Residents air complaints about road construction

BY MARALEE COOK
Clarkston News Editor

Ruined outdoor furniture and activities because of dust and road construction vehicles.

Structural damage to homes.

An increase in traffic, speeding and running stop signs.

Confrontations with road construction workers.

Trash from road construction workers tossed in residents' yards.

No police.

Parking during home football games that blocks emergency vehicles' paths.

Drinking and urinating on lawns by teens during home football games.

These were some of the charges levied by residents of Walters and Flemings Lake roads at a special informal hearing at the Clarkston School Board meeting October 12.

The Clarkston School Board called the meeting to hear residents' concerns about paving Walters Road. Also in attendance were members of the Independence Township Board and representatives of the Road Commission for Oakland County (RCOC).

At an April school board meeting superintendent Dr. Al Roberts announced the schools would not use Walters Road as a bus route. But at the end of June, after making trial bus runs, the decision was reversed.

At that time the board first discussed the possibility of paving Walters Road.

Paving the road, however, seemed to be a foregone conclusion to the residents Monday night. And as long as they would not have to pay for it, it was not one of the issues they seemed interested in discussing.

The approximately 30 residents aired their complaints about the inconveniences, length of time the improvements to the corner of Waldon and Walters roads is taking, and the behavior of teen and adult drivers and construction workers.

Walters Road residents Margaret Provenzano, Debbie Clement and Denise Cloutier complained the dust from construction and traffic has become unbearable. They said it had ruined patio furniture, that the siding on their homes would have to be power-washed, and outside activities had to be curtailed.

Cloutier and Clement, who live opposite each other at the corner of Waldon Road said they've noticed cracks and nail-pops in their walls and ceilings since construction began.

Clement said there are pick-up trucks and front-end loaders in her driveway and more than once she has been 'cussed at' by road construction crew members.

She added when she questions RCOC or Oakland Excavating (who is doing the road work), each blames the other for the length of time of the road

City cracks down on truck traffic

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston city council has started to put the brakes on trucks that rumble through town with illegal loads at their regular meeting Monday night.

The council unanimously approved an amendment to its existing truck ordinance, and had first readings on future amendments that council members hope will give red lights to gravel haulers and construction trailers that cut through city streets to get to their job sites.

The council amended the truck ordinance to redefine what a truck is. The ordinance states that trucks include any vehicle that is designated to transport property with a gross weight of more than 10,000 pounds.

City attorney Tom Ryan said the amendment is an indication that police chief Paul Ormiston is looking to help protect the streets and the historic structures around them.

"The chief has been very proactive in putting this together," Ryan said. "He is trying to protect oppressive truck traffic through the city."

The amendment takes effect Nov. 1.

The council also had first readings on two other items at the meeting intended to slow those trucks down. The council examined a commercial vehicle weight ordinance, and a motor vehicle code for commercial vehicles. Each of these set certain standards for trucks that are allowed to pass through the city.

Both include provisions for meeting certain weights. Ormiston said the city will borrow scales from the Waterford Police Department to help with enforcement.

The commercial vehicle weight ordinance will cover areas such as weights, tires, brakes, and other safety features on trucks.

The motor vehicle code is an ordinance based on the Michigan Motor Vehicle Code, which regulates size, weight and load capacities of trucks that

Mr. Whittington goes to Washington

Clarkston High School graduate spends time in Washington D.C. as an intern

BY EILEEN MCCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

As a White House intern this past summer, Steve Whittington got to meet a lot of VIPs. Some he met in a dignified manner and some ... well, the encounters were a little more a la Jim Carrey.

Once, as he skirted hurriedly into a restroom -- and slipped -- he only had time to notice the gentleman's feet before he smashed into him.

"I knocked him over and it was Newt Gingrich." A million questions on politics flew through his mind, but all Whittington could manage to squeak out was a weak, "Excuse me."

Gingrich's reaction, he says, was "a look of disgust."

Though Whittington, 22, does seem to have a knack for yukking it up -- even without trying -- he's a serious person at heart. A former Clarkston High School student who graduated three years ago, he's entering his third year of college at U of M Flint, working toward a bachelor's in political science with a minor in law and society.

His chance to work for U.S. Rep. Dale Kildee (D-Michigan) in Washington was the dream of a lifetime. Surfing the House of Representatives web page, he found there was an opening for the May-June summer session.

As a student in U of M's Honors Program, Whittington knew the experience would prove invaluable for a future thesis -- or even a job someday. "I wanted to see how government really worked. And how are you going to do that, than get inside Washington and see it?" He applied and was accepted.

When he first arrived, the small-town Clarkston boy was awed by the great halls of Congress. "I couldn't believe I was there," says Whittington, shaking his head. "It was actually one of the best feelings I ever had."

Instead of joining the ranks of other interns who stay at nearby college dorms, Whittington opted for an apartment. "I wanted autonomy in the world," he says with a hearty laugh. Every day he took the half-hour ride on the Metro, always with a Wall Street Journal folded under his arm. "I had to look the part," he quips.

At Kildee's office, which he describes as "a well-oiled machine," his duties were numerous. He and two other interns ran errands, answered phones, photocopied newspaper articles and picked up items from the Library of Congress.

They were also responsible for opening, sorting and distributing mail to various parties that needed the subject matter, for instance, officials dealing with the abortion issue. With three shipments a day, it was "countless material."

Every so often he whisked himself away to see "all the lollygagging that was going on ... to be able to watch proceedings, go to hearing, see the lobbyists, it was really thrilling for me." Whittington is especially interested in gun control, so he enjoyed going to several hearings, one for the "insty check on firearms."

He also sat listening to various committees. "I learned a lot," Whittington says he kept a journal, recording one to two typed pages a day.

Outside the political arena, he had time to soak up the social climate around Capitol Hill. "Certainly you could tell who was staff and who was an elected official, the way they carry themselves. Many of the politicians generated an aura of arrogance, you could say."

Not so for Kildee, whom Whittington greatly admires. Being with the Congressman every day, it was refreshing to see someone so down-to-earth and dedicated.

"In no way," he emphasizes, "did he demonstrate arrogance. Basically, he really did present himself as a person who represents a body of people. Frankly, I think we need more guys like him in D.C."

As for the scandalous happenings in Washington, that happened long before Whittington arrived.

However, he says, carefully, "I was personally surprised at how many young women look up to men of authority. A staff member told me, he heard on Capitol Hill, that might be the reason why members of Congress are designated separate elevators from the interns and general public."

As far as his spin on President Clinton, Whittington feels his problems relate more to "personal business, but you can't excuse the fact he has tried to evade the responsibility of apologizing to the American public."

Back at home -- and back on his beloved Harley, which he rides to school everyday -- Whittington reflects on his future. He's hoping to attend Wayne State University's law school after graduating, with the possibility of becoming an attorney or ... "President of the United States," he blurts out with a guffaw.

A "middle-of-the-road" voter, who votes non-partisan but according to the issue and person, Whittington says some folks might think he's got stars in his eyes, but he has lofty goals. His dream would be to work in Washington someday.

"In all, D.C. really opened my eyes to politics," he says. "It was a complete reality check." Sadly, in some cases, he notes, power has replaced principles.

"I'd love to go back and rekindle the passion," he says with emphasis. "Because politics, legislation, all that, it affects people's everyday lives. And it can't be taken lightly. It has to be approached by someone who wants to do the right thing."

'Politics, legislation . . . it can't be taken lightly. It has to be approached by someone who wants to do the right thing.'

New ordinance targets massage facilities

BY EILEEN MCCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Independence Township Board of Trustees massaged a new ordinance at its Oct. 6 meeting.

The proposed Massage Activities Ordinance, which received unanimous approval for a first reading last Tuesday, regulates the operation of massage parlours, massagists, massage schools and similar businesses in the community.

The ordinance incorporates strict rules regarding inspections, unlawful activities, massagists' wearing apparel, patronage by minors, licensing, hours of operation and other matters. It also includes a section which covers license revocation and suspension procedures if there are problems.

"When I first read this, it seemed absolutely silly to me," said trustee Jeff McGee. "I'm not sure if the threat is abounding in our township."

However, township attorney Gerry Fisher said the document is modeled after similar ordinances in Farmington Hills and Waterford Township as "an effort to protect the general public," making sure such operations are legitimate and not covers for illegal activities.

The board discussed the proposed ordinance for nearly an hour, providing several suggestions for changes.

McGee noted a rule requiring those seeking licenses to complete 500 hours of education in a six-month time frame might be unfair. "I think anybody doing this is doing it on a part-time basis, and I wouldn't want to discriminate on someone working to obtain a license in that short time," he said.

Another matter discussed was wearing apparel. As proposed, the ordinance stated shirt sleeves must fall below the elbow.

McGee said that seemed unreasonable for hot summer days. "I don't want to humor this issue too much, but sleeves of garment should reach below the elbow? I think this is a little much."

Trustee Dan Travis agreed, saying he has undergone past massage therapy for his back. With long sleeves, "they would not be able to do that," he said. After the meeting, Travis said a good back massage is so intense, massagists need to put their arms -- elbows and all -- into the effort. "It's like a truck bearing down on you."

