Board heeds parents School hours won't change much afterall

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston Community Schools district has reached a resolution regarding the changing of starting times within the district's schools.

At the May 8 meeting of the Clarkston Board of Education, the board voted to approve a plan to modify the class schedules in the district.

Clarkston High School will run from 7:30 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. The middle schools will run from 7:45 a.m. to 2:45 p.m. The elementary schools will run from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Clarkston schools Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts said at the meeting, "Most parents at both middle schools had concerns of students not being home in time to supervise their elementary school brothers and sisters. We would remind parents that unsupervised times are when students get themselves in trouble."

Elementary school students will start about 15 minutes earlier. They're ready for school a little earlier in the day, Roberts reasoned.

Board secretary Mary Ellen McLean said this being a transportation issue reinforces the privilege of riding the bus, that it's not a guaranteed right and students who misbehave should no longer have that privilege.

Roberts said more communication with bus drivers and building administrators will have to take place to make sure discipline is being enforced on the bus.

Over the past few months, the district conducted staff and parent surveys, held interviews with students, listened to telephone calls, conducted a dialogue session with the district's Parent Advisory Team, and received feedback through E-mail.

In a previous statement Roberts said, "We went Continued on page 10A

Independence election attracts Aranosian

BY MARALEE COOK Clarkston News Editor

Another Independence Township resident has tossed his hat into the ring for elective office this year. — Dr. Robert Aranosian, director of the Emergency Department at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, announced he will run for the office of trustee as a Republican. A lifetime Michiganian, Aranosian has lived in Independence Township for 16 years, he said:

He said his decision to run for office comes from a longtime commitment to community service. "I've always been active within the community through service clubs and volunteer agencies," Aranosian said.

He has served on the board for Haven, and the Pontiac Area Urban League. He is a past board member and still active in the Child Abuse and Neglect Council and is a current board member of SCAMP Wallace, McGee bow out of township races Independence Township trustees Jeff McGee and Neil Wallace have announced they will not seek re-election this year.

McGee, who has served for eight years on the board, and is also a member of the Zoning Board of Appeals and three lake boards, said he wanted to spend more time with his wife Dody and their two children, ages three

Controversial Independence ethics ordinance passed

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

After much heated debate on both sides, the Independence Township board, by a 4-3 margin, voted to approve an ethics ordinance for the township at their May 2 meeting.

The proposal, introduced by trustee Neil Wallace, was discussed at the prior meeting of the board on April 18; however, it was tabled at that time.

Voting in favor of the proposal were trustees Wallace, Jeff McGee, and Larry Rosso, and clerk Joan McCrary. Supervisor Dale Stuart, treasurer James Wenger, and trustee Daniel Travis voted against it.

Wallace's proposal states that township officials, as well as those seeking office, "shall not accept campaign contributions or donations from nonresident owners of township property, developers of property in the township, those individuals or companies who provide goods or services to the township, including contractors, vendors and/or consultants."

Wallace reiterated at the meeting that it is important that township citizens know the board's officials are free from anything resembling a conflict of interest.

He answered charges that his proposal is a politically based move.

"If it was an election-year ploy, I wouldn't be doing it in this fashion," he said. "It isn't necessary or appropriate to accept money from developers."

Rosso agreed with Wallace, commenting on how board trustees must caution against the potential abuse of trust placed in them by township voters.

"I believe it's time to put beyond reproach the ethics of this township," he said. "Ethics have to apply across the board."

He further contended that the proposal would only affect a small group of people; with that in mind, he felt the proposal was a good one.

"To me, it's not a big deal," Rosso said. "We're only excluding a small percentage of people. I really feel this is appropriate and very suitable." Stuart, however, said that the proposal was an election-year maneuver and attack aimed in his direction.

"Let's not kid ourselves-this proposal has nothing to do with ethics and everything to do with politics," Stuart said.

He said the board "should not try to dictate to those seeking office where their contributions should come," and added that the policy is unenforceable, especially for those seeking office not currently on the board.

He further contended that he has never received any financial contributions that have swayed his decisions as supervisor.

"I am not aware of any contribution that I have ever received that has affected my vote on anything," he said. "This is a direct attack and slap at me. I urge the board to reject this proposal."

Those sentiments were echoed by Travis and Wenger.

"This is all orchestrated," Travis said. "It is an attempt to create a situation where no problem exists that I know of."

"I believe this is an unfair and unneeded proposal," Wenger added.

McGee said that since the proposal addressed three specific areas related to campaign finance, he would support it.

While noting that "the timing is not the best," he added that "I have to look at these proposals on its own merits."

Wallace strongly denied Stuart's charges that his proposal is politically motivated. -

"I believe that is based on assumption and conjecture," he said. "I have consistently been concerned about the ideals held for this community. My proposal is directly tied to concerns that I have consistently expressed during my term."

McCrary questioned Wallace as to how the policy would be enforced; Wallace replied that censure would be the form of punishment used against officials that violate the policy.

On Thursday, McCrary said she believed in the ethics resolution from the very beginning, not as a slam against Stuart or anyone else.

She said candidates are required to file several affidavits regarding campaign finance with the Oakland County clerk's office, and the mechanics of filing are tightly controlled.

"We must file our own campaign finance committee statements with the county clerk, including how much we spent and where the money came from," she said.

If candidates use their own money for a campaign they must open a special bank account and submit receipts with the affidavits they file.

"It's very tightly controlled," McCrary added. "At Oakland County they're experts at watching over you. They don't want there to be a mistake."

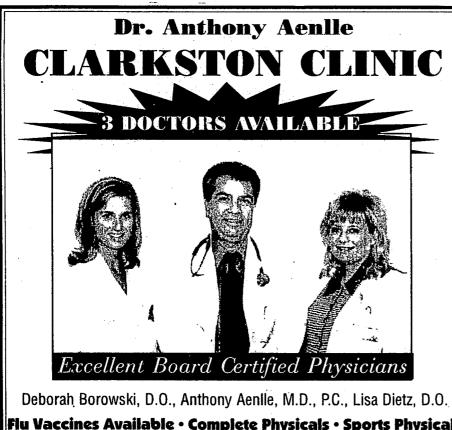

Independence officials discuss ALS proposal

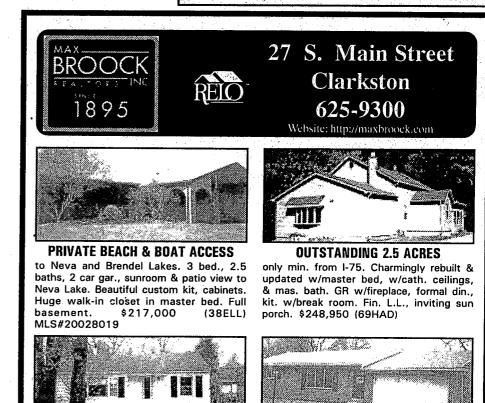

Should Independence Township upgrade their emergency services? If so, at what cost to taxpayers?

Those were the questions raised by Robert Cesario, EMS Coordinator and EMTP for Independence Township Fire Department, at a special meeting May 8.

All of the township trustees, with the exception of Jeff McGee, were on hand at the meeting as they listened to Cesario discuss the issues facing the township with regard to EMS. Cesario presented three options to the Independence Township Board to improve the EMS services. The first of these options would cost a total of $297,495, while the second would cost

Former supervisor wants his job back

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

A long time has passed since Gary Stonerock served as Independence Township supervisor from 1970-72.

Nonetheless, he believes that changes are in order in township government; with that in mind, he has filed with the Independence Township clerk's office for the township supervisor's position.

Stonerock said he decided to run for office because he was unhappy with the direction that township government is headed.

"Why does anyone run for office? They're not satisfied with what's in there," he said. "I want to give people a choice. If they like what they see, they'll keep it. If not, they'll make a change."

Stonerock said that he has some issues with the township over the fact that they rezoned his property. He said he has filed a lawsuit against the township, claiming that he has been hurt financially as a result of the township's action.

"I think that was wrong," he said. "I've lost my home, I've lost my IRA, my banking privileges." In addition, he said that the current government actions have alienated people in the community.

