School millage passes; Foyteck, McLean retain board seats

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston Community Schools residents overwhelmingly approved a non-homestead millage restoration at the annual school election June 12.

By a 844-481 margin, voters approved a three-mill restoration millage on business, commercial and industrial properties, allowing the district to continue to levy 18 mills on non-homestead property.

All districts, by law, are entitled to levy 18 mills against non-homestead property; however, the Headlee Amendment, passed in 1978, states that if property assessments rise faster than the rate of inflation, this levy is reduced.

At this point, the district levies a total of 16.8375 mills against non-homestead property.

"I am pleased that our community has once again supported the efforts of the school district," said Dr. Al Roberts, superintendent of Clarkston Community Schools, in a press release.

In addition to approving the millage, Clarkston voters also reelected two current Board of Education members to their seats for four more years.

Current board secretary Mary Ellen McLean led the way with 869 votes, while president Karen Foyteck received 808 votes. The third candidate for the board, Stephen Hyer, received 612 votes.

McLean expressed her gratitude at being reelected.

"I'm very pleased," she said. "I'm looking forward to improving the quality of education in Clarkston."

She was also pleased that the voters approved the non-homestead millage for the district.

"I think it's great that the community supported this initiative," she said. "We need the extra dollars."

Roberts' contract extended to 2005

School board notes Roberts' 'Positive direction, commitment to open dialogue'

Clarkston's superintendent of schools, Dr. Al Roberts, has been invited to stay on at least until the year 2005.

The board of education extended his contract one year at Monday's school board meeting.

Roberts' base salary is $125,000, plus medical, dental and vision benefits. He did not receive a percentage increase to his base salary this year. In addition to the extension, this year he will receive a performance bonus of $5,000, as well as a tax-deferred annuity of $2,500 and an increase in his automobile allowance, from $400 monthly to $450.

School board president Karen Foyteck commended Roberts' performance as superintendent. "We are most appreciative of your strong leadership skills," she said.

In a statement read at the meeting, Foyteck cited the "positive direction" that Roberts has given the district, as well as his "commitment to open dialogue" and his presence at schools and activities.

Roberts, who has been superintendent since 1996, thanked board members for their kind words. He said the successes are owed to team work and he's happy to be part of this team.

Power outages close four schools

Clarkston High School, Sashabaw Middle School, Bailey Lake and Clarkston Elementary schools were closed due to power outages from an early morning storm Tuesday, according to Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts.

"The storm came at the worst possible time," he said, because some students were already on their way to school.

The closure will not affect the end of classes on Friday, he added.

The News in Brief

Elementary school lunch prices to increase

At its regular Monday night meeting, the Clarkston school board approved an increase from $1.60 to $1.75 for elementary school lunches during the 2000-01 school year.

Linda Nester, director of administrative and personnel services for the district, said the need for an increase was due to the rising costs for food and labor over the last two years.

"I don't believe we've increased our lunch prices since '98," she said.

Lunch prices at the middle and high school level will remain the same for next year.

In an April 13 memo to Nester, Janet Meads, food service supervisor, pointed out the costs for lunches in surrounding districts.

Elementary school lunches in the Brandon, Lake Orion, and Oxford districts each cost $1.50. All three districts are proposing an increase for the 2000-01 school year, according to Meads.

Waterford and West Bloomfield charged $1.75 apiece, and Rochester charged $2 per lunch.

Springfield Township severs ties with SEMCOG

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Springfield Township's alliance with SEMCOG (Southeast Michigan Coalition of Governments) is no more.

However, it was a close call on the part of the Springfield Township board. The board, by a 4-3 margin, voted to discontinue their association with SEMCOG at their June 8 meeting.

Voting in favor of severing ties with SEMCOG were treasurer Lois Stiles and trustees Margaret Bloom, Elaine Field-Smith, and Richard Miller.

Meanwhile, supervisor Collin Walls, clerk Nancy Strole, and trustee Dennis Vallad voted against the measure.

In a June 1 memo to the township board, Strole originally recommended that the township decline to renew its membership with SEMCOG, stating that "I believe the Township can no longer justify paying dues to or investing our limited time in SEMCOG."

"Over the years SEMCOG programs and actions have become increasingly irrelevant to our Township. I see no prospect that this will change anytime soon," she said in her memo.

She explained why she reconsidered her decision and decided to vote in favor of renewal.

"In retrospect, I decided that there were advantages to the township for remaining in SEMCOG," Strole said. "While I'm not at all satisfied with SEMCOG, I still believe that there are advantages."

Nonetheless, Strole stated that SEMCOG and the township have drifted apart in the past few years, commenting that perhaps sometime in the future, things will be different.

"We think there is a disconnect with SEMCOG's priorities and with our priorities and focus," she said. "Maybe at some future point, the board will reassess. It's unfortunate."

'This is your guardian angel'

Sales clerk finds and returns cash, credit cards to local woman

BY ELLY SPINWEBER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Random acts of kindness are often considered a scarce commodity. However, Clarkston resident Sue Johnson's stock just went up.

On the afternoon of May 30, Johnson and her sons went shopping at CVS on Dixie Highway in Clarkston.

While loading her purchases into the car, one of her young sons dove at a pair of scissors to open a bag of candy.

Distracted, Johnson pushed her cart away and jumped in the car.

Forty minutes later, she realized her fanny pack, which contained cash, checks and credit cards, was not with her.

At the same time, GNC employee Cheston Carson was on his way to work when he noticed a bag hanging from one of the carts in the CVS parking lot.

He stopped to pick it up, then brought it to GNC. Once at the store, Carson looked through the pack for Johnson's license and, based on her name and address, located her phone number in the phone book and gave her a call.

When Johnson picked up the phone, she heard a voice say, "Sue Johnson? This is your guardian angel."

Carson went on to tell her the story.

"I wanted to let her know someone was actually watching out for her," Carson said.

By returning her purse, Carson "restored my faith in people," Johnson said.

She added when she offered a reward in thanks, Carson refused and said, "No, just say thank you."

He said someone had previously done the same for him, so he was returning the good deed.

"I was just incredibly impressed and very touched by his kindness," Johnson said. "People like him don't always get the credit they deserve."

Cheston Carson is Sue Johnson's guardian angel.

Life-like dolls getting double-takes from passers-by

BY MARALEE COOK
Clarkston New Editor

When people see Judy Nichols walking down the street with an armful of babies, they can't help but ask to hold one — or more. She has been showing them off lately, to the delight of everyone who sees them.

Judy recently became a dealer for a company that manufactures life-like dolls. It's a good match for the Clarkston mother of three grown children, because she doesn't have any grandchildren yet.

What's unique about them is that they can be made so no two look alike, said Judy. There are over 40 facial expressions to choose from. And you can also choose skin color — with or without freckles, eye color, hair color and hair style.

The dolls are 22 inches in size. Judy said the company does have smaller and larger sized dolls available, but the 22-inch size is the most lifelike and most asked for.

The dolls wear size 0 to 3 month baby clothes, and Judy said she has a ball shopping for them. She takes the dolls with her to make sure everything fits.

Judy said she's planning to start classes soon for customers who would like to put together a doll of their own. Appropriately titled "Let's make a baby," Judy said customers could make their own dolls in a one-day workshop. The dolls could also be personalized with their own child's saved baby clothes, she added.

She also thinks people would enjoy a doll-making class for mothers and daughters. "Girls ages eight and up would be able to make the dolls," she said.

Judy first saw the dolls at a craft show while visiting family in central Florida. She contacted the manufacturer to become a dealer.

"When I'm walking with the dolls, almost everybody says, 'I thought you were holding a real baby,'" she said.

Judy poses with some of her "babies". She has a soft spot in her heart for the third doll from the left because it's the first one she made, and it won't be sold, she said.

she said.

Judy and her husband Therm, who retired as owner of Nichols Heating and Cooling a year and a half ago, also sell Herbalife products.

With the new business of selling dolls, often at craft shows, "Therm says we're going to be like gypsies. At a craft show recently Therm sat at the booth with the dolls while I went to a friend's Baptism. He told people he was babysitting," laughed Judy.

Working with dolls is not new to Judy. She's collected them for 20 years. She still has her own childhood dolls, like Princess Summer, Fall, Winter, Spring from the Howdy Doody show and dolls from other countries.

