Enrollment figures are reported by building principals as head count and are unaudited. Special Education counts represent students in SPICE only. Main streamed LRC and AI students are included in the general education class counts.

The number of students enrolled in Clarkston Community Schools topped the 7,000 mark this year, according to the unofficial fourth-Wednesday student population count.

This year's student count increased by about 246 over last year, from 6,777 to 7,023, according to figures released by the schools last week. It continues a steady stream of yearly increases, and a five-year increase of 1,133 students from 1993.

In an interview last spring, Dr. Michael LaBay, assistant superintendent for curriculum and research, said the schools expect an additional 1,100 students by the year 2001.

The population will be counted again in February, and in a 60-40 blended count with the heavier percentage given to the fall count, will determine the amount of state aid the schools will receive.

The current foundation allowance figure estimated by Clarkston Schools is $5,908, which is also the 1997-1998 figure, according to director of business services, Craig Kahler.

Kahler said he's heard rumors the foundation allowance will be increased by $50 per pupil, but a determination has not been made by the state legislature.

He added the state's fiscal year begins Thursday, October 1, and he would expect the state to determine a funding level this week.

During the presentation of the 1997-1998 audit to the school board September 14, auditors from Plante & Moran noted Clarkston ranks above Brandon's $5,462 in foundation allowance, but well below Southfield's $9,921 per student. Lake Orion schools receive $6,721 per student, while Oxford receives $5,920 per student.

Chamber grows to 300 members

Chamber of Commerce celebrates 10 years

Awards and congratulations for jobs well done were the order of the day at the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce annual meeting, September 24.

Members celebrated the Chamber's tenth anniversary at the luncheon meeting at Clarkston Creek Golf Club, complete with a congratulatory proclamation sent from Governor John Engler.

Marc Cooper, immediate past president, also turned over the gavel to Wendy Halsey, a board member for three years, who will be president for the 1998-99 term.

Dr. Bruce Mercado, the Chamber's first president, congratulated the group on the growth of the Chamber, from its membership of nearly 50 members in its first year to the current roster of over 300 members.

Mercado said a chamber of commerce is "exactly what takes place in this room -- members attending mixers, the business Expo, and businesses supporting and promoting one another."

He applauded the Chamber's partnerships with Independence Township, the City of Clarkston, the schools and the benefits of those partnerships to the community.

The following awards were also presented at the annual meeting:

Appreciation awards are given to a Chamber member or business which has demonstrated outstanding leadership, support and service to the Chamber's programs and projects.

This year president Marc Cooper, owner of The Impressive Type, has selected three individuals and 13 businesses to receive Appreciation awards. The President's Award and Beautification Award will also be given at the annual meeting.

President's Award

Presented to Jeannie McCreery, The Oakland Press

As a member of the Board of Directors, Jeannie has continually offered advice, counsel and energy to the chamber of a variety of projects including the Chamber website and welcome new resident coupon program. As chairman of the Promotions committee, Jeannie was the backbone of the Chamber's 10th anniversary float which was featured in the 4th of July and Labor Day parades. The float consisted of a "business" built from bricks with each of the chamber's members' names.

"Quality work," states president Marc Cooper. "When you talk about Jeannie McCreery you have to talk quality. She never does anything half way. Clearly her efforts have gone a long way towards improving the visibility of the chamber and our members."

Beautification Award

Presented to Clarkston Christian Association, Mt. Zion

Given in recognition of exceptional effort toward enhancing the aesthetic value of our community. "The CCA is a great example of how to take a sows ear and turn it into a silk purse," states president Marc Cooper. "What they have done to the building at Maybee and Sashabaw to turn it into a community asset is tremendous! The chamber is pleased to honor the hard work and dedication that has made the CCA a great improvement to our community."

Appreciation Awards

are given to acknowledge exceptional effort and loyal service to business and community.

Ed Cornell, Auto-Lab

As a new board member, Ed Cornell volunteered early on to serve on committees and help make projects happen. His efforts as Pit Boss for the first Chamber Vegas Night were greatly appreciated and went above and beyond the call of duty. Thorough, willing to serve, and dedicated, Ed Cornell is a quality chamber member and a real asset to the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Carrol Cantor, Carrol's Flowers and Gardens

As chairman of the Business Expo, Carrol Cantor has reinvented and rejuvenated the Business Expo. She has enthusiastically reached out to Chamber members inviting them to participate. Her sheer joy is infectious and results in a truly outstanding event.

Taking steps to stop world hunger

Sunday, Sept. 27 was a perfect day for walking, running or jogging. Sunny. Pleasant. The occasional breeze.

But those who took part in Clarkston's annual Community CROP-Walk would have probably braved snow, sleet or rain to walk to eliminate world hunger.

Approximately 29 people from eight local churches took part, raising $2,257 for this year's effort which, traditionally following CROP's motto is to stop hunger "around the block and around the world."

Out of that sum, 25 percent is used for two local charities, 25 percent is used for Michigan, 25 percent is used nationally, and 25 percent is used internationally.

The walk began at 2 p.m. at Calvary Lutheran Church on Bluegrass and looped back to the starting point, covering six miles in all. This year's "celebrity walker" was Clarkston Mayor Sharron Catallo.

CROP treasurer John Hood compared the facts over the last three years: In 1996, $2,385 was raised from 66 walkers, pledging $36.14 each; in 1997 the total was $5,455 with 97 walkers raising $56.23 each; and this year's figures (29 walkers, $2,257 total) showed each walker raised $77.83 in pledges.

On the down side, less people participated this year, Hood said. "But the good news is the amount per walker doubled what we had two years ago."

Calvary Lutheran Pastor Jonathan Heierman gave the invocation, asking God to provide "safety" and "blessings" for the effort. In the foreground is celebrity walker Clarkston Mayor Sharron Catallo.

Commissioners cement first plans for Premarc

BY EILEEN McCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

If it takes eight trucks to transport 400 tons of gravel to a 65-foot storage silo, how many trucks will be needed to fill a silo half that size?

Math was only one of many problems facing Independence Township planning commissioners Thursday as they wrestled with Clarkston Premarc Corporation's request to begin concrete pipe manufacturing at its 30-acre site on White Lake Road.

Currently Premarc only stores and cuts pipes, but wants to create its own products, although it has two existing manufacturing sites elsewhere.

Despite continued opposition from surrounding residents, commissioners approved both special land use and a conceptual site plan in two separate motions, each 5-2. Cynthia Lohmeier and Todd Moss voted no on the first motion, Moss and Joe Figa on the second.

The action followed nearly three hours of heavy discussion, during which commissioners noted Premarc will next need two height variances from the zoning board of appeals and final site plan approval from planners.

It was the third time Premarc appeared before the commission, the last of which was a public hearing which drew a roomful of irate residents. They objected to the site abutting their neighborhood, although Premarc falls within an area zoned heavy industrial for over 35 years.

A special subcommittee was set up and Premarc went back to the drawing board. On Thursday, representatives said they felt they had come up with some solutions everyone could live with. Among the issues were drainage, pollution, hours of operation and noise -- the item that has bothered residents most.

Premarc reps said all manufacturing operations will be contained inside one building -- thus assuring residents they will be protected from the impact. Commissioners also put checks on operational hours, holding Premarc to 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. for half the year, and from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. from April to October (daylight savings time).

But residents continued to complain about a variety of problems, including dust and noise, which they attributed to Premarc's gravel trucks, entering and exiting the site, as well as traveling White Lake and Andersonville roads.

However, assistant township building director Leon Genre said a nine-day study showed only 11 out of 318 trucks were Premarc's.

Township planner Dick Carlisle added that residents shouldn't be too hasty to judge Premarc on the dust problem, as other nearby operations could be contributing as well.

However, the new facility will be inspected four months after it opens to make sure it's following set requirements, including those that affect nearby residents, Carlisle said.

On the upside, Premarc reps noted that, if approved, the new factory would help many find work. Premarc would receive a "strategic fund loan" from the state, part of Gov. Engler's plan to create jobs in Michigan.

Despite commissioners' apparent sympathy for residents, many continued to vent their frustrations.

Doug Burke, a Hillcrest resident who has been leading the protest, said again he works a midnight shift and cannot sleep because of all the noise. In a flyer he distributed throughout the audience, Burke said Premarc is already producing "exhaust pipe noise, tailgate banging, drilling, hammering, employee yelling and gun shooting at 10:20 p.m."

"Leave Clarkston," he said, angrily. "Once they get a toe-hold in our neighborhood, it's going to be one problem after another."

Another Hillcrest resident, Bill Taylor, said he's also worried about toxins, and pointed to problems stemming from a nearby asphalt plant. Premarc attorney Dick Campbell assured him there are no toxins, only "concrete, water and gravel" for pipe production.

At one point, Carlisle detailed how the area became industrial because of the railroads. He also pointed out the issue of property owners' rights.

"I think we have to have reasonable discussion on what rights Premarc has as well as the rights you have," he said. "They're trying to do their best to address and solve concerns that you have."

He added neither he nor commissioners were here 35 years ago -- but if he had been, "I would have never put residential next to heavy industrial. Now we're trying to do the best we can."

Figa and Moss voted against the site plan, citing the height issue. Both Lohmeier and Moss were against granting special land use because of the impact on residents, although Lohmeier agreed Premarc had worked to make plans "palatable."

"I cannot, in good conscience support this," she said. "I believe this asks us to look at all neighboring properties. Therefore, I can't support it because it borders residential."

Chair Steve Board, who voted in favor of both motions, stressed commissioners are "residents" too with a variety of opinions. Noting past planning board experience in other communities, he said he found Independence to be one of the "toughest."

"We are not a yes board," he said. Board encouraged residents to get involved in planning and other township groups. If they want to see changes, "Development is going gangbusters," he said, pointing to future projects in the neighborhood, including the proposed medical center and 260-acre residential-commercial development at White Lake and Dixie.

City council gives nod to proposed Clarkston State Bank New ATM site plan approved

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It was a drive-thru approval.

The Clarkston city council gave the nod to a site plan detailing the location of a drive-up automated teller machine (ATM) on the old NBD Bank property at its regular meeting Monday night.

The plan, submitted by Gary Tressel, the city's engineer, was approved by a unanimous 6-0 vote. Council member Karen Sanderson was absent.

The approved plan will not require any additions to the current NBD building, which could be occupied by the proposed Clarkston State Bank.

Dave Harrison, part of the group hoping to open the new downtown bank by Jan. 4, said his first thought is not to charge fees for use of the ATM regardless of what bank a customer is affiliated with.

"We want the drive-up ATM on the edge of the parking lot we're looking at," he said at the meeting. "NBD claimed they closed because there was no drive-up ATM there, and we'd like to try it and see if it will enhance the viability of the bank."

Council members were united in their support not only of the ATM location, but the bank itself, saying it is a big step in the revitalization of the downtown area.

"This proposal that's come to us represents a major commitment, more than what we received from NBD," David Savage said. "We discussed the need for a drive-up ATM in that area, but one set up so it will still be a successful venture for them."

The site plan calls for the ATM to be located in one of two places: along a 12-foot wide lane off Depot Road west of Main Street, or along a driveway created within a lawn area in the same location.

"I don't like a pull-off lane as much as a separate lane," Tressel said. "With the second concept, sight distance will be improved, and it's preferable to widening the road."

Harrison told the council he expects charter approval from the state between Oct. 15 and Nov. 1, once the Securities and Exchange Commission and the Federal Reserve make their decisions. If approval comes within that window, Harrison said he plans to open the bank right after the first of the year.

After approving the site plan, the council spent around 30 minutes discussing whether or not to hold a public hearing to determine support of the concept of an ATM machine in the Depot Road parking lot.

The council was split 3-3 on the public hearing, which was proposed to be held at the Oct. 26 meeting. The split vote means a hearing will not be held.

