Independence begins rezoning process for M-15 at I-75

Baylis family and Holiday Inn developer file lawsuit

BY MARALEE COOK
 Clarkston News Staff Writer

For the third time this decade, Independence Township has taken the first step in rezoning property on M-15 north of the I-75 interchange.

Last Thursday night, at a joint Independence Township Board and Planning Commission meeting, township board members approved the first reading of the rezoning, based on the recommendation of the Planning Commission.

The action affects 16 parcels on the east and west sides of M-15. Fifteen parcels are zoned C-3 (Highway Commercial), one with a joint motor vehicle service station (MS) designation, and another with a joint R-1A (Residential Single Family) designation. The last parcel is zoned R-1A. All of the parcels will be converted to OS-1 or OS-2 (Office Service).

A second reading will be held in approximately 30 days, the new zoning will take effect after publication in The Clarkston News as a legal notice.

Included in the group is property on the east side of M-15, south of Amy Drive, owned by Baylis Properties. It had been optioned by Eagle Investments of Flint for construction of an 82-room Holiday Inn Express. The conceptual site plan was turned down by the Planning Commission in March and further denied by the Zoning Board of Appeals earlier this month.

Most of the 100 people in attendance were in fa-

Waldon-Main purchase a possibility for Land Conservancy?

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
 Clarkston News Staff Writer

The North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy is hoping the second time is the charm.

After falling short in its first attempt, the group is looking into purchasing the land at the corner of Main and Waldon.

Dr. Tom Stone, President of the NOHLC, said the group wants to preserve the land at the corner, which borders a tributary of the Clinton River, and has a great deal of wetlands on the property.

"We want to see the property preserved," Stone said Monday morning. "We drafted a letter to Mr. (Bob) Olsen, and we are willing to talk about our options that can lead to the preservation of the property."

However, Olsen said Tuesday that he no longer owns the property, and that legally, he could not negotiate with the NOHLC for any kind of purchase.

"I really don't own it, and I couldn't sell it if I wanted to," Olsen said.

Olsen says he has completed a sale of the property to Sunrise Development Company, the group that was looking at the property to build a 50-unit senior home. Olsen added that the sale had some conditions attached to it, but legally, there was nothing he could do with it.

"I filed a tax return ridding myself of the property," Olsen said. "Legally, I couldn't have any discussion on it."

The NOHLC attempted to buy the property once before, when it was owned by Independence Township. The township wanted to build a fire station on the property, but that plan was declined because of the wetlands and grade of the property.

"We observed that it was a special piece of property, right at the entrance to the city," Stone said. "Ideally, we would like to see the

Shanks, Thomas only candidates for their own school board posts

The only two candidates in the upcoming Clarkston Schools election are ones seeking reelection.

Board President Kurt Shanks and Secretary Janet Thomas are running for reelection in the vote that takes place June 14. Both terms will run for four years. They were the only ones to file petitions for the election with the Board of Trustees.

Shanks has been on the school board since 1995, and chaired the bond campaign HUG (Help Us Grow). He was elected board president last June.

Thomas was first elected to the board in 1975, and is past-president. She is currently serving as the president of the Oakland County Board of Education.

"It takes time for things to change, and that's why I would like to stay on for another four years," Shanks said. "The construction projects are in full swing, and we're starting to look at the academic programs. The construction presents somewhat of a distraction, and as soon as we get past it, we can get into the curriculum."

Thomas, who has also served as treasurer and vice president of the school board and was president for 10 years, said everything is aimed towards helping each student within the school system.

CMS student places second in state-wide writing contest

BY EILEEN McCARVILLE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston Middle Schooler Brad Keusch wrote a story that would make anyone want to stop and smell the flowers.

The seventh-grader's five-page essay "Lilac" was recently a second-place winner in the state-wide Michigan Future Problem Solving contest. Brad, 13, will go on to compete in the International Future Problem Solving contest in Ann Arbor next month. He was only 12 when he wrote "Lilac."

In Brad's words, "Lilac" is a story "set in the future. People have lost their humanity, their happiness. All they're doing is working constantly," he said, adding the theme is similar to "Fahrenheit 451," a favorite novel.

The three-foot trophy Brad won sits inside the showcase at CMS. His coach, language arts teacher Bill Rathburg, says Brad has a career in writing "if he works hard to continue in it. I think he's done quite well this year." Rathburg had all his students complete the problem-solving stories, but only a few were entered. He has had a number of students place in past contests, which also include categories for elementary and high school students.

Brad also won first-place in a school-wide writing contest recently. He's eyeing a future as a novelist or screenwriter, with a passion for science fiction and realistic fiction. The following, reprinted in its entirety, is Brad's short story "Lilac."

"Lilac", by Brad Keusch

"One million dollars," Robert thought to himself, as he studied his pocket computer. "One million dollars down the drain in just one day." The graphic at the top of the computer screen constantly read, "Profits-Speca Corporation, N.Y. C. office."

Robert unconsciously avoided the throng of people heading to work as he stepped into the Number Two Transportation Center. He found the conveyor belt that would in about a minute, take him clear across the city and to his workplace. Robert did not notice the other people, and vice versa. Work was all that mattered.

"If we lower our prices on transportation," Robert thought, "We might possibly see a long-term profit." He paused and wiped his brow. "But that would mean that ... lilac?"

The fragrance made him smile as soon as he smelled it. He inhaled deeply, relishing the smell of lilac. As it began to fade, he looked around urgently, not wanting the sensation to end. "No!" he shouted. Within seconds, the fragrance was gone. Yet the memories that came with it were not.

"I was seven," Robert remembered. "I had just gotten home from school. My mom had hung Lilac all over the house. I deeply loved the smell of Lilac." He felt moisture on his face. "I went to find her, so I could tell her how much I loved the surprise. I found her ... lying at the bottom of a ladder, a piece of lilac in her unmoving hand."

Robert shook his head and wiped the tears from his eyes. He looked around nervously to see if anyone was watching him, but they all had their heads buried in their computers. He then headed into his workplace smiling.

Robert had barely stepped into his office when he was met by his fellow workmate Harry.

"Robert, I think we have a huge problem," Harry noted. "We lost $1 million yesterday."

"Yeah," Robert replied absentmindedly.

"What?" Harry looked up. "We lost a million in one day and you don't --" He paused nervously. "Why are you smiling?"

"Because this morning, on the way to work, I smelled something that I hadn't since the year 2010 ... the year that my mom died. It was lilac. I used to love lilac, and now thirty year later I was reminded of it. It used to make me feel so happy ...." Robert trailed off.

"You better be careful," Harry whispered. "If the boss catches you smiling, or us talking about anything except our work, he'll kick us out of the company! So let's talk about work, okay?"

"Yeah, fine," Robert agreed.

"Okay, I think that if we lower our prices on transportation, we might possibly see a long term growth," Harry said.

Robert's eyes lit up. "That's exactly what I thought!" he exclaimed, and forgot about Lilac. At least for the rest of the day.

That night, at exactly 8:34 p.m., Robert got to his single-living cell at the same time he did every night. He laid down on his bed and fell asleep instantly. In his dreams, memories of lilac returned.

"Six years old," Robert mumbled in his sleep. "First smell." When Robert was six, he had his first smell of lilac. He smiled as he remembered. "My mom brought home a bouquet of lilac on my sixth birthday. It lit up the room with its radiant purple color and gave it a wonderful scent. From that moment on I was in love with lilac."

Robert woke up the next morning and raced to work.

"Harry, what's your favorite thing in the whole world?" Robert asked his co-worker.

"Why?" Harry asked.

"Just tell me," Robert urged.

"Fine, it would have to be money," Robert conceded.

"No, it's not," Robert stated. "Let me give you an example. I love lilac. I love its color, and its beauty, but most of all its unparalleled smell. Up until yesterday, I had forgotten. But now I remember, and I will never forget again."

Harry stared at Robert, his eyes searching, remembering the past. He eventually spoke.

"Chocolate chip cookies," Harry spoke softly.

"My mom used to bake chocolate chip cookies every weekend. I used to sit by the oven, watching them bake as I talked to my mom. When they were done, oh man! The gooey sweetness of the cookies made me feel so good."

"Doesn't that make you feel so much better than money?" Robert questioned, with a huge smile on his face.

"Yes, it definitely does," Harry agreed.

"Please tell everyone you know about this feeling, and how you got it. I want everyone to share the joy, the happiness," Robert urged.

"Okay, I will," Harry vowed.

That night, Robert went to sleep with a huge smile on his face and let the dreams come.

The next day Robert found that Harry wasn't at work and he began to worry.

That night, Robert was met at his living cell by two men. The first man he recognized instantly as the CEO of his corporation, Thomas Larne. The other man introduced himself as Bob Raine, the mayor of New York City.

Bob spoke first. "Robert, your boss has been telling me that people at your work haven't been working efficiently lately. Do you know why?"

"No," Robert managed to squeak through the giant lump in his throat.

"Well," the mayor went on, "Your boss told me that he thinks that it's you and your old workmate Harry who are causing the disturbance. You seem to be spreading rumors about happiness."

"Happiness is not a rumor," Robert replied passionately.

