NcNally keeps his seat

Aulgur top vote-getter in city council race

Though 64.5 percent of Independence Township voters marked the straight Republican Party ticket, some defected and voted for Democrats Bill Clinton, Carl Levin and Dale Kildee.

And though the three incumbent Democrats lost Independence Township, they swept Oakland County on their way to re-election, bringing a few other Democrats along for the ride.

Nowak, a Clarkston resident, took 55 percent of the township vote for the 9th Congressional District. However he lost the county; the district also includes parts of Lapeer and Genesee counties.

52-2 District Court

In the heated race for 52-2 District Court, incumbent Gerald McNally appeared as of presstime to have held onto his seat, beating challenger Dana Fortinberry 13,597-11,197, according to unofficial Oakland County results Wednesday morning. Both are Clarkston residents.

City council

In the race for city council in the City of the Village of Clarkston, newcomer Laura Aulgur was the top vote-getter with 312 votes. Incumbent Karen Sanderson came in second, with 287 votes; former concilman Steven Arkwright came in third with 273 votes; and incumbent Doug Roeser was fourth with 251 votes. Mayor Sharron Catallo was re-elected without opposition.

Independence Township

Township board positions were all unopposed in the general election. Incumbent supervisor Dale Stuart and incumbent clerk Joan McCrary were re-elected, as were incumbent trustees Jeff McGee and Dan Travis. Newcomers Larry Rosso and Neil Wallace were also elected trustee; Jim Wenger is the new township treasurer. He beat incumbent John Lutz in the August primary.

Both the city and the township recorded high levels of voter turnout, in contrast with the rest of the country, which recorded the lowest turnout in decades overall. City manager Art Pappas said the approximately 66 percent city turnout was the highest he could remember. In the township, the turnout was about 50 percent.

Oakland County

In county races, L. Brooks Patterson was easily re-elected County Executive. Sheriff John Nichols survived a strong challenge by Democrat Mat Hogan, President Bill Clinton was elected to his second term Tuesday. Republican candidate Bob Dole made his concession speech about 11 p.m., Eastern time.

with unofficial results showing Nichols ahead, 240,728-229,261. Incumbent clerk Lynn Allen, treasurer C. Hugh Dohany and drain commissioner George Kuhn were all re-elected.

Democrats did win the Oakland County Prosecutor's office, however, with Steve Kaplan beating Dave Gorcyca, 232,193-221,423 in a race that apparently came down to experience. Incumbent Republican Richard Thompson lost the August primary in what many observers saw as a referendum on his unsuccessful prosecution of Dr. Jack Kevoorkian.

County Commission

Republicans held onto all three local seats on the Oakland County Board of Commissioners. In District 1, incumbent Donna Huntoon was re-elected, as was incumbent Larry Obrecht in District 3. In District 2, where incumbent Larry Crake was stepping down, former commissioner Frank Millard of Clarkston won.

Incumbents were re-elected to Oakland County Circuit Court, and Nanci Grant was elected to the non-incumbent position.

Ballot proposals

Information on six statewide ballot proposals was sketchy Wednesday morning. A spokesperson for the Secretary of State's Elections Bureau said there was a delay and results would not be available until afternoon. Exit polls and early returns indicated proposals B, C, E and G would pass, as they did in Independence Township except for E, the question on casino gambling.

The news in brief

New officials' swearing-ins

The newly elected Independence Township Board of Trustees will be sworn in Tuesday, Nov. 12 at 7 p.m. at the Carriage House at Clintonwood Park.

Newly elected city council members for the City of the Village of Clarkston will be sworn in before the next city council meeting, which is scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday, Nov. 11.

Last day to register for school election

The last day to register for the December 9 school bond election is Tuesday, Nov. 12.

The district will ask voters for permission to borrow $52.5 million to build a new elementary school and additions and renovations at most other buildings.

Register at your city or township clerk's office or any Secretary of State branch.

Youth Assistance seeks male mentors

Oakland County Youth Assistance is seeking male mentors in the Clarkston community.

Men who have a couple of hours a week to give to a young man on a one-to-one basis are being sought for current openings in Clarkston. Adult mentors will be used in a program similar to Big Brothers, Big Sisters.

If you can spare two hours a week, call 858-0041. There's a young man waiting.

Free wood chips offered by county

Oakland County is once again offering free wood chips to local residents.

The chips will be available Saturday, Nov. 16 at Orion Oaks County Park. Hours are 9 a.m.-4 p.m. and you must supply your own containers and shovels. Tractors and loaders are not allowed.

"Our first free wood chip day in October was so popular we decided to offer this service again," said Dan Stencil, chief of park operations. Last month, 300 residents took home nearly 400 cubic yards of chips. The chips are dropped off by utility companies after tree pruning.

The free chips will be available again in the spring on April 5 and 26. The park is bordered by Clarkston, Baldwin and Joslyn roads. For more information call 858-0906 (TDD 858-1684).

Clarkston Village Players hold auditions

Auditions for "P. S. Your Cat is Dead," a comedy to be presented by the Clarkston Village Players, will be held Nov. 6 at 7 p.m. and Nov. 9 at 4 p.m. at Depot Theater on White Lake Rd. at the railroad tracks.

The play has three male parts and one female part, all in their mid 20s to late 30s. The story by James Kirkwood tells of an actor on a bad-luck streak who tries to avenge his bad break in life.

For more information on the auditions, call director Lee Woolcox at 625-6432.

Up, up and away with drugs

BY EILEEN McCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Anyone walking into counselor Rob Albee's office Oct. 30 would have thought Clarkston Middle School was having a circus.

But the 700 red balloons were there for a reason — to help keep Clarkston Middle Schoolers off drugs. They were waiting to be taken down to the school's gym by members of CMS's Club Pride, a new national organization that was funded by United Way last year.

Once there, members would give a balloon to each student who walked through the door, to be released to the gym rafters — hopefully with drug-free pledges as well.

"I'm afraid to turn the lights on because they'd pop," laughed Albee. But he didn't mind the temporary inconvenience. Combining an activity that melds school spirit with a membership drive is worth it for Albee, who decided to be the club's advisor.

Albee said his group of 35 middle-schoolers did just about everything to make it happen. "I didn't have to blow up one balloon," he quipped. Each student has a special role, which helps to build self-esteem.

"We had to figure out what we wanted to order, how many balloons ... Then we had to blow them all up," said seventh-grader Beth Holland, the club's publicity chairperson. The group also sponsored a contest to guess the number of suckers in a jar and bought water bottles, miniature footballs and pens and other items for prizes to be used for this and other activities throughout the year.

Albee said originally the group wanted to hold the event outside, but decided against it for environmental reasons. The last balloon to fizzle and fall to the gym floor would garner a jackpot of prizes for its owner, he said. Of course, that would probably happen a few days later, after a lot of sweeping by school custodians.

Albee said Monday that sixth-grader Rachel Tyler was the winner.

As each grade — sixth, seventh, then eighth — sat in the gym holding balloons, Club Pride members gave a little pep talk about not doing drugs.

"Students need to educate each other about the dangers of alcohol and drugs. Kids who don't use drugs are cool and a lot of fun to be around. Our main goal is to have fun together and support each other," said sixth-grader Heather Lauzun.

Students were then encouraged to come down to the floor and release their balloons, alone or with their friends.

Many students said they had already made the choice to remain drug-free. Beth Holland said she decided to join the club after a Rochester High School Club Pride group visited the school. She says the strength of the group helps her, as has past education in school health and science classes and the DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) program.

Though she hasn't joined Club Pride, one student who released her balloon with two friends says she doesn't have a problem saying no "because I know the effects and I've seen them. My grandpa was an alcoholic. He died from alcohol," she said.

In addition, pictures were taken with the intent of sending them to Dr. Jerry Linenger, an astronaut who talked with Clarkston elementary students from outer space two years ago.

A message will be sent along with the photos that reads: "We, the students of Clarkston Middle School from Clarkston, MI, USA, are proud to celebrate Red Ribbon Week because it represents our understanding that remaining drug, alcohol and tobacco free is vital to achieving our HIGHEST goals."

Like many CMS staffers, principal Vince Licata enjoyed watching the youthful enthusiasm. But he offered some sobering comments.

With this age, "obviously, experimentation is a part of growing up. We want to point them in the right direction of a drug-free life. We know the pitfalls that substance abuse can bring," he said.

"Once they exit, we know that some drug abuse

Just tie a scarlet ribbon 'round the old brick school ...

BY EILEEN McCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Katrina O'Connor didn't have to think long before she decided to join Pine Knob Elementary's Just Say No club.

"I guess I just wanted to be drug-free 'cause I know drugs can mess you up and they're not good for you," said the fifth-grader, who was out in the cold, windy air last week hanging red ribbons around the school grounds.

A fellow fifth-grader, Kelly Robinson, agreed. "I think drugs are stupid. If you have too much, you can get very hurt and go to the hospital. They can kill you. I will not do drugs ever — even if my friends want to."

Those are some of the reasons why the two girls and nearly 70 of their classmates pledged to be drug-free at the beginning of the school year. Even at their young age, they're already feeling peer pressure and know there is safety in numbers with the support of Just Say No.

And they wanted to get the word out to their classmates during National Red Ribbon Week, Oct. 23-31. The annual event remembers the death of a Drug Enforcement Agency officer who was assassinated by drug dealers while on duty.

"His murder served as a catalyst, calling people to action and to make a visible commitment by wearing and displaying red ribbons to show the nation's intolerance of drugs," says a press release from Kelly Kanigowski, Clarkston High School student assistance coordinator. Several schools, including CHS and Pine Knob El., incorporated various activities throughout the week. Pine Knob held a different event each school day.

Just Say No club members made posters, hung red ribbons inside so students could add drug-free pledges, tied ribbons around the school grounds, wore bows to school and, finally, decked themselves in scarlet from head to toe.

According to Jennifer Jennings, a para-professional who works with teacher Trisha Carter, head of the club, it's a team effort between staff and students. But kids are the real messengers.

"We've done this for two years now. We talk to the staff members. The kids talk to their friends and really get it going," she said.

Jennings and Carter go to each fourth- and fifth-grade classroom, hoping to round up students who will make that choice before the school year gets underway. The ultimate goal is getting kids to join the club, which meets during lunch-recess every other week.

Joint bid accepted by railway bails out Players

BY EILEEN McCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

For weeks they've been saying the show must go on. Now it looks like it will.

Canadian National Railroad land sales consultant Chuck Tucker said last week that the railway has accepted a joint offer from three groups, including local theater troupe The Clarkston Village Players, that together lease a 1.3-acre parcel from the railway on White Lake Rd.

