

Schools consider $250,000 Walters Road paving plan

BY MARALEE COOK Clarkston News Editor

Paving Walters Road from Flemings Lake to Waldon roads and using it for bus traffic is getting some serious consideration. At Monday night's regular meeting of the Clarkston School Board, administrators and trustees discussed the possibility.

Craig Kahler, director of business services for the schools said he has received an estimate of about $250,000 for the paving project.

In April, board members said Walters Road residents preferred not to pave their street to minimize traffic to the high school. It was thought using Flemings Lake Road would be sufficient for bus and car traffic.

But following recent discussions and a bus simulation run, in which school, city and Independence Township personnel took the same bus runs students will, it was decided paving Walters Road should be considered.

Kahler said the $250,000 cost can be incorporated into an intergovernmental agreement, which is being developed between Independence Township and the schools for construction and financing of road and drainage improvements for the new high school.

Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts said administrators will look for ways to minimize student car traffic on Walters Road, which he said might happen naturally if busses are using it.

Other methods discussed include administrators directing student traffic, and enlisting the help of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Roberts also requested a letter addressing these concerns be sent to Walters Road residents this week.

Board members approved the development of an intergovernmental agreement with the township Monday night. It will replace the creation of a Special Assessment District, expedite the project and more clearly define the roles of the schools and township, said Kahler. Provided for in the agreement will be paving Flemings Lake Road, improving the intersections of Flemings Lake and Clarkston roads and Walters and Waldon roads and closing off Almond Lane with a culde-sac. The Walters Road paving project can be accomplished through a change-order to the agreement when it is formally approved by the board, said Kahler.

A publishing party Budding writers share stories, poems

Some fifth-graders at North Sashabaw Elementary recently got to sample what it must be like to be a real published writer. On June 11 they threw a "Publishing Party," where children read their creative works for friends and family. Afterwards they enjoyed cake and conversation.

Teacher Maureen Moss said kids chose from a variety of projects they could work on within a six-week period, including writing chapter or poetry books, biographies, research papers - even videotaping their own movies.

It was evident some thoughts were tapped from the sport season. "As you can see," Moss told parents, "quite a number of the boys wrote about the Red Wings." It still pleased her, she noted, even though she's a Capitals fan.

One at a time, children came up to the podium in the school's media center and read short pieces like poems and profiles. For longer projects they read excerpts, encouraging the audience to "read on" later if they wished to know more.

Some children even dedicated their works to Mom, Dad or siblings, including Katie Mosher, who drew from the real-life experiences of her little brother Joshua, a first-grader, who sometimes balks when it comes to going to school.

Katie agreed her story was more fact than fiction.

"My brother's in first grade. I sit there and listen to him," she said, rolling her eyes. "He's getting better though," she added.

Katie Mosher reads an illustrated book about school to her classmates.

More contaminated water troubles Townsend sub hopes for state funding

BY EILEEN McCARVILLE Clarkston News Staff Writer

Another area of Independence Township may receive funding for a contaminated water problem.

Department of Public Works director George Anderson said last week Townsend subdivision is eligible for a $690,000 Quality of Life bond fund allocation from the state of Michigan. If approved, it will allow 52 homeowners to hook up to the township's community well system.

The bond is contingent on the contract being signed by both township supervisor Dale Stuart and the state director of the Department of Environmental Quality. The township board of trustees authorized Stuart's signing of the document during a special meeting Monday night. If the state also approves it, Anderson wants bids to go out by the middle of July, with construction to start this August.

Originally Townsend sub residents petitioned the township for a special assessment district, to pay for both water and sewer. The Board of Trustess approved the SAD last October, with a cost of $5,403 per homeowner for water and $8,500 per homeowner for sewer, over a 10-year period. Approval of the bond would mean those residents would get the water free of charge.

Michigan DEQ environmental sanitarian Lois Graham said the DEQ began sampling Townsend sub's wells after a homeonwer called to say "her water tasted funny." Continued sampling revealed contaminated wells on Harding south of Coronna, Rockcroft, Corona, Withom and Waterford Rd., from Rockcroft to Dixie.

The bond doesn't cover 14 additional homeowners, north of Coronna on Harding. "But their wells have been sampled too. That's the only part that's a question mark. And we have samples in the lab pending analysis," Graham said.

for extended coverage of those wells if they're found to be contaminated.

"Hopefully, (the state will) pay for that too," Anderson said, adding that, so far, testing has revealed "primarily petroleum products, some carcinogens." At one time a gas station existed at the corner of Waterford and Dixie, which could explain the problem, he said.

'For years, homeowners dumped their' gasoline from their lawnmowers and cars in their back yards. At that time nobody realized there would be a problem in the future.'

--George Anderson

Graham said the DEQ's environmental response division is conducting an investigation for the source, Both the DEQ and Oakland County Health Department have sampled other areas in the township as well as the City of Clarkston. Organic compounds or "VOCs," have been found in some wells. Some are above the state's health advisory level. The VOCs come from a mixture of petroleum and cleaning products and include carcinogens, considered to be cancer-causing.

In recent years, the following areas have been found to be significantly contaminated: wells around the old Ben Powell landfill on Clarkston Rd., east of Perry Lake Rd.; the north portion of Main St. (north of township hall) where residents have hooked up to the community well system; near Sashabaw, the north side of Woodhull Lake and Lake Oakland, where residents also hooked up; and the Maybee-Sashabaw area, where one well was replaced at the site of an old gas station. Other N. Main residents in the city, who weren't other N. Main residents in the city, who were part of the N. Main hookup, have expressed concern for their wells also, as have other residents within the city limits. A vote that would have allowed city residents to hook up to the township's water system failed several years ago.

If Townsend sub receives the grant, Anderson estimates the state will have sunk $2 million into three projects, including the Northview Water Project, which affected about 85 city and township homeowners on N. Main and Northview; and approximately 175 homeowhers in Woodhull Lake Sub.

Anderson said he's trying to put both sewer and water improvments for Townsend on the fast track "All we have to do is have the hearing on the tax roll and the whole project can be bid at the same time," he said A meeting for the 52 homeowners is scheduled for July 8 at Independence Township Library at 7 p.m. A second meeting for the 14 homeowners is set for July 14 at the township annex at 7 p.m.

