Locals 'crash' Independence Township board meeting

They made it clear -- no I-75/Clintonville exit

BY MARALEE COOK
Clarkston News Editor

Concern over the possibility of construction of an I-75 exit at Clintonville Road near Maybee Rd. has mobilized a group of Independence Township residents into action.

About 25 residents "crashed" the June 20 Independence Township Board meeting and challenged the board to support them in their fight against the interchange.

Special Meeting

A special meeting on the I-75 Clintonville Rd. exit has been set for Thurs., July 13 at 6 p.m. at Independence Township Fire Station #1 on Citation Dr. Study group steering committee members and Independence Township board members will attend.

Residents met again last Friday at the home of Kathy Anstandig to plot a course of action because they're not confident of the township's support.

Anstandig said after reading about the proposed exit in a draft transportation study, she began calling Independence Township Supervisor Dale Stuart, hoping he would organize a meeting of the study's steering group and residents.

"He ignored my calls for three weeks," Anstandig

23 ducklings take to the water

Keith and Kay Flood of Clarkston are grandparents. They know what it takes to raise a family. Now they get the pleasure of watching a much bigger family do the same thing.

The Floods are the new caretakers of 23 ducklings that were born next door on June 17.

The Floods have had the two parent ducks as pets for four years, but never before have they had babies, let alone in this amount.

Kay Flood said ducks usually have around eight babies.

"The last four years foxes and raccoons would get all the young, but this year it was amazing. We counted 23 ducklings over the weekend," she said.

The Floods have domesticated the parents ducks, who live in a beautiful pond in their backyard. The ducks don't migrate south in the fall either. Instead, Keith cares for the ducks year round and chips a hole in the ice every morning over the winter months.

After four years of trying to bear young, the ducklings bring big smiles to the Floods' grandchildren, Robin, 3 and Brittani Bridger, 9 and Cody Bridger 6.

"I like to feed them. The mother is careful though and you can't get too close to the babies. Sometimes they come up on shore, but not too much," Brittani said.

Kay Flood said every night the mother duck would bring back a newly hatched duckling from the nest to the Floods' pond. She was always accompanied

The News in Brief

Cherry Hill Lanes says 'No' to Papa Joe's

Don't put away those bowling shoes, because the rumor about Clarkston's Cherry Hill Lanes being sold to Papa Joe's in Rochester has been put to rest. It will not happen -- this year, anyway.

Sue Kulha, who with her husband Frank, are part owners of Cherry Hill Lanes, said Tuesday they turned down the offer from Papa Joe's, a popular specialty foods market in Rochester.

"Our bowlers have been bombarded by rumors," she said. "We're going to be here for the fall season, which starts in September. There is so much history here -- that's the feeling we've been getting from our customers."

Kulha declined to comment on the amount of Papa Joe's offer. She said the owners will not entertain any offers until after the fall bowling season is over. The other owners are Bev Gumptow and Ted and Jane Hockstein, she said.

"We won't rule out what may happen then. You never know what tomorrow will bring, but for now it's business as usual," she said.

"There have been so many rumors," Kulha said. "The other day we heard it would be a Sam's Club. The whole thing is getting to be very funny."

Downtown Clarkston business meeting

All matter, including the body is made up of energy particles

Healing touch therapy offers more than just physical relief

BY ELLY SPINWEBER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Janet Tait, RN, BSN, CHTP has been helping to heal people suffering from fractured bones, headaches, emphysema, hypertension, and acute and chronic illnesses for more than three years. She does this without antibiotics, pain killers or medicines of any kind. She does this with her hands.

Tait practices a form of therapy known as Healing Touch. She was a registered nurse at St. Joseph Medical Center in Pontiac for 19 years, when she discovered Healing Touch Therapy (HTT).

"I went on vacation and met a friend of a friend who had taken some of the (Healing Touch) classes," she said. "I was really impressed with what I learned and experienced."

HTT is a modern adaptation of ancient healing practices, said Tait.

It is based on certain theories of physics, such as Einstein's $E=MC^2$, which said all matter is made up of energy particles.

HTT is based on this belief, that humans are merely energy fields.

In good health, said Tait, energy flows in, through and out of our fields. With illness, however, there is a blockage in the field.

By touching a person lightly or moving his or her hands through their energy field, a certified healing touch practitioner can work to clear the blockage, enhancing a client's own healing ability, Tait said.

"Whenever there is an illness, injured persons can help themselves by rebalancing their energy," she added.

Jeff Nofze, owner of Kinetic Systems in Clarkston, has known Tait for a year and a half. They met through a Tai Chi class and Nofze said he has taken two Therapeutic Touch courses from her. He is also one of Tait's clients.

"I've seen her lately because I have a bit of a knee problem," he said. "It's helped me incredibly."

Nofze added he deals with athletes all day long; bike racers come to him with problems and he mentions Tait to them.

"(HTT) can be really helpful to those who have an open mind," he said. "It's just another facet of helping people."

Healing Touch, however, is not meant to be used instead of regular medical care, but rather, in addition to it, said Tait.

"It's complimentary medicine; it reduces stress and promotes relaxation," she added.

Stress reduction is important for good health, said Tait, because stress causes the body to secrete more adrenalin and cortisol hormones — two hormones that decrease immune functioning.

Because 60 to 90 percent of all illness is stress-related, HTT can then, in theory, improve overall health by reducing stress, she said.

Numerous medical studies have also shown support for HTT. One study in particular, which involved 44 male volunteers who agreed to have a surgical biopsy done on their upper arms, was very conclusive.

The study, which was double-blind, placed each male volunteer, one at a time, into an isolated room. They were then told to place their arms through a sleeve that fit into an opening in the wall.

Half the group received HTT from practitioners in the adjoining room and the other half did not. After 16 days, the HTT-treated group had an average wound size 10 times smaller than that of the non-treated group, according to study results published in Noetic Sciences Review.

Evidence of HTT's benefits is so strong, both St. Joe's in Pontiac and Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn employ a Healing Touch practitioner to work with patients in their oncology units, said Tait.

This summer, Tait said she is going to Colorado to become certified to teach HTT. Currently, she teaches Therapeutic Touch courses, which nurses, dentists and hygienists can take and use to fulfill contact hours.

Tait also works with cancer patients undergoing radiation and/or chemotherapy, pre- and post-surgical patients and victims of chronic illnesses, in hopes to relieve some of their pain.

She said she tells clients HTT is merely another form of nursing.

"Instead of giving someone a pill to help their pain, I work with their energy field; it's just a different way to practice nursing," she said.

Sessions are $50 for one hour. Appointments can be scheduled by calling (248) 627-2125.

Janet Tait works with client Rose Evarts of Davisburg. Evarts has been visiting Tait to help recuperate from a recent hip surgery.

My experience with Healing Touch Therapy

BY ELLY SPINWEBER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

When my editor first told me about Janet Tait's practice, I was intrigued.

Not only did massage therapy sound surprisingly cutting-edge for a small town like Clarkston, but when I called, Janet offered me a free session. She thought this way I would be better able to understand what Healing Touch Therapy is all about. I made the shallow mistake of thinking I was getting a free massage.

The first thing that came to mind upon hearing the words 'massage therapy' was Phoebe from 'Friends'; I saw a room fragrant with candles, beads dripping from the doorways and an eclectic masseuse in flowing robes there to greet me.

When I arrived at Clarkston Massage Therapy, Tait's practice, I found something very different.

Janet's office can, in no way, shape or form, be alluded to that of my favorite NBC character. It is warm and professional, with a sitting area to the right and a massage table to the left. A Chinese screen separates the areas.

Along the front wall are picture windows, the shades on which were closed a bit to filter in just a small amount of the morning sunlight.

Soothing is the word I'm looking for.

I sat down on the sofa across from Janet and conducted the interview. She told me about her practice and the art of Healing Touch, then offered me a session.

I admit I didn't know what to expect when I lay down on the table. I took my shoes off, but other than that, was fully clothed.

Jan put on some soft music and told me to lay back and relax. I did this and watched her as she closed her eyes and took a few deep breathes to center her own energy.

At this point, I didn't really know what I was supposed to do as far as eyes opened or closed. I decided to close my eyes and I began to relax my shoulders and back.

However, perhaps due to budding journalistic instinct (smile), I peeked. Jan ran her hands in the air above my body, feeling for my energy field. Then she began with the Therapeutic Touch.

Prior to this point, I was still expecting something resembling a

How to best teach Clarkston's students?