Though Tucker would not reveal the amount, he said the offer had been accepted and CN was working at wrapping up the deal with a purchase agreement and closing by the end of the year.

Last summer CN decided to sell off some surplus land along its tracks and was asking $1.50 per square foot, or approximately $78,000, for the parcel leased by the Players, Buckeye Pipeline and Continental Machine Co. The parcel is already smaller than the township zoning ordinance allows for industrial zoning and CN never applied for a rezoning or a lot split.

The sale affected the 36-year-old Players because if they couldn't raise the money, they were in danger of losing their home, Depot Theatre, a former railroad depot that sits alongside the tracks. A window opened when all three entities agreed to take on the joint bid.

However, a portion of the building doesn't fall on the parcel in question. Because of that, Player Melissa Breckenridge said a couple of weeks ago that, even if the bid were accepted, it wouldn't guarantee the CVP's future because CN wanted to retain that portion for its right-of-way.

Tucker indicated they could put their worries to rest.

"We'll be negotiating on that. We've agreed to come up with some sort of an agreement to enable them to use the building as long as it exists," he said.

Players president Al Bartlett said that played a major role in negotiations. "That's why it was very important to get a commitment from CN about a permanent easement on that portion (of the land) they wanted to sell. Things seem to be working out very well," he said.

The Players will have to raise the money for their share of the bid, which is approximately one-third of the total. That won't come from ticket sales because of the theater's tiny size, though performances are generally sellouts.

But recently Players learned that a patron and benefactor had agreed to loan them the entire amount, provided they pay it back in one year. Bartlett said so far the group has collected $4,300 in donations, but would like to include a fund-raiser.

However, it's difficult to do that during the theater season, he said. Had they known about the sale as early as May, they could have held fund-raisers. The Players found out in August.

"The problem we've got is a lot of people say, 'Why not do a fund-raiser?' But we're right in the middle of the season. When we finish 'Tribute' (the current production running at the theater) we jump right into 'P.S. Your Cat is Dead.' We're running, boom, boom — we don't have a lot of time between shows. We're limited with people power right now to do a full-blown fund-raiser." Bartlett said the Players are looking at more do-able options like dinner theater.

Bartlett said he and two other CVP members, including Dave Kramer, attended the talks with CN.

Kramer, who is Independence Township's assessor, was a helpful person to have at the talks, said Bartlett, as was the other member, who is an attorney.

Kramer confirmed negotiations include "the contingency that (CN) will sell us a permanent easement for where the building occupies space in the railroad's right-of-way, until such time as the building's destroyed. The Players already own the building.

"Everybody wants to close by the end of the year," he said, adding that title work has been completed and a land survey is underway.

He also confirmed that a benefactor had agreed to "a short-term loan on a one-year note.

"But that doesn't pay off our responsibility. That's just a stop-gap treatment. We need some money," he said.

To make a donation, please call the Clarkston Village Players line at (810) 625-1826. If no one is available, your phone call will be returned.

Underage teen behind the wheel leads to accident

A 14-year-old Orion Township resident who was driving with a 16-year-old as a passenger lost control of a car on Maybee Rd. Oct. 23, sending both teens to the hospital.

According to Dep. Dennis Wandrei of the Oakland County Sheriff's Crash Reconstruction Unit, the 16-year-old allowed the 14-year-old to take the wheel. The unlicensed driver was travelling east on Maybee about one-half mile east of Clintonville Rd. in Independence Township when he lost control of the car, left the road and hit a tree. The driver was not wearing a seatbelt at the time of the accident.

Both passengers had to be extricated from the car by the Independence Township Fire Department. Two firefighters went on board the ambulance to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital to assist.

Wandrei said alcohol does not appear to be a factor in the 5:15 p.m. crash, which is still under investigation.

Board hears requests for Block Grant money

BY EILEEN MCCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A public hearing was held Nov. 4 during the Independence Township Board of Trustees' regular meeting to discuss the 1997-98 budget for yearly Community Development Block Grant funds.

Township treasurer John Lutz said representatives from various groups were there to request funds, including Clarkston Area Youth Assistance, SCAMP, HAVEN, Independence Township Library, Chore Services and Meals on Wheels. In addition, the township traditionally looks at allocations for Lighthouse Clarkston but, at present, the group has leftover funding from past years, he said.

Lutz said the board will approve the allocations at its next meeting Nov. 19. But, he added, "When we pass our budget, we're going to be approving for percentages, not dollar amounts." Past experience has been that the township sometimes receives more or less of that funding, he added. The total amount expected this year is $63,468.

In other board action:

● The board voted 6-1 to spend $7,800 for the creation of a financial software system for the clerk's office, with township supervisor Dale Stuart dissenting. The software will be customized by a Texas-based company and be used to keep fund-balance accounting for the township, such as accounts payable and receivable, Stuart said.

Lutz said he voted in favor because it would be created by a team of experts in the software field and "in the long run, be cost-effective for the township." Stuart said he dissented because not enough information was presented. "Forty-three different people have been invited to be involved in the creation of this software. We're the only Michigan community to be involved," he added.

Stuart said he wasn't convinced that the group has "the ability to do what they say they're going to do" and he feels that commercially available software is a better way for the township to go than a "raw program" because of field-testing and experience.

● Independence Township Fire Department clerk Luke Studt was promoted to clerical technical in the department with a salary boost from $10.30 to $12.24 per hour.

In addition, fire inspector Greg Olrich was appointed acting fire marshal to temporarily fill the vacancy left by current fire marshal Neil Ashley, who is out on sick leave. Olrich's salary will be increased by 50 percent of the difference between his present salary and Ashley's, jumping from $37,000 to $39,808 annually during the interim, fire chief Gar Wilson said.

Accident takes life of child

An 8-year-old Brandon Township boy was killed and his mother seriously injured in an auto accident on Sashabaw Rd. Oct. 30.

The boy, Brandon Brittingham, was a passenger in a 1986 GMC truck being driven by his mother, Barbara Vitale, 29. She was driving southbound on Sashabaw Rd. north of Clarkston Rd. when she rear-ended the vehicle ahead of her, went off the road and hit a sign and a large tree, according to Dep. Walt Blackmer of the Oakland County Sheriff's Crash Reconstruction Unit.

Vitale was taken to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, where she remained in serious but stable condition Tuesday. Alcohol was not a factor in the crash, Blackmer said. The accident is still under investigation. The driver of the second vehicle was not injured.

Brandon was a member of Mt. Zion Church in Independence Township and had formerly attended school there. In addition to his mother, he is survived by his father, Eric Brittingham, grandparents Carl and Rita Brittingham of Rochester Hills, great-grandmother Helen Kohn of Rochester and many aunts, uncles and cousins.

Visitation will be Thursday at Pixley Funeral Home in Rochester from 6-9 p.m. and Friday, 3-9 p.m. Visitation continues Saturday at 9:15 a.m. at St. Irenaeus Catholic Church in Rochester Hills, followed by a funeral service at 10 a.m. Burial will be at Van Hoosen Jones-Stoney Creek Cemetery in Rochester.

The family requests that memorials be sent to Mt. Zion Christian School, 4900 Maybee Rd., Clarkston, MI 48348.

In Focus

by Annette Kingsbury

Deputy Cooley?

Imagine your high-school principal deputized to issue tickets—right at school.

Though it sounds like a teenager's worst nightmare, it's actually coming true in some nearby school districts. City governments, in cahoots with school boards, are ganging up on unruly kids to give principals unprecedented new powers.

A recent news article said that in Warren, the city council agreed to give principals in two school districts ticket-writing power. The tickets may require fines but not jail time. Lincoln Park has approved an arrangement that will require parents of misbehaving elementary students to attend Saturday morning detention with their kids. There, the city has a local ordinance to back up the detention plan.

What's the world coming too?

When I was a kid, I didn't want to go anywhere with my parents. There's a certain age every kid reaches when parents suddenly grow cooties and you don't want to be seen with them. It's just not cool. Having them go to school with you—on Saturday morning, no less—must be the ultimate in personal shame. Hey—maybe it'll work.

Warren and St. Clair Shores already have parental responsibility ordinances, so if kids get into crime their parents can be held legally responsible. One St. Clair Shores couple made the evening news a few months ago when they were charged under that city's law after their son had been charged with several crimes. They were found guilty by a judge and ordered to pay over $2,000 in fines and court costs.

These are tricky times to be a parent. I don't know how many times I've heard parents of younger kids—even infants—say, "Gee I hope my son/daughter doesn't grow up and do something like that" after reading about some crime in the newspapers. No one feels immune.

Of course, these are also tricky times to be growing up. As a recent speaker told Clarkston parents, you have no idea how many decisions your kids are faced with making every day. These are decisions most of their parents didn't have to deal with 20 years ago when they were in school.

Nowadays, kids who make wrong decisions can get in so much more trouble. Over and over, parents are warned—this isn't the same world we grew up in.

Clarkston High School principal Brent Cooley's favorite topic is choices—kids making good ones. He's seen it happen, over and over, where kids mess up and their parents try to mitigate the consequences for them. Maybe if I was a parent I'd do the same.

But where's the educational value in that? Kids need to learn that if they mess up, they will pay. Not as retribution, but as a way to teach them to consider more wisely in the future.

So give them a ticket, fine them, detention them forever—but not their parents. Maybe deputizing the principal is just one more step in that direction. Having someone looking over your shoulder is pretty good incentive not to mess up. If it'll cost you money, even more incentive.

So watch out, kids. There's a new weapon in the arsenal, and it's coming soon to a school near you. When Cooley starts wearing spurs, you'll know he's in business.

Support your community theater

The recent possible closing of the Depot Theatre had everybody, not just the Clarkston Village Players, waiting in the wings to see what would happen.

We were shocked to hear that the Players might have had to relocate to another building because they couldn't afford to purchase the land they leased from the Canadian National Railroad. If that happened, no more would patrons be able to frequent the little red depot-turned-theater to be charmed by the Players' tradition—having actors freeze-frame every time a train roars by.

No more would the Players brightly painted playbill be posted on the building that's housed them and entertained us for the past 36 years. Everyone talks of the area's charm and Depot Theatre is certainly a part of that.

However, a joint bid offered by the Players and two other entities that lease the acreage has been accepted by the railway. And it looks like the Players will be able to keep their theater.

But they won't be able to raise the thousands of dollars by themselves. Their beloved building has always been too small to hold the number of patrons that would like to see productions, so ticket sales won't generate the extra needed funds.

Players president Al Bartlett says the group may hold some fund-raisers but the recent developments unfortunately come at an inopportune time when the group is in the midst of its play season.

However, donations are being accepted and will be needed to pay back a generous patron who has offered them a loan. Timely contributions will also help beat the interest.

