Spring plant sale returns at student-run greenhouse

Now if spring would only get here.

The annual spring plant sale at the Oakland Technical Center Northwest is scheduled for Wednesday, May 14, 8 a.m.-2 p.m.

The plants for sale include many of those generally found in area greenhouses in time for the spring planting season, including geraniums, hanging baskets, perennials and herbs, except that they were grown by students in the floral/greenhouse program at OTCNW. This is the 19th year for the sale.

The school is located at 8211 Big Lake Rd. near Dixie Highway and I-75. Look for the greenhouse as you circle the driveway.

For more information call Scentiments at 625-359.

Spring clean-up scheduled

Wonder how you're going to get rid of all those branches from the ice storm?

The Independence Township Department of Public Works is holding Spring Clean-up on two days this year. Both are Saturdays, May 10 and May 17, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. This is for residents of Independence Township and the City of Clarkston only. No commercial vehicles are allowed. The site is located at the DPW, 6050 Flemings Lake Rd., just east of Clarkston Rd. and across from the new high school.

Fees, per load, are as follows: automobile, $5; auto with single-axle trailer or pickup truck of van, $10; pickup truck with single-axle trailer, flatbed single-axle truck, dual-axle trailer. 5-yard dump truck, $25. Freon removal is $10. Tires fees (limit of 10) are: passenger car and truck tires, $1; large truck or tractor tires, $5. Rims must be removed from large tires.

The DPW does not accept garbage, grass, leaves, compost, fuel oil drums, barrels, propane cylinders, storage tanks, automobiles or vehicles of any kind, chemicals, paint or hazardous waste, railroad ties with tar sealers, large loads of shingles, concrete, bricks, etc.

Tickets for dumping are available at the township treasurer's office, Township Hall, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston. They will also be on sale at the dump site on clean-up days.

DDA board wants to keep going

Township board of trustees to address issue

BY EILEEN McCARVILLE Clarkston News Staff Writer

With 1996's improper tax collection behind it, the Independence Township Downtown Development Authority is looking ahead to the possibility of future DDA-funded projects.

On May 1 members of the DDA met at the new township fire station on Citation Drive and prioritized seven White Lake Rd. projects they would like to see if the life of the DDA is extended.

Recently the township discovered it incorrectly captured over $1 million in 1996 tax revenues for the DDA. Established in 1986, the DDA's 10-year plan allowed taxes to be captured for nine years only, ending in 1995. At presstime, the matter of paying back the 1996 tax revenues was expected to be addressed at the May 6 township board of trustees meeting.

The township also faces a decision on whether to extend the life of the DDA as a tax-capturing power to generate funds for still uncompleted projects in its jurisdiction — portions of White Lake Rd. and Dixie Highway. Several original projects remain unfinished, partly because the DDA lost significant funding when Proposal A took effect several years ago.

One project that will be completed with current DDA funding is widening White Lake Rd. to three lanes, south from the railroad tracks to Andersonville Rd. "We're pretty much at a break-even point with the completion of White Lake Rd.," said township planner Dick Carlisle. "We will certainly be able to complete our obligation for the road widening project."

A new tax-capturing period would start in 1997 if the DDA were to be extended. Other road-related projects, eliminated with the funding constraints, could be re-targeted, like safety paths and streetlighting within the DDA district.

As it has been since Proposal A, approximately 45 percent of the revenue would come from taxes due to Oakland County and Oakland Community College. The other 55 percent would be collected from the township's own general, fire, police, library and safety path funds.

Carlisle presented a list of recommended projects

The news in brief

Middle schools schedule orientation

Clarkston Middle School and Sashabaw Middle School will hold fifth-grade parent orientation programs on Thursday, May 15. Both programs begin at 7 p.m. in their respective gyms.

Postal carriers to sponsor food drive

Help the needy May 10 by participating in a food drive sponsored by the National Association of Letter Carriers Branch 320, the U.S. Postal Service, the AFL-CIO and United Way of America. Residents are asked to place food donations—non-perishable, canned and dried only—by their mailboxes Saturday morning. Letter carriers will pick up contributions and deliver them to the food bank.

The NALC saw the need for such a drive at this time of year because children will soon be at home during the day, unable to rely on school lunches throughout the summer. Though the drive is a national effort, local collections will stay in those communities. Clarkston donations will go to Lighthouse North and be distributed to needy families in the area. Lighthouse cannot use food that is outdated, opened or in damaged containers.

Volunteers have been helpful in the past and would be appreciated again this year. To volunteer, call either Lighthouse coordinator Katie Stewart at 673-4949 or NALC coordinator Paul Sharkey of the Clarkston Post Office at 625-0033.

Guilty plea in fondling case

A former Sashabaw Middle School paraprofessional pled no contest Monday in Oakland County Circuit Court to one count of fourth-degree criminal sexual conduct on a student.

Douglas Labrie entered the plea in Judge Robert Anderson's courtroom; he will be senteneced June 4. The charge came after a student said Labrie grabbed her inappropriately during school in November. He was 20 at the time of the incident.

McCrary named president of local MTA chapter

Independence Township clerk Joan McCrary was recently elected president of the 1997-98 executive board for the Oakland County Chapter of the Michigan Townships Association. The statewide organization boasts 1,240 members. The local Oakland chapter is composed of officials from 21 townships. The chapter's purpose is to keep officials up-to-date with government issues, to educate members on new legislation and to network with other elected officials.

Blood banks scheduled

American Red Cross blood banks have been scheduled for May 8 and May 10 in Clarkston.

On May 8 the Bloodmobile comes to Clarkston High School from 7:45 a.m. to 1:45 p.m. Call 810-543-0670 for an appointment.

Then on May 10 the Bloodmobile returns, this time to the American Legion hall on Mary Sue. Hours are 11 a.m.-5 p.m.; call 674-1523 for an appointment.

Internet brings moms together

Chat room allows them to meet, but without leaving home

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY

Clarkston News Editor

It's 10:30 on a weekday morning when Carolyn Bush pops a "Barney" tape in the VCR, turns it on for son Davis, 2, then moves into the next room where her Compaq computer is on and waiting.

With Davis comfortably ensconced and her door open so she can hear him, Bush, of Clarkston, logs on to the Michigan Moms Internet chat room to let her fellow moms know she's here.

Bush is one of about 48 young mothers, (one of two from Clarkston) who use the Internet as a sort-of new-moms support group via an America Online chat room. Like many of the other participants, Bush was cruising the Internet one day when she spotted an inquiry from Michigan seeking interested moms for what's called an e-mail loop, or conversation via computer. The inquiry was posted by Nancy Bachus, who was looking for other stay-at-home moms with young children.

"I had just moved to Michigan from California and didn't know anybody," said Bachus, 31. She has two children, ages 9 and 5. "I just wanted to meet some people who had something in common with me--kids."

Bush has three children, ages 8, 6 and 2 and was already active on the Internet, where she has been researching genealogy. She's visited sites all over the world looking into her Slovakian heritage.

"There's so much out there you have to have the time to sit down and find out what's there," she said. In the Michigan Moms, she's made a whole bunch of new friends who all have something in common—computer literacy and small children. A number of the moms have already begun meeting face to face.

"I didn't initially think that would happen because we're so spread out,"Bachus said. A Marshall resident, she travelled to Canton for one of the meetings, at a Chuck E. Cheese restaurant.

One new friend Bush made is Dawn Furlong, an Oxford woman with a 1-year-old daughter and two older boys. She stopped by Bush's house recently to take part in a demonstration of the chat room for The Clarkston News.

The Michigan moms is "a broad group of individuals," Furlong said. "All of us have different reasons for being online. I did it because I had a baby. Seven of us met at McDonald's yesterday and between us we had

What do they talk about? Kids, of course. As the women logged on, their initial comments were about who was sick, who was up and who was sleeping, who

"A lot of the comments are we hope we can get online without the kids crawling up our legs." Furlong said. "That's why I only get on early in the morning."

"There's a lot of similarities we have together," Bush said. "First, we're moms. Some have home-based businesses. Some are stay-at-home moms. So it's a good mix."

Some belong to more than one moms group. Most are young; Furlong said at 39, she's the second-oldest in the group. Some are more involved in the group than others, driving miles to meet with members in person or sending daily e-mail.

"It's a very supportive group," said Furlong. Illnesses, moves, recipes—all are exchanged on the Net. Some members are military wives with connections to Michigan who move often. One woman knew she would soon be moving from Pennsylvania to Michigan, so she joined the chat room. "When she moved here she had lots of friends already," Furlong said. "She knows the good schools, where not to move, the rents."

here's a lot of weirdos on the Net but this is a great group.'

Online, we asked the Michigan Moms why they joined the chat room. Among their reasons: communication, support, commiseration, making friends, talking to other moms, to spout off, to relax. Another Clarkston member, named Wendy, said via the chat room, "I basically joined because I wanted to meet more people in my area." She moved to Michigan two years ago from Pennsylvania due to her husband's job transfer. "It is nice to get advice and feedback from others about raising kids," she said.

According to Bush and Furlong, sometimes they'll discuss specific problems of child-rearing, such as potty training, pacifiers, etc. Sometimes they plan outings-gaming trips to Windsor, shopping at Birch Run. Each participates according to her own needs.

"I wouldn't have any friends who have kids Rachel's age if I didn't have this computer," said Furlong, speaking of her daughter. "She's too young to put in organized day care. That's how I met people with my other kids. You can get real isolated if you're home with two, three or five kids, as some of these women are ... It's real cool when you turn on your computer and it says you have mail."

Michigan Moms offers a lot more than just chat. The website offers a joke of the day, recipes, profiles of the moms, and information on health, parenting, running a business—even the "cute kids" site, where you can download a photograph so sharp it's like holding it in your own hand. The website is provided by Bachus, the Michigan Moms founder.

All three women said the Michigan Moms gives them a level of comfort not found in open chat rooms, where you don't necessarily get to know the other participants. Bush said she's seen people log on, then begin asking for credit card information and passwords. Here, when someone comes online or leaves, they get a greeting.

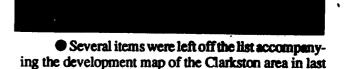

"Please highlight the positive aspect of the Net, not the bad ones," one Mom writes before she signs off. "There's lots of weirdos on the Net but this is a great group.'

Wendy agrees. "You gals are the best," she says before leaving.

"I'd love it if Oprah could get all 50 of us together," Furlong said.

