Parks & Rec. updating master plan

BY EILEEN McCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

In Independence Township, it seems if you build it they will come — in droves.

When you look at the township's exploding growth, that not only means buildings, but safety paths, senior facilities and parks.

On Saturday, representatives from various township boards and committees met at Bay Court Park in the first of several sessions geared toward development of Parks and Recreation's next five-year master plan. Members came from the township board, planning commission, safety path committee and parks advisory board.

The event was a participatory workshop, designed for individuals to meet in small groups and prioritize some issues they think the township should strive for in the next five years. A public meeting on the matter is scheduled for Tuesday, May 12 at 6:45 p.m. at Sashabaw Middle School's media center. Residents are encouraged to attend (Call parks and rec. at 625-8223 for more details).

Parks and Recreation director Ann Conklin said it's important for residents to share their ideas because township parks are for the community. "Let them tell us; are we on the right track. Anything we do we try to get the parameters on what they want, not what they think we want."

Township planner Dick Carlisle said Department of Natural Resource grants used to fund past parks and rec. projects expire this year. The township will have to apply for new grants, as well as come up with other ideas for funding sources, he said.

Park facility improvements are slated for Bay Court, Sashabaw Plains and Clintonwood parks, as well as the Senior Center. Past projects completed in the 1993-97 master plan include Bay Court beach renovations and construction of the new multi-purpose building; a new in-line skating rink, soccer field (in progress) and several renovations in Clintonwood Park; and updates to the Senior Center, including new vans for transportation.

"So, the last four or five years, we've been really successful," said planner Dick Carlisle. "But we have to have an idea of where this department should be headed for the next four or five years."

The meetings are designed "to give us some clear direction of the future." The township updates its parks and rec. master plan every five years, he added.

The township is "building a new spirit," he said, planning the future through "a refreshingly different process." One example is the Vision 2020 plan, a guide for community development compiled by all the community players — residents, business owners and local officials.

Before members met in small groups, Carlisle asked them to keep in mind certain items, such as

Annual plant sale at OTCNWC

Exciting and unusual - that's the focus of the annual plant sale at Oakland Technical Center, Northwest Campus Wednesday, May 13.

Horticulture students have worked hard to prepare for the sale, which runs from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Gardeners will find the usual colorful array of annuals they've come to expect, like impatiens, begonias and salvia. But this year there's more.

"We've focused on offering things that will excite the gardener in all of us," said horticulture instructor Donna Papatheodoropoulos, affectionately known by students and staff as Donna P. "The key for this year is unusual, hard to find, and interesting combinations," she added.

Calla lilies, exotic agapanthus lilies, and combination hanging plants and terra cotta planters will be on display.

Fancy peppers, miniature eggplant and a cherry tomato sampler have been added. The cherry tomatoes are a mix of pink, orange, yellow and pear-shaped. "All are exotic cherry tomatoes, there shouldn't be any reds," said Donna P.

Herbs are included too. Fennel, basil and Joe Pye weed are some of the varieties available, as well as rosemary topiaries.

Scentiments, the gardening store across from the Northwest Inn at OTCNWC run by horticulture students, will also be open.

OTCNWC is located on Big Lake Road, just off Dixie Highway. Donna P. said to come early and avoid the crowds.

Preservation, traffic challenge in northwest quad

Fourth in a series on Independence Township's Vision 2020 Target Plans

BY EILEEN MCCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

There are a lot of reasons for developing a northwest portion of Independence Township with special care.

"The northwest area always been an extremely important area of the community," said township planner Dick Carlisle in a recent interview, "primarily because it's very low density, more of a rural residential atmosphere."

"You have the conflict of I-75 and a major conduit of M-15 for traffic. Anyone driving through there knows traffic conditions have increased substantially."

"Anyone" includes Nickelodeon owner Steve Gabriel. He not only drives the busy thoroughfare; his business is located on it.

"We have seen numerous accidents in front of our restaurant, head on collisions. There have been three or four deaths within the last few years," Gabriel said. "They're going fast down a road that's only a two-lane highway and not geared for a 55 mph limit ..."

"Life is the most valuable thing we have, and I don't want to see accidents, let alone deaths on this road ... And I hope it gets widened as soon as possible. I'd like to see us start tomorrow."

M-15, hopefully, WILL be widened in the near future. And when it is, the township plans to be prepared. In Independence Township's Vision 2020 Strategic Plan, which was completed and presented to township board members a year ago, Carlisle has outlined six principal areas or target plans which will guide the township as it moves into the 21st century.

Other target plans were profiled in previous issues of the Clarkston News, including the Sashabaw Rd. corridor (10-23-96); the Pine Knob corridor (8-20-97), further west on Sashabaw; and the M-15/I-75 Interchange Area (12-3-97), south of the Northwest area and just north of I-75.

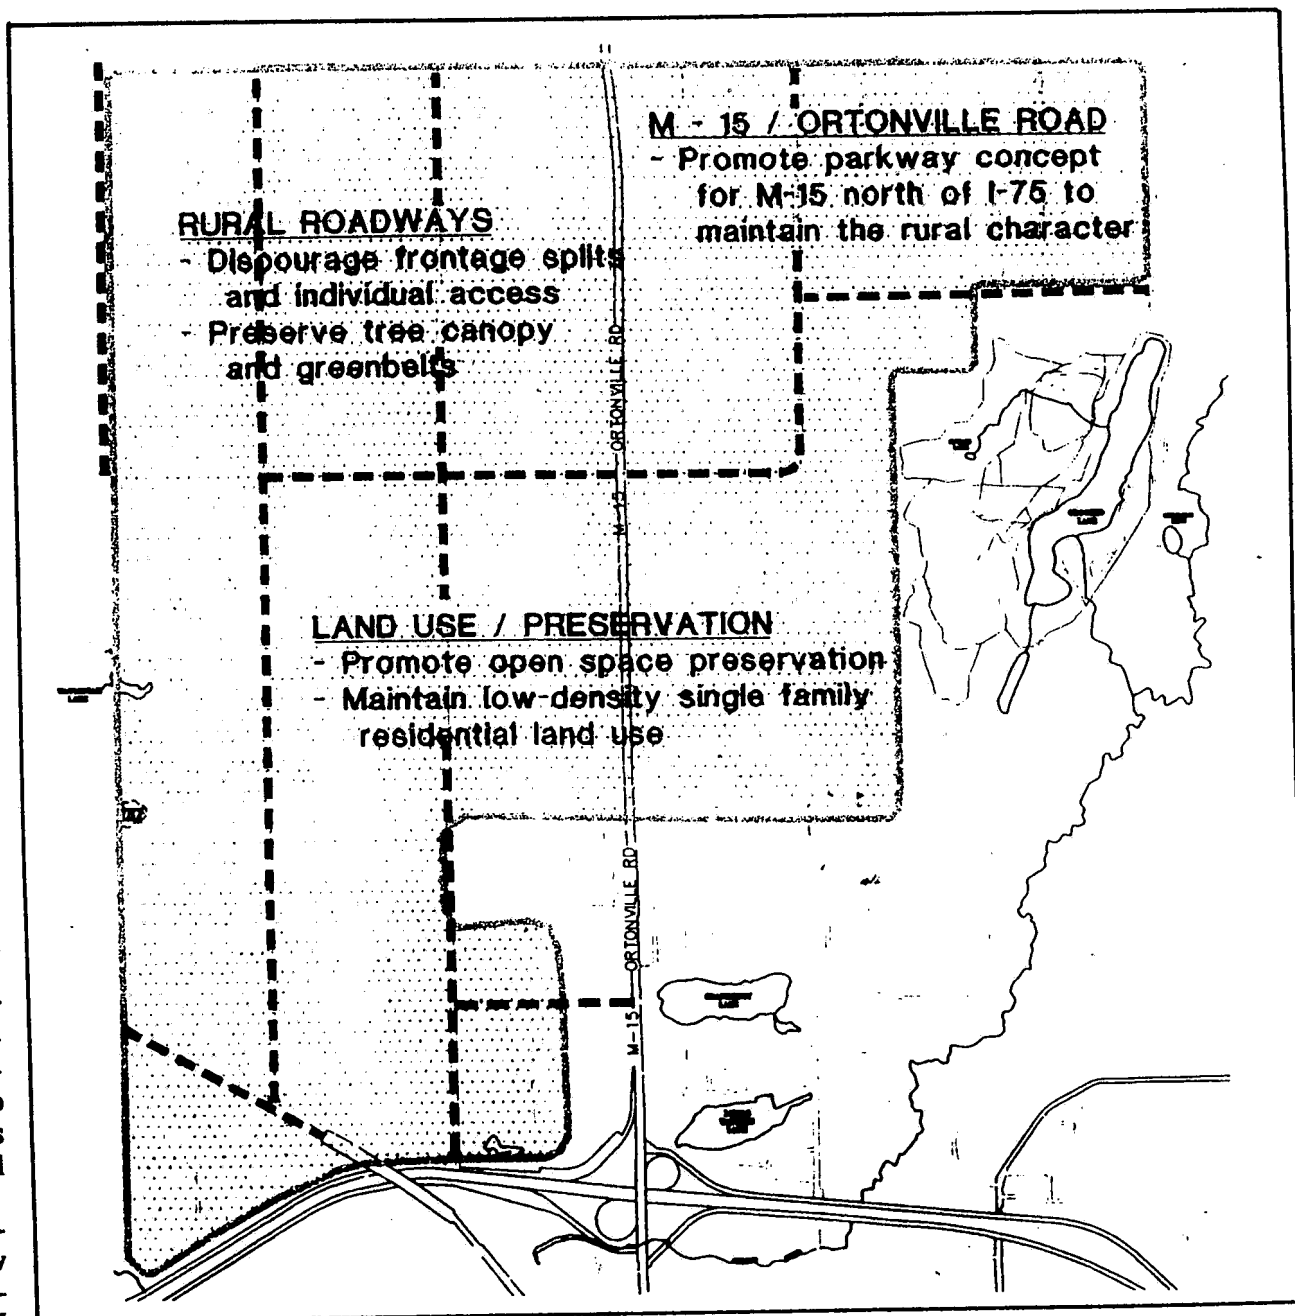

Whereas planning for the M-15/I-75 Interchange Area allows for some research/office use in a campus-like setting, the Northwest Area — from Cranberry Lake Rd. to Oakhill Rd. — will be developed less densely, with preservation the key factor. Any commercial development will be discouraged.

