Fatal crashes cause concerns

The debate is on about the safety of Dixie Hwy.

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Two fatal accidents within several weeks of each other on the same stretch of highway in Springfield Township.

Coincidence or cataclysmic?

Many area people feel the latter, after car accidents claimed the lives of 7-year-old Rachele Bouchard and a 17-year-old Oakland Technical Center student. The recent traffic-related deaths have jumpstarted a campaign to make the road safer in several ways.

One of those people looking to make a change is Laith Jarbo, owner of the Bridge Lake Market. Jarbo has started a petition drive to get a stoplight installed at the corner of Dixie and Bridge Lake Road to make the road around his business safer for customers.

"I had a friend help start the petition a while ago, but I didn't take it as seriously until that little girl got killed," Jarbo said. "I know that if I have to take room off my parking lot, I'll do that. I don't care. If it saves lives, then let's do it."

Craig Bryson, spokesman for the Road Commission for Oakland County, said once he receives the petition, it will get passed along to the RCOB Board for review. After going through the board, the issue gets referred to the RCOB's engineering department for a traffic study.

The results of that study, analyzed with other recent studies of the area, will reveal whether the volume of traffic warrants a stoplight.

"There probably won't be enough traffic volume in the area for the addition of a stoplight," he said.

Bryson added that if that is the department's decision, the road will go on a waiting list for available funds.

Springfield Township supervisor Collin Walls said a mistake people make is thinking accidents along Dixie are a new problem. Every couple years, an incident takes place that gets people talking about improving the road, and nothing happens, he said.

"Several years ago, the township asked the road commission to look at possibly adding a center left-turn lane on Dixie," Walls said. "There just hasn't been the interest necessary to get anything done out there."

One recent improvement was a turn lane in front of the Cedar Crest Academy. The academy laid out $100,000 of its own money to complete the project to its fullest.

"That woman (owner Dolores Imbrunone) worked feverishly to get that lane in there," Walls said. "They didn't get enough support from their neighbors, so they kicked in and got it done."

Walls attributed some of the traffic problems along Dixie to changes not in the number of cars or the layout of the road, but a difference in the way people drive.

Two vie for one seat on school board

BY MARALEE COOK
Clarkston News Editor

Two Clarkston residents are seeking election to one four-year term on the Clarkston Community Schools Board of Education: incumbent Sheila Hughes and Charles Hensley. It is the only issue on the regular school election Monday, June 8.

Charles Hensley works as a senior project engineer for Saturn Corporation. He is a member of Lake Orion Masonic Lodge #46 and Pine Knob Missionary Church.

This is Hensley's second run for school board trustee -- he ran unsuccessfully last year. He said he is running for school board again this year because he thinks he can make a positive impact on Clarkston schools.

"I think I could represent each and every voter in Clarkston fairly and without bias," he added.

Hensley said he has 12 years of experience in the automotive industry which has honed his problem solving skills.

He supports a state mandated core curriculum. He says he does not believe new policies that incorporate racial and ethnic diversity training should be added to the schools curriculum until children are taught math, reading and writing effectively.

Hensley believes children should not be promoted to the next grade until they are ready, and he has expressed concern about budget overruns in the

Plans for day care center opposed

A proposed day care center nearly squeaked through the Independence Township Planning Commission Thursday, but was defeated by a 4-3 vote.

On Monday, commission chair Steve Board said commissioners voted against the special land use that would have allowed developer Ozzie Jackson build a 6,000 square-foot building on six acres on the northwest corner of Clarkston and Pine Knob roads.

In addition, several homeowners from surrounding neighborhoods were present to protest the request, which would have allowed commercial use in a rural (R-1R) zoning area. Some commissioners shared that concern and others, Board said.

"One of the chief concerns was, in fact, if this facility (moved) you might have an office building sitting here," he said.

Voting in favor of the land use were commissioners Richard Oppmann, Board and Cynthia Lohmeier. Opposed members included Todd Moss, Joe Figa, Dan Travis and Jill Palulian.

Board said a day care center is a permitted special land use in residential zoning districts in the township. In his opinion, it makes sense to locate them there. "We want our kids to walk to church, to school - and we'd like them to walk to a day care center."

But he sees the other side as well. "A very legitimate fear is Clarkston rural becoming commercial," he said.

The News in Brief

Youth fishing derby

Enjoy a fun filled family day of fishing at the Shiawassee Basin Preserve in Davisburg Sunday, June 7 from noon to 4 p.m. The event is part of the Department of Natural Resources free fishing weekend, and no fishing license is required.

There will be children's contests such as largest fish, largest frog, best fishing hat and more. The fee is $5 per family. All adults must bring a child, and all children must be accompanied by an adult.

The Shiawassee Basin Preserve is on Davisburg Road where Ormond Road dead-ends. For more information, call Springfield Township Parks and Recreation, (248)634-0412.

Space still available for Sunday SCAMP tour

Reservations are still available for Sunday afternoon's SCAMP Home Tour 16, which includes lunch at Mesquite Creek.

Home Tour 16 includes tours of five distinguished homes in the city and Independence Township. The tours benefit SCAMP, a summer camping experience for children with special needs.

Check-in is between 11:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. at Depot Park. Advance reservations are recommended. Donations are $25, and $22 for ages 60 or older. For reservations, call Geri Batt, 625-3330.

Public hearing set for Parks of Stonewood

A public hearing on Parks at Stonewood, a 260-acre project proposed next-door to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital's proposed Clarkston Medical Campus on the southwest corner of Dixie Highway and White Lake Rd., has been set. It's scheduled for June 25 at 7:30 p.m. in the Independence Township annex.

Township planning commission chair Steve Board said developer Dave Johnson, who is proposing the planned unit development, has submitted the required additional information to the building department.

Johnson's proposed project includes four different neighborhoods, a wetlands park system, four restaurants and a produce market.

Habitat sets public fundraiser

Habitat for Humanity is on a blitz build mission to construct two new homes in Pontiac.

Clarkston resident Laurie Stern who is involved with the project, said a fundraiser is set for Wednesday, June 10 from 6 to 9 p.m. at CK Diggs, a Rochester Hills restaurant at the corner of Crooks and Auburn roads. Complimentary hors d'oeuvres and a cash bar are included. A donation of $20 is requested; the tax-deductible amount is $15.

For more information or reservations, call (248)620-5469 or (248)853-6600.

New library board run by teens

More volunteers are still needed

BY EILEEN McCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Calling all teenagers! The Independence Township Library is looking for youthful volunteers to revamp its young adult section.

Teens from grade seven and up are encouraged to join a new Teen Advisory Team where they will focus on what they — not the library staff — want. It will provide the opportunity to create an inviting young adult area, select books and magazines, plan programs, publish a young adult newsletter and more.

The current young adult library is "pretty small," said Julie Meredith, coordinator of the venture who was recently hired as the new young adult librarian. Presently the section holds one row of shelving for hard covers and a "spinner" (display rack) for paperbacks.

With the new high school just down the road and the township growing by leaps and bounds, "We thought it would be a good idea to expand," Meredith said, adding that every year funds become available for library improvements.

Township library director Mollie Lynch said each year the staff takes a look at its budget and targets monies to one special area. This year, the young adult section received over $15,000 for improvements, plus some donations, including a $1,000 contribution from Friends of the Library to buy more books.

A decision was made to establish the young adult section because the teenage population is growing. Before Meredith was hired, the library offered adult services and youth services, but nothing for the middle group, who need their own special services as well.

"This year the young adult section is the selected funding area. But we want to get the teenagers involved. I want them to come in and know they have the power to say, 'We want these kinds of programs, these kinds of books,'" Meredith said.

The concept is different for younger children visiting the youth section "where parents speak for them," she added. But teenagers often slip through the cracks when it comes to having a say-so on their own programs.

Meredith would like to see the young adult library tripled by fall. Improvements would include doubling the selection of paperbacks, adding more shelving for hard-covered books, expanding audio, video and magazine collections, and adding computers, an Internet terminal and an on-line catalog system.

Plans also include converting a quiet study room at the back of the library into a new teen lounge. The room, located next to the young adult section, will be a place for teens to "hang out," Meredith said. "That whole area will be theirs."

The advisory team would most likely hold meetings at least once a month. But teens are encouraged to come and add "their two-cents worth" even when they can only squeeze one or two dates into their hectic schedules, Meredith said.