At about that moment, her daughter and Bush's son suddenly clash and the room erupts in loud crying. It's been about an hour since the chat started. Not bad with a 1-year-old and a 2-year-old in the house.

"It's just a good way to connect, and I try to get on once a day," Bush said.

costing nearly $2 million for a five-year DDA extension period, which he whittled down from another plan costing over $3 million for a nine-or ten-year extension.

"While our revenues increase, our costs increase. I just feel more confident taking a conservative viewpoint," he said.

Taking his recommendations into consideration, DDA members voted on a total of 10 proposed projects, out of which seven passed and three failed. The seven projects, estimated at a total cost of $1.85 million, include:

- Completing the rest of the White Lake Rd. widening to three lanes, north of the railroad tracks to the White Lake Commons shopping center near Dixie: $600,000.
- Extending safety paths on the east side of White Lake Rd., north from the railroad tracks to White Lake Commons: $125,000.
- Extending safety paths east on Andersonville from White Lake Rd., ending about two-thirds of the way to Bay Court Park (where DDA jurisdiction ends): $100,000.
- Installing streetlights at key residential intersections from Dixie to Andersonville: $250,000.
- Landscaping (streetscaping) White Lake Rd. from Dixie to Andersonville: $75,000.
- Maintenance of streetlighting along White Lake Rd.: $400,000.
- Acquiring easements with the additional roadwidening along White Lake Rd.: $300,000.

One project that failed was a plan to acquire "blighted" areas of land on White Lake Rd., approximated at a cost of a half-million dollars, to improve the township's tax base. That proposal seemed to lose ground after DDA board member Forrest Milzow said the township shouldn't involve itself in "real estate". matters and said he was in touch with two of the prospective landowners. "That number is not even close to acquiring those two parcels," he said.

Milzow also took issue with those who don't favor widening White Lake to Dixie. Milzow said it wouldn't take "a Rhodes Scholar" to see "the road (will eventually become) as busy as any road in the township. It's going to be a major thoroughfare."

Additionally, Carlisle recommended reimbursing the township's water and sewer fund, which has already expended $730,000 for completed sewer and water extensions along White Lake Rd. He also suggested that funds programmed from both the sewer/water and safety path funds for other portions of White Lake Rd. be assumed by the DDA. Shifting those projects back to the DDA would "free up tax dollars for other capital projects" in the township, he said.

Those items would cost the DDA an additional $1 million, but would especially help sewer and water, the fund hardest hit by recent township investment losses, DDA board member Jim Scharl of Kieft Engineering made a motion to either extend the DDA for five years for the seven projects or to extend it to seven years to allow for the additional water, sewer and safety path reimbursements. The motion carried 6-1, with township supervisor Dale Stuart dissenting.

DDA members voting included chairman and Mr. G's Hair Care Center owner Dick Ayers, veterinarian ing" about extending the DDA. Dr. Bruce Harleton, Clarkston High School business manager Craig Kahler, Randy Hosler of Randy Hosler Pontiac-Buick, Susan Ritchey, Stuart, Scharl and Independence Township officials present included treasurer Jim Wenger, clerk Joan McCrary (also DDA secretary) and trustees Jeff McGee and Larry Rosso. As the DDA is a recommending body only, approval for any extension would need to come from the township's board of trustees.

Stuart said he had voted no because he didn't agree with at least two projects — the additional White Lake Rd. widening and the resulting easements which would need to be acquired.

"I do not think it makes sense to go in to make the third lane for White Lake Rd. That's $900,000 ($600,000 for the widening; $300,000 for easements)." Widening the road from Clement to Dixie would mean adding a left-turn lane and Stuart feels the present twolane stretch is sufficient before the road widens again near Dixie. "Is that worth it for us to spend that much money?" he asked.

Originally, the DDA board didn't favor that idea, he said. "It kind of surprised me that now there's great support for it."

Later, McGee said,"One of the things people have to remember is that the DDA was established to help the community-at-large with these projects ... The township bailed the White Lake project out, so to reimburse the township is not a bad thing," he said, referring to the water, sewer and safety path reimbursements.

McGee said he would support the idea of returning money to the safety path fund. "If the DDA reimburses for the section from (the railroad tracks) to Andersonville, isn't it likely that the safety path committee would take those dollars and put them toward that (Andersonville to Bay Court) extension? ... It's not true we're a four-walled community. Everybody benefits from these projects."

But the biggest question to be decided by the township is "are we going to vote to continue the DDA? I haven't made up my mind yet," he added.

Rosso said he hadn't "totally solidified my think-

"I do have a problem with the maintenance issue," said Rosso. The DDA "was not meant to be a maintenance-bearing operation. It was meant to be a projectbuilding operation." During the meeting McCrary indiciated it would cost the township approximately $5,500 to replace each streetlight — as well as electric bills, which would be "huge," Rosso said. When the . DDA eventually ends, "Who'd pay the fees?" he added.

The matter will be addressed at the June 3 board of trustees meeting.

Farmer Jack remodels to a 'state-of-the-art' store on Dixie Hwy.

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY

Clarkston News Editor

Clarkston food shoppers sure have a lot of choices

With the ceremonial snipping of a red ribbon with a giant pair of scissors, Farmer Jack unveiled its new, improved grocery store at Dixie Highway and White Lake Rd. Monday.

Clarkston Mayor Sharron Catallo and Independence Township Supervisor Dale Stuart were on hand, as was Kim Huttenlocher, who accepted a check on behalf of the Clarkston Community Historical Society. The Society lent Farmer Jack some photos of old Clarkston which have been enlarged and now decorate

The bigger, brighter full-service store includes some changes for Farmer Jack: an expanded deli featuring freshly prepared sandwiches, salads and desserts ready to go; seven hot dinners to go daily (you can call ahead and have your order waiting); seafood flown in daily; premium pork; a post office outlet, pharmacy and even a bank branch.

The upscale Farmer Jack joins the recently remodeled Kroger store down the road and the flagship Food Town on Sashabaw in offering Clarkston shoppers more glitz for their grocery dollar. Sam's Club they're definitely not.

with our newly designed concept," stated Farmer Jack president Craig Sturken in a press release. "We are dedicated to serving our customers with a myriad of new products and services. We also look forward to an important working relationship with our employees and their families as well as with the area's community and union leaders."

The renovation cost Farmer Jack $2.7 million. Square footage was expanded from 40,000 to 50,000 in what the company calls a "state-of-the-art" store featuring all new interior decor.

Produce is now sold "farmers market" style out of large baskets. A fresh fish counter has been added beside the prewrapped selections, aisles are wide and bright and you can do your banking at the Michigan National Financial Center.

Banking hours are Monday-Saturday, 10 a.m.-8 p.m. and Sunday, 11-6. Farmer Jack is open around the clock, seven days a week.

Farmer Jack is a subsidiary of A&P, one of the largest supermarket operators in North America. The chain operates 1,000 stores in 20 states, the District of Columbia and Ontario, Canada under several names.

The Clarkston expansion is just part of a big remodeling/growth plan for Farmer Jack-$100 million in the past three years, with new stores on the way in 1997 in Northville, Fenton, Troy, Taylor, Highland Park, Flint and Dearborn. Nearly 600 full-time and 2,400 part-time employees are expected to be hired, pumping $28 million into the economy plus another $44 million for construction.

Election

matter

As I pulled into the school administration building last Thursday at 8 a.m., I wondered if I'd gotten the wrong day or time.

There was supposed to be a meeting of the business community with school superintendent Dr. Al Roberts. Breakfast was promised in the letters that went out to every member of the Chamber of Commerce and many other local business persons.

It turned out I was in the right place at the right time—but almost no one else was. Only three members of the media, one business owner and a handful realestate people showed up. Only about 15 people had RSVP'd. Even some of them were no-shows.

Maybe everyone was expecting a sales pitch on the bond issue (it wasn't). But the turnout, described as "very" disappointing, was just the latest indication that there is a lot of apathy going around when it comes to the June bond election.

In December the school district asked for permission to borrow over $50 million to build a new elementary school and add on to existing ones, as well as some other work. Only 1,741 voters made it to the polls. By comparison there are over 6,500 kids enrolled in the district and over 27,000 residents.

Now, I can understand that some elections are yawners. Routine school-board elections, especially if you don't have kids in school, probably top the list. Municipal elections in non-presidential years are probably high up there too.

But this election is about money. And I've never understood how people can fail to show up to vote when the outcome will affect their wallet for years to come.

Our country was founded on "no taxation without representation" yet we seem to have abrogated our hard-won self-determination to the few who will bother, no matter who they are. Then we complain about them.

When the bond issue failed in December, its supporters, rightly or wrongly, didn't accept the 'no' vote because it was by a margin of only 165 votes, and in such a small field. Coming back with essentially the same proposal in June (only this time it's more expensive) the Help Us Grow (HUG) committee, despite it's warm and fuzzy name, is taking things seriously. They're holding press conferences, having a website, issuing weekly faxes--just keeping the issue on the front burner.

Giving away Beanie Babies is just one example. A goofy idea that showed up on the top of page one of the local daily paper, complete with picture. You can't buy that kind of publicity. Will it get voters to the polls? Only time will tell:

It doesn't matter how you feel about the bond issue; you've got to vote. Anyone who doesn't will have no excuse for complaining about the results.

So vote June 9, and vote smart, whether it's yes or no. Either way, let the district have a resounding answer on plans for the future.

Volunteerism is nothing new here

It's great to see the national push for volunteerism led by Retired General Colin Powell. Individuals working to help others is what our country needs, instead of the government being the end-all fix-it.

Volunteerism, neighbors helping neighbors, groups and churches helping those in need, can make any community a better place to live.

And, we'd like to take this opportunity to commend all the local organizations and individuals who have -- before this recent push -- volunteered in their communities, for a long, long time.

The Lions, Rotarians, Optimists, Music Clubs, the Garden Clubs, Boosters -- the whomevers -- were chartered to help their communities be a better place to live. The members of these groups have taken time out of their lives and have made a difference in their community.

If you know any members of any local service club or organization, give them a pat on the back. If you wish to volunteer and help make a difference, join a local club. Be a part of the community, you'll be glad you did. DPR

Jim's Jottings

Not just fishing, but catching, too By Jim Sherman

The Old Farmer's Almanac devotes a half-page to Best Fishing Days, in this case, for 1997.

For April, the month trout season opens in Michigan, the best fishing is from April 7 to 22.

