Big Buck brews may be sampled at Taste of Clarkston

BY ED DAVIS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The issue of whether or not beer will be for sale at this year's Taste of Clarkston event was on tap at Clarkston's city council meeting Aug. 28.

Big Buck Brewery is interested in setting up a beer tasting stand at the site. This year's event will take place Sept. 23 at the parking lot at the corner of Main and Washington streets from 5-9 p.m. It is the third year the event has been at the location, since moving from Baycourt Park. But whether or not visitors will be able to sample the microbrews remains undecided.

City manager Art Pappas said the council would have a final decision by its next meeting, which will be Sept. 12 at 7 p.m.

"Some of the council members were for it, and some were not. They'll have a decision by the next meeting assuming everything else is squared away by then," Pappas said.

Several steps have to be taken for the microbrewery to be able to sell beer.

Pappas said he would be in contact with Independence Township to find out whether or not they approve of alcohol being sold at the event. He said he also needs to find out if the Big Buck Brewery has insurance coverage.

"The vendor has to have some insurance and the council warned me to make sure the city isn't risking anything by doing this," Pappas said.

If the council approves of the beer sampling, then Big Buck Brewery would have to file for a temporary liquor license with the state of Michigan. That application would be sent back to the city for approval. If Clarkston Police Chief Paul Ormiston signs and approves the application, it would then be sent back to the state for final approval. All of these steps must be completed before Sept. 23.

Ormiston said that while he personally isn't in

'Big box' development stalled by Planning Commission

Tenants may include
Home Depot and Kroger

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Amidst much discussion and debate, a request for a wetland mitigation plan for a proposed retail center was denied by the Independence Township Planning Commission Aug. 24.

The property is located at the northeast corner of Sashabaw and Maybe, is 194,280 square feet, and is slated to be zoned as C-2.

A township ordinance allows developers to seek wetlands mitigation rights (allowing a wetland area to be changed or moved under certain circumstances) before seeking a concept site approval. And that's what an out-of-state real estate company has done.

The preliminary proposal featured a 120,000 square foot store, 54,180 square-foot grocery store, plus a restaurant and retail center.

Steve Board, chairman of the Independence Township Planning Commission, said that a Home Depot and Kroger store were rumored to be part of the project. However, he said nothing definite is in the works as of yet. "I don't know what's planned today," he said.

On Monday, Commissioner Dan Travis said a regional Kroger representative was at Thursday's meeting.

The vote was 5-0 in favor of denial. Commissioners Jill Palulian and Richard Oppmann were absent. A public hearing on the issue was held prior to the vote.

The trustees, in making their decision, were not convinced that the site plan they had was the correct one in which to base their decision.

"I have no way of determining whether or not any of them should be mitigated," said Commissioner Todd Moss.

Commissioner Dan Travis echoed those sentiments.

The News in Brief

Two public hearings at Independence meeting

Two public hearings are scheduled for the next Independence Township Board meeting on Tuesday, September 5.

One is for a Consumer's Energy Disruption Permit application for a right-of-way. Consumer's Energy needs permission to bore into the township's right-of-way to lay fiber optic cable. The area in question is Hilltop Estates, near Greenview and Walters Lake.

The second public hearing is to modify the project description of 1997 (barrier free) and 1998 (playground equipment) of Community Development Block Grant funds.

The meeting is at the Independence Township Library, 6495 Clarkston Rd. at 7:30 p.m.

New at Community Ed.

Clarkston Community Education Center has moved to the old Clarkston Middle School at 6300 Church Street, and classes begin next month. Call 623-4550 for information.

Two offerings include: Beginning Orchestra for 4th and 5th grades. Learn to play the violin, viola, cello or double bass, read music and play in an orchestra. Wendy Stuart, director of the CMS Orchestra teaches the class, beginning Sept. 27 from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. at CMS for 15 weeks for $65.

Construct Your Own Water Garden: A hands-on class where you will create a paradise with aquascape designs and install a pond. The 3-week class is taught by Tom Lowrie and begins Sat., Sept. 30 from 8 a.m. to noon at Community Ed. Center. Fee is $35.

Register now for adult high school completion, GED and ESL classes, beginning Sept. 13.

Temporary area road closures coming up

The Road Commission for Oakland County (RCOC) has announced temporary road closures of Waldon, Davisburg, Andersonville, Big Lake and Airport Roads.

Waldon Road will be closed between Sashabaw and Clintonville roads from Aug. 28 through Nov. 20 so that Oakhurst Development can pave the road (at no cost to motorists or RCOC). The detour route is Sashabaw Rd., Maybee Rd. and Clintonville Rd.

The following roads will be closed because of railroad crossing repairs to be made by Canadian National Railroad.

Davisburg Rd. will be closed between Eaton and Tindall roads in Springfield Township from Sept. 5 to 7. The detour route is Eaton Rd., Rattalee Lk. Rd. and Tindall Rd.

Andersonville Rd. in Springfield Township will be closed between Farley and Edgar roads Sept. 5 to 8. The detour route is Farley Rd., Foster Rd. and Edgar Rd.

Big Lake Rd. will be closed between Hillsboro Rd. and Andersonville Rd. in Springfield Township from Sept. 11-14. The detour route is Andersonville Road and Hall Road.

Airport Rd. will be closed between Andersonville Rd. and Williams Lk. Rd. in Waterford Township from Sept. 11-15. The detour route is Williams Lk. Rd., Andersonville Rd. and Dixie Hwy.

Bob Beattie will lead Labor Day Parade

BY JEFF PATRUS
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Bob Beattie has taken an active role in Clarkston throughout his lifetime.

His involvement will take center stage at Clarkston's annual Labor Day parade, slated for 10 a.m. Sept. 4, where Beattie will be honored as grand marshal.

Headlining the list of his achievements is his 46 years spent as a member of the Clarkston Rotary Club. He maintained a perfect attendance record for 44 years before an illness to his wife, Doris, interrupted that streak.

The club, for a number of years, has sponsored the very parade in which Beattie will be appearing as grand marshal. He was part of a committee that selected a marshal and a theme for the parade during that time.

Beattie said that he was grateful to receive the call two weeks ago that he was selected for this year's honor. "It's an honor to be recognized by your peers," he said.

Beattie said his involvement in Rotary runs in the family. "My father was a Rotarian for 38 years," he said. "He was a charter member of the Clarkston Rotary."

His father served as president of the Clarkston Rotary Club. During that time, he chartered a Rotary Club in Waterford, and later became president of that group as well.

Beattie, who started in Rotary at the age of 19, said that the club has held a wide variety of fundraisers and community activities throughout the years, such as pancake suppers, fruitcake sales, and a car drawing.

In addition, at Christmas time, the club conducts the Goodfellow newspaper sale, in which the proceeds were used to purchase scarves and mittens for needy children in the area.

Doris and Bob Beattie have been active in Clarkston for years.

"Rotary really filled a niche — it went directly to the children," Beattie said. "The local companies have worked well with us."

He pointed out that Rotary is responsible for several community projects that are taken for granted:

"I've seen Rotary do a lot of things for this community that people don't realize that they do," he said.

He recalled that his father came up with a saying that he said accurately reflects the club's community involvement: "Rotary-Doing things that people think just happen."

An example is the decorating of Main Street during Christmas. The club is responsible for purchasing all Christmas decorations, putting them up, and getting the light poles in the area electrified.

Beattie relayed a tale of how fellow Rotarian Lu Hewko, who hails from Ukraine, organized a project for children affected by the Chernobyl nuclear disaster.