"We're not going to leave these people hanging," Anderson said of the second group. "We've sent them letters. I'm still trying, hopefully, to get the state to pick up the tab on that."

Although, Townsend's woes aren't the cause of homeowners, the old ways of doing things could have contributed to the problem, Anderson said.

"For years, homeowners dumped their gasoline from their lawnmowers and cars in their back yards. At that time nobody realized there would be a problem in the future."

Karen Kubik, public health sanitarian-technician from the OCHD, said the county and state will continue to monitor wells in the Clarkston-Independence area. "There may be more than 14 homes affected," she said of Townsend sub. Testing may continue beyond the boundaries "if it warrants it," she added.

After several failed attempts, the Huron-Clinton Metropark Authority is going to take another crack at opening a water park in Springfield Township.

The HCMA presented a preliminary site plan to the Springfield Township Planning Commission last week for the park. The plan is the same one that never received approval two years ago, the last time the HCMA tried to get a park in the township.

The next step is for the HCMA to submit a formal site plan to the planning commission, which it hopes to do in August. Depending on the commission's decision, the plan could go before the township board of trustees in the fall.

Dan Duncan, the chief planner for the HCMA, said the park is something that will benefit the entire community, and doesn't know why there is any resistance to it.

"It's been very frustrating for us," he said. "We are looking at the area's long-term recreational needs, not short-term needs. The people have said they want a recreational facility in the area. We want to give this to them, but it hasn't been supported. It's difficult to understand."

The park is planned for the south-central portion of the township, north of Crosby Lake Road and east of Hillsboro Road. The entrance will be in White Lake Township, meaning all emergency, sewer and water responsibilities fall upon White Lake, not Springfield.

"Springfield will not have to provide any services for this park," Duncan said. "We've had a very good coopertive effort from White Lake Township. There won't be any sewage going into Springfield's groundwater, and the traffic along White Lake Road will accomodate the park."

. In Duncan's narrative submitted to the planning commission, he estimates 60,000 people will use the park each summer. The park is 41 acres and will be at least a quarter-mile from any residential neighborhoods.

The park will include features such as a wave pool, children's play area, a water slide and a bath house among others.

In the past, the idea of the park has been met with mostly negative reaction from governmental bodies as well as surrounding neighbors. According to comments made in a review by township planner Dick Carlisle, the zoning of the land and the use of the property are in question.

"The HCMA wants this to be zoned RC Resource Conservation, but C-2 General Business is a better fit for the way the land will be used," the report stated. "It does not conform to our master plan. We also don't see a material benefit to the community."

The park is being presented as a planned unit development, which gives it some flexibility with regards to zoning. With a PUD, the plan is required to undergo a public hearing with the planning commission, along with formal plan submittal. The planning commission is a recommending body, meaning it could recommend approval or denial to the township board. The board will have the final say on the fate of the park after a first and second reading.

"The PUD is a technical way of accomodating local zoning," Duncan said. "This way, the park can fit in with the zoning in the area."

Township clerk Nancy Strole said the park will also have to undergo agency reviews from the road commission, department of environmental quality, and the health department before the township board would ever see it.

"I hope this is met with favor by the township and its residents," Duncan said. "Sixth percent of the community said they would be in favor of a local recreational facility, including swimming. This will be just a small, regional facility. The word is just not getting out in the township about the benefits of this facility."

Local beaches tested for a safe summer

BY MARALEE COOK Clarkston News Editor

With the warm temperatures we've been having this season, summer beach activity is in full swing. Just in time, Oakland County Environmental Health Services Department is testing the water at local beaches to make sure they're safe for swimming.

Seven beaches in Independence and Springfield townships with about 100 other beaches in Oakland County are scheduled to be tested beginning June 22 for E. coli bacteria.

Public beaches are tested annually, and in our area those are: Deer Lake Beach on White Lake Road in Clarkston; Crooked Lake at Independence Oaks Park on Sashabaw Road; Greens Lake beach at Bay Court Park on Andersonville Road; and the Davisburg Village beach on the Mill Pond at Hart Community Center.

Private beaches are tested every five years. Scheduled for testing this year is the beach at Deer Lake Estates in Independence Township, Swimming Beach Number One on Walter's Lake on Eston Road, and Colon Acres Subdivision beach on Big Lake.

Each beach is tested a minimum of five times throughout the summer. Three samples are taken from different parts of each beach on testing dates and the results are averaged together.

The tests are done to make sure there are below 300 E. coli colonies per 100 milliliters. If tests show the count is higher, the beach will be closed until the count returns to normal, according to Steven Gay of the Oakland County Health Department.

Kelly Carpenter-Crawford, a public health sanitarian and bathing beach coordinator, said samples are taken in the morning and returned to the lab by noon and tested. If a sample shows a higher count than the limit, the beach will be closed and tested the following day. The beach will be re-opened as soon as the results show a safe count.

In 1995, 45 beaches were closed in Oakland County. Locally three beaches were closed briefly: Woodhull subdivision beach on Woodhull Lake in Independence Township; Deer Lake Beach; and Davisburg Village Beach.No beaches were closed in Independence or Springfield townships or Clarkston or Davisburg in 1996 or 1997.

Until 1994, testing was done for fecal coliform bacteria, but studies showed there was no corollation between fecal coliform and people getting sick.

E. coli is a subcategory of fecal coliform and indicates other organisms which cause people to get sick are present, but not necessarily E. coli, said Gay.

The count is higher following rain, and beaches in areas with septic fields, near ditches, storm drains or those with run-off from higher ground are more susceptible to bacteria, he added.

While Oakland County tests public beaches, it's up to lake property residents to test their own beaches. Sample bottles can be picked up at the Environmental Health Services office, Building #36E, 1200 N. Telegraph, Pontiac (Oakland County complex).

After samples are taken, drop them off at the lab in the Medical Care Facility across the parking lot. For more information, call (248)858-1312. Test results are mailed, but if a high count is noted, residents are called right away.