Our state, after consulting Almanac writers, set opening day as the last Saturday in April . . . that was the 25th this spring.

The Almanac also tells us the best time of day to catch the big 'uns. "The morning rise - after sunup for a spell - and the evening rise - just before sundown and the hour or so after."

After conquering the morning rise, we cast our first line in the water at 10 a.m. The first trout was caught 10 minutes later. So much for rising early and eating the worm, or however that saying goes.

It was my intent to miss opening day this spring, or at last delay it a week. We weren't convinced the roads would be plowed to the ponds in the Upper, where we usually fish, nor did we think the ice would be gone.

But that date proved best for Tim Davidson and sons, Todd, 9, and Scott, 14, and Bob Offer and our grandson, Dan Offer, 11, so son Jim and I readjusted our busy schedules, bowed to their wishes to keep the friendships and dug some worms.

It was the best fishing decision we ever made.

The trails were plowed, the ponds free of ice, the sky was clear, the temperature high and the fish, not the black flies, were biting.

These are not normal conditions for opening day of trout season in Michigan. More often its overcast and rainy, temperature in the low 40s and the fish have all been consumed by otter. Every one of them.

This day was one for the records. For us. Grandson Danny caught 2, Scott caught 3, Todd caught 2, Dan's dad caught 3 and Todd and Scott's dad caught one.

Considering the limit is 5 a day, that 11 may not impress you, to which I say you aren't aware of our fishless fishing experiences, you aren't a trout fisherman or you don't know that the DNR sets limits as a joke. They don't expect anyone to actually catch five trout a day. Maybe buy 5, but not catch 5.

Fishing, small game and bird hunting limits are set by the DNR officials during their "How can we make people think we have an abundance of these things so we can get top dollar for licenses" sessions.

You didn't read son Jim's name nor mine in that "opening day catch" list. No, but we'd like to tell you the names and colors of lures that weren't effective opening day:

Super dupers, Mepps Syclops, Mr Twisters, red and white Dardevles, pearl spinners, black frog spinners, Swedish Pimples, silver flatfish, chartreuse Cop-E-Cat and orange and silver Little Cleos.

Oh, you want to know what was working best? Yellow things with orange spots.

Served with baked potatoes and beans these trout were absolutely delicious.

15 YEARS AGO (1982)

After two years of operating under Chapter 11, Pine Knob Investment Co. is pulling itself out of School for the graduating class of '47. Katherine bankruptcy. On April 30 a federal judge approves coowners Joseph Locricchio and Gary Francell's plan for paying back debts to creditors. Pine Knob currently owes between $10 and $11 million, which came about through a foreclosure suit filed by Borg-Warner Equities, a township request for more restrooms, a poor skiing season and loss of investors for the proposed 20story, ski-run-roof hotel.

After four days of head-to-head negotiations, Independence Township officials and representatives of the Salem Gravel Pit arrive at a proposed agreement for reclamation and extension to mine. The plan will need approval from the township board.

Mt. Zion Temple is gearing up to open its own school, Mt. Zion Christian, this fall. Plans call for kindergarten through third grade, with other grades to be added each year. The school will not be limited to parishioners, nor does it plan to have religion a specific part of its curriculum. "We want our kids to be raised like those in the public school, but we believe in a Christian atmosphere," says Jeanne Hamilton, co-administrator.

25 YEARS AGO (1972)

Mrs. Keith (Betty) Hallman, a clerk for eight years in the Independence Township treasurer's department, is named deputy township clerk. Her appointment is announced by current township clerk J. Edwin Glennie, She will continue with her duties in the treasurer's department as well.

Lakelake Sounds of Music and Pontiac Tuesday Musicale team up to commemorate National Music Week with a series of programs at the Pontiac Mall. Clarkston groups to be featured include the New Horizons Combo, the Clarkston High School Madrigal Singers and the piano duo of Pat Race and Gertrude Shimmin.

Clarkston's varsity baseball team wins two and loses two games in league play. Monday the first loss of 2-1 comes after an extra inning of play with Waterford Kettering.

50 YEARS AGO (1947)

Top honor students are named at Clarkston High LaPlante, with an "all A" record, has been named valedictorian, while Kenneth Hempstead is salutatorian. Katherine, who came to Clarkston in the second grade, is remembered by teachers for her curly hair, winning smile and excellent grades. Her record has been unmarred by even one "B" since the ninth grade. Kenneth is remembered for his fine work in the junior play, "Snafu," which was particularly well done since he had less than a week to learn the part.

Playing at the Holly Theatre are Judy Canova and Allen Jenkins in "Singing in the Com" and Robert Young, Barbara Hale and Frank Morgan in "Lady Luck." Showing at the Drayton Theatre are Claudette Colbert and Walter Pidgeon in "In Big Feature"

Specials at Terry's Market include smoked picnics, 43 cents a pound; tomato juice, a 46-ounce can for 23 cents; cheese, pimento or American, two pounds for 73 cents; Maxwell House Coffee, 49 cents a pound; and Hunt Club Dog food, five pounds for 55 cents.

60 YEARS AGO (1937)

Everyone will be glad to know that Bill Wilson was brought home Tuesday from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, where he underwent a throat operation last Saturday. He had been suffering asevere sore throat for several days and doctors decided an operation was necessary. He is getting along nicely now. Although he is confined to his bed, time passes quickly, as he has a radio in his room and spends the afternoons listening to ball games.

Showing at the Holly Theatre are Robert Young and Ann Sothern in "Dangerous Number," Victor McLagien, Walter Connolly and June Lang in "Nancy Steele is Missing" and Errol Flynn and Anita Louise in "Green Light."

Specials at Rudy's include veal stew, 14 cents a pound; hamburger, two pounds for 29 cents; tomatoes, two large cans for a quarter; Trilby Soap, four bars for 19 cents; fresh peas, three pounds for 25 cents; and lard, a two-pound package for 27 cents.

Do you favor a gas tax increase to fix the roads?

LAWSON JAN CLARKSTON: I think it would be one way to achieve that. I'd need to know more details. It might be a good thing. There's definitely roads that need to be repaired.

BLUE DONNA WATERFORD: No. It seems to me there should be enough money in our budget already to fix the roads, that they shouldn't have to raise gas prices to cover it.

GRIMMINGER CLARKSTON: guess, number one, I would prefer they get the money elsewhere, by trimming some programs and cutting waste, making things a bit leaner. And if doesn't accomplish it, some leftover monies.

GERTZ. JOANN CLARKSTON: Yes. I guess it's just desperation that needs to be done. The roads definitely need to get fixed. If we have to pay for it, we have to pay for it. At least you'd know where the money's going.

JAMES SCHEMEL, WATERFORD: Yes, if they spend it correctly. Whether we get it from Michigan or Washington, let's get something done. Let's get going on it or it'll be another two years that's gone by. And this car here's shaking apart on all the roads we go on.

Don't Rush Me

By Don Rush

Moms

Moms are special folks.

I don't know for sure how it is with most guys, but I bet they'd agree with me when I say, "Moms are put up in a special place by their sons." (Nothing Freudian, either, buddy). And, since those good old girls are elevated to a place of high esteem it is sometimes hard to talk to them -- at least for guys.

My sisters (I have three of the littl' darlings), I'm sure, also think Mom is a special person. But, they and Mom are on the same page. They laugh at the same jokes. They make the same facial expression. They have the same body-language. They think alike and they have common girl things to talk about. It's sorta like that father-son thing, only for females.

I guess you'd call that a mother-daughter thing. So, I've been thinking how to write a Mom's Day column since late January. I wanted to say something eloquent. Something memorable, something poignant. And all I come up with each time is: Moms Are Special.

Newsflash! Dateline, Clarkston. A local columnist here has made a remarkable discovery that could forever change how sons view their mothers. Moms are special.

Boy, that was a brilliant observation.

Moms are special, especially in a healthy family. But, guys don't talk about their moms. For years Hollywood has even poked fun about guys and their "What'd you say about my mother? The lady's a saint -- you want I should bust you in the face.

Take it back or you'll be pickin' yer teeth up with a vacuum cleaner."

I think that's the way most of those scripted lines went.

There's an unwritten code among guys that you only say nice things about somebody else's mom. "Your mom's chili is great!" "Your mom is so cool." "Your mom is the best!" To which guys smile and proudly reply, "Yep, you're right." Guys never Saying something like, "Your mom's a knockout," however, would land you a black eye in a heartbeat -- even if the woman was dynamite. It's all part of that guy code of honor. This code is fostered from father to son, so I guess it's always been this way.

Don't mess with The Mama.

Thinking about it, most moms are great women. Maybe it's the child-birthing thing, but they are tolerant and strong, silent and loving, wise and nurturing.

See, there I go . . .

I start out writing a Mother's Day column for my mom, and I back off and generalize about guys and their moms. What's up with that? Okay, I'll just type it real fast:

"Mom, I love you. You're all the wonderful things I wrote about moms in general. Happy Mother's Day.

Oh, yeah, and I'll cut your lawn or something this weekend."

Cost of bond is 50 cents a day

Dear editor.

The June 9 bond issue represents more than bricks and mortar for the Clarkston area. It is an opportunity to invest in our curriculum that we simply cannot afford to ignore.

For only 1.36 mills, less than 50 cents a day (for a $250,000 home), our children will benefit from increased technological opportunities, better heated classrooms, less crowded lunch rooms and classrooms. But most importantly we will have the opportunity to deliver science, music and art in ways that will increase understanding not only in those curriculum areas but by doing so, increase comprehension across the academic strand.

Comparison studies of SAT scores from 1990-1995 show students who have music education score 51 points higher on the verbal portion of the SAT and 39 points higher on the math portion than students who do not have music education. Students who have had 4 or more years of art study scored 59 points higher on the verbal portion and 44 points higher on the math portions of the SAT. Parents of students who retake the SAT trying to raise their scores as they prepare to enter college know that just a 2 or 3 point gain is remarkable. But through music and art we can increase scores far more than 2 or 3 points.

And all for fifty cents a day.

Art on a cart and science in a closet are simply not acceptable. The nationwide cry for better public education tells us we cannot continue to do things as we did thirty years ago. The 21st century demands more of us and more of our children. We need more hands-on experiences in art and science. We need more space and time for lab experiements in biology and earth sciences. Children at the elementary level can and do learn a love for science and art when they do it instead of just reading about it.

The need for dedicated classrooms is only a portion of the bond issue. There are many other, just as necessary and just as worthy components, and all for fifty cents a day.