"We sent over a lot of medicines," he said.

Later on, according to Beattie, Hewko was instrumental in sponsoring the first Rotary Club in Ukraine (specifically, in Kiev) about 6-8 years ago.

Beattie has committed his time to several other Clarkston organizations. He has been involved in the Chamber of Commerce, the Clarkston Foundation, and

DEALING WITH A NUISANCE

When a neighbor's unreasonable action interferes with your ability to enjoy your property, that inconsiderate action creates what is called a private nuisance. While many people use small-claims courts to sue for money damages in hopes that it will stop the noise, you have to sue in regular court for a court order to make someone stop doing something. This is where a lawyer can be helpful, by first writing a threatening letter to the noisy neighbor. If that fails to bring quiet, a nuisance action can be brought against the noisy neighbor on the basis that he or she is interfering with the enjoyment of your property.

Here at 11 North Main Street, our clients receive individual attention while making their difficult legal decisions. Questions still linger on Clarkston Creek Wednesday, Sept. 6 is the date of the last information hearing for the public vote on the Clarkston Creek issue. The meeting will be held at the Independence Township Library, 6495 Clarkston Rd. at 7 p.m.

The official ballot language reads: "Should the Charter Township of Independence preserve 120 plus acres of the property known as Clarkston Creek Golf Course, facilitate a regional storm water management system and provide an area for a wetland mitigation program, by paying cash and transferring certain township property for certain lands, easements, improvements and a restriction against developing or using that portion of the golf course property for other than golf and certain limited recreational uses?"

Although the township is providing information about a deal that has been struck with developers, voters will be asked to vote on the concept only -- not the deal. That means the details may change.

Township board members are asking the voters to have faith in their ability to make this work, years down the road, and voters must understand this.

Trustee Neil Wallace said last week, "We are not asking the community to approve the deal, only the concept. We believe we got the best deal. They shouldn't second-guess the minutiae."

Some of the questions we have which have not been answered are:

What happens if developers do not live up to their part of the bargain and make the specific designated improvements over the five-year scheduled upgrade program?

Is the area set aside for wetlands mitigation (whereby a developer creates a new wetland area in exchange for filling in or altering an existing one) enough?

What does the DNR say? What happens when we destroy one wetland -- the ecosystem that has taken hundreds of years to develop -- to construct a hole dug by man in another location?

In an already very upscale community, why is it necessary that the townhomes, and retail center and restaurant be upscale and not aimed at moderate income families?

What are some of the options to be considered if the economy comes to a screeching halt and "golf utterly fails"? What is the worst-case scenario?

If the township really only wants to preserve open space, why not make the area another park?

Finding ways of creatively sidestepping development to preserve open space and wetlands has been a hallmark of many communities in north Oakland County and the efforts deserve much praise.

However, this must be done with the utmost care so that the deal does not backfire and cause undue financial hardship to the township and its taxpayers in the future.

More than just the fifty residents who attended the last meeting need to attend the next one to become more knowledgeable about this project.

Letters To The Editor

Fund balance shows we're overtaxed

We Independence Township taxpayers have been over taxed $2.1 million!

That's the current general fund balance according to trustee Neil Wallace.

Our U.S. government has over-taxed us in the trillions of dollars. Our state has a huge surplus of "rainy day" funds.

Why do governments do this? I can see the need for some "fund balance," but $2.1 million?

This surplus makes it easy for township officials to pay $1 million (plus 20 acres of the golf course) to maintain 120 acres of open space (golf course).

Seems to me zoning would accomplish the open space question. And a cut in our property taxes could bring the fund balance back to a more reasonable figure.

I also believe "AT THIS TIME" should be added to the township board's statement, "Clarkston Creek will not raise taxes."

Please withhold my name for fear of township tax retaliation

No 'big boxes' in our unique community

Many people choose to live in Independence Township because of its unique character. Whether it is because of the rural nature or the open space, most folks here know it may lack a few conveniences and that's okay.

(August 24) was a great opportunity to watch the (Independence Township) Planning Commission uphold the standards set forth for our community by defending our Vision 2020, Master Plan, zoning guidelines and wetlands rules.

Representing a BIG BOX -- Home Depot -- a retail consulting firm offered to destroy some "poor quality" wetlands and replace them in another area, without our required 25-foot setbacks.

The township wetlands consultant disagreed that the wetlands in question were of poor quality. In fact, he cited them as performing a very valuable service in water retention, holding over 18 inches of storm water upon his investigation.

That's a lot of water folks, that otherwise might be causing water damage to homes and businesses -- hardly poor quality. Our Planning Commission members held them to our township standards, the same standards any developer must work with when they approach our community.

Congratulations to the Commission. It can be difficult when big businesses are knocking at our door and they expect communities to roll to their advantage.

The goal of the Vision 2020 in establishing the commercial land use along Sashabaw is to provide for

First school day means different things

The first day of school hit Clarkston Monday-actually, it snuck up on us, considering how fast summer went.

This annual rite, signaling the end of summer, carries a varying degree of significance, depending on whom you talk to.

For parents, it means time to get out the CD player and play "The Hallelujah Chorus."

No longer will they have to worry about their children needing to take a rest break during vacation trips, sleeping in until noon without doing anything around the house, or raiding their change drawer to buy an ice cream...that is, until they come home from school.

In the case of elementary age students, it means leaving the comforts of home to face a "brave new world" in the classroom. Taking the place of Barney the dinosaur and trips to the zoo are story time, afternoon naps, and trips onto the playground with friends.

Not to mention the sight of parents dropping off their children for the first day of school, with anxiety and fear of the unknown on both sides of the ledger.

With regard to students entering high school, it means culture shock-the scared freshman walking into the land of the giants, having to find their way in an often-confusing world, both in and out of the classroom.

"What the heck am I doing here?" is a common thought among high school freshmen their first year. That was certainly the case for me-thank God those days are done and over with!

Never mind the pressures of classes such as algebra, English, biology, and history, which are bad enough -- now you have to deal with peer pressure at a whole new level-all that matters is fitting in and being in the "in" crowd, and making decisions on your own is a whole new experience.

Once you survive freshman year, then things seem to roll right along until senior year. The first day of that year is the start of being "the kings of the mountain" in high school, and a whole series of events unique to senior year take place.

Trying to figure out a direction to your future, as well as whether to go on to college or enter the work force, is a big part of this experience.

Homecoming, senior prom, spirit week, spring break, and then graduation...all events that, put together, make up a memorable part of the senior year.

Then, if a student decides to go on to college, they have to face "culture shock" all over again. No parents telling you what to do, no teachers forcing you to go to their classes, and dealing with all the temptations surrounding campus life...those are all part and parcel of the first year of college.

You're on your own for the first time in your life -- how you manage your time and balance school work with social life will be a key in how things go for you in the future.

What does the first day of school mean for me...besides another excuse to write a column, that is?

It means I'm getting old, for crying out loud! Once upon a time, my teachers were more than twice my age. These days, my younger sister is beginning her first year of teaching as a first-grade teacher in the Brandon school district.

Take heart, students -- one of these days, you may be dishing out words of wisdom, either in the classroom, at the desk of a newspaper office, or whatever road life takes you.

Patrus' Perspective

Jeff Patrus

Don't look now, but leaves are red

I'm sad to say, the summer that wasn't has ended. Below average temperatures, combined with above amounts of rain again means Mom Nature has dashed the hopes of meteorologists everywhere.