He also suggested the definition for "massage parlour" be changed to "massage facility. I don't like the word 'parlour'. It has an awfully negative connotation," he said.

Clerk Joan McCrary suggested hours of operation should be changed. As proposed, the ordinance said a massage facility or school can't operate from midnight to 10 a.m. She suggested 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

"It seems like someone would want to get a massage before they go to work," McCrary said.

Summing up discussion, trustee Larry Rosso said he agreed with "the garb, the hours," and felt the ordinance was a "proactive" way to address future concerns. Referring to police raids of illegal activities in other municipalities, Rosso noted, "these were not only harmful; they were embarrassing to those communities."

Board members agreed to several revisions in approving the first reading, among them changing the definition of massage parlour, hours, shirt length and changing schooling or training to "500 verifiable hours" of education. The board is expected to approve a second reading and adopt the new ordinance at a future date.

The complete ordinance

CHS band takes first at Livonia competition

Clarkston High School marching band took first place in Flight I competition at the Livonia Franklin Invitational Saturday, October 3. An umbrella-huddled audience filled with Clarkston parents watched as the band ignored scattered showers and performed "Beethoven's Best" with precision and dedication, earning Caption Awards for music and for overall effect.

Fifteen bands competed at the Invitational, four in Flight I. Clarkston's score of 66.65 was the highest mark given at the rainy event.

The persistent rain proved a challenge for many of the bands during the day. Timpani drums sprayed water over percussionists when played. Color guard members from John Glenn High School slipped in the wet grass, recovering quickly before continuing with the performance in wet and muddy dresses.

Some Clarkston band members were concerned about the marching conditions. "Just before we took the field, Livonia Stevenson's band had a coronet player lose a shoe. He had to march the whole performance wearing only one shoe," stated Robert Koch, a member of Clarkston's drum line. "You worry about stuff like that but when it comes time to perform all you think about is playing your best and getting where you're supposed to be in the formation."

Clarkston's pit crew, composed of dedicated parents from the Band Boosters, took first place in Clarkston award for best equipment and support for the band. President Hugh Murphey was one of the boosters that marched out to the trophy table to pick up their award, a tool storage chest donated by a local hardware store. The boosters collected their award with marching precision and fancy salutes reminiscent of drum majors Katie King, Diana Moore and Tom Wisniewski.

Clarkston's next challenge will be October 17 at the Plymouth Invitational. Total scores from the fall invitational will determine which bands qualify for the November 7 State competition held at the Silverdome.

Springfield Twp. disburses $38,000 in CDBG funds

BY GENNA COTTRELL
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Planning for the distribution of the 1999 Community Block Grant funds was at the top of the list for the Springfield Township board last Thursday night.

The township was granted $38,091 this year, the same amount given last year.

While the charitable organizations that will benefit from the federal funding remain roughly the same, how the monies are distributed has changed. In years past, communities were allowed to make direct grants to local agencies, providing they met the federal guidelines.

This year, the federal government has mandated that funds be allocated by services, not agencies. These agencies must service low- to moderate-income households, handicapped and senior citizens as federal guidelines require. The funds may also be used to support municipal projects in areas of the township that include people in those demographics as well.

To meet the new mandate, the board first had to decide what areas and populations of the township would benefit from the funding, and then disburse money to agencies that would fill a particular need.

The board voted to disburse $5,000 to senior and handicapped services; $5,000 for municipal planning and management; $11,545 to agencies that provide emergency services such as food, clothing and financial assistance; $2,500 for assistance for battered women and $14,045 for fire trucks, apparatus and other equipment for Springfield fire station #2.

The district served by fire station #2 is located within an area that meets the demographical requirements for low- to moderate-income housing as outlined by the CDBG.

Several local charities, including Neighbor for Neighbor, Lighthouse and HAVEN, wrote to the board to seek assistance from the CDBG funding, their organizations having benefitted in the past from the federal dollars.

Janet Stack-Miller of Northwest Oakland Community Services attended the meeting, expressing an interest in CDBG funds and thanking the board for its support in the past. Northwest Oakland Community Services provides meals and activities and outings to over 200 senior and disabled citizens in the area.

In other action Springfield Township denied a reconsideration of a special assessment district for Sherwood/Patrick roads and gave final site plan approval to Lawrence and Beverly Rapp for their buildings on their horse farm. Colin Walls abstained from the Rapp vote.

ROLLING ALONG

by Maralee Cook
Homecoming memories

When is a loss a victory?
When it looks like the Clarkston Wolves football team did at Friday night's Homecoming game.

We had heard all kinds of predictions of a defeat for the Wolves, ranging from a 25 to 35 point spread. But the boys corraled the number two-ranked Troy Colts and did themselves proud.

My husband I were thoroughly impressed with the Wolves' effort. We sat in the stadium (at the 50-yard line, thanks to our 5:30 arrival time) and carried on with the rest of the spectators, cheering and stomping our feet. Aluminum responds so much better to stomping than wood, don't you think?

I have never been more proud to be a Clarkston Wolves football fan than I was Friday night.

What drama, what flair, what a band!

Clarkston's Marching Band entertained spectators at half-time at the Homecoming game as usual. And as usual their performance was top-notch. Their selections from Beethoven were breathtaking.

No wonder they took first place at competition earlier this month. Good luck at the Silverdome November 7!

The poms and cheerleaders were electric and energizing as ever Friday night.

I have always been a klutz when it comes to dancing, and I don't even think about gymnastics at my age.

But whenever I watch the girls perform, I'm tempted to toss public embarrassment to the wind and take up lessons.

Congratulations to the Homecoming court. They were a beautiful sight at half-time. And there was no sign at all that anyone was cold.

What wonderful memories the students are making for themselves.

I hope they last for a lifetime.

Letters to the Editor

Just say no to 'B'

Dear Editor,

I had thought that voting on Proposal B was simply a matter of personal preference, until I heard a point-by-point explanation of this proposal.

I was incensed to learn that under Proposal B the governor would appoint a 17-member, tax-funded, oversight committee which would be operating in secret, exempt from the Open Meetings Act, and that every five years the committee would issue a report but destroy its records!

I also learned that every death resulting from assisted suicide would have the cause of death deliberately, legally falsified! These are supposed to be privacy safeguards, but they set a chilling and dangerous legal precedent.

A "yes" vote on Proposal B would allow the government the power to operate secretly, falsify information, and destroy evidence. That certainly sounds like a police state to me. This is frightening, awful legislation. I urge every citizen who treasures his freedom to vote "no" on Proposal B.

Linda M Deahl

CHS band was great!

Dear Editor,

A rainy day did not dampen the spirits or the performance of the Clarkston High School Marching Band. The band placed 1st at the Livonia Franklin Band Invitational on Saturday, October 3, Performing this years program, "Best of Beethoven," the band not only took first place over all in Flight I competition but also took awards for Best Music and Best General Effect.

On their quest to compete in the State Championship, Nov. 7 at the Pontiac Silverdome the band will be attending the following upcoming competitions: Oct. 17 at Plymouth Canton High School, Oct. 24 at Linden High School, and October 31 at Huron Valley. The Marching Band invites everyone to attend these events.

Congratulations also goes out to the CHS "Pit Crew" for receiving first place honors for Best Pit Crew, an annual award given at Livonia Franklin.

Sally Coe

Band Booster representative

P.S. Thank you for your nice coverage of the Clarkston Invitational on Sept. 26.

We appreciate your support of the band program and the 200 plus students who participate. We hope you understand the time, talent and work that it takes to learn the music and marching drill and then march and play with precision.

Our marching band students represent 10% of the entire student population at Clarkston High School. They are truly committed to representing CHS with pride and dedication. We look forward to your continued support of the fine arts in Clarkston.

McMillin will do right

Dear Editor,

Dale Killdee could not bring himself to vote for the Impeachment proceedings of Bill Clinton so I am going to do my best to send someone there that can get rid of the evil influence in the world today.

It is important that my friends vote November 3 for Tom McMillin, a Republican for Congress.

If Killdee can't be trusted to do the right thing, Tom McMillin can.

Your Neighbor and friend
Ralph A. Chambers
Clarkston

Thanks for coverage

Dear Editor,

Thank you for the fine coverage of the 21st Clarkston High School Invitational. It is nice to see the faces of the band students on the cover of your news paper.

As I indicated to you in my fax, these 200 plus students and staff work extremely hard and represent Clarkston at its finest.

They perform for all parades, graduations and home football games. These students spend a week at Band Camp in the summer and after school practice two to three nights a week. They also attend away Invitionals at other high schools.

This past Saturday, they performed at Livonia Franklin High School in Livonia and came away with three trophies, first place, and two others for performance and music. These efforts will pay off on November 7 when they compete with 39 other bands at the Michigan Competing Band Association (MCBA) which is held at the Silverdome in Pontiac.

Our Band retains a reputation for sportsmanship and professionalism from many other high schools and we Band Boosters are very proud of them.

Again, thank you for the fine coverage. Please come again next year.

'B' won't tell all

Dear Editor,

The ballot we read on Proposal B (concerning assisted suicide) won't be telling all in regard to what we're voting for where our very lives are concerned.

For example, it does not tell the voters that there is no requirement that family members be notified when a victim has been granted a lethal prescription. The scenario obvious here shows that you could go into your parent's, grandparents, or even spouse's room to find him/her gone.