If Clarkston is going to provide a solid grounding in the basic curriculum, if we are going to provide open-ended learning opportunities for all children, if we are going to step up to the challenge of providing curriculum and classroom experiences that many of our surrounding districts already provide - then we must get out and vote.

Remember what the issues really are when you go to vote on June 9. Fifty cents a day is a fantastic investment. Now is the time to vote yes.

Superintendent's corner

By Al Roberts, Ed. D.

On character education

These are Superintendent Roberts' continuing thoughts on President Clinton's 1997 State of the Union Address regarding education. This Presidential point: Character Education.

One of the more controversial suggestions made by the ident in his recent address involves the issue of haracter Education." Even defining the manner in which the social and moral development of children is accomplished is sure to draw the wrath of some citizens!

On one hand, schools are told to leave the issue of values with the family. On the other hand, the family support necessary to help children grow into good adults is not always available. The number of youngsters living in the nuclear family has decreased over the years; the level of poverty among our nation's youngest citizens has increased dramatically; and parenting—given the complexities of life in the 1990s—is even more of a chore than it was in days gone by.

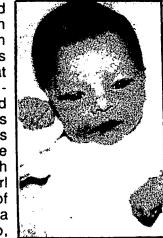

So what are schools to do? I guess that depends on your definition of character education, the type of trust and support you can count on from your community, and your willingness to tackle difficult social concerns.

From my perspective, schools have always been involved in developing the character amd worth of their students. So, the furor over the teaching of values is somewhat perplexing. Certainly there are values which most citizens embrace. For example, I can't believe that any Clarkstonite would disagree with the belief that students should be honest, or hard working. It would surprise me to hear that a parent didn't want his or her child to be principled or compassionate. But character education is not just teaching youngsters about those characteristics upon which a community can agree. It involves getting students to be more reflective, to think about their role in this great democracy, and to understand how their behavior impacts their fellow human beings.

It is true that values are learned at home, but they are practiced in the view of all. Your example and commitment to the children of Clarkston will pay dividends to our community and to our future.

What if they held a meeting and nobody came?

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY Clarkston News Editor

Only a handful of people turned out May 1 at what was billed as a business breakfast and a chance to meet new Clarkston school superintendent Dr. Al Roberts.

The district's public relations coordinator, Barbara Johns, called the turnout "very" disappointing and she wash't the only one who felt that way.

Real-estate salesperson Darlene Darby, who's been in the business in the area for over 20 years, said after the meeting," This room should be packed. Because if you can't sell a school district, you can't sell a

Johns said every member of the Chamber of Commerce had been invited, as well as other business owners and real-estate salespeople in the district. Only 15 RSVP's were received, and fewer than that showed

In his remarks, Roberts said he would not be selling the upcoming June 9 bond proposal. Rather, he gave an update on the high school now under construction on Flemings Lake Rd. and took questions from the audience on a variety of topics.

"There is no hidden agenda," he said. "We just thought it was important to make contact with our business community." Roberts is also scheduled to be the speaker at the next Chamber of Commerce luncheon, scheduled for May 15 at noon at Deer Lake Racquet Club.

Roberts asked audience members for input on how the district can improve, even passing out a sheet of paper and envelope to each guest so the response could be mailed back.

"You have a unique perspective," he said. "Folks don't often go up to the superintendent and say 'Here's how you can do better.' We are committed to not resting on our laurels . . .

"This meeting was not meant to be a sell for anything. It's an update. I want to be careful to walk that line.'

Many questions were asked about the high school construction, including capacity and traffic concerns. Roberts said the district is looking for another entrance onto the high school property, but "since that's a possible legal issue we can't discuss that." Currently entry is via Flemings Lake Rd. and Walters Rd., both unpaved and mostly residential. Most people would like to see traffic kept off Walters Rd.

Former school superintendent Gary Haner, who attended the meeting and who is now in real estate, complimented the district on keeping the focus where it has been all along: academics.

"I've watched in the press as our neighboring districts, cuts that were made," he said. "You were able to keep all of that program in there. Our neighbor cut the size of the building. They're going to have to live with that forever."

"I'm really proud of the school board for putting their heels in where they should," Roberts responded. "Academics isn't frivolous."

Other questions centered around student achievement, such as on the Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) tests. Realtor Eric Pilarcik said many people won't even look at a house in a district if the scores aren't good enough—even if they don't have kids in school.

"If I have houses lined up to show in a certain area, they'll say 'Don't even waste your time,'"he said. Though Clarkston MEAP scores are good, several realestate people in the audience said they need even more information, such as scholarships and awards students receive, to convince families this is a good place to live.

Ouestions were also answered about the cost of the upcoming bond issue and how it will be financed; where the proposed new elementary school will be built (it hasn't yet been decided); and what can be done about upkeep at older buildings. In short, a lot of information was exchanged, but few were there to hear it.

"I really do believe a strong school system enhances property value," Roberts said. "It's real important we communicate as much as we can."

in order that an injured party may take action against a tortleasor (wrongdoer), there must be three general elements involved: a legal duty from the wrongdoor to the injured party, the breach of that duty, and damages that result from that breach. The last of these elements indicates that no liability will exist unless it can be proven that the wrongdoer's conduct was the "proximate cause" of the injured party's damages. The cause of the injury does not necessarily have to be the immediate or direct result of the wrongdoar's action. For proximate cause to exist, it must simply be proven that the injury was the likely consequence or out-come of the negligence of the rrongdoer. You don't need to keep track of the ins and outs of the law-you just need to know an attorney who does. When you come to our offices, you'll find professionals who maintain a terrific level of detail. At our offices, we keep you informed of the progress of your case. Call 620-1030 to set up an appointment. We are conveniently located at 11 North Main Street. We work harder than anyone we know.

HINT: The issue for the jury to weigh when establishing liability in negligence cases is whether the negligent (in)action of the wrongdoe could have foreseeably led to the in juries involved.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

ON DISHWASHER EFFICIENCY

TODAY'S DISHWASHERS use 1/3 less water than washing an equivalent load by hand.

27 S. Main, Clarkston 625-9300

QUESTION: How efficient are today's dishwashers?

ANSWER: Today's

dishwashers use about a third less water (a total of 9.9 gallons per full load) than would be used to clean an equivalent load of dishes by hand (15.87 gallons). Of course, a dishwasher uses the same amount of water to clean one dish as it does for an 8-place setting. So, you should only wash full loads to get the water savings.

When comparing models before buying a dishwasher, pay attention to each one's energy efficiency rating. On many dishwashers, you can save a lot of energy by skipping the "dry" cycle and letting the dishes dry naturally.

The Cavis a Revolutionary War-era American, Ware Davis displays a collection depicting how Americans of that era lived.

DAR brings Revolutionary War era to life

The Sashabaw Plains Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution got together recently for a Revoluticary War-era historical re-enactment.

Marv Davis presented a program N arch 6 at the Independence Township Library. Rep esenting an American named Ezeriah Davis, a 1770's long-hunter from Kentucky, Davis wore authentic replicated clothing of the period and brought authentic-type foods, tools, guns, weapons, jewelry, utensils and cookware.

Food included chocolate, tea, coffee beans, maple sugar and dried com. His canteen was made out of a gourd. Shoes or moccasins were waterproofed with wax. His gunpowder horn also doubled as a map of the area where he lived.

This summer the Sashabaw Plains Chapter will mark the graves of two Revolutionary War soldiers buried in Lakeview Cemetery Independence Township, Caleb Merrell and Jeremiah Clark. The chapter also plans to host a genealogy workshop this spring.

Clarkston Foundation to relive '60s with party

Dust off the leisure suit, find those old bell bottom blues, peace signs and love beads: The Clarkston Foundation is back with another theme party.

The Foundation's Honorary Degree in Civic Affairs Membership Drive will host "Bridgestock: The Times they are a-Changing" at the Clarkston home of Jim and Anne Evans on Saturday, May 17. The party, a takeoff on "Woodstock" which refers to the Evans' home in the Bridge Valley subdivision, follows last year's successful Roaring '20s party at the home of Patience and Lou Beer. It's better than a high school reunion. A good time should be had by all.

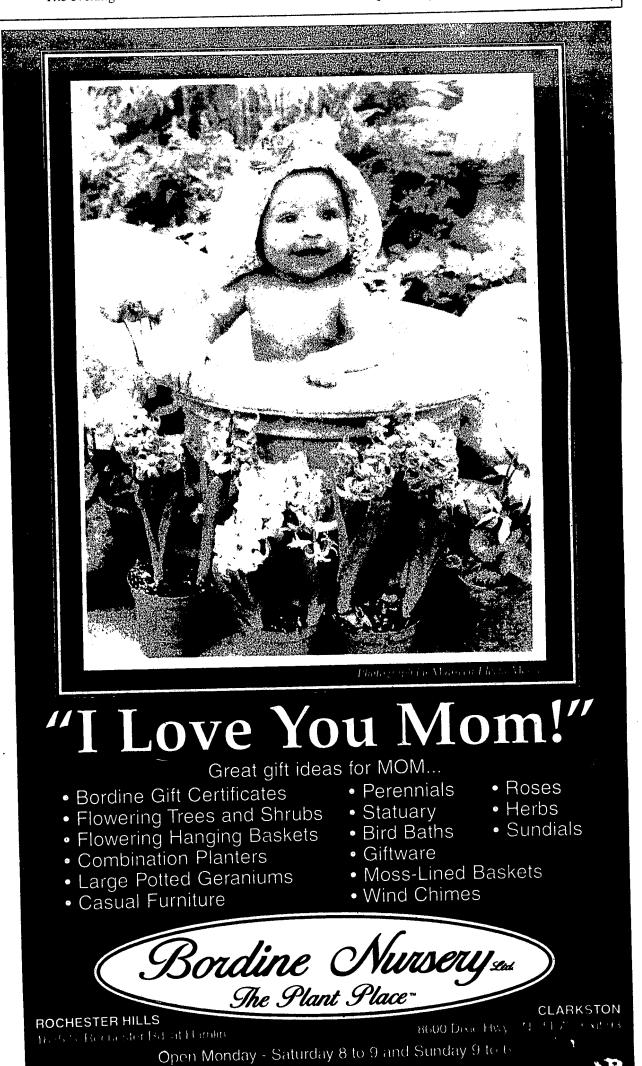

The evening will include '60s and '70s music, food and beverages. A Beanie Baby lovingly dubbed Garcia (after the late Grateful Dead musician Jerry Garcia, who appeared at Woodstock) will be raffled off.

