All incumbents except treasurer John Lutz voted in

Wenger, Wallace and Rosso get first terms

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

For the past several months Independence Township candidates have had anything but a "normal" life.

They've experienced every emotion ... and it all came to a stop late Tuesday night, Aug. 6, when 24 percent, or 4,777 of the 20,216 registered voters, elected incumbent supervisor Dale Stuart, clerk Joan McCrary and trustees Daniel Travis and Jeff McGee, along with challenger Jim Wenger for treasurer and new trustees Larry Rosso and Neil Wallace.

For most of the 18 candidates the results -- which came in around 11 p.m. Aug. 6 -- were a relief.

A relief from months of hard campaigning and many emotions.

"I'm numb and I'm humbled," said Wenger, who outdistanced 11-year incumbent John Lutz by almost 400 votes. "Being a rookie you want to do the best you can, but you never know how things are going so you just work hard and hope for the best. I wish people could understand the emotional roller coaster this takes you on."

Even 16-year trustee Travis found himself working as hard as the newcomers.

"With this many quality candidates I knew I had to work hard," said Travis, who finished with the second-most votes. "It's extremely humbling but I ran as hard as I could and that wasn't bad for an old dude."

Rosso, the highest vote getter among trustees, said he also worked hard to get his name out, but relied heavily on "30 years of relationships with people in this community." A retired teacher, Rosso lost a trustee spot in 1992 by only 12 votes.

Stuart, who will begin his second term in January like all newly elected officials, was just as glad to see that the citizens support his ideas for the future of the township.

"We worked hard in this race," he said. "We did not take anything for granted and we wanted to show people we are committed."

The 24 percent turnout isn't much higher than the 1992 primary election's 23 percent turnout, which featured only one race that was challenged. The voting won't be official until approved by the county.

The news in brief

Six file for city seats

At presstime, six Clarkston residents have filed petitions to vie for four seats on Clarkston's City Council.

Incumbents Doug Roeser and Karen Sanderson will be challenged by newcomers Laura Aulgur and Tom Zukowski and former councilman Steve Arkwright.

Arkwright last served on council in 1995. He did not seek re-election last year. Zukowski ran unsuccessfully last year.

There are three council seats open for this year's election. The third seat will be vacated by Steve Secatch, who announced last week he would not run again.

Incumbent Mayor Sharron Catalo, who has been Clarkston's mayor for over four years, is also seeking re-election. She is running unopposed.

Middle school orientation scheduled

Sixth grade new student orientation has been scheduled at both of Clarkston's middle schools.

The program will be held Monday, Aug. 19 at 7 p.m. in the gyms of Clarkston Middle School and Sashabaw Middle School.

Kindergarten orientation

Parents of any kindergartner who hasn't yet registered to attend a Clarkston school this fall should plan to attend orientation Aug. 14.

Kindergarten orientation for all such kindergartners and their parents will be held at Pine Knob Elementary School from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Parents should bring their child's birth certificate, Social Security number, two proofs of residency and immunization records.

Flight 800 fund established

Families of National Tragedies has established a fund for the families of TWA Flight 800, which crashed off the coast of New York with over 200 people on board, including Clarkston's Courtney Johns.

Families of National Tragedies is a non-profit corporation and donations are tax-deductible. Donations are being sought to help the families with financial hardships which may occur.

Donations may be sent to Families of TWA Flight 800, PO Box 10189, St. Louis, MO 63145-0189.

Calling all parade entrants

Less than a month remains before the Clarkston Labor Day Parade and the Clarkston Rotary is calling for parade entrants.

Tom McClosky said many local groups have been sent letters of invitation but have not yet responded. Last year's turnout was excellent and he is hoping for the same thing this year for the Sept. 2 parade.

If you're planning to march in the parade, call him at 625-6636.

Taste of Independence returns

The third annual Taste of Independence will return to Bay Court Park on Sunday, Sept. 8.

The event benefits the park and will include music, a silent auction and food from local restaurants and caterers. Hours are 4-9 p.m.; tickets are $25 and are available at the Independence Township Parks and Recreation office at 90 N. Main St.

The best game in town

By Darrel W. Cole

● I never saw as many nervous, excited and then disappointed adults in one room as I did Tuesday night, waiting with the candidates for election results.

● Larry Mahrle, the CHS girls hoops coach and government teacher, could have been a star if only he would have predicted the township winners in the primary. He did pick four out of seven correct, however. Not bad, I guess, for a rookie political seer.

● Neil Wallace, who had the third-most votes for trustee, was one of the few who waited until late to find out results. Correct that, he really didn't wait.

While we were all waiting patiently inside in the cool air conditioning, Wallace and a few others were out collecting signs. As I walked out of township hall about 11:15 p.m. (most everyone else was gone) he came strolling in, dirt on his face and clothes from another load of signs he picked up.

"Congratulations," I said. "Oh, really?" he replied.

● While we're talking about Wallace, figure this out for me: He wins a trustee seat, but in his own precinct 10 delegate vote, John Nicholson beats him out, 124-97, for the right to go to the county convention.

● Rich Oppman can't help but wonder what a few signs and campaigning at the polls might have done for him, after he finished fifth in the trustee race, missing out by about 100 votes.

While he most likely worked harder than anyone else going door-to-door and appearing at events, Oppman has a strict policy against signage.

"I don't want to say I'd change," he said. "But in race with so many good people it made it tougher on me."

● A few weeks ago I was asked to talk to a group of incoming CHS seniors at the annual "Leadership Workshop" put on by principal Brent Cooley.

I talked about my job and politics and they asked questions about my profession, politicians and voting.

Only about four of the 25 or so kids were of voting age, but their concerns are worth mentioning.

They said things like "why vote when there are no good candidates" and "are we moving towards an individualistic society."

Get me outta here, I thought ... these are questions for Walter Cronkite, or, at least, Sam Donaldson.

Of course I didn't leave. But they asked some more good questions and we had a real good discussion about politics. I felt good coming out of that room that day, wondering if our local politicians would hear the concerns of our young leaders ... as I just had.

● Some say the 24 percent turnout is pretty good. I say, baloney ... and shame on the 74 percent of voters who allow others to make decisions for them.

I'll take for granted that if you're reading this you are a voter. So what each of us needs to do is preach to our friends, co-workers and relatives how important it is to vote, and help them do it if you have to.

● Well, this game is over. You've selected your representatives and the winners are all the people who voted and all 18 candidates who proved themselves as dedicated citizens by working hard to win a township office.

It's been a fun, frazzled, frenetic and not at all flagging race. But with its end, so too ends this column ... as well as this writer's time at The Clarkston News. I'm California-bound, so see ya' somewhere down the road.

Two popular residents square off for judgeship where 'niceness' is the issue

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

After nearly three decades on the district court bench, Judge Gerald McNally, running for his last term, finds himself under attack for being a nice guy.

McNally is being challenged by fellow Clarkston resident Dana Fortinberry. She says he's just too soft on criminals. He says she has no compassion. It should make for an interesting race.

Both candidates are well-liked in the community, turning up at social and civic functions. Both are experienced attorneys and articulate spokespersons for their points of view. But they differ greatly when it comes to philosophy. This is one election where voters will have a clear—if difficult—choice to make.

McNally, 64, known as "gentle Gerry" for the polite demeanor he exhibits from the bench, is the only person who's ever held the 52-2 job. He graduated from the University of Michigan law school in 1963 and practiced law for the city of Dearborn and as an assistant Oakland County prosecutor before being elected to the bench in 1969. He received an endorsement of "outstanding" from the Oakland County Bar Association's advisory committee on judicial candidates.

