Dancer's will close its doors

A Clarkston business is closing shop, but this time it's not downtown.

Dancer's Inc., a Michigan retail business for 113 years, has announced it will discontinue operations. Douglas Dancer, President of Dancer's Inc., said although the decision to close was difficult, much thought was put into the decision and the company felt this was the most prudent plan of action.

Dancer's will begin a "Going Out Of Business Sale" Thursday, December 4 in all of its 27 locations. Dancer did not know how long the sale would last. The stores will remain open until everything is sold.

Headquartered in Mason, Dancer's first store was opened in 1884 in Stockbridge, Michigan, by William J. Dancer, Sr. At that time Dancer's was a general store that sold everything from eggs to clothing and even had customers barter for items.

It was in the mid-1950s that Dancer's took on a new direction and began specializing in fashion apparel for the family in neighborhood strip shopping centers.

"We would like to take this opportunity to thank our longtime customers and our wonderful staff," said Mr. Dancer. "We have had an extremely long run and they are the reasons we remained in business while many of our competitors were not able to."

"The competitive disadvantages of an independent retailer such as ourselves, coupled with the tremendous amount of stores the consumer has to choose from, has made this decision for us," said Dancer. "We do hope our customers take advantage of our biggest and last sale ever."

Traffic steers planning for M-15/I-75 area

BY EILEEN McCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

What's the biggest problem on M-15? Nearly everyone will tell you — it's traffic.

Township planner Dick Carlisle kept that in mind while designing the the M-15/I-75 Interchange Area, north of the Clarkston-Ortonville exit. The area is one of six geographical target plans outlined in Independence Township's Vision 2020 Strategic Plan, compiled from nearly two years of background studies, strategic planning, committees and workshops conducted by area officials, business people and residents.

The Sashabaw Corridor and the Pine Knob Area were profiled, respectively, in the Oct. 23, 1996 and Aug. 20, 1997 issues of The Clarkston News. Information from the Strategic Plan will be incorporated into the township's master plan, keeping planning sound as Independence moves into the 21st century.

For years there have been worries about the two-lane M-15 thoroughfare just north of I-75. Several months ago Independence Township submitted a proposal, asking that federal monies be targeted toward a three-lane widening project all the way to the Genesee County border. The township is waiting to hear if it will be one of the lucky municipalities chosen.

But with or without the widening, traffic — and traffic safety — are foremost.

"We have significant traffic problems in that portion north of I-75," Carlisle says. "We did not want to see this area developed in an intense, commercial fashion. Strip malls. All that kind of stuff. The certain types of uses permitted there have been very important."

The area is divided into two sections, east and west of M-15. Office service uses are planned for the eastern half, and on the west side Carlisle envisions research and office uses similar to those across from Pine Knob Music Theatre, where a "campus-style setting" will encourage corporate-office types.

Both are low-impact uses which should keep traffic down, as well as blend in with proposed and existing residential areas like Cranberry Woods. Some landmarks include the gas station, Prudential Building, 2 credit union and American Legion Post 63.

"The east side is pretty much existing properties with minimal depth. On the west side, we have more to work with," Carlisle says. On both it's important to have uses "that are very compatible," he adds.

Also envisioned are safety paths and a new roadway across from Amy Dr. (Amy begins east of M-15). "The safety paths will (eventually) meet those on Clarkston Rd., so that we now are getting across the expressway with the safety path system," Carlisle says, explaining the goal.

As in other areas of the township, land preservation and rural character are primary concerns, targeted by those who took part in Vision 2020 planning. Great care is being taken to preserve natural features, for example, those around Little Walters Lake.

And recently the township's Board of Trustees budgeted Community Development Block Grant funds toward a continued survey and inventory of historic structures in the area.

The News in Brief

Two new phone providers approved

Two new providers of local telephone service have been licensed to begin selling their services in the Clarkston area.

CMC Telecom, Inc. and CIMCO Communications, Inc. have been granted licenses by the Michigan Public Service Commission to provide basic phone service in much of the Detroit metro area. CMC is headquartered in Farmington Hills. CIMCO is headquartered in Oakbrook Terrace, Illinois.

The two firms join over 30 already licensed to provide local phone service in Michigan. The PSC determined that both companies possess sufficient technical, financial and managerial resources to provide the service.

Springfield hosts tree lighting

Springfield Township's 12th annual Christmas tree lighting ceremony will take place Dec. 7 at 5 p.m. at the Hart Community Center in Davisburg. Admission is free and events will include Dickens carolers, a visit from Santa, a mitten tree and refreshments. Call 634-0412 or 634-3382 for more information.

Realtors collect Toys for Tots.

Toys for Tots will be collected this year by Coldwell Banker Professionals at their office at 7151 N. Main St. The new, unwrapped toys will be collected until Dec. 19, when they will be turned over to the Marine Corps Reserve for distribution to needy children. For more information call 625-1000.

Signing Santa to spread holiday cheer

A special gift sponsored by Silent Call Communications will make it possible for hearing-impaired children to tell Santa what they want for Christmas this year.

On Sunday, Dec. 14 from 1-5 p.m. a Holiday Party, complete with a "signing" Santa Claus, storytelling and refreshments, will be held at Silent Call Corp., 2220 Scott Lake Rd., just south of Dixie Highway in Waterford. The public is invited. This special Santa will use sign language for the deaf to learn children's wish lists.

For more information, call DEAF C.A.N. at (248) 332-3323 or contact their web site at deafcan@prodigy.net. Silent Call is an organization that supplies alerting devices for both deaf and deaf/blind individuals.

City meeting cancelled

On Nov. 24 Clarkston's City Council voted unanimously to cancel the second monthly council meeting scheduled for Dec. 22. There will, however, be a regular meeting before Christmas on Dec. 8.

After the holidays, council will resume its regular meetings starting Jan. 12. City council meetings are normally held the second and fourth Mondays of every month at 7 p.m. in City Hall, 375 Depot in Clarkston.

Meadow Brook Hall brings out the good stuff

For holiday entertaining, pull out all the stops

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Four forks; three spoons; a 13-piece place setting. Chances are most Americans wouldn't know what to do with all that hardware if they sat down to dinner and found it at their place. But in the days when Matilda Dodge Wilson laid a table at Meadow Brook Hall, such elaborate settings were commonplace.

It didn't have to be a special occasion. But American families thinking about dressing up their homes for the holidays can take a lesson from Wilson. Make it festive, make it fun. And don't be afraid to pull out all the stops to make guests feel welcome.

This Christmas season, the 110-room, 88,000-square-foot Tudor Revival mansion will feature the table accessories—china, silver, glass and linens—of the Wilson family during its annual holiday walk, called "Set for the Holidays" this year. It's the second year in a row the walk has featured the home's own collection.

"We're very lucky in that we have many objects that were part of the family's possessions," said executive director Lisa Baylis Ashby, of Clarkston. Though many of the original pieces were dispersed as part of the settlement of Mrs. Wilson's estate, there's still enough left to outfit 15 rooms for the walk, including eating rooms, bed trays, bathrooms—you name it.

The pieces are not normally on view at the hall but are part of the story of who the Wilsons were and how they lived, Ashby said. The displays, along with Christmas decorations, will show what can be done with table settings to help create a festive mood throughout the house.

Last year, Ashby's first as executive director of the 1920s-era house, the holiday exhibit featured vintage fashions from the hall's closets. In previous years, area florists used to come in and decorate each room according to their own styles. The goal now, Ashby said, is to provide high quality and consistency from room to room, focusing all the while on the building and its collections.

Lisa Baylis Ashby (right) and Sally Victor, director of public relations for AirTouch Cellular, major sponsor of the Meadow Brook Hall walk, stand in the study with a sumptuously laid out table.

Margaret Valade, who along with her husband Gary chairs this year's event, said of the enormous collection, "It's easy to be overwhelmed by the sheer volume of possessions," hence the need to focus on one aspect of it at a time.

"By teaching people about what they're seeing, visitors begin to see the scope," she said. "I've known this building all my adult life but I really feel I've come to know Matilda in the last couple of years."

The displays are being "tablescaped" by Sheila Chefetz, an author, antiques expert, shop owner and self-described "nut for old houses" from Massachusetts. Chefetz fell in love with the hall when she came to Michigan to shoot photos for her upcoming book, "Modern Antiques for the Table." She is being assisted by one of Michigan's foremost interior designers, Sara Scott Cullen.

"I think we have the absolute very best in putting this show together," Ashby said.

Chefetz called Mrs. Wilson "a woman in advance of her time" and "a grand lady having a grand time with possessions lovingly collected" and said she'd like to come back next year to work on the walk again.

Chefetz said that bringing out the old stuff, the good stuff, never gets tired. "Each time you bring them out they're wonderful all over again, because you're touching the past," she said. "Depak Chopra talks about particles in the air. I don't understand a lot of what he says, but when it comes to particles in the air, I buy it."

"Set for the Holidays" runs Friday, Nov. 28-Sunday, Dec. 7. Hours are 10-5 daily, except Dec. 2-3, when the hall will be open until 9 p.m. Admission is $10 for adults, $5 children 12 and under, $5 O.U. affiliates with ID. Group rates are also available. Meadow Brook Hall is located off Adams Rd. in Rochester Hills. Call 370-3140 for more information.

Decorate your house in your own image

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

If there's one trend that's apparent in decorating for the holidays this year, it's individualism.

Gone are the days when decorations had to be red and green, poinsettias only came in red, and every wreath had a red bow and a couple of pine cones. Today's families enjoy their homes and decorate them with the things they love best.

Vicki Toski, proprietor of "There Arose Such a Clatter," a firm specializing in holiday decorating, says whether you spend a lot or a little, anyone can make their home unique at holiday time.

Toski, who was putting up her Christmas tree the day after Thanksgiving, said she starts with her own artistic talent and individuality, then goes shopping around for inspiration at local stores.

"A lot of times people have ideas of what they want," she said. "Some people just need confirmation."

As far as trends, Toski agrees that anything goes. But she's noticed something this year that seems to be big—using artificial flowers in decorating trees, wreaths and centerpieces.

"Silk flowers are the big thing this year. That's the major thing I haven't seen in a long time. And not just poinsettias; marigolds, magnolias. It depends on the colors in your house."

A walk through the Bordines Nursery Christmas display confirms what Toski said. There, many trees are decked out in large artificial stems in a wide variety of colors. Some have twigs sticking out from the branches. Each tree is remarkably different, from one done all in Disney characters, to one very Baroque-looking tree resplendent in gold and cherubs.

Another one-of-a-kind display is four tiers of evergreen wreaths, each larger than the next, hung from the ceiling like a chandelier and draped in crystal.

Crystal is another trend this year. Though the ornaments look opulent and old fashioned, Frank's Nursery says a crystal tree has a contemporary feel if the tree is limited to colors of white and silver.

Gold is another big color that has been going strong, along with other metallics, for the last several years. A tree at the recent Holiday Festival of Trees at First Congregational Church in Clarkston was decorated all in gold, with wide ribbon and ornaments, and topped with a Teddy bear dressed in a gold dress.