It does not tell the voter that the doctors will be REQUIRED to FALSIFY the death certificate of persons who kill themselves, under this law, by listing the illness as the person's cause of death, rather than lethal overdose being the cause of death. In the afore-mentioned possible scenario, therefore, the family will never know what really caused the loved one's death.

It does not tell the voter that it requires a person to be "suffering" from a terminal illness, and "suffering" is defined to be "physical or MENTAL torment."

This, of course, opens the door to depression (more often than not a treatable and temporary condition) to qualify the victim. It does not tell the voter that a politically-appointed, tax-funded oversight committee will be created, which is CLOSED TO THE PUBLIC and comprised entirely of persons who support implementing assisted suicide.

Please consider these deplorable omissions and vote NO on proposal B.

DON'T RUSH ME / by Don Rush

The Bill of No Rights

Neighbor Dave Barna has added my e-mail address to his computer. Lately, I've been getting quite a few e-letters from him. Here's one that's a spoof on our nation's Bill of Rights.

The Bill of No Rights

We, the sensible of the United States, in an attempt to help everyone get along, restore some semblance of justice, avoid any more riots, keep our nation safe, promote positive behavior and secure the blessings of debt-free liberty to ourselves and our great-great-grandchildren, hereby try one more time to ordain and establish some common sense guidelines for the terminally whiny, guilt-ridden delusional, and other liberal, commie, pinko bedwetters.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that a whole lot of people were confused by the Bill of Rights and are so dim that they require a Bill of No Rights.

ARTICLE I

You do not have the right to a new car, big-screen color TV or any other form of wealth. More power to you if you can legally acquire them, but no one is guaranteeing anything.

ARTICLE II

You do not have the right to never be offended. This country is based on freedom, and that means freedom for everyone -- not just you! You may leave the room, turn the channel, express a different opinion, etc., but the world is full of idiots, and probably always will be.

ARTICLE III

You do not have the right to be free from harm. If you stick a screwdriver in your eye, learn to be more careful, do not expect the tool manufacturer to make you and all of your relatives independently wealthy.

ARTICLE IV

You do not have the right to free food and housing. Americans are the most charitable people to be found, and will gladly help anyone in need, but we are quickly growing weary of subsidizing generation after generation of professional couch potatoes who achieve nothing more than the creation of another generation of professional couch potatoes.

ARTICLE V

You do not have the right to free health care. That would be nice, but from the looks of public housing, we're just not interested in public health care.

ARTICLE VI

You do not have the right to physically harm other people. If you kidnap, rape, intentionally maim or kill someone, don't be surprised if the rest of us get together and kill you.

ARTICLE VII

You do not have the right to the possessions of others. If you rob, cheat, or coerce away the goods or services of other citizens, don't be surprised if the rest of us get together and lock you away in a place where you still won't have the right to a big-screen color TV or a life of leisure.

ARTICLE VIII

You do not have the right to demand that our children risk their lives in foreign wars to soothe your aching conscience. We hate oppressive governments and won't lift a finger to stop you from going to fight if you'd like. However, we do not enjoy parenting the entire world and do not want to spend so much of our time battling each and every little tyrant with a military uniform and a funny hat.

ARTICLE IX

You do not have the right to a job. All of us sure want you to have one, and will gladly help you along in hard times, but we expect you to take advantage of the opportunities in education and vocational training laid before you to make yourself useful.

ARTICLE X

You do not have the right to happiness. Being an American means that you have the right to pursue happiness -- which, by the way, is a lot easier if you are unencumbered by an overabundance of idiotic laws created by those around you who were confused by the Bill of Rights.

JIM'S JOTTINGS / by Jim Sherman

Hazel's cataract has me cooking

Hazel's instructions were to report to Crittenton Hospital's outpatient desk at 5:30 a.m. This order came from that hospital.

At 5:30 a.m. there is a sign on the outpatient counter for all patients to report to the front desk which is a mile and a half away, through a maze of hallways, empty except for a rather large, blue-clad woman pulling an equally large trash barrel.

Her look of wonderment at us being in her hallway at this early hour gave us the impression she did not want to be asked directions.

On to the vacant front desk. Ah, just as we began looking for another directional sign, a refreshing young lady, with flopping name tag, came in from the out-of-doors.

With the aid of computer she gave us our instructions... retrace our steps to the outpatient area, only turn left and follow the burgundy paint stripe on the wall.

I'm not sure Hazel's cataracted eye could really distinguish between the burgundy and maroon stripes on the wall, or the blue and lighter blue stripes that accompany the other two.

Maybe they are sight testing patterns, and those who can't distinguish one shade from the other go directly to surgery.

Anyway, the pre-7:30 surgery started at 5:45 and Dr. Raptis told me everything went well at 8:10. A while later I was escorted into the recovery area.

No problems there until nurse Sharron Kastelic started telling me what Hazel couldn't do around "her" house when she got to "her" home.

Kastelic has been a familiar name in Oxford since 1955 when her father-in-law came to work for us at The Oxford Leader. He was our mainstay printer for a couple decades.

Sharron was only a short way through her list of things Hazel couldn't do... cook, lift, laundry... when I asked her to be replaced by a male nurse.

Sharron refused (ignored?) this request, continuing, "she can't do any housework for at least a month and no fried food, nothing greasy..."

I'm supposed to cook for Hazel -- for anyone -- and not fry it or grill it? No grease? No fat? No flavor! As my daddy told me on several occasions, "all the taste is in the fat."

Hazel was also instructed to eat lots of fruit and drink a lot of liquids. We are not a fruit-eating family and the liquids in our house, except for milk and water, are in "my" cabinet.

I knew Sharron would again ignore any request for a male nurse, so we left for the car.

The nurse also told me not to leave Hazel alone, so at home I called Hazel's daughter, (nothing is mine, except for the cabinet) Luan, and had her bring her mother some soup from the Big Boy.

Conservancy Annual Meeting

The North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy (NOHLC) will hold its Annual Meeting Saturday, October 17, at 9:30 a.m. in the Independence Township Hall Annex, 90 N. Main Street, in Clarkston. The public is invited to attend. Light refreshments will be served.

In celebration of 26 years of service to the community, the meeting will feature an update on the work of the NOHLC, election of Board Members, a feature presentation, and a tour of a NOHLC protected property. Light refreshments will be served at the meeting.

The first 25 people at the Annual Meeting will receive a 4-year old, 8 to 14 inch, White Pine tree for planting.

The update will include reports about two newly protected properties, one in Independence Township and one in Springfield Township, totaling over 120 acres, and a report about the progress being made toward hiring an executive director. Both of the new properties protect wildlife habitats.

Questions about the meeting or the Conservancy may be directed to North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy (NOHLC), P.O. Box 285, Clarkston, MI 48347. Telephone: 248-625-8193.

SUPERINTENDENT'S CORNER

by Al Roberts, Ed. D.

Starting at the "Top" Doesn't Work

Concerned about a grade that your child received? Unhappy about the vacation schedule or The bus routes? Who are you going to call? Contact the superintendent or a member of the board, right?

In today's world, many citizens have a "start at the top" philosophy, especially when they are frustrated about a valid concern. While no one has more respect for our Board of Education than I do, and while the buck stops at my desk, let me tell you why the "go to the top" tactic isn't effective in school situations.

First and foremost, the role of a school board works against this strategy. Boards are empowered to do some specific things:

- set policy and help create a vision for the school system
- oversee the budget
- accept or reject personnel recommendations made by the administration.

No single board member has the authority to take corrective action. The power of the board is found in its majority vote, and its value is found in the integrity of its members.

We are fortunate to have a school board that is deeply committed to our Clarkston kids. They work countless hours to provide guidance and direction for the school system, but they do not make decisions about operational matters.

Our board clearly wants to offer our boys and girls the best possible education and to do so in a positive environment. They understand the need to address issues directly to turn concerns over to the administration.

As your superintendent of schools, I am ultimately accountable for setting an agenda that will make our schools as effective as they can be and for taking corrective action when something goes wrong. I take that responsibility seriously, but I also understand that my initial role must be limited.

The answer to most concerns is found closer to the problem. For example, the superintendent should not resolve a dispute over a grade. The particular teacher and the principal should deal with it, if necessary.

After all, the facts, perceptions, and other pertinent information about the grading procedure are located at the site where the difference first occurred.

Since our administrators have been empowered to take appropriate action, problems can often be resolved at this level. When the complaint procedure is sidestepped, it takes additional time to resolve the problem because any investigation must start back at square one. That is why parents are often asked, "Did you speak to the teacher, the principal, or the appropriate supervisor?"

A fast, decisive response is dependent upon our ability to logically address the concern step by step. If jumping ahead occurs, we are likely to stumble.

Now, as much as I would like to believe that the parties involved would handle all complaints, I realize some issues will need my intervention. When this is necessary, my main goal is to be as impartial as possible because all members of the school family deserve that.

When an issue reaches me, it is most often a matter of policy or procedure. Even the superintendent must follow the rules! My first order of business is to understand the areas of agreement and disagreement, and I also want to know what attempts have been made to resolve the issue. The good news is that we have been fortunate to resolve matters quickly at the right level, and the number of concerns has been relatively minimal.