Tickets are $100 per person or $150 per couple ($85/$120 is tax-deductible) and may be purchased by calling the Foundation at 625-7500.

The Clarkston Foundation is a non-profit corporation dedicated to enriching Clarkston community students' arts and science programs. Last year over $9,000 was donated to various programs within the Clarkston school district.

Four years ago the Foundation came up with the Honorary Degree program, in which donors are given a fake sheepskin with degrees commensurate with their generosity.

'David's Mother' tugs at the heart

BY EILEEN McCARVILLE Clarkston News Staff Writer

Some say the only unconditional love that exists is that of parent for child. But sometimes that can cause problems when ties are so strong the child's chance for independence is snuffed out.

That's the dilemma facing Sally and her autistic son David in "David's Mother," the last offering by the Clarkston Village Players this season.

Long-time Player Lee Woolcox is definitely the centerpiece here, as the rest of the characters revolve around her. But that's due to her accomplished acting. As Sally, she combines grit and that rare blend of humor and pathos that makes us want to both weep and laugh with her as she faces the tough decision of letting go.

It's almost like the late Erma Bombech has been resurrected on stage. Sally can speak of her "beautiful son" while he's asleep and remark how "normal" he looks. She can hug him in a fit of desperation — inside the all-askew apartment where she's lost count of the selfless hours spent in devotion - and think-talk: "How I wish I knew what goes on in your head."

Then she can turn around and cheat in Monopoly --- moving David's game piece until he lands on Marvin Gardens with three hotels (pay up). Or plop a tape into the VCR and say it doesn't matter if it's "The Wizard of Oz" or "E.T." And it doesn't matter if it's Stouffer's or Weight Watchers. Whatever — David will watch it or eat

The two or them live this way, day after day, figuring this is their destiny, complacent in their prison. When a childcare worker (Carmen Padilla) keeps popping up, telling Sally she needs to enroll David in a program where he may come home only on weekends, Sally keeps blowing her off.

"I'm fighting for my kid's life!" she tells a new, understanding suitor. She's really fighting for her own.

Again, she faces losing a chance for happiness. She's already lost a husband and daughter because they were attention-starved. It's her wise-cracking sister Bea who partly saves her, coaxing her to a weekend dinner party.

"Wear something that doesn't have dry food on it," Bea remarks, wryly. The gentle man Sally meets there falls in love and hangs on, despite Sally's efforts to sabotage the relationship. Hugh Rose is well-cast here as John, and it's through his tenacity that both David and Sally get a new lease on life.

The great lines are courtesy of Bob Randall, who wrote "The Fan" and "Kate & Allie."

It's interesting to note that three teenagers make their debuts, though the Players considered casting adults. Sarah Widajewski, a 13-year-old who plays the daughter, said it wasn't too hard slipping into her role as an adolescent hothead who cries for attention. Shannon Pinegar comes equipped with a backpack as David's sometimesbabysiter.

But it is James Sommers, a 15vear-old Clarkston High School freshman, who shines as David. He has his moves down pat, which consist of rocking, mumbling, scratching his head andears and occasionally chuckling when he glimpses reality. He's thoroughly believable as an autistic child.

Scenes from present to past are aptly accomplished with lights fading in and out, as when Sally encounters her former "ghosts." It's a creative way for us to learn and grasp the theme.

The set is well-designed and attention to the life-in-disarray is accomplished with cereal boxes on the fridge, magazines under the coffee table and a few missed shots of crumpled paper next to the wastebasket.

As in previous plays this year, like "Virginia Woolf" and "P.S. Your Cat is Dead,""David's Mother" is bolder than past CVP productions. Again, PG-13rated language is present, so think twice before bringing the children.

Think again. You may want to

Baby tangles wiith blind cord

It's a warning new parents are given over and over again: keep kids away from cords. But still, accidents

Bob and Deanna Olsen of Clarkston found that out the hard way Saturday when one of their almost-1year-old twin daughters, Paige Rebecca, was found in her crib not breathing, a Venetian blind cord wrapped around her neck.

Both parents were home at the time and as one began CPR, the other called 911. The Independence Township Fire Department responded in three minutes, inserted a breathing tube and Paige quickly resumed breathing. She was taken to St. Joseph Mercy-Oakland

The Clarkston (MI) News Wed., May 7, 1997 17 A via ambulance, where she remained Monday.

According to Lt. Dale LaBair of the Oakland County Sheriff's Independence substation, Paige was breathing but being assisted by a respirator Monday. Her parents were at her side.

According to the report written about the incident, the crib was about one foot from the wall where the window with the blinds was located. The deputy who wrote the report noted the cord was within reach and could be pulled toward the crib.

LaBair said he's seen such incidents before end in tragedy and hoped this one would serve as a reminder to other parents to childproof their homes.

Making a point about prayer

CHS students rally 'round the flagpole on National Day of Prayer

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY

Clarkston News Editor

It started with three.

As the clock hit 7 a.m. May 1, three girls ventured out into the dark, drizzly morning. From the warmth and light of Clarkston High School, they strode out to the flagpole and joined hands. Soon, others joined them, a few at a time. As school buses rolled in over the next half hour, others would arrive. A tap on the shoulder, an outstretched hand, and they were in.

By the time it was over, some 40 students and a few adults had rallied around the flagpole for the annual observance of World Prayer Day. For the last few years students in American public high schools have used the day as a way to show they believe they ought to be allowed to pray at school.

Jodie Bargeron started out the prayers. After her, one by one, may of those standing shivering in the rain offered up prayers-for their school, its seniors, the leaders of the school and the country, and more. Several songs interspersed the prayers, and God was even thanked for the challenging weather. Students entering school did so generally quietly. It continued until a school bell rang at about a half-hour later.

Jodie, a sophomore and member of LIFE, the school's religious club, said all CHS students were invited to participate via posters in school and announcements over the PA system, just like other school activities. This was her second year of participating.

She admitted she was freezing, despite wearing a

Though the weather has them wet and shivering, CHS students circle the flag pole to observe "Wolrd Prayer Day" May 1.

feet and sandals.

"That is really a great test of how much Jesus means," she said. "He has made such an impact in all our lives, nothing's going to keep us away."

Despite the rain she was pleased with the turnout. "There are some people who go to LIFE every week that you know will be there," she said. "I was surprised because of the weather. I thought not many people would show up. But I was shocked. What a great thing God did for us."

The purpose of the rally, she said, was "to praise God and to praise Jesus. And to get out and show other people we do have Christians in our school. And it's not something to be ashamed of."

The issue of prayer in school has been a touchy one in recent years. The founding American principle of separation of church and state means different things to different people, and public schools have struggled to accommodate the range of beliefs, usually by outlawing all religious expression in school functions.

This year, for example, CHS has decided to eliminate the singing of The Lord's Prayer by the Madrigal Singers, CHS's most prestigious choir, at graduation. Jodie, a member of another school choir. said the song is something singers look forward to as part of making it to the Madrigals, regardless of their religion. "We're upset they'll never get that chance,"

Nevertheless, she said, the prayer observance was leather jacket. Some other students wore shorts, bare met calmly by school staff, she said. "Sometimes we have trouble from the students," she said. "But the administrators are pretty open."

Jodie, who described herself as a regular churchgoer but "not a fanatic," said she doesn't believe prayer should be an official part of school due to the diversity of the population.

"I'm not saying we should have religion in the schools," she said. "I think what we have now is good and could be improved."

An 18-year-old Davisburg man was ticketed for trespassing at a shopping center on Dixie.

TUESDAY, APRIL 29, a 52-year-old Davisburg man was arrested at the scene of an accident on Maybee Rd. when tests showed he had been drinking and driving. Witnesses said he failed to stop at a stop sign, went into an embankment and hit a sign. He registered .230 on the Breathalyzer, more than twice the legal limit.

A camera bag containing $600 worth of equipment was stolen from a 1988 Ford parked at the high school. A slim-jim type of tool was used to get into the car.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 30, car/deer accident on Sashabaw around 10:30 p.m. A deputy shot the injured deer.

A 21-year-old Clarkston man was ticketed for contributing to the delinquency of a minor at a motel on Dixie after he was found trying to flee with a runaway. The runaway got away. A second runaway, a 14-year-old Clarkston girl, was apprehended the same day on Columbia in the company of the 19-year-old Pontiac man who had rented the motel room. The girl was turned over to her mother; the man was ticketed for contributing to the delinquency of both minors. His car was also impounded since he was driving on a suspended license. In it were found two car stereos and a CB.

Larceny of a $90 calculator from a student's backpack during lunch at the high school.

THURSDAY, MAY 1, a window was broken on a 1996 Jimmy parked in the Sashabaw Park and Ride

lot. Nothing was missing.

Deputies called to a possible domestic dispute on Oak Vista arrested two men on outstanding warrants, including two felony warrants. The woman at the residence gave a false name and then fled, believing she too had outstanding warrants. It turned out she didn't.

A 29-year-old White Lake woman was taken to a hospital after her car was rear-ended on Dixie.

Felonious assault on White Lake Rd. A neighbor dispute escalated into blows as two renters got into a fight after arguing all day. A knife was confiscated by deputies.

Domestic violence on Parview. A 27-year-old woman received bruises and scratches in the event, which occurred a week earlier.

A 51-year-old Lake Orion man dressed as a woman was ticketed after using obscene language on two female clerks at a Dixie clothing store, frightening them.

A cell phone was found in a Dumpster on Dixie. FRIDAY, MAY 2, a fence was found cut at the school bus garage around 2 a.m. when an alarm went off, but nothing appeared to have been disturbed.

Deputies responding to a loud party complaint on Columbia ended up ticketing three men for trespassing and one for possession of marijuana when the adult resident of the home told deputies she wanted to prosecute. Her children, ages 13 and 14, held the party while she was away.

A 61-year-old Waterford woman was taken to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital after the car she was driving was hit in the intersection of Andersonville and Curtis roads.

A 16-year-old Holly boy was taken to St. Joseph Mercy-Oakland after he lost control of his car on Andersonville Rd., ran off the road and rolled.

Beloved athletic trainer leaving Clarkston

CHS athletes, coaches say Gretchen will be missed

BY BRAD MONASTIERE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

She is as much a part of the Clarkston High School athletic scene as the navy and gold colors the players wear.

Go to any home contest the Wolves are in, and you'll usually find her, keeping a close eye on the action, making sure any injuries get dealt with.