Toski suggests bringing in things you already own, favorite ornaments you like to see on the tree year after year or home-made crafts.

She also advocates making over old things, dressing them up so they look fresh. She does so by adding ribbon to ornaments, or removing old pine cones, etc from wreaths and starting with the bare greens.

"A lot of times you can go with a different theme on the tree by adding ribbon. You can find the ribbon on sale... So a lot of times you can just rejuvenate what you have."

Toski said her favorite store to shop for trimmings is Big Lot. "The only time I go in there is for Christmas stuff," she said. Other staples like Franks, K-Mart and Michael's frequently put ribbon on sale, allowing do-it-yourselfers to stock up at good prices.

Toski also lets her son, 9, get in on the fun. He has his own tree in his bedroom that he decorates himself. It's artificial, since he has allergies.

"Ever since he was 2 he's had his own tree in his room," Toski said. "My son has the best time. He makes things for days on end. He's got everything on there from his favorite stuffed animal. Every three days it completely changes. A lot of my friends know he has his own tree and they bring him ornaments."

Toski can be reached at 673-5091.

Davisburg nurse hopes to establish a respite center for terminally ill children

BY EILEEN McCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Barbara Lubinski first dreamed about the future after she read the published diaries of dying children.

"I was so affected. I decided if I could, I would make a difference. That's where it all started," she said.

Now a house she purchased in Springfield Township is about to become a temporary home for terminally ill children. She is currently awaiting state licensing to turn that dream into a reality.

Dubbed "Children Are Precious," the non-profit organization hopes to offer parents respite care while providing a cheerful, 24-hour-care setting for their children — surrounded by murals, stuffed animals and a whole lot of love.

Lubinski's goal is to have the establishment in place by January. She has already set up a board of directors, which includes local Realtor Louise Bizzoni of Coldwell Banker Professionals, who found the house Lubinski purchased last April. Three of the rooms have been turned into bedrooms, with two beds in each, in order to accommodate six children at a time.

As soon as she acquires the licensing, she will open, starting with evenings and weekends until she can afford to expand the hours.

A mild-mannered woman who looks like your favorite grandmother, Lubinski served with Little Sisters of the Poor, as both a nun and a missionary. She left the order after 25 years to pursue a nursing degree, earning a bachelor's at Madonna College, then a master's at Wayne State University, so she could fulfill her dream of doing something for terminally ill children. Presently she holds a full-time job with Visiting Nurses

Food Town honored by Lighthouse for good works

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Lighthouse of Oakland County recently honored those who help it with its charitable work, and a Clarkston company was among the winners.

On Nov. 18 at its annual meeting, Lighthouse handed its Beacon Award to two organizations, Food Town Super Markets and St. Joseph Mercy-Oakland. Awards were also handed out to nine individuals.

The award was created to recognize people, corporations, service organizations and churches which provide talent, time and treasure to aid Lighthouse in its mission. Lighthouse is a 25-year-old non-profit human services agency which offers services to low income residents of Oakland County. It has a branch in Clarkston on Maybee Rd.

Food Town's relationship with Lighthouse goes back a long way, according to company vice president Bob Roth. He said his family's first store was in Pontiac, where Lighthouse also started.

"Being located close to them the relationship just started," he said. "Over the years we've built up a relationship to try to help them. It's a good cause, a good charity and it's local."

According to Lighthouse spokesperson Joyce Russell, each of the four subsidiaries of Lighthouse make nominations for the Beacon Awards throughout the year. Winners are announced at the annual meeting. The Clarkston branch nominated Food Town.

Food Town accepts returnable bottles Lighthouse volunteers collect from Mesquite Creek Restaurant. The company also receives a list once a month of personal care items needed by Lighthouse, searches for the best prices, and orders them. Help during the holidays includes meat storage, and the meat department has also helped repackage ground beef into usable amounts to distribute to families.

"For their willingness to help whenever called upon" Food Town was awarded the Beacon Award, Russell said. The award is a reproduction of an actual American lighthouse, the organization's symbol.

"We want to show our appreciation for outstanding contributions which make Lighthouse of Oakland County a beacon of hope to those in need," said Noreen Keating, Chief Executive Officer of Lighthouse.

Lighthouse's subsidiaries include Emergency Service Centers in Clarkston and Pontiac, where low-income families and seniors can go for immediate help with food, medicine, transportation, utilities and shelter. Other subsidiaries are Pontiac Area Transitional Housing (PATH), which provides a stable living environment for homeless women and their children, and Unity Park, a neighborhood revitalization and home ownership program for first-time, low-income home buyers.

"We are volunteer driven," said Russell. "We survive because we have an incredible volunteer team. So it's very hard to select a Beacon Award winner, because they are all beacons."

The nine individuals who also received Beacon Awards are Kevin and Jackie Downey of Fox and Hounds Restaurant, Jane Forbes of Dykema Gossett, Charlotte Jones, Terrence E. Keating, Jerome Meyer, Marie Osborne of WJR Radio, Robert Rasmussen and Matthew Schwanitz.

Respite care for kids

the homes. That just having a nurse in the home wasn't enough for the families," she said. She toyed with the idea of a pediatric hospice program, but was told it wouldn't work because "parents would not want to give up their children."

Under a traditional hospice-care program, care-givers, including medical professionals and volunteers, take over much of the care of terminally ill patients.

Respite care, she determined, was more "non-threatening" because parents would be relieved for only a short time, and their children would be returned after only a few days. The purpose is to "relieve parents who are often giving 24-hour care around the clock," Lubinski said.

At "Children Are Precious" Lubinski said children will probably stay anywhere from 24 hours to a week at the house, where she also lives. She already has a committed staff of 30, including health-care professionals and volunteers, who will rotate shifts. A ratio of one staff member to every three children has been established, although some will need more intensive care, she said.

There is already a waiting list. Children will range from infant to 16 years, although there is a 20-year-old man waiting for care, she said.

Part of her mission is to respond to and counsel parents, but mostly as a good listener. She has already visited with some of those families who plan to use her service. Last summer she held a picnic for parents and both sick and healthy children, and she plans a party before Christmas.

Lubinski says the parents are remarkable. "There's no facade." When you have a terminally ill child, "You lose all sophistication, all artificiality."

EI-LINERS

by Eileen McCarville

I like to watch

I don't consider myself a sports nut, not by a long shot. But I do enjoy watching Detroit Pistons basketball, a love born out of my working at the Palace for nine years, during which I witnessed two world championships.

Imagine my delight when my supervisor handed me a pair of tickets to Sunday night's game against the Grizzlies. My husband Dan (the real sports nut in the family) and I were elated.

We arrived early and blew a few bucks on some nachos and pop before we dashed to our seats, where we comfortably settled into anticipation.

That brings me to my premise. Whatever happened to the game? Almost immediately, some guys sitting in back of us began reminiscing (loudly) about their college freshman days. I thought, they'll shut up for sure when the game starts.

Not! The alumni from Delta Sigma Obnoxious continued throughout the whole first quarter. Even though I looked subtly to my side and scowled a few times.

Dan has also complained for years that sports is getting far too commercial. He doesn't go for the circus-like atmosphere of ball-racing, hamburger hunts and giant shopping cart races. And, he says, how many choruses of "Shout!" and "Rock 'n' Roll Part 2" ("Duh, duh-duh-duh — Hey!") can you endure?

The irritation continued Sunday with some rap music that was especially loud because of where we were sitting. That and nearly a half-hour of let-me-top-your-bad-boy-college-experience were the deciding factors in moving.

We wound up with great seats further down, where we could watch Grant and Co. dunk and dribble to our heart's content.

But leave it to a guy sitting next to us with a cellular phone to muck things up again. This young man must have called everyone in Oakland County to let them know he was at a Pistons game.

Excuse me, but I don't need to be sitting next to a person who loudly informs everyone within earshot that he hasn't changed his oil for six months.

It also bothered me that Mr. Annoying's entourage, which included some young nephews, impeded my binocular vision throughout the evening as they went back and forth, back and forth for dogs and suds, potty breaks and more pop. I missed some important plays:

"Grant going down the court ... he passes to Joe ... Dumars shoots ... (butt shot)."

Finally Mr. Annoying must have run out of friends to call because he began yelling at the ref — a sure sign you are paying attention to the game.

Love means never having to say you're thinking the same thing. My husband and I exchanged relieved glances.

But just when you think everything's right with the world, when your brain cells have unified in concentration, when you're finally focused ... the speakers burst forth with the rousing strains of "Y.M.C.A."

And, before you know it, I have jumped to my feet and involved myself in that strange, compulsive ritual where I twist and misshape my body into various letters — like everybody else.

Is just any lot buildable?

During the month of November I received a letter from Independence Township for a request of a 44-foot variance in order to build a new home off of Eston Road. In order to build on this lot you would need a 44-foot variance. This would then bring the back of the home 15 feet from the neighbor's back door.

My home sits on the corner lot, Eston and Rose-dale. Recently a new home has been built to the right of me. Their septic field is on the right side of me, the lot requesting the large variance would be right behind me, my well is in the back of my house. I am surrounded by septic fields. (This was my concern.)

November 18, 1997 me and two of my neighbors went to the board meeting; to much avail we didn't win. Jeffrey McGee, treasurer, who is on the board, is the individual who is buying the property and requesting the variance. We stated our concerns to the board. They had every excuse in order to build this home. (They fussed more over a 5-foot variance for a porch in a case early that evening.) My understanding of a variance is if there is a hardship; there is no hardship.

As of last summer we were told by the township that the lot was not buildable. If the lot was buildable me and other neighbors were interested in buying the lot so there wouldn't be a house there. Mr. McGee is building this home on this tiny lot to make an investment. I have no problem with anyone making money, but don't squeeze, and I mean literally squeeze a home into a neighborhood just to make some quick cash. Mr. McGee has no intentions of living there. I have also understood that Mr. McGee has already had the lot perked. I can't believe he would pay for a perk before going before the board.

I feel the board ignored all concerns regarding this variance. I have never heard of such a large variance in order to build on such a small lot. I guess if you sit on the board you can pretty much do what you like.

My final note on this matter is that any lot in Clarkston is buildable, no matter of the size.

Lift up your eyes, you dummy!

I interviewed a woman recently who had breast implants.

That was not the intent of our conversation. It wouldn't have even been called an 'interview' if she'd just said, "Yes, my husband's here. I'll get him." That's who I really wanted to talk to.

But no, this woman (and since interviewees should have a name, I'll call her Dottie) brought up the subject of health, then surgery, then where ... I started interviewing.

"Why?" I asked.

Before I give you her answer you should know Dottie has a daughter 27 so she's no spring chicken, though this column may ruffle her feathers.

"Well, it's hard to find a dress that fits like I think it should, and the bras I suppose I could wear don't feel right. You haven't seen me ('em?) but if I didn't tell you I had the implants you'd never know," she said, rapidly.

