'Down by the Old Mill Pond ...'

"Sunnyside," a barbershop quartet from Pontiac's chapter of the SPEBSQSA (Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America) poses in front of the Mill Pond in downtown Clarkston. Members are, left to right, John Smith, tenor; Len Barnes, lead; Dick Johnson, baritone; and Roger Holm, bass. The chapter is forming a new chorus and will hold an open house for men singers and friends Tuesday, Sept. 23 at 7:30 p.m. in the Waterford schools administration building, 6020 Pontiac Lake Rd. (corner of Airport and Pontiac Lake roads). The group's goals are to perform locally and compete at the district convention in Lansing this April. They're learning new tunes as well as continuing to have fun, relieve stress and provide good wholesome entertainment. Regular meetings are held Tuesdays from 7:30-10 p.m. Rehearsals for Christmas-chorus singouts begin Oct. 14. Call Bill Dabbs (673-8655) for details.

Have a favorite fall color route? We'd like to hear about it.

Maybe your fall passion is driving to a different cider mill each weekend. Maybe you go to the same favorite one over and over.

Or maybe it's a drive along back roads, antiquing along a scenic route, a back way to a college football game, a favorite fishing hole.

Whatever place signifies fall in Michigan to you, jot it down and send it to The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main St., Clarkston, MI 48346. We'll publish the ones we like best. Please include your name and a daytime telephone number in case we need to contact you.

Miller fills vacancy in Springfield

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The newest addition to the Springfield Township Board of Trustees arrives with a wealth of business and travel experience.

Richard Miller, a Caribou Lake Lane resident since November, was unanimously voted to fill a vacancy on the board at the township's regular meeting Sept. 11.

Miller, a business consultant by trade, said he hopes to bring a fresh perspective to the board.

Richard Miller

"I didn't come here with an agenda," he said. "I see this area as a hub for growth and I want to be a part of the process."

Miller worked for many years in varied industries. Most recently, he was president of Jacobson Textron, a leading producer of professional turf maintenance equipment. He has also served as a chief financial officer and worked in the national defense industry in the armored vehicle service. Miller has also been a member of the Clarkston Rotary since January.

Members of the board of trustees praised Miller for the way he conducted himself during the interview process and were impressed with how he made tough decisions.

"He has an even-tempered delivery and is used to making tough decisions," trustee Denny Vallad said. "He isn't afraid to admit it when he doesn't have enough information to make a decision on an issue."

"Richard has the least amount of tenure in the township and I think that's an asset," supervisor Collin Walls said. "There are a lot of old-timers here, so a new point of view will be good."

Miller spent much of his life in St. Clair Shores before moving to Wisconsin. He said the "out-of-control" growth he saw in Macomb County over the years taught him a lesson about controlling growth in a rural area such as Springfield.

"I would hate to see this area grow too fast," he said. "We've got a nice, rural atmosphere here. Hopefully, we can keep it that way through our work with developers. I feel some of my business skills can be useful in that area."

Miller lives with his wife Kathie. They have two sons, Michael an attorney, and Kurt, a certified public accountant. Both of them live in Charlotte, NC.

The News in Brief

M-15 ramp closes

Traffic snarled on southbound M-15 north of I-75 Tuesday morning as the Michigan Department of Transportation replaced some concrete on the freeway ramp.

MDOT spokesman Bruce Bordner said the work was expected to be completed in one day. "It should be open tomorrow (Wednesday)," he said Tuesday morning.

The traffic jam apparently came without warning. Bordner said there was no advance notice posted so motorists could choose an alternate route. "We don't typically do that," he said.

Budget hearing date set in Springfield

Residents of Springfield Township will get their say on the proposed 1998 township budget at a public hearing Tuesday at 7:30 at the township hall.

At the hearing, the board will also set the new millage rates to go into effect for the December 1997 tax bills. The township hall is located in downtown Davisburg.

Six run for city council

Six city residents have filed petitions, indicating they will run for council seats on Clarkston City Council this fall.

Two of the candidates, Anne Clifton and Doug Roeser, are running unopposed for one-year terms, after filling one-year vacancies left by Laura Aulgur and Steve Arkwright who resigned because they moved from the area.

Incumbents Bill Basinger, Dave Savage and Walt Gamble and newcomer Dan Colombo will vie for the remaining three seats, which carry two-year terms.

Mayor Sharron Catalo and council member Karen Sanderson, who were re-elected last year, still have a year to serve before their terms expire.

The election will be held Tuesday, Nov. 4 at City Hall, 375 Depot in Clarkston.

Preliminary, cluster plans for Ashford Sub approved

On Thursday the Independence Township Planning Commission unanimously approved preliminary plans and a special land use cluster option for the proposed Ashford Subdivision on the northeast corner of Oak Hill and Sashabaw roads.

Petitioner Mark Hubbard wants to develop approximately 96 acres into 53 lots, the same number configured within a traditional development in R-1C zoning. Commissioners considered both the traditional plan, with lots averaged at 1 1/2 acres each, and the cluster option which reduces them to approximately one acre apiece.

They decided on the cluster plan which provides for a buffer of preserved open space around the perimeter and within a center island that's envisioned as a park-like setting for the sub's residents.

Some surrounding neighbors expressed concerns that ranged from traffic and drainage to future safety paths near their property lines. Township engineers and planner Dick Carlisle will work on some revisions that include those concerns, before the item returns to the commission for final approval.

The property was a challenge, said land planner Manny Knichynycky, with hilly topography, wetlands and other factors. "If there was ever a piece for a cluster plan, this is it," he said.

A cause that crosses boundaries

Local denominations join hands for all-church CROP walk

BY EILEEN McCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

They're not just talking the talk — they're walking the talk.

On Sunday, Sept. 28 area churches will step over denominational boundaries, joining forces with their parishioners and community residents to walk for world hunger.

Sponsored by Church World Service, the walks, now in their 25th year of the 50-year CROP ministry, raise money for both local U.S. communities as well as globally. Anyone can participate, and those planning to lace up their Rockports the 28th are busy collecting pledges as they prepare to join the six-mile hike around Independence Township.

The journey begins at 2 p.m. and starts and ends at Calvary Evangelical Lutheran Church, 6805 Bluegrass in Clarkston.

Last year approximately 2,895 food banks, pantries and community gardens around the U.S. received checks totaling more than $3 million, according to "CROP Walker," a CWS publication.

Three-fourths of the money goes to CWS for continued hunger-fighting efforts; the rest, 25 percent, goes to local charities. In Clarkston the proceeds will be split between Lighthouse Clarkston and Pathfinders for Opportunity, Inc.

The Rev. Bonita Laudeman, pastor of Clarkston Community Church of God, is coordinating the CROP walk. Other local churches participating include Calvary Evangelical Lutheran, Clarkston United Methodist, Sashabaw United Presbyterian, St. Daniel Catholic Church and First Congregational Church of North Oakland. But anyone and everyone is invited.

Laudeman figures this is the twelfth or thirteenth year in Clarkston. "The basic premise is food for the hungry — 'We walk because they do,'" she says, reciting the CROP walk slogan.

Though churches have their respective missions, like Clarkston Community Church of God's "Heart to Honduras," it's nice to see local denominations join hands for "a cause that crosses the ecumenical lines," says Laudeman. "It's not a Methodist thing, a Church of God thing, a Lutheran thing. It's a people-in-need thing."

This year the route was reworked to provide more crossings at traffic lights, Laudeman, who was also walk coordinator last year, said. Last year's turnout was small; this year they're hoping for a larger crowd. Though water will be provided at stops along the way, refreshments like juice, fruit and cookies won't be supplied till the end.

"It's really not like it's a food fest 'cause you're walking for hunger," reminds Laudeman.

Lighthouse Clarkston branch manager Wendy Halsey says the CROP walks are a great help, "especially with human service agencies. We're all struggling to find the funds and it's gotten increasingly tight."

Sometimes there's just not enough to go around. "This is 2 o'clock, a typical day in Clarkston and we've had to say no," says Halsey Friday.

"The pantry has been depleted, between the (July 2) tornado and the GM strikes. That really, really stretched us. The CROP walk will make a really big difference for us."

The other half of the 25 percent goes to Pathfinders for Opportunity, Inc., based at Clarkston High School. The local group strives to help developmentally disabled adults find jobs, housing, vocational training and other opportunities.

The goal is to make those adults "as independent as you possibly can." It's sort of "a think tank of having a group work toward a common goal," says Pam Schoemer, CHS social worker for the post-high school program.

Currently the group is trying to reach beyond its targeted 18-to-20-year-olds to help prepare younger children for independent living before they graduate. "So kids will be ready to meet challenges and their families will be able to plan for their child longer," says Schoemer. They too will benefit from CROP walk funds.

This year the Rev. Gretchen Denton of Sashabaw United Presbyterian was chosen to be CROP's "celebrity walker."

"I have no idea what that is. I said, well, sure, because I'm walking. I like to walk and I like the things of Church World Service ... Somebody said I get to ride in a convertible," she quips.

From what she remembers, CROP started years ago with sending shipments of wheat to parts of the world. CROP, through the umbrella of CWS, not only supplies food, but the sources to raise it, says Denton.

"Seeds. Simple equipment or tools. Experts who can work with people on simple technologies and digging of wells and pumps ... Development as well as food for relief ...

"I look at my neighbors and my life and look at how abundantly we are blessed," continues Denton. "Sometimes the simplest things can make such a difference — and what we can do is send money so people there can have the opportunity to make that big difference."

Clarkston's CROP walk still needs walkers and sponsors. For more information call the following churches: Clarkston Community Church of God (625-1323), Calvary Evangelical Lutheran Church (625-3288), Clarkston United Methodist Church (625-1611), Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church (673-3101), St. Daniel Catholic Church (625-4583) or First Congregational Church of North Oakland (394-0200).

CWS continues Princess Di's land-mine mission

Church World Service is supporting the current negotiations on a treaty banning antipersonnel landmines.

This month President Bill Clinton will decide whether or not to participate, according to CWS. Also, U.S. Representatives Lane Evans (D-IL) and Jack Quinn (R-NY) are seeking House co-sponsors for a companion bill to the Leahy (D-VT) Hagel (R-NE) bill that would permanently halt U.S. use of such landmines by the year 2000.

The White House hotline is 202-456-1111; FAX is 202-456-2461; White House phone line 202-456-1414; E-Mail: president@whitehouse.gov. CWS is encouraging constituents to call, visit or E-Mail their local representatives and urge them to become cosponsors of the Evans-Quinn Landmine

Elimination Act.

CWS works with partner agencies in a number of countries where landmines take their daily toll, including Angola, Bosnia, Cambodia, El Salvador, Ethiopia, Iraq, Laos, Mozambique, Rwanda, Somalia and Sudan. In Cambodia one in 236 persons is an amputee injured by landmines; in Angola, one in 470 persons. Many of the victims are children.