Letters to the Early

'Unfounded nonsenical attack'

Dear Editor:

Last week the Clarkston News printed a letter by a woman who has sued Mr. Jeff McGee and myself. The letter made an unfounded nonsensical attack on us. Mrs. LaLonde called on township citizens to take some action as though she were protecting them.

She failed to mention that as a part of this same lawsuit, she and her husband had sued Independence Township as well. Although the court dismissed that case because it had no merit, the taxpayers of Independence Township still had to pay to defend against Mr. and Mrs. LaLonde's "laughable" lawsuit.

The fact is that several years ago, Jeff and I and some of our neighbors talked about buying this piece of odd lakefront property that was between our properties and the shoreline. Then divide it and attach each new piece to each of our home sites, thus making each of our home sites lakefront property.

At that time the LaLondes opted to not participate with us, so Jeff and I purchased the property without them. They then sued us in an attempt to take a portion of that property for free. From the beginning of that lawsuit we attempted to settle the case. The LaLondes seem to agree in principal but continually insisted that they be granted more rights and privileges than the other neighbors.

Our settlement negotiations have been between private property owners and do not involve the government. This of course differs vastly from government intrusion by forced inspections. Nor was it wrong for us to inform them that the law would prevent them from building more than one house on a single building site.

Next, the Eston road variance granted to Jeff McGee was done at a public meeting, with notice given to the neighbors and was consistent with the neighborhood and similar variances given to others. Apparently the LaLondes felt that they could use the public positions of Jeff and our attorney, Neil Wallace, to gain some private advantage for them. It won't happen

The truth is both Jeff and Neil have been outstanding public servants. They both devote considerable time and energy to the township board for such little monetary compensation it may as well be considered volunteer work.

Attempting to settle this case with the LaLondes has been like trying to hit a moving target. Because they started this lawsuit, we must first settle with them before we can divide up the property and make our ors lots lakefronts Instead of taking a private matter public and causing more trouble in the neighborhood, perhaps the LaLondes should stop giggling like children and settle this lawsuit like adults. There is no humor in frivolous lawsuits and libelous attacks on the taxpayers, public servants and residents alike. Sincerely,

Congratulations to Dr. Keogh

Dear Editor,

your own.

First Congregational Church, located at 5449 Clarkston Road in Independence Township, is celebrating the 25th anniversary of the ordination of their pastor, Dr. James G. Keogh. Dr. Keogh has been senior minister of the congregation since November of 1984.

Keogh is a graduate of Messiah college in Grantham, Pa. with a BA in History. He also has a masters degree from Lancaster Theological Seminary of the United Church of Christ in Lancaster, Pa. His doctoral degree was earned from the Columbus Seminary Consortium in Columbus, Ohio. The consortium is made up of seminaries representing three denominations: Lutheran, Brethren, and United Methodist.

During his ministry, Keogh has been involved with various community organizations. As an Eagle Scout, he continues to work with the Boy Scouts of America. He has served on the Executive Board of the Clinton Valley Council and is currently an at-large member of the council. He has been supportive of various programs such as Boys and Girls Clubs, Youth Assistance, Haven, Women's Survival Center, Lighthouse and several seniors programs.

While Keogh has been with the First Congregational Church the congregation has relocated from downtown Pontiac to the present 16 acre campus in Independence Township. Under his leadership, the church has increased in membership, financial strength, and program. According to several members of his congregation, his greatest accomplishment is the spiritual growth and missionary efforts that have develhearing." Of course, hearing aids help greatly. And you can get good ones for less than $1,000. (That's great for those of us, old and young, who suffer unavoid able hearing loss.) But, hearing is not the same.

What's the risk? Common sense will tell you it's high. But to be sure, ask your doctor.

Summer tax bill information

Dear Editor.

The 1998 summer tax bills should be sent or during the first week in July. A few reminders an suggestions may be helpful to property tax payers.

Your summer taxes are all school based. They include your local school district, Oakland Intermed ate Schools, Oakland Community College, and Sta Education tax.

There are no township taxes included even though we are the collecting agency. Summer taxes are due from July 1 through Sept. 14 without penalty.

Your winter taxes include county and township government taxes and any special assessments on your property such as street lighting, lake, road, sewer. 1998 winter taxes are sent out around Dec. 1 and are due by Tuesday, February 16 this year without penalty. Normally winter taxes are due Feb. 14, but the 14 falls on Sunday and township offices are closed on the 15 for President's Day.

If you have an escrow account for your taxes, you should receive a customer copy only. This will tell you what taxes your mortgage company should pay. You should also check to see that we are sending the bill to the right mortgage company.

This year your company will be written out instead of just having the code for the company,. It is important to notify the treasurer's office if you no longer have an escrow account or the one shown is incorrect. There have been many changes such as refinancing and large numbers of new escrow accounts due to the low interest rates, Keep your customer copy to compare your year end mortgage statement.

Secondly, if you pay your own taxes, you should receive two bills. One will say customer copy and one will say payment copy. If you pay in person at the township, please bring in both copies. We will keep the payment copy and stamp your copy paid (a big help to you before April 15 for income tax deductions).

If you pay by mail, your check will be your receipt. If you require a paid receipt, send both tax copies and a self addressed envelope. We will return one copy stamped paid to you.

Those residents living in the Clarkston School District will have 1.80 mills added to your summer tax bill, and will have the same amount reduced in your winter tax bill. As you may recall, voters passed 1.80 mills for school renovations and a new elementary school.

Because the passage of the millage took place after the 1997 summer faxes were sent out the 1.80 mills was placed on the 1997 winter taxes. The bottom line is your summer taxes will be higher than your last summer bill and your winter taxes will be lowered by 1.80 mills. On a taxable value of $100,000, the 1.80 mills represents $180.00.

A Look Back

15 YEARS AGO (1983)

Five more toss their hats into the ring for the Independence Township clerk race, vying for current clerk Christopher's Rose's position. This brings the list of applicants to 17.

The state has thrown a stumbling block in developer Hugh Gamer's path, asking to postpone review of his $30 million senior citizen complex, Clarkston Place. It's looking at 13 new applications for senior housing in other portions of the county.