School administrators and board members brainstorm on class realignment, reducing high school population

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

In an attempt to create a better learning environment for students, Clarkston school board members and administrators conducted a brainstorming session Monday night.

At the special board meeting, key decision-makers in the district held a workshop to discuss the district's current use of its land and facilities, as well as ideas for the future.

The session was strictly discussion-oriented; no decisions were made.

"This is a genuine opportunity for administrators and board members to talk at a high level about the things that can happen in our school system," said Dr. Al Roberts, superintendent of Clarkston Community Schools, at the beginning of the meeting.

Roberts commended the participation of administrators and board members during the course of the session.

"I'm very happy with the way the dialogue has gone," he said.

Two possible scenarios were brought forth by David Reschke, assistant superintendent for grades K-8.

One of these involved the staggering of starting times for the two middle schools in the district. Under Reschke's proposal, Clarkston Middle School students would start their day at 7:40 a.m., while students at Sashabaw Middle School would begin at 8:10 a.m.

According to Reschke, staggering the starting times for the two schools could potentially lead to program collaboration, allowing students to participate in joint classes, and allowing for the two schools to share staff members between buildings.

On the down side, he did note that such a scenario could lead to complications with regard to transportation, as well as after-school programming.

The other scenario involved grade realignment in the following manner: K-5, 6-7, 8-9, 10-12.

Reschke said that by using this method, the district could provide common programming for students in grades 8-12, and the size of Clarkston High School would be reduced to 1,760 students by the 2002-03 school year.

In addition to the high school, the proposal would allow for the following building enrollments for the 2002-03 school year: K-5: 3,278; 6-7: 1,265; 8-9: 1,270.

Dan Fife, athletic director at Clarkston High School, endorsed this proposal.

"From an athletic standpoint, it wouldn't hurt us," he said. "I think ninth grade does not belong in the high school."

While no decisions were made on either scenario, board trustee Janet Thomas said that they at least give the board something to discuss and consider.

"I think that scenarios for us to react to are better than us coming up with our own," she said.

Craig Kahler, director of business services for the district, gave information on space availability at each building level.

At the elementary school level, Kahler said that the district currently has three four-section elementary buildings, with 22 classrooms each, plus special classrooms in areas such as art and music. The other four elementary buildings are three-section schools, which have 17 classrooms each, plus the special classrooms.

Independence to consider in-line skating rink

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Dana Fortinberry has a unique idea to honor the memory of a Clarkston youth who passed away 1-1/2 years ago.

Fortinberry, a Clarkston resident and member of the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Advisory Board, presented that idea to the Independence Township Board at their June 20 meeting.

She proposed that an in-line hockey rink be built at Sashabaw Plains Park to honor the memory of Mark Myron, the son of Jay and Julie Myron, who passed away in January 1999 at the age of 13.

"We're looking for a way to memorialize him," Fortinberry said.

He was originally adopted by the Clarkston couple when he was two weeks old, and underwent 30 operations during his lifetime. Fortinberry described Myron as "a great lover of hockey."

She added that Ann Conklin, former parks and recreation director for Independence Township, was the one that first suggested an in-line skating rink for Sashabaw Plains, since the one in Clintonwood Park is used often.

"That was originally her idea," Fortinberry said.

Oakhill/M-15 neighbors question traffic, preservation of trees

Castle Ridge conceptual site plan ok'd

BY ELLY SPINWEBER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston residents filled the Carriage House at Clintonwood Park June 22 for the Independence Township Planning Commission meeting. A conceptual site plan approval with a cluster option for proposed subdivision Castle Ridge Estates was on the agenda.

Residents had questions about many aspects of the development, which is to be built on the east side of M-15, near Oakhill Road.

Several of those in attendance were concerned as to what the cluster option meant.

Sandra Gellish, who owns property on Hadley Hills Road, which runs behind the development, was concerned that the development would not preserve trees around her property line.

Commissioner Steve Board clarified for the audience what the cluster option was, and in the process, addressed the question Gellish posed.

"The purpose of a cluster option is to preserve natural elements in a site," said Board.

He added that by 'clustering' the homes in a subdivision, developers can build around, rather than through, vegetation.

The development proposes 19 lots, which earlier in the meeting, Township Planner Dick Carlisle said were laid out in an ideal manner.

"The manner in which the cluster is laid out really does take into account the natural features the site has," he said.

He also clarified the cluster option does not necessarily allow for more homes in the development, it merely helps developers build around natural elements.

Other residents raised questions about issues such as buffer, sewage, outbuildings, and some were concerned about the impact the development will have on the traffic along M-15.

Gary Alexander, who is an Oakland County

Deputy Sheriff, lives on the west side of M-15 and was concerned about traffic circulation problems the development might aggravate.

He mentioned with 19 new homes, there could be as many as 40 more cars in and out of the area.

"That's a lot of traffic to bleed out of there," he said.

He asked whether there would be a light at the intersection, to which commissioners said there most likely would not be.

"We've tried to get lights in M-15 and it's been very difficult," Carlisle said.

Alexander said, as a deputy sheriff, he thought with the amount of traffic flowing in and out, there should be a light put in.

"I can tell you right now there will be fatalities at Oakhill Road," he said.

Commissioners advised residents to look at the final site plan approval when it is put on file and also to listen for the announcement of any more public hearings in regards to the subdivision, where they will be able to voice their opinions.

The Planning Commission, was, however, grateful for residents' concern.

"We really appreciate your questions tonight," said commissioner David Lohmeier. "These are some of the best questions we've heard in a long time."

Waldon Road landscape study approved

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Independence Township board approved a project that should result in the restoration of trees to Waldon Road after it's paved.

The board, at its June 20 meeting, authorized the payment of $9,300 to the firm of Carlisle/Wortman Associates to create a landscape plan for the area between I-75 and Clintonville Road which has been slated for paving.

Clerk Joan McCrary said that a few trees in that area will have to be removed to make room for the paving of the road.

In order to pave the road, certain trees have to come out," she said. "As soon as they're cut, there will be something to replace them."

McCrary estimates that the study will take, at the most, about a month to complete.

She said that she understand that area residents may not be happy over the news, but emphasized that the township will do what it can to replace the trees that will be cut as a result of the project.

"We know the people out there will be upset, but we want to show them that we'll take a positive step to replace them," she said.

McCrary stated that a report will be given by the firm to the board.

"We'll have to know what the costs are," she said.

In other news at the meeting, the board approved

A rezoning request by Guido Grassi regarding Lots 1 & 2, Sashabaw Heights Subdivision on Sashabaw Road, south of Clarkston Road. The property has been rezoned from R-1A (Single Family Residential) to OS-2 (Office Service Two).

Senior "Breakout BBQ" a wonderful event

Dear Editor,

I recently had the pleasure of chairing the First Annual CHS Senior "Breakout BBQ" for the graduating Class of 2000. I'd like to share with this community what a wonderful event it was.

The BBQ was attended by approximately 90 per- cent of the seniors. I have talked with many students since graduation, and supporters of this event will be happy to know that the Breakout BBQ was a huge suc- cess. I have yet to speak with a student, administrator, or parent of an attendee that wouldn't agree. Students spent the afternoon signing yearbooks, playing volley- ball, participating in Waterball Wars, water balloon con- tests, the Home Run Derby, lounging in the sun, admir- ing the decorated cars, or just getting something to eat and relaxing. It was a great way to spend the final day as the Class of 2000.

Thanks to (CHS Principal) John Dilegghio for his desire to make positive memories for the students of CHS. It was his suggestion to make the last day of school for our parting seniors something special and memorable. He commented on the success of "senior walks" and pic- nics at other facilities he was familiar with. At that point the ball started rolling. Instantly I had a terrific co-chair, and a committee of dedicated volunteers. We became a team with one goal in mind: To make the last day of school one that the Class of 2000 would look back on and re- member with a smile.

A special thank you goes to the following: Pine Knob Music Theatre for sponsoring this event. They provided the food and beverages, a tent for shelter from the ele- ments, and merchandise for the raffle.

Their donation reached beyond the students of CHS and into our community. Surplus food was donated to the All Night Party, Lighthouse of Clarkston, and the Senior Center; to Independence Parks and Recreation for do- nating the use of beautiful Clintonwood Park - a perfect

We will all miss Marty Jackson

Dear Editor,

Martin L. Jackson was one of the nicest neigh- bors a person could have.

Marty, as he was known by family and friends, was born in Detroit on July 30, 1915.