"What I see wrong is that they're abusing police powers," Stonerock said. "I don't feel too good about our government. I don't think they treated the Knights of Columbus, or the VFW very well."

Stonerock said that he has thought things through before making the decision to file for supervisor.

"I've examined my motives, my heart," he said. "This is the way I wanted to go about it."

He contends that he can bring a fresh perspective to township government.

"There's a lot of things that the township is in need of," he said. "I think they're doing a great injustice with their adversarial approach."

School board candidates back on ballot

BY MARALEE COOK

Clarkston News Editor

Three school board candidates who thought they'd only be listed as write-ins on the June 12 election will be listed on a ballot after all.

On May 3, Judge Alice Gilbert at Oakland County Circuit Court, approved a petition to put the candidates back on the ballot.

The problem developed earlier this year when the candidates, current board president Karen Foyteck, secretary Mary Ellen McLean and newcomer Steve Hyer, failed to file a new form with their petitions.

The form, a Supplementary Affidavit of Identity, which is part of the Campaign Finance Act Compliance Statement, is a new requirement which became effective March 10, said Liz Boyd of the Secretary of State's office. Independence Township, which runs the elections for the school district, didn't receive the school board candidates' documents until shortly before the 4 p.m. deadline April 11, said IndependenceTownship Clerk Joan McCrary.

Although filing documents had been turned into the school board office the previous week, by the time they were delivered to McCrary, it was too late for the new forms to be filled out, she said.

McCrary added once it was discovered the new forms had not been filed she was forbidden to have any contact with the candidates, and the township and school district attorneys had to handle the matter from there.

Boyd said notices were sent to all school districts to the attention of the superintendent and elections su-Continued on page 21A

Conklin takes opportunity in Canton Twp.

BY MARALEE COOK Clarkston News Editor

Ann Conklin, Director of Independence Township Parks and Rec since 1988, has announced she's moving on to a bigger challenge. She has accepted the position of Leisure Services Director with Canton Township. Conklin said although she loved working in Independence Township, it was time to move on. She called the new position, which she applied for in January, a "phenomenal opportunity."

Conklin's duties will include direction of Summit on the Park, a $13 million banquet and conference center with recreation amenities, two golf courses, a softball center, parks and recreation department, grounds maintenance and a senior department. Canton has a population of about 95,000, she said.

"I appreciate everything the township has done for me and I'll take it all with me," she said. Before coming to Independence Township, Conklin was parks and recreation director for the City of Howell.

Independence Township Supervisor Dale Stuart said, "Ann has been a great asset to the community as a department director and a member of the community. She's the kind of person who can get things done with the cooperation and involvement of other people. It's a great opportunity for her, and we're happy for her to have this opportunity in her career."

Stuart said a search for her replacement will begin as soon as the board determines the search method. He added while summer is a difficult time to replace someone, Conklin will leave a capable staff behind.

Changes at Independence Township

Three key people announced they would be leaving the service of Independence Township soon: Parks and Recreation Director Ann Conklin; Trustee Jeff McGee and Trustee Neil Wallace.

Conklin's moving on to a much larger responsibility in Canton Township, and an opportunity she is most deserving of.

Her leaving will be a loss because she is a dedicated, can-do person. Every project Conklin was part of benefitted from of her involvement. She made good decisions easily -- only one of the reasons people were happy to work with her.

Jeff McGee, who has served the township as trustee for eight years, has decided not to run for another term. He also serves on the Zoning Board of Appeals and three lake boards and said it was time to spend more time with his family. He also said he's a firm believer in term limits.

His reasoning is noble, and the correct choice for his family. But his independent point of view, common to many selfemployed people, will be missed.

Wallace has also chosen not to run for another term as trustee. This has come as a surprise to many. There was a great deal of speculation that he would challenge Dale Stuart for the supervisor's spot. Wallace has not explained why he will not run again.

Wallace's leaving is also a great loss for the board. He has a wealth of knowledge and is a stickler for research and detail. Like McGee, Wallace also is an independent thinker who kept the township's and residents' best interests at heart.

Excellence honored

Congratulations to Clarkston High School's top ten students. The students and family and friends were honored at Monday night's school board meeting, and the kudos are well-deserved.

Letters To The Editor

Support National Girls and Women in Sports

Dear Editor,

The Clarkston High School faculty and student body will once again be celebrating National Girls and Women in Sports Day (NGWSD) on Monday, May 22. In a year when women's athletics has been at the forefront of the sporting world, we feel it is important to continue to promote and support the young female athletes of CHS, but we can not do it with out your help.

That is why. this year we are again asking for your support. To help defer the costs we are asking you to provide a small donation. Your donation will go towards refreshments and t-shirts that the girls will receive during school assembly. At the assembly we will have guest speakers who will talk to the young ladies about the roll athletics has played in their lives and answer any questions the girls might have. It is a special time for everyone involved.

This day means a great deal to the young ladies and with the support of our community we will be able to provide them with a first class program. Why is it so important to them? So often our successful girl's teams are overshadowed by our impressive boy's teams, but the girls programs are just as impressive. We need to let them know that what they are involved in today will have an impact on what they will do in the future and it will open up doors for the young people that will follow in their foot steps.

Thank you for taking the time to help the young female athletes of CHS. If you are interested in making a donation please make your check payable to CHS Athletics and mail your donation to the address below. All contributors will have their logos on the back of the event t-shirt if we have the donation by May 10th.

> Sincerely, NGWSD Committee Mail to: Clarkston High School 6093 Flemings Lake Rd. Clarkston, MI 48346

Take use of Household Hazardous Waste Day

Dear Editor,

First we would like to applaud the officials and trustees of Independence Township for providing the community a day set aside for the collection of Household Hazardous Waste. Secondly, we urge all to take advantage of this service. Why is this important, you ask? The simple answer, water quality.

and legs.

Along

When my late mother was about 60, she told me she wished she could talk about politics and other national issues the way I did with my friends.

I remember telling her just to read the newspapers, and Time and Newsweek magazines and she'd be all set. I didn't realize at the time she was supposed to take notes, too.

Fast-forward 18 years to a recent conversation with my daughter, and family history is repeating itself.

My daughter Elizabeth is a bio-chemistry major at University of Michigan. She's staying in Ann Arbor to do AIDS research with a professor at the medical school this summer. Her first day on the job was Monday.

While she was home all-too-briefly on Sunday (so I could do her laundry, feed her, pack extra food to send back, watch Dawson's Creek and X-Files at the same time with her and lavish her with hugs and kisses), I asked her to explain what kind of work she would be doing.

We talked for about a half-hour and this is what I remember about her explanation of the actual work.

Inhibitor. Enzyme. Binds to metal. Magnesium. Spectrograph machine.

She had explained the process to me, and I could even visualize it at the time, which for me was a huge feat. But by Monday it was just a blur. Twenty-four hours later, all I knew was that he's going to Alaska for 10 weeks, and I want to go too.

People remark all the time that they begin to sound like mom or dad when they reach a certain age. I guess I'm starting to forget like my mother did too.

My mother had 10 years on me when she started complaining about not being able to retain information.

One of the great things about my job is learning so much — apparently because I'm taking notes. I guess I'll start doing it with all of my conversations.

My mother was a wonderful woman and I would like history to repeat itself in terms of her good qualities. She was a wonderful woman, kind generous and very loving.

She was also a fighter. Between the ages of 52 and 67 when she died in 1989, she fought back from a stroke, three heart attacks, heart failure, triple bypass heart surgery, and two operations to replace arteries in her groin tions to replace arteries in he

The night my father called to tell me she'd had a fourth heart attack, wasn't expected to recover and I'd better get on a plane to Florida, I really expected her to pull through.

SCAMP succeeds

Congratulations also to the SCAMP Funding Corporation and its volunteers for a job well done. Sunday's Walk and Roll took in over $22,000. As costs continue to rise for the summer camp for special needs children and adults, so does the challenge to find funding.

Over 400 people took time on a beautiful Sunday afternoon to walk, bike and ride. for others. They deserve a round of applause.