Sign-up forms are available at the high school, middle school and public libraries, or teens may call Meredith at the library at 625-2212 for more information.

Developing new programs are an important part of the process toward expansion, she said. And they definitely go beyond the realm of burying yourself in a good book.

Already, she and approximately 10 teenagers have discussed ideas that include an after-school coffee house, an in-line skating program and a Friday night teen cafe where local bands might perform.

Plus, kids who get involved receive a few perks. "Helpers will get first crack to take those materials out," Meredith said. The work also looks good on a resume or college application. "Besides being cool, it really helps them."

Currently, three teenage girls have been helping Meredith get started. They include Baker College sophomore Sarah Phillips, 18, a CHS graduate and part-time library clerk; Adie Verla, 15, a CHS sophomore and library page; and Leah Walsh, a home-schooled 14-year-old whom Meredith kiddingly refers to as "a frequent library patron."

All three appeared excited last week, as they giggled and looked over the new book collection made possible by the Friends contribution.

"We've picked a variety of books that would appeal to many different interests," Sarah said. "We've got some guy books, some girl books, fantasy, historical, mysteries and biographies."

Both she and Adie especially like works by teen-oriented authors Bodie Thoene and Robin Jones Gunn. "We really enjoy contemporary teen fiction," she said.

On the other hand, Leah doesn't have a favorite author. "I read a little bit of everything," she said with a shrug.

Fife honored for accomplishments

Clarkston High School varsity basketball player Dane Fife, left, enjoys a piece of cake with Corey Mayer at the Sashabaw McDonald's. Fife, this year's Mr. Basketball, and a 1998 McDonald's All-American Basketball Team Player, was honored for his accomplishments Saturday, May 16. Area boys participated in two-on-two contests and three point shoot-outs followed by an awards presentation and cake cutting ceremony.

City building inspection ordinance debated

BY EILEEN MCCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

City officials are still wrestling with a proposed ordinance that would order annual building inspections in Clarkston's downtown business district.

At May 26's public hearing on the matter, they heard complaints from building and business owners that ranged from ordinance language to a belief that yearly inspections aren't needed. Prior to the hearing, they were sent copies of the ordinance and letters, inviting them to present their input.

Independence Township trustee Neil Wallace, who rents office space in Clarkston and says he plans to buy a downtown building, called the ordinance with its proposed $150-$175 annual inspection fee, "an improper government intrusion" and "an inappropriate tax."

With high rents and other financial burdens, "People are struggling to make it as it is," he said. "I think you should think long and hard before you take that step. It's an unnecessary one."

Connie Morgan of Morgan's Service said, "I agree with Mr. Wallace that it's another government interference. We already pay big bucks for our insurance ... We don't want to pay another fee for something we're already taking care of."

City attorney Tom Ryan, who drafted the proposed ordinance, argued it would be a benefit. "It's not a tax because these people are getting a service," he said. Both "imminent" dangers, such as a boiler that looked like it was about to explode, and non-imminent situations would be evaluated.

Independence Township fire chief Gar Wilson said non-imminent examples are newspapers stacked too close to a water heater, wiring not properly covered, etc. "We'd give them so many hours or days to get that fixed."

The "genesis" for the ordinance came about because of the age of the buildings and their proximity to each other, Ryan said. Two readings would be required

'I was shocked when I got to the end of this . . . Somebody could go to jail to do 90 days?'

--Neil Wallace

before adoption.

According to several officials, including city building inspector Sy Stone, city engineer Gary Tressel and Wilson, the city's zoning and building codes aren't adequate to protect aging conditions. Wilson said he wanted to "bring attention to the problems and have them resolved."

Additionally, some of the earlier structures feature "balloon construction," with no fire stops between the wall-to-wall buildings. "If a fire gets going in one of them, we have a problem," Wilson said.

Though Tressel agreed some owners might be well-meaning, they might not spot every hazard. "You may be an informed owner and you may not be an informed owner," he added, explaining that's why professionals are needed.

The new ordinance would require structural, electrical, plumbing and heating inspections in addition to annual fire inspections, currently provided free of charge by the township's fire department.

Inspections would be conducted in areas that are visible, officials said, not behind walls. They argue the measures would further ensure the public health, safety and welfare of the community.

According to the proposed ordinance, it would be up to each building owner to schedule an inspection before August 1 each year. If an inspection was not scheduled by that date, the city manager would send a 14-day notice in which to comply. Violations could result in jail time, fines or both.

Several owners took issue with those proposed penalties and argued the ordinance, as currently written, isn't business-friendly.

"I was shocked when I got to the end of this ... Somebody could go to jail to do 90 days?" Wallace said. Noting the downtown revitalization issue was also on the agenda (it was later tabled), he continued, "It seems ironic to be discussing this on the same night as revitalization. I think it's the kind of thing that pushes businesses away."

Max Broock Realtors owner Bowen Broock agreed the tone was "a little ominous ... it seemed punitive, rather than a way that encourages you to be proactive." But, in general, he said he favored the idea of routine inspections, "the imminent issue particularly."

Building department officials in two other historic districts, the villages of Milford and Holly, were contacted and said they have no such ordinance in place. However, some city council members, who seemed sympathetic to concerns, said they feel the ordinance is nevertheless needed in Clarkston.

"I know what you say about government intrusion. But it wasn't initiated by the government, but by people like Gar and Sy," councilman Walt Gamble said.

"I see it as supporting the downtown revitalization. I agree the tone of this does not convey our intent," said council member Ann Clifton. "But I think the whole point is to support revitalization, that we want to improve and maintain our downtown area — for it not to go like that."

Wilson said it has been tough to gain access to athletic department.

Hensley said he is in agreement with most of the policies put in place by the school board. He added he has attended between three and five school board meetings this year but keeps up on what the board has been doing.

Sheila Hughes has been a member of the school board for eight years and currently serves as its secretary.

She said she is seeking another term in part because the members have "worked real cohesively as a board. We have individual ideas, but if there are differences we always manage to work them out for the best of the kids."

Hughes is certified at the state by the Michigan Association of School Boards. She said she is a member of the board's Finance Committee and has been a liaison to the Sashabaw Middle School and Clarkston High School PTAs.

In the past she was a representative to the Oakland Schools Legislative Committee and Clarkston Youth Assistance.

Charles Hensley

Sheila Hughes

Hughes is in favor of policies incorporating racial and ethnic diversity training and experiences at staff and student levels.

She is in favor of exit skills being mastered before students are promoted to the next grade. She also said because funding is limited due to Proposal A the board must be creative with funding and have a good plan in place for the future.

Regular biennial election for Oakland Community College

Voters also have the opportunity to elect three members of the Oakland Community College Board of Trustees for six year terms expiring in 2004.

Running for office are Janice Simmons, Mel Vaara, Judith Wisner, Rochelle Heyniger and Anne Scott.

Hughes said she's supportive of the community providing for new facilities, including the new elementary and additions.

She's in favor of arts and reading specialists at the elementary level, and the "Strings" music program. Implemented at the fifth grade level, a grade will be added each year through high school, "then we'll have a full string orchestra."

Amon resigns as Independence senior center coordinator

BY EILEEN MCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Lannette Amon is sad to be leaving, just when the new senior center's master plan is getting underway. But Independence Township's senior center coordinator says a new job in Waterford is a great career move.

Amon announced her resignation as the center's coordinator May 29, a position she has held for the past five-and-a-half years. She said her new post at the Waterford Senior Center is an even bigger responsibility.

"I'm just tickled to death," said Amon Friday. "It's more administrative and there are twice as many people to do it for in Waterford ... But I will miss every person here."

Amon's departure comes in the midst of developing the center's new master plan. Called Senior Center 2005, the question is, "Where do we want to be as a senior center by the year 2005?" Amon said.

For the past several weeks there have been meetings between township officials, business people, residents, seniors who use the center and "non-users," those who are of senior age but haven't used it at this point.

A $5,000 study headed by Learning Quest Resources, a Royal Oak-based consulting firm hired by the township, will determine through focus groups, strategies and other methods, where the center should be by the year 2005.

The next step will be to compile the results of the recent meetings and "take the major points that came out," Amon said.

ROLLING ALONG

by Maralee Cook

Witticisms

Now that summer's here and we're nearing vacation time, I find my thoughts frequently wander to our favorite vacation spots in northern Michigan.