Fortinberry, 40, received her law degree from Wayne State University in 1982. She's worked in private practice, on the staff of Michigan National Bank and as an assistant Macomb County Prosecutor, and was a magistrate for McNally until announcing her candidacy. She was rated "qualified but not recommended" by the bar association.

In recent years there has been a movement to bring a second judgeship to 52-2 District Court because of its growing volume of cases, but that was quashed by Governor Engler. Sources now say that with the recent court reform legislation approved by the legislature, the new seat may come in the form of a transfer from another court.

However, Fortinberry said she can't wait for that eventuality, or for McNally, who hasn't been challenged for his job in years, to retire.

"I just don't think we can afford another six years the way the court is run now," she said. "He's very lenient on crime. He calls himself 'gentle Gerry.'"

Fortinberry said since there's only one judge for the entire district, he sets the tone for law enforcement over a large area. McNally agrees, but says the tone he sets is one of respect for people, no matter what their circumstances.

"I have that reputation because I'm not mean to people," he said. "I'm always polite. A lot of judges are gruff to people ..."

"If you put a guy in jail for 90 days, you've created a welfare family; you've probably created a divorce."

"Here's the difference in our philosophy," Fortinberry said. "Judge McNally feels he is sending that person to welfare ... My feeling is that person is doing that to their family. I as an elected representative of the people, as a judge, that's what the people want me to do. There have to be consequences for chosen actions."

Whereas McNally believes in second chances, Fortinberry does not.

"I think the purpose of jail is not to punish people. I think Dana and I would differ on that. It's to protect the public," he said.

Fortinberry goes a step further, saying jail is to protect society—and to teach us all a lesson: that there are consequences for breaking the law.

"I'm a person who expects to be held to certain standards, based upon my actions, and I expect others to be as well ... It's the same way I raise my kids as they grow. You get one mistake."

Fortinberry attacks her opponent specifically in the areas of domestic violence, drunk driving and fines.

● Domestic violence: Fortinberry favors the "rocket docket" philosophy in use elsewhere in 52 District Court, which promises resolution of domestic violence cases within 12 days.

Gerald McNally

While a magistrate, Fortinberry said she wanted to implement the program.

"I specifically suggested we implement that program and he said we didn't have enough cases and it wouldn't work," Fortinberry said.

"I'm not against it; I don't think it's necessary. Spouse abuse is not a big problem out here," McNally said. "It's just pure politics."

● Drunk driving: Fortinberry said McNally doesn't sentence drunk drivers to jail time or levy the same level of fines as do his counterparts. Statistics from 1995 seem to back this claim, although the state does not separate McNally's statistics from those of his magistrates.

McNally admits that his fines are lower, but says he uses alternative sentencing to substance abuse programs instead of jail time.

"We have real good programs for spouse abuse, drug abuse, alcohol abuse," he said. "We lock people up if they fall off probation. Jail is the last card we play. Dana uses jail frequently ... It was really improper what she was doing." In fact, Fortinberry admits McNally revoked sentencing authority from his magistrates because of the severity of her sentencing.

● Fines: Fortinberry said the court should be more self-supporting through the fines it collects. She said McNally's court consistently brings in a smaller percentage of its costs than its counterparts.

"I felt it was incumbent on the defendant to pay for the expenses of the court and he disagreed with me on that," she said.

McNally objects to the idea he should have set policies for everything. "You can't say all shoplifters go to jail," he said by way of example. "You don't want policies. Policies are prejudices, a way not to think ... every case is very unique."

For his part, McNally challenges his opponent's credibility, and says the fact her family has a business within the district could be a problem.

"I would suggest without credibility a judge is nothing. You must have no ties, no hidden agendas ... You don't give away your credibility all at once. It's bit by bit, teaspoon by teaspoon."

And then there's the question of endorsements.

Candidates who spent the cash won the race

Stuart gets the most, challenger Vaara comes in second in money sweepstakes

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Eleven of 18 Independence Township candidates were required to file campaign finance reports with the Oakland County Bureau of Elections July 26.

And those candidates who won in the Primary Election Aug. 6 were the candidates who spent the most money, or earned the most in contributions.

The largest single contributor was Delbert McCrary (Joan McCrary's husband), who gave $500 to supervisor challenger Mel Vaara's cause.

While Vaara and Stuart raised the most contributions, Vaara got the most individuals — the majority being teachers and others associated with the school district — to donate amounts ranging from $20 to $50. Stuart, on the other hand, relied on limited donations, but the amounts were much higher, ranging from $100 to $300.

In fact, many donations to Stuart's campaign came from mostly out-of-town contributors, including some township consultants and developers, including the developer of Morgan Lake Golf Classic.

Amira Semaan, of Bloomfield Hills developer Semann & Kasaab, donated $250 to the re-election campaign. In addition, three township consultants donated $200 each to Stuart, including township planner Richard Carlisle, who lives in Ann Arbor, engineer Thomas Biehl of Hubbel, Roth & Clark of Bloomfield Hills, and attorney Gerald Fisher, a township resident.

Vaara received contributions from trustee Bruce Mercado, Bob Olsen, Don Brose, Tom Bullen and Bill Wint, among others.

In the clerk's race, only challenger Sheila Hughes had individual contributions. Joan McCrary did not report any contributions.

Hughes had donations from former Clarkston schools superintendent Gary Haner, school board trustee Bill Craig, principal George White and Kerry Kammer.

Among the five treasurer candidates, Jim Wenger came up with the most individual contributions, totaling over $2,800. Many of his contributors are involved in the school system in some aspect, including Larry Rosso, Paul Tungate and Karen Foyteck. Other contributors include Jim Smith and Bill Wint.

Kurt Karlstrom raised about $2,200 from contributors, including Rudy Lozano, Lee Rogers, school board trustee Janet Thomas and township trustee Jeff McGee.

Roberta Badgley raised about $275 in contributions, incumbent John Lutz didn't report any contributors, while Henry Woloson did not file a campaign finance report by the deadline.

Among the nine trustee candidates, only Neil Wallace, Joseph Vasquez and David Wagner filed reports, with all three raising no more than $400 in total contributions.

Candidates for office are not required to file campaign finance reports if they don't raise or spend more than $1,000 total. The seven not filing reports are Woloson and trustee candidates Charles Cederman, Jeff McGee, Todd Moss, Rich Oppman, Larry Rosso and Daniel Travis.

Candidates will be required to file a final finance report with the county's elections bureau 30 days after the primary election.

The Clarkston News

In Focus

by Annette Kingsbury

*It only hurts
a little*

When I was a kid—16, to be exact—there came a medical emergency that required me to receive four pints of blood. Ever since then, I've felt it a duty to give blood whenever possible and encourage others to do so.

It's such a little thing, but it does take an hour or so of your time, and with people so busy these days it can be hard to do. But the need is critical.

Recently the American Red Cross, in an appeal to potential donors, sent along a story and photo of a child, 10, who is also a recipient of blood transfusions. Cory Sheridan is a bone cancer patient, and every time he goes in for chemotherapy, he needs blood. Since his diagnosis, he's received three transfusions.

The Red Cross says one single blood donation can save the lives of up to four patients. They say Cory, if his good nature and passion for Sega-playing are any indication, will recover nicely. But it wouldn't have been possible without blood donors.

