Million dollar partners?

Township strikes deal for Clarkston Creek Golf Course

BY MARALEE COOK
Clarkston News Editor

A months-long process of deciding how to negotiate a partnership between Independence Township and developers for the purchase and management of Clarkston Creek Golf Course on Maybee Road was finalized Tuesday night.

The board unanimously voted on a proposal presented by Trustee Neil Wallace, who with Supervisor Dale Stuart, negotiated the deal with developers Joe Locricchio, Manny Kniahynycky and Jim Albright.

The deal must be approved by voters in a special referendum, scheduled for September 12. The developers will pay the township $5,000 to help defray a portion of the cost of the election.

When a partnership was first discussed last year, the township considered purchasing the golf course. That will not happen, said Wallace.

Based on information from the Childs Report — results from an independent consultant hired by the township to report on the condition of the golf course and its needed improvements — the developers have acknowledged there is a better way to develop the golf course, Wallace said.

That information and the township's goals and needs caused the developers to rethink their proposal and led to an entirely different transaction.

While Independence will not purchase the golf course, it will purchase three things, Wallace said.

The township will buy development rights that are perpetual and irrevocable that will run to and benefit not only the township, but also the North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy.

The township will also buy storm water management rights and improvements, as well as wetlands mitigation rights.

Wallace said by buying the development rights the township can stipulate the property be used only as a golf course, or if golf fails, for other recreational uses that would satisfy four requirements: maintain open space; be approved by the township; be consistent with the recreational zoning and the preservation of open

Foyteck keeps school board reins

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The wheels are now turning for the 2000-01 Clarkston school year. On Monday the school board got things rolling by voting in officers, approving meeting dates and compensation matters.

Taking center stage was the election of officers to the school board. Karen Foyteck was once again elected as president of the board. Sheila Hughes was elected vice president, Ronald Sullivan elected treasurer, and Rick Crigger secretary.

Of the four officers, Crigger is the only one who did not serve in the same capacity during the previous school year. Crigger will replace Mary Ellen McLean as secretary.

Foyteck

The board welcomed back two familiar faces for an additional four years, as Foyteck and McLean took the oath of office. The two were reelected to the board last month.

In addition, assistant superintendent David Reschke was appointed as school elections administrator for the district, and Ellen Whitehead was appointed as assistant secretary to the board of education.

The board also authorized the district's membership with the National School Boards Association (NSBA) and the Michigan Association of School Boards (MASB).

The cost of membership in the NSBA for the upcoming year will be $2,800, while the cost for the MASB, which includes membership fees for both the MASB and its legal trust fund, will total $6,382.

An additional board meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. July 24. The purpose is to follow up on last month's dialogue session on facilities and land use.

Clarkston knows how to celebrate the 4th of July!

Clarkston's annual 4th of July Parade sponsored by the Independence Township Fire Department is one of Oakland County's most popular parades, and this year's was no exception.

Parade co-chairman Peggy North said the parade was bigger and viewed by more people than she can remember.

The theme for this year's parade was 2000 - A New Beginning. Winners were: 1st Place - Parks and Recreation - Aquatics; 2nd Place - Cub Scout Pack #341; 3rd Place - Clarkston Flower Shop and Birdfeeder; Judges Award - 4th Texas Company Civil War Reenactors; Best Auto - Dave's Electric for the 1948 Chevy; Best Children's Entry - Cheerleaders of America.

After the parade it was on to Clintonwood Park for more fun and games. The good times lasted until after dark with a fabulous fireworks display courtesy of the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Parade Grand Marshal Clarkston High School band director Cliff Chapman rides along with his family and special driver Bill Rausch of the Independence Township Fire Department, which sponsored the parade.

Jarrett Coy, 8, aims for the target in the dart throwing contest at Clintonwood Park.

Cub Scout Pack #341 took second place in the parade.

'A permanent solution is a township matter' -- Clarkston Schools Superintendent Dr. Al Roberts

Meeting proposed for Almond Lane flooding problems

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Residents along Almond Lane have voiced their concerns about flooding in the area and what they believe the Clarkston Community Schools district should do to combat the problem. Flooding has been a problem since the new high school was built.

As a result, district officials proposed a community forum in which the district and its engineers, Independence Township and their engineers, and the general public would come together to discuss the situation.

Dr. Al Roberts, superintendent of Clarkston Community Schools, said that he would contact Independence Township Supervisor Dale Stuart about setting up a date and time for the proposed forum.

Several residents attended Monday's meeting of the Clarkston Board of Education to address the board about the problems they are facing.

Resident Russell Inman questioned the board as to what they intend to do to find a permanent solution with regard to the flooding problem in the area, which is near Clarkston High School.

In response, Roberts stated that it was not within the district's jurisdiction to find a permanent solution. He expressed his concerns about using district funds to try and solve the problem.

"We're bound by law by how we spend our school dollars," he said.

Roberts contended that the responsibility for a permanent solution belongs to Independence Township.

"A permanent solution is a township matter," he said. "We've accepted the responsibility of finding a temporary solution."

Resident Steven Levchak also spoke during the meeting, and stated that he is a direct abutter of the school property and the wetland. He questioned why there was no action taken to deplete the water in the large pond in the area.

"I don't see that there is proper water control going on in school property," he said.

Another resident, Mark Peterson, said that the problem is severe, and wondered why township officials are telling him one story, while school officials are telling him another.

"There is a very extreme problem here," he said. "The wetlands are now dying."

Board members brought up the idea of a community forum to discuss the issue further. Trustee Kurt Shanks suggested that the district and their engineers come together with the township and their engineers at a meeting in which the public would be invited.

Board president Karen Foyteck agreed that a community forum would be the best way for the two parties to clarify their roles in the matter.

"I think the only way to stop passing the ball is to bring everyone together," she said.

Roberts said that all parties involved need to meet and discuss their concerns.

"I think you have several entities that need to take a look at this," he said. "We want to be good neighbors to the folks over there."

Roberts contended that if engineering studies show the district is at fault in any way, then they will take action to remedy the problem.

"I have to have some direction from the engineers," he said.

Clarkston to add downtown parking soon

BY ED DAVIS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

People looking for that hard to find parking spot in downtown Clarkston may have an easier time next week.

Clarkston Police Chief Paul Ormiston said he will write a temporary traffic order which is good for 90 days.

During that time between six and eight parking spaces will open up to the public on Depot Street, west of Main Street. Two of the spaces will be handicapped.

Ormiston said he thinks the spaces will be ready for public use sometime next week.

"It just depends on the DPW (Department of Public Works) and getting the striping done on them," Ormiston said.

The spaces will be allocated for all-day parking. People will not be allowed to park there between 2 a.m. and 6 a.m. as there is no public parking in Clarkston during those hours.

"We hope this adds parking for office employees in the south end of town. It should free up some two hour parking spots for retail stores at the middle and southern parts of town," Ormiston said.

Sometime during the 90 day probationary period Ormiston will submit his temporary traffic order to the city council for evaluation. Ormiston said assuming there is no problem the parking spaces would be open for public use on a permanent basis.

