston's new families, one of the priorities in choosing a place to live is the quality of the school system.

My husband and I wanted a school with the resources to give our children the skills they need to carry them into the next century. A system with manageable class sizes and excellent teachers. One with support systems to help us educate them on the dangers of drugs and violence. We wanted a system that, in conjunction with parental and community support, could meet those goals, and more. We're convinced we've found that in Clarkston.

Lately, however, we feel that the school system is being stressed by the continued growth of the community. And what not? Clarkston is a great place to live and raise a family! But the toll taken, on Pine Knob Elementary for example, is that it is bursting at the seams. As a result, children are removed from the main school and placed in temporary portable classrooms and split-grade classes. This solution is unacceptable.

In order to ensure a quality school system, now and in the future, we need forward-thinking people on our school board. People who can meet these challenges with goals and long-term, fiscally responsible solutions. We need people like Mary Ellen McLean.

As a businesswoman, former educator, and mother of two elementary age kids of her own, she is actively involved with our children and teachers. She understands, first-hand, why temporary solutions will not solve long-term problems. Mary Ellen understands the challenges that face working parents and is committed to programs, such as latchkey and DARE, that address these concerns.

I'll be voting for Mary Ellen. I hope your readers will do the same.

Sincerely,
Teresa Hunt
Nicholas Hunt

Foyteck has experience, knowledge

Our community deserves a knowledgeable, experienced voice on the Clarkston Board of Education. Many issues including policy, curriculum, budgets, facilities and contracts must be considered in an effort to provide quality educational opportunities to our students.

Karen E. Foyteck has, and will again, provide dedicated and prudent service on our behalf. Join us in casting your vote on June 10 for Karen E. Foyteck.

McLean is active in schools

As the Clarkston school district continues to grow, new members with new ideas are needed.

One particular candidate, Mary Ellen McLean, is a working parent with an active role in volunteering, coaching and directing. Mary Ellen believes in manageable growth in our schools, but believes teachers must have reasonable class sizes to teach effectively.

Not the right choice

Dear Editor,

Last week a letter was sent to you highly recommending Mr. Peter Bertling for the school board position. This letter said he was an exemplary student free from drugs and alcohol, and how he is a role model for his fellow students at Clarkston High School.

I strongly urge the voters to consider the fact that this 18-year-old will be representing our community as a school-board member. It's a shame Mr. Bertling cannot live up to the standard he has supposedly set for his fellow students.

Also, it will be challenging enough to be away at school without having to come back each month to deal with district business.

Mr. Bertling's actions are like many Clarkston students. However, the position should go to someone who has the maturity and good judgment to make positive decisions for himself and the community.

I do believe a student on the school board is an exceptional idea; however, Peter Bertling is not the right choice.

Thank you,
Concerned District Members

Thanks for tour

A special thank you to our community, which opened its doors to Clarkston Elementary's second-grade classes to bring Clarkston's heritage alive.

We thank the many moms who contacted people in the community to allow us to visit, and all the parents who spent the day walking with us. Mrs. Walter, Mrs. Basinger and Mrs. Catallo not only opened their homes to us but shared the history of their homes.

Each student eagerly took a turn ringing the old church bell. Ms. Trzos allowed us to see the inner workings of the NBD Bank along with sharing the early days of the bank. Ms. Kingsbury showed us an early edition of The Clarkston News and spent time telling us about how early newspapers were made. Mr. Przybylski showed us the first fire truck and we learned how the service the fire department gives today compared with early days.

Mrs. Schultz shared the history of her antique shop and many interesting antiques that reflected early Clarkston. Mrs. Huttenlocher and Mr. Ormiston visited with us during lunch at Depot Park. Mr. Stuart and Mrs. McCrary showed us the township hall and answered our many questions.

Because of these many people our children have a better appreciation of their community and its heritage.

Correction

● The name of one school superintendent candidate, Richard Lane, was spelled incorrectly in last week's paper.

At left, kindergarten teacher Mari Ann Pacebleau holds the hand of her student Emily Presson during a joint long jump. Emily wasn't so sure she wanted to try, so Pacebleau asked if they could do it together. Emily agreed, and after a trial run by Pacebleau alone, they jumped together. "I hope she didn't beat me," Pacebleau said as the tape measure was brought out. In photo at right, students had a certain amount of time to see how many hula hoops they could get over the pylon.

Let the kiddies' summer games begin!

The gym at North Sashabaw Elementary School was full Friday. Parents lined the walls and kids filled the floor, each wearing a special badge, some waving paper flags.

The occasion was the opening ceremonies, Olympic style, for the school's field day. The kids heard some words of encouragement from Clarkston grad Jeremy Fife, who told them to "have fun and do well."

Then they heard a stirring rendition of the national anthem by one of their teachers, Maureen Moss, and then it was out to the playground for more fun and games.

The event was organized by the physical education teachers. Coordinator Carla Teare told the students medals would go to those who participated to their "best and hardest." With the sun shining and the conditions perfect, that wasn't a hard sell.

The students' badges turned out to be a road map of sorts, routing kids to each event in the order in which they were assigned. Choices included long jump, sack race, hurdles, water balloon toss, hula hoop toss and many more.

It was a full day of fun.

Bornier feels relevant experience he has had includes 35 years with the Boy Scouts, active PTA membership and other community service.

"I'm running for school board to serve my community in order to make a difference for the future of Clarkston's children," he said. "I am committed to the education of our children and grounded with an educational and professional background in applied technology. Our new high school will have nearly $5 million technology when completed. This will drive technology planning, eventually impacting every classroom. We need an educational leadership team that can embrace technology, while remaining focused on kids.

"An advocate of lifelong learning, I have earned my Michigan Association of School Boards certification and award of merit. An active participant with the MASB on statewide legislative issues, I've also been a guest instructor on technology issues. To better understand the skills expected of our teachers, I've passed the national teaching certification exam. A member of PTA, I've attended the state convention as a voting delegate in 1992-96."

TOP THREE CONCERNS FOR THE DISTRICT: "The three most critical issues facing the Clarkston school district are: growth (student population, capacity of facilities); the impact of technology on education; at-risk. We need to define and take action across the entire student population on those children most "at risk"—a program that not only reduces but has as its goal the elimination of substance abuse and violence."

DESCRIBE WHAT YOU SEE AS A TRUSTEE'S JOB: "The traits or characteristics I value most in my fellow board members are not being afraid to ask questions, and voting for what they believe is right. During my term, I've demonstrated my personal commitment to asking questions that can provide this community with answers."

IN THAT LIGHT, HOW GOOD/BAD OF A JOB IS THE CURRENT BOARD DOING: "If I were to evaluate the board's recent performance, it would be above average. We've accomplished an enormous amount of business that will have a direct positive impact on the education of our children. But, we have a long way to go.

"Too many issues are placed before the board and approved with little or no discussion. Clarkston's educational leadership team needs an environment that allows the board to ask questions and explore ideas through open and public discussions. As a board there are a number of actions we could initiate, such as the requirement that every trustee make a personal commitment to continued education and lifelong learning. Evidence of that leadership commitment could be earning MASB certification within the first two years on the board."

WHAT DO YOU THINK SHOULD BE DONE ABOUT ELEMENTARY SPACE REQUIREMENTS: "First, we need to resolve the issue of equity. As a member of the committee that worked on the millage proposal for Springfield Plains, I feel strongly about fulfilling the commitment made concerning equity. As a minimum, all elementary buildings need cafeterias, before building a new facility. Current enrollment already indicates we need another elementary, and therefore we'll probably be faced with equity and construction simultaneously. The new high school offers an opportunity to move beyond our immediate needs."

HOW MANY SCHOOL BOARD MEET-

INGS HAVE YOU ATTENDED IN THE PAST YEAR: "All."

Richard Crigger

Richard Crigger, 43, is a 15-year resident of the district and a newcomer to public office. He and his wife LaVon have two children, Matt and Erin.

Crigger has attended Western Michigan and Oakland universities, Mott, Oakland and Lansing community colleges and the Flint Police Academy. A lieutenant in the Waterford Police Department, he has 20 years of experience in police work.

Crigger feels his relevant experience includes his work with municipal budgets, hiring, training, union negotiations and personnel and citizen issues. He has also been active in the schools as a Cub Scout leader, chaperone for school trips, and citizen advisor for hiring new teachers.

On why he's running, Crigger said, "My previous experiences with the Clarkston School District have led me to want to become more involved with the education of all the students of the district."

TOP THREE CONCERNS FOR THE DISTRICT: "Upgrading those facilities that are substandard, and the addition of new facilities; the safety of the students and staff as violence increases (example: gang activity); the ability to hire and retain the best qualified personnel."

DESCRIBE WHAT YOU SEE AS A TRUSTEE'S JOB: "The trustees set the mission for the district. They plan for the future. They then oversee and assist the administration in implementing these plans."

IN THAT LIGHT, HOW GOOD/BAD OF A JOB IS THE CURRENT BOARD DOING: "The board is doing a good job that can be improved upon. With my experiences in the construction industry, 20 years as a police officer and many years in dealing with personnel, budgets, contracts and citizens, I feel I would be an asset to the citizens of this district."

WHAT DO YOU THINK SHOULD BE DONE ABOUT ELEMENTARY SPACE REQUIREMENTS: "With the rapid growth in our area we have no choice but to add to the facilities. There are over 71 subdivisions under construction now, with over 3,700 lots. Our current facilities cannot handle this type of growth. When we add to these facilities it must be done with extreme care so we do not overbuild, yet have the proper facilities for our students."

HOW MANY SCHOOL BOARD MEETINGS HAVE YOU ATTENDED IN THE PAST YEAR: "I have not kept an accounting of these meetings, but there have been enough to know I can be of assistance to the problems we all now face."

Karen Foyteck

Karen Foyteck, 54, is a 26-year resident of the school district. From 1989 to 1993 she was a member of the board of education and served as vice president and secretary.

A former teacher, she is now self-employed in the field of office support and consultancy. She and her husband have three children.

Foyteck was co-chair of the most recent school facilities committee. She has also been a member of the United Way Grant Award Committee for Clarkston. Other school-related activities include board liaison to update and revise the policy book and liaison to the intermediate school district's special education committee. She is a certified board member and recipient of the Michigan Association of School Boards Award of Merit.

She received a BA from Wayne State University and did graduate work at Oakland University.

"I am running because of my continued interest in and concern for education in our district, and because I believe that my background in education and business, as well as my concern for all of our students, will allow me to serve as an effective trustee."

TOP THREE CONCERNS FOR THE DISTRICT: "Offering an education that challenges students and prepares them for their futures by continued evaluation of curriculum to establish the effectiveness of programs, and the implementation of curriculum that best prepares students by seeking out and participating in partnerships and consortiums that provide challenges and enrichment for our students."

"Using financial resources responsibly by planning and developing budgets reflecting careful consideration of spending priorities and their effects on current and future budgets."

"Providing the necessary facility space that will allow us to appropriately deliver the curriculum."

DESCRIBE WHAT YOU SEE AS A TRUSTEE'S JOB: "A school board trustee works to effectively represent all the students and community."

"A trustee represents our community in educational matters, and should not have a special interest in any particular group, or seek to advance the cause of a particular interest. Effective trustees attend in-service conferences and training sessions to educate themselves on educational issues so that he/she can effectively carry out the responsibilities of trustee."

IN THAT LIGHT, HOW GOOD/BAD OF A JOB IS THE CURRENT BOARD DOING: "Our current board is searching to appoint a new superintendent and address our growing student population as it relates to the facility issues. The superintendent search is progressing on schedule, and it is expected that a new superintendent will be hired shortly."

"The board addressed budget planning for the 1996-97 school year late in the spring. Ideally, the board should have itemized budget priorities in January so that the financial office could prepare a preliminary budget following the board's priorities."

"Evaluation of the effectiveness of curriculum has not received adequate attention from the board this year. Hopefully, the appointment of a superintendent and the resolution of space problems will allow the board to address curriculum and the effectiveness of our offerings. After all, what happens in our classrooms is the most important issue."

"Unfortunately, not all of our current board members have in-serviced themselves in order to best understand their responsibilities and operate effectively representing their community."

"Communication with our community continues to be inadequate and efforts need to be made to publish agendas and meeting minutes so that our residents are aware of the issues before the board. Additional communication efforts with our graduates need to be re-established so that we have the benefit of their evaluation of the effectiveness of their time spent in Clarkston Schools in relation to their preparedness to successfully achieve their post high-school plans."