Incidentally, our policies are available for public review. We keep a copy for that purpose at the public library and at the board office. In the near future, policies will also be placed on our district's web page.

Watch judicial tapes

Dear Editor:

The Oakland County Bar Association is sponsoring a Judicial Candidate Forum. Five, thirty minute tapes are being made available for all cable outlets in the county. They will cover all judicial races from District Court to Supreme Court.

I would urge every voter to not only make sure their carrier airs the tapes but to also watch each one. The judicial branch is equal to the other two branches of government but is generally ignored in elections by both the press and the voting public.

Much criticism is leveled at the manner in which we select judges in our state. A great deal of it is valid. However, this is the system we have now and it is the duty of each of us to pay attention.

Having participated as a candidate, I can only echo the frustration of having our campaigns treated with almost total apathy.

However, Clarkston residents will have to pay charges slightly higher. At the Monday night council meeting, members voted unanimously to take part in the township event.

"The city couldn't afford to cover the cost of this thing," said city Mayor Sharron Catallo. City residents will therefore be responsible for a flat rate of $45 per car load, to be paid at the site.

The township's board of trustees previously estimated the event would cost $23,000, the money to come from the township's general fund. "But that depends what the response is," said Richardson, adding final tallies would be established later.

She produced an example of how costly it would be if there were no discount. The cheapest item is latex paint. A 40-yard dumpster full of paint cans would cost "over $11,000," she said.

Preliminary Clarkston Elementary Schools Redistricting Map

Students in the Bailey Lake, North Sash and Pine Knob attendance areas will attend Sashabaw Middle School. All others will attend Clarkston Middle School.

For elementary and middle school students

New boundaries to begin Fall 1999

October 20 and 27 are the dates Clarkston Area Community Schools have set for Public Hearings on the Preliminary Elementary and Middle School Redistricting Proposals.

After several months of weekly meetings, the redistricting committee presented its preliminary map to the School Board at their regular meeting October 12.

The presentation was made by Dale Goby, an Oakland Schools facilitator, who was part of this year's committee as well as a member of the committee that set district boundaries in 1995.

Goby told the board that the committee began with a blank map with the intention of recommending elementary and middle school boundaries that balance enrollments without exceeding building capacities for the foreseeable future.

The preliminary recommendations are based on the 1997-98 student enrollment counts. Enrollment figures for 1998-99 will be monitored throughout the year to ensure the best alignment of attendance areas and school boundaries. Projected growth has been based on building permits issued in the school district, he said.

Goby added it was the committee's intention that students should attend the closest school and students within a subdivision or neighborhood should attend the same school. Students who attend the same elementary school should all attend the same middle school.

The districts serving Andersonville and North Sashabaw Elementaries essentially remain the same, Goby said. The other districts will see changes, with Clarkston Elementary's the 'most drastic.'

There is potential for high growth in certain areas. Goby stressed there needs to be stability in the recommendation, but there may be changes or adjustments in particular areas.

The redistricting is based on all schools being finished with their building and remodeling programs by the fall of 1999.

Students in the Bailey Lake, North Sash and Pine Knob areas will attend Sashabaw Middle School. Students in the Clarkston El., the new elementary, Andersonville and Springfield Plains sections will attend Clarkston Middle School.

Two Public Hearings are scheduled for the presentation of the Preliminary Elementary and Middle School Redistricting Proposals:

Tuesday, October 20 and October 27

at 7:00 p.m. in

Room B200 at the new Clarkston High School on Flemings Lake Rd.

For more information, call Clarkston Schools Administration offices, 623-5400.

Sunday was a beautiful day to celebrate the dedication of the new Clarkston High School, and that's what several hundred area residents, students, parents, CHS staff members, administrators and dignitaries did. Keynote speaker Governor John Engler said as his triplets get older it's time to think about where his family wants to live in the future, noting that a good school system is a prime drawing card. "There's a lot of pride here," he said. "There's nothing more important to the families of Michigan than the quality of our schools."

Dutch immigrants introduced two of America's favorite breakfast foods: the doughnut or olykoek (oily cakes) and the waffle.

Tierra's husband-and-wife team celebrate 25 years in the jewelry business

BY EILEEN MCCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Twenty-five years ago, Eleanor Harned did the usual thing folks do when they move to a new town. She checked out local retail.

In those days, Tierra Jewelry had just opened in Clarkston, with entrepreneur Joan Kopietz creating her custom work at a tiny desk in one corner of her first shop -- a 10-by-14-foot room on E. Washington Street.

"I just kind of wandered in and she showed me how she made her jewelry," Harned says. Tierra's been her jewelry stop ever since. "Joan's so creative; she works with you. I've just been very pleased with all the jewelry she's made for me. We're so lucky to have her in our midst."

"I fell in love with their custom work," says another client, Therese Lipar. Kopietz designed her 15th wedding anniversary ring, which includes a large green tourmaline flanked by two princess-cut white sapphires. "It's absolutely beautiful," she gushes.

But it's more than talent that keeps customers coming back. Joann Hood likes the personal service, "the one-on-one rapport."

Lipar agrees. "I love the store, the quaintness of it -- and the fact that they know each of their customers by name."

This month, Kopietz and her husband Buck are celebrating 25 years in the jewelry business. Their shop has moved twice from its first location at 3 E. Washington in 1973; to 20 S. Main (which now houses Republic Bank), a year and a half later, then to 64 S. Main in 1983 where they reside today.

A few months ago the Kopietzes decided to end the arts and crafts-gifts portion of their business, which was added at the second site.

"We've gone full circle," says Joan, noting their return to "just jewelry" again.

Joan started the business with "36 pieces of silver jewelry -- that's it. In one jewelry case that Buck built with used lumber and used glass."

After she added custom-made earrings to her rings and necklaces, things changed. Two different wholesalers, saw the work and made her an offer she couldn't refuse: They ordered 2400 pairs of earrings.

"It was selling those earrings wholesale that got us through that first winter," says Joan, who holds a bachelor's in art history, a secondary teaching certificate and a "diploma in diamonds" from Gemological Institute of America.

The Kopietzes have lots of memories, including the time one of the Clark boys -- sons of one of Clarkston's founding families -- walked in, sat down and spent an hour watching Joan work.

"I think that was one of the nicest things that ever happened to us. It sort of broke those stories about people not welcoming you to town 'cause he was a really fine gentleman."

Soon after they opened, the Kopietzes were encouraged to do more than business. They attribute their start in community work to former Clarkston News editor Jean Saile.

Buck and Joan Kopietz, at home at Tierra Jewelry, located at 64 S. Main St. The couple also owns a thriving bed and breakfast at the other end of town, the Millpond Inn. The photo in the background of a diamond-tourmaline ring was taken by Clarkston city councilman David Savage.

As Saile sat down to interview Joan for a story, "The first thing she said was, 'OK -- now what are you gonna do for the town?'" says Joan, with one of her hearty laughs.

"She was like a locomotive, pushing us into activities, fund-raisers, a film festival, book sales ... That's how Buck and I got started in activities in the community, and it was because of that little steam engine Jean Saile. She was always a big talker for community development. It was home town and everybody should be involved."

The Kopietzes had their share of near-catastrophes too. A floor fire from Morgan's service station spread to the corner of their first Main Street location

Buck and Joan Kopietz celebrate 25 years in the jewelry business in the '70's.

It turned into a great outpouring of support.

"All of a sudden, people showed up -- orchestrated by Jean Saile, of course," says Joan. "They were heaving jute (a fine roping material) out of the second-story windows. They had everything evacuated in 10 minutes."

The effort was quite a sight to behold. "Our entire store was lined up from the Clarkston Cafe to the corner grill," Joan chuckles. "As soon as they hauled the last bale of jute out, the firemen yelled, 'We got it!'" When the stock was returned, nothing was missing. The only damage was a broken stem on a wine glass.

Friends returned basketfuls of items to the store. "It was the exact opposite of looting," Joan quips.

In 1983, the business moved again -- this time to its current location, the site of a former hardware store. "Again, everybody rolled us down the streets. With people moving our inventory down the street, Tierra was on the move again."

The Kopietzes remodeled the 4,000 square foot building. They turned a former dock area "where they used to cut glass for the hardware store," into the jewelry room, where they continued their tradition of sales, custom work, cleaning and repair.

Buck, a former state social worker who had been running an arts and crafts supplies store in Auburn Hills that catered to nursery schools, closed it down and moved everything to the new location.

The early '80s were profitable. "We called it the Camelot era," says Joan. "There were over 45 retail stores in town then."

The couple were active in community work in those days. For example, they started a "Family Night" Christmas tree-lighting ceremony that continues today. Years before the large pine was planted at the corner of Main and W. Washington, "We wired a Christmas tree to the ground before Rudy's lot was paved," Joan says.

But the Camelot era was short-lived. The next few years brought some changes. The Sutherland House across the street, which once held a variety of uses like a restaurant, a knit shop, a deli and a produce market, became an apartment building.

It made the couple feel like outsiders. "It turned Clarkston from a two-block downtown to a one-block downtown," says Buck, the store's "business manager," who noted the decline of foot traffic to their end. That was bad for business.