"If there is a problem during that time we can always change things," Ormiston said.

City answers questions on water SAD

Tax estimates available at City Hall; neighbors hooking up as a group could save money

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston residents and business owners had a chance to learn more about the special assessment district portion of the water issue at a public hearing held July 10.

Roughly 10 Clarkston residents attended the meeting and had their questions answered by city engineer Gary Tressel, of Hubbel Roth and Clark, Scott Meyland, chairman of the water subcommittee and other members of the city council.

"I think the public hearing went well. Everyone that was there had their questions answered and were relatively pleased with the results. I don't think it could have gone much better," Meyland said.

The project, which will see a 12 inch water main installed on the west side of Main Street will begin next spring. Meyland said no definitive date of construction has been set. The start times for the second and third phases of the project will be determined later when more is learned about grants or possible water contamination.

The $1.2 million dollar project was funded by an $800,000 general obligation bond which tax payers began paying on their July 1 tax bill.

A resolution was passed at the city council meeting regarding the special assessment portion of the project. Tax payers will not begin paying for the $400,000 special assessment district portion of the project until at least December of 2000, but may not begin paying until construction begins along M-15 next spring.

"The resolution passed last night basically allows us to go ahead with the authorization of the funding," Meyland said.

The city is still awaiting final bids and interest rates for the SAD portion of the project and until then, no final numbers or tax rates will be available for Clarkston residents or business owners.

However, those people can get a rough idea of what their bills will look like from City Manager Art Pappas at City Hall, 375 Depot Road. The estimated taxes charged to residents and business owners are based on the number of REU's and an assumed interest rate of 6.5 percent.

The council said that if a bid is over 10 percent of the $400,000 then they would have to hold another public hearing.

"We planned for a $400,000 special assessment district. If it's less than $400,000 it's no problem. Even if the bid is higher than the $400,000, but less than 10 percent higher we would probably hold another public hearing to inform residents about it," Meyland said.

However, the council does not legally have to hold a public hearing regarding the SAD if the bid is less than 10 percent higher than $400,000.

Tressel said REUs are based on the sanitary usage which have been developed by factors regulated by Oakland County based on historical data.

He also said each business has its REU's figured out on an individual basis based on usage. For example, office REUs are calculated differently than a restaurant would be. Meyland said the city's two heaviest users of REUs are the Clarkston Cafe and the Clarkston Union.

Those who attended the meeting also expressed concerns regarding a possible loss of trees because of construction and their driveways being torn up during the project which will see a two foot wide asphalt paved shoulder along Main Street.

Tressel assured residents and business owners that every step will be taken to keep tree loss to a minimum and that all driveways which will be torn up during construction will be replaced with their original building material. For instance, a concrete driveway will be replaced with another concrete driveway. Tressel said residents can have their houses video taped or photographed by a professional as part of a pre-conditional survey which will be funded at the project's cost.

Tressel also said residents are not required to hook up Independence Township water, but will be required to if that person's well is found to be contaminated.

"It's going to be cheaper to hook up to the water supply now than if you wait and find out that your well is contaminated," Tressel said. "However, if a group of residents were to decide to hook up to the system all at the same time there would be some savings there."

Meyland said one well in Independence Township was found to be over the limit in arsenic level and has since been put off line. It will only be used in a fire emergency.

"If any contamination is found they (Independence Township) addresses it immediately. It's not even a concern for us. The city will always have the same water as the township," Meyland said.

Tressel added that if that well was used in such an emergency it would then undergo a series of tests to assure the quality of the system.

Forrest Milzow, of Morgan Moreno and Milzow Real Estate located at 25 S. Main Street, complimented the city council on their work on the water project.

"I've been at odds with the village for years on certain issues, but you guys did a wonderful job on this. You've progressed very well on it and I saved a lot of money through my fire insurance," Milzow said.

Hopper is well informed on planning issues

When a new name shows up on the political scene it is often difficult to evaluate where that person stands on issues and how effective the person will be in political office.

However, there would be little mystery to these questions when it comes to Dave Hopper if he is elected Springfield Township trustee.

As a member of the Township Planning Commission for five and one-half years, the record clearly shows that Dave Hopper is a leader and well informed on planning issues that come before the township. He consistently supports development that preserves the historic and rural character and natural resources of the township.

Dave is also concerned that the development along Dixie Highway reflects the needs of the township but proceeds in an orderly fashion that is compatible with adjacent properties and maintains the historic/rural nature of the township.

As a trustee, Dave Hopper would provide the leadership, vision and experience necessary to handle the challenges of a rapidly growing community.

Are you ready for some football?

Well, only two more months, and Detroit sports fans can complain about the Lions instead of complaining about the Tigers.

That's right, football season is just around the corner. The annual ritual of tailgating, sitting in front of the TV, and otherwise rooting on your favorite college or pro football team is not that far off.

As always, the Lions figure to provide the local sports fans with their share of ups and downs this upcoming season. The question is, can they muster up more ups than downs and finally win a playoff game?

The Lions have a few new faces at key positions. Most notable among them is free agent running back James Stewart, who was signed to a five-year, $25 million deal in the off-season.

Stewart fills a gaping hole left last year when Barry Sanders left the Lions high and dry on the eve of training camp and announced his retirement.

Opposing defenses can no longer solely focus their efforts on stopping quarterback Charlie Batch and the Lions' passing game. The Lions at least have someone that will keep opposing defenses honest (assuming Batch recovers from an off-season injury in time for the start of the regular season).

Also figuring to benefit the running game is the addition of two giants to the Lions' offensive line. First-round draft pick Stockar McDougle, from the University of Oklahoma, was the largest offensive lineman selected in the draft this year.

He joins another gentleman who, for all intents and purposes, is a rookie this year. Aaron Gibson, a first-rounder in '99 from Wisconsin, missed all of last year with an injury. This year, he figures to start at right tackle and open holes for Stewart.

Hopefully this year, the Lions will reverse their usual trend of going 8-8 or 9-7 and losing in the first round of the playoffs. However, that wouldn't give Lions fans anything to gripe about, and in a twisted sort of way, that has become an annual rite of autumn, right up there with tailgating outside the Dome, for Lions fans.

At least one national publication, though, is predicting the Lions to reach the top of the mountain: The Sporting News' pro football preview magazine predicts that the Lions will win the Super Bowl this year.

(That sound you just heard is all the Lions fans keeling over in shock upon reading that prediction.)

The magazine, among other things, cites the rise of the St. Louis Rams from chumps to champs last year, and contends that Batch will come into his own this year and lead the Lions to the promised land.

Don't get me wrong-I, along with all other Lions fans, would be thrilled to see that happen. It's just hard to imagine, with all the letdowns that the Lions have given us through the years, that they could pull it off.

It's been 43 years (and counting) since our gridiron heroes last brought home an NFL championship (yes, there was life before the Super Bowl, believe it or not).

I've been around long enough to see Detroit teams earn championships in the other three major pro sports-Tigers (1984), Pistons (1989-90), and Red Wings (1997-98).