"That would be a waste of time until we get more information," said Walt Gamble, who voted against holding the hearing along with Dan Colombo and Sharron Catallo.

"It would be nice to hear the public's point of view on this," said Savage, who made the motion for the hearing and was supported by Doug Roeser and Anne Clifton. "Dave (Harrison) needs an answer."

Citing the near-unanimous support the bank and ATM have already received, attorney Tom Ryan responded, "I think he already does."

Editorial

A debut to remember!

Friday night the Clarkston High School football team and the Marching Band played for the first time in the new stadium.

Saturday the Clarkston Marching Band hosted its annual competition with 13 teams making great use of the facilities.

The atmosphere was electric at Friday night's long-anticipated opening of the new CHS stadium.

Never before have so many people seen a Clarkston team play in person. An estimated crowd of more than 8,000 turned out to be a part of the historic evening.

On this night, everyone in Clarkston - not just those with family members or friends on the teams or in the band - was a part of history.

Kids of all ages deliciously drank in the spirit summoned by the new field. Whether it was waving and yelling at the Channel 7 helicopter or stomping their collective feet on the shiny new aluminum bleachers, it was a night where the community of Clarkston stood together as one.

The Wolves christened the stadium with a 55-28 win over the Brandon Blackhawks, capping off an evening that was perfect weather-wise and result-wise.

The Clarkston Marching Band gave the community something to crow about both Friday night in their performance at the game and Saturday as hosts in their annual invitational.

Not only were the new school and new field impressive, the band members and Band Boosters were gracious hosts the whole day through.

Everywhere people commented on how well the band competition was organized and presented for the bands and their families and friends.

The Band Boosters, standing out in the crowd with their blazing yellow shirts, were like worker bees swarming in on anything that needed doing. And not just for their own kids. Booster members were there for everybody, and made sure all had a great time.

A lot of credit for the field's condition should go to Dave Whitehead, grounds maintenance worker for Clarkston schools, and Mike Robinson, co-owner of Leisure Lawn.

They were brought in to get the field ready for use late in the summer, and thanks to their hard work, the football team and marching band were able to open the stadium in style.

The new stadium will be a great facility for the community. With room for nearly 5,000 people in the stands, a crystal-clear sound system and the close access to the new high school, this is a facility everyone can be proud of.

We salute all of the Clarkston schools employees, volunteers and Athletic Boosters and Band Boosters who helped make the beginning of the new era most memorable. BM, GC

Thanks for making Crafts and Cider a success

Dear Editor,

The Clarkston Community Historical Society would like to thank everyone who helped to make our 22nd Annual Crafts and Cider Festival a success.

The warm, sunny weather and the community involvement combined to create another wonderful weekend in Clarkston.

Special thanks go to the following: Those Historical Society members who generously volunteered their time; the other area charities and their volunteers who provided more food choices than ever this year; the Independence Township Parks and Rec department which ran an outstanding parking shuttle service all weekend long; the boys of Scout Troop 199 from St. Daniel's Church who collected returnable cans to recycle and who took care of the trash all weekend; and the members of the Clarkston High School National Honor Society who volunteered their time and did an outstanding job helping out.

Additional thanks go to the men of the City of Clarkston DPW as well as to the City police officers. Also, congratulations to all of our fine artists both local and from across the country, whose work everyone came to see and enjoy.

The officers and board members of the Clarkston Community Historical Society hope the citizens of our area enjoyed the Festival this year, and we look forward to using the money we raise to enrich our community by preserving our history for future generations.

Sincerely,

Kim Huttenlocher

These shoes are made for walkin'

In the past few days it has dawned on me how much I like one of life's simple pleasures: walking.

Whether it's because I am getting older and no longer have the stamina or back to leap for a volleyball, or because I'm enjoying life more, it doesn't matter.

When I lace up the weather-beaten Rockports I told you about in my last column, I feel a surge of anticipation as I head for the sidewalks. I feel I'm killing two birds with one stone. Since I've been packin' on the pounds, it not only helps me with my diet, but it's a high point of my day.

As for the diet (more about that in the future), I realized I needed it when:

I had to lie on the bed to zip up my jeans.

I bent over to lace my shoes and my stomach wound up under my rib cage.

I noticed I was growing a new chin.

Everyone has her own little wake-up call. As a colleague said, when she pulled up her slacks, "My pleats stood out. That did it."

Anyway, walking has become my own, private time of the day or evening. No responsibilities.

Just the sound of happy feet on the pavement.

As I walk through some of the neighborhoods, I enjoy the sights and sounds.

Hmmm... This family takes obvious pride in its home. Petunias and impatiens still spill out of baskets and gardens out front. On the other hand, that one could use a touch of paint.

Through the windows I see families gathering for supper and hear the sweet sounds I remember from childhood: "Do your homework!"

Dogs bark and kids breeze by on their Rollerblades, offering the occasional "Hi."

Most of all, I enjoy the scenery, the sunshine on my shoulders and the silence. Much more enjoyable than the sights and sounds of bulgey bodies sweating it out on treadmills at the local gym. Sometimes I feel I could walk forever.

I think it's great Independence Township is building a safety path system that will eventually enable residents to pound the pavement from one end of the township to the other.

Huff. Puff. I'll never be able to walk that far. ... or will I?

They're dismissing recess?

Grab the binders, Roscoe!

On the drive to work the other day I heard a report that a growing trend in elementary schools is to reduce or totally eliminate recess time. The reasoning, I guess, was a need for more classroom time.

I can't believe recess is being put on the chopping blocks. Is this some sort of diabolic New World Order, brainwashing scheme to undermine American youth? May I state right here, right now: My sympathies go out to those kids, their parents and teachers in the metro Detroit districts implementing these plans.

Man, this is cold.

I don't know about the rest you, but those three, 15 minute (or whatever they were) recesses were times to bond with my fellow delinquents and lose some of that boundless energy I wish I still had.

I am confident, positive and cocksure teachers across the nation were (are) glad for those breaks, too. I think myself and most of the guys I went through elementary school with would today be diagnosed with some sort of attention deficit. Well, if not them, then I would have been a prime candidate for mind-slowng drugs.

From the time we left the building, until that bell rang, those recesses were full of energy burning play-time. Whether we were playing kickball, football, four-square, pitching pennies, throwing marbles, showing off yo-yo tricks, playing tag, catching polly-wogs, out-running the girls, or just plain fist-fighting recess was our time.

Running, screaming, laughing and getting muddy with buddies during recess were some of the reasons we looked forward to going back to school in the fall. We were indestructible and acted like it. We were Robin Hood, Tarzan and a dozen other super heroes. Recess time was an enchanted time full of adventure.

Have some adults forgotten the magic of recess?

I can imagine the chaos that would have reigned in our schools had there been no recess -- it was bad enough on those occasional rain-days. One teacher and 30 stressed out kids, 180 days a year does not equal a conducive learning environment. We'd bounce off the walls and eat the covers off our books. Without recess we would be mind-dead robots, toeing the party-line. Without recess our parents would have never gotten any sleep.

I shudder to think of a world without recess as a kid and now as an adult.

Kids nowadays have got to be as rambunctious as we were and they need their recess.

A world without recess? What do you think? You can e-mail Don at: Dontrushme@juno.com

The Old Farmer's 1999 Almanac

We've never winterized our place in the Upper Peninsula until deer hunting season . . . until this year.

The Old Farmer's 1999 Almanac says November, 1998 temperatures will be five degrees below average, and deer hunting season will have "Wintery blasts, snow flurries."

Five degrees,

Could make our pipes freeze.

The Almanac divides Michigan in two, the line being about Muskegon to Oscoda.

Down here The Almanac says temperatures will be just one degree below average and mid-November will be "Milder, occasional rain." The Almanac has an 80 percent weather accuracy record.

While the weather garners a lot of publicity for The Old Farmer's Almanac, there's a whole lot more in it of entertainment, historical and factual information.

Facts such as:

- Cows can make up to 14,400 defensive movements in 12 hours in an attempt to fend off stable flies.

- Women are more apt to plump their pillows to make them more comfortable, and men are more likely to fold them.

- Worldwide weirdness was up a full 4 percent last year, the biggest jump since 1993.

- To drill holes in the corner of The Old Farmer's Almanac costs $43,000.

Here's their 1999 "Consumer tastes and trends," short version:

- Comfort is in (as evidence by surge in recliner sales); green has faded as a decorating color of choice, with blue stepping up and double-duty furniture, such as the Murphy bed, is making a comeback.

- The shift in fashions is toward the classics-straightforward, sophisticated designs. Pants, for men and women, will be wide-legged and comfy; skirts will be long and pleated. Stylish colors include grays and blues.

- Hot collectibles are antique pipes and humidors, records from the 1940s with photographs on the covers, and cocktail shakers from the Roaring '20s.

- Food trends include eating coconuts, yucca, shrimp, mangoes, almonds, kumquats and the like.

- Pet news: Unfortunately, dogs don't live forever; so for the pet lover who can't say good-bye to Rover, canine sperm banks are all the rage (about $300 for the service).

This 1999 Almanac, like every other magazine in the country, carries an article about Elvis Presley, titled: "Why Elvis Presley carried his own utensils." No, I didn't read it, but the lead says, "and nine other little-known items about 'The King.'"

For those who like to have their mind boggled there is the "Mind-manglers" math problems. There's the top ten feel-good herbs, a brief history of men's briefs and, proving there's something for everyone in this magazine, a gestation and mating table.

It's on sale now wherever magazines are sold. $3.99.

Dixie Hwy. crash takes life of Highland woman

A 38-year-old Highland Township woman was killed instantly Sunday when her 1994 Oldsmobile crossed into southbound traffic on Dixie Highway near East Holly Road at approximately 4:45 p.m.

Kathleen Sue Baynes was northbound on Dixie Highway on her way to the Michigan Renaissance Festival when she apparently lost control of her vehicle, according to Officer Patrick Miles of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. She was broadsided by a southbound 1998 GMC van driven by a 58 year old White Lake man.

Groveland and Springfield Township firefighters responded to the accident. Baynes was alone in her vehicle, and was pronounced dead on the scene. Five passengers in the van were treated and released from Genesys Hospital later Sunday evening.

The accident is still under investigation, but Miles said alcohol is not believed to be a factor.

Council hears proposal from engineer to redesign city hall

The Clarkston city council Monday heard another pitch from an area engineer to have a hand in the renovation and redesign of the city hall.

Pete Maniaci, an engineer based in Ortonville, talked about his qualifications for the project at the council's regular meeting.

"I want to sit with the different department heads and talk about what their needs are, and customize it," he said. "I also want to look at the structures in the city and bring some of those concepts into the building design."

The council is not in the decision-making stage with this project yet. It is still hearing proposals from area firms, and wants to make a decision from a list of three finalists.

Maniaci said he has worked on several historic structures in the past, including a bed and breakfast in Auburn Hills and the Brandon Fire Department Building in downtown Ortonville.

"Fifty percent of my work is in renovations and additions, and my primary work comes in residential-type structures," Maniaci said. "This building is residential in nature, and I hope to preserve that."

"I'm the man. I am part of a three-person firm, and every part of the process goes through me."

Four men arrested for robbery in phony drug deal

Four local men, three of them from Clarkston, were arrested Friday for a fake drug purchase setup that took place in June in back of Farmer Jack at White Lake Road and Dixie Highway.

Oakland County Sheriff's Det. Dave Hendrick said two local victims reported the suspects met them there, agreeing they would sell them some cocaine for $500. The suspects had no drugs, but one man demanded the cash at gunpoint, which the victims turned over.

All four were arraigned before an Oakland County Circuit Court magistrate Sunday and were taken to Oakland County Jail. The men said they spent the $500 on cocaine, marijuana, beer and a hotel room the night the incident occurred.