And we have yet to pass a bookstore in any town up north we haven't browsed through. We rarely make time to read here at home, but when we're on vacation, reading is a treasured pleasure.

We love the Readmore Bookstore in Manistee. It carries a wide assortment of books about Michigan, and magazines on every subject imaginable.

Years ago I found what really amounts to a book about nothing. Its title is "Dear Wit, Letters From The World's Wits."

It is a compilation of letters and comments by famous and not-so-famous people. But I enjoy it, and would like to share some of my favorite sayings with you.

Letters make the most interesting reading in the world -- especially other people's. -- M. Lincoln Schuster.

Arthur C. Clarke, author of the science fiction classic 2001: A Space Odyssey, reports that newspaper tycoon William Randolph Hearst once sent him this message:

Is there life on Mars? Cable thousand words.
Hearst

The scientist cabled:
Nobody knows. Repeat 500 times.
Arthur C. Clarke

Arthur Kudner, prominent advertising executive, knew the art of good copywriting. He once penned these words of advice to his son:

Dear Son,
Never fear big, long words.
Big, long words name little things.
All big things have little names --
Such as life and death, peace and war.
Or dawn, day, night, hope, love, home.
Learn to use little words in a big way --
It's hard to do
But they say what you mean.
When you don't know what you mean --
Use big words.
That often fools little people.

Arthur Kudner

When a young attorney, opposing Abraham Lincoln, lacked sufficient funds to stay in Springfield until a case came up, Lincoln agreed to argue both sides. After the trial, Honest Abe wrote his young adversary announcing the judge's decision.

My dear Mr. Bishop:

The Supreme Court came in on the appointed day and I did my best to keep faith with you. Apparently I argued your case better than my own, for the court has just sent down a rescript in your favor. Accept my heartiest congratulations.

Very Sincerely Yours,
A. Lincoln

Sheila Hughes gets our vote

Two candidates are running for one seat available on the Clarkston Community Schools Board of Education.

We urge you to return incumbent and secretary Sheila Hughes to the school board for another four years when you cast your vote Monday, June 8.

As a board member for the last eight years, Hughes has been a tireless advocate for the children of this community.

She has worked hard to see passage of the bond issues, and as a parent, has been active in PTAs and PTOs for several years.

Hughes is also active in the community as a member of the Clarkston Area Optimists Club and the Clarkston Foundation.

While we are sure Charles Hensley is qualified, we question his commitment. He admits to having attended only "three to five" school board meetings in the last year.

Hughes has demonstrated her commitment time and again. MC

Note: We also think Clarkston resident Mel Vaara is a good choice for the Oakland Community College Board of Trustees based on his experience as a former administrator for Clarkston Community Schools and member of the Independence Township Board of Trustees.

Letters to the editor

Sheila Hughes asks for your support

Dear Editor:

To Clarkston Community Schools Citizens:

First, I would like to thank you for the support you have given to our schools and to the children of Clarkston over the last eight years. With your support we now have a new high school that will open this fall, one new elementary school, and soon ground will be broken for a much needed second elementary building.

We will be adding new media centers to all the existing elementary buildings along with science, art and music rooms. As many of you know we will be adding additional classroom space to each building and at long last getting rid of those "temporary portables" that have been here for more than twenty years.

It is an exciting time to be part of such a great community, one that values education and supports its schools. That is why I am running for re-election to the school board. We have set the educational standards for our students, staff and administration at a very high level, and they are meeting and exceeding them. We have added/replaced text books and courses over the last eight years that challenge our students to go beyond their expectations.

We have the challenge of maintaining a budget that is controlled by our state legislators, not by millage votes every June, and to focus those dollars to our classrooms. The bottom line is what's best for the students of Clarkston, that's been the direction our board has taken, and as we go forward that is my concern - the students and how we prepare them to become productive citizens as they go on into the world.

I ask for your support on June 8, 1998 to help our district to become the best in Oakland County. With your help and continued support for the students of Clarkston this will happen. Clarkston is known for its academics, its fine and performing arts and its athletics. Let's make sure these programs will be continued and improved upon by having the right person in place to represent the community and all the students of Clarkston.

Thank you for your support and please mark your calendar, so you won't forget to vote June 8th. The Board Election is the only issue and it is as important as any bond or millage has been, because you will be electing the person who is responsible for helping to make the decisions that affect the education of all the students and programs that will take place over the next four years in Clarkston.

Sincerely,
Sheila (Goins) Hughes

Support Hughes in June 8 election

Dear Editor:

Sheila Hughes is seeking re-election on the Clarkston School Board. As a life long resident of Clarkston and Clarkston High School graduate, Sheila recognizes both the needs and the challenges that affect the Clarkston Schools.

She is an active member of the Clarkston community and is a participant in the Optimist Club and Clarkston Foundation. In her role as a parent, she has devoted her efforts to the PTA/PTO organizations and has served in a variety of leadership positions.

During her time on the school board, Sheila has supported facility and curriculum issues that directly impact and benefit our students at all levels.

Sheila is a diligent, conscientious worker. She takes a sensible approach in her decision making, first and foremost, considering what is in the best interest and safety of the students. Sheila is a valuable asset to our School Board and community.

We urge you to vote for Sheila Hughes for School Board on June 8.

Ken and Sally Coe

White supports Sheila Hughes

Dear Editor,

Monday, June 8, Clarkston School voters will have their annual election. Incumbent, Sheila Hughes, gets my vote for another four year term.

During Sheila's time on the board, she was a part of planning for the successful Phase I, II, and III Bond Campaigns. The on-going curriculum updating for the 21st century is an area of pride.

Clarkston Schools are moving in a positive direction. Don't break up the school board team.

Join me and re-elect Mrs. Sheila Hughes on June 8.

George S. White

Identity of vehicle-lease donor mistaken

Dear Editor:

Information which I recently submitted to you concerning the upcoming Golf Outing Fundraiser for Clarkston Area Youth Assistance contained an incorrect statement which needs to be corrected at the earliest possible date.

John Bowman Chevrolet, Inc. is the 1998 tournament sponsor. However, it is Clarkston Chrysler Plymouth Jeep-Eagle that is giving away a two-year lease on a Jeep Wrangler for a hole-in-one.

The information that I previously sent you stated that "a hole-in-one wins a new 1998 automobile donated by John Bowman Chevrolet, Inc." which is not correct. This was a misunderstanding on my part and I apologize for the inconvenience which this causes.

As always, we appreciate the support you have shown. Please let me know when it will be possible to show this correction in the newspaper.

Thank you very much.

What's it going to take to stop violence in the schools?

DARLENE JONES, CLARKSTON: Give the parents and teachers back control. You punish the kids, the cops are called.

EVELYN MILES, CLARKSTON: I think the law has gotten a little easy on parents to discipline their kids . . . The parents have no control over their kids anymore.

TOM COX, WATERFORD: Give parents and teachers back control of the kids . . . When I was growing up you didn't talk back to your father or your parents, either one.

SUE FLESCHNER, CLARKSTON: We were just talking about that last week. We hoped it was just a fad or trend. By fad, we mean it just came on so suddenly . . . We're just crossing our fingers that it could go away.

PATRICK SLATER, KALAMAZOO: I heard a comment on the news the other day about putting security in the schools. I thought it was a pretty decent idea. Not armed cops, guns and things, but to have metal detectors at the door and leave it at that for awhile. To see if that helps out.

JIM'S JOTTINGS / by Jim Sherman

1st class penny for Tour de France?

First the bad news: One out of every five First Class letters, sent city to city, is delivered late.

Now the good news: A bicycle team for the Tour de France was sponsored by our Postal Service to the tune of five million dollars.

WHAT?

That's what the Coalition to Make Our First Class Mail FIRST CLASS, a non-profit consumer organization, says.

It also says the Postal Service set aside $150 million last year, for a feel-good advertising campaign, then went $80 million over budget, for a grand total of more than $230 million spent on advertising in just one year.

I've wanted to believe the Postal Service commercials we've been exposed to on TV were public service announcements. The government licensed radio and TV stations have to give so many minutes to charitable, non-profit groups and I figured the Postal Service was one of them.

Not so says the CTMOFCMFC, whose stated purpose is to make on-time delivery of First Class mail the Postal Service's top priority.