M. SAMPAN STATISTICS IN ANTALASSA

I know that a spectrograph machine is used to show colors of elements. I learned this in high school chemistry, which I took about 10 years ago.

A stay-at-home mom at the time, I was trying to make the jump to light speed from Sesame Street, Rainbow Brite, and He-Man and She-Ra to middle school math and science.

I enrolled in a high school chemistry class in Waterford's community education program and loved it. Thanks to some Algebra tutoring from my husband and the fact it was my only class, I got an A.

It's distressing to know that 10-year-old information is gone. One of my stepsons graduates this spring with a degree in biology and is also scheduled for summer research work. On Sunday he explained what he'd be doing. The conversation was by phone from New Hampshire. Does that make it harder to remember? After packing my suitcase, I sat in a dark room about 11:30 p.m. to say a prayer that she would be fine.

My prayer was interrupted by a vision of what looked like the burning end of a 4th of July sparkler doing cartwheels, and I was flooded with an overwhelming sense of joy.

When L called my dad the next morning to tell him what time my flight would arrive, he told me mom died about 11 p.m. the night before. But I already knew that.

When I die, I hope history will repeat itself again and I'll be a cartwheeling sparkler — just 20 years later in my life.

Happy Mother's Day to mothers everywhere, past, present and future.

News....

It's a mom's world out there, kid

"M-o-t-h-er . . ." I mumbled to myself upon chalking up yet another home-improvement injury. I didn't finish * speaking the thought, little Shamus-ears were near by, because little Shamus, ever Papa's helper, was right next to me

The boo-boo hurt like hell, but I managed a clinchedlipped smile for Shamus. "Looks like Papa did it again."

Shamus glanced up, an uncomprehending look upon his dirt-smudged face.

"I think your mom's calling you kid."

He didn't bug off, but continued to use his plastic shovel on the tree, a la Paul Bunyon.

I think boys like being with their fathers. It's only natural. I guess this is 'rue because we, fathers and sons, all pack the family jewels, if you get my drift. But, I believe boys love their mothers, right from the get-go to their graves. With fathers, boys like 'em, then when they get older, learn their like was actually a love. What is the old saying, "A father's love is wide, a mother's love is deep.'

I reckon it's the same way in reverse, from son to parents.

It was that way at 4925 Clarkston Road when I was still shorter than Dad. I liked being with Pops Rush. He was athletic. He showed me how to run and jump over fences

He could run fast. He played sports. He showed me how to throw a block, shoot a basket and swing a bat. We had a little baseball throwing thing between us ---who could catch and throw the ball back to the other the fastest. He'd sing Danny Boy, The Night That Paddy Murphy Died and Tur-a-lura. He watched fun movies with cowboys and Indians, G.I.s and Nazis, P.I.s and dames.

It was fun being around Dad, and I believe Dad had fun being around his kids. Maybe he, maybe all dads try to make up for being gone — for not being like moms. Moms are different. Mom's are girls.

Thank God they are different.

More than that though, moms are special. I know mine is. I can't imagine being the man I am now, without her. Her blue eyes, her smiles and laughter I longed for. Mom's kind words I always heard. Her hugs and her warmth I can still feel. When a bumble bee stings your big toe, you run, crying to Mamma --- even if Papa is holding your hand when you get stung.

I can see this at home with still-shorter-than-me Shamus and nearly two-month-old Sean. The boys like being with their poppy. Poppy makes faces, funny noises and has power tools. But, when something goes amiss Don't Shamus will run, crying for Mommy. Rush Me When he wakes in the night, he first calls for Mommy.

I can hold Sean in my arms, make funny faces, bounce him on my shoulders, tickle him and if he's not in a good mood, the only thing to cheer him up is his mother.

The boys' mother is special. Her love is deep. While two-year-old Shamus can't control his own emotions and Sean doesn't even know that little hand attached to him is his, they both know her love is deep. They know it is total and they are very obviously comforted by it. Even though there is only a combined life of three years between the two, and they can't express it, I can see they have a lifetime's worth of love for their mother. It's in their eyes when they are happy and looking at their mother.

Like their Papa, they are lucky to have such a wonderful mom. As they grow and understand, hopefully I can teach them to respect her, too. And, if they are lucky when they're taller than me, they'll each find a wife who represents all the best stuff their mother has.

Happy Mother's Day to my mom, my boys' mom, her mom, my dad's mom and all moms out there who love their children deeply.

Northwest and other observations

Jim's

It's easy to pick on (bash) Northwest, the almosthave-to-use, Airlines out of Michigan.

In fact, on a recent flight to Arizona I wrote a column critical of the airline. I knocked their food choice (ham or bagel sandwich). Their "on time" airlines was late. They ran out of ham sandwiches. Their potato chip snack was salt filled. My notes stayed in a dresser drawer while in AZ. Back in Detroit's Metro Airport three weeks later we were told our flight to Flint would be a half hour late.

My feeling toward the "on time" airline hadn't changed, so I shruged and sat.

During that half hour one man approached every Northwest-badge wearing person. He obviously didn't like the idea of waiting. He gestured, he pointed, he got in their face, he redgine blew up. It was frightening moment for all 200 on board . . . for that instant and the next half hour.

Bagel or ham. Bad chips. Half hour late.

I should be thankful to be able to watch the sunset, to smell the roses along the way, to be able to stand, to walk, to breath in and out every day.

KEEP THINGS IN PERSPECTIVE, SHER-MAN! * * *

A new story

Well, spring break is over and we're back to the same old story. But, as I'm finding out, it's not the same old story: this is when the college search becomes intense.

I can't say I haven't seen it coming. It would, after all, be hard to miss with the piles and piles of junk- mail coming in from colleges all over the country. I'm convinced that if I put each piece of paper I have received from different schools end to end I could make it around the equator six times. And it's all the same: "We like people like you, KEVIN. With your interest in ENGLISH, ENGLISH LITERA-TURE, we feel our school would be a perfect fit." Then, if I want more junk, I can send away the reply card. Some of the letters get clever, saying things like. "With all the mail you're receiving from colleges now, why should you pay attention to this letter'?" In its defense it proceeds to tell me how wonderful its academic program is, what exciting extracurricular opportunities are available, and why I would want to attend school in its particular geographic location.

The problem is that despite the letters being less than euphoria-inducing, the schools are not all the same, so I need to pay attention. And I should have sent out some of the reply cards instead of tossing them into the fire hazard pile in my room.

Michigan you don't have that many to look at. And everybody's more than willing to give advice about colleges here because they know them. But I've expanded my scope beyond this state, so, in the words of my mother, we're on our own.

That's fine, it's my responsibility. But it's my responsibility on top of everything else: I'm supposed to maintain performance in school, stay active in the ever important extracurricular activities, have a part-time job, do community service for NHS and find a college? Essentially, it's all for college.

Of course, everyone's been so very accommodating in scheduling around this time of year. The top priority right now is my AP tests which take place this week and next. Through the considerate planning of our school or the State of Michigan, or whoever, the MEAP is also taking place right now, conflicting with one of my nationally scheduled AP tests. I wouldn't even bother with the MEAP but now there's the scholarship money attached to it tying it all into college again. A college fair I'd like to go to has also been scheduled for this time frame, and I have to miss a creative writing program I was selected for to take another AP test. I just don't understand why all the planners of these things couldn't have said to themselves, "Gee, that's the week many of the college-bound students in the country are taking gross tests. Why don't we pick another time"

I'm supposed to be making college visitations right about now, too. The attendance laws at school allow tip to three days to be missed for such a purpose, but how in the world can I afford to take three days off with standardized tests out my ears and all the regular school stuff happening? If I want to get into a good college, I need good grades, and if I want good grades, I can't miss class, but I have to visit colleges. Nice how that works. Since high school began I've been waiting to get out and go to college. If only it just happened one day without all this preparation, research, and redundant test-taking I should be working at everything at top efficiency, but my brain feels like it's spread as thin as three-day-old roadkill. There's no sense complaining. Besides, in this busy time in your life, you're sure to be receiving lots of newspapers that all look the same. But Kevin Kosbab's CHS Life column is different. Why should you pay attention? CHS Life offers a rigorous academic program in addition to excellent extracurricular activities, all in the heart of the tree-lined Clarkston News....