Petitions to support the call for an international ban on the use, production, trade and stockpiling of landmines are available from Church World Service, 110 Maryland Ave. NE, Bldg. Box 45, Washington, DC 20002-5694. CWS will forward petitions to President Clinton. For more information locally, call Arline Moore at St. Dan's: 625-4583.

Adler trumps the competition

Food Town plans cafe expansion and uses for property next door

BY EILEEN MCCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Ed Adler is one-upping his competitors.

The owner of the Food Town chain plans to expand his booming business at Sashabaw and Waldon with a 10,000-square-foot addition that includes a comfy, glassed-in cafe out front, where customers can relax before and after they grocery shop.

He plans to add an upscale wine-gourmet foods section, enlarge his produce, deli and bakery sections, add more space for his employees on a second floor, and move his corporate office from the Mills Mall in downtown Clarkston which he also owns.

He'd also like to relocate the store office upstairs, presently located next to the express lane. The location is deceiving for his customers.

"It's very irritating to customers when they see three or four people in the office and they're waiting at a check stand," Adler said. Those employees handle store operations, not clerking, he added.

The expansion will allow him to be "updated and competitive," and increase the size of the present store to 50,000 square feet. Adler plans additional parking in back of the new addition and employees would be required to park there, thus freeing up more spaces for his shoppers out front, he said.

He's already tried a similar concept — successfully — at another Food Town in Auburn Hills.

Adler said relocating his Mills Mall office will provide space for new tenants. "We have people calling every day and I don't have enough space for them. As soon as something's available it's rented," he said.

That's not all Adler has "in store." Pitching two ideas to the Independence Township Planning Commission Thursday, he not only requested the expansion, an amendment to his 1990 site plan, but preliminary approval for a planned unit development on 11.5 acres he owns behind Food Town. Known as the Independence Village Center Planned Unit Development, he'd like to turn it into some office and retail uses.

Adler, land designer Ralph Nunez and township planner Dick Carlisle said they have been working for nearly two years to "articulate" the area's rural character and to make it compatible with the Silverman Development project next door, Waldon Village Towne Center.

The phased Silverman project, now under construction, is a mixed-use PUD, providing townhomes, specialty shops, restaurants, a medical facility and amenities like a gym, child-care facility, park and walkways. And, "there have been some late-night talks" about a senior-care facility as well, Adler said.

An access road will wind through the project from Waldon to Sashabaw. Part of the planned thoroughfare falls on Adler's property and Adler said he has been negotiating with Silverman on its placement. "Silverman and I have an agreement in principal. Now it's up the lawyers. I'm sure they'll turn it into a 700-page document," he said, drawing chuckles from commissioners.

Common design elements such as lighting would be included in both PUDs, a concept called for in the township's Vision 2020 Strategic Plan, which encourages unified styling.

Commissioners were very pleased with both plans and said they respond to need and provide a good transition between residential and commercial zoning.

"Conceptually it's pretty much what we were looking at for this area," said Dan Travis. "Mr. Adler's expansion is well in keeping with his growth and success."

Pointing to similar situations where there has been bickering between "supposedly mature" adjoining landowners, Carolyn Place said she wanted to "stand up and cheer" for Adler.

"I have heard words I have wanted to hear for years — words like cooperation," she said.

The commission tabled the Food Town expansion for further study, and agreed to set a date for a public hearing on the PUD, at presstime scheduled for Oct. 9 at 7:30 p.m. in the township annex. The public hearing is required because Adler is requesting rezoning the land from single-family residential to PUD.

Adler would like to begin construction of his addition this spring, but the "infrastructure," the road, parking and utilities, could start as early as winter. As far as the time table for his other project, "it really depends on tenants," he said.

A previous Borders book store possibility fell through because the company questioned the area's demographics, but Adler said tenants such as Kinko's and an optometrist might be interested.

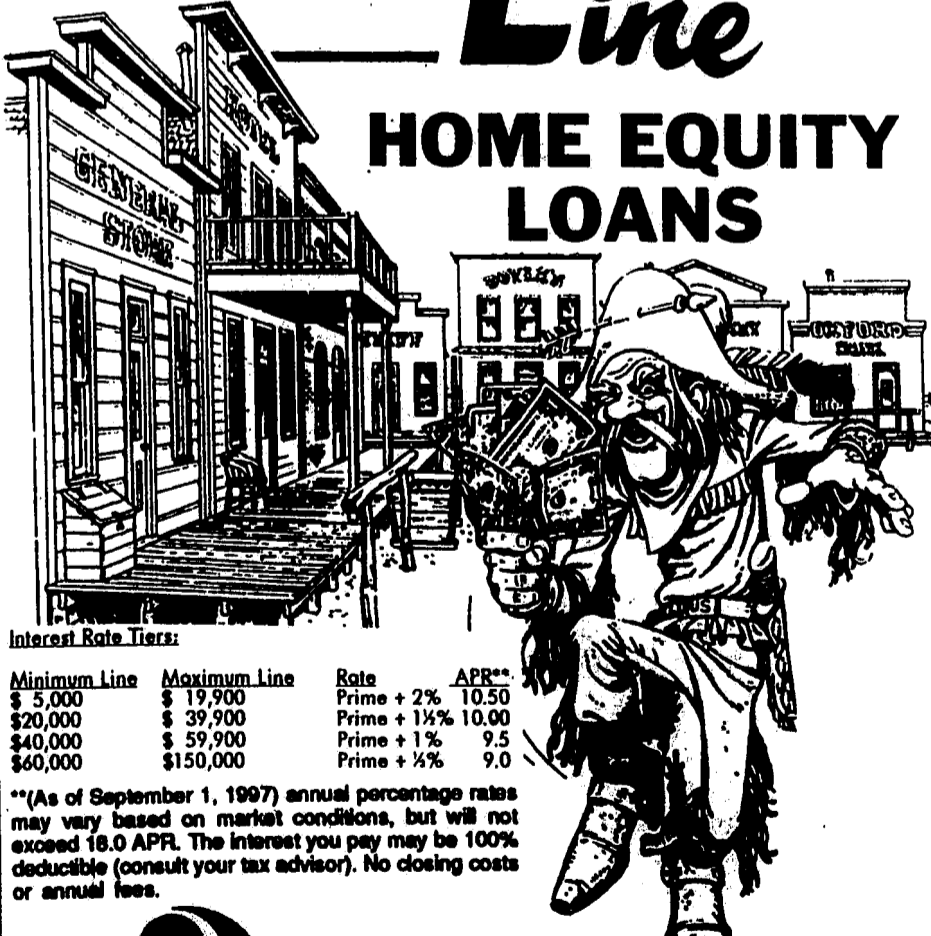

He also tried for Waldenbooks. Though it's spelled a little differently, "I thought it would be great to get Waldenbooks on Waldon Rd."

Design work begins on school project

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

What's your idea of an ideal elementary school? That's the question participants in a special public forum were asked Monday night at Clarkston Elementary School. About 50 people gathered to have some input on what features Clarkston's new elementary school and renovations to the existing schools will include.

"The whole idea, what we're trying to develop, is a template," said Doug LaFerie of Roy G. French and Associates, the school district's architect for the coming construction project. "What would be the ideal school the community would like to see. And what we're trying to do is hold that template not only up to the new school, but the existing schools. We want to develop a consistency for all the schools."

School board president Karen Foyteck welcomed the audience before and gave them a charge.

"In the past year you've been hearing about raising the academic bar in Clarkston and tonight you're going to have an opportunity to participate in planning that will raise academic opportunity," she said. "The bond issue (approved by the voters in June) had some very clear ideas about what we are going to build. But that is only the skeleton. Tonight we are going to flesh out that framework."

The participants then broke into groups to discuss such areas as classrooms, music/art/stage, media and computer labs, multipurpose room/cafeteria and special program rooms and site.

"Tonight's exercise is not to design an elementary school by committee but to receive input," said Dave French of French and Associates.

The next step, according to Clarkston's Director of Business Services Craig Kahler, is to form a steering committee which will oversee the entire construction project, which includes additions at all existing elementary schools and renovations at the two middle schools and high school in addition to building a new elementary. The steering committee will be the reporting mechanism to the board of education, Kahler said.

School superintendent Dr. Al Roberts said there will also be groups meeting at each building site. The district hopes to bid out the first phase of the massive project this spring.

"This is just the first step," Roberts said. He added that he's had very few calls pressuring him to do one building or another first.

"This board really owes their deliberations to kids first," he said. "And that's the decision that will be made, and they take that very seriously. As a taxpayer, I'd expect that from my school board and my superintendent. They have their own ideas and they are being filtered in tonight. But their ideas are no more important tonight."

Left turn lane in front of academy approved

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The racetrack formerly known as Dixie Highway may have become a little safer after action taken by the Springfield Township Board of Trustees at Thursday's regular meeting.

The board voted 5-1 to approve a left turn lane to be painted into Dixie in front of the Cedar Crest Academy. The project will cost $264,000 and will be paid for with 1998 tri-party funds. Trustee Elaine Field-Smith voted against it, saying she didn't want to commit all the tri-party funds into one project.

The eventual cost came in much lower than the engineer's original estimate, but quite a bit above preliminary agreements drafted when the project first

In Focus

by Annette Kingsbury

Lifestyles of the rich and famous

An army of men in black descended upon Chateau du Lac in Heather Lakes Estates Sunday. Dressed in tuxedos and wearing earpieces, you'd have thought some head of state was in town.

But no, as the one discreet sign on the lawn announced, it was an auction. An auction of what must be Clarkston's most prestigious and pricy house.

After finding my name on the guest list and being waved up to the front door, I arrived at the entrance to the chateau and found two groups of the aforementioned men in black. Despite their off-putting appearance, the guys were all very friendly and told me to go on in and have something to eat and drink.

As the auction hour approached, everyone gathered in the great hall. It could have been a scene out of Agatha Christie, will all the suspects assembled in one room. You could pick out the bidders by their white packets. Some were elegantly dressed in suits; some were casual in blue jeans.

I took a chair and a pleasant-looking, casually dressed man sporting a tiny gold stud in one ear and an auction packet asked if the chair next to me was taken. It wasn't, so he sat. Bidding started, and he quickly bought up three of the four art works offered. I figured then he was a serious bidder, but I was still surprised when he quickly got the bidding up on the house with a nod at $2 million.

During the bidding, one of the men in black paired up with each bidder. The man next to me, Gerardo Pecchia, 52, of Rochester Hills, had his very own man in black crouched on one knee at his side. The man in black had a whistle, and whenever he felt close to getting another bid out of Pecchia, he put the whistle in his mouth. He blew it whenever he got a higher bid.