Bob chuckled. "Well, either way, I can't afford to have you spreading this. So, I have two choices to offer you." He nodded at Thomas.

"Here is an agreement," Thomas held up a sheet of paper. "You will sign it and agree to stop spreading the filth you call happiness. If you don't sign it, you will be kicked out of Speca Corporation and then spend a long time in prison. Which will you choose?"

There was a moment's pause as Robert let both of the offers sink in. After a moment, he made his decision.

"Let me see that agreement!" Robert exclaimed, and all three men smiled.

He began to sign the papers. As he did so, he saw Bob's eyes glowing in triumph. Robert stopped in mid-signature and asked the two men a question.

"Before you leave, I want you both to tell me one simple thing. What is your favorite thing in the whole world?" Robert questioned.

"No way. If you pull any tricks the deal is off," Thomas warned.

"It's okay. I'm intrigued," the mayor conceded.

"I don't agree," Thomas argued. "I'm out of here." With that, Thomas stormed out of Robert's living cell, leaving Robert and Bob standing face to face.

"Before you answer," Robert started, "let me tell you something. I don't want you to answer with

"We're making progress in some areas and need to keep students safe after school."

That was the summation by Clarkston Schools Assistant Superintendent Pat Brumbach of the findings of the recently completed Western Michigan University Drug and Alcohol Survey by eighth, 10th and 12th grade Clarkston students.

Teens charged in after-school fight

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Two area teenagers will face a preliminary hearing Friday in 52-2 District Court on a three-part fight which ended outside the Clarkston High School parking lot on April 13.

Nathan Ayers, 18, of Clarkston, was charged with felonious assault and malicious destruction of property. Seventeen-year-old Rauderick Slater, a Holly High School student, was charged with felonious assault and carrying a concealed weapon.

The fight, which originally started at a party in Clarkston on Saturday, April 10, carried over to April 13. According to Det. Dirk Feneley, the second confrontation took place at 10 a.m. that day at the corner of Big Lake Road and Dixie Highway. The incident started when Slater was released from class at the Oakland Technical Center Northwest Campus. There, Ayers allegedly hit Slater with a nine-iron golf club.

Slater returned to Clarkston High School in a van with four friends at approximately 2:10 p.m. "There were five Holly High School kids, and about 200 Clarkston kids," Feneley said.

Slater admitted to having an eight-inch knife in his possession, while other Holly students had baseball bats.

In addition, six bags of marijuana were found on top of the students involved in the confrontation, according to Dep. Chuck Young of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, and Clarkston schools' liaison officer.

"There will be an attempt to expel (Ayers)," Young said. "Holly will also be expelling some of the students."

Ayers was arraigned Thursday at 52-2 District Court in front of Magistrate Thomas Raguso, and pleaded not guilty. He was released on a personal bond of $2,000. Slater also pleaded not guilty, and was released on a $2,500 bond.

"We're looking at ways to push money toward these activities, perhaps transportation to the teen center (Clarkston Christian Association at Sashabaw and Maybee roads)."

Clarkston Superintendent Al Roberts said the issue is more about attitude. "Our kids know all the information about drugs. This is not a knowledge problem. This is an attitude problem."

"(The theory that) Clarkston kids are good kids and good kids don't do drugs is not true. Good kids do get in trouble when they're left alone. This is a community issue, not a school problem. Kids know what's right and wrong. They need you (parents) now as much as they did when they were in first grade."

"We can funnel all the money we want (into programs). It doesn't get the kids there that need to be there."

School board secretary Janet Thomas added, "How does the community perceive this whole thing? If parents think it's everyone else's kid, we won't be able to solve the problem."

Brumbach said she is working with the Clarkston Community Task Force For Youth and the Search Institute to develop a survey for indicators of trouble youth.

School Board President Kurt Shanks suggested the board also reevaluate the district's drug education program in the summer.

Residents, officials seem to agree, but the Holiday Inn fight may not be over

Members of the Independence Township Board of Trustees, Planning Commission and residents who attended the April 15 joint board meeting are to be applauded. The three and a-half-hour meeting could not have flowed more smoothly.

The proposed construction of a Holiday Inn Express on C-3 (Highway Commercial) property on M-15 north of I-75 has been an emotional issue for the community. But comments on rezoning the property from officials and residents were informative and concise, beginning with the history of the M-15 corridor, to the Planning Commission's public hearing and the board of trustees' approval of the first reading of the rezoning of the 16 parcels north of I-75 to OS 1 and 2 (Office Service).

Rezoning the properties on that stretch of M-15 has been under consideration for nearly 20 years. First readings of a rezoning from C-3 to OS were performed in 1990 and again in 1995 without follow up.

Independence Township Supervisor Dale Stuart said concern for lawsuits to retain C-3 zoning by property owners was one reason the township did not schedule a second reading of the rezoning in 1995.

Apparently it was just postponing the inevitable. The Baylis family, which owns the property, and the Holiday Inn's developers, filed a lawsuit against the township April 15. The lawsuit asks the court to order the township to approve the site concept plan for a Holiday Inn Express and damages in excess of $25,000.

Given the history of the philosophy of two decades of trustees and Planning Commission members, and the comments of current officials on Thursday, it is clear the residents opposed to commercialization of the area and officials are on the same page. All hope to retain as much of the rural quality of life in that sector as possible.

But stay informed, residents. Motels are still permitted as a special land use in the OS-2 designation. MKC

Letters To The Editor

Support for rezoning offered to officials

Dear Editor:

Attendance at last night's (Thurs., April 15) meeting was awesome. Public support was well-delivered and received. The Planning Commission's recommendation to the township board for rezoning of the M-15 corridor was acted upon by a first reading.

We've been here before in 1995 and apparently the citizens like us didn't understand we needed to call for the second reading for it to actually happen.

Well, effective today, we offer our support to the elected officials for the rezoning effort begun last night and would like to publicly call on Dale Stuart, our supervisor to schedule the second reading as soon as technically possible.

We citizens are here to support this effort and will be at the second reading this time.

Organ and tissue donations can save lives

Letter to the Editor:

April is Donor Awareness Month, making it the perfect time to recognize the importance of organ and tissue donation. There's no greater gift of life and you can:

Pass it on by discussing organ and tissue donation with your family and friends. Each new donor brings the chance for renewed life to 2,200 Michigan patients waiting for an organ donation. It's important your family know about your wishes. They will be responsible for making the final decision about organ donation.

Pass it on by signing the back of your driver license. Signing your driver license is an excellent way to alert others about your organ donor wishes.

Pass it on by signing and mailing your organ and tissue donor registry enrollment card. The Secretary of State's office makes it easy. Cards are mailed with all new driver licenses and are available at any branch office.

Celebrate Donor Awareness Month by designating your organ donation wishes.

Remember, life is great - pass it on!

Sincerely,
Candice S. Miller
Secretary of State

Have we only ourselves to blame?

At Monday's Clarkston School Board meeting, Assistant Superintendent Pat Brumbach presented the results of the 1999 Western Michigan University drug and alcohol survey among students in the Clarkston school district. Her presentation was followed by a discussion of ways to reduce alcohol and drug use among our kids.

Possible solutions included continued partnerships with the Clarkston Community Task Force for Youth and Independence Township Parks and Rec. and to increase after school activities for students the time when most of the problem activities take place.

But Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts said the schools can only do so much without parental involvement. He's not alone in that opinion.

Two years ago, as editor of The Oxford Leader, I attended a presentation by nationally known psychologist Sonya Friedman. She spoke at Lake Orion Middle School following a rash of attempted suicides among teens in Lake Orion and Oxford.

She said we only need to look to ourselves for the cause of our children's problems. Kids model the behavior of the adults around them. End of story.

Parents who drink, use drugs, are violent, or bring boyfriends or girlfriends home to spend the night have no right to expect their children not to do the same thing.

I think kids today are hit with a triple whammy.

Ever-present peer pressure continues to grow in importance. And our popular culture is seducing our kids into taking chances with excess behavior 24 hours a day.

Remember the snickering about the "jiggling" bodies of the actresses in the old Charlies Angels TV show? It was obviously a precursor of (and nothing compared to) the boobs, er babes, of Baywatch.

Cocktails and hot chicks with ever-so-suave Sammy, Dean and Frank? How about sex, alcohol and drug use and abuse as a staple of 90210, Party of Five, Dawson's Creek and a slew of other teen-focused TV shows and movies. The behavior of our political leaders, celebrities and (kind of) real people on talk shows makes reality look almost as bad.

I can't imagine what it would be like to be challenged the way our kids are. It's quite possible we're not giving them enough credit for dealing with the confusion they're faced with everyday.

That these movies, TV shows and actors earn so much money is a validation by society — and us — of the excessive behavior they exhibit.

If you look at it strictly from the point of view of a consumer, you could say that by allowing our kids to watch it we're purchasing the behavior we see on the big and small screen for our children.

I find that thought disgusting, yet I'm as guilty as the next person.

Dr. Roberts and Sonya Friedman are right. Without changes in parental behavior and parental control over what kids are exposed to and how they spend their time, not much is going to change.

Seems simple, doesn't it?

Fun and games on the home front

This past week has had your hero doing a lot of homebody type stuff.