WHAT DO YOU THINK SHOULD BE DONE ABOUT ELEMENTARY SPACE REQUIREMENTS: "I believe that the recommendations from the '95-96 facilities committee addressed our facility needs with a comprehensive and complete plan. Additions to our five older elementary buildings, and adding a fourth wing to Springfield Plains, which was built with the core facilities to service additional students, would address our space needs."

How does it feel to drive drunk? Kids find out

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Some Clarkston High School students got to go for a ride with a drunk driver June 3—all in the name of education.

The students took part in a simulation involving a Dodge Neon with a computer on board that could rig the car to behave as if the student was driving drunk. Brought to the school by Chrysler Corp. and local dealer Chuck Fortinberry, it's one of only three such cars in the U.S.

Fortinberry said the computer works by withholding gas or brake fluid briefly so the pedals don't work as quickly as they would normally. Power steering fluid is also withheld, causing difficulty in steering. A trained instructor is in the car with a driver and two passengers at all times.

The idea is to show students how their reaction times would be slowed by driving beyond the legal blood-alcohol limit. As students drove around a course marked with bright orange pylons on the CHS parking lot, it was easy to see the difference.

Each driver got to make one lap of the course before the computer kicked in. On the second round, most knocked down at least one pylon. One blew right by the passenger which popped up near the road. Several left their lanes altogether.

"It's weird," said senior Stephanie Rush, 17 and the first to drive the car. "It was really creepy. I took out a lot of those cones."

Sophomore Rachel Dom really had a bad trip, going completely out of her lane for long stretches of time.

Stephanie Rush exits the Neon after her simulated drunk-driving ride.

"I can't drive and drunk driving isn't helping it," she admitted. "I've never been drunk either."

While they were waiting for a turn to get into the Neon, students also got to view a couple of other sobering sights. One was a display of photos of people who have been killed or injured by drunk drivers, sponsored by Oakland County MADD. Another was a crumpled-up car that was wrecked in a four-car drunk driving accident in Waterford. The driver of the car and one other person were killed.

Oakland County Sheriff's Deputy Dave Hernandez said the driver died instantly—so fast he didn't bleed. The car, with its top pulled back according style, its engine and windshield smashed and its steering wheel pushed far back in the driver's seat, showed even more graphically than the photos the real price of drinking and driving. Standing there, you couldn't help but imagine the effect of that steering wheel on your body.

Fortinberry said the Neon simulator is in great demand. It was scheduled to spend a second day at CHS before moving on to Holly and Brandon high schools, all in time for the graduation season. It will visit 120 schools this year and has appeared on many TV shows, including "48 Hours" and "Good Morning America."

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

SELL TO CHILDREN & STAY

YOU CAN SELL to your kids take the over $5, $125,000 exclusion and stay in the house.

27 S. Main, Clarkston
625-9300

QUESTION: I am over 55. Can I sell my home to my children and still take advantage of the $125,000 profit exclusion and remain in the home?

ANSWER: There is nothing in the law that says you have to move into a new residence after selling your home—even if you take the $125,000 over age 55 exclusion of profit. Of course the home must be your primary residence and you must have lived there 3 out of the last 5 years.

The children could charge you a fair market rent. The rent payments could be returned to you as mortgage payments. This way, your children could take depreciation and other maintenance and rental deductions.

"Equity among our elementary schools was referred as 'Phase III' in the last two bond issues. I believe that we should follow through with our commitment to our community to update these buildings and make the most effective use possible of our available space. I agree with the committee recommendation that the board use all available space in the most flexible and effective manner possible.

Additionally, a short-term solution which changes the housing of grade configurations may have to be implemented. In the near future it is anticipated that school boundary lines are going to have to be reconfigured."

HOW MANY SCHOOL BOARD MEETINGS HAVE YOU ATTENDED IN THE PAST YEAR: "I have attended all of the meetings during the past year, and have routinely attended for the past seven years."

Mary Ellen McLean

Mary Ellen McLean, 40, is an eight-year resident of the community. She has two children. This is her first try at public office.

A former teacher, she received a dual BS from Ferris State University in distributive education with vocational certification and community education administration. She received a master's degree in educational administration from Eastern Michigan University.

A certified insurance counselor, McLean works as a claims consultant for Aetna Casualty and Surety managing investigation and negotiation for large commercial claims involving serious bodily injury or construction defects.

She has been active in the schools as a coach for Odyssey of the Mind and considers herself an advocate for children. She feels her job, which requires skills in investigating, negotiating and problem solving, is relevant to the position she seeks.

She's running, she said, "To encourage a more efficient process in how we make decisions. Planning our future facing the growth, equity issues and safety concerns needs individuals prepared to make decisions—for today and tomorrow. I want our children to have the best possible educational experience. As a parent volunteer, coach and advocate for our children, I've worked toward making things better. I believe my participation with the board of education will provide the greatest impact on my continued commitment in working toward a healthier and stronger future for our community."

TOP THREE CONCERNS FOR THE DISTRICT: "As corporations choose the I-75 area to build, their employees will choose Clarkston as their ideal community. On a fast track, we're faced with many issues that come as a result of that growth. Most immediate concern is as basic as our ability to provide adequate facilities in buildings, resources and support of our teachers as numbers rise. Unfortunately, our children are faced with more social challenges with an increase in drugs, alcohol and violence. Our new high school will be in construction which brings decisions on budgets, compliance of contracts and decisions on our final product."

DESCRIBE WHAT YOU SEE AS A TRUSTEE'S JOB: "To represent the community and all children in protecting the quality of our schools. This can be accomplished by devoting time, energy and the willingness to rely on facts when making decisions.

"The board is made up of seven individuals. It's important to work as a team, showing respect for differing opinions and ideas while honoring the democratic process. You need to stay connected with the schools, attending school functions, working with students and maintaining open lines of communication for all. If you merely attend the meetings and don't get involved within the individual buildings, you can't know what our children and staff are faced with on a daily basis."

IN THAT LIGHT, HOW GOOD/BAD OF A JOB IS THE CURRENT BOARD DOING: "I'm not convinced that current board members are active in the individual buildings. There are those that have children attending the schools now, and I would hope they are involved in their home school. But I would prefer to see a representative from the board at the opening parent meetings and other activities.

"I realize the time commitment they currently endure, and don't expect attendance at every function. However, if they made an effort to cover an occasional PTA meeting, kindergarten introduction or other well-attended local school functions, it would place them closer to the community.

"To work effectively as a team, you should have a common goal or objective. The effort seems to be there, I'm not sure they have mastered the idea. I would support a non-voting student representative on the board to keep in better touch with the student population."

WHAT DO YOU THINK SHOULD BE DONE ABOUT ELEMENTARY SPACE REQUIREMENTS? "On a temporary basis, portable classrooms will have to be used. However, we cannot rely on this as a long-term solution. Adding on to space at Andersonville will assist, if effective redistricting follows. Updated StanFred calculations, combined with outside information from townships and I-75 development, clearly show that our growth is not temporary. The community will need an additional elementary school to service our needs. Unfortunately, this will not provide relief until 1998. We need to make plans quickly to avoid compromising our quality of delivery."

HOW MANY SCHOOL BOARD MEETINGS HAVE YOU ATTENDED IN THE PAST YEAR? "Due to my commitments with Odyssey of the Mind and SAGE, I was unable to attend as many as I wished. Since August of 1995, I have attended seven to nine meetings."

Robert Wyatt

Robert Wyatt, 45, is a 19-year resident of the school district. He and his wife have two children. This is his first try at elective office.

What ever happened to the kindly family doctor who took time to answer questions and had a great bedside manner?

Meet Dr. Teri Shermetaro. She brings years of practical and teaching experience as both a family practitioner and as a clinical professor at Michigan State University. But her best family experience might be as a wife and mom who knows how important a lollipop and an understanding ear can be.

She'd like to be your new family doctor, right here in Clarkston. If you'd like to meet her, bring in this card for a free blood pressure check and a free 64-page Emergency First-Aid Handbook. Bring the kids, too! Just call (810) 620-0953.

Wyatt has a BS in civil engineering from the University of Michigan and graduate credits toward a master's of management from Oakland University. He is a licensed professional engineer and a facilities manager for General Motors.

Wyatt has co-chaired two school building review committees and is a past president of the Band Boosters. He cites 22 years of experience in facilities management and supervision, including working with unions and being responsible for employee training, as relevant experience.

"As a parent and volunteer, I have been exposed to several areas that need to be strengthened," he said as to why he's running. "The elementary school equity issue is worse than it was in 1988, when I co-chaired a school building review committee. The middle-school equity issue will be changed when the current high school becomes a middle school but not eliminated.

"We need to do a better job of matching our curriculum to the academic needs and capabilities of our students. The present process fails to properly challenge many students. We need to move away from mainstreaming experiments that mix our students together without regard to capability. We have abandoned true honors or Advanced Placement classes in subjects such as mathematics and physics classes in our high school forcing teachers to deal with an excessive range of student capability where either the slow learners are left behind or the fast learners are bored with a class that moves too slow for their capabilities. Recent changes mixed Advance Placement science students in physics with other physics students without a plan to measure the effectiveness of this move.

TOP THREE CONCERNS FOR THE DISTRICT: "Overcrowding at all school levels is our top concern. Facility limitations at the five older elementaries restrict our ability to implement the full curriculum. Our solutions to overcrowding must address building inequity issues. The shifting of Clarkston Middle School to the current high school will change, not eliminate middle-school equity issues...

"We need to clearly communicate our school district's needs to the community.

"We are failing to properly challenge many of our students. We need to establish standards of excellence for classroom learning and a supportive environment for dealing with those who would disrupt our classrooms. There has to be more grouping by student learning rate to aid teachers in covering material at a pace that is less likely to bore some students while leaving others behind.

"Each hour of each day of the K-12 experience must be focused on preparing our students for post-graduation employment in a globally competitive economy."

DESCRIBE WHAT YOU SEE AS A TRUSTEE'S JOB: "The board as a group expresses the community's standards for education in the district. The board needs to be consistent, clear and broad in nature so that the superintendent has a clear indication of the community's expectations and support as he establishes operating policy that will guide building administrators and staff in achieving the standards set by the board. The trustee needs to be visible and available to students, teachers, administrators and parents. The trustee needs to articulate a vision for education that can be embraced by the majority of the community."

IN THAT LIGHT, HOW GOOD/BAD OF A JOB IS THE CURRENT BOARD DOING: "In recent years our board has worked together with the community, the administration and the staff to secure approval for construction of an elementary school and the new high school. We need to provide a more challenging learning environment for every student, bearing in mind that our future graduates will compete globally for employment and career opportunities. We need to treat the entire K-12 student career as one continuous learning experience. At the end of this experience our students must be as prepared as we can make them so they have the best possible chance of success at college or whatever they choose to pursue after graduation."

WHAT DO YOU THINK SHOULD BE DONE ABOUT ELEMENTARY SPACE REQUIREMENTS? "We need to provide whatever space is necessary to allow full delivery of our curriculum to every elementary student. We need to not only maintain appropriate class sizes but also address the core facility shortcomings of our five older buildings. We need to look at the usage of the old CMS building as a temporary solution to alleviate overcrowding at the elementary level, possibly as a magnet school for fifth-graders. Something similar has been done in other districts to temporarily alleviate overcrowding."

HOW MANY SCHOOL BOARD MEETINGS HAVE YOU ATTENDED IN THE PAST YEAR: "For years I was a regular attendee. More recently I have been active as a parent volunteer through the band boosters. For the past two school years I have been president and immediate past president of the boosters, which meets weekly on Monday nights (board meeting nights) during the marching season and monthly from January to June. I also served a second time as a facilities co-chair for the district, which was instrumental in laying the groundwork for the need for a new high school, and attended board meetings as necessary."

Retiree Cynthia Hartwell (right) and Mary Tippen look over the cakes bearing each retiree's name and the total years of experience. Hartwell has been teaching since 1971 and came to Clarkston in 1973.

For a story on school superintendent Gary Haner's retirement, see page 23A.

School employees celebrate endings, new beginnings

The two large cakes on a table at Deer Lake Racquet Club toted up an impressive total.

Along with a list of names, the cakes showed that the employees retiring this year from Clarkston schools had between them 362 years of collective service to schools. That's a lot of experience.

The retirees gathered last week at the club to celebrate their collective retirement along with coworkers and loved ones. It's an annual event that, due to early retirement incentives, has drawn good numbers the last few years.

The retirees were treated to performances by Clarkston High School band and choir students during the evening as they shared dinner and memories.

Obituaries

Glenn Eastman

Glenn Leroy Eastman, 74, of Pontiac, formerly of Gladwin and Clarkston, died May 30, 1996.