Maybe it's time to step out into the spotlight and support your local theater group. Where else can you see productions as diverse as a Japanese drama (past production "Roshamon"), a psychological thriller ("Toyer")—even a comedy club, which the group tried one year—in your own backyard, without driving to Meadow Brook Theatre or Detroit?

We urge the community to reach into its collective pockets and help the Clarkston Village Players, even if it's no more than the price of a theater ticket. Call (810) 625-1826 to make a donation. The show WILL go on—with your help. EMC

AIDS Program Worthwhile

Dear Editor:

On Thursday, November 7th at S.M.S. Clarkston Area Youth Assistance, in co-operation with the PTA's of both middle schools, is sponsoring a program on AIDS prevention, "My Name is Pam Rogers and I Have AIDS."

I encourage all parents of middle school students to see this program with their children. I have seen this program and believe its message of abstinence is a good one. If you have any questions you can call the Y.A. office at 625-9007.

Sincerely,
Merelys Mallett

Jim's Jottings

By Jim Sherman

From the Jottings archives

Probably 90% of all the dead in U.S. cemeteries are now buried in east and west graves.

But why? Some people say that burials should be made with the feet pointing east because that's the direction from which Jesus Christ will return on his Second Coming. Others say that the Pearly Gates open toward the west.

There's another theory that the rising sun is symbolic of hope and therefore a corpse should be placed to face the rising sun.

So far nothing has been found in the Bible or in the literature of various creeds to back up the custom of east and west burial.

Protestants and Roman Catholics searched their books in vain to find something about latitude and longitude and the relative positions of the dead. Father Paul DeRose consulted a diocesan authority before reporting that neither the Bible nor canon law touches the subject of direction.

He did say that the judgement is expected to come from the direction of Jerusalem, which to western Christianity means east. In this latitude, though, it would be southeast.

Under English law everyone in England has a right to be buried in the burial ground of the parish where he dies, with the exception of executed felons, but nothing is said about east and west or north and south.

It is still not uncommon among civilized persons in the Orient to expose dead human bodies to birds and animals. Egyptians, of course, had a special method of embalming that preserved remains for thousands of years.

Some people put weapons or food into graves with the dead. In Greenland a dog is buried with the man. In the Congo the dead man's favorite wives and some of his servants accompany him into the grave.

Romans put a cake of flour and honey into a hand of the departed as a bribe for Cerberus. They also included a fee for Charon. Greeks and Romans buried their dead with the head toward the west, and maybe that's where our custom started.

Moslems bury their dead facing toward Mecca, which here in Oxford would mean the direction would be southeast.

Moslems bury their dead quick and without mourning. They are schooled to accept death as the will of God.

The speed comes from the admonition: "Make haste to bury the dead, that, if he have done well, he may forthwith go into blessedness; if evil, into hell-fire."

That's the story about burials and if you don't want to have the rays of the morning sun awaken you, there's no law that says you can't face another direction.

A look back

15 YEARS AGO (1981)

Frowning once again on businesses that open in violation of the zoning ordinance and building code, Independence Township tries to close a new video game room on M-15, next to Clarkston's True Value Hardware. The township's building department charges that owner Robert Warrington violated the zoning ordinance and building code with his opening.

Maintaining a fighting stance on adult foster care homes, the Independence Township Board of Trustees instructs its attorney to seek a restraining order to prohibit the two latest group home applicants from building at proposed sites on Chickadee and Whipple Lake roads.

Dave Smith and Dan Fife, two familiar names in Clarkston sports, have been named to fill two coaching vacancies created by the departures of Larry Mahrle and Tim Kaul. Smith will take on the title of Clarkston High School boys' junior varsity basketball coach. Fife will assume the duties of freshman basketball coach at Sashabaw Jr. High School.

25 YEARS AGO (1971)

Approximately 60 people — parent members of the National Action Group (NAG), parents, teachers, school administrators and students — attend the Nov. 8 meeting of the Clarkston Board of Education. NAG spokesperson Joan Phillips expresses displeasure over the lack of cooperation by some teachers and principals in the recent distribution of questionnaires concerning school busing. NAG members also question the board's decision to refuse school buildings for meetings.

Intrigue and excitement greet Fred and Sheila Ritter during their first weekend as new proprietors of the Town Shop, a Main St. clothier. After a man calls Fred Ritter and says he will sell him some gloves, Ritter becomes suspicious and wonders if the merchandise is "hot." He arranges a stakeout with Michigan State Police and, when the man shows up to make the sale, he is arrested.

50 YEARS AGO (1946)

News from "By The Way": The frost is on the pumpkin and would most likely have been on the array of dahlias at the George D. Walter home too, but Mr. Walter got busy on Tuesday and picked most of the blooms. Some of these gorgeous flowers were brought to the Clarkston News office. The largest blossom was about a foot in diameter ... Do not forget the senior class play tonight. They always have a good show and certainly merit your support ... By the time the paper is out next week, the hunters will be trekking northward for a little venison. Trailers are being taken to the wilds by hunters. What's handier than chasing your dinner with the dining room?

Playing at the Drayton Theatre are Esther Williams and Van Johnson in "Easy to Wed" and Charles Colburn in "The Green Years." Showing at the Holly Theatre are the Marx Brothers and Loise Collier in "A Night in Casablanca" and Joan Davis, Jack Oakie, and Mischa Auer in "She Wrote the Book."

Terry's Market specials this week include fresh ground beef, 39 cents a pound, Gold Medal Flour, a five-pound bag for 37 cents; grape juice, a 46-ounce can for 29 cents; Betty Crocker Vegetable or Pea Soup, three packages for a quarter; Pet or Carnation Milk, two cans for 27 cents; and Old Dutch Cleanser, two cans for 15 cents.

60 YEARS AGO (1936)

The re-election of President Franklin D. Roosevelt is called a landslide and a greater victory than four years ago. In Michigan, Roosevelt's majority undoubtedly will be larger than in 1932, when it was 131,806. At presstime, Roosevelt is assured of 519 electoral votes out of a total of 531 and may have captured New Hampshire's four votes. Maine and Vermont are the only states sure to go for Landon in the electoral college. Roosevelt's popular plurality over Gov. Landon will exceed his plurality over Hoover in 1932. The total vote in the nation is expected to reach 42,000,000, by far the largest on record.

Specials at Rudy's include short ribs, 12 cents a pound; pork steak, 22 cents a pound; veal stew, 14 cents a pound; corn, a dime a can; store cheese, 19 cents a pound; Chocolate Drops, 10 cents a pound; and Clean Quick, two large packages for 29 cents.

Don't Rush Me

By Don Rush

A reader writes

Oxford's Gladys Johnson has long taken me to task over our differing opinions of the Constitution's Second Amendment. And, I suppose she will always be on the look out for bits of information she can mail to me to further back her point.

Such was the case this week. She sent me a photo-copied column by Robert Sedler, with the headline reading: Supreme Court has held there is no individual right to bear arms.

Ouch!

Sedler is a professor of constitutional law at the bastion of conservatism (eh, hem) Wayne State University in Detroit.

Gladys was kind enough to use her yellow highlighter to direct me to key paragraphs. Thanks again, Gladys. In one of Gladys' highlighted areas Sedler wrote:

"After the Constitution was ratified there was concern in the states that Congress would use its power over the state militias simply to abolish them. This concern was addressed by the Second Amendment. The language context of the Second Amendment indicates that it was to be a states' rights provision, intended to prevent Congress from abolishing the state militias ... it would not be the source of an individual right to bear arms. . ."

Spoken like a true Philadelphia lawyer, I must say. Both Gladys and Sedler point to Supreme Court cases that uphold gun laws as a means of backing their stand. And their point? Just because the Supreme Court says something, doesn't mean it is true.

Prior to the Supreme Court's ruling on abortion in the 1970s it was illegal. People fight to keep a court leaning one way or another. What if the court shifts to the right and overturns the Roe V. Wade decision? Now abortion's illegal? What's right and what's wrong if it can change at a select body of peoples' whims?

Everybody seems to forget the entire idea behind the Constitution was individual liberty. That's the bottom line. The founding fathers had the foresight to see how tyrannical governments could be because that's the way governments had been until then. They saw that, did that and wanted to change that.

Without the belief that each individual is a sovereign being, and without the further belief the Constitution recognizes (it does not grant) that sovereignty, anything, any group, any person can dissect and manipulate the words to whatever their desires.

If you do not believe you are a sovereign being, then you are a slave. If you are a slave your master grants you certain priviledges. If your master grants, he can also take away.

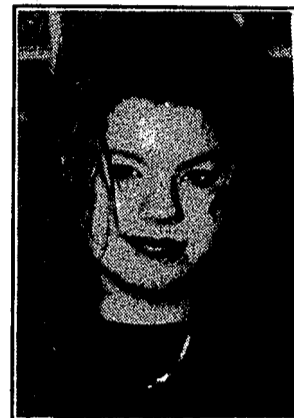

If you are a sovereign being you have the right to protect yourself and that which is yours. Individual liberty -- not individual words, clauses or phrases -- is what the Constitution is about.

Thanks for writing again, Gladys. I'm sure, like always, it's a stalemate. Keep on trying.

Raising the academic bar in Clarkston

Since becoming a Michigander in July, I have thoroughly enjoyed meeting the various members of the Clarkston family. It was apparent from the start that we share some deep-rooted beliefs about schooling.

My observations tell me that our students, parents, employees and citizens at large are generally committed to excellence in the classroom and on the field of play. Community support is obvious at sporting events; at student performances; and I am convinced that we are providing a solid environment for academic achievement as well. Given the talent of our staff members, the readiness of the student body, and the determination of our citizens, I firmly believe the academic bar can be raised for all of our youngsters.

One of the most effective routes to academic success is to furnish teachers and students with the space and technology necessary to help youngsters reach for the stars. At present, undersized classrooms and insufficient technology thwart our academic progress and prevent us from preparing youngsters for the world of tomorrow. We must close the gap to give our Clarkston youngsters a fair chance to compete in a new, complex and technological world.

In this information age, we must assist our students to retrieve and use data in new and very different ways than we did when we were in school. We must link all of our schools with each other, and with locations throughout the world. We must share resources and improve communications; and we must provide our teachers with the technology necessary to:

- offer advanced-level classes which are now too costly to provide.
- bring the world to the classroom through satellite connections and distance learning.
- share effective teaching techniques and improve instructional strategies with colleagues in Clarkston and with peers around the world.
- use various hardware and technologies to advance interest in learning for students and community members. After all, learning is a lifelong process!
- improve communications with parents through voice technologies including voice mail, electronic mail and faxes.
- share interesting and informative video programs with other classrooms.
- show students how to access information electronically and use it to solve problems, plan projects, and complete assignments.

