Clarkston eyeing twp. hall

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Although Clarkston city council members recently reviewed plans for remodeling city hall, they have also decided to consider moving to Independence Township Hall when the township vacates that facility.

At its regular meeting Sept. 25, council members were eager to learn more about the possibility of moving from their current home from 375 Depot St. to township hall at 90 N. Main St., located in the city limits.

At its Sept. 11 meeting, the council met with architectural firm Wilson and Associates who presented preliminary drawings of a new DPW facility. Council person Anne Clifton said she would find out how much time the firm would need to finish preliminary drawings.

City councilman Dave Savage asked for a 90 day grace period. Instead, council decided to wait until they hear back from Wilson and Associates to find out how much time they require to finish up the drawings.

"I don't think this (exploring using township hall) will hold anything up at all. I think it's a positive thing for the community and it would be a nice place for the village hall. It would be a great municipal facility," Savage said.

Currently, 375 Depot St. houses Clarkston's police department, city offices and (DPW). However, if all three facets of government moved into the township hall, a garage would have to be built, or one of the existing buildings would have to be converted into a garage for equipment purposes.

City councilman Dan Columbo said the idea was worth looking into. He cited the Clarkston Creek Golf Course deal between developers and Independence Township as an example where two sides pulled off something financially, that many thought could not happen.

"It doesn't cost us anything to pursue this and look into it further. Some good things have happened around here lately," Columbo said.

Independence Township Trustee Neil Wallace, who is on the township committee which oversees locating property for and construction of a new township hall, said the committee is also interested in finding an appropriate use for the building once the township moves.

He said the committee has defined the needs of various township departments and narrowed the search for a location, but a final report is not yet ready.

Clarkston Fun Daze a big hit

Party goers enjoy downtown festival

An occasional light misting rain did not dampen Saturday's Taste of Clarkston and Fall Fun Daze in downtown Clarkston. An estimated 3,000 people turned out to run, eat, shop and dance.

The Taste of Clarkston hosted 13 restaurants this year: 221B Baker St., Big Boy, Big Buck Brewery, Clarkston Café, Clarkston Union, Clarkston Village Bake Shop, Duggan's, Gregg's Gourmet Café, Joe Bologna's Trattoria, La Villa Ristorante, Mr. B's, Pete's Coney and Rudy's Market.

"Ticket sales were definitely way up for this year," said Chamber Executive Director Penny Shanks. "We sold over $10,000 in tickets onsite that evening." Proceeds from the Taste of Clarkston are split between Independence Township Parks and Recreation and the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Fall Fun Daze visitors were also treated to live music by Thique, members of the band Blue Pigs, who sang Motown hits. "We heard from

CHS Marching Band Invitational Saturday

The Clarkston High School Marching Band hosts the 23rd Annual Clarkston Invitational band competition Sat., Sept. 30 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at CHS, 6093 Flemings Lk Rd.

CHS band members will show off their new uniforms and present a unique musical performance -- a centennial celebration of American composer Aaron Copeland's birth. The band will perform Copeland's "Rodeo," "The Red Pony," "Hoedown" and excerpts from "Appalachian Spring."

Eight additional bands will perform: Lakeland; Grand Blanc; Lamphere; Tawas; Ferndale; Bad Axe; Royal Oak Dondero; and Port Huron Northern.

The Clarkston Schools Instrumental Music Association reminds parents that this is a great family entertainment. Also, according to Newsweek magazine, current brain research shows exposure to music and instruction at an early age builds neuron connections in the brain, and youngsters who gain the additional brain power end up having an edge in learning other subjects.

Tickets can be purchased at the event: adults $5; students $3; munchkins are free.

Navigate a corn-field maze, enjoy cider and donuts, a petting farm, country store, and more
A maze of Fall fun waits at Oak Haven Farm

BY JENNIFER NEMER
 Clarkston News Staff Writer

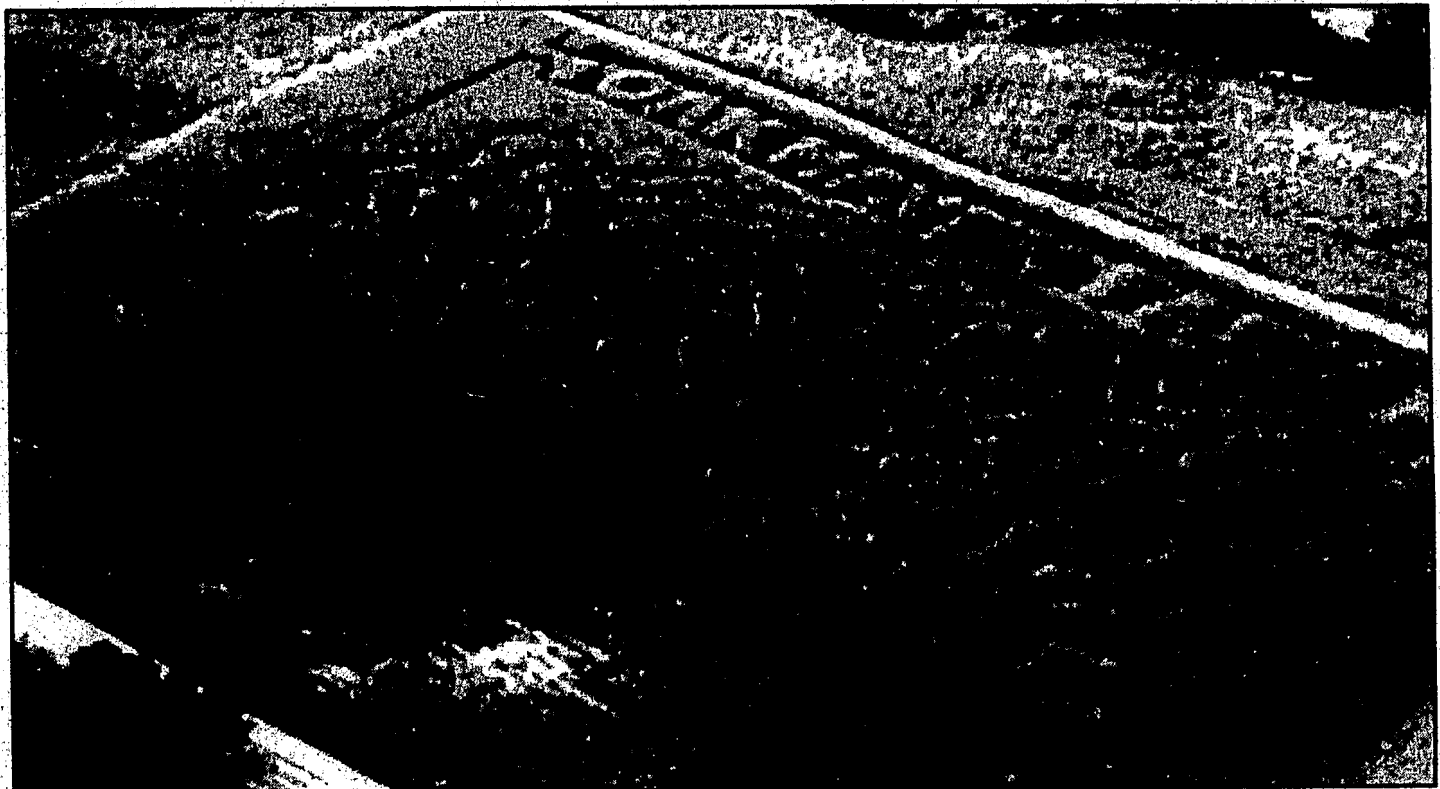

It's that time of the season when a fun-filled day means a hayride, a trip out to the pumpkin patch and spending some quality family time. And thoughts turn to caramel apples, donuts and cider.