Mr. Eastman retired from General Motors. He was a World War II veteran and a member of Heart of the Lakes VFW #1008.

He was preceded in death by his wife Betty.

He is survived by four children, Charles (Joann), Edward, Cheryl (Dwight) Adams and Lee (Irene); five grandchildren; and two sisters, Mildred Hall of Davison and Ilene Gaston of Georgia.

Funeral services were held June 1 at the Lewis E. Wint & Son Trust 100 Funeral Home in Clarkston. Interment was at Lakeview Cemetery.

Constance Hicks

Constance M. Hicks, 77, of Clarkston, died June 3, 1996.

Mrs. Hicks enjoyed reading, swimming and bowling.

She was preceded in death by her husband Harold.

She is survived by two sons, Jon (Judy) of California and Darryl (Evelyn) of Tennessee; and four grandchildren.

A funeral service will be held June 6 (tomorrow) at the Lewis E. Wint & Son Trust 100 Funeral Home in Clarkston with the Rev. Richard C. Nelson officiating. Interment will be at Ottawa Park Cemetery.

Visitation is at the funeral home tonight from 3 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m.

Dorothy McLaughlin

Dorothy M. McLaughlin, 90, of Clarkston, died May 30, 1996.

Mrs. McLaughlin retired from Motion Industries (formerly Michigan Bearing Co.) and was a member of Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church in Waterford. She was president of the League of Catholic Women from 1952 to 1954 and recently volunteered at Waterford Senior Center. She also volunteered at St. James Roman Catholic Church, Ferndale; St. Bede's Catholic Church, Southfield; Providence Hospital; Our Lady of the Lakes; and was volunteer chaplain at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

She was preceded in death by her husband Frank. She is survived by four children, James (Anne) of Nashville, MI, Carol (Ronald) Checkowsky of Clarkston, William (Patricia) of Auburn Hills and Leelanau County, and Thomas of Florida; 15 grandchildren; 20 great-grandchildren; and two brothers, Joseph (Valerie) Welter and John (Gerry) Welter, both of Bay City.

Mass of the Resurrection was held June 3 at Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church with the Rev. David Lesniak officiating. Interment was at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

A rosary service was held June 2 at the Lewis E. Wint & Son Trust 100 Funeral Home in Clarkston.

Memorials may be made to Harland Hospice or the Capuchins.

Nancy Roberts

Nancy Ann Roberts, 52, of Clarkston, died May 28, 1996.

She is survived by her husband Paul J. Roberts; two sons, Ryan (Shannon) Roberts and Rodney A. Roberts, both of Clarkston; a brother, William (Sherry) Gibson of Arizona; two sisters, Betty Tubbs of Keego Harbor and Carol (Charles) Hennimann of Waterford; a granddaughter, Amanda Lynn Roberts; and several nieces and nephews.

A funeral service was held May 31 at Coats Funeral Home in Waterford. Interment followed at Ottawa Park Cemetery.

Memorials may be made to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital's Oncology Department. Envelopes are available at the funeral home.

Georgia Woolston

Georgia King (Robinson) Woolston, 54, of Knox County, TN, formerly of Lima, OH and Robertson Ct. in Clarkston died June 1, 1996 of cancer.

Mrs. Woolston was born in Clarkston. She was a 1960 graduate of Clarkston High School and attended both Central Michigan University and Ohio State University. During her 20-year career as a certified occupational therapy assistant she worked at both Lima Memorial Hospital and, most recently, at East Tennessee Baptist Hospital. Three scholarships were created in her name for her dedication to the occupational therapy profession.

Mrs. Woolston was a member of Clarkston Methodist Church where she married Graham R. Woolston in 1960. While living in Lima, she was elected the youngest elder of Market Street Presbyterian Church. Although she moved many times throughout her life with her husband and children, she always considered Clarkston her home and kept close ties with her former neighbors and CHS classmates.

Mrs. Woolston enjoyed entertaining, cooking, gardening, movies and good books. Family, friends and co-workers say she was a loving wife, mother, sister, daughter and friend who gave of herself generously in both her professional and private life. She will be remembered for her sense of humor and enthusiastic, optimistic spirit.

Mrs. Woolston was preceded in death by her mother, Phyllis King Robinson, and a sister, Kay Phyllis Robinson. She is survived by her husband, Graham R. Woolston; a son, Thomas G. (Tina) Woolston of Arlington, VA; two daughters, Dianna Kay Patterson of Calabasas, CA and Georgia Kay Woolston of Atlanta, GA; a grandson, Brandon Patterson; her father, Charles W. Robinson of Venice, FL, formerly of Clarkston; a brother, Charles K. (Betty Jo Anderson) Robinson of Clarkston; a sister, Tudi (Jack) Harwood of Grosse Pointe Farms; several nieces and nephews and many friends.

Memorial services will be held June 10 at 11 a.m. at Calvary Lutheran Church and Lakeview Cemetery in Knox County, TN. Memorials may be made to the Georgia King Woolston Scholarship Fund, East Tennessee Baptist Hospital Foundation, 137 Blount Ave., Knoxville, TN, 37920 (designate scholarship: GKW Fund for Occupational Therapy Students or GKW Professional Award). Memorials may also be made to Roane State Community College, Knoxville, TN, 37920 and to Lima Memorial Hospital foundation, 1001 Bellefontaine Ave., Lima, Oh, 45804.

ported that creativity."

Board president Bill Craig reminded the parents that stalling the move last year was purely temporary because of the continued growth the district is experiencing.

"We said last year we could only guarantee one year, we knew we'd be back here this year," he said. "We're limited in what we can do with redistricting because we don't have the buildings..."

"The impact on the kids is going to be similar if it's done now or two years from now."

Bomier said he voted against the move because he's seen the effect repeated moving has had on his own children.

"I absolutely disagree with the opinion that kids are resilient," he said. "I don't think we've been as creative as we could have been. I do not understand our reluctance to put portables at a school like Springfield Plains that has infrastructure far beyond our other buildings..."

"I will not put full responsibility on the community. I think the community has supported us... It's an administrative decision, not one that's for the kids."

Shanks disagreed. "The perception that we are trying to hold harmless one building is incorrect," he said. "My opinion is that your view of what this board is doing is incorrect."

Four 15-year-old boys were rousted after someone saw them enter Clarkston High School through a window so they could play basketball around 9 p.m. The boys said it wasn't the first time they had done so.

SUNDAY, JUNE 2, a resident of a house neighboring Clarkston High School reported threats and trespassing by juveniles cutting across her yard on bicycles and damaging her fence.

Deputies were called to the high school around 3 a.m. on a complaint of loud people in the parking lot. They found some young people camped out with sleeping bags on the football field, and two men, age 18, on the roof. The two admitted they had opened a window at the school but there was no damage done.

A patrol car hit a bicycle in the road during an altercation, bending a rim.

Haner ready for next career

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Despite earlier hints that he might be interested in going into politics, retiring Clarkston school superintendent Gary Haner said that's not in the cards—at least not yet.

"That's a possibility, not a plan," he said with 20 days left to go on the job. He noted that due to term limits now in force in Michigan, the state House seat now held by Tom Middleton will become vacant in two years. He might be interested then.

But in the meantime, Haner and his wife Sue plan to go into the real estate business together, even though Sue plans to continue to teach for a few more years in the Huron Valley School District. The Haners have already taken the state real estate licensing exam.

"I looked at a lot of opportunities that were school related," Gary Haner said. "While I love the career tremendously, I was ready to get out of the public eye. I'm really kind of weary of the fish bowl."

After announcing his retirement, Haner said he was approached by Curt Carson, owner-broker of ReMax Today in Clarkston, whom he had known for eight years and served with in the Optimist Club.

"When I made the announcement back in January, Curt gave me congratulations and made the offer," Haner said. Though he hadn't previously considered real estate, the offer appealed to him.

"It permits us to stay here in the community, where we enjoy it very much," he said. "And it gives an opportunity for a small amount of consulting (though) I don't have anything committed right now."

Haner said he plans to plunge full-time into the new career immediately after finishing out his contract on June 30, since summer is the biggest time in his new business. A vacation will be postponed until the fall hunting season.

Haner graduated from Central Michigan University in 1967, doing his student teaching at the former South Sashabaw Elementary School. He and his wife Sue were both hired by the district and he went on to teach sixth-grade at Pine Knob for five years.

The Haners left Clarkston in 1971. Armed with an MA from Michigan State, he went on to become an elementary principal in Howell and Waterford before being named assistant superintendent in Gaylord in 1976. He became a superintendent in 1978 and returned to Clarkston in that capacity in 1988.

"I would not want to have been retiring in bad times, and right now things have never been better," he said.

Sue and Gary Haner (center) pose at the recent school retirement dinner at Deer Lake with their children, Connie and Brian Lyke (left) and Bret and Jami Haner (right).

Asked what he's proudest of, Haner named his central office staff first. Even if an out-of-stater is hired to replace him, Haner feels the staff will be able to smooth the transition.

"That whole personnel piece is the thing I'm most pleased about, at all levels, but especially in central office," he said.

Next up are curriculum and instruction—"the application of teaching and what we've done relative to training and in-servicing, to bring teachers along," he said. He credited assistant superintendent Dave Reschke and his curriculum council for the progress.

"We spend 10 times as much money on texts (and related materials) as when I came," he said.

Economy measures to bring the district into good financial shape are also high on Haner's list of items he's proud of.

"The budget condition of the district is a combination of Proposal A and what we've done internally," he said, mentioning privatization of maintenance and transportation departments, universal planning time and rebidding of insurance contracts. "We were improving before Proposal A," he added. The district saved one-quarter million dollars by switching health-insurance carriers, "and it was peaceful," he said. "Private partners saved $1 million without affecting one bit of employee wages, benefits or security." He credits the collaborative bargaining process with making the transition as smooth as it was.

He's also proud that the community gave the OK to build a new elementary school and high school. And he said he's not sad to turn the construction of the high school over to his successor.

"The accomplishment is getting the funding," he said. "Building it is the fun part... I feel tremendous about leaving at this time."

During his tenure as superintendent, Haner was active in community affairs, serving as president of the Chamber of Commerce and being part of the Downtown Development Authority board and Optimist Club. Recently he was named Citizen of the Year during Michigan Week celebrations organized by the Chamber.

"You don't live in Clarkston and not enjoy those things," he said.

Though Haner will be leaving the education game, he had a few thoughts about the challenges that remain for those who come after him. Funding is, of course, one of them.

"While the short term of Proposal A has been beneficial to us as a growing school district, school funding is still an issue. Because our moneys are, more than ever, based on the state's economy. And when the economy takes a downturn, which is inevitable, some school districts will be hurting, probably including this one."

The other problem that bothers him is the "negative attitude and lack of support" for education. "It comes right out of Lansing," he acknowledged.

"Included in that piece is what happens with charter schools. I'm not opposed to charter schools; I think there's a place for charter schools, but not to the extent Clark Durant and John Engler have tried to promote them."

"My concern is public schools will become the schools of the poor."

Haner said he thinks the attitude shift is at least partly cyclical, but that educators have to be more open to change, and self-improvement.

"Educators have got to be more open to the criticism that's offered," he said. "There are good reasons why we're being attacked. But the answer is not to destroy us. It's to improve us."

OAA goes down to the wire with Brandon

Softball team plays hard but can't get second winBY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

For future reference, Clarkston softball coach Al Land will remember that his team gave the mighty Brandon Blackhawks their second loss of the season.

Land and his hard-working crew will put behind them the two times Brandon beat them out of three games last week. He'll remind his players that they should be pleased at what they accomplished this season, and excited about the future.

After the Wolves lost a heartbreaking 1-0 pre-district game to Milford May 28, all that remained were three games with the Blackhawks. Heading into last week, CHS was second in the Oakland Activities Association Division I with an 11-1 record, while Brandon was 12-0. The Wolves needed to win two games to at least tie the defending champions for the title.

It didn't work out quite as planned, but Clarkston won the first game of a May 30 doubleheader 3-1, then lost the second 2-1. Both games were as well played as the sport can be.

In the May 31 finale, the Wolves suffered too many errors and lost 10-1, ending the season at 25-10 overall and 12-3 in the OAA. Brandon finished 33-2 overall and 14-1 in the OAA.

Seniors Crystal Lemke, Amanda Jenkinson and Nicki Hard all said they're disappointed districts ended so soon, but are also proud of what they accomplished, especially with the season-ending injury to All-State teammate Stephanie Giroux.

"It was sad because it was our last game," said Jenkinson, who is headed to Oakland Community College on a softball scholarship. "But together I think we all triumphed over our own personal battles."