Gone are the days of living life on the spur of the moment, from moment to ever-loving moment. No more acting on a whim, or fancy footwork for a quick-fix solution.

I can take a deep breath and with a smile, wave "Good-bye" to those adventurous days of hard-knocks learning and heartache. While working at completing one of my home chores the thought, "Now is the time for all good grown-ups to step back and look at how really good we have it," came to mind.

I spent a good four hours one evening after work cleaning out my garage. I spent those solitary minutes discarding dusty and greasy things, sweeping, rearranging and boxing. Boy, it's really amazing how much one red-blooded American boy can accumulate in the course of a few years.

I loved getting in there and getting dirty. I didn't love throwing stuff away. There may be a time somewhere in the future when I could need some two feet of left over speaker wire, or a window sash pulley assembly or that old door lock that was replaced during the Bush administration. You just never know.

Despite having to throw away perfectly good stuff, it was a good way to spend the evening. Were I still in the carefree life style mode, I probably would have worried about making sure my fashion statement was impeccable. You know, making sure the extra-baggy jeans were hanging half way down my posterior, showing just the correct amount underwear elastic, and looking in the mirror to see if my hair was a desirable hue of magenta, or if the ring in my ear matched the one in my tongue. Ah, to be old and fat. A day or two after almost cleaning the garage, Jen and I decided to fix her washing machine. The darned thing leaked. Instead of going in and ripping it apart, we opted for a trip to the library for research. After ten minutes of reading we went back and tore into it. It's a curious thing the way a man and a woman go about fixing the same problem. Even curiously why a man and a woman knowing full well they go about things differently will set out to work together to fix something — in this case the washer. I don't recollect any cuss words uttered, no tools were tossed, but there were a few stellar stares administered. Hey, I'm sorry I forgot to hook up a hose that poured out a gallon of water over the floor and your feet, Honey. I forgot. You weren't electrocuted, so everything worked out, right? Honey . . . ?

Well, we tore into the machine, couldn't find a leak, put everything back together and only had one screw left over and guess what.

It didn't leak when we ran it through the cycle. I think we hugged in jubilation and then celebrated with dinner at the Clarkston Cafe.

Home life is good. Comments for Don Rush can be e-mailed to: Donrushme@juno.com.

Aspirin a better choice for dogs, cats

Dear Dr. Baylis,

My dog, "Shadow," is an 11-year-old Labrador Retriever that occasionally is lame after long walks or prolonged periods of rest. Can I use Tylenol in times when "Shadow" appears sore?

Lincoln Baylis, DVM

JOHN — Independence Township

Dear John,

In your letter, you described "Shadow's" lameness as "temporary." That is to say that when "Shadow" first gets up after sleeping, he walks with a limp, but after several steps, seems to warm out of it.

This history I find to be very common with dogs that present with arthritis. I would not recommend the use of Tylenol as it is a poorly effective anti-inflammatory in dogs. Tylenol will kill cats if administered and should be carefully avoided.

Buffered aspirin could be used for "Shadow," but I recommend contacting your veterinarian for proper dosage. There are also newer products available for use in dogs with arthritis.

A thorough physical examination should be performed by your veterinarian prior to any substance use for arthritis in dogs.

Seat belts an issue of personal freedom

In March, the state Senate narrowly approved legislation that makes seat belt non-use a primary offense. The House Transportation Committee will review the bill in the upcoming weeks.

As a member of the committee, I plan to vote against this legislation because it is an issue of personal rights and freedom.

I always wear my seat belt — even if I am driving through a parking lot — but in this case I do not believe it is the government's role to guard people against themselves.

Since 1985, police only have been able to write a seat-belt violation, which carries a $10 fine, if drivers are stopped for another infraction. Under Senate Bill 335, driving without a seat belt is a primary offense, subject to a $25 fine. That means officers can stop drivers just to check to see if occupants of a vehicle are wearing their belts.

This bill is a good example of how government incrementally erodes our freedoms and continually forces itself unnecessarily into our daily lives. The whole mandatory seat belt business started out innocently enough several years ago. It was initially directed at children in front seats. Those concerned about the seat belt law in 1985 were given repeated assurances it would not become a primary enforcement.

About 70 percent of Michigan drivers currently wear their seat belts, according to the Michigan Safety Belt Coalition. That means 70 percent of drivers are exercising good, safe judgment. I encourage everyone to wear a seat belt every time they step into a motor vehicle. I know it has prevented serious injuries for my husband and myself. But when this legislation comes before my committee, and when it comes to debate on the House floor, I plan to vote against it.

I welcome your comments, suggestions and questions on this issue, as well as any others before the state Legislature. Please e-mail me at rujohnson@house.state.mi.us or call me by phone at (517) 373-1798 (toll free: 1-800-510-RUTH), or write to State Rep. Ruth Johnson, P.O. Box 30014, Lansing, MI 48909.

'money' or 'power' because I know that deep down there is something that you value much more than that. For me it's the love of lilac. What is it for you?"

There was a long silence as the mayor searched his past, remembering. He then answered.

"My teddy bear, Bob began. "I used to have a teddy bear named Mr. Teddy. He was always there for me when I needed him, and he gave really warm hugs. He was my only friend; he made me so happy."

"That's exactly what I mean!" Robert exclaimed. "Doesn't that make you feel so much better than money?"

The mayor nodded his head in agreement. "Yes, it does."

"Okay then," Robert began hopefully. "Tell me why you don't want this to spread. If it made you feel that good, then surely it will for others as well. Also, I think that if people are happy, they will work much better."

The mayor thought for a while, then eventually conceded.

"Yes! Thank you!" Robert shouted.

"You're welcome," the mayor nodded.

The next day, Robert walked into his workplace wearing the shiny new silver coat of CEO. He stepped into his new office and found a note on his desk, with a piece of lilac next to it. He read the note aloud: Dear Robert, I wanted to thank you for the happiness that you helped me to find. Here is a token of my gratitude. Sincerely, Mayor of the City of New York.

Robert then turned toward the gift of lilac. Its radiant purple color seemed to glow brighter than it ever had before. He closed his eyes and took in its wonderful smell. And he smiled.

SECOND MOST COMMON SKIN CANCER

Squamous cell cancer, the second most common skin cancer, begins in the squamous cells that comprise most of the epidermis. If left untreated, squamous cell carcinomas can eventually spread to underlying tissues; however, they rarely spread to distant tissues and organs. If they do metastasize, it may prove fatal. Symptoms include persistent scaly red patches of skin with irregular borders that sometimes crust or bleed. Once the diagnosis is made, the dermatologist will choose from a variety of treatments (including electrosurgery, cryosurgery, laser surgery, excisional surgery, and Mohs surgery for recurring and large tumors), depending on the size and location of the tumor. When removed early, squamous cell carcinomas are easily treated.

AWARD WINNING WEEKLY SERVING CLARKSTON, INDEPENDENCE AND SPRINGFIELD

Vol. 1 - No. 5 Thurs., Sept. 25, 1975

Clarkston, Mich. 48016

Teachers win 10.8% raise for '75

The 300 teachers of the Clarkston School District have won and ratified a 10.8 percent average increase in salary for the coming year.

The overall hike includes 4.5 percent for increments, the built-in hikes teachers receive for staying another year with the district.

CEA membership voted Thursday afternoon to accept the contract, and the Board of Education, meeting Monday night at Andersonville School, accepted the new terms on a 5-1 vote. Board President David Leak was opposed citing comparable wages in other professions.

CEA president Larry Rosso said elementary teachers had earlier expressed dissatisfaction with a clause relating to noon time "Bandaid" duty, but the issue failed to gel when only about half the membership attended the ratification meeting.

The noontime clause provides that teachers shall rotate emergency noon time duty in elementary schools, stationed at the discretion of the principal in either the lounge, health room or school office to take care of injured children. In exchange they are allowed to report a half hour late for duty on the day which they serve.

The wage increases, plus an extension of dental services which provides that insurance cover 50 percent of the cost of orthodontics as well as general maintenance, now provide that a beginning teacher with a bachelor's degree start at $8,900 as opposed to $8,700 last year. Beginning master's degree teachers start at $9,700 as opposed to $9,500 last year.

The 11th year step provides for increase from $15,350 to $16,300 for teachers with bachelors' degrees and from $17,400 to $18,400 for those with masters degrees. There are also two further benefits for teachers at the 16th and 21st year level. At least two teachers quizzed by the board Monday night said they felt noontime duty to be a part of teaching. "It's part of the responsibility of looking after younger children," one said. In other contract changes, the ideal individual grade level ratio

The school calendar has remained the same—181 days of school and 186 teaching duty days.

The contract also provides for a "save harmless" clause regarding agency shop—which provides that all teachers shall pay CEA dues, in that the district will not be held responsible for those who do not participate. George Barrie, the board's chief negotiator, said the contract increases are $399,000 over the cost of teacher employment last year. The district is this year operating on an $8 million budget.

16 to get records

The records of 16 men who pled guilty to frequenting a gambling house after a raid on a rented hall in Clarkston in January may be returned within the next three weeks.

The men, part of the "Clarkston 88" who pled guilty to the gambling charge after the raid, have had their records held by the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office because they have prior criminal records.

All the other Clarkston 88 records have been returned to attorney A. Lawrence Russell, friend of the court representative for them, except the 16.