Oak Haven Farm, located at Grange Hall and Dixie Highway in Holly, plans to satisfy those Fall needs.

Nick and Pam Nichols, owners since 1985, never guessed years ago what they would be doing today.

"If an angel had come down to tell me that God wanted me to be a farmer, I wouldn't have believed it," Nick said with a chuckle. Previously, a building contractor, he detested even weeding his garden.

Originally from Waterford, the Nichols had no intention of moving "this far out," but needed room to raise their horses. The farm, in existence since the 1800s, was christened Oak Haven. They named it after their previous street's name, Lochhaven, and an admired oak tree in that yard.

Visitors can navigate two miles of trails in this corn field maze at Oak Haven Farm.

The petting farm has plenty of cute fuzzy critters.

"You can say a lot about an oak tree," Nick said. "It just went together and we wanted to carry the name." Nick credits Pam with the idea. They settled in and called it home.

But forty-three acres of farmland couldn't go to waste. On a suggestion from a friend, the Nichols decided to begin planting and selling what they reaped. The first season Nick thought that it would be as easy as planting seeds and in a couple of weeks it's ready to pick. However, he learned that if you plant a little each week throughout the course of the season, you'll have fresh produce consistently. He implemented this tactic the following year.

The Nichols would pick their crops before work, set out a table in the front yard and work the "honor system." Each year they added more fruits, vegetables and pumpkins, Nick said.

The Nichols began using their draft horses for free hay rides. Realizing they could make a profit, the next year they charged a dollar. Ideas continued to blossom which have made Oak Haven as prosperous as it is today. Nick, whose wife, Pam, works at the Walled Lake Post Office, said he likes to say that she "still works to take care of the family."

The farming trade, Nick said, consumes "all of our time -- daylight til dark." So much so, that they usually are eating dinner at 10 or 11 p.m. and don't get a break until the end of October.

Until then, Oak Haven Farm is bustling with activities. A major attraction this year is the newly designed 500 ft x 300 ft cornfield maze. Approximately two miles of trails, Nick has even gotten lost.

In the maze making business, you want to go with the best, and according to Nick, that is Shawn Stolworthy, whom they found over the internet. Stolworthy is known for creating unique designs and pictures within a corn maze. He has produced mazes all over the country and been recognized in the Guinness Book of World Records for constructing the largest maze.

The Holly Band Boosters will be maze monitors this season, promoting a "safe attitude," Nick said. A percentage of the proceeds will benefit the group. The maze is scheduled to open Sept. 30 and will be open 3 to 6 p.m. weekdays and 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on weekends. The cost is $3.50; four and under are free.

The Oak Haven Ice Cream parlor, opened July 2. The Nichols purchased the renovated home, years after living on the farm, when the previous owners, the Hawley family—who raised cattle and were active farmers, there—reached retirement and moved. Nick started restoring it three years ago. It was a slow process due to money availability and time, Nick said.

Steve Ronk new Independence Fire Chief

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Independence Township Board didn't have to look too far to find a replacement for outgoing Fire Chief Gar Wilson.

The board voted unanimously to promote Assistant Fire Chief Steve Ronk to the top spot at its Sept. 19 meeting.

His promotion will take effect Oct. 2, and he will be paid the existing salary for the fire chief's position.

Ronk, a lifelong resident of Independence Township, has held virtually every position in the department during his 25 years on the force.

He started out as an on-call fireman, then worked his way up to a full-time driver/engineer's position, and then shift captain. He was named assistant chief six months ago.

During the township board meeting, Supervisor Dale Stuart raised the question of whether the township should offer the job to Ronk or look elsewhere to fill the position.

However, the township board members voiced their support for Ronk to take over the top job.

Clerk Joan McCrary commented that the board could "search high and wide" and not be able to find someone with the knowledge of the firefighting profession, as well as the community, like Ronk.

Trustee Neil Wallace concurred with those sentiments.

"He's not only deeply rooted in this community, he cares about it," Wallace said.

Trustee Larry Rosso said that Ronk did "extremely well" on the assessment tests when he was hired as assistant chief, and praised him for his "tremendous leadership capacity."

Ronk's father, Frank, is himself a former Independence Township fire chief, and also served as Independence Township Supervisor.

After 25 years in the department, Assistant Fire Chief Steve Ronk will take the place of retiring Chief Gar Wilson.

Ronk looks forward to the challenge of heading up the department, and said that his years of experience have given him the knowledge necessary to carry out the job.

"I've always been out there getting education," he said. "I've got a lot to learn. There's a lot of things we need to do. The ALS program is staring us in the face. We've got a lot of programs that need to get off the ground."

With the addition of the advanced life support service, Ronk said that there will be approximately 14 people joining the department.

"It's going to be a big change for us," he said of the ALS addition. "That's never been done here before. That's a big challenge for us, but the guys are excited. We think it will be a real positive thing for the community."

Ronk said that customer service will be the primary focus of the department. He commented that the situations that the firefighters face are traumatic for the people affected, and sometimes involve the loss of property and/or loved ones.

He said that the department's job is to do whatever it can to help residents deal with such situations.

"We're really structured for customer service," Ronk said. "It's an attitude that we try to project here."

A concern for the department, Ronk said, involves fire station #3, which he said needs to be replaced. Recently, the Independence Township Board issued the go-ahead to start developing plans for a new station.

"It's been neglected for a number of years," he said.

Overall, Ronk said the department has many tasks ahead in the upcoming year, but is looking forward to the challenge.

"We've got a lot of things on the plate," he said. "Next year will be an extremely busy year...The guys are really excited about next year."

I-75 Corridor without Clintonville Road exit:

Study shifts focus to existing exits, local roads

BY JENNIFER NEMER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

A Clarkston open house on local I-75 corridor improvements had sparse attendance from area residents Sept. 21.

Conducted by The Corradino Group, a consulting firm hired to study ways to improve the I-75 corridor in Oakland County, the open house was held at the Independence Township Station No. 1, to introduce proposed changes and further resident awareness.

The study is sponsored by The Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, Michigan Dept. of Transportation (MDOT), the Road Commission for Oakland County, and the Traffic Improvement Association of Oakland County.

The four hour public information meeting highlighted results from a study focusing on improving exits and neighboring roads to absorb traffic congestion.

Proposed changes that directly affect the surrounding areas include adding one additional lane to I-75 where it is needed to provide four through-lanes throughout the county, and reconstruction to the Sashabaw Road and Dixie Highway interchanges.