Judy has 20 dolls on display, and other choices are available through a catalog. Judy sells the dolls fully dressed for $125. Without clothes they are $100. The dolls are also available at Village Apparel and Gifts at 12 S. Main St. in downtown Clarkston. For more information call Judy at 625-4051.

Independence votes to keep financial experts

BY ELLY SPINWEBER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Independence Township Board hosted much debate at its June 6 meeting, when members reviewed their contractual relationship with Aileron, Ltd., an investment company hired to extricate the township from derivative problems it had several years ago.

Though in the end the board voted to continue the use of Aileron's services on an hourly rate, discussion was lengthy and debate heated.

The board currently employs Aileron, Munder Capital, and Comerica Bank to handle the township's fixed income portfolio. However, the ongoing necessity of Aileron, which was hired for "the specific purpose of assisting (the township) in extricating itself from the derivative debacle and losses," said trustee Neil Wallace in memo to the board, was questioned at the meeting.

Trustee Jim Wenger also wrote a memo to the board, in which he expressed the township's need for Aileron's services:

"There have been several occasions when there has been a difference of opinion concerning a possible trade or sale...Aileron provided the discipline to stay focused on our objectives" he stated in the memo.

Board members themselves seem to see Aileron owner and township investment expert Ken Carroll as an assurance to the townships' financial stability.

"I think Ken Carroll is a very good safeguard to the township," said township supervisor Dale Stuart.

Wallace, however, was adamant that Aileron's services are no longer necessary to the township.

"We're spending money here we could well spend in other areas within the township," he said.

He added he did not believe the township needed a company to oversee its elected treasurer.

When the final vote came, there was some confusion on the part of Wenger, who, misinterpreting the motion made, voted incorrectly.

He moved for retraction, without which the vote would have been an even split.

The retraction was approved and the board again voted on the issue.

Continuing the use of Aileron's services was approved 4-3, with trustees Travis, Wenger, Rosso and Stuart approving and Wallace, McCrary and McGee opposing.

Spring Lake North lighting turned down

BY ELLY SPINWEBER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Heated discussion took place at the Independence Township Board Meeting June 6, when residents of Spring Lake North subdivision argued against a proposal that would add more lighting in the development.

During the meeting's public hearing, most residents in attendance objected to the creation of a Special Assessment District (S.A.D) to pay for more street lights in the development.

The formation of the S.A.D would require residents to be assessed $44,000 for lighting installation. The fee would be divided evenly amongst homes in the subdivision. Usage fees would also be added to yearly taxes.

In the end, board members agreed unanimously to reject the proposal, due to the fact, "a prevalent commanding majority (in favor of lighting) has not been presented here," said board member Larry Rosso.

At the April 18 township meeting, the board tabled the original proposal to proceed with the project, allowing members of Spring Lake North time to further discuss the possibility of implementing the lights. At the time, residents were almost equally divided on the issue.

This most recent meeting was much like the first. Residents, still divided, argued the issue and the fact many felt they were not given ample opportunity to discuss it with the association board.

"In my opinion, nothing significant has happened (with the board)," said resident Donald Cummings.

Cummings added the residents did not get together to make a decision about the lighting as a community.

Other community members felt the association board presented slanted information about the lights and was not up front about the issue.

"When petitioners came door-to-door (with a resident survey in regards to lighting), I asked 'Are you telling people up front that this is a tax assessment?'" said Annette Boyer.

She added petitioners said it was not necessary at that point in the process.

However, many association board members felt there was little participation on the side of the community.

Though there was no formal meeting on the issue, association secretary Kim Brown said residents were made aware of lighting updates through both newsletter and email notifications.

She added the board did not, at any time, slant this issue or try to persuade residents.

"Board members did not in any way try to

Springfield incumbents seek reelection

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Four current trustees on the Springfield Township board hope to continue their service for another four years.

Incumbents Margaret Bloom, Elaine Field-Smith, Dick Miller, and Dennis Vallad all have filed for reelection to the board. All but Miller will be seeking a second full term as trustees.

The four will be joined on the ballot by newcomer Dave Hopper.

Miller began his tenure on the Springfield Township board by filling the vacancy of another trustee. He was appointed to the board in November 1997 after Charles Oaks left the board to become the township's fire chief.

In 1995, Miller set up a consulting and business services practice in the Clarkston area. He and his wife, Kathie, moved to Springfield Township in November 1996, and he joined the Clarkston Rotary in 1997.

Miller has been involved with a wide range of township issues since joining the board in 1997.

He chaired the township salary review committee, and is a member of the Dixie Highway Corridor Development Committee.

In addition, he served as the information technology officer for the township, coordinating the Y2K and computer upgrade process last year, and is a member of the township's master plan update team.

Miller said that he believes that the township is on the verge of a great deal of business and residential growth, and that how that growth is managed will impact the township's future.

He said the area's rural atmosphere is particularly attractive.

"When you look at the headwater, you have kind of a unique geography," Miller said. "You're close enough to the city if you need to get there."

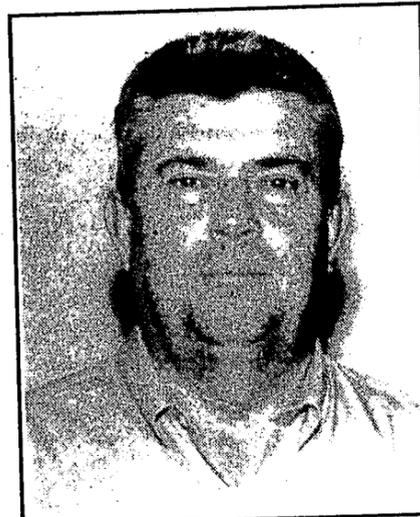

Bloom, a 10-year resident of Springfield Township, said that she is concerned about making sure the township develops in a responsible manner.

"I'm interested in the quality development, making sure our community develops in an organized and planned method," she said. "I know that progress is inevitable, but I know that with good

Decker will challenge Walls for supervisor in Springfield

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Throughout his life, Jeff Decker has gained experience in a wide variety of public speaking roles.

The Springfield Township resident hopes to put those qualities to use in political office, having filed as a candidate for township supervisor. He will be opposing longtime Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls.

Decker believes he can contribute a new perspective and new ideas to the township if elected. He hopes to maintain the rural atmosphere of the area.

"I just believe that it's time for a change," he said. "I've gotten a lot of support from the people in the area. It's one of the most open-land areas in Oakland County. If someone doesn't keep a close eye on it, it could become urban sprawl."

Decker said he understands that people may be afraid of a new face on

Letters To The Editor

WEunite helps plant new ideas, values to share

Dear Editor,

WEunite introduced "What Is Family?", a community expression, May 21.

A good time was had by all. It was a time for sharing and caring, and people learned more about the organization of WEunite -- its purpose and direction.

The goal is to bring together the Wisdom of Elders and the Energy of Youth to create a community of understanding and support by connecting generations.

This nondenominational organization meets on the fourth Wednesday of every month (no meeting in August) at St. Daniel Church, 7010 Valley Park Dr.

It all started with a dream that Maria Rotondo Mark had as a child. She grew up in a community of caring people, all looking out for one another. The dream is now a reality for others -- keep the ball rolling.

Several families shared their feelings about family and opened their hearts to a community willing to listen.
One family who shared was a single mother, with two daughters and a son.

It was really touching to hear about their lives.
The son spoke about his mom and how she has always been there for him. His message touched everyone's heart.

I am thirteen myself and you don't hear too many teenage boys talk that way about their moms. It was very special. You could tell his mother had a very big impact on his life. My Nana, who came all the way from Wisconsin to be a part of this day, pointed out his good qualities as what to look for in a person.

I also had the honor of speaking about my family that I love very much. Hearing all the families that night was a confirmation of how important love is in any kind of family.

The Deer Lake Athletic Club did a great job with the food. The cake was great and so was the Tiramisu donated by LaVilla Ristorante on Sashabaw Rd.

After the program we danced to the music of DJ Kent Korbut of Corporate Entertainment Services. We were really jamming it up! It was such a blast. I love to dance and I wasn't the only one. What a fun way to relate!

Seed packets were given to all who attended -- a reminder of how nurtured seeds will grow to be full and productive, like the youth of our community. My seeds are already planted and hopefully yours are too!

Plant ideas, share your values, make new friends, and spread the seed of the WEunite vision.