Marty enlisted in the Army in February, 1941. He proudly and honorably served his country in World War II in the Army 32nd Signal Corps (Red Arrow). His wartime activities involved the Papuan Campaign and New Guinea Campaign. He received decorations and service medal citations, such as the American Defense Ribbon, Service Ribbon with Bronze Star for the Papuan Campaign, Distinguished Unit Badge and "Character-Excellent" in Luzon in 1945.

He married Alice (Bena) on June 6, 1946. Marty and Bena enjoyed many years of square dancing and round dancing. Bena passed away December 31, 1993.

Marty retired from Morley Brothers in 1980, com- pleting 43 years of service. He remained close with many friends from Morley Brothers.

After Bena passed away, Marty devoted his time to his vegetable garden and flowers. He and I shared many discussions regarding our gardens. I will miss having him walk across the yard to where I was to check on what I was doing. I would ask how he was doing and he would always say "Not bad for an old man and his dog." He had a little Chihuahua named George that was his constant companion.

In the fall of 1998, Marty had some bad luck. His

Holiday has different meanings

Seems hard to believe, but July 4 is approaching. Wasn't it just yesterday that everybody and their mother was concerned about the possibility of a Y2K crisis? Now, the year 2000 is almost halfway over, and the world still hasn't come to an end.

Good thing most people acted with caution and didn't do rash things like empty their bank accounts (that's especially true in my case-my recent car repairs managed to wipe out a good portion of my bank ac- count, anyway).

Everything is still running normally, more or less. I won't get into the ridiculous cost of gas (speaking of wiping out bank accounts). Where were the good old days (like, say, a month or two ago) where gas cost about $1.30 per gallon?

Nowdays, it takes about $30-40 just to fill up on a tank of gas! Message to presidential candidates George W. Bush and Al Gore (not to mention President Clinton): If you want to show you're serious about leading this country, you can start by doing whatever you have to do to lower gas prices.

Just wondering if the preposterous prices will have an effect on July 4 travel, and if so, how? We'll find out in a week.

Anyway, people around the country will be taking time out that day to celebrate our nation's independence, and hopefully remind ourselves of the freedoms we of- ten take for granted.

It's easy to forget the real meaning behind July 4. After all, between traveling, hanging around the picnic table, watching fireworks light up the nighttime sky, and turning on the television to watch a ballgame, everything else seems to get lost in the shuffle.

For many people, those are the things we associate with that particular holiday (not to mention, of course, a day off of work).

My guess is that many people do understand that the holiday carries a special significance way beyond those things, but they are so preoccupied with the pomp and circumstance that the sub- stance behind the holiday tends to get placed on the back burner.

However, various celebrations and ceremonies will be taking place across the country to remind folks that this day is more than an excuse to fire up the barbecue grill.

The same will be true in Clarkston. As is the case each year, a Fourth of July parade will be held in downtown Clarkston. Other activities follow at Clintonwood Park, and fireworks top it off there at 10 p.m.

July 4 means many things to many people. It marks a halfway point of sorts in the year, a chance to sleep in until noon, fireworks and festivities, barbecues and parades.

It also means a chance to give thanks and celebrate the very quality that one of the area townships is named for: independence.

Hopefully, people in the area will take time out to make their way to these events and give thanks for the opportunity to enjoy the freedoms we have in this coun- try.

Patrus' Perspective

Jeff Patrus

Put another penny in, kid

A tinge of guilt has swept over your hero — that would be me (stop snickering). I have come to the painful conclusion that I must be doing something parentally wrong.

At least fatherly wrong.

And, I didn't think what I was doing was all that bad until I recently spent a few quality hours in front of the television set. That's when I saw the errors of Poppy's way.

As I sat, lounging on our brown leather couch, before me aired the commercial that changed my perspective. Portrayed there on the 31-inch, color TV screen, was the all-American father-son bonding experience. The actor playing the father was bent over on the floor; the actor playing the son, atop his back.

They were galloping around their make-believe living room playing horsey. For obvious reasons the "dad" was the horse and the "son" was the cowboy, riding over the mesa, or badlands or maybe just playing a rodeo game.

I couldn't quite make out what environment they were riding, I only know it wasn't the same one Number One Son and I traverse. The pretend pretending father and son, though, were lovingly enjoying this moment of Americana just as fathers and sons all across these fruited plains must do. Laughing and having a hell-bent-for-leather of a good time.

Two-and-a-half-year-old Shamus and his poppy — that would be me (and stop snickering) — haven't exactly shared this moment. Much to my chagrin, instead, Shamus' idea of the "horsey" game is the "Meijer's (as in Thrifty Acres) Pony" game.

When Shamus gleefully blurts, "Let's play pony," Poppy knows the routine: Either on Mommy and Poppy's big bed or on the floor in Shamus' room, Poppy lays flat on his ample belly. Thrifty shopper Shamus climbs into the make believe saddle, pretends to put a penny in my side, and then instructs, "Go Poppy!"

Sometimes he commands "Faster!"

Sometimes, "Higher!" And I bounce. Were anyone to view this scene as the proverbial fly on the wall, I would look much like a beached whale flopping around with a small tow-headed child astride. It wouldn't be pretty.

That's it. That's our game.

I bounce and contort there on my belly like an epileptic slug until the money runs out and I'm forced to say, "Put another penny in, kid."

Poppy is not a sure footed mustang or proud Appaloosa stallion. Poppy has no rippling muscles, no flowing mane, wild eyes nor flaring nostrils. Poppy is a shiny metal, pink pony, complete with a painted red, white and blue saddle, and a penny dispenser on the side.

Shamus — without a proper John Wayne western movie for reference — doesn't ride the prairie, plains or in the big sky canyons of the American west. What goes through his mind during the Meijer's Pony Game I can't pretend to guess. In the name of Blazing Saddles I can only hope he's not pretending to be the lone, unnamed shopper, roaming the byways and aisleways of some mega-super store looking for bargains on fruit snacks and cookies.

Poor Shamus, he doesn't know he is not in the cowboy way. Heck, he doesn't even know what the cowboy way is. Double-dog heck, he doesn't even know what a cowboy is, I really am slacking off in the ways of fatherhood.

Luckily, the kid hasn't seen that blasted commercial with that make-believe dad and that make believe son romping around on his hands and knees in their make believe living room.

I'd hate for him to feel short changed, so to speak.

Comments, suggestions or complaints to the man some call a painted pink pony, can be e-mailed to: dontrushmedon@aol.com. Don asks that you be gentle, for Shamus' sake.

Just jotting-from Assad to the death tax

The headline read: "Assad's passing clouds peace."

The Detroit News wire service story began: "Hafez Assad, Syria's autocratic president who dreamed of Arab unity at the expense of Israel, died Saturday, a development that could deal a blow to Mideast peace talks."

I frequently avoid reading any story that has the words "could and may" in the headline or first paragraph. Could and may mean there is speculation, which means something could go either way ... for, against or remain the same.

My hang up with those words kept me from reading further into the story, except to find out how Assad died. (It was a heart problem.)

In this story there was a second reason to read no further.

Assad's passing "clouds peace." Clouds peace! When it comes to the Middle East, peace talk is something that is drowned out by gun fire. I'm not the historian of the Middle East, but has there ever been peace in that part of the world?

Peace talks were to start in Washington the Monday following Assad's death. Had they taken place representatives of the Middle East would have again returned home richer.

Seems like whenever officials from other countries come to Washington they go home with billions of our dollars for "aid."

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman

My next topic is also death related, so I'm breaking up the thoughts with this advice: It's all right letting yourself go, as long as you can get yourself back.

Down there in Washington DC they're talking again about doing away with the death tax. That's the name given these days to the estate tax.

That's the tax, up to 55 percent, that the politicians passed a long time ago, that keeps parents from passing on the fruit of their life's labor to their children.

As if the local, county, state and federal governments don't have enough ways to take our money.

They have income tax, sales tax, social security, unemployment tax, property tax, water tax, gas tax, road tax, sewer tax, garbage tax and in some cities, city income tax.

Both houses in Washington, with support from both parties, are behind this movement to let families keep their money in their families after death.

But, President Clinton promises to veto this, or any other tax-cut bill.

He says our government would miss the money too much. This is the same guy, referred to in the first Jottings item today, who freely gives "aid" to every country in the world.

The estate tax amounts to about 2 percent of federal revenue. Wish lovable Bill would cut 2 percent of the "aids" and sign legislation to kill the death tax.