The garbage we place in our trash can affect water quality in our drinking water aquifers, lakes and streams. Hazardous materials included in this list are: some household cleaners (oven, toilet, furniture, floor); some items used in painting (primers, paint, varnish, stain, turpentine); some items found in the garage (engine cleaners, antifreeze, brake fluid, motor oil); and some gardening items (herbicides and insecticides) to name a few. These items leach out of the landfill into our aquifers, streams and lakes.

These products pose a threat to our health. Special equipment is used for the collection and hauling of these items to a designated site designed to specific government standards for disposal. This is costly.

We should not discard these products in our "normal" trash. Please dispose old unused household hazardous waste on Saturday May 13 between 8:00am to 3:00pm at Department of Public Works, 6050 Flemings Lake Road. For questions regarding a product call DPW at 248-625-8222.

Dear Editor.

Today is a very sad day for Independence Township. I told my family that I had retired from government watching. But, the news that Neil Wallace is not going to seek an elected office this November is too upsetting to not speak out.

Mr. Wallace wrote a very compassionate letter to the newspapers expresing his concern about the present Independence Township government. He asked the people to write what they felt about the present and future of Independence Township.

You have all had the chance to read Mr. Wallace's extremely well-reserched reports in the newspapers, and if you have attended a board meeting you see the many pages of excellent research that he used on any given proposal.

Wallace wants to preserve our land and not put a development on every available area. Many of you moved here from southern Michigan. Do we have to be completely developed in 10 to 20 years?

Hudson, Ohio, my home for nine years, has passed a law that only 100 building permits can be issued in one year. They have so much traffic on their main street, Route #91, that pedestrians have to push a button to stop traffic so that they can cross the street. How close are we to that same road condition?

Ask Wallace to reconsider running for trustee

Neil Wallace is needed as an elected official in Independence Township government. He is qualified because of his keen insight, dedication to do extensive research and has the courage to question in a knowledgeable and intelligent manner.

The number of regular voters in Independence Township are so few. Do you realize the power you have to keep Independence Township from falling by the wayside in a mass of concrete?

Call Neil Wallace and tell him it is imperative that he run in November to help save us from the developers and bulldozers that have consumed southern Michigan.

> Very truly yours, Peggy Dryer

Director of Nature Conservancy to speak at local meeting

Helen Taylor, State Director of The Nature Conservancy's Michigan Chapter, will be the featured speaker at The North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy's (NOHLC) annual Spring Meeting. The meeting will be held on Saturday, May 20, 2000 at 9:30 a.m. in the Davisburg Elementary School Gymnasium located just west of downtown at 12003 Davisburg Road, Davisburg, MI. The public is invited to attend.

The first 30 people to arrive will receive a free native Michigan wildflower for planting. Light refreshments will also be served.

Ms. Taylor 's presentation, A Blueprint for Saving Michigan's National Heritage, will center on The Nature Conservancy's efforts to identify and help preserve important conservation areas in Michigan, including one unique landscape /water region right in our own backyard! The vision of The Nature Conservancy - developed through a two and a half year scientific study and multi-partnered effort - will be shared with those in attendance.

Joining Michigan's Chapter of The Nature Conservancy in 1999, Ms. Taylor is leading efforts to protect the natural heritage of Michigan, which she describes as "a beautiful and ecologically significant state on both a regional and global scale." With nine years of experience working in the environmental policy field concentrating on the Great Lakes region, pollution prevention, waste and public involvement, Helen Taylor has worked to protect this region in many different fields and from various perspectives. She has also worked with public agencies, private institutions, government, industry and other environmental organizations to develop and implement a concerted science-based, strategic approach for protecting the Great Lakes ecosystem.

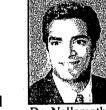

The meeting will also feature a tour of the Shiawassee Basin Preserve adjacent to Davisburg

The rest of the story

The famous radio broadcaster, Paul Harvey, often shares little known facts or obscure information in his commentary. He tells his listeners, "Now you know the rest of the story." I would like to take a page from Mr. Harvey's repertoire and share the rest of the story. The school start time issue became very controversial. So, it wasn't a surprise to see the media coverage. As usual, our local newspapers did a fine job of getting the story out to our citizens; but, to my amazement, this topic received a great deal of attention from places far removed from Clarkston.

You won't be shocked to hear that public school systems across this country are criticized daily for failing to make a difference. After all, there is always room for improvement and the "because we have always done it that way" reference does little to make education better. So, it seemed clear to me that promoting genuine dialogue, fostering creative approaches, and attempting to strengthen our commitment and sense of trust were needed even here in "C" Town.

With this in mind, we went to great lengths to listen to the variety of perspectives that existed, and as expected, the district gained a great deal of valuable information. Readers may know that we conducted a Public Forum and heard the views of staff, students and parents. They may not realize that we also conducted staff and parent surveys, held interviews with students, responded to telephone calls, received feedback via E-mail. and conducted a dialogue session with our Parent Advisory Team. The conversations, creative ideas and genuine concerns that were shared, played a major role in developing Clarkston the final recommendation.

Now let's look at the rest of the story. As superintendent of schools, I realize that our schools have not yet reached their potential. The Clarkston Schools are good, but we will be so much better when we take on the challenges that face us. The School Start Time issue was a chance to examine one of our critical concerns in a manner that allowed community members to express widely differing viewpoints without threat, fear of ridicule, or scorn. For the most part, the Clarkston community lived up to that lofty expectation, but we do have our work cut out for us. Promoting genuine dialogue, fostering creative approaches, and attempting to strengthen our commitment and sense of trust will occur to an even greater extent when active listening replaces fear and rumor. In the meantime, I hope that the final recommendation demonstrates that the wisdom of the community has played an important role in leading to a decision.

On Monday, May 8th, the Clarkston Board of Education approved the School Start Times as follows:

> High School - 7:30 a.m. to 2:16 p.m. Middle Schools - 7:45 a.m. to 2:40 p.m. Elementary Schools - 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Road. The Preserve is located within a unique section of Springfield Township that contains a very rare and high quality prairie fen that supports a number of rare plants and animals. It is one of the largest known remaining natural fens in southern Michigan. The Michigan Nature Association was instrumental in the preservation of this unique fen, while NOHLC along with other organizations and individuals is working toward the expansion and enhancement of the area. Recently, the Shiawassee River Task Force was formed, a group dedicated to protecting and preserving the beauty of this valuable natural resource.

The North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy is proud to sponsor the activities taking place at its May 20th annual spring meeting. Incorporated in 1972 as the Independence Land Conservancy, NOHLC's mission is to protect the rural character and quality of life in northwest Oakland County by conserving the woods, fields, streams, and other natural resources in the headwater. areas of the Clinton, Shiawassee, Huron and Flint Rivers.

NOHLC works with individuals, neighborhoods, organizations, municipalities, developers, and planners to preserve the natural environment of our area so that future. generations can enjoy what we can experience today. to great lengths to listen to a variety of perspectives."

In addition, the district held a public forum to obtain the viewpoints of staff, students, and parents on the issue.

According to Roberts, the original proposal came about after transportation concerns in the district were raised.

"Initially, we had some concerns about transportation, most notably the length of time on bus rides," he said. "We initially looked at that as a transportation problem."

According to Roberts, the district will be utilizing an additional five buses for the next school year.

In making the proposal, the administration also saw a chance to address some issues, including some middle school students making bad choices while unsupervised after school, and giving middle school students the opportunity to develop better sleeping habits.

Under the plan, CHS will be open at 7 a.m. for parents wishing to drop off their students prior to work.

In addition, Roberts mentioned that the district is exploring the idea of allowing students to arrive at school later and stay later.

"At the high school level, we're looking at possibly implementing some flex scheduling," he said.

At the middle school level, class times will be from 7:45 a.m. to 2:40 p.m. Both Sashabaw and Clarkston Middle School students will share a bus in the morning and afternoon with high school students.

Roberts said that the district is considering offering after-school activities at the middle school level to combat the potential for trouble with unsupervised students.