But the road of life is leading Clarkston Athletic Trainer Gretchen Gatz away, as she will be leaving her position at the end of the school year.

Gretchen will accompany her husband Jeff to Indiana. Jeff has graduated from the University of Michigan medical school and recently received his four-year residency at Indiana University.

"I cried all day when I found out," Gretchen said.
"I'm going to miss these kids very much. I have gotten so attached to them, it will be very hard when I go."

And the athletes are going to miss her, as junior Marc Venegoni said. Venegoni plays football and basketball and also runs track.

"She's been here since I've been going to school here," he said. "She takes time to get to know us as people. That way, she really knows if we're too hurt to play. She has helped us do a lot better."

Junior Dan Neubeck said having Gretchen around has meant a lot to the entire athletic program. Neubeck is a veteran of the football and basketball teams.

"She has made the training room a great atmosphere," he said. "A lot of times, we'll go back just to talk to her, even if we've already been taped."

CHS Athletic Director Dan Fife said Gretchen has played a critical role in the function of Clarkston sports, both on and off the field.

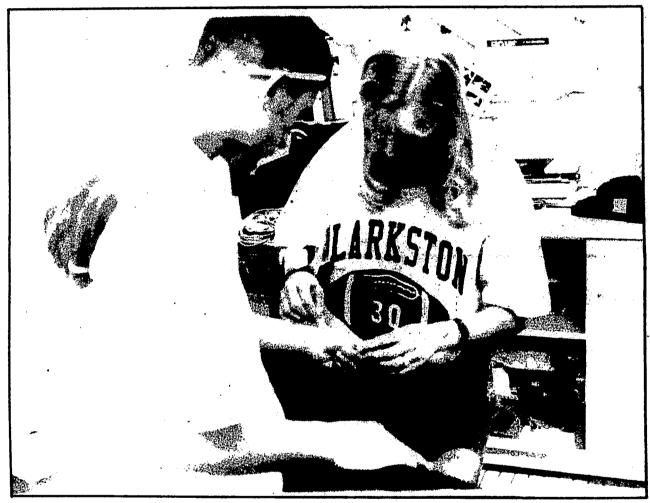

"It's very tough to lose someone like her," he said.
"She's done an outstanding job with our kids. She's been like the kids' mom away from home."

But she did more than nurse athletes through injuries. She helped to start the first junior trainer program that involved high school students learning from her the ins and outs of athletic training. She also had a hand in upgrading the equipment used in the training room just across the hallway from the gym. Since she started at CHS in the fall of 1994, an ultrasound machine was added to the room to enhance the services available right at the high school.

Several CHS coaches also said they would miss having Gretchen around. Track and volleyball coach Gordie Richardson called her a very helpful person in many different ways.

"She goes above and beyond the call of duty," he said. "She is great with the kids and also helps out with our summer camps. Her student trainer program is also an excellent one and I hope it continues."

Rain, rain go away so tennis team can play

BY BRAD MONASTIERE Clarkston News Staff Writer

Oh the weather outside is frightful . .

In an ideal world, the Clarkston boys tennis team would have two more league matches, plus a good measuring-stick match with third-ranked Rochester

But leave it to Mother Nature to play havoc with the schedule. The Wolves have had three matches this past week cancelled due to rainy conditions.

In tennis, just a little bit of rain can be cause to cancel a match because the court becomes so slippery, the ball becomes heavier because of the water and chances for player injury skyrocket.

Just last week alone, the Wolves had matches with Southfield Lathrup, Birmingham Groves and Adams postponed.

"We just haven't been able to play anything," Clarkston coach Kebin Ortwine said. "The guys were really pumped up, especially for the Adams match and you can tell how disappointed they were when I told them we couldn't play."

In the meantime, Ortwine said he's used up almost all of his indoor practice time, so he is concerned about the rustiness his team might incur.

"With the league meet Thursday, I hope we get a chance to hit sometime," he said. "Hopefully if the weather cooperates, we'll have a couple of matches between now and then."

The Lathrup match, which had been rescheduled twice; was supposed to go Tuesday, with the Auburn Hills Avondale match set for Wednesday at home. The OAA Division II meet takes place at Troy High School Thursday

Track teams join forces at Co-ed meet

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A funday of track certainly didn't appear like one, at least if Mother Nature had anything to say about it.

But as the day wore on Thursday, the weather picked up, as did the performances of the Clarkston boys and girls track teams at the Lake Orion Co-ed relays.

The Wolves took home first places in some of the expected events - the distance events.

Both the boys and girls squads have been strong in distance events this season, leaning on the talents of runners like senior Kristin Maine, freshman David Sage, junior Jon Burklow and junior Megan Plante. The hurdlers, led by sophomore Michelle Wilson, freshman Brittani Brewer and senior Chris Evans also made a strong showing.

Clarkston took first overall in the five-team meet in the 1600 relay, 4x1600 relay, the hurdles and the Orion tough relay.

Girls coach Gordie Richardson said it was a fun meet, a chance for the boys and girls teams to pull for each other.

"They get an opportunity to work together as a unit and have some fun," he said. "We competed hard and did OK."

Not present at the meet was track powerhouse Pontiac Northern. Richardson said it would have been nice to see that level of competition there, but the Huskies had a busy week before the meet, so it was understanable they would pass.

Girls

Saturday, the boys track team made a strong showing at the competitive Ashley Relays at Waterford Mott, finishing fifth out of 12 teams with 47 points.

Once again, the distance runners made their mark, both in relay and individual events. Sage finished third in the 3200 with a time of 10:12, just 10 seconds off the first place time.

The Wolves took three thirds in relay events; the 6400 relay, distance medley, shuttle hurdle relay and the middle distance relay. The middle distance team of Jeff Deevey, Curt Brewer, Kevin Breen and Jon Burklow finished less than a second out of first.

Coach Walt Wyniemko said he was happy with the team's performance, especially because he brought a younger, inexperienced group of runners to the meet.

"It was good exposure for our young guys," he said. "It introduced them to a high level of track and let them know that they can compete with the Pontiac Centrals and Northerns."

As expected, Northern and Central were the top two team finishers at the meet.

Among those younger runners who stepped up were the 4x1 mile relay team of freshmen Sage, Chris Weber, Matt Haver and junior Scott Watson.

"To have three freshmen and a junior finish third is a great accomplishment," Wyniemko said. "They all ran five-minute miles for us, which is terrific."

Also of note at the meet was the fact that the Wolves finished 17 points better than Waterford Mott, considered the toughest team left on the dual meet schedule and the only team that stands in the way of Clarkston capturing the OAA Division II championship.

The boys, after Tuesday's dual meet with Berkley, travel to the Oxford Relays Saturday.

Boys

The girls team has gotten in a lot of practice time lately, with only one meet - the Co-ed - from April 22 until Tueday's dual meet with Berkley.

The team hosts the Clarkston Invitational Saturday, welcoming squads from Berkley, Birmingham Marian, Bloomfield Hills Andover, Bloomfield Hills Lahser, Lake Orion, Livonia Churchill, Livonia Stevenson, Northville, Pontiac Northern, Sterling Heights and Warren Mott.

Although the Wolves are this meet's defending champions, Richardson said his team would have to start performing better.

"I'm a little concerned because we really haven't been tested as a team yet," he said. "We've been pushed in some individual events by some teams, but we haven't had a meet that was competitive all the way around. We'll get that Saturday."

The meet kicks off with the field events at 9:30 a.m.

Clarktston News Athlete of the Week

Athlete of the Week: Chris Evans - senior Sport: Track

Events: 110 and 300 hurdles

Accomplishments: Chris has been adominant performer in the hurdles this season. Against Lake Orion April 15, he set school records in the 110 and 300 with times of 14.38 and 40.1 respectively. He finished second at the prestig second at the prestigious Ashley Relays in the 110 hurdles Saturday. He will attend Harvard in the fall and run track for the Crimson.

Coach Walt Wyniemko Says: "Chris has become a student of track and field. He helps our younger kids not just with words, but actions. He's a great competitor and a great kid to have had in the program for four years."

Chris Says: "I think our team is doing great this year. We're getting points from all over, but I still think I can chop a half second off my hurdles times. But I am proud of what we have accomplished."

Although the overall scoreboard showed a dominant performance by the Wolves, in reality, it was anything but in the April 29 match.

Each of the four singles matches were hotly contested, especially the #1 singles duel between senior Mike Aulgur and Farmington's Wade Clark. Aulgur pulled out a hard-fought 7-6(7-2), 5-7, 7-6(7-3) victory.

Senior Kevin Kopec had an even bigger mountain to climb. After being wiped out 6-0 in the first set, Kopec charged back to take the next two 6-3 and 6-2 for the win.

In the penalty box

with Brad "The Monster" Monastiere

Watching ESPN's Chris Berman and his nicknames has inspired me to anoint the same to some of our favorite Clarkston High School athletes. As you can tell from the top of my column, I have included my own nickname, given to me so kindly by my pals on the boys basketball team. I must admit, I gave some consideration to renaming my column "The Monster's Den", it just doesn't fit with what I like my columns to be all about. Yes, In the Penalty Box fits much better.

Before I present you lucky people with your nicknames, I must say first I mean these in all good fun. I apologize in advance for any that might be taken the wrong way. I don't want this to turn into Clarkston's version of the Fuzzy Zoeller - Tiger Woods thing. So relax and enjoy.

Tami "Guardian" Angel. Tami, a junior on the JV softball team, lives up to her nickname at her catcher's position.

• Courtney Bates "Motel." Courtney's home on the CHS track must be more inviting than that scary house on the hill.

● Lauren "Humphrey" Bogart. Do you think Lauren will open up her own bar after college, just like her namesake in Casablanca?

 Dennis Busch "Stadium." Perhaps Dennis could take his skills on the baseball field onto the real thing in St. Louis someday.

Rachel Fuller "Up With Premium." Rachel, a junior pitcher on the varsity softball team, no doubt throws some serious gas from the mound.

● Ben "Touch Of" Gray. Ben, who plays baseball and hockey, must be a closet Grateful Dead fan, as the song title indicates.

● Brian "Whitey" Herzog. I confess, Brian already had this nickname, I'm sure from when he was 10 years old, but it's cool anyway.

● Hope Manuel "Steering." A junior who plays volleyball and softball, Hope probably won't have to deal with the actual manual steering that has long since been banished from most cars.