The more we reach out, the more we learn and the more we understand. We are more alike than we are different in the big picture of life. The only difference is we don't all face the same issues at the same time, whether in our immediate families or community family.

Thank God.

Building bridges with camaraderie, laughter

Dear Editor,

Northwest Oakland Community Services, a local non-profit organization whose purpose is to identify and provide for unmet needs on a volunteer basis in Northwest Oakland County, successfully accomplished a "Building Bridges" project June 3.

Eleven area group homes had spring plantings by local volunteers, Brownies and Girl Scout troops. Holly's Sherman Middle School Special Education Department participated by having students assist in growing seedlings to be planted. A number of area residents generously donated perennials from their gardens to be used in the planting.

Building Bridges projects specifically target persons with a disability and seniors who are in need of assistance. These projects provide home beautification with an all-important secondary goal of bringing the community into the lives of persons with little opportunity to interact.

There was much laughter, camaraderie, and enrichment in the day-to-day lives of people on Saturday as residents joined the volunteers in enjoying cookies and lemonade.

Schwarzenegger is no hero to me

In the 1980s male heroes in movies were tough loners doing John Wayne way more than one better.
Not only did they save a damsel or two in distress, but also cities, countries, planets and even solar systems.

Some of the movies were great entertainment, but provided a tall order to fill in terms of male role models.

Then smack dab in the middle of all of these buff guys grandstanding, I found my movie hero -- a balding, paunchy Beau Bridges, brother to a cooler looking Jeff.
They both starred with Michelle Pfeiffer in the late 1980s movie The Fabulous Baker Boys.

Jeff and Beau played the Baker brothers who are piano players in small-time clubs. When they take the sultry Pfeiffer on as a singer, they move up in the club world, but it's just a temporary improvement. Pfeiffer's and Jeff's short affair and a new job for Pfeiffer send the boys back to their dull, mostly non-profit partnership.

Beau's character is fussy. He schedules the trio, keeps them cleaned up, demands professionalism and handles the money. The movie focuses mostly on Pfeiffer and Jeff -- two self-indulgent, jaded, chain smokers who should be doing better than they are (and eventually do).
The movie plays up Pfeiffer's fine singing and the chemistry between her and Jeff, and I thought that would be about all to the story until a fight scene between the brothers, in which, for me at least, dumpy Beau stole the movie.

Jeff complains that Beau only lines up crummy joints for them to play and he mocks Beau because he lets the owners pay them less than they're worth.

Rolling Along

Maralee Cook

Beau defends himself, saying,
"There are people in this world who depend on me. I've got a wife and two kids who expect to wake up each morning with food on the table and heat in the house. I have to be responsible. I have to make sure the numbers balance out at the end of each month in my favor, so everyone else can go on with their lives."

I love that last line -- "... so everyone else can go on with their lives."
That to me has been the essence of what most men do. They work very hard -- hopefully at a job of their choice -- so that their families can pursue goals and hobbies and all can enrich their lives.

So, on this Father's Day, I'll be thanking my husband and father for their hard work, making it possible for the rest of us to go on with our lives.

Busted pipeline, yeah, that's the ticket

Raise your hand if you swallowed your tongue this past weekend when visiting your friendly neighborhood gas station. The economy gas, also known as, "the cheap stuff," was $1.99 a gallon.

A buck ninety-nine.

My head nearly popped off when I disobeyed Saturday's "Ozone Action Day" and topped off my weed whacker gallon gas can and my two gallon lawn mower can. That little exercise in destroying the earth's ecology cost me seven bones. (If'n any of you math geniuses are 'cipher'n and knot and knot don't add up to $7, relax. I filled the cans to the brim, there were more than three gallons pumped.)

I'm sure the local station owners and clerks are feeling the wrath of their customers, too. I know it's not their fault, their prices are dictated from somewhere else. Still when the young man behind the counter ask, "Will that be it, sir?" I couldn't help but snidely quip, "That's it. I can't afford anything else." And then left quickly, wincing because that wasn't very polite of me

Tree-hugging Al Gore must be a happy man. Those who destroy the earth's upper atmosphere by using combustion engines ought to pay, and dearly.

That aside, I think I'm getting ready to join the conspiracy mongers when it comes to pimping us at the filling pumps. How ironic, I find it, that gas prices are skyrocketing at the same those in power are raising interest rates -- the later to stem any theoretical inflation that may overcome our nation in the near future.

In other words, somebody somewhere is putting the double whammy on us so we won't have as much money to spend.

I read a news article that said area gas prices are up 51.4 cents from last year, to their new 20-year high. That $2 a gallon we're paying to pump our own fuel was only $1.64 last week. Prices were on the steady increase even before last week's gasoline pipeline problem. This same news article also stated Exxon Mobil Corp., Conoco Inc., and Texaco, Inc. all reported first quarter earnings had "more than doubled" as a result of higher oil prices and refining profits.

I know it cost them more to buy oil and I know then, that it'll cost us more. Simple economics. But, I guess when I do the cipher'n, if we're all paying more how do they get to "more than double their profits?"

It smells as bad as it tastes when you accidentally swallow a bit of the gas you're trying to siphon out of your old man's car. Not that I ever did that, mind you. And, if I did, it was only a gallon or two to run the lawn mower.

I guess I too find it amazing that the bursting of one 16-inch gasoline line can cause so much cussing and fussing across an entire state-- the automotive and boating capitols of the world, no less.

Is it so easy to bring us to our knees, as to bust a pipeline? If that is the case, I would assume terrorists across the world would know this and really put the hurt on us. Are we, the Great Satan of the West, so vulnerable?

I'd hate to think that. But, I just did and it smarts.

Officials, the news story said, are investigating how that pipe burst. I'd like to read that report.

And, I'd also like to know how many other gasoline pipelines in other states have "accidentally" burst in recent history. Did prices jump like they did here in Michigan? An easy way for some quick capital? You make the call.

Maybe I'm reading too much into this. Maybe it's just weird timing of bad luck. Or, maybe I'm just -- what's the word I'm looking for, oh -- cheap, and I hate to spend more money than I'm used to.

Probably the later. So much for uncovering a smackin', frackin' conspiracy.

Why put hip pockets in women's pants?

Think about it.

Why would pant makers even think (imagine) that women would add anything to bring attention to or add to that portion of their body?

Men, of course, are different. We stuff back pockets with triple-folds, cards, pictures and money holders, three golf balls, a daily paper and a sandwich off one hip and a cell phone, beeper and handkerchief in the other.

(Well, maybe not the handkerchief. Don't see them being hauled out much in recent years.)

I asked Hazel, who in her specie, might use a hip pocket. She said lady golfers put their glove there when putting. I personally have never seen this, but neither do I dispute Hazel.

I surveyed the women in our office and found only one who ever put anything in her hip pocket. This very slender gal said she sometimes puts her credit card there. That's one card.

Women don't need hip pockets; they've got purses. So, why does C. Klein, DKNY, Ann Taylor, etc. put them there? Maybe it's to add to the cost for those who like to pay more for things.

Maybe it's to interrupt a smooth flow for those who like the seamed look.

Jim's
Jottings

Jim Sherman

They can't all have just lady golfers in mind as their buyers.

At least some ladies short and pant makers should be thinking of cutting costs for selling to the masses. There has to be a savings in cost if there is less stitching, less thread and less material.

Of course, I don't make a practice of looking at ladies' rears, but I have lived a long time so there have been glances.

And, never in all my born days have I seen a pair of shorts or pants on a woman with anything in a rear pocket.

Hips (and what's behind them) are often emphasized in bathing suit and lingerie advertising, and in some of those ads for exotic dancers - though I've seen them only after having them pointed out by others.

Except for the very slim, women won't even wear plaid shorts or pants, let alone putting something there that might add emphasis to what's going on.

Conversely, some women are putting tattoos in places to, I think, draw attention away from other places. But, that's another column.

I'll admit my survey of shorts wearers would not be accepted by Gallop, and the margin of error could be more than 4 percent.

But, how many of you big, male readers have asked women what they carry in their hip pocket?

I did it as a journalistic endeavor. It's something I felt the public has a right to know. Sure!

Graduation – Memories for some, reality for others

It was a genuine privilege to address the Clarkston High School Class of 2000 at the graduation ceremony held at Pine Knob on June 7.