Improvements to local roads include paving Maybee and Waldon Roads to Baldwin to better handle traffic between M-24 and M-15, widening north-south roads to five lanes such as Joslyn from Brown to Silver Bell, Baldwin from Morgan to Waldon, Sashabaw from Dixie Highway to Clarkston, Scott Lake from Watkins Lake and U.S. 24, and widening east-west roads to five lanes including Dixie Highway from Davisburg to I-75 and Williams Lake Road from Airport to Dixie Highway.

Mass transit is also recommended as a potential for providing congestion relief. Analysis indicates that even during peak hour auto travel in 2025, congestion would be reduced by 10 percent because of available transit.

In July many local residents adamantly spoke out against a proposed exit at Clintonville Road at an I-75 Corridor meeting. Because of the opposition, MDOT eliminated the exit.

At least one couple in favor of the Clintonville Rd. exit stopped by to check on the advancement of the study. Independence Township residents Greg and Lorelei Masserang are planning to move to the Clintonville Road area soon.

"We came to see what other improvements will be made," said Lorelei. "It's nice of them to do this and let the public see what the improvements will be."

The couple was at the July meeting at which it was eliminated. "Had that exit been approved, it would have been about 10 years before it was put in, and most of the people (who were against it) would be gone," said Lorelei. She added she was embarrassed by the rude behavior of many residents in opposition to the exit, felt it intimidated those who were in favor of it, and kept them from speaking up.

Another Clarkston resident in attendance at the July meeting and present Thursday night, believes officials are handling the situation well but feels that the Clintonville exit was the least expensive way to reduce congestion.

"We need additional input (from the people)

Springfield 'Superfund' hazardous waste site open house

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Springfield Township residents will have a chance Thursday to walk safely on what was a toxic emergency site.

At 11 a.m. that day, an open house will take place at the "Superfund" hazardous waste site, located on Woodland Trail in Springfield Township.

The switch-on of the soil vapor extraction system will take place at that time, which will mark the third and final phase of the project, cleanup of the deep soils.

The site was declared Michigan's first-declared toxic emergency site on Sept. 12, 1979.

"The state legislature, in late 1979, appropriated funds for removal of barrels at the Springfield and Rose Township sites," said Springfield Township Clerk Nancy Strole. "Through 1980, about 1,500 barrels were removed from Springfield."

According to Strole, the site was added to the national priorities list in December 1983, nothing further happened until July 1994, when ground-water cleanup on the property began.

"Around 1993, residents and a core group became very active in trying to find an acceptable clean-up solution," she said. "The EPA and various companies sat down to hammer out an acceptable solution. We tackled the most difficult clean-up problems, including the clean-up of PCB's. It was very, very difficult. We were able, determined. It was unusual to find a community so involved in the project."

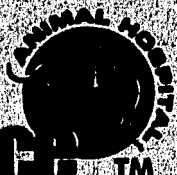

The event will also feature a tour of the site

Adventures in newspaper reporting

As a new reporter for The Clarkston News, I'm finding I'm embarking on an interesting ride in life.

Three weeks into the job, and I'm already meeting wonderful people. I'm learning something new everyday and falling into fascinating situations that I normally would not be exposed to.

I've realized what a good challenge this is for me. Foremost, as a journalist I aim to use my time here wisely to enhance my writing skills and verbal communication skills.

Number two, as a person,
the position is quite a personality enhancer. For someone who would describe herself as fairly reserved and quiet, my outgoing side is coming out more often.

Being a reporter is actually quite an adventure.
I like the variety. There is no typical day and surprises loom in every corner.

After writing a story for the paper on Oak Haven Farm (see page 3), owner Nick Nichols, out of the kindness of his heart, invited me out for a helicopter ride. It seems that he was having a videophotographer shoot some aerial pictures and wondered if I would enjoy a quick flight.

Just Jen

I found it exhilarating to be in this tiny door-free helicopter with just enough room for the pilot, myself and the controls. Sitting at the edge of this flying machine, feeling the wind blow through my hair, I began to comprehend where my love for this sort of thing stems from. It's quite amazing to look down at the world from above and see how tiny we really are. It's like an out-of-body experience; viewing something from a different angle or perspective.

I love flying and being the daring individual that I am, recently jumped out of an airplane. And yes, on my own free will. I know, I know—I'm crazy— but it sure puts some spice into life and I can always appreciate that.

Last fall, I spent a Sunday afternoon with my family at the farm enjoying cider and donuts. I would never have guessed that the following fall I would be soaring over the farm in a helicopter soaking in its beauty.

Sometimes we get so absorbed in life, down here in the mix of it all, we forget to "stop and smell the roses." I'm taking time to smell.

I'm grateful the Lord has put this new undertaking in my path and can't wait to see what other adventures await me at The Clarkston News.
I'm looking forward to taking 'em head on.

Olympic fries, ever-lovin' chocolate

I don't know about the rest of you, but if I was a young buck again I'd train to be an Olympian of shot puttin' persuasion. My new Olympic hero isn't even participating this year.

Something to do with a bum (steroid use) ankle or some such (steroid use) injury. That big hunk o' hunk of burning love CJ Hunter, husband of gold-medalist track star Marion Jones — has got it made. I saw it right there live on NBC only 18 hours after it happened.

His wife Marion had just turned off her after-burners, winning some semi-final sprint. Then, the cameras switched to this big dude wearing a baseball cap and shoving catchup covered french fries into the orifice commonly referred to as his mouth.

"Whenever we see him," the television commentator commented, "he's eating french fries."

"He couldn't participate in the Olympics this year," the other commentator quipped, "because of an injury suffered a few weeks ago."

Now that is my kind of athlete and my kind of sport. In shot-put somebody can contended for the gold — be the world's best shot-put chucker and still eat french fries. None of this starving gymnast stuff for me — give that girl a Big Mac, some fries and a vanilla shake and then see how fast she moves across the mat. Come to think of it, watching normal people compete for the gold might be more fun. Maybe NBC could get more of us to watch, if more of us competed.

"Wow. Did you see the way he finished all those blueberry pies. He's a world class eater and definitely a contender for the gold in the 100-liter beer jug. And now back to Bob Costas with results from the 30 meter belly flops."

Hey, it's just an idea.

Since I'm writing about sinful delights like blueberry pies, Big Macs, french fries, etc., I remembered I have something to tell you. Hold on to your Tums, food fans, this is big-time.

I have found collaborating evidence to support what I've always believed.

Chocolate is good for you!

That good news comes from the September newsletter of Dr. Jeffrey Hull. The good doctor is a pediatrician based down south somewhere. He has a line of videos he hawks, but more importantly, he has a dandy webpage for parents and the kids they care for.

Wife Jen has corresponded with him via e-mail and he has given her good healthy advice. So, when Jen found the following note in his latest newsletter, I knew it had to be published wide and far... and I'm doing my part. Here's the blurb:

Findings presented at the 22nd Congress of the European Society of Cardiology showed that certain substances (flavonoids) in cocoa may help protect from cardiovascular disease.

Don't Rush Me

Don Rush

These substances appear to raise prostacyclin levels and decrease leukotrienes (inflammatory hormones). Prostacyclin promotes blood vessel dilatation, inhibits platelet clumping and the formation of blood clots, and reduces the entry of LDL-cholesterol into the arterial wall to form plaques.

But wait - it gets better! The fats in cocoa butter are such that there is little, if any, increased cardiac risk associated with them.