Eric Weber, 21, of Davisburg and Daniel Martin, 18, of Clarkston were charged with conspiracy to commit armed robbery, armed robbery, assault with intent to rob while armed, and two counts of possession of a firearm in commission of a felony. Bond is set for each at $150,000 cash, no 10 percent.

Brandon Lester, 18, and Michael Gochenour, 18, both of Clarkston, were charged with conspiracy to commit armed robbery. Bond is set for each at $50,000 cash, no 10 percent.

All four will face preliminary exams at 52-2 District Court in Clarkston, the date yet to be determined.

THE LAW & YOU

ENVIRONMENTAL COURT

There is a growing trend whereby environmental courts are handling small pollution cases that may otherwise escape the attention of state or federal environmental enforcers. These "ecocourts" direct their efforts toward swift compliance with environmental regulations, rather than punishment. As a result, polluters, developers, and others who look to violate environmental laws may be held accountable for their actions. While spectacular cases involving huge oil spills and other environmental disasters have occurred in recent years, the new environmental courts seek to bring the same sort of legal accountability down to the level of the average citizen. When people care as much as they do about the environment, they should be able to seek legal redress for wrongdoings perpetrated against it.

When you need a lawyer for matters involving personal injury claims, auto accidents, slip and fall injuries, criminal defense, business law, real estate transactions, family law, and civil litigations in both State and Federal courts, call our office at 11 North Main Street (620-1030). We would be more than happy to discuss your situation with you, and offer advice you can count on.

HINT: If junked automobiles, garbage dumping, or other threats to the natural surroundings violate environmental laws, consult with an attorney about bringing violators into compliance.

Clarkston woman sings backup

Retro '60s band makes a comeback

BY EILEEN MCCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Yeah, baby! Get those bell bottoms and love beads out of the closet!

He's no Austin Powers, but Warren musician Dave "Stoney" Mazar remembers the incense and peppermints of the '60s like it was yesterday.

In those days his band, The Jagged Edge -- known for their "wild costumes" -- played with the big ones: The Doors, Cream, Animals, Pink Floyd, The Who and others, before they were famous at the Grande Ballroom in Detroit.

At that time, "artistically and politically," the Edge was one of the top five bands in the Detroit area, Mazar says. The group started out as a soul-based quartet that liked to do songs by Ray Charles, Wilson Pickett, Otis Redding, the Miracles and others as well as its own material. It also went through an "experimental" stage when psychedelia came in.

In the last two years Mazar, 49, lead vocalist who also plays rhythm guitar and harmonica, has made a comeback with a new group that still likes to play the classics (mostly rhythm and blues) at various gigs in the greater metro area. This weekend his blues-based band, Stoney Mazar & The Westsiders and The Blues Revue, performs at Duggan's Irish Pub West in Clarkston.

Clarkston resident Tammy Thompson, 37, a substitute teacher and former anchor for the local cable studio's Clarkston Evening News, is joining him.

Thompson has sung backup ever since

Bob Wilson, singer Lisa Mazar and lead guitarist Steve Isner

Mazar's wife Lisa heard her "singing in the woman's restroom at Oakland University," she laughs. "I'd never sung with a band professionally before."

"The thing I'd like you to say the most is being next to him is just a thrill. He's a master."

Mazar's old band never made it into the big time. It broke up in 1970, due to mismanagement woes and an unfortunate fire that destroyed tapes for the first LP. But an old musician friend helped him resurrect his talents a couple of years ago. Soon he had a group and gigs going again.

He describes the music he does today as "cyclical" and "timeless" because blues is where it all began, and it never goes out of style.

Stoney Mazar & The Westsiders and The Blues Revue perform Friday and Saturday from 9 p.m. to 1 p.m. at Duggan's Irish Pub West, 6722 Dixie Highway in Clarkston. There is no cover charge. For more information, call Duggan's at (248) 625-2129.

Paving Walters Road, redistricting on next school board agenda

Residents of Walters Road and others will have the opportunity to discuss paving the road with the Clarkston School Board October 12 at 6 p.m. before the regular meeting.

School board president Kurt Shanks said Monday the board is leaning toward paving the road, but wants to hear residents' opinions before a decision is made. He added if the board decides to go ahead, paving would begin next spring.

On the agenda for the regular portion of the meeting is a presentation of the redistricting report and an update on the Pepsi contract with the high school. The meeting will be at the

Clarkston Community Schools Administration Office, 6389 Clarkston Road,

SUPERINTENDENT'S CORNER

by Al Roberts, Ed. D.

*Celebrating the past,
creating the future*

I have to admit it's hard to contain the excitement! All of us at Clarkston Schools are feeling a real sense of pride these days. As additional areas of the new high school site open to the public, each event reminds us how fortunate we are to have this fabulous new facility.

At last Friday's football game (the first to be played in the new stadium) the atmosphere was almost magical. The spectators seemed overwhelmed, but they took the time to express delight with the wonderful bleachers and the clarity of the loudspeaker system. They noticed our sparkling new restrooms and were impressed by the beautiful setting!

On a personal note, I don't ever remember seeing approximately 7000 fans at a local high school sporting event. This was clearly a special evening. If the score of the game is any indication (55-28), our football team certainly likes their "new digs."

On Saturday evening, it was talented CHS Marching Band's turn to showcase the new stadium. They proudly hosted Clarkston's Twenty-first Marching Band Invitational. Once again, the marvelous setting helped set the stage for a truly electrifying event. Some 13 marching bands from around the state competed and our 200-member band performed in exhibition. What a weekend!

We are grateful to the community for having the foresight to pass the 1994 bond issue that funded the new building. And we invite you to come see for yourselves what you have done!

On Sunday, October 11, the Clarkston School Board will host a Dedication Ceremony and Open

Wed., September 30, 1998 The Clarkston (MI) News 17 A

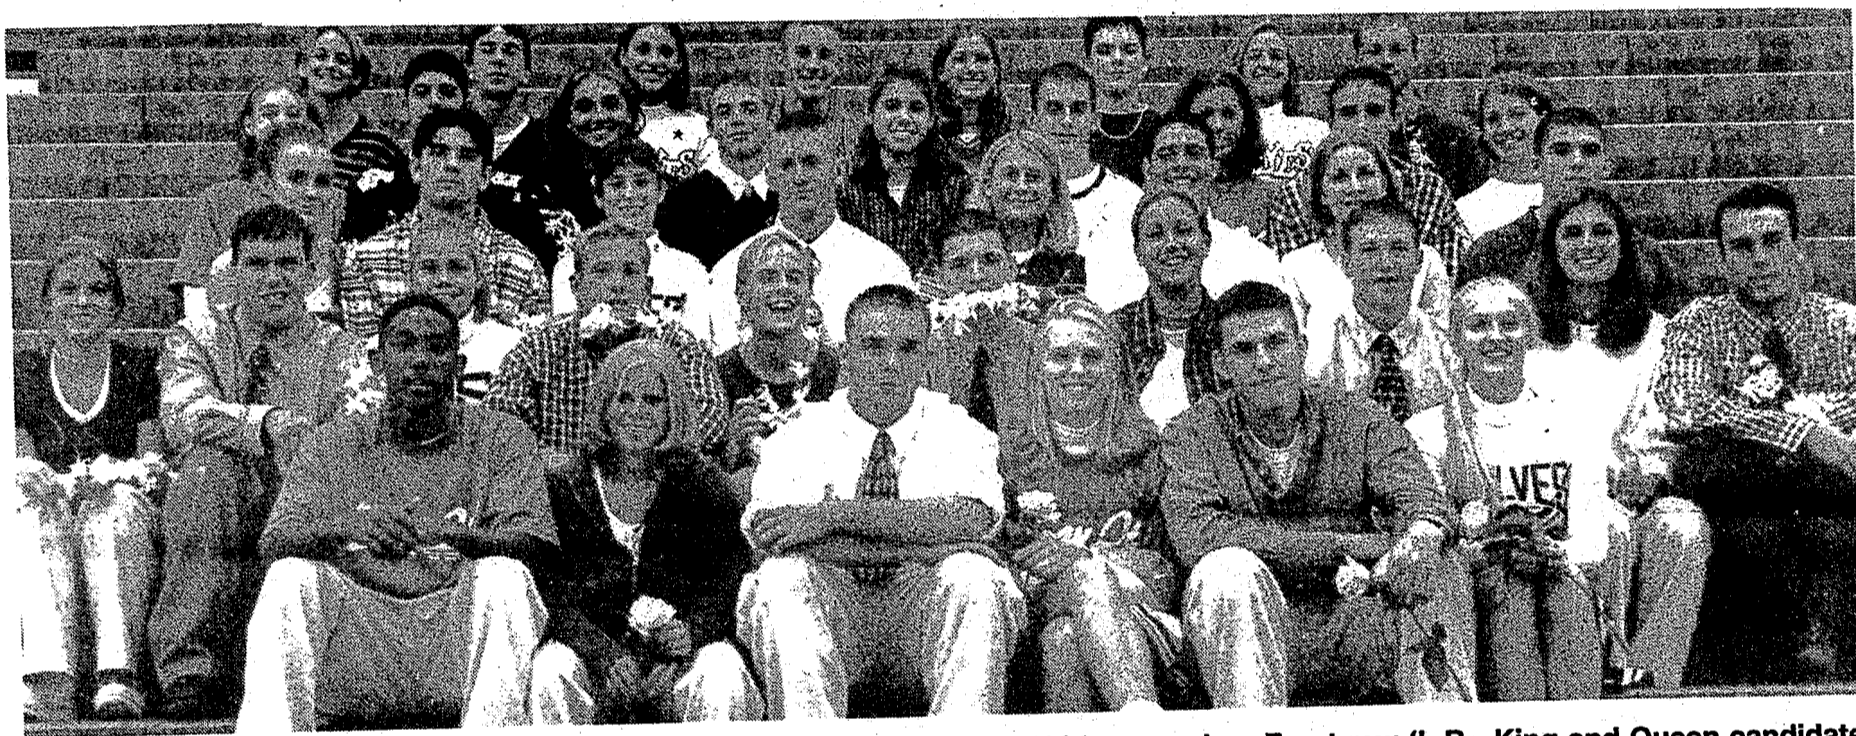

House for the entire community. After a brief ceremonial observance in the high school gymnasium at 1 PM, the entire building will be open to the public for touring.

Governor Engler is planning to drop by and we expect many other local officials, educators and politicians. As honored as we are to have such high-profile guests, we are more excited to be showing the building to you, our community.

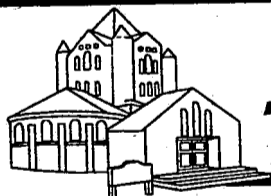

You are the parents, students, friends and alumni who recognized years ago that Clarkston deserved a world-class high school. You are the citizens who backed up our teachers and administrators when they asked for facilities that would help students "reach for the stars." You are the volunteers who wrote letters, talked to your neighbors, got out the vote, and helped Clarkston Community Schools turn the corner into the future.

We have not forgotten the strength of our past—our reliance on solid basic instruction, caring teachers, and Clarkston Value. We promise to carry that legacy with us into every new room. Come along with us as we create the future. The Dedication on October 11 belongs to you. Please join us!

THE GREAT ESCAPE

Plan and practice your fire drill during National Fire Prevention Week, October 4-10, 1998

Do it now - make a home escape plan!

This year, as part of its annual Fire Prevention Week campaign, the National Fire Prevention Association, in cooperation with local fire departments, in schools and across the United States and Canada -- is organizing a unified North American fire drill. At 6 p.m. on October 7, participating fire stations will sound their alarms. That's the signal for you and your neighbors to hold a home fire drill. It will be the perfect opportunity for every family member to practice an escape plan.

If you can't participate on October 7, choose another day for your home escape and be sure your family knows what to do if there is a fire.