So much for their 40 days of 90 degrees and so much for global warming . . . now, enough of the editorial commentary and on to bigger and better (?) stuff.

Our extended fall continues here in the region. I hate to be the barer of bummer news, but as your intrepid roving reporter-type guy, in my travels along our local roads, I have noticed leaves turning yellow, orange and red . . . and yes, some are even falling.

Sorry folks, it's just my job to point out the obvious. If you want to drive around just paying attention to the road and cars in front of you that is your business.

I prefer to keep my eyes on the trees and fields on either side of whatever road I happen to be traversing. I like spotting a hawk flying or a blue heron stalking a pond or stream. I find the drive goes buy a lot faster if I'm on the look out for deer or a cat in a distant field rather than paying attention to the road. And, quite frankly, I feel a lot safer not knowing what the smackin' frackin' drivers (if that's what you want to call them) in front of me are doing.

Speaking of the weather, how about the 37-feet of rain we got this July. I'm hesitant to say anything about my roof and the rain — the two words in the same sentence usually are accompanied by many colorful metaphors to describe their unique relationship.

I'm keeping my fingers crossed . . . because a while back beloved Jen called me at the office.

"Donald, I don't want to upset you, but . . ."

Those butts are killer.

But, the kitchen ceiling is falling down."

Those who know me, know I'm about as handy with a saw and hammer as a three footed hippopotamus. That said they also know I am one cheap individual, which means I attempt all home improvement projects before I call in the pros.

After we spent the better part of $10,000 on that afore mentioned roof, my wallet has been hermetically sealed and our bank accounts barred from withdrawals other than for bills, bills, bills and, oh yes, little fun things like diapers and food.

So, I am fast becoming the bubble-gum-and-bread-tie-fixer guy. And, I must say I am getting fairly proficient in these endeavors. Not, that I am patting myself on the back, or anything, it's just that I find myself amazing at times.

Instead of ripping out the old, falling down drywall of the kitchen ceiling, I have embarked on the "save the gypsum board" campaign. Finding no leaking roof above the kitchen (oh no, I just wrote no leaking roof — I better get buckets ready) and that the ceiling is just bowing down, I decided to bend it back into shape.

Seems the previous owners put in four screws per 4-by-8 foot piece of drywall and glued the rest. Well, after 10 years of humid kitchen conditions, the boards started pulling away from the joices — an inch and a half's worth. So, I took and made a 2-by-four "T" brace, wedged it up between the floor and ceiling, then took some big honking washers and big honking drywall screws and drew the troubled boards back into the joice. Then I got rid of the brace.

Viola!

A little at a time, oh say every two or three months, I'll tighten the screws up a little bit, until the boards eventually touch the joices.

This actually has bought me some time and saved me from spending an entire weekend doing drywall.

A win-win situation if ever I-procrastinator saw one.

School bus safety

Earlier this year, I introduced legislation to require safety belts on newly purchased school buses. House Bill 5751 specifies that each new school bus purchased on and after July 1, 2001, the driver and each passenger wear a properly adjusted and fastened shoulder harness safety belt.

As a legislator and a parent, I understand the importance of school bus safety. Soon, it will be time to send your children off to catch the school bus every morning. Riding the school bus can be a new and exciting experience for many children. In most cases, it's the first time children have traveled on their own, away from your watchful eye. To make the trip as safe as possible, learn about school bus safety with your child.

School buses are an extremely safe form of transportation; about 30 times safer than passenger cars. However, accidents do happen. According to a 1996 study by the American Academy of Pediatrics, the majority of accidents occur outside the bus, where children can be struck by the bus or by motorists illegally passing the bus.

All school buses are surrounded by a ten-foot area where it can be difficult for the driver to see small children. Make sure they know to cross the street at least 10 feet in front of the bus. It is important to stress that although they may be able to see the bus driver, the bus driver will not be able to see them if they are too close to the front of the bus.

School bus drivers are trained professionals with a very demanding task. Teach your child to stay seated at all times while on the bus, their hands and arms should not hang out windows. They should not do anything that distracts the driver, such as shouting, throwing items and being disruptive.

In your own vehicle, recognize YOUR responsibility when you approach a stopped school bus. Come to a complete stop, watch for children near the road, and don't pass the bus while it's stopped.

By teaching your children basic safety tips, you can help reduce the risk of injury. Remember, it is never too late to teach your children school bus safety. If you have any questions or comments on school bus safety or other issues, please contact my office at 1-800-RUTH or (517) 373-1798. You can also e-mail me at rujohnson@house.state.mi.us, or write to me at the State Capitol, P.O. Box 20014, Lansing, MI 48909.

You had a mean mom? Good for you

A mother's role is to deliver children - obstetrically once, and by car forever after.

That's my way of leading into another Erma Bombeck, "worth repeating" story headlined, The Meanest Mother in the World.

"I had the meanest mother in the whole world.

"While other kids ate candy for breakfast I had to have cereal, eggs and toast. When other kids had Cokes and candy for lunch, I had to eat a sandwich. As you can guess, my dinner was different from other kids, too.

"My mother insisted on knowing where we were all the time. You'd think we were on a chain gang. She had to know who our friends were and what we were doing. She insisted that if you would be gone for an hour, that we be gone for an hour or less.

"I am ashamed to admit it, but she actually had the nerve to break the child labor law. She made us work. We had to wash all the dishes, make beds, learn to cook and all sorts of odd things. I believe she lay awake nights thinking of mean things to do to us. She always insisted on us telling the truth, and nothing but the truth.

"By the time we were teenagers she was much wiser and our life became even more unbearable.

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman

None of this tooting the car horn for us to come running. She embarrassed us to no end by making our friends and dates come to the door to get us.

"I forgot to mention that my friends were dating at the mature age of 12 and 13. MY old-fashioned mother refused to let me date until I was 15.

"My mother was a complete failure as a mother. None of us has ever been arrested. We never got to take part in a riot and a million and one other things our friends did. She made us grow up into God-fearing, educated, honest adults.

"I am trying to raise my children to stand a little taller, and I am filled with pride when my children call me mean.

"You see, thank God, He gave me the meanest mother in the world - from this I would say the country doesn't need a good 5-cent cigar, it needs more mean mothers and dads."

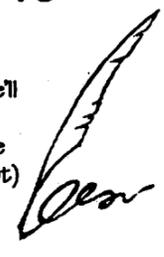

Another old adage has been killed. The U. S. Department of Agriculture did a survey on pesticide residues on produce and found, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away" suspect.

The bureaucrats found, on average, an apple contains four pesticides, but some have as many as ten. Throw out all the life expectancy tables.

Woman to hairdresser: "Tint the gray hair black, color the black hair blond, then put a streak of gray through the center so it will look natural."

A Look Back

15 YEARS AGO (1985)

News of an increase in income over last year for Clarkston schools was mixed with dismay over school district funding when lobbyist Kerry Kammer made a report to the Clarkston board of education last week. Kammer, a former state senator who resides in Springfield Township, works for the school districts of Berkley, Clarkston, Ferndale, Pontiac and Waterford and for Oakland Community College.

The need for day-long care for kindergartners has prompted the Clarkston school district to implement a new program this fall. Children can attend one-half day of kindergarten at Pine Knob Elementary with the remainder of the day spent at the school in day care through the Latchkey program.

The rewriting of the junk ordinance in Springfield Township is important enough not to rush at this point, says Supervisor Collin Walls. Part of the plan is to change the name of the regulation from junk to outdoor storage in order to cover more material.