A merchants' downtown business association started, failed, and Buck attempted to revive it a few years ago in the early '90s. It failed again.

Today, however, things seem to be improving, the couple says. They're grateful for the new revitalization effort which seems to be emerging in downtown Clarkston. Their 25th anniversary was celebrated on the same night as the recent Family Fun Daze. Ironically, their business began on the first weekend in October as well.

"We had our party, we had our cake and friends stopped by," says Joan. This month they'll continue celebrating with some special events, including a "Treasure Hunt" where 25 pieces of jewelry will be given away. Folks can stop by to register.

And, with the retirement of their arts and crafts business, the Kopietzes say they're "close" to securing a new tenant for the adjoining space next door.

One of the things the couple has liked best through the years, is seeing their customers' children grow up. "Those kids are our customers now," says Joan.

Eleanor Harned can attest to that. Recently her son and new daughter-in-law had a "planned elopement," which resulted in a very small wedding in front of Lake Tahoe. Just the couple and a minister were present.

"Joan designed their wedding bands." During their vows, the minister asked for the rings. There was a pause.

"And he said -- right in the middle of the whole ceremony -- 'These are neat rings.' I really think that was a nice memory for them."

Members of the Clarkston Financial Corporation treated community members to a reception and briefing at the 87-year old historical site of the original Clarkston State Bank Friday, October 2. The Clarkston Financial Corporation recently purchased the building at 15 South Main Street in Clarkston and is waiting for approval of a charter for a new Clarkston State Bank. Most recently the building housed an NBD branch, and prior to that it was a branch of Pontiac State Bank. From left are five of the CFC members in attendance: Bruce McIntyre, Ed Adler, Dave Harrison, Bill Clark and Lou Beer. Not pictured are John Welker, Chuck Fortinberry, and Bob Olsen.

New City truck ordinance

pass through the city.

Ormiston said one of the new city police officers has extensive experience in weight enforcement, and will help out with this new ordinance.

"This will help the situation, as well as changes in the local roads," Ormiston told the council, when asked if this will reduce the truck problems in the city.

After each ordinance goes through a second reading and are approved, they will take effect 30 days after they are published. Both will also cover all roads in the city, not just those maintained by the city.

Walters Road residents speak out

improvements.

"But my portion will be paved," said Clement. "What about the rest of the residents... something's got to happen."

Cloutier said she wants a solid yellow line, with a 15 MPH speed limit, no parking, and no turn on red on Walters Road after it's paved.

"I've been passed six times by kids, and I'm driving at the speed limit," said Cloutier. "I can't get out of my driveway in the morning and you can't walk across the street. Someone is going to get hurt."

David Provenzano estimated cars were traveling at speeds of 40 to 60 mph between 2:30 and 4 p.m. "This was a quiet street. Why can't they stay within the 25 mph speed limit? Who's going to help us?"

Walters Road resident Pam Babcock said when she asked a road construction worker about a bulldozer in her front yard he retorted, "Where the hell do you expect me to keep it with all this traffic?"

And during Friday's Homecoming football game, Mary Ann Staley, who lives at the corner of Flemings Lake and Walters roads said kids parked along Flemings Lake Road were drinking and urinating near the parked cars. She added students are not stopping at the stop signs on the streets.

Roberts said the schools have no jurisdiction over the situation on Walters Road and will attempt to work with the police to correct the situation.

Residents offered to videotape drivers and mark down license plates of speeders and people who drive erratically or run stop signs.

They also suggested safety paths on school property on the west side of the road.

Dave Allyn of RCOC, said it usually takes six to nine months to get no parking signs, but temporary signs may be possible sooner. "If there is an access problem, you should have towing rights," he added.

At the request of Independence Township trustee Dan Travis, Fire Chief Gar Wilson monitored parking on Walters Road at last Friday night's game. Chief Wilson told Travis the department could not have provided emergency aid because of the parking.

Tuesday, Margaret Provenzano said she was pleased with the turnout of residents and that they had the opportunity to air their concerns.

"We'll give them (the school board) time to address our concerns, maybe a couple of weeks. It would be nice if the school board could put some pressure on these groups (RCOC and Oakland Excavating). We'd like to see some action."

That's what the board hopes to do, said school board president Kurt Shanks on Tuesday.

"They have some valid concerns. Unfortunately many of them are outside of the school district's control. But we have an obligation to help them, and we'll look at how we can work with the other entities to address (the residents' concerns)."

Area residents attend annual session of the Order of the Eastern Star

Local delegates from Joseph C. Bird Chapter No. 294 in Clarkston attended the "A Touch of Magic" Session of the Grand Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, October 13, 14 and 15 at the Civic Center in Saginaw.

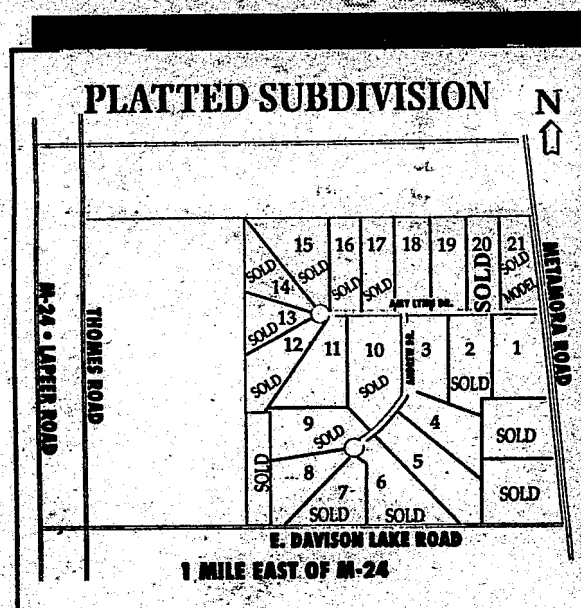

This was Michigan's 132nd Annual Session. Approximately 2,500 from 255 chapters in Michigan were in attendance along with visitors from throughout the U.S. and Canada. Last year, the charity donated approximately $200,000 in Michigan alone.

Oakland Technical Center Northwest Campus OSMTech students (from left) Will Freed, Don Craner and Erin Motto pose with teacher Kyle Hughes and the robot they built at a Clarkston Area Optimists meeting October 7. This year the students are designing and constructing a mechanical device that will help a fellow student bowl from his wheelchair. Hughes said each student will take turns sitting in the wheelchair and using the device. The students are currently making prototypes and hope to have the project completed by January.

THE LAW & YOU

by Robert E. Kostin
Attorney at Law

WRONGFUL TERMINATION

An employer cannot legally terminate an employee on the basis of discriminatory grounds, pregnancy, an employee's refusal to commit illegal acts, "whistle-blowing," joining a union, participating in group protests against unsafe or unhealthy job conditions, performing a governmental obligation, an employee's eligibility for accrued benefits, or an employee's filing of a worker's compensation claim. Beyond these factors, whether or not an employee has a right to sue an employer for wrongful discharge is often determined by what has been agreed upon in the employment contract. In the event that there is no written employment contract in place, an employee who is working "at will" has little recourse if fired, unless discrimination took place. If the employee has performed according to acceptable standards, the employer must pay for the work rendered, regardless of whether an enforceable contract existed.

Here at 11 North Main Street, we handle a variety of legal matters including personal injury claims, auto accidents, slip & fall injuries, criminal defense, business law, real estate transactions, family law, and civil litigation in both State and Federal courts. For further information or to schedule a consultation, call 620-1030.

HINT: An employee will seldom get his or her job back as a result of having won a wrongful termination suit, but the court can direct the employer to pay monetary damages based on lost wages since the day of the firing to the time of the trial.

The Parrott twins - that's Jeremy on the left and Russ on the right - lead the varsity boys soccer team into districts next week. The twins say they have almost everything in common, including a desire to excel on and off the athletic field.

Russ Parrott completes his flip throw, an out-of-bounds play that is not only effective, but is spectacular. Jeremy executes the play with equal skill, showing once again these identical twin brothers have almost everything in common.

"Now Russ, we'll need you to mark their center-forward. He's a good player with some speed and can shoot..."

"Uh, coach?"

"Yes?"

"I'm Jeremy. Russ is over there."

The preceding conversation is fictional in its content, but all parties involved admit it's happened before.

Russ and Jeremy Parrott, seniors at Clarkston High School, are entering their final days as teammates on the varsity boys soccer team. This year, they are two of the team's three tri-captains, along with Tom Dews.

But the first thing usually noticed about them is their appearance. Born identical twins, the two look so much alike, even their coach can't always tell them apart.

"Yeah, I get them mixed up quite a bit," chuckles coach Dan Fitzgerald. "When they're playing I can tell them apart, but when they're off the field, they even dress alike, so it's tough to tell them apart."

The brothers Parrott are also members of the ski and track teams, and say they're very much alike in ways besides their looks.

"Everything is pretty much the same about us," Russ said. "We've shared everything from our rooms to baseball cards to CDs. We just got different rooms for the first time six months ago."

"Well, we do have different shoes," Jeremy said, pointing out one major difference in the twins. "Honestly, we don't try to confuse people. Teachers and coaches get us mixed up quite a bit, but we understand and don't worry about it."

Russ (on the left) and Jeremy Parrott try to look tall. With everything they are involved with in the community, they stand tall even without the assistance of picnic tables.