The NFPA and your local firefighters offer the following tips for developing a fire escape plan for your family:

- Draw a detailed map of your home. Show every room, door and window.
- Mark an easy way out of each room, then find a second way out on the map, and mark that on the map as well.
- Mark EVERY way out of your home, so you know how to get out of the building no matter where you are.

- Pick an outside place in front of your home to meet after you've escaped. Practice makes perfect, and it only takes twice a year.

Hold home fire drills, appoint someone to be the monitor and be sure that EVERYONE participates.

Make the drills realistic, pretend that some exits are blocked by smoke or fire and practice using alternative escape routes. Remember -- a fire drill is not a race. Get out quickly but carefully!

Never try to hide from a fire. Follow your escape plan to get out, then stay out.

Basements are extremely dangerous places for bedrooms for children and adults; avoid them if at all possible.

If you encounter smoke on your way out, try another route. If you have to escape through the smoke, crawl on your hands and knees, about 12 to 24 inches above the floor.

Don't stop! When you hear a smoke alarm, leave the building. Teach children not to go back for toys or pets, that's a job for the firefighters.

Apparatus Display kicks off National Fire Prevention Week

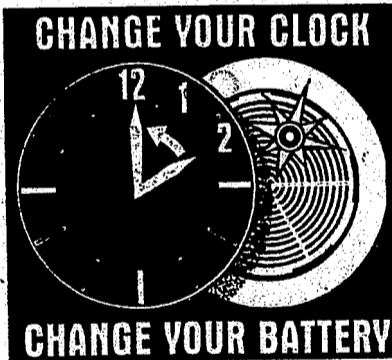

Get an up-close look at the latest in firefighting techniques and equipment at the annual apparatus display Sunday, October 4, from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Orion Township Hall. The hall is located on Joslyn Road, near Greenshield Road, across from Canterbury Village. Local fire crews from surrounding area departments come together in one location, along with Smokin' hot -- the weather, the music and the bands! The Clarkston High School marching band christened it's new stadium over the weekend, hosting an invitational marching band competition Saturday evening.

Thirteen schools from throughout Michigan came to participate, filling the humid night air with music, comradare, and fierce competition.

As host, Clarkston participated as an exhibition band, but gave no less effort to their outstanding performance. Their program, entitled "A Salute to Beethoven," added an interesting classical twist to standard marching band fare. Friday night, the Clarkston community celebrated a new football field, a win over a longtime rival, and an undefeated team. It truly was . . .

A GRAND OPENING

Moments before kickoff, fans let go of blue and gold balloons into the sky celebrating the beginning of a new era in Clarkston sports.

Total domination!

Wolves break in new digs with blowout

If it was a Hollywood script, it would have been rejected because it was too perfect.

An undefeated football team, picked by some to be last in its league, opening its brand-new stadium in front of more than 6,000 fans against an old rival riding a 21-game regular-season winning streak.

The Clarkston varsity football team ushered in a new era in the new stadium by playing its best game of the year in a 55-28 pounding of the Brandon Blackhawks.

"This was a storybook night," Clarkston coach Kurt Richardson said of the festive atmosphere. "I felt like I could've gotten out there and played. There was so much adrenaline, so much emotion out there, it was unbelievable."

Everything about the stadium opening seemed too good to be true. A warm, cloudless evening. An offense that chewed up yards by the bunch. A stifling defense. A score lopsided enough so that everyone got in to play.

"It was just awesome," said junior Bubba Clement when asked what it was like to be on the first Clarkston team to play at the new field and win. "Just undescrivable."

Adding to the already-crackling atmosphere was that the Wolves were hosting the Brandon Blackhawks, an old rival from the days of the Greater Oakland Activities League. Brandon's program has seen a resurgence in recent years, bouncing back from an 0-9 1995 season to post back-to-back undefeated seasons in 1996 and 1997.

But on the same night Clarkston football opened a new era, it put a sudden and decisive end to the Blackhawks' winning-streak thanks to a punishing running attack and total domination at the line of scrimmage.

"Our entire defense was outstanding tonight. The guys were very focused on their jobs," Richardson said. "The defense did good tonight because of our demo team. They did a great job of all week of running (Brandon's) offense, and that prepared us very well."

"Coach (Mike) Stefanski was the scout team quarterback, and guys like Nate Jerdon and Smitty (Dave Smith) did a great job preparing our defense."

The Wolves, now 4-0 overall and 2-0 in the OAA Division I, didn't wait long to test the scoreboard lights, which didn't work until a couple days before the game. Senior Tim Loveless took an Eric Jenks screen pass 30 yards for a score on the team's third play from scrimmage.

On the next series, Jenks plowed through an opening for a two-yard score putting the Wolves up 14-0. The play was set up by a 69-yard scamper by junior Chris Mitchell.

Brandon attempted to get the momentum back when Matt Dura took the following kickoff back 99 yards to cut the lead in half.

From there, it was all Clarkston, as the Wolves racked up 34 straight points. Mitchell scored on five and 26-yard runs, while Jenks added a bootleg touchdown. Loveless rumbled 69 yards for a touchdown with a minute left in the first half to give the Wolves an amazing 35-7 lead.

The nickname "Bubba" and the position of the offensive line go together as well as hurricanes and the Gulf of Mexico. Junior Ryan "Bubba" Clement was a key player in the Clarkston varsity football team's 55-28 blowout of Brandon Friday night at the new stadium. As a member of the offensive line, Bubba was part of a dominating group that opened gaping holes all night for running backs Chris Mitchell and Tim Loveless. Both had more than 100 yards rushing in the first half and were averaging a whopping 15 yards per carry between them. Then, as part of the defensive line, Bubba helped to stymie Brandon's explosive wing-T offense, holding the Blackhawks to one rushing touchdown while the first stringers were in. "The line was a big part of why we won the game," Mitchell said of Clement and his teammates. "Me and Tim wouldn't be able to do anything without them."

New CHS field list of firsts:

- First play: touchback kickoff by Chris Himburg
- First offensive play: 5-yard run by Chris Mitchell
- First score: 30-yard screen pass from Eric Jenks to Tim Loveless
- First turnover: fumble recovery by Spencer Hynes
- First "Scoreboard" chant by fans: at the 6:30 mark of the 3rd quarter, with Clarkston ahead 48-7

Wolves play tough down stretch; get 1st league win of season

Clarkston 59

Adams 53

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Before Thursday's game against Rochester Adams, the Clarkston varsity girls basketball team had won its four games this season by an average of 24 points. The team's first three losses came by a total of eight points.

The team needed to win a close game, and it did exactly that, beating the Highlanders 59-53 at the new CHS gym.

The Wolves are now 5-3 overall and 1-1 in the OAA Division I. After getting Tuesday off, Clarkston returns to action Thursday in a big matchup with West Bloomfield at home. The JV game starts at 5:30.

All season, the Wolves had come up short in clutch situations, but remedied that against Adams thanks to improved free-throw shooting and better ballhandling in the fourth quarter.

"This was a team effort," coach Ann Lowney said. "The girls are learning that you win as a team and you lose as a team. Against Troy Athens, some players tried to win the game themselves. Because of that, we learned the whole team wins."

The Wolves received strong contributions from many players in the game. Senior co-captain Corinne McIntyre played her best game of the season, scoring eight points and grabbing seven rebounds. Her three-point play at the end of the third quarter gave Clarkston a 40-37 lead, one it wouldn't lose the rest of the way.

"I came into this game with a better mental attitude," she said. "I knew we needed someone to step up and play better, and that had to be me."

It was the first game all season when McIntyre has been close to 100 percent. She had struggled through recent games with a slow-healing foot injury and a bout with the flu.

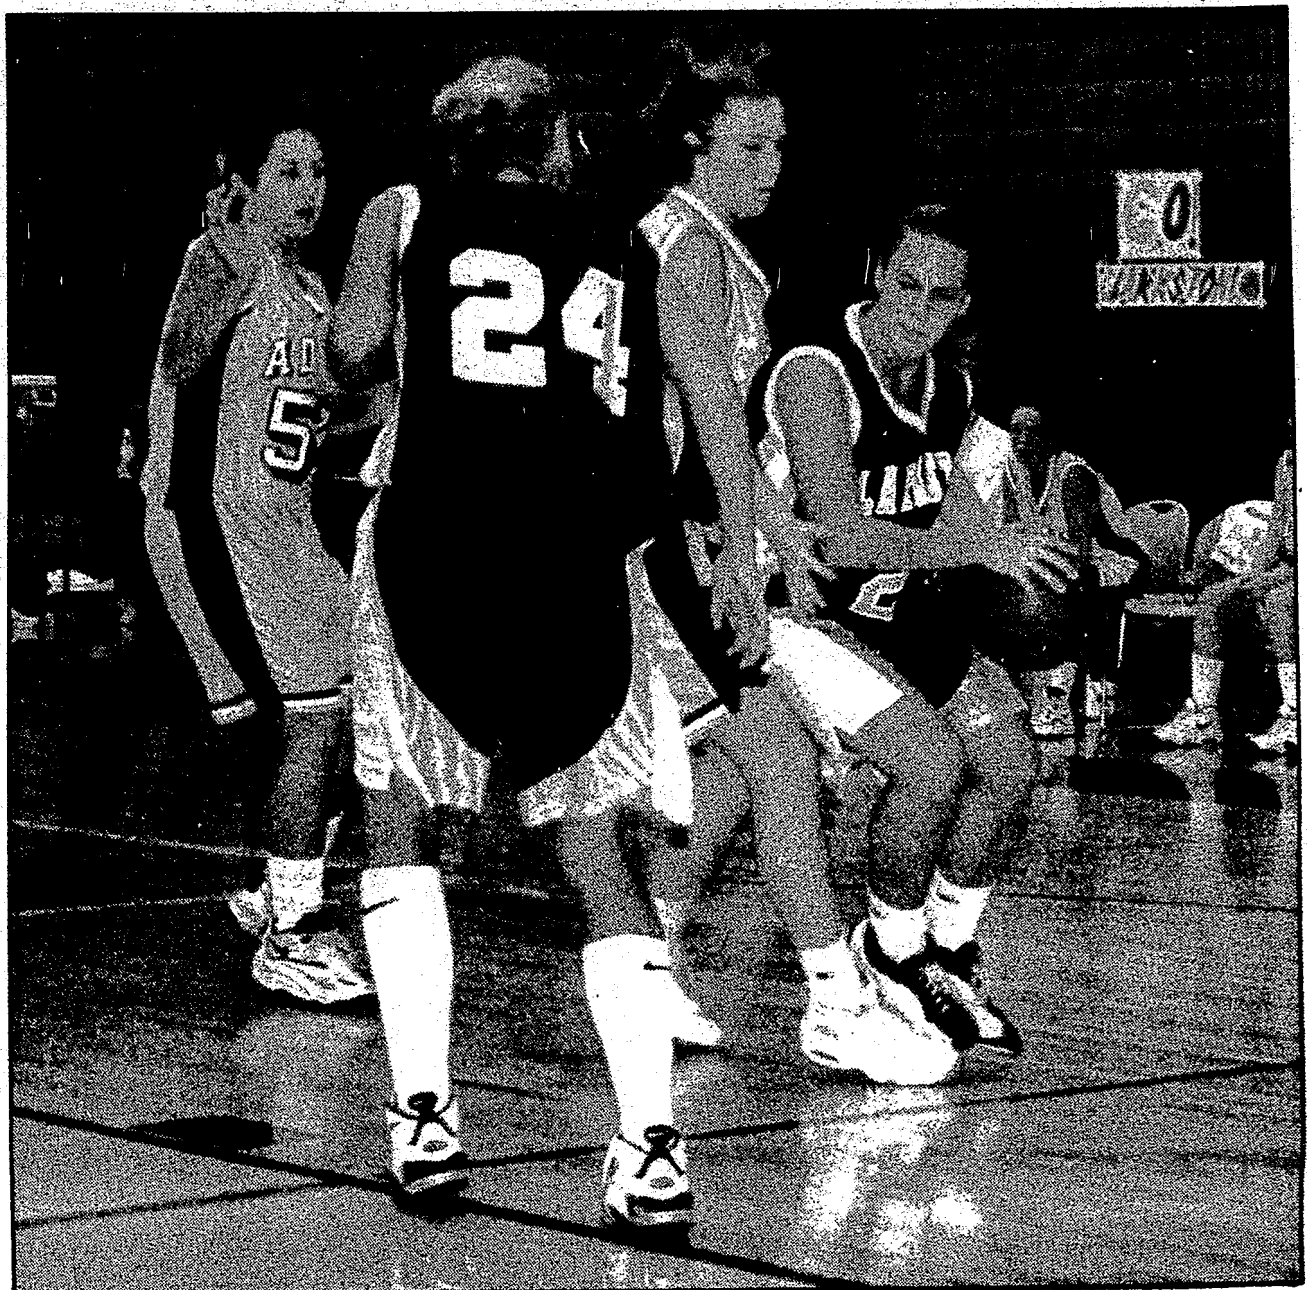

"She was one of our missing links," Lowney said of McIntyre. "What we have to do now is to get everyone playing well on the same night. Tonight, we got Corinne playing well, now we need everyone else to step up at the same time."