Now, Judge Gerald McNally of the Clarkston 52nd District Court has ordered that the 16's records be returned, and the prosecutor's office has indicated it will comply with the order, according to Russell.

Russell filed a motion Wednesday for the return on the basis that the prosecutor's office made no objections when Judge McNally originally told the 88 that their records would be returned.

Chief Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor Richard Thompson then defied McNally's order to return the 88's records, but later worked out an agreement between him and Russell.

Thompson then turned around and said he would not return the records of those 16 who had prior records.

With McNally's order Wednesday, Russell will be serving the county and state police with orders to return the 16's records.

Russell expects those records to be sent to him within the next two to three weeks.

Legal fees headed up

The legal firm of Campbell, Kurzman, Leitman, Plunkett and Roggenbaum has won a raise, its first in five years, from Independence Township.

The hourly fee has been kicked up $10 to $45 an hour, but the $250 monthly retainer fee stays the same. The latter covers miscellaneous phone calls, letters and assures attendance at one township meeting per month.

Board action was taken after Supervisor J. Edwin Glennie said $12,453 of a total year's budget of $37,500 had been expended in the first five months of the fiscal year.

Expenses of surrounding townships were quoted showing them as high as $50, and in some cases with a much larger monthly retainer.

Slingshot didn't do the job

Post Office proceeds without benefit of permits

by Jean Saile of The Clarkston News

A David and Goliath confrontation took place in Independence Township last Friday, and so far -- as of Tuesday -- Goliath was winning.

Township officials, informed by residents of the start of construction for the new federal post office on M-15, knew they didn't have the permits on file required of other builders in the area.

There had been no compliance with the soil erosion control act, no filing of a site plan and no building permits issued, according to Planner Larry Burkhart.

Building Director Ken Delbridge went to the site south of the Dairy Queen to ask the construction firm of Clement and Kirk of Lapeer to cease ground leveling operations until the paperwork could be ironed out.

While the contractors agreed to a work stoppage, they told Delbridge they believed the federal government exempt from such requirements.

A follow-up call from the Chicago office of the United States Postal Service reemphasized that position. Burkhart said, even though the plans did not meet all specifications of the local ordinances.

Burkhart pointed out that blueprints of the building sent to his office for informational purposes only, showed parking spaces designed in 9x20 foot stalls. The township requires 10x20-foot stalls, Burkhart said.

He also noted that the new building will rise in the Paramus-M-15 area which has been plagued for some years by water run-off problems.

There had been no engineering review of drainage plans, and Burkhart informed Chicago the plans would be submitted to the consulting engineering firm of Johnson and Anderson at Chicago's expense.

A demurral by postal officials was successfully overcome, Burkhart reported somewhat dryly.

Meanwhile, Township Attorney Richard Campbell is researching the law books to see if the federal government must indeed get permits before undertaking construction in a local area.

In the meantime, he's allowed the construction crews to return to work.

The construction firm of Clement and Kirk of Lapeer last week began work on Clarkston's new Post Office, to be erected next to the Dairy Queen on M-15. Workmen here excavate along the highway.

First reading of proposed rezoning approved by board

avor of the rezonings as were most of the township board members and planning commission members.

Commissioners cited traffic concerns, retaining a rural atmosphere and a reduction in the need for commercial business in Independence Township as reasons for rezoning the property. The parcels were voted on individually, and most votes were unanimous.

In his support for the rezonings, Commissioner Todd Moss said, "... we must consider the impact of this decision and protect the health, welfare and safety of the community, but the property owners' rights must be balanced. Independence Township has a long history of attempting to control commercial development, dating back to before 1975. The Master Plan has been consistent in recommending lower density."

Cynthia Lohmeier voted not to recommend rezoning the two parcels owned by Baylis Properties.