A primary of the philosophy for development is provided within the Vision 2020 Strategic Plan: "During the Vision 2020 process, it has become apparent that the desire to maintain the rural character of the township is a priority. The northwest area of the township, in particular, could be severely impacted by development if efforts are not continued to preserve its rural character."

According to the Strategic Plan, rural and historic character is characterized by the following: farm structures and historic buildings; tree-lined narrow roads; woodlots and large wooded areas; natural streams, river banks, wetlands, and lakes; farmsteads, farms, orchards, outbuildings, fences and ruins — and an absence of commercial development.

The Northwest Area is full of these resources, and the challenge is to balance rural preservation with traffic flow. There are three key aspects, Carlisle said.

The first is to continue low-density residential development to maintain the pastoral atmosphere. Around M-15 "generally there's a large predominance of large-lot residential. That's a pattern to maintain."

The Northwest Area Vision 2020 Target Plan: dotted lines mark historic and rural roads, while the dotted areas represent single-family detached residential homes.

But the township can also get "creative" with clustering — an option that means smaller lots with larger areas of open space.

Two, since M-15 is characterized by "rural roadways," off the beaten path, the township should make sure they are maintained. "One of the defining elements are the rural roadways — gravel-based surfaces, very heavy tree canopies that create a very enclosed view as you travel down these roadways."

'Life is the most valuable thing we have and I don't want to see accidents, let alone one dathes on this road (M-15).'

--Steve Gabriel

Trees, especially the very old ones, are threatened by forces that include development, road grading (because it exposes the roots) and drainage problems.

"What's so attractive about the rural roadways are these tree-lined corridors," Carlisle said, adding that he is proposing a program that will maintain their health, including a "re-forestation" program that will establish a second tier of growth. "In Springfield Township, we have applied for and received a grant from the DNR to do this and we're working on that right now."

Three, it's necessary to develop "a strategy for M-15 that will allow the traffic condition to be dealt with without damaging the character of this township," he added. "And that's going to be a real challenge because we have all these forces at work."

Currently, many concerned individuals and groups are pressuring the state to widen M-15 to a four- or five-lane thoroughfare. Most recently, a group of local officials, headed by Oakland County commissioner Ruth Johnson, presented a summary of traffic safety and congestion issues to Michigan Department of Transportation officials.

Statistics show several deaths, as well as 322 personal injury accidents from 1992-97 and, in 10 years, traffic volume has increased by 6,000 to 10,000 vehicles a day. By 2020 it's expected to be up to 45,000 vehicles a day.

Johnson and others, including members of the M-15 Corridor Task Force, are asking MDOT to put the improvement/widening project on the state's five-year

Kehoe leaving

Although he's only been at Clarkston Elementary since November of 1996, principal Mike Kehoe will be leaving this June.

He's accepted a position with Waterford schools as director of staff development. In his new position, Kehoe said he will work with teachers and all employee groups in terms of how their roles are carried out.

Kehoe was a former principal and assistant superintendent for instruction at Hartland Schools. "The new position will be similar to my job at Hartland, but on a much larger scale," he said.

He said a former colleague from Livingston County called him and asked him to apply for the job. "The more I looked at it and talked to people, it seemed like a good challenge and opportunity in terms of my career," Kehoe said.

There were 41 CEOs over 65 who were running Fortune 500 companies in 1995.

"The downside of the new position is I'll no longer be working with kids," he added. "I'll still help employees work with kids, and will have some input, but not on a daily basis." Kehoe's last day at Clarkston Elementary is June 19.

Sashabaw Elementary principal George White announced his retirement a few weeks ago and postings for his replacement have already been made. That should make finding a replacement for Kehoe easier, said Dave Reschke, assistant superintendent for elementary operations for Clarkston schools.

Reschke said the deadline for interviews is May 26, and parents and teachers will be involved in the screening process.

The positions are open to candidates in and out of the district and he added he was planning to attend a job fair for administrators at Oakland Schools Monday. "We hope to have someone identified by the end of the school year," Reschke said. "I'm sure we'll attract a number of top notch candidates."

Springfield picked for nature features inventory

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Ask nearly any Springfield Township resident what they like best about where they live, and the natural features and resources are sure to pop up high on the list.

Those features have also been recognized outside of the township. Springfield was one of six Oakland County municipalities to be selected by Oakland County Development and Planning to complete a natural resource preservation plan for the township. The planning department will provide support staff for the project.

Over the next several months, surveyors from the Michigan Natural Features Inventory will examine certain wetlands areas of the township to make a true assessment of the area.

Township clerk Nancy Strole said the goal of the project is to gather more information regarding the state of the wetlands in the area and use that for future property-owners and developers.

"If we have better information, we'll have better planning," Strole explained. "After some areas are examined, aerial photographs are taken, then other areas within the township will be selected for more detailed assessment. This will help property owners as well as developers."

Springfield Township is home to the headwaters of three rivers, making it a natural candidate for this type of examination. The project is estimated by the county to take a year to complete, at which time its findings will be made available to area developers, officials and residents.

Strole said the Michigan Nature Conservancy is also helping with the work on the project. The MNC is a private, non-profit organization that Strole said "has a lot of expertise in inventory work."

"This project will give us more information on the state of the natural resources in the township," Strole said. "This idea came from Springfield Township, and something like this has never been done in the state before. It's very exciting for us here."

Springfield was selected to be a part of this grant, along with Rose, Highland, White Lake and Milford Townships, as well as the Village of Milford.

Springfield picked for nature features inventory

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Ask nearly any Springfield Township resident what they like best about where they live, and the natural features and resources are sure to pop up high on the list.

Those features have also been recognized outside of the township. Springfield was one of six Oakland County municipalities to be selected by Oakland County Development and Planning to complete a natural resource preservation plan for the township. The planning department will provide support staff for the project.

Over the next several months, surveyors from the Michigan Natural Features Inventory will examine certain wetlands areas of the township to make a true assessment of the area.

Township clerk Nancy Strole said the goal of the project is to gather more information regarding the state of the wetlands in the area and use that for future property-owners and developers.

"If we have better information, we'll have better planning," Strole explained. "After some areas are examined, aerial photographs are taken, then other areas within the township will be selected for more detailed assessment. This will help property owners as well as developers."

Springfield Township is home to the headwaters of three rivers, making it a natural candidate for this type of examination. The project is estimated by the county to take a year to complete, at which time its findings will be made available to area developers, officials and residents.

Strole said the Michigan Nature Conservancy is also helping with the work on the project. The MNC is a private, non-profit organization that Strole said "has a lot of expertise in inventory work."

"This project will give us more information on the state of the natural resources in the township," Strole said. "This idea came from Springfield Township, and something like this has never been done in the state before. It's very exciting for us here."

Springfield was selected to be a part of this grant, along with Rose, Highland, White Lake and Milford Townships, as well as the Village of Milford.

JIM'S JOTTINGS

By Jim Sherman

Just jottin'

Just in case you didn't have enough to think about, here's a few things to ponder on your sleepless nights.

If lawyers are disbarred and clergy men defrocked, then doesn't it follow that electricians can be delighted, musicians denoted, cowboys de-ranged, models deposed, tree surgeons debarked and dry cleaners depressed?

There's usually at least one item in the Morning Friendly that gets my attention. Recently it was this fact: According to Gillette, we men spend 3,350 hours of our lives removing 27.5 feet of whiskers.

More "if's."

If Bea Arthur married Sting, she would be Bea Sting.

If Ella Fitzgerald married Darth Vader, she would be Ella Vader.

If Tuesday Weld married Hal March the 2nd, she would be Tuesday March 2nd.

Retired publisher, still columnist for the Gratiot County Herald points out: The Lord's Prayer has 56 words. Lincoln's Gettysburg Address has 266 words. The Ten Commandments have 297 words. The Declaration of Independence has 300 words. A recent U. S. Government order setting the price of cabbages has 26,911 words.

More things to ponder those sleepless nights. Do infants enjoy infancy as much as adults seem to enjoy adultery?

How is it possible to have a civil war?

If all the world is a stage, where is the audience sitting?

If love is blind, why is lingerie so popular?