After Sue Naboychik made a diving game-winning catch for Clarkston in the first game of a May 30 doubleheader against Brandon, teammate Crystal Lemke (facing) gives her a big hug.

Lemke, who will play at Wayne State University next season on a partial scholarship, and Hard both agree that what made this team successful was its determination and hard-working attitude.

After the first-game win of the doubleheader, the Wolves believed even more they could play with the champions. But with both teams making stellar defensive plays and receiving some solid pitching, each game was a tight battle.

Earlier in CHS' first-game doubleheader win over Brandon, Naboychik couldn't quite get to this ball from her leftfield position.

CHS started off the first inning with two outs, but then scored three times.

With two outs, Lemke, who fielded everything from her shortstop position in both games, beat out a grounder and senior catcher Amanda Jenkinson got a hit up the middle.

Senior Mary Brewer, who hit .317 on the year, then stepped up to the plate and nailed a shot that hit the 200-foot left-field fence, scoring Lemke and Jenkinson.

With Brewer on second, junior Sue Naboychik ripped another shot between the rightfielder and centerfielder.

Those three runs would be all the Wolves needed, thanks to the strong pitching of sophomore Rachel Fuller, who scattered six hits and fielded numerous

Burklow 'outstanding' with three medals at finals
3200 relay team is Academic All-StateBY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Senior Stefanie Burklow gave an "ironman" performance at the Class A girls track finals by medaling in three events, something no other distance runner can claim.

Burklow set a school record in the 1600 run with a 5th-place finish of 5:10, took 6th in the 800 run in 2:19.7 and led the 3200 relay team (with sophomore Liz Cook, junior Kristin Maine and senior Lisa Herron) to a 6th-place finish with a season-best time of 9:37.6.

"She did an outstanding job considering all the events we asked her to do," said coach Gordie Richardson. "I know running in three events probably kept her from making all-state, but that's the kind of kid she is."

Burklow started off the meet by anchoring the 3200 relay team with a blazing 2:14 split time. Next, she ran the 1600 in record time, then followed that up an hour-and-a-half later with a strong 800.

"You have to remember she's going against girls who are fresh," said Richardson. "And in the 800 she was going against kids who hadn't run all day."

Burklow, heading to the University of North Carolina-Charlotte, finished eighth in the 800 in last year's finals.

While Cook (2:25), Maine (2:31) and Herron (2:25) all had personal-best splits in the 3200 relay, it was Burklow's anchor that brought the team from eighth to sixth place. The team's time was only 5/10ths of a second from fourth place.

In addition to the teams' medals, all four runners were also honored as All-State Academic, given to top eight finishers with grade-point-averages 3.5 or higher. Burklow has a 3.9 GPA, Herron a 4.0, Cook a 3.9 and Maine a 3.5.

Last year's 3200 relay team (Burklow, Herron, Jennifer Bauer and Leah Scharl) finished second in the state with a time of 9:34.6.

Burklow's next stop will be the Midwest Meet of Champions June 8 at Indiana University-Purdue, where she was invited to race in the 1600 run as one of Michigan's top track seniors.

Junior Kammy Rowell, a state qualifier in the discus, didn't place but had a top throw of 110 feet.

"I thought this was a real successful state meet for us," said Richardson. "And I hope some of the kids that came and watched can get a feel for what it's like."

CHS dominates, then stumbles

Districts were supposed to be a storybook ending for the Clarkston baseball team.

But their season ended in a way that resembled the way they played most of the time. Too many errors and not enough hits.

The Wolves opened district play May 28 with an inspired 13-7 win over Milford, displaying a hitting prowess not often seen during the team's 8-14 season. The win moved them to a June 1 district semi-final contest against Waterford Mott.

Clarkston started off the game strong, but some costly errors led to the team's 7-2 loss. In addition to the miscues, Eastern Michigan University-bound senior Jeff Mull struggled on the mound and the Wolves' frustrations got the best of them.

But besides errors, Clarkston once again struggled at the plate, getting only five hits and scoring its two runs in the final inning. On the season, the Wolves averaged only 6.8 hits per game.

With Mull striking out three batters in the first two innings and CHS batters hitting the ball hard, the game remained scoreless going into the third inning.

But in the third, Mull hit two batters and gave up a base hit to load the bases. After Mull struck out another batter, a pitch in the dirt got away from catcher Jeff Bemis and gave Mott its first score. The Wolves got out of the inning when Mull struck out two of the next three batters.

In the fourth, Mott loaded the bases again after a fielding error, another hit batter and a base hit. Mott's Kevin Barkholz, who was also the winning pitcher, then cranked a double to right field that scored two runs.

It didn't end there for CHS. After a Mull walk and strikeout, Mott hit a triple that scored three more runs, making the score 6-0.

CHS senior Scott Hill came in to pitch in the fifth. Mott scored one more run in the fifth on a throwing error from Hill to first base.

The Wolves found a way to score in the final inning with players who didn't see much time during the season. Junior Chad Bailey started off the seventh with a grounder that was bobbled. He then advanced to second on a passed ball.

After a ground out, Bailey then moved to third and scored one strikeout later when junior Mark Endreszl hustled to beat out a grounder that was hit to third base.

Freshman Spencer Hynes, who had played in only three varsity games this season, hit a shot to center, moving Endreszl to third base. Bemis then drove Endreszl home with a base hit to centerfield. A pop fly to center ended the game.

Senior Nate Manuel, who played solid at second base, led the Wolves on offense with a lead-off double and was hit by a pitch.

Mull pitched four innings, had nine strikeouts, walked four, hit three batters and gave up six hits. He ended his senior season with a 4-4 record in 45 innings of work with 68 strikeouts and a 2.0 ERA.

Gregory Hetrich, the son of Clarkston High School graduate Jane Hetrich (Jackson), took sixth in the 110 high hurdles at the Class C state track championships last weekend in a time of 15.05. Gregory is a junior at Bellevue High School.

His grandparents are life-long Clarkston residents William and Sally Jackson.

● Former Clarkston resident Victoria Jackson repeated as the Illinois state champion in the 1600 meter run May 17 as an eighth-grader. Additionally, Victoria took fifth in the 800 meter run.

Victoria attends Lake Bluff Middle School and won the same event last year as a seventh-grader. She is the daughter of former Clarkston schools business manager William Jackson and his wife Amy.

Amy Jackson credits Clarkston coach Gordie Richardson with getting Victoria started as a runner. "When Victoria was a kindergarten student at Clarkston Elementary School, Gordie Richardson told her he thought she would become a runner, and she's never forgotten his prediction."

Tennis finals is a gauge as to where Aulgur, team fit in

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Now that one goal is accomplished, Mike Aulgur can set a higher one next season.

But for 1996, Aulgur's season ended at the Class A tennis finals when he lost his first round match to Grosse Pointe North's Ryan Oloski, 6-1, 6-2.

"He was real down and disappointed afterwards," said CHS tennis coach Kevin Ortwine, "but I told him that he accomplished his main goal this season, and that was to get there. Anything on top of that would have just been a bonus."

"Now next year he can set higher goals for himself because now he's been there once."

While the score looked lopsided, Ortwine said his junior #1 singles player worked hard, but he just wasn't in top form.

"He was tight to start and then, after getting down early, he struggled to come back," said the coach. "But most of the games went to deuce and he fought hard."

Ortwine said he's positive Aulgur will use the experience as a motivator for next season, by working hard in the summer to get better.

"Really, the seeded players are outstanding but I think the difference is that those kids are consistent and can hit shots to stay in the match until their opponent makes a mistake."

Aulgur finished his junior season at 15-10 overall.

The Class A #1 singles champion was Ann Arbor Huron's Mike Kosta, the #4 seeded player. Last year, Aulgur played Kosta, then at Ann Arbor Greenhills, in a match and lost 6-2, 6-1.

Clarkston Invitational Jr. Golf Tournament

With a goal of keeping younger boys and girls involved in golf, the First Annual Clarkston Invitational Junior Golf Tournament will be held June 28 at Spring Lake Country Club.

Organized by long-time CHS varsity golf coach Jim Chamberlain and JV coach Tim Kaul, the tournament is open to boys or girls aged 12-17 who live in the Clarkston School District (even if you attend a another school).

The cost for boys and girls aged 16-17 is $15, while girls aged 12-15 pay $10. Applications can be picked up at Clarkston or Shashabaw middle schools, Clarkston High or the Spring Lake Pro Shop. The deadline to register and pay is June 24 at the pro shop.

Participants will get a free lunch that includes a hot dog, pop and chips.

Trophies will be presented in each of the six divisions, including: Boys 12-13, boys 14-15, boys 16-17, girls 12-13, girls 14-15 and girls 16-17.

The girls 12-13 and 14-15 divisions will play nine holes of golf. Every other division will play 18 holes.

All players must report to Spring Lake Pro Shop at 9 a.m. on June 28 to be assigned a playing group and starting time.

Spring Lake Golf Pro Al Kuhn is hosting the event.

Clarkston Wolfpack
Hockey Club

The first-ever Clarkston Wolfpack Hockey Club closed out its 1996 Midget Open Spring League at Lakeland Arena over the weekend with three wins. The team's overall record of 7-4-2 earned them a third-place finish for the season.

To stay in top hockey form, especially with Clarkston High School ready to implement hockey for next season, the Wolfpack coaching staff will hold informal conditioning at Lakeland over the coming months. All USA Hockey registered players from any team are eligible to participate in full equipment. All skating is for one hour, with costs to be determined by number of participants.

The dates and times for the ice are: June 12 and 19 at 8 p.m., June 27 at 7 p.m., July 11 at 6 p.m., and July 16 at 8 p.m.

May 31: The Clarkston Hockey Club beat the Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes club team 5-0, thanks to goalkeeper Pat Cook, a Sashabaw Middle School student. He was a stone wall in nets while the Wolfpack defense allowed only six shots.

Anthony Facione, Hank Passmore and Jay Manojlovich, all eighth graders, opened the scoring in the first period. Team captain Brett Postal and Andy Cote capped the scoring in the second period.

June 1: Ryan Peters scored two goals to lead the Clarkston club past Fenton High School, 2-1. Fenton scored one in the second stanza, but the Wolfpack tightened the blue line in the third period to clinch the Bob Wilkinson allowed only one goal in the Clarkston net to record the win.

June 2: The Wolfpack earned their third straight win in a hard-fought battle against Walled Lake Western's club, 5-4.

Walled Lake put Clarkston in a two-goal deficit early in the first period, but Adam Leech, Bill Kalush (two goals) and Facione rallied the Clarkston bench to

But with just over three minutes remaining in the game, team captain Brett Postal recovered a loose puck in front of the Lake net and buried a wrist shot in the upper corner.

Walled Lake threatened later on, but Cook turned away several scoring opportunities to bring the Wolfpack a winning season finale.

Softball

After finishing second in the Oakland Activities Association Division I the past two seasons, the Clarkston JV softball team finally came through with a first-place finish.

They were 13-1 in the OAA and 24-3 overall.

The Wolves won their final two games over Brandon on May 30, 12-1 and 9-4. In the first game, junior Beth Tuttle had two hits and three RBI, as did sophomores Amber Mitchell and Angie Thomson. Mitchell also connected on a home run.

In the second game, the Wolves collected 17 hits and were led by sophomore Nicole Buck and Mitchell with three hits each. The Wolves also performed well on defense, stopping Brandon when they had runners in scoring position.

Sam Hardenburgh, a sophomore, was the Wolves' top pitcher on the season, finishing with a 16-3 record, two shutouts, an ERA below 3.00, giving up under five hits per game and also striking out 21 percent of the batters she faced.

Allison Prudhomme, a junior, pitched nine games for the JV in preparation for the varsity and finished with a perfect 9-0 record, an ERA below 2.00 and a 36 percent strikeout ratio.

The team's defense was also strong, allowing less than three runs per game, outstanding for any JV team according to coach Karen Czarniecki.

In the 24 games the Wolves won, they averaged 11 hits and eight runs per game. In the three losses, Clarkston averaged four hits.

Freshman Corinne McIntyre captured the team batting title with 40 hits and a .548 average. Sophomore Tracy Tomkiewicz got hot at the end of the season and finished with .547 average, while Tuttle had a strong season with 35 hits and a team-high 26 RBI.

Sophomores Carmen Lund and Hope Manuel led the team in stolen bases with 15 and 14, respectively.

SKIN DEEP

by Scott Friedman, D.O.