During the summer, donations historically have fallen off because people go on vacations, plants shut down and school is out. But the good news is several bloodmobiles have been scheduled in our area. It's not as easy as writing a check, and maybe you can't give. But if you can, here's your chance:

Aug. 11: St. Trinity Lutheran, 7925 Sashabaw, Clarkston, 8 a.m.-2 p.m.; call 625-4644 for an appointment.

Aug. 25: St. Daniel Catholic Church, 7010 Valley Park Dr., Clarkston, 8 a.m.-2 p.m.; call 625-4580.

Aug. 27: Central United Methodist Church, 3882 Highland Rd., Waterford, 2:30-8:30 p.m.; call 681-0040.

Aug. 13: Physiotherapy Prescription, 1405 S. Lapeer Rd., Lake Orion, 2-8 p.m.; call 814-0500.

As for Cory, he is scheduled to undergo surgery after two more chemotherapy sessions, for placement of a prosthesis in his right leg. "I want to be a bone surgeon when I grow up, so that I can someday help kids with cancer, like I'm being helped," he says.

No telling what the ultimate outcome of blood donation can be.

Go get 'em!

At least one delivery-truck driver got the message loud and clear last week about his contribution to the parking problem in downtown Clarkston.

As I was walking into my office I saw Clarkston Police Chief Paul Ormiston reading the riot act to a driver who had pulled his rig in the wrong way on Main St. in front of the Clarkston News. The rear end of the truck was sticking out, and there's no telling how much of a snarl he caused getting out. Ormiston wrote the guy a ticket. "This is ridiculous," he said.

Letters to the editor

Johns family says thanks

Dear friends of Clarkston,

How can we adequately thank this splendid community? We have treasured each card, each flower, the visits and food, the offers of help, the prayers, the kind words, the bear-hugs. It is not an understatement to say that we are overwhelmed with the immense outpouring of support for the loss of one of Clarkston's children. It will be weeks before our family can personally tell each and every one of you how your support and tears have held us up through the awful loss of our darling daughter and sister, Courtney Elizabeth Johns.

We have no doubt that Bill Wint was instrumental in having Courtney identified and sent home at the earliest possible hour and we thank God for sparing us the agony of waiting for news in New York. Thank you, Bill, and thanks to your wonderful staff.

Thanks also to our Clarkston United Methodist Church - Doug Trebilcock, John Leece, Tracy and Bob Huffman, Louise Angermeier - for embracing the essence of Courtney during a beautiful and moving service. Her Righteous Mission fellow campers are incredible young people and the support and gentle words from Don Kevern cannot be measured.

The Deer Lake Raquet Club banquet center went out of its way to provide all of our friends and visitors with a lovely ending to a difficult day. And thanks, Jacqui and Forrest, for giving her a place to learn her favorite sport.

If anyone ever asks you why some of we Americans like small-town living, you need only point to Clarkston - its people, its churches, its heart. We love this area; we love all of you.

Thanks Legion for great experience

Dear editor,

We would like to express our gratitude to the Clarkston Post 63 of the American Legion for sponsoring our son and eleven other students at Boys' and Girls' State. It was an extremely valuable experience as Matt discovered how our government functions. He learned much about our political system at the same time he developed some very special friendships.

We truly believe this program develops young people into concerned and knowledgeable citizens. Also, we feel very fortunate to have an organization in our community that provides the time and support necessary to accomplish such a stimulating week.

Sincerely,
Robert and Elizabeth Gifford

Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

Just jottin'

We see it in every election . . . a businessman, housewife, gardener, whatever . . . decides to run for political office.

"Elect me and do not vote for that POLITICIAN," they say.

And the word 'politician' is spewed out venomously, likening them to scums of the earth, worse than the lowest forms of reptiles.

This is being written before the August 6 primary election. Like most elections, it seems, we will be voting against people rather than for people.

In this pre-election week Jim Nicholson's campaign advisors are filling the airways with, "Vote for a businessman, not a politician." The scum-relted politician is Ronna Romney.

Whereas I voted absentee for Romney, I don't believe neither she nor Nicholson have a snowball's chance of defeating Carl Levin in November's general election.

And, who I voted for has nothing to do with what I'm attempting to get at here, which is, what is it with these people who spend all this money demonizing politicians, while seeking the opportunity to become one so in the future their opponents can call them the same names they're calling their opponents now?

Three vampires go into a bar and order drinks. Two of them ask for a glass of blood. The third asks for a cup of plasma.

The waiter calls to the bartender; "Two bloods and a blood lite."

Ever wonder why buttons on men's and women's shirts are reversed? I read the answer recently. It dates back to the days when ladies of means were dressed by their maids.

Because most people are right-handed, it is easiest for right-handeds to button their clothes from left to right, the way men's buttons are now arranged.

The button arrangement for women was presumably changed to make it easier for the female maid to button her mistress's clothes.

Someone commented to me recently that there are more dragonflies this year than ever. It does seem like there are a lot of them.

You may also have heard the myth often inflicted on little children that dragonflies will "sew your eyelids together."

Actually, dragonflies don't even have stingers and are quite harmless except to mosquitos and gnats which they catch and consume on the wing.

Maybe, since there are definitely more mosquitos this year than ever, Mother Nature gave us more dragonflies so we'd have less swatting and scratching.

A look back

15 YEARS AGO (1981)

The Clarkston board of education stands firm on a decision to grant seven-percent salary increases to administrators and other non-affiliated supervisory personnel at its meeting Monday night. Board president Janet Thomas defends salary hikes for four central office administrators and six other employees who have come under fire because of a recent passage of three mills to maintain programs offered by the district. "It is not appropriate to single out 10 employees of approximately 400 employees and decree that they are not deserving of or will not be given raises," Thomas says.

Deer Lake Farms Homeowners' Association offers $50 for stolen swimming markers and a string of floats taken from the subdivision's beach. A strip of floats taken earlier prompts the formation of a neighborhood beach patrol, but later the additional items are taken. The markers and floats are brand new, valued between $500 and $600.

Cagers flock to Clarkston High School varsity and junior varsity girls' basketball team tryouts this week. Coaches Dave McDonald and Carla Teare report 40 girls showing up. "We're looking for a good season. We're going to be small — that's our only problem — but we're going to be pretty fast," says McDonald.

25 YEARS AGO (1971)

A "Playground Olympics" is scheduled to wind up summer activities at programs offered by the Independence Township Recreation Department. The gala finale will be held at the Clarkston High School athletic field Aug. 12. Children from the various playground programs will compete in bike racing events as well as 4-square, running and other athletic activities.

Physical exams for all high-school and junior-high athletes are set to be given next week in preparation for football season. While the emphasis is on football players, all boys participating in high-school or junior-high athletics must have exams. They must be completed two weeks before the opening of the second annual football training camp, which is scheduled for Aug. 23.

Cadet Lt. Colonel Robert Klann of Clarkston Composite Squadron Civil Air Patrol is visiting El Salvador as Michigan's representative to the International Air Cadet Exchange July 18 through August 10. Designed to foster goodwill, international understanding and fellowship, the 1971 exchange has sent over 200 CAP cadets to 25 foreign countries while their counterparts are entertained at CAP units in the U.S.

Klann, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klann of Clarkston, will return to the University of Michigan this fall as a sophomore majoring in business.

50 YEARS AGO (1946)

The Clarkston Rotary Club plans for a Labor Day parade, set for Sept. 2 this year. The parade will form on Miller Rd. at 10 a.m. and proceed down Main St. Adults, as well as children and their pets, are encouraged to dress up. Highlights will include prizes, refreshments and other activities.