If the #2 pencil is so popular, why is it still #2?

If work is so terrific, how come they have to pay you to do it?

If you're born again, do you have two bellybuttons?

Is a castrated pig disgruntled?

Why are hemorrhoids called "hemorrhoids" instead of "asteroids"?

Why is it called tourist season if we can't shoot them?

What happens if none of your bees wax?

Why is there an expiration date on sour cream?

Where are we going? And, what's in this handbasket?

It's the law!

This year, two parents' Social Security numbers are required on an application for a child's Social Security number. The law also requires this information to be shared with the Internal Revenue Service for use in administering tax benefits based on support or residence of the child. North Sashabaw students learned about The Clarkston News at Career Day last week.

ROLLING ALONG

By Maralee Cook

A volunteer mom

Last week I spent time with several groups of school children teaching them about The Clarkston News.

On Wednesday students, teachers and parent volunteers from Andersonville Elementary stopped by for a tour of The Clarkston News building. They were touring different buildings in town and speaking to the people who work in them.

Thursday, I was a speaker at North Sashabaw Elementary School's Career Day. Six groups of about 20 to 25 children spent forty-five minutes learning about The Clarkston News and what reporting and editing jobs are like. They also learned what it was like to work as an assistant prosecutor, sheriff's deputy, fireman, nail technician, banker, candy maker and cake decorator.

Again, teachers and parent volunteers helped out the presenters and made a wonderful assortment of pot-luck dishes and desserts for us.

Being among the kids, parents and teachers brought back fond memories of my own experiences as a parent volunteer in the schools.

I don't remember what prompted me to start volunteering. Because I'm having so much trouble letting my daughter Liz go off to college next fall (thankfully she'll be close by at U of M), I assume I had the same reaction to her entering kindergarten, and wanted to tag along.

Liz was in Bonnie Valuet's kindergarten class at Pine Knob Elementary. Once a week I helped kids get on and off the bus, graded papers and did some minor testing. I was in heaven.

When my son Patrick was in Mrs. Richley's first grade class I helped the kids "write" books about their favorite sport or hobby.

I also took a turn as a popcorn lady and was a chaperone for several field trips over the years. The kids were always well behaved and a lot of fun.

When Liz and Pat moved on to Sashabaw Middle School I went with them. Because there was less opportunity for classroom involvement, I joined the Parent Teacher Association.

The PTA let me stay involved and kept me abreast of what was going on at the school and in the district.

One of the most exciting projects I was part of at SMS was the Reflections Fine Arts program. Put on each fall by the PTA, students entered works in photography, music, literature and art -- all hobbies of mine.

When my kids moved on to Clarkston High School I moved again, to the CHS PTSA as secretary, publicity chair, and ways and means co-chair.

My husband and I also helped out occasionally at CHS track and cross country meets and hockey games when our kids were competing. We have thoroughly enjoyed watching our own kids and the other students playing sports.

From school tasks to artistic projects and sporting events, the students have showed creativity, imagination, depth and spunk. They remain a constant source of inspiration.

Since I went back to work two years ago my volunteer activities have dwindled. My loss.

Now that my kids are teenagers, I appreciate even more the experiences I shared with them and the students at their schools. And I know many other parent volunteers share my feelings.

Being a volunteer kept me involved with my kids' lives more closely, and gave me some of my best "mom" experiences.

I understand only too well how necessary volunteers are to the schools. But I also hope the school staff and administrators know how important they are to some of us volunteers.

Letters to the editor

Thanks to the teachers of the United States

Dear Editor:

Our public school system continues to be closely examined. Education experts and government leaders have suggested all kinds of ways to strengthen our education system. One of those ways is by showing respect and support for our teachers.

Our public school teachers are doing an outstanding job. Compared with many professionals, they are underpaid and overworked. They perform daily miracles in their classrooms, which Americans take for granted.

We have asked them to shoulder a major responsibility, and we often seek their help with nonteaching tasks. We are considered to be among the best educated citizens in the world. And for that, we have our teachers to thank.

We can improve our country's education system significantly by exhibiting respect for teachers and by letting them know how much we value their contributions. We need to look for ways to support them and their efforts to grow professionally, as schools change to meet the needs of communities.

This week has been set aside as National PTA Teacher Appreciation Week to focus attention on the many outstanding educators whose work deserves applause. Let's contribute to the efforts of improving our schools and reinforcing the quality of education in our community; let's recognize teachers for the significant role they play in our lives and in the well-being of our nation.

Let's take time to say "thanks" to the teachers of our community and throughout the United States.

A Look Back

15 YEARS AGO (1983)

Clarkston High School 1977 graduate and former class president Jill Vedder makes national headlines. She and seven other spelunkers are rescued after being trapped for three days in a flooded Mount Vernon, Ky. cave.

It's taken one month to compile the transcripts of a five-hour public hearing on the controversial Edward C. Levy mining proposal. But the state's Department of Natural Resources still hasn't rendered a decision on the plan to mine 300 acres near the headwaters of the Clinton River.

Citizens will hash it out during the first of several sessions scheduled for input on a proposed Clarkston Historic District Ordinance. The 174-home district has been divided into three sections. The first session affects residents on Main, Miller and Washington streets.

25 YEARS AGO (1973)

Springfield Township will vote on whether or not to rezone 500 acres off Ormond Rd. to permit sand and gravel mining. An environmental impact study has been requested and was recently funded by the Oakland County Board of Commissioners.

Clarkston Area Jaycees elect Mark Pankner president for the coming year. Other elected officers include Fred Ritter, Dale Fitch, Ken Hall, Terry Lopucki, George White, Jim Brueck and Rick Fournier.

Clarkston High School's baseball team has won six games and lost one since the start of the season.

50 YEARS AGO (1948)

News from "By The Way:" The highways are in very poor shape this year. Perhaps the reason this writer notices it more is because about 200 feet from our lot is a bad drop. Truck drivers making the trip up M-15 know the spot and start to put the brakes on early. But if they hit it, folks in the vicinity are treated to hearing two noisy bumps from every vehicle. For the information of the road commission, the addition of tar to fill these spots means that trucks just go up in the air and fall, instead of falling into the hole and bouncing up. We are not engineers, but we believe the proper application of the gas tax would clear up this problem, which is daily growing more dangerous.

Playing at the Holly Theatre are Gene Autry and Lynne Roberts in "Saddle Pals" and Abbott and Costello in "The Wistful Widow of Wagon Gap."

DON'T RUSH ME / by Don Rush

Dang their eyes

O-o-o-o, I just know I'm gonna' be scalped for this column. I can see it now, Don Rush and the Seventh Calvary, facing certain doom at the hands of cheesed-off native Americans. I can see the flaming arrows, hear them whiz by.

Yet the fight must continue... those smackin', frackin' rat whock-a-doolies, also known as Internal Revenue Service agents... we'll purge the earth of those above-the-law band of... ans.

I am gonna' get audited. Last week was a banner year for the slam dunking of the IRS, witness after witness testified at some of the arrogant and blatantly wrong practices of some agents -- not to mention their superiors.

I knew I had to write something when I read the headline and then the first paragraph of this story. Corruption pervades the IRS, official says. IRS agent going unpunished for being on their expense account. IRS Treasury Department admitted Tuesday.

here's my dang pearl-handled Colt six-shooter. Line up those... ge agents and shoot 'em on high treason charges (so, Don, how do you really feel?).

The article went on to report that good agents who tried to do the right thing and blow the whistle on their fellow black-hearted IRS employees had their own careers destroyed, while those corrupt rakin', blackin' agents got promotions or had their scandalous activities covered-up by allowing them to retire.

All week long at those congressional hearings, we heard and read of the IRS Americans have learned to hate (with a passion, I might add). And, then at the week's end the head IRS guy said something to the effect that, "Americans are cheating the government out of $1.9 billion, so while our tactics may seem severe, they're justified."

Well, that's the take I took on it. You'd think that just like a government official, I'd be the best at taking some aspect of something and then turning it around as to be in someone else's favor. I found circular and circular in logic. Obviously I haven't mastered the fine art of double-speak which some politicians and government bureaucrats are fond of.

People poll

By Eileen McCarville

Do you think the IRS is corrupt?

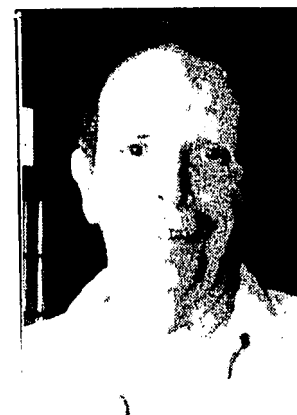

MARIE KANE, CLARKSTON: That's a pretty bold question. It doesn't sound good, does it? It's scary.

LEANNE SEXTON, CLARKSTON: I don't know if I'd say it's corrupt, but it's definitely out of control. Just that they seem to abuse their power.

SANDRA SIEG, CLARKSTON: You bet they are. Somebody's benefiting from it -- and it sure isn't me.

DON FENTON, CLARKSTON: What I would have to say is, in any large organization there's the potential for corruption. As far as any corruption or concerns, I haven't heard of any specific situations but it wouldn't surprise me.

FRANK RIVERS, CLARKSTON: We need a change. Flat tax. The bureaucrats have been taking care of themselves. They're not controlling.