GIVE YOURSELF THE ONCE-OVER

According to the Skin Cancer Foundation, more than half a million Americans will develop melanoma, as well as other less serious skin cancers, this year. While most Americans (95%) realize that there is a link between repeated sun exposure and skin cancer, few know what to look for. They may not be aware that, in its early stages, skin cancer may look more like a skin discoloration than a growth. Patients should also pay particular attention to any spot or growth that begins to itch, hurt, crust, scab, erode, or bleed. Birthmarks and moles should be noted for any changes in their size, color, shape or thickness. The American Cancer Society recommends monthly self-examinations in a full-length mirror, in conjunction with a hand-held mirror for hard-to-see areas. There will be at least 700,000 new cases of skin cancer this year alone, of which 10,000 will be fatal. Self-examination is important for the early detection of most every type of skin condition, especially skin cancers. Taking care of your skin includes avoidance of UV exposure, a well-balanced diet, appropriate exercise, the use of the right products for your particular skin, as well as professional treatment. With summer here, exposure to the strong sun can be particularly damaging. Call us at 6330 Sashabaw, Clarkston (625-0692); 3782 La Pierre Rd., Metamora (878-3974); or 303 Baldwin, Orion (391-9599). If you have any concerns about your skin. P.S. The best time for a skin self-examination is after a shower or bath.

Brandon bunts with precision.

In the final inning, Naboychik made the game-saving play when she made a diving catch of a short pop fly to left field. At the time Brandon had a runner on base.

Clarkston had four hits in that game.

The second game proved to be as well played as the first, but this time senior Alesha Ulasich started on the mound for CHS. Brandon started All-Stater Krista Peters for the second straight game.

The Wolves started off the second game like the first one. With two outs, Honey was safe at first on an error, setting the stage for Jenkinson's stand-up double that went over the centerfielder's head. Honey scored all the way from first base.

That would be all the scoring Clarkston would get in that game, while the Blackhawks earned their first run in that same inning.

Brandon took the lead in the third inning on a sacrifice fly to center field.

The Wolves, who managed only three hits in the game, threatened to score in the fifth and sixth innings.

In the fifth, junior Stephanie Vogler was safe on an error and sophomore centerfielder Aimee Giroux laid down a perfect bunt. But with no outs, both runners were stranded after two strike outs and a line drive that was caught.

In the sixth, Honey started off the inning with a base hit. After a force out at second, Brewer came up with another big hit, which put runners on first and second. A force out at second put CHS runners on first and third, but the next batter flied out to center, ending the inning.

Junior pitcher Allison Prudhomme came on in relief the last three innings. Ulasich, who gave up four hits in the game, ended her senior season with an 11-3 record and a 1.83 ERA.

With the teams splitting the doubleheader, the showdown came the following day at Clarkston's home field of Clintonwood Park. But, unlike the previous day, Clarkston's errors and miscues resulted in a 10-1 drubbing.

The score remained 2-1 Brandon until the Blackhawks came on in the fifth inning, scoring three runs, no thanks to one fielding error and two throwing errors.

With a 5-1 lead, the Blackhawks didn't score again until the top of the seventh. The Wolves gave up two hits and three errors in that inning, allowing Brandon to score five more runs and seal the win.

For the game, CHS collected six hits but committed eight fielding errors and three throwing errors.

Lauren Welbourn scored a goal while Megan Renda played well in goal.

In another June 2 game, the Shadows beat the Clawson Strikers 2-1 on two goals by Lauren Hosner (assist Kristen Brundage). The team received strong defensive play from Kalin Thomas, Megan Mutz and Jeanie Alec.

May 30: Clarkston won easily over PGSA Mustangs by a 5-1 score on goals by Megan Medina, Christina Roeder, Hosner and Beth Szurpicki.

Top freshmen in track and field

The boys and girls freshman track athletes performed well at the Oakland County Freshman Meet and the Freshman Invitational over the past three weeks.

The girls had five athletes who helped the squad to a second-place finish at the Freshman Invitational, held at Pontiac Northern.

Michelle Wilson took first in the low and high hurdles and was second in the high jump. Michelle Erickson was first in the long jump, fifth in the 200 dash and was in the top five in the 100 dash. Lauren Leigh was fifth in the discus and the 3200 run.

In addition, Krissy Robinson took third in the 800 run, Jennifer Rooding was sixth in the long jump and third in the 400 dash, and the 1600 relay team also placed in the top five.

The boys were just as successful. Top placers for them were the discus crew of Steve Bradford, Ron Tolbert and Clinton Powell, all placing in the top five. Steve Himburg, 4th the 3200 run; Nick Holland, fifth in the 200 dash; Eric Klemm, fifth in the high hurdles and sixth in the low hurdles; and Powell, fourth in the 400 dash.

The 1600 relay team of Bradford, Mitchell Grusnick, Powell and Matt Baker took fourth and the 3200 relay team of Himburg, Mark Gohl, Bobby Curtis and Grusnick was fifth.

At the Oakland County Freshman Meet two weeks ago, the girls and boys teams performed well once again, with limited athletes.

The girls' only participants were Wilson and Erickson. Wilson won the high jump with a personal best of 4'11" and won the 300 hurdles in 51.2 seconds. Erickson was fifth in the 110 hurdles and third in the long jump with 15'1/2".

The boys scored two points, on the strength of Bradford's sixth-place discus throw of 100'3", and the sixth-place finish of the 400 relay team, which includes Baker, Ricky Williams, Bradford and Andrew Stutzman.

Knob notes

By Eileen Oxley

Carrying on

Are Dave Crosby, Graham Nash and Stephen Stills 'getting to the point where (they're) no fun anymore' — to paraphrase a line from their most popular hit, "Suite: Judy Blue Eyes"? Not really, says Crosby.

After over 25 years of success as a trio and as solo artists, the '70s phenomenon enjoys touring together and relishes turning old and new fans on to the haunting three-part harmonies perhaps no one has ever equaled.

Says Crosby about performing live, "I have always felt that the main review is: Did anybody feel good? If there's an epitaph to be cut for this band, I don't think it's to be cut yet..."

"We've been very fortunate. Nobody's died. We've managed to stay together in spite of some pretty strong problems, and we've managed to go out and deliver good music."

A band that met through the late "Mama" Cass Elliot, CS&N's first hit, "Suite: Judy Blue Eyes," written for Judy Collins, is still their most-requested song. Following their self-titled debut album, which included that single and "Marrakesh Express," they played Woodstock, Altamont and won a Grammy for "Best New Artist" in 1969.

Their second album "Deja Vu" was hailed as the picture album of the Vietnam Generation with classics like "Almost Cut My Hair," "Carry On," "Woodstock," "Helpless," "Our House" and "Teach Your Children."

After the Kent State University tragedy where the Ohio National Guard shot and killed four students, Neil Young, a sometimes member, wrote "Ohio" which was recorded and released within 10 days.

Young and eventually the rest of the CS&N band broke up and embarked on solo careers. Stills had a hit with "Love The One You're With," Nash scored with "Immigration Man" and Crosby did a duo with Phil Collins on "Hero." Soloing into other avenues, Nash is a thriving photographer and Crosby has written a well-received autobiography.

This summer, the tour will focus not only on beloved CS&N standards like "Wooden Ships" and "Long Time Gone," but include individual solo works and new songs.

Not only has the music and love of playing together endured, so has the friendship. For example, when Crosby needed a place to recuperate after his liver transplant, Nash offered his place in Hawaii. When Stills organized a benefit to raise funds for his daughter's school, C&N were there.

Some things haven't changed. As of last year, Joni Mitchell still owned the Laurel Canyon digs that inspired "Our House." And Nash feels that even though Vietnam, Kent State, Woodstock and Watergate are past, the social climate is alive and kicking.

Still a very active activist, he maintains that people don't have to be helplessly hoping. "They need to know that... their vote does count. People need to know that they are not sheep, that they can affect their destiny in a very real way, even if it's as simple as going to a local charity and answering phones for a day or making coffee so that somebody else doesn't have to."

FLAG camp returns

Youngsters age 8-11 can enter a little corner of Japan, France, Germany or Latin America this summer through Clarkston schools' FLAG Camp.

FLAG stands for Foreign Languages Are Great. Enrollments are now being accepted, through June 25, for the summer program that will teach kids foreign language and culture.

Students can choose from French, Japanese, Spanish or German. The four-day mini-camp will be offered July 23-26 at Clarkston Middle School and includes an international lunch each day.

Besides spending time in the classroom on language instruction, kids will get to make origami, dance, sing and cook crepes.

Cost is $96 and can be paid all at once or in two equal payments by July 5. To register, send a check to FLAG Camp c/o Nancy Frumkin, Clarkston High School, 6595 Middle Lake Rd., Clarkston, MI 48346. For more information call Frumkin at 625-0900 (before June 15) or 851-6816 thereafter.

P.K. Odyssey team places at state finals

A team made up of six girls from Pine Knob Elementary School took third place in the state Odyssey of the Mind competition April 20.

The team competed in the Classics competition, which required them to paint a replica of an Impressionist painting, write a poem about that painting, and create an original painting that relates in some way to a poem chosen from a list of poets and their work provided by OM. Along the way the girls created props, wrote, directed and performed a skit, researched Impressionism, learned how to paint, tap dance and sing—and even learned to speak French.

The team took second at the regional competition, which allowed it to advance to the state level. Another Pine Knob team, competing in the Crunch competition, also placed second at the regionals and then placed 15th at state. However that team took first place in the spontaneous portion of the competition.

Team members included fifth-graders Kira Karlstrom, Jim Shanks, Jacob Smith, Dennis Taylor, Siri Zimmerman and fourth-grader Colleen Fell. The Crunch team was coached by Penny Shanks and Marty Zimmerman.

OM is a worldwide program that promotes divergent thinking and develops creative problem-solving skills in students from kindergarten through college. Teams choose a problem to solve from a selection offered and then compete against other teams in the same problem.

Here's an incredible fact... Do you realize that when auto race drivers go as fast as 200 miles-per-hour, as some do in qualifying for races, that is equivalent to driving THE LENGTH OF A FOOTBALL FIELD IN JUST OVER ONE SECOND!... A car traveling 200 miles-per-hour is going 275 feet a second, and a football field is 100 yards, or 300 feet long, so a car at that speed would go from goal line to goal line in just over one second!

Anybody who ever had trouble getting a golf ball into the hole might be interested in knowing just how wide a golf hole is... It may seem smaller when you're putting, but the exact width is 4-1/4 inches.

Here's an oddity... Only once in big league baseball history has a team won the pennant one year, then finished last the next... That strange fate befell the Philadelphia A's of 1914-15... And what makes their tumble even more unbelievable is this... In 1914, when the A's won the pennant they finished 8-1/2 games ahead... In 1915 they not only landed in last place, but they finished 58-1/2 games behind!

I bet you didn't know... Oxford Cinemas has three auditoriums, showing first run movies and Tuesdays are Bargain Days!

OPPORTUNITY IS KNOCKING

This historical village of Holly charmer has space and character. Formally a triplex so it's ideal for separate quarters for family members. A 36x30 2-story building that is heated and has 110V and 220V is part of the package. Need Village approval, but a bed and breakfast is definitely a possibility. Priced at $179,897

Milestones

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Spoelstra

Spillum-Spoelstra wed in Florida

Eric and Debra (Spillum) Spoelstra were married Oct. 28, 1995 during a garden ceremony at their Tequesta, FL home.

The bride was given away by her father, Michael Spillum. Her maid of honor was Sara Spillum of Clarkston. Bridesmaids included Natalee Pucher of Burbank, CA and Cathrene Radamacher of Clarkston.

The groom's best man was Scott Strickland of Merritt Island, FL. His attendants included John Spillum of West Bloomfield and Dennis Dillon of Hobe Sound, FL.

A reception followed in the garden. Music was provided by a steel drum band.

Debra is the daughter of Michael and Lynne Spillum of Clarkston. She is a manager for Tropical Outfitters in Jupiter, FL.

Eric is the son of Rudy and Betty Spoelstra of North Palm Beach, FL. He attended the University of Florida and works at Loblolly Bay, Hobe Sound.

The couple spend their honeymoon in Vero Beach, FL. They reside in Tequesta.

Business brief

English Builders and Eugene English of Clarkston were disciplined by the Michigan Department of Commerce Bureau of Occupational and Professional Regulation April 26 for poor workmanship and failure to adhere to standards of construction. The firm was fined $500 and ordered to pay $500 restitution to the complainant.

Smith-Tracey wed in Waterford

Craig and Tamara (Tracy) Smith were married Feb. 16, 1996 at Christ Lutheran Church in Waterford. The ceremony was officiated by the Rev. Richard Nelson.

The bride was given away by her father, Kenneth R. Tracy Sr. Maid of honor was her friend Debby Robtoy. Bridesmaids included Lisa Titus, Susan Hofmaster, Maria Camato, Lee Smith, the groom's sister, Vanessa Davis and Satiba Eiben.