Featured at the Drayton Theatre are Olivia DeHavilland and Ida Lupino in "Devotion," Merle Oberon and Joel McCrea in "They Made Me a Killer" and Jane Russell and Louis Hayward in "Young Widow." Playing at the Holly Theatre are Albert Dekker and Evelyn Ankers in "The French Key," Myrna Loy and Don Ameche in "So Goes My Love" and Marsha Hunt, John Carroll and Hume Cronyn in "A Letter For Evie."

Specials at Terry's Market this week include fresh picnic hams, 39 cents a pound; whole apricots in heavy syrup, 35 cents a can; Defiance Peas, 19 cents a can; baking chocolate, 15 cents a package; tangerine juice, 23 cents a can, extra-large ripe olives, 31 cents a can; and Octagon Cleanser, three cans for a dime.

60 YEARS AGO (1936)

Former Clarkston resident Mrs. Ralph Leighton, who now lives in Santa Ana, California, writes a letter to the Clarkston News about her new home. According to Mrs. Leighton, she is sitting under an English walnut tree while writing about Santa Ana, which, she explains, is about the size of Pontiac. Although the climate is very warm, the Leightons enjoy the weather and have a lovely house and a yard "just made to order for the children." In the yard are six orange trees, two walnut trees, one fig tree and a peach tree. "You can't imagine how grand it is to look out and see orange trees loaded," she writes.

Featured at the Holly Theatre are W.C. Fields and Rochelle Hudson in "Poppy," Chester Morris and Madge Evans in "Moonlight Murder," Clark Gable and Jeanette MacDonald in "San Francisco" and Jane Withers in "Little Miss Nobody." Coming soon: Shirley Temple in "Poor Little Rich Girl."

Specials at Rudy's this week include short ribs, two pounds for a quarter; beef roast, 16 cents a pound; sugar, 10 pounds for 49 cents; oleo, two pounds for a quarter; tomatoes, three cans for a quarter; salmon, two cans for a quarter; Fels Naptha Soap, 10 bars for 45 cents; and dog food, three cans for 25 cents — a large sample can free.

Don't Rush Me

By Don Rush

Stop, look and listen

The other day this bit of mail came to our office. It makes sense, so I'll pass it on, and on and on.

Family life can be a roller-coaster of ups and downs, but you can prolong the ups and minimize the downs by following a few important tips from the IOF Foresters, a fraternal benefit society:

1. One way to cool rising tension and anger is to talk about things before they reach a boiling point.

2. Be considerate. Talk to others in a civil manner and take their feelings into account.

3. Try to see other's viewpoints. Restate what that person has said in your own words and make sure you understand their point of view.

4. Ask how the other person feels. Make sure your message is getting across. Ask their feelings about what you've said.

5. Don't monopolize. Don't do all the talking yourself. Give other people a chance to express their views.

6. Respond to the person. Express your own thoughts and feelings about what the person has said.

7. If you're feeling good, say so. Don't pass up an opportunity to compliment someone who has said or done something to make you feel good.

8. Learn how to handle stress by taking time for yourself, eating right and exercising.

I don't know the Independent Order of Foresters from the Internal Order of Foresters, Wood Cutters and Axe Swingers, but good tips on improving one's self — from whomever — are still good tips.

For additional info from the IOF you can call their hotline, toll-free at 1-800-922-4-IOF. They have a free brochure called "What Every Family Should Know About Getting Along at Home." It may sound a little wordy, but hey, it's free.

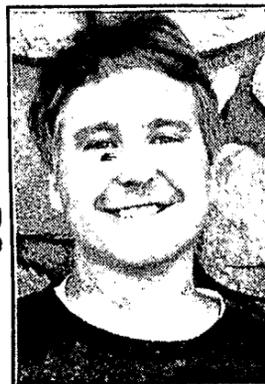

Thanks for all your cards and letters to me and my family. In times like these it's nice to know you all are out there — wherever "there" is.

People Poll

By Eileen McCarville

Did you watch the Olympics?

CAMERON MAGOON, ANN ARBOR: Yes, as much as I can. I watch them all. I just love the petty little stories. I like the swimming mainly, but I don't like John Tesh.

TOM BELTMAN, SALINE: Yes, I watch whatever's on. It's a lot of fun. The thing I don't like is the little outline arrow. There was one swimmer who filled the entire screen and they put that little arrow on him and said, "That's him right there."

SANDRA GAY, CLARKSTON: Yes. I enjoy the competition between the nations. I get real nervous for everyone. They've waited so many years to compete.

LINDSAY RUSSELL, CLARKSTON: Yes, a little, mostly just the swimming and gymnastics.

LINDSEY WALLACE, CLARKSTON: Yes... I like watching the women's field hockey. But when I watch it on NBC I don't like how they interrupt it all the time with these things they really don't need.

Wenger Says Thanks

As I write this letter, we do not know the results of the primary election in Independence Township. I want to thank all those who helped and supported me.

Running for office is not an easy decision or endeavor. I wish to give special thanks to the following: The Committee to Elect Jim Wenger Treasurer - Dom Alessi, Bob and Carol Arend, Bud and Audrey Keyser, Kathie Pierson, Fred and Sheila Ritter, and Paul and Ann Tungate: you have given generously of your time and talents. The student leaders - Peter Bertling, Katie Kildal, Heather Pattison, and Stephanie Schoemer: you have proven that young adults can get involved. To Sharon, my wife and to Jason, Jeanette and Matthew: thank you for being there for me.

To all the others who helped make this campaign possible, I thank you from the bottom of my heart. Also, to all of those who voted, I commend you for exercising your powers of democracy.

If, for some reason, we have been remiss in removing yard signs by August 9th, please call me (625-4447) or Bob Arend (625-1496) so we can remove them.

Sincerely,
Jim Wenger

Forced to submit to pesticides

Dear editor,

We moved into an area adjacent to the Deerwood Subdivision three years ago. We do not belong to the neighborhood association nor do we pay for or support the mosquito-spraying program.

Repeatedly, a worker spewing forth toxic chemicals from his fumigating apparatus has attempted to spread the pesticide on our property. I have called the township to complain but no one is able to provide me with the name of the individual in charge of this program. Just recently, I was unable to stop the spraying before the saturation of our organic vegetable gardens well as the yard toys that our chemically-sensitive toddlers play with on a daily basis. Freshly laundered linens drying on the outside clothesline were also contaminated.

I am frustrated and tired of being assaulted with toxic chemicals that I abhor. We disagree with the concept of spraying on an environmental basis and know there are better alternatives. Encouraging bats and other beneficial wildlife that keep mosquito populations at a minimum level are examples that neither poison our earth nor affect the health of the people who live on it. We have found that applying herbal insect repellent or hanging citronella plants near a patio or deck are effective as well.

The Clarkston area has much to offer in terms of the character, charm and hospitality of the community. We have enjoyed residing here for many reasons. Nevertheless, we hope that residents will stop to think about the ecological hazards of using strong and potentially toxic insecticides in an area where others must live (and are forced to suffer the consequences of such chemical use). This practice is merely reflective of the larger problem: a refusal to consider more earth-friendly methods of managing nuisances (weeds, pests, insects) that impede our enjoyment of the outdoors. These issues must and should be examined.

Wishing we lived on twenty acres,
Concerned Residents

Is sign a sign?

Dear editor,

I am writing to you regarding the local sign ordinance for the Village of Clarkston and the Township of Independence.

Depot Park recently and again when I visited the park this week, I could not help but notice an extremely large sign (both sides) attached to a stake truck in the Mills Mall parking lot for judicial candidate Dana Fortinberry.

I have complained to the city and the township to no avail.