Spring safety tips

Now that Spring has arrived, more and more fitness enthusiasts will be exercising outdoors. Before moving your workout outside keep the following safety tips in mind:

• Be aware of unlevel pavement that is common on paved roads. Many streets slope on the sides to promote water drainage, which can wreak havoc on your ankles and knees. When possible walk, jog, or run on sidewalks which typically are much more level. Also, loose gravel found on roadsides and dirt roads can easily cause a wipeout, so be extra careful when this condition is present.

• Music is a great motivator, but when wearing headphones outside you are decreasing one of your most valuable senses - hearing. It is important to be aware of your surroundings which include oncoming traffic, bikers, emergency vehicles, etc. If you do where headphones, keep the volume as low as possible.

• Especially here in Michigan, warm summer days definitely lure people outside. On these days, or even overcast days, sunscreen is a must. Apply a waterproof formula to all exposed skin to protect against sunburn. Also be sure to drink plenty of water since the heat and humidity of the outdoors leads to faster dehydration.

• On the other hand, if your outdoor physical activity is after sundown, be sure to wear reflective clothing. This is especially important in rural areas where street lights are less common.

• Finally, stay in familiar areas. Many times long distance walkers or bikers tend to get curious and venture into new territory. Depending on where you live, it can be very easy to get lost or end up in a high crime area. Also remember that however far you travel, you will have to travel an equal distance back.

Amputee speaks on handicap awareness at Springfield Plains

BY EILEEN McCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

If you took the Turner out of the middle, you could call him Bachman Overdrive.

That's appropriate when you consider Ron Bachman, a former disc jockey, has hobnobbed with some of rock's greatest superstars, like Steven Tyler of Aerosmith. But it also refers to his boundless energy.

Nothing seems to stop the man who's never known what it's like to climb a tree or run a marathon.

Born with birth defects that rendered his tiny legs useless, Bachman, a Northville resident, had them amputated when he was just four years old. But, thanks to a relentless spirit and great sense of humor, he didn't let that defeat him.

Tooling around on a cool, motorized scooter, Bachman's bright-eyed enthusiasm was contagious as he spoke at Springfield Plains Elementary April 28. He captivated students with his inspiring message about handicap awareness at two assemblies during the school's annual Festival of Careers Day.

Other events included career workshops, ventriloquist Richard Paul and comic sleuth Les Trouble, P.I. This year's theme was "You Can Make This World a Better Place."

During the second assembly, which was geared to the lower grades, Bachman told children that after the amputation, he wore artificial limbs until he was 18 years old. He dumped them after graduation.

"I wore those legs every single day to high school. But when I got older I took them off. The reason I didn't keep those legs was because I didn't like feeling handicapped," he said.

That's when Bachman's amazing journey began. But it was a long, hard road for more than just physical reasons. Bachman faced teasing and cruelty in his new life without limbs.

"Every once in while, somebody would push me down. Not very nice, huh?" he said, and the kids shook their heads. Even though he tried to be friendly, he was still picked on.

To illustrate this, he told about the time a boy made a mean comment as he passed on his bicycle. Though he waved, smiled and said "hi," the boy said, "You make me sick because of how you look without legs." That (sort of thing) happened to me everyday when I was growing up," Bachman said.

He got kids to think when he said, surely they had never made fun of anyone. "You never do that, never say 'Shut up, Fatso?' Do you tease them, make fun? No. 'Cause they're your friends."

He added, "So, I want you to make a promise, before you leave here, that you're never going to be that way."

Even though life was hard, Bachman said he pressed on. He learned to walk on his hands and got around with various customized vehicles, including a motorized scooter, mini-van and big shiny motorcycle — a definite hit with the kids. Everything is controlled by his hands, even the brakes.

His milestones were the same as anyone else's. He worked, fell in love, got married and had a daughter. His life story was filmed as a documentary, and presently, is garnering a lot of attention at film festivals. Bachman said the Detroit premiere, sponsored by Channel 7, is expected to take place at the Redford Theater in late August.

Titled "Walk This Way," after the Aerosmith song, it was authored by Katheryne Vander, a book is also in the works, he said. The title obviously refers to his relationship with rock stars, but it's also descriptive of how Bachman sees his life, as more of a challenge than a handicap.

On Tuesday, Children watched a Channel 7-Detroit Special Assignment tape, which showed Bachman at home, at work, with his family and talking to school children in Novi. Even though people look different on the outside, they are still the same on the inside, he told the Novi kids. "I have the same heart, the same brain. I laugh and cry at all the same things."

Born to be wild: Jimmy Bradburn shares a memorable moment with Bachman, who lets the second-grader take a spin on his motorized scooter.

His philosophy is, no matter how difficult your life is, you can conquer your troubles through positive thinking. "It's amazing what you can do if you put your mind to it."

Bachman sees himself as pretty much the regular guy. "Do I do all the things your parents do?" he asked the children, who nodded enthusiastically. "You saw me work, drive my van. You saw me with my daughter ..."

When it came time for questions, lots of hands shot up. Children wanted to know everything, from whether he still had his artificial limbs, to how he got down the stairs. "Everything is on one level," he said of his ranch-style home. As for traveling elsewhere, most places are handicap accessible, he added.

More than one child wanted to see Bachman walk on his hands. But he said he had a sore arm and couldn't today. "You'll just have to trust me that I can do it," he winked.

He assured the kids it's OK to look at people with disabilities, and he knows it's sometimes scary. "Just don't stare," he said.

In closing, Bachman asked the kids to raise their right hands and recite this promise: "I promise, Ronny, that from this day on, when I see anybody with any kind of disability or not, I will never tease them, pick on them or make fun of them. And I will always try to be the best person I can."

Bachman said everyone is special — and it's important to accept ourselves just the way we are. He has.

"This is how I am. This is how I'm supposed to be, whether people like it or not. I like myself," he said, with a cheery smile. "I like being a dad. I love my daughter. And I think those things should count for something — don't you?"

Ron Bachman is planning a national tour, where he will continue to spread his message on handicap awareness to schools and other groups across the country. He is looking for sponsors. For more information, call (248) 788-6434. For ticket information on the film "Walk This Way," call (313) 436-7021.

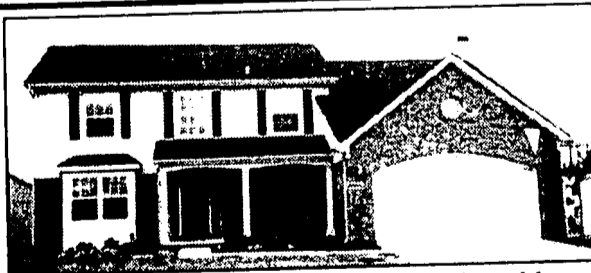

Road chloriding gets go-ahead

Drivers may be singing, "Take me home, county road," with smoother sailing over the next few weeks.

On April 21 the Independence Township Board of Trustees approved a road chloriding contract with Road Maintenance Corp., which has done the work on secondary county roads in the township for the past three years. Supervisor Dale Stuart said the company's price is less expensive than that of Road Commission for Oakland County and it has an "excellent working condition" with the township, with few complaints from residents.

Though four applications, at $.05 each foot, were quoted, the board voted to go with five, the first to take place as soon as possible.

The extra application is needed because of heavy dust conditions this year. "Because of the mild winter, we are probably at least a month away from the road chloriding that (normally) would occur," Stuart said.

Reading Ross

Bobby Ross, head coach of the Detroit Lions, took some time Friday morning to read to two kindergarten classes in the Pine Knob Elementary School media center. Ross engaged the 50 students in conversation and games between reading the book "Louella May - She's Run Away." Ross, who used to be a high school English teacher, said this was the first elementary school he's visited since being named Lions coach Jan. 13, 1997. "I really enjoyed this, it takes me back to being with my children and grandchildren," Ross said. "I love being around children, and it's always a lot of fun."

CHS Principal Brent Cooley (from left), and seniors Nicki Nelles, Curt Brewer and Danielle Facione passed out CDs and t-shirts to fellow students at the Senior Breakfast Saturday.

Seniors get breakfast

About 60 Clarkston High School seniors were treated to breakfast at the Clarkston Big Boy Saturday morning. The occasion was the fifth Annual Senior Breakfast, hosted by principal Brent Cooley.

A few of the seniors received some special recognition from their peers, and took home CDs from the CHS band and Dave Matthews band, and CHS t-shirts.

Kristin Blue and Laura Hompesch shared the honor of being the youngest. Both girls were born November 24, 1980.

Jason Nanney, 19, was awarded a prize for being the oldest senior.

Dave Brown ate the biggest breakfast; Mike Underwood was named the senior with the most school spirit; and Liberty Fish is traveling the farthest in the continental U.S. to go to college -- Arizona.

Mike Maitrott was named the handsomest, Erica Holman has the best personality, and Liz Cook and Jeremy Attaman tied for most involved seniors.

Clarkston Village Players present 'Rumors'

You know if you tell a few little white lies your nose is gonna grow. Figuratively speaking, that is. In "Rumors," Clarkston Village Players' last production of the season, the collective schnozz could fill Depot Theater.

The event that starts the rollicking ruckus is an attempted suicide, just prior to a swanky dinner party. Obviously no dead aim, "Charlie," the host and deputy mayor of New York City, way misses the target — his head — by shooting a hole through his earlobe. The first two guests work up some elaborate fibbing to cover up the could-be scandal and gun shots.