"We're looking to offer activities for middle schoolers after school," he said. "Hopefully, we'll get the youngsters to engaged in school-related activities."

All elementary schools will start at 8:30 a.m, and last until 3:30 p.m.

According to Roberts, those people both for and against the original proposal cited similar reasons to support their position, such as optimal learning times, family time, and child care.

In addition, the majority of parents surveyed seem to believe a later start time (such as between 8-9 a.m.) would be best for middle school students; however, most parents and students found the proposed start time of 9:15 a.m. unacceptable.

According to a recent Search Institute survey, 41 percent of the district's 7th graders indicate they spend two or more hours home alone each day. In addition, according to the results from the district's 1999 Western Michigan University Survey, 51 percent of the district's 8th graders say that they have used alcohol/drugs at their house or a friend's house while unsupervised.

With that in mind, the district will, through its Community Education and Clarkston's Parks and Recreation Department, continue to design and implement after-school programs and activities.

City Council tackles tickets, parking issues again

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston Union Kitchen and Bar owner Curt Catallo won't be spending any money to bring people into Clarkston. Instead, he'll be spending money paying over 30 parking tickets.

At the May 8 City Council meeting, the Council agreed not to revoke over 30 tickets that were issued to people who parked in Prudential's parking lot, located at 32 S. Main Street. Catallo said some of the' tickets issued may have been to Prudential's employees and patrons.

"When I collected those tickets, I fully expected to have to pay them. I haven't spent any money on advertising to bring people to Clarkston. I've been spending that money on paying the tickets," Catallo said.

Some of Catallo's customers had been using the Prudential parking lot for several years before due to a lack of available parking spaces around the restaurant.

However, according to Prudential manager Beverly Bartus, she has had problems with her own employees finding parking spaces in the lot during dinner hours. She said some of her clients come back to the office as late as 11:30 p.m. and sometimes could not find a place to park.

Catallo put up a sign on March 24 saying the Prudential lot is only for Prudential customers, employees and building tenants, 24 hours a day. Both Catallo and Bartus said since the sign has been posted, there has been no parking problem at the lot.

"I think the least I can do for people who have supported this town is to pay their tickets for them," Catallo said. "The tickets are a small problem. It's the city's inability to structure a solution to the parking that's the bigger problem," Catallo said.

There is a chance that additional public parking may become available in Clarkston.

Another point brought up at the City Council meeting was the possibility of adding eight or nine allday parking spaces on Depot Street from May until November.

Clarkston Police Chief Paul Ormiston called it a good idea.

"I'm concerned about cars backing up all the time, but by making the spaces all-day spaces that would probably cut down on the amount of cars coming and going," Ormiston said.

City attorney Tom Ryan agreed that adding parking spaces on Depot sounded like a positive idea, and said city engineer Gary Tressel and Ormiston would have to look further into the possibilities.

City councilman Dave Savage said using the delivery zone in front of Prudential for night parking was another possibility to add public parking in the city. Ryan said he'd also need to speak with Tressel regarding the delivery zone issue. Ormiston added that the loading zone possibility would have to be checked with the Michigan Department of Transportation.

"We're taking positive steps to resolve the parking problem. But we're not going to revoke the tickets. We'll send a letter to Mr. Catallo saying so," Savage said.

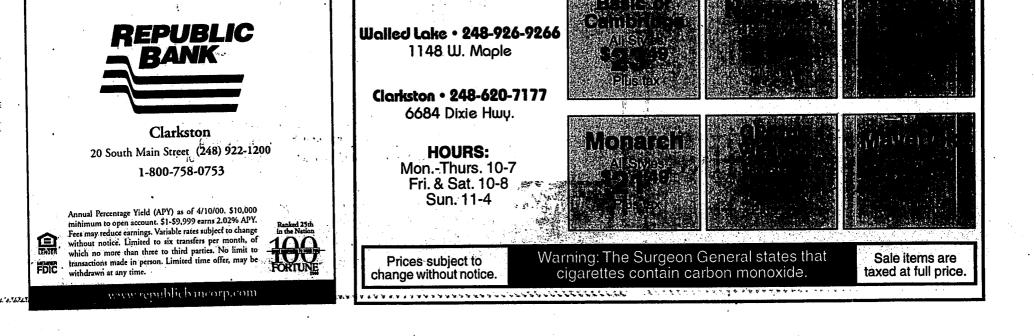

City says 'Yes' to water

The Clarkston City Council finally got its wish. On Tuesday, voters approved installing a water main on Main St. just south of Independence Township Hall, south to Middle Lake Road.

City Manager Art Pappas said 252 of the city's 844 registered voters said "yes", while 94 said "no".

Clarkston's summer camp for children and young adults with special needs. Aranosian sits on the Michigan State Osteopathic Licensing Board. and is also chairman of the Oakland County Emergency Medical Services Medical Control Board.

Aranosian has been involved with Clarkston Ambulatory Care Center for three years. He said he takes between four to seven shifts per month and staffs the center with other emergency physicians. He has also been Deputy Medical Examiner for Oakland County for 27 years.

Aranosian said it was natural with his background and interest in the community that politics was next. "I follow politics - read what goes on and know the Independence Township leadership. I've been asked to get involved and decided I will."

Aranosian said he has no prearranged agenda, but an "obvious" interest in EMS and the Advanced Life Support (ALS) proposal. "We desperately need to upgrade to full time ALS in Independence Township." He listed growth, the number of accidents and Pine Knob as reasons for passing a proposal that would allow the fire department to transport victims to hospitals.

Development is also a concern for Aranosian. "I've watched real closely the ongoing saga of who can build what and where. I agree we desperately need an additional first-rate facility (like the Holiday Inn Express proposed for M-15 at I-75) for lodging. The questions obviously is where," he said.

Regarding density, Aranosian said "Those areas with five to 10 acres parcels are an added attraction to the township. I would hate to see the township become connected subdivisions."

Aranosian and his wife Patricia have seven children, three still at home. He enjoys landscaping and "Barbershopping".

In 1998 Aranosian was Grand Marshal of the Independence Township 4th of July Parade. "I had a ball," he said of the experience. "I've practiced medicine for a long time and see second and third generations of kids I've treated. Oakland County has been very good for me and my career."

Clarkston High School top ten students were honored at Monday night's school board meeting.

Clarkston High School's top ten students were honored at the regular meeting of the Clarkston schools board of education Monday night.

CHS principal John Diliegghio said the students were "very bright -- quite an accomplishment in a class of 500 students.

"They've seen two school buildings, made the transition and never missed a beat. They're actively involved in anything they can get their hands on," he added. Diliegghio said some of the students take part in band as well as playing sports, both of which take up a lot of time.

The students have more opportunities for challenges, with the additional number of Advanced Placement courses that have been added to the curriculum in the last few years. They also stay focused on their studies, make time to volunteer and have a good time, he said.

$900,185, and the third would cost $1,115,180.

All three proposals include the cost of adding new personnel and the implementation of equipment within the vehicles.

He said that the township would need to ask the voters for a millage in order to help the program from a financial standpoint.

"It is expected that the township would have to seek a millage to at least offset the initial cost," Cesario said.

He pointed out that this is brand-new territory for Oakland County in general, not just Independence Township.

"Oakland County is in its infancy stage as far as what we're trying to provide here," he said.

entry to the show all weekend.

Township Supevisor Dale Stuart agreed that a millage would likely be needed in order to finance any improvements in the program.

"We're going to have to do something," he said. "We need at least 1/4 mill over what we're doing now. I think we're looking at closer to 3-1/2 mills."

Cesario outlined five community needs as it relates to EMS: improved EMS response times, improved availability of EMS, improved services and patient care, efficient use of services within the community, and timely transport to the hospital.

According to Cesario, EMS runs comprise approximately 60 to 70 percent of the total workload for the Independence Township Fire Department.

He added that 10 Oakland County fire departments have adjusted their services in the last five years to accomodate these issues.

15 YEARS AGO (1985)

A parcel of over 30 acres owned by the Clarkston School District off Maybee Road is being considered as a potential prison site for the state. The Maybee Road property was narrowed from three Independence-Springfield sites and one Clarkston Village site, according to Dorothy Webb of the Region Prison Site Selection Committee.