With the bidding stalled at $2,050,000, one of the men in black knocked on the solid-oak panelling surrounding the fireplace. "What's that sound?" auctioneer Eddie Haynes of National Auction Group asked. And you knew he was going to tell you. "That's the sound of opportunity knocking." But no more bids came in, and he called a short recess, saying he wanted to talk to his seller. Pecchia heaved a big sigh and walked quickly out of the room.

Ten minutes later, the auction got back underway. Pecchia returned to his seat, but there were no more bids. A separate lot next to the chateau was auctioned, and Pecchia was high bidder at $175,000. (Bids on both properties have yet to be accepted as NAG attempts to do better for the sellers, George and Tina Milidrag.)

When it was all done I leaned over and asked Pecchia if he'd mind telling me why, if he was willing to bid $2 million, he wasn't willing to bid $2.1. He said the $2 million was really over his limit, even though he thought it was a "great deal" on the chateau. He said he'd been to real estate auctions before, but never bid. His first plunge was a big one.

I was surprised by how fast it was over. Several well-dressed couples sporting bid packets never batted an eye, as far as I could tell. It made me wonder why they'd come. Did they really think a $6.5 million house would go for less than $2 million?

NBD does the right thing

With all the finger-pointing going on over the future of downtown Clarkston, it's nice to see NBD Bank righting a wrong.

Though we're not happy the bank decided to close its Main St. branch, at least the powers that be have finally seen the light and reversed a silly decision that the historic building, which has always been a bank, would not be sold to another banking institution.

That statement was made, on several occasions, from the moment NBD announced the closing. Though downtown Clarkston is still a desirable place to be, the use of that particular building for something other than a bank was problematic.

Now NBD has said it will sell the building to the highest bidder. And while officials spun that as good for the city, it's obviously good for the bank too. Why not let the market decide? NBD apparently felt it was not a profitable enough location. Why not let someone else have a go at it?

While we're aware of the disappointment of the Clarkston Community Museum Foundation, which hoped the building would be donated for a local history museum, everyone agrees the building should remain a bank. For awhile, NBD wasn't going to let that happen. We're glad they changed their mind. AK

Benefit Successful

Dear editor,

We would like to thank everyone who came down to the north end of town on Labor Day to support and enjoy the baked goods, popcorn and coffee for our fund-raiser for Children's Miracle Network.

Children's Miracle Network provides medical services and equipment for hospitals and sick children and we were able to raise $400. It is a great cause and we couldn't have done it without everyone's help. Thank you so much.

Sincerely,

Ben, Beth, Ben and Allison Lawrence

Please slow down

Our dog Ruby was hit on Perry Lake Road 8-31-97 and was left to die. Please slow down and drive carefully on our residential streets.

Concert well attended

We attended the Conservatory of Music concert at the United Methodist Church on Waldon Rd. and we enjoyed it so very much. The afterglow was really a treat.

The tabloids, media and public nuttiness

For years the largest circulation newspapers in the world have been the London tabloids. Their theme is sex and crime. Which, obviously attracts more readers than say London's Guardian and the New York Times.

So, knowing what people want to read most the tabloids gave it to them. They'd pay big money for photos of the right people, and even bigger money for groping, scantily clad, promiscuous and compromising celebrity-type people.

And, in some cases, maybe many cases, these celebrity-types, seeking more celebrity, would play to and use the tabs for what they thought was their benefit.

Princess Di became the most photographed person in the world and not always unwillingly. In a way, the tabloids, now often blamed for her death, made her world-prominent... and not because of her charities.

Hell, she was an adulteress by admission. And, the tabloid readers, her audience, ate it up. As further proof of tabloid readership during Di's reign, look at the number of people who flocked to London for the funeral. A non-tabloid person, dying under similar circumstances, would get a 4 paragraph obit on page

Then, at the funeral, her brother, Charles, the Earl of Spencer, put the curse on all media. Something like we do when we condemn politicians and lawyers. Charles' brush was as wide as ours in his painting.

He said, "She talked endlessly of getting away from England, mainly because of the treatment she received at the hands of the newspapers."

"I don't think she ever understood why her genuine good intentions were sneered at by the media, why there appeared to be a permanent quest on their behalf to bring her down. It is baffling. My own, and only, explanation is that genuine goodness is threatening to those at the opposite end of the moral spectrum."

Chuckie, The Earl, certainly knows how to swing a brush. His explanation is that all newspapers, tabloid (which we are -- it's a size you know, not a rating system) or broadsheet (like the Detroit dailies), that's all television, all magazines and all radio are at the other end of Charles' moral spectrum.

So, now it's time for all the immoral media to use all the paint remover we can find.

Sure the media will!

15 YEARS AGO (1982)

It's expected the state will appeal a circuit court decision that finds an established group home for retarded adults in violation of Lake Oakland Woods Subdivision deed restrictions. The opinion, issued by Judge Hilda Gage last week, brings to the first plateau a two-year legal battle by residents of the Independence Township sub, who contend the home violates deed restrictions that limit use of the homes to those related by blood, marriage or legal adoption.

There's a tug-of-war going on between the Clarkston Business Association and Clarkston Village Council over a proposed sign ordinance — with both pulling hard for victory. Refusing to bend to businesses' pleas to allow overhanging and marquee signs, the council votes 4-2 at the Sept. 13 meeting to return the proposed ordinance back to the planning commission for review.

Resident James Flemming appears before Clarkston Village Council, requesting someone to take the initiative and clean up the south end of Clarkston's Mill Pond, land owned by the Clarkston Mills Mall. Flemming tells the board the Mill Pond Association will be supportive if trustee Ruth Basinger heads a proposed Lake Beautification Committee.

25 YEARS AGO (1972)

"Conflict of interest" is the reason Republican Independence Township clerk J. Edwin Glennie has given for his dismissal of two voter registrars. He said he had notified Democrats Donna M. Buhl, candidate for treasurer, and Ronald Herron, who seeks election as clerk, that they are no longer qualified to accept voter registrations. Glennie says he will appoint Robert Garner and Joette Kunse, two active Democrats, in their place.

A Clarkston man believes senior citizens can expect better things under the newly organized Michigan Federation of Senior Americans. Waterford Township recreation program director Ralph Richard is the Wayne-Oakland representative for the non-profit organization. Now engaged in providing seniors with a variety of lowest cost possible trips, both local and overseas, he forges the day when Michigan, like Minnesota, might offer its seniors the privileges of group buying, information on pending legislation, and an aid in providing more low-cost housing and health care.

50 YEARS AGO (1947)

The Clarkston Merchants baseball team is white-washed for the first time this season at Gaines, 11-0. The Gaines pitcher, who is aided by a strong wind, is in rare form, holding the Clarkston team to two hits while his team piles up 11 runs on nine hits. Clarkston faces a team of all-stars from Detroit this weekend, and manager Bert Beebe has been warned they are "loaded."

Playing at the Holly Theatre are Gene Autry and Sterling Holloway in "Twilight on the Rio Grande" and Tommy Dorsey, Jimmy Dorsey and Janet Blair in "The Fabulous Dorseys." Featured at the Drayton Theatre are Eddie Albert and Constance Moore in "Hit Parade of 1947" and Larry Parks and William Demarest in "The Jolson Story."

The Clarkston Cafe serves short orders, sandwiches and homemade pastry. Now the cafe is serving Sealtest Ice Cream, package or bulk, and all you want. Your host is Bob Parker.

60 YEARS AGO (1937)

Eugene and Robert Hubbard, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hubbard of Clarkston, are two 4H Club boys chosen to spend a week at the Michigan State Fair caring for sheep from area 4H clubs. The boys have a very good time and are kept quite busy. They are also very proud of their exhibits. Robert takes fifth place for his yearling and aged ewes and he also receives recognition for his lamb ram. Eugene takes sixth place for his ewes. The boys are tired by the time the fair closes, but don't regret any of their experiences.

News from "Children in Court": A young mother, who shielded her children from everything, recently proved the means of laying a foundation for a delinquent career. Her first step started years ago when she wrote an excuse to the teacher after Junior played hooky. It didn't take long for the budding youth to reason that mother could always be counted on to protect him. Consequently, his activities expanded until he reached an age where the law was forced to step in and take over the training and discipline which the parents had been unable to administer.

Specials at Rudy's include Wheaties, two boxes for 23 cents; round steak, 28 cents a pound; Chase & Sandborn Coffee, a package for 26 cents; and corn meal, five pounds for 22 cents.

Can the varsity football team bounce back?

ERIN KEESLING, SOPHOMORE: I think they should be able to do it. They did a really good job last year.

CHRIS RIEMER, SOPHOMORE: Oh yeah, definitely. Because we're Clarkston.

TIFFANY WILLIAMS, FRESHMAN: Yeah, but I just think they got really big heads about being No. 1 in the state. They dropped.

NICOLE PHILLIPS, SOPHOMORE: Yes, I think they can because they have Dan Fife on their team and they're really good in what they do.

BRAD PETRINEC, JUNIOR: Oh, definitely, definitely. We have such a great coach and everything and everyone on the team is so devoted.

All are Clarkston High School students.

Don't Rush Me

By Don Rush

To disconnect or not, that is the question

I am getting ready to take a bold step.

In this, the modern age of man, I will soon disconnect cable from my home. I checked it out and I should be okay. There is still an old TV antenna on the peak of my house. And, somewhere in the attic I am positive is the antenna wire.

This move has long been in the works, but the last nail in the coffin came with the death of the now dead Princess Di. Sure she was a great looking humanitarian and she gave a lot to the world. But she's gone. Learn from her lessons, become a better person yourself because of what she did or did not accomplish.

Get over it.

There are about 3,000 channels with cable TV. I'd venture to say 2,500 are still carrying on about Di Spencer. By this Friday my cable box will be back to the office and my television will be catching waves the old-fashioned way -- from the air.

It is not without some trepidation that I undertake this venture. I can already feel the trembling in my hands — the withdrawal symptoms are creeping up at the mere mention of disconnecting cable.

I have also not ventured into that dark space above my ceiling in oh — seven years. I haven't gotten into the attic in so long, partly because you have to be a contortionist to do so. While beings such as myself (Bumbles) bounce, we don't bend too easy.

It is very inconvenient to clear out the closet, go to the garage, get a ladder, and climb up with one hand, because in the other you're holding a flashlight.

There's no light up there . . . and I don't know what kind of creepy-crawlers now inhabit that space above my head. And I really don't want to know. I can pretend nothing is living up there if I don't see it or signs of its existence.

There are probably gobs of spider webs up there.

Which would lead me to believe there are probably gobs of spiders.

I wonder if there are any bats up there?

It is an old house and I'm sure some sort of rodent could find passage into the attic.

Just what is in my attic . . . and, why am I going up there?