Several players also came off the bench and delivered solid performances. Junior Heather Combs scored four points - all from the free throw line - and had four rebounds while playing several key second-half minutes.

At the end of the second quarter, Lowney had a lineup of Nicole Colosimo, Kelly Plante, Sarah Morgan, Lindsey Prudhomme and Combs. This group doesn't play together in games very often, but it did an excellent job of running the offense and helped Clarkston to a 28-21 halftime lead.

Junior Candace Morgan kept up her consistent scoring with a team-high 13 points. Known more before the season for her eagle-eye from the three-point line, Morgan has become lethal at driving the ball to the basket and banking in shots.

Prudhomme had a terrific game at both ends of the floor. She scored 11 points and netted a career-high six steals, several thwarting Adams fast-break opportunities.

Trying to cover junior Candace Morgan (with ball) is tough enough, but is even more challenging when senior Corinne McIntyre (24) sets a screen for her. Morgan led the team with 13 points, and McIntyre had 8 points and 7 rebounds in the Wolves' win over Adams.

Freshman Kaye Christie, getting her first career varsity start, responded with eight points and five rebounds. Six of her points came in the fourth quarter, and four from the free throw line.

"Now, we've got a bunch of hard games coming up," Lowney said. "We learned how to finish a game tonight, and we'll need that with the tough games we have coming up."

'I came into this game with a better mental attitude. I knew we needed someone to step up and play better, and that had to be me.'

Athlete of the Week: Ben Ness

Salut, Ben: Golf is a sport of protocol. You wear certain types of shoes. The term "golf shirts" comes from the preferred outerwear of those who prowl the links. Pros can't ride in carts, at least without unreasonable scorn. But one of the best golfers at Clarkston High School can do without that protocol, and that's senior Ben Ness. Ben is the captain of the varsity golf team and has consistently been the low scorer in the team's dual matches and invitational. A high point of the season for Ben came in the teams match against third-ranked Rochester Adams. Taking on David Nichols - one of the best golfers in the state - Ben beat him by two strokes and nearly helped the Wolves to a huge upset. Ben enjoys practicing in his bright red bowling shirt with the word "Herman" stitched into the front, certainly nothing the PGA Tour would stand for. But for whatever protocol Ben may lack by some standards, he makes up for with a serious game of golf.

Coach Tim Kaul on Ben: "Ben feels like he has a big responsibility to the team as captain. He's a good kid, and if he plays well, you can tell the others get pumped up and they play well too. He understands he has to be a leader for us and he's grown into that role."

Ben on Ben: "I like the metaphysics of golf - the way the ball travels through the wind, and that kind of thing. I also like being outside. This is such a cerebral game, I just enjoy everything about it. I'd like to see the team do well in our second league meet coming up. I just try to encourage the other guys and give them some pointers here and there."

JV Sports

Football

Nothing ever seems to come easy for the Clarkston JV football team.

That was proven again Thursday, as Clarkston, who trailed at halftime, came back to beat Brandon 30-20 at the Blackhawks' home field.

Coach Doug Colling said some halftime adjustments and a tougher second-half defense were the difference.

"This was our toughest game so far," Colling said. "The kids battled back after the first half and did a nice job of containing them in the second."

With the win, the JV team has followed the varsity to a 4-0 record. Clarkston hosts an excellent Pontiac Northern team Thursday night at the old CHS field.

Against the Blackhawks, sophomore Adam Gebus provided the team with a spark. Gebus returned the opening kickoff of the second half 75 yards to give the Wolves a 15-14 lead. He also scored on a 13-yard touchdown reception from QB Ryan Kaul in the second half.

"Adam gets by on his speed," Colling said. "When he can get out in the open, it's tough for JV players to bring him down."

Rob Conley led the ground attack with 92 yards on 14 carries, plus a touchdown. Matt Pearsall chipped in with 88 yards on only eight carries. Colling said his touchdown in the third quarter was a momentum-changer for the Wolves.

"We were fortunate to get out of there with the win," Colling said. "Our guys have never seen the wing-T run like that before, and it was tough for them."

MHSAA Scholar-Athlete Award nominations coming up

EAST LANSING, Mich. - Sept. 24 - Thousands of students voluntarily extend their classroom day by taking part in extra-curricular activities, often improving their academic achievements in the process.

The value that such programs play in the total education of a high school student is highlighted through the Michigan High School Athletic Association's Scholar-Athlete Award, which will award $1,000 scholarships to 24 top student-athletes from member schools and recognize over 3,000 other outstanding individuals in 1998-99.

The Scholar-Athlete Award, underwritten by Farm Bureau Insurance, presents a scholarship in every activity in which the Association sponsors a post-season tournament. The scholarships may be used at the institution of higher learning the recipients attend during the first year at those colleges.

"It is amazing to see the number of young people who are proven achievers in academics and activities," said John E. "Jack" Roberts, executive director of the MHSAA. "At a time when our educational system is coming under fire, the Scholar-Athlete Award is something that proves how important a controlled and regulated athletics program is to the development of a well-rounded person's development."

Students applying for the Scholar-Athlete Award must be graduating during the 1998-99 school year, be carrying an unrounded 3.50 (on a 4.0) grade point average, and have previously won a letter in a varsity sport in which the MHSAA sponsors post-season competition.

Applicants will also be required to show involvement in other school-community activities and submit an essay on the importance of sportsmanship in educational athletics.

Each MHSAA member school will be allowed to nominate one student-athlete in each championship activity, and an individual may be nominated in more than one sport. Applications are available through all MHSAA member schools. Students should submit their applications to their school principals by November 23, 1998. Schools have additional materials to submit with student applications, and each school must submit all of its applications at one time. Individually-mailed applications to the MHSAA office will not be accepted.

A committee composed of school administrators from across the state will select regional and state-wide winners.

The 24 scholarship recipients will be recognized at the MHSAA Boys Basketball Finals at the Breslin Student Events Center in East Lansing on March 27, 1999.

Golfers take 8th at county meet

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Through this golf season, Clarkston has shown steady improvement, taking better teams to the limit and coming through with surprise performances.

At Monday's Oakland County Golf Meet at Pontiac Country Club, the team made another small step forward, finishing in eighth place overall.

Coach Tim Kaul said the Wolves finished about where he expected, but did place ahead of some teams he didn't expect to.

"We finished ahead of (Bloomfield Hills) Lahser, which really surprised me," he said. "We finished about where I expected to. I figured that if we played well, we would finish in the top 10, and we were able to do that."

The low scorers for Clarkston were Dave Benner, who has shown that steady improvement all season, and Trae Moreen, who each shot an 80, eight shots off the pace. Derek Hool delivered another solid two rounds with an 82, while Ben Ness shot an 83.

Birmingham Brother Rice - who was just ranked first in the state in Class A - won the meet with a team score of 299. Kaul said Troy was the surprise of the tournament, finishing third, ahead of state ranked Rochester Adams, with a team score of 310. Clarkston came in with 325.

Saturday, the team finished third overall at the Hartland Invitational, a result that pleasantly surprised Kaul.

"I was very happy with how we played there," he said. "Ben and Dave shot a 5-under par for 27 holes, and that was just terrific. Dave had an eagle and three birdies, and Ben had a lot of pars. They teamed up well together."

Friday, the team started its busy stretch with a dual meet win over West Bloomfield, 157-162 at Clarkston Creek.

Benner finished with the low score of 38, while Jeff Walters scored a 39 to pace the Wolves.

Elma Mary "Billie" Crowley, 85, of Clarkston, died Sept. 25, 1998.

Mrs. Crowley is survived by daughters Fran (Albert) Mills of Florida and Polly Korff of Clarkston; sons Michael (Patricia) of Traverse City and Tim of Newaygo; 11 grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her husband Frank.

Colt offense too much for kickers

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Thursday night, the Clarkston varsity boys soccer team withstood heavy pressure, but eventually cracked, losing to a very good Troy team 3-0 at the old CHS field.

Coach Dan Fitzgerald said the team was over-matched, but still played the Colts tough.

"We hung in there and were only down 1-0 at halftime," he said. "They're a little better physically than we are; a little faster and stronger. But we kept our composure and played pretty well."

It was only Clarkston's second loss in its last six games, after suffering through an 0-5-1 start. Clarkston is now 3-7-2 overall and 2-2-1 in the OAA Division II.

All of Troy's goals came on corner kicks and set plays. Clarkston goalkeeper Jeremy Fecteau, filling in for the injured Dustin Coleman, made several point-blank saves that kept the game close early.

"We didn't do a good job of stopping their set plays," Fitzgerald said. "But we weren't intimidated by them either. We did pretty well defensively."

The Colts, now 6-3-3 overall, held the territorial advantage most of the night, but didn't get their first goal until the 26:58 mark of the second half when Mike Vendittelli scored off a rebound of a corner kick play.

Fitzgerald said he was pleased with the defensive play of sweeper Rob Allyn and defender Mike Tharrett.

"We put Rob in at sweeper when we had some injuries, and he's done a very nice job for us," he said. "He's been one of our more consistent players lately."

On Sept. 23, the Clarkston offense shifted into the highest gear it's been in this season in a 5-3 road win over Lapeer East.

After getting down 2-0 just 25 minutes into the game, Clarkston's snipers went to work. Forward Eric Klemm kept up his scoring streak with two goals in the last 15 minutes of the first half to knot the game at 2-2.

His goal-scoring partner of late, Mike Lenhardt, took over from there. He notched a rare natural hat trick - three straight goals - to win the game for the Wolves.

Wolves romp over Brandon

Mitchell set a new career-high with 194 yards on 16 carries. The total was three more yards than he gained in the season-opener against Waterford Kettering. Loveless notched 139 yards on nine carries, also a career-high for him.

"Tim and Chris are just unbelievable backs," Clement said. "The difference in us was this whole week. Last week against Athens was our wake-up call. Tonight, we came out and got the jobs done on both sides of the ball."

Junior Dave Welanko even got in on the fun, scoring the team's final touchdown early in the fourth quarter.

This Friday, Clarkston visits a team with a near-opposite offensive philosophy from Brandon. The Wolves take on Pontiac Northern at Wisner Stadium. The Huskies - Clarkston's biggest boys basketball rival - are off to a 3-1 start and wiped out Southfield Lathrup 46-3 in their last game. Kickoff is at 7 p.m.