A bid by Randy Hosler to relocate his car dealership from M-15 to Dixie Highway resulted in a shouting match at the Independence Township Planning Commission meeting. Hosler, who had applied for conceptual site plan approval, was told his proposal would be tabled until he modified the look of the dealership building and improved the landscaping, which commissioner Holly Stephens termed "a sea of cars."

An unexpected windfall of $53,270 to Independence Township means that a spring cleanup will be available to residents this month. According to Clerk Richard Holman, the money has been made available to the township from the state through a revised "relative tax effort" (RTE).

A Look Back

25 YEARS AGO (1975)

Springfield Supervisor Don Rogers is a little upset about county handling of the Davisburg Road washout at the end of town. One lane of the two-lane pavement was completely eroded during the big storm a couple of weeks ago, and nobody seems much interested in doing anything about it, he says.

If past percentage figures hold true, Clarkston School District can anticipate a hike in kindergarten enrollment next fall. Turn out for pre-kindergarten registration last week was higher than expected at Bailey Lake and North Sashabaw schools, according to school officials. Figures were about on target at Pine Knob. Andersonville, and Clarkston Elementary schools, they said.

The Independence Township Planning Commission, after listening to about 30 residents at an open hearing, rejected the recommendation of its planner and voted last week to keep 85 acres of land off Pine Knob Road north of Clarkston Road in an R-I-R (3 to 10 acre lots) zoning category.

Don Pringle, of Dearborn, purchased and took possession of the Seeterlin Bros., Inc., Chevrolet and Oldsmobile automobile agency, in Clarkston. The new owner comes to Clarkston after having been with the Chevrolet Division of General Motors for 19 years in their service, parts and sales departments.

A meeting of the Clarkston and surrounding school districts was held at the Clarkston School on Tuesday of this week to discuss needs of the district in the coming fifteen years for school buildings and facilities. It was disclosed that the present buildings are crowded at this time and that something has to be undertaken to care for the ever growing student load.

Following the Junior-Senior Banquet, the public is invited to attend and enjoy the last school dance for this year. The Juniors have engaged Emil Suit's Band to furnish the music and they are making a special effort to make this the outstanding event of the school year. Independence Township Police and Fire Sunday, May 7, a malicious destruction of property to an auto was reported at Laurelton. The victim reported that a pickup that his son drives was vandalized and his son's pager was stolen around midnight. No witnesses and no suspects have been reported at this time.

Saturday, May 6, consumption of alcohol by a person under 21 was reported at Summerhill and Pelton. The officer was dispatched to the scene on a possible assault and batter when he detected the smell of intoxicants coming from the area that he was sitting in, the front seat on the passenger's side. The subject took a PBT and was issued for a citation.

A vehicle fire was reported at I-75 south of M-15.

A personal injury accident was reported at Maybee, east of Dixie.

Friday, May 5, an OUIL incident was reported at Dixie Highway and M-15. An officer was alerted by a citizen that a person driving a van had struck his car with a beer bottle. The officer saw the vehicle exit off of Dixie Highway at M-15 into a parking lot. The vehicle was searched, and an open bottle of beer was found in the vehicle. The suspect, a 25-year old white male, was given a sobriety test and a PBT. He was placed under arrest for OUIL and transported to the Oakland County Jail.

A burglary without force was reported on Maybee. The victim said that he left his house on May 4 at approximately 3:30 p.m.. He said that his mother, who lives in the same house, had also left that house earlier the same day. When they returned home May 5, they noticed the TV missing from a room in the basement.

A personal injury accident was reported at Baldwin at Indianwood.

A grass fire was reported at southbound I-75 and Waldon.

A personal injury accident was reported at Dixie, south of Ortonville.

Thursday, May 4, a personal injury accident occurred on Sashabaw, south of Maybee.

Wednesday, May 3, a larceny of a trailer was reported at Waldon. The victim asked the property owner where the trailer was; the property owner said that the renters in the home had used it to move the snowmobile up north.

A personal injury accident was reported on Ortonville, north of I-75.

A larceny from a vehicle was reported at Dixie Highway and White Lake Road. The victim said that an unknown person(s) broke into the truck of their car and stole the following items: a 12" black subwoofer, valued at $500; a gray speaker enclosure, valued at $150; and an 800-watt black amplifier, valued at $800.

A counterfeit bill was passed at Sashabaw Road, north of Maybee Road. The victim said that while working the carry out window at a restaurant, someone in a van ordered a large Coke. When they pulled up to the window, the victim asked the man in the van if it was fake. The victim gave the $20 bill to the store manager, who determined that the bill was fake. The bill was placed in a packet and attached to the report. A personal injury accident was reported on Dixie, at White Lake.

Monday, May 1, a personal injury accident was reported on Sashabaw, at Waldon.

Sunday, Apr. 30, a larceny was reported at Sashabaw. The victim said he left on April 19 for Florida and left his lawn mower in his yard by the garage. He returned from Florida April 28 but didn't notice the lawn mower missing until he went to the yard on April 30 and it was gone.

Monday, Apr. 25, breaking and entering was reported on Clarkston Road. The victim said that he was advised that an unknown person(s) broke into the west side basement window of an empty white-framed farm house on the property. He reported the following items missing: a glass basement window, valued at $100; a Senco SLP Air Brad Nail Gun, valued at $189; a Mikita Minte Saw, valued at $230; a Dewalt Sawall and Battery, valued at $419; a Mikata 10-inch bench saw, valued at $155; a Hilti Nail Gun, valued at $735; and DeWalt drills, valued at $14.

Wolves win Ashley Relays

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Walt Wyniemko had sent Clarkston track teams to compete in the Ashley Relays 13 times, and the Wolves never won it. Perhaps 14 will be Wyniemko's new lucky number because this time around the Wolves came out on top. "It was just a great team victory for us. It was a big win for our program," Wyniemko said.

Clarkston finished first in five events including the middle distance relay, shuttle hurdle relay, distance medley relay, 3,200 meter run and 1,600 relay.

The Wolves set records in two events — the distance medley and the 1600 relay. The distance medley team of Kevin Breen, Mark Carlson, Brett Quantz and David Sage not only secured the win for Clarkston, but in doing so broke last year's record set by Lakeland. The Wolves finished the relay with a time of 10:27.1.

Pontiac Northern had the lead going into the day's final event, the 1600 relay, but in the final 20 meters of the race, Clarkston's Adam Gebus caught, all done an outstanding job," up to the Huskie runner and won the event with a time of 3:26.

"That race was incredibly close. He won it by a lean," Wyniemko said.

But as much as Gebus' effort was outstanding, Wyniemko said it was just one event.

'That was a great race, but it was just one event. We won the meet by having everybody contribute. All the grades pitched in and I can't say enough about our assistant coaches. Coach Kaul, Taylor and Powell have Wyniemko said.

The Independence Township Parks and Recreation lacrosse team has been having a great time

'Will lacrosse be the Wolves' next varsity sport?'

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer Just in case baseball, softball, soccer, tennis and golf weren't enough imagine adding lacrosse into the mix of Clarkston spring sports. It just may happen.

An estimated 60 Clarkston students between grades 8-12 turned out for the intramural team's first practices. Under head coach Toni Pierotti, the team is having a blast.

Clarkston athletic director Dan Fife said a procedure is being developed to allow new sports to be added which would be evaluated by the school board. "We know there is a lot of interest in the sport from the kids, but we have to have to look at travel arrangements. We can't be driving all over the state to play teams," Fife said.

While the team currently has an estimated 45 players on it, only 5 are girls. Fife said if Clarkston did add a boys lacrosse team, it would have to add a female sport as well, but not necessarily a girls lacrosse team.

The team began its work in March with some indoor play, but since the weather has improved, has begun playing outdoors. The team has students from Clarkston High School and a few from Clarkston Middle School.

Larry Sherrill and Kenwyn Chock have something in common. They've both built solid foundations for Clarkston first-year programs. Chock has done it in the pool, while Sherrill has been all smiles this spring on the golf course.