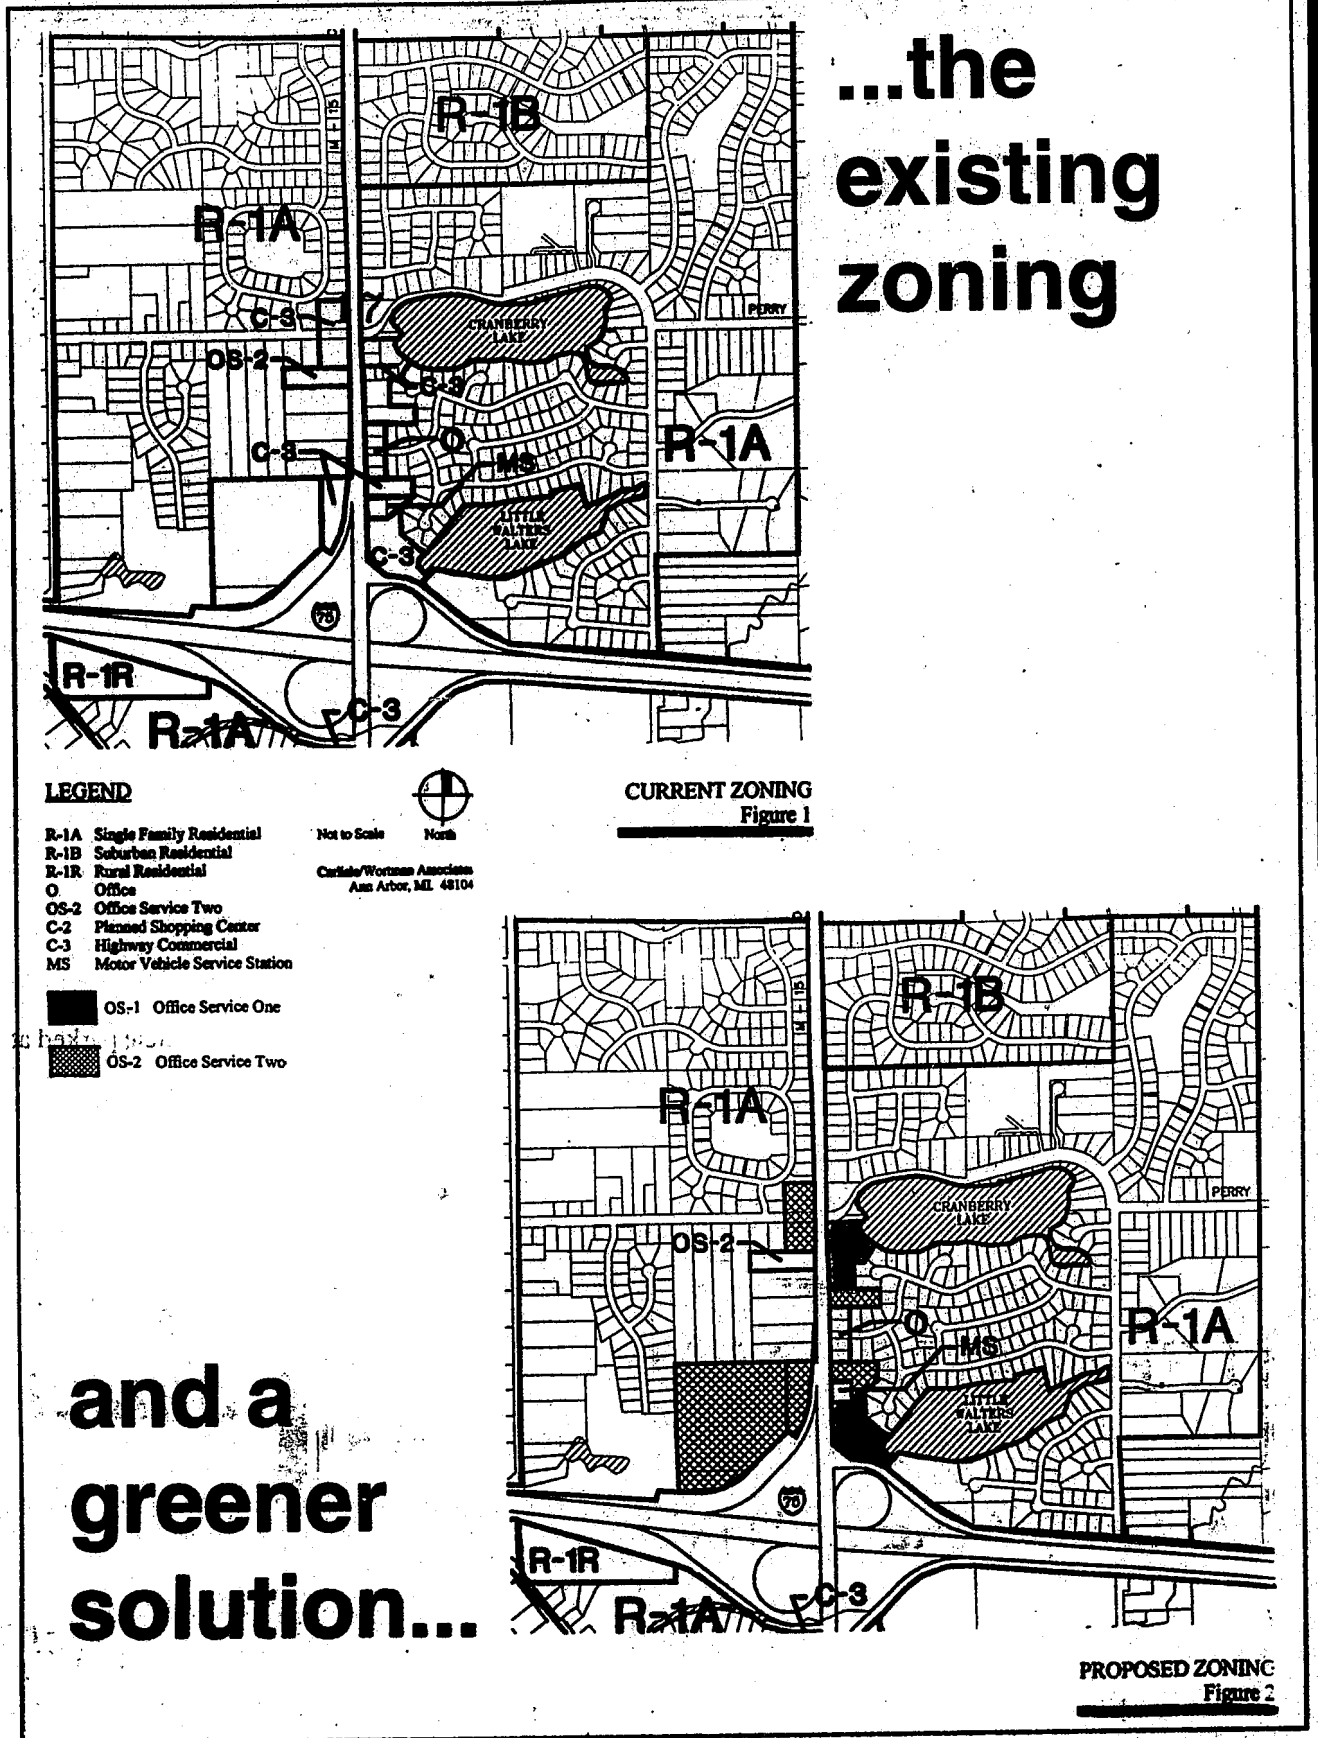

Lohmeier said while she supported the Master Plan and Vision 2020, she had strong reservations about those two parcels.

"They (the property owners) have invested time, money and effort with the full knowledge of the township. It's reprehensible for the township to deny them the use of their property."

Following the public hearing and vote to recommend the parcels for rezoning by the planning commission, the Independence Township Board of Trustees convened to vote on the Commission's recommendation.

"This is about the northwest section as a whole, not about any one particular property," said Supervisor Dale Stuart in his opening remarks. "Clearly it's an effort at better community planning for the whole area. Our commercial needs are not what they were. We want to be different than Troy and Auburn Hills."

Again, the parcels were voted on individually and nearly unanimously. Trustee Neil Wallace said the Baylis properties and two others should be rezoned to OS-1, a more restrictive designation. He also opposed rezoning on two other parcels with R-1A zoning, saying that they should remain as they are.

Saturday, April 17, a fight took place at a party at a house on Clintonville Road. According to the report, a group of kids from Pontiac and Waterford came to the party uninvited and started threatening many of the people present. One youth was threatening people with a hammer, but no one was injured. As they were leaving, a shovel was used to smash a ground-floor window at the house, and a windshield was smashed by what appears to be a hammer.

A 42-year-old woman accused her ex-husband of following her around on Klais. She was advised to get a personal protection order.

A mailbox was damaged on Hummingbird, causing $50 in damage.

An eight-year-old boy threw a rock at a six-year-old boy who was playing in a yard across the street on Marshbank. He later apologized.

A 51-year-old female saw an intoxicated man outside of her home on Whipple Lake Road making threats.

Friday, April 16, a man claiming to be a doctor called in prescriptions to a drug store on Sashabaw.

A 19-year-old Waterford man was caught trying to steal a bicycle from a home on Maybee. He was arrested for home invasion and lodged in the Oakland County Jail. Residents say they heard a noise in the garage, and discovered the man riding the bike down the road. He was caught and held until police arrived. He said his legs were tired from walking home, and spotted the bicycles in an open garage.

Harassing phone calls on Oak Park Drive. A car was broken into on Mohawk. Five CDs, 15 cassette tapes, some loose change, and a gas charge card were taken.

A CD-radio player worth $270, 12 CDs and a $510 cellphone were taken from three different vehicles on Tahoe. A tire iron was left at the scene. Seven CDs were taken from another vehicle.

A $300 cellphone was taken from a vehicle on Mohican Drive. The driver's side window was smashed, causing $250 in damage.

A cellphone and a phone card were taken from a vehicle on Lakeview. The driver's side window was smashed, causing $250 in damage.

An Ortonville man was cited for failure to stop an assured clear distance ahead after he was in a rear-end accident with a Waterford man on Main Street near Depot in the city.

Thursday, April 15, a minor scuffle was reported at a bus stop on Bridgewater. Parents of the children involved were advised to be present when their kids are there, because neighbors said "it can get wild" there when no parents are present.

Wednesday, April 14, A $1,560 cellphone, a $200 CD stereo, and 15 CDs were taken from a locked car on Michigamme. The locks were pried open to gain entry.

A cellphone was taken from a vehicle parked at the Sashabaw Park and Ride.

Warm weather wackiness

"Spring is sprung, the grass is riz.
I wonder where the flowers is."

-- Author unknown

Sometimes you wonder if the crocuses will ever poke their noses out of the ground again.

But spring finally burst forth in Clarkston last week. Bikes came out of the garage, early flowers began to emerge and that sure sign of spring -- pot-holes --let us know the season arrived.

Children enjoyed Depot Park, unleashing winter wiggles on the playground. Their parents enjoyed the sunshine too.

-- Photostory by Eileen McCarville

At right: "I wear my sunglasses..." Andy Kosmala, 4, is cool, man, cool in his shades. Little brother Daniel (far right) checks out the little tykes' slide at Depot Park over the weekend.

If no two people are alike... why should their funerals be?

They shouldn't, at least we don't think so. To be truly memorable, a service should reflect the tastes and preferences of the person who has died. Which is why we believe in offering a boundless variety of service options. You can even add your own personal touch. ## Land Conservancy natural."

The NOHLC applied for a grant with the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund to help purchase the land, but the grant was denied. It turns out, the trust fund cannot allow a group such as the NOHLC to purchase property that is publically owned, as that property was at the time.

Now, the land is privately owned, and Stone said the NOHLC is considering several ways it can go about buying the land.

The Waldon-Main property has been the center of city and village controversy for 20 years. Olsen had wanted to build an office complex on the property, but has faced continual resistance from the city council. But now, the land is in the hands of Sunrise Development, according to Olsen.

The city council voted 6-0 to support the NOHLC's attempt to purchase the property, but councilman Dan Colombo said that didn't mean the council fully supported the potential property purchase.

"As I understood the vote, we were not against them wanting to buy the property," he said. "But I didn't take it that we wanted the conservancy to buy the property either. The people that own the property have the right to pursue what they want to do with it."

"She Dropped 55 lbs. Without Dieting!"

"Sometimes I'd munch half a bag of cookies while planning my next diet."

Melinda Russell
Before Shedding 55lbs.

"I know how 'fat' feels. The struggle to get up off a sofa. The sting of unshed tears. The burn of embarrassment in my cheeks. No one deserves to be that unhappy. That's why I'm sharing my weight loss discovery with you.

My story will reveal what I believe to be the safest and most effective strategy for getting thin and staying thin. I lost my weight without dieting or grueling exercise routines. I am amazed by how simple it was to lose my weight. I was the most skeptical person on earth. I thought I was destined to be forever fat. Then I made my astounding discovery..."

By Melinda Russell

My weight skyrocketed about six years ago. That's when I married my husband, Ray. I fell into the comfortable married lady routine. I knew Ray was concerned about my weight gain. He could see the changes in my disposition. Ray became my comfort and support. "You're the most beautiful woman I've ever seen," he told me. I was consoled by his kind words. But I was still miserable!

My weight made my life a chore. One day I needed to get some band-aids from under the bathroom sink. I couldn't even squat down! I had to sit on the floor and scoot forward to get into the cabinet. That's when I started avoiding parties. I stopped dressing up. My self-esteem had hit rock bottom.

My Warning Signal

I tried losing weight on my own. You know the routine. I'd drift to sleep each night with a promise. Tomorrow I'll start my diet. I'd awaken with the burn of hunger pains. Maybe I'll get me a biscuit. I'll do better at lunch. I'd be starving by 10:00 a.m. I couldn't get through the afternoon without a snack. I'll do good at supper.

Day after day the same old routine. Sometimes I'd munch down a half bag of cookies while planning my next diet! One night I woke up at 3:00 a.m. I was starving. I tried to fight it off, but couldn't. That was my warning signal. My eating was out of control.

Hope

One day I overheard my mom and sister talking about an ad in the newspaper My Mom said these were local folks who had lost 35, 71, even 105 lbs. with hypnosis. That got my attention!

"If you go, we'll go," said my mother. "What have we got to lose, but a lot of fat?" I picked up the phone and called.

The free screening was full of surprises. I never got a sales pitch. Never felt pressured. Our consultant was friendly and professional. She made us feel at home. I told her about my past failures. How I wanted to lose my weight for good. She understood my needs.