Cable television . . . must disconnect . . . cable television. Maybe I should go armed: knife, a can of RAID and my Rosary. This idea is sounding more foolish as I go. Maybe this Dead Di business will end soon. Maybe I don't have to disconnect cable. Maybe I don't have to go into the attic.

On the other hand disconnecting is a $30 a month savings. Dad always did call me cheap . . .

CHS Life

By Meghann Smith A license, a car and a job

Summer flew by and school has started, so I'm back. Over the summer I acquired a license, a car, and a job.

Now, one thing I don't understand is how all those boys that go to my school can afford to lower their trucks and tint their windows and systemize their car. I manage to pay for my car insurance and gas with each paycheck and that's about it. I think the main problem is that with this car I have access to the mall any day I want. The only problem is that it costs money to put gas in the car and even more money comes out of my pocket once I'm at the mall.

I think there's a gene in girls that makes it impossible to leave the mall without buying something, even if it's as insignificant as the key chain I purchased on my last excursion. Sure, I spent more money at the Amoco on the way there, but I left successful. Now that I have a key chain that glows in the dark, I can find my keys in the morning before school when I'm too tired to turn on that light which never fails to blind me at 6:30 every morning.

Another costly car item was my beloved junior parking pass. I paid $12 for that little red sticker in the bottom corner of my windshield. Sometimes I doubt my sanity. The other day when it was pouring rain I arrived at school as the five-minute bell was ringing. Much to my surprise the junior lot was full, even the usually avoided gravel. Well, I gritted my teeth and much to my rider's dismay pulled right on into the tennis court lots. Now at the time it didn't seem so bad; we looked like we were at an equal distance from the school as the junior lot was. Well, looks can be deceiving. As we slugged through the first puddle I realized that we were nowhere near being equal. In fact I believe my car was as far from the school as it could be, without being off campus. We squished into school just as the minute warning was ringing. My locker mirror informed me that those precious extra minutes spent blow drying my hair had been useless.

I also used to believe I knew a lot about my car. After all, I knew what kind of gas it takes and that it has the potential of going 160 MPH. I even knew where to check the oil level, what type of oil goes into my car, and where to put the oil when it needs it. Well, as much of a gear-head as I thought myself to be, I'm not. In fact me, myself and I combined know less about my car than the boy who sits next to me in Spanish and doesn't even know what color it is. It's white, by the way.

As needs change, so does downtown

Dear editor:

Although I am a township resident, I am still a member of a community which includes and is concerned about the continuing viability of downtown Clarkston.

The history of downtown provides us many valuable lessons about what to expect for the future of downtown. However, that does not include gutting the residential area north of town as suggested by our most recent newspaper. It seems almost trite to say, but things change. Once, at various times, there have been a horse stable, an automobile bump shop, a bait shop, and a hardware store. Does their absence make downtown any less vital?

Not so long ago, there were two grocery stores in downtown. We could have lost them both, because as Pogo said: "We have seen the enemy and it is us." Our buying habits have changed, so the nature of business has changed for hardwares, banks, grocery stores, bump shops, drug stores, bait shops and even horse stables. As a result, certain businesses could not meet the new forms of competition and they moved or went out of business.

We still have a grocery store in downtown Clarkston because of the foresight, energy, and hard work of new entrepreneurs. They have made a success that not only continues but grows because they adapt to our needs.

With the growth of the surrounding township, there is a growing demand for a variety of services and products. New entrepreneurs with new businesses (say, for instance, a general store and sweet shop) will have the vision and energy and be willing to take the risk to find out what works in Clarkston. That is the answer and the future for downtown Clarkston.

Does government have a role? Certainly, but it is not converting residential areas and not dictating a specific use for each building. More importantly, the city's leaders should redouble their efforts to make certain that the services they ordinarily provide, including police services, are not antagonistic to business interests. There should be flexibility and business in downtown is not discouraged.

Rarely is a snapshot of change at any one point in time a pretty picture. Yet over time, the business people and citizens of this community have adapted. As they continue to adapt, downtown will remain a vital and important part of our community.

Very truly yours,
Neil E. Wallace

You're responsible for your pet

Dear editor:

I am writing in regard to the August 20, 1997 article about the dog who was apparently injured by a foot hold trap. It is truly a shame when good pets such as Shelby are harmed in our community.

Too often pet owners allow their pets to roam freely about our community. Most often nothing happens to these animals. Sometimes though, a pet gets hurt or disappears.

Then the pet owner wonders "why did this have to happen" and wrongfully blames someone else for the harm done.

Free roaming pets are a nuisance. They kill wildlife, destroy property and sometimes threaten people. If you own a pet, keep it under control. The community is not responsible for your pet -- you are.

Sincerely,
Tom Roberts
Clarkston

Says who?

When it comes to zoning, the question you often hear is "What is the best and highest use of the land?" Well, the answer depends on who you ask.

Clarkston city attorney Tom Ryan, commenting recently on the trend for downtown buildings to be used more for office than retail space, said this: "They could bring in more attorneys' offices. It would be the best possible use of the land."

Your finances

By James Kruzan

To pre or not to pre (Pay the mortgage, that is)

Homeowners are often faced with the decision as to whether to prepay their home mortgage or not. This decision can be significant given the amount of interest that could be paid over the life of the mortgage.

There are several ways to shorten the life of the mortgage. Taking a shorter term is the most direct, e.g. taking a 15-year mortgage instead of a 30-year term. This is often referred to as a "forced savings" plan because you are paying less interest and thus building equity. Refinancing an existing mortgage at lower rates while keeping your payment the same size is another way. Or you can put extra money toward the mortgage principal periodically.

Speeding up principal payments can save thousands in interest costs over the life of the loan. Yet, it is often stated that due to the deductibility of mortgage interest and the smaller payment of a longer term, the saved monthly funds may be invested at a higher rate (assuming the increased risk is acceptable) to offset the advantages of a shorter term mortgage.

Paying the mortgage off early might make sense in several situations, for example: A) when the psychological benefits of being out of debt are worth it; B) when alternative investment returns are lower than the mortgage rate (prepaying our mortgage and building equity can be viewed as a "tax free" investment alternative); C) when a homeowner lacks the discipline or is unwilling to take on additional risks to achieve higher returns; or D) if the property loses value and the owner might end up owing more than what the property is worth.

Here's when it might not make sense to prepay: A) when there are better, higher-yielding investment alternatives — such as tax advantaged vehicles for retirement; B) when you can earn a higher yield than the mortgage rate; C) when near the end of the loan, prepaying has little impact because the interest has already been paid off earlier.

There are many other variables to consider including whether there is a prepayment penalty; future earnings growth and the ease of prepayment over time; future inflation and the value of paying off the loan with "cheaper dollars" and the tax ramifications of the new $500,000 ($250,000 per person, $500,000 per joint taxpayer) home sales exclusion. This new exclusion is available to any homeowner, regardless of age every two years. To qualify, the taxpayer has to have lived in the home for at least 2 of the last 5 years.

You can see there are no easy answers. Consulting a financial professional is often a wise idea to address all the necessary considerations and make the best decision regarding each particular situation.

Whose goals are they anyway?

On Sept. 9, the board of education approved what were billed as goals for superintendent Dr. Al Roberts for the new school year. However, after trustee Sheila Hughes pointed out that they are really district goals, assistant superintendent Dave Reschke sat up and started paying attention. He got a big laugh when he noted that maybe "we should probably look at them."

Conservation in Clarkston is important to many local residents. For that reason, the Independence Land Conservancy is holding a photographic contest on the theme "What should we Protect in Nature?"

The contest is open to residents in the city of Clarkston and Independence and Springfield townships. Entries may be in color or black and white, sized from four by six inches to 12 by 18 inches, a single photo or a mounted collection.

All photos become the property of the ILC and should include the entrant's name, address, phone number and age category from among the following: 6-10, 11-4, 15-18, and over 18.

Deadline is Friday, Oct. 17, 1997. Send entries to Independence Land Conservancy, PO Box 285, Clarkston, MI 48347. Or drop them off at the Clarkston Country Store, 21 N. Main St. Call Gini Schultz at 625-3122 for more information.

The ILC has been helping to preserve land in the Clarkston area for 25 years.

Band invite Saturday

Don't miss the Clarkston Band Invitational Saturday at the high school. Twelve bands will participate beginning at 5:30 p.m. The Clarkston High School Band will take the field at 8:15. Admission is $5 and a car will be raffled off.

Dixie turning lane coming

got off the ground.

"We don't really know how this happened," township supervisor Collin Walls said at the meeting. "We did have discussions of waiting until the spring, but we saw that as being pointless because the bids did come in lower than the engineer estimates and I can't imagine them going any lower."

Clerk Nancy Strole said she hopes the project will be completed before winter. The lane will be located in front of the academy, going a bit north and south of it also.

Tri-party funds come equally from the township, the county and the Road Commission for Oakland County. The academy itself is kicking in $100,000 of its own money to help get the project completed. The rest of the money breaks down like this: $14,3250 from the township, $86,350 from the Oakland County Road Commission, $35,300 from Oakland County, and the rest coming from a $58,000 tri-party fund pool from 1998.

"It's not often a business steps up to the plate like the academy has," Walls said. "I would hate to see this not move forward."

Couple marks 65th anniversary

Audrey and Leon Decker will celebrate their 65th wedding anniversary with an open house for family and friends this Saturday, Sept. 20 from 1-4 p.m. The open house, given by their children, will be held at the Springrove Mobile Park clubhouse on Dixie Highway. The family requests "no gifts"; just bring "cards, pictures and memory notes of special times." Directions are I-75 to Dixie Highway, north. Springrove is located between East Holly and Grange Hall roads. The Deckers were married Sept. 18, 1932 in Evert, MI and were long-time residents of Clarkston. They have six children, 24 grandchildren, 31 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

'One of a kind' Al Dittrich dies

A new foundation will carry on the charitable work of Al Dittrich, a Waterford car dealer and Clarkston resident who died September 13, 1997.

Oakland County Executive L. Brooks Patterson said Tuesday that he has received permission from Mr. Dittrich's wife and son to form the foundation.

"A bunch of us have already met on that," Patterson said.

Mr. Dittrich, owner of Al Dittrich Oldsmobile, GMC Truck and Aurora in Waterford, was 63 when he died of a heart attack. The man known as 'Uncle Al' to thousands of Detroit area residents from his comedic commercials was also a shrewd businessman, Patterson said.

"He always was a fun guy to be with. There was never, ever a time we got together we didn't share laughs," Patterson, who had known Mr. Dittrich for 25 years, said. But as for the commercials, "That was all schtick. Behind that silliness, Al was a shrewd car dealer with nearly 40 years experience and incredible business acumen. He was considered one of the best."

Denny McQuiston, owner of the Airport Inn in Waterford, one of Mr. Dittrich's favorite hangouts, said Tuesday, "He was the greatest man I ever met. . . He was a king. He had compassion for people, first and foremost. He was a great family man; he loved his family dearly. He was one of the funniest men I ever met."