Neighbors working together save the life of 39year-old Jackie Price, whose home on Harvard Road is damaged during a fire. Unconscious and overcome by smoke inhalation, she is pulled to safety from a back bedroom engulfed in flames.

25 YEARS AGO (1973)

The Clarkston school district's Title I remedial reading program is given the go-ahead for fall, with or without federal financing.

"Soul on Ice" by Eldridge Cleaver, one of several controversial books disputed by the Clarkston Board of Education, will stay on junior high and senior high library shelves.

An engraved announcement reads,"The children of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Granger announce the graduation of their father, George Guy Granger, from Wayne Dtate University...," Granger, now in his fifties, began college following World War II, then put it on hold while he raised his family. He finally graduates this month

News from "By The Way:" The rains are raising the water levels of our lakes. Jess Berg reports that Dollar Lake rose one foot on account of the rain on Tuesday. Just when this rain was disappearing into the ground, along came the rain of Wednesday night and Thursday to add to the high water condition.

Yes, be sure to remember that you have a date for tonight. The alumni of Clarkston High School is sponsoring the dance of the season in the school auditorium. Why not forget the high temperature of the last few days and enjoy dancing in a lovely, cool place, with your friends of days gone by.

Movies at the Holly Theatre include Jane Withers, Rochelle Hudson and Robert Wilcox in "Rascals," Charles Starett in "Cattle Raiders," Fred MacMurray and Harriet Hilliard in "Coconut Grove" and Bette Davis, Henry Fonda and George Brent in "Jezebel."

Cheeseman's Ice Cream Shop has delicious double dip sundaes, sodas and pies a la mode (two scoops) all for a dime.

Before we get into that there's something we need explained. Why do country-western and rocktype singers "get into" a microphone to be heard, when major productions, like singers at the Emmys, can be heard just fine though microphoneless?

Now then, from an Internet (why is that word always capitalized?) watcher (reader?) comes the question: What is your quality standard?

Reality says that quality standards of 100 percent are never going to be obtained. After all, nobody's perfect. The alternative to setting standards at the highest possible level becomes clearer when you look at the consequences of "almost, but not quite."

If 99.9% is good enough, then . . .

Hitler, beer and the Autobahn. Chop stix, sushi, and kimonos. Sombreros, tortillas, and salsa.

From these few words you can picture which countries are described. But can three words really be enough to define a country? I do not know, so I asked.

I asked Germans to define America in three words. I surveyed fellow students, teachers, and random people at the town square.

Their responses varied from "My dream land" or, "Red, white and blue" to "The Statue of Liberty, Coca Cola and law suits." More than once the "Land of opportunities," was said.

Many laughed at my three word limit and said that America is such a diverse enormous land that they must mention more than three words. One man said, "America is the only land where a dishwasher can become a millionaire."

The drinking age was questioned by many. I was asked, "Does America view the decision to chose a president as easier to make than the decision whether or not to drink a beer? I do not understand why the drinking age is older than the voting age."

One commented, "America is said to be the land of the free, but that freedom has many taboos and conditions in my mind."

Those that laughed at my naive three word limit were right to laugh. Three words may be enough to define which country is meant, but three words can not create a definition. This survey shows how important it is to learn more about what other cultures and countries are REALLY like.

Too often people base their ideas about a country on stereotypes or television shows. As the questions raised by many surveyed showed, people are curious about other countries and need opportunities to learn more about different cultures reasoning behind laws or customs.

One great way to learn about another country is to be involved in an exchange program. That is one of the many reasons I recommend taking the opportunity to study abroad. It is also an excellent way to learn or improve a foreign language.

Three hundred and sixty five days of concentrating on how to say what you want to express is hard, but is a lot more fun and displays quicker results than studying a language in school.

As an exchange student you have a chance to almost become a part of another culture, and not just another tourist. You will see how strange customs are not so strange as soon as they are understood. Also, in adapting to a new culture, you learn how flexible and open to new ideas you can be while still keeping true to yourself. Financial Focus

Submitted by Scott Hazelton of Edward Jones Act now to lower your '98 tax bill

As you get ready to write that check to the IRS, you may be asking yourself" What was all that excitement over the new Taxpayer Relief Act?"

True, the new laws didn't do much for your 1997 tax bill -- but you should see some benefits when you file your return next year. Many of the provisions took effect Jan. 1, 1998, so now is the time to make any changes that could lower your tax bill next year.

Here are some of the benefits of the new law:

IRAs. Starting this year, taxpayers have three IRA options: traditional deductible IRAs, Roth IRAs and nondeductible IRAs.

Deductible IRAs are available for people not covered by employer-sponsored plans, as well as for those covered by such plans but whose adjusted gross income (AGI) falls under certain limits.

The new tax law not only raised these limits starting in 1998, but also allows spouses to make fully deductible IRA contributions regardless of whether their spouse has a plan at work, as long as their AGI is below $150,000.

If you can't make a deductible IRA contribution, you may find a Roth IRA more appropriate. Although contributions aren't deductible, withdrawals can generally be taken tax- and penalty-free, as long as the money has been in the account five years and you're 59-1/2 or older or meet certain withdrawal requirements. However, the Roth is available only to couples with total adjusted gross income up to $150,000 ($95,000 for singles).

Those who don't quality for a deductible or Roth IRA can still enjoy the benefits of a nondeductible IRA — namely, tax-deferred growth of your savings.

If you're considering switching funds from a traditional to a Roth IRA, you'll owe taxes, but if you convert this year, you can spread your tax liability over the next four years.

Capital gains. The top tax rate on capital gains is now 20 percent for investments you've owned more than 18 months and sold after May 7, 1997 (10 percent for those in the 15 percent bracket). The old top rate of 28 percent still applies to investments held more than a year but not more than 18 months. And gains on investments held less than a year are taxed as ordinary income.

If your portfolio is overweighted with one type of investment or industry, or if you own investments that no longer meet your objectives, the lower tax rates may provide an opportunity to reposition your assets.

Education savings. Starting this year, taxpayers can contribute up to $500 per year after taxes to education savings accounts for each child up to age 18. Earnings in the account grow tax-deferred, and withdrawals are tax-free if taken for qualified education expenses.