This California based group has two more gripes in their recent mailing: The new postmaster in Atlanta spent almost a quarter million dollars on her swearing-in ceremony and new offices for herself--all with the approval of top management at the Postal Service.

And: In post offices around the country the Postal Service is selling all sorts of things -- from Christmas videos to neckties, coffee mugs to t-shirts -- that have nothing to do with delivering the mail.

That one's a reach for the Coalition. Seems to me selling such things could bring the Postal Service the money it needs to support the bike ride in France.

The Postal Service's stated reason for needing the extra penny per 32 cent stamp is to update the machinery needed to sort the increase in First Class mail.

That's a puzzler to me (as many things are). The electronics folks would have us believe people have abandoned letter writing (which requires first class postage) in favor of e-mail.

Could we have both . . . more letter writing and e-mail increases? I suppose we could. If people can love both Beanie Babies and Godzilla everything is possible.

This current postal increase comes after the Service has made record profits three years in a row. The spokesman said, "Yeah, but we have to make up for the money we lost years prior to that."

Now, that's a crock. We taxpayers paid for those losses, and ain't no way the Postal Service is going to pay us back, unless they think the pay-back comes when those bike riders win.

DON'T RUSH ME / by Don Rush

The summer wind came blowin' in

I had tons of intentions of writing a scathing commentary about the Fifth Amendment and forfeiture laws this weekend . . . maybe next week.

Then Ma Nature blew into town and downed trees and turned out the power. So much for doing work at home. At the time of this writing, 8:15 Monday morning, Chez Rush is still dark. The constant purr of the refrigerator is quiet.

There ain't much going on, except for Mickey The Wonder Dog drinking out of the toilet, the last place for fresh water at home. I was able to find one gallon of water and buy it for teeth brushing.

The power went out at exactly 6:54 a.m., Sunday, Rush Standard Time (which can be one to three minutes fast or slow, depending on the last Daylight Savings Time change -- and depending on what clock in the home you happen to be looking at).

So, here it is 24-plus hours later, and I'm at work, on the computer. I know I look like a million bucks, with the slicked back hair, wrinkled shirt and slacks and two days worth of beard. I reckon I'm probably a little -- how to say it nicely -- gamey.

I've noticed there's a wall of separation between myself and my co-workers. Sorta like an invisible circle with me in the center. Folks ain't getting too close to me and they definitely are not breaking the circle.

With no power, I had to listen to the Red Wings Hockey game on the Jeep radio. With no power there's really not much to do Sunday night except read until it gets too dark -- that and let the aforementioned Mickey in and out. And with the silence and darkness around me my mind did start to wander about. Boy, having no water or electricity is a sucky deal when you're counting on it. I almost took a bar of soap and a towel down to the lake early Monday morning . . . but it was about 30 degrees too cold. Fifty degrees Fahrenheit is a little chilly for me to take a morning swim/bath.

The damage to my house and yard wasn't bad. Lost a few shingles from the roof and one big tree branch fell harmlessly to the ground (hopefully striking one of the danged moles making mincemeat of my lawn). But, I have yet to get my chainsaw started so the branch may stay for a while.

It'll make a nice home for the bunnies. I'm heading home for lunch on Monday, hopefully the power will be restored and the well pump will be working -- and for my fellow employees I hope the shower water will be spraying.

School personnel help classmates say good-bye

BY MARALEE COOK
Clarkston News Editor

When Springfield Plains Elementary principal Dr. Sharon Devereaux learned second grader Rachelle Bouchard had been seriously injured in a car accident Sunday May 24, her first thought was how to gently inform fellow staff members, parents and students.

On Tuesday, she drafted a letter with Springfield Plains social worker Dorothy Sommers, and sent it home to parents. It let the closely-knit school community know of Rachelle's injuries, and that her mother, Christine, had also been injured and lost her unborn child.

Unfortunately, Rachelle succumbed to her injuries late Tuesday afternoon, May 26. Her teacher, Kristine Simek, called the parents of her students that evening and invited them to come to school the next morning to speak to the school district's crisis team.

Devereaux sent another letter home Wednesday to let the rest of the parents know Rachelle died. She also let parents know Sommers, Clarkston High School social worker Jim Butzine and grief specialist Kathy Garwood would be available to parents and students for further counseling.

When Rachelle's classmates entered their room Wednesday morning, Simek gathered them together and talked about the loss of their little friend.

Sommers said the students shared their happy memories of Rachelle and comforted each other. The children then drew pictures of their happy memories and made cards for Rachelle's family, which includes her father Kevin, and a sister Danielle who will start kindergarten in the fall.

"It was a very peaceful scene," said Devereaux.

Sommers and the crisis team had spoken to the staff about how to discuss the loss with students before school began Wednesday morning.

Sommers told teachers to be factual about the information and to tell them it was okay to share their feelings and cry.

"If kids don't have the facts, what they imagine may be more scary," Sommers said. "Making the cards for the family is good for the children. By doing something for the family it helps them not to feel helpless. They feel like they're doing something helpful instead."

Devereaux said, "We want to do the right thing. They were so helpful in telling us what would be best for the children."

Taking such care in helping the school communities deal with tragedies has been ongoing since 1985. Butzine said the first draft of a crisis team plan was written at that time and is set up for any kind of emergency situation, serious injury or threat.

Since then the crisis team has helped students, parents and staff deal with the deaths of students, staff and family members.

Butzine said the team met with parents of classmates of Rachelle Wednesday morning, and almost every student had at least one parent in attendance.

Parents asked team members how they should handle the news of the loss of their child's classmate and whether or not to attend funeral services.

"Be real open," Butzine suggested. "If a child seems interested in going to the funeral, then go. If not, it's important to find out what the child's fears are, and to help him or her experience the grieving process."

"There's no hard and fast rule," he continued. "Some children or parents may not be able to handle the tragedy. And some parents want their children to remember the person as they were when they were alive."

Sommers said last Tuesday, before Rachelle died, her classmates had painted three large paintings that were to be sent to the hospital to cheer her up.

Sommers said the paintings were beautiful and would be sent to the family. "It's so special to be available to the kids and have them share their feelings," she added.

Amon Steps down

The goal is to update the master plan, according to the township's fast-growing senior population, and to provide for improvements in programs and facilities. Senior Center 2005 emulates the township's larger Vision 2020 plan, a guide to future development and planning in Independence.

Township Parks and Recreation director Ann Conklin said the department is seeking a new coordinator. "We are going to take applications from now through July 2," she said.

The job duties are to assume "basic responsibility for the administration of the senior center and programs for people with disabilities," Conklin said.

Salary range depends on experience and qualifications. Amon was making $33,700 when she left. "We're posting the position at $28,000-$34,000," Conklin said.

Amon has done "a great job here," she added. "We're thankful for everything she's done." The new position is "a great career opportunity and we wish her well."

It's also a great opportunity for the new person who will fill Amon's shoes. "It's a nice job," Conklin said. "It's an exciting time for a person because there's so much growth that's happening, now and in the future."

Spots still open for Lowney's hoop camp

There are a few remaining spots open for Ann Lowney's Dare to Dream Basketball Clinic at Clarkston High School.

The camp is split into two sessions, for girls entering grades 3-6 and girls entering grades 7-9. The first session runs daily from 9 a.m. to noon, the second from 1-4 p.m.

The clinic runs from July 7-10 and the cost is $65 per child. Payment can be sent to Clarkston High School, 6595 Middle Lake Road, Clarkston, MI, 48346, attn: Ann Lowney. Make checks payable to CHS Lady Wolves Basketball. Your cancelled check is your notification of acceptance into the clinic.

Independence Township loses its fight to stop Memorial-weekend racing at the Waterford Hills Race Track. Oakland County Circuit Court Judge John N. O'Brien refuses to end racing until officials re-apply for a township license.

Fed up with gas siphoning and battery thefts in the high school bus garage, Clarkston school officials install an alarm in the fence surrounding the building. It's paid off, resulting in a third arrest when a man attempts breaking and entering.

The Village of Clarkston finds itself $353 richer in state tax revenue to finance road repair. The funds come from gas and weight tax hikes approved last December, and a three-percent increase in highway travel.

Green arrow turn signal needed at Clarkston and M-15

Dear Editor:

This is an open letter to anyone who has complained about the light at Clarkston Road and M-15 (Main St.).