"What did they (it?) cost?"

"$3,950. We had $2,000 in the bank so I drew it out as a down payment."

"Does your husband know?"

"Yes, but he hasn't spoken to me in three weeks."

"Has he seen them?"

"No!"

"Has he felt them?"

"Yes."

The interviewer felt he was getting out of line, and he changed questioning. "Does it hurt?"

"It does at first. You have to sleep sitting up a few nights, and you always have your arms folded in front of you, thinking they might fall," she said.

"But," she continued, again rapidly, "they're like buying tires. They're guaranteed! If one goes flat you get another one free. And if both go flat you get the job done over at no cost. And, they're saline, not silicone so that danger isn't there."

Besides the 27-year-old daughter, they have a 23-year-old girl. I gather these two not only approved of their mother's decision, but encouraged it, because as soon as they could, they went to mother's side (front?) and questioned, gazed, touched and admired.

Then they made appointments with the same surgeon and had themselves improved (Lifted? Filled out? Filled up?)

Then the trouble for Dad really started. He was just as negative about his daughters as he was about his wife. He wouldn't look or comment. The newspaper became his wall.

The daughters went to the department store and took home several swimsuits to try on. With each change they walked past Daddy and asked, "How do I look in this one?"

Dad would ask, "Did you read the Lockhorns today?"

It has now been months since the interview ... months to give my readers more time to mature and be more understanding. I want this to continue being a family-oriented newspaper.

I have since seen Dottie. She's right. If she hadn't told me, I wouldn't know.

Now I wish she'd have her eyes done, so I'd have something else to write about. (Look at?)

What's the toy every child wants this Christmas?

JEFFREY TURNER, KINDERGARTEN: Everybody that I know, every little girl and boy ... I haven't asked them. But, for me, a new book that I can read.

STEVE HERMES, FIRST GRADE: A Lost World guy. He has a dinosaur and shoots missiles.

SAMANTHA ROGERS, FIRST GRADE: I think Beanie Babies. 'Cause I like them.

AMY ARPKE, SECOND GRADE: Beanie Babies. They've got beans in them.

ALEX ROSA, THIRD GRADE: Beanie Babies. When it's closer to Christmas they get really popular. Sometimes at night I pretend they're real and I read them stories.

All are from Pine Knob Elementary.

15 YEARS AGO (1982)

Children in Rosemary Lewis' first-grade class at Clarkston Elementary have spent the past month studying the topic of friendship and have put together a large felt poster that shows Europe joined to North America. They are also taped signing "I'd Like to Teach the World to Sing." Those two items as well as a large yellow poster with personally penned messages are on their way to President Ronald Reagan at the White House. The project is designed to keep Washington aware of "peace on earth, good will to men" this Christmas season.

When Clarkston Village Councilperson Carol Eberhardt casts the deciding vote to repeal the historic district ordinance, gasps reverberate through the council meeting. "I think it was the hardest thing I've ever had to do, and believe me, I didn't sleep well last night," says Eberhardt a day after the meeting.

Santa Claus rides again Dec. 5 as he appears atop an antique fire truck to greet all the good little girls and boys of Independence Township. The place is Winship's photography studio where fire chief Frank Ronk will present Santa with a key to the hearts of children in the township. There'll be holiday music, thanks to the Clarkston High School Jazz Band.

25 YEARS AGO (1972)

At the first meeting since the Nov. 7 election, the new Independence Township board finds itself operating in the red. "We're going to do some pencil sharpening for the next budget," says supervisor Robert Vandermark, who adds this has never happened before. Though funds will be coming in December, Vandermark says the township doesn't have the money to pay its bills now.

Two of the members of Boy Scout Troop 126 receive their Eagle Scout honors at Clarkston United Methodist Church. They are Michael Fahmer, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fahmer, and Rick Gunter, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Gunter. Both boys attend Clarkston High School.

The Clarkston Conservatory of Music will present a Detroit area premiere performance of Barab's "Little Red Riding Hood," a comic chamber opera, during Pontiac Creative Arts Center's Christmas craft show.

50 YEARS AGO (1947)

Christmas is approaching in the usual manner, and by that we mean it is so near that we all wonder how we can do all that we have to do to be prepared for the most joyous day of the year. Christmas is that one day when we think of others besides ourselves. Christmas is a glad day for the children. What better way can most of our community be benefited, especially the children, than by the sale of Goodfellow papers sponsored by the Clarkston Rotary Club. You will hear more about this and more details will be given next week in the News, but plan now your contribution to this worthy cause and plan now to get your paper ... For the benefit of those who called the News about a fire on Wednesday, we understand the Clarkston Fire Department was not summoned on that day.

Playing at the Holly Theatre are Joan Crawford, Van Heflin and Raymond Massey in "Possessed" and Rita Hayworth and Larry Parks in "Down to Earth." Featured at the Drayton Theatre are Gene Kelly and Marie McDonald in "Living in a Big Way" and Douglas Fairbanks Jr. and Maureen O'Hara in "Sinbad the Sailor."

Specials at Terry's Market include smoked picnics, lean and meaty, 49 cents a pound; California oranges, size 126 navels, 55 cents a dozen; Maxwell House Coffee, 49 cents a pound; and wax paper, two rolls for 39 cents.

60 YEARS AGO (1937)

The last Clarkston PTA dance for this year has come and gone and all have had a very lovely time. The spirit of Christmas is awakened by the little lighted trees, the red candles, poinsettias and evergreens that are used for decorations.

Presented at the Holly Theatre are Richard Dix in "It Happened in Hollywood," Smith Ballew in Harold Bell Wright's "Western Gold," Sylvia Sidney, Joel McCrea and Humphrey Bogart in "Dead End" and Pat O'Brien and Joan Blondell in "Back in Circulation."

Specials at Rudy's include Spry shortening, a one-pound can for 19 cents; Bull Dog Sardines, four cans for 19 cents; Oriental sprouts, four cans for a quarter, oleomargarine, two pounds for a quarter; and butter, 37 cents a pound.

DON'T RUSH ME / by Don Rush

Diggin' deep into the mailbag

Can't help but feel good when readers actually take the time to write me a letter — be it good stuff or not so good. It makes writing a column about a million times easier.

This week is a good letter week (whew — it's tough when it ain't). A while back I ran an editorial cartoon from the Jan. 20, 1939 Oxford Leader. On the front page, the cartoon depicted the soldier of democratic ideals, bowing his head, with a parchment of human rights and individual freedom. It's a dark picture with the sword of totalitarianism, pointed squarely at the soldier's spine.

I asked what that picture says today.

Wrote Betty Corneail of Oxford:

Dear Mr. Rush (call me Don),

I saw an eye watching us and our individual Freedoms and Rights being slowly taken away and all of us being stabbed in the back, also Communism.

From Ortonville, Michael Carson wrote:

Dear Don,

I arrived home late one evening and this first thing my wife said was, "You've got to see this!" She brought me the paper folded open to your column and asked what I thought of it.

I stared at the picture trying to see the intended meaning. It is now the following day and I have brought it to work, studied it through lunch, and decided what it means to me in a modern context.

As I see it, the sword of oppressive government has condemned the smallest minority, the individual, and his outdated ideals of liberty and justice to the dark past. There is no place for these radicals in our enlightened age. "Human rights" must be subject to society's needs, and "individual freedom" must be sacrificed in the name of security for all.

If I could draw the next frame, our hero would pull the "gun of sovereignty" from his belt, and totalitarianism would run away screaming, "I didn't mean it!"

On another topic, Barbara Roberts of Oakland Township sent a column of mine to Martha Stewart as the TV personality was mentioned by yours truly. Barb received a letter back from Martha's "correspondence manager." "Thank you for your thoughtful note to Martha, and for sharing the article from The Lake Orion Review ... Martha was delighted to hear from you ..."

Back to Betty ... she wants to know, "Did anyone in Oxford or surrounding areas ever get a color picture of Saturn when the planet came closest to the moon. I think this happened in the late 1950s or 60s. If so, would you put it in the paper?"

Did anybody? Let me know, PO Box 108, Oxford, MI 48371.

And, thanks for reading and writing!

Dr. Allison M.B. Schulte, Family Eye Care

1.) Describe your specialty (family practice, internal medicine, etc.) and your practice (i.e. hospital owned, private practice, group practice, emergency walk-in facility, etc.).

Dr. Allison M.B. Schulte, Family Eye Care is a private optometric practice which plans to open in the new Mid Oakland Medical Center this winter. The practice will provide both diagnostic and therapeutic optometric services and retail of vision devices (such as spectacles, sports goggles, binoculars and contact lenses) to the entire family. This includes those with special needs.

2.) Give personal background: years in medicine, where attended medical school, MD or DO, etc.

Allison M.B. Schulte, O.D. grew up in Clarkston. She received her bachelor of science degree from Michigan State University. In 1992 she graduated with honors from the Illinois College of Optometry in Chicago.

Dr. Schulte has been practicing optometry as an independent contractor for the past five years. She is a member of the Michigan Chapter of the American Optometric Association, a charter member of G.R.O.W.W. Business Professional Women's Group and a member of the National Association of Women Business Owners. She is also a certified American Red Cross CPR and first aid instructor.

3.) What is the most pressing issue in your field today? Put another way, what do you feel is of greatest interest to the public regarding your specialty? Or the biggest demand you get for service?

An integral part of Dr. Schulte's state-of-the-art quality patient care is patient education. Since we live in the age of information, who better to learn about your eyes from than your primary-care eye doctor?

Patients not only seek quality care but desire quality product. Dr. Schulte plans to fill her frame gallery with a collection ranging from the conservative to the unique. They want to know specifically about their health and treatment options. And of course people want to look and feel good.

4.) How does your field differ today from 10 years ago? How have you adapted to this change?

The scope of optometry today as compared to 10 and 20 years ago has expanded significantly. Today's optometrists are more educated specifically in the area of ocular disease. Today's optometrists are primary eye-care doctors. The days when optometrists just do refractions and sell eyeglasses are over.

Optometrists of today use drops to dilate the eyes routinely as a preventive measure to check for disease. Effects from diseases such as diabetes, multiple sclerosis, hypertension in addition to common ocular conditions like cataracts and glaucoma can all be seen in the eye. Co-management of these diseases with specialists such as internists, ophthalmologists and neurologists is common with Dr. Schulte.

Currently there are no optometrists in the area addressing the needs of special populations such as the handicapped or pediatric patient. Young children (specifically from birth to school age) will encounter fun in the special children's exam room complete with colorful decor and pediatric exam procedures.

Dr. Schulte has been trained not only in the area of ocular disease and refractive errors but is well versed in visual developmental disorders. Many learning disabilities stem from ocular problems. With the popularity of visual display terminals comes computer eye strain. State of the art optometrists like Dr. Schulte address these issues as well.