You'd think by now, the Lions would be tired of being the "lone ranger" among the teams of my generation in terms of winning a championship. However, for whatever reason (and there are several possibilities that come to mind), they haven't been able to get the job done. Well, it looks like this year will be much of the same. The Lions will probably go 8-8 or 9-7, sneak into the playoffs at the last minute, go on the road for the playoffs, and suffer another first-round loss.

Patrus' Perspective

However, if my prediction turns out to be wrong, and the prediction by the folks at the Sporting News turns out to be correct, then all the years of mediocrity and heartbreak will be forgotten.

By the way, it's less than two months until school is back in session, which means the Clarkston football sea-

No action was the right action

Now that I am this high-ranking, management-type employee at Sherman Publications (well, I've had the job since 1989) I don't get out to government meetings much (covering all those danged evening meetings was cramping my social life, so I successfully petitioned the boss to get me out of the field and into the office. While my social life grew, so did my backside — but that's another story . . .)

I attended an Oxford School Board meeting Monday night. That it was a short meeting helped my perception that it was a good meeting.

One of the reasons I'm writing this today is that, in my most humble judgement that government board actually practiced an exercise in common sense, with taxpayer dollars and cents.

Don't get me wrong: like most government boards they didn't want to use common sense, but circumstances being what they were, they opted for the wise decision.

That decision was to take no action for a September millage. That non-action on an agenda item meant they would not ask voters to hike the taxes on local business and non-homestead properties.

Unlike surrounding school districts, Oxford could not muster the support to raise said taxes this past June. A whopping three-percent of the voters in the district voted against the tax hike.

This, as many of the board members said Monday night, sticks in their craw (whatever a "craw" is I don't want to know). The district was banking on using that extra $170,000 for "the children."

In the last 15 years, it has been my experience that those on school boards are some of the most community-minded, caring individuals in any town. They get in there and make a difference with the education of our children. That said, as sure as running your finger nails across the chalkboard will cause half the class to try and climb inside their desks to hide, school board members will see tax money as "their" money to spend on "the children."

I truly believe they truly believe they are doing the right thing to tax every piece of property to the hilt in the good name of public education.

And, it is not that Oxford School District is in dire financial straights. Oh contraire, mon frain (can you tell I didn't pay attention in French class) behind the deft calculating of money-guy Ron Franey, the district has almost a $4 million surplus. You go boy! Keep up the good work — you rock!

That surplus was reported in The Oxford Leader the week before June's failed millage election. In Clarkston and Lake Orion districts, they have surpluses too, but they weren't reported on until after the election. Our bad. And, those districts said it was okay to hike taxes for the corner pizza guy, the local finger nail technician, etc. We at The Clarkston News and Lake Orion Review should have had the story before the election.

Sometimes school boards forget local businesses are mostly owned by local people. In other words: your neighbors. Owning a business is not a guarantee of wealth. Boards also forget that every school group, from athletics, to yearbook staffs, to all-night party organizers to French clubs go to local businesses begging for money, goods and/or service. Gratis, free, pro-bono.

School board members should, anonymously, go and ask local business people how many times they are approached for handouts by school groups. It would be eye-opening. Then look the business owners in the eye and say, "Neighbor, I want to raise your taxes."

Oxford board members said they may try this tax hike notion again, next year. Before they do they need to use that really uncommon, common sense. You can go to the well only so many times before it dries up. Taxes will be passed on in higher consumer costs and in donations made throughout the year. Think about it.

There's so much a dog has to remember

Dogs have been in most of my life. As a kid on various Shiawassee County farms we had many dogs. Dad named them all Gyp.

The first dog Hazel and I had was a mixed breed hound. He was easily trained and playful. Later we got Julie, a reject (too affectionate) from Leader Dogs for the Blind School in Rochester.

Lots of times now I wish we had a dog, but as much as we come and go for days at a time it doesn't seem fair to the dog.

Anyway, recently I was given a list of "Things Dogs Must Try to Remember." Our dogs did not remember enough of these.

- I will not play tug-of-war with Dad's underwear when he's on the toilet.
- The garbage collector is NOT stealing our stuff.
- I do not need to suddenly stand straight up when I'm lying under the coffee table.
- I will not roll my toys behind the fridge.
- I must shake the rainwater out of my fur BEFORE entering the house.

- I will not insist on eating regurgitated food.
- I will not eat the cat's food, before or after they eat it.
- I will stop trying to find the few remaining pieces of clean carpet in the house when I need to pee.
- I will not paw through the dry dog food bag. There is no prize.
- I will not throw up in the car.
- I will not lick my human's face immediately after licking myself.
- I will not stick my nose into my human's back end when out among other people.
- The diaper pail is not a cookie jar.
- I will not wake Mommy up by sticking my cold, wet nose under her blanket.
- When in the car I will not insist on having the window down when it's raining outside.
- I will not try to mate with another dog while on a leash held by my human.
- We do not have a doorbell. I will not bark each time I hear one on tv.
- I will not steal Mom's underwear and dance all over the back yard with it.
- The sofa is not a face towel. Neither are Mom and Dad's laps.

son will be right around the corner. I'm anxious to experience my first taste of high school football in this area, up close and personal.

Unlike the Lions, the Wolves have actually had some success in the playoffs, actually making it to the state semifinals last season. Hopefully, this year will offer a similar level of excitement for Clarkston fans.

Kurt Richardson, who is in his 14th year as head varsity football coach at Clarkston (and 24th year overall), explained how the fans and the community contribute to the atmosphere of game day.

"The fans are definitely part of the magic on Friday nights," he said. "In turn, the kids have always performed well for them. Friday nights are definitely special."

Richardson said the community is very supportive of the team, and is well represented at both home and away games.

"We get great crowds," he said. "They're very vocal; there's a ton of signs."

The team will begin preparations for the upcoming season in approximately three weeks, as conditioning is scheduled to start July 30.

"I'm anxious to get going," Richardson said.

Renew Oakland County Parks millage

On August 8 Oakland County voters will be asked to approve a 10-year one-quarter mill renewal of our parks millage. We are urging every voter in Oakland County to support this millage.

My wife and I, as long time Oakland County residents, are keenly aware of the enhanced quality of life that our parks offer to every resident — whether it be through direct participation in the many programs provided to all age groups or by taking frequent advantage of many superb parks facilities.

In addition, several of our family members are small business owners in Oakland County. They continually attest that the Oakland County Parks system directly contributes to the attractiveness of our residential communities by offering recreational and nature preserve facilities that are superior to most and second to none.

We must continue to support our Oakland County Parks! Please vote YES on August 8.

Support Green Party's petition to get on ballot

Having celebrated the 4th of July and the freedom and liberty our forefathers died for, let us not forget that we are also in the midst of another election year, when our freedom and liberty is always up for auction to the highest bidder. I am talking about the huge corporate donations made to our two established parties, the two parties that many voters feel they are tied to.

I support Ralph Nader running with the Green Party. I will be out petitioning to get our candidates on the ballot in Michigan, an uphill battle, but a battle that must be fought if we are to expand our choices and improve the quality of issues facing us.