25 YEARS AGO (1975)

The Clarkston-Independence Bicentennial Commission learned that the Salvation Army will be giving it an option to purchase the old Methodist Church property at Buffalo and Church streets. William McClean, president, said the Army is asking $58,000 for the complex, which includes the church and two houses.

While it may not be exactly what concerned parents had in mind, several classrooms offering alternative education will be launched this fall in the Clarkston School District. Most of them are at Bailey Lake Elementary School, where the greatest amount of both parent and teacher interest was expressed in surveys taken last spring.

Planning detail called for by state and county education departments for the construction of a half-million addition to Clarkston's Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center on Big Lake Road is well advanced.

50 YEARS AGO (1950)

Those taking part in the Annual Pet and Costume Parade, sponsored by the Clarkston Rotary Club, will swing into Main Street and march downtown, led by the Drum and Bugle Corps of the Campbell-Richmond Post of the American Legion. The parade this year is under the supervision of George Lang of the Clarkston Motor Sales.

Pontiac's 107th Ordinance Company of the Michigan National Guard boarded a special train in Pontiac. The company is on its way to Ft. Lewis, Washington, for extensive training. Clarkston's American Legion Post No. 63 Drum and Bugle Corp was on hand to escort the 107th from the Armory in Pontiac to the Sanderson street railroad siding.

The program of the Clarkston Rotary club held at the Clarkston Methodist Church consisted of the events of interest in the life of Duane Hursfall as related by Duane himself.

has served as chairman for the local chapter of the American Cancer Society.

He was also one of the charter members of the committee for the Clarkston Historical Museum, which has a room located at the Independence Township Library. He has been an active member of the Clarkston United Methodist Church for 37 years, serving on a wide variety of church committees during that time.

Beattie's roots in the Clarkston business community date back to 1930, when his family owned and operated the Morgan Gas Station on the corner of Church and Main Street. They operated that business for 14 years.

Later on, they operated a Ford dealership in the area until selling the dealership to Dick Flannery in 1968. Beattie also managed a two-store operation for Thomas Furniture for about 3-1/2 years.

He and his wife, who will celebrate 46 years of marriage in October, have worked together in virtually all of the family's business ventures.

"Not many people work together and live together that many years and make it," he said.

They have both volunteered their time tutoring at the local elementary schools; Doris has tutored in reading at Clarkston Elementary and Bailey Lake Elementary, while Bob has tutored in math at Clarkston Elementary.

"It's a real fun, rewarding job," he said.

The family has had a long history in the school district.

The Beatties' two sons attended Clarkston schools as do five of their grandchildren (three at Bailey Lake, two at Clarkston Elementary), with two more slated to go to Clarkston Elementary.

"You get comfortable in an area, and you kind of grow with it," he said.

Beattie offered a unique perspective on the old saying, "Behind every successful man, there is a successful woman."

"She was always beside me or in front of me," he said. "She's what's made it possible to have perfect attendance for 44 years."

Beattie emphasized the importance of staying involved in the community in order to preserve its history and traditions.

"If you have these things, and want them to stay, you have to support them," he said. "They just don't happen unless people make an effort to be involved. Everybody has their own talent. It's a shame if they don't use it in their community to better it."

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

There's a sign at Gregg's Gourmet Cafe that sums up its philosophy. It reads, "Good things take time, thank you for your patience."

Since Gregg's opened its doors over eight years ago, it has been putting smiles on the faces of their repeat customers thanks to their made from scratch food.

Making their food from scratch is what Gregg Ryeson, and his wife Michelle, feel set their restaurant apart from the rest.

"When restaurants start to go big sometimes they lose that quality," Ryeson said.

Everything Gregg's offers from their breadsticks, to chicken, to pizza to salad dressings is made in their own kitchen.

Gregg's has become one of the favorite caterers in the area. They've had requests for catering throughout not only Metro Detroit, but as far away as Midland.

Gregg's caters many types of events including, but not limited to, weddings, graduations, corporate events, baby showers, baptisms and communions. And while Gregg's has catered to several large corporate groups in the past, an event he catered in August was his biggest yet.

On Aug. 19 Gregg's catered General Motors Family Fun Day. He cooked for approximately 2,500 people, the most they've ever catered for in their eight year history.

Gregg's previous largest catering job was for 2,000 people, but Gregg said cooking wasn't the hardest part.

"A lot of the cooking was done at the site. We did a lot of grilling there. We also took a tractor trailer to the location. That served as our walk-in cooler," Ryeson said.

The job was so big it forced Ryeson to close the restaurant that day.

"It was so huge and gave me some more gray hairs. But to be sure our customers get good service we couldn't be open that day," he said.

Catering is big, especially in the summer. Michelle said on June 26 the restaurant had 26 catering orders in the same day.

"The catering never ends. I'm making phone calls after I put our kids to bed about the catering. I'll get calls on my cell phone and I'll have to pull over to take someone's order," she said.

Gregg's offers two different menus; one for dining or carry out and another for catering. The catering menu offers more extravagant items, as well as plenty of regular favorites such as barbecued chicken, submarine sandwich platters and salads. Their Chicken Tosca, which is a boneless chicken breast sauteed in white wine, lemon, roasted garlic and mushrooms is a favorite on the catering menu.

Some of the corporate events Gregg's has catered have put him in contact with some celebrities. Accounts with Universal and Warner Brothers Records introduced him to Van Halen, one of his favorite rock

At lunch, Gregg's is one of the busiest restaurants in town. Gregg and his wife suggest calling ahead with your order and giving about half an hour for it to be prepared. However, when ordering in person it should only take about five minutes for your order to be ready.

"We're probably one of the busiest places at lunch. A lot of the school teachers come here on lunch break. The place is loaded with teachers. But this isn't a fast food restaurant. Everything is made from scratch. If you want a good meal you have to wait a few minutes," Michelle said.

It's the staff of over 20 employees which help make Gregg's a successful business.

The full-time cooks work between 40 and 100 hours per week, depending on how busy it is. Between Greg and his two full-time cooks they have over 60 years of cooking experience.

Gregg learned the restaurant business from the ground up. He started as a bus boy in his uncle's restaurant, The Highland House. He's been doing catering for the last 24 years and studied culinary arts at Oakland Community College for two years. Another cook at Gregg's studied culinary arts in the Navy.

