Helping those with eating disorders

BY JENNIFER NEMER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

In the United States, it has been estimated that five to ten million girls and women and one million boys and men suffer from an eating disorder.

And because of the secretive nature and shame associated with eating disorders, many cases are not reported.

Psychiatrist Dr. Alexander Sackeyfio and social worker Dolores Reese of the Eating Disorder Unit at William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak visited Clarkston Middle School Nov. 20 to discuss the disease. Along with them was psychologist Dr. Ann Moye of Dennis & Moye & Associates Psychological Services of Bloomfield Hills and Colleen Harrington, an eating disorder survivor.

Carla Teare, health education coordinator for the Clarkston school district, was chiefly responsible for setting up the panel which discussed the disease, early warning signs and intervention. Nearly 25 in attendance also had an opportunity to ask questions.

The Clarkston school sponsored event was in light of 17-yearold Melissa Hamlet, a

CHS senior who lost a long battle with anorexia in September:

Moye, Clarkston resident and eating disorder specialist for over 20 years, said those who suffer from an eating disorder are often very bright and amart people. The secretive disease is a solution to them—a way of coping with stress in their lives and a matter of control, she said.

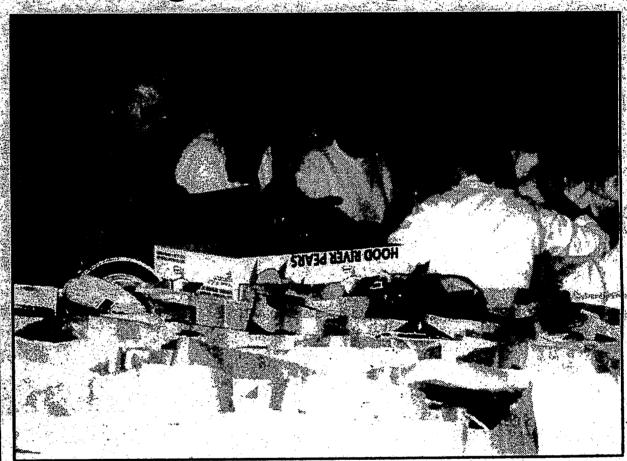

The most vulnerable time for developing an eating disorder is school age, said Moye.

In the past, medical professionals assumed eating disorders formed around puberty. Sackeyfio said, but it can actually start at ages six, seven or eight. Sackeyfio noted that mothers who breast feed have been known to cut back on their newborn's milk intake so as not so make the baby fat.

However, fat is important in development, he said.
"If the body does not receive enough fat, the nervous

More Lighthouse volunteers needed

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

* Tis the season to look for more volunteers.

That's the word from Jane Carr, volunteer/ special events coordinator at Lighthouse Clarkston, located on 5331 Maybee Road off of Sashabaw.

According to Carr, a total of 100 regular volunteers currently help out at Lighthouse Clarkston, while an additional 62 have signed up for the holiday season. Nonetheless; she said new faces to the volunteer staff are always welcome.

"We'll need a lot of volunteers," she said.
"We're also looking for food donations. It's a busy time around here."

According to Carr, there are several ways in which area residents can help Lighthouse out:

Adopt a Family and/or Adopt a Senior: Lighthouse works regularly with many low-income individuals who have been pre-qualified for holiday assistance.

make donations for families that have not been adopted by individuals or organizations. Some gift suggestions are socks, underwear, hats, gloves, sheets, blankets, personal care items, toys and games. These items become part of Lighthouse's holiday store.

Giving tree program: This involves setting up a tree decorated with paper ornaments listing gift ideas. Individuals then shop for the gift suggested on their ornament. This concept is popular

Trustee combines family gatherings and community service for the holidays

Editor's note: This is the first in our series of At Home For The Holidays.

BY JEFF PATRUS

Clarkston News Staff Writer The Christmas season isn't just a time for gifts. For Springfield Township Trustee Margaret Bloom, Christmas is the time for holiday tradition, stories and to spread joy throughout the community.

Bloom, a lifelong Springfiel Township resident, has many unique experiences of the holiday season

These days, she passes on the tradition to her two sons and relatives when they come in for the holidays.

Bloom, who has lived at her current home on Rattalee Lake Road for 33 years, recalled her days growing up when snow on Christmas, in her opinion, was more prevalent than it is today.

"We used to have a lot more snow," she said. "We always had a lot of fun sledding on Rattalee Lake Hill...During Christmas vacation, there was always enough snow to go sledding."

As a child, Bloom attended Oak Hill School, which was located on the corner of Oak Hill and Reese roads. The school is no longer in existence Bloom said goose was often the dish for choice for Christmas, and the after Christmas lunch," she said.

Margaret Bloom enjoys preparing holiday fare in her Springfield Twp. kitchen.

family always had a live Christmas tree. She further commented that "we always had relative come," including her aunt and uncle from Royal Oak, and her grandmother from Birmingham.

"The men would always take a nap

These days, the Blooms celebrate Christmas with their son Jeff and his wife Deanna, their son David, and their granddaughter Becky.

"Our boys are adults now," she said. "We celebrate on Christmas Eve. My husband Robert and I always have a Honeybaked ham."

Bloom said she hopes to attend Christmas Eve services at Community Presbyterian Church in Drayton.

Her time with her family is not the only way Bloom celebrates the holiday sea-

She is involved with several local organizations that lend a helping hand for the holiday season. One of these is the Holly-Springfield Youth Assistance organization, where she helps to bring presents to those in need. She said a dance program in Holly will help raise money for youth assistance programs.

In addition, she is a part of Northwest Oakland Community Services, where she helps to give Christmas parties for handicapped and senior citizens, and the Clarkston Farm Bureau. where they hold a white elephant gift exchange (a white elephant gift, according to Bloom, is a gift that has been used already but has some use left).

Bloom said a favorite part of the holiday season for her is getting in contact with family and friends.

"I love sending cards and writing letters at Christmas time," she said. "I love receiving them, too.'

ALS emergency units ok'd

BY JENNIFER NEMER Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Independence Township Fire Department is taking "a new venture," said Fire Chief Steve Ronk.

In their process of developing an Advanced Life Support (ALS) program to be initiated in 2001, the department was approved by the Township Board, Nov. 21, to send out bids to five companies for the purchase of three emergency vehicles.

The department should receive word back on their bids in time for the Dec. 19 Township Board meeting, Ronk said. After township approval, they could then have the units in three to four months.

In May, the Fire Department asked for approval to purchase two units, which cost $80,000 each. However, the Fire Department has learned that it can get a third unit at a substantial savings of $10,000-$12,000 per unit, on all three.

A third unit would allow for a backup, or a "safety net," for times when routine maintenance is required on one of the other two or any unforeseen damage occurs to one of the units; Ronk said.

Ronk said a Fire Department committee developed specifications for the emergency units. When delivered, they will handle the patient transporting for the ALS program approved by voters in August.

Currently the department uses a truck chassis which Ronk said doesn't ride well and is not best for primary patient travel. He added more patient care space is needed.

Ronk said a "big big plus" for the ALS program is the new units--medium duty Ford 450 Diesel Chassis vehicles--would come equipped with three positions for patient care. This will help in situations where more than one person is injured and needs assistance, eliminating the need to bring multiple units to a scene.