In addition to the academic focus which technology can help to create, technological improvement achievement.

ments will enable us to maximize resources while minimizing cost. Many businesses have already discovered that technology can provide cost savings. Schools may benefit by utilizing this "business model".

The use of technology to cut down on 'school by school' duplications, expedite communication and improve the productivity of teachers and staff is money in the bank for the children and for the community as well. In the final analysis, our Clarkston schools must raise the academic bar, while keeping within the budget. In upcoming columns I will address the other factors which boost student

Withdrawal symptoms

This was the first Saturday in a long time that I haven't spent marching. The band season is over now - it has been since last week - and I'm going to miss it.

I can live without the practices, standing outside and being cold in the fall and being hot in the summer, and I really don't mind not having the bus rides to and from competitions, but I'm going to miss the band part. I'll miss the people and the feelings: the people who gave it all they had, the friendships we made from working together and seeing it all pay off, and the pride I felt that I was part of it all.

Back in August, we were just a bunch of people who were put together for a week of band camp, but somewhere in that week, we turned into a band. For a while, we were together. We marched, we played, we laughed, and then it was over. Fall has never seemed so short. Still, I have a few more weeks left. The football team is winning, so we'll have the playoff games, but after that it's over.

Next year we'll be a different band, with different people and a different show, but the feelings will still be there, because no matter what you're doing, whether it's marching band or something totally different, they don't change.

But what am I doing, talking about next year? The show's not over until the fat lady sings, and she has barely opened her mouth.

Teen and Adult Program Offered

On Thursday, November 7, 1996 at 7 p.m. in the Sashabaw Middle School Cafeteria, a very important and informative program will be held. A live theater program entitled, "My Name is Pam Rogers and I Have AIDS" will be presented by Crossroads Productions for Midwest AIDS Prevention.

The purpose of this play, followed by facilitated discussion, is to help teenagers and adults understand AIDS and its effect on society. The discussion after will be led by an AIDS prevention specialist with opportunities for the audience to ask questions and gain knowledge on the disease.

This evening is being sponsored by the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance, Sashabaw Middle School PTA and the Clarkston Middle School PTA. We are encouraging parents and their students to attend together, it is an evening not to be missed. Come learn that AIDS does not discriminate, it affects young and old, males and females and people of all races.

Mark your calendars now and join us on November 7th!!

Back with the wind

There it was. After minutes of channel-surfing on a gloomy Saturday night, I hit Channel 7 to find my favorite movie of all time, "Gone With the Wind."

It was already about 1:30 a.m., but since I didn't have to get up the next morning, with the boon of the time change, I decided to wallow, once again — even though I have the film on four videotapes.

I had first been enchanted with 1939 classic when I was a 1968 high school senior and it was resurrected. I saw it twice in Grand Rapids, then again on a big screen in Detroit when visiting a friend. Was there any film so wonderful as the gem that starred beautiful Vivian Leigh, wimpy Leslie Howard, sweet-faced Olivia DeHavilland as the martyred Melanie, and the man-you'd-never-bring-home-to-mother, Clark Gable.

And what great character actors, including Hattie McDaniel (Mammy) and Butterfly McQueen (Prissy).

After viewing the film for the umpteenth time, I still can't figure out what Scarlett saw in Ashley. And, what kind of man would let himself be called Ashley, anyway? But then, what kind of man would call his kid Bonnie Blue Butler?

However, I think I'm in the majority when I say that Clark Gable still does it to me. With one raised eyebrow at the end of the banister, he's the forerunning actor to render me catatonic. Andy Garcia is the only actor today who comes close.

The movie has never lost its charm. And I could mouthe the memorable lines like it was yesterday.

Ironically, I turned on the TV to my favorite scene — where Scarlett (supposedly in rags, but she looks better than most of us did at the prom) bites some dry, root veggie in the fields of Tara and declares: "As God is my witness, I'll never be hungry again."

I always shiver, as the violins swell with Scarlett's silhouette against the red Southern sky.

I remember, as an 18-year-old, how I ran out to the concession stand to buy some popcorn and a drink so I wouldn't miss anything, while my boyfriend waited patiently — probably figuring what he had to do to act less like Ashley and more like Rhett.

Ten years later I visited Atlanta's Peach Tree Plaza and bought some GWTW souvenirs and almost left with one of the original bricks from the scene where Scarlett, Melanie, her baby and Prissy leave as Atlanta burns (Or, as I like to say, from the section where Scarlett fiddled while Atlanta burned).

Yes, those lines. The pulse-quickening scene where Scarlett tries to seduce Ashley at Tara: "We won't do this, I tell you! We won't do it!" What a scorcher, especially in those days.

But, obviously not as thrilling as a scene later when Rhett carries Scarlett up the stairs and into the dark, dark depths. And, unlike today's movies, wasn't it great how the camera left us there, leaving the rest to our imagination?

Another gem: "Oh, Mammy, I'm so pale and thin and I haven't any clothes," a gorgeous, supposedly-makeupless Leigh says to Hattie McDaniel — just moments before she gets the brilliant idea of tearing down Tara's curtains for some innovative duds. Carol Burnett used that scene in a brilliant comedy skit years later that indeed had Scarlett wearing the curtains — as well as the rods across her back.

In a way, Scarlett is a woman who was far ahead of her time. Though flawed, she's a true woman of the '90s. No dumb broad, but a woman who is capable, independent and stubbornly willing to be any man's equal. Smart enough to make decisions about her land, a wise investor and a take-charge kind of gal when it comes to "birthin' babies" or saving Tara.

And, she can be a soft, sexy Southern tart, using

Power outage closes some schools

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Some Clarkston students got an early trial run at emergency school cancellation procedures last week.

Four school buildings had to be closed the morning of Wednesday, Oct. 30 when the electric power went out at 7:45 a.m. in high winds. The affected buildings were North Sashabaw Elementary, Pine Knob Elementary, Sashabaw Middle School and the community education building.

Deputy superintendent Michael LaBay said middle-school students had already arrived and elementary students were already on the way when the power went out.

"It took us 40 minutes to get ahold of Edison," LaBay said. At around 8:30 Edison confirmed that a major line was down. The utility could not give any indication how long power would be out.

"The kids were already on the busses and in some cases were in school," LaBay said. Elementary busses were held at the buildings while teachers checked emergency cards for their students. Then, they were sent back home. Middle school buses were routed back to SMS.

Power was restored at 9:45 a.m.

"We did get some calls later from parents concerned about sending the kids home," LaBay said. "But we say in our school calendar this can happen. The parents are supposed to prepare the kids about emergency procedures."

Loss of electricity means furnaces don't go on and, in rural areas, wells don't pump water. "The health department won't let us operate without water," LaBay said.

It's unlikely the lost day will have to be made up because the Clarkston schedule already contains more days and hours of instruction than the state mandates, he said.

"Because we have a much longer schedule than the state requires I think we're in good shape," LaBay said. "If we have a major storm or miss six days, those kids would have to make up the days." Either that, or the district would lose a percentage of its state funding.

Committee gears up for next bond election

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

With only five weeks to go before election day, supporters of a bond issue that would bring a new elementary school and extensive renovations to other school buildings know they have to spread a lot of information in a short time.

Perhaps that's why the Help Us Grow committee decided to call the latest school bond proposal, which is really Phase III in a long-term building project, the Sunshine Bond. As co-chairs David Meyer and Mary Ellen McLean explain it, they want to "raise the fog and inform the community."

McLean, who became a trustee on the board of education in July, and Meyer, a nine-year resident who worked on the last facilities and bond committees, said they decided to head up the campaign because the need is obvious to them and the project can only get more costly the longer construction is delayed.

"The timing is good and it's needed," Meyer said. "We don't need a long time to get the information out."

"This is Phase III," said McLean. The whole plan and development of our schools started in 1988.

Phase I was the construction of Springfield Plains Elementary School. Phase II was the new high school, which is now under construction on Flemings Lake Rd.

Phase III will address the need for more elementary classroom space, as well as upgrading facilities at most buildings to provide for educational equity. It will also include renovations at Clarkston Middle School so it can become a community education building when the new high school opens. Technology for all buildings will also be included.

"We want the community to know this was a planned phase and it always was," McLean said. "We do have a short time frame to get the facts out. This is a grass-roots effort. If this is going to be successful it's going to take every parent's involvement, every community member's involvement."

Meyer and his family have lived in the Clarkston school district since 1987. He and his wife have two children, one preschooler and one in elementary school.

McLean has been a resident of the district since 1988 and has two school-age children. Both feel the schools are good—but could be better.

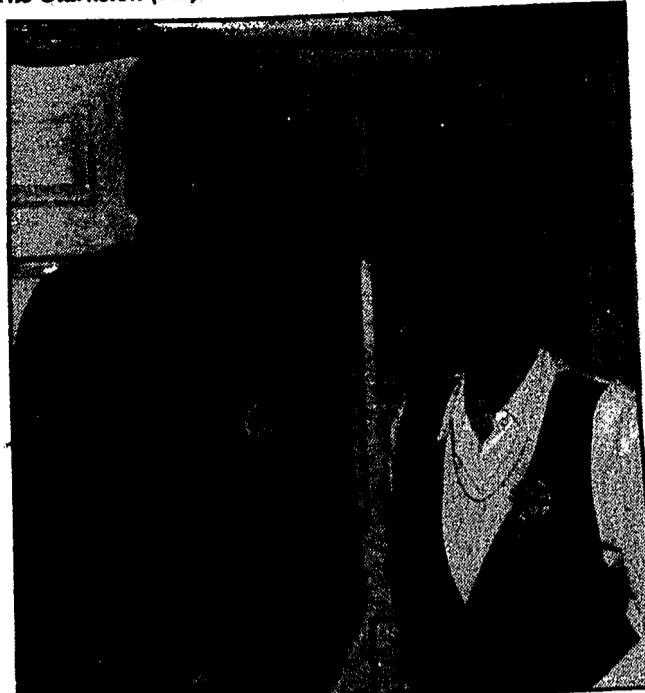

"Even when I chose to run for the board of education, I was concerned about the school district being proactive and looking at the future, even from a space issue," McLean said. "I don't want to get into another crisis. I don't agree with buying portables."

Meyer, the product of private schools himself, compares the district to "Carl Lewis in hiking boots." In essence, we're taking curriculum money and using it to fix leaky faucets.

Just how dire is the need? A facilities committee composed of residents and faculty and staff of the school district found in January that using an average elementary class size of 25 students, 124 classrooms were needed just to handle existing enrollment at that time. Excluding portables, which the committee and the school district want to get rid of, there are only 111 existing elementary class spaces. In order to make up for the shortfall, specialty rooms set aside for such things as art and science had to be used for general classrooms. All projections show enrollment will continue to grow over the next five years.