Dr. Schulte has been certified by the Michigan State Board of Examiners in Optometry to utilize therapeutic pharmaceutical agents in the practice of optometry. This certification follows a 1995 enactment of legislation to allow Michigan optometrists who meet specified educational and professional standards to use treatment drugs in their practices. This allows Dr. Schulte to remove foreign bodies from the eyes, treat red eyes, painful eyes and such.

5.) Are there any new developments on the horizon in your field that will significantly enhance the way patients are treated in the next few years?

One is refractive surgeries and the other is managed care. Patients continue to inquire about R.K., Laser, L.A.S.I.K. and the like. Dr. Schulte feels that it is her job to inform and explain the various treatment options for each patient. Today there are many choices: spectacles, contact lenses, and refractive surgery. Just as contact lenses are not for everyone, neither is refractive surgery.

With the trend of health care shifting toward managed care, the continued quality of patient care is of utmost concern to Dr. Schulte. When those who have not taken the Hippocratic Oath are making the decisions for the health care of our families and future generations, chaos is inevitable.

6.) Taking a preventive medicine approach, what should people do as far as screenings or self-help relative to your specialty?

Many ocular conditions have no symptoms. Thus, often times patients are unaware that a problem exists. Early diagnosis and treatment are imperative for maintaining good health, acute vision and, when possible, preventing permanent vision loss.

Allison M.B. Schulte, O.D.

There are many concerns that would indicate "at risk" patients. If one is "at risk" they should be examined annually or as recommended. Infants "at risk" are those born prematurely, with low birth weights, or whose mother had rubella, venereal disease, AIDS-related infection or a history of substance abuse or other medical problems during pregnancy, high refractive error, family history of eye disease, crossed eyes or congenital eye disorders. School-aged children "at risk" are those failing to progress educationally or exhibiting reading and/or learning disabilities. Adults at risk are those diagnosed with diabetes or hypertension, or have a family history of glaucoma or cataracts, those who work in highly visually demanding or eye-hazardous occupations, those taking certain systemic medications with ocular side effects or those with other health concerns or conditions. Contact lens wearers should also be examined at least every year.

7.) List any other information needed to complete story, such as street address, phone, hours, if there's been a change in location, etc.

Dr. Schulte is more than anxious to open the doors of her new practice. As a native of Clarkston she is very proud of her roots. This new medical complex is a wonderful addition not only to health care but to Clarkston. The mission and promise of Dr. Schulte is to always be a leader in the optometric profession for those who choose personal quality eye care while securing long-term relationships with patients by providing the best individualized eye health care, vision care and eye wear. Dr. Schulte is committed to exceed the patients' expectations in every aspect of optometric care.

Old Fashioned Attention - Modern Medical Care...

1.) Describe your specialty (family practice, internal medicine, etc.) and your practice (i.e. hospital owned, private practice, group practice, emergency walk-in facility, etc.).

Family practice/sports medicine, private practice, onsite testing, X-ray, EKG, pulmonary function, lab, physical therapy, casting, lacerations, complete physicals, employment physicals, annual physicals, cancer screening. Appointments appreciated, walk-ins welcome. Urgent care.

2.) Give personal background: years in medicine, where attended medical school, MD or DO, etc.

Dr. Theodore G. Engelmann, D.O. attended Chicago College of Osteopathic Medicine and has been in family practice since 1978 in the Clarkston/Waterford area.

Michael H. Therriault, AT-C attended Indiana State. He has been an athletic trainer since 1976 and has been in the Clarkston/Waterford area since 1983. He specializes in Sports Medicine.

3.) What is the most pressing issue in your field today? Put another way, what do you feel is of greatest interest to the public regarding your specialty? Or the biggest demand you get for service?

Old-fashioned attention; modern medical care. Complete family health care including sports medicine and emergency care.

4.) How does your field differ today from 10 years ago? How have you adapted to this change?

Manage care now plays a very large roll in personal health care. This has placed more emphasis on the patient care physicians to be involved in complete patient care. The other change in the past 10 years is with patients. They are much more involved in their care and treatment now, more than ever, and we welcome that change.

5.) Are there any new developments on the horizon in your field that will significantly enhance the way patients are treated in the next few years?

We are working very hard to develop a comprehensive office here in Waterford, and we have currently expanded our facility establishing a complete in-house diagnostic testing center.

6.) Taking a preventive medicine approach, what should people do as far as screenings or self-help relative to your specialty?

We are very involved in patient education and preventive medicine. We encourage diagnostic screening - please ask your doctor about specific testing.

7.) List any other information needed to complete story, such as street address, phone, hours, if there's been a change in location, etc.

The traditions of gracious living

As you stand beneath the giant banyon tree, you are transported back to the 1800's - back to the ManaVista Resort, which is now The Courtyard Retirement Residence. Men in top hats and jackets and women carrying frilly parasols return to the stately European-style resort after a stroll along the river. They sip mint juleps on the expansive verandah while the sweet strains of a string quartet fill the air.

Times have changed in Bradenton, and the ManaVista Resort was long ago transformed into the historic Cabana Hotel, which has now evolved into the Courtyard Retirement Residence. However, the traditions of a serene and relaxing atmosphere still exist today.

"There is a lot of history to this property," relates Donna Conner, Marketing Director for The Courtyard. "The beauty shop in the center of our courtyard was where the pub was located back in the heyday of the Cabana Hotel. The dining room has remained in the same location but has since been renovated."

As you tour the facility, you can see hints of the past in the architecture, such as the outside corridors where every studio apartment has a screen door which allows a fresh evening breeze.

Aging gracefully

Are you tired of preparing three meals a day, cleaning your house and doing the laundry? Mowing the lawn? Waiting for the repair man to show up to fix a leak in your roof? If a Yes! keeps popping up in your mind, then you may be ready to consider a change.

"So many people have misconceptions about what a retirement residence offers," states Ms. Conner. "We take away the worries of day-to-day life while still encouraging our residents to remain as independent as possible. We take care of all meals, housekeeping, and transportation to and from physician appointments. But we also provide a wide variety of activities for the residents to participate."

The Courtyard is steeped in history and retains to this day a serene and relaxing atmosphere.

If an independent resident eventually needs assistance with bathing, dressing or medication, he or she does not have to worry about a move to another facility. Help with activities of daily living is readily available with The Courtyard's assisted living program.

"Our residents enjoy their lives here," continues Donna "Whether you are an independent or an assisted living resident, you can come and go as you please. If and when our residents need us, we are happy to provide any type of assistance."

The staff knows every resident by name and meets regularly as a team to discuss care plans and concerns. Family members love the attention to detail.

Happy residents

Medical circumstances forced Charlie Kropf into early retirement. At 54, Charlie is one of the youngest residents at The Courtyard. "After brain surgery, I developed epilepsy and it became increasingly hard for me to take care of myself," remembers Charlie. "About two years ago, I got so fed up that I stopped taking my pills. It wasn't a smart decision because I ended up in the hospital."

After his discharge from the hospital, Charlie moved into The Courtyard on the recommendation of his physician. "I only need assistance with my medications. Everything else, like bathing and dressing, I can do on my own."

Charlie notes that some of his best friends are in their 90s. "You would think that my friends would treat me like a son, but they don't. It seems as though there are no age boundaries."

From the time he wakes until well past the dinner hour, Charlie is on the go. "I spend all day out. I love walking along the water, admiring the sailboats. If I had to describe my life here at The Courtyard I would say I am a happy camper - that says it all."

Norine Schaefer and her sister, Marie, they decided to take a tour around Bradenton visiting the various independent and assisted living facilities.

"We just wanted to see what they were like," relates 84-year-old Norine. "Soon after, I ended up in Manatee Hospital with pneumonia, and the day before I was admitted, my sister, Marie, had to go to Blake Hospital because of complications from her Parkinson's Disease."

Norine had fallen in love with The Courtyard so she knew where she wanted to go to recover. "Originally, I was only supposed to stay here for respite care for a three months. However, after a short time I realized that I wanted to live here permanently."

During the previous five years, while living in her Palmetto mobile home, Norine became a recluse. She stopped going to social functions and her nutrition was poor. "I got lazy and started to eat a bowl of cereal for every meal." Since coming to The Courtyard, I have undergone a metamorphosis. I start out my day sunbathing on the deck on the 4th floor, and then I get together with my friends to walk, go shopping - whatever is on the agenda. And I also eat three well-balanced meals a day. I am an independent resident while my sister, Marie, needs assistance due to her Parkinson's. I think that it's great that we can both have our needs met at the same place."

Full service Pharmacy located in Clarkston Medical Clinic/Clarkston Ambulatory Clinic and also in Clarkston Clinic accepting most insurances. Will be located in Mid Oakland Medical Center when it opens.

2.) Give personal background: years in practice, where attended medical school, MD or DO, etc.

Ray Ballard R.Ph - Ferris State; Jerry Keener R.Ph - Ferris State; Jeff Cottrell R.Ph - Wayne State; Dan McCoskey R.Ph - Wayne State. Combined, over 75 years of pharmacy experience.

3.) What is the most pressing issue in your field today? Put another way, what do you feel is of greatest interest to the public regarding your specialty? Or the biggest demand you get for service?

Consulting patients on their medication and possible drug interactions.

4.) How does your field differ today from 10 years ago? How have you adapted to this change?

The computer industry has allowed us to become more efficient at tracking drug interactions and consulting patients.

5.) Are there any new developments on the horizon in your field that will significantly enhance the way patients are treated in the next few years?

Many new home self help devices are becoming more affordable and available to many more who need them. (I.E. blood glucose and monitoring devices). We not only sell them but instruct patients on their usage.

6.) Taking a preventive medicine approach, what should people do as far as regular screening or self-help relative to your specialty?

The pharmacist is being used more for informational purposes to explain how a particular medication is going to help with a particular diagnosis. It can be as simple as explaining when to use pain medication for a root canal or as complicated as explaining the effects from a cancer medication.

Collecting a piece of Clarkston history

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Clarkston News Editor

Looking for a Christmas gift that says "Clarkston?" Look no further than the Clarkston High School PTSA.

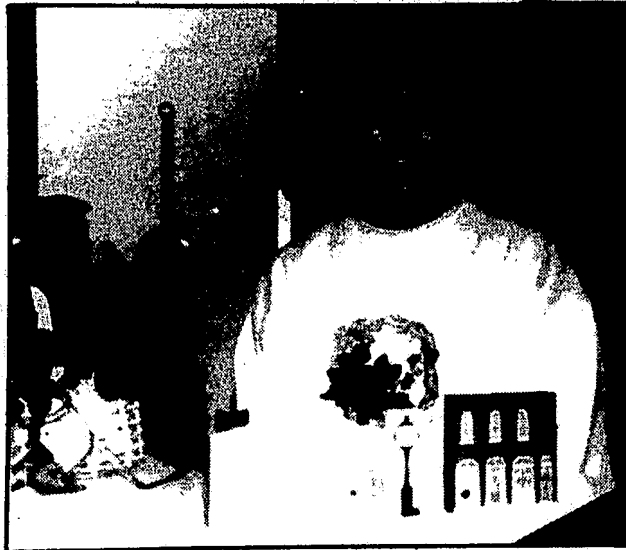

The organization is in the midst of a successful fund-raiser that will remind Clarkstonites near and far of their home town. For $7.50 or $15, buyers can purchase wooden replicas of three Clarkston landmarks, and more are on the way.