Amen, Brother!

So, I say viva la chocolate! Go ahead and bite into that Chunky Bar. It's good for you and will help in the fight against cardiac disease. Sometimes science is a good thing.

I just want to know why it took European doctors to figure this out? Where were the Yankee-Doodle doctors? I'll tell you where they were... they were every where telling us that anything that tastes good is bad for you.

Dr. Hull's web address is: www.drhull.com/practice. Check it out.

Comments, and other forms of communication for Rush can be e-mailed to: dontrushmedon@aol.com.

A recall of '68 of a recall of '33

When my friend Jim Fitzgerald (I only call him a friend when I want to use him) was the backpage columnist for the Detroit Free Press, which was before the strike, he'd sometimes repeat a column when he was either lazy and thought he could get away with it, or leaving town..

He'd open with, "And, then I wrote, etc." I'm more honest. I'll just tell you, I'm leaving town, and here's a column from May 30, 1968.

"I am a member of the affluent society. I came to this conclusion the other day when I noticed we have a bar of soap in both the tub and sink in the bathroom.

Did you have a bar of soap in both when you were young? Did you have tub when you were young?

Did you have a bathroom when you were young?

We didn't. I don't even remember using soap when I was young. I do remember mother had a soap shaker. This was wire mesh cage on the end of a handle where the last pieces of each bar of soap were put.

When it came my turn to wash dishes, I'd shake this gadget in the water until I had lots of suds. It was the only part of dish washing I liked. Well, I liked it when we could let 'em soak.

The tub was something else. A large round tub, placed in the middle of the kitchen floor, on the linoleum. Mother would dip warm water from the reservoir on the end of the cooking range and partially refill the tub for me after my sister was cleaned.

I hated this part, too. Mother always used more water than I thought she should. This was because it was me who had to carry the water in pails from the windmill a country mile from the house... well, would you believe 50 yards?

Another thing I don't remember as a youth is seeing a bathroom. Probably I did because Grandma Black lived in Albion and had rooms for college students and Uncle Mac McKiddie lived in a big house in Lapeer. I must have used their indoor facilities.

Our facilities were 3-holers, or were they 2-holers? I won't digress into the convenience they offered in solitude, or inconvenience and discomfort with the breezes. The younger generation can just wonder at it all.

One thing that still has me wondering is why mother insisted on our baths on Saturday nights.

We didn't go to church on Sundays. We didn't do much different Sundays than Saturdays. Maybe she wanted us clean just in case company dropped in unexpectedly.

Ameritech hearings next week

Summer's draw to a close signals children's return to school and the Legislature's return to session in September. But like a lot of today's youth with summer jobs, state lawmakers haven't been sitting on the beach for the last few months either.

Elder Care Awards

House Republicans have again organized a statewide program for companies and organizations that sponsor innovative programs to help families meet the growing need for elder care. Michigan is aging rapidly, with the state's senior population expected to grow to 1.7 million by 2020.

At least one in six Michiganders will be over 65 within two decades. Elder care is quickly becoming as crucial as children's day care. To recognize those helping to meet this challenge, call or write for a nomination form available through my office.

Ameritech Service Quality Hearings

We have been working this summer on many residents' complaints regarding Ameritech's telephone service, so I am happy to announce the Michigan Public Service Commission will host six public hearings throughout the state in September and October. The phone company has not met quality of service rules requiring repair requests to be performed promptly. The following are the dates and locations of the public hearings to be held in lower Michigan:

Oct. 3, 6 p.m. Wyandotte City Hall Council Chambers, 3131 Biddle Avenue. Oct. 5, 6 p.m. Royal Oak Senior/Community Center, 3500 Marain Road, Royal Oak.

The commission also will accept written public comments about the issue through Oct. 9. Address comments to:

MTBE Ban Approved

With the use of MTBE (methyl tertiary butyl-ether) now banned, the Legislature is looking to ethanol as an environmentally safe alternative. MTBE was originally used to reduce air pollution from motor vehicles, but now may contaminate drinking water. Numerous Michigan wells have been tainted by MTBE that has leaked from underground storage tanks at gas stations and other sources. Ethanol is being touted by state and national officials as a way to protect Michigan's water, environment and automobile industry as we have been studying this safer alternative.

If you have any questions or comments on these or other issues, please contact my office at (800) 510-KUTH or (313) 775-1798. You may e-mail me at johnsonr@house.mi.gov or write to me at the State Capitol, P.O. Box 30014, Lansing, MI 48906.

They're the cream of the academic crop

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Four Clarkston High School students have taken their place among the academic elite of the nation's Class of 2001.

Kevin Kosbab, Becky Marks, Adam Duddles, and Tygre Callaway were all called to CHS Principal John Dilegghio's office the morning of Sept. 13 to receive word that they had been named National Merit Scholarship Semifinalists.

"I want to congratulate all of you," said Dilegghio to the students. "That is quite an honor. You represent what Clarkston High School is all about."

The four CHS seniors joined over 1.2 million students in over 20,000 high schools across the country in entering the 2001 Merit Program by taking the 1999 Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT) as juniors. The test served as an initial screen of program entrants.

"They compete against other academically talented students," Dilegghio said.

Fewer than one percent of the nation's high school seniors were named as National Merit Semifinalists.

"We really are excited about what you have done for Clarkston High School, and for yourself and your families," Dilegghio said.

The four students have already begun the process of applying to various colleges and universities, as well as determining their future career paths.

Kosbab has applied to the University of Chicago, Columbia, Northwestern, Harvard, the University of Michigan, and Oxford University in England, and will major in English.

Marks has applied to Harvard, Notre Dame, and the University of Michigan, and will major in engineering.

Duddles has applied to the University of Michigan, MIT, and Harvard, and will major in electrical engineering.

Clarkston High School students Kevin Kosbab, Becky Marks, Tygre Callaway and Adam Duddles have been named National Merit Scholarship Semi-Finalists.

Callaway has applied to the University of Michigan, Notre Dame, Dartmouth, MIT, and Michigan State University. She is undecided on a major.

The four students, in addition to their academic achievements, have also found time to get involved in extracurricular activities. All four are members of the CHS chapter of the National Honor Society; Marks serves as treasurer of that organization.

Kosbab is a member of the drama club, and writes a column for The Clarkston News; Marks is involved with the youth group at St. Kieran's Catholic Church in Shelby Township; Duddles is a member of the marching band and the French club; and Callaway is a member of the German and French clubs.

Kosbab is the son of Heather and Bruce Kosbab; Marks is the daughter of Marcia and Stephen Marks; Duddles is the son of John and Diana Duddles; and Callaway is the daughter of Cindy and Paul Folet.

The next step is for the four students to fulfill requirements to advance to finalist standing, which is a precursor to consideration for a Merit Scholarship award.

The semifinalist, along with a school official, must submit a detailed scholarship application, which also includes the student's self-descriptive essay, as well as information about the student's participation and leadership in school and community activities.

Three types of merit scholarships will be offered in 2001. Each finalist will be considered for one of 2,500 National Merit $2,500 Scholarships that will be awarded on a state representational basis.

About 400 corporations and business organizations will underwrite about 1,200 corporate-sponsored Merit Scholarship awards for finalists who meet specified criteria, such as children of the grantor's employees or residents of plant communities.