In addition to a new elementary school, the Sunshine Bond will ask for additions, including classrooms and cafeterias, at the existing elementary schools. It will also ask for work at both middle schools, conversion of the existing high school to a middle school and technology. The price tag: $52.5 million.

David Meyer and Mary Ellen McLean are the co-chairs of the Sunshine Bond Committee.

McLean pointed out that at Clarkston Elementary, there is a portable classroom still in use that is 25 years old. "They have to come in in the winter because the pipes freeze," she said. "Our kids spend a lot of time in our schools. For a lot of them, it's the safest environment they'll be in."

"Even if we don't add one more child in this community, we still need this particular package to give a quality education," Meyer said.

Clarkston school superintendent Al Roberts agrees. "Opportunities lead to academic excellence," he said. "There's a limit to how much academics you can provide."

Roberts believes that the bond issue represents a sort of crossroads for the school district. He believes the district can, and should, aim for higher academic achievement. But he feels the bond issue is necessary to accomplish that. (See his column on page 8A of today's paper.)

Meyer believes this is also a good time to start a building project because inflation is low, as are interest rates. If approved, the bond issue will only add 1.36 mills to property owners' bills due to the financing mechanism that will be used.

Meyer said he is enthusiastic about the project because he feels the district is using his tax dollars wisely, pointing to the fact that Clarkston routinely falls near the bottom of the county on the percentage of funds spent on administration.

"I see fiscal responsibility being adhered to by this administration," he said. "Money is not being spent ostentatiously. It's being used on education."

No one denies that the reason for the tremendous need for facilities is based upon the popularity of Clarkston as a place to live. Hundreds more families are finding that out first-hand every year.

"Part of the problem we face here is our own success," Roberts said. "We've used our creativity with maintenance and space to do the best we can. But we have to build sometime."

Both Meyer and McLean invited residents to visit the schools while class is in session to see how the facilities are being used. Blueprints for the plans for each building's renovation are also available for viewing. Building principals will schedule tours on request, Roberts said.

"That's how I learned about it was visits to the school," Meyer said. "It was shocking, frankly."

"We have a plan, a long-term strategy. We're not dealing with knee-jerk reactions here. That's what encourages me to be supportive."

The HUG committee is meeting weekly and has building chairperson at each school building. Plans call for holding some town-hall-style meetings before the election, possibly utilizing cable TV. There is also a hotline for questions (620-7350). Questions may also be addressed to the Clarkston News.

Why vote for the proposal? According to Roberts, there are several reasons beyond the basic need for space: enhancement of property values and what he calls "passing on the culture," the belief system "that we owe something to our future generations."

The bond election is Dec. 9. Between now and then, both Roberts and the HUG committee will be attempting to answer residents' questions in the Clarkston News. If you have questions, call the school hotline at 630-7350 or the Clarkston News at 625-3370.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Cole

Warner-Cole wed in Jackson

Paul E. and Christain M. (Warner) Cole were married July 6, 1996 at Ella Sharp Park Rose Gardens in Jackson by the Rev. Loyal H. Wiemer.

Attendants included Susanne T. Moore of Genesee, ID, the bride's cousin, and Michael J. Cole of Allegan, the groom's brother.

Christain is the daughter of William R. and Debra K. Warner of Michigan Center and Linda S. and Bernie L. Magiera Jr. of Jackson. Paul is the son of John F. and Donna G. Cole of Clarkston.

Business briefs

● Jeffrey Ryan of Clarkston successfully completed the Certified Arborist examination administered through the International Society of Arboriculture. Ryan is a 1990 Clarkston High School graduate. Last year he earned his Michigan Certified Nurseryman certificate.

● James Delnick of Clarkston has been appointed manager in the business consulting division of Arthur Andersen, a leading audit, tax and consulting firm. Delnick received his MS in administration from Central Michigan University and a BS in industrial technology/manufacturing engineering from Western Illinois University. He was employed at EDS before moving to Andersen in April. He and his wife Julie have three children, Katie, Megan and Jimmy.

● John Brooks, president of Network Integration for Computerized Environments (NICE) of Clarkston, has been invited to serve a two-year term on the Computer Hardware Engineering Technology Advisory Committee at Oakland Community College's Auburn Hills campus. The objective of the committee is to advise the college regarding course content and instructional equipment.

Extending a tradition

Susan Huttenlocher Ebeling has been installed as president of the Pontiac Rotary Club. She is vice president of the Huttenlocher Group and represents the third generation of Huttenlochers to be involved in the family business, as well as the third generation to become president of goes on. To say we don't have a drug problem in this community is simply not true. We need to deal with that. Something like this is a great awareness-builder."

Albee agreed. "Talking about it is one thing. The more you can turn this into an activity (rather) than a lecture, the more they want it."

Albee said Club Pride will continue to hold various activities and contests this year. He also hopes to establish a lock-in with the high school Club Pride group, America's Pride, after Christmas and has spoken with CMS student assistance coordinator Kelly Kanigowski.

He said there is sometimes a stigma among the younger set that kids who participate in drug-free activities are "nerds."

"For the younger kids, it's a chance to see that some pretty cool high-schoolers are drug-free and not afraid to live that way," he said. "They are really role models. Hopefully the high school kids have an experience where they understand how important it is to be a role model. That's gotta make them feel good."

"For my kids, it will be important to know that these kids can help them make that transition to high-school life and be potential friends."

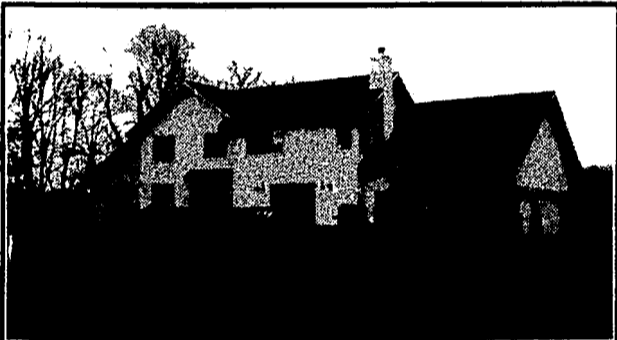

These are some of the over 70 students from Pine Knob Elementary who said no to drugs last week.

Library offers Shakespearean treat

November's offerings at the Independence Township Library include a fascinating bit of American history as well as riveting ancient history as interpreted by the Bard of Avon.

On Thursday, Nov. 14 the library's ongoing matinee video series will present "The Orphan Trains." Between 1854 and 1929, charities in the East sent more than 150,000 orphan children to farming communities to begin new lives with foster families. The film explores the successes and failures of this little known but highly influential resettlement movement.

Then, on Sunday, Nov. 17 the library's newest video series debuts at 1:30 p.m. "Shakespeare on Sunday" will kick off with the British Broadcasting Corporation's production of "Julius Caesar." This classic history featuring the assassination of Caesar and the tormented conspirator Brutus stars Keith Mitchell (remembered for his starring role as Henry VIII in the public television presentation of "the Six Wives of Henry VIII") and Richard Pasco.

"Shakespeare on Sunday" offers students and Shakespeareans a chance to view these fine productions with fellow enthusiasts. A brief introduction will set the stage. Refreshments and comfortable seating will be provided.

"The idea was this would allow people to see them with others," said librarian Patience Beer. "If they want to talk about them, they can. They can watch them on the big screen. So it's a little more like a production."

Beer said the library has purchased a series of 37 Shakespeare plays produced by the BBC. The tapes are also available for free circulation for one week.

The "Shakespeare on Sunday" series will offer one play a month for the next six months. The upcoming schedule includes "As You Like It" on Dec. 15 and "Macbeth" on January 19.

Both video series are held in the library's Youth Activities Room and are free. No registration is needed. Call 625-2212 for more information.

Clarkston Police

MONDAY, OCTOBER 28, a private property accident occurred when a vehicle driven by a Rochester Hills woman backed into the parked car of a Clarkston man, causing minor damage. No citations were issued since the incident took place on private property.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 31, an officer pulled over an elderly man for driving erratically at the corner of Main and Middle Lake Rd. The driver, an 84-year-old man from Millington, suffered from some kind of medical condition and was very disoriented and confused. He was treated by the Independence Township Fire Department and transported to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, where he remained Tuesday afternoon.

SKIN DEEP

by Scott Friedman, D.O.

PUTTING SKIN TO THE ACID TEST

The food and drug administration recently approved a prescription cream containing tretinoin for the purpose of reversing wrinkling. Scientific evidence showed that this first FDA-approved wrinkle reverser speeded cell turnover, increased collagen production to shore up sagging skin, and reduces keratoses (the lesions that can be precursors of squamous-cell skin cancer.) Now, a report at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Dermatology indicates that prescription strength of alpha-hydroxy acids may have the same effect. The study showed that, six months after sun-damaged arms of 17 men and women were treated with a 25% concentration alpha-hydroxy acids, skin biopsies of the treated arms showed that they had significantly denser collagen layers. In addition, the alpha-hydroxy lotion appeared to reduce solar keratoses. Twenty five percent alpha-hydroxy lotion is available only from the dermatologist. Your dermatologist considers each patient's needs on a purely individualized basis. Your specific medical condition, including all peripheral considerations, will be taken into account when analyzing and recommending the best treatment. You can find us at 6330 Sashabaw, Clarkston (625-0692); 3003 Baldwin Rd. Orion (391-9599). We invite you to read this column in the weeks to come as many important topics related to your skin are discussed. Honor those who served our country this Veteran's Day!

PS. Over-the-counter lotions, which have much lower concentrations of alpha-hydroxy acids than the prescription-strength lotions available from the dermatologist, are unlikely to produce as dramatic effects as the ones described above.

Sheriff's log for Independence Township

MONDAY, OCTOBER 28, a business on Sashabaw reported the theft of $10,000 in ventilating equipment from a locked, fenced area. A neighboring business owner reported seeing three people moving the equipment.

Three windows were broken by BBs as was the window of a loader at a construction site on Hawkmore over the weekend. A worker reported seeing some juveniles in the area with a BB gun on Saturday.

A 38-year-old Clarkston man was arrested on an outstanding warrant at his home on Mann.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 29, a 19-year-old Clarkston man was ticketed for possession of alcohol and marijuana on Marysue after a deputy making a building check found him and a 20-year-old Davisburg woman parked nearby. The deputy found a bag of marijuana and two beers, as well as a pipe and rolling papers in the car. The boy said he had bought the marijuana at school that day. The woman was released when a search of her car turned up no contraband.