If he's looking for a legacy, that would be a good one.

place for a BBQ, refrigerator space, concession machine, and the assistance of their staff; Independence Township Fire Department for the "game of the day", Waterball, and their help in obtaining water for the waterball wars; Vision Productions and DJ Mike Moran for providing music and making announcements throughout the afternoon; Jeff Peariso for the colorful banners promoting the event and to the volunteers who made desserts and brought them to the park.

Without everyone's support and commitment this event would not have been such a success. To the students who came to enjoy the afternoon, thank you for being well mannered, appreciative, and for being the kids you are. Thank you all for reaffirming why Clarkston is a special community in which to live!

Finally a heartfelt thanks to my co-chair Ralph Przybylski who had a lot more going on and was still there for us, and to every person on the BBQ committee. I couldn't have handpicked a better group of people to work with. Because we were focused and determined to make this a special event, collectively we made a difference in our kids' last day of school. Congratulations on a very successful inaugural event. I would welcome the opportunity to work with each and every one of you again.

kitchen caught on fire and he did not have insurance. Many people extended a helping hand at that time. I would like to take this opportunity to thank those that touched Marty's life with such generosity when he was in such desperate need.

Thanks to the Independence Township Fire Department; Montgomery and Sons; Clarkston Design Center; Central Air Quality; Community Bible Church; Dr. Duquette; Jerry Polidan; Independence Township and Treasurer Jim Wenger; Cori, the very special nurse from North Oakland Home Health Care; Dee and Dick Hall.

So many reached out to help this man who served our country. Marty appreciated every one of you.

Marty and Bena never were able to have children but were close to Bena's relatives who included two nieces (Rose Steen of Mississippi and Marjorie Lind of Arizona. Both came out to help when, Marty was placed in a nursing home in May.

Marty remained in touch with cousins he lived with as a teenager until they died and still is very dear to second cousins Randy and Susan Worker from Colorado and Bobby Leighnor from Ohio. They visited Marty recently in the hospital and helped with the garage sales we have had.

Marty was adopted by two of his neighbors in Clarkston where he lived for 35 years. Charles Norman lives on one side and I lived on the other. He has been like a father to us and we love him very much. We will miss his wonderful humor, his grateful attitude for all he has experienced in his life and the many life stories he has shared with us.

His flowers will miss his care and we will miss his love. Good-bye my friend. We will meet you in the "Garden" some day.

Headwaters project presented at public meeting

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Six communities, one goal.

Approximately 50 people made their way to the Springfield Oaks Civic Center earlier this month to attend a public information meeting on the Shiawassee & Huron Headwaters Resource Preservation Project.

Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls, co-chair of the project, served as master of ceremonies for the event.

Walls said that the project has been time-consuming, and emphasized the need for mutual cooperation between all parties for the project to be successful.

"The project has been both a challenge and an opportunity," he said. "We must never lose sight of the key participants-builders, developers, major land-owners. Government regulation can never do it alone."

Also speaking at the meeting were Dan Hunter, manager for Oakland County Planning & Economic Development; John Paskus of the Michigan Natural Features Inventory; Dick Carlisle of Carlisle Wortman & Associates; and Bret Rasegan, supervisor of planning for Oakland County Planning & Economic Development.

Consultants on the project included the Michigan Natural Features Inventory, Carlisle Wortman & Associates, and Oakland County Planning & Development.

The study focused on six total communities: five townships (Rose, Springfield, Highland, White Lake, Milford) and one village (Milford).

"Each community actively participated with representation," said Walls.

According to Springfield Township Clerk Nancy Strole, the idea first arose in December 1996, after

'We hope it's protecting this very unique resource. We needed to obtain better quality information on the resources in Springfield Township. We needed some new and different guidelines and techniques.'

Nancy Strole — Springfield Township Clerk

concerns arose regarding the Bridge Valley development, located in the eastern part of the township.

"It became clear to us that if we were to protect that resource, we would need some special planning techniques," she said. "We hope it's protecting this very unique resource. We needed to obtain better quality information on the resources in Springfield Township. We needed some new and different guidelines and techniques."

The township submitted a grant proposal to the Environmental Protection Agency in January 1997, and after the grant was approved, the project officially began Oct. 1 of that year.

At this month's meeting, a number of suggestions were made by the Oakland County Planning & Economic Development Services Division, who headed up the project.

In all, they made a total of eight recommendations:

- Establish cooperative relationships and coordination at multiple levels.

- Create a region-wide natural resource open space network plan.

- Establish a public education and outreach program.

- Establish a stewardship strategy that benefits public and private lands.

- Implement tools and techniques appropriate for individual municipalities and private organizations.

- Utilize natural resource-sensitive development designs.

- Continue to inventory and document the natural resource system.

- Continue to monitor the natural resource system.

Strole said that the township is beginning to implement these recommendations.

"We're beginning to adapt and implement it," she said. "Springfield Township is incorporating many of the findings of the project into their master plan. The Planning Commission is looking at a number of planning tools."

RICKANE PEST CONTROL

Mosquito time is upon us, call our friends at Rickane

Pests are pests and no one does a better job of eliminating those unwanted guests than the folks at Rickane Pest Control, who are considered to be among the best pest control professionals in southeastern Michigan.

If you're looking for quality service, competitive prices and a helpful ear, the pros at Rickane, a division of Eradico Services, Inc., can help, just like they have since the early 1970s. We protect health, property and our clients well-being.

"Eradico Services and Rickane Pest Control have a solid reputation within the pest control industry for almost 75 years and we're very pleased to be able to provide other related services to the residents of Clarkston and Ortonville and other surrounding areas because of the association with Eradico," Pickett said.

Pickett said professionals like Judy Garner, a 20-year Rickane staffer, and her daughter Tammy, are the kind of dedicated employees the company has built its reputation on in the pest control industry.

"With familiar faces like Judy and Tammy, customers are able to speak with a knowledgeable, helpful staff member who understands the pest control business, the needs of the local residents and are happy to share information about the new services available from Eradico," Pickett said.

Pickett said Rickane Pest Control offers the usual variety of pest control services including the elimination of ants, bees, mosquitoes, wasps, mice, termites and other "unwelcomed pests" from your home and business.

Rickane Pest Control is pleased to announce they are offering tree and shrub care and lawn maintenance, which includes landscape lighting and other services through various related Eradico Services.

"Services are available on a one-time basis or through pest control programs designed specifically to meet the needs of individual customers," Pickett said.

Rickane Pest Control also offers a rather unique holiday service because of its outstanding relationship with Eradico. Pickett said Christmas Decor Inc., a division of Eradico, can provide homeowners and businesses with the helpful service of Christmas decorating during the holidays and taking them down at the appropriate time when the holiday season has passed.

"We are finding many people would rather turn over this job to us and concentrate on the more enjoyable aspects of the holiday if any one is interested in the service they may call us to see if they are in the franchise area," Pickett said.

Pickett said Rickane Pest Control has great name recognition in the tri-county area of Oakland, Macomb and Genesee, and was even more exposed to the public after a color pest-control brochure was mailed to 430,000 area residents recently.

"If any one would like to receive a copy or have your name added on to the Rickane Pest Control mailing list, you're invited to give the office a call at 248-625-8002," Pickett said.

In case you're not sure where Rickane Pest Control is located, the office is located at 6750 Oakhill Road in Ortonville and is open Monday through Friday 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. They can be reached at 248-625-8002.

Second man charged in beating death of Clarkston man

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News-Staff Writer

A second man has been charged in the June 16 beating death of Lawrence John "Jack" Thompson in Clarkston.

Daniel Barry Couch, 42, of Clarkston was charged June 21 with second-degree murder, and is being held in the Oakland County Jail on a $1 million cash bond.

Earlier, Richard Lee Collar, 51, also of Clarkston, was arraigned on second-degree murder charges in the death of Thompson, 39, who was the owner and president of Thompson Oil Co. in Pontiac.

Collar, who was arrested the day of the incident, is being held in the Oakland County Jail on a $500,000 cash bond.

According to Lt. Dale LaBair, commander of the Independence Township substation, Couch played a significant role in Thompson's death.

"He was clearly responsible," LaBair said. "He was at least equally responsible (as Collar)."

He said that the two suspects did not know each other prior to the night of the murder. According to LaBair, a party was taking place at the apartment that night when Couch arrived at the apartment.

"He (Couch) was called by one of the two girls who were at the house," LaBair said. "He was mad at Thompson."

Thompson was treated at the scene, and was later pronounced dead at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

A preliminary examination for both suspects will be held at 10:30 a.m. June 29 at District Court 52-2 in Clarkston, according to LaBair.