If your kids are close to or already in college, the savings account is probably not appropriate, but you do have two new tax credits. The Hope credit can cut your taxes by up to $1,500 a year per student for tuition during the first two years of college. The lifetime learning credit lets you take up to $1,000 a year off your tax bill. It can be claimed for any year in which you don't take the Hope credit for the same student.

Paying off a student loan? You can now deduct student-loan interest in the first five years of a loan payback, up to $1,000 in 1998. This limit will increase each year, reaching $2,500 in 2001. The deduction, however, is only available to joint filers earning less than $80,000 ($40,000 for singles).

These are just a few of the new tax laws. Other provisions include lower taxes on home-sale profits, an increase in the estate-tax exclusion and child tax credits. Consult your tax adviser today to see how you can take advantage of the new tax laws, and maybe next April 15 will be a little more pleasant.

A year away from parents allows you to become independent and forces you to become responsible. An exchange is obviously an completely different experience for every student, but I recommend it to all.

I have met over two hundred students this year from countries all over the world and everyone of them has said even as challenging as it has been at times, they are happy to have made the decision to be an exchange student.

The more we exchange the more we change our world for the better. The world seems to grow smaller and the people in it grow closer together. Our three word definitions broaden and we learn to be open and accepting to new ideas.

DEATHER OF A VISION

In the past few months, my wife, Onalee, and I have expressed in a series of articles "Government Gone Amuck", our plight with Government Township Officials. Simply stated they're taking our property rights from us. We have also shown you very graphically in pictures how light industrial under the guise of O.R. (Office Research) zoning is being proposed at the M-15 and 1-75 interchange. To date (6-22-98), we have spent over $18,000 to hold them at bay, with no help from a board member or common sense statements from our township attorney. The Townships' "Vision 2020 plan" clearly embarks upon what I have termed grass roots tyranny and utter insanity. It is time for this vision to die!

We personally have chosen, at this point, to seek a court remedy for our rezoning problem. However, if I receive enough responses from people regarding the 1-75 and M-15 interchange rezoning to light manufacturing (O.R.), I will file a class action suit on behalf of the entire Township to stop the "Vision 2020 Plan".

For your information, the O.R. zoning is not just part of the Township plan, but the greater plan of Oakland County. The county wishes to bring the Technology Corridor right on up 1-75 to the county line. This has been evidenced in many ways. L. Brooks Patterson said as much in his annual luncheon address sponsored by First Chicago NBD. Also in early 1997 the planning commission tried to extend Flemings Lake Rd. to the East across the Pine Knob Golf Course. This was soundly defeated by the Pine Knob residence on the hill where the mansion is located. Neither the residence nor the golf course people wanted such infringements. Again this was to promote the plan to have O.R. zoning along 1-75. I will remind you once again that O.R. zoning requires 10-acre minimum sites. This is probably why reassessments were done along Mann Rd. while other parts of the Township were not even considered for reassessment. They will simply tax people off their property so O. R. can come in. Another case-in-point that also failed because of a threatened court action, is the new subdivision to the North of Clarkston, Orion Road, West of Sashabaw. When developers wanted to put in a residential subdivision, the Township tried to hold them to the "Vision 2020 Plan" which calls for O.R. zoning. The board was split, so they threatened a court action. Their subdivision is in today and it is beautiful. Now in 1998, O.R. has crept to the main intersection of the Township and Village (M-15 and I-75). If I receive 100 names on the form listed below, I will petition the Township to have a public hearing on my parcel and a class action suit on behalf of the whole Township. I do, however, need your support. It will cost you exactly 32 ¢. You can address your returns to the Clerk of Independence Township - Joan McCrary, Clerk Charter Township of Independence 90 N. Main St. Clarkston, MI 48346

I will ask the Clarkston News to publish the number of responses. While many people follow national and political events, which we do, few people pay much attention to their local government in their own back yards.

The framers of our constitution were very clear in their definition of "Liberty"; The basic right of all individuals to control their own lives, free from arbitrary or excessive government interference. I'm talking about Federalism, whose central interest in all of its' species is liberty. In numerous Supreme Court opinions, the constitutional system of Federalism is not status rights but individual liberty as established by the 9th

Amendment and the entire Bill of Rights. I feel so strongly that we can win our battle that I am willing to include your rights as well as mine. If you will only make a 32¢ investment to put a death to this vision. Believe me, this plan will not die of its' own accord. For at some obscure date, say 2 days before Christmas Eve, they will publish and have a special meeting to pass this plan. On a personal note, I think the NW corner of 1-75 and M-15 is one of the most valuable corners from Detroit to Flint. Why not put in a Gallaria shopping center with fine shops that will be lacking at the Great Lakes shopping center at I-75 and Baldwin? I'm strongly urging all residents North of 1-75 to get together before the Township passes their "Vision 2020 Plan", which will give us a view that we don't want as we exit I-75 to our homes or businesses.

A half-century of promoting 'green thumbs' Clarkston Farm and Garden Club celebrates fifty years

The Clarkston Farm and Garden Club is celebrating its fiftieth year of gardening with programs that not only promote the fun and virtues of being a "green thumb," but also take a nostalgic look at the club and its origins.

The group's July 13 meeting will be a picnic at Baycourt Park hosted by current members of the club. All former members are being invited to attend this special event.

Featured on the program will be longtime garden enthusiasts Virginia Walter, Barbara Thomson, Maryetta Bullard and Janet Rose who will take a look back at "Garden Club in the 50's and 60's." Two remaining charter members of the Clarkston Farm and Garden Club are Mrs. Arthur Rose (Janet) and Mrs. John Stageman (Fran) both of whom reside in Clarkston.

President Kay Robertson has been familiar with the Clarkston Farm and Garden Club since her youth when her mother-in-law was an early member of the group. "I just love this club," Robertson commented. "And I'm excited about being President during our 50th birthday. Our members are some of the nicest people you'd ever want to meet and we all share a love of plants and gardening. So many of our members have done beautiful things in their own gardens and they've always generously shared their talents with the community, too."