IN THE PENALTY BOX

with Brad Monastiere

A football frenzy

It was a great football weekend.

Friday night, I was privileged enough to be on hand for the first game at the new Clarkston High School football field. The Wolves celebrated the event with a 55-28 thrashing of Brandon in a game, despite the final score, was not that close.

Saturday, it was another day of blowouts, with a little sunburn thrown in for good measure. Central Michigan - my and Gordie Richardson's favorite college team - celebrated its Homecoming with a surprising 46-7 romp over Kent.

And as if that wasn't enough, Michigan once again put Sparty in his place with a 29-17 win at Ann Arbor. Poor Mike Prudhomme, the long-suffering MSU grad, will now have to endure yet another year of bragging from Tom Tippen, who graduated from Michigan and has time to tell you all about it.

And as for the Lions' performance Monday night, I have just four words: Charlie Batch for president! He played with poise and the defense finally came up with some big plays.

Let's start with the real highlight - Friday night. This Clarkston team has forged an identity of a bunch of scrappy overachievers this season, but that identity took on a new angle in the game against Brandon. This team can kick some serious tail.

On offense, the Wolves aren't fancy, just good. The offensive line played its most dominating game of the season, blowing the Blackhawks off the line of scrimmage time after time. In the 2 1/2 quarters the first stringers were in the game, Clarkston had 13 plays that covered more than seven yards, showing that not only were the linemen blocking, but that they were setting up the big plays that backs Chris Mitchell and Tim Loveless were able to execute the right way.

Also give credit to the team's wide receiving corps of Ryan Leach, Erich Poley and Ryan Briceland. Although their hands aren't sore from all the catches they're making (six completed passes in four games), they blocked downfield extremely well against the Blackhawks. Downfield blocking is the hidden key to backs breaking off long runs, and Clarkston runners accounted for plays of 30, 69, 17, 33, 25, 69 and 43 yards. That's 286 yards on just seven plays.

The defense made a similar terrific effort in the game. Brandon possesses one of the most explosive offenses in Oakland County. The Blackhawks run the wing-T offense better than anyone around. They will have three similar-sized guys in the backfield, and any one of them is capable of tucking the ball away and going 60 yards for a score.

The first-team defense pitched a shut out to the Blackhawks, not allowing a single run of more than 15 yards while they were on the field. Brandon was held to two yards or less on 19 of its first 42 plays. A great job by the entire defensive unit.

Making the game all the more unbelievable was all the extra attention and hoopla surrounding the opening of the new stadium. Considering the damage done to the field just a couple of months ago, it held up well to the cleats and shoulder pads it endured in the game. It was also a very enthusiastic crowd, perhaps the most for a football game since the first one I covered - that great game against Troy in October 1996. The fans were into every play, and the collective foot-stomping created a ton of noise, and I know it pumped up the players.

I was hoping the team could play on the new field before the Oct. 9 Homecoming game against Troy. Now, all the grand-opening festivities are out of the way. The players have a feel for the field itself and a familiarity with their surroundings. These things can't be underestimated, especially when you play a team like Troy, who has been playing on another plane from everyone else this season.

It also gave a chance to all those hard-working people with the athletic boosters and others who make those games great experiences for the rest of us a dry run to see how things go at the new stadium. There were some very good things - like the balloon sale and release - and some things to work on, like the amount of food and drinks needed. You can be sure that all of the spirited volunteers took careful notice of everything that went on Friday, and will be ready for what is sure to be an even bigger crowd next week.

●Saturday, I got another look at a new stadium, the one in Mt. Pleasant. CMU expanded Kelly/Shorts Stadium's capacity to around 30,000. The new look in the stands is very similar to the one here - row after row of backless aluminum seats. A second deck was also added to the press box, bringing CMU's stadium more up to par with the others in the Mid-American Conference.

●Because I was at Central's dismantling of Kent, I was unable to see the Michigan-Michigan State game. This gives MSU coach Nick Saban another chance at one of his annual rituals: fielding offers from NFL teams after losses in key games by his football team.

Seriously, look for both teams to go on extended winning streaks thanks to favorable schedules. You can be sure MSU will be fired up this weekend to try and even the all-time series between itself and the opponent - none other than my beloved Chippewas. If CMU has starting HB Silas Massey back, it could give State a tough game. Prediction: MSU 24, CMU 21.

It took just one day

Judy Vail had to make the call quick. She placed a for sale ad in The Clarkston News and in just one day her Kenmore Washer/Dryer set was sold.

"Please take my ad out so I don't get any more calls. We sold my washer and dryer with the second call. Thanks," she called to tell us.

Judy knows what most folks in these parts know: when you're buying, tradin' or selling the want ads to look to are those in The Clarkston News and Penny Stretcher.

For only $9.50, your 10-word want ad (30 cents more for each additional word) runs for two weeks and goes to nearly 50,000 homes and businesses in Northeast Oakland County.

To place an ad is easy -- you can mail it in to 5 S. Main St., Clarkston, MI 48346; walk it in; or call it in at 625-3370.

We're open 8-5, Monday thru Friday. Deadline to place an ad for that week is 10 a.m. on Tuesday.

Boys finish 4th at MSU, beat Roch. Adams; girls lose

The Clarkston boys cross country team has hit the eye of its storm of a season.

Clarkston completed a busy half-season with a fourth-place finish at the Spartan Invitational at East Lansing Saturday.

Coach Mike Taylor said the team didn't run as well as he had hoped, but understood the stakes weren't as high at this meet.

"We have to be realistic," he said. "They're not machines. If you go to the well too many times, you could lose your effectiveness and that may hurt us down the road in more important meets. But we did pretty much what I expected."

Dave Sage was the top Clarkston runner, finishing fifth overall. The other scorers for the Wolves were (in order) Matt Haver, Kevin Breen, Chris Weber, and Dan Burke. East Kentwood won the meet, with Temperance Bedford and Milford finishing ahead of Clarkston.

"I was hoping we could match up with Milford," Taylor said. "It will be between them and Lakeland at regionals."

The boys defeated Rochester Adams Sept. 23 21-34 in a league dual meet. Sage scorched the Bloomer Park course with a season-best time of 15:54. The win improves Clarkston to 3-0 in the OAA Division I.

The girls cross country team dropped a 23-32 decision to the Highlanders. Jennifer Roeding finished second overall with a time of 20:07. Nicole Fischer was third at 20:18. Adams' Katie Boyles, one of the top runners in the state, won with a time of 19:09.

Moore's
House Paint

Picking the right colors and schemes is only half the job of painting

By PHIL STAYHUE
Staff Writer

House painting has never been the most popular home improvement project around, but with the lawn work slowing down as the mercury dips, now might not be such a bad time to grab the paint brush.

Painting isn't rocket science, but turning to the professionals for advice can mean the difference in painting once every year compared to once each decade.

Joe Ferguson, manager for GNE Paint at 674 S. Lapeer Road in Lake Orion, offered some simple advice for homeowners planning painting projects, to make the work flow more smoothly.

"If your home's painted surfaces are in a state of disrepair, you have outdated colors or are just ready for something new, it's time to repaint," said Ferguson.

Color choice is a top priority when that decision is made, but with rainbow upon rainbow of colors to choose from, customers walking into a paint store face some tough selections.

"There is really no big color that is popular for the outside. It's a personal preference. Neutral colors are popular inside, like taupe, a neutral beige with a hint of pink. Some colors are surprising, looking less appealing in the can but looking great on the walls," he said.

Putting his money where his mouth is, Ferguson admits to taking a bold step at his home. (A step taken following some serious consideration with his wife, and consultation with her friend, a home interior designer.)

"For the last 15 years, I've been an off-white kind of guy, but I'm getting bold with a dark brown this time around," said Ferguson.

Computer matching is available at many paint retailers as well, to enable a perfect match with previously selected colors. That process normally requires a minimum of 24 hours.

Selecting the proper paint is the next step, and Ferguson suggests customers check "Consumer's Report" magazine before selecting a brand of paint. Brand-name paint manufacturers consistently ranking high in the magazine include Benjamin Moore, Pittsburgh Paints and Pratt Lamberts, he said.

"Better brands guarantee satisfaction and stand behind it," Ferguson added. Many companies offer guarantees for a certain length of time, but the likelihood of a customer holding onto a receipt to claim that guarantee five years later is slim.

Buying the correct amount of paint requires some help from the homeowner. Customers regularly describe the size of work as "average," and that doesn't help when selling paint. Ferguson recommends having an estimate of the size of the project.

A gallon of paint normally covers 350 gallons, and a sales representative can place a customer "in the ballpark" with some basic dimensions. Exterior estimates are more difficult for selecting the correct amount of paint, due to arches and other non-conforming shapes. GNE Paint sells an estimated 100 gallons of paint per day.

Following paint selection, potential painters must prepare the area to be painted.

"Painting is not that big of a deal. Prepping the area is," he said, explaining that it's not unusual for customers to return to paint stores a year after the work has been done, holding paint chips flaking from their walls.

Flipping those paint chips over, the answer to the problem is obvious. "A customer will bring in a white paint flake, with brown paint underneath from the last paint job, said Ferguson.

Customers experiencing these problems generally failed to prepare the area.

Exterior work requires a thorough cleaning and removal of flaking paint. A powerwasher is a good bet to complete that chore quickly.

Interior painting requires a complete wall-scrubbing job. Paint doesn't stick to grease-covered walls, and even the most careful homeowner can't prevent grease from covering walls in the kitchen area.

Nicotine and smoke damaged surfaces may require special attention prior to painting as well, and those concerns should be mentioned to the professionals.

Primers are also needed before painting. "Any primer will pretty much do, unless your trying to prevent a stain from bleeding through," said Ferguson.

Left behind in the paint shopping expedition are the supplies, and a simple checklist should prevent a return trip to the store.

Needed supplies include: brushes, rollers, roller covers, caulk, spackle, tape, drop cloths and a putty knife.

Natural-bristled brushes made of hog hair should be used for oil-based paints, while nylon-bristled brushes are more effective with latex paint.

Drying paint should remain undisturbed. Latex paint will normally in two hours, while oil-based paint should dry overnight. Cool temperatures and humidity will slow the process.

Ferguson estimated 85-90 percent of the paint available on the market is latex based.

GNE Paint has stores in Clarkston, Hazel Park, Rochester, Sterling Heights and Lake Orion.

Antiques can be worth more than you know

One man's trash is another man's treasure. You could be losing out on a small fortune when you clean house.

"No, dust bunnies aren't worth their weight in gold," says author Tony Hyman, "but before taking a shovel to your kid's room, consider that at least 50 toys from the 1960s and 70s are worth $1,000 or more today."

Jeanne, an "over 30" mother of three in Paso Robles, Calif., reported, "When my son left for college, I put a big bag of GI Joe stuff out for the trashman. Too late, I learned I could have gotten $500 each for seven of those dolls."

Action figures aren't the only hot kids' collectibles. Your daughter's $4,000 Barbiec from 1964 could pay college tuition, and plastic models of Godzilla and Frankenstein from 1966 can put a grand apiece in your pocket.

Trashy trinkets of childhood that you can convert to cash include marbles, cap guns, cereal boxes, cartoon-character glasses, Disneyland souvenirs, electric trains, rock 'n' roll posters, lunch boxes, balloon-tire bicycles, radio and television premiums, board games, and sets of plastic cowboys, knights and space figures.

Toys may not be your only household treasures. Beer mugs, pocket knives, fishing tackle, ball gloves, musical instruments, briar pipes, old toasters and typewriters, war souvenirs, transistor radios, calculators, Hummelc figurines, 78- and 33-rpm phonograph records - even old black cast-iron frying pans - will shock you with their current value.