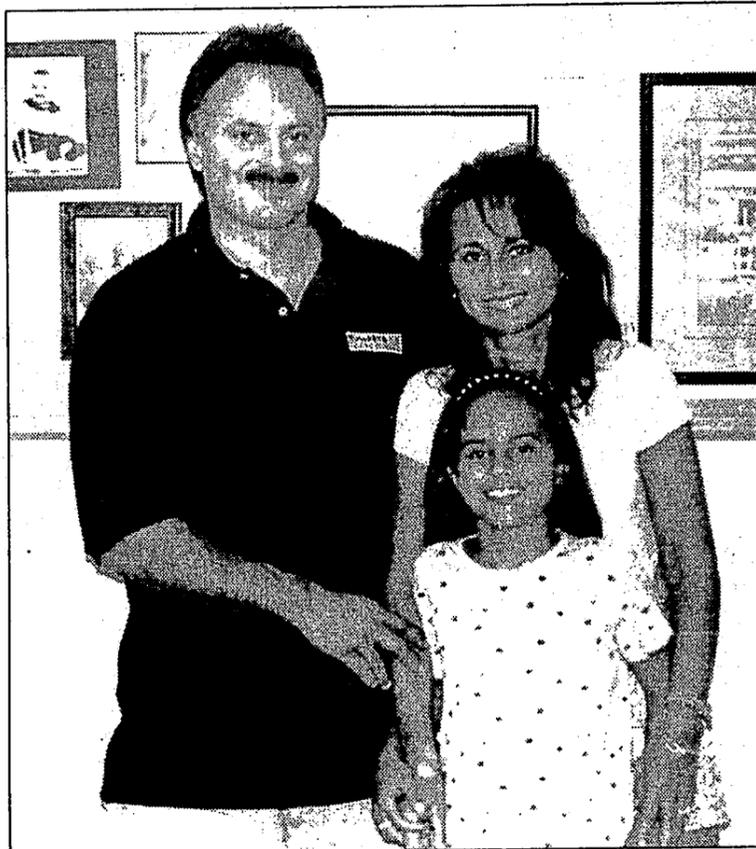

Gregg's is also very involved within the Clarkston community. They cater many school events including field days, inservices, conferences and other school-related events. They also offer field trips through their restaurant where children can make their own pizzas to take home.

Although his business wasn't always as successful Gregg has stuck to his guns and lived by a simple philosophy.

"I knew Clarkston needed a carry out restaurant with good home made food. There's a time and place for high priced fancy food, but most people don't eat like that. We want to give people a good, home made meal, quickly, at a good price," he said.

"I'm not sure why we've been so successful, but we're just thankful that Clarkston appreciates what we're doing," Gregg said.

They're open from 10:30 a.m. until 9 p.m. Monday and Tuesday. On Wednesday through Saturday their hours are 10:30 a.m. until 10 p.m. On Sunday they're open from noon until 9 p.m. Their phone number is (248) 625-6612. Their fax number is (248) 625-6618. Gregg's is located at 5914 South Main Street in Clarkston.

Gregg Ryeson, his wife Michelle and their daughter Rachel, 9, are proud of their home cooking.

Gregg's has also catered to 101 FM, WRIF where he met Drew and Mike of the popular morning show.

"We've catered to their studio in Southfield before. They were ranked in the top five in the market for audiences, so corporate threw them a big party and we catered it," he said.

As much as Gregg enjoys meeting celebrities through his work, he doesn't play favorites when it comes to customers, mainly because of an experience he had as a child.

"When I was a kid I was waiting in line at the drug store to buy some candy. The guy at the register took three adults before me. I still remember that," he said.

Because of Gregg's fair treatment of customers, he's enjoyed the repeat business of children, students, teachers, local businessmen and others throughout the community.

No big box in Independence Twp.

the needs of the residents of Independence to serve community needs. A BIG BOX such as Home Depot will draw its traffic from other regions, shoppers that have no other reason to come here. If it will not serve our community, why then would we choose to tax our overburdened infrastructure, our roads, and our utilities?

Think about the 3 local small-town hardware stores that have been serving us all these years. This proposal would have a huge negative impact on their day-to-day business, up to and including putting them out of business. Is this any way to support them for their years of service to our residents?

It is clearly stated in the Vision 2020 plan that it is the township goal to discourage or prohibit large big box commercial retail. The quality of our residential life depends on our community being unique. There is a place for the big box business, just not in Independence.

Sincerely,
Susan R. Balmas

Office area better suited to M-15

Congratulations and thank you Maria Timmerman for sending to The Clarkston News a detailed account and map of the ongoing proposal for a Holiday Inn Express.

The 2.3 acres of the proposed site is on the east side of M-15, beside the Baylis doctor offices, beside and behind the gas station and behind the Amy Drive and Little Walters Court/Green Haven residences.

On August 25 I walked the proposed site with Maria and her neighbors. I agree with them that an office structure would be more palatable for the neighboring residences. Hopefully, a future office proposal would have a better design than a concrete wall to deter the water runoff.

The whole area is filled with springs and wetlands. There is a marked drop in the 2.3 acres, so the water runs through pipes under the grounds and houses, through the wetlands and ditches to Little Walters Lake.

Does the township want another catastrophe like the high school wetlands problem with Almond Lane and a drying up lake?

Become more acquainted with the area and talk with the neighbors.

Sincerely,
Peggy Dryer

P.S. Vote September 12. Neil Wallace has done his usual in-depth research and masterfully negotiated the complicated proposal to save our open space and handle future water concerns in the Clarkston Creek Golf Course area.

Clarifying points on Clarkston Creek proposal for Sept. 12 vote

At the recent town hall informational meeting concerning the open space referendum (Clarkston Creek Golf Course) vote on September 12 in Independence Township, there were many very good questions asked. We tried to answer all the questions fully and completely. However, since that time I have continued to think in particular about two of the questions and I believe I have a better answer.

First, although I was initially opposed to this transaction, I now favor a "yes" vote on the referendum on September 12. I believe the township could successfully defend the recreational zoning of this property. However, once it was apparent that the majority of the township board did not feel that way, I undertook to negotiate the best possible deal for the township. I am now confident that this is the best that can be done and it does many positive things for our community.

More importantly, the nature of the transaction is significantly different that what was first proposed.

First, the township will not own the golf course so we will not be competing with private enterprise, particularly in an area that already has plenty of golf courses.

Second, with the Childs report (a report on the condition of the golf course grounds and clubhouse) we were provided substantial, independent information about what it would take to improve this golf course to make it viable.

Third, we would not have to pay $3 million and put the township's treasury at risk by losing money in the golf course business.

Finally, if the township owns the property, its taxable value would be significantly decreased.

The second question was about the regional storm water management system which will be greatly benefited by this proposal. This section of the Sashabaw corridor will inevitably be developed for office and commercial uses. Without a regional drainage system, each of these developments would have to have their own unsightly, fenced-in water retention area.

We can avoid all that by channeling all the water down to the golf course, putting the water where it belongs, in a natural area. What is more, we can recoup all the money we are investing in this proposal by selling rights to access the water system.

The particular question was, "Whether this would allow the commercial developments to have more pavement and building instead of the retention areas?"

On reflection, I believe the township could and should adopt a policy that any developer wishing to use the regional drain system would; (1) pay for that access and (2) devote as open, green space, a significant portion of their property that would otherwise have been used for the retention pond

Both the township and the committee supporting this referendum proposal are working hard to get out information to the community. We believe that as the citizens learn and understand this proposal, they will favor it. This is another important step in defining Independence Township as a quality, residential community. I urge every one who reads this letter to vote "yes" for this proposal on September 12.

Very Truly Yours,
Neil Wallace

Preservation of open space key to Clarkston Creek ballot proposal

Arguably, the least important component result of the September 12 ballot (Clarkston Creek Golf Course) proposal is the preservation and enhancement of the clubhouse and golf course at Clarkston Creek. The preservation of the open space as open space is much more important.

The changes to the course and clubhouse will be extensive. Current golf holes #12 and #13 will be eliminated and replaced with attached condominiums. Current hole #17 will be shortened to just in front of the creek. A new par three hole will be created that flies over the wetland to a virtual island green from the current #18 hole tees. Two new holes will be created. The new holes #17 and #18 will be challenging par fours. New cart paths will be installed on several holes. The entire course obtains improvements over the first five years.

The clubhouse changes will be spectacular. The lower level "golf" area will have a full service kitchen, new locker rooms, full facility air conditioning and new furniture.