Have you had to sit through three or four red lights to turn left from southbound M-15 onto Clarkston Road? We need a green arrow turn signal here to make a left turn from M-15.

Please write Lansing and complain about the light. Maybe writing Independence Township Board may help.

FIT FOR LIFE

by Heather Haepers

Body image

Having a healthy body image is an important part of your overall fitness. Many times we tend to focus and obsess about our worst features instead of focusing on our best. And you are always your own worst critic, therefore; many times the features you like least about yourself may not even be noticeable to others.

Most of the fitness magazines on the market are filled with scantily clad models with picture perfect bodies. The key word here is "models." Remember, the people in these magazines do not physically resemble the majority of the population.

Many of these models are genetically gifted, meaning they do not look that way as the sole result of exercise and diet. Some magazines will print a short interview with the cover model inside the magazine.

Take the time to read these, because often the model actually admits that she doesn't have to do much to look the way she looks. And since many of these models are genetically gifted, their exercise and diet regimen might not be the correct or healthy way or the one that will work for you.

Instead of longing to develop the look of a model, focus on what you have to work with and set realistic goals for yourself. For instance, think back to what you weighed in high school or college - that is probably pretty close to your ideal weight.

Everyone is not created equal, which is what makes each and every one of us unique. Physically fit people come in all shapes and sizes.

Tree and garden to be planted in Rachelle's honor

Springfield Plains Elementary School lost its second young student in three years to a traffic accident on Dixie Highway in Springfield Township last week.

Seven year old Rachelle Bouchard, a second grader at the school died Tuesday, May 26, from injuries she sustained in a multi-car accident the previous Sunday.

Rachelle's mother, 37-year old Catherine Bouchard, was seriously injured with multiple fractures. The unborn child Mrs. Bouchard was carrying also died.

Mrs. Bouchard was driving southbound on Dixie Highway in a Ford Escort. The vehicle she hit had been rear-ended while it was stopped in the northbound lane to make a left hand turn, and was then pushed into her path.

Rachelle was transported to Pontiac Osetopathic Hospital and later transferred to the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Her mother was taken to St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital in Pontiac.

Springfield Plains Elementary School principal Sharon Devereaux said in 1995 kindergartner Jesse Burch was killed in an automobile accident about a half-mile from the location of the Bouchards' accident.

The children planted a tree on school property in his honor, and Devereaux said it was a healing experience.

She said Rachelle's classmates have asked to plant a tree in her honor as well, and one child would also like each child to plant a tulip around the tree.

Devereaux said the tree would be planted before school ends this spring.

Brownie Troop #729, of which Rachelle was a member, will plant a garden in memory of Rachelle, said troop leader Cathy Noble. She said the troop picked a garden because the girls wanted to be able to return regularly to maintain it.

Noble added Tuesday's funeral services at St. Daniel's Church were heart wrenching, but the outpouring of love and support from the community was very uplifting.

A spokesperson from St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital said a college trust fund for Catherine and Kevin Bouchards' daughter, Danielle, has been started. Danielle will enter kindergarten at Springfield Plains in the fall. Donations may be made to the Catherine Bouchard Trust, St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital-Pontiac Federal Credit Union, 888 Woodward Ave., Suite 90, Pontiac, MI 48341.

Helping children deal with death

According to literature provided by Sommers, children under the age of five, have no concept of final. At six years old, children often think of death as a ghostly person to be outsmarted. By 10 years of age, children begin to understand the concept and even consider after-life.

Children may ask the same question again and again. It expresses a child's need for reassurance with the confusion and fear.

Children are often greatly helped to accept death by saying good bye. It should be emphasized that people who are loved and cared about are kept in memories. Encourage ways in which this can be done.

Children grieve as adults do, but frequently act out feelings rather than expressing them verbally.

It is alright for parents and teachers to cry with children, and to express how difficult dealing with the loss is.

Children should be encouraged to talk about what happened, whether it be an illness, accident, suicide or other tragedy.

Support the children as they grieve. Sadness and anger will be the most obvious feelings expressed.

Young children are often boisterous or mischievous. Adolescents may be antisocial or truant. Grief is expressed differently by each person. While this behavior may seem inappropriate, it is normal.

It is easier for children to survive a loss when they receive prompt and accurate information about what has happened and are allowed to ask questions. The questions should be answered honestly and the children should be able to participate in family grieving. They also need the comforting presence of an adult they can rely on.

Dixie Highway safety debated

"It's been a change in human nature," he said. "Ten years ago, not every other person was shaving and talking on the phone while they were driving. There appears to be far less awareness driving now than there was before."

He did say that traffic has increased along the road as the area's population has grown, but that can only count for a small portion of the incidents taking place there.

Jarbo said he's had many customers talk to him in the store since the latest accident, wondering if anything was going to happen or what needs to be done to make the road more driveable.

"A lot of people that live north of here won't come to this store because you have to turn left to get out, and there's nowhere to go," he said. "They don't have the space to turn left, but a light here would really help out also."

Jarbo said he has support of other businesses along Dixie in the drive to get a light at the corner.

"They didn't want to get it started, but they said if I got the ball rolling, they would support me," he said.

Inspection ordinance debated by city

some buildings in the past. The new ordinance would require tenants, like upstairs apartment dwellers above Clarkston Cafe, to leave their doors open when the landlord announced an inspection date.

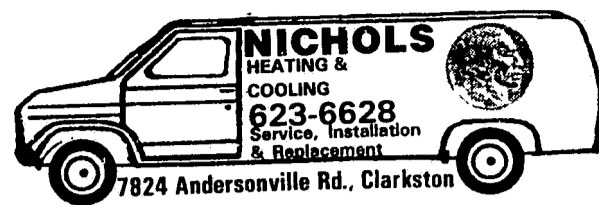

Both he and Stone reported "horror stories," like newspapers and gasoline next to a faulty furnace.

Bad floor joists are just one example of what could go wrong, Wilson said. "Do you realize what would happen if the cafe was full of people and it decided to fall into the basement?" he said.

Former building owner Laurie Stern, who agreed with Wallace, said she felt landlords would be aware of their building problems. Stern, who owned 25 S. Main, saw a fire destroy the business of one of her tenants, The Chocolate Cabbage, several years ago. The cause of the blaze was never determined, she said.

"I think it's a little extreme," Stern said. "I think a yearly inspection is asking people a lot. They do fire inspections anyway, you know?" she added, calling it a matter of common sense. "I would think a landlord would be aware of an unsafe building and codes — and follow them."

RULES OF THE GAME

As we take to the ball fields this season, it may pay to look at who might be liable for any injuries we might suffer. Under the assumption of risk doctrine, there is generally no legal duty to eliminate or protect players against any of the risks inherent to their sport or activity. However, coaches and instructors have a legal duty not to negligently increase risks above the ones inherent to the sport. Also, there is generally no liability to other players for ordinary careless conduct carried out during play. Instead, player's liability to each other is limited to injuries that arise from intentional or reckless misconduct that is totally outside the range of ordinary behavior when playing the sport.

If you've been injured as the result of another's negligence, get the advice of an experienced attorney immediately! Remember, your legal rights are only as good as your ability to protect them. We handle a variety of legal matters including personal injury claims, auto accidents, slip & fall injuries, criminal defense, business law, real estate transactions, family law, and civil litigation in both State and Federal courts. For advice you can count on, call 620-1030. Our office is conveniently located at 11 North Main Street. HINT: Under the assumption of risk doctrine, participants in contact sports assume the risk of injury associated with the natural and ordinary risks of physical contact.

The Clarkston varsity baseball team sends retiring coach Roy "Pops" Warner out in style with its first district championship in five years. Warner will retire at the end of the season after 29 years coaching the Wolves.

The busiest people in Clarkston Sunday may have been the cardiologists, checking many varsity softball parents and fans after a pair of dramatic district games Saturday at Lapeer West.

The varsity softball team won twice in its last at-bat, 4-2 over Lake Orion and 6-4 over Lapeer West, to earn its first district championship since 1987, and the first under coach Al Land.

A familiar foe awaits the Wolves in regionals, as Waterford Kettering advanced in its own district, defeating Rochester Adams 5-4. Clarkston went 1-2 against the Captains this season, winning 5-4 on the road, and losing 10-6 and 13-3 in two losses that can be seen as aberrations in an otherwise outstanding season for Clarkston.