McQuiston said though Mr. Dittrich was well known for his charitable giving, it was about far more than money.

"It was hope he was trying to instill. What greater gift?"

"Al never said no," Patterson said. "He had the ability to give back; He enjoyed helping people who were less fortunate."

Mr. Dittrich is survived by his wife Mary and a son, Thomas (Lorraine); two grandchildren, Sarah and Erika; and a sister, Rosemary Dwyer.

He was a member of Waterford Optimists, the Knights of Columbus and the Detroit Automobile Dealers Association. He was also a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church in Lake Orion and an avid golfer.

Some of the organizations he was involved with were the Capuchin Soup Kitchen, Sea Cadets, March of Dimes, Lourdes, St. Joseph Mercy-Oakland, Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, Guest House, Catholic Social Services, Boys Hope, Angels Place, Boy and Girl Scouts, Rainbow Connection and Men of Mercy at St. Joseph Mercy.

Memorials may be made to the Capuchins, Lourdes or Boys Hope. Envelopes are available at Donelson, Johns and Evans Funeral Home in Waterford.

Funeral services were this morning at the Dominican Sisters Motherhouse in Oxford with Rev. John Leo Phalen officiating. Rite of committal followed at All Saints Catholic Cemetery in Waterford.

"In a lifetime I think a man is lucky to have a handful of people he can call best friends," Patterson said. "I have a twin brother and he was as close to me as my brother."

"No matter how busy he was he was always right there," McQuiston said. "He was a one-of-a-kind guy. Never in my lifetime will there be another guy like him."

● Rachel Grain of Clarkston has racked up some considerable awards for her horsemanship. After winning at the Oakland County 4-H Fair, she went on to the Michigan State Fair where she was named champion in hunter seat equitation and many other classes related to riding and showing of horses. She took top money in the equestrian events for the 17-and-under age category. Then she went on to the Ohio Morgan Show and won High Point Youth. Her next competition is the All Breed Youth Show in Detroit in October. A junior, she currently attends Brandon High School and is the daughter of Alan and Cathy Grain.

THE LAW & YOU
by Kelley R. Kostin
Attorney at Law

ANALYZING YOUR POSITION
Foremost among the issues to review with a lawyer before making a decision to pursue legal action in a civil court is whether your case has merit. Discussion should include an assessment of your ability to prove your case, as well as an examination of the defendant's interest in settling out of court to avert protracted litigation. Analysis should be conducted as to whether the defendant has sufficient assets to pay damages in the event that he or she loses the case. It is one thing to win a case, but something else altogether to get the defendant to pay. In short, an initial consultation with a lawyer should begin the process of careful analysis of the strengths and weaknesses of the case. If you're wondering whether you have a civil case that has merit, call our office at 620-1030 to schedule a consultation. We'll evaluate the circumstances and determine whether there is a viable case. Whether through the court system, or by settling the case prior to trial, the achievement of a successful result of your legal situation is our primary goal. Our office is located at 11 North Main Street. HINT: A lawsuit is started when a plaintiff prepares a summons and complaint.

We're back!

Development is coming swiftly to Springfield Township, which lies about half in the Clarkston school district. What happens there affects the schools, traffic, and many other things that have a ripple effect on surrounding communities.

Beginning this week, The Clarkston News is once again covering Springfield Township. Reporter Brad Monastiere will be covering township government and is looking for story ideas.

To accommodate the move of Monastiere to Springfield, reporter Eileen McCarville will be covering the City of the Village of Clarkston in addition to Independence Township. Monastiere will continue to cover Clarkston sports, and editor Annette Kingsbury will continue to cover the board of education and other school-related topics.

Well, maybe, maybe not as auction fails to bring expected price on house

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

George Milidrag said he was going to sell his mansion on Heather Lake at auction Sunday—and he almost did.

However, when a 15-minute flurry of bidding only got the price up to $2,050,000 on the house that cost $6.5 million to build, the auctioneers suggested he turn it down. They're hoping to wrap up a better offer by the end of the week.

"I can't say I'm disappointed," Milidrag said after the auction, smoking a big cigar. "The decision to sell is based on good reasons. I had mixed emotions to start with, but I thought whatever will be will be."

Before the auction, conducted by National Auction Group of Alabama, Milidrag and his wife Tina said they had doubts from the moment they decided to sell right up until that morning.

"My wife and I were talking about it this morning when we got up. Do we want to go through with this? Really it's the best thing. We don't spend much time here."

Milidrag is the owner of Engineering Technology

George Milidrag

Bidders, auctioneers and media fill the grand hall of Chateau du Lac Sunday.

of Troy, which was involved in the development of the Cadillac Seville and the Pontiac Fiero, among others. He owns another big home in Palm Beach, Fla. where he spends winters. The 10,000-square-foot house on an acre on the Intercoastal Waterway has provided a refuge from Michigan winters and the couple will now live there full time.

The auction got underway at 4 p.m. in the great hall of Chateau du Lac. William Bone, president of NAG, said there were six registered bidders who had brought the required $100,000 registered check. "We think all it takes is six," he said before the bidding.

As ducks floated by on the lake outside, Eddie Haynes of NAG, dressed in a tuxedo, explained the rules. Four pieces of art were auctioned off first, all to benefit Judson Center, one of the Milidrag's favorite charities.

Three of them were purchased by Gerardo Pecchia, a 52-year-old Rochester Hills apartment-building investor. He went on to bid $2 million on the chateau, but was overbid by $50,000 by a bidder who preferred to remain anonymous. Afterward Pecchia said he'd reached his limit, but he was the top bidder on a lot adjoining the chateau at $175,000. He said he had no specific plans for the lot, other than keeping the grass mowed.

"I feel good. I think it's a good investment for an acre and a quarter."

Ann Greene, a Realtor with Prudential, which had the chateau listed unsuccessfully for two years before the auction, was upset about the bid price, but said she understood why.

"The location for most people is far out. This house is such a quality house. If it had been perhaps in a more convenient location it would have sold." She said its location in a subdivision of much smaller homes was also a factor.

After the bidding was over, Bone said two people "have indicated they would raise their bids. So anyone that's interested should give us a call." NAG can be reached at 1-800-473-2292.

"When this happens it's hard on the auction house," he said. "We think there might still be a little money there, which is why we're advising him (Milidrag) not to take the offer."

Lawyers ready their band for 'Flintstock '97'

Partners in Clarkston firm have another life they're equally passionate about

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Mild-mannered lawyers by day, rock and roll maniacs by night?

Well, not exactly. C. Daniel Harry, a partner in the Clarkston law firm of Harry, Packard and Saoud, says no one would accuse him of being a mild-mannered lawyer. But when it comes to the music...

Besides being law partners, Harry, Al Saoud and Mike Packard make up three-fifths of a rock/blues band called Formula Five. The band will perform Sept. 19 as part of the University of Michigan-Flint's first ever music festival, "Flintstock '97." It's expected to become an annual event.

For years, Harry has been playing guitar and writing music. It goes all the way back to adolescence and the Beatles for the 44-year-old Davisburg resident.

"I guess you could probably say that's what got me going," he said. "The Beatles were on Ed Sullivan when I was in sixth grade. They certainly were different and the girls really loved them."

While still in elementary school, Harry and some friends donned Beatles wigs and fake guitars and lipsynched to Beatles songs in front of their elementary school. While practicing in one boy's basement, Harry remembers "neighborhood girls looking in the windows and mobbing us when we were done. Remember 'A Hard Days Night?' It was just like that."

That reaction from the public, especially girls, hooked Harry. Through high school, college and law school, he continued to play, often making decent money touring summers with established bands.

"Invariably I was cramming for exams and learning new tunes at the same time," he said. "I would always be able to save enough money to pay my tuition for the next year. I could live on that 'till Christmas."

In 1978 Harry was ready to enter law practice and went several years without playing in public. Formula Five is about a 2-year-old band that has so far concentrated on writing and recording songs, rather than performing in clubs.

In Formula Five, Harry plays guitar, writes songs and sings, Packard plays drums and Saoud plays bass. They are joined by two Flint men; stockbroker Guy Moxham plays guitar, keyboard, harmonica and sings, and Carl Palka, an artistic interior house painter, plays sax and trumpet and is the lead singer.

Harry describes their music, which is nowadays mostly original, as "rocky blues." The demo tape they submitted to U-M is titled "Munchausen by Proxy."

They struck me as being a sort of European blues-style band, kind of cutting edge," said Jessica

Lawyers ready band

Walker, UM-Flint advisor to the Campus Programming Board, a student organization which selected bands for Flintstock. The board listened to tapes submitted by some 40 bands after soliciting entries by putting flyers up in bars, music stores, etc. They ended up selected a wide variety of bands, representing reggae, funk, punk, techno, metal, and Latino rap.

"They were looking at it from a variety standpoint," Walker said.

Though looking forward to the audience's reaction, Harry isn't expecting the show to be a launching pad for Formula Five. He's already got demos circulating, looking for a possible recording contract. But he won't be giving up his day job.

"By the way, at Flintstock we're fully expecting to be the oldest people there," he said with a laugh, something he does frequently reflecting back on his long musical career. "I'm in it for the love of the music, the creativity. We've had a demo go to England and France. That's for me the part where the most energy has gone..."

"I've done bar bands; I couldn't support my family on the music... I love the writing and creating part. There is nothing in this life I've worked so hard at and felt so satisfied at the result. I think that's a magic that if you can get hold of in your life, it's extra satisfying."

And then there's the legacy he's passing on to the next generation. Harry says his 9-year-old son is already a remarkably good guitarist for his age, and "an absolute junkie. He plays a lot better than he should at his age... He's right there at every (band) practice."

Oldie but a goodie makes a gourmet comeback

Granola maker puts Clarkston on the map

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

If you're old enough to remember the '60s, you may have a fixed image in your mind of granola.

Bland. Mealy. Tastes like cardboard. Extinct.

Not any more. A Clarkston woman has resurrected granola by making it taste good as well as good for you. Now a snack as much as a cereal, Michaelene Hearn's Gourmet Granola can now be found in some of the fanciest gourmet stores in the world, as well as aboard some TWA flights. It has even been served to the pope.

Now 14 years into the business that started kind of by accident, Hearn hopes to grow a bit bigger while maintaining a size that allows that handmade quality to remain. She'll be selling her wares at this weekend's Crafts and Cider Festival in Depot Park in downtown Clarkston.

"Back when granola was popular in the '60s everybody ate it but it didn't taste good," Hearn said. "So it fizzled out. Now people want something that's good for you and tastes good." Noting that old-fashioned granola was about 90 percent oats, Hearn said she added some pizzazz by putting in raw nuts, dried fruits and spices while staying aware of fat, sugar and calories.