The groom's best man was his friend Jason Davis. Groomsmen included Jkendall Smith and Todd Smith, the groom's brothers; Mark Schelcti, Craig Girara, Coin Driesin, Kirk Stuphin, Mike Sowter and Kenneth R. Tracy Jr., the bride's brother.

A reception followed at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Maybee Rd.

Tamara is the daughter of Kenneth R. and Sharyn Tracy of Clarkston. She is a 1990 graduate of Clarkston High School and a student at Oakland Community College.

Craig is the son of Robert and Betty Smith of Rochester. He is a 1986 graduate of Rochester Adams High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig Smith

The couple spent a week-long honeymoon in the Pocono Mountains.

New arrival

Keith E. and Karen J. (Colfer) Bailey of Clarkston announce the birth of a son, Edward Robert, born May 17, 1996 at Huron Valley Hospital in Commerce Township. The baby weighed 8 pounds, 12 ounces and was 21 inches long. Edward has a big sister, Kelsey, age 3. Grandparents are Robert and Betty Colfer of Clarkston, Jim and Dolores Drury of Clarkston and the late Edward Bailey.

Honors

Darrell H. Cooper of Clarkston was recently honored by Eastern Michigan University, which renamed an office building after him for his accomplishments and generosity. Cooper, 53, is chairman and chief executive officer of Fernco Inc. in Davison and has been an ardent EMU supporter since the 1980s. He is currently chairman of EMU's Campaign for Scholars, which has already raised $10.8 million toward its $12 million goal. He and his wife Charlotte were the first private donors to give a $1 million gift to the university.

In service

Marine Cpl. Michael Martin, son of Edgar and Kristin Martin of Clarkston, has returned to his home base in Camp Pendleton, CA after a six-month deployment to the Persian Gulf with the 15th Marine Expeditionary Unit.

While on deployment, Martin participated in several multinational exercises with amphibious forces from Kuwait, Qatar and the United Arab Emirates. He visited Hong Kong, Kuwait, Oman, the Philippines, Singapore, Thailand and the UAR.

School news

Anissa Howard, a 1991 Clarkston High School graduate, graduated from Central Michigan University with a bachelor's degree in science. She majored in psychology and world religion.

Derenda Howard, a 1994 Clarkston High School graduate, was named to the Dean's List for the spring semester at the University of Michigan.

Sean Halleran was named to the Dean's List at Duke University with distinction for the 1995-96 school year. The honor requires a 3.6 GPA or above. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Halleran of Clarkston.

Seniors Kristin Alkire of Clarkston and Patricia Tola of Davisburg made the Dean's List at St. Mary's College in Orchard Lake for the winter term.

Minda Douglas of Clarkston received a master's degree from Louisiana State University May 17.

Michigan State University has released its list of spring/summer degree candidates. Included are the following Clarkston residents receiving BA degrees: Camille Danna, advertising; Andrew Nichols, telecommunications; Amy Seaman, theatre; and Michael Stanton, advertising.

Receiving BS degrees: Steven Bannasch, civil engineering; Jeremy Burke, biology; David Eby, mechanics; Joseph Fabrizio, physiology; Melissa Fletcher, physiology; Kurt Golarz, medical technology; Kimberly Kolody, civil engineering; Tracey Ortwine, physiology; Kristen Thornton, nutritional sciences; Shannon Wiltse, zoology; and Jennifer Zamora, medical technology.

Harold T. Hoffman of Clarkston was scheduled to receive an MBA in business administration from Michigan State University during spring/summer commencement.

Jennifer Pearl of Clarkston was a candidate for an MA in audiology and speech sciences from Michigan State University for spring/summer commencement.

Leigh Head has been named an All-American Scholar by the United States Achievement Academy. Winners must have at least a 3.3 GPA and be selected by a school sponsor. Leigh now attends Spencer High School in Spencer, WI and is the daughter of Timothy and Valerie Head and the granddaughter of former Clarkston resident Raymond Cooper, now of Boyne City.

Scott Breslin received a BA in economics and management from Albion College May 4, 1996. He is the son of James and JoAnna Breslin of Clarkston and a graduate of Trenton High School.

Heather Clark completed the degree program at the University of Evansville (IN) May 4, 1996. She is the daughter of Harlan and Lois Clark of Clarkston.

PUBLIC NOTICE Because the People Want to Know CLARKSTON

CITY OF THE VILLAGE OF CLARKSTON SUMMARY MINUTES OF REGULAR MEETING CITY COUNCIL MAY 28, 1996

(Meeting was held on Tuesday, May 28, 1996, due to observance of Memorial Day on Monday, May 27.)

Meeting called to order by Mayor Catallo at 7:07 p.m.
Present: Gamble, Basinger, Catallo, Roesser, Sanderson, Savage, Secatch.

Absent: None.

Minutes of May 13, 1996, accepted as presented with the addition of "to discuss pending litigation" added to the closed session resolution.

Agenda approved after the addition of Finance Committee Meeting Date and CDBG three-year contract, Depot Road Improvements tabled until the Council site plan review of the Clarkston Mills addition.

A discussion with business owners in the City covered several areas, mostly dealing with parking and parking enforcement.

Moved by Basinger, supported by Secatch, "That the Council send the Clarkston Mills Site Plan back to the Planning Commission for expeditious review of the matters listed in Hubbell, Roth and Clark's May 22, 1996, letter and the recommendations of McKenna and Associates, planners; and the subsequent letter from Hubbell, Roth and Clark to follow. Plans will be sent back to McKenna and Associates for review in accordance with City ordinances or pursuant to the City ordinance. The Council authorized the Planning Commission to utilize services of McKenna and Associates, planners, and Engineer Hubbell, Roth and Clark at its meeting and as otherwise necessary. Motion carried.

Ordinance No. 124, Adopting 1993 BOCA National Mechanical Code adopted.

Resolved that Artemus M. Pappas, City Manager, is hereby authorized to make application to the Road Commission for Oakland County (RCOC) and Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) on behalf of the City of the Village of Clarkston in the County of Oakland, Michigan, for the necessary permits to close roads for the Fourth of July and Labor Day Parades as follows:

July 4, 1996: Fourth of July Parade to commence at the Clarkston Junior High School, West on Church Street to South Main, North on Main Street to Miller Road and West on Miller Road, its final destination. Parade begins at 10:00 a.m.; ends approximately 12:00 noon or sooner.

Sept. 2, 1996: Labor Day Parade. (Same route and time as above).

And, the City of the Village of Clarkston in the County of Oakland, Michigan, will faithfully fulfill all permit requirements, and shall save harmless, indemnify, defend and represent RCOC and MDOT against any and all claims to bodily injury or property damage, or any other claim arising out of or related to operations authorized by such permit(s) as issued.

Resolved that the City of the Village of Clarkston participate in the Oakland County Community Development Block Grant and Home Programs for the years of 1997, 1998 and 1999.

Meeting adjourned at 8:55 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Artemus M. Pappas
Clark

Volleyball clinic set for June 17-21

For five days the Clarkston Volleyball Clinic will teach girls in grades 6-12 the skills and fundamentals of the sport.

The camp, directed by varsity volleyball coach Gordie Richardson, will feature two sessions — for grades 10-12 and 6-9 (grades are for this year) — and the cost for each is $50. It will be held at Clarkston High School.

Features of the camp include skill instruction and practice, stations, games, offense and defense and team skills, scrimmages and group play, individual awards for outstanding athletes, video taping of skills with analysis and guest speakers.

The 10-12 session will be from 8-11 a.m. and the 6-9 session will be from 12-3 p.m.

Participants will receive a camp T-shirt.

Some marimbas—xylophone-like instruments particularly popular in Latin America—are so long, four or five musicians can play each one at the same time.

Each session is limited to 40 players per session. Other clinic coaches include the varsity volleyball team (for grades 6-9), freshman coach Candy Polenz, Sashabaw 7th grade coach Sue Koslosky, Sashabaw 8th grade coach Kelly Avenall, Madonna College player and CHS grad Heather Steinhelper and Madonna player Meg Paris.

For more information call the CHS athletic office at 625-0906.

Please Take Notice that the annual election of the school district will be held on Monday, June 10, 1996.

The polls of election will open at 7 o'clock in the morning and close at 8 o'clock in the evening.

At the annual school election there will be elected two (2) members to the board of education of the district for full terms of four (4) years ending in 2000.

The following persons have been nominated to fill such vacancies:

Peter J. Bertling
Barry D. Bomler
Richard J. Grigger
Karen E. Foytack
Mary Ellen McLean
Robert J. Wyatt

TAKE FURTHER NOTICE THAT the following proposition will be submitted to the vote of the electors at the annual school election:

OPERATING MILLAGE RENEWAL PROPOSAL NON-HOMESTEAD AND NON-QUALIFIED AGRICULTURAL PROPERTY TAX

This millage will allow the school district to continue to levy not more than the statutory rate of 18 mills against non-homestead and non-qualified agricultural property required for the school district to receive its revenue per pupil foundation guarantee.

Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property, excepting therefrom homestead and qualified agricultural property as defined by law, in Clarkston Community Schools, Oakland County, Michigan, be increased by 18 mills ($18.00 on each $1,000.00) on taxable valuation for a period of 10 years, 1996 to 2005, inclusive, to provide funds for operating purposes; the estimate of the revenue the school district will collect if the millage is approved and levied in the 1996 calendar year is approximately $3,342,820 (this being a renewal of millage which expired with the 1995 tax levy)?

OAKLAND COMMUNITY COLLEGE REGULAR BIENNIAL ELECTION

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the Regular Biennial Election of Oakland Community College, Michigan, will be held at the same time and at the same voting places as the annual school election on Monday, June 10, 1996, and will be conducted by the same school officials for those electors of the community college district residing in this school district.

At the Regular Biennial Election there will be elected two (2) members for the office of Community College District Trustee for full terms of six (6) years ending June 30, 2002.

The following persons have been nominated to fill such vacancies:

A graduate signals victory at the ceremony's end.

These graduates have the same dreams, goals and life plans as everyone who has finished, or in some cases just begun, their educational careers.

Photostory by Eileen Oxley

awards for his report on how piezoelectric crystals work.

'All The Places You'll Go'

Next time you grill that burger think piezoelectric crystals.

That was the subject of Matt Dawley's report for his Oakland Technical Center science class. In fact, it earned him third place in the state's VICA (Vocational-Industrial Clubs of America) contest and STRIVE's science award.

He explained the process of how gas grills ignite. "The ions separate," said the STRIVE student with a big grin. He was obviously getting a kick out of the awe he saw in people who listened.

Matt was one of 46 students who graduated May 29 from Clarkston Community Education's STRIVE alternative high school and Clarkston adult education programs. The annual commencement exercises were held in Clarkston High School's Kirshgessner Auditorium.

One of the featured speakers was Clarkston Community Ed. director Marilyn Allyn, who also handed out diplomas. She referred to Robert Frost's poem, "The Road Not Taken."

"For economic reasons, family reasons ... they didn't follow the road taken by others ... They chose the other road," Allyn said about the graduates.

She ended with a wise reminder. "Receiving your diploma is only the first stop on your educational journey. Spread your wings and fly."

Clarkston board of education vice president Janet Thomas also cited the graduates for following a different drummer. "You did it your own way," she said.

Several were cited for academic excellence and received scholarships from Baker College. Following those honors, seven graduates spoke to the audience and their fellow classmates.

STRIVE graduate Gary Hommel said he plans to join the U.S. Army. The audience chuckled after he reflected on graduation. "Now that it's here, I'm not sure I'm ready to go into the work force for the rest of my life," he quipped.

Adult education graduate Paula Gonzales' tone was more somber as she thanked everyone in her family, including her young daughter. "You're the reason I'm here," she said, her voice catching.

And perky Kelli Jelinek, who also sang the Beatles' "In My Life," chose some lines from "one of my favorite authors — Dr. Seuss." A portion of his "All The Places You'll Go" seemed to sum it all up: "Your mountain is waiting. So get on your way."

With tears in her eyes, Marilyn Allyn recapped her pride about graduating students. Every year she's blown away by their hard work and commitment to graduate — made all the more special because they choose it themselves.

"All the things they go through — family problems, health problems, you know they're going to make it. You become part of the family. It's amazing."

The three year varsity player was one of coach Denny Davis's captains and earned that title with her production and senior leadership throughout the season. Stats: .379 average, 10 RBI, 6 doubles, 3 triples.