In trauma cases, only one or two patients can be transported, Ronk explained, due to minimal equipment and two paramedics attending. But up to three patients can be transported in minor injury instances.

Most vehicles come with extra compartments for storage and the Fire Department would prefer the third patient space, a rarity.

Ronk said they won't need extensive storage because the units will report back to the station throughout the day, allowing them to carry a minimum amount of supplies. Other ALS programs have units gone all day and need the extra storage space, he said.

Ronk described the ALS program as "putting pieces of a puzzle together." After that, "then we can do the actual transporting," he said.

In other Township Board action:

■Deputy Clerk Cari Polidan, Deputy Treasurer Lillian Jowlik and Deputy Supervisor Rita Burdick (who has served 18 years for the township) were sworn in in front of the board, family and friends.

Township Clerk Joan McCrary said "we couldn't operate the office without you." Treasurer James Wenger added "we appreciate all you do."

■Permits were given to Consumer's Energy for a disruption set to take place in the Elderwood Condominiums. A gas pipe, 1,175 lineal feet, will be installed in the right of way. The two-inch gas main is to connect to the existing six inch diameter gas main located on east side of White Lake Road under the pavement. The disruption will not affect private residential areas, only the right-of-way.

Another disruption will take place in the Oakhurst Development off of Clintonville. Gas pipes, 1,240 lineal feet of two inch diameter medium pressure and 1,468 lineal feet of four inch diameter medium pressure gas will be installed within the subject property. The gas mains are to connect to the existing supply provided in the Talnuck at Oakhurst, phase eight development. The gas main location is entirely within a new project under construction such that no existing public rights-of-way are impacted.

Independence Twp. Parks and Rec employees and Rotarians put up Christmas decorations in downtown Clarkston last week. The decorations are supplied by Clarkston Rotary Club. "The club is 60 years old," said Rotary member Ron Davis, of Wint Funeral Home. "That was one of our first projects. We've been doing them ever since." Helping to decorate downtown were Rotary committee chair Harold Sutherland, Rotarians Harold Wiederhold, Dick Miller, Frank Rivers and Mike Spillum, and Parks and Rec employees Jeff Cooper and Mike Turk.

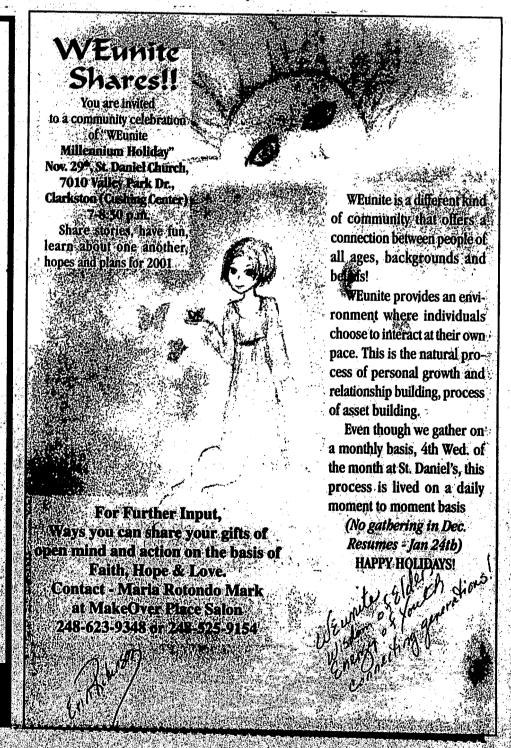

WE'RE A WELL KEPT SECRET, BUT SOME OF OUR PATIENTS CAN'T HELP SOUEALING.

Tucked back into the shopping mall at Sashabaw and Waldon, we're sometimes hard to find. But our combination of modern technology and a genuine caring for our patients - whether they bark, meow, or squeal - makes us well worth looking for Come see us.

Council to contact planner regarding billing dispute

At it's regular meeting Nov. 27, the City Council discussed a letter received from McKenna and Associates regarding a billing issue: McKenna and Associates had billed the city $21,080,54 for revisions to the TEA-21 downtown streetscape plan, but offered to cut the bill by $10,000. The letter by McKenna assumes the council agreed to pay the balance of $11,080.54. However, the council said it never agreed to that. Councilman Dan Colombo said the council agreed to discuss payment. Colombo also said a meeting between the city's budget committee and McKenna and Associates will take place shortly.

Young boys x-country team are great athletes

The Clarkston High School 2000 varsity cross country team has much to be proud of. Who would have thought with graduating six of the seven varsity cross country runners last year -- the likes of Dave Sage, Matt Haver, Kevin Breen, Brett Quantz, Dan Burke and Chris Weber -- that this year would have taken seven all new varsity runners to the state finals?

Not many people gave this young team a chance. They were referred to as overachievers. By definition an overachiever is one who goes beyond their capabilities. These guys may have gone beyond expectations, but were in no way overachievers.

This team of great athletes who believed in themselves when no one else did, went 4-1 in league meets, finished second at the league race, finished third at regionals and found themselvs running in the state finals at Michigan International Speedway on November 4.

They set personal and team goals at the beginning of the season, trained hard all summer, overcame injuries and illnesses and worked to meet each obstacle put before them.

Senior Scott McGregor, juniors Derek Coe, Eric Sweeney and Mike Wilder, sophomors Jared Elmore and Mark Sitko, and freshman Jack Kinsey ran their personal best time at the state race and you can't do better than your best.

They were a team who had a lot to prove to themsleves, their coach and every other team they competed against. We, their parents, stood by with the utmost pride in their accomplishments and success. We can look forward to great things from this team in the future.

Congratulations Clarkston Cross Country.

A couple of my favorite holiday recipes

Our annual Christmas Carol and Recipe Book comes out in next week's Clarkston News. It has been a Clarkston News staple for over 20 years.

We're also starting our "At Home For The Holidays" feature this week on page 3A. You'll get to meet local folks and learn about their holiday traditions and favorite recipes between now and Christmas.

Reading and thinking about recipes makes me want to share two of my favorites with you also.

We printed the first recipe, for Praline-topped Pumpkin Pie in the late 1970s. Clarkston resident Lorna Bickerstaff, who was our office clerk at the time, put together a weekly feature called Recipe File and published recipes from area readers.

Praline-topped Pumpkin Pie came from the late Ken Phaup's wife Valerie.

It's fabulous and deserves a reprint. When I called Valerie last week to tell her I was doing this, she said Ken had been a southern cook and did a lot of baking. "No matter what he cooked, everyone loved it," she said.

His recipe calls for liquid brown sugar, which can't find anymore. But dry brown sugar seems to work fine. I used a little extra butter for the topping. But then, I use extra butter whenever I can.

The Wild Rice Casserole is great for large gatherings. It must be prepared the day before it is cooked, which means less time in the kitchen when guests are showing up.

Wild Rice Casserole

1 c. wild rice, 3 c. boiling water, 2 cans cream of chicken soup, 2 cans sliced mushrooms, 2 bouillion cubes dissolved in 2 cups water, 1 c water (boiling), 1 1/2 t salt, 1/4 t celery salt, onion salt, garlic salt and paprika, 1 crumbled bay leaf, 1/2 c chopped onion, 4 T butter or oil, 1 1/2 lbs. ground round, pinch thyme, chopped parsley, 1/2 c sliced almonds.