In addition, about 200 colleges and universities are expected to provide at least 4,200 college-sponsored Merit Scholarship awards for finalists who will attend the institutions financing their awards.

Almond Lane flooding solution considered

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

A solution for the flooding problems on Almond Lane has been proposed by Clarkston Community Schools to Independence Township.

In a Sept. 14 letter to Independence Township Supervisor Dale Stuart, Dr. Al Roberts, Superintendent of Clarkston Community Schools, recommended that a pumped outlet be installed at Clarkston Road, which would drain from the school property onto Clarkston Road and outlet into the ditch.

"We see our responsibility as getting the water off the wetlands," Roberts said. "We would help fund 'D' (the option described above)." Option "D" is the fourth and least expensive of four solutions recommended by engineers.

A report prepared by Independence Township Engineers Hubbell, Roth, & Clark stated that the cost of this project would be estimated at $125,000.

Roberts said while Option "A" was a more thorough and detailed solution, its cost, estimated at about $184,000 was prohibitive. In preliminary talks with the township, Stuart had indicated the township and Oakland County Drain Commission would fund $50,000 of the costs. Roberts said he would agree to Option "A" if the township could fund the difference.

On Tuesday Stuart said Option "A" would run a drainage pipe from the school site to Gulick Lake -- a solution he prefers. He said it would be more effective and help alleviate low lake level problems in Gulick Lake. He also expressed concern that Option "D" could result in flooding of residents' front yards on Clarkston Road.

Roberts requested a response from Stuart by Monday. However, no answer had been received from the township offices by that time. Stuart said he had not had time to review the request. He said before any decision was made he would discuss it with the township board.

Kurt Shanks, trustee on the Clarkston Board of Education, said "(Option 'D') covers what I think is the school district's responsibility," at a press conference Thursday.

School representatives present, including Roberts, Board of Education President Karen Foyteck, Director of Business Services Craig Kahler, and Public Relations Coordinator Anita Banach, along with members of the local press.

According to Roberts, the data provided by both township and school engineers indicates that the rate of water flow is not significantly different than it was before the site was developed.

While township officials and cite construction of Clarkston High School as the cause of the problem, Roberts disagrees. "It's not clear to us how much of a responsibility we have," Roberts said. He further commented that he does not believe the district is responsible for solving community drainage problems, "but as neighbors, we are willing to cooperate with township and other governmental agencies," he said.

In his letter, Roberts said he believes Option "D" can be completed for less than the amount indicated by Hubbell, Roth & Clark.

"According to our civil engineer, we are confident that Option 'D' can be completed well under the proposed costs listed by HRC," he said.

Foyteck said the district hopes to bring closure to the Almond Lane issue in the near future.

"We really would like this issue to be resolved," she said.

Clarkston High School is lookin' for a little respect

BY JENNIFER NEMER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The word "respect" is frequently heard at Clarkston High School these days. Assistant Principal Vince Licata said respect is a theme the district wants to establish. To kick off the initiative, an assembly sponsored by CHS and the school's STAR Club--students teaching acceptance and respect--was held Sept. 22.

Only five chairs, a few props and a podium lined the CHS auditorium stage. With humor and an array of strong emotions, actor and motivational speaker Michael Fowlin brought a handful of characters to life during the 75-minute program. Each dealt with certain issues ranging from cliques, women's rights, homosexuality, suicide and race.

In one skit, Fowlin portrayed a Korean man, who tolerates racial slurs at work from his best friends because he is afraid to speak up. "My silence speaks volumes because it shows I approve," he stated.

Holding tight the audience's attention with his blunt and crucial realities, Fowlin portrayed Joey, an Italian high school student delivering a speech to his class. Speaking in detail of the horrors of Columbine, Joey said, "You think it can't happen here, but I'm sure the kids at Columbine thought it couldn't happen there, either."

Joey urged the audience to repeat after him, "I am beautiful." Then, "turn to someone next to you and tell them, 'you are beautiful.'"

"Thank you Joey for calling me beautiful," said a mentally handicapped boy played by

CHS lookin' for a little respect

Fowlin in the most powerful portion of the event. "Thank you for including me. Kids call me names like 'retard' and 'ugly' and throw food at me in the cafeteria. Why are kids so mean to me? They hurt me in my heart. I have feelings too. I'm not ugly, God made me too."

Performing to educate and inspire, Fowlin uses the Langston Hughes poem, "Still Here," to illustrate his theme:

I've been scarred and battered.

My hopes the wind done scattered.

Snow has friz me, sun has baked me.

*Looks like between 'em
They done tried to make me
Stop laughin',
Stop lovin',
Stop livin'.*

*But we don't care!
We're still here!*

He left the students with Martin Luther King Jr.'s famed "I have a dream" speech, walking off stage shouting "free at last, free at last." According to Fowlin, he transcends "normal" groupings and stereotypes and lives out his mission of unity.

"My performance is a way of healing for students and adults as well as myself. My mission is to make a handful of students feel less alone and feel understood, then I've accomplished all I could ask for."

CHS senior Lauren Benner said of the assembly, "I thought he did a nice job of illustrating different situations. (But) he made you feel guilty but he didn't show what you could do to change. He started off making you laugh and then set you up to fall. He made us understand that we shouldn't laugh or mock people, but he didn't explain it enough for some people. I felt like, 'Man I just got really scolded.' I didn't leave feeling inspired, I just felt terrible."

Karyn Erkrantz also a senior said, "I thought he was really different. I was surprised the school brought in someone like that. It was powerful. He made his points in not-so-obvious ways. It was interesting and kept my attention the whole time. His main message was, there are a lot of little things we don't realize are offensive. He did a good job of creating characters."

Fowlin, who has recently brought his message to other high schools in the state has taught teens across the United States in diversity workshops, gender sensitivity training, violence prevention and peer mediation. This year, Fowlin will receive his doctorate in clinical psychology from Rutgers University in New Jersey. Acting since age 11, he has combined both interests in one career, introducing his reality-showered message to students using a combination of performance, purpose and motivation.

Agency, Springfield, and the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality, and the Springfield Site Action Committee, and Douglas Chrysler.

Currently, it is open 12:30-8:00 p.m., Monday through Friday and weekends, noon until 9:30 p.m. Today's ice cream parlor, in the late forties was a restaurant, Nick said.

What was last a truck and tire repair shop, is now the Nichol's market which offers fresh fruits and vegetables and is open 11:00 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The man responsible for running the repair shop, years back, lived in the building next door, which is now a country store. Antiques, crafts and "country-type" gifts are offered in the renovated building, run by Nichol's cousins, Kathy Kroeplin and Sharon Matzelle. Opened three summers ago, most ev-everything sold in the store is made from items grown on the farm. Three herb gardens allow them to make goodies to sell including herbal teas, vinegars, breads, dried flowers and decorative wreaths. They even offer the occasional wreath making class.

Visitors can also observe the Oak Haven animals including miniature horses and donkeys, chickens, pygmy and angora goats, potbelly pigs, sheep and four turkeys. For the young and the young at heart, a petting farm with plenty of fuzzy cute critters like chicks, rabbits and calves are waiting for attention. Pony and hayrides are also popular as well as sleigh rides in good weather in the winter.