At least a dozen fountain pens and perfume bottles worth $5,000 turn up in yard sales each year, but having something valuable doesn't mean anything unless you also know who wants to buy it at a fair price. There's only one good buyer of cigar boxes in the country, and people who want sewing machines, BB guns and long-playing recordings of show tunes are hard to find.

Syndicated antiques columnist Anita Gold praised Hyman for putting $80,000,000 in people's pockets by introducing them to folks ready to pay cash for everything from stuffed armadillos to zeppelin parts.

Hyman, who hosts and national call-in show, Trash or Treasure, and makes frequent appearances on other radio and television talk shows, says "I helped a viewer get $200,000 for a meteorite and a Detroit listener get $176,000 for an old baseball uniform, but I especially enjoy helping people find buyers for the everyday stuff that clutters their lives... the carnival glass punch bowl that brought $10,000 or the beat-up Levi'sc jacket that brought $1,500.

"You get the most money when you do business with honest buyers," Hyman says, so I use radio and books to introduce people to the best collectors and dealers."

The latest 240-page edition of Trash or Treasure Directory of Buyers, his who's who of the top 1,200 collectibles buyers in the United States and Canada, is available by mail.

Send $29.95, plus $5 shipping and handling, to Trash or Treasure, Box 3028-CM, Pismo Beach, Calif. 93448. Visa/MC customers can call toll-free 1-800-549-7500.

"People are a lot richer than they think," Hyman says, "but most people don't cash in on what they own because they don't know what they have, who wants it, or what it's worth."

That's no surprise, considering 2,200 kinds of things are collected today. The average person can't be an expert in dolls, china, comic books and kitchenware. Neither can the average antique dealer. However, you don't need to know whether you have a $5 fishing lure of the $500 lure, he says, as long as you deal with honest experts. Tell them what you have.

They will know, Hyman says, and pay you fairly.

"You don't go to your butcher with a toothache," Hyman laughs, "and you don't ask your dentist to fix your flat. Selling collectibles is the same. If you want the best advice and most money, deal with specialists."

The best buyers may live miles from you, which is why Hyman teaches you how to sell by mail. It's easy, as long as you describe your items carefully, make a photo or Xerox copy, and include a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

"The old saying about one man's trash being another man's treasure has never been more true," says Hyman. "Something as simple as a plastic PEZc candy dispenser is worth $400 to one person and 10 cents to another," he points out, "and a 1966 Hot Wheelsc Volkswagen toy can be worth twice as much as the real car to the right buyer."

BEWARE

Consider cleaning the chimney before winter arrives

BY GENNA COTTRELL
Staff Writer

For many, the romance of a roaring fire in the fireplace or wood-burning stove is the perfect way to snuggle in and welcome winter's chill.

But before you do, remember to make an appointment with your local chimney sweep for a quick safety check and cleaning at least once a year.

CLEANING "We have many loyal customers," says Bob Godkin, owner of Oxford All Seasons and a certified chimney sweep, "they get their chimneys cleaned once a year whether they need it or not. But other folks, you've got to twist their arms to get it done."

Statistics support the benefits of regular chimney maintenance. The U.S. Consumer Product and Safety Commission reported that some 39,000 fires in this country were related to wood burning stoves, fireplaces and chimneys in 1993. These fires left 300 people dead, 1,380 injured and accounted for a total property loss of $363.4 million.

A thorough chimney cleaning and inspection generally takes less than an hour, and Godkin guarantees that all precautions are taken to prevent any debris from entering your home.

"It's quick, and it's simple," he says. "As long as you get it done on a regular basis, you should have no problems."

Chimney fires are caused by the buildup of a substance called creosote, a natural by-product of combustion. Creosote is flammable, and when it is allowed to collect inside of a chimney, it can catch fire by sparks or flames traveling up inside of it.

Creosote can build up to levels of a quarter inch or more, creating a serious potential for fires and structural damage within the chimney.

"The build-up will also impede proper draft of the chimney, making your stove or fireplace not burn as efficiently as it could," said Godkin.

The Chimney Safety Institute of America recommends the following tips to ensure a safe and enjoyable burning season:

- Used seasoned wood only. It is more important that the wood be dry rather than green.

ers, more frequently if a stove or fireplace is used year round.

Godkin also recommends a flue cap at the top of each chimney as an extra measure of safety.

"A flue cap keeps water and snow out of the chimney, eliminating the potential for water damage," he says. "The screen on the flue cap keeps the critters out. We've taken as many as five racoons out of one chimney at a time. Several calls will come in each season with folks wanting us to get rid of their little unwelcome visitors. A flue cap will eliminate that problem, too."

To schedule a professionally certified chimney cleaning and inspection, telephone Bob Godkin at Oxford All Seasons, 628-1182.

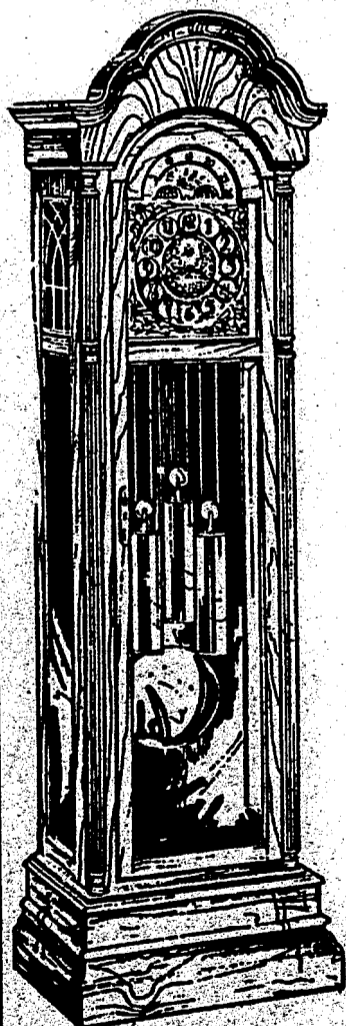

For more information and free brochures on chimney safety, call the Chimney Safety Institute of America at (800) 536-0118 or visit their website at <http://www.csa.org>.

- Build smaller, hotter fires that burn more completely and produce less smoke

- Never burn cardboard boxes, wrapping paper, trash or Christmas trees in your fireplace or wood-burning stove.

- Have your chimney cleaned and inspected on a regular basis. Yearly is recommended for most homeowners.

HEATING TIP - Generally speaking, a 40-pound bag of pellet fuel can provide up to 24 hours of solid heat. After the fuel has been added, a pellet stove performs like an automated woodstove. Wood-pellet fuel burns very clean and produces virtually no particulates and that's because there's very little ash when burned and there's only a small amount of residue to clean out of the stove or insert.

A checklist of improvements helps improve the home

Fall. Its distinct arrival brings to mind many things, like the changing colors of the leaves, their crunch underfoot, and the task of raking them up before the neighborhood children come trampling through the leaf piles.

For students who are back in school, fall can mean midterm exams and cramming to get all the work and studying done before bigger tests come along.

And, for homeowners, there comes to mind a different kind of cramming - getting the fall home-improvement projects done before the biggest test of all arrives, winter.

There's much to be done.

With the fall comes cooler temperatures and wetter weather, seemingly subtle changes that can be harsh to the structure of a home. Whether calling in the professionals or planning a do-it-yourself home makeover, having a checklist of home improvement tasks will help you tackle the cramming.

Following are just a few subjects of fall home improvement to consider:

■ Outdoor furniture - With the wet season on the way, fall is an ideal time to weatherproof any patio pieces that are prone to rusting. Additionally, adding a fresh finish or stain to wooden patio pieces will protect the, and keep them looking like new for the spring.

■ Roofs and gutters - With forthcoming rain and the falling leaves, gutters need to be checked that they are clean and unobstructed.

Water that doesn't drain properly in the fall can become a serious problem once the freezing weather hits. A buildup of ice can cause cracks in the gutter and further damage to the roof.

■ Insulation - Installing extra insulation can help reduce heating bills this winter, not to mention cooling costs in the summer.

Hardware stores and home centers are good places to seek advice on which type of insulation is best for your home.

■ Windows - Now that summer has given way to fall, it's time to remove the window screens and put in the storm windows. Cleaning the screens before stowing them away for the winter will make them quickly available in spring. If replacing windows, make this a top priority, as you wouldn't want to be caught without them during the seasonal drafts and rain.

■ Paint - Take a good look at the walls. Are there visible nicks and scuff marks? Or, dirt and fingerprints around the light switches? And, how about small holes from nails or screws left by old wall fixtures? While isolated patch ups might solve the problem temporarily, a fresh, even coat of paint will offer a much more attractive appearance, making a home look like new.

■ Accessories - When it comes to improving a home's appearance, sometimes the smallest changes can make the greatest impact. Little extras, like a new lamp shade in the living room, throw pillows for the sofa or even a vase of dried flowers on the windowsill in the kitchen - can add just the right touch to your home to make it cozy.

TAKE NOTE: The more projects you tackle now, the lighter your load will be in the spring.

■ Indoor furniture - Few can afford the luxury of replacing furniture as quickly as the styles change.

However, a new stain on old cabinets or just changing the upholstery on chairs can give your home a fresh look. With the holidays approaching and the likelihood of house guests, you want a home that looks inviting.

Always ask questions when considering a gas furnace

Questions to ask when buying a gas furnace

You've made the decision to replace or upgrade your gas furnace, but do you know what questions to ask when looking for that new unit? Knowing what to ask is important because your choice of furnace will affect your comfort and your budget.

While there are a host of questions you could ask, the Trane Home Comfort Institute, a consumer information service on heating and cooling, says these five are key:

MAINTENANCE

■ What size will work best in my home? The size of a gas furnace refers to its heating capacity, not its physical dimensions.

The capacity of a heating system is measured in Btu's (British thermal units) per hour.

Keep in mind that bigger isn't necessarily better. A unit that is too large will cost more to buy and operate. A unit that is too small will lack the ability to give you the comfort you want. The correct size depends on the size of your home, its construction, the way you use your house and the normal winter temperatures in your area. A qualified heating contractor is the best person to recommend the correct size for your home.

■ How will the new furnace be vented? A heating contractor also can tell you if any changes are needed in the venting of the furnace. A new furnace is usually placed in the same location as the old one and often uses the same venting system. Today, however, there are a number of highly efficient gas furnaces that can be vented out a sidewall, similar to a gas dryer. This may be an option for some homeowners.

■ How efficient is it? Efficiency has a significant impact on your heating bill. The efficiency of a gas furnace is indicated by its Annual Fuel Utilization Efficiency or AFUE rating. All new furnaces must have an efficiency level of 78 percent AFUE or higher as mandated by the federal government. The higher the AFUE, the more efficient the furnace. The more efficient the furnace, the lower the operating costs.

■ How much will it cost? In general, higher-efficiency units cost more than lower-efficiency units. However, while there may be a higher initial cost, Trane Home Comfort Institute experts note that, over the life of the unit, a higher-efficiency furnace will could pay for extra cost of the increased efficiency.

The final cost of a gas furnace also can be affected by a number of installation factors, like the correction of venting or ductwork problems and the difficulty of removing the old furnace or installing the new furnace in a specific location.

■ How do I select a contractor? Perhaps the most important step in replacing or upgrading your home's heating system is selecting the contractor to do the job. The reason: No matter how well-made a furnace is, the comfort, reliability and energy efficiency it provides is in the hands of the contractor installing it.

Contractors affiliated with a nationally known manufacturer usually are a good choice because they have been factory trained in installation and service. They also can help you determine your comfort needs, make the right equipment choices, and give you the best value for your money.

Simple energy-saving tips help reduce utility bills

Are your utility bills too high?

According to the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE), most Americans can reduce their annual energy bills by 10 to 50 percent by taking on a few easy home-improvement projects. Here are some energy-efficiency project ideas that can help you reduce utility bills, while also improving the environment.