● Jeff Oliver "Stone." It's a conspiracy that Jeff, a sophomore baseball player, wasn't mentioned earlier.

• Gretchen "Cherry" Pitser. A standout on the ski slopes and on the track, Gretchen is never in the pits.

Constance "Spider" Webb. Hey, if this nickname was good enough for former Piston John Salley, the freshman track star must be honored.

● Lori "Born To Be" Wild. Maybe the freshman basketball queen can be an honorary captain of the football team which proudly sings the Steppenwolf tune after every win.

● Abby Wiley "Coyote." As solid as the junior is on the softball field, it's unlikely she will ever have an anvil dropped on her head by the road runner.

Lake Orion 10 Clarkston 7

For a while, it looked like the Clarkston varsity baseball team was going to pull out a momentumbuilding win over the Dragons April 30.

But as quickly as the Wolves built a 7-5 lead, Lake Orion turned it into a 10-7 win at Clintonwood Park.

Clarkston (5-12-1 overall, 2-8 in the OAA Division I) was unable to contain Lake Orion's Ricky Green, who had two hits, a home run, three RBI and three stolen bases. His play was key in the pivotal fifth and sixth innings when Lake Orion took control of the game.

A season's worth of frustration was taken out on the Lapeer East Eagles April 29, as the Wolves put on a terrific hitting display in sweeping a doubleheader 13-1 and 16-1. Both games were called after five innings. Junior Josh Clark knocked a pair of home runs in the games, with freshman Chris Mitchell, senior Chad Bailey and senior Jason Frack each hit round trippers in the routs.

Lake Orion 4 Clarkston 0

On the scoreboard, the Clarkston varsity soccer team took a loss Thursday night.

It took one off the field too.

Before the game five of the team's six seniors - Erin Forney, Colleen Stumpf, Natalie Vaughn, Becky Olsen and Mindi Thompson - quit the team, presumably because of a lack of playing time.

None of the five players were starters in any recent games, and Olsen suffered a knee injury in a game against Bloomfield Hills Lahser and was not likely to return to action.

The five draped their jerseys across the bench during team warmups before the game, where they were promptly removed by JV coach Tami Mitchell.

Clarkston coach Brian Fitzgerald was philosophical about the situation after the game.

"We have a lot more team unity now," he said. "The girls that are here work hard and are all friends."

Now to the game itself. The Wolves, who lost to the Dragons by an identical 4-0 score back on April 26, were on the defensive most of the way, trying to combat the speed and skill of Lake Orion.

The Dragons scored at the 27 and 10 minute marks of the first half and took a 2-0 lead into halftime. Despite the loss, Fitzgerald said he was pleased with the team's effort, particularly by goalkeeper Allison Barth.

"That was a quality team that beat us," he said. "I think playing for the third time in three days took its toll in the second half."

Barth, a freshman, made several tough stops in the second half, when fatigue started to set in for Clarkston.

Wolves and Dragons battle for the ball during a May 1 girls soccer game. Lake Orion once again frustrated Clarkston with a 4-0 win.

Clarkston 3 Berkley 2

In this tougher-than-expected game April 30, the Wolves waited until the final minutes to put the game away.

Sophomore Katy Piechura scored the winning goal with just 2:07 left in the second half to give the Wolves the win. Her goal came after almost an entire half of intense offensive pressure. The Berkley goal-keeperslipped on the grass and failed to get to Piechura's shot.

"We finally got some luck on our side," Fitzgerald said after the game. "They gave a good effort, but our girls really played well as a team."

Brandon 4-6 Clarkston 0-3

During the April 30 doubleheader, the Clarkston Wolves played sound defense, made good contact with the ball and received a pair of strong pitching performances by junior Rachel Fuller.

But it wasn't enough against the nationally ranked Brandon Blackhawk squad, which swept the Wolves 4-0 and 6-3.

"We aren't that far from where they are," Clarkston coach Al Land said when comparing the Wolves to the Blackhawks. "We hit the ball hard in both games and I think our pitching can keep up with them.

Things looked promising for the Wolves in the second game, when they took an early 3-2 lead. Junior Tiffany Honey took the first pitch and turned it into a stand-up home run, her first of the season.

After a single and an error, freshman Candace Morgan doubled to rightfield to knot the game at 2-2. Morgan has been on a tear lately at the plate, hitting from the cleanup spot.

Sophomore catcher Corinne McIntyre also knocked home a run giving the Wolves a 3-2 lead after the first inning.

But Brandon pitcher Krista Peters was untouchable from there on, as she showed the form that makes her the favorite to be named this year's Ms. Softball. She faced the minimum amount of batters from the third inning on in the nightcap.

Land said he was pleased with the team's performance and said Brandon is very beatable.

"If you can take their bunting away, you can control their hitting," he said.

Junior Tiffany Honey starts her sprint towards third base during a May 1 game against Brandon. The Wolves put up a good fight, but were unable to get past the nationally ranked Blackhawks in an OAA Division I doubleheader.

Chrysler brings careers to kids

Automaker bucks trend with 'Take Your Work to Your Children's School' day

BY EILEEN McCARVILLE Clarkston News Staff Writer

Art, math, computers — even tomado drills. Though Chrysler Technological Center in Auburn Hills is a bit larger than Bailey Lake Elementary — 4.5 million square-feet under one gigantic roof — the employees who work there face the same kind of challenges students do.

That was aptly conveyed to Bailey Lake youngsters with a twist on "Take Your Daughter to Work Day" April 24. Chrysler employees decided to "Take Your Work to Your Children's School" instead. Over 70 employee volunteers took part in presentations to 25 southeast Michigan schools selected through a lottery process.

Chrysler decided the alternative was the answer to parking problems that might materialize if too many children visited the Tech Center, said Martin Puroll, a Chrysler mechanical engineer who's Dad to two Bailey Lakers, Steven and Nick.

At Bailey Lake students were treated to an explanation of careers in the auto industry, a videotaped plant tour with a pint-sized narrator and a chance to bombard employees in brainstorming question-and-answer sessions.

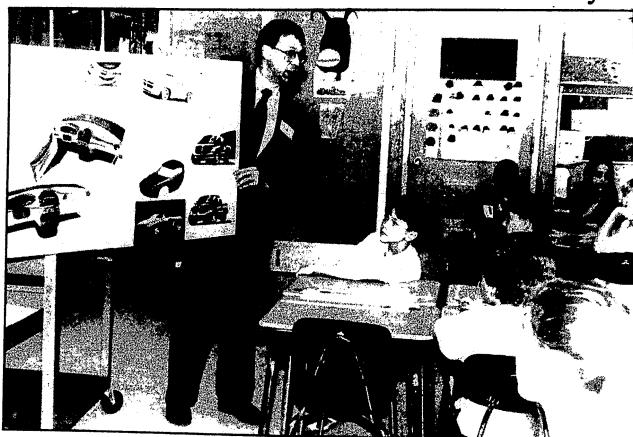

In teacher Mel Rassier's third-grade class, for example, Puroll and fellow employees Jody Guastella Jones, a commodity buyer, and Ann Schlenke, an engineer, talked about developing social and scholastic skills which could be useful in future careers — not necessarily at Chrysler.

"It's important in my job to have good math skills," said Guastella Jones. "I buy my steel in pounds ... If you know how much something weighs, then you can buy it."

Also high on the list were the importance of listening and good communication.

"Do you ever sit in a car and think, wouldn't it be nice to have something like ... a headset?" said Guastella Jones. Cries of "yeah!" went up from the kids.

Guastella Jones knows listening can make the difference in successful car sales. "You have to focus on what the customer wants. I don't know what you want in a car unless I listen to you. That's why listening is so important." Chrysler regularly organizes focus groups of middle- and high-schoolers, "listening" to their ideas on car design. After all, those cars will be on the road in five years, "just about the time you will get your driver's licenses," Puroll said.

Other skills include being able to write easy-tounderstand instructions for mechanics and designing models with clay and computers. "It's not Nintendo and you can't find Super Mario here, but these computers are almost as much fun," he said, pointing to a chart showing computer graphics.

The Chrysler reps wanted to show parallels between school and work. "Students who used to do math problems are now making cars. Do you like to draw? Do you like computers?" they asked.

Establishing good work habits like getting your homework done and not being tardy can translate to the grown-up world or organization and deadlines. "Everything you learn you're going to use down the road," said Guastella Jones, no pun intended.

They also pointed out the choice for career options; roles don't have to be traditional, but it's also OK if they are. Both moms and dads work; both moms and dads don't work. Some choose to stay home with the kids and some feel they need out-of-the-house jobs. "So you see, there are a lot of options for you," said Guastella Jones. Different schedules can materialize as well.

For example, Puroll works from 6:30 till 3:30. He's usually there when his boys come home from school. Guastella Jones, who has no children, has a more traditional work day from 8 to 5. But Schlenke waits for the school bus. When her children leave she heads for the Tech Center. "I'm there by 9 till 5:30."

Honoring kids who do good work

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY

Clarkston News Editor

Some say the news is often bad—all bad. Well, here's some good news for a change.

The people who staff Clarkston Area Youth Assistance got together April 24 to meet with some kids—but not the usual troubled children they work with every day.

Once a year Youth Assistance, which is an arm of the probate court which deals with trying to help children before problems bring them into the court, honors the young people in a community who do volunteer work. It's called the Youth Recognition Reception, and it packed the hall at Clarkston United Methodist Church with proud relatives and the children themselves.

With county commissioners, a judge and other local officials looking on, 80 youngsters were honored for all kinds of voluntarism, from building a wheelchair ramp to helping handicapped kids at summer camp to tutoring—and much more.

"When you're helping others you're really making a better person of yourself," and Carole Meyers, Youth Recognition Committee Champerson, in making the presentations. Each child received a certificate from Danielle and Derek Weddle display the plaques they received for eight years of volunteerism for Children's Village.

Youth Assistance and a proclamation from the Oakland County Board of Commissioners calling them "one of the extraordinary young people of Clarkston."

In addition, sister and brother Derek and Danielle

Weddle received plaques for their consistent effort over the last eight years to help Children's Village residents.

"They almost don't look old enough," Meyers said. "They must have been 2 and 3 when they started." The Weddles were nominated by the committee for the special award

Speaking about all the honorees, Meyers said, "We really do need to thank these young people," Meyers said. "We're recognizing all the children because it's our way of letting them know they make this a better place to live."

The evening was also a way to recognize 'the power we have to make a difference, one person at a time" through voluntarism, she added.