This group of youngsters really did distinguish themselves in many ways:

- Earning over two million dollars in scholarship money
- Scoring well above the national averages on various achievement tests
- Receiving top honors at band competitions and musical events
- Taking team and individual championships at the league, district, regional and state athletic competitions.

While it is always nice to see a list of impressive achievements, it is the personality and spirit of this class that set them apart in my mind. Therefore, encouraging these graduates to use their talents, knowledge, spirit and personality to make a difference seemed to be the right thing to do.

Now, I know that many of us think back to our own experiences when we attend a high school graduation. So, my talk to the graduates was a bit nostalgic. I passed along some advice that I had received many years ago from a very wise man. The words my father provided have never left my side, "Listen to everyone, then do what you think is right!"

I told our graduates that the word 'right' did not necessarily mean convenient, nor did it mean profitable. And, as most adults can attest, doing right can sometimes be just plain difficult. So, I asked our young people to keep things in perspective by considering the following thoughts:

1. Focusing only on what is best for you will limit your capacity to enjoy the really important things in life; and selfishness dulls your sensitivity to the needs of family, friends, and the others you respect and care for. So, be considerate of others and understand that placing others ahead of yourself is what love is all about.

2. Concentrating on what is convenient or easy can hinder your ability to become the best you can be. More often than not, it is hard work and long term commitment that lead the way to success, not quick fixes or actions that are taken for convenience sake. It doesn't matter what the task - playing an instrument; getting physically fit; completing a project near to your heart; or raising kids - you must work at it to get the best results. So, don't accept less from yourself.

3. Centering all your attention on getting ahead and making money, to the exclusion of life's other joys, confines you to a very narrow understanding of happiness. Yes, the list of things that money can buy is remarkable (cars, boats, homes); but the list of what it cannot buy is amazing (health, love, self-respect, peace of mind)! So, broaden your perspectives of happiness and enjoy life!

As the Class of 2000 moves on to a different stage of life, I hope they will continue to do the right things in the right way. Society doesn't always make that easy, but they are ready!

Springfield incumbents seek reelection

planning, we could have a good community."

Bloom is a member of the focus group for updating the master plan for Springfield Township, and is also a member of the township's historical society.

She said that the township's civic center, which is currently under construction, is a top priority for her.

"I'm interested in it," she said. "I would like to see the new civic center built. I would like to see that through."

Vallad, who has lived in the area since 1980 and has served as a trustee since 1988, agreed that the civic center is a priority, but added that there are other things that need to be done.

"We're in the process of updating the master plan," he said. "I'd like to see a complete master plan. I think we need to do a lot of work with the Fire Department."

Springfield Township has been a way of life for Elaine Field-Smith's family for quite some time now-over 160 years, as a matter of fact. Her son is the seventh generation of her family to live in the township.

Field-Smith current serves as a cemetery sexton at the Davisburg cemetery, and is on the committee for the new civic center.

She said that maintaining the high quality of life in the township is a top priority for her.

"I want it to continue to be a great place to raise families," she said.

For Field-Smith, running for reelection to the township board is a matter of taking care of unfinished business.

"I would like to finish up a lot of the projects I'm working on," she said. "I feel my input on the new civic center has been good. I believe in putting as much government under one roof as possible to keep taxes down for the residents of Springfield."

In addition, she said that the repair and maintenance of the Davisburg cemetery is an important project to her.

Standing her own ground and making wise decisions is something that Field-Smith said would continue if she were reelected.

"I feel that I am an independent voice, because I am straightforward, honest, with integrity," she said.

Jeff Decker will challenge Collin Walls as supervisor in Springfield Township

the township board, associating it with radical change. If anything, Decker said that he will strive to preserve the rural quality of life in the township.

"Most people would be afraid of a new face," he said. "I wouldn't want them to be afraid. I'd be more dramatic in keeping the smaller town feel."

Decker is currently a junior at Oakland University, majoring in journalism and communications while minoring in computer science. He is also a state licensed appraiser and a candidate for broker.

Adding to his credentials in the public speaking realm is a stint of approximately 2-1/2 to 3 years spent in California as an actor in several soap operas and movies. It was through that experience that he acquired a first-hand taste for politics, running for several positions as a member of the Screen Actors Guild.

He said that he acquired an interest in politics from the first time he was able to head to the ballot box.

"I've had a good taste for the political realm for a long time," Decker said. "I was excited when I was able to register to vote."

He believes he can bring his speaking skills to effective use if elected as supervisor.

"I believe that my communication skills will be my strongest suit," he said. "I love to take input from the surroundings in the area. I would be proud to be their voice and represent them in the best possible manner."

A Look Back

15 YEARS AGO (1985)

Charter township status could be in the future for Independence Township. In a 6-1 vote, board members approved publishing a resolution of intention to become a charter township, with Trustee Dale Stuart dissenting. Following the publication, residents will have 60 days to file petitions of disagreement.

A written agreement between the Clarkston school board and Independence Township was unanimously approved by both boards in meetings this month. The agreement, which has existed for many years, authorizes the township to conduct school elections for one year and states the cost involved.

Sashabaw Junior High School recently competed in the state Science Olympiad at Michigan State University. The top 46 schools in their regions qualified to compete against each other in various science related events. Sashabaw placed eighth overall.

25 YEARS AGO (1975)

Residents of the Clarkston School District who go to the polls to select two Board of Education members for the next four years will also be asked to approve a continuation of a 5 mill operating tax, originally passed in 1966.

Ten Clarkston High School seniors will not be graduating with their class in commencement ceremonies at 10 a.m. Saturday at Pine Knob. The ten are members of the Wolves' championship baseball team and due to play in the regionals at that time in Pontiac Jaycee Park.

Two major purchases for the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Department were set in motion by the County's parks commission. The group voted to put $50,000 from quarter mill parks and recreation funding into the capital budget for construction of a new dam at the Davisburg Mill Pond.

50 YEARS AGO (1950)

The Clarkston Fire Fighters Association Resuscitator Fund is still short of its goal with just a little territory left to cover. By this time next week the Association should be able to give a final tabulation.

Among the graduates at the Michigan State Normal College at Ypsilanti will be Marjorie Iva Vliet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ransom T. Vliet of Clarkston. Marjorie majored in Business Administration. While at college she has been very active. She was a member of the Business Club and was the acting secretary, a member of the Mathematics Club, and also a member of the Women's Dormitory Advisory Board.

The diner on the Dixie, formerly known as Hack's Diner, is now being operated by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Harrell. The Harrells, originally from Detroit, come to this district with the idea of serving good food and giving excellent service.

Board says 'No' to Spring Lake North lighting

bully anybody or slant anything; there was not even a unanimous decision within the board (on this issue)," Brown said.

Several township board members made comments in defense of the association board.

Trustee Jeff McGee pointed out serving on any board is often a thankless job. He added he believed Spring Lake North's board was making a significant effort to address the issue within the community.

"Don't use this forum to divide yourselves," he said.

Most residents present at the meeting voiced opinions in opposition to the implementation. Many were concerned the added lighting would disrupt the ambiance of the neighborhood.

"I bought my house because it was in a quiet area; I don't want a light right outside my window," said resident Howard Rhodes.

Other members of the neighborhood felt the lights were not necessary as far as safety and security were concerned.

"The majority of the emergency service calls this year were not relevant to lack of lighting," said Cummings.

The township board was in agreement with residents who stated lighting had little to do with safety problems in the neighborhood.

"I don't see any evidence there is a safety problem that can be addressed by lighting," said trustee Neil Wallace.

Wallace also voiced concern as to the long-term effects of the lighting.

"I think we need to be careful we don't turn Clarkston into 'just another city,'" he said.

"My Son Has Crooked Teeth!"

Hi! I live in Clarkston, and I work for a dentist in Walled Lake. My son's smile is really important to me, so I'm concerned that his teeth are crooked.

I had heard about Dr. Shader from my friends in the dental business. I know that pediatric (children's) dentists, orthodontists, and general dentists can all do braces, and all three must have the same high standards. Dr. Shader has done braces for over 20 years.

We went for a free consultation. My son and I were both impressed and comfortable with Dr. Shader & his staff. Our cost was about $1,000 less than I thought we might pay.

When someone in your family needs good dental care, I recommend Dr. Shader.