Does your attic measure up? -

One of the best ways to save energy, cut heating and cooling costs year-round, and make a home more comfortable is to add insulation in the attic. The DOE recommends R-49 insulation in the attic of most new U.S. homes, which is equal to about 15 inches of fiber glass blanket insulation (contact the DOE for the specific R-value recommendations for your area). Since most attics only have 6 or 7 inches of insulation, adding a layer may help the majority of homeowners increase the energy efficiency of their homes.

One product that makes the job of installing an additional layer of insulation easier is Owens Corning's virtually itch-free MIRAFLEX- R-25 (8-inch-thick) fiber glass insulation.

Plug the drafts - According to the DOE, draftproofing your home can result in annual energy cost savings of 10 percent. The exterior of your house is your first line of defense against drafts - so caulk and seal around windows and where siding or bricks and wood trim meet.

You also can reduce drafts from the tration points.

Light right - Check the type of lightbulbs you have around the house.

Replacing 25 percent of inefficient energy wasted through poorly insulated windows and doors is equal to about as much energy as we obtain from the Alaskan pipeline each year.

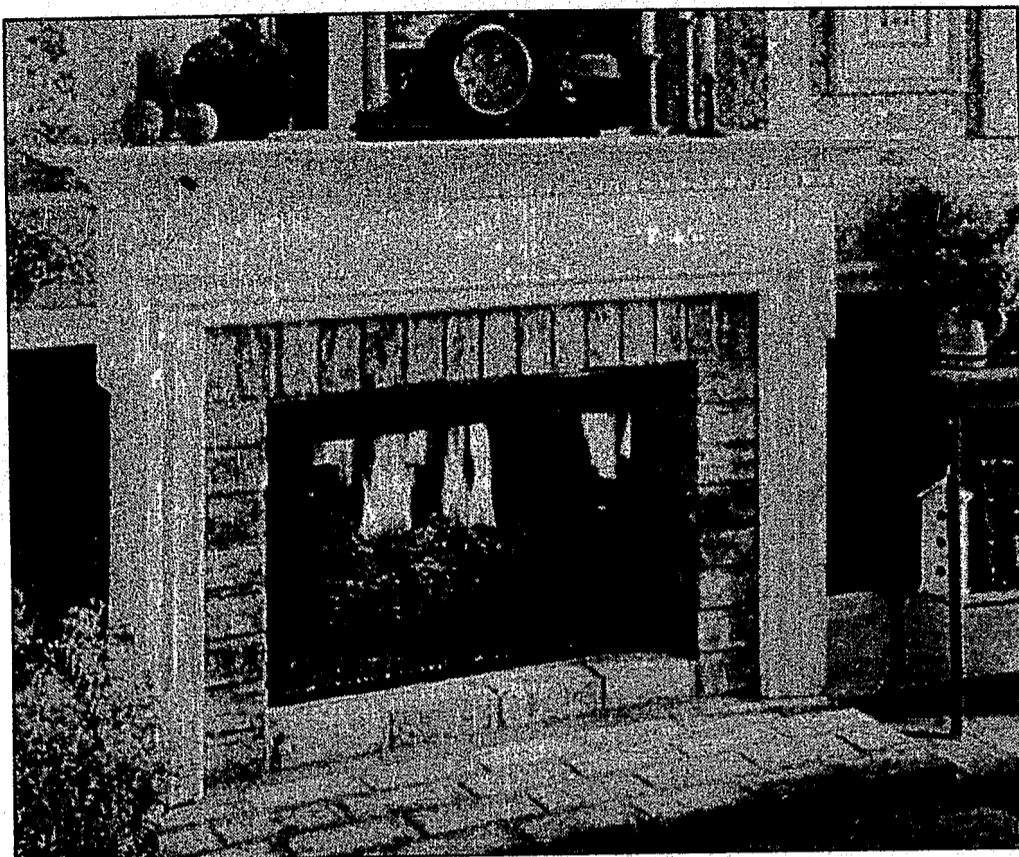

If your windows rattle from the wind, or are swollen, rotten or drafty, consider replacing them with double-pane vinyl windows which also are easy to maintain or install storm windows over single-pane windows.

Turn it up/turn it down - Install a set-back thermostat, which automatically will lower your home's temperature in the winter and raise it in the summer when you're not at home for lower year-round energy bills.

For additional energy-saving tips, contact the DOE at 1-800-363-3732 to receive a free copy of "Energy Savers," a 36-page booklet from the DOE and industry contributors, including Owens Corning.

The booklet features more than 100 easy and practical energy-efficient solutions and projects, such as installing additional insulation in an attic, do-it-yourself weatherization projects, energy-efficient lighting and appliance options, and ways to reduce hot water usage.

Additionally, Owens Corning offers a free Homeowner Energy Audit Kit, which can be ordered by calling the company's answer center at 1-800-GET-PINK (1-800-438-7465).

Fireplaces can be redesigned to help save money.

Dining has grown eclectic, new options are here

Just as dining has grown more eclectic - should it be tapas, tandoori or Thai tonight? - so have options in dining set furnishings.

The old rule dictating a perfect matched set of table and chairs is long gone. While a matched dining set is timeless and always appropriate, says the Home Furnishings Council, the new rules emphasize freedom of choice.

"We see people mixing it up quite a bit," said Jim Richardson of Wis.-based Richardson Brothers Co. "People want a dining set that looks like it came from shopping around antique stores, or was put together from old family pieces, and that means not so many matched sets. We've responded by allowing people a wide range of choices in assembling a table and chairs."

Big heavy farm tables in light finishes are becoming the new staple, as the trend toward more casual dining continues. And, around them people are grouping chairs in everything from wrought said Ron Wanek of Ashley Furniture. "Transparent colored finishes in

We give consumers the ability to make all kinds of strong combinations."

Comfort is still a prime motivation in choosing chairs, and there is a wide range of new choices in upholstered and even tilt-and swivel adjustable seating. The key is to look for flexible pieces that will fit well in any setting.

"The pieces that sell well can go anywhere," said Dwayne Borkholder, ■ Mixed media is not a mixed message: iron goes with wood, wood goes with glass, upholstered chairs look great around a rustic wood table.

■ An oversize table can be paired with slim chairs, but avoid the reverse - a spindly table with massive chairs looks ungainly.

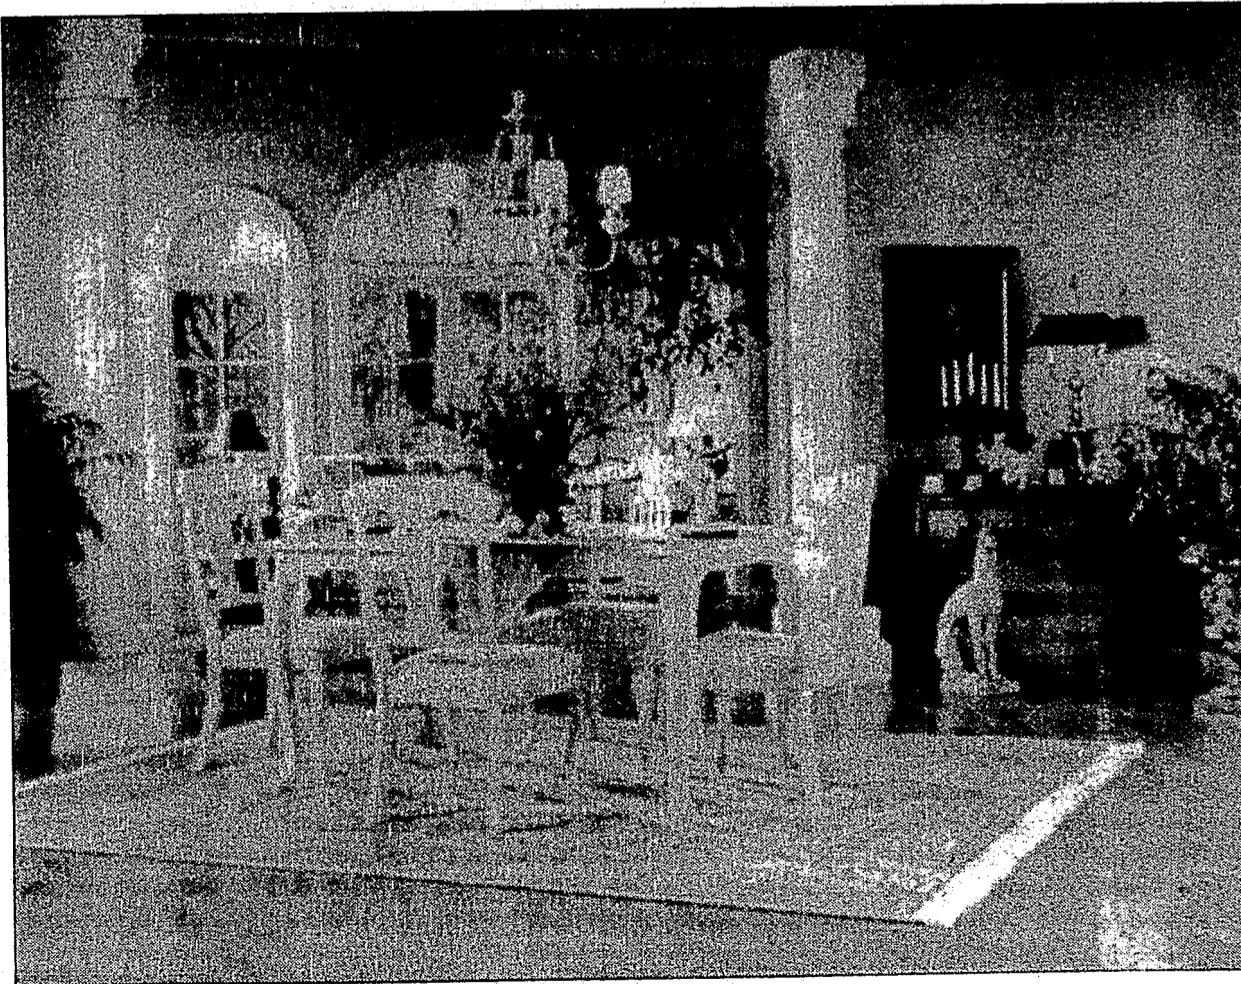

■ Consider the use of color: ladder-back chairs in assorted tones of green, blue, red and yellow make a lively grouping.

WE PROMOTE DO-IT-YOURSELFERS, ALL IT TAKES IS TIME AND PATIENCE. IT'S NOT DIFFICULT.

According to the owners of Val-Tile Floor Store in Clarkston, almost anyone can install ceramic tile themselves.

"We promote do-it-yourselfers," said owner Mr. Peter Valente Jr. "all it takes is time and patience. It's not difficult."

The store gives out free instruction manuals and lends tile cutters, nippers, micro tile cutters and other hand tools needed. And for those concerned with sub-flooring complications, instruction in cement underlayment board is also provided.

Although the store carries vinyl flooring, carpeting, wood floors and imported granites and marbles, Valente recommends ceramic tile for most. "Once your put it down, it's down forever," he said.

Valente, who owns the store with his father Peter Valente Sr., said vinyl floors need to be replaced after a couple of years. "In the long run, vinyl is more expensive," he said.

Val-Tile's ceramic brand is available in rectangular and square modular sizes and can be arranged in patterns. Shading variations can mimic the natural look of slate or marble.

A typical kitchen - 200 square feet in size - can be done in three days. "A weekend project," said Valente.

Val-Tile's showroom features display boards showing just what the tile will look like when installed. And they carry grout in a "multitude" of colors, including white, gray, green and rose among many others.

A quarter inch cement underlayment call hardibacker is recommended under ceramic. "It eliminates problems with height but is three times stronger than regular one half inch underlayment. And it carries a 20 year guarantee for strength and integrity," said Valente.

"It is strong and dense material, the best in the business," he said. "But the home centers don't carry it."