Pour 3 cups boiling water over rice, let stand 15 minand drain. Add other ingredients. Brown onion in oil in another pan, add beef and brown. Add to remaining ingredients. Pour into buttered casserole dish. Let stand overnight in refrigerator. Bake at 325 degrees in the oven for 1 1/2 hours covered, plus 1/2 hour uncovered (lots of moisture to be absorbed). Serves 8-10 generously.

This recipe is also a couple decades old, when everything was over-salted. I have since cut back on the salt, also substituting celery, onion and garlic powder instead of salt.

Enjoy!

A note for those of you with dogs like mine, who scratch their backs on the bottom branches of the Christmas tree knocking off ornaments: Walgreens sells plastic ornaments -- the sparkly gold ones look okay, and they bounce.

To share recipes, cooking tips and other thoughts,

The the state of the state of

It's time for radical changes

America needs to grow up and accept that change is inevitable and therefore a good thing. Don't believe me? Well, the stodgy old National Football League this fall has a competitor — the XFL (X for ... whatever and FL for football league).

The XFL is no-holds, bare-knuckle football with big-time-wrestlers blocking, passing, running fly patterns, body slamming, eye gouging and nose tweaking.

It should be, a-hem, interesting

Now onto more entertaining things, namely, the crawl to the White House. This past general election (and the ensuing shenanigans) is an election that cries out, "Change me. Change me. In four years, change me."

And, we're not talking Pampers and talc powder here, folks. Like presidential hopeful Al Gore says, it's time to change the election's game — and not just in Florida. Come on, it's been three weeks since people voted for a new President of the United States and still Gore and George Bush are claiming they're the big Kahuna, going to ride the wave to the White House.

This having two votes, the vote of the people, aka the Popular Vote and the vote of the elected legislature, aka the Electoral Vote, is in a word . . . poppycock. There, I said it. It's a joke. Nations across the globe are looking over the oceans and down their noses at us. It's embarrassing. I say, let's go over there and step on some heads (or just withhold some financial gravy) and then see if they snicker as loud.

But, I digress . . .

We all know our founding fathers created this great nation. A land of equality and freedom. A land where every vote counts — as long as it's the electoral votes. In their wisdom, those guys in ruffles, knickers, and white wigs thought voting was a great thing as long as the rabble, the common folks, wouldn't have enough power for the final say.

That was okay when most folks couldn't read and news traveled by way of horse, foot and sail boat. But things are different today. We get our news in a flash via radio, television and computer. Most of us can read. The rabble, us common folk, have moved up the social ladder. We have come of age.

We are politically attuned. We are enlightened — as evidenced by the phenomenal explosion of big-time wrestling dominating our culture today.

That's why I'm calling for an X Presidential Race. It's time we "get with the times" when deciding who "The Man" in Washington DC, is. In four years instead of boring, blah, blah, blah debates, let the presidential hopefuls and their toadies tour the nation. With lots fire works, flag waving and scantly clad and amply proportioned sun goddesses, they can duke it out on the mat. Judge Mils Lane can referee.

Let 'em go at it, state by state. The guy with the most victories on the mat, wins the right to wear the crown, as the undisputed ruler of the free world — not to mention President of the United States.

That solves the problem four years from now, but what about ants? What do we do now, Don, you're now, smarty pants? What do we do now, Don, you're asking?

Well, just so happens I have a plan. We have a winner-take-all grudge match between Texas George Bushwacker and Al "Don't Cut That Tree, He's My Brother" Gore. They can even wrestle in Florida. The last man standing wins the country.

Wooden Al can bring in Joe "Kosher Boy" Lieberman and even Robert "The Hatchet" McCarville to help. Son of Bush can rely on the aid of his vice presidential candidate, Dick "Heart Don't Fail Me Now" Cheny and Rush "The Mouth" Limbaugh.

They can paint their faces anyway they want. They can wear spandex or leather, whatever feels the best up against their lilly-white, pampered skin. Get 'em all ringside and let the tag-teaming begin. Heck, we could charge a fee for cable rights and use that money to pay for campaign commercials.

Thinking about it, too bad Hilary Clinton isn't running. I think she'd kick some serious butt inside the wrestling world.

By Jeff Patrus

The Clarkston News asks:

What is your opinion of the current Presidential election, and how do you think it will affect the next Presiden't ability to lead the country?

"We're listening to everything. I don't think anything's going to happen until the Supreme Court meets on Friday. Nothing would surprise me." — Barry Walters

"I think it will put a real strain on the country, because we're so divided. When the two men that are running can't come to an agreement, how do they expect the American people to be satisfied with the way things are running?"

— Pat Kleindl

"I think, somehow, it should have alredy been resolved, but it will probably be another two weeks."

— Gary Banghart

"I think they should have the election over again, and just choose the President, using the popular vote versus the electoral vote."

— John Sisi

Fascinating history, politics worse than ever

The Florida election, recounting, recounting and court action has had a magnetic affect on me. I've been drawn to more news reporting than ever; newspapers, radio and the tube.

If I was in conversation with someone at the top of the hour when the news came on, I tuned out the personal to listen to something I'd heard dozens of times before.

Days went on with no election results in Florida, but I wanted to be the first to know if Gore really beat Bush as the three television networks reported.

Prior to the election, I promised myself not to watch the debates, but I couldn't keep that promise. And, they were bad. I really could have used the sleep. Sleep is certainly more healthy than watching and hearing Bush and Gore, one who will be the leader of the free world, repeat over and over their intentions if elected.

We were in Arizona November 7, which means we got the East and Midwest election results a couple hours before our AZ bedtime. Tom Brokaw, Peter Jennings and Dan Rather gave predictions based on poll-exiting, 10 percent of a state count and clairvoyants in Las Vegas.

Whatever, I was there to hear all, see all and tell nothing. It was all good stuff... right up to and including when Florida's numbers turned Brokaw. Jennings and Rather into gleaming red faces.

They blew it and they knew it. It was great!

Of course, many newspapers were equally wrong. Bob Lines sent me the November 7. Lee County (Florida) The News-Press with the headline: BUSH WINS.

Jottings

That's when those morning newspapers wished they'd stayed evening papers with later deadlines.

The news magnets stayed with me through the two and a half hours of Florida Supreme Court hearings. This public exposure to that 7-member body has got to leave all of Florida's electorate wondering of that selection process. Is Michigan's that bad?

Anyway, this is being written the day after that hearing, and by now I've convinced myself neither Bush nor Gore will help or hinder this nation.

In closing, let me give you some observations:

When decisions were being made of if, when or how to count ballots in three counties in Florida, radio newsman Paul Harvey referred to their residents as, "Immigrants from the East Coast."

Do politicians and lawyers realize how many times they say, "Fact of the matter is," and "The times they say, "Fact of the matter is," and "The reality is?"

• In a promo to watch his newscast, Dan Rather

• In a promo to watch his newscast, Dan Rather (it could just as well be lennings or Brokaw) said, "Tune in for clear, precise and fair coverage of this election."

Memory of most of the public is 3 days, and Rather had obviously forgotten what he said the night of November 7.

Springfield's Hopper is thankful for your support

I would like to thank the residents of Springfield Township, my family-and campaign helpers for their support in my quest for a position on the Springfield Township Board of Trustees.