Two days later I called back and signed up. I lost 7 lbs. the first week. That's when my skepticism vanished. 6 1/2 months later I had lost my entire 55 lbs! It was easy. My dress size dropped from a plump 22 to a trim size 12. Losing my weight with hypnosis was the smartest decision of my life.

Permanent Change

My habits started changing right after my first session. That night my husband was hungry for pizza. Without a thought, I picked up the phone and ordered a veggie lovers. My husband was astonished. "Did they send the wrong pizza?" All I could do was giggle. Later he said, "You're not eating much?" I laughed again and said, "I guess my hypnosis is working!"

I stopped craving soft drinks instantly. My snacking habits vanished after my first session. I wasn't hungry or cranky at any time during my program. I no longer feel like my stomach's gnawing at my backbone.

Thanks to hypnosis I uncovered the cause of my weight and conquered it! Losing weight has transformed me into a happy, pleasant person. I can't imagine ever going back to my old eating habits. That's why I'm certain that I'll stay thin for good.

How It Works

Truthfully, I can't explain how hypnosis works. During the session, I feel like I'm awake during a peaceful dream. Hypnosis put me back in control. My appetite returned to normal. I have no desire for food between meals. My cravings for those greasy biscuits are gone for good. Thank goodness!

It's like my new eating habits are on autopilot. Even through Thanksgiving and Christmas I didn't gain an ounce. I didn't deprive myself of anything.

I'm satisfied in every way.

"My husband no longer asks me out to dinner. He asks me out on a date!"

Melinda Russell
After 55lb. Weight Loss

100% Improvement

When I was overweight I suffered from cold after cold. I never felt healthy. I was always tired. Thanks to hypnosis, those days are long gone. I'm active and energetic. I get more done because I'm sleeping less. That leaves more time for me!

I get a tingle of joy every time I see myself in a mirror. My husband says he's thrilled because I'm so happy. He no longer asks me out to dinner. He asks me out on a date!

Side Benefits

Thanks to hypnosis, I'm saving a lot of money every week. I no longer waste money on junk foods. Expensive fast food is a thing of the past.

I feel 100% better about myself. I had almost forgotten what it was like to have a stranger give me a look or whistle. I used to think they were jerks. Now I just smile and think to myself, "Thank goodness for hypnosis!"

I met lots of other folks who were getting results just like me. My Mom and Sister both signed up two weeks after me. They lost all their weight too. That makes three living, breathing success stories. I can't begin to say enough about my amazing experience with hypnosis.

About Your Happiness...

That's my story. Everything I said is the honest to goodness truth. I shared my story with the hope that, in some small way, I will help someone who is suffering like I was.

Now what about you? What about your happiness? If you're where I was, overweight and unhappy, for goodness sake call today. Schedule your free hypnotic screening. You'll find honest, caring people who have your best interests at heart. Their fees are reasonable and they treat you like royalty.

No one from the Clarkston varsity softball team has played Wheel of Fortune, but it bought two vowels that summed up the doubleheader against Waterford Kettering Monday: "i" and "e."

The Wolves committed a dozen errors and according to their coach, clearly intimidated by playing the defending state champions on their home field. The Captains beat Clarkston 7-1 and 7-0 at the Kettering field. The losses drop Clarkston to 1-4 overall and 0-2 in the OAA Division I.

Last year, Clarkston had Kettering beat in the regional semifinals; until a seventh-inning error paved the way for a Kettering victory. The latest contests between the two teams wasn't that close.

"I think 'i,' we were intimidated, and 'e,' we committed too many errors," said coach Al Land. "Especially in that first

The record might be perfect, but according to varsity baseball coach Phil Price, things are less than perfect with his team.

The Wolves ran their record to 5-0 on the season with a sweep of the Waterford Kettering Captains 8-0 and 6-3 Monday at the Kettering field. Despite the dominating wins, Price said he was unhappy with the team's performance.

"It's just very frustrating," he said. "We have been missing signs, taking way too many pitches, and making too many mental mistakes," he said. "It's driving me nuts. But we are 5-0."

Despite all the mistakes Price was pointing out, Clarkston was still able to overwhelm Kettering with its pitching and defense behind the plate. Senior Eric Jenks and junior Chris Mitchell won the two games, each pitching terrific ballgames. Mitchell struck out nine batters in six innings of work, while allowing only two hits in the first game. Josh Riggs came in and pitched the seventh.

Jenks went the distance in the five-inning nightcap for his second win of the season.

Wolves end scoreless drought in tie

	Clarkston	2
	West Bloomfield	2

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Although they wore the same gold uniforms throughout the game, there were two different Clarkston varsity girls soccer teams on display Thursday night.

The second team that was out on the new CHS field is the one the players and coach Tami Mitchell hope stays. The Wolves rallied from a 2-0 first-half deficit to tie West Bloomfield 2-2 in an exciting game, the first girls soccer contest ever played at the new high school field.

Clarkston is now 0-2-1 on the season, and 0-0-1 in the OAA Division II. The Wolves host Royal Oak Kimball Thursday and Goodrich Friday night.

Mitchell was very pleased with the team's improvement in the second half of the game.

"I was really proud of how we played," she said. "At halftime, I told them that they were better than what they were playing. We came back and just played great in the second half."

In the first half, Clarkston looked a step slower than the Lakers. Both teams generated good scoring chances, but it was West Bloomfield who took the early lead.

West Bloomfield scored their goals at the 25:52 and 20:54 marks of the first half. As halftime approached, Clarkston's goalless streak this season had reached 200 minutes.

But it only took 61 seconds for that drought to end. Senior Alaina Dodds booted in a rebound shot on a play set up by the hustle of Angela Humphreys, Lauren Welbourn and Brooke Petrenic. The goal ignited the Wolves, as they went on to dominate the second half.

Senior Heather Warner capped a superb game by scoring on a free kick from 30 yards out with 12:45 remaining to tie the game 2-2.

"Heather was phenomenal tonight," Mitchell said.

Clarkston had numerous chances to take the lead later in the second half, but their shots went just wide of the goal.

Senior Jennifer Kerney rifled a free kick that curved and went just over the crossbar 10 minutes into the second half. She also played well, showing her strength in the one-on-one battles, while making some excellent passes.

"Jenny Kerney really stepped up defensively for us," Mitchell said.

The game took on a physical tone in the last 10 minutes, with each team pressing to get the third goal. Junior Katie Tripi was hit with a yellow card, even though two West Bloomfield players came after her and pushed her in the back after the play was over.

Despite the rough play, Mitchell was very happy with how her team responded in the second half.

"We still have a long way to go, but we showed some of that potential in the second half," she said. "They know now that they can do it if they get their confidence up. That second half will help us a lot."

The Wolves were pounded in their first game back from Spring Break, 10-0 by Troy on April 13. The Colts are ranked fourth in the state in Division I. Clarkston had been outscored in its past three games - including last year's district final loss to Rochester Adams - 24-0. The team's last win, in the district semifinals, came against West Bloomfield.

Fife, Lowney to combine hoop camps this summer

Kids in Clarkston will be able to learn the fundamentals of basketball this summer from the two leading authorities on the sport in town.

The Dan Fife and Ann Lowney Boys Basketball Camp will be held at Clarkston High School from July 5-9.

Fife, the CHS varsity boys basketball coach, and Lowney, the varsity girls basketball coach, will teach boys entering grades 4-6 all the skills, from dribbling to defense to shooting. If you are serious about improving your game so you can reach your full potential as a player someday, this is the camp.

The camp is limited to the first 85 boys who sign up. Registration is $100 per child, and the clinic runs from 8 a.m. - noon each day. The schedule includes stretching, skill instruction, team drills, and games.

Forms are available at the CHS Athletic Office. Or, you can send a check or money order to the Dan Fife Basketball Camp, 6093 Flemings Lake Road, Clarkston, MI, 48346.

For more information, contact the CHS Athletic Office at 623-4050.

JV Soccer

After a rough start to the season, the Clarkston JV girls soccer team got back on track in a big way Thursday night.

The Wolves beat West Bloomfield 10-0 in a mercy-shortened game at the new CHS field.

Lindsay Lambert led the way with a three-goal hat trick, scoring the first two of the game and the last one of the game. Megan Medina scored twice and assisted on another. Rocky Tripi added a pair of goals, and Kara Harts, Lindsey Prudhomme and Jessica Ritter scored single goals for Clarkston.

"We passed on the outside well, and we were able to get some quality chances," said coach Damon Rocho. "We only had five shots in our first two games, and we got 31 tonight."

The Wolves lost their first two games, 2-0 to Grand Blanc and 5-0 at Troy. Getting a win like this will be a boost for the whole team, Rocho said.

"It definitely builds our confidence up," he said. "Megan Medina and Lindsay Lambert were terrific at center-midfield tonight. They are used to playing the wings, and they did a super job there tonight."

Clarkston, now 1-2 overall, hosts Royal Oak Kimball Thursday and Goodrich Friday. Games start at 5:30 p.m.

National hoop tournament coming to Detroit area

The North American Youth Sports Basketball Division will be holding a national tournament at 10 different sites in the Detroit area this summer.