Our forefathers never intended our country to be run by the oil companies, even though nobody whimpers when they make a multimillion dollar donation to George W. Bush's campaign. These are the same companies that have been gouging consumers and destroying the environment. Where is the outrage?

Don't feel your choices are limited. Even if you do not agree with the Green Party, support their petitions to get on the ballot. They are confidential and take a minute to fill out. It's the easiest, quickest way to kill political cynicism and participate in strengthening of our democracy.

Let the voters decide who to vote for, not corporate money.

Best turnout ever for pancake breakfast

The Clarkston Masonic Temple Association would like to express a big thank you to everyone who patronized the pancake breakfast on the 4th of July.

We really appreciate your patience in standing in the long lines that existed. This was the highest count that we have ever served at a breakfast and probably one of the largest turnouts we can remember for the 4th of July parade.

City evaluates sewer insurance coverage

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's sewers are covered by Michigan Municipal League Liability and Property Pool until February of next year. After that it's up in the air.

At their regular city council meeting, June 26 city council members discussed the coverage of the city's sewers.

Clarkston's sewers have been insured through Michigan Municipal League Liability and Property Pool for roughly 10 years and councilman Dan Columbo spoke highly of the company's performance thus far.

"They're a great company and have done a great job since I've been on the council the last three years. But still, we want to pursue every available option and look at competitive bids," Columbo said.

Columbo discussed a recent multimillion dollar lawsuit in Midland involving the plaintiffs, Lasercolor Presentations, 3-S Construction Inc. and LBL Investments and the defendant, the City of Midland. The court found in favor of the plaintiffs.

Columbo said the city of Midland's sewers were up to date and had been evaluated only days before torrential rains caused the sewer system enormous problems.

"This legislation is potentially devastating to every municipality. Everybody now is trying to figure out what this litigation means. This is a new development. Talking to your insurance company is the first step," Columbo said.

Clarkston city manager Art Pappas said Clarkston's sewers receive routine maintenance through Independence Township, but if a major problem, such as a broken pipe were to occur, it would be the responsibility of the city to fix.

"There needs to be a written agreement between Clarkston and Independence Township saying who is responsible for what. I believe everything is verbal. I don't think we have anything in writing," Pappas said.

Columbo is satisfied with the current status of the city's sewers and sees no reason to panic. He said the city will be working with Gary Tressel, Clarkston city engineer to evaluate the status of the city's sewers.

"Every sewer system has a certain capacity that it can handle. We're well below that capacity. But so was Midland. What happened there was an act of God. When they (the courts) rule against a municipality, it causes insurance companies to pay multimillion dollar lawsuits. We can't be liable for acts of God," Columbo said.

A heavy increase in lawsuits in recent years against municipalities is a concern for Columbo.

"It lets everybody off the hook. It hurts smaller communities. It puts the burden on us in the case of some major disaster," Columbo said.

Columbo said the protection of Clarkston businesses and residents is his main concern.

"We want to protect the city and its people as best we can. Right now it's an insurance issue, but it may turn into a safeguard issue," Columbo said.

In response to the Michigan Supreme Court's decision in the Midland Case, Michigan Municipal League Liability and Property Pool advised first that Clarkston will continue to receive claims administration services for sewer backup claims. They also said Clarkston has the option of purchasing a $75,000 annual aggregate sublimit for bodily injury and property damage caused by a sewer backup for which the municipality is liable.

The additional premium for this option will depend on Clarkston's past sewer backup loss experience, the population of the community and an estimate of Clarkston's exposure backup claims in the future.

Citizens Bank wins GOB bid, residents save money

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston residents will begin paying for phase one of the Main Street water project July 1, but they'll be paying less than expected.

While devising the financial plan for the project, city councilman Scott Meyland and Bill Basinger, who were on the water subcommittee, estimated that the interest rate of the $800,000 general obligation bond would be around 6.5 percent.

However, after the city received three different bids, Clarkston residents will have a little more change in their pocket.

The three bids came from Raymond James and Associates, Comerica Bank and Citizens Bank of Flint. Citizens Bank of Flint was the winning bid, with an effective interest rate of 5.87 percent. Comerica's bid was 5.9 percent and Raymond James bid was 5.91 percent.

"We were pleased with the bids. We had an assumed an interest rate of 6.5 percent to be conservative. We were fortunate to get the bids we did," Meyland said.

What the difference means to a Clarkston tax payer is this: For every $1,000 of taxable value a Clarkston resident will now pay $1.28, rather than the $1.37 which was originally predicted.

"It's not a significant savings, but every little bit helps," Meyland said.

The $800,000 will be deposited and ready for use by the city July 12.

A Look Back

15 YEARS AGO (1985)

The location of the 52nd District Court on Dixie Highway in Independence Township may change. Six proposals for courthouses were submitted to the Oakland County Real Estate Division. All six proposals are for sites in Independence Township. Included are the existing courthouse plus locations on Maybee Road, M-15 just north of Dixie Highway and on Dixie Highway north of M-15.

Reid Southby is making it a habit to win awards. The Independence Township resident placed in the top 25 skiers in the country for the third time during his six years. Two years ago, he was second in the 4-year-old-and-under division and 19th the year prior to that.

McGillacutty's Restaurant, a Main Street eatery since 1983, has gone out of business. Its closing leaves completely empty the building which once also housed Marley's gift shop and Dear to Heart clothing store.

25 YEARS AGO (1975)

The Independence Township Zoning Board of Appeals has cleared the way for construction of a new 52nd District court facility on Dixie Highway rather than Sashabaw Road. Two of the three board members voted to grant the necessary variances for construction of the building to Warren Newsted, successful bidder on the county project.

Responsibility for overseeing all interscholastic sports for both Clarkston High School and two junior highs has been handed over to Clarkston High School assistant principal Connie Bruce. Former high school athletic director B.J. Hansen has decided not to continue his duties as athletic director, and will return to full-time teaching next fall.

Donald Place has assumed the temporary chairmanship of Independence Center following the recent resignation of Bernard Space. The center is looking for people willing to serve on its board of directors.

50 YEARS AGO (1950)

F.L. Spooner, a former member of the Clarkston school board, was re-elected for a three-year term at the election. 63 ballots had been cast with Mr. Spooner receiving 63, Orlo Willoughby 1 and Howard Johnson 1 vote.

At the meeting of the Clarkston Rotary Club, held at the Methodist Church, many of the past presidents of the Rotary Club installed the new officers for the coming year. Richard "Dick" Morgan was complimented for having served one of the most momentous years of the organization-the tenth anniversary year-which had been highlighted by the inter-city meeting which honored and entertained the president of Rotary International.

The annual meeting of the Rural School District embracing the Clarkston School District as reorganized last year was held at the school building in Clarkston, with 12 present besides the school board.

College habits come home

I've learned a lot in the past two years. College tends to do that to you, like it or not.

This summer, I've learned college habits have this annoying tendency of following me home; particularly the being-a-poor-college-student habit. This is the one where you come to a forced appreciation for dimes, nickels, quarters and small change in general. It adds up; after eating Ramen noodles and Eazy-Mac for the last three weeks of a semester, I learned this very quickly.