An 18-year-old Clarkston High School student was ticketed for contributing to the delinquency of a minor after she showed up at school with a younger girl who had been reported as a runaway.

A 28-year-old Ortonville man was arrested on Citation Drive on an outstanding warrant. He was also ticketed for driving with a suspended license and his car was confiscated when the license plate turned out to be improper and he had no paperwork.

A white female around 40 was being sought for fleeing a Dixie Highway restaurant without paying for $23.10 worth of food. Employees said the woman was with two small children and gave the cashier a credit card before changing her mind, getting the card back and fleeing. The restaurant did manage to get the credit-card number. The woman fled in a car without a license plate.

A man was arrested on an outstanding warrant on Maple after deputies were called to intervene in a family dispute.

An employee of a Sashabaw Rd. restaurant said a black female fled without paying for two meals, one ordered to go, and also stole credit cards, ID and several hundred dollars cash from the employee's purse. The purse was found stashed under a coat rack in the restaurant. The woman fled in a small white car.

Harassing phone calls on Bow Point Dr.

Larceny of a mailbox on Lake Waldon Woods.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 30, two electric meters were dismantled, one at a house on Southampton, one at a house on Adderston. Both homes lost power as a result.

Stalking at a business on Dixie. Video equipment installed to picture the person responsible for stalking over several months was able to get a good picture of the suspect, a 45-year-old Waterford man.

A camper top was pried open on a 1994 Chevy pick up parked at a residence on Oakhill and several power tools and a tool box were stolen.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 31, a 1985 Mustang parked in a Mann driveway was extensively scratched and dented and a hole was put in the spoiler.

Two cars were egged on Woodhull overnight. A 1989 Sunbird abandoned on Willow Park turned out to have been stolen in Pontiac on Sept. 30. When recovered the steering column was broken. Two white males, around age 16-18, fled from a Dixie Highway restaurant without paying for their meals. Employees recognized the two from an earlier, similar incident. This time, they got a license-plate number, which turned out to be registered to a Waterford man.

A pumpkin was thrown through a window around 7 p.m. on Hummingbird. No one was injured. The suspect fled on foot.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 1, a truant from Children's Village was picked up at her home on Mann and returned to the village.

An obscenity was spray-painted on the front of a house on Mann.

A 13-year-old Clarkston girl who had been reported as a runaway was recovered at a house on Lakeview after deputies responded to a call about a possible overdose. The girl was intoxicated when found and was taken to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. She was at the home of a 13-year-old boy, whose parents were home too but said they didn't know alcohol was being consumed.

A pedestrian was taken to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital after he crossed M-15 in the path of oncoming traffic. He was discharged from POH Nov. 1.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 2, a drivers license and debit card left in a coat on a chair in a classroom at the high school during the day were stolen.

A TV, knives, chairs, flashlights and other items were stolen from a travel trailer parked on Clintonville.

A license plate was reported lost or stolen by an Andersonville Rd. resident.

A Clearview resident reported an ongoing problem with someone driving over his lawn.

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 3, a 41-year-old Clarkston man was arrested on three outstanding warrants after a deputy was called to a family fight on the shoulder of Sashabaw Rd.

A girls Huffy bicycle was found in the weeds on Edgewood.

TOTAL CALLS THIS YEAR THROUGH NOV. 3: 11,850.

Live, from Clarkston, it's the Monster Mash

Radio station brings live Halloween show to town

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

It was hard to tell which was scarier—the weather conditions or the holiday. But despite frigid, windy conditions, two disc jockeys from W4WW, a Detroit country radio station, set up shop on the front lawn of an Independence Township home on Halloween and broadcast live.

The fun was all because Jack Raymond sent a letter to W4 inviting them to his house. It was part of a station contest, and his winning entry also contained the required signatures of 12 neighbors in support.

In his letter, Raymond admitted that he isn't a country music fan, but said the rest of the family—wife Denise and kids Christina, 15 and son David, 13—are avid listeners. The family usually celebrates Halloween with a block party at their house, and neighbors were already inquiring what they were going to do this year.

The letter went on to say that due to Denise's recent major surgery, she wasn't planning to throw a party this year. Jack Raymond played up the sympathy angle and said only W4 could make the party happen. It worked.

Disk jockeys Karen Dalissandro and Steve Courtney (known as Sgt. Steve) showed up with candy for the trick-or-treaters and a production crew and tent for their 3-7 p.m. show. As friends and neighbors of the Raymonds gathered around, sipping hot cider to ward off the chill, the W4 crew did their show, sprinkling Halloween classics like "The Monster Mash" between their usual country fare. The guests filled in with appropriately spooky background noise on demand.

Though still recuperating from her recent surgery, Denise Raymond was enjoying the pandemonium and admitted she loves a party.

"My mom and dad didn't believe in a lot of parties when I was growing up so I try to do a lot for my kids," she said. David and Christina said their mom is an old pro at doing kooky things.

One time she took her husband's car out racing—without telling him first. Another time she ran down to the stage during a Billy Ray Cyrus concert and demanded the star give her a hat. He refused. She also regularly piles neighborhood kids into her car for a trip to the waterpark, Christina said.

"She goes way out to help friends, especially me," said an obviously grateful James Collins, who was attending the party. The garage was full of guests, many of whom brought food to pass, and a picnic table was full of hot dogs, chili, cupcakes, doughnuts and more as everyone sought shelter from the wind. Speakers set up on the lawn blasted music all over the neighborhood.

Denise Raymond said that in addition to her surgery, her husband had been laid off and the party was a good morale boost for the entire family. David said he enjoyed the DJs, who he described as crazy, "especially Karen," who was wearing a fake bald head over her hair. She said she came dressed as her sidekick, Sgt. Steve, who, by the way, isn't bald.

Courtney had his ears covered but said "I've got goose bumps. The fact that it's 10 below doesn't matter... I think my ear just fell off."

Band third in state

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

The Clarkston High School marching band performed at the state marching band finals at the Pontiac Silverdome Oct. 26 and placed third in Flight I competition.

At the finals each flight is limited to the top 10 bands. Under the direction of drum majors Kit Cischke and Todd Bauer and director of bands Cliff Chapman, the 220-member band performed "Festive Overture" by Dimitri Shostakovich and "Polovetsian Dances" by Alexander Borodin. Several hundred Clarkston fans were in attendance.

"We did very well; we're very pleased," said Chapman. It's the highest a CHS band has ever placed at the state finals.

The state competition is the end of a fall season full of marching competitions, including one held at CHS. The top accumulated scores from the fall are used to determine who will go to the state finals.

Plymouth-Canton took first place in Flight I, followed by Milford in second and Clarkston in third. Other participants in the flight included Westland John Glen, Troy Athens, Muskegon, West Bloomfield, Saginaw Heritage, Livonia Franklin and Davison.

The night before the competition, the band performed at half time of the CHS-Troy varsity football game in a last run through of its program.

Band booster Bev Territo said she went to the top deck of the Silverdome to see the band from on high.

"We were able to see those formations so clearly and I saw things I never could see in the bleachers at the high school," she said. "It was wonderful; it was so exhilarating."

Territo said the CHS band scored its highest point total, as well as its highest placement ever at the competition.

"We have a really strong musical program, a lot of integrity in the music and attention to the drill," Territo, whose son Jimmy had a solo during the performance, said. She said some other bands had more expensive props and/or costumes.

"The value of our program lies with the caliber of music and drill Mr. Chapman challenges the kids with. It doesn't rely on props . . . To him, that's where the value is, in choosing really important music and getting the drill right. It's not about the best costumes or props."

With its marching season basically over, the band now prepares for its Christmas trip to London, where it will both march and perform in concert as part of the Lord Mayor of Westminster's New Year's day parade. Participation is by invitation only, and this will be the band's second visit to London.

The Clarkston High School band performs a last run-through of its state-final program at halftime of the CHS-Troy football game Oct. 25.

Plante makes All-State in cross-country

Lukesn breaks leg at state meet; Sage finishes among top freshmen

BY MARALEE COOK
Oxford Leader Staff Writer

The cross-country state championships at Michigan International Speedway near Jackson provided a challenge for Clarkston's runners because of the weather and a failed attempt at a state-of-the-art computer scoring system.

Freshman David Sage posted a fine finish in the boys Class A individual race, placing 24th in a time of 16:39, a personal best. The time puts him among the top freshmen in the state.

But the story for the girls team was a different matter, offering a shining moment for one member, a nightmare for another, while a third was not even acknowledged as part of the team because of a computer glitch.

Runners faced snow, sleet, 35-degree temperatures and bone-chilling winds. But junior Megan Plante ignored the day's obstacles and powered to a 16th-place team finish, 24th overall, knocking nearly 50 seconds off her best time to finish first for Clarkston in a time of 19:10. Her time is also the third best in school history and earned her all-state honors.

Kristin Maine, who finished second for Clarkston for the first time this season, placed 39th overall with a time of 19:43. Liz Cook followed in 85th place in 20:25, Jennifer Rooding, 156th in 21:45 and Emily Hogan, 158th in 21:46. Shannon Carry ran with the team and was given a card at the finish line placing her 151st, but her time was not recorded and her effort did not count in the scoring process.

Sophomore Lissa Lukens, usually counted on to place fifth or sixth for the Wolves, had been running with some pain in one of her legs during the season, but tests had never confirmed any serious injury. Unfortunately, she got that confirmation when her leg broke only 400 meters from the finish line.

Clarkston finished 17th out of 27 teams with 454 points. The race was won by Sharon Van Tuyl of Portage Northern in a time of 17:52. The top three girls teams were Sterling Heights Stevenson with 104 points, Livonia Stevenson at 126 and Novi with 182 points.

The boys race was won by Augustine Forget, an exchange student running for Hazel Park, in 15:40. The top three boys teams were Lakeland with 94 points, Traverse City with 99 and Ann Arbor Huron with 225.

Plante said she felt very good and relaxed during the race. Maine was disappointed in her own performance, however, calling it her worst race of the year.

Sage said he thought the course was a good one, and was fairly surprised about his overall success this season. "I didn't think I'd do this well or make it to states," he said. Sage is planning to try out for the freshman basketball team and to run track in the spring.

Coach Mike Taylor said all of the Clarkston runners ran great, competitive races against a very tough field.

Freshman/sophomore race October 29

The boys team finished third while the girls took sixth place in the freshman/sophomore race at White Lake Middle School.

David Sage finished sixth in 17:09, followed by Matt Haver, 7th in 17:19, Chris Weber, 24th in 18:21, Dan Burke, 31st in 18:37, Dave Dixon, 36th in 18:45, Dave Wicklund, 44th in 19:18 and Pat Heber, 59th in 20:02.