The tournament is open to boys and girls from grades 5-12, and will be held from July 21-25.

The team entry fee is $525, and guarantees each team a minimum of nine games. The entry deadline is May 29.

For more information, call the NAYS toll-free at 1-888-629-2275.

CHS swim club starting soon

The first Clarkston High School-based swimming club will have its first meeting this week.

CHS swim coach Kenwin Chock said the orientation meeting for the Clarkston SeaWolves USA Summer Competitive Swim Program will take place Monday, April 26 at 7 p.m. The meeting will take place at the large group instruction room at CHS.

April always showers fans with sports news

I've always believed that October is the best sports month of the year, but April runs a close second.

With the NFL Draft, NHL and NBA playoffs, and the opening of baseball, not to mention the college basketball Final Four, April is a fun month around my one-room household!

This week has also given us the belated start of the Clarkston High School spring season. Most teams started play two weeks later than they did last year, thanks to the timing of Spring Break. Geez, don't these kids get enough days off?

Before I start to sound like the Grumpy Old Man, let me say this: this year's high school spring schedule reminds me of that scene from Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom. When Indy stops a mine car with his foot, it starts to burn. All he asks for is "water, water, water." Then, water begins to flood the cave he's in, and in a panicked state, he says, "Water! Water! Water!"

After around three weeks of down time, the seasons have kicked into high gear, which means everyone plays every day of the week, or so it seems. The first week has seen some interesting developments in our spring teams.

■ We've got ourselves a pretty darn good baseball team. The players have a unified determination about them that is very impressive, and will help them win a lot of games this year. The pitching staff isn't dominant, but it will fight you to the bitter end. And this team can hit. All the way up and down the lineup, there are no players who opponents should consider easy outs. The team has adapted to new coach Phil Price's style very quickly, and will be a tough team to beat all season.

■ I knew this year's varsity softball team would be strong, but I have been extremely impressed with a couple of early-season performances.

Candace Morgan took the mound against Birmingham Groves in the season opener, and did not look like someone who hadn't pitched a high school game since before any of us had heard of Monica Lewinsky, May of 1997. She threw with poise and confidence, and if she was nervous on the inside, it didn't show on the outside.

Thursday's performance by sophomore Lisa Ferguson on the mound was even more impressive. She shut down Walled Lake Western in the second game of a doubleheader, holding the Warriors to just one run on seven hits. If she can deliver those kind of performances, the quality of the team jumps up another two notches.

■ Thursday's soccer game between Clarkston and West Bloomfield was high on entertainment value, but unfortunately, was clouded also.

I mean literally clouded - by all the dust and dirt kicked up on Walters Road. For the entire second half, a steady stream of light brown dirt and dust floated over the playing field as the occasional car drove by on the bumpy, unpaved road.

I hope the Clarkston Board of Education, Independence Township, or someone decides to pave that road. Having all that dirt in the air can't be healthy to the athletes who run as hard and as long as they do. Walters Road is too convenient a route to take for people traveling to the school for all events for it not to be paved.

The cynical side of me thinks that the powers that be will wait until the underside of a bus gets torn up by the gravel before anything will be done. But I know they have the school's and the student's best interests at heart, and I hope they do the right thing, and pave that road. It will make going to the state-of-the-art school much more enjoyable, not just for us locals, but for the out-of-towners as well.

■ Last week's news that Luke Recker is transferring from Indiana's basketball team is troubling for many reasons.

If there ever was a poster boy for Indiana basketball, it has to be Recker. That guy looks like he was born to wear the crimson and cream for the Hoosiers, but instead, he became the third starter to leave coach Bob Knight in the past two years, joining Jason Collier and Neil Reed as top players who have left the program.

The old saying goes, one's a fluke, two's a coincidence, but three's a trend. I hope for Dane Fife's sake that this isn't a trend. Either way, with Recker gone, Dane will have to be looked upon to pick up some of that slack. He improved as a player defensively this season. Hopefully next year, he'll be able to show everyone what he can do offensively as well.

■ It was sad to see Wayne Gretzky take his final skate as he did Sunday afternoon.

It's not often in sports when two athletes the caliber of Gretzky and Michael Jordan retire within months of each other, as they did this year. But it's been interesting to me to compare how the two went about their retirement, and how it was handled by the public.

Jordan's retirement was treated like an apocalyptic event by many, while others literally begged him not to leave.

With Gretzky, it just didn't seem as big of an event, and I don't know why. Gretzky did things in hockey we will likely never see again. Four 200-point seasons. Ten scoring titles. Nine MVP awards. Sixty-one NHL records. Those are staggering numbers.

I think the main difference is Jordan's best accomplishments came at the end of his career, while Gretzky's came at the beginning. But at least we have those fuzzy films of Gretzky and the Edmonton Oilers to remind us of his greatness. There won't be another one like number 99 again.

The 1999 Clarkston JV girls soccer team is happy after its 10-0 win Thursday night.

JV Softball

Clarkston's JV softball team was up-and-down in its first week, but finished up play Monday on a positive note.

The Wolves stand at 2-3 overall after splitting a doubleheader Monday at Waterford Kettering. Clarkston lost the first game 15-10, but bounced back to win game two 12-4.

"This win showed the girls that as a team, when we put it together with pitching and hitting, we can play with anybody," coach Mike Prudhomme said. "I am encouraged thus far with our effort and team-work ethic."

Nicole Thrift and Kristen Falck led the team with three hits apiece in the second game against the Captains. Pitcher Rochelle Donahoo went the distance for Clarkston, allowing only three hit and two walks while striking out eight batters.

In earlier action, the Wolves were swept by a strong Walled Lake Western team 11-7 and 18-3. Clarkston opened its season Wednesday with a 7-4 win at Birmingham Groves. Kiley Banycky slammed a bases-loaded triple in the top of the seventh to secure the victory.

Clarkston takes on Royal Oak Kimball Wednesday and Brandon Monday, all at home.

Honey sparks Northwood softball

Tiffany Honey, a 1998 CHS grad, is making her mark in her freshman season with the Northwood University softball team in Midland.

Honey scored the game-winning run in the first game in Saturday's sweep by the Timberwolves over Lake Superior State, 5-4.

After a stellar four-year career with Clarkston,

Honey is batting leadoff and playing shortstop and second base for Northwood. She has helped the team to a 23-17 overall record so far this season, and 5-6 in the GLIAC. She is among the team leaders in at bats, runs, walks, and stolen bases. She will also be assisting the Wolves varsity softball team this season on occasion.

Wolves tie league preseason favorites

	Berkley	4
	Clarkston	4

BY BRAD MONASTIERE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A very good tie is normally something that helps you land a job, or get compliments at cocktail parties.

But this very good tie didn't go with a suit, it was earned by the Clarkston boys tennis team in a Monday dual meet with preseason favorite Berkley.

Clarkston actually led 4-3 entering the final match, but the Bears came back to finish with a tie, a result they weren't expecting.

"You could see the looks on their faces, they're not sure what happened," coach Kevin Ortwine said. "I like the way it happened. We were up on them going into that last match, and were in position to win."

In that last match, sophomore Brent Griffith was down 5-1 in the third set of the number four singles match. He battled back to 5-4 before losing the last set 6-4.

"He was just playing fabulous tennis," Ortwine said of Griffith. "That boost he got from that last match will help us in the long run."

Junior Pat Heber was the team's lone winner in singles, running his record at the top spot to 4-1 on the season. He won his match 7-5, 6-2, and has only lost two sets all year.

The numbers two, three and four doubles teams were also victorious for the Wolves. The number three combination of Blake Coe and Paul O'Connor are undefeated on the season, and Ortwine said their success this season can be traced back to last season.

"They really came together at the end of last season, and they have picked up right where they left off," he said. "Individually they don't hit the best shots

Lorne Deacon, the Clarkston tennis team's number two singles player, makes a return in the team's Thursday dual meet against Auburn Hills Avondale.

in the world, but they work so well as a team together. They just know when to do the right things."

The tie with Berkley keeps Clarkston in solid contention for the OAA Division II crown, as the Bears will likely win the rest of their league dual meets the rest of the season.

Clarkston, now 3-1-1 overall and 1-0-1 in the OAA II, will host Royal Oak Kimball Thursday before participating in Saturday's Warren Mott Invitational. The dual meet starts at 4 p.m. at the new CHS courts.

In previous action:

■ Clarkston 6 Auburn Hills Avondale 2

Last year's 4-4 tie between the Wolves and the Yellow Jackets has bothered Ortwine. Thursday, that bother was erased.

The Jackets entered the match sporting one of the top number one singles players in the state in Peter Volez, and a young and improving lineup. Avondale won the number one singles and doubles matches, but the rest of the dual meet belonged to Clarkston.

The Wolves didn't drop a single set in sweeping the other six matches. Winners were Lorne Deacon at 2-singles, 6-2, 6-3, Scott Barnett at 3-singles, 6-4, 6-2, and Griffith at 4-singles, 6-2, 6-3.

The two through four doubles teams were just as dominant. Jesse Roderick and Mike Rashid won at 2-doubles 6-4, 6-0. Coe and O'Connor won their fourth straight match 6-0, 6-2, and Derek Hool and Matt Poley won at 4-doubles, 6-3, 6-4.