Is there a double standard? Do candidates for a judgeship have the right to violate our sign ordinance? Would the judge-to-be attempt to persuade us that it is not a sign because it is a truck?

It would seem to me that any candidate for public office, especially a judge, would be more worthy of our votes if they followed the law rather than openly violate it.

I find it difficult to explain to my children when a sign is not a sign, or is it a truck?

Please return our park to us, Dana Fortinberry!

Concerned citizen for equal enforcement of the law,
Ann-Marie L. McCafferty

Clarkston Community Task Force welcomes public to meetings

How far are we willing to go to save our children? How much time would we sacrifice to prevent futures scarred by injury, brain damage, apathy or in it's worst scenario, those ended by death?

Far too many of our children and young adults (yes, even in Clarkston) are in crisis. Every socioeconomic class is affected. A myriad of causes or explanations do not change the facts - drugs and alcohol are about destruction to their growing and vulnerable systems. There is no such thing as "safe" use for children and young people, and yet we are too often willing to look the other way.

In addition to substance abuse, our young people are engaged in other dangerous and destructive activities in increasing numbers. Evidently, we must do more than say no. We need to rebuild a positive family and community foundation for ALL of our youth, and each of us can be instrumental in making this process successful. No small group or individual can do this alone - an accumulation of efforts both small and large can help turn our community in a more positive direction. You CAN make a difference.

There is an old proverb that says, "Drops that gather one by one finally become a sea." Will you gather and become part of the vision for a healthier and more productive community?

Please join one of our community's efforts to seek positive change. The Clarkston Community Task Force for Youth will hold its monthly breakfast meeting from 7-8 a.m. on August 15, 1996 at the Clintonwood Park Carriage House. All are welcome.

Prayers still needed

Dear Editor,

We are in Omaha, Neb. Tom has just completed a bone marrow transplant. We have been here since May 19 and will probably be here through mid-August. Prayers are still needed.

We want to thank everyone for your calls, cards, money and support; the CHS staff, student council, track and football teams - for their flowers, gifts, and monetary help.

A big thanks also to The Clarkston News, which is sending us their paper. It helps keep us updated on all Clarkston happenings.

Mail is the highlight of our day. Your support and prayers mean a lot to us. It helps to keep our spirits up.

Thank you,

Tom and Linda Walker

Doctor's opinion on partial-birth abortions

Dear Kathleen McShea (Sen. Levin's spokesperson),

Your comment that Senator Carl Levin does not respond to volumes of mail is distressing to say the least. Last time I looked, we still had a democracy based on a representative government of, by, and for the people.

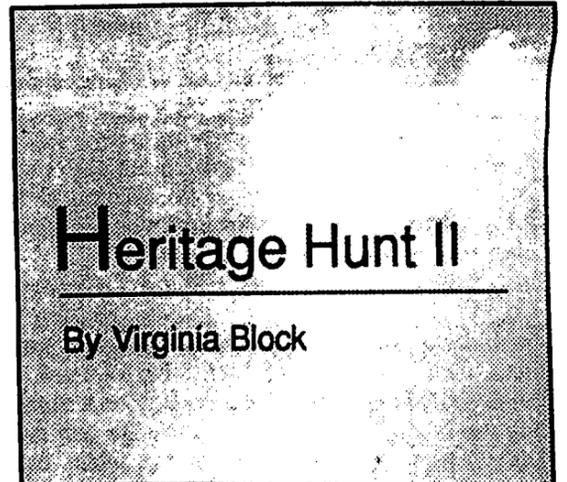

Does he respond only to large corporations and/or PAC's? I really doubt that. I thought our letters and calls counted and I still believe they do; thus, this letter and plea on behalf of the unborn.

Supporting the so-called "children advocates," President and Mrs Clinton's third-term partial-abortion is infanticide by any other name. Wasn't one holocaust of innocent people enough? Even your brother, Sandy, agrees with us. I've practiced medicine going on almost 40 years and attended many difficult deliveries as a pediatrician and I have never seen or heard of a case where this would save a mother's life.

Senator Levin, your family exudes honest, integrity and social justice for a better society. Certainly reasonable people can disagree on some issues, but not on infanticide. Please vote to give babies a chance, let them live. Life is such a beautiful choice!

Sincerely,

James O'Neill, M.D.

The excitement generated by the display of a document signed by Abraham Lincoln (part of the collection of the Oakland County Pioneer Society), gives us lots to offer this time. The document was a certificate dated 3 Feb, 1862, announcing the appointment of Thomas J. Drake, a Pontiac judge, to a Federal justice appointment in Utah.

We recently had a query come to the Pontiac Area Historical and Genealogical Society from a patron seeking information help on the Drake family. Lillian Drake Avery presented the Lincoln document to the Pioneer Society more than 50 years ago and few knew of its existence. She was a grand-niece of Thomas Drake and was well known as a historian, artist, and proud possessor of her heritage.

The re-enactment group representing Pontiac's famous 22nd Volunteer Infantry that guarded the Lincoln letter during its display brought to us recollection of Larry Blackett's tie to Civil War ancestor Austin Kimmis, who fought in the 22nd Infantry in battles with Gov. Wisner. We have copies of letters written by another soldier of that group, Arthur E. Collins. The first was written while he was a prisoner of war in one of the horrible camps that cost so many lives. The others, after his release, followed, and later letters were to Minnie, sister of William Green, and led to marriage after Collins' return home.

The Collins line is part of the lineage of the Copeman family, who yet another "column," in recounting the way our letters tie to those of the Drake family. Stay tuned for the date of the August workshop. "Find It Here." Happy Hunting.

SKIN DEEP

by Scott Friedman, D.O.

TREATING HAIR LOSS

When the subject is hair loss, the focus is usually on men, but the fact is that 20 million American women also experience hair loss (according to the American Hair Loss Council). Although hair loss usually strikes women after menopause, at least 15 million American women under the age of 40 experience it. Of this number 20% suffer an onset as early as puberty. The causes of this premature hair loss can range from iron deficiency, yo-yo dieting, chemotherapy, postpregnancy changes and other hormonal changes, to traumatic stress, autoimmune disorders, and thyroid abnormalities. In 75% to 95% of cases, the cause is genetic. Androgenetic alopecia, as it is known, can cause men to go bald, but women who experience it rarely suffer the same fate. Both men and women can avail themselves of the only treatment approved by the FDA for hair loss, minoxidil, which stopped hair loss in 60% of the women who used it in clinical trials.

Hair loss may be due to a skin condition. For the attention to your family's skin that you all deserve, call us for an appointment. We keep up to date on all the leading research and development of new treatments and techniques, that is being done in major laboratories around the world. Our offices are conveniently located at 6330 Sashabaw, Clarkston (625-0692); 3782 Lapeer Rd., Metamora (678-3974); and 3003 Baldwin, Orion (391-9599).

P.S. Hair loss is a dominant trait which, unlike recessive traits that must be carried by both parents to be passed on to their children, can be passed on by either parent.

Waldon-Main property decision near

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A bid is on the table and now it's a matter of time before the Waldon/Main Street property in the city of Clarkston is sold.

Robert and Deanna Olsen put a firm offer in front of the Independence Township Board of Trustees Aug. 5 for the 2 1/2 acre property the township owns within the city limits. The board voted 6-0 (trustee Bruce Mercado was absent) to consider the Olsen's offer of $110,000 and extended the date of sale to Sept. 19, in case others wish to bid on the property.

The Olsens agreed that if higher bids come in before the deadline, they may match, but felt confident that none would come in because no one has bid on the property for six years.