But, who would believe it was an exploding manhole cover or can of shaving cream?

That's just part of the fibbery. As the other couples arrive, additional fabrications are added, and soon no one can keep the story straight or remember who said what to whom. Eventually, lies snowball into the inevitable confrontation before a cop.

This is a Neil Simon play and the cast pulls off the playwright's gift for exposing the human comedy, with many of the characterizations effectively exaggerated.

Funnyman Player Dean Vanderkolk is up to his usual, deft high jinks — this time as the hapless Lenny — whose scratched new BMW is another source of consternation. With his puppy-dog eyes, Vanderkolk's Chaplinesque delivery evokes memories of the sad Little Tramp.

Most of the male Players, save for Vanderkolk and Mark Delcamp as the temporarily hard-of-hearing Ken, are straight men to the women, all comic relief.

Especially noteworthy are Elizabeth Nelson, as a droll, slouchy Claire ("That's not bad. I have holes in my earlobe and it doesn't hurt."), and her counterpart, Debbie Truba as a hilariously hyper Chris. Feeding an anxiety attack, she downs vodka faster than you can say Absolut.

One thing's certain. If you tell a lie — even one — you never forget it. "Rumors" gives its characters a night to remember.

BY EILEEN MCCARVILLE

"Rumors" continues its run over the next two weekends. Play dates are May 7, 8, 9, 14, 15 and 16 at the Depot Theater, 4861 White Lake Rd. in Clarkston. Showtimes are Friday and Saturday, 8 p.m.; Thursday, 7:30 p.m. For more information, call (248) 625-8811.

Environment hits the spotlight at middle school

BY EILEEN McCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

As art teacher Claudia Keglovitz put it to students: "The Land Conservancy (TLC) helps preserve natural areas for the present and the future. And you guys are present and future — all of you."

Keglovitz's speech was part of a Tuesday afternoon assembly — the culmination to Ecology Week, a week-long study/celebration of environmental issues at Clarkston Middle School April 20-24. Highlights included presentation of a $500 check to TLC, from money raised during an aluminum can drive, and the raffling off of a mountain bike from Kinetic Systems Inc. in Clarkston.

"Endangered" species of Beanie Babies were also raffled off, and student Anna Trim was presented with a TLC shirt because she collected the most cans — 1,502.

Fitting music was provided by a trio of sixth-grade girls, who sang the National Anthem. Additionally, the seventh- and eighth-grade combined chorus sang local composer Gene Grier's tuneful elegy-to-ecology: "Who Has Seen the Wind?"

Other events through the week were a visit from TV meteorologist Chad Meyers, and displays of native animals and student projects. Ecology Week emerged from the efforts of CMS staffers Keglovitz, Becky Abdoo, Jim Berman and Janet Thomas, who wanted to establish a cross-curricular, school-wide ecology aware-

Before TLC president Tom Stone accepted a life-size version of the check — carried by four, strong sixth-graders — he provided some information we often take for granted. For example, how trees and

LOOK BEFORE YOU LEAP

As the swimming and diving injuries inherent to warm-water activity inevitably occur, it is instructive to look at the liability issues involved with such accidents. Generally speaking, there is no negligence liability for injuries that result from conditions that should have been obvious to swimmers. The landowner's duty is to warn of dangerous conditions that may not be immediately obvious to swimmers. Thus, there is no legal duty on the part of the landowner to warn swimmers of the obvious dangers of diving into shallow water. It is the swimmer's responsibility to walk into a swim area to inspect the shallowness of the water before attempting a dive. The old saw "Look before you leap" applies in such cases.

If you have been injured, you owe it to yourself and your family to determine whether you are entitled to receive compensation for the pain, suffering, and loss of income incurred. At our law office, we have the experience, the knowledge, and the resources to help you reach a successful conclusion. To schedule a consultation, call 620-1030. We're located at 11 North Main Street.

HINT: Swimmers are strongly urged to take note of signs at swimming areas that make known dangers which may not be readily apparent to them.

Public hearing for inspection ordinance

On April 27 Clarkston's City Council set a public hearing date, tentatively scheduled for May 11. The meeting will address a proposed building inspection ordinance which affects commercial buildings in the downtown business district.

As proposed, the ordinance would require building and business owners to have periodic inspections that would include both fire and structural checks of their buildings. The inspections would be conducted by city building inspector Sy Stone, in conjunction with the Independence Township Fire Department.

City meetings rescheduled

On April 27 Clarkston City Council changed two meeting dates over the next two months. The regular meeting set for May 25 has been changed to May 26 because of Memorial Day. In addition, the June 8 meeting was changed to June 9 because of the Clarkston school election. Both dates fall on Tuesday. All council meetings begin at 7 p.m. at City Hall, 375 Depot in Clarkston.

Special meeting

Clarkston City Council has set a special joint board meeting, tentatively scheduled for May 19 (Tuesday) at 7 p.m., City Hall, 375 Depot in Clarkston. The meeting will be a workshop between city council and the planning commission, designed to address the new zoning ordinance which has yet to be approved.

expansion plan.

"I think the final key component is the issue of M-15 itself," Carlisle said. "With the amount of traffic coming from the north to this township, and then from I-75 and traveling north, the pressure to improve that road is going to continue."

When widening comes, Carlisle wants to see the corridor developed in a "parkway" fashion. A parkway is different than a boulevard concept because boulevards are typically wider. An example is Telegraph Rd.

"We want to see a different roadway with the landscaping more in keeping with the atmosphere," he says, noting some famous parkways in the U.S.

They include the Taconic Parkway, which connects New York City and Albany, and the Blueidge

Parkway, which was constructed in post-Depression years and features "hand-stone-built bridges ... It's a pleasure to drive though those roadways."

That's the kind of concept he envisions for the township. Discouraging strong development will also help. "If we're not careful with the traffic volumes, you will have M-15 looking like Dixie Highway—pure and simple. And I do not think that's what all the people of this community want."

Summing things up, he continues, "Eventually it will be widened. What happens on M-15 is going to create the greatest challenge to maintain the atmosphere in this part of the township. If it becomes widened like every other (roadway), it's going to look like any other highly developed corridor in Oakland County."

Parks & Rec. revving up to move forward remembering what's important to local residents. He also asked them to think about strategies and goals for getting there.

Issues discussed by Saturday's group ranged from partnering between the schools and township to share facilities — such as the new high school pool which could be used for open swims for various community groups and seniors — to renovation of the Brady Lodge in Bay Court Park, estimated to be a $5 million project, Conklin said.

Conklin said the goal is to turn the lodge into a community center "for the residents of the community for uses they might have ... We need a facility for township use."

With the senior population also growing, Conklin said that an individual plan for the Senior Center will also be a part of the larger, parks and rec. master plan.

"We're doing the same types of things for the seniors program. That's kind of like a Vision 2020, and that's going to all be incorporated into this," she said. There will be four or five focus groups studying a variety of issues, she added.

Like Vision 2020, there will be a wide range of players involved, including both users and non-users of senior programs and facilities, she said. Business and community leaders will also take part, she said.

On Saturday, small group discussion also addressed land acquisition for future parks, partnership with the private sector, park funding and recreation programs. Some felt educational programs, like those at the Independence Oaks nature center, should be included.

Many of the groups came up with the same priorities, like cooperation between the schools and township, and coordinating activities with other park systems in the region, like Independence Oaks, an Oakland County park, and Indian Springs Metro Park, run by HCMA (Huron Clinton Metropolitan Authority), a regional park system.

In one group, planning commission chair Steve Board brought up the trend of cluster development, which preserves large areas of open space in new subdivisions. Some developers have expressed interest in turning these areas into park-like settings, with trails and other amenities that could be utilized by more than the residents who live there.

"Obviously in Morgan Lake's case, it was a golf course," Board said.

Examples are Stonewall Farms, which includes 33 acres of preserved open space, and a future development at White Lake Rd. and Dixie Highway. The property, which is full of wetlands, would run around the perimeter of the proposed POH medical center. Land owner Dave Johnson is interested in developing some of it into a public park site, Board said.

"It's some of the most beautiful land you'll ever see. And he's going to open that up for you and me," he said.

Board said Monday it would be challenging to recognize that particular kind of property as additional township park space, without impacting the subdivision residents' privacy.

Another issue was the necessity of completing the safety path system so walkers, bicyclists and skaters could access all the parks. "I think it's very important we're trying to hook up our safety path system with our recreational facilities," Board said.

"And safety paths ARE recreational facilities," added township trustee Neil Wallace, noting all the walkers, bicyclists and Rollerbladers who use them. "They're used for recreation."

Happy Mother's Day!

Thanks to the Andersonville Elementary School fourth grade students who shared their Mother's Day letters with us.