On the field is where the Parrotts do their most damage, and it isn't to the fans who think they're seeing double when they both play. Both are completing their fourth year on the varsity team, and will lead the Wolves when districts begin Wednesday, Oct. 21. The Wolves take on the winner of the Waterford Mott-Romeo game.

Russ has started for the team the last three seasons, and spends most of his game nights chasing down the opposing team's top scoring forward from his defense position.

"Russ helps us out a lot because he doesn't get beat very often," Fitzgerald said. "He's like a pest on the field. He's a difficult guy to play against."

"Russ is a fast and smart player," Jeremy says. "He's smart about not creaming people when he tackles them, although he's hit me pretty hard in the past. He's one of the key defenders on the team."

This season, Jeremy has started to get more consistent playing time. He is a little more offensive-minded than Russ, and plays with a lot of aggressiveness.

"Jeremy is very persistent," Russ said. "If he ever loses the ball, he just goes nuts to get it back. When we practice and I steal the ball from him, he always steals it right back."

"Jeremy is a very good leader for the team," Fitzgerald said. "I knew he would be captain of this team from a couple years ago, because he's very vocal and upbeat with the rest of the guys, where Russ is a little more reserved."

The brothers have something else unique in common: the flip throw. This is a soccer play that draws consistent oohhs and aahhs from the crowd when executed, and often leads to scoring chances for the team. Russ and Jeremy are the only players for Clarkston that use the flip throw, and both are extremely effective with it.

The flip throw is an out-of-bounds play where the thrower gets a running start with the ball held over his head. He then springs forward onto the ball and does a forward flip, using his momentum to propel the

Homecoming disappointment

Colts edge Wolves in well-played game

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Someone had to lose Friday night's football game between Clarkston and Troy.

And unfortunately for the Wolves, it had to be them.

Despite a valiant effort by the varsity football team, it lost a tough game 7-6 to the second-ranked Colts before a huge Homecoming crowd at the CHS stadium Friday night.

Troy now takes sole possession of first place in the OAA Division I with a 6-0 overall record and 3-0 in the league. The Wolves stand tied with Lake Orion and Rochester Adams at 5-1 overall and 2-1 in the OAA I.

Clarkston coach Kurt Richardson said Troy made the big plays when it had to, and that was the difference.

"We tried to take Tim Fralick away, but he and (Troy QB Mike) Clinton are so good, it's tough to do that," he said. "I just don't know what we have to do to beat Troy."

The loss marked the second year in a row Clarkston has lost to Troy by a single point. Last year, Troy pulled out a 21-20 win.

The Clarkston defense did a tremendous job all night long, holding the Colts - who had been averaging 33 points per game this season - to just a single touchdown. Troy hadn't won a game by fewer than 24 points this season, but the Clarkston defense surprised some with its ability to outmuscle the bigger Troy line.

Troy's lone scoring drive was one full of clutch plays.

Troy went on a 15-play, six-minute drive from the end of the third quarter to the start of the fourth, capped on a one-yard scoring plunge by Clinton.

The Colts were able to deliver four key plays on the drive. The first play, a 28-yard play-action pass that put Troy at midfield; a 16-yard completion to the sidelines on a third-and-12; a 12-yard completion on a third-and-11; and an 18-yard strike from Clinton to Fralick on a fourth-and-15. Troy scored its only touchdown one play later.

On the following drive, Clarkston QB Eric Jenks engineered a long drive that stalled when he was intercepted under pressure at the Troy 10-yard line. The highlight of that drive was a 29-yard rainbow pass to sophomore WR Ryan Briceland on a third-and-eight.

The Wolves got one more crack at winning the game after the defense made another stand, but they were unable to move down the field.

Senior Chris Himburg scored Clarkston's points on field goals of 28 and 20 yards in the first half. The Wolves scored on each of their first two possessions, each drive going 14 plays for a total of 157 yards.

"We needed to get a touchdown on one of those first two drives," Richardson said. "If we do, it's a whole different ballgame."

For the second straight week, junior HB Chris Mitchell left the game early, this time with a bruised shoulder, suffered at the end of the first drive. Last week, Mitchell was knocked out of the game with a concussion.

Junior Chris Mitchell finds a hole in the Troy defense during a run in the first quarter of Friday night's game against Troy. Clarkston's offensive line played very well against the bigger Colt defensive line all night.

Senior QB Eric Jenks finds daylight against Troy. Jenks played a hard-fought game, along with his teammates, but fell just a point short of upsetting the second-ranked Colts in Friday's Homecoming game.

Senior Tim Loveless played his usual tough game with 95 yards rushing on 22 carries. Brent Deuel recovered a fumble, and Matt Baker picked off a Clinton pass. Dave Chavers also played a strong game along the defensive line, recording a sack and getting good pressure on the Troy backfield despite going against an offensive line that had three players weighing in at more than 265 lbs.

Friday, Clarkston travels to Rochester Adams to take on a Highlander team that is 5-1 and coming off a 42-7 rout of Royal Oak Kimball.

Richardson said he wasn't worried about a let-down by his team for this game.

The Monster's Game Ball

The defense

Clarkston's first-team defense has been outstanding all season, but it may have played its best game as a unit in a loss. The team held Troy to only seven points in the Wolves' 7-6 loss to the second-ranked Colts in Friday's Homecoming game. Troy entered the game averaging 33 points per game, including wins over Lake Orion (38-7), Ferndale (46-0) and Waterford Kettering (31-0). But the Wolves were able to put the clamps down on the Colts by stuffing the run and coming up with timely turnovers. Dave Chavers, who had a big game along the defensive line, recording a sack that killed a drive late in the first half. Matt Baker, a hard hitter in the secondary, picked off a Mike Clinton pass three plays after Troy forced a turnover in the second quarter. Other players coming up with big plays included Nick Upchurch, Spencer Hynes, Rocky Lund and Jeff Oliver.

"We'll be alright," he said assuredly. "This is a team that can bounce back, and I'm not worried about that."

In the last two seasons, the Wolves and Highlanders have hooked up for a pair of dramatic games. In 1996, the Wolves beat Adams 20-13 on a 42-yard touchdown pass with 17 seconds left in the game. Last year, Clarkston won a thrilling game at Adams 34-30, coming back from a 10-point fourth-quarter deficit to win on a three-yard run with 1:17 to go. The game kicks off at 7 p.m.

One Monster's opinion

●High school football doesn't get much better than what we saw Friday night at the new stadium.

Of course, it would have been a little better for the players and fans had Clarkston come out with the win, but we all saw two tremendous football teams on that field.

I tip my cap to the Clarkston defense, who as a unit, played their hearts out all night against one of the most powerful offenses in the state. What I liked the most about the defense's effort was that people at all different positions made big plays. Dave Chavers wreaked havoc on the Troy backfield all night, along with fellow linemen Nick Upchurch and Bubba Clement. Jeff Oliver has had an excellent season at linebacker. With his number 54 jersey and tattered helmet, he just looks like a linebacker. The secondary also played well, despite the big passing numbers put up by the combination of Mike Clinton and Tim Fralick from Troy. Rocky Lund played a solid game, and this is an experience he will learn a lot from. Spencer Hynes and Matt Baker have also been consistent players for the Wolves this year, and have played a big role in the team's 5-1 record.

Coach Kurt Richardson paid perhaps his best compliment to the team this season when I was talking to him after the game. I asked him if he was worried about a letdown from an emotional loss like this, in front of such a big crowd for Homecoming, etc. Immediately, he shook his head and said "We'll be alright." This team has showed its coach that it is mentally tough, and takes each day one at a time. Saturday morning, the sun did in fact come up, and I'm sure the players' thoughts were already turning to how to stop the wing-T offense of Rochester Adams.

●Could there have possibly been a better atmosphere for a football game than we had Friday. It was as picturesque as you could ask for, with the fall leaves in full color, the steel-gray sky, which I think is beautiful when set with the red and gold leaves, the bright green grass, and the color of the players all made for a postcard-like evening.

Out in the parking lot, CHS students tailgated the early evening away, cooking up hot dogs like they were at college. I never thought I would see tailgating for a high school game, but the hint of bratwursts and burgers burning up on the grills told me otherwise. Everyone was very well-behaved, and it's something that may end up being a tradition before home games.

●As soon as the Troy fans arrived at the game, they started chanting "Faaarr-merrs!" to the Clarkston crowd. Now maybe it's me, but there don't seem to be that many farms around here. Maybe people from Troy assume that anyplace where you can actually go one square block without seeing a 40-story glass office building is a farm area. But maybe I was mistaken. Perhaps they were chanting for Clarkston varsity cheerleader Marie Fahrner.

●I arrived at the game at 4:45, and was shocked to find people already in the stands. Yes, I arrived more than two hours before game time. All together now: "Brad has no life!" Thank you.

●A pat on the back should go to Dave Whitehead, Mike Robinson, and everyone else involved with the maintenance of the new football field. Having the colored Wolf logo at midfield and "Wolves" painted in each end zone makes the new stadium look more like a small college stadium. It shows that Clarkston has higher standards for its activities, something I'm proud to be a part of.