Those currently available are the Main St. clock ($7.50), the Clarkston News building ($15) and the Independence Township Hall ($15). They are made by a company called Cat's Meow in Ohio.

Lynne Barth, a member of the PTSA, moved to the area from Ohio, where she had begun to collect Cat's Meow pieces. Her PTA Council in Ohio used the miniature buildings as a fund-raiser some years ago, and Barth thought it could work here.

"Our high-school PTA was starting to find a fund-raiser that wouldn't step on anybody's toes," she said. "It's started to take off." The initial offering is selling well, and a second series, including the Rudy's building and the current high school, will be available soon.

The miniatures were created by Faline Fry Jones, who started with the "Cat's Meow Village" in 1982 and went on to create reproductions of specific buildings.

Lynne Barth displays the three pieces depicting Clarkston architecture currently available—from left, the township hall, the clock and the Clarkston News building.

Starting alone in her basement, she now has over 100 employees producing hand-crafted, sanded wood products. After background colors are sprayed on, details are added by screen-printing and stenciling. The roof is either hand brushed or hand dipped.

Barth hopes the Christmas season will sell out the first edition of Clarkston piece. To order, call her at 625-0771 or Pat Weber at 625-7206.

All hail wassail!

A Wassail Feast complete with food, Renaissance costumes and music will be held at Clarkston United Methodist Church Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 13-14 at 7 p.m.

Entertainment will be by the church's chancel choir, Jubilate Bells and various instrumentalists, who will be dressed in Renaissance costumes. The program will include sing-along caroling accompanied by the bell choir. The menu will feature a pork or chicken entree and various other foods popular in Renaissance times.

Tickets are $12 for adults, $8 for children 12 and under and may be purchased at the church office. Call 625-1611 for more information.

Traffic

It's challenging to both preserve the character and create efficient traffic circulation, Carlisle admits.

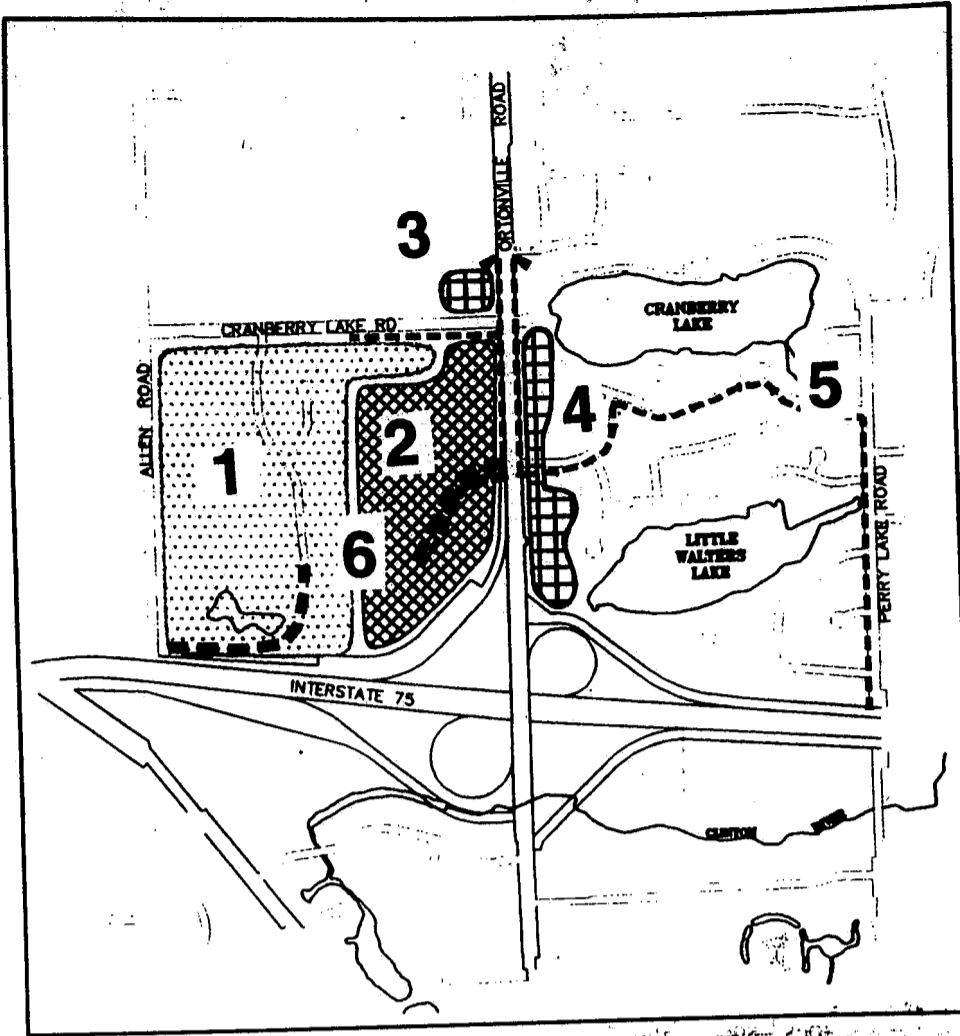

"Our concept is not to see M-15, north of Cranberry Lake Rd., become a three-lane roadway. We think more of a parkway, a boulevard concept would be much more in keeping with our (overall) concept," he adds. According to Vision 2020's Strategic Plan, a landscaped boulevard would help maintain M-15's "tree-lined and rural residential corridor."

It would be similar to the limited boulevard concept planned for bustling, commercial Sashabaw, but down M-15 it would be "even a little more expansive, simply because of the pastoral nature of that area," Carlisle says.

Furthermore, the M-15/I-75 Interchange Area is important because it signals arrival.

"It's a gateway into Clarkston and a gateway into the northwest part of Independence Township," Carlisle says. "M-15 carries a substantial amount of traffic ... The manner in which this area develops and its visual appeal will be a huge reflection on people's impression of this community."

Third in a series. Next: the White Lake Rd. corridor.

Respite care

They are the simplest, most true-blue people you could meet."

Many community members have helped, including some youngsters from Camp Oakland and, more recently, a third-grade class from Andersonville Elementary in Clarkston. Teacher Rosemary Lewis had her students design a quilt, which was presented to Lipinski at a recent assembly.

Children drew their own impressions of what they thought kids like best, like suns, flowers and cars. Originally intended to be a crib quilt, it became much larger. "I kept sewing, and sewing and sewing," laughed Lewis.

In speaking to the youngsters, Lubinski thanked them for the beautiful quilt and described some of the children who "are not as fortunate to be born healthy like you. But they're just as wonderful as you."

She then described the purpose of "Children Are Precious." With sick children, "sometimes Mommy and Daddy get real tired. In order to give Mommy and Daddy a little break, I take them for three or four days. They get a little sleep. They feel better ... Then they come back and pick up their child."

Lewis said her students also decided to forego their traditional gift-giving for teacher and classmates this year. They will, instead, give that money to the respite care center or buy some needed items like diapers, sheets and toilet articles.

Cody Noel, one of Lewis' third-graders, tried to imagine what it would be like if his parents had to care for him 24 hours a day. Lewis reminded him — gently — of how healthy children sometimes take things for granted.

"What would your mother do?" she asked. "You can go have a snack by yourself or go play with your friends after school." It would be different if he were sick, she said.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 24, a Rochester man was delivering a load of gravel on Hilltop Estates when the load shifted and the truck overturned. He received injuries but did not take a trip to the hospital.

A 1997 Camaro was stolen on N. Marshbank after the owner started it and then went back into his apartment. He said he tried to stop the young woman who drove away, jumping a curb as she fled, but to no avail. The car was found in Detroit Nov. 29, as was a 15-year-old runaway who lived on N. Marshbank.

A garage side door was kicked on Williams and a home entered. Gang writing and signs were found on the walls, and two smoke detectors had been stolen.

A Clarkston man brought a purse he found on Dixie Highway into the substation. It contained a check book, credit cards and a Social Security card. Deputies were able to trace it through phone numbers found inside to a woman from Wixom who said it was taken at a bar.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 25, two 14-year-old girls walking on Mary Sue said an unknown white male driving a white Pontiac exposed himself to them around 6 p.m. One of the victim's fathers saw a car which matched the description on the street as well.

A cell phone and speaker were taken from a 1997 Ford van sometime in the last few days. The owner found the door ajar.

A Flint man who tried to get a prescription for pain medication refilled in Grand Blanc was told it had already been refilled—in Clarkston.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 26, a 26-year-old Warren man driving too fast on a wet M-15 drove off the road and hit a tree when he tried to avoid a collision with the car in front of him, which had stopped for a bus.

Three guns, a camera, binoculars, stereo equipment and a video camera were stolen during a break in on Clement.

A boy threatened another boy at Sashabaw Middle School.

A 15-year-old Clarkston girl was bitten on the leg by a dog as she walked on Summerhill. She was rescued by a nearby resident, who let her into the house to escape the dog. The owner, who lives on Riverview, agreed to cooperate with authorities, and Oakland County Animal Control was notified.

A handgun was taken from a bedroom on M-15, but it's unknown how.

Larceny of a purse from a Dixie Highway bar. The owner left the purse on her chair while she went to the ladies room. The bartender said he saw another woman leave with it. She was traced to a nearby motel, but the purse was not found.

Larceny of scaffolding from behind a garage on Pine Knob Lane.

Three light casings and poles were stolen from a construction site on Dixie. The contractor said it would have taken a large trailer to haul the stuff away.

A Mann Rd. man was being sought after he allegedly assaulted his wife and her 8-year-old son. He fled when police were called.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 27, a Clintonville Rd. resident said his black Labrador appears to have been stolen. The dog is missing but its collar was found in the road.

Failure to pay for $10 in gas on M-15. Two men paid for food purchases but not the gas.

Breaking and entering on Whipple Lake Rd. A VCR and camcorder were stolen.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 28, a wheel flew off a

1985 Chevy on southbound I-75, crossed the median, and hit a northbound car. It then travelled back across the median and hit another car southbound. No injuries.

A window was broken on a 1991 Chevy Blazer parked on Thendara.

A window was broken on a house on N. Eston. License plates were stolen from cars parked on Parview and in the M-15 Park and Ride lot.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 29, a lawn was driven over on Park Trail for the fifth time.

A 35-year-old Mann Rd. woman was arrested after allegedly slapping her boyfriend in the face three times.

Failure to pay for $10.88 in gas on Sashabaw. A Clarkston woman ran a red light in front of a deputy. When he pulled her over, he found she had an outstanding warrant for her arrest. She was taken to jail.

A bicycle was found in a Caribou driveway. A mailbox was damaged, not for the first time, at a home on Greenview.