The developer is required by the "deal" to invest $2.5 to $3 million dollars in overall improvements.

All of these improvements will improve the visual impact of the facility to be enjoyed by golfers and non-golfers.

"You could develop the property without any intrusion into the wetland," he said.

Board questioned whether enough was being done to avoid mitigation. He commented that the commission relies on township engineer Randy Ford for engineering information.

"We'd like to know what efforts you're making to avoid mitigation on the site," he said. "We rely on Randy and his review... That's what we rely on. He needs to have that confidence."

Township planner Richard Carlisle said the differences of opinion need to be cleared up before anything else can happen.

"I think the discrepancies need to be clarified," he said. "The plan that we sat down and talked about was nothing like this."

During the public hearing, Independence Township Trustee Neil Wallace said that the proposed center would not be in keeping with the character of the Clarkston community.

"The project needs to be in the public interest," he said. "I don't think it is. I don't think this lends itself to the local residential community we've talked about. We don't have to be all things to all people."

Kay Caruso, attorney for Regency Realty Corporation, said that they would start over in hopes of finding a solution.

"I believe that we're willing to go back to the drawing board," she said.

A total of 892 parking spaces are proposed for the project, not including the proposed restaurant. However, township ordinance requirements for planned shopping centers dictate 1,068 parking spaces would be required.

Additionally, though internal landscaping within the parking lot is proposed, the parking lot dominates the design layout of the site. Areas in front of the grocery should be provided with islands. Regarding site access, both the center and the restaurant propose curb cuts in close proximity.

Carlisle, in an April 4 memo, said that the intensity proposed for the site is too great for the area to be occupied.

He also said the "big box" style of development will result in the domination of asphalt and is not in keeping with the master plan recommendations for the area, and no consideration was given for the natural resources on the site.

Carlisle questioned whether the proposed detention area will be sufficient.

"We assume that the slope of the basin will need to be great to accommodate the runoff from such a large amount of impervious surface," he said.

Carlisle noted that there are two wetlands currently on the site, and that at this point, no specific details have been given regarding the location or preservation of these wetlands.

He also said that setbacks were not met for either the restaurant or retail located around Maybee; a 50-foot greenbelt exclusive of parking and maneuvering lanes must be provided.

Carlisle suggested that the applicant see the Sashabaw Corridor Target Plan in the Independence Township Vision 2020 Strategic Plan for specific design considerations of what the township is looking for.

Board said that the door is open for Regency to reapply for a mitigation permit.

"We haven't passed judgement on the site plan," he said. "The applicant can reapply at any time."

Wolves force four turnovers in week one win

The Wolves get fired up before their season opening win over Sterling Heights Stephenson.

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston varsity football coach Kurt Richardson told his players before Friday's game it was the best versus the best and whoever wanted it more would win. Fortunately for Clarkston, the Wolves were hungrier.

Clarkston earned a 14-7 win at Sterling Heights Stephenson in the season opener for both teams. Key plays by Clarkston's defense proved to be the difference.

"It's a huge win for our program. They're the best over here. It's the best playing the best. I told the kids before the game it's going to come down to who wants it more," Richardson said.

The defense made big plays, the biggest of which came from linebacker Ian Ramsey. His forced fumble with less than two minutes to play, with the score 14-7 Clarkston, was recovered by teammate Nick Beadles and secured Clarkston's first win of the season.

"Every play I hit as hard as I can. I'm a totally different person on game day. I don't know what happens, I just step it up during the game. I saw the quarterback hold the ball low when he ran and that was my chance," Ramsey said.

Richardson said his defense has

Cheer team brings fans to their feet by kissing

The 2000 varsity cheer team is looking forward to cheering on the Wolves all season long. Members include Breana Berdin, Kara Cantrell, Jaclyn Fahrner, Lindsey Hawley, Christina Koziarski, Jessica Nanney, Vanessa Poley, Marilyn Peck, Jessie Ressler, Michelle Steen, Danielle Webb, Kathi Wiegand and Kim Wilson. The team is coached by Debi Hool and assisted by Sarah Hool.

Clarkston News Staff Writer

There's no denying the atmosphere at a Clarkston High School varsity football game.

Screaming fans jammed into the stands, tailgating and reunions of players and alumni all add to the mix. And while the players and coaches do their best to give fans a reason to cheer, it's the Clarkston varsity cheer team that often leads the way.

This year's varsity cheer team will once again do its best to get the Wolves faithful on their feet and encourage those wearing the blue and gold to cheer even louder and make as much noise as possible.

The team is made up of 13 girls, three of which are seniors including Kara Cantrell, Jessica Nanney and Jessie Wressler. The team is rounded out by five juniors and five sophomores.

Although head coach Debi Hool does not name team captains, she did say that returning cheerleaders Cantrell and junior Vanessa Poley have been leading the team thus far.

"I haven't picked captains for a number of years.

It seems to work out better that way, but Kara and Poley have been leading the team," Hool said.

While performing cheers on the sidelines of all home varsity football games, the cheerleaders will continue their tradition of tossing t-shirts to the loudest Clarkston fans.

"We're going to be more strict with the shirts this year," Hool said. "Last year we got a little lax, but this year we want to be sure to only toss the shirts to the loudest fans."

The Clarkston cheer team will also be doing some fund-raising this fall with its new act called, 'Kiss the Cheerleader.' Those interested in receiving a kiss from a cheerleader may donate money to varsity cheerleaders before football games and JV cheerleaders after kickoff. Money raised will be donated to Children's Leukemia Foundation of Michigan and the cheer team will visit children suffering from the disease in area hospitals Hool said.

The fundraiser will be for all home varsity football games, except the Sept. 8 game versus Rochester Adams. Hool said she hopes to collect $2,000.

Although their competition schedule has not been finalized, Hool said she is hoping Clarkston will compete in six to eight cheer competitions. Last year the Wolves did very well in competition as they qualified for the state championships for the second consecutive year. The Wolves also took first place at the Red Wing Classic and took second in the Oakland Activities Association league competition.

Hool said this team is one of the most dedicated groups she's ever had at Clarkston.

"The girls are doing a great job. They have such a strong work ethic. It's been a breeze for me. When they come to practice, they really come to practice. There have been times when I thought we were done practicing and the girls are so dedicated that they keep on going," Hool said.

Hool said her team began practicing in early July and practices for three hours a day three days per week in addition to their routines during game days.

The varsity cheer team will be performing on the sidelines of all home varsity football games and during half time of boys varsity basketball games.

Wolves, Colbert honored at summer dance camp

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

When Clarkston fans jam the stands this fall they won't merely be treated to some of the best football and basketball talent in Oakland County. They'll also get to see the award winning Clarkston pom pon teams.

Clarkston's varsity and JV pom pon squads racked up the honors at this summer's National Cheerleaders Association/National Dance Alliance cheer and dance summer camp at Oakland University.

The Wolves varsity team received a first place trophy for their home routine, a first place award for their team dance, a Gold Technical Excellence Plaque, the NDA Top Team Award and a Gold Plaque for the Team Leader performance. In addition, the varsity team received a bid to nationals.

During the four day camp, members of the Wolves' varsity and JV squads went up against 150 of the state's best pom pon competitors and won numerous honors.

Topping the list was senior varsity pom pon member Kacie Colbert. Colbert, who is in her second year on the varsity team, was named top performer of the camp. The award is given based on high technical skills, as well as strong leadership skills.

Colbert said the award was a very high honor, and is not given out annually at the camp.