Besides Robertson, officers for 1998-2000 include Grace Savage, Blair Schweitzer, Jan Glass, and Sharron Catallo. The Clarkston Farm and Garden Club has supported many civic projects in its long history.

Currently the club maintains the flower beds at the Independence Township Library, plants and maintains flower barrels on Main Street, sponsors the annual holiday Greens Market each November, grants scholarships to local graduates, and funds educational programs in Clarkston Community Schools.

They also participate in Clarkston's annual Flower Exchange Day and the Historical Society's Crafts and Cider Festival. The club focuses on civic improvement, horticulture, conservation, and education.

Former members who are interested in attending the picnic should contact Robertson, 625-2317, or Mary Beth Huttenlocher, 625-1627.

A 14 Wed., June 24, 1998 The Clarkston (MI) News Kid centered' principals named at two schools

Two new elementary school principals were introduced to the Clarkston School Board Monday night.

Assistant superintendent Dave Reschke announced former Sashabaw Middle School assistant principal Charles Rowland will become principal at Clarkston<sup>G</sup> Elementary School, following the resignation of Mike Kehoe.

Debbie Latozas, an instructional support specialist at Bailey Lake Elementary, will take over as principal at North Sashabaw Elementary School, following the retirement of George White.

Reschke said Latozas and Rowland are both "kid centered, instructional leaders" held with great esteem in the Clarkston schools community and respected by students.

He added, "They share a strong support base from their colleagues and bring out the best in them." asing Fire D

"Deb has enjoyed long-term tenure and a strong record in Clarkston," Reschke said. Latozas has a master of arts for classroom teachers from Michigan State University, and is a candidate for education specialist in school administration from Oakland University.

Latozas is K-12 math coordinator and Title I math coordinator, and a staff development trainer for Clarkston schools. She was also named Teacher of the Year for 1998 by the Clarkston Foundation. She lives in Lake Orion with her family.

Reschke said Rowland "brings a set of practices and new ideas from another district." Before coming to SMS, Rowland was interim principal and a fifth grade teacher at Bingham Farms Elementary School in the Birmingham school district.

He received his master of education from Marygrove College and his education specialist in administration from Wayne State University. He currently lives in Southfield.

Sashabaw sports arena site plan to change

BY BRAD MONASTIERE Clarkston News Staff Writer

The multi-purpose sports arena planned for Sashabaw and Bow Pointe Roads is doing a switcheroo.

According to Jack Leech, one of the owners of the complex, the site plan of the facility is being changed. The parking lot will now be located on the south side of the complex, the building on the north side. The building had previously been planned for the south side.

"The change in the site plan will end up saving us almost $1 million,"Leech said Tuesday: "There was an elevation change in the land, and we would have had to haul away 100,000 yards of soil on one end to balance it out."

Leech said the Independence Superior SportsPlex will now be built on the high end of the area, 55 feet higher in elevation than the other side. Constructing the arena this way will not only save the investment group the $1 million, but nearly a month in hauling all the soil away.

Editorial A fee by any name is still a tax

The City of the Village of Clarkston is seriously considering adding a tax to property owners in the "historic" downtown area.

Called a fee, some City officials would like to charge we property owners for them to have a looksee at our rafters, etc. However, initially only the exposed joists will be checked.

For this "inspection," as proposed, Clarkston's treasury will be increased by $150 per building. The report is a 1,000 sq. ft. building will be charged the

For this we pay no fee. Apparently they feel the taxes we pay are sufficient for them to check exit signs, extinguishers, etc.

We can only assume backers of this new $150 tax do not feel the winter-summer taxes we in the "historic" district pay are enough to cover an inspection.

Owning property in the "historic" district is more of a burden, cost and trouble than we had anticipated. Having to have our architectural changes committee approved we thought was intrusion enough.

If the City of the Village of Clarkston feels so strongly that our "historic" district buildings are unsafe for public use they shouldn't be concerned with a fee, but inspect post haste. JAS

School board extends OTC-NW programs for another year

All programs at Oakland Technical Center, Northwest Campus will remain in place for one more year.

At their meeting Monday night, Clarkston school board members agreed to a renewal of the existing contract with Oakland Schools through June 30, 1999.

Over the last year, schools superintendents in Oakland County have discussed the possiblity of changing the structure of career education technology, but no decisions have been made.

At the meeting, several parents and students from the Oakland Science, Mathematics and Technology

Academy (OSMTech) at OTC-NW asked administrators and board members to find a way to keep the program open.

Because of costs, logistical and travel problems, the program faces restructuring at a minimum, and the possibility of closing.

Board member Janet Thomas who also sits on the Intermediate School District board said,"This is part of the restructuring of the entire (technology) program. No-one's intent on getting rid of anything at this point."

Knob Notes They MMMBop to the chart top

Get ready for the onslaught, Clarkston. Hanson has aroused a new wave of teenage hysterics not seen since New Kids left the Block.

The three brothers, Taylor, Zachary and Issac, seemed to burst upon the teen scene at just the right time when alternative music was getting bogged down with gloom-and-doomdom. While seen as bubble-gum fluff by some, you can't dispute their popularity.

Their infectious "MMMBop" cheered up pubescent America, all the while soaring to the top of record charts and inspiring rave reviews from Spin and Rolling Stone to the New York Times.

Since then, they've racked up more than 12 million in album sales for their debut CD "Middle of Nowhere" and "Snowed In," a collection of holiday songs.

TheTulsa, Oklahoma trio is still overwhelmed with success.

"It's just an amazing, humbling experience," says eldest brother Issac, 17, in a February issue of USA Today. "You think, 'I don't deserve this in the slightest.' We just make music. We cross our fingers and hope people continue to respond to it."

Giroux named to All-State softball team

BY BRAD MONASTIERE Clarkston News Staff Writer

This all-state thing must run in the family. Recent Clarkston High School graduate Aimee Giroux, a two-year captain and four-year starter, was named to the team last week. Her sister Stephanie made the team after her junior season in 1995.

It marks the first time Giroux, who's earned eight varsity letters for the Wolves in three sports, has been named to an all-state team. It was the second time in varsity softball coach Al Land's seven seasons, a player was named to the All Stateteam.