I realized this week, should I ever have to be graded on my frugality, I'd probably get an A. To this my parents would probably disagree (but nonetheless be pleased with the A). I've learned to eat cheap and spend cheap — this doesn't necessarily mean I don't eat often or spend often, but at least I do it cheaply. It's my own bizarre form of economics.

So, for the first time in my life, I was accused of penny pinching last week, while at lunch with a co-worker. Ok, I admit it, I shirked on the bill, because I didn't want to charge it and I was only fifty cents short. This was immediately noticed and said accusation made. Needless to say, I charged the entire meal.

This realization was further enforced while at lunch on Friday at Wendy's. I was debating the appeal of a chicken salad ($2.99) versus a side salad ($0.99). Seeing as the only difference was chicken, but one was two dollars more than the other, I chose a side salad.

And then it hit me. Five chicken nuggets are $0.99. One side salad is $0.99. Cut the nuggets, throw them on the side salad and, rationally, you've got yourself a chicken salad for only $1.98. Unfortunately, by the time I figured that all out, I had already ordered, so it was too late.

However, the aforementioned co-worker was duly impressed and I, smugly satisfied. College living rears its ugly head — the improvised chicken salad is often eaten at school without a second thought, in order to save meal points.

Even though the threat of poverty is dramatically diminished at home, I still find myself picking up nickels off the floor, because I know 14 of them will get me a taco for lunch — and that, my friends, is a deal.

This frugality extends beyond just meals. I grimace at the thought of doing laundry at home, because subconsciously I remember what it's like to clean clothes at school. First, it's $1.50 a load. That's just ridiculous. Second, it's a day-long (and sometimes week-long) event, depending on the girls living on the sorority floor below me, who wash everything separately.

The washers are constantly full, but there never seems to be a problem with the dryers, because they line-dry all their clothes. It's my opinion this is because if they machine-dry their size zero Mudd jeans, they will shrink to an even smaller size and then they might be forced to buy a size two, which would be, without doubt, the end of the world (I say this with affection though; one of my best friends is in a sorority). But I digress; the point here is that more often than not, I end up hand-washing clothes and throwing them in the dryer. It's cheaper and less of a hassle.

Still, I have to remind myself that at home, doing the wash is not an Olympic event. I won't have to fight for a washer or pay a ridiculous fee. And I can use as many dryer sheets as I want. That doesn't necessarily mean I get laundry done any more often, but the thought definitely crosses my mind more than once a month.

I also find myself thinking I have to walk everywhere strapped to a 30-pound backpack, because I'm not used to having a car to get me places. Example: I'll be at home and decide I want to rent Mallrats for the billionth time. I'll ponder whether it's really worth the walk for a minute before I realize 'Hey, I have a car now!' It's fabulous, but still I need to get out and wander around every once in a while. It's not as easy to do that here as it is at school, but I take the dog for a walk everyday and that seems to satisfy the need for fresh air.

There are a million other nagging little habits that follow me home from school and just remind me everyday that sooner or later I'm going to have to change my mentality, which is currently lost somewhere between adolescence and adulthood. Eventually I'll find it, but for now I guess I'm happy to leave the clothes in the basket and enjoy every bite of my improvised chicken salad.

As the world 'Interns'

PURELY ACCIDENTAL

If you are involved in an automobile accident and have not been injured to the extent that your injuries have rendered you unconscious or incapacitated, protect your legal rights by keeping your thoughts to yourself. Never admit to wrongdoing and never state that you acted improperly at the scene of the accident. And do not apologize, as doing so may compromise your legal standing. Instead, simply exchange all relevant information with the other driver(s), and file an accident report with the police. Remember that, in the time immediately following an accident, you may not be able to appreciate all the various factors that contributed to it. It is up to an attorney to assemble the facts of the case.

It is unfortunate, but accidents do happen. In order to protect yourself and your family, it is important to understand your legal rights. Here at 11 North Main Street, we provide assistance with matters involving personal injury, auto accidents, slip and fall injuries, criminal defense, business law, real estate, family law, and civil litigation in both State and Federal courts. To schedule a free initial consultation, call 620-1030.

Hint: At the scene of an accident, try to assemble a list of witnesses for future testimony.

Township strikes deal for Clarkston Creek

space, its aesthetics and ambiance; be approved by the Land Conservancy for alternative use that is consistent with the conservancy's principles.

A regional storm water management system has long been a dream for the community, Wallace said, and the proposal allows the township to buy certain lands and easements for its establishment.

The system will mean properties can be developed and a boulevard roadway installed in the Sashabaw corridor to provide for a "superior appearance of properties as they develop, and the drainage and management of storm water (and water quality)."

The developers will make improvements to their properties to facilitate the movement and storage of the storm water from other properties in the Sashabaw corridor, including the widening of Sashabaw Road and easements for that widening.

Certain areas of the golf course and other properties the developers own will be available for the township to use for wetlands mitigation, provided the use is done in such a way that it does not interfere with the use as a golf course.

The storm water management facilities and improvements with the wetlands mitigation areas will be on the golf course. Ten acres of township property on Sashabaw Road (a portion of which will be transferred to the developers and a portion of which the township will retain), and on the adjacent so-called Marshall property, which is approximately 19 acres fronting Sashabaw Road, of which the township will receive eight to nine acres.

The development rights, storm water management rights and improvements and the wetlands mitigation rights have real and significant value, Wallace said.

The township has estimated the value of the development rights alone may be in excess of $2 million with the value of the regional storm water management system in excess of $1.5 million. In addition, the township retains a portion of its own Sashabaw Road property and the eight to nine acres of Marshall/Sashabaw property.

The developers' portion of the Marshall property will be developed as a 7.2-acre commercial center. An upscale restaurant will be developed on 1.8 acres. On this property and on the township's Sashabaw frontage, there will be a road access to and a portion of the condominium neighborhood which will include 20 acres of what is now the golf course.

The developments will be "architecturally and aesthetically superior," said Wallace.

The condominium neighborhood will total up to 165 upscale units, with a maximum of four units to each attachment/pad and a minimum of 30 feet between buildings, in a planned unit development consistent with the township's standards and ordinances, said Wallace.

The approval process will start right away and will include public hearings for everyone to see specifically what is being proposed.

The developers are also required to make significant improvements to the golf course and clubhouse.

The township will pay $1 million to the developers and transfer to it most, but not all, of the township's 10 acres on Sashabaw Road, which is also adjacent to the golf course.

This will require the township to pay off the current price of that ten acres, which last December had a balance of $298,477

Wallace said a "safety net" has been designed to defray developers' concerns that the golf course may fail economically, leaving them with useless property because they did not have the development rights.

The safety net is an option the developers can exercise to require the township to buy from them clear title to the golf course and clubhouse for $2 million, plus three percent compounded annually. The safety net option would be good only from the end of the seventh year until the end of the 12th year, he said.