Misty Dawn-Fuchs, Lake Orion, Fr.: Fuchs stepped onto the varsity scene this year and made her presence known in a big way.

Playing the demanding position of first base, Fuchs was solid on defense and put up senior type numbers at the plate while hitting in the number five slot in the lineup.

Fuchs will be an important player in the years to come for coach Denny Davis and will counted on to provide a measure of maturity and leadership for the 1997 season.

Stats: .342 average, 3 doubles, 2 triples, 16 RBI. GPA: 3.67.

Amanda Jenkinson, Clarkston, sr., catcher: No one tried to steal a base on this two-time Tri-District first team selection. In fact, only seven teams attempted to steal on Jenkinson throughout the entire season. Only two girls were successful.

Not only is she a great defensive player, but Jenkinson, who will play for Oakland Community College on a full athletic scholarship, is also determined, always playing at 100 percent, and is a clutch hitter.

"Her motor is always running at 100 m.p.h.," said coach Al Land.

'96 softball: much to offer

Offense, defense and pitching hallmark of tri-district team

BY SPI SPORTS STAFF

While only one of the Tri-District's softball teams enjoyed success, they all produced successful players.

The team offers a little bit of everything, from hitting (Crystal Lemke's 43 RBI, Amanda Jenkinson's .429 batting average) to defense (the versatile Theresa Fedorinchik) to strong leadership (Nicki Hard and Julie Fitch).

Here's a look at the 1996 squad:

Theresa Fedorinchik, Oxford, jr., infielder: One of several bright spots on a team that finished 5-32, Fedorinchik was asked to fill several roles, and filled them all well for first-year coach Jim Decker.

She played shortstop, she played third base and she hit cleanup most of the year for the Wildcats, who reached the district final before falling to perennial powerhouse Brandon.

"She's always hustling and working hard," Decker said. "She's serious, but she enjoys what she's doing. She's just the kind of kid you want on your team."

Stats: .320 average, 22 runs scored, 31 hits, 18 runs batted in and 16 stolen bases.

GPA: 3.0.

Julie Fitch, Lake Orion, sr.: When offense is what the varsity softball team needed, Fitch stepped up in a big way. The left fielder put up outstanding numbers and was an anchor on defense for the Lady Dragons.

Diversity the strength of soccer squad

Team has youth, experience, scoring, defense

BY SPI SPORTS STAFF

The 1996 SPI, Inc., Tri-District soccer team offers a little bit of everything for the discerning soccer fan.

Want experience? How about senior goalkeeper Kristi Elliott of Lake Orion or Clarkston senior Bryn Allyn.

Want scoring? How about nearly 40 goals from the Oxford tandem of sophomore Autumn Laidler and senior Jenny Arnold.

Looking for youthful enthusiasm? This year's team features a pair of freshmen (Kara Bergkoetter and Jenny Kerney of Clarkston) and two sophomores (Laidler and Lake Orion's Tamara McArthur).

Here's a look at the 1996 squad:

Autumn Laidler, Oxford, soph.: Laidler led the Wildcats to the district finals, where they lost to Lutheran North in overtime.

"She did everything we asked of her," Oxford coach Erick Pfeifer said. "She proved she could be a leader."

Laidler, for the second year a first-team selection, scored 25 goals and added a dozen assists, avoiding the sophomore jinx after a fine freshman season.

GPA: 3.8.

Jenny Arnold, Oxford, sr.: Arnold scored a dozen goals, many of them coming when her team needed them most, a big factor in her repeat selection as a first-team member of the Tri-District squad.

Arnold scored two game-winning goals and assisted on a third for the Wildcats, who won a share of their first Flint Metro League championship in large part on Arnold's contributions.

"She came through when we needed her, when there was a lot of pressure," Oxford coach Erick Pfeifer said.

GPA: 3.34.

Kelley Bryant, Oxford, jr.: Bryant, who spent most of the year directing traffic at midfield, really came on down the stretch, feeding the ball to teammates Arnold and Laidler as Oxford captured a piece of its first league title, then reached the district final.

Bryant was a second-team selection on the all-Flint Metro League team, and is making her first appearance on an SPI Tri-District team.

"She played really well, especially the last few weeks," Pfeifer said.

GPA: 3.5.

Jessica Ballenberger, Oxford, jr.: The third repeat member of the Tri-District team, Ballenberger spent most of the year at sweeper, running a Wildcat defense that allowed less than a goal per game this year.

Ballenberger's speed allowed her to run down most anything that got behind the Oxford forwards.

"She's really fast back there," Pfeifer said. "Not too many people are going to outrun her."

GPA: 4.0.

Brynn Allyn, Clarkston, sr.: In every way this season, the hard working Allyn was a solid example for her younger teammates. She started the season slow but eventually came around, performing well on the field as a player and leader. She was the team's only senior starter.

Her team-first attitude was evident when coach Brian Fitzgerald moved her to goalkeeper late in the season. But the repeat Tri-District first teamer accepted the move, although she never played goal in her life before that.

"She's the ultimate team player," said Fitzgerald. "She set the example for these other kids. She started off her career good and now has ended it good because she went out like all seniors should go out. And that's as a winner."

Stats: Clarkston's co-MVP, five goals scored.
GPA: 2.9.

Honorable Mention

Lake Orion - Lauren Thompson, Lauren Keasey, Angie Carlson.

Oxford - Adena Chuddy, Anna Bongiorno, Shelly Mueller.

Clarkston - Amanda Yarber.

Jenny Kerney, Clarkston, fr.: Kerney's abilities as a player were so evident that she was voted a team co-MVP.

From her midfield spot, Kerney controlled the middle and was a major reason for Clarkston's success this season. While not a goal scorer, she played tough defense and provided a much needed hard-nosed attitude on a young squad.

"She's not afraid to mix it up out there and you need that to compete," said coach Brian Fitzgerald. "She was steady all year."

Stats: Clarkston's co-MVP, one goal scored.
GPA: 3.0.

Kara Bergkoetter, Clarkston, fr.: One of six freshmen starters for the Wolves, Bergkoetter could and did play almost everywhere for coach Brian Fitzgerald.

Bergkoetter's speed and soccer skills allowed Fitzgerald to play her almost anywhere. She was another big reason the 1996 Clarkston soccer team was a success.

"She's really a versatile player," said Fitzgerald. "She's a fast and smart player and did whatever I asked her to do and never complained."

Stats: One goal scored.
GPA: 3.8.

Tamara McArthur, Lake Orion, so.: McArthur led the girls soccer team last year with eight goals. She had that many within the first five games this season.

Excellent dribbling skills and a consistently hard shot led to her scoring 17 goals this season in her second full year on the varsity squad.

Coach Paul Elder said at the start of the season McArthur would probably be his best goal scorer and she would create a lot of chances for herself. She did the latter in a big way as she posted an incredible 86 shots on net during the season.

Stats: 17 goals scored, 86 shots on net, 2 assists.
GPA: 3.1.

Kristi Elliot, Lake Orion, sr.: The team leader from the back row, Elliot somehow topped her season last year which included six shutouts and a 1.5 goals against average.

Elliott, who has signed to play goaltender at Illinois State University next season, was a major factor in the team's 7-0 run to end the regular season.

"Kristi was a very big factor in our success this year," coach Paul Elder said. "She brought us big time senior ability and leadership and was the backbone of our team."

Stats: 9-4-2 record, 0.93 goals against average, seven shutouts, one goal scored, 145 saves.

GPA: 3.75.

Diamond cut

Individual accomplishments mark '96 season

BY SPI SPORTS STAFF

Even though none of the Tri-District baseball teams had banner seasons, it was a year marked by individual accomplishments at the plate and in the field.

The first team welcomes back the familiar faces of Lake Orion's Rick Green, Derek Jones and Dennis Mahan, along with Clarkston's Jeff Mull. A youthful Oxford team brings a host of new faces to the 1996 squad.

At the plate, this team is led by Green, Mull and Oxford's Jeff Cordona. On the mound, Mull, Oxford's Kenny Allen and Lake Orion's Ryan Atkins provided quality innings for their respective.

All three teams bring back a number of quality players which should make them successful in the 1997 season.

John Pleasant, Oxford, soph., catcher: Pleasant, in his first varsity season, shuttled between behind the plate and second base, and was Oxford's top catcher.

He tied for the team lead in hitting, had the Wildcats' top on-base percentage, and led the team in scoring.

"Johnny did a real nice job for us," Oxford coach Art Marcell said.

Stats: .361 average, 19 runs, 22 hits, .458 on-base percentage hitting second most of the year. GPA: 2.9.

Jeff Cardona, Oxford, jr., outfielder: After moving from the infield to the outfield, Cardona turned in Oxford's best offensive year, leading the team in home runs, sharing the team lead in hitting and finishing second in RBI.

He also chipped in four wins as a pitcher, striking out 39 in 38 regular-season innings.

"Jeff played very well for us," Marcell said. Stats: .361 average, two home runs, 13 RBIs, .557 slugging percentage.

GPA: 3.3.

Daye Ulbrich, Oxford, sr., infielder: On a team that played a lot of youngsters, Ulbrich came through with a solid senior season.

Ulbrich was third on the team in hitting, led the team in RBIs, and was second in slugging percentage.

"He played for me as a freshman, so I knew he could play the game," Marcell said. "His RBI-to-hit ratio (21 RBI on 20 hits) was phenomenal, and he's just a treat to coach. He's a great kid."

Stats: .345 average, .466 slugging percentage, 21 RBIs, 1 home run.

GPA: 2.5.

Derek Jones, Lake Orion, jr.: Jones followed up a huge 1995 season with another solid performance. Though he struggled occasionally early in the season, it didn't take him long to get going.

In the weather shortened season, Jones picked up the slack in the second half and provided timely hits when his team needed them the most. He also contributed on the mound, where he pitched in relief.

Stats: .310 average, 2 home runs, 12 RBI, five doubles, 19 runs scored, led the team with 58 at-bats. GPA: 3.85.

Dennis Mahan, Lake Orion, sr.: There isn't much more to say about Mahan's ability that hasn't already been commented on. The all-state football player proved he could be just as valuable on the

He was one of the team leaders at the plate and was a dependable relief pitcher for first year coach Dave Collins. Perhaps his biggest highlight of the year came in his first start on the mound late in the season.

Mahan went eight innings and gave up only one hit in the rematch with Birmingham Seaholm, who had defeated the Dragons 9-0 earlier in the season.

Stats: .300 average, 4 home runs, 12 RBI, 3 doubles, 2 triples, 16 stolen bases; 2-0 record as a pitcher, 1.18 ERA, 22 strikeouts, one save.

GPA: 2.9.

Rick Green, Lake Orion, Jr.: Green posted as good all-around numbers as anyone in the county. A first team Tri-District selection last year, Green improved even more in 1996.

Green led the team in seven offensive categories, including 21 stolen bases and a .768 slugging percentage. Even more impressive, he was caught stealing only once the entire season.

Stats: .446 average, 1 home run, 20 RBI, 11 doubles, 2 triples, 21 stolen bases, 25 hits, 27 runs.

GPA: 2.7.

Jeff Mull, Clarkston, sr., pitcher: Mull, rated by one high school scouting service as one of the nation's top 100 players, is a complete player in every aspect of the game.

Although he signed with Eastern Michigan University for his pitching, Mull plays several positions for the Wolves and shines on defense as well, whether it's in the outfield or at first base. In addition, Mull, who was a first team Tri-District selection last season, has improved his hitting and leads the team in average and RBI.

"He's a complete player," said coach Roy "Pops" Warner.

Mull's fastball has been timed in the 80's but his placement and control has helped him dominate on the mound.

Stats: 4-3 record, 41.3 innings, 59 strikeouts, 1.35 ERA; 20-for-51, .392 batting average, 4 home runs and 17 RBI.

GPA: 3.1.

Scott Hill, Clarkston, sr., infielder: Hill proved to be a team's vocal leader as a senior after taking second team Tri-District honors last season.

The senior, who finished in his senior class top ten academic, got the most out of his abilities through hard work and a fiercely competitive nature. Despite playing several positions (first, third and pitcher), coach Roy Warner said Hill was always willing to put the team first.

Stats: 10-for-36, .278 average; 2-2 pitching, 33.3 innings pitched, 3.7 ERA and 24 strikeouts.

GPA: 3.9.

David Barth, Clarkston, sr., outfielder: For the past two seasons Barth has provided a steady bat, strong defense and a positive attitude on coach Roy Warner's team.

Once again Barth, a second team Tri-District pick last season, came through with a solid season in almost every aspect of the game.

"He's just a real steady kid," said Warner. "He's quiet but he's a solid player and a great kid to have around."