Armed robbery in Springfield Twp.

An armed robbery took place June 24 at Dixie Highway and Bluewater in Davisburg.

According to police reports, the responding officer was dispatched to that location at approximately 11 p.m. that night. The officer received further information that an armed robbery had just occurred at that location.

Three suspects were reportedly seen heading southbound on Dixie that night.

According to Sgt. Patrick Miles of the Springfield Township substation, a stainless steel .45 caliber gun was used in the incident.

No other information regarding the incident was provided as of press time.

Second man charged in beating death of Clarkston man

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

A second man has been charged in the June 16 beating death of Lawrence John "Jack" Thompson in Clarkston.

Daniel Barry Couch, 42, of Clarkston was charged June 21 with second-degree murder, and is being held in the Oakland County Jail on a $1 million cash bond.

Earlier, Richard Lee Collar, 51, also of Clarkston, was arraigned on second-degree murder charges in the death of Thompson, 39, who was the owner and president of Thompson Oil Co. in Pontiac.

Collar, who was arrested the day of the incident, is being held in the Oakland County Jail on a $500,000 cash bond.

According to Lt. Dale LaBair, commander of the Independence Township substation, Couch played a significant role in Thompson's death.

"He was clearly responsible," LaBair said. "He was at least equally responsible (as Collar)."

He said that the two suspects did not know each other prior to the night of the murder. According to LaBair, a party was taking place at the apartment that night when Couch arrived at the apartment.

"He (Couch) was called by one of the two girls who were at the house," LaBair said. "He was mad at Thompson."

Thompson was treated at the scene, and was later pronounced dead at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

A preliminary examination for both suspects will be held at 10:30 a.m. June 29 at District Court 52-2 in Clarkston, according to LaBair.

Armed robbery in Springfield Twp.

An armed robbery took place June 24 at Dixie Highway and Bluewater in Davisburg.

According to police reports, the responding officer was dispatched to that location at approximately 11 p.m. that night. The officer received further information that an armed robbery had just occurred at that location.

Three suspects were reportedly seen heading southbound on Dixie that night.

According to Sgt. Patrick Miles of the Springfield Township substation, a stainless steel .45 caliber gun was used in the incident.

No other information regarding the incident was provided as of press time.

A Look Back

15 YEARS AGO (1985)

A new senior citizen complex may be in the works for Independence and Springfield townships. Mediplex Group Inc., of Newton, Mass., recently announced intentions of building senior citizen housing units and a nursing home on 26 acres of Dixie Highway near I-75.

Preliminary budgets totaling $20.85 million were approved for the 1985-86 school year by the board of education. Superintendent Milford Mason stressed that the budget cannot be final until enrollment figures and the amount of revenue per pupil provided by state funding are fact rather than conjecture.

Kathleen O'Donnell, director of the Clarkston Community Education Department, and school board president Janet Thomas accepted the annual award for Best Community Education Department in Oakland County from the Oakland Schools Community Education Association.

25 YEARS AGO (1975)

The possibility that Pine Knob Resort might become the eighth in a string of county-owned parks was presented to the Oakland County Parks and Recreation in executive session. Owners of the property, Joe Locricchio and Gary D. Francel of Indusco Corp., have reportedly been seeking buyers for some months.

The architectural firm of Denyes and Freeman and Assoc. of Pontiac has been selected to undertake a feasibility study involving the future of Clarkston Junior High School.

The first steps to include Clarkston in a federal flood plain insurance program have been taken by the Clarkston Village Council. The village will be sending the Federal Insurance Administration (FIA) a map drawn up by Kieft Engineering designating flood plains in Clarkston.

50 YEARS AGO (1950)

The Clarkston Fire Fighters have been kept busy getting everything in tip-top shape for the big July 4th celebration. Starting at ten o'clock in the morning there will be a parade. Young and old are invited and urged to participate in the parade, which will assemble at Miller Road and Main Street.

Members and friends of the Clarkston Methodist Church gathered in the church parlors for a one o'clock family dinner honoring the Reverend and Mrs. Walter C.B. Saxman, son, David, and daughter, Phyllis, who left this week to make their home in Sault Ste. Marie.

The Clarkston Girl Scouts enjoyed several days camping at the state park in Ortonville. Their program consisted of nature hikes, cook-outs, camp craft, dramatics, songs and camp fires.

Friends enjoy a mix of old and new at Nickelodeon

BY ELLY SPINWEBER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A player piano, good food and friendly service. Combined, these traits capture the essence of Clarkston's Nickelodeon Restaurant.

Located on M-15, just north of Clarkston, Nickelodeon is open daily for lunch and dinner.

The menu ranges from deli sandwiches to seafood to steak, said headwaitress Kathy Spress. She added specialties include stir-frys and homemade desserts, such as cheesecake and rice pudding.

"Our stir-frys are what people come for because they have their own spice blends," Spress said.

Specials vary on the weekends, depending on the fresh food coming in on Friday and Saturday, she added. "It could be anything from fresh swordfish to buffalo burgers," she said.

The restaurant's namesake, an antique Nickelodeon piano, still stands in a corner at the back of the dining room.

Waitress Sandy Barker, who has worked at Nickelodeon for more than 22 years, said though the piano no longer works, it is a piece of history from the original owners.

Antiques such as the player piano line the walls and shelves of the dining rooms, giving the restaurant a homey atmosphere that keeps regular customers coming back.

"People that live close have been coming here for years and years," Barker said. She added many regulars knew the original owners and continue to come back frequently to visit staff members.

"We have certain people come in and we know what they're going to order before they even sit down," Barker said.

Spress agreed and added people also come back for the price and quality of the food, which she said is at its best. "These (owners) have changed things completely menu-wise," she said. "The food is better and there are more homemade things, whereas before, it was food that could be made real fast."

Originally a gas station, the Nickelodeon was transformed into an antique shop by the Krause family in 1970. Eventually, they added a deli onto the store. This made it very unique, said Spress, who has been an employee at the restaurant for 20 years.

"It was a real neat place to come to," she said.

Antiques are part of the decor and give it a homey atmosphere.

The Nickelodeon was once a gas station.

In 1973, the antique shop/deli was expanded to become the restaurant it is today.

Nickelodeon also offers customers the Nickelodeon Country Store, a liquor store and deli that sells hot and cold food, makes sandwiches for the restaurant, offers catering services and sells kegs of beer.

Rochester resident Demetri Asim has shared restaurant ownership with his brothers, Michael and Stephen, for 20 years.

Asim said there are several ongoing improvements at Nickelodeon. "We are looking into trying to get draft beer into the restaurant," he said. He added they have just finished improvements on the greenhouse near the back of the restaurant and are working on the gardens outside.

Nickelodeon boasts entirely separate dining rooms for smoking and non-smoking, as well as a full bar for patrons who want to come in and just have a drink.

There is also a 10-item kids menu, free soda refills and large group accommodations, said Asim.

Restaurant hours are 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and 11 a.m. to 10 a.m. Friday and Saturday.

Nickelodeon Country Store hours are 10:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. daily.

Clarkston art teacher receives grant award

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Carolyn Armitage, an elementary school art teacher in the Clarkston school district, received a very pleasant surprise last Wednesday morning.

Two representatives from Electronic Data Systems (EDS) were on hand that day at North Sashabaw Elementary School to present Armitage with a check, to the delight of her students.

The check, for $1,500, represented the awarding of an EDS Technology Grant, designed for teachers of students ages 6-12 to purchase information technology services and products that will increase the students' ability to learn.

Armitage said she would use the grant money toward the purchase of computer equipment for her classroom.

More specifically, she has two CD-ROM programs in mind: "With Open Eyes" and "The Louvre Museum: Museums of the World for Kids," produced by the Art Institute of Chicago and the Louvre Museum, respectively.

"These are programs put together by the muse-

She said that the programs will help the students experience works of art at these museums on a first-hand basis.

"It's important to try to see real art," Armitage said. "If you don't go to a museum, this is as close as you're going to get."

Debra Latozas, principal at North Sashabaw, recognized her contributions to the school.

"Carolyn is always seeking ways to improve the program," Latozas said. "She seeks ways to tie in their work to real life. She tries very hard to make sure they get a variety of art experiences."

Armitage is currently in her fifth year as a teacher in the Clarkston Community Schools district at North Sashabaw Elementary and Bailey Lake Elementary.