Prerequisite conditions for the developers to exercise the safety net include:

1. The developers must have made all of the specified and scheduled improvement to the golf course and clubhouse.

2. Gross sales from the golf course operations only will have to decline for two consecutive years more than 20 percent each year from a five year moving average of the developers' gross sales from golf course operations. The five year moving average means the safety net cannot be triggered because of one bad year compared with one prior bad year. It will have to be a significant downturn based on a well-established history.

3. The developers will provide the township on March 15 of each year, a record of the gross sales for the golf course supported by their business tax return. If the developers exercise the safety net option, the township has the right to audit their books, but at the township's expense. If the audit shows the sales decline trigger has not been met, the developers pay for the audit.

4. If the township cannot, within a reasonable time after the developers exercise the safety net option, pay the option price, then the developers can have back the development rights upon the timely payment to the township of a sum equal to $1.5 million plus three percent of that amount compounded annually from the beginning.

5. If the golf course and clubhouse improvements are not made in a timely manner, not only will the safety net expire, but the developers will promptly pay $1 million to the township.

These and other rights of the township will be secured by recording in the title of the properties. This safety net is not assignable, so only an entity with these three developers can hold it. If they sell the golf course, the option expires. The option would be assignable to their bank lender, but for security purposes only.

The golf course and clubhouse cannot be sold separately. The township will have the first right of refusal to match any sale price and terms.

Only a few of the 35 or so people in the audience had comments or questions about the proposal.

Larry Morgan asked how the township will pay off the golf course if it fails in five to seven years.

Wallace said there is no plan for that yet. "At the minimum (a buyout) would be seven years out. Because we'll be getting regular statements and be around the course, we'll know if we have to come up with the money."

If necessary the township will give back the development rights, but would still retain the storm water management system, and the property would still be zoned recreation, he said.

A woman from a neighboring subdivision was assured by Trustee Dan Travis that the condo development would not be connected to her subdivision.

Gary Stonerock suggested a "pay-back" from Sashabaw Road developers be considered because they won't have to build stormwater retention basins of their own.

Wallace said Hubbell Roth and Clark engineers said that should be expected, and is where part of the $1.5 million in funds to the township will come from.

Tom Stone and Robert Inskeep, past and current presidents of North Oakland Headwaters Land Conservancy, respectively, voiced their support for the proposal.

Stone said the amount of work that went into the proposal was obvious. Inskeep said, "I appreciate the effort, time and careful study to come up with a solution. It's obviously a complex, multifaceted proposal. Because of its complexity, the information sessions are a good idea."

Wallace, who was against the original deal because the township was to purchase the golf course, said involving the Land Conservancy is "a way to make sure we protect ourselves in the future."

Clerk Joan McCrary, who was also opposed to the original proposal, called this a "very fine proposal" because it offers everything in the way of open space, recreation, residential and commercial use. Over 120 acres will be preserved as open space.

Trustee Dan Travis said he was "four-square in favor of the proposal. What was a vision in the master plan 20 years ago lends itself very well to this development -- a recreational amenity, walking neighborhood and town center concept."

He added the community would learn in time the implication of wetlands mitigation, and that Clarkston was one of only a few communities to take an active role in this area.

Treasurer Jim Wenger said the pro-

Township strikes deal with Clarkston Creek

posal was "visionary, with enough safeguards to protect the township against a financial disaster."

Trustee Larry Rosso praised the deal because it will keep competitive golf prices (comparable with Oakland County Parks prices) in the area.

Stuart called the proposal "complicated and carefully crafted, one the community can be proud of."

In an earlier interview, developers Locricchio and Kniahnychy expressed enthusiasm over the deal.

On the assumption the voters will approve the deal in September, they will begin going through the normal Planned Unit Development process with the Planning Commission right away.

Meet romance novelists at Independence Township Library

Dale Ryan is one Voice of the Wolves

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

He doesn't throw or catch. He doesn't block or tackle. He doesn't draw up plays or boo the refs. He doesn't sit in the stands or work in the concession stands. But he's as much a part of the Clarkston High School football team as the players themselves.

He's the voice of the Wolves, Dale Ryan.

Ryan, who worked as a public address announcer for the last 11 seasons, was given the nickname, "Voice of the Wolves" from former Clarkston Athletic Director Paul Tungate in 1996.

Ryan began announcing at powder puff football games in the late 1980's. Since then, his voice has been heard by thousands of Clarkston parents and fans at football games at the freshman, JV and varsity levels. He has announced some 8th grade football games as well. Ryan also does the announcing for the Wolves girls varsity home games.

Although his deep rich voice sounds great over the loudspeakers, Ryan has never worked in radio or television.

"I've never considered it. I just like being around the kids announcing as many of the kids name as I can. I love to see all the parents and get a kick out of seeing the expressions on their faces when I announce their son's name," he said with a smile.

Ryan had plenty of chances to give credit to the Wolves last season. Clarkston finished its best football season in school history going 11-2. Hosting two playoff games gave Wolves fans even more reason to cheer, which they did plenty of, Ryan said.

"Being there for those two playoff games was incredible. When you saw the crowd it felt like it wasn't even a high school game. It had the feeling of a college stadium and a college game. All Clarkston football games are a big deal, but those two playoff games and their home opener, the first one in that new stadium, were just unbelievable," Ryan said.

Ryan estimated that the stadium is designed to house 5,000 fans, but said more than 7,000 were in attendance for each of those three games.

Ryan's preparation for games begins well before kickoff. He gets to the stadium between 5:30 and 6 p.m. to begin setting up the headsets, microphones and PA equipment. A job, he said, which is really headed by Neil Granland, one of the two spotters who feed Ryan stats during the game. Dr. Bruce Mercado helps Ryan with stats and John Preibe is also on the crew. He has been the Clarkston time keeper for more than 30 years.

Dale Ryan is looking forward to announcing another year of Clarkston sports this fall.

"Neal pretty much sets up everything and everybody on our team works together well," Ryan said.

Ryan said one of the things he worries about most during football games is getting the correct pronunciation of the players.

"We do our best to know the names of all the kids who play skilled positions, but we also do our best to say as many names as possible. If we mispronounce a kid's name the parents are quick to correct us, which we encourage. We want to get all the names right and give as much credit to the kids as possible," Ryan said.

Ryan is proud of the facilities that Clarkston High School has and says they are some of the best around.

"It's a great facility all the way around. The PA system I have to work with is fantastic. It's just a lot of fun to be there on Friday nights. The excitement for every game is just huge. I love doing all the levels of football and the girls basketball, but varsity football is my favorite," he said.

While varsity football is his favorite sport to announce, Ryan said the Wolves JV football team had a very memorable game in its own right. A 14-12 victory at Pontiac Northern was a great game Ryan said.

"I didn't announce that one because it was away, but it was a great football game. In the first half our kids were getting beat up pretty good. But they hung tough and pulled it out in the end. It was like David vs. Goliath," Ryan said.

Ryan said he thinks that JV team will help the varsity program this fall and for good reason. The 1999 JV team went a perfect 9-0. Combine that with a senior class that has a 29-2 high school football record. The group was undefeated as freshman in 1997 and again in 1998 as a JV team.