During the course of my campaign, I knocked on doors in every part of our Township and had the pleasure of meeting almost 1,000 residents. Although it was hard work, it was also very rewarding to talk with so many fine people. The experience gave me tremendous insight into the issues of concern in various areas of our community.

I look forward to taking part in the important decisions that will shape the direction of Springfield Township over the next few years. I have a strong commitment to our community and plan to work hard on issues that are important to our residents: controlling development in a manner that preserves the rural character and natural resources of our community; improving the visual appearance and safety of the Dixie Highway corridor; and ensuring that fire and police protection keeps pace with our needs.

Creative, focused and timely planning will continue to play a crucial role in keeping Springfield Township a great place to live. Working on behalf of the residents of Springfield Township, I look forward to being part of that process.

Sincerely, Dave Hopper

We love your letters to the editor. Mail them to The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main St., Clarkston, MI 48346. Make sure you sign them, and include a phone number where we can reach you during the day.

Football season made for great memories

The Clarkston Wolves football season is over, completing weeks of exciting game action leading into a higher intensity playoff schedule. The players should be proud of their achievements and the parents proud of their sons.

This season, the night before every game, the "moms" of the Wolves hosted meals for all seventy players. I want to thank these parents for their enormous food challenge and the efforts to promote team unity and strength!

I also want to extend our appreciation to Mike Ostrander, owner of Mike's All World Market in Oxford and his meat specialist Tom Foglietta, who donated and prepared seventy half-chickens for the semi-finals pre-game meal.

The dinners were a "team effort" by the parents to display their pride of the Clarkston Football Wolves of

* no specials or S.A.D.'s incl.

This year there will be a new one mill levy for Advanced Life Support operation. This was approved by voters in the township in the August 8th primary election. The approval covers four years, Each year the township board will determine whether to authorize the full mill or less depending on the amount needed to operate the program. Our own Fire Department will provide Basic and Advanced Life Support, This is also the last year for library debt.

The winter bill covers the time period from Dec. 1st 2000 to Nov. 30 th 2001. The last day winter taxes can be paid without penalty is Wednesday February 14th. After Feb. 14th there is a 3 percent penalty. After Feb 14th the only place where you can pay your taxes is the township hall. After Feb. 28th all unpaid 2000 Summer and Winter taxes are turned over to Oakland County as delinquent. Payments for taxes after Feb. 28th can only be done at the Oakland County Treasurer's Office located at 1200 North Telegraph (county complex).

If you are considering buying or building a newly Independence Twp.: 0.9189 mills operations; constructed home next year please be aware that you. must have a Certificate of Occupancy from the township building department by May I" to qualify for a Homestead exemption for your summer taxes. Old House Inn restaurant and bar . . .

An outside look at the historical Old House Inn turned restaurant on Dixle Highway near Davisburg Rd. .

History and 'simply delicious' food

BY JENNIFER NEMER

Clarkston News Staff Writer

A rugged white house sits atop a hill surrounded, almost hidden, by a family of trees. It is the Old House Inn which not only serves up food and spirits but a little history on the side.

Jody Rothermel and his mother Wanda have maintained the restaurant, located at

the tales of the underground railroad

during the Civil War.

10655 Dixie Highway, for the past two years. Jody --who works in the restaurant "everyday of the year with only Christmas off,"--said his parents bought the house in 1967 from Howard Lomis who had an antique store there.

"They had two options: either make it into a restaurant and bar or a funeral parlor," said Rothermel.

They disregarded the latter and "took three years to remodel and bring it up to code," he said. "We opened for business November 9, 1977." "My dad passed away in 1986," said

Rothermel, Considering the circumstances and the fact that Rothermel was going through a divorce and his mother was having health-related problems, they decided to close down.

But after Rothermel weighed his options for the house, he realized his dad would not want the restaurant to go to waste, "Thirteen of us, (Rothermel's friends and family) remodeled the place and opened Thanksgiving 1998," he said.

Rothermel said that Old House Inn has four levels and three bars. The main floor has two rooms for dining, a full-size bar with seating, and banquet rooms with French doors to host meetings. An entrance to the deck for outside dining can also be reached through the dimly lit main floor.

An original cherry wood banister leads to the upstairs with its original wood ceiling beams. The room is empty at the moment, but also has a bar for special events.

The fourth floor, with its eight foot ceilings, is accessed through a pull-down staircase. Rothermel has plans to turn the area into office space.

The basement, with its stone walls, is used for private banquets, caterings and parties and holds 200 people. "Once people see the room, they want to book it," Rothermel said. He added he works with people to get them what they want at a good price.

Built in 1843, the building has many original features like sconces. And antiques are seen throughout like an 1846 pump organ and huge framed mirror with four inch thick glass. History hangs on the walls like that of a picture of the inn's first owners David Austin Wrigh, tan influential man in Oakland County, and his wife Harriet Gross, 17 years his junior.

Stepping back in time, the Old House Inn tells the tales of an underground railroad, runaway slaves and the Civil War.

Dixie Highway got its name.

Runaway slaves travelling the underground railroad would hide in the inn's cistern, until they could move safely to Canada and to freedom.

Rothermel explained that the runaways would slide down a chute to the cistern. An empty and open area now, back then the cistern was only filled halfway with water to save room for the slaves.

Today, it's a different story and Rothermel dishes up personalized service to restaurant patrons. "The customers are not just a number, here," he said. "I want to take care of the people. I didn't get back into this business for nothing. God said, this is it."

Rothermel intends to open a gas station soon using the building adjacent to the restaurant. The Rothermels own 8.32 acres there, and also live on the land. He would like to turn the building, (he rented it out to Jack Kevorkian a few years back) into a 24-hour gas station with a fast food chain. "We need more competitive gas stations in the area," he said, adding "it'll lock sharp." Plans have been approved by the township and Rothermel is waiting for permits before construction can begin.

A chef for 20 years, Rothermel admits his cooking is the best thing on the menu. In fact, he took top honors at a 1992 Chili Cook-off, with his cajun seafood chili.

Rothermel said he uses quality produce like his "top grade lobster tail from the Caribbean" that's described on the menu as "simply delicious." Old House Inn's menu offers a variety of meals from seafood, meat, sandwiches, soups and salads. During the week, guests can find $5 specials and prime rib Friday and Saturday nights for only $14.95

This may be why "lots of stars come to eat here." Visitors such as former Detroit Tiger Kirk Gibson and Detroit Lions Erik Hipple, Marc Spindler, Mel and Mike Farr have been known to Differential, Transfer Case, Manual Transmission, Drain & Refill $15.95 drop by.

Customers can find their autographs dispersed among the bar. Rothermel feels they like the restaurant for its quality food that's more than enough to eat, personalized service, and that it's family run and owned. "And this is a meat and potato area," he added.

Rothermel urges people to visit Old House Inn and "see it for yourself." The restaurant is open Monday through Friday 2-10 p.m., Saturday 12-10 p.m., and Sunday 12-9 p.m. Call (248) 620-2999 for more information.