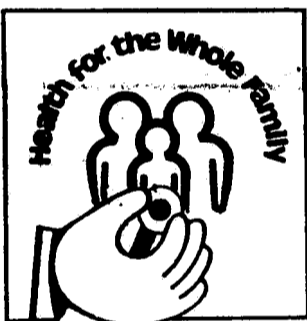

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 30, the windshield and side window were broken on a 1983 Dodge Ram parked overnight in a Dixie parking lot.

A shotgun, ice auger and ice shanty were stolen from a garage on Clintonville.

A 1994 Ford Taurus was missing on Mann Rd., along with the owner's 15-year-old daughter.

A cell phone was stolen from a car on Paramus.

A radio/CD player, amplifier and two speakers were stolen from a 1994 Saturn parked in a Mockingbird driveway after the thief pried all four doors, then the trunk lock.

Non-league foes give Wolves a tough time

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston	3
Hartland	3

In a rematch of last year's regional finals, the third period of Saturday's hockey game contained enough action and momentum swings for two.

In the end, nothing was settled, as the Clarkston hockey team tied the Hartland Eagles 3-3 before a loud holiday crowd at Lakeland Arena.

The Wolves (1-1-1 overall, 1-0 in the Suburban Prep League) controlled the action through the first two periods, emerging with a 2-0 lead. But in the third, the Eagles, a state semifinalist in 1996-97, came out flying, scoring the first two goals of the period.

Hartland was able to convert Clarkston defensive zone turnovers into goals on both occasions. Momentum was then on the Eagles' side.

However, Clarkston wouldn't stay down for long. With just 2:51 left in the game, junior forward Adam Leech flipped the puck in the net off a goal mouth scramble to give the Wolves a 3-2 lead and the likely win over the team that ended their season last year. Leech's linemates, seniors Ryan Peters and Josh Babe, assisted.

Hartland struck back 46 seconds later with a wraparound backhand goal that tied the game at 3-3.

With 1:47 remaining, Clarkston defenseman Brian Welbourn committed a five-minute high-sticking penalty that gave the Eagles a power play the rest of the way. The Clarkston penalty killers were up to the task, keeping Hartland at bay until the game ended in the tie.

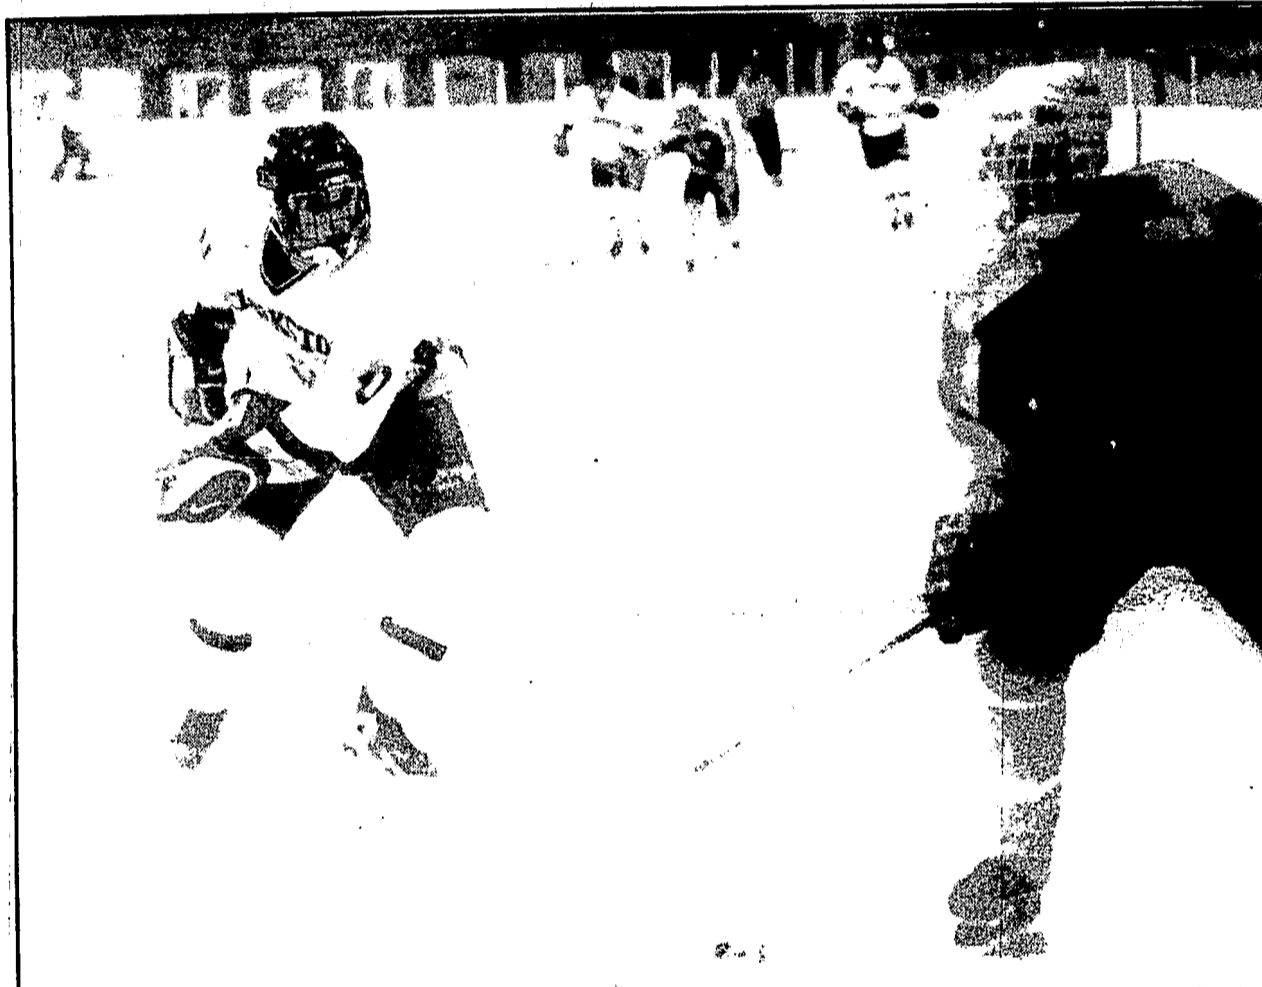

Clarkston coach Rick Rowden said the team's failure to convert its many scoring opportunities cost the team the win.

"We had 40 shots in the game, but only scored three times," he said. "We were either taking our shots from too far out, or swarming the net so close that we didn't have any room to get any shots off."

Senior goaltender Ryan Hogan turned in a strong performance, stopping several odd-man rushes by Hartland, especially late in the game.

The other goal-scorers for Clarkston were junior defenseman Ron Wells and sophomore forward Derek Hool. Wells scored on a blast from the right circle, while Hool faked out two players and flipped in a nice shot in the upper right corner.

Rowden said he is concerned about the team's defensive turnovers, saying the simple play is better than a fancy one.

"All three of their goals came on 2-on-1s," he said. "Instead of clearing the zone, we tried to make a fancy play and you can't have those in the defensive zone. Those can be a killer for you."

Clarkston's schedule gets heavy over the next week, with four games in five days starting Friday at Southfield. The games Saturday (Birmingham, 5:20 p.m.), Sunday (Waterford Mott, 4:20 p.m.) and Tuesday (Bloomfield Hills Lahser, 3:30 p.m.) are all at Lakeland Arena.

Brother Rice	4
Clarkston	2

Playing one of the perennial top-10 teams in the state, Clarkston made a good showing in a 4-2 loss to the Birmingham Brother Rice Warriors Wednesday at Compuware Arena in Oak Park.

Brother Rice took a 2-0 lead into the third period and never trailed, despite constant pressure from the Wolves. Wells and senior forward Ryan Peters scored for Clarkston in the third.

"I thought we outplayed and outchecked them," Rowden said. "We just didn't get the breaks with the puck. We came out with a super effort and hopefully, it's something we can build on."

Hogan made 21 saves in his season debut, returning from a broken finger on his left (catching) hand.

Senior-loaded cagers shooting for the top

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A season full of anticipation and high hopes commences Tuesday.

That's when the Clarkston varsity boys basketball team opens its 1997-98 campaign with a home game against Southfield. The JV game starts at 6 p.m., with the varsity game to follow.

This Clarkston team brings a load of experience and basketball smarts to the table, qualities that coach Dan Fife said will help the team achieve all its goals.

"We've got 10 seniors on the team, more than I've ever kept before," he said. "My expectations for this team are no different than any other year since I've been coaching. We know we can achieve our goals if the kids work hard in practice and do the right things off the court."

Coming off a 19-4 season a year ago, Clarkston returns three starters and at least three key players off the bench. Senior guard Dane Fife enters the final season of what has been a brilliant prep career. He's led the Wolves in scoring each of his first three seasons, topping 24 points per game each time. Fife has an all-around game that features slashing drives to the basket, excellent 3-point and free throw shooting, and underrated defensive skills.

The other returning starters are senior center Justin Dionne and senior guard Mike Maitrott. Dionne stands in at 6-foot-6, but is mobile and understands the Clarkston system. Maitrott is a tireless worker who will be counted on to bring the ball up against pressure and make open shots.

"Justin has played well this fall," Coach Fife said. "Playing football has helped his footwork and his conditioning. He's a good spot-up shooter and we'll need him in our offense."

"Mike has also played well and has improved his

- 2-Pontiac Northern
- 3-Troy
- 4-Ferndale
- 5-Rochester Adams
- 6-Southfield Lathrup

keeps getting tougher and tougher with Division I-caliber college talent.

"Troy will be good. They've got everyone back," Coach Fife said. "Pontiac Northern has three starters back on a very good team and Rochester Adams has got some people too."

shooting. He knows what I expect from him and sets a great example for our younger players."

Coach Fife said Maitrott and senior Dan Neubeck, a likely starter, each took 200 shots per day from each corner of the floor during the summer, work that should pay off once the ball goes up in the air.

"Dan Neubeck is a real throwback kind of player," he said. "He lays it on the line every day in practice and in the games."

The other starter for Clarkston will be senior Angelo Taylor, who transferred from Pontiac Northern in September. Taylor, a 6-4 power forward, gives Clarkston a much-needed inside presence, someone who can dominated the rebounding on both ends of the floor.

"Angelo has never been in a system like ours before, so he's had some adjusting to do," Coach Fife said. "On the boards, he can make a big difference for us. He'll get most of his shots through his rebounding. He also does a good job of getting the ball out on the break and changing shots with his presence in the middle defensively."

When Coach Fife goes to his bench, he'll find a wealth of quality talent to call upon. Seniors Marc Venegoni, Kevin Mason, Ahdi Dasuqi and Brad Phalen all enter their second seasons on the varsity and figure to log some good minutes for the team this year.

"This group is very intelligent and will contribute a lot for us."