Prior to that, she taught for 10 years in a wide variety of settings, including college and adult/youth extension classes at the Center for Creative Studies in Detroit, and workshops at the Detroit Institute of Arts. She has also exhibited her own work in several state and national shows.

THE LAW & YOU

by Kelley R. Kostin
Attorney at Law

QUICK AND EFFECTIVE

When a person suffers an injury as a result of someone else's negligence, he or she should make every effort to consult with an attorney with expertise in personal injury cases. This is the most effective step toward putting the law on their side. Tort cases require that the circumstances surrounding the case be investigated quickly and thoroughly in order that the witness' statements and evidence be adequately obtained and preserved. The primary focus in cases involving tort liability is on marshalling the facts, advocating effectively, and instituting appropriate tactics. Plaintiffs can put all these resources on their side with little expenditure of their own. Personal injury lawyers generally work on a contingent-fee basis.

You can never overestimate the power of having effective counsel when your legal rights are at stake. Getting all the facts requires persistence, experience, and a willingness to listen, which is exactly what you'll find here at 11 North Main Street. We handle a variety of legal matters involving personal injury, auto accidents, slip and fall injuries, criminal defense, business law, real estate, family law, and civil litigation in both State and Federal courts. To schedule a free initial consultation, call 620-1030.

Hint: There are many factors, aside from the severity of the injury, that must be factored into the worth of a personal injury case.

Healing Touch Therapy

massage. However, as I quickly learned, this therapy is about touch.

Jan first cupped each foot in her hands and held them there for 15 or 20 seconds each. Then she moved to my legs, hips, and then centered her hands in the air above my chest and abdomen.

She also did my arms, hands and face. The feeling was incredible, even to a skeptic. It was almost electric; I could feel her hands (or maybe her energy) right before she put them on me. The only way I can describe the touch is as silent, placating, cool and never wavering. It was very reminiscent of my mother's when I was a little girl. The familiarity of this feeling brought tears to my eyes.

The session ended with Jan cupping behind my head with her hands, then gently touching my forehead, cheeks and chin with her hands.

I was definitely speechless when she finished. I had to wipe my eyes a bit as she handed me a glass of water and asked me what I thought.

I just said "Wow" for a minute and then I told her it was very soothing and mentioned how it reminded me of my mother.

She agreed and told me it was like unconditional love, if only for a few minutes.

She had also told me earlier she volunteers at Hospice and one day, a woman who got off her table turned around and said, "It's just like warm sunshine."

This captures what HTT is like, as close as one can know it without experiencing it.

It's incredible; I saw subtle changes in myself immediately following the session. I spoke softer and found myself very peaceful. Me, the girl who is constantly yelling and tripping over everything.

Were it not for the fact that I am a poor college student, I would be visiting that wonderful woman every week. Such a treat — thank you so much, Janet.

Waldon Rd. landscape study

The measure was approved by a 6-1 vote, with trustee Neil Wallace opposing. Wallace cited his concerns that the developer will not go through with the development of the property.

■A resolution to proceed with the construction of safety path improvements along Clarkston Road, between Snowapple and Flemings Lake Road, and authorized the township to acquire the easement on the property by eminent domain.

■An increase in the 1999 budgeted revenues for the parks and recreation department by $11,872; a general fund transfer to the parks and recreation department of $172,205 in 1999 to cover the deficit in 1998 of $42,301 and in 1999 of $129,904; an increase in the budgeted revenues in the parks and recreation department by $172,205 and an increase in the budgeted transfers out of the general fund by $172,205.

"The companionship of the ducks is unbelievable. If parents would watch their kids the way these ducks watch their young it would be a different world we live in," Flood said.

Brittani, 9 and Cody, 6, have enjoyed feeding the ducks which reside in their grandparents' pond in Independence Township.

Clintonville Rd./I-75 exit possibility makes area residents irate -- special meeting set for July 13

"He ignored my calls for three weeks," Anstandig said. "That's why we crashed the meeting. He was supposed to be accessible, but as a supervisor he has not been available to us. He sends our calls off to the Road Commission (for Oakland County) and other places. He's in support of this."

Stuart agreed he had not returned her calls, but said he had been attempting to set up a meeting, which has been scheduled for July 13 (see box).

The possibility of the exit came to light following the recent publication of a draft transportation plan for an I-75 corridor study in Oakland County.

The study was prepared by The Corradino Group and two other companies for Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT), Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG), RCOC and the Traffic Improvement Association of Oakland County (TIA). Its purpose is to find ways to relieve traffic congestion on I-75 in Oakland County.

However, it is not only the exit residents are upset about. The draft calls for bridges over Clintonville Rd. "to be reconstructed to accommodate a five-lane Clintonville Rd."

While the draft seemingly calls for five lanes, Stuart says people involved with the study say that won't happen.

"This is not a typical interchange," Stuart said. "It will have sloping entrances and exits like at M-15. Around the area (of the exit) there may be widening, but not the full length of Clintonville Rd."

Stuart said what the residents don't understand is that an exit will actually take traffic away from Clintonville Rd.

"Traffic is so congested, we need something and this makes the most sense. They'll get traffic down there anyway. This is a way of having traffic not go their way," he said.

Craig Bryson, RCOC public information officer, said the report is only preliminary and nothing has been ruled in or out.

He added RCOC would probably not support the interchange if it wasn't supported by the township board.

On Friday, Independence Township Clerk Joan McCrary said over the last 20 years township boards have been asking Road Commission and MDOT personnel for an exit there to relieve congestion on M-15 and Sashabaw Road.

She said while they believe it would be best for the township, especially because more growth will continue in that area, the board will not support it if the residents are against it.

Stuart said while he has been in favor of an interchange at that location, he agreed that if residents are against it the board will not back it. But he said more than just 15 or 20 residents from the immediate area must be opposed.

Anstandig and other residents are hoping to make sure that will happen. At Friday's meeting at her house about 20 people broke into groups to distribute fliers announcing the July 13 meeting. They also will tackle locating a variety of studies and information to support their cause.

"The meeting was not just a complaint session. We've gotten good direction. We're focused and channeling our frustration into positive areas," she said.

The group will distribute fliers to residents on Maybee Rd., Clarkston Rd., Eston Rd., S. Eston Rd., Waldon Rd. and Clintonville Rd. south into Waterford.

Anstandig has also created a Website: maxpages.com/clintonville. Residents can also e-mail her at kanstandig@aol.com

On Monday, Stuart said he was preparing a letter to residents in the affected area announcing the meeting.

The I-75 corridor study group steering committee members who will be attending include: Joe Corradino, Ken Rogers, deputy Oakland County executive, Brent Bair, managing director of RCOC, Bob DeCorte from TIA, Andy Ziegler of MDOT, Carmine Palombo from SEMCOG and Debbie Schutt of Schutt and Co. who is also working on the study.

The meeting will be Thurs., July 13 at 6 p.m. at Independence Township Fire Station #1 on Citation Drive.

Local Youths Win Optimist Tournament

Joseph Regiani of Clarkston was the overall winner in the June 23 Clarkston Area Optimists Club's Junior Golf Qualifier. Joe, a senior at Clarkston High School, shot a 75 on a par 70 course at Goodrich Country Club to cinch the division. David Sommers, also of Clarkston, shot an 83 in the boys age 14-15 division, to capture that winning spot.

First place finishers in the junior division were Benjamin Richards, age 13 of Goodrich and 11 year-old Alex Brown of Shelby Township.

These winners, along with the second and third place finishers, advanced to the Michigan Optimists State Qualifier in Saginaw on June 28, where each attempted to qualify for the OIJGC Championships, which are played on four courses at the prestigious PGA Nationals Golf Resort and Spa in Palm Beach Gardens, Florida in late July.

The Optimists International Junior Golf Championship is one of the largest tournaments in junior golf. Annually, more than 6,000 junior golfers compete in the Optimist-sponsored qualifying tournaments.

Mitchell plays at Comerica in high school All-Star game

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

For the entire baseball season, Chris Mitchell was one of Clarkston's best weapons. Last week, he was surrounded by the best players the state had to offer.

Mitchell was one of 36 Michigan High School varsity baseball players to take part in the East West All-Star game June 22 at Comerica Park.

Mitchell was a member of the East squad, which was made up of players from schools from Metro Detroit. East won the game 14-9 and Mitchell went 1-for-2 with a single and caught a fly ball, which was the last out of the game.

But the experience went far beyond the score sheet, Mitchell said.

"It was a lot of fun and just great to be there. The scoreboard and hearing the crowd were some of my favorite parts," Mitchell said.