Spiced Winter Ale

By: Dennis Vallad, Springfield Township

6-7 lbs: light malt extract

1-2 lbs. Clover honey

8 oz. medium crystal melt, crushed

2 oz. chocolate malt, crushed

2 oz. Cascade hops, pellets

1/2 oz. Saaz hops, pellets

1 oz. dried orange peel

1/2 tsp. cardamom

1/2 tsp. coriander

1 tsp. ground cinnamon

1 tsp. Burton water salts

1 pkg. dry brewer's ale yeast

3/4 cup corn sugar (bottling)

Place crushed grains in 2 qts. of 155 deg. water for 30 minutes. Remove grains, add water to bring to 2 gallons, and bring water to boil. Remove heat, add extract and honey, and bring back to boil. Add Cascade hops. Boil for 30 minutes. Add spices, Saaz hops, Burton salts, and Irish moss and boil for 15 more minutes. Turn off heat and let stand for 15 minutes. Pour into fermenter with enough cold water to bring to 5-1/2 gallons. Rehydrate yeast per package directions and cool brew to less than 80 degrees. Add yeast, store in dark place at 65-72 degrees for five days. Transfer to second fermenter for additional five days, leaving sediments behind. Bottle beer with corn sugar solution (1 pt. of water) and condition for two weeks; beer will benefit from additional time in the bottle. Yield: 48-12 oz. bottles, 4-6 percent alcohol

15 YEARS AGO (1985)

In a move designed to find middle ground, the Independence Township Board appointed a five-member Salary Recommending Committee to review board members, salaries. The committee will act as an advirsory body only, said Clerk Richard Holman, leaving the board free to adopt its own pay scales based on the committee's recommendations.

The Clarkston school district and the teachers union compromised with about 25 minutes each, and the physical education recess dispute has been settled. The agreement ended a union grievance procedure started by the teachers. At issue was an administrative decision that recess periods would be eliminated on the two mornings or afternoons a week elementary school pupils attended physical education classes.

Approximately 20 people turned out for two public hearings regarding the potential use of Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) and Federal Reserve Sharing (FRS) funds for 1986. Representatives of SCAMP, the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance Committee, Oakland Livingston Human Services Agency and residents of Meyers Road asked for funds at the hearings.

Students in the Andersonville district may be reliving their parents past -- sampling the flavor of the old one-room country school. The Clarkston Board of Education will be asked to provide space on the present Andersonville School property for the old onestory frame facility. The school served several generations in the early part of the century, offering grades

There'll be music for this year's Clarkston Christmas Parade - courtesy of the newly organized Drum and Bugle Corps which practices at Sashabaw Junior High School None of the school bands will be participating, school officials said. Conflict with practices for Christmas concerts plus the activity of the season itself were cited as reasons.

Voters of Independence Township will probably be asked during the May primary election to approve up to another mill for police services. An Independence Township Police Services director, one clerk, and five full-time Oakland County Sheriff's deputies are currently paid from the $115,000 raised this year by the voted mill.

50 YEARS AGO (1950)

Folks in this area have something to look forward to. The Independence Township Community Center will sponsor a Home Talent Show in the Clarkston School auditorium on the evening of February 21, 1951. The proceeds from this event will go towards the outfitting of the new community center. Ed Rummins is the general chairman of the affair.

Cathedral candles and large baskets of white chrysanthemums formed the setting for the candlelight service in the Clarkston Methodist Church which united Barbara Anne Jarvis and Robert F. Roland in marriage. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. LaVern Jarvis of Clarkston and parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. James Roland of Lake Orion.

If you really want to forget some of your cares and worries and dispel some of the gloom brought on by the wintry weather then attend the play "Who's Batty Now" being presented by the senior class of the local high school in the school auditorium. The comedy, being directed by Mr. Heimburger, is chock full of amusing situations and plenty of farfetched ideas.

system is eaten away," he said. This occurs to an anorexic in their process of self-starvation.

Bulimia, binge eating and purging, causes dehydration problems for sufferers. Brain and body chemicals change and Seratonin levels drop making people impulsive and moody. But bulimics can suffer for years without others knowing, he said.

Collen Harrington, 25, is a recovered bulimic and anorexic. She talked about her struggle that started in middle school after she began dieting. It progressed significantly, but she didn't realize the damage that was being done to her body.

"I fit the picture," she said. "I had low self-esteem, not the healthiest family, loss of loved ones, and an older sister that I thought was better than I." Harrington described her disorder as a way to "numb out" the existing problems in her life.

In high school, things continued to go downhill for Harrington until she told a friend of her struggles. The turning point in her life came when she received treatment from a team of doctors and a dietician, she said.

"I was fifteen, eighty pounds, and was told that I had a heart functioning like that of a 70-year-old man who's just had a heart attack," Harrington remembered.

"It was extremely scary," she said of suffering from the disease and warned that the road to recovery was even harder but possible.

The best thing is prevention, said Moye. This can be accomplished by talking and helping each other.

To help, Moye suggested listening to each other and knowing the signs and symptoms of this deadly disease.

In dealing with a person with an eating disorder, it is not good to compare them to others, or tell them they need to eat, or watch them eat, said Reese. The social worker added, "It's their responsibility to get well, you can't fix it, but you can show them love and confidence"

Harrington suggested saying things like, "I'm worried about you. Or I'll go with you to get help."

People may be looking for someone to say something to them because they don't know how to get help

Symptoms of eating disorders

Anorexia Nervosa Noticeable weight loss Becoming withdrawn Excessive exercise Fatigue and muscle weakness Always being cold Evidence of vomiting Obsession with food, calories, etc. Excuses for not eating meals Unusual eating habits Discomfort around food Complaining of being "too fat" Guilt or shame about eating Depression, irritability, mood swings Perfectionist attitude Irregular menstruation or loss of Pale complexion Headaches and fainting spells

Bulimia Nervosa Binge eating Vomiting Bathroom visits after eating Secretive eating (food missing) Laxative, diet pill or diuretic use Weight fluctuations Swollen glands Broken blood vessels Harsh exercise regimes Fasting Substance abuse Depression, mood swings Severe self-criticism Fatigue and muscle weakness Tooth decay, sore throat Irregular heartbeats Need for approval from others Avoids restaurants, planned meals

Compulsive Overeating Binge eating Fear of not being able to stop eating voluntarily Depression Self-deprecating thoughts Weight is focus of life Frequently diets Withdraws from activities because of weight Eating little in public Believes will be a better person if thin Feeling tormented by eating habits Personal failures attributed to weight Feelings about self based on weight on their own, an audience member commented.

Frequently checks weight on scale

Sackeyfio said young people need to be taught to look at their bodies as normal as well as being taught better nutrition and eating habits in order to grow normally. There are all sizes, body types and everybody is different, he said.

Moye added "so much of your body shape is genetic."

"Schools need to role model health," Moye said. But "fat" is a symbol learned from culture.

Sackeyfio said we've been led to believe that how we look is most important based on the responses we get from other people. Unfortunately you can get treated differently based on weight, he said.

"Whether you are six feet, 200 pounds or have bright red hair, the value you have as a person is not about body weight," Move said.

Here are some statistics from the Eating Disorders Awareness and Prevention organization:

■Over a person's lifetime, at least 50,000 individuals will die as a direct result of their eating disorder.

■80 percent of American women are dissatisfied with their appearance.

■The average American woman is 5'4" tall and weighs 140 pounds. The average American model is 5'11" tall and weighs 117 pounds. Most fashion models are thinner than 98 percent of American women.