Oak Haven Farms will be open 3:00 p.m. until dark and weekends 11:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m. until Halloween. Call (248)634-5437 for information.

City considers move to Independence Twp. Hall

Wallace estimated it would be at least two years before the township offices would be moved.

He said the current offices would be a good location for the city, but along with Supervisor Dale Stuart and Clerk Joan McCrary who also like the idea, felt financially, the building might be out of the city's reach.

Stuart said, "If the city could find out a way to finance it it would be a perfect city hall— perhaps they could rent office space to others. The difficulty is the city doesn't have a lot of money, and we're not going to give it away. We'd be willing to explore any kind of creative way to make it happen. I'd love to see it remain a government facility."

Dave Harrison, president of Clarkston State Bank, spoke highly of the idea of the city moving its offices to the township hall saying the city should use some creative thought about how it could finance the project.

"The city could finance the project by including historic structure tax credits. I think it's a grand idea and clearly worth looking at," Harrison said. "It's a bigger building than they (the city) need, but they could include others to help defray the cost."

Mayor Sharron Catallo also said the idea was worth looking into as long as it didn't put a financial burden on the city.

"We can look into this, but we can't put any money into looking at it," she said.

City councilman Scott Meyland also was in favor of doing some research on the idea. He said the council was simply looking at alternative uses for the township hall and if any part of the building could be used by the city he would welcome the change.

"If part of the township hall can be used by the city that would work out well," Meyland said. "At this point it doesn't cost us anything to study it. We just want to ask questions so a few years from now we can look back and see why we did what we did."

several people that the band was fabulous," said Shanks. "We will definitely be keeping live music as a part of this event."

"The chamber has dedicated this year's fund to support new community promotion projects, including picture postcards, a booklet on things to do in the Clarkston area, and the development of a December festival to take place in downtown Clarkston for 2001," added Shanks. "Our promotional focus is to enhance the quality of living for residents already here, not to focus only on people seeking to relocate to our area."

Independence Township Parks and Recreation will also be able to use their share of the proceeds to enhance township parks. "We could not do this event without the outstanding support, leadership and know-how of Parks and Recreation," said Shanks. "Mike Turk, Beth Lawrence, Marge Bohlman and Rich Ashley are all wonderful."

to follow-up on the study," said Andrew J. Zeigler, RLA region planner for MDOT. After officials receive citizen feedback, revisions will be made and results can be finalized with local and state governments.

However, the meeting had a disappointing citizen turnout Thursday night. "(The residents) had many questions answered in July," said David E. Wresinski manager of MDOT, offering an explanation. "No real issues (were happening here)," added Zeigler.

Funding for the work on I-75 will come from the Federal Highway Association and is currently estimated at $1.05 billion, while travel time savings are placed at $2.6 billion over 20 years. According to the study, many impacts are considered positive, and negative effects are considered manageable, particularly in sensitive areas where potential resources like parks, wetlands and historic properties are involved. These impacts will be mitigated by building noise walls along I-75.

THE LAW & YOU

by Kelley R. Kostin
Attorney at Law

PUTTING TIME ON YOUR SIDE

When considering filing a lawsuit, an attorney will want to examine the relevant statute of limitations. This is the time period specified by law within which an action must be filed. With few exceptions, if a lawsuit is not filed within the legally prescribed limit, then a plaintiff will be legally barred from suing. Thus, those who have been injured due to negligence or intentional wrongdoing have every reason to meet with an attorney as soon as possible. Statutes of limitation are generally set by state or federal legislatures, and may vary with respect to the type of claim and who is the respondent in the suit. These statutes are generally seldom less than one year.

In these days of complex litigation, it is important that you speak with an experienced attorney who can effectively lead you through the steps of a trial. Don't risk losing what you're entitled to because you weren't familiar with every aspect of the law. For matters involving personal injury, auto accidents, slip & fall injuries, criminal defense, business law, real estate, family law, and civil litigation in both State and Federal courts, call 620-1030. Our law office is conveniently located at 11 North Main Street.

NOTE: Statutes of limitation vary from state to state.

Wolves stay perfect on season, one win away from playoffs

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston football team wouldn't let a little rain interrupt their undefeated reign this season.

The Wolves earned a 30-23 win against visiting Troy Athens Friday night on the sometimes soggy tundra of Clarkston High School's football field.

Clarkston remains undefeated this year at 5-0, and is currently ranked among the top ten teams in the state. The Wolves are 3-0 in OAA I.

Clarkston's winning drive came late in the fourth quarter, with the score tied at 23.

After an Athens punt, a 15-yard holding penalty against Athens gave the Wolves the ball on the Athens 37-yard line.

Clarkston would not be denied, as senior running back Nate Davis found paydirt from six yards out with 4:40 remaining to put the Wolves ahead for good, 30-23.

"That drive at the end was real big for us," said Clarkston coach Kurt Richardson.

Clarkston began the game on a down note, as the Wolves fumbled the ball less than a minute into the game.

Athens recovered, and scored over a minute later to take an early 7-0 lead.

Clarkston starting quarterback Ryan Kaul left the game due to injury with 8:30 remaining in the quarter, but would return towards the end of the period to lead the Wolves into the end zone.

Kaul hit senior receiver Ryan Briceland with 30 seconds remaining in the opening stanza, and senior running back Rob Conley cashed in on the two-point conversion, putting the Wolves in front, 8-7.

Kaul completed seven of 15 passes for 88 yards in the game, while Briceland led the Wolves with four catches for 73 yards.

However, that advantage would prove to be short-lived for Clarkston. On the ensuing possession, Athens running back Maurice Strong broke free for a 64-yard touchdown run. Their two-point conversion attempt failed; nonetheless, Athens held a 13-8 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Things did not start off well for Clarkston in the second quarter, as they fumbled on their own 25 to start the period. Athens cashed in for a touchdown with 9:17 remaining in the second, giving them a 20-8 lead over the Wolves.

However, Clarkston put an end to the Athens surge on their next possession, as Conley scored on a one-yard touchdown run to cut the Athens lead to 20-15.

A skirmish with 4:18 remaining in the second quarter led to the ejection of Athens starting quarterback Mark Abro and Clarkston senior linebacker Ramzy Dasuqui, both of whom drew personal fouls in the incident.

Richardson defended his player's behavior.

"Our kid was not the least bit guilty," he said. "He did nothing."

Conley earned his second rushing touchdown of the game with 2:38 remaining in the first half, and caught a two-point conversion pass from Kaul to put the Wolves in front, 23-20, as the first half drew to a close.

Conley led Clarkston in rushing, gaining 103 yards on 31 carries.

Athens opened the scoring in the third quarter, as they converted a field goal with 8:38 remaining in the quarter to knot the score at 23.

However, Athens missed a couple of opportunities to take the

Cagers beat Oak Park, undefeated in league

So far, so good.

Clarkston remained undefeated in the Oakland Activities Association Division I after downing visiting Oak Park, 76-60, on Sept. 21.

Clarkston used a balanced scoring attack to gain the win. Jenn Carlson led the Wolves with 19 points, while Sarah Morgan and Kira Karlstrom added 16 points apiece.