Aimee Giroux

"She was a four-year starter, and a two-year captain, and I don't have many juniors who are captains," Land said. "When I needed help in practice, she could set up all the drills for me. You could tell that she was looked up to by the other kids."

Giroux, an outfielder, helped Clarkston win its first district title in 11 years with her excellent defense and big bat at the plate.

She led the team in batting average (.418), runs batted in (32) and base hits (55). She had a streak earlier this season when she reached base 13 straight times hitting from the all-important No. 2 spot in the order.

'You could tell that she was looked up to by the other kids.'

Coach AI Land on Aimee Giroux

"As the number two hitter, she had a very important job for us,"Land said. "She had to move runners along and get them in scoring position. And defensively, she just didn't make any mistakes. She even caught some balls that were uncatchable."

Giroux said she was surprised to be honored, but it was something she had been hoping for her entire career.

"Since my freshman year, my goal was to be named all state by my senior year," she said. "When the team looks good, it makes the individual players look good also. The team's success gives individuals more of a chance to be recognized."

As a Clarkston athlete, Giroux won three district championships and two league championships. She was also named to the All-District and All-Region teams. Being named all-district makes a player eligible for all-region honors, and all-region could lead to allstate. Giroux was also named to the All-OAA team for the third time in her career. ## Bailey, Mazur switch schools in search of hoop dreams

BY BRAD MONASTIERE Clarkston News Staff Writer

In basketball, sometimes it's not as important where you start as where you finish.

Two 1997 Clarkston High School graduates, Chad Bailey and Marc Mazur, each excelled for the varsity boys basketball team enough to earn spots on college rosters their freshman seasons.

But both have decided to leave their first college for more playing time and bigger opportunities in the next few years.

Chad Bailey

A 6-foot-6 swingman with a good shooting touch from the outside, Bailey was caught in a numbers game at Central Michigan University that only figured to get worse over the next couple of years.

Bailey will transfer to Lake Superior State University in Sault Ste. Marie next year, and will be immediatley eligible to play because he's moving from a Division I to a Division II school. Under NCAA rules, Bailey will not have to sit out a year because he's moving from I to II. If he went from CMU to another D-I school, he would have to sit out a year.

"I started thinking about (transferring) in January," Bailey said. "I had been recruited by a lot of GLIAC schools in high school, but I liked Lake State the best. They have great facilities, and I liked the coaching staff there a lot as well."

LSSU hired a new coaching staff before the 1997-98 season, head coach Marty McDermott and assistant coach Saul Phillips. The Lakers struggled through a 5-22 season last year, but with Bailey and several redshirt freshmen, the team hopes to make a quick turnaround in the GLIAC in 1998-99.

Chad Bailey, shown here in his last high school game, has transferred from Central Michigan to Lake Superior State in hopes of earning a starting position at the college level.

"Chad is the type of kid I want in this program," McDermott said. "He has a great work ethic, comes from a great high school program, and comes from a great family. Once we get Chad and our other young players going, I will feel very good about this team's talent level."

Bailey did not receive much playing time for the Chippewas last season, and with several top-notch

Oakland County recruits heading to Mount Pleasant next year, he said he didn't think his playing time was going to increase at all in the future.

"A lot of guys they brought in played the same position as I did, so I could tell my chances of playing weren't that great," he said. "The coach has a very positive attitude and can relate to his players."

I love a parade

Hot. Crowded. Red. Fun.

Those are the words that come to mind when I think about the victory parade for the Detroit Red Wings, which I was fortunate enough to attend with four friends Thursday afternoon.

First. I must thank a wonderful boss for letting me go.

With that gratuitous mention out of the way, on to the parade. I was anxious to get down there, because I just wanted to see what a million people looked like.

My group was stationed near the corner of Woodward and Adams, near a grassy park. We didn't arrive until around 9 a.m., so a plum spot right on the curb was out of the question. After carrying our coolers under the already-oppressive June sun, we plopped down to soak up the atmosphere.

Nearly two hours before the parade started, people were chanting "Go Wings!" on alternate sides of the street, and the one that gives me chills, "Let's go Red Wings!" clap, clap, clapclapclap.

The gathered crowd was so ready for a party, that the local law enforcement officers were given a standing ovation when they drove through to make sure the road was clear. I never thought so many people would be cheering for the police at once.

Various high school bands and floats got the crowd warmed up for the people it really came to see the back-to-back Stanley Cup champions.

One of the funny moments of the parade came when Gov. John Engler rode by in his white convertible. Through most of the route, he was greeted with chants of "Scotty! Scotty!" Apparently, people confused this back-to-back winner (in gubernatorial races) with another back-to-back winner, coach Scotty Bowman. Once people figured out that Engler was Engler, the cheers mysteriously quieted. Must have been a lot of teachers in the crowd.

Then, came the players, each in a car of his own with his name on the side of the car. I was particularly happy to see Mike Knuble go by, waving to the crowd with a big smile. I played hockey against him in high school when he suited up for East Kentwood, a school near Grand Rapids.

I remember him as being a very strong player, a tough one to knock down, but I never thought he would one day play for a Stanley Cup champion. His big improvement came at the University of Michgan, where his goal-scoring output increased in each of his four seasons.

Steve Yzerman of the Red Wings shows off his Conn Smythe Trophy as playoff MVP during Thursday's Stanley Cup victory parade in downtown Detroit.

It was announced that Knuble's name will be inscribed on the Stanley Cup this year, making up for last year, when he was left off. So that's my personal connection to this group of heroes.

The inspirational Wings came on a covered float of their own - Vladimir Konstantinov and Sergei Mnatsakonov. Their courage no doubt played a big part in the team's success, but I will always remember the old Vlady, the one that would flatten opponents and skate away smiling.

He was the very definition of a physical force on the ice, and to see him in the condition where he gets an ovation for standing up is sad to me. Many people are upset that the limo driver that fateful night - Richard Gnida - will be released from prison soon. Actually, jail might end up being a safer place for him than in the public, where everyone will remember that the crash was his fault.