■42 percent of first through third grader girls want to be thinner

■81 percent of 10-year-olds are afraid of being fat.

■51 percent of nine and ten-year-old girls feel better about themselves if they are on a diet.

■95 percent of dieters will regain their lost weight in one to five years.

■Americans spend over 40 billion on dieting and diet-related products each year.

Need help or know somebody who needs help? There are several ways to get assistance including nationwide organizations and treatment centers and eating disorder units at your local hospital. Or call Dr. Ann Moye at (248) 594-9730.

Local Brownie Troop helps animals

Group donates newspapers, food and supplies to area shelter

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Brownie Troop 844, which is made up of second graders from Bailey Lake Elementary, is hoping it improved the lives of animals who need a loving home.

On Oct. 26, the troop made its way to the Michigan Humane Society in Rochester Hills. There, the group donated newspapers for kennels, dog and cat food, treats, pet accessories and cat litter. The items were bought with money raised from Girl Scout cookie sales.

Troop members went shopping with their parents, compared prices and clipped coupons. Eventually, they made their purchases at Pet Supplies Plus.

After making their generous donations to the Humane Society, the Brownies learned more about the organization and pet care. They were given guided tour of the facility through Ronald F. Blauet, director of Education for the Humane Society.

The girls learned about Pet Care and the functions of the Humane Society.

"Our most important job at the Humane Society is to stop the cruelty of animals," Blauet said. "Most people think we just get dogs and cats, but we get a little of everything."

On the tour the Brownies saw the usual cats and dogs which were up for adoption, but also saw exotic animals which had been kept illegally as pets. The Brownie Troop saw a cougar, and a picture of a Lion which were brought to the Humane Society.

"How did you catch the cougar?" one of the Brownies asked.

"We didn't catch it," Blauet said. "Most of our animals are brought to us. This one was taken away from its owner because it's illegal to have a cougar ast a pet in Michigan. A lot of people think they're cute and cuddly when they're young, but don't think about being respoinsible for an animal once it gets bigger."

Pat Mueller, Troop leader, said the girls had a good time on the tour and learned a lot about animals during their visit.

"I am fortunate to have such a great group of girls in my Brownie Troop," she said.

Blauet reminded the troop that pet adoption is a big responsibility.

"We want to make sure that we match up the animals with the right owner. We don't want to have the animal given back to us in a few years. We're pretty selective with our adoptions," he said.

Last year the Humane Society found homes for over 10,000 animals. If you would like more information on pet adoption through the Humane Society, call the Rochester Hills Michigan Humane Society at (248) 852-7424 or visit their web site at www.humanemi.org.

Members of Brownie Troop 844 are listed above: Megan Dumas, Kaitlyn Dunphy, Natalie Hansen, Emily Lipka, Erin Mueller, Katelyn Pasola, Kylee Weiss, Kara West

leers down U of D in overtime

Wolves get game winner from Andrew Florkey to improve to 3-1 on season

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston varsity ice hockey team earned a split at the Cranbrook Thanksgiving Day Tournament held Nov.

The Wolves fell in their opening game to St. Joes (Buffalo) 6-1, but rebounded with an overtime win over University of Detroit 3-2. St. Joes went on to win the tournament with a 4-3 victory over Cranbrook.

The Wolves held St. Joes scoreless in the first period, but gave up three second period goals. The lone Clarkston goal came from Andrew Florkey from Eric Plante and Eric Hall.

The Wolves had better luck the following day against U of D.

Clarkston's first goal came from Adam Postal on assists from Adam Peters and Myles Purdy. U of D tied it in the second period before Clarkston's Jon Bemis gave the Wolves a 2-1 lead on an assist from Plante.

U of D tied it again at two and forced an overtime.

The Wolves got the game winner from Plante on an assist from Florkey. The goal came after Clarkston goalie Brendan Czamiecki made a key save on a U of D breakaway. Florkey then took the puck and skated the length of the ice

Cagers wrap up best season in years

neil Kosin only had one with the Clarkston girls varsity basketball team, but she made it one to remember.

The Wolves best season in years came to an end Nov. 22 at the hands of Waterford Kettering. The Wolves fell 51-29 in the regional final, but had a stellar season along the way.

The Wolves finished with an overall record of 15-9 and were 7-5 in the Oakland Activities Association Division I. They finished third in what is considered one of the toughest leagues in the state. The Wolves also won their first district title since the 1975-76 school year and set a new Clarkston school record with seven straight wins.

"We've accomplished a lot," said

Kosin, "I think a lot of our success this knew what we had to do. We season came when we won a few games didn't settle. Instead, everybody early. That gave our kids added confidence got it together," Kosin said. and it made them work harder in practice. It gave them the sense that they were good."

They were good. They handed previously unbeaten Oxford its only loss of the season in what was probably the best game the Wolves played all season. That game was followed up by a dismantling of Romeo in the district final.

However, before the Wolves got into the post-season tournament, they began to hit a bit of a full in the second half of their season. That period of the year, Kosin said, is what set this team apart from other Clarkstoti clubs.

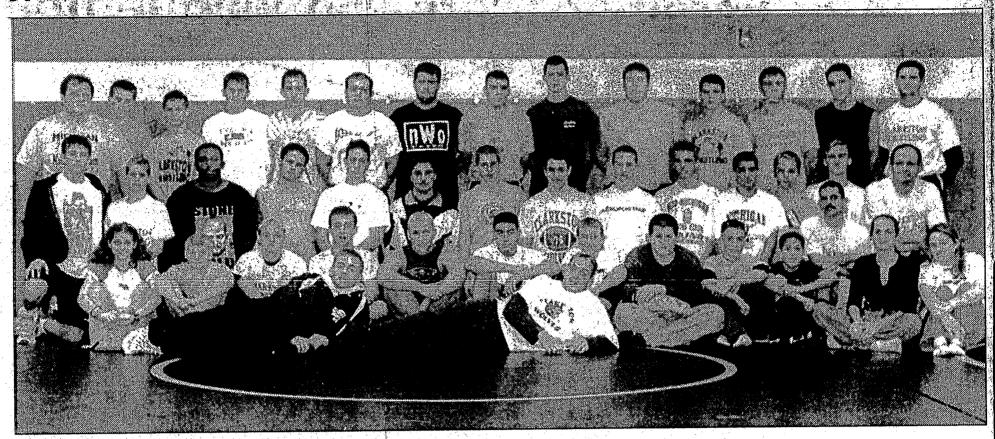

I think we looked at ourselves midway through and were awakened. The girls and me and Art (Even assistant coach)

However, Kosin said her team got its biggest jump before the season even began. She said summer practices and workouts, and added experience from AAU teams gave her team an edge.

"We really came into the season ready to go I think. The summer and at the end is where we really improved," Kosin said. The Wolves lose three very good seniors in Kristen Fakk, Sarah Morgan and Tovah Bazely, All three were instrumental in Clarkston's success this season. Bazely and Morgan gave the Wolves a strong presence inside

If this year is like most than the Clarkston varsity wrestling team should be in for a dogfight for the division title.

The Wolves are coming off a fourth place finish in the Oakland Activities Association Division I. Troy won the league last year. The Wolves were second in dual meets, but finished fourth at the league meet. Other teams competing with Clarkston will be Rochester, Rochester Adams, Lake Orion and Troy Athens.