●Another team that deserves a hand is the JV football team, coached by Doug Colling. His team went into Troy and shut out the Colts 21-0 Thursday night in a game that has to be one of the most impressive a JV team from Clarkston has played in the last few years. This group of sophomore players that went undefeated as freshmen in 1997 is keeping up that standard with a 6-0 start this year. Here are a few names from that team to keep in mind over the next couple years: Ryan Kaul, Rob Conley, Cody Senkyr, Matt Pearsall and Nick Beetles, among many others. Keep up the good work, fellas.

Cagers find lid on the basket in loss to Troy

Just when it seemed the 1998 Clarkston varsity girls basketball season couldn't get any worse, it did.

The Wolves suffered a 41-16 loss at Troy Tuesday night, and now have to deal with injuries to two key players.

Junior Candace Morgan, a starting off guard, missed the game and will likely miss Thursday's tilt with Waterford Kettering with a severely sprained ankle. Freshman Kaye Christie, who had started three of the last four games at guard, injured her knee during the third quarter of the game and did not return.

Add to those setbacks an offense that only managed four field goals in the entire game, and you have one of the worst losses of the season for the 6-6 Wolves.

"We just got to keep working," coach Ann Lowney said after the game. "We've got to get some of our younger players out there. Hopefully, we'll learn a lot this year from this."

Lowney stuck with the young players theme right from the opening tipoff. Sophomore Kristen Falck and junior Heather Combs each received their first varsity starts.

Sophomore Tovah Bazley got her most extensive playing time of the season, and responded with a solid game of two points and three rebounds.

Junior Kelly Plante also saw more playing time, and tossed in two points and had a steal and a blocked shot.

Clarkston's offense was not only crippled by injuries, but by a quick and athletic Troy defense, which never allowed the Wolves to set up any kind of consistent offense all night long.

"Everyone thought Troy would be a sleeper team, and they have shut some teams down this year,"

Senior guard Deana Kanipe slices through the Rochester defense in first-quarter action Thursday. Trailing Kanipe on the fast break are (L-R) Kristen Falck, Corinne McIntyre and Sarah Morgan.

Lowney said. "Troy plays great defense and is crisp in its execution. Our younger players got an introduction to varsity basketball tonight."

The Wolves were about as cold as the late October wind in the first half. Clarkston only shot 1-for-19 from the field and went into halftime with a 19-10 deficit.

Troy held the Wolves without a point for the first 5:50 of the third quarter, until Bazley scored on a bank shot from the right wing to make it 26-12.

Junior forward Rachel Uchman - who has been one of Clarkston's top players the last couple weeks - scored two of the team's four field goals and had a team-high four points and four steals. Senior guard Deana Kanipe scored two and added four rebounds and two assists. Sophomore Sarah Morgan scored two and had four rebounds in the game.

Lowney said the team needs to improve its inside game, and that starts with getting the inside players the ball in a position to score.

"We got to get the ball inside to Sarah and Corinne (McIntyre)," she said. "We can't just dribble and chuck."

"We did defend them well for 3 1/2 quarters," she added. "We got our young people some playing time too. We've had a lot of bad breaks this year. But tough teams can overcome them."

ball far into the middle of the field. It's a difficult, yet spectacular move, especially at the high school level.

"It's not something we do just to look cool," Russ said. "I do it because I can't throw the ball very far normally, and this gets the ball further in play."

During his junior season, Russ scored a goal directly off a flip throw. He angled the ball in, and it deflected off two Berkley defenders and into the net before a Clarkston player could touch it.

Russ accepted that bit of charity, but he and his brother do more than their share of volunteer work in the community, and are heavily involved in school-related activities outside of sports.

Russ and Jeremy are involved in the Octagon Club, the high school version of the Optimists Club, where they spend time raising and donating money to groups like the Baldwin Center and the American Cancer Foundation. Russ has served as vice-president of the club twice, has been the secretary and currently serves on the board of directors. Jeremy is currently the treasurer, and has also served as president and on the board of directors.

"I love Clarkston, and I love this school, so I try to do as much as I can," Russ said. "It's a great way to meet more people."

Russ and Jeremy are also members of WOL-F, Working on Leadership for the Future, the Blue and Gold Club, National Honor Society and the senior executive board. They have also given a lot of time to the Clarkston United Methodist Church in many different capacities.

"Hopefully, we can be role models for younger kids," Jeremy said. "We have a little brother who's in

Junior golfer fires a 76 to qualify for state meet

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Now, Mark Churay will get to swing with the big boys.

No, he won't be headed out to a dance floor to take part in the 1940s dance revival, but he'll get to swing the golf club along with the top golfers in the state this weekend after qualifying for the Division I state meet.

Churay qualified by shooting a 76 at the regional meet, held last weekend at Sylvan Glen Golf Course in Troy. The score tied for his best nine-hole score this year, and marked the end of a big turnaround from a mid-season slump.

"He really got it turned around, and that was great to see," coach Tim Kaul said. "He could have gone into the tank, but he kept working hard. Playing at the state meet will be a great experience for him."

"He was the only state qualifier who didn't come from one of the qualifying teams. He's also a junior, which bodes well for next year."

Churay's round was almost good enough to lead eight grade who won't admit he looks up to us, but hopefully he does."

As their final soccer season winds down, Russ and Jeremy start to face a future when they're at college and could possibly be living apart for the first time in their lives. Both said they are interested in the medical field. Russ said he has applied to Michigan State and Western Michigan, while Jeremy has applied to eight schools, some public and others private.

the team to a surprising berth in the team state tournament. Clarkston finished fourth with a team score of 327, just four shots behind third-place Troy. The top three teams at regionals qualify for the state meet.

Rochester Adams - as expected - won the regional with a score of 311. Utica Eisenhower took second with a score of 318.

Kaul said he was pleasantly surprised by the team's finish, saying it showed how much it has improved over the season.

"We were a little disappointed that we didn't make it, because when you're that close, you really want to get in," he said. "But overall, I was very pleased with how we did."

The other scoring golfers for the team at the meet were Trae Moreen with an 81, Dave Benner with an 83, and Ben Ness with an 87.

But the highlight was Churay's performance. Kaul said no matter how he does at the meet, just for him to be there will be the benefit for him.

"It's an experience he can share with the other kids for next year," Kaul said. "That way, if we go as a team, he knows that he's already been there and done that. That's something that's important no matter what sport you play."

"It will be a little different when we go away," Jeremy said. "We're used to having someone there all the time. If either one of us ever needed something, the other was there."

Football

And the beat goes on for the Clarkston JV football team.

The Wolves, who have had a perfect season so far, played a near-perfect game Thursday night, defeating the Troy Colts 21-0 in a cold, wet road game.

The win improved Clarkston to 6-0 overall, and with the toughest part of the team's schedule behind it, an undefeated season is a very real possibility.

Coach Doug Colling was understandably excited about his team's latest performance.

"This was our best game of the season," he said. "We knew Troy would be our toughest opponent, and the kids were ready for them."

The star of the game may have been the Clarkston defense, which forced six turnovers from the Colts. The team converted two of those directly into points, showing a killer instinct that every successful team needs.

"We scored on our first drive of the game, something we've done in each game this season," Colling said. "That gave us a lot of confidence starting out. When you can go into Troy and whip them the way we did, it says a lot about our whole program. We just have a talented bunch of kids."

The Clarkston defense also played tough when called upon. Twice, Troy drove inside the Clarkston 15-yard line, and came away with no points, turning the ball over on downs each time.

Rob Conley had another strong game at running back with 95 yards on 14 carries. He also caught a touchdown reception from Ryan Kaul and converted a two-point attempt.

Kaul ran for a score in addition to his TD pass. He completed six-of-14 passes for 60 yards in the game. Adam Gebus added a touchdown and kicked an extra point. On defense, Matt Pearsall picked off a

Kickers tune up for districts with win

As transitional games go, this one suited the varsity boys soccer team just fine.

As the weather turns chilly, districts loom around the corner, and the Wolves picked up some positive momentum with a 5-2 win over Berkley on a cold, wet night at the new CHS field Thursday night.

In the team's final home game of the regular season, it set a new season-high in goals scored and played a complete game at both ends of the field.

"We played very well," coach Dan Fitzgerald said. "We controlled the play in the first half, let in a couple of silly goals to start the second half, but we stayed together and played better from there."

The offense had good news all the way around for Clarkston, which raised its record to 4-9-4 overall.

Five different players scored, including some who haven't scored many goals this year.

Tom Dews scored the first goal while Mike Lenhardt scored the last, keeping up their usual production. But goals from Bill Kalush, Nik Falkenbury and Mike Tharrett made Fitzgerald a happy coach despite the constant mist that fell from the sky and temperatures in the low-50s.

"We put a lot of pressure on them and we didn't turn the ball over on the wet field," Fitzgerald said. "We had five different goal scorers, and some of those came from guys who don't normally score, which is good."

The Wolves wrapped up the regular season Tuesday night at West Bloomfield, a game Fitzgerald said would be good for the team heading into districts, because it's one that matches up evenly with Clarkston.

On Oct. 6, the Wolves became the latest victim of an excellent Bloomfield Hills Lahser team, losing 4-1 at the new CHS field.