The Wolves and Captains square off at 10 a.m. at Port Huron High School. The winner takes on the winner of the New Baltimore Anchor Bay-Romeo game in the regional finals at 1 p.m.

"Nothing can stop us now," declared four-year veteran Tiffany Honey. "We were in a slump to end the season, but we knew we were a better team than that, and it showed today."

"We're looking forward to getting our revenge on Kettering," said junior catcher Corinne McIntyre.

The Wolves, 24-13 overall, became the latest version of the cardiac kids in the district tournament. In the finals against Lapeer West, the team played a back-and-forth game before McIntyre became the hero.

With Clarkston in a 4-4 tie in the bottom of the sixth, McIntyre slammed a double to left field, driving in freshman Mary Warchuck and senior Carmen Lund to provide the district-winning runs for the Wolves.

"That's just what I expect from Corinne," Land said. "She has so much power, and she's struggled to get that back since her (hand) injury. But getting a hit like that at that time really helped the team and will help her as well."

"I had been working on my swing all week, and it finally paid off for me," McIntyre said. "My swing just wasn't coming around in the beginning (of the season), but I just kept working at it."

Although the win over Lapeer West gave the team the wooden state-of-Michigan-shaped trophy, it was the 10-inning win over Lake Orion that was the most dramatic of the day.

The Dragons entered districts with a No. 3 state ranking and a pitcher - Mary Connor - headed to the University of Michigan on a softball scholarship next year. Orion held a 7-0 decision over the Wolves earlier in the season, but this was a different Clarkston team on the field this day.

The biggest difference in the Clarkston team in late May from late March is the play of its younger players. That was shown by sophomore Jennie Winn and freshmen Lisa Ferguson and Tracey Honey.

Winn had her best hitting day of the season, going 3-for-4 with a two-run double in the second that gave Clarkston a 2-1 lead.

Eight innings later, Winn was in the middle of another Clarkston rally. She led off the top of the 10th with a bloop single, giving Clarkston its first baserunner since the sixth inning.

Enter the freshmen. Ferguson, who spent most of the season as a pitcher on the JV team, pinch-ran for Winn, Land figuring Ferguson's speed could be a factor. He then sent Tracey Honey - Tiffany's younger sister - into the game as a pinch-hitter. The hunch paid off in a wild sequence that won the game for Clarkston. Honey bunted, with the ball landing just in front of a diving Mary Connor. Bobbi Connor, the team's catcher then picked up the ball and fired it to second, where the team's centerfielder was covering. The ball scooted under the player's glove and all the way to the center field fence. Ferguson and Honey raced all the way around the bases to score the third and fourth runs, sending the Clarkston faithful into a frenzy.

Freshman Tracey Honey (running) starts the play that won the game for Clarkston over Lake Orion in Saturday's district semifinal. Honey's bunt led to an errant throw that allowed Honey and freshman Lisa Ferguson to score the winning runs in the 4-2 win. (Photo by Ben Hoy)

Land said speed and skill of the players were the reasons for the substitutions.

"Lisa has good speed on the basepaths, and I

District double dip

As I sit here, nursing yet another sunburn, I am very excited that I have a chance to do it all over again this weekend.

Thanks to the clutch play of the varsity baseball and softball teams, both will head to Port Huron High School Saturday to participate in regionals. Let's examine how these terrific teams reached this point.

Baseball

I was impressed with the way this team went about winning its first district title since 1993. The guys were pumped up, but they didn't get too high. They went about their business and dispatched a pair of overwhelmed teams.

Watching this team all season, you can see the growth in many ways. The offense has become more consistent, and not only are players like Eric Jenks, Spencer Hynes, Jared Thomas and Chris Mitchell consistently contributing, but other players like Mike Little, Derek Casper and John Drallos have stepped up to deliver key base hits.

Little doesn't always start, but he keeps the team pumped up from the bench, and always seems to come through with a hit when he gets up to the plate. He even called his shot, homering against Troy Athens earlier this season. Casper has always been a solid defensive catcher, but Saturday, he was hitting the ball all over the place. He went 2-for-3 with two runs batted in in the district finals against Lapeer West. Both of his hits came after Clarkston grabbed a lead, but the Panthers responded. Hits like that take all the fight out of a team.

Drallos was the team's lone consistent threat from the plate in the season's early days, when the bats were cold. He has emerged into a leader in his junior season, and makes very few mistakes at second base.

The best story of this team is that it won the district for retiring coach Roy "Pops" Warner. You have to appreciate a man who keeps his windbreaker on all day through 80-plus degree heat and the high-tension of district play going on. After 29 years, he's seen just about everything in high school baseball, and what better way to close his career than with a monumental upset of nationally ranked Rochester.

This team has a chance to pull that upset off, for a few reasons. The players are not in awe of the Falcons, a very important quality to have when playing a team this good.

Softball

Talk about dramatic! This team redefined the word over the weekend, pulling out a pair of exciting wins in their last at-bat, proving it has more fight in it than a guest on Jerry Springer.

What I liked most about the way the team played was the way "other" players stepped up. Team captains Tiffany Honey, Aimee Giroux and Rachel "Big Guy" Fuller had their usual strong efforts, but it was the way younger players like Lisa Ferguson, Tracey Honey, Melanie Arnold and Jennie Winn played in the clutch that brought the team the trophy.

Although Arnold didn't drive in any game-winning runs, she was in the middle of every Clarkston rally. In the finals against Lapeer West, Arnold went 4-for-4, three of the hits coming when she beat throws to first base. Her other hit tied the game 3-3 in the third inning.

At times earlier this season, Winn has seemed intimidated by varsity-level pitching, but she came through when it counted most. She tagged three hits off future Michigan Wolverine Mary Connor in the team's breathless 4-2 win over Lake Orion in the semifinals. Her third hit started the 10th inning rally that won the game for Clarkston.

In that rally, it was Ferguson and Honey - two players who spent more time on the JV team than the varsity this season - who scored the winning runs. Both played with absolutely no fear, a characteristic of all the team's freshmen this season.

When last we saw Waterford Kettering - Clarkston's first-round regional foe - the Captains were hitting the ball all over Clintonwood Park in a 10-6 and 13-3 sweep. But this team has shown it can learn from adversity well, and in the teams' first meeting, Clarkston played a flawless six innings before holding on for a 5-4 victory. I just hope CHS assistant principal and former Kettering coach Jan Meagher knows who to cheer for. "My only comment is, I can't lose," she said with a smile.

A 10 Minute In-Office Bone Density Screening Can Determine Your Risk Level for Osteoporosis

This calcium deficient bone disease will cause more than 1.5 million fractures this year and change the lifestyle of more than 50% of its victims. Although the cause of osteoporosis remains unknown many factors such as diet, exercise, hormones and overall health contribute to its development.

Factors for consideration . . .

- If you are post menopausal between the age of 40-70
- If you smoke
- If you have had fractures of the wrist, hip or spine
- If you are small boned
- If you have ever had chemotherapy

If you respond yes to one or more of these factors, you may have an increased risk of developing osteoporosis. Schedule an appointment today to determine your risk level.

Drallos confident for regionals after baseball wins first district title since 1993

1998 Baseball District Finals
Clarkston	7
Lapeer West	3

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Retiring varsity baseball coach Roy Warner received a fine farewell performance from his team Saturday, but don't pull them off the stage just yet.

The Wolves captured their first district championship in five years thanks to a 7-3 win over Lapeer West at Lapeer West High School. Up next in the regional semifinals is top-ranked Rochester. The game is set for 12:30 p.m. at Port Huron High School. The other semifinal pits New Baltimore Anchor Bay and Utica Ford II. The regional finals are set for 3 p.m.

Warner, who's been at the helm of Clarkston baseball for 29 years, said it felt good that the team is taking some hardware home in his final season.

"This is a good way to end it," he said. "I'm happy for this team, because they've worked hard for this all year long."

Junior infielder John Drallos personified the team's confidence level heading into regionals.

"We're going to shock the world," he said. "The sky is the limit for this team. We came here knowing we were the best team and that we should win the district. It just feels so good."

Senior pitcher Josh Clark, who won a 12-2 decision over Lake Orion in the day's first game and tossed two innings in the finals, said the team wanted to win the district for the man they affectionately refer to as "Pops."