Clarkston head coach Mike DeGain said the OAA I is always a toss up.

"I think this year will be a four or five team race."
Rochester and Athens both struggled some last year, but they should be improved. I don't think anybody can predict this league. But we should have a better understanding after the first league meet," DeGain said.

The Wolves open their season Nov. 30 at Warren Lincoln at 5:30 p.m. Their home opener will be Dec. 6 vs. Rochester at 6 p.m.

Last year the Wolves were district champions and fell to the eventual state champion Davison. Clarkston also finished third at the county-meet.

The Wolves will be without the services of standout sophomore Clint DeGain who made it to the state finals last year wrestling at the 152 pound weight class. DeGain will be out at least eight weeks due to a shoulder injury and his coach DeGain said it's more probable than not that Clint will miss the entire season. He will have an MRI Saturday and may have to have another operation on his shoulder. Currently, DeGain is ranked no. 1 in the country for sophomores and is ranked 13th nationally for all grades.

The Wolves will be a young team this season with 8-10 underclassmen starting the 14 different weight classes, DeGain said. However, because the Wolves suffered some injury problems last year several of Clarkston's younger wrestlers have some experience.

"Some of that should pay off for us, but you can't expect miracles," DeGain said. "There aren't a lot of kids who can make an impact real early."

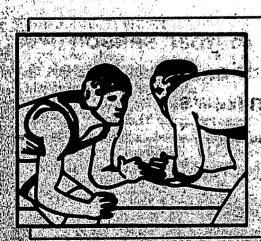

The Wolves have seven returning starters this season including Jeremy Hertzler (125), Nate Parker (140), Brian Chism (145), Derek Sheets (152), Tim Ellsworth (171), Kevin Jenks (160) and Chris Jaroneski (215). Jaroneski, Chism and Shawn Miller (275) are the captains of the team. Jaroneski and Chism were regional qualifiers last season.

DeGain also noted several freshman who he is hoping will make an impact on the team. He said Elliot May (103), Matt Heron (103), Tony Lajoi (125) and Sean Turner (135) could make an impact if they mature quickly. Lajoi and Turner were state champions at the 13 and 14-year old divisions last year.

the 13 and 14-year old divisions last year.

DeGain said Nate Parker (140) and John Langdon (140) should have a solid seasons. Both won over half of their matches last year.

The Wolves host the Oakland County meet this year on Dec. 22 and 23.

Junior varsity cagers win league title

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

A three point differential gave the Clarkston JV girls basketball team the league title outright.

The Wolves 42-39 win at Rochester Oct. 26 gave the Wolves an 11-1 league record and the league title.

The first time the two teams met, the Falcons beat the Wolves on their home court. But in the rematch, with the league title on the line, the Wolves edged out Rochester in the final moments.

Clarkston coach Dan Stevens said his team is a hard working group and said the Clarkston girls basketball program is on the rise.

"The girls are getting involved at earlier ages and it makes a difference. Last year we finished two games above .500. We score a lot of points, but the real strength of our team is on defense," Stevens said.

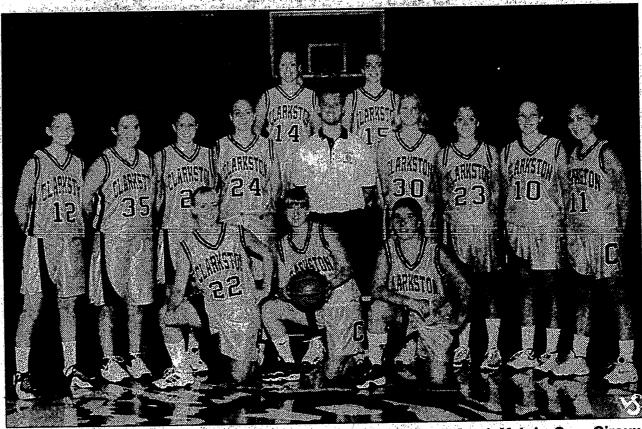

Stevens noted several players who have been key contributors this season. Jenna Clavette, he said, is one of the team's best defenders and is the high scorer on the team, averaging over ten points per game. Although only a freshman, Stevens said Clavette has a good chance to play varsity ball next fall.

Pam Wylie, a sophomore on this year's team was described by her coach as the best pure shooter on the team.

"She's got a good outside jump shot and is a strong leader," Stevens said.

Another freshman on this year's team is forward Sarah Mahrle — the team's workhorse inside Stevens said

"She's our best post player and a strong defender inside. She scores about four or five points per game and is a great defender. She's forced a lot of turnovers for us this year," Stevens said.

"The win over Rochester was a big win for us,"

Stevens said. "This team is fast and can really run. The Clarkston program has really improved the last few years."

Everest Academy beat St. Joan of Arc 7-3 to capture the 7th/8th grade boys Catholic Youth Organziation Championship on Oct. 25 at Bishop Foley Organization.

Everest Academy jumped ahead first with an early goal by Arthur Eggleton, who scored four goals during the game. St. Joan of Arc struck back with an equalizing goal, but Everest wasn't phased and answered with a goal ten minutes later.

From this point on, the boys from Everest never looked back. Ramiro Gonzalez added three more goals, along with unstoppable defense from Drew Boike, Edward Vidales and all around great team work proved to be too much for the St. Joan of Arc team.

After the game the president of CYO, Joe Charnley, presented Everest Academy at midfield with its first CYO championship trophy and 2000 coaches award.

There were close to 100 Everest fans who came to cheer on their team and watch an outstanding performance.

Everest Academy finished the season with 12-1 overall record and had eight shutouts. Its defense limited opponents to eight goals throughout the season.

Hard work and dedication payed off for these 8 and 9 year old freshman Clarkston Chief football players. They practiced four to five times per week since the beginning of August — rain or shine and tied for second place in the suburban youth football league.

This record sent them to the suburban youth football playoffs where they took second place. The Chiefs beat the Brandon Blackhawks 12-6 in double overtime at the Pontiac Silverdome on Oct. 7. Congratulations boys — we are proud of you.

while Falck did a great job leading the offense from the point guard position.

"I'm really going to miss their leadership, composure and attitude. They're very good players," Kosin Kosin said she expects big things from Anna Trim and Megan Renda next year as well as no. Jenn Karstenson. The Wolves will have standout guards Jenn Carlson and Kira Karlstrom returning as well as a few other guards coming up from the JV level. That is where Kosin will be next year.

"They told me I'd only have one year when I came in here." Kosin said. "The JV level is a lot different than the varsity level though. Here, in the OAA varsity you can't relax. If you let down for one second you'll be exposed. It's a lot faster paced and there's a lot more mental preparation that goes into it at this level. I had a great time this year. The kids and Clarkston community were very good to work with."

Athlete of the week: Casey Bolten

BY ED DAVIS

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Casey Bolten made Clarkston history when she competed at the state diving competition at Eastern Michigan University Nov. 17. Bolten was the first Clarkston diver to ever advance to the state finals.

Bolten competed with 36 of the state's best divers at the meet after advancing from the a 5th place finish at regionals held at Lake Orion High School. Bolten also won first place at the Oakland Activities Association Division IV league meet at Clarkston High School.

"It was a good experience for me as a sophomore, but I hope to get better," Bolten said. "I got knocked out of the first round at regionals last year, so this was an improvement for me."