Dear Mom,
 A very special day is fast approaching. My mom is very brave because she always never runs away from a wasp and stands up for me and wacks the wasp with my sisters' pink sandle. That's why I think my mom is so nice, brave and considerate.
 With loves
 Jason

Dear Mom,
 I'm writing to you because mother's day is coming soon and I wanted to thank you for doing nice things for me like cooking special noodles for me and Gordon even though Lindsay and Nick don't like them. And helping me with my homework when I'm stuck and help me study for spelling tests. And thank you for playing games with me when Lindsay won't play with me. Thank you!
 Love,
 Erin

Dear Mom,
 A very special day is approaching, 7/21 which is Mother's Day. The thing I like about you is you care for my brother and me equally. Other things you give me are a roof over my head, food, clothes, love and much more.
 With Love,
 Jenna

Dear Mom,
 I haven't got a chance to tell you I love you. Mom, thank you for being there for me. I hope I'll be there for you when you need me. I'll really look up to you. With love,
 Sincerely,
 Michael Zachary Bell

Dear Mom,
 Every day you take me to hockey and put up with me if I'm in a bad mood. I know it's tough putting up with all four of us every day of your life. Could I do anything to make it up to you to show I appreciate you just ask. Before I have to go home will you come to the mother's day dance!

Hugs and kisses
 Kyle Cummings

P.S. I love you

Dear mom,
 I'm writing this letter to tell you how much I like having you as my mom.

I thank you for taking time out of your day to drive me to dance every Tuesday. I like it alot when you make me chicken noodle soup when I don't like what we're having. I wanted to thank you for helping me with my P.A. homework because without you I wouldn't be able to do it.

With lots of love,

Dear Mom,
 A very special day is fast approaching, with fun, love, and excitement. Like the time you took Bobby to Kings Island with us and you keep all three of us boy clean, because if you weren't here we'd go to school with baggy clothes. Mothers Day is coming and I've already been shopping.

Lots of love,

Senkyr the latest to attend Northwood

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The athletic pipeline from Oakland County to Northwood University in Midland just got an outstanding addition.

Georgia Senkyr, a senior at Clarkston High School, has decided to attend Northwood to play basketball next year. Senkyr made her announcement Thursday, but made her decision on April 20.

"I wanted to play a sport in college, and I wanted to go to a business school, so I chose Northwood," Senkyr said. "It's a pretty campus up there, and it's a nationally rated business school, so it offered everything I wanted."

Senkyr's decision wasn't easy, because it consisted of two decisions - what sport to play, and what college to attend. She played on the varsity basketball team for two seasons, and admitted she didn't know there was a future for her in that sport at the college level until last fall. She was also a two-year starter for the varsity volleyball team and a four-year starter for the varsity soccer team.

"It was all (varsity girls basketball coach) Ann Serra (Lowney)," she said. "She asked if I would want to play in college, and I said yes, so she got in touch with Northwood."

Senkyr was named the most valuable player of the 1997 team that won the OAA Division I championship. She was the team's best defensive player and led the team in rebounds and assists. It's that all-around game, and that Senkyr is a 5-foot-11 guard, that drew Northwood coach Erica Levy to her.

"Georgia is a very good all-around athlete," Levy said. "I like her flexibility and her athleticism. I can see playing her at the 1, 2 or 3 spot. She is also very fundamentally sound, and you don't find many guards in the GLIAC who are 5-11."

Defense is what Senkyr excelled in for the Wolves last season. In the team's breakthrough 56-40 win at Rochester, Senkyr held Falcon center Paige Harris to eight points and two field goals, after she scored 19 in the first meeting between the two teams.

"She's the best defensive player I have ever coached," said Brian Ray, Senkyr's freshman and junior varsity basketball coach. "I needed her to play point guard, and she took it as a challenge. As a coach, she's just a dream to have on your team."

Senior Georgia Senkyr (seated) is surrounded by her family (L-R), father Chuck, mother Jody and brother Cody at her college announcement Thursday. Georgia will attend Northwood University on a basketball scholarship in the fall.

Lowney said Senkyr will do well at Northwood because she has not scratched the surface of her potential yet.

"She will get the opportunity to devote her full time to basketball, and with her work ethic and athleticism, she will be great," she said. "Guards of her size are hard to find in Division II."

"Her best contribution to my team was her leadership," Lowney continued. "The rest of our kids fed off her, and you could see it in the games. When she played well, we played well."

Senkyr is the only CHS athlete this year to be named captain of three teams. She was voted the most improved player in basketball and volleyball last year, and was the MVP last year in soccer and this year in basketball and volleyball.

Joining Senkyr at her signing day were several teammates and her family; father Chuck, mother Jody and brother Cody.

"Georgia really matured this year and had a lot of fun playing for Ann," Chuck Senkyr said. "She makes us very proud of her not only as an athlete, but as a person."

"We're very excited about the opportunity Georgia has going up there," Jody Senkyr said. "The coach wants to build a program, and it's exciting for Georgia to be a part of that."

"I'm very proud of her," declared Aimee Giroux, Senkyr's teammate in basketball and volleyball for four years. "I've been best friends with her for a long time, and she had a goal of playing sports in college, and now she's done it. I never doubted she would do it."

County seniors who will play for the Timberwolves next season. In addition, CHS senior Tiffany Honey received a softball scholarship to Northwood. Lake Orion senior Samantha Miller will also attend Northwood, to play volleyball next year.

Female Athlete of the Week: Jennifer Rooding

Salut, Jennifer: She's nice and quiet, doesn't yell in people's faces and doesn't draw attention to herself. But once the starting gun goes off, she generates more than her share of noise. Junior Jennifer Rooding has been one of the most consistent middle-distance runners for the girls track team this season. She had her best day of the season at Friday's Romeo Invitational, taking first in the 800 run and was a part of the winning 4x800 and 4x400 relay teams. Her time of 2:27.75 in the 800 was her best and the team's best mark of the season, and her 4x800 relay team took nearly a full minute off its previous best time, finishing at 9:47.65. Jennifer also carries a 3.4 grade point average.

Coach Gordie Richardson on Jennifer: "She is a girl that works very hard and hates to lose. She just continuously gets a little better each year, a little stronger and a little faster. Running cross country helps there too. Jennifer is someone who doesn't get too fazed by competition. She just goes out and runs."

Jennifer on Jennifer: "Cross country has helped my endurance a lot, especially in the 400 and 800. I feel like if I run like it's the 800, my 400 finish is better because I realize that after three laps, I only have one left. My goal is to qualify for states in the 800, and help our 4x400 and 4x800 teams qualify. We've got a great team, and I know we can do it."

Jennifer Rooding

Clarkston's Loren Deacon returns a backhand during recent tennis action. The team is playing improved tennis of late, and at a good time. The OAA II Meet is Thursday.

Male Athlete of the Week: Marc Venegoni

Salut, Marc: One of the hardest working and most dedicated athletes in his class, senior Marc Venegoni has excelled in three varsity sports for the Wolves over the last two years. He was a starting wide receiver for the varsity football team and made a near-game saving touchdown catch at Troy. He was also one of the top subs off the bench for the regional-champion varsity basketball team, with his ballhandling and defense as his strengths. On the boys track team, Marc has stepped into the spotlight, emerging as the team's best high jumper and long jumper, and a starter in the 200 and sprint relays. Marc set a personal best with a long jump of 21 feet, 1 1/2 inches to win the event at Saturday's Ashley Relays at Waterford Mott. He beat out jumpers from strong schools like Pontiac Northern, Auburn Hills Avondale and Milford to take home the gold. He is also an active member of the Student Council and carries a 3.2 grade point average. He said he will decide in the next week whether to attend Albion or Alma and run track.

Coach Walt Wyniemko on Marc: "Marc is a great competitor and is great at helping other young jumpers. He is a leader for us and is a team player in that he's willing to help out, and that's nice for me to see as a coach. We're a team that needs senior leadership, and he provides that."

Marc on Marc: "On this team, the seniors have always helped out the younger guys, getting them ready to be seniors, and that's what I'm doing now."

Coach Walt Wyniemko and Marc Venegoni

Athletics is a great place to learn lessons about life, and to learn about yourself as a person. I learned a lot of that from Coach (Dan) Fife. He's just incredible to learn from, and I'm lucky to have been a part of everything here."

Doubles play picking up for tennis team

Match vs. Groves washed out

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Mother Nature may have saved Birmingham Groves from a big upset Monday afternoon.

The Clarkston boys tennis team was playing very well, according to coach Kevin Ortwine, when a down-pour forced the suspension of Monday's match. It was scheduled to be continued Tuesday.

At the time the rain started, Groves, a Division I team, was ahead of the Wolves 3-2, but No. 1 singles player Jim Kyle was in the third set of his match, and the No. 2 doubles team of Dustin Kring and Nate Davidson were ahead in the second set.

"Our doubles teams are playing great right now," Ortwine said. "They've been able to overcome their early-season inexperience and are coming through for us."

Earlier in the week, Clarkston was shutout by Rochester 8-0, a team Ortwine called the best they will see all season.

"Rochester is just so deep, there's not much you can do against them," he said. "Patrick (Heber) played really well and lost 6-1, 6-3. That just shows you how good they are."

Both Rochester and West Bloomfield are in Clarkston's region. Here's the scary part: West Bloomfield beat Rochester 7-1 earlier this season.

Despite the loss, Ortwine recognized that there was some good to be had for his team.

"Especially with our doubles guys, they were able to see some of the things we've been telling them about," he said. "It's hard to picture that sometimes."

Comebacks, role models and JV success

● Twice in the last couple of months, I've had pictures featuring junior Corinne McIntyre. In both of those pictures, she is flexing with both arms in the fun company of some of her teammates on the varsity softball team.