One person in the audience that night told the board she would be willing to offer $140,000, contingent on the city approving a multiple townhouse concept for the wooded site.

City Mayor Sharron Catallo and council members Bill Basinger and Karen Sanderson were also in the audience that night and disagreed with Olson's statement that the property has not been bid on in the past six years.

"In 1990 it was put up at $210,000," said Basinger. "We would urge the board to consider re-bidding this because I've heard of several who are interested. If you're talking a lower price, then maybe we (the council) would be interested again in the

'Niceness' issue in judicial race

McNally has Sheriff John Nichols; Fortinberry has his command officers and deputies. Fortinberry said law enforcement is frustrated with McNally; McNally said that's because he's independent.

"If the police like the judge, why have a judge? Let the police do what they want," he said.

As for the bar association, McNally was "grateful" for the endorsement. "Those close to the courts and law enforcement give me their highest marks. It reflects 28 years of thoughtful public service." He disputes the notion that the endorsements were made in the typical "smoke-filled room."

Fortinberry disagrees. "They asked for five references; not one of them was contacted," she said. "It's not a fair representation... I think it does a tremendous disservice."

Come November it will be up to the public to decide. But even Fortinberry admits it's hard to tear down a Mr. Nice Guy and not look like the bad guy herself.

"I'd love nothing better than for him to be an ogre with one eye in the middle of his head. He's not. He's a nice man..."

"We have no intention of making this a personal race... What I'm going to talk about are the issues, and why we need a change."

McNally will continue to operate the way he has for so many years. "I run this show, but not with a whip and chair," he said. "I try to help people."

Radiothon tugs at the heart strings

Clarkston couple touched by leukemia gives back, year after year, to the agency that helped them

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

In 1989, Mike and Nancy Weightman were faced with a crisis.

Their first child, Bryan, had been born with congenital acute lymphocytic leukemia. Only about 100 cases of the disease had been recorded up to that time. They went looking for other parents who had been through the same thing, and found support in the Children's Leukemia Foundation of Michigan.

Ever since, and even though Bryan died in 1986, the Weightmans, of Clarkston, have been working to give back some of the support they received. And on Aug. 15-16, they'll be taking part in the sixth annual radiothon for the CLF, an event which was their idea and which has raised over $100,000 per year since its inception.

The radiothon is held on WCSX-FM, 94.7, a classic rock station, with Jim Johnson and George Baier (also known as JJ and the Morning Crew) as hosts. It will be broadcast live, from 6 a.m. Aug. 15 to 10 a.m. Aug. 16 from Memphis Smoke restaurant in Royal Oak.

For 28 hours, the Weightmans, the DJs and a dedicated corps of volunteers will man the phones, spin the records and try to revive each other through the grueling ordeal. Listeners will call in with pledges for CLF, which supports patients with all manner of blood diseases and their families.

The Weightmans became involved in CLF very early on. They spent several months in 1986 in Seattle with Bryan for a bone marrow transplant and while he was sick they were unable to volunteer. Bryan died in June of 1986.

"After his death was when we became really involved," Nancy said. They were really wonderful to us." Nancy began volunteer work; Mike sat on the board of directors, eventually serving as president.

It was out of that activism that the radiothon was born. "We decided we need to change the focus of the agency because there wasn't enough cash flow," Mike said. He called Ken Calvert, a DJ he enjoyed listening to, and found a receptive audience. Calvert then sold the radio station on the idea.

"There's a lot of good people out there that just need a nudge," Nancy said.

The radiothon was held the first year at WRIF with Calvert and Lynne Woodison at the microphone. Then, movement among the DJs led to some shuffling, and in the third year they ended up at WCSX with Johnson and Baier.

"A couple of years it looked like it wasn't going to make it," said Mary Jane Johnson, of the CLF. "Mike and Nancy kept it going." Last year over $130,000 was raised, she said and every year the total has topped $100,000.

They manage to raise that much money, year after year, by offering some unique items for callers to bid on. The biggest item each year, they said, is a golf outing with rock star Bob Seger, a Detroit native. Seger has also donated guitars.

Dedicated volunteers are also crucial. Linda and Warren Hilderbrand, Nancy's sister and brother-in-law, are in charge of volunteers (Linda) and bidding (Warren) each year. Other relatives look after the Weightmans' two children, Adam, 7 and Kara, 2 so Mom and Dad can be away from home for the 28 hours. Several groups of employees and retirees come back each year to help man the phones.

"We really couldn't do it without them," Nancy said. Mike added, "If somebody gets tired or down, the next person's there."

The money rolls in, often in donations of $5 and $10 and as little as $1, but it all adds up.

But in addition to the volunteers and the prizes, the Weightmans think the success of the event has to do with the now all-too-common network of families affected by blood diseases.

"It's getting harder and harder to find, unfortunately, someone who hasn't been touched by a blood disorder," Nancy said. "We're pulling some heart strings."

Many of those heartstrings are in the Clarkston community. The Weightmans haven't forgotten how the community rallied around them when they needed help.

"The community went nuts. It was phenomenal," Nancy, a teacher at Andersonville Elementary School said. "We just sat and cried at the generosity of people we didn't even know . . ."

"It's not a payback situation because nobody expects to be paid back for that. But as the recipients of that, you want to give something back."

And the community that was touched by the family years ago hasn't forgotten either. Teachers at Andersonville donate part of the proceeds from their casual-day fund to the CLF, and there are many other, similar small fund-raising opportunities.

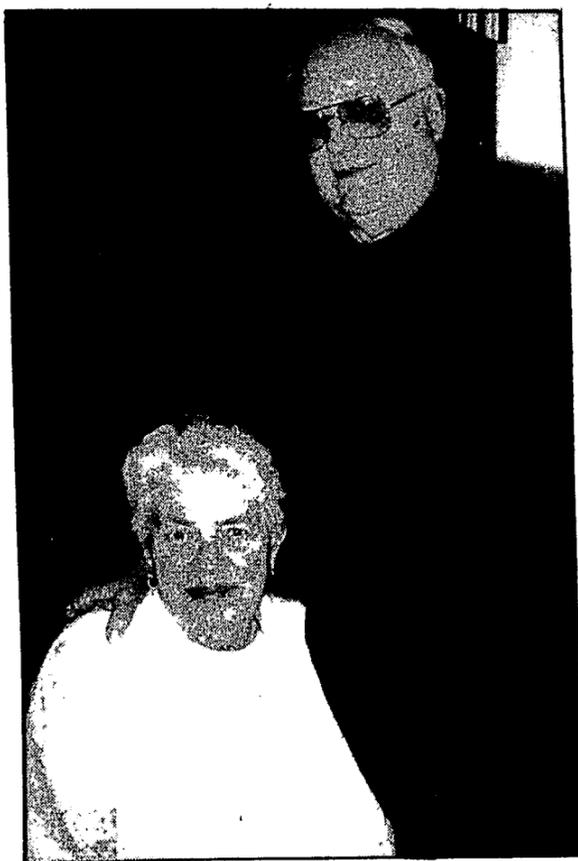

The Weightmans said the CLF is a 40-year-old Michigan organization started by parents just like them. It concentrates its spending on patient needs, whereas another organization, the Leukemia Society of America, focuses on research and is a national organization.

"The money that's raised here stays here," Mike said. "And it's a lean machine." About 30 percent of the money raised goes for operations, the rest for patient needs, he said.

"It's just a great feeling to know maybe you're helping another person not to have to go through what we and Bryan went through," Nancy said. "It keeps us going."