Clarkston sailor plays key role in success of air station

BY ROLAND ORTIZ
Guest Writer

On Sept. 21, 1942, Naval Air Station (NAS), Whidbey Island, was commissioned. From the start, it had a purpose: train young pilots and their crews. For that mission to be accomplished, quality of work was an essential ingredient.

With the beginning of the 21st century, Sailors like Kristi L. Adams continue the tradition of attention-to-detail that is the cornerstone of success. Adams is a member of the Naval Air Station (NAS) Public Affairs Office.

Navy Petty Officer 1st Class Adams is the 40-year-old daughter of Fred and Sherrie Carlton of Clarkston. She and other Sailors handle all public relations activities and events for NAS.

Sailors like Adams discover many challenges while working in the Navy, and with challenge comes the reward of success. For many Sailors, challenge is the secret to job satisfaction while others may find reward in other activities.

"I enjoy showing visitors the base, and letting them meet and talk to the pilots, aircrews and maintainers that actually make our great Navy work. I like meeting such a variety of people and getting an opportunity to know them," said Adams, a 1978 graduate of Waterford Kettering High School.

Adams' career keeps her busy, supporting important Navy missions. However, Adams still has the opportunity for professional and personal growth, which are just two of the reasons she was attracted to the Navy.

Since 1942, when F4F Wildcats roared down the runway at Whidbey Island, Sailors and Marines have made it a point to focus on detail, ensuring the safety and combat readiness of the various commands stationed at Whidbey Island.

The 17-year Navy veteran says, "I wanted to see what was beyond the area where I lived, to experience life, gain independence, and build my own life."

Navy Petty Officer 1st Class Adams is the 40-year-old daughter of Fred and Sherrie Carlton of Clarkston. She and other Sailors handle all public relations activities and events for NAS.

Red Skelton had the longest-running comedy show on television. It aired from 1951 to 1971.

Local Girl Scouts earn top honors

Four Clarkston Cadette Girl Scouts from the Fair Winds Girl Scout Council have earned the Girl Scout Silver Award, the highest award for achievement and leadership a Cadette Girl Scout can earn. The girls were honored at the "All That Glitters Banquet" Monday, May 15 at the Holiday Inn Gateway Centre, in Flint. Cadette Girl Scouts are in grades seven through nine.

The 2000 Girl Scout Silver Award recipients from the Fair Winds Girl Scout Council are:

Kate Gibson, Jacqueline LaForge, daughter of John and Karen LaForge, Sabrina St. Peter, daughter of Michael and Diane St. Peter, and Emily Zarzycki, daughter of James and Mary Zarzycki.

The girls worked together to develop a "Enchanted/Fantasy Land" weekend encampment at Camp O'Fair Winds for the Clarkston Girl Scout Neighborhood. Activities focused on astronomy, mythology, performing arts and art-to-wear.

The Girl Scout Silver Award recognizes a girl's experiences and commitment to working toward a better life for herself and others. The award requires a girl to increase her leadership skills, explore careers, and make a commitment to improving herself. She must also complete a Silver Award project.

A Girl Scout Silver Award project consists of a plan to improve the lives of others, utilizing the talents of the Girl Scout implementing the plan. The project must last at least seven hours.

Jacqueline La Forge

Sabrina St. Peter

Emily Zarzycki

Girl Scouts who complete the Silver Award are individuals who recognize that making a difference requires taking a leadership role. These girls are tomorrow's leaders, explorers, inventors and decision makers. They will be the one's who will change the world.

Verla wins Gold Award

Adrienne Verla of Clarkston earned the Girl Scout Gold Award, the highest award for achievement and leadership in Girl Scouting. They were honored at the "All That Glitters Banquet" Monday, May 15, 2000, at the Holiday Inn Gateway Centre, in Flint, from the Fair Winds Girl Scout Council in Northern Oakland County.

Adie Verla

Adrienne, daughter of David Verla and Deborah Ziel-Verla, developed two workshops for the Clarkston community on Japanese culture.

The Girl Scout Gold Award, is the highest award a Girl Scout can earn. It is a culmination of personal skills, leadership experiences, and dedication to helping others, all focussed on the special contributions an individual can make to her community. It is an extension of all a girl has learned in her previous Girl Scout work.

THE LAW & YOU

by Kelley R. Kostin
Attorney at Law

ASSESSING THE DAMAGES

When plaintiffs in personal injury cases seek "damages", they are referring to the financial, physical, and emotional harm (expressed in dollar amounts) they have endured due to injury. In the vast majority of such cases, there are two grounds for damages. "Special damages" may imply the extraordinary, but they merely refer to items that can be documented, or "specially" proved. They include such things as income losses and medical expenses. "General damages" are relatively difficult to quantify in dollar amounts because they encompass such things as the pain and suffering that arise from an injury. In either case, those who think they may have suffered injury due to the negligence or wrongful intentions of another should consult with an attorney.

In these days of complex litigation, it is important that you speak with an experienced attorney who can effectively protect your legal rights. Don't risk losing what you're entitled to because you weren't familiar with every aspect of the law. If you've been injured, call 620-1030 today. Our law office is conveniently located at 11 North Main Street. The initial consultation is free.

Note: When seeking damages, plaintiffs in personal injury cases should take into account the extent to which an accident disrupted their lives.

'Free at last, free at last, thank God almighty, we're free at last'

The hands of time have finally opened the cell that we were stuck in for 12 years. A lot of hard-timers, we were. We knew the ins and outs of the place, and we were first on the pecking order.

Now we've been let loose on parole, and you're probably wondering what I thought about it. But it doesn't matter what I thought about it. It's over. Done, Fin. Retrospect yields nothing for me now. Unfortunately, that makes for a boring article. So I guess I'll comment on a high school event just once more.

We were supposed to be at Pine Knob at 9 a.m. I showed up late. On purpose. I wasn't marked tardy.

For the third to last time, we were lined up and asked to walk in-herd. We sat down, and were asked to practice it again. A culminating point in my education; learning to walk down a few steps and sit down n'sync (sorry to let your hopes crash like a Learjet; I wasn't referring to the catchy pop group).

We all left. The U.D.C. and a couple of non-U.D.C. members went to Fuddruckers in Flint. I don't know if you've heard, but my navigation skills are, well, lacking, and I ended up driving around the beautiful city of Flint for a half hour. One extremely full stomach (all condiments are free) and a bad case of indigestion later, I found myself back at pine Knob in a silly looking traditional robe which serves no purpose whatsoever except to make Jostens a lot of money every June, and an equally useless cap topped off by a (yet again) useless tassel. (Just for the record, I only walked at all because my grandparents were coming. Saying no to mom and dad is one thing, but no mortal man can resist grandma).

The thing that got me about graduation was that everyone wanted to make it more serious than it is. Any attempt to make it a fun occasion was squelched with a comment from the wardens. They freaked when we started knocking around the beach ball -- "Remember, this is a school function. No fun is allowed at school functions!"

Me being bored allowed me to focus my will on fighting off the truncheons that Fuddruckers was taking to my stomach. By the time it was my turn to walk, I seemed to be losing.

Before I forget, I would like to thank Scott Miller for yelling, "Down with capitalism!" As I walked across the stage, as well as all of those adoring fans who gave me an ovation. It should also be noted that there were those in the audience enduring more pain than I was. Arthur Derek Johnson, who had been hospitalized the night before, walked with a nasty case of pharyngitis and the dreaded primeval orangutan-rat fever.

I haven't found a student who actually wanted to walk, I think we should do away with it entirely, and skip directly to the all-night party.

Reasons why the all-night party was stellar: Free food; all you can eat food; the food wasn't from the cafeteria; table bubble hockey; chess; laser tag; jousting; and any of the other imported carnival games; Bramley's spontaneous performance, minus Chris Palmier. (Bramley is a band. Speaking of which, everyone who is reading this should come over to the Flint Local on June 30 to see them play. For directions, inquire at the Union).

Okay, I led you on a little bit with my reasons. I fibbed, maybe. The food really wasn't all you could eat, because they ran out of fresh pineapple and I couldn't go back for a second plateful.

Four Bismols (of the Pepto variety), countless buffalo wings, and a disposable camera later, it was 5 o'clock in the morning. I wasn't just walking out of Deer Lake, I was walking out of 12 years of my life. I've always loved plunging myself into the unfamiliar, but this was a little different. I realized that would be the last time I'd see a number of them; my peers, I mean. With one look back, I stepped out into the world, watching the sun rise on the rest of my life.