In Wednesday's softball doubleheader at Brandon, I finally figured out why Corinne flexes as much as she does. She must be Wonder Woman.

How else can you explain her near-miraculous recovery from a compound fracture of her left hand in less than four weeks? She recovered well enough to start at third base for the Wolves in both games. She made three plays in the infield and got on base three times in the two games.

I was at Royal Oak Kimball back on April 6 when Corinne made her fateful headfirst slide into second base, the play that caused her injury. After the Kimball second baseman landed on her hand with those nasty softball spikes, Corinne rolled around in obvious pain for nearly 15 minutes. She wasn't yelling for painkillers or wanting a piece of the Kimball player who certainly could have avoided her hand, but instead, she was apologizing to coach Al Land for misreading a steal sign.

Upon hearing of her injuries, my most optimistic hope for Corinne was that she might make it back for districts.

However, as Spring Break came and went, Corinne's remarkable healing powers went to work. Even her doctor was amazed at the speed with which the hand healed. As I sat next to her in the dugout a couple weeks ago, she told me, "I'll play again this season." I was a bit skeptical, but I shouldn't have been.

She wasn't going to be back this season, but this month. On April 28, the day before the Brandon games, she got the clearance to play, and on an overcast Wednesday, out she trotted to third base, looking like nothing out of the ordinary had ever happened.

Corinne's recovery certainly wasn't ordinary. I believe it wasn't as much her body's recuperative powers that brought her back as much as her will and desire to play and compete for this team. That will and desire aren't easily seen from the outside. She doesn't glare at the opposition and doesn't kick the fence yelling "WHY? WHY? WHY?" in frustration over her injury. Quietly, she had the confidence and drive to know she could come back.

In her first four games back after the injury - doubleheaders against Brandon and Lapeer West - Corinne went 5-for-9 at the plate with three runs batted in. She singled in her first at-bat against Brandon's Christina Butrynski.

"I feel sensational!" she said after Friday's twin-bill win over the Panthers. "Early on, the doctors kept telling me 'no', I wouldn't come back. But in the back of my mind, I was saying 'yes.'"

"The team gave me a lot of support through all this," she continued. "They picked me up and helped to make me feel better."

"I just can't say enough about Corinne," Land said. "She was determined to come back, and she has really helped to solidify our defense."

Let's not overlook the great job Land and the team did in her absence either. Clarkston won 11 of the 12 games she missed, and freshmen like Lindsay Simko, Tricia Brewer and Mary Warchuck filled in admirably. Senior Tiffany Honey showed why she will compete - and excel - at Northwood University next year by moving from shortstop to catcher and doing an outstanding defensive job with no complaints.

Nice to have you back, Corinne, but remember one thing - feet-first slides are a good thing!

● Speaking of Northwood University, senior Georgia Senkyr has decided to attend the Midland college to play basketball for the Timberwolves and coach Erica Levy.

I feel fortunate to have seen Georgia play in six different seasons since I came to Clarkston, and she is definitely the best female athlete I've seen. She has collected three team MVP awards, two Most Improved Player Awards, been named captain to three teams, and was an all-league selection in three different sports.

But one compliment that I feel blows all those others away came from a JV girls soccer player I talked to last week. As we were watching Georgia play against Birmingham Groves, the girl told me, "Georgia is my role model." When I asked her why, I expected reasons like the way she plays, her work ethic, or her subtle sense of humor around others. Instead, the girl told me that she admired Georgia because she is such a good athlete, and has done it the right way, by steering clear of alcohol. "She's just clean, you know?" the girl explained.

That story, more than any other, shows why Georgia is such a great person. I know she gets embarrassed by all this attention, but believe me, it's attention that's well-deserved. Georgia, there should be more in the world like you. Thanks for the memories, and good luck.

● The JV teams at CHS are quietly having excellent seasons. The soccer team, coached by Tami Mitchell and led by players like Angela Humphreys and Heather Combs, boasts of wins over quality teams like Lake Orion (twice) and Rochester Adams, and plays hard every game. Keep up the good work, ladies!

Ladies pull off big win over Kettering

	Clarkston	5
	W. Kettering	4

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Yogi Berra's old saying "It's never over 'till it's over," was never more true than in Monday's varsity softball game between Clarkston and Waterford Kettering.

The Wolves almost let a five-run seventh-inning lead slip away, but emerged with big plays to take a 5-4 win over an excellent Captain team in Waterford. The win moves Clarkston to 15-5 overall and 5-2 in the OAA Division II. Clarkston is now tied with Kettering for second in the league behind first-place Brandon.

The Wolves survived a wild bottom of the seventh that saw Kettering score four runs on only two hits. Despite the near-miss, Clarkston coach Al Land focused on the positive of beating a very good team after the game.

"We know we have to be better than we were in that seventh inning, but we played six outstanding innings today," he said. "We put the ball in play and got some timely hits that were important. Those first six innings are about as good as we can play."

The game was a pitcher's duel through three innings before the Wolves broke the scoreless string. Junior Corinne McIntyre - continuing a remarkable comeback from the compound fracture of her left (catching) hand, singled home senior Carmen Lund to give Clarkston a 1-0 lead.

In the next inning, senior Tiffany Honey turned around a frustrating afternoon with a two-run home run to center field. Honey said she was struggling visualiz-

"I just couldn't connect with the ball, and then I finally got one to drop in for me," she said. "It took a hit like that to get my confidence back, and I could see the ball like I did before."

"I talked to Tiff after her second at bat and told her she was going to drive the next one," Land said, showing his clairvoyant side. "We were really ready to play today, you could see it from the pre-game warmups."

Wolves get sweet revenge on Captains in 7-2 win

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

For the first time since last season's districts, the varsity baseball team visited Waterford Kettering to play the team that ended its 1997 season.

With 1997 seniors Eric Knacke and Jason Ostrom looking on, this year's Wolves handed a little payback to the Captains with a 7-2 victory Thursday afternoon.

Patience at the plate was a key for Clarkston, now 9-5 overall and 6-4 in the OAA Division I. Five of Clarkston's seven runs in the game as a result of walks or bunts.

"I liked our whole performance tonight," coach Roy Warner said. "We were able to move some runners along when they got on base, and we were very good defensively."

The Wolves didn't waste time jumping on Kettering, who dropped to 1-10 on the season. Junior John Drallos smacked a two-run single in the top of the first to give Clarkston a 2-0 lead. Juniors Spencer Hynes and Nick Upchurch each walked and went on to score.

Junior Adam Leech scored Clarkston's third run after a single, a stolen base and advancing on bad Kettering throws. Phil Johnston's bunt single brought Leech home.

Leech returned the bunting favor in the top of the fifth when his squeeze play led to two more runs, one that scored on another bad throw. Jeff Oliver, who pinch-ran for Mike Little, alertly went from second to home on the squeeze when the Kettering infield was undecided on where to throw. Leech later scored on a wild pitch.

Sophomore Chris Mitchell delivered a good day on the mound for the Wolves, going all seven innings while allowing seven hits and striking out six. His mix of pitches kept the Captains off balance and prevented them from putting any rallies together.

"Chris did a nice job of getting his pitches over the plate," Warner said. "When he's getting that changeup over and he gets into a zone, you know he'll be OK."

Clarkston faces the team it's wanted all season Wednesday (today) in the Rochester Falcons. Rochester suffered its first loss of the season Friday night to Troy, but had been ranked No. 2 in the nation most of the season. In their last four meetings, Rochester has outscored Clarkston 47-4 dating back to last year. This will be Rochester's only appearance at Clintonwood Park this season. The first pitch sails at 4 p.m.

Girls run well at Romeo

Wolves take 2nd thanks to many season-bests

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It was only an invitational and the team may have only taken second, but Friday was a very good day for the Clarkston girls track team.

The Wolves ran for season-best times in eight different events at the Richard Caruss Invitational at Romeo Friday afternoon on their way to a second-place finish. Grosse Pointe South took first with 116 points. Clarkston took a close second with 113.75, while Romeo - a team Clarkston will see at regionals - finished third with 100.75 points.

Coach Gordie Richardson said he was very happy with the team's performance, but he just hopes the team isn't peaking too early.

"I was happy with everybody," he said. "We ran some pretty good times against some good competition. We took care of business all day, and it was a pretty darn good performance."

Clarkston athletes took first place in four events at the 14-team invitational, led by junior Jennifer Rooding. One of the Rooding triplets, Jennifer was a part of the first-place 4x800 and 4x400 relay teams that each set new standards for the season. Along with Megan Plante, Lissa Lukens and Nicole Fischer, the 4x800 team took first with a time of 9:47.65, 54 seconds better than its previous best time. The 4x400 team of Rooding, Plante, Erica Holman and Rachel Uchman shaved four seconds off their best time with a run of 4:12.02, good for first.

Rooding also won the 800 run with a time of 2:27.75, nearly a second better than the team's best performance in that event this season.

"Jennifer is one of those kids that's an achiever," Richardson said. "Every year, she keeps getting better."

Even athletes who didn't take first still had their best days of the season. Senior Latisha Hawley threw 99 feet, 9 inches in the discus, good for fourth place, and 13 inches better than her previous best. Junior Michelle Wilson cleared 5-1 in the high jump, getting over the elusive 5-0 mark she'd been stuck at the last couple of weeks.