Clarkston is now 6-1 overall and 3-0 in conference play.

"Once we slowed down our offense, we broke down their defense," said Clarkston coach April Kosin. "Our press caused them trouble."

The two teams traded the lead in the early going, as Carlson sparked the Clarkston offense with a couple of early three-pointers.

With 48 seconds remaining in the opening period, Morgan hit a jumper to tie the score at 18, and knocked down another jumper 20 seconds later to give the Wolves the lead for good, 20-18.

Karlstrom hit a three-pointer to close out the first period and staked Clarkston to a 23-18 lead.

The Wolves then put the clamps on defensively, holding Oak Park to only nine points in the second quarter as they went into the half with a 40-27 advantage.

In the third quarter, the Wolves took advantage of a couple of Oak Park turnovers to maintain their advantage. A steal by Morgan led to a Karlstrom basket, giving Clarkston a 48-37 advantage with 4:50 remaining in the third.

The Wolves then took command of the game. Kaye Christie's layup stretched the Clarkston lead to 56-40 with 2:31 remaining in the period, as Oak Park called timeout to try and halt the Clarkston momentum.

Oak Park managed to score four points to cut the Clarkston lead to 56-44 at the end of the third quarter, but the Wolves held their ground and pulled out the win.

The team will take on Kettering at home in their next game, with tip-off scheduled for 7 p.m. Kettering and Clarkston stand atop the OAA I standings, both at 4-0 in the league.

lead.

After intercepting a Kaul pass with 4:40 remaining in the third, Athens faced a fourth-and-six situation with 11 seconds remaining in the quarter. A 35-yard field goal attempt by Athens fell short as the quarter ended.

Their second attempt at taking the lead, with 7:26 remaining in the game, was also unsuccessful, a 43-yard field goal attempt was blocked by Clarkston.

Richardson said that sequence in the contest played an instrumental role in the Clarkston win.

"The three drives they had in the red zone, where all they came away with was three points, was key," Richardson said.

Toward the end of the game, Athens would take a couple attempts at taking the game into overtime.

They faced a fourth-and-six situation at the Clarkston 33 with 1:42 remaining. However, the Wolves' defense rose to the occasion, as Athens was stopped short of the first down.

After a Clarkston drive stalled on fourth down, they punted the ball back to Athens, who took the ball on their own 48.

However, a desperation punt attempt by Athens was intercepted by the Wolves with nine seconds remaining, icing the win for Clarkston.

Matt Pierrall led Clarkston on defense with nine tackles, followed by Mark Carlson with six, and Ian Ramsey, Cody Sankyz, and Andy Kleinmiller with four apiece.

Clarkston will attempt to keep their undefeated season intact Friday, as they host Waterford High, beginning at 7 p.m.

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston boys' varsity golf team came up victorious, edging out Birmingham Seaholm 158-161, when the two schools met Sept. 22 in the rescheduled meet.

Clarkston's best individual showing was from medalist Dustin McMillen who shot a 36.

"This was Dustin's second even par round in a row. He's playing very well," Coach Tim Kaul said.

Other top players for Clarkston included Matt Harrison with 39, Dan Holody with 41 and Adam Groh shooting a 42.

Birmingham's top three players--Kris Shea, Brad Donnelly and David Dolinshek--all tied at 40 with Sam Madorsky holding a 41.

"We played well. Both teams played well, considering it was rainy and windy," Kaul said.

The Wolves are 2-1 in the league and 4-1 overall. They'll see action Sept. 28 when they take on Troy at Sylvan Glen Golf Course at 3:00 p.m.

Soccer team falls to Kimball

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston High School varsity soccer team dropped its contest against visiting Kimball, 5-1, on Thursday.

Sophomore forward Matt Orris had the lone goal for Clarkston (1-5-1).

Clarkston coach Dan Fitzgerald said his team held their own against a quality opponent such as Kimball.

The two teams were tied at one goal each at halftime, before four Kimball goals in the second half hampered the Wolves' chances.

"I think Kimball's the strongest team in our league," he said. "We played them fairly even in the first half."

Fitzgerald said he is still rotating between goalies Tim Moyer and Eric Kammayer. He added that Orris and defender Sean Dougherty have been the team's best players.

The varsity's next game is Thursday at Kettering, beginning at 7 p.m. The next home game for the Wolves is Tuesday, Oct. 3 against Brandon, also beginning at 7 p.m.

'I think Kimball's the strongest team in our league. We played them fairly even in the first half.'

Clarkston equestrian team fun, growing

Members of the 2000 CHS Equestrian Team include Jade Jackson, Kristine Prost, Shannon Pierce, Katherine Mitzer, Kelly O'Brien, Janelle Lore, Heather Binasio, Anne Schornak, Angela Jackson and Sarah Larson.

The students above are the Clarkston High School students who participated in the CHS equestrian team.

These students work hard year round either with their own horses or with leased horses. They have different levels of training and are individually trained by different trainers.

This group of students just finished competing with numerous high school teams. The competition was over the course of 8 days and the team with the most points advanced to the state level competition.

Clarkston placed third in their class of teams.

We would like the CHS equestrian team to gain support and recognition. These girls support their own involvement with riding lessons, competition fees and with all the numerous expenses with the horses. They also purchase their own riding apparel for these competition events. They are coached by Cathy Grain.

Girls cross country takes 8th at invite

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston High School girls' cross-country team finished in the top half of the field at the Holly Invitational Saturday, Sept. 16.

The girls finished eighth out of 18 teams in the invite. Saline took first place, while Troy finished second and Rochester Adams third.

"It's a very competitive field," said coach Jamie LaBrosse. "Overall, the girls ran OK. They could have done a lot better."

Lauren Witt was the top finisher for the team, finishing 26th overall. Karla Delvechio was right behind, finishing 27th overall, while Nina Zamara finished 42nd and Leah Polczynski finished 43rd.

Other girls competing for Clarkston were Kayrn Erkfriz (53rd), Lisa Gauthier (54th), and Meghan Pocs (56th).

The team competed in a meet Tuesday at Troy, and will host a meet Sept. 26 against Troy Athens.

Boys cross country team tops Troy, girls fall to league elite

BY JENNIFER NEMER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston boys cross country team is now 2-0 in the league after beating Troy 25-31, Sept. 19.

The top spot went to Troy's Andy Gillette with 17:32, but Clarkston runners finished out the top five. Clarkston's best time went to second place Derek Coe who clocked 17:42. Third place went to Jared Elmore with 17:48, fourth place to Mark Sitko with 17:57 and Scott McGregor with 18:22 in fifth. Clarkston's fifth best runner in the Troy meet was Eric Sweeney who came in eleventh place with a time of 18:57.

"It was a lucky win for us," said Coach Mike Taylor. The Troy team, who earlier in the year had beaten Clarkston, was riddled with injuries this time around. "We got a break, I'm not sure if we would've beat them otherwise. It would've been close."

The Wolves' next cross country action is Sept. 26 when they host Troy Athens at 4 p.m.

On the flip side, the Clarkston girls cross country team came up short last week against one of the top two teams in the league when they fell 39-19 at Troy.