I would like to thank everyone involved with the aforementioned party. It was without a doubt the only school event I have attended at which I've had fun.

Clarkston High students team up to repair home

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Tim Allen would have been proud.

Approximately 40 students from Clarkston High School's student council came together last month to engage in their own form of "home improvement."

The students spent the day repairing a home in the Clarkston area as part of a "Paint the Town" project.

No stone was left unturned; from painting to raking to mowing the lawn, the students managed to complete each and every task.

According to Clarkston High School student Kenny Leonard, chair of the Paint the Town project, the student council came up with the idea after attending a Michigan Association of Student Councils (MASC) conference at Saginaw Valley State University.

Leonard, who said the students began planning the event in December, said the project was the council's way of showing their support for the Clarkston area.

"We want to give back to the community," he said.

According to Clarkston High School teacher Cheryl Paterson, who serves as student council advisor, approximately 40 students took part in the festivities.

The students completed a wide variety of tasks, including painting, weeding, uprooting sod, removing trash, uprooting old pieces of wood, redoing the pond area, and painting the sheds and wooden swings.

"Just everything that you can imagine," Paterson said.

The student council deserves a lot of credit for the success of the event, according to Paterson.

"It was excellent," she said. "It was so thoroughly organized by the committee. It was very well-received. We want to make this into an annual event."

Former Andersonville students open time capsule

BY ELLY SPINWEBER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Andersonville Elementary School's Class of 2000 graduating seniors got a chance to look back in time last week, as they visited their former school for the unearthing of a 12 year-old time capsule.

The capsule was buried in 1988, during the graduates' kindergarten year, and included memory books made by the children as well as photos and small objects from the classroom. The tree under which the time capsule was buried was planted at the same time.

Roughly half of the original students were present for the event, which consisted of a short program followed by the unearthing of the time capsule and a reception.

The students' former kindergarten teachers, Debbie Licata and Sue Cattin, opened the program with memories and anecdotes about the classes.

"It seems like yesterday you guys were playing in the sandbox and singing 'If You're Happy and You Know It,' Licata said to the students.

Following Licata and Cattin, several teachers who had the students throughout their years at Andersonville spoke. They shared memories of individual students as well as the classes as a whole.

"This was just a really special group of kids," Licata said.

She then read from a letter she had written the children in 1988, which noted television shows they watched, games they played and clothes they wore.

Graduates in the audience chuckled at memories of Alf, Ghostbusters and Jem.

Students from Mrs. Licata's class pose with their teacher for the first time in 12 years.

After watching a short video commemorating their first year of school, the group braved menacing skies to unearth their time capsule, buried just outside the school's gymnasium.

They waited expectantly as Licata and Cattin opened the capsule and distributed memory books. Many students laughed as they read what they had written and looked at pictures they had drawn.

"I remember making (the time capsule) in kindergarten and thinking it would be forever until we opened it," said senior Tamra Sommers, as she looked through her book.

The students also talked with each other, many for the first time in years.

"It's like a class reunion all over again," said senior Nicole Hughes. "It's fun to see how much some people have changed."

ELECTRIC AND GAS SUPPLY FRANCHISE ORDINANCE

An ordinance to establish the process, requirements, terms and conditions for the granting of franchises to suppliers of electricity and natural gas.

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE ORDINANCES

Section 1 of Ordinance

That the Independence Township Code is hereby amended by adding a Chapter to be numbered, sections 1.1 through 6.5, which reads as follows.

ARTICLE I GENERAL

Section 1.1. Short Title This Ordinance shall be known and may be cited as the "Charter Township of Independence Electric and Gas Supply Franchise Ordinance."

Section 1.2. Purpose and Findings

(1) Pursuant to Section 29 of Article 7 of the Michigan Constitution of 1963, use of the highways, streets, alleys and other public places for operation of a public utility requires the consent of the Township and the transaction of local business in the Township by a public utility requires that a franchise first be obtained. This ordinance is adopted for the purpose of confirming and providing the process, terms and conditions for suppliers of electricity and natural gas to obtain the required consents and franchises and to fully exercise the Township's constitutional authority which includes the reasonable control of its highways, streets, alleys and public places.

(2) As a result of regulatory changes that have or may occur, and interpretations of existing laws, at the State and Federal levels, specifically including the Michigan Public Service Commission (Deregulation), the persons that may be authorized to supply electricity and natural gas to customers in the Township are no longer limited to the public utility that owns and operates the facilities used to deliver electricity and natural gas to customers. This ordinance is adopted in recognition of the Deregulation which has and may continue to occur, with the intent and purpose of confirming that all persons supplying electricity or natural gas to customers in the Township are required to have a franchise as provided in this ordinance, regardless of whether it is required as a condition of State or Federal regulatory permits, approvals or certificates.

(3) The Township will incur costs and expenses in reviewing and acting on franchise requests, and upon granting a franchise, monitoring and enforcing its terms and conditions. Such costs and expenses should be paid by franchise applicants and holders as provided in this ordinance.

Section 1.3. Definitions When used in this Ordinance, the following words, terms and phrases shall have the meanings indicated.

"Clerk" means the Township Clerk.

"Customer" means a residential, commercial or industrial end-user of electricity or natural gas in the Township.

"Disruption" means a physical change, modification, alteration, disturbance, injury and/or to or in a right-of-way, including but not limited to, construction, installation, location, maintenance, modification, alteration, replacement or repair of Facilities, and the removal or alteration of a right-of-way surface grade or material, tree, sign, marker, hydrant or other material or object.

"Facility or Facilities" means any overhead or underground cable, wire line, main, pipe, pole, building, structure, equipment and all other man-made or placed materials or objects or combinations thereof, for the transmission or distribution of electricity or natural gas to customers.

"Franchise" means a nonexclusive limited authorization to transact a local business and the right to incidental use of right-of-way under this ordinance.

"Grantee" means the holder of a valid and effective Franchise granted by the Township.

"MPSC" means the Michigan Public Service Commission.

"Person" means a natural person, company, corporation, partnership, joint venture, voluntary association, organization or other form of legal entity.

"Right-of-Way" means any and all public rights-of-way, streets, highways, roads, sidewalks, alleys, thoroughfares, public easements and public places located within the Township.

"Supplier" means a person that supplies electricity (electric generation) or natural gas to customers in the Township through facilities in the Township in which it has no ownership, operation, leasehold, repair or maintenance rights or responsibilities.

"Township" means the Charter Township of Independence.

"Utility" means a person that owns, operates, and maintains facilities used to provide electricity or natural gas to customers in the Township.

Section 1.4 Franchise Requirement Being a supplier of electricity or natural gas to customers in the Township is the transaction of local business of a public utility, which shall not be done without a Franchise.

Section 1.5 Right-of-Way Limitations A franchise granted under this ordinance constitutes the Township's consent to Grantee's limited and incidental use of right-of-way to the extent that facilities are located within it.

ARTICLE II -

Any amendments to this ordinance shall be automatically included in every franchise.

ARTICLE III -

GENERAL FRANCHISE TERMS AND CONDITIONS

Section 3.1. Franchise Rights Subject to all terms and conditions in this Article III and the individual franchise ordinance, a franchise grants the Grantee the right to transact a local business of supplying electricity or gas, as designated in the individual franchise ordinance, to customers in the Township using facilities of an identified utility to the extent that it is lawful under applicable legislation, administrative rules, including those of the MPSC, and express or implied contract or agreement with the utility. Term, Revocation, and Termination The term of a franchise, which shall be stated in the individual franchise ordinance, is subject to revocation at the will of the Township and may be surrendered and terminated by the Grantee on 30 days written notice to the Township. Any unsatisfied obligations of Grantee to the Township shall survive revocation or termination and be enforceable by the Township as provided in the franchise, as amended.

Section 3.3. Non-Exclusive A franchise is nonexclusive and does not restrict the Township from approving additional franchises or establish any priority between Grantees to transact local business and the incidental use of right-of-way.

Section 3.4. Assignment A franchise may not be sold, leased, assigned, transferred or used by any person other than the Grantee without the written approval of the Township by ordinance amendment.

Section 3.5. Compliance With Laws and Ordinances A franchise requires Grantee compliance with all applicable current and future Township, State and Federal ordinances, laws; rules and regulations and any permit, approval, certificate or license requirements and conditions under such laws and shall not be construed as a waiver by Grantee of any of its rights under State or Federal law.