"I thought it was a really great honor to receive the award. I was really excited about it," she said.

Clarkston coach Harmony Hunt, who is in her second year as head coach, spoke highly of her second year senior.

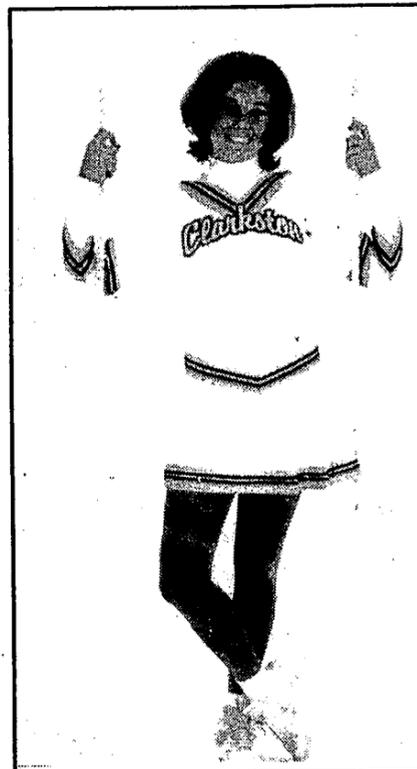

"Kacie is very deserving of the award. She's one of the most amazing dancers I have ever seen," she said.

Not only was Colbert given the top honor, but was offered an application to teach at the camp next summer. Applicants must submit an audition video tape and if selected, Colbert would be one of five instructors for next year's camp. 1996 Clarkston graduate Courtney Perna was the head instructor of this summer's camp.

Because of her high honor Colbert now has the opportunity to travel to Honolulu, Hawaii to perform at half time of a Christmas Day bowl game. Colbert won't be alone however if she decides to make the trip. Varsity teammates Rachel Uhley, Jessica Matkoski and junior varsity pom pon member, freshman Christyn Reuter will all have the option of joining Colbert. Those three Wolves, along with Colbert were recipients of the All-American Award.

school year. The team is working very hard and this is one of the most rewarding teams I've had," Hunt said.

Colbert has been dancing since she was 5, when she began taking studio dance lessons. She stayed enrolled as a student until she was 16 and then decided to take a year off.

Colbert resumed taking lessons this summer and is excited for the coming school year.

"I really love studio dance. It really helps my strength and technique. I took the year off just to try something different," she said.

After graduation the senior hopes to continue dancing at either Michigan State University or Western Michigan University.

"Western has a good dance program. If I went there I'd probably either major or minor in dance. If I went to state I have no idea what I'd major in, but I'd like to be part of the MSU Motion dance team," she said.

However, before she makes her college commitment, the senior is looking forward to her last year as part of the Wolves pom pon team. But she will miss Clarkston when her senior year comes to an end.

"It's just a lot of fun being able to perform. I've made a lot of friends on the team and it's been a great time being part of the pom pon team," she said.

"We haven't sat down and decided whether or not we're going to go yet," Colbert said.

The foursome has also been invited to participate in a parade in Paris around Christmas time Colbert said.

Several other members of the varsity pom pon team were nominated for the All-American Award including: seniors Kaylan Cooke, Krystal Declerck, Tara Crawford, juniors Diana Kring, Jessica Nowakowski and Laura Minando and sophomore Heather Chojnowski. Members of the junior varsity team which were also nominated were freshmen Jennie Colbert and Rachel Freed.

Clarkston brothers make a splash at EMU

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Swimming up to 36,000 meters per week may sound like reason to be exhausted, but for Clarkston residents Michael and Richard Frenchi, it's simply routine.

They competed as members of the Oakland Live Y'ers competitive swim team and participated in the Michigan Long Course State Championship at Eastern Michigan University in late July. Hundreds of swimmers participated in the event.

The two brothers grew up with a swimming pool and have been swimming since they were 5 years old.

Michael swam in the 13-14 year old 200 meter backstroke and finished with a time of 2:43.92, which was good enough for a 20th place finish. He also competed in the 400 meter medley relay which took fifth.

"Backstroke is my best event," Michael said. "I think I do better in the sprints than in the distances."

Michael will be a freshmen at University of Detroit High School this fall and is hoping to land a spot on the school's varsity roster.

"I'm gunning for a varsity spot, but JV would be fine too," he said.

Michael's younger brother Richard, 12, was very busy at the championship, competing in seven different events including the 400 meter freestyle, which he felt, was his best race finishing with a time of 5:01.64.

"I'm an okay swimmer. I'm better at the distances than the sprints," he said.

The two swim year round and participated in several state meets before the competition at EMU.

Richard, like his brother, has his eye on a varsity spot at U of D High School. Richard will be enrolled at UofD Academy as a 7th grader, but plans to join his brother at the varsity level one day.

Wolves and Lions look good early

Most football coaches agree that the biggest improvements on a team come between week one and two.

After seeing Clarkston win its first game of the season last Friday, 14-7 over Sterling Heights Stephenson, yours truly will discuss what I thought were the Wolves biggest strengths and weaknesses against the Titans.

Strengths:

Kaul — It all starts with his gutsy performance. He showed great leadership and composure in a key drive which opened the scoring late in the first half. He also rushed for a touchdown, punted well and had a great interception return in the second half. He's a great athlete, and a friendly, soft spoken senior.

Conley — 2000 Clarkston graduate Chris Mitchell left some pretty big

Netters tie state ranked West Bloomfield

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston High School varsity tennis team hasn't started league play yet, but coach Beth Manojlovich already knows her team can hold its own.

The Wolves tied Oakland Activities Association Division I powerhouse West Bloomfield Aug. 24.

"It was a great showing for us. Even if it was a tie it was a big day for us. They're ranked in the top 10 in the state in the preseason polls," Manojlovich said. "We were very pleased with that. We've never gotten that many points off them in the past."

Helping the Clarkston cause was no. 4 singles Ashley Rettig, the no. 2 doubles team of Sarah Sweeny and Laura Woloson, the no. 3 doubles team of Katie Manvel and Sydney Basset and the no. 4 doubles tandem of Lisa Hopcian and Christy Cumbo who all won matches.

The Wolves also competed with seven other schools at the Holly Invitational, Aug. 26.

"It was an extremely tough one. They had some very tough teams there," she said.

Doing well for Clarkston was freshman Colleen Mead, who was runner up in no. 1 singles. Michelle Dodge, who played at no. 2 singles, Rettig and Manvel, who played at no. 3 doubles, Kiley Banycky and Laura Woloson, who played at no. 4 doubles all won matches for the Wolves. Playing in a fifth doubles and getting runner up was Bassett and Jessica Harding.

No. 1 singles player Colleen Mead prepares to return a shot against West Bloomfield.

'It was a great showing for us. Even if it was a tie it was a big day for us. They're ranked in the top 10 in the state in the preseason polls.'

Beth Manojlovich — Clarkston tennis coach

Manojlovich said Manvel and Rettig have improved since conditioning.

"Katie and Ashley have really been coming on. They've really been improving steadily," she said.

The Wolves also tied Lapeer East Aug. 28.

Clarkston winners were Mead, the no. 1 doubles team of Carrie Linenger and Banycky, no. 3 doubles of Manvel and Rettig and no. 4 doubles team of Christy Cumbo and Hopcian.

Mead went perfect on the day, winning 6-0, 6-0.

"I think the season is going to go very well for our team. There's a lot of returning players and it's very fun to be on a team with so much spirit," Mead said.