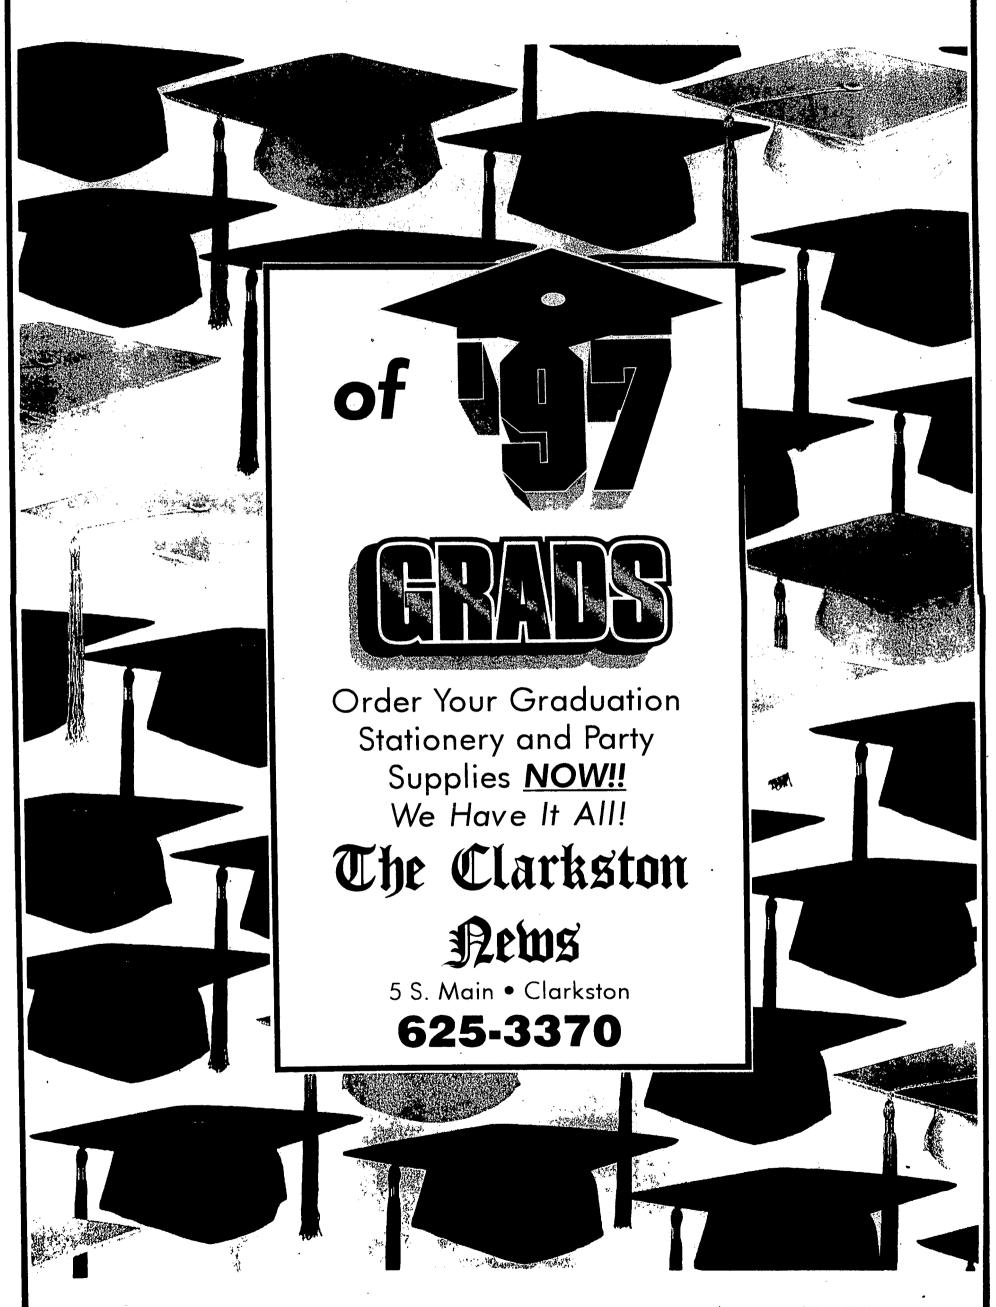

Noting this week's presidential summit on voluntarism in Philadelphia, CAYA chairperson Marian Emery pointed out that here in Clarkston at least, the children didn't need to wait to be told by the president that volunteering is a good thing to do.

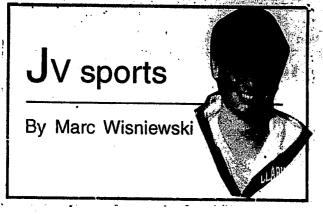

"You've already got a great start on that," she said. "So just keep on working on it all your lives."

In addition, Emery thanked the parents of all the honorees, and suggested the kids do the same.

"I'd like to that the parents. That's what makes these kinds of young people," she said. "I'd like to thank the young people, and I'd be remiss if I didn't ask them to thank their parents."

Baseball

The JV Baseball team's 10-game winning streak came to an end last Monday against Troy, 5-4.

The Wolves gave up five unearned runs on five errors in the second inning. Jeff Oliver and John Thomas each had a hit and an RBI. Brett Crawford, Dan Friedline, Nate Jerdon, Mike Simko, Adam Leach, and Bryan Bartley each had a hit.

The Wolves had two more games scheduled for the week but one was rained out.

Softball

The JV softball team had a very close game against Waterford Mott last week, but ended up on top, beating Mott 7-5.

During the third inning, the Wolves took the lead and never gave it up thanks in part to Liz Harlton, who hit a two run double. Then in the seventh. Mott threatened to come back with runners on second and third. Megan Hodges picked up her game and struck out the next batter. Hodges worked with Sara Mohney, the catcher, against the next two batters to end the threat and secure the victory.

"Mott's pitcher kept our bats in check as she allowed only 5 hits; all of which occured in the third and fourth innings. The team's greatest area of improvement is in their defense. We are making plays usually performed by a much more experienced team," said Coach Karen Czarnecki.

The Wolves' overall record is 8-4 while their league record is 4-2.

PAPERS-2 WEEKS-18.00

10 WORDS (30¢ EACH ADDITIONAL WORD) (Commercial Accounts $7.00 a week)

Get The Word Out! Guaranteed . . .

Our pledge to you: if after 30 days you don't get any inquiries on your want ad, we'll refund your money (less a service charge).

We guarantee it.

Here's how it works.

1. Run your want ad with us for at least two weeks and pay within one week of the start date

If no one contacts you within 30 days after the ad's stop date, fill out a refund application and mail or bring it to us. 3. We will refund the cost of the ad (less the $1 service charge) within 7 days of receiving your refund application. Or, we'll run that ad again for the original number of weeks. The choice is yours, a win-win situation all the way (We can only guarantee that you'll get inquiries -- not that you'll make a deal.) This guarantee applies to individual (non-commerical) want ads. You can pick up a refund application at any of our offices. In Oxford, at 666 S. Lapper Road. In Lake Onion, 30 N. Broadway Street. In Clarkston, 5 S. Main Street. The refund must be applied for between 30 and 90 days of the want ad's start date

All advertising in the Sherman Publications, Inc. is subject to the conditions in the applicable rate card or adver-tising contract, copies of which are available from the Ad Dept. The Oxford Leader (628-4801) or The Clarkston News (625-3370). This newspaper reserves the right not to accept an advertiser's order. Our ad takers have no authority to bind this newspaper and only publication of an ad ites acceptance of the advertiser's order. Tear sheets will not be furnished for classified ads.

It's easy to put an ad in our 5 papers

1. Phone us 625-3370, 628-4801 or 693-8331 and our friendly ad takers will assist you in writing your ad. (After hours dial 810-628-4801.)

2. Visit one of our conveniently located offices, The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, The Oxford Leader, 666 S. Lapeer Rd., Oxford or The Lake Orion Review, 30 N. Broadway, Lake Orion.

3. Fill out the coupon in this iscue and mail it to The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48346 of The Oxford Leader, P.O. Box 108, 666 S. Lapeer Rd., Oxford, MI 48371 and we will bill you.

4. FAX your ad before 9 a.m. Tuesdays (810) 628-9750. 5. For $1 extra get into The Citizen, covering Brandon-Goodrich grea.

Gretchen

Softball coach Al Land said he's noticed Gretchen's popularity through his players.

"I've always got kids asking to go see her, even if they're not that hurt," he said. "I really admire her ability to be in so many different places at once."

Gretchen, who met Jeff when each was standing up in a wedding, she as the maid of honor and he as the best man, called Clarkston her safety net and said she would miss everything about being here.

"I wouldn't trade these kids for anything," she said. "There's a sort of protective instinct that goes both ways between the players, coaches and me. It makes my job the best."

Afterwards, children's hands shot up. They wanted to know everything from whether the Dodge Daytona is a Chrysler car to environmental safety regulations. One child showed he was up on current events. He asked why the three were at work today when other Chrysler employees were striking.

Children in Rassier's class were polled about what they'd like to see in the car of the future. Several wanted headsets and foot rests. Puroll's son Steven had a long list of amenities that included a TV, a pillow, a Virtual Reality game ...

Would that be safe for a driver? he was asked. Steven thought for a minute, then answered, "only for a passenger." Maybe his wife could drive, he said.

His dad, Martin Puroll chuckled over that comment. In a nutshell, the message Chrysler wanted to convey to students was "that education is something that can never be taken away from you. You can lose jobs, change jobs. But it will stay with you the rest of your life."

And, as with any job, dreams can become a reality if you work at it. "You can have the best idea in the world, but if you can't convince others to do it, it may never leave your mind."

Soccer

Clarkston, who beat the Bears 6-0 earlier in the season, got off to a slow start and found itself down 2-0 just 14 minutes into the game. But junior Georgia Case #97-0040 Oakland Technical Center, Petitioner Senkyr once again bailed the team out with a pair of goals just 2:15 apart to tie the game. Senior Natalie Vaughn, who played a solid game, assisted on the first goal.

In other action

The Wolves made a good account of themselves in a 2-0 loss to Birmingham Groves April 29. Groves had tied fourth-ranked Troy Athens earlier in the season. "We played pretty well," Fitzgerald said. "They are very strong team."

The Wolves return home Monday for a game against Waterford Kettering. JV action starts at 5:30, with the varsity to follow at 7 p.m.