Section 3.6. No Right-of-Way Disruption Disruption or obstruction of, and physical entry in or upon a right-of-way by a Grantee, its personnel or equipment is prohibited.

The Township shall have no liability or responsibility for repairing or restoring facilities damaged by actions taken under this Section.

This obligation extends to all costs and expenses, including attorney fees that may be incurred by the beneficiaries of Grantee's obligation. Such a franchise fee would be an additional franchise term and condition, to be adopted and presented to the Grantee for acknowledgment, agreement and acceptance as an ordinance amendment as provided in Section 2.3. In any such fee review, the Grantee shall disclose and the Township may consider if Grantee pays a franchise fee, charge or other periodic payment for a franchise to any other Michigan municipalities and the manner in which such fees are, computed. It is a condition of a franchise that the Grantee notify the Township of any such fees that are paid and the Township shall have the right to inspect Grantee's books and records to monitor, enforce and determine Grantee's compliance and the accuracy of amounts paid or to be paid by Grantee under this section.

Softball team falls to state powerhouse, 7-2

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The success of this year's girls varsity softball team goes far beyond the record breaking number of wins. It goes beyond a district championship. And while the season ended last Saturday at the hands of Waterford Kettering, the legacy left by this year's team will be a tough act to follow.

The Wolves fell to Waterford Kettering (41-2) in the regional final June 10 at Lake Orion High School 7-2. The season ended with the Wolves picking up over 30 wins, as Clarkston finished the season with an astounding 32-10 record.

The Wolves scored first and held an excellent Kettering team scoreless for two innings, but couldn't hold them back the rest of the way.

Clarkston coach Al Land said Kettering becomes a whole new team when they put runners on base.

"When they get on base they put pressure on. I think that's the key. They like to run and bunt. If you can keep them off base, they're just a regular club," Land said.

The Wolves first run came in the opening inning with Lindsay Simko's one out single. Mary Warchuck followed with a single of her own, which gave the Wolves runners at first and second. Candace Morgan's RBI single scored Simko which gave the Wolves an early 1-0 lead.

Morgan, who's pitched nearly every inning since Lisa Ferguson went down with a leg fracture in the middle of May, kept Kettering off the scoreboard early on. In the second inning, Captains had runners at second and third with one out, but failed to score.

Kettering took the lead in the third. Morgan hit a Kettering batter who then stole second. Morgan walked the next Captain after the third strike was reversed by the umpire. With runners at the corners, a Captain stole home to put Kettering on the board. A Kettering RBI followed and the Captains took a 2-1 lead heading into the fourth inning.

The Wolves held Kettering scoreless in the fourth thanks to great defensive plays from Melanie Arnold and Tracy Honey, who made a remarkable throw to second baseman Jenny Winn to pick off a Kettering base runner.

The Wolves tied the game in the fifth. Arnold, whose leadoff bunting has been a tremendous asset all season, started the inning with a double. Kettering had their center fielder positioned directly behind the pitcher's mound, to defend a probable Arnold bunt. Instead, Arnold drove the ball to shallow center field. Simko then hit an RBI double which scored Arnold and tied the game at two.

Kettering answered right back and broke the game open in the fifth. The Captains became more aggressive and dangerous once they put runners in scoring position. After getting a leadoff double, the Captains used bunts and steals to give themselves runners at second and third with nobody out. A Morgan wild pitch allowed the Captains to take a 3-2 lead. An RBI double, another wild pitch by Morgan and a two run homer helped the Captains build a 7-2 lead which they never relinquished.

"I think we hit the ball today. The thing is they put theirs together. We kind of had ours spread apart. Our hits were probably as many as theirs, but they put them all together," Land said.

The Wolves held Kettering scoreless in the sixth and put runners in scoring position in the top of the seventh, but couldn't rally late as a history making season came to an end at the hands of the odds on favorites to win the state championship.

"Candace was getting a little tired and I don't have anybody to go to so we went with Candace today," Land said.

Not a bad strategy.

Morgan was 17-3 this season, and pitched a great game against Kettering early in the season, which the Wolves won 3-1. The only other loss the Captains suffered this season was against

Paintball — it's the new rage in sports

Clarkston News Staff Writer

It's part hunting, part capture the flag, part football and part chess. It doesn't require its participants to be the fastest or strongest. It doesn't require a lot of money to get started, but once you do you may get hooked. It's paintball and it's targeting a wide range of Clarkston area residents who can't get enough of this new extreme sport.

Mark Worrell, owner of Rage Sports in Clarkston, said the increase in popularity of paintball is staggering.

"Business has been great since we opened. It's doing a lot better than we expected," he said.

Worrell's store, located at 4555 Pelton in Clarkston, opened its doors in November of 1999 and since then has been giving paintball enthusiasts everything they need to compete in the sport.

Worrell is a member of the Detroit Fusion, a National Pro Paintball Team, which competes in about 10 tournaments a year. Worrell's team has competed at outdoor sites in Los Angeles, Pittsburg, Chicago, Tennessee and the World Cup, which takes place in Florida. The Fusion has also competed in indoor tournaments in the Toronto Skydome and in Knoxville, Tenn.

Worrell has even played with some members of the Detroit Red Wings. Martin Lapointe, Mathieu Dandenault, Vyacheslav Kozlov and Kris Draper.

"They're all great guys. They get into it just like anybody else. You'd never guess they were pro hockey players when they're competing," Worrell said.

To practice, Worrell drives to Chicago on weekends. Why drive all the way to Chicago?

"They have the real strong amateur teams. That's where all the talent is. Nobody in Michigan can give us a game that's worth anything," he said.

It may sound a bit cocky, but Worrell is convinced that his expertise in the sport is what sets his store apart from others.

"We take pride in really knowing the inventory and knowing the sport. The reaction from the kids in this area has been tremendous," he said.

There are two main types of paintball. The first type, called 'Center Flag' features teams of five. The object is for one team to capture a flag, which is located in the middle of the field, and go through their opponents' zone. Fields for Center Flag style games are roughly 45x20 yards, or a little smaller than half a football field.

The second style of play is called 'Capture the Flag' where each team has its own flag and tries to capture their opponents flag and return to home base without losing their own flag. Those style games are usually played with two teams of 10 on a field a bit smaller than a football field.

The trick — don't get shot, or at least don't show it.

If a player is shot by an opponent's paint ball 'marker' as they're called, they're out of the game. If a paint ball pellet hits a player and doesn't explode that player can stay in the game.

"What's great about paintball is that we've seen a lot of father and son bonding through it. People from 10 years old to 60 years old can compete and have fun. Believe it or not, we've done a lot of business with church groups," Worrell said.

Paintball doesn't appear, at least up front, to be the type of game that church groups would support or take an interest in. Young males jumping around the woods, hiding in foxholes and behind trees and bunks in hopes of shooting their opponent doesn't sound like that wholesome a way to spend an afternoon. But it's the bonding that's formed between paintball teammates that has helped Rage Sports exceed its early sales expectations.

"There's a lot of strategy involved and it's something people of just about every age can be good at. You don't have to be the quickest or strongest to be good. But it's a total team sport, more so than football I think. They're trying to get away from the militia stereotype," Worrell said.

In doing so, Worrell said paintball uniforms have been changing from the traditional camouflage and have featured brighter colors in recent years. Worrell

Lake Orion.

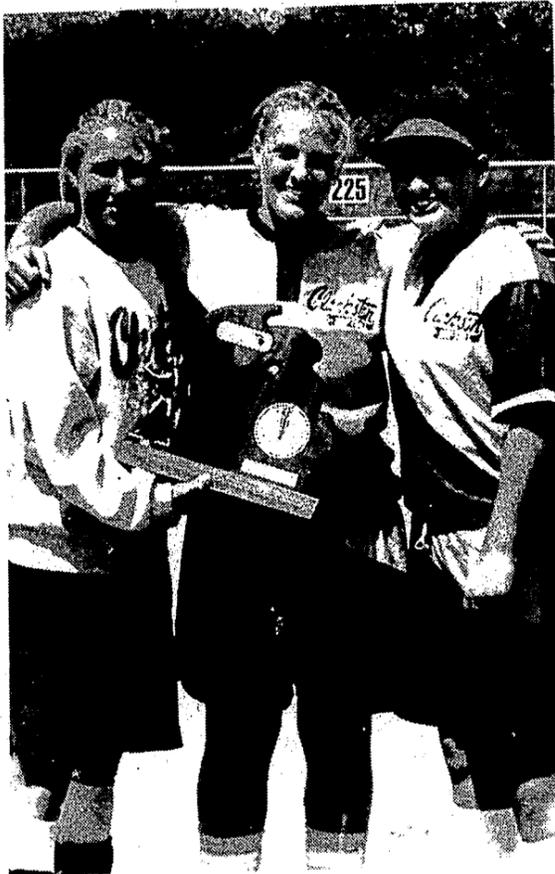

"She's a great competitor. I don't know if I've ever coached anyone who is as competitive as she is," Land said.