The Wolves took fourth place in the Eccentric Tournament May 3 out of 14 teams with a team score of 390. The tournament was held at Fieldstone Golf and Country Club in Auburn Hills.

Clarkston's top four scores came from freshman Ann Trim who tied for sixth overall with a 91. Junior Lauren Benner ended up with a 99 while senior Allison Olinger and sophomore Taylor Wilburn each ended the day shooting 100.

"I was really pleased with the way the kids shot out there. Considering we were playing against some top division I schools, to have us, a division three team take fourth overall, I think that shows that our program is on the way up. Another positive sign I saw was that I only took five golfers, but we had plenty of talent that didn't go. To see a freshman (Ann Trim) score so well," Sherrill said.

Trim, who just started playing golf this year said she felt very comfortable on the course even though the competition was tough.

"I just went out there and had fun. At first I was nervous, but all the girls from the other schools were nice to me, so that helped me to relax," Trim said.

Tennis team perfect in OAA II

Clarkston capped off their perfect 2000 league season with an 8-0 thrashing of Wateford Kettering May 2.

The Wolves went undefeated in the Oakland Activities Association Division II this year beating Groves, Kimball, Avondale, Berkley and most recently Kettering, but a stiff challenge is still on the horizon.

The Wolves will take on Rochester in a dual match May 15. The Falcons are ranked in the top 10 in the state.

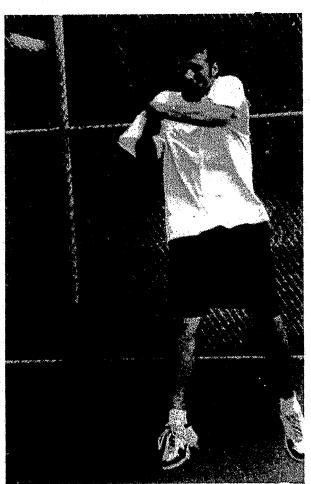

"Usually we hope to win a few flights, but this year I think we've got a chance at beating them outright," Ortwine said.

That's due in large part to the success of the Wolves singles players who have enjoyed plenty of success this season. But while the singles players have been strong since the season began, the doubles players have really come along Ortwine said.

"Dustin Kring and Eric Herzog at one doubles have really improved their game as of late. They're winnng a lot of close matches, which means they're match tough. Also, our three doubles team of Matt Poley and Jacob Roderick have been beating people handily and are really gaining confidence as a team," Ortwine said.

Clarkston also hosts the league meet May 11, and Ortwine knows his team is the favorite to win.

"We've beaten everybody in the league and being at home gives us a little advantage. You wouldn't think that there would be a stong home court advantage in tennis, but I think it'll help us somewhat," Ortwine said.

Spring didn't put the 'break' on Wolves success

Most of the Clarkston coaches were concerned about how their teams would fair after spring break. Both the softball and baseball teams were enjoying success, as were the tennis, golf, track and soccer teams. But even though Clarkston athletes may be dying to get out of the classroom, their efforts on the field haven't dropped a bit since spring break.

The Bottom Line

Ed Davis

Golf — Larry Sherrill's golf team put up a fourth place finish at a tournament last week out of 14 schools. He was hoping to slip in the top half somewhere, but a fourth place finish against some pretty experienced teams has given coach Sherrill plenty of reason to believe the Clarkston girls golf program will enjoy success for some time to come.

standout performance this week came from softball pitcher Lisa Ferguson. The junior pitched both games in Clarkston's double header win over Lake Orion and only gave up three runs during the afternoon. The Wolves put together a nice string of wins as they improved their record from 5-5 to 11-5.

Tennis — Kevin Ortwine's tennis team polished off a perfect 5-0 OAA Division II season by knocking off Waterford Kettering 8-0. The singles play of Andrew Brown, Scott Barnett, Mike Rashid and Patrick Heber has been strong all season, but Ortwine has more reasons to smile with the improved doubles play of Dustin Kring and Eric Herzog as well as Matt Poley and Jacob Roderick.

Track — Congrats to Walt Wyniemko's crew who took first place for the first time in 14 attempts at the Ashley Relays over the weekend. Another team effort from all involved once again. Two records set and a nailbiting finish. A great weekend for the Wolves track program.

Baseball --- What happened to that team I saw beat Troy a few weeks back? Adams made the Wolves look like the Tigers, giving up hit after hit. Too many mistakes in that one. But it's only one game and they're still 4-1 in the OAA I.

Soccer — The Wolves got back on track with a win late last week over Lapeer West in what was easily the most exciting soccer game I've ever covered. The Wolves looked sharp offensively, and got their usual strong defensive and goaltending efforts to help an improving offense. Tami Mitchell's done a fine job with her team.

Lacrosse — I had the opportunity to play goalie Saturday afternoon for the Independence Township Parks and Rec lacrosse team. It was the first time I've ever touched a lacrosse stick, or seen the game in person. Although I consider myself a halfway decent street hockey goalie, I looked like a fish out of water on Saturday morning. It was plenty obvious that any athletic ability I once had, and I stress the word any, is just about gone. I made one save in over an hour, but I had a good time. Thanks to Toni Pierotti and his wife for giving me the chance to play with the team. The future looks bright for this up and coming program.

Clarkston News Staff Writer Lake Orion struck first, but they didn't strike often.

Clarkston, with the help of great pitching from Lisa Ferguson, improved to 11-5 overall and 6-3 in the Oakland Activities Association Division I with two wins over Lake Orion May 3.

Clarkston didn't get its usual strong hitting, but it did get solid defense, and that's what coach Al Land said was the key to the game.

"I was pleased with the way our kids played. I told them it would be a one run game and that we'd need good defense," Land said.

Good defense has been the Wolves strong point all season. After Ferguson gave up the Dragons only run in the first inning, she finished the game throwing six scoreless innings. She limited the Dragons to just two runs in the second game.

"Lisa was really on for us today. She pitched so well in the opener, that I decided to start her in the second game too," Land said.

After being held scoreless for the first five innings, Clarkston finally got on the board in the sixth. Mary Warchuck's RBI single brought home Ferguson from third. Candace Morgan then followed suit by getting a single, which moved Warchuck to second. Nicole Thrift's bunt helped move Clarkston's runners to second and third. Then wild pitched by Lake Orion brought home Warchuck to give Clarkston a 2-1 edge heading into the seventh inning.

Ferguson gave up a two out single, but the Dragons failed to score in the final inning.

"Our girls are communicating more on the field and as long as we cut down the errors we should be in good shape. If we can stay in the game, we can win it," Land said.

learning how to play and getting down the basics of the game. We've gotten lots of equipment donated from colleges and some kids have gone out and picked up their own equipment," Pierotti said.

Pierotti is planning to break down the group of 45 players into three teams of 15 and will play against each other in round robin style tournaments, but playing against other area teams is something Pierotti is looking at doing in the future.

"We'd like to make a travel team and play against some neighboring teams next year. I think the odds of it becoming a varsity sport down the road are pretty good," Pierotti said.

Interested players can sign up for the team at Independence Township Parks and Recreation offices for a $40 fee. Players must purchase their own stick and pads and are strongly encouraged to purchase a helmet.

To help raise money for helmets, the team is selling t-shirts for $15 at its practices which are held usually three times a week across from Clarkston High School.

Athlete of the Week: Lisa Ferguson

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Three-year varsity softball player Lisa Ferguson has been a key part of this year's team. Her contributions on the mound and at the plate have been part of the reason why the Wolves have done so well this year.

Ferguson pitches and plays outfield for Clarkston. One of her best performances came in the May 3 double header against Lake Orion. She pitched both games, limiting the Dragons to three runs and scored the tying run in game one.

"That was a big win. It puts us back in the league race," Ferguson said after the game.

Ferguson, who also plays varsity volleyball, said she's improved in her pitching over the course of the season by adding more pitches.

"My fast ball and change up have both gotten better. I think they do a good job of keeping hitters off balance," she said.

Ferguson, who has been playing softball since she was 5, has some high expectations for the Wolves this year.