Mitchell estimated about 300 people were in attendance at Comerica for the game, a few of which were some of his biggest supporters.

Mitchell's teammate Francis Hodges made the trip to see the game, as did 1999 Clarkston graduate Spencer Hynes, who played baseball at Oakland University, Clarkston head coach Phil Price and Mitchell's parents.

"Coach Price was real excited for me. Especially considering I was the first player from Clarkston to play at Comerica," Mitchell said.

Mitchell said playing nine innings was a bit of a change, from the usual seven innings in high school baseball, but it was a change he welcomed with open arms.

"It's a little longer, but I prefer to play nine. With the competition that was out there, you're never out of a game. Sometimes during the season we'd be killing a team and the game was pretty much over with early on. With the level of skill that was out there you're never out of the game. The competition just takes over," Mitchell said.

It's that hunger for tough competition that has helped Mitchell through his high school years at Clarkston, both on the diamond and on the grid iron.

In his senior year at running back,

'It was a lot of fun and just great to be there. The scoreboard and hearing the crowd were some of my favorite parts.'

Chris Mitchell — Former CHS varsity baseball player

Mitchell gained nearly 2,000 yards on the ground. On the diamond, he was one of Clarkston's best pitchers and hitters.

"I think playing football just taught me to work hard and have a tough, competitive nature. It's a big time team game.

You've always got to have faith in your team," Mitchell said.

Mitchell has been working hard this summer getting ready for his freshmen year at South Georgia, where he earned a scholarship to play outfield. As a student, he plans on majoring in business management.

"I've been working out all the time, running and lifting. I'm hoping to start in the outfield and do some pitching," he said. "It's a top division one baseball program. I've got a good arm. I just need to get faster. It's my goal to play pro ball. I think I've got a shot at it."

Mitchell is looking forward to the trip to Georgia, where he's originally from, before he started his stellar career as a Wolf.

"It'll be nice to be back there, but I've had a great time at Clarkston. I made a lot of friends and really enjoyed playing sports here. Clarkston is a sports town all the way," he said.

89 year old sinks hole in one

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Golfers of every age dream about it. No, it's not winning a green jacket at the masters. Nor is it winning millions of dollars on the PGA tour. You needn't be a professional to do what George Brandau of White Lake did, and at his age it's basically out of the question.

Brandau said the hole-in-one is the highlight of his golf career. He plays about three times per week with three others, J.D. Powell, 82, John Zimmerman, 89 and Dave Bickerstaff, 79, all of Independence Township.

Brandau, who will be 90 this October, got a hole-in-one at White Lake Golf Course June 19 on the 14th hole.

"I didn't think I'd ever get one," he said with a smile.

Brandau, who has been golfing for nearly 30 years made his dream shot on the 142 yard par three with his seven wood. Now, both the 14th hole and his seven wood are his favorites.

"I never had a favorite hole on the course. I just like playing there because it's close. Now that number fourteen is my favorite and that seven wood is my new favorite club," he said.

Bickerstaff said of the shot, "George was real excited as well he should be. It was his first hole-in-one. I really enjoyed it too. I think everyone that saw it that it was pretty exciting."

Zimmerman and Brandau worked together for 36 years at Sunoco and have been playing golf together since they retired 27 years ago.

"He hadn't been playing that good, but ever since he made that hole-in-one he's been playing a lot better. He was real excited. I think we all were. It was something else," Zimmerman said.

Brandau, whose favorite golfers are Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, usually shoots between 46-52 for nine holes and never thought he'd see the day when he could write a number one on his scorecard.

But he offers this advice to golfers who are still looking for that perfect shot.

"Just hang in there, you'll get one eventually. I'm almost 90, but I did it," he said laughing.

Party Editions can make your party the talk of the town

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

If you've got a reason to celebrate, then you've got a reason to call Kathy's Party Editions.

Located right here in Clarkston, Kathy Hockey will take care of all your partying needs. Party Editions can help you with decorations, balloons, bridal accessories, card boxes, ice sculptures, arches, sculptures, canopies and more.

Party Editions can also create a balloon wedding couple as shown here.

"It's a complete one stop place where people can come and I can take care of everything," Hockey said.

Party Editions can help you throw a party for any event including weddings, baby showers, graduations, barmitzvahs, anniversaries, corporate events and holiday parties.

Size doesn't matter either. Party Editions can make your party a complete success whether it's for 10 people or up to 1,000. Party Editions can also supply party tents as big as 20'x30'.

Hockey has been decorating for over 10 years and has been the head of her family-owned and operated business for over a year.

"Everybody who has a reason to celebrate needs this. There is no other place in Clarkston where people can find everything they need for their celebration within one call," she said.

Prices vary greatly, depending on what all you want done for your party, but Kathy says she will do everything in her power to make your party the best it can be.

"I can fit any budget, whether it's a small intimate party, or a huge corporate function," she said.

In addition to balloons, sculptures, centerpieces and other decorations, Party Editions can also liven up your party with festive lighting to fit the occasion. Strobe lights, party lights, fog machines and bubble machines can all add to the atmosphere of your party.

Party Editions can also help you advertise and promote your business with its 12'x16' inflatable blimps.

For weddings, Party Editions can make that special day even more special by providing guest favors, items to shower the bride and groom with as they exit the wedding and can even help dress up that get away wedding car.

For baby showers, Party Editions can supply you with celebratory cigars saying, "It's a boy!" or "It's a girl!"

Kathy Hockey can make wonderful balloon decorations for any occasion.

A balloon cathedral is one of the most extravagant decorations available.

But perhaps the greatest thing about Party Editions is the great individual service you'll get, says Kathy. Free consultations, free delivery in some areas and free planning tips will help make any party, what it was meant to be — fun and enjoyable.

"I like to develop relationships with my clients. I enjoy sitting down and talking them through what it is exactly they want done," she said.

Their phone number is (248) 625-2227. Please feel free to call Kathy from 10-8 seven days a week. Their fax number is (248) 620-3023. You can also send them an e-mail at partyeditions@hotmail.com

Clarkston resident an ace on the court

David Lynn of Clarkston was a state champion tennis player this year for Brother Rice. He has won over 90 matches in his career.

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

He's been a state tennis champion. He's been state champion runner up twice. He's won over 90 matches. His losses you can count on one hand. And he's got another year left on the varsity level.

David Lynn, who won the state championship this year at one singles lives in Clarkston, but plays for Brother Rice. He's been tearing it up on the courts for them for the last three seasons. The reason? Mental toughness.

"Mental toughness, consistency, and my returning of serves are my biggest strengths out there," Lynn said. "I just work hard."

Part of the reason Lynn has been so successful on the courts is because of his coach, Gilbert Pincon, and his parents Jeff and Kathy.

"They've all been very supportive and have taught me a lot about tennis. I don't take private lessons because I'm usually so busy in tournaments. I just try to play with a lot of different kids," Lynn said.

Some of his tournament highlights include the Kalamazoo Nationals, where he took 18th out of 196 other competitors aged 16 and under. He won the Western Open at Ball State University, where he came out on top of 128 other players. He also finished third at the Midwest Closed Tournament in Indianapolis where he competed against 128 of the best players 16 and under.

However, winning states this year ranks above all his other accomplishments he said.

'Mental toughness, consistency, and my returning of serves are my biggest strengths out there. I just work hard.'

David Lynn — Varsity tennis player

"The first two years when I went to the state finals I lost to seniors, but this year I beat my opponent from Rochester Adams, who will also be a senior next year. I'd say there's a good chance we'll meet again in the finals next year," Lynn said.