"I think they'll do well this fall just because of the kids. They've got a good nucleus and they've got some experience. I think Rob Conely will have a good year at running back. And even though they lost some big guys on the offensive line they should be okay there too. I'd look for them to throw more this year," Ryan said.

Ryan said the coaches are another reason he expects the Wolves to have another standout season on the gridiron this fall.

"It's a joy to work with all the coaches. Kurt Richardson does a great job every year with those kids and he's got great help from Mike Stafanski, Gordie Richardson and Steve Pearson. I just like to be involved as much as I can. Clarkston is a sports crazy place and it's great that retired teachers and principals still come to see these kids play every game. Everybody around here finds their way to the stadium every Friday night," he said.

Pine Knob arena host summer job loaded with variety, fun

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

(Editor's Note: This is the second in a series on summer jobs in the area)

It's not just a job, it's an adventure.

Clarkston High School senior Richard Greene isn't in the armed forces, but he's part of a team that may be just as close knit.

Greene is in his second year working as an arena host for the Palace and Pine Knob. Arena hosts are a division of the guest services department. Other jobs within the department include ticket takers and guest relations.

Greene does more than show patrons to their seats.

"In addition to helping people find their seats, we answer all the questions we can about the arena or the show itself," he said.

Green has worked a wide variety of shows at both the Palace and at Pine Knob including Shania Twain, Britanni Spears, Jimmy Buffet, The Beach Boys, Kid Rock, the Volunteer Jam Tour, the Lilith Fair, Ozzfest and others.

"It's a great job because every day it's a new thing. Everyone that works here is cool and they're (the management) really great about working around school-schedules. There have been times I couldn't work because of football or something and they had no problem with it. Everybody gets along with everybody. It's a really close knit team. It's almost like a family," Greene said.

The guest services management team include Laura Passariello, director of guest services, William Parent, assistant director of guest services and Mary Russel, office manager.

Greene said working for the Palace and Pine Knob has been a great experience, but can get very busy.

"One time I worked Ozzfest from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. then headed down to the Palace to work a WCW Wrestling show and then had to work from 10 a.m. until 11 p.m. at Ozzfest the next day," he said.

The variety of artists which perform at Pine Knob bring with them a wide variety of fans Greene said.

"Every concert is a new crowd. The behavior of audiences is totally random. Some shows that you think would be pretty rowdy turn out to be pretty tame, and then other times it's the opposite. Ozzfest is a tough show to work. You see some pretty strange people there, like people with hair that's three different colors with 28 earrings all over their bodies," Greene said.

In addition to working a wide variety of concerts at the Palace and at Pine Richard Greene enjoys working at the Palace and at Pine Knob as an arena host.

'I'll never forget working those (MSU) games. The Palace just erupted with green and white when they won. It was wild'

Richard Greene — Pine Knob and Palace employee

Knob, Greene has also worked sporting events at the Palace including Detroit Vipers games, the Detroit Shock and this year's NCAA tournament games featuring Michigan State University.

"I'll never forget working those (MSU) games. The Palace just erupted with green and white when they won. It was wild, especially when you're a senior and you're thinking about what college to attend. It made you think, the amount of fans the Spartans have," he said.

Greene said he wasn't at all surprised with the decision by the Detroit Pistons to draft MSU's Mateen Cleave's with the no. 14 pick.

"I knew we'd (the Pistons) pick Mateen. I think he'll do pretty well here once he develops. I think he'll be a lot like Jerome Williams when he started," he said.

Green went on to say that Pistons crowds are a joy to work with. He also said that while the Vipers and the Shock draw smaller crowds, their fans are some of the most hard-core you'll find anywhere.

"The Vipers fans really get into it. They're there to see a great hockey team and I think they get that. They're really into that team and with the success the Vipers have had in recent years I think they've been a fun team to watch," he said.

So do Greene, and the rest of the arena hosts, get time to enjoy the shows and sporting events their working? Yes, somewhat, he said.

"As an employee working a show, it's easier to see at the Palace, but as a fan I prefer Pine Knob a little bit. Both are great venues, but I think Pine Knob is a little more open and I love the atmosphere. You get a chance to see the patrons more," he said.

Greene hasn't decided on a college yet, but he has focused on a field of study.

"I want to work in some type of law enforcement, be a personal body guard or work some type of security," he said.

Based on some of the crowds that show up at Pine Knob, he's already had some training dealing with some fairly rowdy fans. But fans aren't the only ones who have to behave themselves.

"If a performer plays after 11 p.m. they get fined $1,000 per minute," Greene said.

The Drills are coached by Jeff Pearce, George Thompson and Gery Plourde.

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

If it isn't broken, don't fix it.

Knowing that, Gary Fiteny, D.D.S. coach Jeff Pearce shouldn't change a thing.

Pearce, who is in his fifth year of coaching Independence Township Parks and Recreation boys teams of 11-12 year olds, has led his team to 9-0 start. The team has risen to the top of the 11-12 year old division.

Two years ago, Pearce's team (The Drillers) went a perfect 14-0 and there is every sign that this year could be a repeat performance.

"We went undefeated last year and we're looking to do it again," Pearce said.

A balanced attack has been a key reason why The Drillers stand atop the division standings this year Pearce said.

"We've always played good solid defense and had exceptional pitching, but in the last several weeks the hitting has really come around. The kids are really making good solid contact with the ball. We're killing that thing (the ball) these days," Pearce said.

The Drillers have seen some tough competition this year from division rivals Chase Plastics (5-2 at press time) and Burger King (6-1 at press time). Pearce is hoping his team's good play continues through the rest of the season.

"Those were big wins for us this season. We're hoping to be the regular season league champions and win the playoff tournament," Pearce said. "Our biggest win this year was a 5-4 win over Oxford Truck and Trailer. We had to fight for that win."

The playoffs, which should end by the end of July, are a double elimination tournament.

Pearce, who has worked as a police officer the last nine years for the Ferndale Police Department, said the time spent with the kids on his team gives him a great change of pace from his duties as a police officer.

"It's great to see the kids develop. You want to see the kids win and we do our best to teach them the basics of the game, but winning isn't everything. The big thing is that the kids have fun out there. They're a great group of kids," Pearce said.

Icers look to be strong again this year

Coming off another successful season, Clarkston High School varsity head coach, Bryan Krygier was faced with losing three of the county's best players to graduation.

Anthony Facione (All-State) and Bill Kalush (All-State Honorable Mention) were the no. 1 and 3 scorers in the Oakland Activities Association Division I Hockey League. The Wolves won the league for the second straight year. Facione and Kalush will be attending Michigan State University this fall. Tom Newman was honored as an All-State defensive selection.

To replace such talent, Club General Manager, Jack Leech came up with a two squad summer program that effectively reached out and exposed more players in the Clarkston area to the high school program. After two recent tryout sessions the club was divided into two squads in high school summer conditioning leagues played at Royal Oak and Lakeland Arenas in Waterford.

The assignment process was handled by Krygier with input from assistants Steve Keenan, Brian Plante and Jim Lattanzi. The teams began play in their respective leagues June 19 with some favorable results. The coaching staff is looking to fill the void left by the loss of five seniors and fortunately, a considerable pool of top talent has shown up for the summer skates.