Norwegian exchange student Andreas Nielson scored his first goal of the season for Clarkston, which kept up with the powerful Knights in the first half, then faltered in the second.

pass and had four tackles, while Dustin Swenson had five tackles and two fumble recoveries.

Basketball

The Clarkston JV girls basketball team is starting to come together, and Tuesday night's game at Troy was another step in that direction.

After digging themselves an eight-point halftime hole, the Wolves fought back with better offense and an aggressive defense to earn a 42-38 win over the Colts.

The Wolves, now 7-5 overall, outscored Troy 27-15 in the second half, and coach Jenny Warren said the team's defense was responsible.

"We were very aggressive defensively," she said. "Our intensity level went way up in the second half, and we started taking the ball to the hoop."

Sophomore Mary Warchuck continued her season-long improvement with a season-high 13 points. She added six rebounds in her best game of the season. Lindsay Simko scored six and added six boards, three assists and three steals. Katie Jerge, playing her best game since returning from injury, had a team-high eight rebounds.

Clarkston hosts Waterford Kettering Thursday night starting at 5:30 p.m.

Clarkston 55

Lowney said her team plans on making a commitment to defense, but that may take a couple of games to take effect.

Despite getting some terrific individual performances, the Wolves dropped their fourth game in six tries Thursday night, 69-55 to the Rochester Falcons at the CHS gym.

Last year, Clarkston allowed a total of 79 points to Rochester in the teams' two meetings, one of them a 56-40 win by the Wolves.

But this year's team is one still trying to find the winning formula over a full 32-minute game.

"We only play for 16 minutes at a time," Lowney said. "We have a goal to play 32 minutes, and I don't know if we'll do that until we do it against an opponent of quality before we see that we can do it."

In three of Clarkston's five losses this season, the team has played even with its opponent in the first half, or in two of the four quarters, only to lose the game in the remaining time when the opposition cranks up the offense and defense.

Against West Bloomfield, the Wolves held a one-point halftime lead before losing by 16. In the team's game against Madison Heights Bishop Foley Sept. 17, Clarkston won the second and fourth quarters by a total score of 22-14, but ended up losing by five.

It was the same story against the Falcons. Clarkston dug itself an early hole, then used an 18-8 run to tie the game at 31-31 by halftime. Senior Corinne McIntyre helped spark the team defensively with defensive rebounding and good team defensive play. She finished with six rebounds, three blocks and two steals in the game.

Then the third quarter started. The Wolves got off to a strong start, taking a 38-33 lead with 6:45 left in the quarter. The Falcons then went on a 19-5 run to end the quarter with a 52-43 lead. Clarkston got no closer than five down after that.

Uchman played the best game of her career, scoring a career-high 18 points, with six rebounds and five steals in a great performance at both ends of the court.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Because the People Want to Know INDEPENDENCE TWP.

At a regular meeting of the Independence Township Board held on October 6, 1998, the Township Board authorized a First Reading of an Ordinance Providing Regulation of Massage Activities as follows:

SUMMARY OF ORDINANCE PROVIDING REGULATION OF MASSAGE ACTIVITIES

On October 6, 1998, the Township Board introduced an ordinance to add a new Chapter 11.5 to the Independence Township Code of Ordinances for the purpose of regulating and establishing procedures and standards for the licensing and operation of massage facilities, massage schools, massage schools and similar businesses, and the persons working in such businesses. A new Chapter 11.5 would be added to the Independence Township Code of Ordinances. A summary of this proposal follows:

The purpose of this Chapter is to establish Township policies and rules for the operation of massage facilities, massage schools, and similar businesses; and for the issuance, transfer, renewal, revocation, and enforcement of licenses to operate massage facilities, massage schools, or similar businesses, and to provide an orderly and nondiscriminatory procedure for the review and approval by the Township for any and all requests for licenses or any matters relating thereto, including the issuance, transfer, renewal, revocation, and enforcement of such licenses.

DEFINITIONS

Massage means a method of treating external parts of the body for remedial or hygienic purposes, consisting of rubbing, stroking, kneading, adjusting, or tapping with the hand or any instrument, electric, magnetic, or otherwise, with or without supplementary aids.

Massage facility means any Turkish bath, steam bath, sauna bath, or any room, place, or establishment, where treatment of any nature for the human body is given by means of massage and where a massage, alcohol rub, fomentation, bath, physiotherapy, manipulation of the body, or similar treatment is given.

Massage school means a school which is recognized by the state board of massage, which requires for admission students with a tenth grade education or its equivalent, which employs one (1) or more competent licensed massage therapists as instructors, and which has minimum requirements or a continuous course of study and training consisting of study in physiology, anatomy, Massage theory, hydrotherapy, hygiene, ethics, and practical massage. For the purposes of this Ordinance a correspondence school shall not be construed to be a recognized school.

Massage therapist means any person who has graduated from a state licensed school, or has graduated from a massage therapy school prior to the existence of a state licensed school, provided that in either case the school shall have included a curriculum which includes five hundred (500) verifiable hours of in class education in massage therapy and related courses. In addition, such person must be professionally affiliated with a national massage/body work organization that requires an educational standard for membership. In order to qualify for conformance with this definition the person must, upon request of a duly authorized Township official or agent, present a copy of the school diploma, transcript school name, address and telephone number, and a copy of professional affiliation.

Massage means any person, male or female, who administers to another person, for any form of consideration, a massage, alcohol rub, fomentation, bath, electric or magnetic massage similar procedure, manipulation of the body, or other.

Inspections

(1) Every establishment ostensibly being operated as a massage facility or massage school shall be open for inspection by duly authorized representatives of any Township department concerned with the licensing and supervision of such establishment during operating hours for the purpose of enforcing any of the provisions of this Chapter or other ordinance code provisions or regulations of the Township relating to the public health, safety, and welfare.

(2) It shall be unlawful for any person to refuse entry by Township representatives to premises in which a massage facility or massage school is extensively being operated for the purpose of making lawful inspections.

UNLAWFUL ACTIVITIES

It shall be unlawful for any person, for money or other consideration, to have any contact with a person's breasts, genital area, or buttocks in a manner intended to arouse, appeal to, or gratify a person's lust, passions, or sexual desire. Any violation of this provision shall be deemed grounds for revocation of the license.

SECTION 11.5-5 MASSAGISTS' WEARING APPAREL

Uniforms or garments covering the torso shall be worn by massage therapists or employees while attending patrons. Such uniforms or garments shall be of washable material and shall be kept in a clean condition. The sleeves of the uniform or garment shall reach below the shoulder.

PATRONAGE BY MINORS

No person licensed as a massage therapist shall massage or treat a person under the age of seventeen (17) upon the licensed premises, except upon written order by a licensed medical doctor, doctor of osteopathic medicine, occupational therapist, or physical therapist. Such order shall be dated and in the possession of the massage therapist giving the massage or treatment. If the person under the age of seventeen (17) is accompanied by a parent or legal guardian during the massage or treatment, this provision shall not apply.

Hours of Operation

No massage facility or massage school shall be open to the public for business between the hours of 10:00 midnight and 8:00 A.M.

No person shall practice massage for compensation without obtaining and maintaining in effect a license as a massage therapist as required by this Chapter.

Athlete of the Week: Mike Lenhardt

Salut, Mike: Goal-scoring is one of the most elusive and valuable skills in soccer. The player who does that better than anyone on this year's varsity boys soccer team is senior Mike Lenhardt. Mike is in his third full season on the varsity team, and was a postseason call-up as a freshman in 1995. He leads the team with eight goals this season, and scored the team's final goal in its final home regular season game Thursday night in Clarkston's 5-2 win over Berkley. He scored three straight goals in the team's 5-3 win against Lapeer East Sept. 22, notching a rare soccer natural hat trick. Mike said he'd like to attend either Purdue University or Michigan Tech next year to study chemical engineering. And just so he can get outside once in a while, he would like to continue playing soccer through intramural or club teams in college.

Coach Dan Fitzgerald on Mike: "Mike is a hard worker who leads by example. We've had him play several different positions this year, sometimes in the back, in the middle, or up front. He plays his best up front, so he has sacrificed some of his stats for the good of the team. He is a guy who makes the most of his offensive chances for us. He's always in the right place at the right time."

Mike on Mike: "The key to scoring goals is to know where you have to be on the field, and never giving up on a play until the whistle blows. But there is some luck involved in scoring, and I'd rather be lucky than good. This year has been rough for us. We haven't come together as a team like we wanted to, but we're still going to battle when districts come around. We have to learn that now is the time to do it for the seniors. We were there as younger players, now our younger guys have to help us out be successful too."

A member of the Clarkston High School band stays focused during Saturday's Homecoming parade through downtown.

The Japanese Club makes its presence known with elaborate uniforms and flags at the Homecoming parade Saturday morning. The parade offered a chance for many extra-curricular clubs to show their stuff to the gathered crowd.

The Back Page

Members of the CHS JV pom pon squad strut their stuff for the big crowd at Saturday's Homecoming parade. The squad normally does their routines on chilly Thursday nights at halftime of JV football games, but took to the streets of downtown Clarkston Saturday morning.

Independence Township Fire Chief Gar Wilson was honored as the grand marshal of the parade. He was driven in his convertible by CHS senior Mike Moran.