"We made granola that had more than oats in it," she said. "Plus ours is chunky and people eat it as a snack. We have a lot of people, including myself, who never eat it in milk. People are programmed to eat cereal in milk, but think of Chex Mix."

Hearn says she always loved to cook, even as a child. "My mother worked and I always cooked meals as a youngster," she said. "I'm also a nutrition nut so I love things cooked fresh."

A Detroit native, Hearn graduated from Western Michigan University with a degree in occupational therapy, then went on to Michigan State University for a post-graduate degree. She taught school in Waterford, married, had four daughters and eventually taught Lamaze classes where she could combine her background in teaching and nutrition. It was here that the granola business got its start.

"I used to tell my students instead of snacking on chips they should snack on granola," she said. "And I've always made my own granola. I've eaten it every day for 25 years."

Hearn brought her recipe in to share with her students, but they said it never tasted as good when they made it. When they began offering to pay her to make it for them, a new career was born.

Hearn started off working in the Clarkston Village Bakeshop after hours, but her business kept growing and she eventually had to move. In 1991 she attended her first International Fancy Food and Confection Show, and real growth began.

"We really got a lot of exposure," she said. "We had our growing pains from 1991."

Out of that show came the TWA account and many others.

"One time we made six tons of granola in six weeks for Dayton Hudson. It was one order and it consumed us, night and day, round the clock. We couldn't do that every day."

Then there was the order, another six tons, that she made up and it didn't pan out. It ended up being donated to St. Vincent de Paul after their disastrous warehouse fire in Detroit. "Everything happens for a reason," Hearn said.

Crafts and cider returns

Circle Sept. 20-21 on your calendar for the return to Depot Park of the 22nd annual Crafts and Cider Festival, sponsored by the Clarkston Community Historical Society.

The festival is the perfect place to enjoy the fall season. Over 100 crafters will take part from all over Michigan and several other states. Hours are 10-6 each day and admission is free.

The festival is the Historical Society's main fund-raiser. Proceeds have been used toward the local history room at the library, toward the publication of a local history book now used in Clarkston schools and many other endeavors.

Some 15,000 people are expected to crowd into downtown Clarkston for the festival. A newly expanded viewing area will allow more artists than ever before. Musical entertainment will be provided by The Collecting Consort, made up of Anne and Gary Wakenhut on Celtic harp, hammered dulcimer, whistle and flutes.

As always cider and doughnuts will also be available.

Pope John Paul II tasted her granola thanks to TWA. "To me the biggest thrill was the pope. When they called and said 'We're going to serve it to the pope,' I said 'Oh, wow.'"

Some of Hearn's products have no fat added, only that which naturally occurs in the nuts and oats. Some use only honey as sweetener, some use brown sugar. The only preservative in the whole line is the sulfites used to dry the papaya used in some varieties.

Nutritionally, Michaelene's Gourmet Granola stacks up well against national brands produced by the big cereal manufacturers (see chart.) How does it taste? A panel at The Clarkston News tried Cappuccino Crunch, Cheery Cherry Honey Crunch (a lowfat variety) and Honey Nutty Raisin and all won raves.

The business, which employs four people outside the Hearn family (which includes her husband, four daughters and mother), also uses autistic young adults from a Madison Heights school to affix labels to its packaging.

"It really prides me to put Clarkston on my label," Hearn said. "I'd like it to grow a little bit, but my goal is always quality."

It's the great tomato, Snoopy

Winners in this year's Great Tomato Contest at Bordine's Nursery in Clarkston have been announced and one family just about wrapped up the competition. Michael Chaffee, 8, took first place with a two pound, 15 ounce tomato. Matthew Chaffee, 6, took second with a two pound, eight ounce fruit. Stephanie Carter took third with a two pound, five ounce specimen. And Christopher Chaffee was fourth. Pictured are Joe Douglas, Bordine's greenhouse manager, giving prizes to (from left) Matthew, Christopher and Michael, all of Lake Orion. The contest got started back on Memorial Day when Bordine's gave out more than 800 Supersteak tomatoes to kids 12 and under to grow. Judging was done on Labor Day.

Bear-ied

Football team bounces back with solid 35-6 win

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

|           |    |
|-----------|----|
| Clarkston | 35 |
| Berkley   | 6  |

Now that was more like it.

After playing like it was in quicksand the week before, the Clarkston varsity football team looked like the team it was expected to be in a 35-6 romp over the Berkley Bears Friday.

The game saw excellent performances from all parts of the team. Offensively, senior QB Dane Fife threw for two touchdowns and ran for two. Senior RB Brad Phalen racked up 118 yards rushing and a score. The defense forced four first-half turnovers.

"It was a different feeling taking the kids onto the field this week," admitted Clarkston coach Kurt Richardson. "I felt more cohesiveness among the guys. I knew they had come to play this week."

The Wolves (1-1) exploded for 28 second-quarter points, sewing up the win before the band made its way onto the field at halftime.

Clarkston scored on the second play of the second quarter when Phalen plunged off right tackle from a yard out.

The Wolves then seized the momentum for good when Berkley fumbled on its first play from scrimmage on the following possession.

With good field position on Berkley's 35, Clarkston only needed eight plays to take a 14-0 lead. Fife threw his first touchdown pass of the season to senior TE Justin Dionne. It was Dionne's first catch of his football career.

Fife finished completing 7-of-16 passes for 102 yards. And just as important as those stats, no interceptions.

The defense then stepped up, forcing Berkley to a three-and-out on the next possession. Clarkston, now playing full of confidence, took a 21-0 lead when Fife threw a beautiful fade pass to junior WR Erich Poley. Poley emerged as one of the team's top receiving threats in the game, a revelation that pleased Richardson.

"Erich has been a very pleasant surprise," he said. "In the beginning of the summer, he was so far down on the depth chart, he needed a snorkle to breathe. But he just kept working. He's not fast, but he runs excellent routes and always catches the ball."

Poley finished the game with three catches for 68 yards.

Fife scored the team's last two touchdowns on quarterback sneaks from near the goal line. Fife, who completed only 7-of-28 passes in the nightmarish loss to Royal Oak Kimball, played with more poise and confidence. The offensive line also improved its play, both in run blocking and in pass protection. Fife also did damage with his running. On consecutive plays in the Wolves' first scoring drive, Fife ran for nine and 22 yards to keep the drive alive.

Senior Marc Venegoni leaps high in the air to snare this pass during the first quarter of the varsity football team's game against Berkley Friday. Venegoni and his Clarkston Wolves teammates came out with more focus and executed much better during the 35-6 win.

"When Dane can run the ball like he did, their DBs (defensive backs) can't sit back and play the pass," Richardson said. "Teams play to stop Dane's throwing so much, the opportunity to run is really there."

Defensive leaders for the Wolves were junior Ronnie Wells with five tackles and senior Mike Underwood with three tackles including one for a 10-yard loss. Senior Brad Bailey and junior Mark Whiteman each recorded a sack, while junior Nate Skipton picked off a Berkley pass.

Clarkston takes to the road for the first time Friday, when it travels to Waterford Mott. Kickoff is 7 p.m.

Test your football skills in Punt, Pass and Kick

Think you can throw and kick a football as far as the guys in the NFL can? Here's your chance to prove it, as the NFL/ Gatorade Punt Pass and Kick competition comes to Clarkston.

Saturday, Sept. 20, boys and girls ages 8-15 should go to the Clintonwood Park soccer fields to compete at the local level. Winners there will go on to the sectional competition, also at Clintonwood Oct. 11.

Registration will be at the fields at 8:30 a.m. with the competition starting at 9. Ages are determined as of Dec. 31, 1997. For the 12-15 group, registration is 9:30 a.m. with competition starting at 10. Parents must bring a valid birth certificate. No football shoes or cleats are allowed.

In the penalty box

with Brad Monastiere

That was more like it

● This past football weekend was much better.

Yes, the weekend of Sept. 5-7 was a rough one for us in the penalty box. Our four favorite teams - Clarkston, CMU, U-M and the Lions - went 0-3, losing by a combined score of 127-30.

But all was better this past weekend, as my teams went 4-0, winning by a combined margin of 138-42.

Most pleasing was the way the Wolves came out and took care of business. After the Kimball debacle, people questioned the heart and character of this team.

But to see the 28 second-quarter points and the characteristic excitement on the sidelines, I rest better knowing this is the team we saw last year. As my good buddy Jeff Loveless told me: "This is the Clarkston team I remember!"

The team and coaches deserve a lot of credit for bouncing back from a potentially crippling loss. Against Kimball, the guys looked tentative, playing not to lose as opposed to playing to win. As a result, every unit on the field made a key mistake that led to the loss.

But against the helpless Berkley Bears, the execution was outstanding. Dane Fife looked like, well, Dane Fife, as he did considerable damage by throwing and running the ball. His 14-yard touchdown pass to junior WR Erich Poley was absolutely a thing of beauty.

It now boils down to seven more one-game seasons starting Friday at Waterford Mott. All the team has to do is remember Troy from last year and realize a 7-2 record won't qualify for the playoffs in this region.

● One of the big surprises of the early fall has to be the solid play of the boys soccer team.

It's easy to look at the team's 3-0-3 press time record and see the improvement from a 6-10-3 mark from a year ago, but that's not what has impressed me so far. It's been the way the team has compiled that record.

The Wolves have made a habit of coming from behind in most of their games so far this season. In all but one game (a 3-0 win over Berkley), Clarkston has been behind at one time or another in the game and come back to either win or tie.

Coach Dan Fitzgerald and the players deserve a lot of credit for this. In soccer, one goal can be a huge mountain to climb. But every time another team has scored on brick wall goalkeeper Rean Turner, the team strikes back with a frenzy that makes the paparazzi seem passive.

As much as Fitzgerald would like to see his team get the first goal in a game once in a while, he has captured a quality that few teams can have on a consistent basis and that is resiliency.

Thanks to their early season success, the Wolves won't think themselves out of any game they play this season. Playoff foes should beware.

● The girls basketball team plays its biggest regular season game in quite a while Thursday when the No. 7-ranked Rochester Falcons come to town.

The girls are off to a 5-0 start and have been impressive in each outing. But the Falcons present a new set of challenges. A team with size, speed and skill the likes of which the Wolves have yet to see.

But remember, this team beat Birmingham Marian in a scrimmage last month. It knows it can compete with top teams. This time, it's for real. Buckle up, fans.

Early test a tough one for Wolves

7th-ranked Rochester comes calling in hoop showdown

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Only five games into Ann Serra's tenure as girls varsity basketball coach, the first big game comes up.

Off to a 5-0 start and outscoring its opponents by 17 points per game, Clarkston welcomes the Rochester Falcons, ranked seventh in the state, to the home gym Thursday. The JV game starts at 5:30, with the varsity to follow at around 7.