In the girls race, Jenny Gifford was 15th in 22:25, followed by Amp Hopcian, 30th in 23:11, Heather Warner, 37th in 23:39, Jennifer Pollesch, 51st in 24:11 and Jessica Williams, 52nd in 24:13.

Several students posted personal-best times, including Haver, Wickland, Gifford, Rooding and Pollesch, as well as Brandon Scheiderer in 21:38 and Krissy Robinson in 26:07.

Unbeaten Wolves look forward to playoffs

By BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston football coach Kurt Richardson seemed to put just the right recipe together for a smashing season in 1996.

Start with a star quarterback who can throw the ball gracefully and leave battered defenders in his wake when he runs. Then, feature a running game that mows down opponents when they play for the pass. Add some quality defense, which seemed to make every big play when it had to. Don't forget a dash of special teams and line play, which allowed the team to control the tempo and the scoreboard in all of its games.

Blend them all together and you get a 9-0 season for the Wolves and a spot in the Class AA playoffs. The team takes its first step towards the Pontiac Silverdome with a home playoff game at 1:30 p.m. Saturday against the Dearborn Fordson Tractors.

Richardson said Fordson is a tough, physical team which plays a smashmouth-style of football, similar to the style Troy had.

"They are very strong defensively, a physical team," Richardson said. "They run the power game very well."

Fordson hails from the Michigan Mega Conference, which includes teams from the downriver and west side Detroit areas.

Tickets will go on sale for $4 prior to the game

About parking

Saturday's playoff football game at Clarkston High School will be crowded enough. But adding to the picture is a long-planned crafts and antiques show sponsored by the CHS band boosters.

The craft show will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; the game is at 1:30. The band boosters and athletic director Dan Fife have been huddling about what to do about the situation, and Fife has written the following note to fans:

"To Clarkston football fans:

Due to the fact there is a craft show Saturday, Nov. 9 at the high school, parking will be a problem. We are asking the football fans to park behind the baseball field at the high school. You will be able to enter on Eastlawn, south of Waldon.

*Thank you,
Dan Fife"*

In addition, Fife said Tuesday that no passes of any kind will be accepted for playoff games.

10:30 a.m. to 12:15 p.m.

Richardson talked about the higher level of play in the playoffs, saying teams had to be at their best every game to emerge victorious.

"Everyone you see will be tough. There are no slouches," he said. "We've got to be able to stop the run on defense, and on offense, we have to protect Dane (Fife, junior quarterback) and run the ball ourselves."

Clarkston earned the number-two seed in Region 3 of Class AA. Fordson (8-1) is the third seed. The winner of the Clarkston-Fordson game moves on to play the winner of the Detroit Catholic Central-Westland John Glenn game at the field of the highest-ranked team Nov. 15 or 16. Catholic Central is the defending Class AA champions.

The Region 3 champion takes on the Region 4 champion Nov. 23. Region 4 teams are (in order of seeding) Sterling Heights Stevenson, Detroit Denby, Utica Eisenhower and Detroit Martin Luther King.

Playoff rankings were determined by a computer formula which combined a team's won-loss record with the quality of opponents it beat.

Last year, Clarkston lost to Monroe in the first round of the playoffs 20-6. This marks the fourth time the Wolves have qualified for the playoffs.

Richardson said his team has learned from that experience very well, saying the losing alone gives the Wolves motivation to go farther this year.

"We were just not good offensively in that game," he recalled. "The loss itself has made the kids hungry to come back this year."

Bring on the playoffs; Wolves end season with 34-14 win

By BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston Wolves capped an undefeated season with a 34-14 win over Lake Orion Friday night, a game that also served as a final tune up for the Class AA state playoffs.

Clarkston relied mostly on its ground game and the brutal combination of running backs Brad Phalen and Jeff Long to do most of the damage. Phalen concluded a fabulous regular season with 135 yards on 26 carries and two touchdowns, while Long contributed with a 51-yard touchdown sprint in the third quarter to seal the victory.

Quarterback Dane Fife threw for a season-low 84 yards on just 5-for-8 passing. He still managed to hit paydirt, with a three-yard run in the second quarter to give the Wolves a 14-0 lead.

Friday night's weather was brutal, with below-freezing temperatures and strong winds. Clarkston coach Kurt Richardson said the team emphasized the run more in preparation for the weather the team could face in the postseason.

"When the weather turns bad, you got to be able to run the ball," he said. "We just wanted to keep a good balance and I think we did that."

"We were also good on defense early," he continued. "That got us off to a good start."

Phalen started the scoring with a five-yard run early in the second quarter to give Clarkston a 6-0 lead. Brad Bailey concluded the scoring with a 24-yard run in the fourth quarter.

Pom pon gives fans a 'thriller'

The pre-Halloween football game half-time show featured a specially costumed routine by the Clarkston High School varsity pom pon squad.

The girls (pictured) put down their pom pons and put on their best tatters and makeup for a number choreographed to Michael Jackson's "Thriller."

In the penalty box

With Brad Monastiere

I'd like to say a warm hello to my new readers. I am very happy and excited to be here in Clarkston, a place with a very good state-wide reputation for its athletic teams.

Why do I bring this up? Because I am the new sportswriter at the Clarkston News and the strength of the programs here is one of the reasons why I came here. Having a job like this has always been a dream of mine and now, with the opportunity at hand, I am very anxious to get started.

But first, let me tell you a little about myself. I graduated from Central Michigan University this past May with a degree in journalism. I covered several of CMU's teams during my stay there and was fortunate to cover some very successful ones.

In addition to that experience, I consider myself a certifiable sports nut. I closely follow all four major professional sports - too closely if you ask some of my friends. I always try to analyze the game I'm watching, hoping to pick up a subtle detail of the game which could become important later.

My love for sports probably started when I was just seven years old in the fall of 1980, when Billy Sims took a 2-14 Detroit Lions team to a 4-0 start. I remember his first game against the Los Angeles Rams (remember them?). The Rams had been to the Super Bowl the previous year, but Sims rushed for around 150 yards and led the team to a 41-20 win. Starting with that game, I was hooked.

In the 16 years since, a lot of memorable sports moments have come and gone, but here are some that stand out to me.

Magic Johnson's announcement that he was

HIV-positive. This happened early in my freshman year at college. Anytime an athlete can bring out the four-inch tall headlines in almost every major newspaper in the country, you understand what sports means in this country. However, Magic has set a true example for us all in the five years since, with his drive to live life to its fullest despite this setback.

The world championships in Detroit. I have always been a fan of the four Detroit teams and an anti-fan of all teams in New York and Chicago. But to see a team like the 1984 Tigers and 1989 and 1990 Pistons win it all without outrageous payrolls or problem children was truly a joy. I was fortunate to attend game 2 of the 1989 NBA Finals when the Pistons pulled out a 108-105 win over the Lakers. You might remember this game as the one where Magic pulled his hamstring and was reluctantly sidelined. It seems like lately, the teams who win the championships are the ones like the Steinbrenner Yankees and Ted Turner Braves. Just once, I'd like to see a team come from nowhere to win it all. But in this day and age, it's probably wishful thinking.

Those are just a few of the wonderful memories sports has given me. And I hope to have many more here in Clarkston. With the way people have made me feel welcome and the quality of teams here, I anticipate this job being much more fun than I should be allowed to have!

I always welcome any comments and suggestions about the sports coverage in the News. Feel free to call me anytime here at the office. I look forward to meeting as many of you as possible, so sit back and enjoy these days.

Wolfpack hockey

Players for the Clarkston Wolfpack Hockey Club had their final tuneup before tryouts for the first Clarkston High School Varsity hockey team at a tournament in Port Huron late last month.

The Wolfpack made a good account of themselves, finishing second to the host Port Huron Kings at the Glacier Pointe Halloween Classic Tournament Oct. 24-27.

The Wolfpack played well in two early-round wins before consecutive losses to Port Huron.

In the first game, Josh Babe and Anthony Facione got the Wolfpack off to a flying start, each tallying a goal and an assist in the first period of a 7-2 win over Mt. Clemens.

Also scoring for Clarkston were Ryan Peters, who had three goals, and Andy Cote.

In the tournament's second contest Oct. 26, Facione, Cote and Peters scored to give the Pack a 3-1 win over the Warren Capitols. Goaltender Steve Stein turned aside many opportunities near the end of the game to preserve the win.

The long-awaited regular season opener for the varsity hockey team is set for Nov. 23 at the Lakeland Arena in Waterford against Bloomfield Hills Lahser. Face off is set for 8:20 p.m. and tickets are $3 at the door.

Kickers lose 3-1 in districts

By BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Key injuries and a very tough schedule made for rough waters for the Clarkston varsity soccer team in 1996, but optimism is high for 1997.

The Wolves' season ended abruptly with a 3-1 district playoff loss to Bloomfield Hills Lahser Oct. 24. The loss came in the tournament's second round, after the Wolves received a first-round bye.

Coach Dan Fitzgerald said Clarkston could not field a team operating at 100 percent, although the team put up a good fight to the end.

"We had some injuries which really hurt us," he said. "Mike Gabriel had a deep thigh bruise and played at about 50 percent in that playoff game."

Despite the injury, Gabriel scored on a free kick early in the second half to give Clarkston a 1-0 lead. "They carried most of the play, but we were right there," Fitzgerald commented.

Ten minutes after Gabriel's goal, Lahser responded on a penalty kick coming off what Fitzgerald described as a "questionable call." The final nails came in the last three minutes of the game when Lahser scored two quick goals to finish the Wolves.

One key injury that hit the Wolves came from goaltender Rean Turner. Fitzgerald said he suffered from overcalcification in a bone in his leg that sidelined him halfway through the season. But the bone has healed and Fitzgerald said he expects Turner to be at full strength next year.

"The team missed him big-time," he said. "He's a big leader on our team and a real vocal guy. He was one of the better goalies I saw all year long."

Fitzgerald said he felt much better about his team concluding this season than he did before it started. Clarkston had no seniors on the roster and Fitzgerald said he hopes the experience his players gained in the 6-10-3 season will pay big dividends next year.

"I was not real optimistic starting the season because we lost so many people from last year," Fitzgerald admitted. "But we started off real well, then were hit with injuries. But I feel good about this team next year."

"It's a strange situation, not having any seniors, but I think we gained some valuable experience this year," he said. "The JV team went 10-6 and there is some real talent on that team that will come up next year."

Local team wins street hockey championship

By BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A local man went to Disney World, then won a national championship.

Although the now-famous commercials require that you win the championship, then head to Florida, Clarkston resident Glen Kauthen coached and played on the Paddock Pool War Pigs over 18 street hockey team to a national Triple Crown championship in Orlando. The Triple Crown is like a street hockey version of the Gus Macker basketball tournament, he said.