Freshman Amanda Chicalas kept up her breakthrough year with a first place in the 300 hurdles with a career-best time of 48.63.

"That's a good event for Amanda, because she can use her speed and guts," Richardson said.

Uchman turned in her best long jump of the year, going 15-3/4, good for fourth place.

Senior Gretchen Pitser chipped in with seventh places in the high jump (4-6) and the 200 (28.63). Sophomore Brittani Brewer ran her best time in the 100 hurdles with a third-place 17.25.

● On April 28, the Wolves went with a younger lineup and still eased past Oak Park 93-35 in an OAA II meet.

Clarkston improved to 4-0 on the season, and still gave some varsity points to younger athletes like Kelli Morton (first in the 3200), April Rooding (first in the 800) and Christine Morris (first in the mile).

"I liked the way most of the younger kids ran," Richardson said. "Lindsay Brandt has run very well for a freshman, and we got some other girls like Amy Hopcian and Christina Rooding some experience."

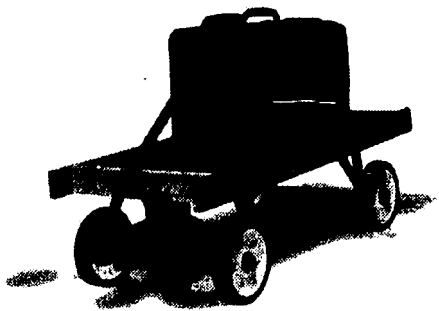

Richardson and the team now gear up for one of their fun days of the year, playing host to the Clarkston Invitational Saturday, starting at 9 a.m. at the CHS field.

Boys make strong showing at Ashley Relays

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

On one side, you have Pontiac Northern, a nuclear warhead of a track team that just blows away its opponents seemingly at will.

On the other side, you've got Lakeland, a program built from the ground up that can unleash scores of distance runners to make its opponents slowly bleed to death.

Facing a relay invitational with these two juggernauts, the Clarkston boys track team made themselves feel very much at home with these elite teams, finishing third in the prestigious 15-team Ashley Relays at Waterford Mott Saturday.

The Wolves finished with 56 points. Northern won the meet for the third straight year with 71 points, while Lakeland took second with 61.5.

Clarkston coach Walt Wyniemko was very pleased with his team's effort at the tough relay.

"It was a very strong meet, a competitive meet, but we ran pretty well," he said. "I was proud of the way our guys hung in there against some tough teams. It was a very good meet for us."

The highlight of the meet came in the long jump, when senior Marc Venegoni set a season-best mark with a jump of 21 feet, 1 1/2 inches to take first place. The leap came just 1/2 inch short of the 21-2 mark needed to qualify for the state meet.

"The jump felt pretty good," Venegoni said. "It was good to jump well against that competition, because I could see where I stood at this point in the season."

Clarkston's high finish in the meet was also buoyed by several splendid performances in relays and the medleys. The distance medley team of Kevin Breen, Jon Burklow, David Sage and Brett Quantz finished second. The sprint medley team of Klinton Powell, Adam Gebus, Burklow and Mike Renda also took second place. Sage finished second in the 3200 with a time of 9:49, a season-best for him.

Wyniemko said he was also happy with the third-place performance of the shuttle hurdle team of Curt Brewer, Brenton Bergkoetter, Nick Veit and Curt Tinetti. Brewer's anchor split of 15.86 helped the team to finish with a time of 1:08.8.

"You can't complain with how the guys did," he said. "We had to face some tough teams, and we came through well. It was a good warmup for the regionals for us."

Saturday, the team heads for Oxford to participate in the Oxford Invitational. Wyniemko said that meet would better prepare the Wolves for regionals, because it follows a more conventional order for the events, unlike the Ashleys.

"I'd like to see our times come down just a little bit, so we can get two or three people qualified for regionals in each event," Wyniemko said.

Kickers battle Dragons to 2-2 tie

	Clarkston	2
	Lake Orion	2

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Just like the first girls soccer meeting between Clarkston and Lake Orion, Monday night's game was played in muddy, damp conditions.

And just like the first meeting, nothing was settled, as the teams played to a 2-2 tie at the CHS field. Clarkston moves to 3-8-2 overall and 3-3-2 in the OAA Division II.

The main difference between this game and the first was that the Dragons had to come back to get the tie instead of Clarkston. Lake Orion tied the game at the 33:02 mark of the second half, and put tremendous pressure on the Wolves the rest of the way.

Coach Brian Fitzgerald, who's seen his team take more than its share of close losses this season, said he was happy to get away with the tie.

"We played hard and aggressively," he said. "Orion is a better team than a lot of people think, and to get a tie against them is pretty good for us."

Senior Georgia Senkyr once again proved her value to the team by scoring both of Clarkston's goals coming within seven minutes of each other in the first half. The first goal, tying the game 1-1, saw Senkyr outrun the defense and slam a shot past the goalkeeper.

The second goal came off an excellent clearing pass by junior Alaina Dodds. The ball squirted behind the goalkeeper, where Senkyr was waiting to tap it in.

"Georgia is a player that finishes well, and you saw that tonight," Fitzgerald said. "I like that we came right back after they scored the first goal and took it to them."

Softball team recovers from Brandon losses to win three straight; Troy up next seventh to extend the lead to 5-0, two runs that would prove to be game-savers for Clarkston.

The first run she drove home was senior Aimee Giroux, who singled earlier in the inning. The hit represented the 12th straight time Giroux has reached base in the past three games. She's had 10 hits and reached base on errors twice. She finished Monday going 4-for-4 with two runs scored.

"Aimee's not in the best of shape, either," Land said. "She's playing with a broken toe, but it's just not affecting her at all."

Clarkston, who's won 13 of its last 16 games, travels to Troy today (Wednesday) for a doubleheader. Saturday, the team heads to Royal Oak for the Fred Peiper Memorial Tournament. The first game pits the Wolves against Flint Powers at 9 a.m.

In earlier action:

Clarkston had an easy time of it Friday, sweeping the Lapeer West Panthers 8-2 and 8-1 at Waterford's Shell Park.

The bats were humming for the Wolves, who pounded out 30 hits in the two games.

Giroux led the way for Clarkston, going 4-for-4 in the second game with two runs scored. She reached base all eight times she came to bat in the two games.

Juniors Mandie Harrison and McIntyre each went 3-for-3 with two RBI, while senior Honey broke out with a game one that saw her hit 3-for-3, drive in two and score twice.

"Our kids had some fun today," Land said. "What was nice is that we didn't drop our level of play down to the competition like we did against Mount Morris. We made some nice plays defensively, and our bunting was excellent."

Senior Rachel Fuller picked up the game-one win, going five innings while allowing just three hits in one of her steadiest performances. Senior Sam Hardenburgh tossed a complete-game four-hitter in her best game of the season.

"We had a nice talk after the Brandon game, and we realized what we did wrong," Land said. "This team doesn't have to go over its mistakes. They know when they happen, and they take steps to correct them."

Wednesday, the team dropped both ends of a doubleheader to the powerful Brandon Blackhawks 4-2 and 4-1 at in Ortonville.

The game marked McIntyre's return to action. She played third base and collected two hits in the two games.

But the real story was Brandon's fundamentally sound softball. The Blackhawks turned two double plays and thwarted several Clarkston offensive rallies with fielder's choice outs that prevented the Wolves from moving runners into scoring position.

"We played close enough to win," Land said. "In the first game, we didn't put the ball in play enough and struck out too much. We were hoping to come away with a split, so we are disappointed."

Freshman Lindsay Simko was not intimidated by Brandon, as she went 2-for-2 with a run scored in the first game.

but when you see your opponents do it, it becomes easier, so I hope our guys learned something from them."

After Tuesday's completion of the Groves match, the team prepares for Thursday's OAA II meet. Ortwine said his team may be peaking right now, and he likes the team's chances going into the meet, one where Berkley is the favorite.

"Jim and Patrick are playing well, and with the way our doubles teams have come on, I like the position we're in," he said. "We just have to sustain what we've had going."

Soccer ties Lake Orion again

Freshman Sarah Morgan, despite allowing two goals, may have played her best game of the season. She flat-out robbed the Dragons on two breakaway scoring opportunities. Her first big save came less than two minutes before Senkyr's second goal gave Clarkston a 2-1 lead.

"Sarah really came up big in the first half," Fitzgerald said. "I also liked how Kara Bergkoetter played defensively. She marked her player well." Bergkoetter celebrated her birthday Monday with the excellent defensive performance.

Clarkston travels to Royal Oak Kimball tonight (Wednesday) for a rematch of an earlier defeat. The game starts at 7:20 p.m.

● In earlier action:

Clarkston won its second-straight game this season over the Berkley Bears 4-0 Friday night at Berkley.

Junior Alaina Dodds continued her scoring streak with a pair of goals, giving her five on the season. She is now second on the team in scoring, one behind Georgia Senkyr despite starting less than half the team's games.

TRACK AND TREAT

With nearly 150 members, the Clarkston boys and girls track teams make each meet an event to remember. Athletes who aren't getting ready for a race can usually be found cheering on their teammates. It's a time for bonding, making memories, and if you're lucky, getting a tan. Thursday, the boys and girls team up for the Lake Orion Co-Ed Meet at the new Lake Orion High School.

-- by Brad Monastiere