The Wolves had four runners finish in the top ten. Clarkston's best time came from Carla DelVecchio, who finished fifth with a time of 20:55. Sixth place went to Karyn Erkfriz with 21:04. Rounding out the top ten was Nina Zamora, in seventh place, with 21:19, and Lauren Witt, in eighth place, with 21:29. Lisa Gauthier came in thirteenth with 22:27, while Megan Pocs was fourteenth, clocking a 22:30.

"They beat us handily," said Coach Jamie LaBrosse, later adding that the team ran well. The Wolves are 0-2, but have started out their division play facing the top two teams in the league.

"It's a very competitive league this year," LaBrosse said. "This is one of the strongest leagues in the state, we could go 0-5 and still make the state meet."

LaBrosse said that he has good talent on his team this year. However, some of his top runners have been up and down in their results. "They're all good," he said. But, LaBrosse is looking for his team to find some consistency. "When the team clicks, then we can make some noise," he said.

The Wolves' next meet will be Sept. 26 when they host Troy Athens at 4:00 p.m.

Football team can clinch playoff berth with win over Waterford Mott

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

With a win on Friday, Clarkston will qualify for the state playoffs — again.

Under the Michigan High School playoff format, teams with six wins automatically qualify for the post season. And it's possible that teams with five wins may qualify as well.

The Wolves come into Friday's game against league rival Waterford Mott with a 5-0 overall record and a perfect 3-0 in the Oakland Activities Association Division I. The Corsairs come in with a 3-2 overall mark and are 2-1 in the OAA I. Kickoff is set for 7 p.m. at Clarkston High School.

Clarkston football coach Kurt Richardson said Mott's offense is based on the veer option. He said their quarterback, Earl Carruthers, is the key to the game.

"He has very good speed and good mobility," Richardson said.

The Wolves meanwhile are coming off a 30-23 win over Troy Athens last Friday. The game was highlighted by the running efforts of Rob Conley, who finished the game picking up 103 yards on 31 carries and scored two touchdowns for the Wolves.

The Corsairs are also coming off a win over Rochester. Carruthers scored three touchdowns and rushed for 207 yards on 18 carries and scored on runs of 52, 44 and 46 yards in their latest win.

For further football playoff information, fans can log on to the Michigan High School Athletic Association website (www.mhsaa.com). On every Tuesday prior to the final football game of the regular season, the MHSAA will release a list of those teams with four or more victories, listed in enrollment order, and their playoff point averages. The list will only be available on the MHSAA website.

Going for the gold in Cancun

As many of you probably know I was out of town last week. I was on my honeymoon with Andrea in Cancun. In my absence, my co-workers Jennifer and Jeff covered sports around Clarkston.

And while I was thousands of miles away enjoying the 100 degree weather, white sandy beaches and all the Mexican cuisine I could handle, I did happen to catch some of the Olympics. And yes, they were even in English.

While the US racked up medal after medal down under, I began to think about Olympic events that Andrea and I participated in. While you won't read about these events in Sports Illustrated, or see the results on ESPN, we did in fact go for the gold.

100 meter beach stroll — All that's required to in the qualifier is a swim suit, and extra strong sunblock. Extra points are awarded if this journey is made between 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. when temperatures are well over 100 degrees.

Escaping vendor dash — Here, participants must race away from Mexican vendors who are doing their best to sell you any "tourist" item you can imagine: t-shirts, sombreros, hats and the like. If you can get away from one vendor, beware, there are plenty more doing their best to get their hands on a peso or two. And they all tell you the same thing, "Sir, come here. I have something special you haven't seen before and I can give you a special price!"

Buffet sprint — A quick glance through the nightly dinner buffet gives you the edge on your competition (other diners). Here, participants must cut in front of other competitors in hopes of scoring that perfect burrito or enchilada.

fect burrito or enchilada.

Luggage weightlifting — Lugging around carry-ons and suitcases through customs, immigration and airports can add up to a good workout. Of course, those who have those wheels on their luggage take a penalty.

Resort swimming — The only actual swimming done in this event is up to pool side deck. Here, competitors must lounge, for hours at a time, in the baking sun trying to avoid sunburn. Points are heavily deducted in the event of peeling.

We took gold medals in the beach stroll and buffet sprint. However, I suffered heavy deductions in the beach swimming, luggage weightlifting and vendor dash events. As a result, I am a peeling tourist who has way too many souvenirs as I was a sucker for those vendors. What can I say, I had too much fun bartering with those guys.

So for any seniors out there thinking about heading to Cancun for spring break here's a few words of advice:

1. If you know Spanish you're at an advantage — I took five years and it greatly helped. Most everybody down there speaks English, but speaking their language will give you better service.

2. Take the buses, not the taxis — Taxis are a rip off. Don't ride them. It's only 5 pesos to ride the bus. Taxis can easily cost 50 pesos to go the same distance.

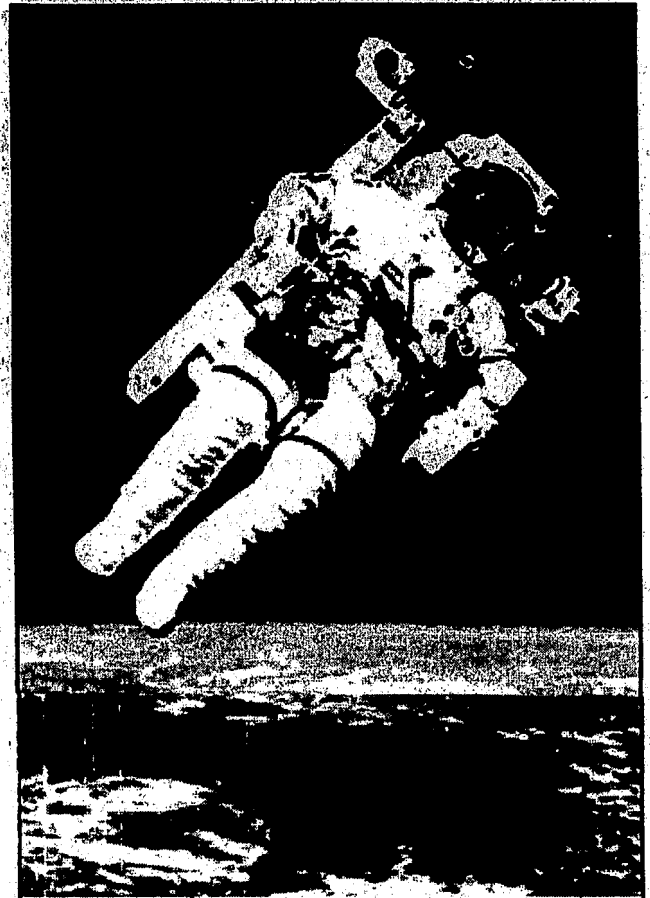

3. Everything tastes different — Even bottled Coca-cola tasted different. Stick with basic foods as best you can. I'll put it this way — the hotel wasn't loaded with Pepto Bismol and Mylanta by accident.

Overall, it was a great trip for Andrea and I and contrary to my editor's earlier reports, we didn't do any hurricane dodging as we were blessed with outstanding weather. But we're very happy to be back in Clarkston. And I'll be happy to get back on the sidelines.

Ed Davis