Milestones

Marking 50 years

Eugene P. and Jacklyn E. Foote of Clarkston recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house at Meadow Lake Park in White Lake given by their children. The Footes were married August 10, 1946 in Toledo, Ohio. They have seven children and 12 grandchildren.

Shippy-Longstaff

Former Clarkston resident Gregory L. Longstaff II has announced his engagement to Robyn D. Shippy. The prospective groom is a 1989 graduate of Clarkston High School who currently resides in Van Nuys, California. He is the son of Shannon Longstaff of Waterford and the late Gregory Longstaff. The bride-to-be is a 1988 graduate of Verdugo Hills High School in Tujunga, California and currently resides in Van Nuys. She is the daughter of Bob Shippy of Tujunga and the late Kathleen Shippy. The wedding is scheduled for August in Haleiwa, Hawaii.

MONDAY, JULY 29, a window was smashed on a Grand Am parked on Oakvista and a CD player, a carton of cigarettes and some perfume were stolen.

Someone put rocks and sand in the oil tank of a piece of construction equipment on Eston.

Fifty CDs, a CD player and a radar detector were stolen from a 1993 Lumina during a concert at Pine Knob.

A hole was shot through a garage wall overnight on Summerhill.

A leaf blower was reported missing from a truck while it was parked at a Dixie restaurant. The theft occurred a month earlier.

Deputies were called to investigate an intoxicated female lying in a ditch. By the time they arrived the 14-year-old had been taken to a house on Thendara. She was released to her mother.

property."

Robert Olsen said, "They have had six years to act and they still don't have an offer to present."

The issue of whether the property is suitable for residential (as the city says) or commercial (as Olsen and others say) also came up again, but the board said that's an issue between the city and Olsen and has nothing to do with the purchase offer.

"By doing this it gives us a chance to open the door to others," said supervisor Dale Stuart. "And if we do get another offer then we have some options."

Olsen reduced the offer from $130,000 because he said there aren't five buildable lots on the property.

Other board action

- The regular board meeting was changed to

Aug. 5 because of the Aug. 6 primary election.

● Nineteen homeowners on Greene Haven Court— upon their unanimous request — were a last minute addition to the Cranberry Lake Estates special assessment district for road paving.

The homeowners requested inclusion because their road was torn up in spots from a sewer construction company eight years ago. Each homeowner will pay about $500 each for the new road (total paving cost is $10,000) and township supervisor Dale Stuart said the company that did the original damage will be contacted to see if some costs can be offset.

One Greene Haven resident said no one blames the township for the damage done and residents are grateful they can have the new road put in at such a low cost.

Supervisor Dale Stuart said the paving costs are low because it is being added on to Cranberry Lake SAD paving project.

"We have only this short envelope to do this and since the contractor will be out there already we are getting this reasonable price," he said. "This is the best thing for you and if there is blame with the original contractor then we'll try to get them to defray some costs."

Treasurer John Lutz said he saw the damage done by the original contractors.

"This is a good cost per family for a road that will last at least 20 years," said Lutz. "The contractor should be liable for something if we can prove it."

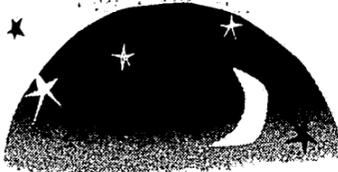

● The third annual Taste of Independence, sponsored the Playscape Dreamkeepers, was approved for a one-day liquor license permit to sell beer and wine.

The festival will be held Sept. 8, beginning at 4 p.m. at Bay Court Park. Local restaurants will participate in the Bay Court fundraiser.

Knob notes

By Eileen McCarville

Honky-tonk twosome

You might say "Hard Workin' Man" deserved to go triple platinum.

Kix Brooks and Ronnie Dunn definitely paid their dues. Before a chance encounter linked the successful duo, they both grew up down south as sons of dads in the oil pipeline business.

Brooks started "seriously honky-tonking" while in college and then took a year off to work on the Alaskan pipeline. He played in Fairbanks and then headed back for a non-stop stretch of 72 gigs on New Orleans's Bourbon St.

Meanwhile, Dunn graduated from high school, but got thrown out of "a rather conservative religious college when I wouldn't stop playing in honky-tonks." He moved to Tulsa, got involved with those surrounding Leon Russell's Shelter Records and played at a huge club called Duke's Country where he "opened for everybody that came through" in the '80s.

The two finally hooked up in Nashville when Dunn was entered in the finals of Marlboro's National Talent Round-up. Eric Clapton drummer Jamie Oldaker nonchalantly submitted one of Dunn's tapes — and Dunn won.

As the story goes, the chemistry between Brooks and Dunn was instantaneous. The first collaboration, "Brand New Man," was the most successful debut album ever released by a country duo or group. To date, it has sold nearly three million copies, produced four number-one singles and earned the pair a Grammy nomination for the hit single, "Boot Scootin' Boogie."

Their second album, "Hard Workin' Man," went triple platinum and the third release, "Waitin' On Sundown," earned them Album of the Year. The Academy of Country Music Awards also named them Entertainer of the Year and Top Vocal Duet. They won Song of the Year for "You're Gonna Miss me When I'm Gone."

Brooks and Dunn's latest release is "Borderline" and the first single, "My Maria," is currently number two on Billboard's Hot Country Singles chart.

With two such creative forces, one can imagine the eventual split. But Brooks and Dunn say that's nowhere in sight. As the song title says, they'll burn that bridge when they get there.

"Ronnie and I have settled into a real good friendship and we're really starting to feel like we have a common goal of longevity," Brooks says. "We both came from solo careers, and for a while we sort of looked at each other from the standpoint of, 'Is this something we'll do for a year or two and then go our separate ways?'"

At top, car enthusiasts crowd Depot Park to ooh and aah over the cars. Below, Pierre Moreau's 1954 MGTF is on display complete with goggles and a tool kit.

Cool cars dot Depot Park

A warm night, a cold dish of ice cream and some very cool cars; that was the scene in Depot Park Friday night as some of the stars of this year's Concours d'Elegance made a trip to Clarkston.

The Concours, held each August at Meadow Brook Hall, is one of the world's most prestigious classic car events. And each year, in addition to gracing the lawn of the mansion at Oakland University, some of the cars make their way to Clarkston to race at the Waterford Hills Raceway and go on display at Depot Park. The latter event is a fund-raiser for North Oakland SCAMP, which sells ice cream in the park during the evening.

This year's marquee, the MG, was plentiful in the park, as were other classics. Some owners used the time to apply a little spit and polish. Many car enthusiasts brought out their cameras to record their favorites.

Monica Denis, Lexy Landenberger and Chris Denis admired a 1961 MGA. "How do you get in it?" one asked, since there was no handle on the outside of the door. The owner showed them that hidden inside there was a wire that had to be pulled down.

For spectators, the event was strictly "hands off." Look, don't touch. But ah, what beauty.

SPORTS

Wolves ready for practice start Aug. 12

BY DARREL W. COLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It all begins once again Aug. 12.

That's when Clarkston — as well as every other high school in Michigan — starts practice for the fall sports season. At CHS, the girls basketball, cross country, football, boys golf, boys soccer and girls tennis teams ready themselves for another successful season.

And with this new school year, there are also some new rules and enforcements in place, namely an increased emphasis on sportsmanship.

FOOTBALL: A few rules changes were made but none will have a great impact on the game. One change fans will notice is the stoppage of the clock after a change of possession, such as following kick-offs and punts. The change will add about five minutes to each game.