Serra said she is approaching this game as a nothing-to-lose affair.

"We only have everything to gain from this game," Serra said. "They've got four top-notch players, but I think we're deeper. If all our players come in and do well, we can really keep up with them."

Rochester isn't a very big team, but the skills and quickness of its top four are imposing. Players to watch for the Falcons are guards Liz Cibor and Jodie Schell, and forwards Magan Rasch and Paige Harris. Cibor is a quick, penetrating guard who can set up open shots for team sharpshooters Rasch and Schell. Harris can mix it up inside and knows her way around the perimeter as well.

But don't think Clarkston's cupboard is bare, either. Senior Georgia Senkyr, junior Deana Kanipe and sophomore Lori Wild have been rock-solid so far for the Wolves.

Senkyr has been a jack-of-all-trades with her ballhandling and passing skills. She has also shown great quickness for a 5-foot-10 player. Kanipe is showing the form that made her one of the county's better players last year, as she scored 14 and 18 points in her last two games after coming over from West Bloomfield. She can flat-out fly on the fast break and can cause havoc for any defense.

Wild has made her mark early in her varsity career. She's averaging 12 points per game and if she can stay out of foul trouble, can give Clarkston a consistent low-post threat.

Serra said the key to the game should be Clarkston's transition defense and utilization of its superior depth.

"We have to make sure we lock on the ball and make them work for all their shots," she said. "We have to know we are never out of the game. Last year, (Farmington Hills) Harrison was down by 20 in the second half to them and came back to win. If we can get them in foul trouble, we'll be in good shape."

Football notebook

It's Izzo

In town to see Clarkston's 35-6 win over Berkley was Michigan State men's basketball coach Tom Izzo Friday night.

Izzo was there likely getting a look at senior QB Dane Fife on the football field. Izzo has heavily recruited Fife to play basketball, and State has reportedly offered him the opportunity to play both sports for the Spartans.

State football coach Nick Saban was not at the game, mainly because he was preparing his current team for Saturday's game against Memphis University.

We remember Mike

Although he is still on the sidelines without pads, senior WR Mike Maitrott is still in the front of many Wolves' fans and players.

Senior TE Justin Dionne, also Maitrott's teammate on the basketball team, had "# 20" written on his wristbands and towel during Friday's game.

The Jungle also used its unique talents for Maitrott. In the fourth quarter with Clarkston comfortably ahead, the crowd started chanting "We want Maitrott!"

Maitrott injured his ribs when he collided with junior DB Ronnie Wells the first day of practice.

Golfers edge Adams to stay in 2nd place in OAA

Clarkston 167, Rochester Adams 170

The Clarkston boys golf team has led a quiet existence lately, only playing one match in 10 days.

But the Wolves made that match count, as they defeated the Rochester Adams Highlanders 167-170 Sept. 9 playing the back nine at Clarkston Creek.

With the win, Clarkston moves up to 2-1 overall in dual meets, 1-1 in the OAA Division I. Troy is in first at 2-0.

Coach Jim Chamberlain said he has been using this down time to work some subtle changes into the players' games, hoping to improve scores.

"I want to get more thinking into their games," he said. "So far, I've been pleased to see what they've been able to do."

With this week's summertime weather, naturally, the B's were out for Clarkston. Senior Bob Schultz medaled with a 38, taking second overall at the meet. Other scorers for the Wolves were Bryan Haggard (41), Dave Benner (43), and Ben Ness (45).

"Ben is in a slump," Chamberlain said. "It's tough, because I can't pinpoint any one thing he's doing wrong. We just have to go back to the basics, like grip, swing and stance."

Although pleased with Schultz's 38, Chamberlain said the score came in an unusual way. Schultz made four birdies, three bogeys and two double bogeys on the par 36 course.

Clarkston hits the links again at West Bloomfield Sept. 25.

Teams just don't dominate much more than Clarkston dominated Waterford Mott.

The varsity girls basketball team rolled to an easy 54-32 win against the overmatched Corsairs on the road Thursday. Clarkston outscored Mott in all four quarters and used big contributions from most of the players on the roster to do it.

As usual, the Wolves (5-0 overall) threw their full-court pressure defense and Mott and came away with gold.

"It was a good effort and a nice win for the team," Clarkston coach Ann Serra said. "We were able to convert a lot of steals in their backcourt for layups. That really got us going."

Junior point guard Deana Kanipe led the Wolves with 18 points, many coming from those aforementioned backcourt steals. Sophomore center Lori Wild chipped in 10 points.

Serra pointed out the play of senior forward Aimee Giroux as a big factor in the win. Giroux scored five points and had five steals, many coming in the decisive second quarter.

"After Aimee came in, we went on a 9-0 run," Serra pointed out. "Deana was able to hit three straight layups and Aimee was instrumental in that."

With senior guards Tiffany Honey and Jenny Bauer nursing injuries, Giroux and a cast of others picked up the slack. Senior Kelly Hanna scored a season-high four, while junior Nicole Colosimo hit a 3-pointer in helping the Wolves' cause.

Senior forward Georgia Senkyr and Wild each had seven rebounds, while junior forward Corinne McIntyre was a force with four points and five steals.

The Wolves face their biggest test of the young season Thursday when they host seventh-ranked Rochester.

Serra was philosophical after the team's close 36-32 win over Bloomfield Hills Lahser.

"It was an ugly win, but hey, it was a win," Serra said. "They made it tough on us. They worked the ball around on offense and got back on defense all night."

Kanipe got in the flow, leading the team with 14 points, including a 3-pointer. Serra said Kanipe's workload will be increasing, because of injuries to guards Jenny Bauer and Tiffany Honey.

"We're going to have to rely on her more now," she said. "She did a lot better job of playing within herself and it showed."

Bauer suffered a sprained ankle early in the game and could be out of action for a while. In addition, Honey is battling shin splints that could be stress fractures. She will be out at least until the Berkley game Sept. 25.

Other leaders in the game for the Wolves were Senkyr with eight points and senior forward Abby Wiley with nine rebounds.

Basketball

The JV girls basketball team had a tough week, losing to Bloomfield Lahser by a point and to Waterford by 5 points but the centers and forwards have been playing well for the Wolves.

"We showed a lot of heart and hustle. They were both close games," said Coach Gary Kaul.

Wolves fit to be tied

Kickers tie Lake Orion and Oxford; still unbeaten in '97

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston boys varsity soccer team tied the knot twice last week.

No, there won't be a flood of wedding announcements, but the Wolves did tie two straight games last week against solid competition.

|           |   |
|-----------|---|
| Clarkston | 2 |
| Oxford    | 2 |

If soccer rules went by total goals scored, regardless of the ones that were disallowed, you could put this game in the win column for the Wolves.

But after having two goals disallowed by the officials, Clarkston (3-0-3 overall) settled for a come-from-behind 2-2 tie Sept. 10.

The Wildcats controlled the play through the second half, nursing a 2-1 lead when Mike Linhardt jumped on a loose ball in the box and nudged it in, knotting the game at 2-2 with 2:48 remaining.

Just 1:24 later, the Wolves appeared to have scored another goal, when the sound of a late whistle shot through the misty air, offsided Clarkston.

The Wolves had a first-half goal called back on a most unusual play. Oxford was getting its defense organized when suddenly, senior sweeper Mike Gabriel proceeded with the kick and scored on a surprised Wildcat defense.

But the officials disallowed that one because Clarkston didn't ask for its 10-yard clearance from the kicker to the defensive wall the Oxford players put up to defend such a play. Normally, disputes on this type of play come when the defensive team gets set too quickly and too close to the kicker. That call puzzled Clarkston coach Dan Fitzgerald.

"The referee normally doesn't count the yards, and when he sets the ball down, the play can begin at any time," he said. "Mike is on top of those things and it was a very smart play on his part, but it got called back."

Gabriel scored the other goal (one that counted) for the Wolves, who came back from one-goal deficits twice to earn the tie.

"It seems like we don't score until the other team does," Fitzgerald said. "It's good in a way because it shows we have a lot of heart on this team and never give up."

Clarkston tries to keep its record intact Thursday when it travels to Waterford Mott for a showdown with the Corsairs. The team's next home game is Tuesday against Royal Oak Dondero.

After this game, the only thing that wasn't all wet was Clarkston's record.

In the team's biggest test of the season, the Wolves pulled out a 3-3 tie against state quarterfinalist Lake Orion Sept. 9.

The game, played in a continual downpour, saw a rare burst of scoring midway through the second half.

It all started when the Dragons scored with 23:00 left to break a 1-1 tie. Then, Clarkston turned on the offensive pressure, scoring twice in a 25-second span.

After the Lake Orion goalkeeper made a tackle in the box, Gabriel scored on a penalty kick to tie the game at 2-2. Off the ensuing play, senior Shawn Verlinden scored another timely goal on a nice 3-on-2 play to give Clarkston the lead. Verlinden, the team's leading scorer and one of its vocal leaders, was in perfect position for a pass from Dan Jackson. He caught the defense and goalkeeper out of position and slammed the ball into a wide open net.

However, only 53 seconds later, Lake Orion came right back to score a goal of its own on a penalty kick.

After tying the game, the Dragons put all kinds of pressure on Clarkston goalkeeper Rean Turner. But Turner was up to the task, making several brilliant saves to help preserve the tie.

Bogart emerges as Number one singles player

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston 5 Lake Orion 3

Amid a strange start to the season that saw a top player leave the team, Clarkston girls tennis coach Dick Swartout has been undecided.

Each day at practice, he lets his players go at one another, vying for the coveted #1 singles position. Three weeks into the season, the spot hadn't been settled.

Until now.

Junior Lauren Bogart reached out and grabbed it, just like a child getting a Tickle-Me-Elmo for Christmas. Bogart solidified her hold on the spot with an impressive 6-1, 6-1 win over Lake Orion Monday.

Bogart played the deciding match against the Dragons. When her match started, the Wolves (3-0 overall, 2-0 in OAA II) held a slim 4-3 match lead. But Bogart's fine play sealed the deal.

"She played great today," Swartout said. "It was the very best she's ever played. She is starting to set up her points now instead of just trying to hit the ball as hard as she can anymore."

Swartout said Bogart's confidence has come a long way, once she started to believe she was the #1 singles player.

"When she came up to me and said 'I'm your #1 singles,' everything has clicked," he said.

Another pleasant surprise for Swartout was the good play by the four doubles teams Monday. All four won their matches by a combined score of 24-6, 24-2.

Juniors Kristen Atkinson and Alaina Dodds kept up their hot play from the weekend with a 6-0, 6-0 sweep of the Dragons. Atkinson and Dodds won the Fenton Invitational at #1 doubles, and according to Swartout, were never challenged.

Seniors Amber Mitchell and Courtney Bomier returned to action with a 6-3, 6-1 win. Both had been out because of injuries, but are now well enough to contribute to the team.