The Clarkston (MI) News Wed., June 24, 1998 3 B

On a more positive note, the highlight of my day was seeing the Stanley Cup in person for the first time. Appropriately, Chris Osgood was the one carrying it for the crowd to see. His convertible drove by faster than any other one, so I was a little disappointed in that. I would think that car would slow down the most, allowing people to get good pictures of the most noble trophy in all of sports.

Osgood was the right choice to make for this honor. People only seem to remember his gaffe in the playoffs against San Jose in 1994 that led to the seriesclinching goal for the Sharks, and the long-distance goals he allowed to Phoenix, St. Louis and Dallas. But keep this in mind. He has one of the top five regular season and playoff winning percentages of all time. Before last year's playoff run, many people felt that he should have started over Mike Vernon. Osgood has the perfect demeanor to play this high-pressure position and has the full confidence of his teammates.

As he held the Cup aloft at the parade, I found myself cheering the loudest for this guy, who was born the same year I was. He took a lot of unecessary heat, and deserves as much as anyone to bask in the glory of a world championship.

Just as quickly as it had started, the parade ended, at least the parade on Woodward. There was another parade not long after - the one to get on I-75 northbound. It took us longer to get to the 8 Mile Road exit than it did to complete the entire parade. But the way I see it, that's part of the whole experience. There's so much traffic, and no one's in much of a hurry, so it was relaxing in its own way.

A hearty meal at the Big Buck Brewery capped off a day I'll always remember, one that I shared with 1.2 million of my closest Red Wings fans. I'm already looking forward to next year's parade. Trust me folks, there will be one. This team has everything, and only the Dallas Stars will pose any kind of threat in preventing a Wings three-sweep. Detroit is too well-coached and too well-led to lose the Cup next year. The team knows how to fill in the gaps as they come in, and rivals like Colorado and Philadelphia have fallen on tough times in the last year. Red Wings 4, Buffalo Sabres 0.

It costs a little more than a standard 40-gallon water heater. But, based on the national average price for natural gas, the FSG Model will save you around $22 in lower fuel bills the first year alone. In just five years, this can amount to a savings of $110. And if the cost of energy should increase in the years ahead, your savings will be even greater.

Bailey, Mazur ready for new challenges

From Page 2B

Bailey will walk-on for the Lakers.

Playing in the GLIAC will pit Bailey against former Clarkston teammates Jeremy Fife and Tim Wasilk, who both start for Grand Valley State. Playing against people he's known for many years will be strange for Bailey, he said.

"I can't wait to go up against those guys," he said. "I did get some great experience being at CMU. My ballhandling got a lot better, and I put on 12-15 pounds in muscle. Next year will be exciting."

Marc Mazur

Bailey's move from a Division I to a Division II school is not unusual at all. Mazur is taking the reverse - and much less common - approach.

Mazur played his freshman season for Wayne State University - a Division II school - and was a regular contributor off the bench. But his progress and improvement were good enough to get an offer to play for the University of Detroit-Mercy.

Mazur will have to sit out the 1998-99 season because he's transferring from a D-II to a D-I school.

"They recruited me in high school, but they thought I was a couple of years away from being a Division I player," Mazur said. "I don't have any doubt I can play there, and it's a great opportunity for me." Mazur played parts of two seasons for the Wolves.

He stands 6-11 and has a wingspan of a seven-footer. He's continually improved his strength and quickness in the low post along with his moves with his back to the basket. Those skills, plus his outstanding work ethic, make him a part of a very exciting future for the Titans. Under coach Perry Watson, U of D made the NCAA tournament last season and figures to be a competitive state power for years to come. I remember watching the selection show, and when they got picked, I was happy because I knew I would play with those guys," he said. "They are becoming a good team on a national scale, and it's a great time for me to get in with them.

INDEPENDENCE TWP.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE

At a regular meeting of the Independence Township Board held on June 16, 1998, the Township Board authorized a First Reading of an amendment to the Township's Zoning Ordinance No. 83 regarding Sidewalk and Safety Path Regulations as follows

SUMMARY OF

SIDEWALK AND SAFETY PATH REGULATION ORDINANCE Following is a summary of a proposed Ordinance introduced by the Township Board to amend the Charter Township of Independence Code of Ordinances to establish regulations and procedures for the maintenance and repair of public sidewalks safety paths in the Charter Township of Independence, to establish duties and responsibilities relating to maintenance and repair of public sidewalks and safety paths, and to require notice of injury and/or damage as a condition to recovery.

Section. Findings, Purpose, and Intent In the consideration and enactment of this Ordinance, the Township Board finds that there are public safety paths which are part of the Township system intended for general use during times when accumulations of snow and/or ice are not on the safety paths; and that there are sidewalks that are not part of the Township's system of safety paths as shown on the official Safety Path Map, maintained by the Township. It is the intent of the Township Board to finance the maintenance and repair of safety paths from the Safety Path Fund, and to finance needed maintenance and repair of sidewalks by special assessment. Section - Definitions

Condition of disrepair shall mean a sidewalk or safety path having any one or more of the following characteristics, provided, however, that the existence of any one or more of these characteristics shall not create a presumption or other indication that such characteristics were the cause of any injury or damage which may occur:

A Hole: place where the surface is missing; (b) A Gap: separation of material proportion on the surface of the sidewalk itself or between the sidewalk and the adjacent surface;

(c) A Rise or Drop: abrupt change in grade where one surface vertically separates from an adjacent surface:

(d) A Tilt: incline where the sidewalk surface has rotated and is no longer oriented in gradient or cross slope:

(e) A Swell or Depression: place where the surface undulates due to uplift or subsidence of underlying materials;

(f) An Object or Debris: obstruction that covers some or all of the surface;

But don't think Peterson's trips are about living off the land and bike riding 20 hours a day. He said a rental truck rides with them throughout the trips, equipped with tents, sleeping bags and a working kitchen.

Peterson estimates his group rides an average of 80 miles per day. The group takes mostly paved back roads on its trips.

"We get a map in the morning and we split up into groups according to our riding style. I like to ride in the faster group," he adds with a chuckle.

Locally, Peterson is also a member of the Flying Rhinos, a group known for their annual bike ride on New Year's Day.