Morgan is one of three seniors on this year's team. The other two are Winn and Arnold. All three played huge roles for the Wolves this season and Land knows they'll be hard to replace.

"The key to these seniors is that they didn't give up. Sometimes with seniors they get other things on their mind with parties and graduation. This group continued to stay focused and they kept the team together. It made our team a lot better by these seniors playing hard. They deserve a lot of credit," Land said.

Those three seniors were part of the 1998 district championship team, but this year's team was the best he's had, Land said.

Enjoy the summer, see you all in the fall

Well, it's official — summer is here. With Memorial Day parades and picnics a memory, and Clarkston schools just about ready to let out for the year, my beat — sports is just about done.

What a joy it's been to cover sports for Clarkston High School. Honestly, it's been a lot of fun and it's because of three groups of people; the fans, the players and coaches.

Fans — What's neat about Clarkston fans is that they're real fans, not those fair weather kind. You guys are hardcore sports addicts. I remember early season softball and baseball games that were played in freezing rain and sleet. But you guys gutted it out with sleeping bags, blankets, hot cocoa and anything else that would keep you warm. Plus, I've begun to recognize and get to know some of the fans who make it to nearly every home game. It's like a Clarkston sports fraternity. I'll call it Gotta' Bea' Wolf.

Players — By far, the most rewarding part of my job, well besides getting paid to sit in a lawnchair and work on my farmer's tan while watching baseball on a warm spring day, is learning more and more about Clarkston High School athletes. My favorite part of covering sports is writing the athlete of the week feature. Talking to an athlete and getting to know him or her personally is a lot of fun. My thanks go out to all our athletes for your time, patience and kind words. It also said paintball is trying to become more of a spectator sport.

"You're seeing less games in the woods and more in open fields. It's not like most other spectator sports because there's no one ball or center of attention," Worrell said.

It's not just for men either, not by a long shot. Worrell said that while the majority of his business comes from young men some women have shown a strong interest in the sport and even compete in national paintball tournaments across the country.

To get started in paintball all that's needed is a paintball marker (gun), a helmet, an air system — either a carbon dioxide system or compressed air — and paint. There are other accessories such as pads and jerseys but to get started will cost about $300.

Rage Sports offers an introductory package that features a Tippman marker, helmet, loader a 20 ounce carbon dioxide tank, two loader refills, a belt and harness, 100 rounds of paint and a barrel plug.

"That package has been our hottest seller and it's got everything you need to get started," Worrell said.

Worrell said the best places in the area to play paintball include the indoor Pontiac Paintball Arena, which features several floors and lots of places to hide, an outdoor venue in Metamora, Hell Survivors in Brighton.

An entry fee of about $10-$15 will get you an all day pass of paintball, and a day's worth of paint ranges from $20-$70 Worrell said.

"It's not any more expensive than golf. You can show up alone and be put on a team, or you can go with a group of friends and they usually keep you all together," Worrell said.

It can get expensive though. Just like any other hobby the more someone gets into it the more it can cost. While the starter package sells for $300, paint markers can retail for as high as $1,700 and helmets can go for as much as $120.

"It's just a matter of how accurate you want to be. That starter package is fine for someone just starting out, but there is a big difference once you get into the higher market stuff," Worrell said.

Rage Sports also sells snowboards, skateboards and in-line skates. Their phone number is (248) 673-8400. The fax number is (248) 673-9090 or e-mail www.Ragesports.net. They're open 1-7 Monday through Friday and from 12-5 on Saturday.

Athlete of the week: Lindsay Simko

Some players lead by example. Some lead by explaining and teaching. Junior shortstop Lindsay Simko does both.

The three-year varsity player has been an integral part of this year's history-making girls varsity softball team. The main reason — communication she says.

"I think communicating with the other players is my biggest strength. The whole team have been up for every game this season. Everybody wants to win on this team," she said.

Simko can be heard yelling the out situation and instructions from her shortstop position.

"My voice hurts sometimes after games," she said with a laugh.

But she hasn't been any laughing matter this season. Her clutch hitting and great leadership has been like having an assistant coach on the infield, coach Al Land said.

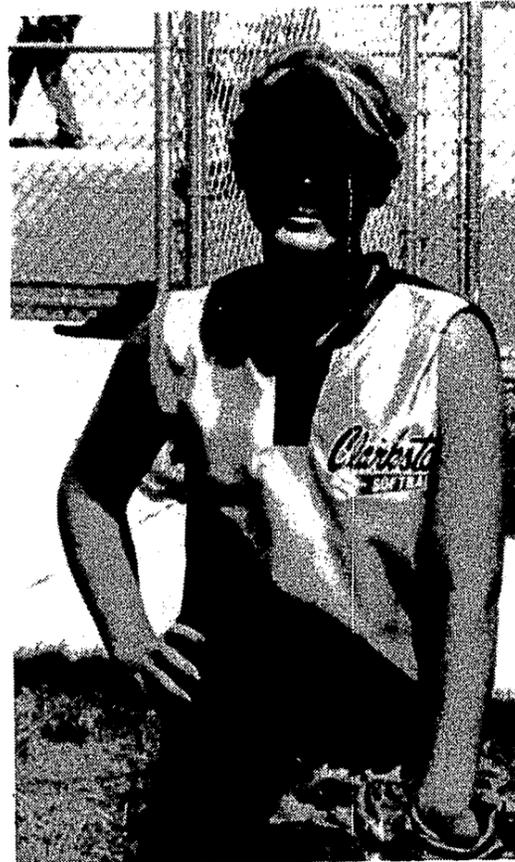

"Being one our captains, she's a great leader. She's always helping out with hitting at practice and keeping everybody involved during the games," Land said.

Simko, who has also played second and third base in her varsity career, considers the wins over Kettering and Brandon the highlights of the season.

"Softball is exciting to play. Even when you're on the bench you feel like you're part of the game," she said.

There is no off season for Simko. This summer she'll be playing for Compuware in a competitive girls travel softball team.

She also plays varsity volleyball maintains a 3.0 grade point average. She will be a four-year varsity player when she takes to the field for her senior year.

Davis

seems like just as soon as I felt like I knew a fair amount of you guys, summer vacation got underway. But hey, juniors and underclassmen, we'll do it all over again next fall. Until then, enjoy the summer, and have some fun — you've earned it.

Coaches — Without you guys I don't know where I'd be. As I've said before, Clarkston High School has one of the most courteous coaching staffs I've seen. All of you guys, both winter and spring coaches who I've had the pleasure of getting to know, are a joy to interview and work with. I know you won't miss my Sunday night calls, but I will miss you being so good about giving me a few moments of your own time every weekend so I could do my job. It doesn't go unnoticed. Thanks again coaches — you did a great job this season.

In addition, I'd like to give a special thanks to Linda Walker, athletic secretary at Clarkston High School and Debbie Curry. Both women have been a tremendous asset, not only the Clarkston athletic department, but to me as well. I'm sure they won't miss me calling them five times a week regarding changes in scheduled sporting events and the like. Thanks again and enjoy the summer.

Finally, a thanks to Gail McClellan, athletic trainer for Clarkston High School. She not only does a superb job keeping the Wolves healthy, and on the playing field, but is always friendly, upbeat and a joy to talk to at all the high school games. I'll see your green Ford Ranger again next fall. Nice truck you have there Gail.

So that's that. After doing my best to fill the shoes of my predecessor, another school year has come and gone. Next year will be my first season covering fall sports. I'll let you all know now I won't be at every football game. I'm getting married in September and my fiancée and I have already put down deposits on everything. I guess I should have set an August date — at least I wouldn't have missed any football.

Have a great summer, Clarkston.