"It means more to me and the team that we can win

it for him," he said, referring to Warner. "We want to do it for him, but you know what? We're not done yet."

Rochester is certainly a major roadblock in anyone's path through the state playoffs. The Falcons feature five future Division I college players, and have the deepest pitching staff and deepest hitting lineup in the state. The Falcons were ranked as high as No. 2 in the nation during the season, and are the defending Division I state champions. The last time the two teams played, Clarkston hung right with the Falcons, losing 6-2 and 13-5 in a pair of very competitive games at Clintonwood Park.

"We're just taking it one game at a time," Warner said about regionals. "There are only good teams left at this point in the tournament. If we play with no mistakes, we should be able to feel good about ourselves."

The team had every reason to feel good about itself after its dominating games in districts. Clarkston used a four-run second-inning explosion against the Panthers to provide all the offense it needed. Sophomore catcher Derek Casper capped his best day at the plate of the season with a two-run single with the bases loaded that broke the game open in the second inning.

'It means more to me and the team that we can win it for (Warner).'

Josh Clark

In his next at-bat, after West had closed to within 4-3, he slammed a ground-rule double that brought Clark home to give the team an important two-run lead. Jared Thomas and Nick Upchurch also drove in runs in the title-winning game for the Wolves (18-10-1 overall).

Clark came in the game as a relief pitcher and worked his way out of a bases loaded, one-out jam in the fourth. He struck out five of the eight batters he faced in his 2 1/3 innings pitched. Sophomore Chris Mitchell closed the door in the seventh for Clarkston.

In game one, Clarkston ran away from Lake Orion and was never challenged. The Wolves blew up for six runs in the third inning, sending 10 batters to the plate in the process. Mitchell had the big hit in the inning, socking a double to left with the bases loaded to give Clarkston a 4-0 lead before the dew dried up on the outfield grass. Casper and Clark also drive in runs in the inning.

Clark pitched all seven innings in the win, while the Dragons used five pitchers in trying to slow down Clarkston's offense. It was futile.

Rachelle Bouchard and Matthew Bouchard

Rachelle Kristine Bouchard and Matthew Richard Bouchard, of Clarkston, are survived by their parents Kevin and Cathy; sister Danielle; grandparents Richard and Lynn Nichols; great-grandparents James and Vera Thompson and Robert and Dorothy Nichols; and several family members.

Rachelle was a student at Springfield Plains Elementary School.

A funeral mass for Rachelle took place Tuesday at St. Daniel Catholic Church. A rite of committal was held for both Rachelle and Matthew at Ottawa Park Cemetery Tuesday. Arrangements were made by Lewis E. Wint and Son Trust 100 Funeral Home in Clarkston. Memorials can be made to Kevin and Cathy for a college fund to be set up for Danielle in Rachelle's and Matthew's memory.

Stergois Hassopolis

Stergios "Steve" Hassopolis, 76, of Clarkston, died May 27, 1998.

Mr. Hassopolis is survived by his wife Aphrodite "Diti"; brother-in-law Nick Lekas; and nephews George and Nicholas Lekas. He was preceded in death by his sister Annetta Lekas.

A funeral service took place Saturday at the St. George Greek Orthodox Church in Bloomfield Township. Interment was at Perry Mt. Park Cemetery. A trisignion service was held at the Lewis E. Wint and Son Trust 100 Funeral Home in Clarkston.

Paula Jackson

Paula M. Jackson, 60, of Ypsilanti, formerly of Clarkston, died May 31, 1998.

Mrs. Jackson enjoyed knitting and tea with her friend Phyllis.

She is survived by sons Robert (Ann Marie) and Bruce.

A memorial service will take place at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, June 3 at the Lewis E. Wint and Son Trust 100 Funeral Home in Clarkston with Pastor Demetrius Booker officiating. A graveside committal service will take place June 11 at the Shelden Cemetery in Canada. Memorials can be made to the St. Joseph Cancer Care Center.

Ronald Walsh

Ronald T. Walsh, 69, of Waterford, died May 30, 1998.

Mr. Walsh was retired from Eonic in Detroit and was a member of O.C.A.R.S. Radio Club and served in the U.S. Navy.

He is survived by his wife Rose; daughters Lynn (Bob) Statton of Clarkston, Joni (Steve) Jones of Waterford, Sharyl (Carl) Mathis of Byron, and Roseanna (Greg) Lewis of Clarkston; son Ronald Jr.; 12 grandchildren; and sisters Shirley Lehman of Rogers City, Betty (Sam) Allinder of Troy, and Jackie Dobson of Florida.

A funeral service took place Wednesday morning at Atonement Presbyterian Church in Waterford with Rev. Gretchen Denton officiating. Donations will be used towards a marker on Ron's memory.

State meet sees 4x800 record fall

Venegoni takes 7th in long jump

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The level of toughness at the 1998 Class A State Track Meet could be seen in the results of the 4x800 relay race.

The Clarkston team of Kevin Breen, Jon Burdow, Brett Quantz and Matt Baker ran themselves onto the record board in the gym with a time of 8:02, breaking the old school record set in 1971 by three seconds.

Despite the outstanding showing, the time was only good for ninth place at the meet, held Saturday at Bay City Western High School. Breen ran anchor for the relay and checked in with a terrific split of 1:56.6.

Senior Marc Venegoni capped his CHS athletic career with a seventh-place in the long jump, at 20 feet, 9 1/2 inches. He was the only Clarkston track athlete to place at the state meet.

Clarkston coach Walt Wyniemko said the meet was a great day for his team, and it had nothing to be ashamed of.

"Overall, it was a great job by the guys," he said. "The 4x8 team took third in its heat, which was pretty good. That team's goal was to break the school record, and it accomplished that."

Also running at the meet was sophomore David Sage, who qualified in the 3200 run and finished with a time of 9:37, just four seconds off his personal best. Burdow ran a 2:00.4 in the 800, just .2 seconds off his personal best.

Girls run well, don't place at state meet

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston girls track team spent Friday night and Saturday up at Bay City, hoping to have fun and run well at the Class A State Track Meet at Western High School.

The nine members of the team who qualified all had fun, but didn't run as well as they hoped, according to coach Gordie Richardson. No Clarkston girls runner placed in the top eight in any event at the meet.

"I'm not sure what the problem was, we just came out flat," Richardson said. "We didn't run bad times, but we didn't run our best either. The kids were excited and wanted to run well, but we just couldn't hold our places."

The team thought to have the best chance of placing was the 4x800 relay team of Jennifer Rooding, Megan Plante, Lissa Lukens and Nicole Fischer. After running a 9:33 earlier in the season, the group came in with a 9:41, which placed 10th overall.

The 4x400 team got a 1:01 split from Rooding, but still finished out of the top eight.

The best individual finish for Clarkston came from freshman Amanda Chicalas, who took 13th in the 300 hurdles with a career-best time of 47.3. The eighth-

All-state QB camp in Utica this summer

You can join more than 500 aspiring high school quarterbacks this summer with the 6th Annual All-State Quarterback School at Utica Eisenhower High School.

The camp runs from June 29-30 and July 7-8. The two-day sessions run from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., and the cost is $110, and is open to boys entering grades 8-12.

Campers will learn fundamentals and mechanics, recognition of pass defenses, QB-related drills, and error correction. The deadline for enrollment is June 15.

To register or to have a brochure sent out, call the Utica Community Education Department at 810-826-3226 between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. For more information, call coach Terry Copacia at 810-786-0419 (home) or at 810-781-5571 (Eisenhower High School).

Junior golfers sought for tournament

Anyone interested in getting into a competitive golf tournament this summer should check out the Independent Insurance Agent Junior Classic June 22 at Bogie Lake Golf Course in Commerce.

Last year, more than 1,000 golfers participated in the 20 local qualifying rounds before advancing to the state finals in Jackson.

Entry forms and other tournament information can be received by calling director Jon Retherford at 248-624-1531.

knew Tracey could get bunts down," Land said. "You need a team that executes well in those situations, and the girls came through. It was a gamble, but luckily for us, it paid off."

Senior Rachel Fuller pitched all 17 innings of the games under intense heat and humidity. She didn't strike many batters out (three for the day), but forced many groundball outs and made several nice plays defensively that stunted several potential rallies.

"It feels awesome to win districts," four-year vet Aimee Giroux said. "We let Kettering get the best of us last time, but we will be ready for them this time."