"We're in a hot streak right now. I think we're good a team as any team in the league," she said. She added that while her pitching is strong her hitting has improved as well. "I've moved up to number two in the batting. lineup. Last year they made me a left handed hitter which helped. I think my speed can get me on base," she said. With all the qualities Ferguson brings to the softball diamond, she plays like she's a senior. But she's only a junior. She has a whole other year ahead of her.

Track team dominates Northern

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

If Pontiac Northern is a powerhouse as much as Clarkston boys track coach Walt Wyniemko says it is, than consider the Wolves the wrecking ball as the Wolves have beaten the Huskies two years a row.

Clarkston's 66-62 win over Pontiac Northern on May 3 wasn't because of one key part. Rather it was the combined effort of Clarkston's sprinters, distance runners and field event athletes that did the job.

"All I can say is that it was a total team effort. Northern is a powerhouse and any time you can beat them it's a great accomplishment. We've beaten them two years in a row now," Wyniemko said.

While the Huskies did show an edge in the sprints, Clarkston's middle distance and field events gave them the added boost they needed.

Senior Ryan Clement was an integral part of the Clarkston victory. His first place finishes in both the discus and shot put helped the Wolves cause.

"Coach Wyniemko is a great coach. He's a fun guy. I think I've improved in my discus. I think it's caught up to my shot put now," Clement said.

His best throws in his events were a 47'8" shot put throw and a 125' discus throw. Clement attributes much of his track success to shot put and discus coach Kyle Powell.

"He's younger than coach Wyniemko and I relate to him better," Clement said.

letter in track, but has earned four in football. The Clarkston lineman will be playing for Grand Valley State-University in the fall, but said track is a nice change of pace from football.

"It's a more relaxed sport out here. It's a lot more laid back than football," he said.

Another standout field event specialist on Clarkston's track team has been Eric Bauer, who is very similar to Clement. He competes in the same events, and also competes on the track team to keep in shape for football. Bauer will be playing on the offensive line at Albion next year.

"Coach Wyniemko jokes around a lot, but he's a good motivator. He's very knowledgeable about all of the events. Right now my shot put's going well for me," Bauer said. "Track is a nice contrast to football. You can just come out here and have a good time," Bauer said.

Turning towards the professional sports world, I, like many area sports fans, are mourning the loss of the Detroit Red Wings. I'm not sure if there's much general manager Ken Holland will do with his team. Certainly there are plenty of questions about some of the players' ages, playoff performances and salaries. I'll give my briefing of what I think of this year's team.

1. The better team won. It's really that simple. Peter Forsberg was way better than Sergei Federov. Still, Federov was one of the Wings' best players along with Chris Osgood and Tomas Holmstrom. Those were the best three Wings in the series.

2. As good as Ozzie was, Roy was better. Ozzie gave the Wings a chance to win games one and two, but had his worst game when the Wings needed him the most. However, his supporting cast didn't help that much.

3. Lidstrom's game five. I love Lidstrom and I think he's the Wings' best player, but he was out played in game five and had the team's worst plusminus with a minus six.

Now there's plenty of talk about how the Wings are too old to make another run at the cup. Certainly the Wings are showing some age, but I think they lost to the best team in hockey right now. The Avalanche have only lost four games since signing defensman Ray Borque from Boston, and they didn't appear to miss him any in game five. The way they're playing now, look for the Avalanche to hoist Lord Stanley's Cup once more.

Girls take fourth at Romeo Invite tive trip to the Romeo Invitational, where Gordie Richardson's crew took fourth out of the 14 competing schools May 5.

"We had some good, performances, not great. It wasn't a bad meet, but not great either," Richardson said.

Richardson said the competition was solid at the meet and that most of the competing schools were from Macomb County. He added that both host Romeo and Lake Orion gave the Wolves some tough competition.

Highlighting the meet for Clarktston was Rachel Uchman's personal best and second place finish in the 800 meter. She finished with a time of 2:25.8

Clarkston girls track coach Gordie Richardson said Pontiac Northern was a team on the rise, but his girls were up to the challenge.

The Wolves 70-58 win May 3 helped bump Clarkston's record to 3-0.

"We did well in our field events and we had a lot of kids give some really great performances in that meet," Richardson said.

The Wolves second half of the season will have them visiting Troy May 11 and hosting the Clarkston Invitational May 13. Rochester comes to town May 16.

The insurance industry provides protection against financial losses resulting from a variety of perils. By purchasing insurance policies, individuals and businesses can receive reimbursement for losses due to car accidents, theft of property, fire and storm damage, medical expenses, and loss of income due to disability or death. The insurance industry is mainly comprised of insurance carriers or "insurers", and insurance agents and brokers. In general, insurance carriers are large companies that provide insurance and assume the risks covered by the policy. Agents and brokers sell insurance policies for the carriers, and work either for themselves or for relatively small firms.

Working Conditions

Sales personnel, including agents and brokers, often visit prospective and existing customers' homes and places of business to market new products and provide services. Claims adjusters existing customers homes and places or business to market new products and provide services. Claims adjusters frequently leave the office to inspect damaged property.

A small but increasing number of insurance employees spend most of their time on the telephone working in callcenters, answering questions and providing information to prospective clients or current policyholders. These jobs may include selling insurance, taking claims information, or answering medical questions. Because these centers operate 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, they involve working evening and weekend shifts. The irregular business hours in the insurance industry provide some workers with the opportunity for part-time work. Part-time employees make up 8.8% of the workforce.

To be an insurance agent you must love people, be ready for constant change, be able to do a dozen things at the same time, and willing to work long hours!

Many people think it is an easy job, but with the constant law changes, company changes, technology changes, and client need changes, it is a learning experience every day.

You must be licensed, of course, in either property and casualty or life and health, or both, to be an agent. You then must take 30 hours of continuing education each two years to maintain your license. There are other classes avilable, such as LUTC, sponsored by the Life Underwriting Training Council, for life insurance training, and much individual company training.

Clients ask your advice about a variety of topics, such as what to do when they have an auto accident, what they will pay when their child begins to drive, how much insurance will be on a variety of cars, and what kind of coverage they need.

It helps to have a good memory and caring personality, as clients like to be remembered by their name and face, and feel that you are their trusted friend. Much information they give you is very personal, and they must have that trust.

It takes years to build a good agency, not overnight, but it is well worth the time and effort if you are patient and willing to work!

Clarkston coach Tami Mitchell said her team worked well together.

"I think we communicated a lot more. We made a lot of runs and we supported each other well. We made good passes and saw the field and made good decisions," Mitchell said.

The Wolves looked like they were going to have a field day as Angela Humphreys got the Wolves on the board early, giving Clarkston a 1-0 edge at 37:19 of the first half.

But the Panthers struck right back by getting one past goalie Sarah Morgan about a minute later to tie the game at one.

Kelly Plante put Clarkston back in the lead with 7:20 to go before the break and the Wolves enjoyed a one goal lead at the intermission.

After three tremendous saves about 15 minutes into the second half, the Wolves got an excellent chance of their own, but Megan Medina's shot sailed just wide left with 16:30 to play.

Two minutes later Jenn Carlson had another quality scoring chance, but her shot from in front of the Panther goal sailed over the cross bar.

Clarkston appeared to have victory in hand as the Wolves clung to their slim one goal lead with a minute to play. However, a handball violation on Clarkston gave the Panthers a free kick at the Clarkston net, but it hit the top right corner and bounced out as Clarkston ran out the clock.

"I almost lost it with that free kick at the end. Kelly and Angela played great. I stuck Angela up front in the last couple games and she scored a goal both games," Mitchell said.

We Are SIDING Trim & GUTTER Specialists

We are not a Jack-of-all-trades. We can not guarantee you the absolute lowest price, as we will not sacrifice the quality products or workmanship that you deserve. What we will guarthat you deserve. What we will guar-antee is an honest and fair price with products and workmanship of the highest quality. We also do our own work. We do not Sub-contract it out, or sell it. So if you are only looking for the cheepest way out, call someone else who claims they can beat any price. If you are looking for an honest and fair price, quality products and workmanship, dependability, and someone that will still be here after your job is completed, give us a call. Total customer satisfaction is our only acceptable standard. Help-ing you make your home the one you're always dreamed of is what we do.