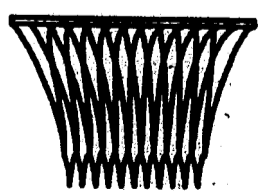

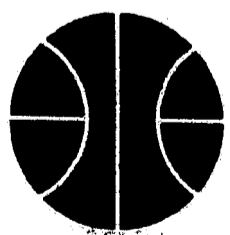

The first-year players on varsity this season are senior Jeff Rieman, juniors Tim Loveless, Mark Whiteman and Scott Davis and sophomore Andy North. Fife complimented this group for its competitiveness, shooting skills and work ethic.

The OAA Division I has gone from one of the county's tougher leagues to one that has gotten some notice nationwide. With top-notch players such as Mike Chappell (Duke) and Greg Grays (Penn State), not to mention Indiana-bound Dane Fife, the league

Watch out for the fashion police

One of my favorite sports radio commentators one time said, "Don't try to equate sports to real life. Sports isn't real life. When you can get paid $10 million to play a kid's game, real life rules don't apply."

That statement came through loud and clear recently when the NBA handed out fines to players and teams for having shorts that were too long.

Yep, $25,000 fines were given to the Portland Trailblazers and the Minnesota Timberwolves for allowing the shorts to be worn, and Portland's Rasheed Wallace and Gary Trent and Minnesota's Stephon Marbury were relieved of $2,500 apiece (hey, it's only their per diem) for wearing shorts that were cut below the knee.

An NBA rule states that shorts must be no lower than one inch above the knee.

Do you mean to tell me that the NBA Sheriff's Department has nothing better to do than to scream bloody murder every time some player's shorts are flopping in the breeze? If shorts have to come one inch above the knee, how does Golden State find the uniform for 5-foot-3 point guard Muggsy Bogues? "Excuse me, ma'am, where is the toddler department?"

Having a rule like this is almost too silly to even comment on, but I'll go ahead anyway. Do the NBA suits really wish for the 1960s and 1970s, when player's shorts basically began and ended at the waist? Seeing some of the old footage with guys like Earl Monroe and Elgin Baylor makes me cringe. It's no wonder those guys were so good for so long. With shorts as tight as they had, they probably lost all the feeling in their legs by their third season, and could play through every kind of leg injury imaginable.

Even into the 1980s, I can still remember Bill Laimbeer's shorts that could fit snugly on a Cabbage Patch Kid. Even Magic Johnson, a player who defined cool, had shorts early in his career that looked like they were painted on. To me, that style of shorts is much more deserving of a fine, and maybe even one of those black censor blocks, than the baggy kind.

On a more serious note, the NBA is once again sending conflicting messages to the kids who beg their parents to shell out 50 bucks for replica shorts that come below the knee. Four times last season, an NBA player was arrested for marijuana possession. One player - Atlanta's Mookie Blaylock - was caught with some in his carry-on bag in an airplane. A recent New York Times survey revealed around 70 percent of NBA players smoke marijuana on a regular basis. But still, the league quickly denies any reports of the kind and tallies up the fashion fines at the end of the day.

Marijuana - an illegal drug - is nowhere to be found on the NBA's list of banned substances. That means if a player decided to light up on the bench during a game, the league could not take any action. Marijuana is about as illegal as Gatorade, in the league's (blood-shot?) eyes.

So if we needed any more proof that the NBA, or any other league, was not with the rest of us in the real world, check the creative legal system it has in place. The policy might read this way: "Go ahead, smoke away all your brain cells. It's OK! But don't you dare let your game shorts fall below your knee, buster!"

I can truthfully say that I've never smoked anything in my life, nor do I intend to. But I do like my shorts on the long side when I play. So to quote the great Fernando, "It's better to look good than to feel good."

Hockey notebook

Balancing act

After just three games, one fact has emerged from the Clarkston hockey team - almost every-one can score.

One of the team's main strengths coming into the season was its depth, especially on offense. So far this season, 14 different players have registered points for the Wolves. Senior forward Ryan Peters leads the way with three goals and one assist for four points. Peters and junior defenseman Ron Wells (2 goals) are the only players with more than one goal this season.

Busy weekend

So what are you doing this weekend? Holiday shopping? Snow plowing the driveway? Baking a fruitcake?

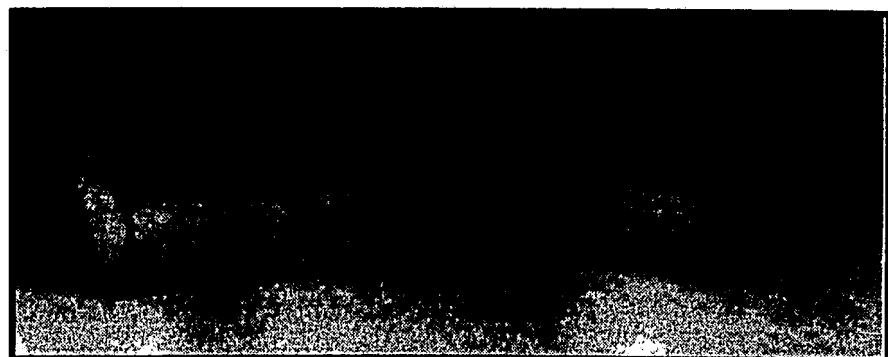

The Clarkston hockey team has their daunting task of playing three games in 49 hours this coming weekend. Friday, the Wolves travel to Southfield for a 3:30 p.m. league contest. Saturday, the team returns to Lakeland for a 5:20 game against a tough Birmingham team. Sunday, it's back to work for a 4:20 p.m. face off against league rival Waterford Mott.

Assistant coach Glenn MacDonald said having a stretch like this is good preparation for the state tournament, where the team could play three games in four days.

"All three are league games, so they're important for us to win," he said. "Friday will be a good opportunity for our third and fourth line guys to get their feet wet. Birmingham will be tough on Saturday, and Mott is undefeated so far."

PRESCRIPTION FOR TROUBLE?

Recently, new evidence concerning popularly prescribed diet pills has raised the possibility that thousands of patients may have suffered silent heart valve damage as a result of having taken them. Current estimates put one million Americans as having taken a combination of drugs that was never approved by the FDA as a weight-loss regimen, advocates of which claim helps people lose weight by curbing their appetites for carbohydrates. Potential benefits aside, the downside is that the combination of drugs may have caused heart damage in several hundred thousand Americans without their knowing it. It is recommended that those who took the drugs undergo exams to diagnose damage, and then discuss their legal recourse with a lawyer if they have.

If you have suffered serious, unexpected ill effects as the result of medication, it is important to speak with an attorney as soon as possible. Without the help of an experienced attorney you're likely to find it extremely difficult to obtain compensation from the drug manufacturer, or at least be forced to settle for what the manufacturer considers adequate. For professional advice you can count on, call 620-1030. Our office is conveniently located at 11 North Main Street.

HINT: A question of product liability may arise over a drug manufacturer's failure to mention a potentially dangerous interaction.

Sales Manager
Getting To Know You

I LOVE MY JOB!

"I was in my twenties and living on my own, so I wanted to find a career where I could make enough money to support myself. Then I heard Getting To Know You offered sales positions with unlimited earnings potential plus opportunities for advancement.

"As a Getting To Know You sales representative, the financial success I achieved increased my self esteem. And since Getting To Know You encourages personal growth, I was promoted to sales manager in 1993. Now I get satisfaction from helping others succeed." - Jill Hamroff

Family Holiday Fest

On Sunday, December 14, 2 to 5 p.m., Santa's Elves will turn the Bay Court Park Playscape into the North Pole! Have fun with the whole family visiting with Santa, enjoying refreshments and going on a horse-drawn sleigh ride! Tickets are on sale now at the Parks and Recreation Department. Resident $5, non-resident $7 per person or family pass for $20 resident, $25 non-resident.

Riverdaws Softball Tryouts

Girls interested in trying out for 16 and under Riverdaws team can participate on Sunday, December 7th at 2 p.m. at Brandon High School.

Holiday happenings

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP LIBRARY KIDS PARTY: The annual holiday party for kids will be held at the Independence Township Library Saturday, Dec. 6. Admission is by ticket only. Tickets are free and available at the library. One adult per family may attend (adults don't need tickets). The party is for ages 3-11 and is offered in two sessions, 10:30 a.m.-noon or 2-3:30 p.m. The fun includes entertainment by Maureen Schiffman and her puppet friend, Coco, refreshments and a special North Pole visitor, as well as a gift book selected by each child. Pictures with Santa are a $1 option. Call 625-2212 for more information.

ACADEMY SINGERS: The Academy Singers of the Vocal Arts Academy will present their 20th annual Christmas concert Monday, Dec. 8 at Varner Recital Hall on the Oakland University campus. This year's performance will feature favorite holiday songs and some exciting new songs with choreography. The Vocal Arts Academy has been nominated for a Grammy award five times in the "best children's recording" category. Tickets are $8 for adults, $5 for seniors, children and students and are available at the door or by calling 625-7057.

EISENHOWER DANCE ENSEMBLE: A Holiday Dance Spectacular will be presented by the Eisenhower Dance Ensemble Dec. 12-14 at Oakland University's Varner Hall. Admission is $8; call 362-9329 or 852-5850 for more information.

NOEL NIGHT: Detroit's University Cultural Center will light up Saturday, Dec. 6 for the 25th annual Noel Night from 5-9:30 p.m. There will be carolers, carriage rides, art and live theater as 20 area institutions participate in a giant open house. The event is free and open to the public. Participating buildings include the Science Center, African American Museum, Your Heritage House, Detroit Institute of Arts, Scarab Club and more. Free shuttles will run all evening. Call 313-577-5088 for more information.

MUSIC FOR VOICES, BRASS, ORGAN AND PERCUSSION: Oakland University's Department of Music, Theatre and Dance will present its 35th annual yuletide concert, "Music for Voices, Brass, Organ and Percussion," Friday, Dec. 12 at 8 p.m. at Varner Hall. A 130-voice choir and numerous soloists will perform classical and traditional holiday music. Tickets are $10 general public, $8 seniors, $5 students. Call 370-3013.

GREENS MARKET: The Waterford Garden Club will offer its annual greens market, "Festival of Angels," Dec. 5-6, 10-6 at Central United Methodist Church, 3882 Highland Rd. Featured are fresh arrangements and greens, crafts, a bake sale and a children's booth. Proceeds benefit the Drayton Plains Nature Center. Call 674-0627 for more information.

DETROIT CHAMBER WINDS: The best of classical and traditional music will be performed by the Detroit Chamber Winds Friday, Dec. 5 at 7:30 p.m. at Central United Methodist Church, 3882 Highland Rd., Waterford. Tickets are $10 for adults, $7 for students and seniors. The group is composed of members of the Detroit Symphony and Michigan Opera Theatre and specializes in the classics written for a small body of instruments. Choir members from the church and St. Benedict's will also perform. The concert is sponsored by the Waterford Cultural Council.