For safety's sake a rule to provide extra protection for the snapper in a placekick or punting situation was adopted. A defensive player will no longer be able to charge directly into the snapper until the player is able to defend himself. When called, a violation will result in a 15-yard penalty.

Clarkston varsity football coach Kurt Richardson said the changes in his sport are "minor" and won't affect his squad too much. However, he did say the stoppage of clock rule will allow his team more time to score, in what is expected to be an explosive CHS offense.

BASKETBALL: The rule changes are highlighted by the canceling of free throws when a double technical occurs. Play will now resume with an alternating possession throw-in from center court.

Another change stipulates that if players wear a shirt under a jersey, the sleeve length for all players must be identical.

SOCCER: A major change comes in the use of a three-whistle officiating system, which some Michigan leagues have experimented with. All three officials will now have equal authority to call fouls, as opposed to the diagonal system which has one referee and two linesmen, with the referee making the foul calls.

Schools have the option to use the three-whistle system for regular season games, however, the MHSAA will still use the diagonal system for MHSAA tournament contests.

CROSS COUNTRY AND TENNIS: The finals for both sports have been moved to a more permanent venue. In cross country, the finals in all classes will be conducted at the Michigan International Speedway near Jackson. The stadium will allow spectators to view runners for almost 3/4 of the race.

In tennis, the Class A finals will be conducted in

First in their class

The father-daughter duo of John and Lisa Gebus (pictured fifth and sixth from left) came in first in their boat class (PHRF G) in the Bayview Mackinac Race (from Port Huron to Mackinaw Island) held in July. The two Independence Township residents and the rest of the crew competed in a class with 15 other vessels. In all, the race featured 22 classes and 260 boats. For Lisa, a CHS senior cheerleader and soccer player, it was her second race with her father John, who has competed in nine of the races, and is captain and owner of the winning boat, Diamond Girl.

All smiles at volleyball team camp

Several teams converged on Clarkston's gymnasium last week for the annual team camp, organized by Bob Hurdle, athletic director at Bloomfield Hills Lahser and former Oakland University volleyball coach, and Clarkston volleyball

its entirety at the Midland Tennis Center, utilizing all indoor and outdoor courts at that facility.

* Some of the changes to put more emphasis on sportsmanship include: Banning from post-season tournaments any coach disqualified for unsportsmanlike conduct two or more times during the season, and doing the same for a player disqualified three or more times; Any coach or player that hits, pushes or physically contacts an official at any time will be banned from the MHSAA tournament in that sport and from the site; schools which receive three or more negative officials reports in a single school year will have the school's name published in the MHSAA "Bulletin" (sent to schools and the media); Coaches who are ejected from contests will also be published in the Bulletin.

Grant is top UM frosh

Corey Grant, a 1995 CHS graduate, was named the University of Michigan Wrestling team's Outstanding Freshman.

Grant, who earned a partial scholarship, started most of the season at 125 pounds, but had to prove to coaches early on that he could wrestle and be competitive. He started the season behind a full scholarship wrestler but soon worked his way up. He wound up with a record above .500 and finished in the top five of several tournaments.

At Clarkston, Grant earned four varsity letters, was 143-11 overall and finished third in the state meet two consecutive years. As a senior, Grant and his team finished as state runners-up.

Aulgur stays hot

Clarkston senior-to-be Mike Aulgur isn't slowing down any after being the first CHS boys tennis player to qualify for the state tournament in almost 30 years.

Aulgur's high school season ended in June, but he's still going strong in summer tournaments. In the last month he's won two, including the Northville Junior Open and the Century Cellunet Junior Open in St. Joseph.

In both toumeys, Aulgur competed in the 18-under division.

In Northville, Aulgur won five matches in a field of 32 competitors. At St. Joseph he won the championship in four matches.

This week, Aulgur was expected to continue his tennis-filled summer with an appearance in the Ann Arbor Junior Open, where 48 athletes will battle for the title.

I Bet You Didn't Know

Brought to you by Arnold Simmons of the Oxford Cinemas

One of the most incredible baseball records of all-time was set by Shoeless Joe Jackson who had season batting averages in the major leagues of .387, .408, .395, .373, .354 and .382—AND NEVER WON A BATTING TITLE! Jackson compiled those averages in the American League starting in 1910, but every season when he had such high averages, someone else had a better one. It seems unbelievable that a player who hit that well should not have won at least one batting championship—but Joe Jackson never did!

Why are points in tennis called 15, 30, and 40 instead of 1, 2 and 3? In the early days of tennis, the score was kept on a clock, with hands moved to 15, 30 and 45 minutes after the hour, so the points were called 15, 30, 45 instead of 1, 2 and 3. Later, players changed the 45 to 40, but 15 and 30 remain.

One reason why sports are so interesting is this quote by playwright Neil Simon. He said "Sports are the only entertainment where, no matter how many times you go, you never know the ending."

I bet you didn't know... Oxford Cinemas has three auditoriums, showing first run movies and Tuesdays are Bargain Days!

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

LOAN CAP PROTECTION

IF YOU HAVE AN ADJUSTABLE mortgage, make sure you know what the loan caps are.

27 S. Main, Clarkston
625-9300

QUESTION: What protection do I have with an adjustable mortgage if interest rates go sky high?

ANSWER: Make sure you focus on the interest rate "caps". Caps represent a guarantee from the lender that you will not be required to pay more than an agreed-upon maximum rate no matter how high interest rates may climb.

The two most common are life-of-the-loan and annual rate caps. The life-of-the-loan cap sets a maximum that the rate can reach during the entire loan life.

The annual cap shields you against a certain increase (always lower) than the rate can rise in one year.

To the Atlanta games

Nine members of Girl Scout Troop 617 of Clarkston, along with five adults, travelled to the Olympics in Atlanta, GA July 27-Aug. 1. The girls raised all their travel money through troop activities and saw equestrian dressage events and rowing. Troop leader Cathy Grogan said the girls had a great time. "The fountain in the (Centennial) park was a lot of fun and the World of Coke . . . and souvenir shopping. They brought home a lot of souvenirs."

Top: Rebecca Eaton tries weightlifting, midget size. Below, Richie Eaton seems to be enjoying the hurdles over logs on the front lawn.

Roddy Eaton Jr. (center) carries the torch as the opening ceremonies make the rounds.

Let the games begin!

The "Rocky" theme played. The flag was raised. And runners made the circuit carrying the torch.

Only it wasn't Atlanta; it was a subdivision in Independence Township, where some dedicated moms decided to make the summer Olympics more than just a TV show for their kids.

Neighbors Veronica Johnstone and Regina Eaton were the organizers of the Hillview-Olympics and they were indeed organized: each child got a medal, there were podiums to stand on, stirring music—you name it. And as the kids started off down the driveway on a sunny morning last week, it was hard to tell who was having a better time.

"I've been using the theme all week," Johnstone said. "First one dressed gets the gold."

The moms said they divided the expected 25 kids into age groups and then came up with events based on what they could offer and what the kids could do. Weightlifting, basketball and track and field were among the events.

"The girls have been doing gymnastics all week so we had to do that," Johnstone said. "And they know the athletes too."

In this pint-sized Olympics, the kids each got their gold medals in advance, then earned stickers for first-, second- and third-place finishes, along with a trip to the podium and a quick a capella rendition of The National Anthem, courtesy of the moms.

—By Annette Kingsbury

Joey Goodlew (right) takes the podium after winning the hurdles. "It was easy; way easy," he said, savoring the victory. At left it Richie Eaton.