OF MOLES AND MELANOMA

While dermatologists have long suspected a link between moles and melanoma, new research has established a relationship between the number of moles and melanoma risk. The study, conducted by the National Cancer Institute and Harvard Medical School, involved more than 1,700 patients, nearly half of whom had melanoma. Researchers found that those with one abnormal mole had a twofold risk for melanoma, while those with ten or more moles had 12 times the risk. Moles were labeled "abnormal" if they were larger than 6 millimeters in size (a standard pencil eraser is 6mm), flat, partly flat, and had two or more of the following characteristics: variable pigmentation, asymmetrical outline, and indistinct borders.

Learn the warning signs of melanoma. If you detect a change in the appearance of a mole visit your dermatologist right away. For a regular check-up, attention to any existing problems, or answers to your questions, call us today for an appointment. Our offices are located at 6330 Sashabaw, Clarkston (625-0692) & 3003 Baldwin, Lake Orion (391-9599).

PS. People with abnormal moles, in particular, are encouraged to have their skin examined by the dermatologist at least once yearly.

Fenton, Davey to marry in June

Charles and Barbara Fenton of Clarkston announce the engagement of their daughter Jennifer Ann of Chicago to Justin Frederick Davey, son of Judge and Mrs. Frederick Davey and Mrs. Jennifer Nichols of Australia. The bride-to-be is a graduate of Clarkston High School, Albion College and the University of Chicago. The prospective groom is a graduate of Melbourne Grammar and Monash University in Australia. He is currently completing his master's work at the University of Michigan. A June wedding is planned for Mackinaw Island.

Corbett, Hamman to wed in August

Ronald and Kathie Corbett announce the engagement of their daughter Danielle to Greg Hamman, son of Ray and Joan Hamman of Clarkston. The bride-to-be is a graduate of Mt. Morris High School, Eastern Michigan University, and Oakland University. She is a special education teacher at Flint Carman-Ainsworth High School. The prospective groom is a graduate of Clarkston High School, GMI and Oakland University. He works as an engineer at Autoliv in Rochester Hills. An August wedding is planned.

● Nikole S. Greene graduated from Adrian College with a bachelor of arts in international business, with a minor in Spanish. In college, Greene was twice elected as president of Alpha Kappa Psi, a professional business fraternity, twice elected president of her class, and was a vice president of Alpha Phi sorority. She was also a member of Rho-Chi, PACE, the senior council, Rotoract, and was an orientation director. She is currently employed by Liberty Mutual in Farmington Hills as a case manager. She is the daughter of Vicki Green of Clarkston and the granddaughter of Judy and Duayne Fife and the niece of Dan and Jan Fife, all of Clarkston.

School news

Lisa Marie Aenlle was recently inducted into the Alpha Epsilon Delta Honor Society. She is a pre-med student at the Lyman Briggs School of Science at Michigan State University.

Students in pre-professional programs preparing for careers in the health care professions are chosen for membership in the society based on superior scholastic achievement.

Lisa is a 1995 graduate of Marion High School. She is the daughter of Dr. Anthony and Bev Aenlle of Clarkston.

Two Clarkston residents have been initiated into Western Michigan University's new chapter of Phi Beta Kappa this spring.

Stacy Galazin is a senior majoring in French and Asian studies. Allison Vallad is a junior majoring in biomedical sciences.

Students can not apply to the organization. They were selected for the chapter on the basis of general academic qualifications established by the national Phi Beta Kappa organization. WMU's chapter had the opportunity to further define the criteria.

place time in that event was 46.34, showing the high level that the meet was getting run at.

Plante and Rooding also qualified for the open 100 run, and both ran well, between 2:20 and 2:21, just shade out of the top eight.

Sophomore Brittani Brewer, who won the regional title in the 100 hurdles, also ran at the meet.

Richardson said he and the girls were disappointed because they didn't place, but still had a good time, one of the group's objectives going into the weekend.

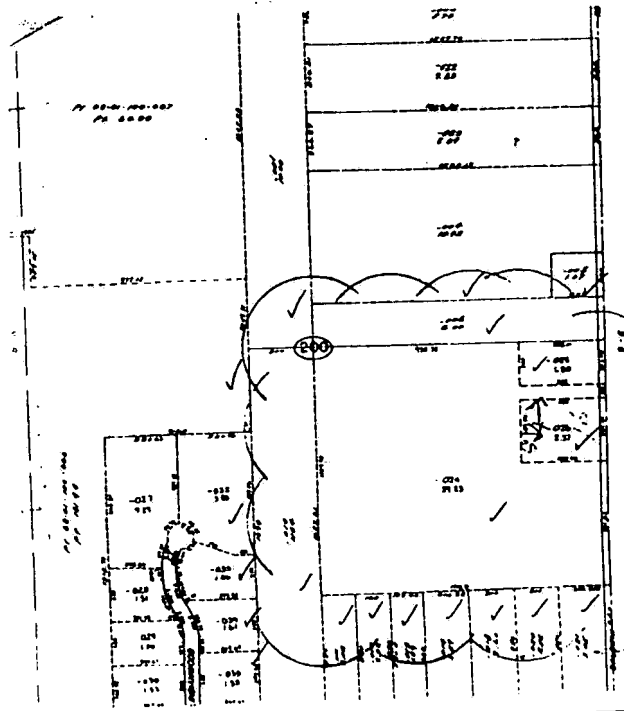

"We enjoyed ourselves, and that was half the battle," he said. "Now our underclassmen have that experience and should be able to feel better for it."

Detroit Edison workers closed Clarkston Road west of Sashabaw for several hours Sunday after high winds knocked a willow tree down on top of power lines.

A large willow tree fell in front of this Washington Street home in the city Sunday morning. Clarkston residents were out and about looking at the damage after the storm passed.

Storm knocks out power, downs lines through area

Many Clarkston-area residents woke up Sunday morning to screaming winds and horizontal rain.

The storm lasted just a couple of hours, but the damage was done. Many trees were uprooted and several power lines were torn down, closing some heavily used roads in the area.

The Independence Township Fire Department received nearly two dozen calls regarding downed power lines, mostly in the northeastern part of the township. Roads that had downed power lines were: Maybee at Sashabaw, Ellis, Clarkston, Sashabaw, Shelley, Sunnyside, E. Washington, Marysue, Oak Park, West Circle, Pelton, Eastlawn, Pine Knob, Shappie, Sun Valley, Dvorak, Cramline, Iroquois, Tuscorora, Horseshoe Circle, and White Lake.

Gar Wilson, Independence Township Fire Chief, said the biggest problem his personnel had to deal with were the number of downed lines and transformers that caught fire.

"We had three crews out just to clear trees off the roads," he said. "We had to shut three roads down because primary lines were hot."

Primary lines are those that could have power running through them and are open on one end. Wilson explained that some people were trapped in their homes because downed primary lines surrounded the house.

Wilson said Clarkston Road, part of Maybee Road, and Waldon were all shut down for periods of time Sunday morning because of the lines. The fire department's main responsibility was to keep the area clear so Detroit Edison workers could come out, shut off the power and remove the lines from the roads.

"The best thing to do is to just stay away from them," Wilson said. "Some of our guys could even feel their feet tingling when they walked near the hot lines. You just can't trust those hot lines."

Edison said there were still around 19,000 customers in Oakland County without power Monday, but most of that was to be restored within 12-24 hours.

The National Weather Service stated that wind gusts in the Clarkston area reached as high as 86 miles per hour Sunday morning. The wind, rain and lightning caused at least one person to change their plans for the day.

"I was supposed to go golfing up in Goodrich with some of the other chiefs," Wilson said. "But when I woke up, saw the rain going sideways and the lightning, I knew I wouldn't be doing that."

Clarkston Road resident Bulah Anderson watched this willow tree fall across the road from her home, just west of Sashabaw. The tree fell about 7:10 a.m., said Anderson, and left her without power until later that afternoon.

Sunday morning's storm brought down a 100-foot tree behind the home of Dan and D'ann Colombo on E. Washington in the city. The tree fell on electrical wires, and the Colombos called the Independence Township Fire Department. D'ann said firefighters arrived within 10 minutes and disconnected their power. "Edison cut the tree in half last night (Monday) to release the wires and restored our power." The Colombos' chimney was also damaged when the tree fell.