■ Clarkston 4 Farmington 3

Heber and Barnett were the singles winners, and he teams Coe-O'Connor and Hool-Poley were victorious for the Wolves.

■ Clarkston 5 Brandon 3

After the first four matches in the April 13 dual meet at Brandon, the Blackhawks held a 3-1 lead and had Ortwine very concerned.

Then came Clarkston's last four participants to save the day. The Wolves swept the final four matches and went on to the 5-3 win.

WRONGFUL DEATH

A wrongful death case may involve a person who is severely injured due to the negligence of another, and who lives for a length of time before succumbing to his or her injuries. The survivor of the deceased would be entitled to compensation for any medical costs or expenses that were incurred prior to death. In addition, the survivor could seek damages for the pain and suffering, as well as for reasonable burial expenses. If the injured party were to die immediately (or nearly so), the surviving spouse, child, or parent could look to the wrongdoer for damages in the amount that would be commensurate with what the deceased would have provided in the way of economic support.

Our law office handles a variety of matters including wrongful death claims, personal injury cases, auto accidents, slip & fall injuries, criminal defense, family law, business law, real estate transactions, and civil litigation. Our dedicated and caring staff of professionals are here to provide you with competent advice, prompt service, open communication, and peace of mind. To schedule a consultation, call 620-1030. We're conveniently located at 11 North Main Street.

HINT: A surviving spouse may also seek damages for the loss of consortium as part of a wrongful death suit.

Baseball team jumps out to 5-0 start

Roy "Pops" Warner throws out the ceremonial first pitch of the new season.

"The reason we won the game, Eric Jenks and Chris Mitchell pitched," Price said. "John Drallos hit the ball well for us, Bret Gove came in and got some nice hits, and Derek Casper was excellent behind the plate."

Casper ended the second game by picking off a runner from third base. He threw out several would-be base stealers in the doubleheader, killing a lot of Kettering rallies.

The Wolves captured the first game thanks to three runs in the fourth and fifth innings. The team scored runs thanks to its aggression on the basepaths, scoring on an overthrow, a wild pitch, a passed ball, and a double steal. Senior Adam Leech also had a strong day at the plate, slamming a pair of long doubles in the first game that started scoring innings for the Wolves.

Mitchell was masterful on the mound in the first game, striking out two batters in four of the six innings he pitched. He also knocked in the first run of the game with a first-inning single that brought home Jenks.

Clarkston shut the door on Kettering early in the second game, scoring five first-inning runs and sending nine batters to the plate. Mitchell and senior Spencer Hynes collected RBI, while Hynes later scored on a double steal.

But despite the wins, Price said he knew his team has a long way to go before it can beat tougher competition that is awaiting down the road.

"I have to be more on top of them for missing the little things, the details," he said. "These guys are just happy to get wins. But we have to play better."

Clarkston has a busy week ahead, with a home doubleheader against Holly Wednesday, and a make-up doubleheader against Waterford Mott Thursday. Saturday, the team travels to Midland High to compete in a tournament, and has a game against Midland, the defending Division I state champions. Monday, the team stays home for a single game against West Bloomfield.

Female Athlete of the Week: Corinne McIntyre

Salut, Corinne: Successful teams in sports don't have characters, they have character. Senior Corinne McIntyre brings the latter to every team she plays on. She has just begun her third season as the starting catcher for the varsity softball team. Her role is different this year, as one of just two senior starters, Corinne has been an experienced guide for the young group of players trying to get through a difficult part of the schedule. In Monday's doubleheader at Waterford Kettering, Corinne was at her best behind the plate, throwing out five consecutive would-be base stealers in the two games. She also tagged out three other players at home, and would have had another, but the close call went to the runner. During her time with Clarkston sports, she has been captain of the softball and girls basketball teams, and won a league title in basketball and a district title in softball. A quiet, but determined athlete, Corinne carries a 3.3 grade point average. She has several options with her athletic future. Coaches from the University of Michigan were at Monday's games, and she is also considering full-ride scholarship offers from Oakland Community College and Mott Community College for softball, and/or basketball.

Coach Al Land on Corinne: "Kettering never quite figured out that you just can't run on Corinne. Most teams don't even try, with the arm she has. Her throws kept the games much closer than they would have been otherwise. What Corinne needs to do is improve her hitting. If she does that, she can be the perfect leader for us."

Corinne on Corinne: "I lead more by example. We have a lot of young girls on the team this year, and I hope my leadership can help. I have known what it's like to win, and what it's like to lose, and you just hope to pull through and keep trying. Throwing people out is probably my favorite thing to do. It was fun today, because normally I don't see that many people trying to run on us. We have a lot of room for improvement, but eventually, I know we'll get there."

Corinne McIntyre

Male Athlete of the Week: Spencer Hynes

Salut, Spencer: The baseball field is filled with chatter, from players in the field, to those on the bench. Senior Spencer Hynes isn't one to fill the air with noise, but does plenty of talking with his play. Spencer, a four-year veteran of the varsity baseball team, has played a big part in getting the Wolves off to a 5-0 start this season. He pitched a complete-game victory over Grand Blanc on April 13. In addition to quality starts on the mound, Spencer is one of the team's most reliable players in the field and at the plate. He plays superb defense in left field, and is part of the heart of the batting order, hitting fifth. In Monday's first game at Waterford Kettering, his fourth-inning single sparked the team to a three-run rally that gave the Wolves a 4-0 lead. A respected teammate and captain, Spencer was also a three-year veteran of the varsity football team. He also excels in the classroom, carrying a 3.944 grade point average, good for 12th in the class. He wants to play baseball in college, and he says Oakland University is his number one choice right now.

Coach Phil Price on Spencer: "The first thing I think of with Spencer is his leadership. He bats fifth, but should be third or fourth. He does it because it's best for the team. He gets one start for us, but because we have (Eric) Jenks and (Chris) Mitchell, he takes fewer starts because it's best for the team. He never gripes, and is a settling influence on our team. He's a quality kid, and I hope my daughter can marry someone like him someday."

Spencer on Spencer: "I try to set an example for some of our other guys, and show them that the game is fun to play. Like today, I went 1-for-5, but it doesn't matter, because we won, and I had eight guys backing me up. The sky's the limit for this team."

Spencer Hynes

I can see us getting to regionals - where we were last year - and going beyond that because we are a more mature team than we were a year ago."

Errors lead to softball sweep of Wolves by state champs

inning. We had hardly any errors in our first three games, and we have four overthrows in that inning alone. We couldn't even throw correctly, and that was strictly intimidation."

The four overthrows in the first inning of the first game all came on play in the infield. Thanks to the errors, Kettering jumped out to a 5-0 lead in the first inning. Only one of the five runs was earned.

Kettering pitcher Jessica Brubaker, who pitched the state championship game last season as a freshman, was perfect in the first game through four innings. Sophomore Mary Warchuck broke it up with a fifth-inning leadoff single.

Sophomore Lindsay Simko scored the team's only run, when she came in on a wild pitch in the top of the seventh, ending Kettering's shut out bid.

In game two, the Clarkston bats were stronger, but not any more efficient. The team left runners stranded at third base three times.

'We need all nine players on the field to lead.'

Coach Al Land

"It's obvious we miss Tiff's leadership," Land said, referring to 1998 CHS graduate Tiffany Honey, now playing softball for Northwood University. "We need all nine players in the field to lead. These younger players can't wait for someone else to lead, they have to start doing some of it themselves."

One Clarkston highlight came thanks to the defensive play of senior catcher Corinne McIntyre. She threw out five consecutive base stealers in the doubleheader, several becoming the third out of an inning.

"I just love the way she plays," Land said of McIntyre. "Not many people would have come back from the injury she had last year, but she is really determined to be a part of this team."

Coaches from the University of Michigan softball team were at Monday's games scouting McIntyre.

There is no let-up in the schedule ahead for Clarkston. Wednesday, the Wolves host Royal Oak Kimball, then participate in the Saturn Tournament on Saturday. Monday, the team hosts arch-rival Brandon for a key OAA I doubleheader.

■ Clarkston 2-6 Walled Lake Western 3-1

After another difficult one-run loss in the first game of Thursday's doubleheader, the Wolves struck back with a vengeance in game two.

Junior Candace Morgan knocked in three runs and sophomore pitcher Lisa Ferguson was tremendous in game two, a 6-1 Clarkston victory.

Ferguson went the distance, allowing only one run and scattering seven hits. It was her first career complete-game victory on the varsity.

■ Birmingham Groves 2 Clarkston 1

In their season-opening game, the Wolves battled hard and played well, but came up just short to an excellent Birmingham Groves team.

Clarkston tied the game 1-1 in the top of the seventh inning when Jennie Winn scored on a ground ball by sophomore Tracey Honey. But the Falcons needed only a triple and a single in the bottom of the seventh to get the win.

"Our defense was excellent, and we made every play we were supposed to make," Land said. "But it was tough facing (Jessie Warren) in our very first game."

Warren, perhaps the county's top pitcher, struck out 12 Clarkston batters on the day. Warchuck went 2-for-3 for Clarkston, while Morgan pitched very well in her first softball game in nearly 22 months, striking out five.