TUESDAY MUSICAL of Pontiac will present its annual Christmas Concert Dec. 9 at 7:30 p.m. at Central United Methodist Church, 3882 Highland Rd., Waterford. The public is invited to the free concert, which will feature the Women's Chorus and the Bellissima! Handbell Choir, and the afterglow. Call 673-6568 for more information.

THE JACKSON CHORALE will perform its annual Christmas concert Saturday, Dec. 13 at 8 p.m. at Central United Methodist Church, 3882 Highland Rd. in Waterford. Tickets will be available at the door or call 651-3085 after 5 p.m.

Think snow!

Pine Knob Ski Resort will be the location for snowboard Alpine instruction Monday evenings beginning Jan. 13.

Under head coach Tammy Boos, ranked third overall in Alpine at the USASA Nationals, the Thunderbolt Training Center will offer instruction for intermediate and advanced snowboarders of all ages. Instruction will concentrate on carving, race tactics, slalom and giant slalom gates, video analysis, motivation and snowboard tuning. The cost of the six-week program, which meets Monday nights 7-9 p.m., is $99. You must have your own snowboard and the ability to ride "blue" runs. For more information call 625-0801.

Snowboarding will be an Olympic event in 1998 in Japan.

Danielle and Derek Weddle

Kids help kids again this year

Derek and Danielle Weddle are at it again. The siblings are continuing their Christmas collections for kids again this year, including hats, socks and mittens, as well as money to purchase toys for Children's Village and the Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital pediatric ward.

The work started with the help of the children's grandfather, Delton Lohff. His membership in Clarkston Rotary and the club's assistance allowed the donations to be tax-exempt. Lohff died in 1995 and Derek was hit by a car just before Christmas in 1995, but neither of those events have stopped progress.

In fact, it was Derek's trip to the hospital that added POH to the list of beneficiaries when he discovered kids there didn't have anything to do to while away the hours.

In 1996 Derek and Danielle collected $3,000, making it their best year ever. This year they have added AM/FM stereos, pool sticks and Roller Blades to their shopping list. They hope to expand the project to include a party for children in the next few years.

Donations can be left at several area drop-off points, including Kieft Engineering, Country Cords, Bonnie's Pet Parlor and the Independence Township Library. Tax-deductible checks can be sent to the Clarkston Rotary Club, PO Box 43, Clarkston, MI 48347 attention Children's Village Christmas Project.

Since they began their undertaking, Derek and Danielle have received many honors, including a community service award from Clarkston Area Youth Assistance and the Spirit of Achievement Award from WJR/Selectcare.

FACTS & FIGURES

Zinc And Your Cold

(NAPS)—Here are some facts about zinc that will surprise many Americans. Studies confirm that patented zinc formulas alleviate the symptoms and reduce the duration and severity of a cold.

Here are some more facts about zinc and its benefits:

- In a controlled study it was noted that symptoms of a cold were shorter in the group that took zinc (4.4 days) than in the placebo group (7.6 days).

Church-Tudor

Larry and Donna Church announce the engagement of their daughter Danielle to Scott David Tudor, son of William and Marjorie Tudor of Clarkston. The bride-to-be is a 1995 graduate of Lapeer East High School and a student at Oakland Community College. She works as a nursing assistant at Crittenton Hospital in Rochester. The prospective groom is a 1991 graduate of Clarkston High School and a 1996 graduate of Oakland University with a degree in computer engineering. He is employed as an intern systems administrator in Troy. A December 1998 wedding is planned.

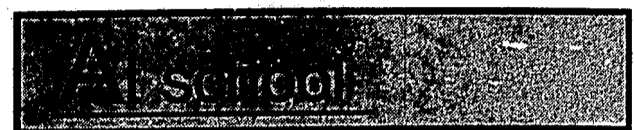

Lucky lady

Cathryn Weiss of Clarkston is the lucky winner of a gift certificate from the Parsonage which was drawn during the store's holiday open house. Weiss said she entered the drawing on her first visit to the Church St. store. She is pictured, center, along with the store's owners, Shirley Wilson (left) and Dianne Bildstein.

● Army Spec. Raymond Mullins is a member of the 10th Mountain Division (Light Infantry) who participated in "Mountain Peak '97," the division's largest on-post training exercise at Fort Drum, Watertown, N. Y. A sophomore, she is the daughter of Glenn and Judy Herron and received the Department of Physical Education Prize, awarded to those students who as freshmen best combined leadership and scholarship in promoting athletics, physical education and recreation.

Chief of parks is named Employee of the Quarter

BY EILEEN MCCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Now that the busy summer season is over, it's timely that the township's chief of parks should be honored for his work.

Mike Turk was named Employee of the Quarter by the Independence Township Board of Trustees at the Oct. 21 board meeting. Supervisor Dale Stuart made the announcement.

"Mike has done a good job with our parks and ball fields. He is a good employee to the township who has been very faithful in service," Stuart said.

Mike Turk

Turk, 44, started working for the township's parks and recreation department 21 years ago as a laborer where he "chalked ball fields, cleaned restrooms, stuff like that," he chuckled. Rising through the ranks, he next became a supervisor, then chief of parks where he now oversees four township parks: Bay Court, Deer Lake, Sashabaw Plains and Clintonwood.

Turk enjoys his work, particularly putting on events such as Festival of Fun, the Friendly Forest for little ones on Halloween and the upcoming Christmas program at Bay Court Park. He was also the general contractor for Bay Court's new beach house, completed this past summer.

"I think the biggest thing for me is new projects," said the soft-spoken Turk. "That's what I enjoy most—and my co-workers. We've got a very good staff. And the board is very supportive."

Turk joins the list of those who are honored quarterly by the township. Candidates are selected after they are nominated, but the nominator's name is kept secret, he said. As Employee of the Quarter he received a plaque and $100 which, he said, he'll probably spend on one of his favorite fall pastimes — hunting. A township resident, Turk is married and has three children.

Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department director Ann Conklin said Turk finds a way to "make things happen" when it comes to township parks.

"It's been through his leadership that we have some of these wonderful facilities ... He's a nice guy who gives his heart and soul," she said.

NO SURCHARGES AT T&C ATMS

Most financial institutions are surcharging consumers to use their ATM equipment. In many cases, these fees are from $1.00 to $2.00 per withdrawal.

At T&C Federal Credit Union, we do not surcharge members or non-members to use our ATMs. Plus, there are more than 300 ATMs through the SC24 network with no surcharges, and most other credit unions are not charging these high fees.

Say "NO" to ATM surcharging. Use a T&C ATM instead.

Sesame Seed Cookies

Makes about 30 cookies

A good addition to your Christmas cookie supply that isn't too sweet.

- ½ cup sesame seeds
- ½ cup sugar (or ¼ cup honey)
- ½ cup soft butter or margarine
- 1 egg
- ¾ cup unbleached white flour
- ¼ tsp. baking powder
- ¼ tsp. salt
- 2 Tbsp. heavy cream
- 1 tsp. vanilla

Preheat oven to 375 degrees.

Place seeds in dry skillet and toast over medium heat, shaking occasionally until light golden in color. Cool.

Cream sugar, butter and egg until very light and fluffy. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt.

Stir sifted ingredients, cream, vanilla and seeds into creamed mixture.

Place by teaspoonfuls at least 2 inches apart on an oiled baking sheet. Bake 10-12 minutes or till lightly browned around edges and done. Cool on rack.

Irish Coffee

(original Shannon recipe)

Pre-warm coffee glass.

Pour in 1 jigger of Irish Whiskey.

Add 1 or 2 tsp. of sugar.

Fill to within one inch of top with strong black coffee. Stir until sugar is dissolved.

Top to brim with chilled whipped cream, so the cream floats on top.

Do not stir after adding cream as the true flavor is obtained by drinking the hot coffee and whiskey through the cream.

Jalapeno Corn Casserole

Makes 10 servings

- 1 c. uncooked regular rice
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1 medium green pepper, chopped
- 1 cup chopped celery
- ½ cup butter or margarine, melted
- 1 tbsp. sugar
- 1 to 2 large jalapeno peppers, finely chopped (optional)
- 2 cans (17 oz. each) cream-style corn
- 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded mild cheddar cheese

Cook rice according to package directions. Set aside. Saute onion, green pepper and celery in butter until vegetables are tender. Combine rice, sauteed vegetables and next four ingredients, stirring well. Spoon mixture into a lightly greased 12x8x2-inch baking dish. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 to 45 minutes.

Note: jalapenos may be omitted if you prefer a less spicy dish (they're hot!). This dish is good with your holiday meal.

Sweet Potato Loaf

Quick, easy and oh-so tasty!

Boil sweet potatoes or yams (or use canned). Mash and add bacon fat or butter, and salt. Place a layer of mixture in casserole or bread-loaf pan, then a layer of marshmallows, alternating the two. End up with marshmallows on top. Place in oven and brown slightly. Pecans or other nuts are good in this too.

Strawberry Jello Salad

This recipe has been one of our favorites for many years. It is now one of our grandchildren, also.

- | | |
|--------|--------------------------------------|
| 1 lg. | pkg. strawberry jello |
| 2 cups | boiling water |
| 2 pkg. | (10 oz.) frozen strawberries |
| 1 can | (13½ oz.) crushed pineapple, drained |
| 2 | large bananas |
| 1 cup | sour cream |

Put water into jello, stir in strawberries until thawed. Add pineapple, cut bananas lengthwise in quarters and then into about 1/4" pieces. Pour 1/2 mixture into 8x8 pyrex dish. chill until firm. Spread sour cream over and add remaining mixture. Return to refrigerator.

Carrot Salad

Serves 8-10

This recipe is so good, it is always requested at any function -- that is how I originally found this recipe.

- | | |
|--------|-------------------------|
| 6 cups | sliced carrots |
| 1 lg. | onion sliced into rings |
| 1 lg. | green pepper, chopped |
| 1 can | (10½ oz.) tomato soup |
| 1 cup | sugar |
| 1 cup | oil |
| ¼ cup | vinegar |
| 1 tsp. | salt |
| 1 tsp. | dry mustard |
| | pepper to taste |

Cook carrots until tender. Drain and place in a bowl with onion and green pepper. Blend until well combined: soup, sugar, oil, vinegar, salt, dry mustard and pepper. Pour over all vegetables and marinate overnight.

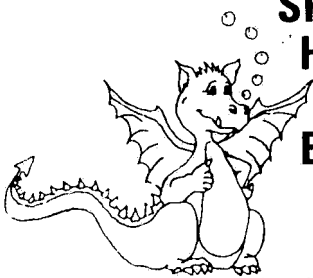

OPTIONS: Anything that tastes good marinated. I add chick peas and chopped red pepper. Mushrooms are good, also.

HOLIDAYS.

Periods of celebration in commemoration of events. Occasions for families and friends to get together. Holidays are also times for sharing traditions.

Whether it's a date celebrated by only a few, or one recognized by an entire country, holidays are always special.

NBD wishes you the best during this important time of year. May your holiday season be filled with everything you enjoy.