However Bolten is already setting her sights on next season.

"Next year I want to make it to the top 16 at states and the top four at regionals. I'd also like to get 200 points in a six dive meet," she said.

Bolten also set a school record for points in a dual meet with 184.

Although soft spoken, it's Bolten's competitiveness that makes her stand out from the crowd, Clarkston diving coach Keyin Brock said.

"She's very hard working and she has the desire to win. But she's a good person and from a coaching standpoint, everything you'd want in an athlete. She was a real asset to the team this year. She was ahead of her time. To make it to the state meet as a sophomore from a second year team is something else," Brock said.

Bolten said her front two-and-a-half somersault with a 2.4 degree of difficulty is her most difficult dive. But she credits coach Brock with much of her success.

"He's a good coach and gives everything possible that a coach could give. He's always at practice helping me out;" she said.

Bolten said the things she enjoys most about diving are learning new dives and the friends she's made. She said she is very close with coach Brock and Rachel Carroll and Sarah Mehaffey, who also

A The Thirty of Talker Mary and the Land

A great fall in C-Town and my wishlist too

With the holiday shopping season officially underway, I've begun to piece together a Christmas list of my own.

But before I ramble on about what I'd like to see under the tree this year, let me quickly recap what a wonderful fall it was in C-Town.

Football — Look for a special section next week commemorating the best season in Clarkston history at 12-1. Congrats once again to head coach Kurt Richardson, the rest of the Wolves dedicated coaching staff and of course the players.

Basketball — What a run it was. That win over Oxford was the most exciting basketball game I covered all season, and I think it was the best game the girls played this year. They wrapped up their first district title since 1975 with a win over Romeo. Congrats once again to head coach April Kosin, assistant coach Art Even and the players on a great season.

Cross Country — The boys headed to states and the girls sent three runners and should have sent their entire team had it not been for some lousy judge's call at regionals. Congrats go out to Mike Taylor for doing a great job with a group of hard working, dedicated runners. I thought this was supposed to be a rebuilding year? And of course, to Jaime Labrosse and his team.

- Soccer — A great run was cut short in the seventh round of a shootout in the district final. But you couldn't ask for a better effort from Dan Fitzgerald's team. I'll never forget that game, or that win over Mott in the district semifinal. What a finish!

Golf — The Wolves had a presence at states thanks to Matt Harrison. Congrats to Matt and to coach Tim Kaul on a good effort out on the links this year.

Swimming — All Kenwyn Chock's team did this year was win the Oakland Activities Association IV title in only its second season. Congrats to coach Chock, and to Casey Bolten, who was Clarkston's first ever diver to compete at the state meet.

Now it's time to rattle off things that are on my wishlist this year.

A Lions playoff win — I may be getting ahead of myself here, but at 8-4 I think it's safe to say the Lions will make the playoffs. My official preseason pick was 9-7 and no playoffs, but I think they'll probably make the post season now. However, making the playoffs hasn't been the problem. Winning has. C'mon Santa, I've been good this year!

Meaningful regular season NBA and NHL games — I doubt if even Santa can deliver this. The NBA and NHL are troubled by the same thing that keeps me from watching baseball. The games simply don't mean anything until the playoffs. The Pistons have done better than I thought they'd do however, and the Wings are hanging in there at second place in the division. The only pro sport that has a meaningful regular season is football. That's why it's the best of the four major sports.

Another solid MSU basketball team — Last year's history as are Mateen Cleaves and Morris Peterson. But we, as Spartan fans must rebound from a lousy football season with a solid effort on the hardwood. Tom Izzo's club should put together another solid run this year.

A UofM Bowl Win — Okay, I'm not a bonafide Wolverines fan here, but I'd like to see somebody from this state win a bowl game. They had a crazy season, but I'll give Michigan credit. At least their games were never boring. That showdown with Northwestern may have given Wolverine fans bad memories, but it was a great game and I'd bet it'll make its way on to ESPN Classic in a hurry.

Better WWF Storylines — I love the World Wrestling Federation, but it's gotten a little stale in recent weeks. Hopefully things will pick up as we head towards Royal Rumble this winter.

Solid Clarkston winter sports — It'll be a tough act to follow everything that happened in the fall. However, Monday I got reacquainted with many of the winter sports varsity coaches and am eager to start up a new season.

and fired a shot on net. Plante was there to put the rebound home and give the Wolves an exciting 3-2 overtime win.

Czarniecki made 22 saves in the win over U of D and Krygier said he kept the Wolves in the game.

"He made some big saves for us in that game. He's got good lateral movement, limits rebounds and he's a quick goalie," Krygier said.

Earlier last week, the Wolves were 4-0 winners over Waterford Mott Nov. 22. Clarkston got goals from Bemis, with an assist from Florkey, Jeremy Gabriel, on assists from Ryan MacKinnon and Hall and two goals from Stephen Janowiak with assists from Postal and Myles Purdy.

"Plante had a great weekend for us. He had a goal and an assist in the win over U of D and he's a real hard worker. It's hard to deny a kid like that ice time when he's working that hard. He works real hard in practice too. He's coming through nicely for us," Krygier said.

"Florkey had our lone goal in the St. Joes game and is really coming along well also," Krygier said.

The Wolves resume action when they take on Waterford Kettering, at home Dec, 2 at 5 p.m. All of Clarkston's home games at the Polar Ice Palace in Lapeer.

JEW & GENTILE- There is only 1
Messiah for all of us, Jesus, Yeshua in Hebrew is in Isalah, Chapter 12/
Old Testament/ Tenach. The name
Yeshua mesans salvation. Did you know you are not a Jew outwardly, but are one inwardly when you become a child of God? There is only but are one inwant of the sonly 1 way to the Father and that is through the Son, Lamb of God. He is our atonement. He is our passover Lamb. God is the God of Israel. God told Moses tell the people my name is the God of Araham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob? The 1st works B'rit Chedashahv New Testament are about the lineage of Yeshua/ Jesus, the Son of David, the Son of Abraham. The Messiah is Jewish and it was to the Jew first and also to the Gentile. You can read about Him in Isaiah 53, Paalms 22. Ephesians 2:14-18 speaks on the 1 new mar/ Jew and Gentile coming together and both having access into the Holy of Holles because the spirthe Holy of Holles because the spiritual wall of partition has been broken down by the blood of the Lamb. Read Acts 11-13 for more help. Call to discuss or we could gather to search the scriptures together as God leads us. Joe or Marge 248-333-7384.

We guarantee it.

Here's how it works. 1. Run your want ad with us for at least two weeks and pay within one week of the start date.

2. If no one contacts you within 30 days after the ad's stop date, fill out a refund application and mail or bring it to us.

3. We will refund the cost of the ad (less the $2 service charge) within 7 days of receiving your refund application.

Or, we'll run that ad again for the original number of weeks. The choice is yours, a win-win situation all the way around.

(We can only guarantee that you'll get inquiries-that you'll make a deal.)

This guarantee applies to individual (noncommercial) want ads. You can pick up a refund application at any of our offices. In Oxford, at 666 S. Lapeer Road. In Lake Orion, 30 N. Broadway Street. In Clarkston, 5 S. Main Street. The refund must be applied for between 30 and 90 days of the want ad's start date.