The Wolves face a severe test Wednesday at West Bloomfield, then return home Friday to take on Brandon. Match time is at 4 p.m. The Lakers are ranked 10th in the state.

Football

The JV football team has gotten off to a very good start, winning its first two games.

Two weeks ago the Wolves had an easy time with Royal Oak Kimball, beating them 41-6. Chris Mitchell led the rushing game taking 13 carries for 75 yards along with two touchdowns and catching a 45-yard pass. Chad Booker had four carries for 34 yards and a touchdown. Brett Crawford also had four carries for 32 yards and two touchdowns, with one coming off a 15-yard interception return. Bryan Smith had two carries for 25 yards and a touchdown. Ross Martello went 3 for 9 in passing for 62 yards and one touchdown pass. Rocky Lund added another five points by going 5 for 6 in PAT's.

Defensively, Derek Tegler led the team with four tackles. Ryan Luken followed with three. Jeremy Williams and David McEvoy each added an interception. Williams will play on the varsity team for the remainder of the football season.

The Wolves had their second victory over Berkeley last Thursday, 20-6. Chris Mitchell had six carries for 39 yards, Chad Booker had six carries for 55 yards and a touchdown. Andy North and Derek Casper each caught the football for a touchdown. Rocky Lund ran it in for the two-point conversion.

Lund and North helped on defense, each making four tackles. North also had an interception.

Athlete of the Week: Lauren Bogart

Salut, Lauren: A junior standout on the girls tennis team, Lauren Bogart has made a name for herself already this fall. With the singles slots all up for grabs, Lauren has seized the opportunity. She played at #1 singles Sept. 4 and emerged with a 6-2, 6-1 win over Southfield Lathrup. Against Waterford Mott, Lauren scored an easy 6-1, 6-1 win. She has a 3-2 record on the season.

A former gymnast, Lauren has been able to use her natural athletic ability to her advantage on the tennis courts and on the track, where she is a sprinter on the girls track team. She can cover the court very well, a skill especially useful as a singles player, something she prefers. Whenever she hits the ball, she tries to hit it as hard as she can, hoping to get an advantage over her opponent.

Lauren is also a smashing success in school, where she rang up a 3.8 grade point average. She does well in English classes, but enjoys chemistry and science classes. Should she pursue those interests in college, Lauren "Humphrey" Bogart likely won't go on to own a bar in Casablanca after she graduates.

Coach Dick Swartout on Lauren: "She brings enthusiasm and athleticism to our team. Lauren is a very coachable player and does exactly what you tell her. I think that's why she improved so much from last year. With her gymnastics background, she has great natural coordination and anticipation of where the ball is going. She is cheerful and leads our running in practice. She shows some good leadership through that."

Lauren on Lauren: "I like the individuality of tennis, where everything is on your shoulders. I don't like singles because I don't like to feel that if I made a mistake, I would be letting my partner down. My goal is just to get better and improve as much this year as I can."

Runners cruise Chesaning

Boys take first, girls fourth overall

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Boys

Webster's defines sophomore as one who is confident, self-assured, but immature.

But when it comes to the Clarkston boys cross-country team, sophomore only means excellence on the course.

With four sophomores finishing in the top 20, the Wolves took home first-place honors at Saturday's Chesaning Invitational with 63 points. Flint Carman-Ainsworth was second with 84 and Ann Arbor Huron was third with 87 points.

Continuing his outstanding season, sophomore David Sage finished first overall with a time of 16:44, six seconds better than anyone else. Fellow sophomore Matt Haver made his best showing of the year with a third-place finish of 17:11.

All six Clarkston runners finished in the top 3 out of 117 total runners. Other placers for the Wolves included sophomores Kevin Breen (18th - 18:09), Dan Burke (19th - 18:11), Chris Weber (22nd - 18:17) and Dave Wicklund (33rd - 18:40).

The team sees more Saturday action this weekend when it travels to East Lansing for the Spartan Invitational.

Girls

After a below-par showing at the West Bloomfield Invitational Sept. 6, coach Deb Zonca sat her team down and had a good "talk." She said she was concerned about the team's priorities to this point in the season and where they were for the rest of the season.

The talk must have done some good, as the Wolves bounced back with a solid fourth overall team finish at Chesaning Saturday.

The team finished with 149 points. Mount Pleasant ran away and hid from the rest of the field, taking first with 44 points. Hartland was second with 102.

Clarkston had six runners place in the top 51, led by junior Jennifer Rooding, who finished 16th with a time of 21:31. Sophomore Nicole Fischer continues to impress in her first year, as she took 18th with a time of 21:34.

Zonca said she was pleased with how well the team ran, since three of the team's better runners were injured and did not participate.

Senior Liz Cook took 30th overall with a time of 22:17. Zonca was happy with the performance of freshman Kelli Morton, who improved on her best time by two minutes.

Tanks got their name from the British, who developed them during World War One. To conceal their purpose, they referred to them as "water tanks."

O HOLY ST. JUDE Apostle and martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ Faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need. To you I have recourse and from the depth of my heart I humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. Say three Our Fathers, three Hail Marys and three Glorias for nine consecutive days. Publication must be promised. St. Jude pray for us and all who invoke your need. Amen. This novena has never been known to fail. I have had my request granted. ASP. IILX39-1

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT. Holy Spirit, You who make me see everything and who show me the way to reach my ideal, You who give me the Divine Gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me, and You who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue want to thank You for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from You, no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with You and my loved ones in Your perpetual glory. Amen. Thank You for Your love towards me and my loved ones. Say for 3 consecutive days without mentioning your petition: Your prayer will be answered. Promise to publish prayer. ASP. IILX39-1

Our pledge to you: if after 30 days you don't get any inquiries on your want ad, we'll refund your money (less a $2 service charge. Automotive specials not included).
We guarantee it.
Here's how it works.

1. Run your want ad with us for at least two weeks and pay within one week of the start date.
2. If no one contacts you within 30 days after the ad's stop date, fill out a refund application and mail or bring it to us.
3. We will refund the cost of the ad (less the $2 service charge) within 7 days of receiving your refund application. . .

Or, we'll run that ad again for the original number of weeks. The choice is yours, a win-win situation all the way around.

(We can only guarantee that you'll get inquiries--not that you'll make a deal.)

This guarantee applies to individual (non-commercial) want ads. You can pick up a refund application at any of our offices. In Oxford, at 666 S. Lapeer Road. In Lake Orion, 30 N. Broadway Street. In Clarkston, 5 S.
Main Street. The refund must be applied for between 30 and 90 days of the want ad's start date.

All advertising in Sherman Publications, Inc. is subject to the conditions in the applicable rate card or advertising contract, copies of which are available from the Ad Dept.

STATE OF MICHIGAN
COUNTY OF OAKLAND
CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE
WOODHULL LAKE SUBDIVISION PAVING PROJECT
PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE
Date: October 7, 1997
Time: 7:30 p.m.
Place: 90 N. Main Street
Clarkston, Michigan
PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that, on October 7, 1997, at 7:30 p.m. in the Township Hall Annex of the Charter Township of Independence, 90 N. Main Street, Clarkston, Michigan, the Township Board shall meet for the purpose of hearing comments and objections to the Petition requesting the Woodhull Lake Subdivision Paving Project, to the project itself, and to the tentative Special Assessment District.
The proposed maintenance ("The Project") is:
The improvement and paving of all or portions of the following private roads situated within the Woodhull Lake Subdivision, Independence Township: Second; Fourth; Woodhull Drive and High Street, adjacent to the properties identified on the attachment to this Resolution.
The cost estimate for the improvement is $150,000.00.
The Project is intended to provide benefits to the properties described on the attachment to this Resolution, which together shall constitute "the District".
The Township has determined that the signatures contained in the Petitions represent the property owners owning more than 50 percent of the frontage along the roads to be improved.
Appearance and protest at the hearing is required in order to appeal the matters to be considered at the hearing to the State Tax Tribunal. An owner or party in interest, or his or her agent, may appear in person at the hearing to protest the special assessment, or shall be permitted to file his or her appearance or protest by letter and his or her personal appearance in such case shall not be required.
Joan E. McCrary, Township Clerk

TOWNSEND LAKE AREA SEWER IMPROVEMENTS
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN:
1. The Township Board of the Charter Township of Independence has tentatively declared its intention to make the following improvements in the Charter Township of Independence:
Townsend Lake Area Sewer Improvements
The improvements shall consist of the acquisition and construction of sewer improvements along Corunna and Harding Avenues in the Charter Township of Independence; and to assess the cost of such improvements to the lands which will be especially benefitted thereby. The estimated cost of the improvements, the amount to be specially assessed, the amount to be a general obligation of the Charter Township of Independence and the special assessment district are as follows:
ESTIMATED COST $292,000
AMOUNT TO BE ASSESSED AGAINST LANDS IN THE SPECIAL ASSESSMENT DISTRICT $292,000
AMOUNT TO BE A GENERAL OBLIGATION OF THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE $ 0-
DESCRIPTION OF SPECIAL ASSESSMENT DISTRICT
The Townsend Lake Area Sewer Improvements Special Assessment District shall consist of the following parcels located along Corunna and Harding Avenues in the Charter Township of Independence which have the following tax identification (sidwell) numbers:

2. Maps showing the location of the improvements and the special assessment district, plans, specifications and a cost estimate for the improvements are on file with the Township Clerk for public examination.
3. The Township Board will meet in the Township Hall Annex located at 90 North Main Street, Clarkston, Michigan, on Tuesday, the 7th day of October, 1997, at 7:30 p.m., Eastern Daylight Time, to hear and consider any objections which may be submitted by any interested person with respect to the making of the improvements and to the assessing of part of the cost thereof to the aforesaid special assessment district.
4. If the record owners of land constituting more than 20% of the total land area in the proposed special assessment district file written objections to the improvements with the Township Board at or before this hearing, then the improvements shall not be made without petition of the record owners of land constituting more than 50% of the total land area in the proposed special assessment district.
5. If the Township Board approves the making of the improvements, a special assessment may be levied against properties that benefit from the improvements. Act 186 of the Public Acts of Michigan, 1973, as amended, provides that the special assessment must be protested at the hearing held for the purpose of confirming the special assessment roll before the Michigan Tax Tribunal may acquire jurisdiction of any dispute involving the special assessment. The hearing for the purpose of confirming the special assessment roll will be held, if at all, at some time in the future pursuant to notice given as required by law. Appearance and protest at such hearing is required in order to appeal the amount of the special assessment to the Michigan Tax Tribunal. An owner of or party in interest in property to be assessed, or his or her agent, may appear in person to protest the special assessment, or may protest the special assessment by letter filed with the Township clerk at or prior to the time of the hearing, in which case appearance in person is not required.