Stats: 19-for-59, .322 average, 11 RBI, 3 home runs, 5 doubles, and led team with 14 walks and 15 runs scored.

GPA: 3.5.

Area teams battle for league titles in several sports

BY SPI SPORTS STAFF

Lake Orion girls soccer

Coach Paul Elder was worried about his team after a 1-3-1 record to start the year. Following that start, his team proved that he had nothing to worry about.

The Lady Dragons ran off seven straight wins to finish off the regular season, including two more in the district playoffs before falling to Utica Eisenhower in the title game. Elder called that game "a big step for the Lake Orion girls soccer program". They finished the season with a mark of 9-4-2.

Seniors Penny Richards and Kristi Elliot provided the defense and leadership and sophomore sensation Tamara McArthur provided the offense with 17 of the team's 33 goals.

Oxford soccer

The ability to focus for an entire season finally brought the Oxford Wildcats what they've been seeking — a share of their first Flint Metro League soccer championship.

The Wildcats earned a share of the title with a double overtime, double-shootout win over first-seeded Lapeer East, the only league team to vanquish the Wildcats this year.

Autumn Laidler and Jenny Arnold provided the offensive spark, Sarah Courtright as an all-league goalkeeper, and Jessica Ballenberger and Liddy Cebelak sparked a defense that allowed less than one goal per game in Flint Metro play.

"We had a great season because the girls played as a team," Oxford coach Erick Pfeifer said. "We never relied totally on one girl. We got something from everyone."

Clarkston soccer

Not many expected the Clarkston girls soccer team to play as well this season. But the Wolves finished 7-8-1 overall and won a first-round district game with a roster dominated by six freshmen and four sophomores.

First year coach Brian Fitzgerald won more games this season than the team won the past two seasons. He said his team lacked experience but played with heart and always worked hard.

Clarkston, which plays in the Oakland Activities Association Division II, lost two games to Lake Orion during the season, by scores of 3-0 and 1-0, and beat Oxford 1-0.

Lake Orion girls softball

Going into this 1996 varsity softball campaign, coach Denny Davis had pitching on his mind. A lack thereof contributed to an uncharacteristic 9-19 record during the 1995 season.

The start of this year looked to be pretty much the same after an 0-5 start. However, the picture improved as the season went along, mainly due to the progress of sophomore pitcher Samantha Miller.

Miller pitched the majority of the games following the 0-5 start and developed into a player Davis could depend on. Prior to district play, the team rattled off a string of wins and improved to a mark of 10-15.

Oxford softball

From a wins-and-losses standpoint, it was not a good year for the Wildcats, who finished 5-32 in coach Jim Decker's first year.

From a learning standpoint, though, it was a great year for the Wildcats, who toughed out the losing season and reached the district finals before falling to perennial powerhouse Brandon.

Theresa Fedorinchik, Alivia Body and Amy Heath all provided solid seasons at the plate, and freshman Julie Prince gives Decker a lot of potential on the mound.

"It would have been easy for these players to quit," Decker said. "But they never lost their attitude. They worked hard and they never quit. That's the kind of attitude you need when you're trying to build a program."

Autumn Laidler, a two-time first team Tri-District selection in soccer, heads this ball for her Oxford squad.

Clarkston softball

With a 25-9 regular-season finish, the Clarkston softball team proved they could play with anyone around. In addition, the Wolves finished second in the powerful Oakland Activities Association Division I, two games behind champion Brandon, who took one of its two season losses from Clarkston.

CHS ended its season on a sour note, however, losing a heartbreaking 1-0 pre-district game to Milford. But fifth-year coach Al Land said he had more fun coaching this team than he's ever had before because they worked extremely hard.

It wasn't easy to win 24 games, however. In the beginning of the season, All-State centerfielder Stephanie Giroux tore ligaments in her knee and was out for the duration. It forced several athletes to change positions on defense and in the batting order.

Lake Orion baseball

The Lake Orion varsity baseball team's early season was not what they had planned, suffering through a 2-4 start.

However, with the talent first year coach Dave Collins put on the field, this team was bound for good things.

The bats came alive in May and along with that came a winning streak that saw the team finish the season with a mark of 12-8.

The majority of this talented squad will be back, but the losses will be big. Senior outfielder/pitcher Dennis Mahan will graduate as will pitcher Jeff Summers, who also played solid at third base during the season.

Clarkston baseball

The Wolves baseball team finished the regular season at 8-14 overall, and had six games canceled due to bad weather.

The season was mired by defensive errors and a lack of clutch hitting, despite the pitching staff doing an admirable job. Battling in the always-tough Oakland Activities Association Division I didn't help matters. Clarkston started off the season 2-0 but then went downhill.

Good things began to happen in the district opener against Milford, where the Wolves dominated 13-7, one of the best offensive outputs of the season.

Teams show their talents all season

Oxford baseball

Led by the hitting of Jeff Cardona, John Pleasant and Dave Ulbrich and the pitching of Cardona, Kenny Allen and Larry Longcore, the Oxford Wildcats produced a season that exceeded first-year coach Art Marcell's expectations.

The Wildcats finished 8-8 in the Flint Metro League, 11-13 overall, showing a significant improvement from their performances of the last couple of seasons.

Cardona and Pleasant each hit .361, and Allen, a sophomore, led the team in wins.

Oxford's 8-8 finish left them in the middle of the Flint Metro League pack, and the Wildcats fell to Brandon in the opening round of district play.

"It was a good year for us," Marcell said.

Lake Orion girls track

First year track coach Kelly Miller didn't know much about her team going into this season. The team she did see turned in a solid season and with youth returning, should keep them successful next year as well.

They compiled a 4-2 dual meet mark, thanks in part to the field events work of junior Karen Chastain. She excelled in the discus, shot put, long jump and high jump competitions and usually won all for at each meet she was in.

Her specialty was the discus and she won the Class A state title with a throw of 140'2". She recorded marks of 16 feet in the long jump and 4-10 in the high jump as well.

Oxford girls track

In a season when the girls were concentrating as much on individual goals as team success, the Oxford Wildcats sent three girls to the Class B state meet.

Juniors Christine Freeman and Bhree Nagel and sophomore Becky Keller all qualified for the state meet. The three formed the nucleus of what success the Wildcats had this year.

With a team that often featured only 13 or 14 girls to fill 16 events, the Wildcats still managed a couple of wins and a fifth-place finish at the Flint Metro League meet.

"I was proud of the way the girls stepped up to fill the events," first-year head coach Pam Craft said. "We didn't have many girls, but the girls who stuck it out did everything we asked of them."

Clarkston girls track

For 12 straight seasons, the Clarkston girls track team had an undefeated dual meet record, and for 11 straight seasons, the Wolves either won or tied for a league/division title.

All the success has come under 12-year coach Gordie Richardson, who was selected as this season's Oakland County Coach of the Year, his fourth time winning the award. The Wolves won the Oakland Activities Association Division II title, finished fourth at regionals, sixth at county and won the 13-team Clarkston Invitational.

Senior Stefanie Burklow qualified for the state finals in the 800 run, 1600 run and 3200 run, while senior Kammy Powell qualified in the discus.

Lake Orion boys track

Coming into the 1996 varsity track season, coach Rich Burrell had a few big holes to fill that were left by graduation.

Class A state champion discus thrower Tony Luebbert, and first team SPI Tri-District runners Doug Rupp and Rob McLean would have to be replaced.

That was accomplished this season and the Dragons finished with a 4-2 dual meet record and a second place finish in the OAA Division II meet.

The leader this year was senior Clint Bryant. His best event were the hurdles, in which he advanced to the state competition in the 110 and 300 hurdles. He also put time in on the relay teams and the high jump and long jump events.

Oxford boys track

Except for a stumble about halfway through the season, the Oxford Wildcats could have been celebrating a Flint Metro League title this year.

Still, they managed to win the league meet and narrowly lost the title to Lakeville. Oxford's 14-2 mark left the Wildcats a game behind the Falcons' 15-1 record.

"We had a great season," second-year coach Ron Roop said, "and if not for that one stumble (a narrow loss to Lapeer East), it would have been even better. I'm proud of the way the boys ran. I'm very happy with it."

Clarkston boys track

Coach Walt Winiemko's team wasn't the best, but they got better each meet and were rarely blown out, as evidenced by the season-ending Oakland Activities Association Division II meet.

In that meet, the Wolves finished fourth, but were only nine points out of second.

Winiemko, in his 17th year as coach, said his young team should be stronger in the years to come.

Diversity a strength for '96 soccer squad

Jennifer Giroux, Lake Orion, Jr.: Another player who didn't get much press, but was instrumental in a successful 1996 soccer campaign.

A second team Tri-District selection last year, she moved up to the first team with solid play at the offensive and defensive end of the field.

Stats: 32 shots on goal, two goals scored, three assists.

GPA: 3.4.

Penny Richards, Lake Orion, sr.: Richards followed up a first team SPI Tri-District selection season in 1995 by doing the very same things that got her that honor.

While her name rarely appeared in the papers the next day, it was Richards who anchored the back line for the Lady Dragons and added an element of physical and aggressive play. Her speed and strength with the ball made her an even tougher player for opponents to deal with.

Stats: 10 shots on goal, 3 goals scored, one assist.

GPA: 3.77.

'96 softball squad can do it all

SOFTBALL, from page 2

427 average, 38 RBI, 34 runs scored and 14 stolen bases.

GPA: 3.3.

Crystal Lemke, Clarkston, sr., infielder: Her coach, Al Land calls Lemke a true student of the game who combines that quality with talent and skill. She led the team in RBIs, runs scored, committed only six errors on defense and, most amazing, had only one strikeout in 106 at bats.

"There are not too many high school shortstops that are better," said Land.

Lemke, a repeat Tri-District first team selection, signed earlier this season with Wayne State University on a softball scholarship.

Stats: All-OAA Division I first team; 38-for-112, .339 average, 41 runs scored, 43 RBI and 12 walks.

GPA: 3.8.

Nicki Hard, Clarkston, sr., outfielder: Hard had a tough role to fill when she took over the leadoff spot for All-State teammate Stephanie Giroux, who tore knee ligaments and sat out the season. But the senior didn't let her team down and was one key reason for the team's success.

She led the team in hits, was a perfect 23-for-23 in stolen bases, played solid defense, and brought a hard-working attitude on the field.

"She struggled last year but this season she brought out all her talents," said coach Al Land. "From her sophomore to her senior year she made the biggest improvement I've ever seen."

Stats: All-OAA Division I first team; 41-for-115, .356 average, 36 runs scored, 29 RBI, 23-for-23 in stolen base attempts and nine doubles.

GPA: 2.9.

Tiffany Honey, Clarkston, soph., infielder:

Honey is the type of player who gets the job done, whether it's at the plate or on the field.

Coach Al Land said Honey, a repeat Tri-District first teamer, played excellent defense all season long and was a rock at the corner.

"She may have gone unnoticed by some people because she's so steady and not real flashy," he said. "But she can play third as good as anyone because she has all the tools to play this game. That's why she'll move to shortstop next year. She'll be the next star in Clarkston softball."

Stats: All-OAA Division I first team; 38-for-104, .365 average, 22 runs scored, 21 RBI and nine stolen bases.

GPA: 3.7.

Rachel Fuller, Clarkston, soph., pitcher: The Wolves needed another pitcher to come through this season, and Fuller did just that. She pitched in most of Clarkston's big games and was the key in a successful season, according to coach Al Land.

"It was the key to our season," said Land. "We needed her to get the job done on the mound because we knew we had a strong defense behind her."

Fuller, who along with senior Alesha Ulasich provided a strong one-two combo for Clarkston, throws hard but also kept batters off-balance with good control.

Stats: All-OAA honorable mention; 13-6 record, 97 innings, 17 earned runs, 1.23 ERA and 75 strikeouts.

GPA: 3.5.

Sue Naboychik, Clarkston, jr., outfielder: A JV player last season, Naboychik soon proved she belonged on the squad and was named one of the team's three captains.

Coach Al Land said this junior's defensive abilities to get most balls is her strong suit. In addition, Naboychik is a clutch offensive performer from her sixth spot in the batting order and provides a fiery attitude on the field.

"She's probably the best defensive left fielder I've

SPORTS EVERY WEEK IN THE OXFORD LEADER

Sportsmanship.

Playing a game fairly, always remembering to be a gracious winner or good loser. Sportsmanship is key to any type of competition. Because no matter how important winning may seem, it's nothing if you don't achieve it fairly. Sports offer an opportunity for individuals and teams to excel.

NBD extends its congratulations to those who have proven themselves the best and to all those who try.

The right bank can make a difference.