Mead is 5-3 on the season.

The Wolves next action will be Sept. 5 at home against Waterford Kettering at 4 p.m.

shoes to fill. Mitchell picked up nearly 2,000 yards on the ground last season, but Conley looked polished and ran hard. He picked up well over 100 yards against a very strong Titans defense. Not to be overlooked by some pretty mean blocks laid out by Kettering transfer Nate Davis.

Receivers — Ryan Briceland had a good game, snagging four passes, several of which came on that key drive in the first half. Add in the speed of Adam Gebus on the other side and the Wolves pose two serious aerial threats.

Key play defense — Not enough can be said about the play of Ian Ramsey, Cody Senkyr, Matt Pearsall, Andy Kleinedler, Mark Carlson, Mike Atkinson and Nick Beadles. A very quick, aggressive and athletic core of defenders kept the Titans scoreless until late in the game. The biggest defensive play was Ramsey's strip of the ball late in the game. Wolves fans quickly responded with the chant, "We have Ian!"

Weaknesses:

Kicking game — There's no hiding this. The Wolves missed their first extra point attempt and missed a short range field goal. Coach Kurt Richardson tried Kaul and Gebus as kickers against the Titans with no success.

Offensive line — There's also no secret that a big reason why Mitchell had the season he did last year at tailback was because he was running behind guys that averaged 270 pounds. This group is smaller, but Richardson feels they're more athletic than last year's team. By Conley picking up well over 100 yards on the ground, it shows the group can run block, but Richardson was concerned about pass protection for Kaul.

Like most openers, this one wasn't without its flaws. The Wolves failed to cash in on a few opportunities in the first half, but the defense picked up the slack by intercepting passes and recovering fumbles. Next to the score, the turnover ratio is the most important stat in football.

Now the Wolves hit the road to take on West Bloomfield. Another road game, but Clarkston will be home soon. Their home opener is Sept. 8 against Adams who also won their opener.

Clarkston's football team isn't the only one I've kept a careful eye on. The Detroit Lions are getting ready for their season opener this Sunday at New Orleans, and with any luck, and the key word is luck, the Lions should have a decent season.

Every year at this time, myself and Lions faithful everywhere are fueled with hope and enthusiasm for another season. "This year will be different" we say. And every year it's the same thing — disappointment. My official pick is 9-7 with no playoffs.

Here's my breakdown of the Lions this season.

Batch — Like the Wolves, it all starts with the quarterback. If Batch starts, and stays healthy for all 16 games, the Lions have a chance. Stoney Case has gotten favorable reviews from coach Bobby Ross, but come on — it's Stoney Case. Do you know anybody who picked him high in a fantasy draft?

Receivers — The Lions boast the best receiving core in the NFC, and I believe in football, but only when, and if, with nothing. One fourth down from quarterback Ryan Kaul deflected off the fingertips of wide receiver Ryan Briceland, and another fourth down attempt, a field goal try by Adam Gebus, failed.

After the Titans missed a field goal attempt of their own, Kaul led the Wolves down the field late in the first half with four consecutive completions. The biggest of which was to Briceland, which gave the Wolves a first and goal at the Titans two yard line.

"Ryan's very capable. When he's on he can do a lot of things. We just have to work and give him some more protection," Richardson said.

With only 21 seconds remaining in the first half, senior running back Rob Conley gave the Wolves the lead with a 2 yard touchdown run. Clarkston missed the extra point however, and led by only six at the half.

After Ramsey recovered a fumble back at the Titan's 31 yard line, the Wolves threatened again. On a third and five Kaul's pass to Briceland was incomplete, but a Titans' interference call gave Clarkston new offensive life.

After Ramsey's 16 yard run put the ball at the Stephenson one yard line, Kaul's quarterback sneak increased the Wolves lead to 12-0. Shane Bennett's two-point conversion run made it 14-0 with 8:21 to go in the third.

With the Titans threatening, Stephenson's Ryan Maiuri's pass was intercepted by Kaul and returned to the Titan's 27 yard line.

"I just come in on passing downs and I wanted to come up with a big play. We needed a big stop right there. I read the quarterback right. I was just happy I was in the right spot at the right time," Kaul said.

Although Clarkston had a first and goal at the Titans' seven yard line, they failed to score and the score remained 14-0 heading into the final quarter.

Herman Moore returns from his shoulder injury. Add a healthy, confident Herman Moore, with Germane Crowell and Johnnie Morton, not to mention David Sloan at tight end, who is scheduled to start on Sunday, and the Lions will give any team's secondary plenty to worry about.

Stewart — He's no Barry — he's employed. And while he won't get three 80 yard carries in one game, he shouldn't lead the league in runs for loss either. A straight ahead, no nonsense back is a welcome change from last year's running back debacle. He's strong and a hard worker.

Offensive Line — The Lions have tried very hard to upgrade this department and should be better

Stephenson threatened again, early in the fourth, but Maiuri's pass on a fourth and goal failed to connect due to solid coverage by senior Cody Senkyr.

"The defense has improved so much since Harrison (scrimmage), especially the secondary. They've made huge strides since last week," Richardson said.

Another late game defensive play was made by senior Andy Kleinedler who tackled a Titans receiver on a fourth down play two yards shy of the first down marker with 5:46 left to play.

However, the Titans continued to fight and finally stopped the Wolves shutout attempt with 3:18 left in the fourth on a 10 yard scamper by Maiuri. The extra point brought the Titans within seven.

Stephenson's on side kick was recovered by Senkyr, but the Wolves failed to generate any offense. After punting, the Titans had one last chance on offense, but Ramsey's strip sealed the win for Clarkston.

Kaul finished the game going 10 for 19 for 120 yards and one rushing touchdown.

Leading the rushing attack was Conley, who picked up 123 yards and scored a touchdown.

Briceland finished the game with four catches for 63 yards.

Leading tacklers for Clarkston were Kleinedler, who had eight, Ramsey, with six, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery, Mark Carlson with five tackles, and two pass deflections and Mike Atkinson who had four tackles.

"We weren't real sharp, but that's a good defensive football team," Richardson said. "I wasn't unhappy with anything, but we've got some work to do."

Ramsey was happy with the win, but realizes it's only week one.

"We're up there right now for sure. We have a long season though and we can't have any letdowns," Ramsey said.

The Wolves next action will be Aug. 31 when they visit West Bloomfield, who were 42-21 winners over Romeo in week one. Kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

than in recent years. They'll need to be, especially in pass protection.

Defense — Last year's defense was a good one. One of the main reasons why Detroit, midway through the season, was in first place in the NFC was because of the takeaway ratio. Luther Ellis, Robert Porcher and Stephen Boyd are proven play makers. And Ron Rice could make the Pro Bowl this year at safety. Now, if only Bryant Westbrook can have a good season this year.

Hanson — One of the most overlooked weapons in the Lions arsenal. Is there a more consistent kicker in the league?

Here's hoping my official prediction of 9-7 and no playoffs falls through. I bought a mini pack of tickets after all. I'd like to see them win as much as anybody, but every year it's the same thing. 'This year will be different.'

130-IN MEMORIUM

IN MEMORY OF
Ruth Burrell (Williams)
1928-1994

We thought of you with love today, but that was nothing new. We thought about you yesterday and days before that too. We think of you in silence, we often speak your name. Now all we have are memories and your picture in a frame. Your memory is our keepsake, with which we'll never part. God has you in his keeping. We have you in our heart. Forever missed by her family and friends.