"We just all got together and won it," he said. "It was a great experience and a good time."

But the ride isn't over for the War Pigs. During Thanksgiving Weekend of 1997, Kauthen said his team has been invited to the Crown Jewel in Florida to compete in another tournament, pairing past champions against each other.

Kauthen said the team's win at Disney's Pleasure Island was the last in a long string of tournament wins which took the team from Grand Rapids to Cleveland.

"Our whole team made either first or second-team all-American," Kauthen said. "We competed against 47 other teams in Florida and over 1,300 teams nationwide."

The team split a $1,000 prize, in addition to new sets of shinguards and in-line skates for winning the Adult-B Division National Championship.

The War Pigs won six of seven games at the national tournament, finishing with a 5-2 win over the East Falls Lightning from Philadelphia. Along the way, the team won matches against championship teams from Boston, Kansas, Ft. Myers, Fla., Pennsylvania and Massachusetts. Teams from 24 states were at the All-Star Sports Resport near the EPCOT Center for the tournament, according to Kauthen.

"We should have won the one game we lost too," Kauthen quickly added. "We had a goal disallowed and we ended up losing in an overtime shootout."

The Triple Crown operates on a four-on-four format, with two 12-minute periods. The playing surface - usually a parking lot or other hard surfaces - is 120 feet by 60 feet, about half the size of a regulation ice hockey playing surface. Whichever team has the most goals by the end of the 24-minute game wins.

Kauthen acts as the team's coach in addition to playing. Players on the team hail from as close as Auburn Hills and Bloomfield Hills, but as far away as South Carolina.

"We all got together a couple years ago and started the team," Kauthen explains. "For the name, we were all sitting around listening to Ozzy (Osbourne) and his song ('War Pigs') came on and we thought that would be a cool name for the team."

Ladies fall to Kettering in double overtime

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A season of tough luck continued for the Clarkston varsity girls basketball team on Oct. 29, as the Wolves dropped a 55-50 game in double overtime to Waterford Kettering on the road.

The loss drops Clarkston to 9-8 overall, 1-8 in the Oakland Activities Association Division I.

Coach Larry Mahrle said despite the loss, the team played very hard and had a real shot to win. But it was also shots that cost the team the win.

"We missed six layups and five free throws in the first quarter," he said. "When you miss those early, they can really add up."

Forward Tiffany Honey led the Wolves with 14 points in the loss, while Susan Naboychik came in with 12.

The game came down to a play in the final seconds, when Kettering made two free throws on what Mahrle called a "questionable foul" to tie the game at the end of regulation. After an even first overtime, Kettering pulled away in the second to win.

"I give our girls credit," Mahrle said. "We were down by seven early and came back to lead by eight at one point. We competed very well and played good defense, we just came up short on offense."

District teams were announced last week and the Wolves face a strong field when play starts Nov. 18. Clarkston is the host school, with teams from Lapeer East and West, Romeo, Holly and Lake Orion rounding out the competition in Class A, District 31.

Lapeer East has thoroughly dominated its competition in the Flint Metro Conference this season, winning its games by double-take scores, such as 111-25. East defeated Clarkston by three points in last year's district finals.

The District champion advances to regional play at Chippewa Valley High School Nov. 25-27.

But before the playoffs come calling, Mahrle is preparing his team for a difficult final three games.

"We finish with Troy, Tory Athens and Rochester Adams," he said. "It's been a long season, but our kids will be ready."

DNR deer stations announced

The Department of Natural Resources will host its annual firearm deer season information centers Nov. 9-10 and 13-14 and highway deer check stations Nov. 16-18.

Information stations will be located in Cadillac at the John Center at Mitchell State Park Nov. 9-10, 10 a.m.-5 p.m.; in St. Ignace Nov. 13-14, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. at the Dept. of Transportation Welcome Center, I-75 at the Mackinac Bridge; and in Clare, Nov. 13-14, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. at the Mackie Welcome Center, 9599 US 27.

At the above locations, DNR staff will be able to provide hunters with printed information on deer hunting and answer questions about deer concentrations, hunting prospects, regulations and places to hunt and camp.

Nov. 16-18 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., highway check stations will be located in Birch Run at the I-75 weigh station 2.5 miles north of Birch Run; in the Alma area at the US-27 rest stop between Alma and Shepherd; and in Big Rapids on US-131 at the rest area south of Big Rapids.

Turkey shoot returns

Thanksgiving and basketball come together in the Second Annual Turkey Shoot, slated for 6 p.m. Nov. 26 at Sashabaw Middle School.

The shoot is a free-throw-shooting contest, with several different divisions competing. Age groups in the youth division are boys and girls, ages 8-9, 10-11, 12-13, 14-15 and 16-17. Adult divisions include ages 18-19, 20-29, 30-39, 40-49, 50-59 and age 60 and over.

The shootout for youths ages 8-17 will start at 6 p.m., while the adult divisions begin at 7 p.m.

Kroger is donating a frozen turkey to the people who make the most free throws out of 10 in each age group. Ties breakers will be determined by a best-of-five shootout.

Entry cost is $2 per child age 8-17 and $3 for adults, ages 18 and over.

All participants must pre-register at the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, 90 N. Main St. in Clarkston. No on-site registrations will be accepted. For more information, call Mike at 625-8223.

SMS intramurals

This fall approximately 65 girls in grades six through eight participated in intramural basketball at Sashabaw Middle School. Their season was divided into two halves.

The first half was devoted to instruction of the basic skill of dribbling, throwing, catching, shooting, passing and how to play the game. The second half consisted of a round-robin tournament.

The teams in each division (sixth grade and seventh/eighth) with the highest winning percentages of games won will receive trophies. All participants will receive a certificate.

Sashabaw Middle School offers intramural sports in girls and boys basketball, tennis and soccer. The programs are designed for students of all skill levels and incorporate instruction, fun and good sportsmanship.

Waiting for the snow

Young skiers start preparing now—on skates

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Young skiers who can't wait for the season to start are boning up their skills Sundays at Pine Knob.

The Knob offers dry land race training for members and prospective members of the Thunderbolt Training Center. Though there's no snow on the ground yet, the racers are still learning—on in-line skates.

"The in-line skates closely simulate pure carve turns on skis," said Pat Deibel, ski school director at Pine Knob. "The turns they make simulate a carved turn for racing."

And for these kids, ages 6 through high school, racing is what it's all about. In addition to learning about turning, they're also absorbing racing strategy and tactics.

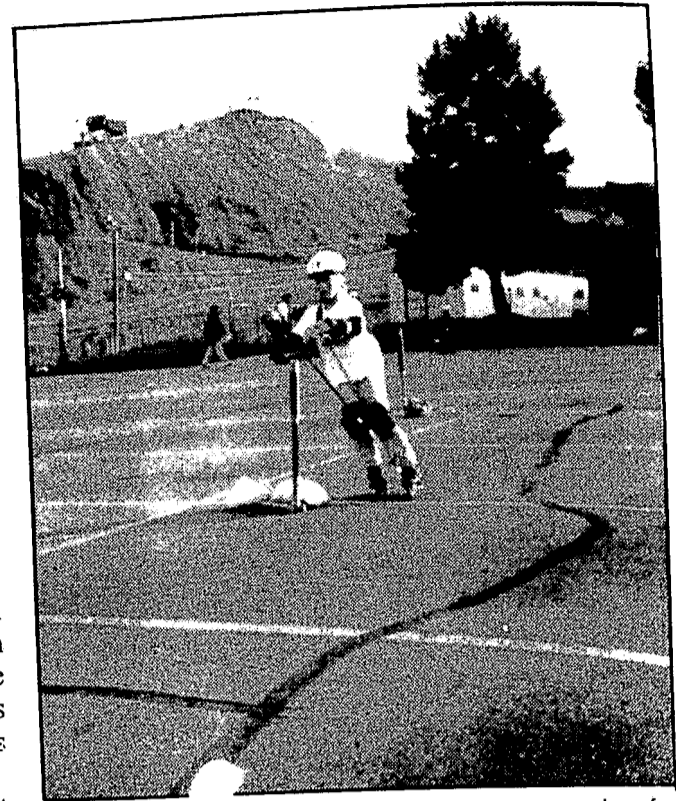

"Most of the kids are already racing with us, or they're going to join this season," Deibel said. "We work on skills, tactics—how to read a course, balance and edging, and they exactly correlate (with in-line skating) . . . It's been really fun."

Deibel said 40 to 60 kids participate each weekend, unless the Pine Knob parking lot is wet, in which case class is cancelled. All students wear full protective gear, including helmets.

Once the ski season starts, the young athletes will most likely be part of a training program in preparation for high school, or on a high-school ski team. The Thunderbolt racing school is part of the United States Ski Association's national program, and Pine Knob is in the Central Division of the USSA.

The weekend sessions are open to Thunderbolt team members only. "It's really a kind of service we provide to our racers," Deibel said. Basic team membership costs $120 for seven weeks of training beginning in January, with other options available.

A young racer in training makes the rounds of Pine Knob's dry land race training course on in-line skates. The skis will come later.

● Adam Gilreath of Clarkston is a freshman forward on the Kalamazoo College soccer team. The team currently has a record of 6-5-1, 4-3-1 in the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association. Through 12 games, Gilreath, a graduate of Clarkston High School, has one goal and one assist for a total of three points. He is the son of Annette Gilreath of Clarkston and Shearman Gilreath of Dearborn.

Shadows soccer

The Clarkston Shadows Under-15 girls select soccer team finished its season Sunday with a 6-0 victory over the Oxford/Orion Screammers.

Sarah Voss scored three goals with Mercedes Combs, Jody Back and Allison Barth each contributing one goal. Goalkeeping duties were shared by Lauren Stout and Allison Barth.

Coaches Jenny and Clay Combs congratulated the girls on a great game and an outstanding season. Other members of the team who contributed to the 7-4-1 season are: Heather Combs, Beth Gleason, Maureen Jones, Jennifer Yeager, Katie Tripti, Jessica Thomas, Amy Warbington, Ashley Garrish, Meredith Losicki and Kara Granlund.

The Clarkston Shadows, a traveling team for the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, wrapped up its season Oct. 20. The Shadows finished second in the Michigan Youth Soccer League Girls 12-and-under division. Clarkston took on the Birmingham Blazers for the league title Oct. 20 at Clintonwood Park. The Shadows had a 1-0 lead at halftime but the Blazers, the only team to defeat the Shadows this year, tied it up early in the second half. The Blazers went on to win, 2-1. At left, Christina Roeder battles a player from the Blazers for the ball.