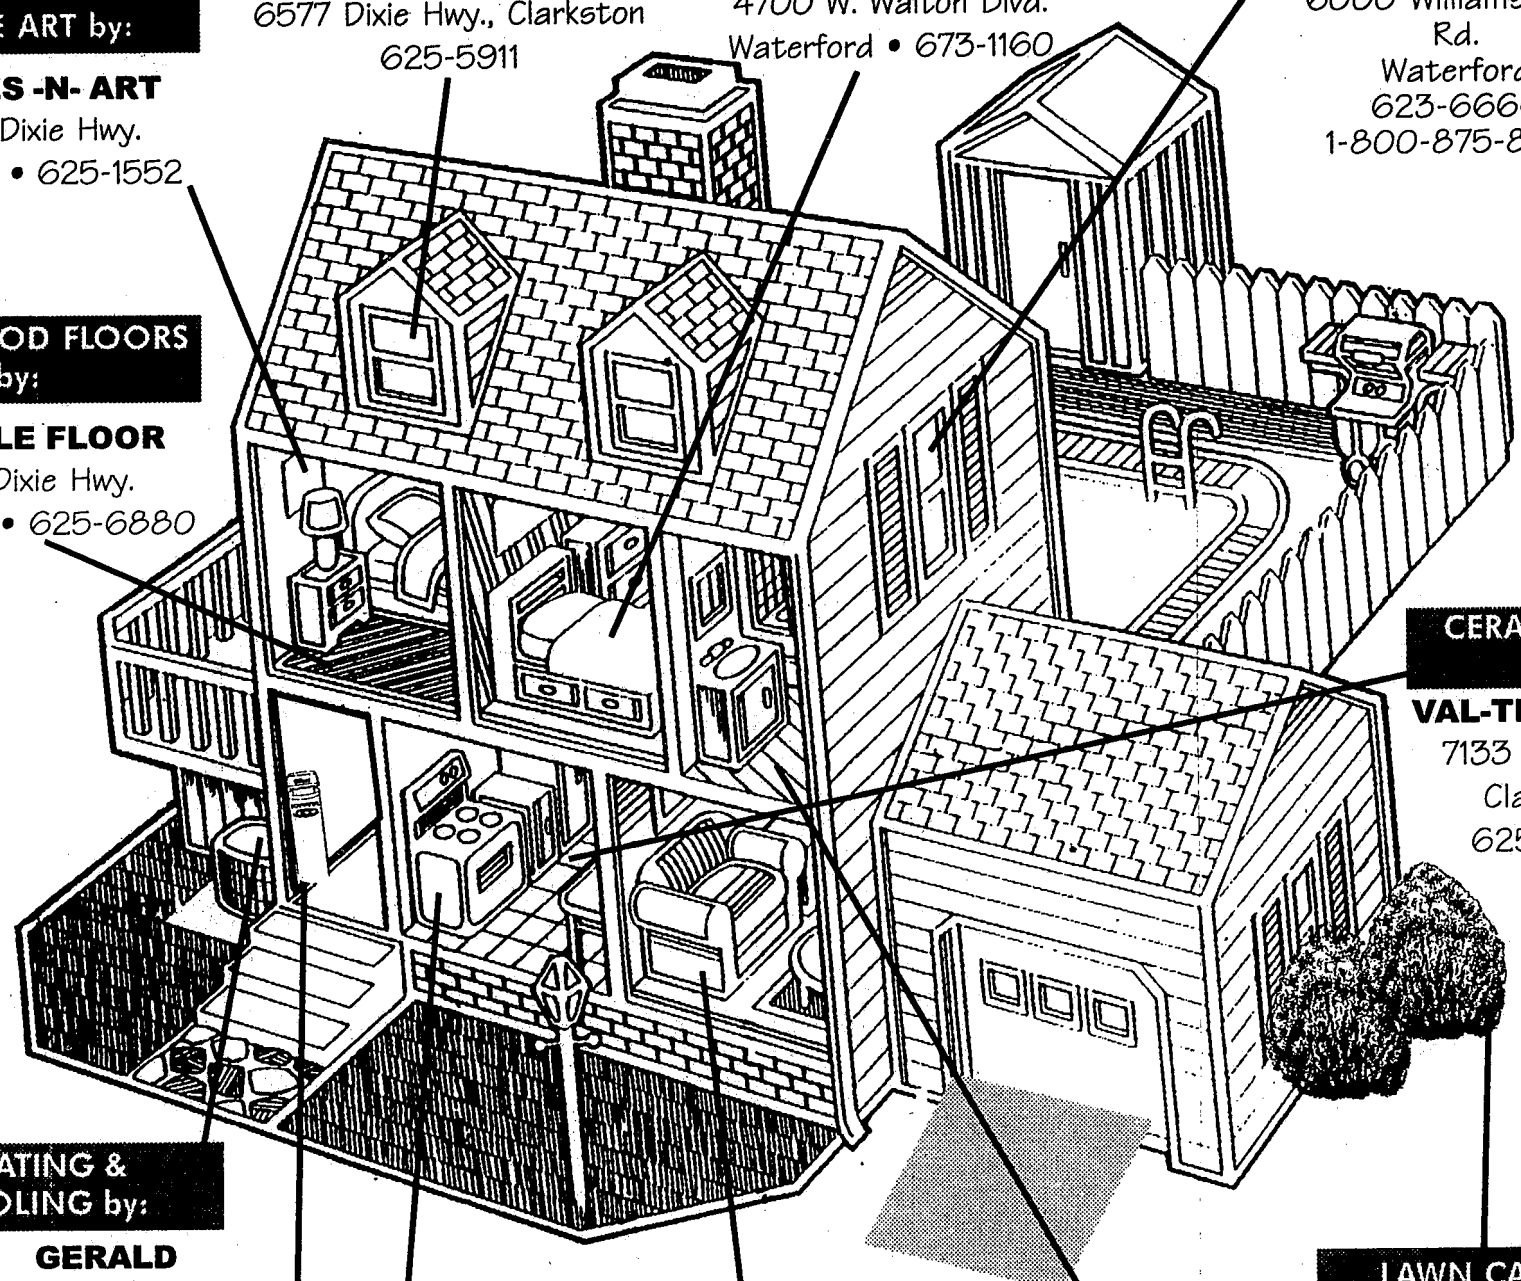

Lynn has played at the one singles spot his entire varsity career, and he doesn't see anybody challenging for his spot next year. And for good reason. With his senior year on the horizon, and his 100th win sure to come early next year, Lynn has had many colleges contact him regarding tennis. Yet, while he knows the tennis court like the back of his hand, he doesn't know what the future holds after his days at Brother Rice are over.

"I have no idea where I want to play. I don't know if I want to go to a big school or a small school," Lynn said.

But he's got the rest of the summer and his entire senior year to decide. No matter what he chooses, there's little doubt that Lynn will be serving up aces for some time to come.

Adding Miller to mix makes me curious, but not a believer

Well, it's official. ABC is trying to win fans like me back to Monday Night Football.

By adding Dennis Miller to its Monday Night Football broadcast team last week, ABC is trying its best to make their new broadcast team of Al Michaels, Dan Fouts, and comedian Dennis Miller, the talk of the town. Mission accomplished.

Since the announcement was made, sports television and radio stations were flooded with commentary and calls with sports fans giving their opinion on the addition of Miller to the broadcast team.

Everything from "He's going to be terrible, he doesn't know football," to "Give him a chance, his humor may be just the thing Monday Night Football needs," filled the airwaves.

Here's my take on adding Miller to the team. Personally, by the time Monday comes I'm done with football. After watching high school football on Friday, between one and three games on Saturday and a few professional games on Sunday, I'll watch anywhere from three to eight football games in three days. By the time Monday comes around "I'm not ready for some football" as the theme song goes.

Monday Night Football ratings have dropped consistently since 1994, coincidentally about the same time professional wrestling became a huge success on Monday nights. Last season ABC hit a record low with a 13.7 rating. WWF Raw, which airs on the cable USA network, has been earning ratings over eight in the last few weeks.

I think it's fair to say that I fit the demographic which has stopped watching Monday Night football and have instead tuned my dial to USA on Monday Nights. Young males, between the ages of 10-30 are the prime target of the World Wrestling Federation, and have in turn, hurt the ratings of Monday Night Football.

While WWF television shows can be seen four times per week, its Monday night show is clearly its best and most important if you're a wrestling fan.

I don't think adding Dennis Miller to the broadcast team will sway wrestling fans away from Raw and back to Monday Night Football. His humor is dry and sarcastic, which may sway some. But wrestling fans, for the most part, prefer the outrageous and unpredictable. Miller may bring some of this, but I'm just not convinced he's the right answer.

I'll probably watch Monday Night Football's opener to see how Miller does, but I doubt if I'll make a habit out of watching ABC on Monday Nights.

Not that it's the fault of the broadcast team or ABC, but how many times have you tuned into a Monday night game and seen a 21-0 score halfway through the second quarter? The last few years the games haven't been that good. And I for one am not going to stay up past midnight to watch a blowout. Besides, wrestling ends at 11.

Join the winning team!

Receivers and quarterbacks are needed for an 18 years and over touch football team. The season begins Aug. 28, but practices will start up in the middle of July. There is no charge to join the team. Games are played in Auburn Hills at Jaycee Park. For further information, call Rod Honaker at (248) 391-6950.