The veteran CHS varsity hockey team members returning include seniors Jeremy Gabriel, Stephen Janowiak, Ryan MacKinnon and Jonathan Bemis, the OAA's no. 2 scorer in the 1999-2000 campaign. These returning veterans have been split between squads to give them leadership opportunities and exposure to some of the new talent hoping to make this year's CHS varsity team.

The Michigan National AAA League produces some of the top youth talent in the country and the Clarkston Hockey Club is pleased to have attracted three of its best from three different teams. All sophomore, the newcomers are Mike Cholette (Little Caesars, '85); Andy Johnston (Belle Tire, '85); and Ryan Wells (Compuware '85). All three are defensemen and will fill an admitted weakness from last year's varsity squad, who started three freshmen who helped Newman on the blue line. Along with some of the top AA talent hoping to play, this year's squad should produce another powerhouse team and once again achieve a Top 10 ranking, as the Wolves have for the past five years.

In summer league action the Wolfpack (Royal Oak) squad suffered their first defeat to OAA rival Royal Oak, 5-3, but is still leading the young league season with a 3-1-1 record. They began the season with a 2-2 tie versus Troy. They followed that up with a three game win streak against regular season rivals Brother Rice (4-2), no. 1 Royal Oak (4-0) and Berkley 8-0. Brendan Czarniecki, a AA newcomer prospect, earned a shutout in net, stopping 30 shots in the Royal Oak contest. Returning junior Jordan Conely has also backstopped the other two victories.

In the North Oakland Summer Condition League at Lakeland Arena the other Wolfpack crew started out with a close one goal loss (3-2) to Lake Fenton and followed that up with a pair of victories against the Bloomfield Unified squad and Linden, to bring its current record to 2-2. This Wolfpack squad also dropped a 5-3 decision to Lakeland.

Both squads will compete in 12-15 games in their respective leagues over the eight weeks, which should give the coaches a solid opportunity to evaluate and work with the young talent.

I'm just a kid who loves kids

While wandering around Clarkston last week shooting photos of some of our area's youth I discovered something about myself. I'm just a kid.

Some would argue that point, but I think for the most part, most would agree. I'm a 23 year old, two months away from being a married, full-time employed kid.

That's not to say that I don't take my job seriously. Or that I take recess, as opposed to lunch break. Or that I play guns or GIJoe at my desk. Yes, I do play video games and yes I still browse the toy stores when I go shopping and yes, I adore professional wrestling. Perhaps that's why while strolling around Deer Lake Beach and Clintonwood Park a few weeks back I found myself in my true element — with kids.

While interviewing two of Independence Township Parks and Recreation's camp counselors, Heather Combs and Heather Webster, I grew envious of their jobs. They basically stand around all day, outside, in the sand and play with adorable third and fourth graders.

"I feel like I'm making a difference in their lives," Webster said.

And how could they not. For a couple of weeks those two young women get the joy and satisfaction of acting as role models, mentors and friends to a fun group of kids.

After shooting photos of their group I headed over to my personal favorite part of Clintonwood Park, the in-line hockey rink.

I would have loved to have a place like that to play when I was growing up. Having boards surround the playing area sure beats heading across highway traffic in search of a ball after somebody fires a shot wide of the net. And there are goals there too. Sure beats having to buy your own and reconstruct them before every game.

Anyway, I trotted up to the rink and saw about 15 or so kids ranging in age from 4 to their late teens playing street hockey. I immediately thought back to the days when I played goalie with my buddies from high school and college.

I asked the kids if they needed any extra goalie equipment and after they said they could use some, I headed to my truck and hauled out pad after pad of worn out, beat up five-year-old goalie equipment that I have refused to let go of over the years.

To say that my goalie pads are used would be an understatement. I don't even think Play It Again Sports would give me a deal on them. Nor would I ever want them to. I love them and will probably never get rid of them. They're part of my past. Just like my dad's old baseball glove that's 50 years old and his vintage Lionel Train that still circles our family Christmas tree during the holiday season are to him.

My pads are too small for me, but they're what I'm used to.

Billy Freed and Miles Horvath, who can't be older than 12, fit into my pads perfectly.

I loaded up some film and began to shoot photos of as many of the players as I could. It was great to see kids from a wide range of ages all play together.

After my roll was finished I decided to throw on the pads and play goalie for a while. I didn't post a shutout or anything. Some of those third and fourth graders have a pretty wicked wrist shot you know. But I had a great time playing with those kids.

Every now and then I think about becoming a teacher. Whenever I'm sent to one of the Clarkston area schools, whether it be to cover a varsity sport, or a field day at an elementary school, I look forward to my assignment because it involves kids.

This area has put a tremendous emphasis on the well being of its youth and it shows. Those kids playing street hockey could've been sitting inside watching TV or playing video games. Instead they were outside enjoying the summer weather and Clintonwood Park, which is a beautiful facility.

Enjoy it, kids, because before you know it that bell is going to ring and school will be back in session.

Youth Theatre brings Flapper to Clarkston this summer

BY ED DAVIS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Relive the Roaring 20's and see what all the excitement is about when the Clarkston Village Players Youth Theatre brings the fanciful musical Flapper to Depot Theatre this summer. The Youth Theater is made up of actors ages 10-17.

Flapper is a musical set in the 1920's, a time when the stock market is booming and women have just won the right to vote.

At Granville Estate in S. Hampton, pretty Pepper and a bevy of her friends have gathered to prepare for her 18th birthday celebration. They all want to hear of her latest exploits during her whirlwind week of social activities where she danced in a marathon, met Flo Ziegfield and discovered the handsome Buck Wayne.

Polly is about to inherit a priceless diamond known as the "Ice Garden" from her Aunt Augusta. Meanwhile two dubious characters, the Duck and Duchess of Milford have other plans for the diamond, while posing as financial advisors to her aunt.

Poor Mona, the owner of the Crazy Cat Nightclub has reached an all time low when Lieutenant Fluke padlocks the doors. More bad news when Lenny Knickerbocker, who is about to set the world's record for flagpole sitting is about to call it quits.

Does Polly get the audition with Ziegfield Folies? Has she met the man of her dreams? Will Polly receive the real Ice Garden? Will the Duck and Duchess really help Aunt Augusta with her financial planning or do they want to secure finances for themselves?

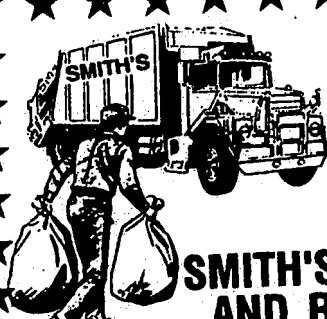

All this and more when you come frolic with the Clarkston Village Players Youth Theatre in the roaring 20's presentation of Flapper.

Shows are July 21, 22, 23, 27, 28 and 29. Thursday shows begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday shows begin at 8 p.m. Sunday Matinees begin at 2 p.m. All tickets are $5.
